Ex-QPP man witness in Coffin case

QUEBEC (CP) — The main witness Tuesday as the Quebec royal commission on the Coffin matter moves into its fifth day of hearings probably will be Henri Doyon a former sergeant in the Quebec Provincial Police.

Wilbert Coffin was hanged Feb. 10, 1956, for the 1953 slaying of one of three United States hunters in the Gaspé area.

Mr. Doyon may still be on the stand when this week's hearings end Thursday. He was a central figure in Jacques Hebert's book 'Accuse les Assassins de Coffin' I Accuse Coffin's Assassins and he has been close to the case since it began in 1953.

Claims Ruby was in trance

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's counsel move today toward the heart of his defence, their contention that he was in an emotional trance when he killed Lee Harvey Oswald and did not know what he was doing.

Ruby, some psychiatrists, and a brunette stripteaser are expected to testify about his "rare states."

Also due to be among the day's first witnesses for the defence was former welterweight boxing champion Barney Ross. Ruby's first witnesses took the stand Friday.

His trial, on a charge of murder with malice, went into the fourth week today.

Oswald had been accused of assassinating president Kennedy in Dallas, Nov. 22. Two days later, Ruby shot him to death. The state is asking death in the electric chair for Ruby. His defence is temporary insanity.

BEAT UP CAB DRIVER

Stripteaser Patricia Ann Kohn, 21, who once performed in one of Ruby's nightclubs here, is expected to testify that Ruby once beat up a taxi driver, and then suddenly asked, "what am I doing?"

Similarly, defence counsel Joe Tonahill questioned a Dallas policeman about Ruby's reactions immediately after Oswald was killed. Tonahill asked: "And when you said to Jack, 'Why did you do it?' he replied, 'Do what?'. Isn't that a fact?"

The officer denied hearing Ruby say this.

Ruby's chief defence counsel, Melvin M. Belli of San Francisco, visited Ruby in the jail during the weekend. Belli said he also questioned the jail physician, Dr. Fred Dieberdorf, and expects to put Dieberdorf on the stand to attack part of the prosecution's case.

Belli said Dieberdorf examined Ruby in jail shortly after Ruby was arrested. Police officers have testified they stripped Ruby of his clothes and also questioned him about killing Oswald.

Mr. Hebert contends in his book that Mr. Doyon's dismissal from the force in 1951 was a result of the Coffin case. The author testified he had tried by writing and telephoning former Attorney-General Georges LaPalme to get Mr. Doyon reinstated.

CLOSE QUESTIONING

The royal commission under Mr. Justice Roger Brossard so far has featured close questioning and cross-examination by a half-dozen lawyers and prosecutors, as well as the commissioner himself.

The questioning order begins with commission counsel Jules Deschenes, who makes his points by shifting from author Hebert's book to the Coffin trial transcript to even taped transcripts of recent televised interviews on the case.

He started hearings by asking Mr. Hebert a series of questions that disclosed that the author hadn't attended the trial, hadn't read the full transcript, had talked to only a few of the 80 witnesses, and had depended on newspaper clippings for much of his source material.

"People wrote about Napoleon without meeting him," Mr. Hebert said at one point.

He also said he had been chiefly interested in new facts and hadn't relied too heavily on the transcript because in some cases he felt witnesses might have been coached.

After Mr. Deschenes, there is Jean Grenier, a Crown prosecutor chosen by the government to represent Deputy Attorney-General C. E. Cantin and Chief Inspector J. A. Matte, of the provincial police.

Sioux take over Alcatraz island

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five Sioux Indians landed on Alcatraz Sunday and pounded in stakes claiming home sites of the rocky island site of the now empty and abandoned federal prison.

They landed on the 20-acre island with a green tent, provisions for 30 days, and legally-drawn papers for filing with the federal land office. They were accompanied by Elliott Leighton, San Francisco lawyer for the tribesmen.

Leighton said the Indians were basing their claims under an 1868 treaty granting the Sioux the right to claim federal land "not used for a specific purpose."

Alcatraz was closed as a federal prison on March 21, 1963.

Plane crashes into house

Co-pilot killed, 28 escape

CHICAGO (AP)—A chartered DC-3 airliner, trying to make a landing at O'Hare International Airport in misty weather, crashed into a house late Sunday night, killing the co-pilot and the pilot and 28 passengers escaped.

The pilot, who with the co-pilot was trapped in the cockpit about two hours, was reported in critical condition in hospital. But the passengers, returning from a day of skiing in Michigan, escaped without serious injuries.

The two-engine plane crashed through utility lines and into a house in a residential district in suburban Hoffman Estates. Six persons in the home asleep on the second floor, escaped injury. They were rescued by firemen.

PASSENGERS WALK OUT

The passengers, 23 men and five women, walked from the plane minutes after it plowed through the rear of the two-story home of Victor Golubski. There was no fire. The plane did not overturn but part of a wing was ripped off as it landed.

The pilot, Virgil Provost, 40, of suburban Alsip, was rescued by firemen nearly two hours after the plane crashed shortly before midnight. A few minutes later firemen recovered the body of the co-pilot, Daniel Jordan, of Gary, Ind.

Fire Chief Carl Selka said that Provost told him as he was leaving O'Hare airport the plane entered a patch of air turbulence. A tower man at O'Hare said he had directed the plane to land when it was eight miles northwest of the airport.

The Golubski house is on a corner lot in the southeast part of Hoffman Estates, a community of some 14,000. The north wall of the house was caved in by the plane. The house is near several vacant lots.

Golubski, 52, said the plane struck the house from the east, plowed through a workshop and garage and stopped in a dining room and kitchen.

"If any of us had been downstairs, we'd probably have been killed," Golubski said. "It came in like a locomotive."

Golubski, his wife, his aunt and the couple's three children all were asleep, Golubski said, when he heard the crash.

"I looked out the window, and I saw the plane. All I was interested in was getting the wife and kids out."

The six all suffered from shock and were taken to hospital.

Firemen said the plane, owned by the Midco Corporation of Chicago, was carrying 2,200 gallons of fuel which could have exploded if ignited. Two firemen disconnected battery cables to prevent a chance spark.

Firemen chopped through the plane's structure to reach the trapped pilots.

The plane had been chartered for the trip to Pellston, Mich., by the Fox Valley Snow Drifters, a group of skiers living in several northern Illinois communities.

BOSTON (AP) — A Trans World Airlines airliner with 13 persons aboard made an emergency landing at Logan International Airport today without serious difficulty after circling for one hour to use up fuel.

The four-engine constellation skidded to a quick halt on a foam-slicked runway with its nose scraping the ground. The tips of two propellers were bent when the plane came to rest, its nose on the ground and its tail in the air.

There were no injuries among the eight Ohio passengers and five crew members from the Greater Boston area.

Cease-fire in Cyprus shattered by attack

NICOSIA — Heavy fighting resumed today in the port town of Ktima, on the west coast of Cyprus, shattering a short-lived cease-fire following a weekend of skirmishes and surging mobs.

The Greek-Cypriot government said its forces had launched an all-out attack and that the Turkish-Cypriots were in retreat. A Greek police officer said his men would have the predominantly Greek town under control by noon.

A British commander and a UN official were reported pinned by Turkish fire in a Greek-Cypriot police station. A British spokesman said the Turks had agreed to a truce but the Greeks had refused.

Li-Gen, Prem Singh Gyani of India, commander of the proposed UN police force, arranged an urgent meeting with President Makarios and then planned to fly by helicopter to the battle area.

