World News In Brief

Warsaw, Poland, Oct. 27—(AP)—Almost 100 per cent of the eligible voters turned out for a single-state election for the communist-ruled parliament, the press announced today. Some districts reported a 100 per cent turnout yesterday to vote for the national front (communist) ticket. There were no opposition candidates.

The balloting approved lists of previously selected candidates, 425 sejm (parliament) members and 194 deputy members. They will serve four years. It was the first sejm chosen under Poland's new constitution, adopted three months ago.

Warrington, England, Oct. 27—(AP)—The United States air force has put the entire city of Manchester out of bounds for American airmen because of two recent gang attacks on U.S. service personnel.

Brig.-Gen. Robert C. Oliver, commander of the big U.S. air depot at nearby Bartonwood, said the ban would stay in effect until further notice.

Manchester, city of 735,000 and Britain's cotton capital, has been the scene of frequent communist party demonstrations against the stationing of American airmen in Britain.

Lisbon, Oct. 27—(Reuters)—Hundreds of swallows trapped by the early winter were flown here in a Scandinavian airways plane from Frankfurt, west Germany, and released in Portugal. They were picked up from streets, roofs and trees in various parts of west Germany by a society for the protection of animal life.

Lewis Orders Striking Mine Workers To Return To Pits After Appeal By Truman

Philippines Are Lashed By Typhoon

Manila, Oct. 27—(AP)—A raging typhoon — the second in six days — plowed a trail of destruction across the central Philippines today.

Path of the new storm was south of the populous areas leveled by the typhoon which last week took nearly 450 lives.

As the storm lashed Samar, northern Leyte and Masbate islands this morning and headed over the Sibuyan sea, its velocity slackened from 150 to 100 miles an hour.

A U.S. B-29 weather plane from Clark air force base, north of Manila, was missing after it flew into the typhoon 200 miles east of Samar yesterday. There were 15 aboard.

The big blow caused extensive crop damage but early reports mentioned no casualties.

It was expected to cross southern Mindoro islands tonight and blow into the south China sea.

Miami, Fla., Oct. 27—(AP)—A Caribbean hurricane that ripped across Cuba with 165-mile-an-hour winds appeared to be losing force as it swung eastward in the Atlantic today.

It still was considered a potentially dangerous storm with maximum winds about hurricane force (75 miles an hour) and the Miami weather bureau said shipping in its path should exercise caution.

Tokyo, Oct. 27—(AP)—Northern Honshu quivered through 85 light earthquakes last night and sent terrified Japanese fleeing to the mountains.

No damage was reported, except to the nerves.

Inhabitants of coastal areas scurried to the mountains in fear of tidal waves. The government observatory said their fears were groundless.

Moscow, Oct. 27—(AP)—Pravda gave Russian readers a high-angle summary today of the U.S. Presidential campaign, calling both Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Adlai Stevenson "true servants of American monopolies."

President Appeals To U. M. W. President To Call Off Strike Pending Decision On Wage Demands.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27—(AP)—John P. Busarello, president of District 5, United Mineworkers, announced today he had received a telegram from U.M.W. president John L. Lewis requesting all district miners to return to work "at once."

Busarello said Lewis's telegram ordered a work resumption at once "in the best interest of the mine workers and the public."

The telegram noted that a decision on the miners pay boost is pending but added that resumption of mining is necessary.

Lewis asked Busarello to spread the word among the 55,000 miners in his district, asking them to return to the pits immediately.

Busarello said he expected some miners to be able to re-enter the mines for the 4 p.m. shifts.

"We're trying to get word to the miners as fast as possible," he said.

Mau Maus Murder Another African

Nairobi, Kenya, Oct. 27—(Reuters)—Police announced here today that another Mau Mau murderer had been discovered at Nanyuki, 125 miles north of Nairobi.

The body of an African named Ndundo Dishon, last seen a week ago, was taken to a thicket where a Mau Mau ceremony had been held. The police said 10 suspects had been arrested.

Police also reported today that 39 Africans were arrested at a Mau Mau meeting two nights ago near a bush country near Sagati. Mau Mau means "the hidden ones."

But generally the situation was quiet though tense in this British colony, threatened by a native rebellion.

Since authorities opened their campaign of mass arrests in a "get-tough" policy against the Mau Mau, thousands of tribesmen have fled from the cities to the mountains. There is widespread fear they may be organizing a revolt there.

An air spotter pilot returned to base today to report he had seen a gathering of about 100 tribesmen in a clearing in the mountains. The tribesmen come from the Kikuyu tribe, Kenya's most advanced.

U.S. Marines Recapture "The Hook" In Hand-To-Hand Fight With Reds

Seoul, Korea, Oct. 27—(AP)—Fighting with fists, grenades, bayonets and rifle butts, United States Marines today recaptured "the Hook," main target of a Chinese Red attack which punctured allied lines in western Korea.

The communists Sunday knocked a hole in the U.N. lines and seized one end of the Hook, killing an estimated 300 Reds.

"They dug them out of the bunkers and trenches and ran them back with grenades and rifles," the officer said.

After savage hand-to-hand fighting, the Marines secured the fish hook-shaped mile-long ridge northeast of Panmunjom. Allied tanks and planes pounded the Reds during the furious battle.

The Reds poured 17,000 rounds of mortar and artillery fire on one end of the Hook from dusk Sunday to dusk Monday.

Farneti said the Reds and Leathernecks "at times were actually wrestling in the trench lines."

By nightfall the Marines had recaptured all but two or three outposts guarding the Hook.

The communists Sunday knocked a hole in the U.N. lines and seized one end of "the Hook," a mile-long ridge northeast of Panmunjom.

The Red attack opened with a thunderous artillery barrage. Then about 2,000 Chinese swarmed across the three-mile front. They overran three of five allied outposts guarding the fish hook-shaped ridge.

The Marines withdrew from two of the positions.

The main Red blow was seven miles northeast of allied-held Bunker Hill, where bloody fighting raged earlier this fall. A staff officer said there was no action on Bunker Hill.

From the central front, AP correspondent John Randolph reported Chinese troops made brief stab attacks at U.N. positions on Triangle and Sniper ridge, scene of bitter fighting last week.

Allied forces Sunday beat back 400 North Korean Reds who attacked Heartbreak ridge, on the eastern front. The Reds made several problems in the same area Monday.

A North Korean communique claimed heavy western front fighting last week at little Gibraltar Hill, west of Chorwon, resulted in 230 casualties to the 25th Canadian brigade. A Canadian army spokesman said the communique was "grossly exaggerated."

"We haven't got the final figures on the casualties for publication yet, but I am certain they are nowhere near that number."

5 Killed In Manitoba Accident

Ethelbert, Man., Oct. 27—(AP)—Five members of one family were killed and a sixth severely injured yesterday when their car rammed a cement pillar at the Garland Creek bridge on No. 10 highway eight miles north of Ethelbert.

Ethelbert is 38 miles north of Dauphin.

The victims were: William Kozarchuk, 56, of Venlaw, Man., his wife, Dora, 52, two sons, John, 22, and Morris, 12, and a daughter, Victoria, 15.

Only family survivor was 10-year-old Walter Kozarchuk, who is in Ethelbert hospital. He suffered fractures of the skull, leg and arm.

By The Canadian Press

Accidents claimed the lives of 23 persons in Eastern Canada during the week-end. Of these 17 died in traffic accidents and five from other causes.

Ontario had the highest total with 15, of which 12 were traffic and three were other causes. Nova Scotia followed with two traffic and two others, and Quebec had three traffic and one hunting fatality, a survey showed early today.

Quebec deaths: Emmanuel L'Heureux, 34, of St. Denis de Richelieu, struck by a car while walking near his home; Florian Blanchette, 27, of Montreal, when the truck he was driving collided with an auto in the city; Real Doudmont, 21, of St. Alexandre de Kamouraska, when his auto smashed into the rear of a parked truck near St. Alexandre, 60 miles east of Quebec; W. R. Pope, of Ayer's Cliff, accidentally shot.

Censorship Is Criticized

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 27—(Reuters)—The Melbourne Herald today criticized military censorship in Korea for preventing identification of the British Commonwealth unit engaged in the battle for little Gibraltar Hill last week.

Describing the censorship as "over rigid," the Herald said editorially: "The censorship allows the publication of the news that one company of the British Commonwealth division was practically wiped out, but withholds identification of this company."

"Relatives of every British, Australian and Canadian soldier serving in one of the 50-odd companies of the division are exposed to harrowing anxiety."

The unit involved must have been identified by the enemy forces and there is no point in withholding the information from our own people."

"We haven't got the final figures on the casualties for publication yet, but I am certain they are nowhere near that number."

Forest Fire Loss Heavy In U.S.A.

Chicago, Oct. 27—(AP)—The weather forecast today held forth no hopes for rain in 15 or more states ravaged by drought-induced forest and brush fires.

Except for snow flurries in the Great Lakes region and colder air moving south and east through the Dakotas, Indian summer continued in the eastern United States.

Heavy, soaking rains were needed over hundreds of square miles to relieve tinder-dry conditions in woodlands and plains where thousands of men fought hundreds of fires—many of them out of control.

"Very dangerous conditions" were reported throughout rural New England, where open fires and smoking were banned, some forests were closed to the public, and officials were surveying whether other forest should be closed.

The affected states are Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Thousands of acres are blackened and more are threatened by blazes in Virginia and West Virginia. Foresters report "very critical" conditions in Arkansas, Kentucky and Ohio.

Other states reporting dire need to a "soaker" to help fight fires breaking out in areas virtually rainless for a month are Illinois, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Missouri.

Vishinsky Speech On Korea Is Awaited By UN Members

United Nations, N.Y., Oct. 27—(AP)—The United Nations Assembly rounds out its second week today on a note of nervous expectancy, hoping but doubtful that Russia will give the word to break the Korean truce talks deadlock.

A pronouncement by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, before the scheduled Assembly political committee this afternoon could provide the Russian answer.

But during the week-end Vishinsky kept the U.N. in doubt even on whether he would speak today in answer to the long Indictment of Russia in the Korea war, voiced last Friday by the U.S. Secretary of State, Dean Acheson.

Waiting for Vishinsky, other delegates kept their names off the debate list.

The Assembly itself meets again today to decide a new east-west struggle—the clash between U.S.-backed Yugoslavia and Soviet-sponsored Czechoslovakia for a vacancy on the U.N. economic and social council.

They were deadlocked in 10 ballots Saturday after five other council vacancies were filled quickly. Yugoslavia came from behind on the third ballot and was within one vote of the needed two-thirds majority—40 votes—on the 10th ballot.

In the political committee, delegates want to hear whether the Soviet Union—accused by Acheson of actual control of North Korea—before and since its invasion of South Korea—is ready to agree that war prisoners should not be returned to the communist lines against their will.

Acheson served notice in his statement bolstering a 21-nation appeal for agreement on an armistice that the U.N. allies would always oppose forcible repatriation.

Acheson said if the Assembly votes the armistice appeal and the Reds do not heed it, then the U.N. must consider how to strengthen for further resistance.

Communists Beaten Up By Iranians

Tehran, Iran, Oct. 27—(AP)—Spectators beat up communist demonstrators who shouted "down with the Shah" at a sports exhibition yesterday in honor of the Shah's 32nd birthday.

Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, the country's ruler, witnessed the exhibition at a stadium.

Foreign Minister Hossein Farneti told reporters that "one or two" suspicious characters were arrested. Unofficial reports put the number at from 25 to 100.

The demonstrators had passed around leaflets asking support for the Tudeh (communist) party. The party is outlawed in Iran but its members have been coming into the open.

Premier Mohammad Mossadegh received from the Shah's office today a request that elections for a senate be held as early as possible. A letter said that Iran's constitutional regime must never be "on a holiday."

The senate was voted out of office last week by the Majlis (lower house), which held that the constitution provides only a two-year term for senators.

Farneti said elections would be held as soon as "arrangements" could be completed.

Outcome Of U.S. Election Is Difficult To Predict

 New York, Oct. 27—(AP)—No one can visit the United States today without being impressed by its prosperity.

Taxes are high, the prices of almost everything are sharply higher than when this writer last was here in 1950, the Korean war and its 20,000 American dead cast a shadow over the land.

Yet there is no doubt that the Democratic slogan of the Presidential election campaign—"You've never had it so good"—appeals to many voters.

Republicans who admit to doubt as to the outcome Nov. 4th ask: Will the people throw out the administration in the midst of the prosperity that is America's in 1952?

The Democrats hammer constantly on the theme that the Republicans somehow will take all this away. Politicians say the campaign of Adlai E. Stevenson has gained steam since he began to blast the Republicans as the "party of depression."

On the other hand, a neat listing of Republican charges is: Korea, communism and corruption. They demand a change on these grounds.

The Korean war needn't have happened. The administration can't end what it failed to prevent. One investigation after another has shown that communists and

Rearmament Need Voiced By Wilgress

Toronto, Oct. 27—(AP)—Dana Wilgress, under-secretary of state for external affairs, said today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be able to accomplish its non-military objectives "when we reach that plateau of rearmament on which real security is found."

He said in an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian Club of Toronto that in concentrating on N.A.T.O.'s military goals "we have not been able to devote as much attention as we would wish to the non-military objectives of the North Atlantic Treaty."

Mr. Wilgress, who represented Canada in Moscow, Bern and London during the last 10 years, said the North Atlantic treaty "has become the main base of Canadian foreign policy."

