Sherbrooke fire station

Modern techniques vital

By DEBBY CAMPBELL

SHERBROOKE — Fighting fires is a more complex business than most people think. The traditional conception of the fire station as a place where men with time on their hands sit around and play cards all day long is an outmoded one in this day and age.

Modern firefighting requires a highly trained and competent team of professionals responding immediately to any eventuality. No matter how fast men on firefighting duty answer a call, the fire moves faster — with a head start.

Francois Boudreau, assistant director of Sherbrooke Fire Station No. 1 on Marquette Street, took time recently to outline some of the problems his profession faces and some of the ways in which it meets them. Sherbrooke has three other fire stations as well as No. 1 — on the corner of Prospect and Jacques Cartier Streets, the corner of Papineau and Murray Streets, and at the intersection of Belvedere and McManamy Streets.

Sherbrooke's firefighting team consists of 96 men, 16 lieutenants, four captains, one deputy chief, the fire chief, four telephone operators, one man in charge of hydrants and a chief administrator. The men work on an 11-hour night and 13-hour day shift.

This crew has handled up to 900 calls a year, and last year received 796, 116 of them false alarms.

FALSE ALARMS TROUBLESOME

The false alarms, naturally, cause concern to the department. "If we get a false alarm, we have to go even if we are almost positive it's no good," Mr. Boudreau, a 32-year veteran firefighter, said. "If there was a fire at the same time we would receive the call on our truck radio, but we may have to travel halfway across the city to reach the other fire."

And that fire, too, has a head start. When the alarm is genuine, however, every second counts. How does the department respond?

When a specific alarm rings, the operator on duty locates the alarm number on a wall chart and determines which station or stations should move into action. An independent battery-powered system provides insurance in case of an electrical power failure.

Four of the 10 trucks belonging to the Sherbrooke Fire Department are housed in Station No. 1. It takes the crew about 40 seconds to get on the road once given the signal.

Portable waterpumps are carried on each truck so that the men can battle the blaze even during the time others are connecting the trucks' hoses to fire hydrants.

All occupants are evacuated from a burning building before the firefighters go to work on the flames with hoses that pump from 600 to 840 gallons of water a minute onto the target.

MEET ALL CONTINGENCIES

Apart from the pumps, the department has equipment trucks which carry all the accessories on which the men may have to call in a particular instance — extinguishers, spotlights, heavy ropes, foam for combating oil fires, metal-cutting saws, jacks, hoods, resuscitators, tarpaulins, first aid kits, masks, brooms for use against grass fires, picks, and so on.

The Fire Department maintains an electrician and a mechanic on hand at all times for expert advice.

In addition to the primary enemy, the fire itself, the men must cope with billowing, asphyxiating smoke, intolerable heat, all types of weather and the particular tactical problems that each individual fire site poses.

Even when the blaze of the moment has been beaten, however, the work is far from over. The men, however cold, wet or otherwise indisposed they may be, must tidy up the site of the fire and then return their equipment to the station, where it has to be put in readiness for another call at any time.

Hoses, of which the Sherbrooke Fire Department has 4,000 feet, must be hung to dry to prevent mold and then restacked for instant use.

Firefighting is a tough business, and the procedure of getting into it and staying there is demanding.

There is a minimum height requirement of 5'8" and a maximum allowable age of 30. High marks on a complete physical and psychological checkup are also prerequisites for acceptance by the office at City Hall.

Premiers to meet Thursday

Emphasis on money at conference

VICTORIA (CP) — Money will be the root of most discussions at the premiers' conference Thursday and Friday.

Nine premiers will attend. Missing will be Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland, who hasn't attended a premiers' conference for the last 10 years.

The special session of the Saskatchewan legislature will be adjourned Wednesday night to allow Premier Allan Blakeney to attend.

Mr. Blakeney, who will be accompanied by Attorney-General Roy Romannow, said he is particularly interested in scheduled discussions on the problems of controlling health costs and increased provincial co-operation on agricultural matters.

Premier Ed Schreyer of Manitoba will press for an all-province agreement on estate tax and succession duties, and seek a price support system for farm produce.

Mr. Schreyer said that unless the premiers agree on a uniform approach, "the Ottawa decision to get out of the estate-tax field will compound the tax jungle."

Manitoba will also send finance minister Saul Cherniack and Sidney Green, minister of mines, natural resources and environmental control.