The spokesman said gunfire also broke out this morning at Malia, a village on the southern slopes of the Troodos Mountains. The spokesman said Gyani's deputy and political adviser, George Howard, and the British commander of the western zone of Cyprus, Brig. Donald Crane, were pinned down by gunfire at the Ktima police station this morning.

As the Ktima battle continued, the spokesman reported, mortars were fired, armored bulldozers were spotted and fires broke out.

Ktima was the scene of fierce fighting Saturday. The cease-fire agreement was reached Sunday through the efforts of Gen. Gyani and the British truce commander, Maj. Gen. Richard Carver.

Cut draft age

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will ask Congress to lower the draft age from 18 to 17 to give his war on poverty a chance to aid needy youngsters a year earlier, an official source reported today.

These subjects for the war on poverty, the source said, will be the 500,000 each year who fail the army's general classification test. They will be given a chance to enter special work schools where they will take special education and vocational courses.

Royal funeral

ATHENS (AP) — The body of King Paul of Greece, strangled to a gun carriage and followed by members of his grieving family, moved slowly through the hushed and crowded streets of the Greek capital today to lie in state in the Greek Orthodox Cathedral.

The booming of cannon signalled the start of the procession, and a salvo was fired every two minutes as the cortege moved through downtown Athens.

BOGOTA (AP) — Police said all 25 persons aboard a Colombian airliner apparently were killed Sunday night when it crashed 18 miles south of Bogota.

Bromptonville ready to blast ice if needed

By JAMES McALLISTER
(Record staff reporter)

Bromptonville Police report that they are ready today with dynamite to blast a hole in an ice jam at the Bromptonville bridge if it should cause flooding in the town.

The St. Francis river rose to an icy depth of about four feet in minutes last night and was still very high at about 9 a.m. Although the water rose dangerously, it was not necessary to evacuate any homes in the area as the river remained within its banks. There was no flooding of streets or basements in the area.

Bromptonville police, under the direction of Chief Bertrand Chaperon were on the scene from 7:30 p.m. when the ice began to pile up. The Civil Defense squad was called out.

Many onlookers appeared on the bridge to examine the situation and the police had their hand full keeping them in check.

Everything is quiet in the Sherbrooke area this morning with no trouble expected along the St. Francis today. The river has lowered well below the danger level. Operations at the Lansdown Market were fully resumed this morning.

In Lennoxville, the police department reports that the ice went out at 7 p.m. last night relieving the situation at Lennoxville. The river is free of ice this morning and things are under control.

The water was high last evening but the river was running freely. Fields near the banks of the St. Francis have drained.

Wants change

EDMONTON (CP)—A New Democratic Party foreign affairs spokesman said Saturday the federal Liberal government will be attacked from all corners of the House of Commons unless there is a radical change in Canadian defence policy. Andrew Brewin, NDP member of Parliament for Toronto Greenwood, criticized use of eight RCAF squadrons and an army brigade in Europe.

Wall blasted

SINGAPORE (AP)—A bomb planted in an outside drain blasted the wall of one wing of the famed Raffles Hotel shortly before midnight Saturday night. The blast was similar to those of Singapore's "Mad Bomber" late last year which wrecked several cars and killed some persons.

5.4 inches of winter return

The icy hand of winter grasped the Townships this morning with more than five inches of snow and the lowest temperature this area has seen in more than a week.

The 5.4 inches of snow which bogged traffic this morning, brought with it once again the white, wintry scene which the Townships lost for almost a week as temperatures in the high 50's brought the promise of an early spring.

The mercury dropped to 25 degrees above zero this morning, according to the Lennoxville Experimental Farm. Saturday's reading at the farm was a balmy 51 degrees.

More snow and a risk of freezing rain or ice pellets are in store for today, according to the weatherman. High for today is expected to be 32. Outlook for Tuesday is mainly cloudy.

The provincial roads department said this morning all roads should be cleared by noon today. A 'slow driving' warning has been given, however, as some spots will be covered with snow.

Dynamite frees Vermont river

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt. (AP) — Ebbing waters in the Connecticut River and its tributaries have eased the danger of heavy rain and thaw which lifted the levels of the ice-choked river.

With clear and cooler weather, the runoff from melting snow in the mountains slowed and the river levels dropped Sunday.

At St. Johnsbury, a number of river-bank business places were imperilled by a big ice jam which filled the Passumpsic River near the confluence with the Connecticut.

However, workmen dynamited the jam to restore somewhere near the normal flow.

Windsor, farther down stream, was flooded Friday for several blocks along the banks of the Connecticut.

Damage in the state has been estimated at some $3,000,000 along the banks of the several rivers.

Slow-start-to-frenzy parliamentary policy

OTTAWA (CP)—The testing point arrives this week for the new parliamentary drive to get started on its Commons committee work this year earlier than usual.

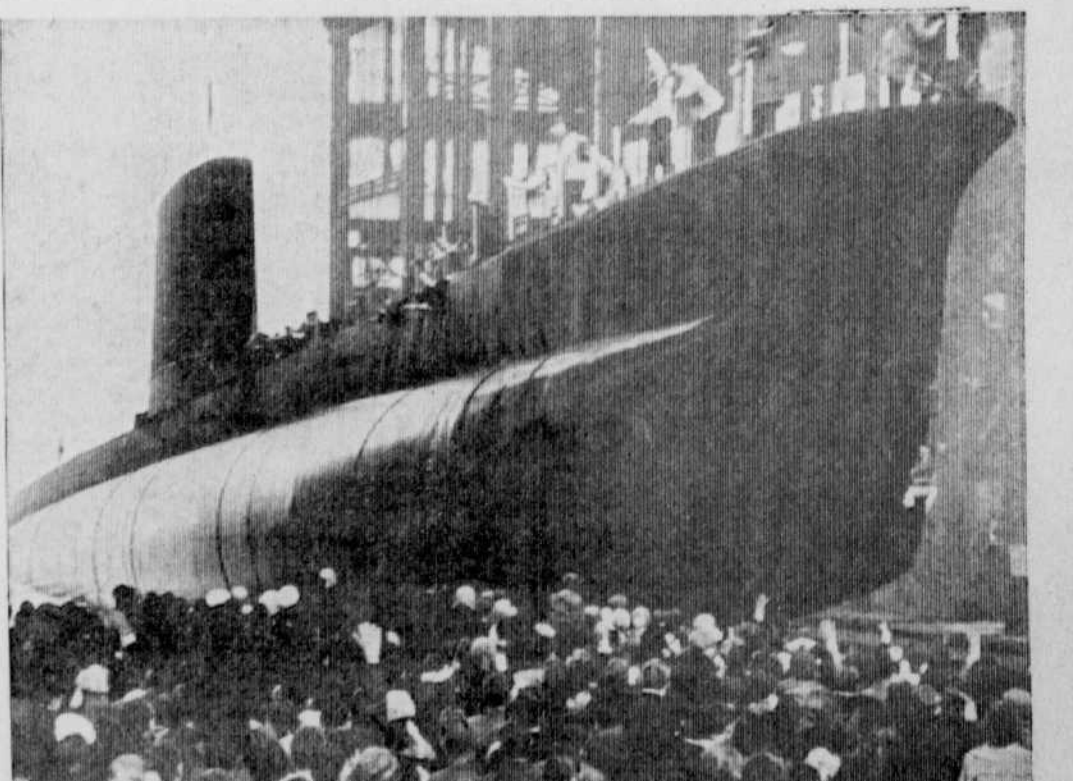

So far results have been disappointing for those who thought the MPs would try to correct the long-standing practice of slow leisurely starts on the year's legislative work and then the hectic dash towards prorogation at the end of the session.