That did not mean Canada had lost interest in United Nations. But N.A.T.O. was a measure of collective self-defence permitted under the U. N. charter in the face of a very real threat of aggression.

Good progress had been made in N.A.T.O.'s first objective—"providing for our own security." But defensive strength could not proceed "unmindful of the economic effects of concentrating efforts on the building up of armies, air forces and navies."

Because these economic effects could not be foreseen, an annual review of the military objectives was provided for.

"This annual review is now under way in Paris. Some newspapers are already speculating that the results will reveal a failure on the part of N. A. T. O. to reach its objectives."

"This may be so in absolute terms but I am confident that any deficiency will be relatively small and should be assessed against the magnitude of the collective efforts," Mr. Wilgress said.

The United Nations remained "the only forum where east and west can meet," and the only forum of universal international cooperation.

However, three cleavages have become apparent in the U.N. One was the lack of desire for peace on a basis of freedom which divides east and west.

"It has been the lack of co-operation on the part of the Soviet Union that is chiefly responsible for the failure of the United Nations to fulfill the high hopes that were held for it at the time the charter was signed."

The second split was between developed and under-developed nations and the third between anti-colonial countries and those with dependent territories.

He warned that the "have-not" and anti-colonial countries should remember the danger of unconsciously seconding the efforts of the Soviet Union to bring about disunity in the western world.

"Those states which have not got responsibility for the exercise of power should always bear in mind that some of their aspirations cannot be realized owing to the fact that we lack the peaceful co-operation of blocs of states led by the Soviet Union."

"The principal obstacle to the kind of life these countries would like to lead is the threat from eastern Europe—a threat to them no less than to any one of us."

Hollywood—Exclusively Yours: Lana Turner and Ava Gardner may be palsy-walsy, as they claim, but one of them—I'm not saying which one—beefed to MGM about a printed report that the other might star in a flicker she had staked out for herself. No love lost professionally.
Incidentally, now that Lana and Fernando Lamas are holding grudges instead of hands, Lex Barker will be calling Lana for dates.
Deanna Durbin's announced return to Hollywood and movie making is turning out to be a case for a private eye. After advising Producer Joe Pasternak she was movietown-bound, he received a cable from her in Paris saying she was canceling the trip. Since then it's a complete blackout.
An explosion in an abandoned mine field on the border of Lebanon in Galilee, near Stanley Kramer's "The Juggler" was filmed under the "supervision" of military headquarters in Tel Aviv.
Reason: Trigger-happy Israelis and Arab soldiers patrolling the border on an uneasy armistice.
Two For Price Of One?
Lester Lanin overheard an actor telling another:
"I asked her father for permission to marry her and he wanted to know if I could support HIM in the same style she did."
Dan Dailey, despite printed reports says there will be no reconciling with his estranged wife, Liz.
... Fox Producer Mike Abel is paging TV's Jackie Gleason for "The W. C. Fields Story."
Alan Ladd's 19-year-old daughter, Carol Lee, nixed an acting role with him in "The Red Beret" now filming in England. She's career minded as a film editor, not as an actress.
Larry Parks and Betty Garrett are spurning further nitery stints after their click engagement at El Rancho Vegas in Las Vegas to concentrate on fresh rehearsals for their play, "Anonymous Lover." They'll tour in the four-character comedy for a year.
The Ritz Bros., unless a hitch develops, will face the cameras in London during the summer of '53 as the stars of "Hamlet and Three Eggs"—a Nassour Brothers project backed by British capital.
For "Adults Only"
The Hollywood Production Code, under which American movies are censored voluntarily, has outlived its usefulness.
Producer David O. Selznick thinks so and I agree with him to a point.
It's Selznick's theory that "if a producer goes overboard on the question of morals, there are always postal regulations and police interference he must cope with."
That's fine as far as adults are concerned. But many things detrimental to juvenile minds still would reach the screen. The only logical answer is "Adults Only" movies. There's an age limit barring adolescents from cocktail bars. A similar law should apply to theaters when an "Adult Only" movie is playing.
Barbara Payton's English movie has been retitled "Bad Blonde." Himm... Hollywood's measurement feud has suddenly become purely academic. Monique Van Vooren, the Belgian actress who plays 50 per cent of the title role in "Tarzan and the She-Devil," has a 38-inch bust!
The suspense curled up and withered at a showing of "Sudden Fear" the other night. At the moment when Jack Palance aims his speeding limousine at Gloria Grahame, who plays Irene, a jester in the audience screamed: "Good night, Irene."

Scotstown W. I. Held Excellent Meeting
Scotstown, Oct. 27.—The October meeting of the Scotstown W. I. was held in the High School at 8 o'clock on October 6. The first vice-president, Mrs. William Ladd, was in the chair. The meeting opened with the salute to the flag. The ode and Creed were recited. Twenty members answered the roll call and one visitor was present.
The minutes of the September meeting were read and approved. In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. B. G. Mayhew, the secretary's report was read by the secretary, Mrs. F. B. Mayhew.
A letter of thanks was read from Mr. Clifton Loney, principal of the High School, thanking the W. I. for their donation of five dollars to the School Fair and also thanking the members, who helped at the fair. A letter was read from Mrs. H. G. Taylor, of Macdonald College, referring to six new pamphlets on Citizenship available from the lending library. The bus trip which had been planned was cancelled owing to so few members wishing to go.
It was with regret that a letter of resignation was read from the president, Mrs. Harvey MacRae. The first and second vice-presidents, Mrs. William Ladd and Mrs. Philip Boy consented to carry on for the remainder of the year. It was also with regret that a letter of resignation was read from the treasurer, Mrs. B. G. Mayhew, owing to illness at home. Mrs. K. R. MacLeod accepted the office of treasurer for the remainder of the year.
The secretary was asked to write letters to Mrs. MacRae and Mrs. Mayhew accepting their resignations. Mrs. Mayhew had been treasurer for seven years.
Mrs. H. MacRae reported in her letter that a generous donation had been received from Hon. C. D. French for the Dental Clinic, also that most of the dental bills had been paid. Mrs. Waters reported that a demonstration by the National Wallpaper Company would be held in October. Mrs. D. F. Murray, Citizens' convener reported that Mrs. Charles MacRae was convener for the newly formed Junior W. I. She suggested that a book recommended by Miss Campbell be bought to help in the Junior W. I. work. Mrs. Charles MacRae convener of Agriculture, handed in $5.85 for plants sold during the summer.
The members were reminded that the School Opening would be held on November 14 and that any prize money would be gratefully received by Mr. C. Loney.
Mrs. W. K. Gordon was appointed delegate to attend the semi-annual meeting at Brookbury, on October 18.
The members suggested that the same project of clothing for children 1 to 12 years be held again next year at the Cookshire Fair.
One name was given to Mrs. J. B. Scott to send a parcel to England.
Mrs. Arnold MacKenzie, Welfare and Health convener, introduced Aubrey R. N. of the Health Unit, who spoke on health and showed three interesting films. Miss Aubin was accompanied by three of her friends. Several copies of a little booklet entitled "The Bewildered Child" were distributed among the members. The W. I. also received two copies of a booklet "The Years From One to Six". Mrs. MacKenzie thanked Miss Aubin and her friends for showing the pictures, which added to the success of the meeting.
After the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. L. MacIver, Mrs. D. P. Murray, Mrs. Philip Boy and Mrs. Charles MacRae.
The hostesses for November will be Mrs. George Tessier, Mrs. Percy Sherman, Mrs. Doherty, and Mrs. Desruisseaux.

Waterloo Kiwanians Hear Report Of 35th District Convention At Quebec
Waterloo, Oct. 27.—Kiwanian Butch Bouchard was guest speaker at the Waterloo Kiwanis Club meeting on Tuesday night, when he gave a report on the recent O.Q.M. District Convention held in Quebec City. "This was the thirty-fifth convention" the speaker said, "and as usual, it was a tremendous success. It was centered in the Chateau Frontenac Hotel, and the enrollment was larger than usual, with a very strong representation from Ontario in particular. The panels were well attended and very interesting."
Kiwanian Jack Wilson, of St. George, Montreal, was elected Lieutenant Governor of our district, which now is number 8 instead of 7. Kiwanian Jack is very well known to local clubs, and his selection is an excellent one.
Kiwanian Butch said that the highlight of the entire convention was the Governor's Ball, when Governor Don. Charbonneau was host. The ball room was packed for this outstanding event, and festivities lasted until the small hours of the morning.
The main address was delivered by Kiwanian Jackson Rainey, international representative, who spoke on "Making the Child." While his address was simple and down to earth, Kiwanian Butch said that it

Waterloo, Oct. 27.—Kiwanian Butch Bouchard was guest speaker at the Waterloo Kiwanis Club meeting on Tuesday night, when he gave a report on the recent O.Q.M. District Convention held in Quebec City. "This was the thirty-fifth convention" the speaker said, "and as usual, it was a tremendous success. It was centered in the Chateau Frontenac Hotel, and the enrollment was larger than usual, with a very strong representation from Ontario in particular. The panels were well attended and very interesting."
Kiwanian Jack Wilson, of St. George, Montreal, was elected Lieutenant Governor of our district, which now is number 8 instead of 7. Kiwanian Jack is very well known to local clubs, and his selection is an excellent one.
Kiwanian Butch said that the highlight of the entire convention was the Governor's Ball, when Governor Don. Charbonneau was host. The ball room was packed for this outstanding event, and festivities lasted until the small hours of the morning.

Place Conveyor Belts Are Playing In Industry Is Outlined In Films

A graphic story of the growing part which conveyor belts are playing in the development and operation of the mining areas throughout the world was given to the members of the Sherbrooke Branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at their opening session of the season held at the New Sherbrooke Hotel on Saturday evening.

The first of the three films shown by W. P. Kieran, of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada, Ltd., gave the story of opening of one of the new iron ore mines in the Mesabi range of Minnesota, one of North America's principal sources of iron ore.

In this case, the removal of millions of tons of overburden was accomplished by a system of conveyor belts at a substantial savings over other methods of transportation. At the same time the speed of clearing the waste earth which stood in the way of open pit mining operations was materially increased, as much as 37,000 cubic yards being removed in a single day.

The second dealt with the development of transportation of the

St. Francis Valley Scout Council Meets

Richmond, Oct. 27.—The annual meeting of the Saint Francis Valley District Council of the Boy Scouts Association took the form of a supper meeting held recently at Richmond, with an attendance of 75 members.

The business of the meeting included reports from the treasurer, O. C. Blair; the badge secretary, O. Bogstad; the camp committee chairman, C. Brehaut; and the District Commissioner, H. R. Conley.

All these reports reflected considerable activity and progress in Scouting throughout the district.

The Provincial Commissioner, David Green, addressed the meeting and gave an interesting description of some recent Scout jamborees that he had attended in Europe and in Canada. He also showed a film on the 1951 Canadian Jamboree held at the Comaught Ranges.

The retiring president, C. F. Christian expressed pleasure and satisfaction with the work completed during the year. Of particular interest to the district scout movement is the tremendous stride made during the year in the development of the 20-acre camp site located at Spooner Pond near Richmond.

With Mr. Conley acting as chairman, the following slate of officers was approved for the year 1952-53: Hon. president and trustee, A. J. Philip; Windsor Mills; Hon. vice-president and trustee, H. Cranford; Drummondville; W. S. Hamilton, Danville; and M. T. J. McKee, Richmond; auditors, M. R. J. McKee, Richmond; presidents, J. VanDamme, Drummondville; vice-presidents, Rev. G. Harrington, Richmond; Rev. C. Foggo, Danville; and C. T. Brennan, Sorel; secretary, J. P. Estabrook, Drummondville; treasurer, O. C. Blair, Richmond; camp committee chairman, G. Brehaut, Danville; badge secretary, Bogstad.

Member committee representatives are: B. Vowles and W. Schaeffer, Drummondville; G. C. Brown and G. C. Clapp, Danville; and H. Robinson and H. Finley, Windsor Mills.

B. Templeman and L. Doull were named as Assistant District Commissioners, and H. Arsenau appointed District Scoutmaster.

Hunting Accident At Ayer's Cliff Takes Life Of Willard Roger Pope

A shotgun held in the hands of one of his closest friends discharged late yesterday and took the life of Willard Roger Pope, 20-year-old resident of Ayer's Cliff.

Young Pope and his companion, Paul Rousseau, also of Ayer's Cliff, a medical student at McGill, were hunting ducks from a boat on Lake Massawippi when the tragedy occurred after nine a.m. Sunday.

The shotgun, held by Rousseau, discharged wounding the other lad, Willard Pope. While rowing hurriedly to shore, one of the oars broke and Rousseau was forced to paddle with his hands for some distance.

Pope was taken to the Sherbrooke Hospital but succumbed to his wounds a few minutes after admission.

Provincial Police, directed by Sgt. Det. Stenio Brasseur, are investigating. An inquest will be held.

Willard Roger Pope was born in Barnston, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pope. He moved to Ayer's Cliff about three and one-half years ago and his parents have made the 'Cliff their home for the past three years.

Young Pope completed his education at Bishop's University last spring and had spent the summer at a military camp at Picton, Ont. He and Paul Rousseau had been fellow students at Bishop's.

He is resting at his home where prayers will be said tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock, followed by funeral service in the Baptist Church, Barnston.