Ontario Premier William Davis is expected to express objections to federal tax changes, particularly Ottawa's abandonment of gift taxes and death duties. Ontario estimates that the dropping of death duties will cost the province $28 to $30 million a year and that it will be several years before a capital gain-loss.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who as host will be the conference chairman, said there will be no bid to revive the Victoria charter on the constitution, but Robert Bourassa of Quebec indicated that he may have private talks with other premiers on the constitution.

Mr. Bourassa, who will travel with Finance Minister Raymond Gagneau, stressed that the conference will deal primarily with economic matters.

Like previous conferences, Mr. Bennett said, the Victoria gathering will deal with problems common to provincial governments across Canada such as fiscal matters and environmental control.

Premier Harry Strom will take time out from the Alberta election campaign to attend. The Alberta election is Aug. 30.

Premier Richard Hatfield said New Brunswick does not plan to bring up any special business and Premier Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia said he doesn't plan to ask for changes in the proposed agenda.

Municipal airport will receive city attention

SHERBROOKE (DM) — Council Monday tried to deflect some of the blame for the deteriorated state of the municipal airport to contractors who built and some companies which use the facilities.

Council pointed to bumps and cracks over sewage pipes and lack of markings on runways as being construction faults, the poor condition of some buildings as being the fault of tenants and the overall state of the airport as being the fault of Sacair Ltd.

At the same time it admitted to not having paid enough attention to the airport over the past eight years.

To fight pollution together

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec and the Maritime provinces will pool their resources in the battle against pollution, representatives of three provincial governments announced Tuesday.

Victor Goldbloom, Quebec's minister responsible for the quality of the environment, Allan Sullivan, Nova Scotia's mines and welfare minister, and Robert Schurman, Prince Edward Island's community services minister, met here Tuesday and will resume talks on the subject Aug. 19 in Moncton, N.B.

New Brunswick was invited to the conference but was unable to attend.

Mr. Goldbloom said the purpose of the meeting was to exchange information on pollution control and research between the provinces to avoid duplication and waste.

Mr. Sullivan said he was hopeful that Nova Scotia will soon have all the legislative powers to fight pollution.

Mr. Schurman said Prince Edward Island was very satisfied with the results of Tuesday's conference and would cooperate fully with the other provinces in the battle against pollution.

Taxpayers returned 704 million

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — A revenue department spokesman said Tuesday the government has returned $704,650,312 to taxpayers whose payroll deductions and other tax payments exceeded what they owed last year.

The average amount of the refund cheques was $181.83.

These figures were compiled by the department at the end of July after it was estimated it had received about 95 per cent of the 1970 personal income tax returns last spring.

The deadline for filing returns was April 30, but there are still some returns expected. The penalty for late filing is a flat payment of five per cent of the taxes owing, plus six per cent a year for as long as the tax bill is unpaid after April 30.

The revenue department estimated that 9.3 million tax returns would be due last Spring. As of Aug. 1, it had received 8,860,700 and run them through the revenue department computers. Another 84,500 returns—mostly ones that were filed late—are awaiting computer assessment.

By Aug. 1 a year ago, the revenue department had received and computer-processed 8.6 million returns, and had another 66,100 on hand. It had then paid out $632,248,235 in refunds, with individual cheques averaging $150.29.

REFUNDS RUN HIGHER

This year's refunds are running 11.4 per cent higher in total volume, and 20 per cent of individual cheques.

Two factors, at least, contribute to the increase.

—There are more taxpayers, and more taxpayers made more money last year than they did in 1969. When they enter higher tax brackets, the chances of overpayment grow—particularly if they have additional exemptions.

—The refunds include overpayment of contributions to the Canada Pension Plan. Employees who shift from one job to another, or hold two jobs through which they make CPP contributions, would have more than the maximum $84.60 deducted from their paycheques and would be able to claim the overpayments as a refund.

The maximum payment in 1971 is $86.40, to be paid by both employer and employee, or $172.80 for self-employed persons.

As a result, council has decided to do something.

It will go ahead with the $17,000 worth of repairs to the airport foreseen in the 1971 budget.

City manager Richard Fabi will choose someone to co-ordinate the administration of the airport.

Council's Finance and Economic Promotion Committee will look into the long-term development and viability of the airport.

Council decided to become active in the airport's operation after studying a report prepared by Montreal-based Canidec Ltd.

That report pointed to an "alarming situation" at the airport.

