SERIOUS INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL PROBLEMS CONFRONT ALL NATIONS

Conclusion of Another Week Sees a Troubled Horizon Darkened by World's Problems—Threats of War in Manchuria, Turmoil in Germany, Serious Trouble in Spain and Armed Guards Protecting Irish Dail But Few of Disturbing Factors—Yet, in Spite of These Gloomy Shades, There is Also a More Hopeful Outlook.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Clouds of strife darken the horizon as another week closes. With the world disarmament conference only four months away the Council of the League of Nations grapples with threats of war in Manchuria. Turmoil in Germany is succeeded by new turmoil in Spain. The Irish Dail assemblies under the protection of armed guards. "There is a widespread conspiracy to overthrow the Government by force of arms," exclaims President Cosgrave as he seeks new powers to combat disorder, "and they are prepared to use murder to attain their ends." Hundreds of British platforms ring with the electoral battle.

DIVORCE LAWS INTRODUCED IN CONSTITUTION

Spanish National Assembly Tossed Out Laws Against Divorce in Force for Centuries.

MADRID, Oct. 17.—A provision permitting the granting of divorce to either men or women for "just cause" was incorporated in the new Spanish constitution today. The National Assembly by a vote of 169 to 153 thus overthrew laws against divorce which had been in effect for centuries and placed women on an equal footing with men in the regulation of marital relations. The grounds for a decree were not specified further. Catholic deputies, who have boycotted the assembly because of anti-religious legislation, described the measure as "another indication of the attempt of radicals to revolutionize Spanish life entirely." Papal Nuncio Federico Tedechini said the status of the church was "the gravest in the history of the republic," but predicted no immediate rupture in the relations between the two nations.

FRENCH FAVOR CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBTS

Premier Laval Advised to Propose to Hoover a Fifty Per Cent. Reduction in Inter-Governmental War Debts in Place of Possible Extension of the One-Year Moratorium.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Premier Laval, on route to United States was represented by the newspaper Le Matin today as having been advised to propose to President Hoover a fifty per cent reduction in inter-governmental war debts in place of a possible extension of the one-year moratorium. His experts urged him also to suggest progressive reduction in armaments on the basis of budget costs rather than the idea of equality, the paper said, and with the stipulation that the Kellogg-Briand Peace Pact be amended to provide that in the event of war United States would consult with other powers and agree to deprive the aggressor of all assistance. He would oppose renunciation of Germany's unconditional reparations payments, it was said, but would accept the substitution of payments in kind for payments in money. Opposition to bimetalism and to repudiation of the gold supply was pressed upon him. France was said to realize that British and United States banks are embarrassed by frozen credits in Germany and South America. If the United States places capital at the disposal of banks, France was said to be willing to open the Paris market to loans floated in this connection.

INVENTOR'S DEATH NOW ONLY MATTER OF HOURS

Life of Thomas A. Edison Ebbing Perceptibly Today—Members of Family Remain at Bedside.

WEST ORANGE, N.J., Oct. 17.—The life of Thomas A. Edison was ebbing perceptibly today. The end was regarded as a matter of hours. For the first time since Mr. Edison suffered his present collapse on October 2nd, Dr. Hubert S. Howe spent the night at Glenmont, the eighty-four-year-old inventor's home. He did this, partly to soothe Mrs. Edison, who has kept a constant vigil at the bedside of her husband. A note of optimism came in the bulletin issued last night by Dr. Howe, who said, "as far as can be told there would be no emergency for many hours." Members of the family were at the bedside.

JAPAN UNDECIDED AS TO WHETHER IT WOULD DEFEY LEAGUE.

TOKYO, October 17.—Japan was undecided today as to whether it would defy the League of Nations in the event the latter refuses to reconsider Tokyo's contentions in the League Council's discussions of the Sino-Japanese dispute over Manchuria. If the League decides unconditionally that Japanese troops must vacate Manchurian territory outside the Japanese controlled South Manchurian railway zone, the Tokyo administration likely will have to face a serious situation. The army stands opposed to the interference of any outside agency in adjusting of the main problem.

REVENUE FROM POSTAL DEPT. HAS INCREASED

Advance Most Marked in Connection With Third Class Mail Matter.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—Substantial revenue in postal revenue with every prospect of last year's deficit being overtaken, is indicated in reports of postal business presented to Hon. Arthur Sauve, Postmaster General. Since assuming that portfolio Mr. Sauve has applied himself industriously to the task of converting a heavy deficit into a surplus and today expressed satisfaction with the result which promises well for the future. One feature of the increased postal business is the marked advance in third class mail embraces printed matter office alone, one which is regarded by officials here as a good barometer for all Canada, the increase in this type of postage during September was 100 per cent. over September, 1930. "If this conveys anything at all," declared one official, "it suggests that business houses and industrial concerns have greatly widened their advertising campaigns. Third class mail embraces printed matter of all kinds, such as the doubling of this business in September indicates a pronounced confidence on the part of merchandizing houses in the gradual betterment of conditions generally."