On the legislative program this week is completion of debate—now entering its fifth day—on a motion to submit the Columbia River Development Treaty and its protocol to the Commons external affairs committee.

The motion is debatable and the southerners have said they will be ready to debate it, perhaps for longer than a week.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Poor Dr. Richard Kimble will have to face another year on the run. Doc Kimble, played by David Janssen on ABC's The Fugitive, is the pediatrician who was bum-rapped on a murder charge and escaped en route to the death house. Ever since he has been dodging the police while striving to find the one-armed man whodunit.

A lot of doubting Thomases, including this one, said you couldn't sustain a television series about a guy on the lam. Yet The Fugitive became one of the few real hits of the 1963-64 season. It has been renewed for next year.

NO SURPRISE The show's success failed to surprise Janssen. Says he: "If you have faith in the integrity of the people involved in a production, as I did with Quinn Martin and his staff, then you don't worry so much about whether a premise is going to pay off."

"Actually, we're not as limited in this show as you might think. Sure, the doctor has to keep on the move, but that can be an advantage. There is no sameness to the show. I don't have to scrub up for surgery every week. I don't have to report to precinct headquarters on each show. I get a change not only of surroundings and characters every week; I also change jobs."

Janssen admits the series is hard work. Besides the running, he gets involved in strenuous occupations. And, there is no sidekick of the fugitive; he is in 85 per cent of the hour-long shows.

Mr. and Mrs. Ibrey Bailey and Miss Shannon Bailey, of St. Lambert, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Little and Eric.

Sher-Lenn choir: French-English collaboration

Sacred words, music a common love

The Sher-Lenn choir is a unique experiment in human relations.

When it gives its performance of Brahms' Requiem in St. Peter's Church Mar. 16, it will be celebrating the tenth year since both French and English voices have been singing along side one another.

And all in excellent harmony — musical and otherwise.

This is what makes it one of the most unusual institutions in Sherbrooke and possibly in the province of Quebec — a choir whose repertoire includes both English and French works and where the only criteria for joining are an ability to sing and to get along with people.

But the Sher-Lenn choir was not always this way. Originally, it performed light choral works, drawing its voices and audience from the English-speaking population of Sherbrooke and Lennoxville.

Soon, the group turned to Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, performing three of them until 1954.

Then the group decided to change their repertoire.

The choir chose to do oratorical work.

This was the move that opened the choir to all segments of the population.

Says Director Morris Austin:

"We found that 'French-speaking people' were tremendously interested in doing oratorios."

"When we did the Messiah that year we established the happy precedent that any one with a voice could sing in our choir."

Today our choir is about equally divided between French-speaking and English-speaking members.

The latter, directed by Father Paradis, joined forces with the Sher-Lenn choir to sing the Messiah in St. Michael Cathedral.

Sylvio Lacharite conductor of the Sherbrooke Symphony orchestra was one of the moving forces in this co-operative venture.

In preparing for the Messiah, Austin did the directing, with Father Paradis handling the accompaniment.

In 1962, the two gave a concert in St. Peter's Church, the first part of the program conducted by Mr. Austin and the second half by Father Paradis.

"We are in there to make music," Mr. Austin said at a rehearsal in St. Peter's yesterday.

"We want to interpret Brahms. In so doing we lose our identity completely."

"The world is torn apart by strife," Director Austin said.

"But sitting in these churches and singing beautiful lyrics and music blots it out."

"Surely this is the way."

Annual Bishop's dramatic presentation

Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" provides brilliant comedy of mistaken identity

The Bishop's University Dramatics Society will present three performances of William Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, with curtain time being 8:30 p.m. each night. The play is being staged in the Memorial Gymnasium on the Bishop's campus in Lennoxville.

The students will perform the play, one of Shakespeare's best and most popular romantic comedies, under the direction of Bishop's Director of Drama, Arthur Motyer.

The plot revolves around a case of mistaken identity.

Sebastian, played by Vincent Suthren, and Viola, (Ann Lindsay), his twin sister, are shipwrecked at the play's start and each assumes the other to have been lost in the raging seas.

Viola, alone in a foreign land, disguises herself as a boy, and as such assumes the role of Cesario, a page to the Duke of Illyria, Orsino (David Anido).

When Orsino sends the disguised girl to Olivia (Suzanne Jack), the woman he loves, the Olivia becomes infatuated with the messenger. What happens when Sebastian turns up and is mistaken for his twin sister is best described by the actors themselves.

To add to this intriguing plot, other threads of the play are also woven into this main background. In Twelfth Night, Shakespeare did not create any one or two lead parts, rather he made several characters share the limelight. Outstanding in their portrayals of Feste, the clown, Sir Toby Belch, Malvolio, and Sir Andrew Aguecheek are Clem Chapple, Bob Lawrence, John Whittall, and Rod Smith.

Ann Derham, as Maria, maid to Olivia, contributes greatly to the color, vitality, and robust, vulgar humor of the action.

Employment of an apron stage, which extends well out into the audience, helps to give the play atmosphere of the Elizabethan theatre, and for the onlookers it makes it much easier, not only to see and hear the actors, but also to project oneself into the action.

The costumes, by Mallabar's of Montreal, are both colorful and effective, especially in the case of Feste, Orsino, Sir Toby, and Malvolio.

The play lighting is being handled by an ex-Bishop's student, Brian Taylor, while Carol Walden is in charge of costumes and John Marland directs the stage crew.

Admittance for the sparkling performance will be $1.50 for the general public, and 75 cents for high school students.

Judging by the high quality of past performances by Mr. Motyer and the Bishop's actors, the play should live up to the reputation as the most musical of all Shakespeare's works; a subtle symphony.

Malcolm X will form own Muslim movement

NEW YORK (AP)—Malcolm X, outspoken Black Muslim advocate of racial separation, has defected from the parent organization to form his own mosque to promote "active self-defence against white supremacists in all parts of the country."

Malcolm told The Associated Press today:

"I am still a Muslim. . . I intend to work on my own among American's 22,000,000 non-Muslim Negroes to convert them from non-violence to active self-defence against white supremacists in all parts of the country."

"It is not my desire to encourage them to follow me."

Malcolm once was considered heir-apparent to Hummad, who makes his headquarters in Chicago. He was head of the sect's New York city mosque and the group's leading spokesman.

SUSPENDED BY LEADER

Noted for his bitter verbal attacks on white people, Malcolm was suspended by Hummad last November after he said in a speech that president Kennedy's death was a case of "the chickens coming home to roost."

Commenting on his suspension, Malcolm said: "I have reached the conclusion that I can best spread Mr. Muhammad's message by staying out of the nation of Islam and continuing to work on my own. . ."

Fire damages Sherbrooke house; twenty people left homeless

Some twenty persons, including a family of 10 children were left homeless Saturday when fire seriously damaged a two-story house on Magog Street, in Sherbrooke.

The family of Xavier Blais, 12 in all, moved in with relatives in Lennoxville while Pierre Baron rented an apartment on King Street for his family.

The cause of the fire was described by fire officials as due to an overheated furnace, setting fire to tar paper.

The flames rose from the basement furnace and quickly spread to the first floor of the two-story brick building at 140 Magog Street.