Mayor Marc Bureau chose to play down the alarming tone of the report, saying "the report's publication has not stopped Air Canada and CP Air and many big companies from flying to Sherbrooke."

"We realize the airport has been badly administered during the past eight years," he admitted.

Mr. Bureau added, "We can't expect our airport to ever be another Dorval or Ancienne Lorette."

The Canidec report pointed to the following weaknesses in the municipal airport operations:

—The injection of private capital has been minimal. As a result the airport has had no chance to reach its stated objective of becoming a regional aviation centre promoting the economy of the Eastern Townships.

—Under existing conditions and the terms of the contract between the city and the airport, it appears the city could be held responsible and negligent if any accident were to occur.

—The maintenance of the airport has left much to be desired over the past eight years.

—Runway markings for instrument and precision landings are non-existent at the Sherbrooke airport.

—The airport has never met Department of Transport standards for the upkeep of runway approaches.

—As a result of continued negligence the paved sections of the airport contain 30,000 linear feet of fissures here and there and one section of pavement detached from its base. It is obvious, the report commented, that this constitutes a danger to public welfare. In addition, midway up runway 14 is a large lump which runs across the width of the runway.

The report suggested a number of ways through which the airport can be put back on its feet.

It recommended the city hire a full-time administrator with experience in the aviation field to run the operation.

The report also proposed the creation of a number of convenience facilities, including a licensed restaurant, motel, round the clock customs house, limousine service to downtown Sherbrooke, meeting halls for different clubs and picnic grounds.

Air pollution: 15 tons per person a year

OTTAWA (CP) — Do you wish all those polluters would quit soiling the air?

Forget it. The real culprit is you, to the extent of more than 15 tons of air pollution per person a year.

As proof, E. R. Mitchell, head of the federal energy department combustion research laboratory, recorded how his family of four adults contributed to pollution.

At 16.2 tons each of fuel combustion wastes, the Mitchells were 3.32 per cent higher than the national average of air pollution of 15.68 tons a year.

Their fuel combustion activities consumed more than 16 tons of oxygen or 68 tons of air. In addition each breathed 413 pounds a year and exhaled 1,514 pounds of carbon dioxide.

Their air pollution record came from all forms of fuel combustion employed to support the family in a normal urban community.

CAR RATES HIGH

For example, the family car produced a total of 10.16 tons of pollution in a year and home heating another 8.54 tons. Other factors were diesel fuel combustion for transportation and farming, aircraft fuel, industrial fuel, smelting, thermally-produced electricity and 1.68 tons for their motor boat.

Another byproduct was 4.6 tons of water produced per person per year.

Mr. Mitchell says in a study entitled Only People Pollute, published by the department, that many do not consider carbon dioxide a

QUEBEC IN FOCUS

To meet in autumn

OTTAWA (CP) — The national executive and parliamentary caucus of the Social Credit party decided Tuesday to hold a meeting in Quebec City Sept. 12 to discuss the creation of a federal executive council for Quebec members of the party.

The decision was made at a three-day strategy convention which began Sunday.

A party spokesman said delegates to the closed door meetings also discussed the party's leadership convention to be held in October as well as electoral strategy for the next federal elections.

However, no details were available. The 13 members of the Social Credit party represent Quebec ridings.

Acts against police

TROIS RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — City council here unanimously decided Monday to dismiss Det. Sgt. Denis Leclerc and demote detective Jean-Marc Carignan, both members of the local police morality squad.

Mayor Gilles Beaudoin said the step was taken to protect the reputation of the local police force.

Sgt. Leclerc was accused of lack of discipline and misconduct in an accident when his car hit a hydro pole, a parked vehicle and came to rest against the foundations of a house.

The accident occurred June 11 at 2 a.m. near Ste. Marthe du Cap de la Madeleine when the two policemen were returning from tailing a suspected criminal.

A first report to the council said the accident was caused by a hit-and-run driver. The police car was an unmarked detective car.

Several council members refused to accept this report and forced a fuller inquiry by local police and provincial police.

This sparked a threat of mass resignation by morality squad members, who charged political interference in the matter.

The results of this inquiry, which were not made public, led to the council decision Monday.

Store opens again

ARVIDA, Que. (CP) — Steinberg's grocery store was open for business Tuesday although police posted guards at the door to warn customers the store was unsafe following a bomb explosion.

The blast which ripped through the store early Tuesday caused about $30,000 damage but no one was injured.