TELLS HOW BIG FARM PROBLEM WAS SOLVED

Industrial Leaders Are Beginning to Realize that a Nation Cannot Prosper Unless People Living on Farms Prosper.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Canadian farmers and business men may well study the results of the Minnesota plan, which raised farm income in Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana by $700,000,000 in eight years, an average of $100 per farm, according to Frederick E. Murphy, newspaper publisher, sponsor of the plan, now directing an educational effort from New York to interest the business leaders of the country in agriculture. "Canadian prosperity," said Mr. Murphy, "is as vital to us as our own because of her great volume of trade with us. In the United States, industrial leaders are beginning to realize that the nation cannot prosper unless the people living on our farms prosper."

GIVE UP HOPE OF LOCATING MISSING SHIP

Three Vessels Spent Greater Part of Day Looking for Japanese Freighter, Yonan Maru, But Search Proved Fruitless.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 17.—The Japanese freighter Yonan Maru, with its crew of between forty and fifty men, was given up for lost today, the only trace of the vessel found by three searching in mid-Pacific was part of its deck-load of logs. The liner President Jefferson, in which Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are returning from the Orient to the United States, reached the scene of the Yonan Maru's distress shortly before noon yesterday in response to a series of frantic calls for help, but could not find the ship. The President Jefferson radioed: "Found deck-load, but nothing else. Cruised vicinity three hours in company with Ayasha Maru and Taigen Maru, but no ships found trace of anything except Yonan Maru's deck-load." After cruising in the vicinity nearly all day, the three vessels resumed their courses, deeming the search for lifeboats or wreckage as hopeless. Poor visibility, caused by rain and heavy seas, hampered the search.

Duncanson, director of markets for British Columbia.

FALL ELECTION FOR MANITOBA HARDLY LIKELY

With Announcements from Two Prairie Premiers, Complicated Political Situation Has Been Somewhat Cleared Up.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 17.—Tangled skeins of the political web on the Prairies are partially unraveled today as result of declarations from premiers of two provinces. Premier John Bracken, of Manitoba, last night announced no decision had been reached for a fall election, and in Alberta, Premier J. E. Brownlee discounted a union-government proposal and rejected a plea for a special session. "When we decide an election should be held, we will notify you five weeks before its date, as provided by law," said Premier Bracken in a speech following an all-day caucus of Progressive members. His comment dissipated persistent rumors, strongly supported in Conservative quarters, that he planned a general ballot for late November. Conservative leader, for his unqualified rejection of a government proposal for a coalition administration, came from Premier Bracken. He said that Col. Taylor's comment on Manitoba's financial condition had endangered the province's credit and claimed that the coalition refusal had cost the government $500,000 in possible Dominion Government grants.

SHORT SELLING ON MARKET HAS GOOD RESULTS

New York Stock Exchange President Says Short Selling Often Source of Great Stability in Time of Crisis.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 17.—Richard Whitney, president of the New York Exchange, last night defended short selling as a source of great stability in a time of crisis, as a necessity if the exchange is to keep open and as a thoroughly legal practice. "Had there been no short interest in the market on September 21st, the day after Great Britain's suspension of the gold standard, Whitney said, the stock exchange might have been forced to close for the third time in its history. He denied, in his address before the Hartford Chamber of Commerce, that short selling had caused a decline in security prices. Instead, he said, such a decline would certainly result from a prohibition of the practice. President Whitney disclosed for the first time that last month's ban on short selling was not complete, as it became necessary after the two hours to permit a limited amount of short selling to prevent corners and unwarranted and dangerous advances. In declaring the decline in security prices has been due not to short selling but to "unsatisfactory business conditions and to the liquidation of securities owned outright or held on margin," Whitney said. "Any halt or hindrance to short selling would have the effect of driving from the stock market the most important sources of buying power, and it could only lead to an excess of sellers and further declines in prices. Whether the opponents of short selling know this or not, the New York Stock Exchange knows it, and it is one of the basic reasons for the stock exchange attitude in defense of short selling."

THIS COUNTRY MEETS ITS PROBLEMS WITH COURAGE

Chancellor E. W. Beatty Brought Stirring Message of Hope to McGill Graduates.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 17.—If the greatness of a nation can be judged by the fibre of its people, then the Dominion of Canada is already a great nation, Canadians, far from being a "half-breed" people, are steady, level-eyed and prone to meet their difficulties confidently and without hysteria, and they are showing more of this spirit today than ever before in their history. In these assuring words, E. W. Beatty, K.C., Chancellor of McGill University, brought a stirring message of hope to McGill graduates assembled at the annual banquet of their third quinquennial reunion here last night.