Two calls were sent in to Sherbrooke fire department at 9:15 a.m. and four trucks were dispatched to the burning house.

Fire fighting operations were under the direction of Captain Roy and Lieutenants Fournier and Belisle.

It was brought under control in 10 minutes, and the men and vehicles were able to return to their stations one hour later.

No estimate of the damages have yet been made but fire officials said they would be moderate.

Damage to the contents of the building from fire and smoke was extensive.

The Red Cross was at the scene of the blaze and distributed food, clothing and bedding as well as other necessities to the victims of the blaze.

The second half of the program will open with the three gypsy songs by Johannes Brahms and continue with Ever lighter Grows my Slumber by Brahms; Schlegels Wetter and Stanchen by Richard Strauss; Le moulin by Gabriel Pierné; L'invitation au voyage by Henri Duparc; Plaisir d'amour by Johann Martini; Les chemins d'amour by Francis Poulenc; and the "Gypsy Song from Carmen, by Georges Bizet.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Leon Desruisseaux on March 11.

They were held at Provincial police cells in Sherbrooke during the night.

Two Jacques Cartier men and one Sherbrooke man were arrested last night and accused of trying to open soft drink vending machines at Magog. They were Marcel Gagne and Denis Couture of Jacques Cartier, and Guy Pélouquin of Sherbrooke.

One man was arrested immediately and two others tried to escape. Police shot at their car while they sped away from the scene. They left Magog in the direction of North Hatley and were caught in a farm driveway at Katevale by the Magog police at 5 a.m.

Another man was arrested in the Royal Restaurant at Magog for creating a public disturbance. He will appear at Sherbrooke Court this morning.

Violence is inadmissible when fighting for a cause

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Freedom in a democracy renders "violence inadmissible" when fighting for a cause, said Abbe Louis O'Neil professor at Laval University, when he addressed 150 people Friday night here.

L'Abbe O'Neil was the guest speaker at a supper given by the Cowansville Catholic School Commission in connection with Education Week, March 1 to March 7.

Speaking in English and French, the priest told the audience that "those who refuse to acknowledge the inadmissibility of violence in a free country are either criminals or have no consciences."

He labelled the current situation between the Separatists and the remainder of the nation as a "national conscience awakening," or awareness.

Speaking on the question, "Is Quebec's Face Changing," he said the current changes are probably the most important that have been taken to date.

The priest said he was one of the persons who considered separation as a "grave and serious phenomena."

He also stated that the issue of separatism doesn't worry him but "a few individual separatists" are causing the concern registering on the nation.

Asking his audience about admitting the advent of a revolution, L'Abbe O'Neil said "...but we must know why." "Is jurisdictional independence a worthy cause?" he asked. Then he stated that democratic liberties were also a justifiable cause.

He aimed a few pointers about present democracy directly to the audience: "a minimum security establishment of the state, order, social, economic balances, and human living conditions," and asked the audience if the separation wanted by some would "enhance these already existing conditions."

"It's too easy to ask for a revolution, want it, have it, and have others pay for it," he said.

He expressed hopes that economical advisers and experts would take the situation in hand and attempt to find a solution.

Remaining indifferent to changing situations in social patterns is one way of avoiding a situation that could be unpleasant, he suggested.

"This is one of the English-speaking public's notions that is partially responsible for the existing tension," added the priest. Let's hope they wake up before too long."

Before the supper engagement, L'Abbe O'Neil spoke on education, and in particular Bill 60, "which in itself is not without some faults," he said. "One example is the appointment method of the method of the Superior Council," he said, "but it'll be in applying this new legislation that we'll be better qualified to see the fine points and the mistakes, and then correct them, when the need arises."

He said Bill 60 was a compromise, "but a realistic one, and one we hope will speed progress."

Brome Pond cottages broken into BROME POND — (Staff) — Two more cottages in this summer residence area about six miles north of Sweetsburg were found to have been broken into last weekend.

Last Monday morning, W. Gratton, Sweetsburg, a rural route mailman discovered vandals had broken into his home and caused a considerable amount of damage.

This Friday, a Montrealeur came to his cottage, next to Mr. Gratton's and found his residence was ransacked of a tool-box, eight bottles of liquor, an electric heater, a new ski outfit, amounting to about $400. The furniture was also vandalized.

The second house broken into was the W. Gordon summer residence. No information was available on the damage to the Gordon home.

The Cowansville Quebec Provincial Police detachment are investigating the breaks.

COWANSVILLE DAM WITH-OUT CATWALK — Though not particularly visible in this photo, the absence of a catwalk over the dam of the river that cuts through the heart of Cowansville, was seen by many in the last three days. The catwalk, and other dam paraphernalia, was lobbed overboard after the pelting winds and rising waters forced the accumulated ice over the 20-foot drop last Thursday night.

Seal hunting continues; one dead, two are adrift

HALIFAX (CP) — Seal hunting Moncton has sent men to the area to enforce regulations on flight plans. "This should prevent any false alarms..." a spokesman said.

The RCAF has had to send planes from Summerside, P.E.I., and Greenwood, N.S., to look for missing aircraft and hunters.

Seal herds roam across Gulf ice pans which are continually shifting and breaking with changing currents and tides. Hunters based at the Magdalen Islands are flown to larger pans by helicopter or plane and spend the day hunting the harp and hooded seals.

The planes shuttle back and forth with pelts and carry the hunters back to the Magdalens at night.

HUNTER DROWNED

Conrad Longue, 21, of Fatima on Gull Island, the central island in the Magdalens group, drowned Saturday when the ice pan on which he was hunting apparently broke away from the main pan.

The latest missing hunters were reported adrift on a large cake of ice Sunday night after winds gusting to 70 miles an hour whipped the frozen gulf, snapping loose pans.

RCAF search and rescue here said the men were landed at the sealing grounds earlier in the day. Weather conditions deteriorated badly and winds rose to an average 50 miles an hour.

The pan was reported 10 miles off shore in the morning but was out of sight when the weather cleared later. An RCAF plane was looking for the men.

PLAN PRECAUTIONS

RCAF search and rescue and the department of transport have announced plans to take precautions in the flights of seal-hunting aircraft.

The air force has stationed a helicopter at the Magdalens and the transport department in

Citizens' committee seeks public notice in annexation issue

SWEETSBURG — (Staff) — The latest disturbance in the Sweetsburg - Cowansville annexations issue comes from the question - has there been any public publication of Cowansville's desire (in the form of a by-law) to annex a portion of Sweetsburg?

A spokesman for the Sweetsburg Citizens' Committee, formed about two months ago for the express purpose of fighting the annexation, said "we have not found proof that such a publication was ever posted."

The spokesman further replied that when the Sweetsburg Aldermen were asked at the March Council meeting if they ever saw notice of this annexation proposal, "they replied they hadn't."

"We were told that there had to be such a publication, according to law, for a period of at least six months in three locations each in Sweetsburg and in Cowansville."

The spokesman told The Record that the committee representative investigating this issue looked at the public posting board near the hospital, asked at the Post Office in Sweetsburg, and "in the Catholic

By TED BEAUDOIN (Record staff reporter)

Church records," and "found no record, or remnant of such a posting."

Asked if anyone investigated Cowansville locations, the spokesman replied, "we haven't come around to that yet."

What happens if it is found that the town of Cowansville did not post a public notice, as the spokesman says is required by law?

"We're waiting from a reply from our alderman as to whether they will assist us to continue to fight this problem," said the spokesman.