Police said opening the store to customers constituted a public danger. However, persons who insisted on shopping were asked to give their names and addresses to police and were advised they were proceeding at their own risk.

Meanwhile, investigation of the explosion continued with police describing the bomb as "homemade."

A special type of lighter was found on the floor near the service entrance where six sticks of dynamite had been planted and investigators said its discovery provided them with a good lead.

Steinberg employees in Arvida, Chicoutimi, Jonquiere and Alma have been on strike for a month and last week staged a demonstration in front of the Arvida store.

Chicoutimi and Arvida police were plagued with bomb scares Monday, and at noon the Steinberg's store in Arvida was closed for nearly an hour while it was searched.

Arvida is 240 miles northeast of Montreal.

To dredge canal

OTTAWA (CP) — A $20,860,000 contract for dredging the St. Lawrence ship channel near Quebec City has been awarded to an Ontario-Quebec consortium.

The transport department said Tuesday that the work will be done by McNamara Marine of Whitby, Ont., and two Montreal firms, Marine Industries Ltd. and J. P. Porter Co. Ltd.

A 19-mile stretch of channel will be deepened to 41 feet from its 30-foot, low-tide level. The work will open the port of Quebec to larger deep-shaft ships, including 100,000-ton tankers.

U of Q takes over

QUEBEC (CP) — The multi-campus University of Quebec will take over all post-secondary education in Hull this fall, the intergovernmental affairs department announced Tuesday.

Hull teachers' college will also come under the university's jurisdiction.

The French-language University of Quebec already has campuses here in Montreal, Trois-Rivieres, Chicoutimi and Rimouski and administers the national school of public administration in Quebec City.

Astronauts turn photographers

HOUSTON (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts circled the moon Tuesday charting its place in the family of the sun and snapping pictures of the moon's newest crater created by the crash landing of the lunar landing ship Falcon.

David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden turned their high resolution panoramic camera on the spot where Falcon impacted Monday night.

Concentrating on scientific experiments in their last full day of orbiting the moon, they counted flashes in their blindfolded eyes to measure the frequency of cosmic rays.

It was another long, hard day and Scott sounded somewhat testy in conversations with Mission Control before they settled down to sleep.

When astronaut Bob Parker, the capsule communicator, suggested that Worden wear a lightweight headset so that he could be awakened on schedule without disturbing the others, Scott argued:

"No, I don't think that's practical, Bob. We can't have one person awake in here and the other two sleeping. Just can't do it." Worden is scheduled to awaken a half hour earlier than the others.

SUGGESTS CALLS

"Okay, understand," Parker replied. "And to avoid what we had last night with all those last-minute calls, why don't you guys give us final calls just before you're ready to go to sleep and then we won't have to be calling back tonight."

"Oh, that's a good idea," Scott said.

Again, the astronauts refused suggestions that they take sleeping pills. Asked if Scott and Irwin had taken them Monday night as proposed, Scott said: "There's been no medication taken by anybody on the flight."

Cosmic rays constantly bombard their craft as it darts through space.

 which screens applicants.
 Once accepted, the rookie fireman is confronted with a large black-bound book which, according to Mr. Boudreau, he must learn "practically by heart."
 So far this year there have been 166 lessons of two hours' duration in the manner of fighting fires. A record is kept on each man's progress and level of competence on monthly tests.
 Although all the men undertake this training, there is as yet no firefighting school as such here, as there are in Montreal and Quebec City.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR FRANCOIS BEAUDRY

"We hope to get a school in the future but we can only hope, because our force is not that big," Mr. Boudreau said.
 With their knowledge not only in fighting fires but also in what contributes to their starting, the firemen are competent to do fire prevention work in the city. They make 4,000 home inspection calls a year and have visited virtually every residence in Sherbrooke over the last three years.
 Unusual calls still arise to which the men must respond, although these days they customarily inform distressed pet owners that it is the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals which is more directly involved with rescuing cats from trees.
 "What if there was a fire at the same time?" asked Mr. Boudreau. "What do we say when we arrive late for the fire? 'Sorry, but we were getting a cat out of a tree'? It's not that we don't like animals, but we can't be in two places at once."
 The department does, however, possess a boat for emergency operations on the city's rivers.