Rev. Mr. Miller of Coaticook will officiate at the funeral service which will be held at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be at Mount Forest Cemetery, Coaticook.

Besides his parents, the boy is survived by one brother, Wayne.

Three persons were injured in accidents which occurred outside Sherbrooke since Friday night.

Consumers' Branch Meets At Asbestos

Asbestos, Oct. 27.—The Association of Consumers held its first autumn meeting on Tuesday, October 21st in All Saints (Anglican) Church Hall, with Mrs. E. L. Gilbert, president, in the chair. After the reading of the minutes by Mrs. W. A. McGinnis, acting secretary in the absence of Mrs. R. Winslow, there was a report on the annual provincial meeting held in Montreal last June, which was attended by five members of the Branch.

There will be a membership drive during the next month, under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. Mameau. District captains will have lists of former members, and it is urged that all help bringing in new members and by cooperating fully with the captains. Mrs. N. Grey-Donald reported that the drive for a chain store, over the past few years, is at last bearing fruit and although there is nothing definite, things are moving in that direction.

A resolution protesting against the proposed increase of telephone rates was introduced and unanimously carried. It was stated that the crank-system is so antiquated and unsatisfactory that it is felt very strongly that any increase in rates should await the introduction of dial system. The next meeting will be held November 25th.

At the close of the business session film strips furnished by the Household Finance Corporation were shown, entitled "Budgeting for Better Living" and "Spending your Food Dollars."

A social half hour was spent over a cup of tea and cookies, served by the tea committee. Mrs. H. Rozovsky, Mrs. J. D. Wilson and Mrs. N. Grey-Donald.

More Than 200 Attend Program Supporting Youth Festival Committee

More than 200 persons — provincial and civic officials, members of the local music milieu, clergymen, business and cultural leaders in this city, and a host of well-wishers — attended a buffet supper and musical program in the New Sherbrooke Hotel at the "tea hour" yesterday.

This glittering event was sponsored by the Youth Festival Committee which is on a campaign in aid of another festival in Spring. The program of music was presented by nine young artists, prize winners all at festivals of the past.

Heard were: Marjorie Robins, Louise Marin, Lorraine Thibault, Claudette Lacharite and Gilberte Bombardier, pianists; Pierre Boux, Jean Cousineau, and Hector Hebert, violinists; and Laurent Champigny, alto.

Rendering piano accompaniment were: Sylvio Lacharite, Mrs. Marie-Claude.

Among the many persons attending were: Hon. J. S. Bourque, Quebec Minister of Lands, Forests and Hydraulic Resources, Mayor Emile Levesque, Ald. Carl Camirand, and Denis Gerin, M.L.A. for Stanstead, Judge J. C. Samson and Mrs. Samson.

Death Claims John Graham, Drummondville

Drummondville, Oct. 27.—Funeral service will be held today for John Graham, well-known resident of Drummondville, who died suddenly on Friday, shortly after reporting for work at the Canadian Celanese Company where he has been employed for the last 25 years.

Mr. Graham, a native of Prestwick, Scotland, was married to the former Agnes Dunlop, of Glasgow, and they came to Canada in 1913, settling in Richmond where Mr. Graham was a shoe-maker until he joined Canadian Celanese in 1927.

Of a quiet, unassuming nature, Mr. Graham was well-known and highly respected. He was an active member of the Celanese curling club, a member of Trinity United Church and of the St. Francis Masonic Lodge, of Richmond.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Major Colin Graham, of Quebec, a daughter, Mrs. George Gibson (Isabel) of Newcastle, N.B. and three grandchildren.

Also surviving are three brothers, Tom, Daniel and Archie, all of East Orange, N.J., and four sisters, Mrs. Jean Higgins, of East Orange, Mrs. Margaret Gibson and Mrs. Annie Gibson, of Detroit, and Mrs. David Thompson, of Glasgow.

The funeral will be held from Trinity United Church, Rev. W. K. Pace officiating. The remains will be taken to the Mount Royal Crematorium and the ashes will be interred at Prestwick.

Drivers Fined, Lose Licenses

Two motorists, arrested recently for driving motor cars while their faculties were impaired by alcohol, were fined $50 and costs each in Recorder's Court this morning. Each man had his driver's licence revoked for three months.

Recorder Richmond Hayes, Q.C., read down the sentences. Attorney Albert Rivard appeared for the City of Sherbrooke.

E. T. Layman's Association Meets Tonight

The annual meeting of the Eastern Township's Anglican Layman's Association will be held this evening at St. George's Church, Lennoxville. The business meeting will be held in the church hall.

Rev. S. Jellieco, dean of Divinity at Bishop's University, will deliver the sermon at the service in the church and music will be provided by the St. George's choir.

This evening's business program includes an address to the laymen by Tom Keeley and a brief outline of the general plan for "Every Member Visitation and Canvass" by the district chairman, C. Guy Bishop.

Election of officers will also be held. George Morgan is the current president, Earl Sears is secretary-treasurer, and Ronnie Smith is vice-president.

F. Gordon LeBaron Is Elected Head Of Stanstead College Trustees

Stanstead, Oct. 27.—F. Gordon LeBaron of Sherbrooke was elected chairman of the Stanstead College Board of Trustees at the annual meeting held here Saturday.

He succeeds J. Douglas Ferguson of Stanstead.

W. J. C. Sutton of Stanstead and Dr. R. M. MacIntosh of Bishop's University were added to the Board of Trustees.

Honorary chairman of the Board are Leslie N. Buzzell of Montreal and Mr. Ferguson, Senator C. B. Howard of Sherbrooke is honorary vice-chairman.

The other officers are: Vice-chairman: A. J. Philip of Windsor Mills, Norman P. Woods of Montreal, treasurer, Eric T. Webster of Sherbrooke; secretary, Dr. E. C. Amaron, principal of Stanstead College.

Mr. LeBaron is chairman of the executive committee and other officers are: vice-chairmen, Mr. Philip and Mr. Woods; secretary, Dr. Amaron, members, Mr. Buzzell, Philip A. Cumyn of Montreal, D. J. Salls of Sherbrooke, E. J. Struthers of Stanstead, Mr. Webster and Mr. Ferguson.

Members of the staff committee are: Dr. Amaron, Kenneth E. Baldwin of Stanstead, Peter Leckie-Ewing of Stanstead, Mr. LeBaron and Mr. Struthers.

Members of the property committee are: Harold F. Baldwin of Baldwin's Mills, Harold S. Beane of Beebe, Gordon Petrie of Rock Island, Maurice L. Moore of Stanstead and Dr. A. R. V. White of Stanstead.

Mr. Philip is chairman of the Stanstead Associates committee.

An exploratory committee was appointed to study plans for rebuilding Pierce Hall, headquarters of the Eastern Townships Conservatory of Music which was destroyed by fire early in the year and for the building of a residence for girl students.

Dr. Amaron, in the principal's report, stated that there had been a small surplus on operations during the year. The Pierce Hall fire, purchase of the 400-acre Montpelier property and the opening of the Sunnyside elementary school were among the highlights of the year.

Past Noble Grands' Club Has Meeting

The Past Noble Grands' Club of Princess Rebekah Lodge held their meeting in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15th.

The vice-president, Miss Ruth Stoddard, was in the chair.

After the roll call, minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Plans were made to entertain the Past Noble Grand Club, of Lennoxville, on Oct. 29th.

A new member, Mrs. A. J. Foy, was welcomed by the members.

Bridge was played at three tables, the prizes won by Mrs. J. Twyman and Mrs. A. J. Foy.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. W. Reid and Mrs. V. Somerset.

MELBOURNE

Mr. and Mrs. Law, of New Carlisle, were Thanksgiving Day guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. K. Annett, and family.

Mrs. M. E. Honey, of Abbotsford, Mrs. Milton Eaton, of Shawinigan Falls, and Mrs. Donald Macera, of Richelieu, were guests of Mrs. T. P. Ross.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. W. Lyster and family in their bereavement.

Sweepstakes Ticket Lost

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 27.—(P)—The 150-year-old home of Mrs. Nantais was turned upside down during the week-end in a fruitless search for a winning Irish sweepstakes ticket.

Mrs. Emma Nantais, 65, bought the ticket, worth a sure $800 and good for an outside chance on the $150,000 grand prize, three months ago in the name of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Nantais, 92.

She placed it beneath a clock on the older woman's dresser for safe-keeping.

A month ago, she said, she noticed the ticket had disappeared but thought the matter of little importance.

The ticket assumed great importance Saturday when the announcement came from Ireland that Mrs. Mary Nantais had drawn a ticket on Orme, a starter in Wednesday's racing classic.

During the week-end, the two Mrs. Nantais ransacked every corner of the one-storey frame house. They leafed through books, shifted

A STAGGERING TASK

Two-thirds of the population of the world—some 1,600 million people—today live in under-developed regions existing at or below the bare subsistence level. The gap between the standard of living of these people and those of the highly-developed countries of western Europe, the Americas and Oceania is wide indeed. There is no better illustration of this gap than the figures given in a recent United Nations study of per capita incomes throughout the world—more than one-half the people of the world today have an annual income of less than $100 and those with more than a $600 annual income account for only one-tenth of the total world population.

The seriousness of the problem and its possible effects on world peace were recognized by the authors of the United Nations Charter who included in that document, as a basic United Nations aim, promotion of economic and social advancement of all peoples. Modest technical assistance to under-developed countries has been given by the United Nations Specialized Agencies from their very beginning and by the United Nations itself since 1948. But a real attempt on an international basis to start removing the great disparity between the developed and under-developed countries did not get under way until 1950 when the United Nations Expanded Programme of Technical Assistance was launched, providing a central fund from which governments can receive expert advice and assistance in a wide variety of fields.

In simplest terms the programme merely helps governments to help themselves, providing a common cupboard of technical skills and experience which a country can request from the United Nations and the Specialized Agencies (dealing in the fields of health, food, aviation, education, labour, telecommunications and meteorology). Thus projects are worked jointly, and those who participate can set out to help build up a country's economic and social development.

JAPAN'S WOMEN HAVE FINE ANTI-WAR PLAN

Japanese girls have come up with a unique anti-war campaign, and reports are that it's proving successful.

Hard-hit by World War II—there are 325,000 war widows in Tokyo alone—the women are refusing to befriend soldiers and openly pledging never to marry them. Officials say the move appears to be hurting the recruiting of a new Japanese army.

This isn't much of an idea for our allies, for they are definitely not war-hungry. But we heartily recommend it to the womenfolk in Russia and the satellite countries. If the lasses behind the Iron Curtain could only put the pressure on their Ivans and Igors, maybe there wouldn't be quite so much muscle-flexing from that quarter of the globe.

BRITAIN AND THE U.S. STOCK MARKET

Washington and New York are said to be watching with keen interest and no small degree of concern a substantial liquidation of British-owned stocks in the United States. The conclusion is that investors, including the British Government, believe that the era of great industrial activity is coming to an end and that another era of deflation is in the making.

There has been no schedule of British investments since 1945 when they amounted to $1,515,000,000, and before that, after the start of World War II, and before lend-lease was established, the British government sold $800,000,000 worth of investments to pay for war material and food.

But the British are shrewd traders. Recently the government sold 100,000 shares of Amerada Petroleum stock, out of a pre-war holding of 133,000. That stock was pledged for a Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan to Britain in 1941. In 1945 the value of that stock was $21,413,000. Subsequently Amerada's oil strikes in Montana and Dakota boomed the value of that stock. Since 1945 the company has on two occasions declared a 2-for-1 stock split. At the high quotation so far this year, British-owned shares had a value of more than 125 million dollars.

Paper profits since 1945 exceed 100 million dollars. Sale of 100,000 shares of Amerada recently is likely to have paid for the original British investment in the oil shares several times over.

And the British owners still have an estimated 432,000 shares of the stock.

There are many other profitable operations in which Britain is heavily interested. Whether there is fear of a slump or not, the present selling is more likely to be a matter of taking profits when they are certain. These sales, and current holdings are splendid dollar earners, and Britain is not likely to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs by upsetting the market.

NO CONNECTION WITH TOMMY

Every now and then the name of T. F. ("Tommy") Manville pops up in the headlines. Because Tommy Manville is generally referred to as the "asbestos heir," many persons are under the impression that he owns a large interest in the company which his father helped to organize. The reference to Tommy Manville as the "asbestos heir" goes back a generation or so. Tommy's father died in 1925 and two years later Johns-Manville was reorganized and began its transition from a privately-owned family corporation to one of widespread public ownership by stockholders from all walks of life. Shortly after his father's death, Tommy Manville disposed of the large J-M holdings he had inherited and ended all connections with the company. Today, Johns-Manville is owned by 13,900 stockholders. The largest single stockholder of J-M is not a person but an investment trust which has thousands of stockholders of its own. This institution owns less than 3% of J-M stock.

IKE AND ADLAI NOT FAR APART ON SECURITY AND CIVIL RIGHTS

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington — (NEA) — Close study of the campaign speeches and statements of Republican Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Democratic Gov. Adlai Stevenson show more similarities in their points of view on many issues than most voters would probably give them credit for in off-hand opinions. The reason for this is that their differences of opinion are always played up more than their agreements.

On the all-important question of social security, for instance, both candidates agree that the present system should be extended and its coverage broadened. Each has repeated this assurance half a dozen times during the campaign. Governor Stevenson's Detroit, Mich., speech of Sept. 1 is typical: "The men and women of our labor force, some 62 million of us, shall receive a decent living wage, insurance against risks of disability and unemployment, and the assurance of solid—not token security—when life's work is done."