BRUENING AND HINDENBURG TO RULE GERMANY

German Government Reverted to Virtual Dictatorship Today as Members of Reichstag Abandoned Their State Work Until February.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—The German Government reverted to a virtual dictatorship today as members of the Reichstag went home until next February. After a series of motions that entrenched Chancellor Bruening more strongly than ever, the Reichstag voted last night to adjourn and leave the Chancellor and President Von Hindenburg to manage the country unhampered by parliamentary restrictions. The Communists and Social Democrats fired a parting shot by jamming through a resolution asking the government to suspend construction of "vest-pocket" battle-ships and use the money saved to feed the poor. The motion passed by 211 to 181. The Reichstag was in session only four days, during which it upheld Chancellor Bruening's ministry on the vote of confidence and witnessed the National Socialist and Nationalist deputies walk out for the second time to express their antagonism toward moderate government.

FINE INCREASE IS INDICATED IN TOURIST TRADE

Unofficial Figures, Which Do Not Include Month of September, Indicate an Increase of Over Fifteen Per Cent. in Total Number of Tourists Coming to Quebec.

QUEBEC, Oct. 17.—Figures issued by Arthur Bergeron, secretary of the Department of Roads and Mines and head of the Provincial Tourist Bureau, indicate that there has been an increase of over fifteen per cent this year in the tourist traffic over the preceding year. Far from decreasing, also according to unofficial figures, the officials are under the impression that the increase in the month of September, which is not referred to in the statement issued, has been considerable as compared also to September, 1930. According to these official figures, the number of automobiles, entering the province at thirty-eight points of entry reached the total of 656,228. This would mean that about 2,000,000 visitors were attracted to this province in the summer season through the road system, in addition to the tourists and the propaganda carried out mostly by the Road Department. The increase is beyond expectations and is taken by Hon. J. E. Perrault, Minister of Roads and Mines, as a vindication of the publicity campaign not only in the United States but all through Canada, by means of newspapers, literature, road maps and pamphlets published by the Road Department. From the point of view of direct revenues received by the Government from the only industry showing an increase it is estimated that over $1,000,000 went directly to the Provincial Treasury from that source through the gasoline and meal taxes. This means that nearly one-fifth of the interest on the system spent on road building has been paid by the visitors. This does not include the revenues from the same source obtained through the Quebec Liquor Commission and also the benefits brought to many other industries, such as hotels and garages.

MORROW'S FORTUNE ABOUT TWENTY MILLION DOLLARS

Mrs. Morrow Understood to Be Sole Executor, Obtaining Life Interest in Estate.

NEW YORK, October 17.—The New York American, quoting "an informed source," says the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, of New Jersey, left an estate of "close to twenty million dollars." Only half of the total, according to the American, is subject to inheritance taxes, the rest of the fortune being in the form of accounts carried in the names of members of his family and others. These accounts, estimated at $10,000,000 are technically not part of the estate. The newspaper understands Mrs. Morrow is named sole executor, and to her will go a life interest in the estate, after bequests to friends, servants and charities are taken out.

ENGLISH SILVER SUBJECT TO DUTY

PRETORIA, South Africa, Oct. 17.—The Union Government has imposed an exchange duty of 20 per cent to prevent dumping on all British silver coins imported into the Union and South West Africa. THE WEATHER

SUNDAY FAIR AND COOL

The Atlantic coast disturbance has rapidly developed into a storm centred near the mouth of the St. Lawrence River, causing high winds or gales, with rain, from Ontario to the Maritime Provinces. The weather remains fair and comparatively warm throughout the West, and pressure is low north of Manitoba and high in the Western States.

NEW BRUNSWICK HIGHWAYS DAMAGED BY HEAVY RAIN

FREDERICTON, N.B., Oct. 17.—The heaviest day's rain in years, which wound up with bright clear weather early this morning, has been sections of secondary roads in the centre of New Brunswick under water and caused heavy surface wash. The well-gravelled trunk roads, however, are not believed by the highway division to have been damaged. The department of Public Works to have sustained washouts or much other serious damage.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—C. E. Gault, Conservative M.L.A. for St. George, Montreal, since 1907, was selected leader of the Opposition in the Quebec Legislative Assembly at a meeting of the eleven Conservatives who were elected in the general elections of August 24th last. The meeting was held at local Conservative headquarters yesterday. Mr. Gault replaces Camillien Houde, leader of the Conservative party, who has no seat in the House. The selection of Mr. Gault was unanimous. One of the outstanding factors in what happened at the caucus is that, for the first time since the province was created in 1867, an English Protestant has been chosen to lead one of the two historic parties in the popular House. Mr. Gault for many years has been one of the most highly respected members of the Legislature, and, in the ordinary course of events, with a Conservative government in power from time to time, would have been in the Legislative Council. Mr. Gault has never made any pretensions as a public speaker, much less as a debater in the House, and outside of the odd question during the passing of estimates, rarely makes more than one speech a session. He did not make a formal one at either of the last two sessions. As House leader, however, the position will materially be changed, since the position of leader of the Opposition is an official one—even yearly pay of $5,000 in expediting His Majesty's business and Mr. Gault will be heard in the next session more often probably than in the debates for the past twenty years. Mr. Gault has a good understanding of the French language, though he has never sought to show his ability as a linguist in speeches in that tongue, and presumably will continue to speak his mother tongue in the House, thus emphasizing the notable event of the election of an English leader in the Quebec Legislature. The expectation has been, since August 24th, when Mr. Houde went down to defeat both in St. Mary's and St. James, that Maurice Duplessis would take over the House leadership at least. The feeling had also been growing that this would be followed by the ultimate tacit recognition of Mr. Duplessis as leader of the Conservative party in the province. The decision of yesterday indicates that the intention is rather that Mr. Houde be given opportunity to get back into the House as soon as possible so as to have a chance of holding the party leadership.