 And when the occasion demands, the men will travel a fair distance from Sherbrooke. "The farthest the Sherbrooke Fire Department has gone for a fire was Thetford Mines several years ago," Mr. Boudreau said.
 "It all depends on the fire," he said. "It's our work and we love it. We don't try to act like courageous heroes; we just take our work as it comes."
 "Most of the time we consider it a challenge — knock the darn thing out before it knocks you out."

Town of Brome Lake report

TOWN OF BROME LAKE (WC) — About 25 people attended last Monday night's town council meeting at the Knowlton Court House.
 A new town manager, the police department, zoning changes and the buying of new equipment highlighted the meeting.
 Council had already decided to hire a town manager when it was found out that the candidate they had accepted wanted a greater salary than the town was willing to pay.
 Council decided last night to offer the candidate the amount agreed upon in the beginning. If their offer was left unaccepted, a new series of candidates would be interviewed.
 Council received notice that former police chief Ray Gaudreau was going to appeal his case through the Quebec Police Commission. Council received a letter from Mr. Gaudreau's lawyers, W. W. Lynch, of Sherbrooke, stating that any agreement signed between the two parties was invalid.
 Council decided to stop fulfilling their part of the agreement. No more money will be sent to Mr. Gaudreau until the matter is settled.
 Council also decided to ask Cowansville lawyer, Peter Turner, to represent them in the issue.
 Council has been faced by a great deal of opposition in its proposed zoning bylaw change in the East Hill district. Council had made notice of motion to change the area from a rural resident to a rural recreation zone.
 This move would have allowed one of the property owners, P. Morin, to open a camp ground. At a public meeting last Friday night, some of the property owners in the area asked for a referendum on the issue.
 On Monday, Mr. Morin withdrew his request for the zoning change because "he did not want to create enemies amongst his neighbors."
 Council passed a notice of motion that it would rescind the previous bylaw at next month's meeting.
 Council last night decided it would buy a dump truck. The truck would be used for plowing snow in the winter and hauling gravel in the summer. "It will pay for itself in two years," said Peter White, who chaired the meeting in the absence of Mayor L. Mizener.
 Council passed notice of motion of a bylaw which will amend existing bylaws concerning the use of tents in the town. The matter came to light when Rolland Morrisette complained about the number of tents in the Robinson Bay area.
 Ron Shand, owner of Pegi's Colonial Restaurant, complained to council that he had been waiting seven months for a liquor permit. It seems that the town is controlled under the Temperance Act and that all liquor distributing establishments are operating outside of the law.
 Only a referendum will be able to decide the issue. The matter will be taken up by Councillor Peter White.
 Two residents, Mrs. Sylvia Tetreault and Mrs. Ruel Leblanc complained about the state the pavement on Elm and Academy Streets.
 Council has already decided to repave these roads. The work should be done sometime in August.
 Council requested the Quebec government to build up the grade at the corner of Route 39 and Main Street in Foster. It also requested the government to put up new speed signs at the town entrances in West Bolton as well as in Fulford.
 Town engineer Edouard Henri notified council that his report on the testing of the sub-soil will be ready August 22.
 A notice of motion was given concerning a bylaw changing the town officers.
 Council received another letter from Philip Walton, the owner of Buckburn Farms. Another sheen had been killed by a doe on his farm. Council appointed Arthur Mizener and D. Schofield as evaluators in the case.
 Lloyd Boivin, a property owner in the East Hill area, complained to council that his taxes were too high. He also presented the widening of the Chatten Hill road and saying that it was useless and unnecessary.
 Council took his remarks into consideration.
 Council will decide to allow the Department of Agriculture to widen and deepen the Beard Brook in Iron Hill.
 Reports on garbage disposal systems and town planning should be completed in the near future.

Awarded scholarship

QUEBEC (PT) — Daniel Lapointe, of Bury, has just been awarded a study scholarship of $600 offered by Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition, which this year is being held from Aug. 19 to Sept. 6.
 The bursary is awarded every year to a rural student in each Canadian province who has been successful in his studies to date and wishes to pursue university courses leading to a career in agronomy or veterinary medicine.
 Wishing to promote and encourage youth activities in rural circles, such as the groups sponsored by the Canadian Council of 4-H Clubs, the CNE awards a prize to a student having particularly distinguished himself and showing a spirit of initiative and leadership.
 Daniel, 19, is vice-president of the Bury 4-H Club, of which he has been a member for eight years. Last May he obtained his CEGEP diploma from the CEGEP de Sherbrooke, and now wants to study agriculture in that faculty at Laval University.
 The oldest child in a family of five children, Daniel lives on a 175-acre dairy farm in Bury.
 Last year, Michel Blanchette, of La Presentation, near St-Hyacinthe, won the province of Quebec prize.