"This middle way," said General Eisenhower at Boise, "assures that all Americans have now accepted and will forever support what we call social gains. This is the security that people are entitled to in their old age and to make certain that they are adequately cared for, insurance against unemployment, equal opportunity for everybody regardless of race, religion, where he was born or what his national origin."

Both candidates also seem to be in favor of aid for education. "We must now undertake to help needy states build schools," said General Eisenhower in Los Angeles. "Such help should be extended only where a state is doing its utmost, but because of inadequate resources is unable to do the job on its own."

FOR BETTER TEACHERS' PAY
"The nation hasn't yet found a final answer," Governor Stevenson confessed in his Columbus, O., speech. "We pursue our folly of paying the lowest salaries in many communities to those who handle—not our goods, or even our garbage—but our children. We have far too few schoolrooms for the vast increase of school children that is to come." To this he added at Los Angeles, "We cannot stop until we have banished illiteracy."

On health plans, both the Democratic and Republican presidential candidates insist they are opposed to socialized medicine. Both seem to realize, however, that health care in America today is not adequate.

"We shall need more hospitals, more public health agencies, more medical schools, more doctors and nurses and some system of protection against the economic disasters of severe illness," said Governor Stevenson at Los Angeles. In his Columbus speech, later, he added that no solution had yet been found for dealing with catastrophic illness, but he awaited the report from the President's commission on health, to be completed in December.

General Eisenhower, in his Los Angeles speech, declared that "it is a sound investment in a sounder America to see to it that adequate medical care is brought within the means of all our people. . . . How shall we meet this problem?" he asked. He then declared, "The answer is to build on the system of voluntary non-profit health insurance plans which our people have already developed at an amazing rate."

AGREE—GENERALLY—ON HOUSING
The question of housing and slum elimination, closely related to health measures for lower income groups, also finds the two candidates in general agreement, without spelling out any very definite programs.

"We have accepted a moral obligation—decent housing," General Eisenhower declared in one of his early speeches at Boise, Ida. At Los Angeles, more recently, he added that "better housing for those now compelled to live in slums" was "a sound investment in a sounder America."

"How can we talk about prosperity to the hundreds of thousands who can find no decent place to live at prices they can afford to pay?" Governor Stevenson asked at St. Louis. "We are only started on a nation-wide program to clean out slums," he added in his Columbus speech.

It is difficult, also, to find any differences between the two candidates themselves on civil rights, in spite of the differences in their party platforms. Each has outlined his views in at least four speeches.

"The federal government has a direct responsibility . . . to secure equal rights for all our citizens," said Governor Stevenson at New York in August. At Los Angeles in September he added, "We must by effective legislation ensure equal opportunities of employment for all our citizens, of all colors and creeds."

At Little Rock on Sept. 3, General Eisenhower warned Southerners that "they were in danger of losing their own rights unless they were willing to protect with all their efforts the rights of their neighbors, whatever the color of their skin." And he told a Philadelphia doctor, "I am against the filibuster in the legislative branch of the government."

A WARNING

In the war that now is raging over land and over sea,
A fight of all true people who value liberty
Do we realize our danger, or, in watching some far shore
Do we fail to see the menace of the foe right at our door.
They are seeking our undoing, the harm they do is great
With their subtle lies and actions, breeding discontent and hate.
Waste no time in idle chatter, show them where we stand today,
Help to end the awful struggle in Korea far away.
Only if we do our utmost can we hope to win the day,
To keep safe and free our homeland and drive Communist away.

Netherlands Ports' Low Rates Attract Tramp Shipping Fleet

By DAVID SHEARS
Rotterdam—(Reuters)—Attracted by the Netherlands' low port charges, a polygot collection of tramp freighters, forced off the shipping lanes by a recession, is seeking an inexpensive resting place in Dutch ports.

More than 20 tramps with a total displacement of 85,000 tons have laid up in Holland in recent weeks. And they are still coming.

The strangest feature of this situation is that so far not one of the laid-up tramp steamers is Dutch, due partly to the fact that

This week I begin a new policy in discussing bidding. From now on I will describe the strength of any hand in terms of the popular 4-3-2-1 point count.

This is not a sudden decision. I have believed in point-count bidding ever since 1935, when Howard Schenken and I presented the Four Aces point count.

Our idea was good, but our timing was wrong. We were 15 years ahead of the millions of bridge players in this country, and it was necessary to wait until they got ready to accept the new idea.

It seems to me that most bridge players are now familiar with the point count, so I can return to that way of describing a hand without worrying about confusing my readers.

Just in case you're not familiar with the general idea, I'll run a few articles to teach it. Count each ace in your hand as 4 points; each king, 3; each queen, 2; and each jack, 1 point.

There are 10 points in each suit, and 40 points in the entire deck. You and your partner usually need 26 points to make a game; 33 points to make a small slam; 37 points to make a grand slam.

Open the bidding with one no-trump when you have balanced distribution, stoppers in at least three suits (better, of course, in all four suits), and a count of 16 to 18 points. For example, take the South hand, shown today.

South has a count of 16 points, balanced distribution and a stopper in each of the four suits.

North raises to game because he has 10 points and knows that the combined count is 26 to 28 points. That should be enough for game and isn't even close to enough for slam.

Good bidding doesn't do away with the need for good play. South must let West hold the first trick with the king of spades. If West is then foolish enough to continue the spades, South has two sure winners in the suit and has time enough to develop the diamonds.

If West shifts to a heart at the second trick (the best defense), declarer must hop right up with dummy's ace of hearts in order to begin the diamonds without delay. West can take his king of diamonds but cannot then prevent declarer from developing nine tricks.

South loses his game contract if he plays a low heart from dummy at the second trick. East takes the king of hearts and switches back to spades, thus setting up West's long suit. Now West will surely get in with the king of diamonds in time to set the contract with the rest of the spades.

CARD SENSE
Q—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has been:
West North East South
3 Hearts Double Pass ?
You, South, hold: Spades 9-8-4, Hearts 7-5, Diamonds K-4-2, Clubs A-Q-1-7-3-2. What do you do?
A—Bid five clubs. This jump bid indicates that you have a good suit and fair strength. If North has a really fine hand, he may go on to slam. Otherwise he can pass you at your game contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION
The bidding has been:
North East South West
1 N.T. Pass ?
You, South, hold: Spades 10-4, Hearts Q-7-5, Diamonds A-10-8-5, Clubs Q-10-9-4. What do you do?
Answer: Tomorrow

the Netherlands merchant fleet is still not back to its pre-war size and partly to the fact that the few Dutch tramps still have plenty of work bringing cargoes of phosphate and pyrites from the Mediterranean.

Like the charter airplane, the ocean tramp exists primarily to do the "odd jobs" which the big shipping lines are unfitted or unwilling to do.

In times of boom, when merchants and traders are scrambling for shipping space, the tramp steamer enjoys a prosperous, nomadic existence.

But these are lean times. Germany, Italy and Japan are rebuilding their merchant fleets, bringing keen competition once more after the boom post-war days. Costs have risen, too, particularly in fuel oil and coal, and slow turn-around time in many of the world's ports also impose a burden.

Worst of all is the fact that countries in all parts of the world have been forced by economic stringency to cut their imports.

Another example is Britain's coal exports. Since the war they have never reached their pre-war size because Britain herself needs almost every ton for home consumption.

Thus, there are more ships and fewer cargoes and freight rates are dropping all over the world, despite rising costs. These costs include not only fuel oil, bunker coal and turn-around delays but also the heavy price of replacement.

In this situation tramp steamers are coming off worst, because many of them are owned by small shipowners with limited financial resources.

Many of the tramp steamer captains and their officers are standing by their vessels. They want to be ready if and when the time comes for them to raise steam and cast their moorings again.

U.S. RAILROAD MILEAGE
With less than 6 per cent of the world's land area and about 6 per cent of the world's population, the United States has about 29 per cent of the world's railroad mileage.

The Record Short Story

I'M GETTING BY

By DUANE DECKER

The Governor's reception for the new state health commissioner, at the gubernatorial mansion, no less, was strictly a politico-medico function at which the smallest of the small fry in both fields mingled freely with the biggest. It was, therefore, an affair where the most unlikely people could meet, and did. Which is how it happened that Barney Cremins and I finally got together again, after nearly fifteen years.

Barney had changed, of course, outwardly, at least, but he was the same old Barney. I knew that the minute we shook hands and he spoke.

"You being taken care of around here, Harry?" he asked, anxious to please, as always. "Getting cut in on all this caviar and champagne and stuff?"

"I'm doing fine, Barney, just fine," I said. "How've you been, anyway?"

"Me?" he said. "Oh, I'm getting by."

That was the most boasting Barney had ever done about himself from the time I'd first known him. It had never been false modesty. Getting by, truthfully, was all he'd ever managed from the very beginning.

Because, for some reason which I will leave to the professional probers of human behavior to discover, Barney had been obsessed since high school days (we had been classmates with the idea of becoming a politician. And no man less fitted for the field has ever entered it.)

Barney was one of those completely nondescript guys nobody can ever remember having met until after it's happened four or five times. He had, as I say, been, as I say, eager to please, so no one really cared if he did or not. He was constantly being cut out in the middle of his story, constantly fighting for attention he was unable to attract, eternally being mistaken for somebody's cousin Ned. Yet he was grimly determined to scale the political cliffs.

He had drive, I'll say that. And a good mind. He had been voted the Class Grind in high school, and with reason. He got fine marks in things like trigonometry and chemistry and ancient history, but flunked Public Speaking. He was Recording Secretary for the B.S.L. (Boy's Student League) and organized the Chess Club. But these activities, while impressive, didn't point to a career in the public eye. He was for all of them, one of the least well known members of the class when we graduated.

He didn't go to college. He went to work in his local political ward, doing odd jobs at first, running errands, tacking up posters on telephone poles. I went to college, then medical school. By the time I came home to set up practice, Barney was an experienced man in the field of politics but in a hopelessly penny-ante way.

When I completed my internship and opened a small office as an eye-and-nose specialist, Barney's earnest years as a party worker had paid off only to the extent of making him an assistant sewer inspector, a political plum which even he knew to be of extremely doubtful value.

"My main trouble," he explained (as one might expect, when he had a couple beers and talked over old times, "is nobody notices me. And especially Slagle.")

"Who's Slagle?" I asked.

"You know, the Big Guy, Chuck Slagle. District Leader."

"I've heard of him. Doesn't he like you?"

"Look, Harry," he said, "you don't get the point. Everybody likes me, after they notice me. The trouble is they don't notice me. Now Slagle—if he notices a guy, he pushes him and the guy winds up an Alderman or on the State Legislature or something. But when Slagle doesn't notice a guy, he goes around inspecting sewers. Politics is as simple as that."

"Did you ever think about getting out of politics, Barney?"

"He took a very deep breath. "Did you ever think about getting out of the eye-and-ear business, Harry?"

"Well, sure, I know how it is,"

"What?"

"He wanted to know would I consider running for Alderman in the Fourth District, with his backing."

I started to laugh. I had to. I couldn't help it.

"Go ahead, laugh," Barney said. "It may sound funny to you, but not to me. Since I put on this eyepatch, there's no starting to happen without effort on my part—things that didn't happen from ten years of real, hard work."

Things kept happening to Barney, too. Eyepatch and all, he ran for Alderman and made it in a modest landslide. That may not be a breathtaking triumph to some politicians but to hungry Barney it was. What happened to him next, I wasn't around to see, because in the spring my local practice had developed hardly at all and a junior partnership with an established specialist in another part of the state was offered to me. I accepted, left town, and never did get back again—never did see Barney again.

Mrs. Alan Jarvis Of Stanstead Given A Shower

Stanstead, Oct. 27. — Mrs. Adelaide Laberee, Miss Ruby Laberee, Mrs. Forrest Rollins and Mrs. Leo Delisle were joint hostesses at a charmingly arranged "pink and blue" shower, in honor and held at the home of Mrs. Alan Jarvis, in Stanstead.

Mrs. Jarvis and her twin daughters, Joan and Janet, spent Friday afternoon, October 17, at the home of Mrs. Laberee and remained as tea guests. Later, at the appointed time, Mr. Jarvis called to take his family home.

When Mrs. Jarvis entered her home and snapped on the lights, she was amazed to find upwards of thirty-five friends awaiting her arrival. She was escorted to a chair artistically trimmed in pink and white, with garlands of the same color suspended from the ceiling to her chair, at one side was a bassinet, trimmed in pink, blue and white, this was piled high with "lullaby wrapped" packages, and overlooking it was a stork holding twins in a holder.

Mrs. Jarvis was presented with a pink and blue carnation corsage, from which was suspended a miniature rattle and rocking horse, on her head was placed a "mother goose" bonnet.

With the assistance of her mother, Mrs. Leon Smith, the honored guest opened her gifts and she was delighted with the lovely blankets, knitted articles, and other practical gifts.

After these had been admired by all Mrs. Jarvis expressed her thanks to them for the lovely things.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Rollins, a game was played in keeping with the occasion, followed by a few games of bingo with the lucky winners being awarded a prize.

The hostesses served delectable refreshments, which included a lovely "stork" cake, the gift of Mrs. Roland Sheldon, this was presented to Mrs. Jarvis, who made the initial cut.