President Whitney disclosed for the first time that last month's ban on short selling was not complete, as it became necessary after the two hours to permit a limited amount of short selling to prevent corners and unwarranted and dangerous advances. In declaring the decline in security prices has been due not to short selling but to "unsatisfactory business conditions and to the liquidation of securities owned outright or held on margin," Whitney said. Optimistic Interviews with Leading Business Men

"Local Newspaper Advertising Alone Can End Depression" —Wm. A. Barcliffe, Public Accountant.

SPACE EAGERLY SEIZED UPON BY MEN OF VISION

If a town amounts to anything at all it has a newspaper. If alive, it knows the value of such a medium and supports it. Every paper worthy of the name supplies a vast amount of public service for which it neither gets nor expects pay.

Every citizen consciously or unconsciously profits by this service. The purchase of newspaper space is purely an investment. Sentiment, or gratitude, has no place in the transaction. Unless the purchaser is convinced that he will something to gain by buying space, no amount of suasion will make him part with his money.

But he is convinced. The modern business man is well aware of the value of advertising space in a real newspaper that reaches the right sort of people. Its space is eagerly seized upon by men with vision—men who have already gone far and who will go farther—men who are nearing the peak of progress.

Sir Gomer Berry, one of the most successful newspaper proprietors in London, England, declares advertising to be "the greatest individual force in trade development and one capable of playing a large part in lifting the blanket of depression overhanging commerce."

Sir Gomer deprecates the attitude of certain professional men who seem to retain a superiority complex. Bankers and insurance men "have got past this foolish stage," he states and are "seriously employing the great business force of advertising." He considers it about time that lawyers, architects, doctors and dentists, "follow suit" instead of holding aloof to their detriment, from methods now being adopted by the best financial men in the country.

The man who does not advertise might be compared to the man who digs a well and fails to put a pump in it, or owns a fleet of airplanes and padlocks them in a hangar or who has a shop filled with desirable things yet who pulls down the window blinds, bars all the doors, then goes off on an extended holiday.

To be of value things must be seen, and must be kept moving unless their owner is content to become a mere caretaker, or curator of a museum!

William A. Barcliffe, an expert chartered accountant, who is not connected with any newspaper, nor has he any "axe to grind," stated recently in public that newspaper advertising was "the greatest creative force in business." That the firms who advertised "and kept everlastingly at it," were the ones who would rise to the top and enjoy the profits. In his opinion "local newspaper advertising alone could end depression in this country."

WIGGETT'S ELECTRIC COAL BURNER

"Business is supplying the thing to fill a human need. This is a basic fundamental. Mass production of a worthy product as a means to an end, and that end the human need, is all right until we reach the production part of that product. The country today is, I believe, at that point with too many worthy products.

"Yet there is just as much money as there ever was. The banks are overloaded with it. It has not disappeared. It has not been sent out of the country in what appears to be an effort at self-bankruptcy as is the case in Germany. It is simply not flowing as it was.

"What is needed is something new to make money flow as freely as before—a new human need that will draw back into commercial channels this vast fund of idle capital.

"We are suffering from wrong rather than over production, the production of old things which no longer excite the buying interest in capital. Convince capital you are right, that there is a commodity we need, a commodity which will improve our standard of living, and we will buy it.

"We are beginning to put into circulation the accumulated wealth and thus insure the return of employment—prosperity.

"In this modern age the only certain thing is change."

Above are some of the crystallized opinions on the present economic situation, delivered by an official of the Wiggett Electric Company who claimed that "this hypothesis" was exemplified by their company "which produces a commodity not only new to the great majority and in reach of all, but of such an equitable nature that it pays for itself in the economy it effects, and continues to be a profitable earning unit indefinitely hereafter."

He was referring to the Sunbeam Electric Coal Burner, and this "economic necessity" was thought to be "a move in the right direction, toward a return of general prosperity." For if this company was prosperous, it was argued, its employees would be prosperous. It was "but a straw in the wind of returning prosperity."

"All over the continents experts are bending their energies to produce the new, to excite in capital the interest to buy—to produce employment—to loosen the public purse strings. Never before in the history of the world has there been as great a fund of accumulative knowledge brought to bear upon any problem."

