CONTRASTS.

How beautiful the sunshine
That follows after rain;
How pleasant are the dreams of ease
When purchased by a pain;
How sweet when true love's arms
To make it up again!
How merry is the streamlet
That flows in the dale;
That has a rock to leap;
That has a mill to grind;
That brings refreshing sleep;
Then pillow, love, a queen;
But neither long nor deep.
How dull would be the morning
Had night not gone before;
How tame would be the summer days
Were't not for winter's snow;
And were our life all pleasure,
Delight would be no more!

ORIGIN OF RICEWHEAT.

The word "Rice-wheat" is a corruption of the word "cheek-wheat," the name formerly given to this grain from the resemblance of its kernel to the cheek of a man. It is supposed to have originated in Asia, though this is uncertain. It is used for bread in China and the East, but in Great Britain its main consumption has been in feeding horses and poultry. In America it is much esteemed, as all know, for making cakes, which are eaten warm.

A fellow was arrested by a farmer for stealing ducks. The farmer said he should know them anywhere, and he went on to describe them.

"Why," says the counsel for the prisoner, "they can't be such a rare breed of ducks, I have some of them in my yard."

"That's very likely," returned the farmer, "I have lost a good many lately."

The Dutch are as famous for bulls as the Irish. "He lost two cows," said Myndeer, "and you wash a calf, and two wash a bull."

A bachelor remarked that even the best wives were like the empty spoken of in the parable. They would take the husband's sheep.

Guarantees should only be taken in writing, and a consideration always expressed therein.

The honor of a honest man, as far as dollars and cents goes, does not lie in the lies; therefore, honorable conditions in writing.

Lying won't stand, but truth is truth. Rascals may flourish, but honest men will outgrow them.

Truth is a restorative. It saves the conscience, and keeps up a glow of happiness under all the workings of life.

The Mule.—There is a great difference in the number of mules contained in a mile in different countries. The following table will be useful:

England or America,	1,700 yds.
Russia,	1,400 "
Italy,	1,100 "
Scotland and Ireland,	2,200 "
Poland,	4,100 "
Spain,	4,900 "
Germany,	4,800 "
Sweden and Denmark,	3,500 "
Hungary,	3,500 "

THE QUEEN'S DONATION FOR THE SUFFERERS BY THE INUNDATION IN FRANCE.—Her Majesty and Prince Albert have testified their sympathy for the unfortunate sufferers by the late inundations in France, by forwarding to the Lord Mayor of London, by the Lord Mayor of London, the sum of £1,000 and £500, respectively, in aid of the fund now raising at the Mansion-house for their relief.

Domestic Economy.

TOMATO TART.—Cover a plate with a thin layer of dough. Cut your tomatoes (green) into thin slices, and place them on the dough, very evenly; then add two tablespoonfuls of brown sugar, and one ounce of currants. Spread them evenly over the tomato, and bake well. This makes a delicious tart. The tomatoes used should be sound and sweet. (German town Telegraph.)

SCALLOPED TOMATOES.—Scald ripe tomatoes, and peel them, put them in a dish with bread crumbs, layer over layer, seasoning with salt and red pepper. Bake the bread crumbs on top and bake three hours.

TO PRESERVE RICE TOMATOES.—To each quart skinned and peeled, add a quart of sugar, and a half pint of vinegar. Boil for an hour and a half; then to each quart of tomatoes add one lemon in slices, with some ginger, tied in bags, or you may use the extract, and boil it another hour and a half. Then take it from the fire, and cool it before putting it into the jar. Tie it up tight, and keep it in a cool place.

GREEN CORN DESSERT.—Take green corn, full in the milk, 12 ears and grate it. To this add one quart of sweet milk, one fourth of a pound of sweet butter, four eggs well beaten, pepper and salt as much as may be deemed necessary; stir well together, and bake in a buttered dish. Some add to the other ingredients a quarter of a pound of fine sugar, and salt with sauce. It is an excellent dish, cold or warm, with meat or sugar; but especially good as a sauce for a fowl or a piece of meat.

TO PRESERVE SWEET CORN.—Allow the kernels to be plucked, and then the kernels are to be cooked in a brisk oven; then take the apples in a jar, cover them close, and bake them five or six hours. Sweet apples should be baked long after they are tender.

BAKED SWEET APPLES.—Wash well the apples, place them in a pan with a very little water, but the juice may be turned, if they are to be cooked in a brisk oven; then take the apples in a jar, cover them close, and bake them five or six hours. Sweet apples should be baked long after they are tender.

BOILED SWEET APPLES.—Wash well the apples, place them in a pan with a very little water, but the juice may be turned, if they are to be cooked in a brisk oven; then take the apples in a jar, cover them close, and bake them five or six hours. Sweet apples should be baked long after they are tender.