Mrs. Laberee was also taken by surprise when she was presented with a cake trimmed with birthday decorations, on the occasion of the anniversary of her birth, and all the friends sang "Happy Birthday".

The guests then departed for their respective homes, in Rock Island, Stanstead and Beebe.

THE UNITED ORGANIZATIONS

The United Organizations of Centenary Church, Stanstead, met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Misses Elsie and Jean McIntosh, in Stanstead.

Mrs. E. J. Curtis, fourth vice-president, presided over the meeting and she conducted the devotional period, which was taken from the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. J. A. Grady, secretary, gave her report and Mrs. Charles Merriman, treasurer, gave her report, both were accepted as read.

Correspondence included a letter from Mrs. R. Spafford, president of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery W.A., announcing a regional meeting to be held at Ayer's Cliff, on Tuesday, October 28, and a letter from Miss Ada Sandell, a missionary in the Koge Islands, of Korea, thanking them for the parcels sent and making an appeal for more help, especially for children's clothing.

The plans were made for the C. G.I.T. conference of Oct. 18th and 19, and for the coming of Mrs. E. James, of Cookshire, who is a former Japan missionary, and who will be guest speaker at the morning service in Centenary Church, on Sunday, October 26.

Mrs. B. W. Brown and Mrs. C. Merriman were in charge of the period from the study book, which took the form of a "buzz session."

Mrs. Brown also gave a fine account of the Women's Missionary Society Presbytery Sectional meeting held at Hatley, and which she attended as a representative of this society.

After the session a delicious tea was served by the hostesses.

General Notes

SAINTS SPLIT WITH BRAVES; CHICOUTIMI HERE TOMORROW

Locals Rally To Overcome Deficit To Win 4-2 Saturday But Absorb 2-0 Whitewash Job Yesterday

The Sherbrooke Saints chalked up their third consecutive at the local Arena Saturday evening when they came up with a fighting display to offset a two-goal deficit and edge out the Valleyfield Braves 4-2 in a hard-checking tilt before 3,530 fans.

The Dugre squad after a driving start in the initial frame, when they carried the better of the play, faltered in the dying minutes to allow the Braves to chalk up two goals by Bougie and Irvine and move to the fore. However the locals smashed back in the middle session and knotted the count as Nils Tremblay and Tod Campeau evened the count and then in the final frame Campeau registered his second tally of the evening with the winning marker and Dewar Thompson drove home the insurance goal to ensure the locals of the victory.

In Valleyfield Sunday afternoon Paul Leclerc came up with an outstanding performance to stop the Saints' winning stride as he shut them out 2-0 to allow the Braves to move into a two-way tie with Montreal Royals for top spot in the standing.

Sherbrooke's win Saturday enabled the Saints to strengthen their hold on second position in the standing, one point behind the league-leaders, Gordie Haworth tallied the first marker for the Braves while Pete Wywrot was sitting out an interference penalty. Andre Corrivau registered the second goal when he battled home a rebound from the edge of the goal crease.

At the start of the game the Saints moved right in to the attack but failed to beat Leclerc although they had the better of the play. The locals had the man advantage just after the start when Carl Smelle went off for tripping but they failed to click although they blasted away at Leclerc.

Big Phil Vitale and Jacques Locas went off together for roughing just a little later, Pruneau and Drainville worked in close but missed. Jack Irvine drove back but was stopped cold by Bessette. The Saints were caught flat-footed on the first goal when they were making a change at the box. Three Braves broke away and coasted in on Bessette, who made the stop, but when the disc got away Bougie batted it into the net.

Just before the end, Irvine registered the second tally on a passing play with Larry Kwong and Paul Larivee to give the Braves a two goal lead. The Saints missed just as the gong sounded.

Big Pete Wright rushed out of his own zone just after the start of the middle session to split the defense and he laid a pass over to Thompson who drove a hard shot at Leclerc. Tremblay was Johnny-on-the-spot, and on went the red light.

Campeau gets equalizer. Just two minutes later the Saints drove right back as Drainville broke away with Thompson and again when he relaid a pass over to Campeau, the hard-checking

"THE TODDLER" GETS THE WINNER — Tod Campeau is seen seen lying full length on the ice in an attempt to stop the shot. However, Big Phil Vitale is standing over Leclerc while Jacques Locas is also handy after he had made a pass over to his teammate. The player in the front of Campeau is Carl Smelle while on the left just after he lifted the disc over Paul Leclerc, who is Ken Mullins, on the left, is watching the rubber roll into the net. Locas is also handy after he had made a pass over to his teammate on the right is Bruce Cline turning away from play.

St. Michael's Majors Setting Pace In O. H. A. While Canadiens Hold Down Top Spot In Quebec Section

St. Michael's Majors are taking all comers in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A battle.

Their latest victims are the player-shy Guelph Biltmores who absorbed a 5-1 beating in Toronto Sunday. Four of the Bilt's best players are still up with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

While the Majors climbed steadily toward top spot in the Ontario section, Galt Black Hawks had a rough time on their trip through Quebec. Saturday night they edged Three Rivers Reds 6-5 but Sunday they took a 6-3 shellacking from Quebec Citadels that gives them a one-loss record of two and two for their Quebec trip.

A new coach was announced for Toronto Marlboros as they defeated Windsor Spitfires 4-2 in Toronto. Reg Hamilton took over after Buck Houle had a slight heart attack during a game Friday night.

Saturday night Windsor Spitfires lost 5-1 in Oshawa while Kitchener-Waterloo Greenhirts moved into St. Catharines and trimmed the Tepees 4-2.

Montreal Canadiens moved into first place in the Quebec section by downing Three Rivers Reds 4-2 yesterday.

Halifax Atlantics Setting Merry Pace In Maritime Major League; Nick Pidsodny Returns To Sydney

Is Nick Pidsodny going to halt Atlantics winning streak? Following two week-end games in the Maritime Major Hockey League, that question was tossed around by fans in the four hockey centres.

Halifax Atlantics are still undefeated, their latest victims were Murph Chamberlain's hardy crew from Charlottetown who wilted 5-2 under high Halifax pressure.

At the same time in Glace Bay, Sydney's Nick Pidsodny made a hero's home-coming when he donned the blue and white jersey and gave the Millionaires the most sensational backing they have had since he left early last season.

If the fiery Nick ever played a better game in the Maritimes, there are few fans who will agree.

Millionaire hold-over George Robertson picked up an unassisted tally in the last period and before the game ended Nick Hill completed the scoring.

In the second Pevill Hill and Gordie Miller came to blows. Hill went to the sin bin with a major and minor, while Miller escaped with just a minor.

At Halifax, the Atlantics ran up five goals in the first two periods and held off Islanders with sharp defensive hockey in the third.

The island team was more aggressive than in previous games this season, but didn't have the polish around the net to compete with the smooth Atlantics.

Marksmen for Halifax were Joe Lepine, Bob Hayes, Frank King, Hughie Campbell and Dougie MacPhee.

For Islanders Buck Whitlock and Jim MacKenzie sagged the twins.

Cataracts Win Protest Against Quebec Aces

Montreal, Oct. 27.—The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association at a meeting Saturday, upheld a protest by Shawinigan Falls Cataracts of an Oct. 12 Quebec Senior Hockey League game, won by the Quebec Aces 4-2, that one of Quebec's players was ineligible.

The Q.A.H.A. gave the game to Shawinigan Falls, ruling that Jackie Leclair, who was to have reported to Ottawa from the Toronto Maple Leafs training camp at St. Catharines, was in a Quebec uniform. Leclair has since been purchased by the Senators from the National Hockey League team.

The Q.A.H.A. turned down another protest by the Cataracts of an Oct. 15 game with Valleyfield Braves. They claimed Carl and Tom Smelle, who were in the Valleyfield line-up, also were ineligible.

Providence Reds Retain Lead On Top Of A. H. L. Two Week-End Victories; Bears And Bisons Split

The league-leading Providence Reds retained their position atop the American Hockey League during the week-end, two victories in many games being enough to turn the trick.

Providence, unbeaten this season, now has nine points, one more than the second-place St. Louis Flyers who also took their week-end games, defeating Pittsburgh Hornets 4-2 Saturday and Cleveland Barons 6-3 Sunday.

The Reds blanked Syracuse Warriors 2-0 Saturday and defeated the same team 5-2 Sunday.

In the other Sunday game, Hershey Bears outscored Buffalo Bisons 3-1. The Bears dropped a 2-0 tilt at Hershey Saturday night.

At Providence, the Warriors counted first but the Reds tied it up before the period began. They scored twice in the second stanza to take a 3-2 lead and then notched two more tallies in the finale.

At St. Louis, the Flyers conquered their old nemesis, goalie John Bower, as they racked up their fourth straight.

Harry Taylor had the Flyers off to a fast lead, backhanding in a rebound after 45 seconds. Penalties then paved the way for goals by Bert Hirschfeld of the Flyers and Eddie Reigle and Glen Sennor of the Barons to tie the count 2-2.

Eric Pogue then got two for the Flyers to make the count 4-2. Following a scoreless second period, Ike Hildebrand scored for the Barons but Guyle Fielder and Joe Lund brought the final count to 6-3.

At Buffalo, the Bears took the lead on Norm Corcoran's goal in the first period and brought the count to 2-0 on Obie O'Brien's marker in the second. Frank Marlin tallied in the third. Vern Kaiser got the lone Buffalo goal.

Leafs Win Protest Over Ump Gravel

Toronto, Oct. 27.—Toronto Maple Leafs Saturday won a protest against the officiating of Referee George Gravel at Boston Oct. 16. President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League ruled against an official for the first time.

The protest came after a stick-swinging incident between Tod Sloan of the Leafs and Leo Labine of Boston. Sloan received a five-stitch cut. Both men were given match penalties and $100 fines under the attempt to injure rule.

The Toronto team claimed Labine could have been banished under the more serious "deliberate injury of an opponent" clause because of the injury.

In sustaining the protest Campbell said there were no grounds for further disciplinary action brought out by the hearing.

The upholding of the protest has no effect on the result of the game which Boston won 2-1.

Curlers To Vote On Granite vs Irons Issue

Montreal, Oct. 27.—The Canadian branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club, governing body in Eastern Canada, Saturday decided to put to a vote the matter of granites versus irons for the Governor General's Trophy.

The trophy, top doubles event in Canada, is one of the few remaining iron events. The Jubilee Trophy is another.

A spokesman for the Branch said competing clubs will be asked to vote on the matter, but that irons will be used again this year.

During the meeting, it was announced that R. F. (Dick) Walsh, a past-president of the Branch and of Montreal Thistle, had been named vice-president of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club in Scotland.

Named to the executive of the Branch for the coming year were: President, George Calder, Lachine; vice-presidents, Angus A. Stewart, Montreal; Heather, R. E. Woodwards, Lachine; secretary-treasurer, R. E. Ragun.

Competitions this year: Centenary—Montreal clubs only, finals Dec. 19-20.

Jubilee (Irons)—all-Branch, finals in Montreal Jan. 16 and 17.

Governor General's Trophy—all-Branch, finals in Ottawa Feb. 7.

Canadiens Swamp Red Wings 9-0 Then Rangers Eke Out 3-2 Win Over Wings; Bruins Blank Leafs And Tie With Hawks

What happened to Detroit Red Wings? Tommy Ivan's National Hockey League champions took two stunning defeats during the week-end just when they seemed well on the way to a repeat performance as league champions.

The Wings took one of the worst beatings in club history Saturday night, a 9-0 loss to Montreal Canadiens, then to cap probably the blackest week-end in their history, went down 3-2 Sunday before the lowly New York Rangers. It was New York's first victory in seven games.

In other games, Boston Bruins trounced Joe Primeau's in-and-out Toronto Maple Leafs 4-0 Saturday while the Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks played to a 1-1 Sunday tie at Chicago.

Detroit's crushing defeats dropped them into a third-place tie with Boston, one point behind Chicago. The high-flying Canadiens swept into first place with 10 points, one ahead of the Hawks.

The Hawks' headlock was their second consecutive tie. Jim McFadden rapped in a first-period tally to put the Hawks ahead, then Johnny Peirson took a Terry Toppanzi-Jack McIntyre pass for the equalizer.

At New York Jack Stoddard swatted home two rebounds, the final one giving Rangers their win. Most of the action took place in the second period of the bruising contest.

Stoddard started it off with less than four minutes remaining by tugging home Nick Mickoski's rebound. Seconds later the Wings' Gordie Howe grabbed a short pass from Red Kelly near the red line, swung around defenceman Jim Ross and scorched the puck past to fifth place.

The Rangers went in front shortly afterward when Herb Dickenson slapped home Hy Buller's rebound. Stoddard clinched the struggle shortly after the start of the final period. Hard-working Terry Sawchuk, who made 37 saves, cleared a Jim Conacher shot only to have Stoddard bang the rebound into the unprotected left side of the net.

The furious Detroit attack yielded another goal. After Ted Lindsay missed the open net Alex Delvecchio poked one home with only four minutes left.

An amazed but happy Montreal crowd of 14,538 saw their Canadiens slaughter the Wings Saturday night in what was believed to be the worst defeat ever suffered by Sawchuk. It was goalie Gerry McNeil's first shutout of the season.