The official concluded on an optimistic note: "The world," he said, "has worked out many problems. It will work out this one. Small as they may be, your contribution and mine will be of weight in the balance toward an equitable prosperity."

THE NATIONAL WALLPAPER CO. LTD., RADIATES OPTIMISM

When houses grow shabby and dull, woman is admittedly the one most affected, seeing that so much of her life is spent within the four walls of a home, and a realization of this fact is perhaps largely responsible for the growth of that comparatively new, and thriving profession—interior decoration.

A. DOUGLAS KERR

The National Wallpaper Co. Ltd., 76 Wellington Street North, is a veritable treasure house of decorative necessities for anyone who is contemplating either the building of a new house or the redecoration of an old one. This company handles two very important lines of which the modern world stands greatly in need today—whether it be depressed or not—wallpaper and paint.

Indeed, the more depressed people are, the more they require a surface gaiety in their surroundings, believes Mr. A. Douglas Kerr, president and manager of this company, who has every reason to be optimistic, having made an outstanding success in this particular line of business.

A man, in order to succeed in the wallpaper business—with its indispensable companion, paint—must possess a sixth sense for interior effects. Needless to say the young man at the head of this establishment has that sense in large measure. In fact, it might be said he has an interior complex. His work appears to be his hobby, especially paint, which he speaks of as his favored line. Eight years' experience with an outstanding paint manufacturer gave him an excellent training in this line, to add to an inherent flair for the decorative art.

The late James F. Kerr was founder of this business thirty-four years ago, occupying the same premises in which the son is carrying on today. Mr. Kerr, Sr., passed away in July, 1927, and his son, Douglas, took over the business, which has steadily progressed. Last year there was a tremendous increase in their wallpaper department.

"Three years ago," said Mr. Kerr, "we were appointed jobbing distributors for Sherbrooke and vicinity for the R. C. Jamieson & Co. Ltd. Quality Paint and Varnish Makers (Crown & Anchor brand) and during our first year of handling this line, we increased our paint sales to the extent of 800%."

The National Wallpaper Co. Ltd. are also jobbing distributors for the three mills that manufacture wall paper in Canada. The company also handles a number of foreign lines.

They do a retail as well as a wholesale business, covering the entire province of Quebec—North to Lake St. John, East as far as Riviere du Loup, West to Valleyfield, and the entire South-eastern boundary. The company has 325 active agents out in all directions and Mr. Kerr is proud of the fact that they can send men out with sample books of wallpaper and immediately fill orders from their own house in Sherbrooke, with a quality and a selection equal to anything that could be obtained in Montreal.

The magnitude of the business done by this house is revealed by the fact that six hundred individual designs of wallpaper are carried, and a complete stock of paints, varnishes, etc.; that 5,000 square feet of floor space are required to carry the stock. The latest and most modern methods are utilized in the distribution of both their Wallpapers and Paints.

Asked about fashions in wallpaper, Mr. Kerr said that styles seemed to change in cycles of four to five years. The past cycle had run to color, he stated, but for 1932 indications pointed to softer tones and patterned papers. As for paints, bright colors were being used largely with a lot of contrast. There is also a definite demand for quick-drying paint and manufacturers are concentrating on this.

A notable example of the artistic results achieved by the products of this house may be seen in Crane's establishment, a few doors north on Wellington Street, where their paints have been used exclusively in the decoration.

No, they hadn't! And this man's gloom was genuine.

He was a newcomer to Sherbrooke and had not yet heard of the Crown Laundry and its unflinching promptness in delivering parcels.

And on the subject of Optimism. If you see a well-groomed man, you are likely to see an optimistic one. But—I ask you—how can he hold up his chin if his linen is "off color" or his collar wilted? Or his clothes spotted and unpressed?

OF INTEREST FROM HATLEY

Large Number of Hatley Residents Took Advantage of Holiday Week-End to Visit Friends or to Entertain Relatives at Their Homes—Other Notes of Interest.

HATLEY, Que., Oct. 17.—The speaker at the United Church on Sunday morning was Dr. J. Macdonald, who recently returned from South China, after several years of medical work in connection with missionary effort.

"The Significance of Life" was the topic presented to the congregation at the United Church on Sunday evening by the pastor, Rev. A. W. Seaton, with congregational singing, closing with the hymn "O, Master, Let Me Walk With Thee."

While in Hatley Dr. Macdonald was entertained at the United Church parsonage. A former class mate of Rev. A. W. Seaton, Rev. W. Edwards, of Fulton, Ont., and Rev. W. H. and Mrs. Thomas, of Ayer's Cliff, were also recent guests of Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Seaton.

Rev. Robert Norwood, of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, who was lately renewing old associations, as a school boy in Coaticook, is a brother of the late Rev. Joseph Norwood, who was known in Hatley as a son-in-law of the late Mr. Colby, one of the oldest residents of the town and a prominent citizen. ENGLAND.

O England, fair England, Land of freedom men, The world in doubt and travail Now looks to you again.