Meanwhile, the Cowansville Council, at its March meeting, took the problem of zoning the annexed portion of Sweetsburg into their hands.

The annexation was made in January, and that territory will be zoned Residential, Class 1, single family dwellings only.

Provisions have been made to revise this By-law 422 later if the need arises.

Also the 410 By-law, concerning Cowansville's desire to annex the remaining portion of Sweetsburg (according to the Sweetsburg Council's February meeting — "we couldn't survive alone now.") was given its second reading. A copy of this legislation attempt was sent to the Sweetsburg Council for their decision.

Sweetsburg will wait the 60-day period, it is speculated, before any move is made. If Sweetsburg doesn't reply within 60 days, then another petition might have to be circulated by Cowansville, if it still wants the rest of Sweetsburg.

If Sweetsburg rejects Cowansville's By-law 410, then the issue goes to a referendum.

Even though, petitioners are now sweeping the rest of Sweetsburg to obtain a petition asking for annexation.

A petition started a lot of controversy in Sweetsburg some time ago. It resulted, in part, in the formation of the Sweetsburg Citizens' Committee.

WEST SUTTON —

Weekend toll

Death count at 40

Two multiple fatality traffic accidents—six persons died in a Luskville, Que., road accident, five died in a Redditt, Ont., car-train collision—pushed the number of accidental deaths in Canada to at least 40 during the weekend.

The six persons who died Sunday at Luskville after their car plunged into a water-filled ditch 25 miles west of Hull brought Quebec's fatalities to 18—all attributed to traffic.

In Ontario, 10 persons died on the highways, two were drowned and one man slipped and fell on a road. The accident at Redditt, about 130 miles east of Winnipeg, occurred when the car in which the five victims were riding collided with a freight train Saturday.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday local times lists 36 persons dead in traffic accidents, two drownings, and two dead from falls.

All of the five fatalities reported in British Columbia were in road accidents and New Brunswick, with two fatalities, had one on the highways and a baby who fell from a second-floor porch.

Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan each had one traffic death.

No fatalities were reported in Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba or Alberta.

The survey does not include natural deaths, known suicides or industrial accidents.

TO STUDY COYOTE'S BRAIN — Prof. Graham Goddard of the University of Waterloo, Ont. holds one of two coyotes acquired recently from Saskatchewan for studies that may help man understand his own brain. Prof. Goddard explains that while it is almost impossible to experiment on the human brain, the animal brain has the same basic structure. The coyotes are caged in the back yard of Prof. Goddard's laboratory in a residential part of the city. Prof. Goddard says "I've told people in the area to call me at the first howl, no matter what time." (CP Photo)

TV lessons not whole answer, but a great help to students

Educational television is just another of the rapid advances in teaching across Canada in the last few years. By this method, students from all over the county can be taught at the same time by teachers who are expert in their field. This information is used mainly as enrichment of the courses taken in school and does not replace the valuable assistance given by each class teacher whose job it is to correlate the material of the program with that of the text-books.

There are many advantages in having these telecasts. The student is presented with information by teachers who are specialists in certain areas — Shakespeare or Dickens, for example. He is also given new ideas and suggestions for further research which will continue long after the program. He is confronted with questions and problems to which he must seek the answers on his own. In addition, the student is kept in contact with the latest developments in a subject like mathematics, shown earlier this year in a series by the Quebec department of education.

A number of things can be done by television teaching which are not possible to do in the classroom. In recent telecasts on Dickens' Great Expectations, effective use was made of lighting. Tall dark pillars were projected behind the reader as he described Miss Havisham's decaying, ivy-covered manor. Seated on a large, white block, he told of the long white table with the rotten, cobweb-covered cake for a centre-piece, and in the mind's eye that block became the table and the hideous "decoration" lay just beyond the screen. Then, a weird whirling pattern was created on the backdrop for the reading of a description of the cold, wet, windswept marsh and the weed-choked graveyard; the block became one of the many tombstones in one's imagination. Excellent use was also made of charts and diagrams which would have been too time-consuming for each teacher to make. Black-line sketches, reminiscent of those created for many of Dickens' novels when they were first published.

Grade 11, ADS High School

ed, were often used to illustrate points mentioned by the lecturers. These drawings are to be preferred to clips from the film or studio re-enactments, for each student's image of what each character looked like is not disturbed.

In addition to the lecture-type lessons previously mentioned, plays can be presented, bring to life the works of Shakespeare studied in the school. Recently well-known Canadian actors performed Shakespeare's Julius Caesar on the National School Telecasts. The clang of highly polished armour, the flash of sharp edged swords, the sweep of the angry toga-clad mobs, the glint of sunlight on cold white marble columns, the whole scent and atmosphere of ancient Rome were brought from the dusty and mildewed pages to living, breathing reality.

This is as close as the student can come to actually experiencing Julius Caesar as it was meant to be, other than viewing a live production which would undoubtedly be even better than on television. This is so because a dramatic intensity and a physical sensation, unattainable through a remote twenty-four inch screen, would be gained. Live performances, however, are not usually available to the student, and television makes up for it in the best way it can.

Sciences are not neglected. Students can be transported, by the use of television, to different areas of North America to see the earth spew forth great steaming columns of water in the form of geysers or to witness huge chunks of ice as they plunge into the churning ocean forming icebergs. Within a fifteen-minute period, the telecast can present film-clips of cyclones, raging hurricanes and thin black tornadoes, or all the different types of cloud formation which might take the student many months to see.

Students at ADS have been fortunate in having televisions on which to watch the programs mentioned above. All of us have come away with new ideas and increased interest in our lessons. For the present time, only a few subjects have been attempted on the telecasts. Due to the great advantages of this experiment which have been described, I predict a much more extensive use of educational television.

Reports given, collections displayed at Bedford Home and School meeting

BEDFORD — The monthly meeting of the Home and School Association, which was held Feb. 25, in the school gymnasium, was largely attended.

A short business meeting, preceding the program was conducted by the president, Mac Bradshaw. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Best, the minutes were read by the treasurer, Austin Campbell, who also presented the financial statement, showing a balance of $127.48 in the general fund and disbursements of $133.65, which included the purchase of a number of books for the library.

A much-appreciated donation to the Student Loan Fund was received from Mrs. R. Cook.

It was decided to observe Education Week with a tea, food sale and white elephant sale on March 6, commencing at 3.30 p.m. in the school. Arrangements will be in charge of the social convener, Mrs. M. S. McCaw.

It was announced that the March meeting would be held March 24, instead of on the last Tuesday in the month, due to the Easter holidays.

Mr. Kozt, program convener, announced that the annual art exhibition would be held at the March meeting, the subject to be, Our Door Life in the Eastern Townships. In addition, there will be an inter-class debate, Resolved that the Hydrogen bomb was the Worst Thing that could have happened to the World. Susan Palmer and Heather Blinco will uphold the affirmative, while John McCaw and Allan Bombard will uphold the negative.

Principal Kirwin gave a report of the trip by air, which the students of Grades X and XI took to Ottawa. The Home and School Association had voted $5 towards the trip expenses.

K. Kozt, chairman of the program committee, then took the meeting. The program was a hobby show, the townspeople and the school pupils excelled themselves with the large and varied display of articles. The two sailing boats, which had been set up complete with sails and owned by Mr. Kirwin and Jack Paton, were built by the owners.

Mr. Kirwin gave an interesting and enthusiastic talk on the building of the boats and the pleasures of sailing.