The scoring parade saw Floyd Curry and Dick Gamble each count twice. Singletons went to Tom Johnston, Maurice Richard, Bernie Geoffrion, Billy Reay and Bert Oimstead.

Richard's counter sent his all-time N.H.L. total to 322, only two short of the record held by Nels Stewart, former player with the old Montreal Maroons, Boston Bruins and New York Americans. Sawchuk held out 36 of the 45 shots fired at him.

The other whitewashing, a dull affair, gave Boston goalie Jim Henry his first shutout of the young season. The awkward Bruins had a little too much on the ball for the Leafs as the counted one goal in the second period and three in the third. The loss dropped Toronto to fifth place.

Johnny Peirson scored the second period marker while Joe Klucka, traded to the Bruins in the off-season, came back to haunt his former team-mates with two goals. Dave Creighton added another. Sugar Jim Henry kicked out 23 shots against 30 for Harry Lumley of the listless Leafs.

Leafs lost left winger Howie Meeker, carried out on a stretcher after he crashed into the boards in the second period. He was taken to hospital with back and head injuries. Attendants said later he was resting comfortably.

Aces And Senators Battled To 2-2 Stalemate Saturday Night At Ottawa

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—Ottawa Aces and Ottawa Senators battled to a 2-2 overtime tie here Saturday night in a thrill-packed Quebec Senior Hockey League game before 6,601 fans—largest crowd of the season.

Ottawa came from behind twice to deadlock the count and send the game into overtime.

Goalie Jean Marois was brilliant in the Quebec nets, stopping point-blank shots from all directions. He turned aside 45 scoring attempts to 21 for Ottawa's Ray Fredericks.

Dennis Smith and Pierre Brillant scored for the Aces while Jackie Leclair and Howard (Rip) Riopelle sniped for Ottawa.

Ottawa's Red Johnson scored in the first period, but it was not allowed because an Ottawa player was inside the goal crease.

Another goal by Johnson was disallowed in the second period when he blinked the light as referee Sibbey Munday of Montreal blew the whistle to call an interference penalty on Brillant. Ottawa argued that it should have been a delayed penalty.

First Period
1—Quebec ... Smith (Carnegie, Kraiger) ... 17:50
Penalties—Renaud (2:24-8:24), Guidolin (12:50).

Eskimos Perform Near-Miracle Feat And Whip Stampeders 30-7 As Als Kick Out A 21-18 Win Over Tiger-Cats

Everybody said it couldn't happen, but... Edmonton Eskimos astounded the Canadian sports world Saturday night with an almost unbelievable comeback to smash Calgary Stampeders 30-7, wipe out a 19-point first-game deficit and advance to the Western Football Union finals by a 42-38 margin in the home-and-home total-point union final series.

Montreal Alouettes, the winless wonders of the Big Four union, put the foot back into football Sunday and practically kicked out a 18-18 decision—their first in 10 starts—over the league-leading and not-so-ferocious Hamilton Tiger-Cats. They did it by the simple method of restoring the almost-forgotten art of kicking—or even trying—placements.

Those were the highlights of a weird and wonderful week-end of senior football in Eastern and Western Canada. Nudging these games for attention was the 20-14 triumph Toronto Argonauts ground out over Ottawa Rough Riders, defending Grey Cup champions, at Toronto.

The loss just about sent Riders into the also-ran category in Big Four play. Only a combination of fantastic circumstances could send Riders into the Union playoffs, with the Tiger-Cats who have first place tucked in their hip pockets.

A double Rider victory over Hamilton and a double Argonaut loss to the Als in the two remaining games of the schedule. The Edmonton game, played before a full-house crowd of 16,000, was a tremendous comeback thriller that left the partisan fans screaming, yelling mob. A touchdown by Vancouver-born Rod Pantages in the last three minutes sent the Stampeders to their dressing-room in disgust.

Eskimos, painstakingly whittled down the huge Calgary lead on five converted touchdowns—two each in the second and third quarters and the game-winning plunge from the one-yard line by Pantages who, ironically enough, helped Calgary to its upset Grey Cup victory over Ottawa in 1948.

The Stampeders were leading 38-36 on the series and it appeared that they would hold out the gallant Eskimos to advance into the best-of-three finals against Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Then the Eskimos raced downfield and on the sixth play the one-time Stampeders bulled through centre.

The Stamps galled through centre. The gun sounded as Dave West missed a long pass from quarter Keith Spahn in the Eskimo end zone. The crowd poured onto the field, was unsuccessful in the old college end-of-game shenanigans of tearing up the goalposts but practically carried the Eskimos to their dressing-room.

The officiating stunk the joint out," was Les Lear's comment after the game. The Calgary coach apparently referred to some con-

Canadians Will Send Team To World Figure Skating Championships; Minto Club Gets Canadian Finals

Toronto, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Canada will send a four-member team to the 1953 World Figure Skating Championships at Davos, Switzerland, Feb. 7-15, it was announced yesterday. The skaters, chosen at the annual meeting of the governing council of the Canadian Figure Skating Association, have had previous international experience.

Suzanne Morrow, 21, who placed fourth in the World Championships this year at Paris and sixth in the Olympics at Oslo. She will compete in the women's senior singles. Peter Firstbrook, 18, seventh in the world and fifth in the Olympic in the men's single competition.

Frances Dafeo, 22, and Norris Bowden, 25, who teamed up to take a fourth in the world and a fifth in the Olympics in senior pairs competition. Reports earlier this week said there was some doubt that Canada would assemble a team for the Davis Championships but a statement issued after the meeting said "the prospects of a Canadian team entry to bring high honors to Canada at the World's Championships were considered very good."

Miss Morrow won the 1951 Canadian singles title and was an automatic choice to represent Canada at Oslo. She did not compete in the 1952 Canadian Championships. Firstbrook is the reigning Canadian men's single titleholder. Miss Dafeo and Bowden are the 1952 Canadian senior pairs champions.

The C.F.S.A. announced the 1953 Canadian championships will be held at the Minto Skating Club, Ottawa, Feb. 26-27, 28 and the Western region sectional championships at the Edmonton Figure Skating Club, Jan. 22-23-24.

The executive also decided that the 1954 Canadian Championships will be held at Calgary. No dates were set. Donald B. Cruikshank of Ottawa was re-elected president of the Association. Other officers are: First vice-president: Herber Larson, Saskatoon, second vice-president: F. H. Crispo, Toronto, immediate past president: Alfred H. Williams, Calgary.

Other officers include: Granville Mayall, Vancouver; Norman V. S. Gregory, Montreal; Melville F. Rogers, Ottawa.

Program Of Boxing Planned At Y.M.C.A.

A program of amateur boxing is being planned for the members of the Sherbrooke Y. M. C. A. for the coming winter. The purpose of the program is to train interested young fighters of Sherbrooke and the surrounding district so that the Eastern Townships may have a strong entry in the provincial Golden Gloves finals, to be held in Montreal next spring.

Les Connor, manager of Marcel Plouffe, of Windsor Mills, last winter, says he knows of a number of young men from Windsor and Sherbrooke who are interested in training this winter for the "Gloves." Any others who are interested should contact Les Connor or Alex Leslie, physical director at the Y.M.C.A.

Training time has been set aside at the "Y" for each Monday evening, from 8 to 10 and coaching and instructors will be on hand to see that those training get the proper fundamentals of the sport. There will also be training time Tuesday 7:30 to 8:45, and Wednesday 7 to 8.

It is planned to put the ring up at least once or twice a month on Friday nights, to give the boxers some ring experience. First session of this new class will be Monday, November 3, at 8 p.m. All interested are invited come down for this first session to have a workout, and to hear further details.

Last Quarter Rally Just Falls Short As Hec Shields' Bishop's Squad Dropped 13-11 By R. M. C.

Royal Military College football squad of Kingston, Saturday spoiled Bishop's University's last chance for a 1952 football victory by edging the Gators 13-11 in a game played at the Bishop's Campus. The game was well attended, with upwards of 400 fans braving the near freezing cold to watch the game. R.M.C. led by McCarthy, Palmer and Warren, gained their victory by dint of superior timing and broken field running. In the air, Bishop's completed 8 of 16 passes, mostly from Harry Smith to end Johnny Abbott, while R.M.C. made only 3 out of 11 attempts.

The Cadets fumbled five times to Bishop's four, but each team could recover only one of their opponents' miscues. Hoffer and Hearn played well on the line for R.M.C. For Bishop's, Harry Smith, Abbott, Quarles, Killingbeck and Walkinshaw stood out. Andy Ross handled the punting chores for the Gators, while McCarthy booted for the Cadets.

R.M.C. opened the scoring in the first quarter when Harry Smith was rouged on McCarthy's long hoist. Long passes put the Gators deep in the Soldiers' territory in the second quarter, and at the halfway mark Greenwood went over for a major. Walkinshaw made good the convert.

From the kickoff the Cadets opened their only successful aerial attack, completing 2 out of 3; the last, from Palmer to McCarthy, was good for a touchdown. Cumine kicked the convert, and at the half R.M.C. led 7-6.

Both teams fought hard in the early stages of the second half, attempting to clinch the game, and for a while neither side could make headway. Early on, Harry Smith, Bishop's quarter, suffered a concussion and was removed from the game; his loss hurt badly despite the gallant attempt by Greenwood to plug up the unfamiliar position. Long kicks and a Bishop's fumble put R.M.C. in scoring position and it was Warren who plunged 15 yards to a touchdown. Palmer converted and it was 13-6 R.M.C. In desperation Bishop's took to the air, and in the final seconds Greenwood passed to Abbott for a major. The convert was not good, leaving the final score 13-11 in favor of R.M.C.

Thetford, Sherbrooke Admitted In Provincial

St. Hyacinthe, Que., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Sherbrooke and Thetford Mines, Que., have been admitted to the Class C Provincial Baseball League, it was announced yesterday.

Sherbrooke will have a new 4,000-seat stadium, may have a working agreement with Cleveland Indians of the American League. It is not known who will back Thetford Mines.

The other teams in the loop are Three Rivers, Quebec, St. Johns, Granby, Drummondville and the pennant-winning St. Hyacinthe team. L. Albert Molini, League president, announced the 1953 season will start May 2, opening a 126-game schedule. A league meeting will be held in Montreal Nov. 23.

Outstanding Addresses Given By A. Lang & R. Flood At Waterloo High

Waterloo, Oct. 27.—The annual school opening exercises were held on Friday evening in the auditorium of the Waterloo High School. Many students, parents and friends attended to witness the giving of prizes and awards, and to listen to an excellent address delivered to the graduating class by Mr. Arthur Lang of Montreal.

Mr. Robert Flood, chairman of the school board, was a very capable chairman for the evening, and following the singing of "O Canada" and the Invocation by Rev. Harry Andrews, the chairman reviewed the work of the past year.

"If we are going to enjoy a better year than we did last year," Mr. Flood stated, "then it is time we got started. To better last year's record would require quite a bit of work. In the finals of the Provincial examinations" the chairman continued, "we had one first class; five seconds; two thirds; and three failures; while in the Grade X results, we had three first class; one second class; and one third class with no failures. This is exceptionally well not only of the pupils themselves, but of our teaching staff."

"In recalling extra-curricular activities, our French night under Miss Griffin stands out along with Miss Hamilton's Operetta and Glee Club. These things will ever be remembered by not only those taking part, but also those fortunate enough to have heard them."

Mr. Flood gave a quick review of the financial standing of the school. "In 1941-42, it cost $60.54 to educate one child, and there were 175 enrolled in the school. In 1951-52 it cost $124 to educate the same child and there was an enrollment of 366. This year there is an enrollment of almost 400, and it is expected the cost will be about the same," he hopes, but doubts.

"Taxes in 1941-42 brought in just less than six thousand dollars, while in 1951-52 they brought in about twelve thousand dollars. The government grant has increased from thirty-five hundred to over twenty-five thousand, and the outside municipalities bring in just under the five thousand mark. Right now," the chairman explained, "the school has a deficit of ten thousand dollars. With the cost of education doubled, and the enrollment doubled, that makes the cost four times what it was ten years ago, and taxation brings in just double what it did then. The grant is almost ten times what it was then" Mr. Flood stated, "we demand better schools, better teachers and better equipment, and where is the money coming from? There appears to be one answer only, and that is to continue higher taxes. If we must have these benefits, we must likewise pay for them."

In introducing the principal, Mr. Flood said, "We have here, Waterloo's greatest single asset in the field of education and our school, Mr. Pickford."

The principal welcomed all present on behalf of the teachers, and offered hearty congratulations to the pupils, "where most of the credit is due," Mr. Pickford stated. "Teachers and parents can make the task much easier with their cooperation, and Waterloo is most fortunate to have this cooperation, at the results given."

Mr. Pickford congratulated the school board and stated that once again we were lucky to have such a cooperative group of men to handle our educational problems. Speaking of homework, the principal stated that this is a necessary field of enterprise, one which must be accomplished by the individual and him only, in order to complete a well rounded course of studies and a well rounded extra-curricular calendar.

The Glee Club under Mr. Lee sang beautifully "On Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn, and much credit indeed is due this teacher, who has devoted so much time to carry on this wonderful group of girls, who sing for the pleasure derived from it and for the pleasure it gives others. They did exceptionally well, and were called back to repeat part of their offering by continued applause.

Commissioner Frank Bockus presented the book prizes awarded by the school commission to Grade VII, to Marilyn McKergow, Connie Tetreault and Evantene Everett.