O England, just England, Pride of our Christian race, Your sturdy, stalwart spirit, Will garrison your place.

O England, wise England, Your men know what to do, A mighty task is pending, But you will see it through.

O England, great England, Indomitable and true, The world in doubt and travail Looks hopefully to you.

THE IDEAL AND ALTRUISTIC ARE NOT THE REAL.

"All men are born equal," was the declaration embodied in a famous document which cemented the purposes of thirteen American States to attain freedom from the parental stem, a freedom they gained, but a resentment they bore was fermented by foreigners into a family quarrel which lasted for a full century.

All children are born equal, and a boy can make of himself the man he wills to make, if he has the will power. To the schoolmaster all boys are equal, yet when they leave school they do not remain on the same level of equality in attainment.

It is quite the thing for the soapbox orator to shout that there is a faulty distribution of wealth in the world. Yet most of the well-to-do people started life without a dollar. The orator who says there is a faulty or uneven distribution of wealth is a popular fellow even though he lack the genius to tell his hearers that ever since old Isaac had more cows than his neighbour the same complaint was heard; ever since Moses said that thou shalt not envy a man his possessions the same envy of thrift has been voiced in the universe.

Russia is trying the experiment of placing every man on the same dead level of equality. The engineer can bury his talents in the sand, for he will get only the same wages as his hodman. The outcome of the Russian experiment will be the same as that which happened to France in the long interregnum of bloody terror which preceded the advent of the greatest autocrat of all history, Napoleon.

During an election one hears of all the nostrums brewed in the minds of those who lack the faculty of final analysis, and these are prescribed as cure-alls of public ills.

The fault of the Trade Union is that it wishes to place all its members on the same level of equality in wages. Therein lies the failure of labour unions in an intelligent community where both James and Jacques are analysts.

Place a city on the same level of ownership, and within a period of ten years one half of the people would owe the other half all they had. Let us study and believe the parable of the Ten Talents. As it was then, it is now, and ever will be.

FOR BUSINESS PROBITY.

The Canadian Bankruptcy laws would seem to the layman to be adequate for the purpose of giving both creditor and debtor a fair deal. But it is in the administration of this law where the known abuses creep in.

When a competent authority states that in 2,000 cases of bankruptcies liquidated within a period, all of which had come under his surveillance, and only 400 of these had been squarely dealt with, it is time for a drastic change in the interest of the honest merchant who pays his way. This same authority, Harold J. Inns, Manager of the Better Business Bureau, says there is a break-down in the policy of creditor-control, and that in England they were quick to realize the situation, and the law was so amended that whilst the creditors could choose a trustee to administer and sell the assets, the actions of the creditors must be reviewed and approved by an official of the Board of Trade. The Government is thus the official receiver, through an Inspector-General of Bankruptcy.

There are dozens of trustees in Montreal whose sole concern is to control bankrupt estates. Once they have been appointed their deep concern is at an end. Many of them lack both ability and training, have even been found wanting in integrity, have been guilty of maladministration and collusion, and yet their appointments for other estates go on automatically. They dally with the liquidation in the hope of wearying and disgusting creditors who know by sad experience how risky it is to incur further legal costs to secure redress. To them it is like throwing good money after bad.

There is a Dominion law, but it might be well to have a more domestic law, under a provincial registrar in bankruptcy, who could have the power to prosecute fraud, and to remove any persistently delinquent assignee from the rolls.

In the case of a gross failure, a failure founded on fraudulent practices before, or in the after bankruptcy proceedings, creditors cannot very well become prosecutors, but a Government official would be forced to take proceedings on apparent misconduct.

Something must be done in the plain interests of public morality and of commercial probity.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

Under the title of "Flowers for the Living" Nellie L. McClung, the talented Canadian author shows her versatility in a collection of magazine stories which have that touch of pathos and humour which Miss McClung finds in real life. There is a thrill in every one of the forty-quarter-hour stories, and each one of them will be read twice in succession by the reader who thinks to skim over the pages. Volumes of short stories, according to book-sellers, do not sell as well as a single long story, but there are exceptions when it comes to the finished and talented story teller. Thomas Allen, the Toronto book publisher, has always been an admirer of Nellie McClung, and in fixing the modest price of this volume at $1.40 he offers the bookshops a Christmas gift book which should have a wide sale in Canada and other countries.

FRONT WINDOW MUSINGS

While it is sharpest, the hatchet is seldom buried. Some automobile drivers are as dense as the traffic.

Life is short—between tax-paying times. Dressing in the morning for a lot of girls this past summer was just switching from their night to their day pajamas.

Some people can solve every puzzle, but they cannot hold a job. It is not what we tell people about ourselves that interests them; it is what we could tell and don't.

Some may prefer blondes because they married brunettes. The secret of happiness lies in letting the other fellow do the worrying.

A case of mixing sentiment with business is when a girl or a man marries for money. Not all women favor birth control, but all of them are strongly in favor of birth-day control.