Two outstanding stamp exhibits were those of H. L. Stone and of Miss Margaret Cockerline, the former being of old Canadian stamps, the latter an attractive display of blocks of the latest issue of the Queen Elizabeth stamps.

Through the kindness of R. Robinson, who was twice a member of the Bisley team, 1956-58, a very fine rifle which he had built, was on display.

Mr. Robinson described the planning and work of assembling the rifle and the places from which the different parts of the rifle had come. As an example of his desire for perfection in all phases of gunnery, Mr. Robinson makes his own gun powder.

Douglas Lewis, of Clarenceville, a Grade XI student, had an exhibition of rocks and semi-precious stones, together with articles of jewellery, which he had made. A fossil, which he sent to the Redpath Museum, Montreal for classification, was millions of years old and had been obtained at Isle la Motte, Vt., which had once been covered by the Champlain Sea.

W. H. Taylor displayed an extensive coin collection of modern and old coins.

Included in the collection of paintings by local artists were pictures by Mrs. Mac Bradshaw, J. Davidson, Mrs. John Ewing, and Mrs. Greig Muir. Other exhibits were, one of ceramics from Mrs. R. W. Craighead, hand-painted trays, by Mrs. Ralph Van Horn and Mrs. Mac Bradshaw; embroidered pictures on velvet, by Mrs. Jack Paton; a cane chair and hand-tooled leather purse, by Mrs. William Jackson.

The students' exhibits were fighter plane models, by Glenn Jackson; a shell collection, by Jimmie Davidson; a collection of handmade colored candles made from beeswax, by Billy Craighead; braided potholders and knitting, Pam Davidson; a set of historical people (models), Peter Jackson; several paintings, by Darna Paton.

A very popular feature was the demonstration of work on a pottery wheel, by George Hutchison of Pike River, who had on display a number of articles. Mr. Hutchison gave much valuable information on the different kinds and preparation of various kinds of clay and the work which each was especially fitted for.

Pottery is one of the oldest crafts to be found in Canada, first done by the Indians. Red clay is found in Missisquoi County, but there is a wider selection of clay to be found in Ontario.

This demonstration, given during the serving of refreshments by the mothers of Grade IV pupils, brought the meeting to a close.

The president expressed thanks to Mr. Kozt for a most successful evening.

Marymount girls split with L.P.S. juniors win, seniors lose finals

Marymount High girls basketball teams split a twin bill played at L.P.S. during the week-end with the Juniors winning the championship while the Seniors lost 23-17 to take the Sherbrooke Basketball League junior girls' championship.

In this Junior tilt, L.P.S. took a surprising lead in the first quarter with a 6-0 score. However by halftime, the score read 16-10 in favor of the visitors as they came up with a surprising second quarter rally in their efforts to clinch the league title. Elizabeth Therrien stood out for Marymount at this time as she scored eight of the 16 points. L.P.S. had a more balanced team as regards scoring but could not overcome their tough opponent.

As play resumed in the second frame, scoring was light as each team marked for few points. Marymount tallying for four while L.P.S. for five. Terry McKenna and Elizabeth Therrien played well for the visiting Marymount as they registered for most of their points. In the fourth quarter, action became light as Marymount saw that they now had the victory tucked away. Marymount overpowered L.P.S. in this last quarter emerging the victors in this contest with a score of 27-17. The Senior contest was quite different however, as L.P.S. moved ahead with a commanding opening lead in the first quarter. It appeared for awhile that a shutout in basketball would occur as they set the score 11-0 in the first frame. Although Marymount could not put the ball through the net, they nevertheless did play well. In the second quarter, they marked for three points, thus breaking the shutout. They did, in fact, outscore L.P.S. as they only tallied for two points. Susan Allnutt scored the three Marymount points.

Once again in the second half, they fell into the scoreless slump while their hosts scored four. By the last quarter, they picked up, getting out of the slump, but not enough to outscore the hosts. They registered for 10 points as compared to four for L.P.S. Tallying up the total, the results came in favour of L.P.S. with a score of 21-13. Outstanding players for the victors were Anne Dunsmore and Nicole Dufresne as the former scored half of the total while the latter handled the ball well. Noreen Keenan played well for Marymount, scoring six points.

Rangers top and tie Habs as Plante shines in nets

Jake the Snake has struck back. The sting dropped the Montreal Canadiens two points out of first place in the National Hockey League.

The Canadiens have tormented Jacques Plante since the start of the season, bombarding their former teammate with 40 or more shots a game and beating him and the New York Rangers nine out of 11 times.

But Plante got even during the weekend, using his goal-tending skill as a weapon of revenge as the Rangers took three of a possible four points from the Canadiens in a home-and-home series. New York won 3-2 at Montreal Saturday night and the teams played to a scoreless tie Sunday evening in Manhattan.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Black Hawks dropped Toronto 4-3 in their only weekend game and moved two points ahead of Montreal in the standings. The third-place Leafs set back Detroit 4-2 Saturday night but the

Wings climbed within two points of Toronto again by beating Boston 5-3 Sunday night. PLANTE BOMBARDED
Ahead 3-2 going into the final period, the Rangers fell apart and left Plante open to a 17-shot barrage. But the masked marvel turned them back and New York scored its first win on Montreal ice this season.

On Sunday, Plante made 33 saves and stopped dead-on drives by Henri Richard, Bobby Rousseau and Claude Provost in the final period as a Madison Square Garden crowd of 14,816 watched the first scoreless draw in that city since 1955.

Charlie Hodge made 22 saves to post his eighth shutout of the season. He faced 21 drives on Saturday but Bob Nevin, Donnie Marshall and Jim Neilson counted as the Canadiens defence let him down. Bill Hicke and Rousseau scored for Montreal.

Montreal still has two games in hand over the Hawks, but NHL titles are won on the ice, not on paper. The Canadiens now have been winless in four straight games.

The Hawks moved in front as Kenny Wharram saved the day for the second straight Sunday. After beating Montreal with a goal in the dying minutes last week, Wharram scored in the final period Sunday night to down the Leafs.

It was his second goal of the night and his 38th this season.

BIG M GETS TWO
Eric Nesterenko opened the scoring for Chicago but Frank Mahovlich's 21st and 22nd goals of the season—the second the 200th of his career—gave the Leafs a 2-1 lead after one period.

The Hawks fought back with Bobby Hull's 40th goal and the Leafs went ahead again on Andy Bathgate's 18th. Wharram then went to work, scoring at 13:33 of the second to tie the

NHL Big Seven

Chicago's Stan Mikita picked up two assists Sunday night to take a five-point lead over teammate Bobby Hull in the National Hockey League scoring race and set a club record.

The stylish Black Hawks centre now has 36 goals and 49 assists for 85 points—one more than the team record Hull established in 1961-62.

Hull scored his 40th goal of the season in the Sunday night 4-3 win over Toronto to move to the 80-point level, seven more than third-place Jean Beliveau of Montreal.

Toronto's Andy Bathgate earned three assists and scored once during the weekend to move into a tie with Kenny Wharram of Chicago at 69 points. Wharram scored twice, his 37th and 38th goals of the campaign.

The leaders:

Wharram, Chicago 69

Oliver, Boston 61

game and at 4:39 of the final to win it.

Don Simmons kicked out 35 shots in the Toronto net while Glenn Hall handled only 20 saves, but fell one goal behind Hodge in the race for the Vezina Trophy.