In Grade VIII, the book prizes were presented by Commissioner Jack Buckland and went to Janis Martin, Janet Millinchamp and Janet Russell; and in Grade IX, Commissioner Wes. Parkes presented the books to Joan Russell, Leslie Hanson and Lorraine Langston and Shirley Maynes were even.

Special prizes awarded by individuals and firms of Waterloo were as follows: The Martin and Stewart Company award went to the boy showing the greatest improvement in Industrial Arts, and was worth five dollars and went to Stanley Atkinson. The Martin and Stewart Company award to the girl in Grade VII showing the greatest improvement in Household Science worth five dollars went to Evantene Everett, and also in Grade VII the Order of the Eastern Star presented two prizes in French with first going to Connie Tetreault and second to Marilyn McKergow. These were presented by Mrs. Roger McKergow.

A special award was made in French in Grade VII by Miss Griffin and was won by Harriet McCullough. The Independent Order of Odd Fellows award for History in Grade VII went to Marilyn McKergow and Connie Tetreault and was worth five dollars to each.

In Grade VIII, Slack Bros. Award for the highest in English Literature and Composition, and worth $15 was won by Janis Martin with 98%. This award was made by Mr. Irving Slack.

The Waterloo Plywood Ltd., award for the highest in spelling in Grade VIII was made by Mr. Jack Buckland to Janet Millinchamp with 99% and was worth $7.50. Mrs. Mary Hamilton award for perfect attendance was won by Lorraine Smith and was worth two dollars.

In Grade IX, Slack Brothers award in English Literature and Composition went to Leslie Hanson with 85% and was worth $15, and Commissioner A. J. Buckland's award for the highest in spelling was also won by Leslie Hanson with 97% and was worth $7.50. The Macdonald Metals and Plastics Awards in Maths, were presented by Mr. Ray Loehrke and went to Joan Russell with 91.5%, worth $15.00, and Shirley Maynes with 89% worth $10.00.

In his introduction of the guest speaker, Mr. Flood stated that Mr. Lang, who started as principal in 1916, has always been connected with the teaching profession and was awarded the Award for Scholastic Merit second class. He is now the executive secretary for the Protestant Provincial School Board. Mr. Lang, who is witty, sparkling and interesting, stressed the point that all graduating classes should keep in mind the fact that there is a shortage of teachers in Quebec today. The population continues to grow, and the need is ever greater.

"After our formal education, then we must play the game of life. We cannot sit on the sidelines as we would at a hockey or baseball game, we are playing it. We must be prepared for the full compact, and this starts of course with a well rounded curriculum at school, and at home. Get into all activities you can, when you can, because the day will come when you wish you had. Join in the fun, the work and the thrills of being a boy and girl."

"Because the real wealth of Canada is not its oil fields, its iron deposits, but you and you and you, you the young people of today makes up the wealth Canada enjoys. Do not let it down. There are certain rules and regulations you must abide by, however." Mr. Lang continued, "and these are headed under the Ten Commandments of Sports, or of Playing the Game of Life."

"Here is the listing. Thou Shalt Not Quit, Thou Shalt Not Cheat, Thou Shalt Not Gloat Over Winning, Thou Shalt Not Be A Rotten Loser, Thou Shalt Not Take Unfair Advantage of Anyone, Thou Shalt Give the Opposition the Benefit of the Doubt, Thou Shalt Not Overestimate Thyself, Thou Shalt Not Underestimate the Opposition, Thou Shalt Always Remember That the Game is the IMPORTANT Thing, and Thou Shalt ALWAYS Play it Square."

"When you take a job," Mr. Lang pleaded, "however humble, make sure it is some thing that you want to do. Do not try to be a round peg in a square hole. Be suited for your life's work, because herein lies tragedy if you have to do something every day of your life that you dislike. Prepare yourself for the game of life, mentally, physically, socially and above all spiritually, and you will win the game, you cannot lose."

Mr. Arthur Lang. The guest speaker was then called upon to give out the certificates in Grade X, first class went to Janet Chapman, Dorothy Fisk, and Barbara Marcotte, and second class certificates to Margaret Cousins, Barbara Trussler, Eliane McCullough, Ona Bostwick, Alan Buckland, Roger Cousins, Everett Arnott and John Porter and third class to Daphne Plunkett.

Matriculation certificates were given out to Grade XI pupils also by Mr. Lang to Rosemary Martin, first class, and second class to Jean Maynes, Rita Nielson, Carl Mann, Shirley Hallam, and Doris Hanna, and third class to Shirley Ledoux and Betty Thompson.

The book prizes awarded by the School Commission went to Janet Chapman, Dorothy Fisk and Barbara Marcotte, in Grade X, and in Grade XI, to Rosemary Martin, Jean Maynes and Rita Nielson and were presented by Commissioner Orval Lewis.

Special prizes awarded by individuals and firms in Waterloo were as follows: Dr. M. Katz award for general proficiency in Grade X with 88.7% went to Janet Chapman worth $20.00; and Slack Bros. award also to Janet Chapman with 84.5% for English Literature and Composition worth fifteen dollars. The Macdonald Metals and Plastics award for maths in Grade X went to Janet Chapman and Margaret Cousins worth twenty and fifteen dollars respectively.

Beaver Chapter No. 7, Award for Social Studies went to Janet Chapman and Barbara Marcotte respectively. Dr. E. M. Blake Award for Household Science worth five dollars went to Janet Chapman.

In Grade XI Slack Bros Award for English Literature and Composition went to Rosemary Martin with 84.5% and was worth fifteen dollars. Macdonald Metals and Plastics award went to Carl Mann with 96.5% in maths, and was worth twenty-five dollars.

Anonymous award for chemistry went to Rita Nielsen with 88% worth ten dollars and Doris Hanna with 75%, worth five dollars.

Dr. E. M. Blake award for Household Science went to Rosemary Martin and Shirley Hallam, equal with 75% each getting five dollars.

Adam Lumber Award for first in French Language in either Grade X or Grade XI went to Jean Maynes with 92.5% worth fifteen dollars.

The final award was the Scholar-Citizen of the Year Award for the Outstanding Boy and Girl during the past year, and while there is no monetary value, their names are inscribed on a plaque for that purpose in the entrance to the school. These awards went to Rosemary Martin and to Carl Mann.

The valedictory was given by Jean Maynes, and her theme was "What School has Meant to me. When you are at school, you hear the teacher say many times that 'this is the happiest time of your life.' One wonders many times if this is right or not. Now that we are finished with school for good, we know that they are right. We think of associations we make at school, friends for life, teachers whom we love, and the sports, the glee clubs, the operettas, the little things that mean so much to us all, the prizes we win, the ones we see our friends get as well. This is what school means to me, and the days spent at school were certainly the happiest of my life, so far," Miss Maynes concluded.

In closing Mr. Flood again thanked all, and invited them to partake of light refreshments prepared by the staff. Rev. E. D. Mitchell pronounced the benediction.

Those seated on the stage included, Miss Jean Maynes, Mrs. Dorothy Adams, Mrs. Roger McKergow, Messrs W. A. Parkes, Ray Loehrke, Irving Slack, A. J. Buckland, Rev. Harry Andrews, Rev. E. D. Mitchell, Mr. Lang, Mr. Flood, Mr. Pickford, Mr. Orval Lewis, Dr. Frank Bockus and Mr. G. E. Hanson secretary of the board. A dance was held at the conclusion of the evening's program.

The Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian C. G. I. T. Held Annual At Boundary

Stanstead, Oct. 27. — The annual Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian Canadian Girls In Training Conference was held this year, at the Boundary churches.

On Saturday afternoon some one hundred girls and their leaders met at Centenary Church, Stanstead. There they were registered for the activities of the conference by the committee in charge. The assembly was welcomed by the president of the Centenary Group, Miss Joyce Lyons, and the roll was answered by Groups from Ayers Cliff, Beebe, Magog, Melbourne, Richmond, Rock Island, Sherbrooke and Stanstead, also by the leaders from Montreal.

The courtesy committee was named by the president followed by Mrs. George Bullis, leader of the Centenary Group, introducing Miss Daisy McNeil, work secretary, Miss Lois Boast, R.N., who is camp nurse at Cedar Lodge, the C.G.I.T. summer camp, and is District leader; Miss B. MacPherson, game leader; Miss Moffat, song leader, all of Montreal; and Mrs. C. R. Boast, of Richmond, who is conference branch secretary.

Mrs. Bullis announced that Mrs. Perry was unable to be attend. With Mrs. A. P. Gordon, at the piano, the conference began with the singing of camp songs, led by Miss Moffat. After this the handicraft session was held, several of the girls had registered for "Spatter painting", this was taught by Mrs. McKinley Rose and Mrs. E. W. Brown, and proved to be a very interesting study, as with colored inks and suitable tools the girls were soon busy learning the art of making lovely Christmas cards. Later the cards were on display at the banquet.

Another Group registered for games and were delighted with the opportunity to be taught new games by Miss MacPherson.

The third group registered for "Discussion" which was given by Miss Boast, James Grady operated the movie projector, showing films on which Miss Boast based topics, The fellowship of girl and boy, this session proved very educational to the teen-age girls.

Folk dancing followed, then all the girls and leaders were given the opportunity of a tour of Sunnyside School, of which the Stanstead and a few of the Rock Island groups are privileged to attend.

At six o'clock that evening the banquet was held in Stanstead South Church, in Rock Island, in the hall. The tables were decorated in keeping with "the church" with each table centered with a white miniature church and at each end was the C.G.I.T. crest on card-board. The head table was a little more elaborate with blue candles in crystal holders flanking the church, at each end were white candles in crystal holders.

Seated at the head table was Mrs. Boast, Miss McNeil, Miss Mof-

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Claire: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.

— Mrs. A. W.
A. — A particularly good idea or women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It smoothes on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Liquid Skin Sachet. Available in 3 famous fragrances: Chantilly, Quelques Fleurs, Le Parfum Ideal. Only $2.

PIGEON HILL

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Willey were Mr. and Mrs. Lorimer Willey and three children, of Richmond, Mrs. H. Laplant and Mr. J. R. Laplant, of Enosburg Falls, Vt., and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Clough, of Stanbridge East.

Mr. and Mrs. Royce Chamberlin and Mrs. Nellie Oakes motored to Williamstown, Ont., to attend the funeral of Gordon Calder, of Noranda. School was closed on Monday to observe Thanksgiving Day. The farwell was given in the church yard thus bringing to a close another conference.

Luncheon was served in the Centenary Church Hall by the ladies. Miss Rosalie Burrill expressed thanks to all, who had helped on this occasion, included those who homes, where the girls were billeted on Saturday night.

AN ADITORIAL

Plants, Animals and People have a craving for saving

It's a deep instinct of life—the habit of saving—when and while opportunity permits.

The cactus plant saves water against the drought.

The beaver saves bark against the winter months.

People save earnings against—and for—the future.

The wise ones do!

The habit of saving goes far back in human history.

The hunter of old! Enough meat today—but what of tomorrow?

The early farmer! Enough crop this year—but what about next?

The freeman artisan! A good market for wares now—but what of the future?

And so—the habit of saving.

In 1952, the medium of exchange in Canada is money. The means to food and clothing, shelter, the good things of life, personal and family security—is money. The dollar earned—while opportunity permits.

Earned and spent? Or earned and partly saved?

Some people have formed the habit of saving to meet unforeseeable needs—emergencies, illness, joblessness.

Some have formed the habit of saving to meet foreseeable wants—a new house, a car, a university education for a child or children, a long-planned holiday, the needs of old age.

Some have formed the habit of saving to provide means to take advantage of business or investment opportunities that come to all of us.

A good habit, this saving earnings against—and for—the future. It leads to a fuller life, a securer tomorrow, more enjoyment. It's the stuff that makes dreams come true.

Do YOU have the saving habit?

You'll agree that saving today and spending tomorrow doesn't get you very far. The way to save effectively is to save regularly and systematically. Canada Savings Bonds provide you with such a way.

Canada Savings Bonds are available to you now—in easy instalments—through your investment dealer, bank or your Company's Payroll Savings Plan. Better than cash, they are always cashable at any bank at any time—for full face value plus interest.