The modern girl who publicly appears in pajamas gives the impression that she is walking in her sleep. Many a man who will spend a month in selecting a car will chase off and get married at a week-end party.

The man who has two masters to serve must lie to one of them. Human nature is the most curious thing, although the most common.

There is no class distinction when a mosquito is looking for someone to bite. The depression has caused a lot of persons to realize for the first time that it is necessary to work for a living.

Rallying around an imaginary camp fire, about forty Canadian girls in training and their leaders gathered last evening in the MacKinnon Memorial Building to meet Miss Grace Grover, Girls' Work Secretary for the Province of Quebec. Miss Grover gave a splendid address to the girls, winning their attention by her earnest and pleasing manner. Judging from the enthusiasm and interest evinced last evening by the large number of 'teen age girls that attended the rally, a marked revival in C.G.I.T. work may be anticipated during the coming winter. Following the address, Miss Grover led a jolly sing-song, with Miss Muriel McHarg acting as accompanist. A short devotional period was held and the successful meeting closed with "taps." A business meeting for leaders took place after the rally, when Miss Grover and those in charge of the C.G.I.T. in Sherbrooke held a conference during which many questions in regard to leadership and the local organization were fully discussed.

WESTBURY DAM STILL REMAINS ON DEAD LIST

Well Over a Month Since This Expensive Power Development Did Its Share of Daily Work, Yet Some People Would Try to Convince Others that There Is Nothing Wrong.

Sherbrooke's recently-constructed $500,000 power development at Westbury seems to be suffering from a very severe attack of paralysis. Prescriptions have been suggested, but they have not as yet been applied and the "inner workings" remain non-responsive. The citizens, like anxious parents, stand helplessly by, hoping against hope that something definite to bring about the desired effects and restore action will be done immediately.

It is now six weeks since Westbury's illness became known. Local treatment having failed to achieve the desired results, outside "serum" was called for. As yet the serum has not arrived, and, power dams, like the human body, do not function with defective or damaged parts.

Just when the dam will be in running order again is hard to say. Even civic officials do not care to mention a probable date.

The Westbury situation affords a most interesting subject for some debating society that delights in complicated matters. The city authorities have repeatedly maintained that there is nothing wrong with the dam, yet it is not functioning, new parts are awaited and a large amount of citizens' money will be required to meet the expenses involved.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. Lee Richardson, Lyndonville, Vt., Mrs. Gordon Temple, Tomifobia, Mrs. D. L. Taylor, Beebe,

ARRESTED FOR SHOP-LIFTING Three Stoke residents were arrested yesterday afternoon by the municipal police, accused of petty theft in the Metropolitan and Woolworth stores. Suspected of going through the stores and "lifting" articles from the counters, they were brought to the local police station. The authorities claim most of the goods reported missing from the stores has been recovered. The amount of the stolen articles did not amount to very much. The three men made deposits, which were forfeited this morning when they failed to appear for hearing before Recorder Forest.

EX-SERVICE MEN UNDERTAKE NEW INDUSTRY The ex-service men of Sherbrooke, in an unofficial way are undertaking a project which they hope will benefit both the veterans and the citizens generally. The sheds of the old Silver Spring Brewery have been placed at their disposal, and it is their intention to operate a wood yard. The wood will be bought, then split and sold by the veterans to any citizens desiring it. This will provide work for a number of veterans. By buying their wood in this way the citizens will aid the men who helped them not so long ago.

Anyone desiring information about the veterans' wood yard should communicate with W. Dowsett, 47 Montreal street, phone 87-F. Ex-service men, available for handy jobs about the house or grounds, may also be secured by communicating with Mr. Dowsett.

SHERBROOKE GAELIC SOCIETY HELD ANNIVERSARY MEETING The sixth anniversary meeting of the Sherbrooke Gaelic Society was attended by a large audience comprising Highland and Lowland Scottish people and many friends of other nationalities. The programme, which, in the opinion of those present, was the best in the history of the society, was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The president, Mr. T. C. Thompson, acted as chairman, and in the name of the society, welcomed all present. Songs in Gaelic were rendered by Mrs. Sharman, Messrs. Angus MacIver and Alex Macdonald, of Scotstown, and Mr. Angus Johnston, of Sherbrooke, while songs in the Doric by Mrs. Ogston, Mrs. MacKay and Mr. George Dick, and English selections by Mr. F. W. Lord all received well merited applause. The coronet solos and duets by Messrs. Norman and Robert Moulton and the humorous recitations by Mrs. G. Kennett claimed their share of approval. At the close of the programme a hearty vote of thanks to all who had taken part was moved by Mr. J. A. Duplessis, and seconded by Messrs. J. Macdonald and D. M. Aulay. Special thanks were extended to the friends from Scotstown who had come so far to assist, and also to Mrs. MacKay, who had so kindly acted as accompanist for the evening.