It was an individual's performance in Boston, too, as Norm Ullman scored three times to rally the Red Wings from a 3-0 deficit. Johnny Bucyk had scored twice and Dean Prentice once as the Bruins went ahead 3-0 by the second minute of the middle period but Detroit didn't die.

Ullman scored twice and rookie Paul Henderson got his first goal in 19 games as the Wings tied it in the second frame. Ullman's 19th of the year and Kelly's 12th of the year ahead 4-3 at 2:39 of the final frame and Irwin Spencer added an insurance marker.

LEAFS BEAT WINGS
The Wings didn't fare as well Saturday when they ran into the Leafs and Coach Punch Imlach's new combination of Andy Bathgate, Dave Keon and Don McKenney.

Imlach has been toying around with the two former Rangers since he suited them in Leaf uniforms and seemed to find success as McKenney scored twice.

The Wings pressed the Leafs, outshooting them 40-26, but Johnny Bower was up for the occasion in the Leaf nets and got additional help from the posts, a target Detroit shooters hit frequently.

It might prove a costly loss for Detroit. Bruce MacGregor injured his knee when checked by robust Bob Baun and the Wings also played Sunday without Parker MacDonald, who has a virus infection.

Granby Vics shade Sherbrooke break 3-0 Beaver lead to win

GRANBY — Two goals in the final minute of play gave the Granby Vics a 4-3, come-from-behind, victory in the first game of the Provincial Hockey league play-offs. Johnny "on the spot" Mentis, star forward of the Vics was the big gun in the Vics win as he got the tying goal and assisted on the winner. Twenty five hundred spectators were on hand for the game. The two teams got it again tomorrow evening at the Sherbrooke Arena, tickets for the game will go on sale this evening.

The game opened up at a fast clip and Payette was the first goalie in action stopping Rene Pepin's shot, then Groulx was busy saving from Gagne. On the next play in the Granby zone, Gagne was banished for tripping. The Beavers with the odd man advantage kept the play in the Granby zone and Payette had to be good on shots from Cardin and Dube. Charbonneau almost opened the scoring for Granby as he broke away from the Beavers power attack but Groulx came up with a big save. Gagne returned to the ice before any scoring was done.

The Dube - Bedard - Drouin line was giving the homestays lots of trouble when they were on the ice and this line clicked for the opening goal of the game after eight minutes play. Bob Bedard, in behind the Granby net, passed out to Vics player Robidas took possession at the blue line. He lost the puck to Gilles Dube. The shot was deflected by Payette for the goal by Dube.

Granby, rattled by this setback, took up the attack and both Charbonneau and Lambo were stopped by Groulx. Cardin and Gagne were each given minors and Majors for roughing and fighting at the thirteen minutes mark of the period. Both teams had severe scoring chances, on one occasion a great defensive play by Lambo when three men broke in on him prevented the Beavers from going further ahead. Rene Pepin put the Beavers two-up, scoring unassisted near the end of the period.

The Beavers went three-up after four minutes play of the second period Bob Bedard scoring on passes from Nadeau and Drouin.

Shortly after the goal Bedard went off for high sticking and the Vics power play came close to getting their first goal. They did get it as J. Gagne put in the clear by Robidou scored from close in. The Vics were keeping up the pressure now and Groulx was the busy man. Cardin went off for high sticking later and again the Vics had the man advantage but it was nullified as Gagne was banished.

Samson, with an unassisted goal, put the Vics back in the game and it was nip and tuck for the remainder of the period. The Vics went on the offensive from the starting whistle.

Sir George Williams beats Bishop's but Gaiters top Macdonald College

This past weekend in Ottawa, the Bishop's University basketball Gaiters won the consolation round of OSLAA league championships, losing 90-48 to Sir George Williams University, on Friday night, and then edging Macdonald College 62-61 on Saturday afternoon.

The regular league schedule wound up just over a week ago, with Carleton University, hosts for the recent title games, placing first, followed by the Georgians, Bishop's and Macdonald's Aggies. However, in the final championship tilt on Saturday, Sir George upset the home-team Ravens 78-69. The Ravens had moved into the final round by beating Mac, but in doing so they hurt their chances for the title, losing star guard Cliff Lebrun when he picked up a painful elbow splinter against the Aggies.

Georgian standout Warren Sutton, a 6'4" American basketball wizard, was without any doubt the main attraction in the weekend games, as he was throughout the season.

Though he netted a below-average 18 points against Bishop's on Friday night, he set up many of his team-mates for easy baskets in that match, and against Carleton he exploded for 39 points. Facing the team with the best defensive record in the league, and second best in the country, this is no mean feat.

The Gaiters were clearly outclassed in their game with the Sir George squad, and they were behind 44-28 at the half. Bill Forward was the only player for Bishop's who managed to hit in the double figures, as he continued his late season scoring spree by netting 17 points. Three Georgians, Sutton, Igaz, and Collyer all made better than 15 points apiece to pace the Montreal team.

Against Mac, Bishop's was 61.

hard-pressed to keep up with their spirited opponents, being down ten points at several times during the game. They were behind 33-31 at the half, closing the first twenty minutes of play with a burst of scoring to close the score to this level. They had to do the same thing late in the game, as mid-way through the final frame they were eleven points short of the Aggies, but fought back for the victory. The winning two points came on a pair of foul shots by guard "Butch" Staples. At the time the clock showed just thirty seconds remaining.

Center Keith Mills was the scoring leader for the Gaiters, counting 19, while Staples added 14. Bruce Bristowe chipped in 12 to the winning cause.

On the strength of their third place finish in the league for 1962-63, the Gaiters seem to be in good shape for next year, despite the graduation this spring of guards Bruce Bristowe and Bob Coates, and center Pete Crosby. The biggest need will be a ball-handling guard to replace Bristowe, who handled much of the dribbling chores for Bishop's in his two years on the varsity team.

BISHOP'S—Forward 17, Bristowe 8, Mills 6, Barr 4, Coates 4, Coates 3, Appleby 2, Leveque 2, Staples 1, Stuart, Oldfield. Total—48.

SIR GEORGE—Sutton 18, Collyer 17, Igaz 15, Barkum 10, Green 10, Brian 6, Habert 6, Wolf 4, Loftros 4. Total—90.

BISHOP'S—Mills 19, Staples 14, Bristowe 12, Forward 7, Appleby 6, Coates 2, Leveque 2, Barr 4, Stuart, Crosby. Total—62.

MACDONALD—Armitage 20, Dickie 17, Dunn 9, Badger 7, Marshall 6, Boyd 2. Total—61.

Race said toughest ever held in Canada

MAGOG — (Special) — Sunday's combined giant slalom race held at Mt. Orford was described by Arnold Midgley, C.A.S.A. technical chairman and FIS delegate, as the toughest course ever run in Canada to his knowledge. The Adams Memorial, one of the top three scoring ski events held annually in Eastern Canada drew over 100 entries, but saw only three-quarters of the racers finish.

Run off the famous Three Creeks downhill on Mt. Orford, a hard icy base, the Canadian Olympic National Team took top honors, with Peter Duncan winning the coveted Adams Trophy, and Nancy Green of B.C. earning the Bowen Trophy for best woman entry.

Scheduled as a two day event, with a slalom course on Saturday and downhill on Sunday, rain stalled plans, which resulted in one of the toughest races ever seen, and described by some critics as one of the fastest giant slaloms imaginable.