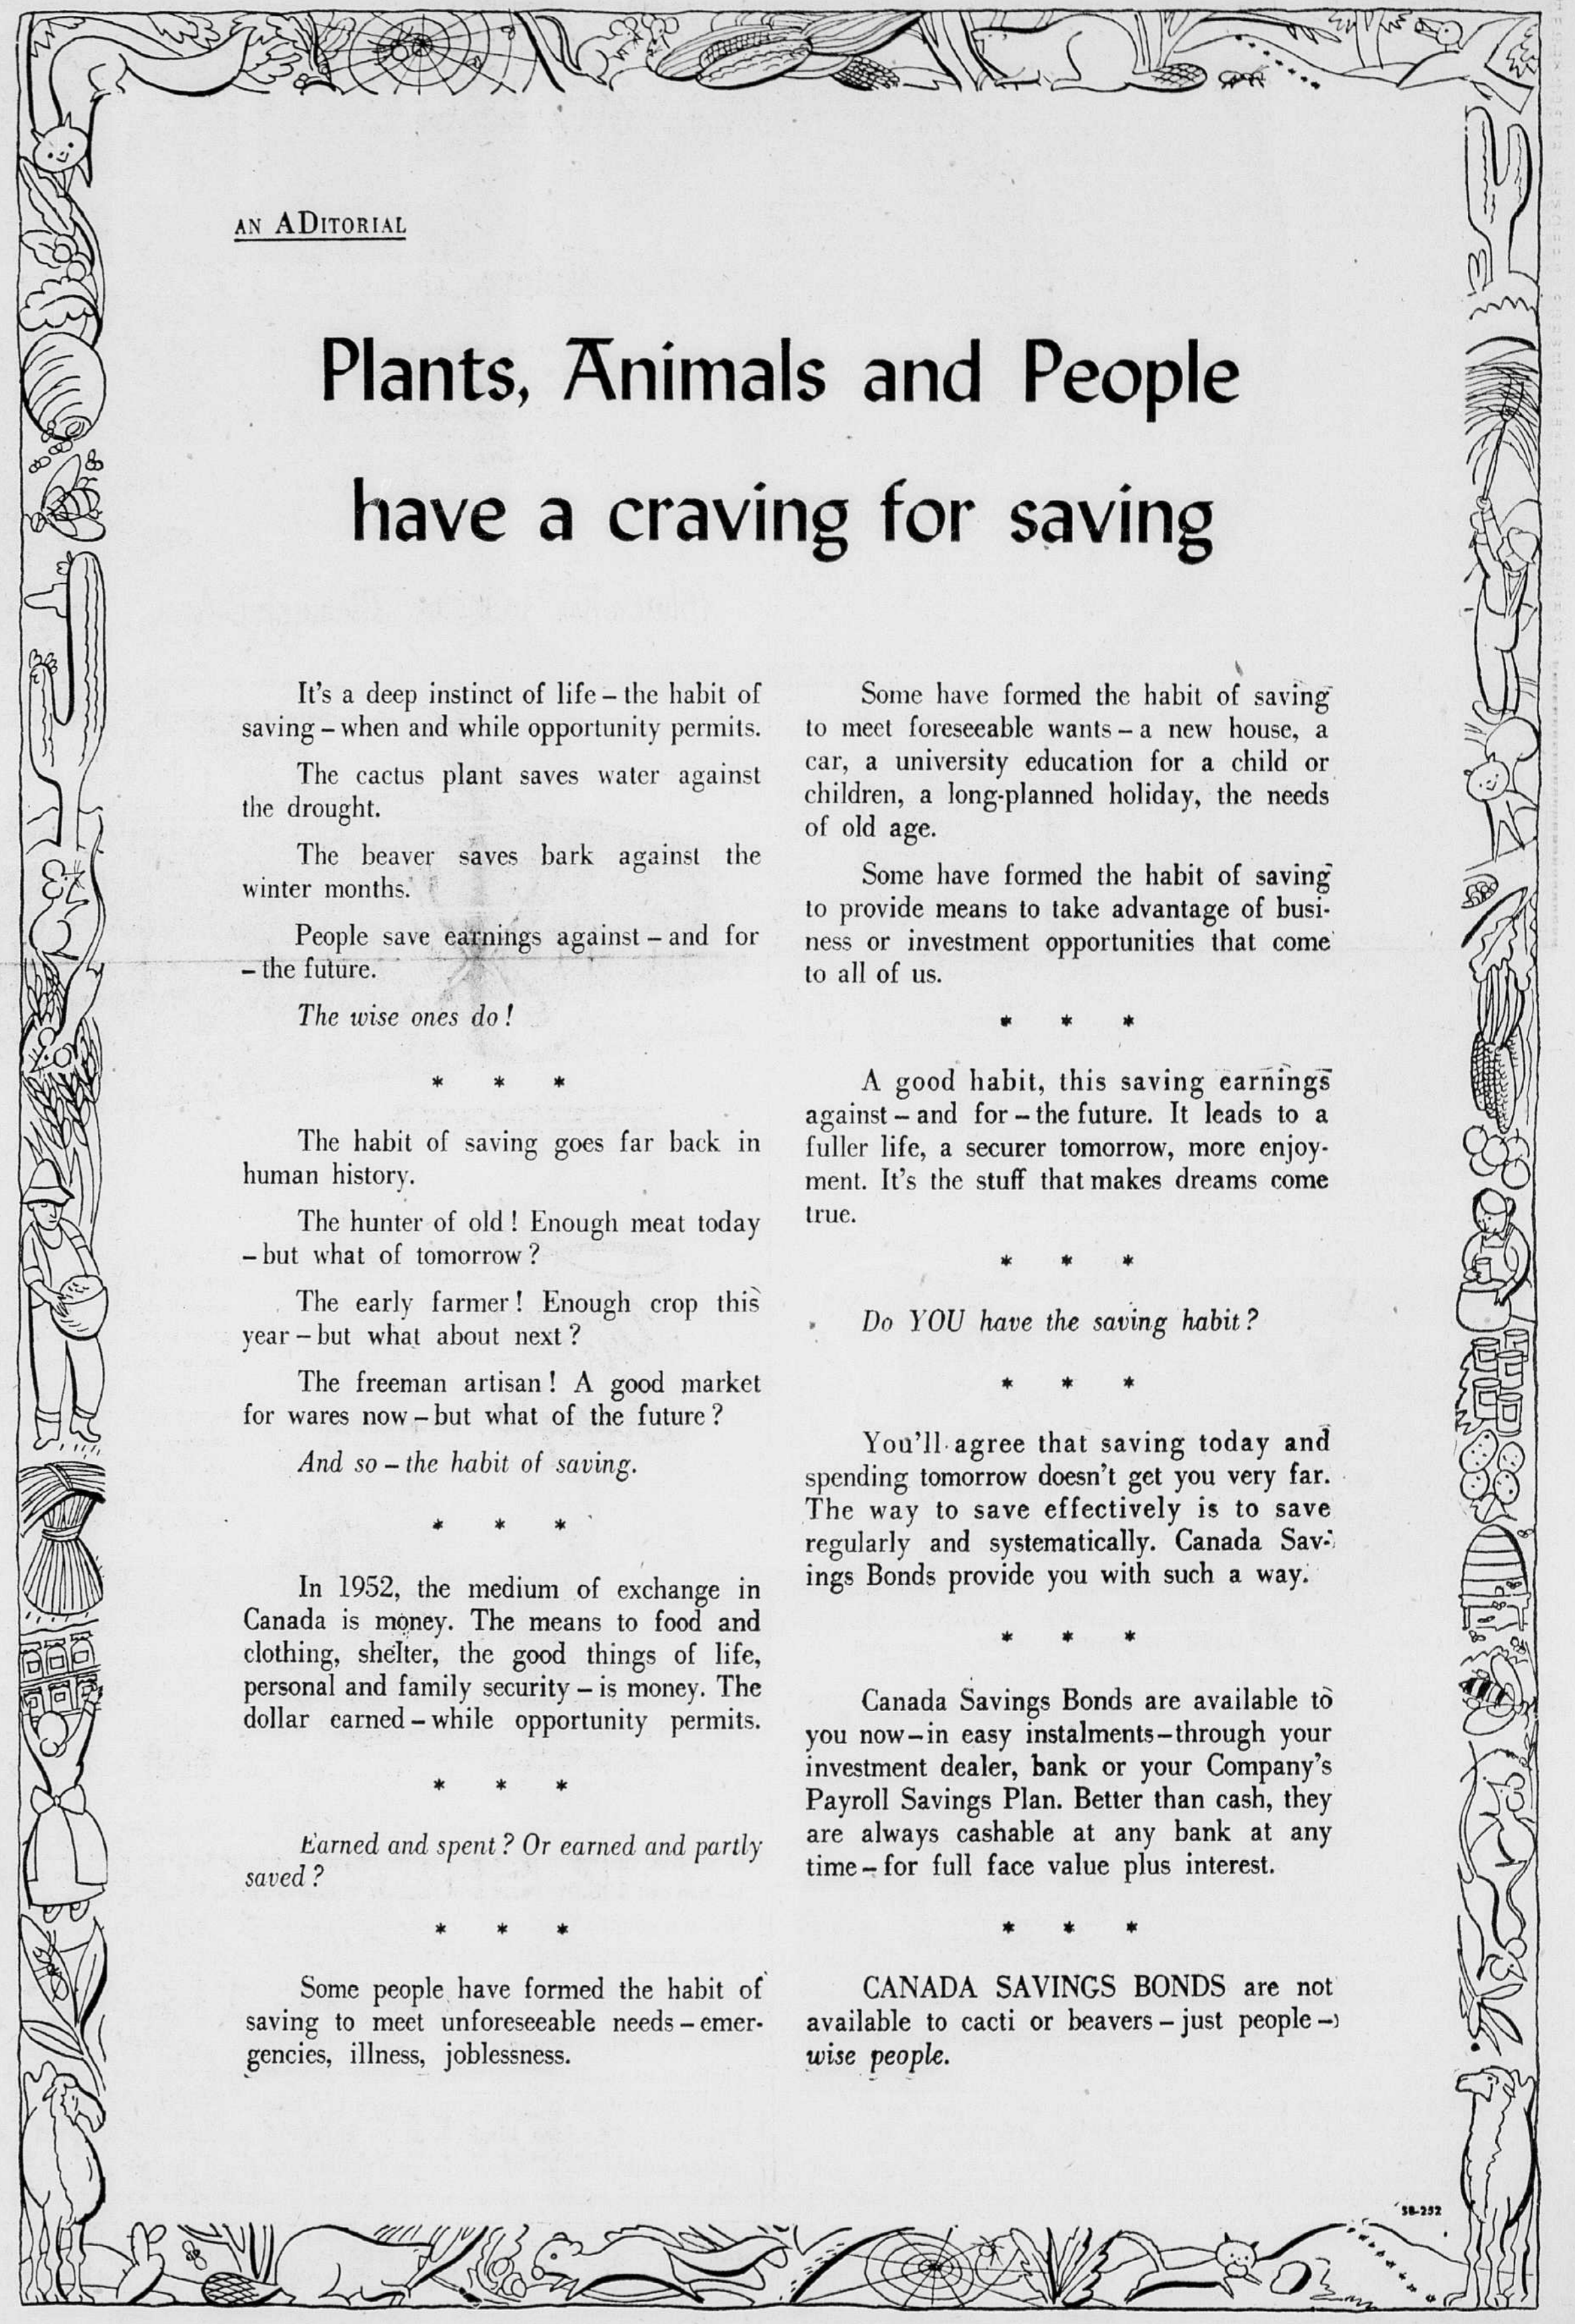

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS are not available to cacti or beavers—just people—wise people.

Moving Ahead with Canada

GENERAL MOTORS

OSHAWA—General Motors of Canada Limited moves ahead with Canada, turning out more and better cars and trucks in the tradition of fine craftsmanship established more than 80 years ago by carriage maker Robert McLaughlin. The plant shown has 50 acres of floor space. In addition a new 17-acre truck plant will be opened in 1953 . . . a new six-acre central parts warehouse was opened in 1951 and other new parts warehouses built or under construction are at Vancouver, Winnipeg, London, Montreal and Moncton.

SCARBOROUGH AND LEASIDE—Frigidaire moves ahead with Canada. This new 11-acre plant in Scarborough was opened officially on October 16th. In addition, a large plant at Leaside is occupied on defence contracts.

LONDON—General Motors Diesel Limited moves ahead with Canada. This seven acre plant opened in 1950 has already announced plans for an 85,000 square foot addition, which will enable it to provide the most modern service facilities for locomotives.

ST. CATHARINES AND GRANTHAM—The McKinnon Industries move ahead with Canada. This vast new foundry, opened in Grantham Township on October 15th, makes possible the construction of heavy engine components impossible before. Together with the main plant in the city of St. Catharines, the McKinnon enterprise now has 35 acres under roof and contracts are being let for additional building covering eight acres.

MOTORS

WINDSOR—The GM Engine Plant moves ahead with Canada. Producing more engines than ever before, the Engine Plant is constantly expanding to meet production demands at Oshawa. It covers 8 acres.

General Motors builds more cars and trucks in Canada than any other manufacturer . . . and because of GM's unchallenged leadership in motor vehicles, many people think of GM as only an automotive firm. But there is much more than that to the GM story.

True, GM's largest contribution to Canada's industrial strength is in the vast group of plants in Oshawa, which last year turned out 185,000 cars and trucks. But in London, Ontario, the new plant of General Motors Diesel Limited is building every type of diesel locomotive—quick, efficient switchers, mammoth high-speed road locomotives. In St. Catharines, Ontario, the two plants of The McKinnon Industries Limited turn out varied products from heavy malleable and gray iron castings to small electric motors—Delco motors that power a high percentage of home appliances in Canada. Frigidaire Products of Canada Limited, at Scarborough and Leaside plants, builds world-famous home appliances, as well as commercial refrigeration, air-conditioning and humidity control equipment. In Windsor, the GM Engine Plant builds and tests the power plants for GM's Canadian-built cars and trucks.

Pictured here are representative plants of GM's Canadian divisions. They have been growing impressively—in output, in number of employees, in size of plant . . . striding ahead with our country. Today GM gives employment to over 20,000 Canadians. And what does GM's great industrial strength mean to any one citizen of Canada? It means more things made at home—less to import and thus more to be shared among ourselves in Canada. In addition to turning out more and better things for Canadians, General Motors plants are also contributing to the nation's defence program and to its expanding export markets. That is our proud story. That is General Motors in Canada.