A short time was spent in dancing the ancient and more modern Scottish dances, the music for which was rendered by Mrs. Cooper and Messrs. G. Dick and D. Kilgour. A refreshment booth managed by ladies of the society did a flourishing business and added materially to the financial receipts, which were quite satisfactory and will be used for charitable purposes of the society. The enjoyable evening was brought to a close with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem.

Brown, the popular screen comedian, is booked for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Premier Theatre, appearing in his latest picture, "Broad-Minded". The supporting cast includes Ona Munson, Broadway musical comedy hit, plays lead. William Collier, Jr., as the gallivanting rich boy. Beauties of the screen are in great evidence, among them being Marjorie White, Margaret Livingston and Thelma Todd. Grace Hampton, Bela Lugosi, Holmes Herbert and George Grandee are also in the cast. "The Public Defender" and "Partners of the Trail" will be the two feature pictures on the double bill at the Premier Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Richard Dix takes the leading role in "The Public Defender", into which a beautiful romance has been woven. Tom Tyler is featured in "Partners of the Trail". CANADIAN SHIP LEADING, BUT MAY NOT FINISH WITHIN TIME LIMIT

The Bluenose Headed the American Challenger by Six Minutes at the Six-Mile Mark in Their Opening Race Today

C. G. S. LADY LAURIER, off Halifax, N.S., Oct. 17. The Bluenose, captain Angus Walters, veteran salt banker, defending her throne as queen of the North Atlantic fishing fleet, led the American challenger, the Gertrude L. Thebaud, of Gloucester, by six minutes at the six-mile mark in their opening race today.

The next eleven-mile leg gave the schooners a broad reach to Shut-In Island buoy. Although they rolled and pitched in the heavy sea, the race was not strong enough to put their rails under.

At 11:05 o'clock it was apparent that unless the wind freshened the schooners could not finish the race within the six-hour time limit. More than a third of the allotted time had been used up and they had negotiated only about one quarter of the course.

The Bluenose, Canadian defender of the International Fishermen's Trophy, and the Gertrude L. Thebaud, United States challenger, left their docks shortly after eight o'clock and headed toward the course to match tacks for the supremacy of the North Atlantic.

The sailing committee signalled fifteen minutes before the start that course number four of 38.8 miles had been chosen for the race. This meant a close reach of six miles to the inner automatic buoy at the mouth of the harbour, a broad reach of eleven miles to the eastward to Shut-In Island buoy, a dead beat to windward of nine miles to the outer automatic buoy of the mouth of Halifax Harbor, a close haul of six miles to the inner automatic and a reach to the finish line six miles away providing the wind helps.

It was a beautiful day with bright sunshine and a fair breeze. The wind was west-southwest, and there was a heavy sea running as a result of last night's storm.

Three minutes before the start both boats were making for the line with the Thebaud in the weather position, but astern of the defender. The Bluenose caught a puff just before the line was reached and was outpacing the challenger as the gun fired. The Bluenose crossed the line a scant boat-length ahead, but to leeward of the American.

Ten minutes after the start Bluenose had opened up a lead of three boat lengths, but Thebaud was pointing slightly higher and apparently trying to go to the weather. Both boats started the race off Point Pleasant Park at the southern tip of the Halifax peninsula. The wind was freshening as the schooners left the harbor and headed out to sea.

The schooners were given a cheer by passengers and crew of the Scandinavian liner, Fredrick VII, homeward bound from New York as the liner entering port passed the racers. The Thebaud's sails did not seem to set as well as they had in previous trials. The Bluenose appeared to be just holding her lead as she passed lighthouse bank two miles from the starting line. The schooners were encountering much heavier swells as they proceeded out to sea. They were frequently hauled down in the trough.

Halfway to the first mark the wind headed both schooners and it became apparent they could not fetch it without taking another hitch. As Thebaud came by the weather of the Lady Laupier, serving as press boat and carrying about two hundred Halifax guests, a cheer went up for the American challenger. It was responded to heartily by the Gloucestermen's crew and Captain Ben Pine took an acknowledgment with the cheers of Thebaud's log book. Captain Ben had taken over the challenger's wheel and she appeared to be going better. Bluenose, while holding her lead, was no longer drawing away from Thebaud.

Thebaud was the first to come about, coming over the port tack at 2:32. Captain Angus Walters thought Bluenose about almost immediately, intending to keep the challenger covered. It was apparent they could not make the mark and another hitch would be necessary, the breeze to the south giving the schooners unexpected windward work and sailing because of the heavy swell that was running.

The U.S. destroyer Williamson and the H.M.C.S. destroyer Champlain, bearing the official committee, were among the fleet that followed the schooners ready to order any vessel offering interference off the course.

Thebaud came back to the starboard tack at 10:06 followed by Bluenose, Captain Angus was giving Captain Ben no opportunity to shake off the big Lusenburg salt-banker. The wind was freshening slightly and it appeared the schooners would fetch the mark without taking another hitch.

The Bluenose rounded the first mark at 10:19:30 unofficial time and the Thebaud at 10:24:58.