Top time was that of Peter Duncan, who did the mile run in 1:40.4, trailed by Willie Forner, who skis for the Swiss National Team and was entered under the Mt. Echo banner, with a time of 1:42.2. Third, fourth and fifth in men went to Red Hebron with 1:42.6, Jean-Guy Brunet with 1:45.0, and Bob Swan with 1:45.2.

Ability of the Junior-A racers was exemplified, when Currier Chapman of Ottawa topped his class with 1:52.3, followed by Bob Laverdure of Orford with 1:59.5 and Andre Pomerleau of Theoford with 1:59.8.

In Men's Junior-B, Dan Gibson of Lyndonville held a 2:12.1, while a second was picked up by Erick Douglas of Lyndonville with 2:14.2.

Nancy Green of Rossland, B.C., a feminine young lady, with the finest skiing techniques chalked up record time of

Jimenez 4 days late for training excuse was fighting in revolution

BRANDENTON, Fla. (AP)—Manny Jimenez, Kansas City Athletics' young outfielder from the Dominican Republic reported to training at the Athletics' camp Sunday, four days late. It cost him $200.

Asked why he was late, the 25-year-old Jimenez replied: "I have to fight in revolution."

Manager Eddie Lopat, who assessed the fine, countered:

"I don't see any bullet holes in you."

"I too good a shot," Manny explained. "They no get to me. There are no taxis. They no like taxis. They shoot at them. I have to walk to airport, take back trails."

Now all students of current events know that revolutions occur in the Dominican almost as often as the Mets lose ball games. But if there was an uprising in the republic recently, Jimenez reached the United States before word of the revolution did. Perhaps that's why

MID-SEASON LEADER

The Dominican native was involved in another kind of revolution in 1962. As the season rolled along in July, Jimenez was leading the American League with a .350 batting average.

Then owner Charles O. Finley stepped into the picture. He told Hank Bauer, then managing the team:

"I don't pay Jimenez to hit singles. Jimenez is a smart Cuban, and he's going for singles, and a better average. You get him in your office and get another Cuban to interpret and bang your fist on the desk. We'll see what happens."

Everyone saw what happened. The end of the season his average dropped to .301, and hit only 11 home runs.

Last season was even worse. Manny split his time between Kansas City and Portland of the Pacific Coast League. He batted .280 and didn't have a homer in

ROCKY A HOLDOUT

Another Kansas City outfielder, Rocky Colavito, is engaged in a salary dispute with Finley. The former Detroit star is reported to want $54,000, the same amount he earned last year with Detroit Tigers. Finley, Colavito said Sunday night, has offered him $47,500.

"I am not asking for a raise," the slugger said at his Temple, Pa., home. "He (Finley) is trying to cut me $6,500... I am definitely not moving from here until I sign my contract or come to an agreement."

In Sunday's exhibition games, Willie Mays cracked the first home run in the new Phoenix Municipal Stadium as San Francisco Giants whipped Cleveland Indians for the second time in two days 6-2. The Giants won Saturday 4-2.

Chicago Cubs' a team downed Boston Red Sox 9-6 with Don Landrum getting five hits for the winners. The Cubs' B team dropped a 4-2 decision to Los Angeles Angels.

New York Mets completed their three-game stay in Mexico City by whipping an all-star team 9-4. The Mets won two of the three games.

Remember when...

Former world light-heavyweight boxing champion Mike McTigue lasted only two minutes against the Spaniard Isidoro Castanaga in an attempted comeback at Havana 34 years ago tonight. The Irishman had won the title from Senegalese Siki in Dublin on St. Patrick's Day in 1923 and lost it to Paul Berlenbach in 1925.

son's rink in a very close game by a score of 8-6. On the tenth and final end, with the score 7-6 in his favor, and Jackson laying two well guarded, Humbert went to the back to throw the last stone of the game and laid a perfect draw in the house to take the match and top honors of the event.

The Humbert rink gained a berth in the finals by defeating the Andy Swan foursome in the semi-finals 7-6 on an extra end.

Jackson won his place in the finals by downing Les Doucet's rink of Magog 15-2 in the afternoon round. The dark-horse quartet of the bonspiel was Andy Swan's team, which included Mrs. Swan, Don and Mrs. Bourne. This rink knocked out the strong Maurice Sears team of Windsor 9-8. J. Allworth of North Hatley 10-8, W. Fuller of Sherbrooke 7-6, Dr. J. A. Dion of Sherbrooke 8-2 before losing to Humbert in a close and most interesting game which thrilled the large crowd present greatly. In the second event with the Canadian Liquid Air Trophy going to the winning rink Ivan Lavallee's four were in control throughout turning back the A. Pocock rink of the Border Club 12-1 after nine ends. Mr. Lavallee's rink entered the finals through defeating the P. Cross group of Sherbrooke 10-5, while the Pocock rink won over K. Scott of Lennoxville 11-5 in the other semi-final.

In the consolation game Leo Doucet Magog defeated K. Scott of Lennoxville 14-3.

Gerry Armstrong, President of the Sherbrooke Curling Club presided at the ceremony that followed the games and after thanking the teams that took part, thus making it possible to have had such a large and interesting bonspiel, as well as in sending thanks to the press and those who assisted in the organizing and running of the whole affair, he called on Wyatt Johnson, manager of the Balfour Company to present the Company Trophy to Skip Humbert along with the prizes to the finalists of the event. AT REST

As Tribute to a Man of worth
These humble lines I pen,
— A Priest who served long years on earth
So well, his Fellow-Men.

For him the sands of Time have run
And days on earth are o'er;
A new and fuller Life begun
And rest for evermore.

Self-sacrifice, humility,
And courage, day by day,
Were attributes his Friends could see
Across Life's changing way.

Through Death he is released from pain
And all that mars the Soul;
Our loss is but his mighty gain
In new Eternal role.

Now earthly Crosses are no more
And 'tis our earnest Prayer,
He meets those loved ones gone before
And joys Eternal share.

To those who mourn his absence here
Let this thought e'er abide:
In Spirit he is still so near — Though west of "Great Divide".

(A Token of respect and remembrance, to the late Rev. Canon Ernest Raymond Roy, who entered into rest, February 23rd, 1964).

Address given on Anglican Congress and slides viewed at Ayer's Cliff

AYER'S CLIFF — Mrs. T. Browning introduced the guest speaker and welcomed the ladies present. Mrs. Matthews began her address by quoting some of the questions which were asked about the Congress by members of the Anglican Church, as well as outsiders, such as: Why was the Congress held and also Was it worthwhile bringing so many people so far to discuss various aspects of the church business?

The answer was that the Congress felt definitely it was worthwhile in its searching look given to its relation to the modern world, its relation to other Christian churches and its relation to individual members.

Mrs. Matthews said the Congress was convened on the invitation of the Canadian Churches, Cardinals, bishops and laymen from many countries attended, and the speaker told of the feeling of friendliness and warmth which pervaded the whole Congress.

The feeling that the body of Christ, the church, must be all one and that the day must come when, in the distant future, there would be unity of spirit. It was also felt that the church was for the lay people and not only for the clergy.

There was a definite feeling too of great urgency, Mrs. Matthews said, to recognize our brotherhood not only in our givings out in our receiving from others that the great lesson of union, peace and brotherhood of man be realized.

Following the address, slides of various scenes at the congress were shown, with Canon H. C. Denton in charge of the projector.

Mrs. Royce Martin thanked Mrs. Matthews.

Tea was served by the members of the Guild and visiting was enjoyed.