PM's Maritime tour swings to Newfoundland

BAY NEAR THIS VILLAGE ENDED a long day's touring for the prime minister that was barked by fog in places.
 He and Mrs. Trudeau earlier strolled the narrow streets of St Pierre in the morning and lunched with Governor Antri Beaux of the French island just south of Newfoundland.
 Sitting around in a big tent on the grounds of Transport Minister Don Jamieson's summer home, the prime minister and the young people tucked into the long talk session after demolishing a tubful of lobster and platters of cod tongues.
 The session on the Jamieson estate at the end of Placentia

Grand Bank and cut Marystown from the itinerary.
 However, he was able to take a helicopter to Swift Current being a lift in the fog and descent of darkness.
 Mrs. Trudeau, who stayed aboard ship during the visit to Fortune and Grand Bank, took a separate helicopter to the Jamieson residence.
 The Trudeau's stayed the night in a log cabin, one of several buildings on the estate.
 The target today was St. John's, where Mrs. Trudeau was to rejoin the ship and the prime minister was scheduled to have lunch with Premier Smallwood and watch the St. John's fifth annual regatta.
 Mr. Smallwood came in for youthful disdain at the talk session. The prime minister and Mr. Jamieson listened to that without comment Mr. Smallwood, the prime minister and Mr. Jamieson are all Liberals.
CRITICIZE JOEY
 Talking politics, the young people—a group assembled from towns in Mr. Jamieson's Burin-Burgois constituency—said Mr. Smallwood harms the cause of the federal Liberals.
 Several of them argued that Newfoundland can see no viable alternative to Mr. Smallwood in provincial politics after 22 years of his government, but the voters protested against him the 1968 federal election when they sent to Ottawa six Conservatives and just one Liberal—Mr. Jamieson.
 The young people predicted that Mr. Smallwood would win again in the next provincial

Exchange students on their way home

SHERBROOKE (PG) — Today 46 exchange students from Vermillion, Alta., leave for Montreal and then home after a stay in the Eastern Townships. The students have been guests at the homes of participants in an exchange program organized by the federal and provincial governments.
 Yesterday they were given a tour of the S. W. Hooper machinery plant and saw the Howardene industrial exhibit. They next visited the Seven-up plant and then were given dinner at the New Sherbrooke Hotel by the Rotary Club. They spent the afternoon swimming at Lake Massawippi.
 The students arrived at Alexander Galt Regional High School in Lennoxville last Wednesday, where they were greeted by pro-Mayor Robert Nichols, Ian MacLeay, the

Students to receive exam results soon

MONTREAL (PT) — The Federation of Catholic School Commissions wishes to advise all students who have written the department of education examination that the results will be mailed individually to all students during the next few days.
 Therefore, it is not necessary for those students to call the Federation to obtain their results.
 The release issued recently by the department of education advising students to contact their school board does not apply to students under the jurisdiction of the Federation.

Dies from injuries

DRUMMONDVILLE (PT) — Pierre Bourgois, of 2005 St-Edouard Street, Plessisville, lost his life Monday due to injuries he had received when the car in which he was riding crashed on the Hemmings Falls Road about four miles from the St-Francois River bridge which links Drummondville and Drummondville South.
 The man with Bourgois, whose identity it has been impossible to ascertain, suffered only light injuries and is resting comfortably in satisfactory condition at St-Croix Hospital here.
 The accident occurred when the driver lost control of his vehicle while going around one of the many treacherous corners on the road in question. The car smashed into a roadside tree.
 Other motorists driving on the road were the first to reach the scene of the tragedy and rendered first aid to the victims as well as calling Richmond detachment of the Quebec Police Force.
 Apparently, the two had borrowed the car to go and get cigarettes. The proprietor of the

Dispute expands

MONTREAL (CP) — The three-week dispute at La Presse expanded Tuesday night when North America's largest French-language daily locked out 26 photo engravers after their refusal to accept the company's latest offer.
 The newspaper said in a statement the employees were locked out at 6 p.m. because they refused the latest offer and had begun questioning certain clauses already agreed upon during the last six days of talks.
 Conciliation talks with the photo engravers union were to have ended Monday, but were extended until noon Tuesday.
 Separate negotiations were to continue today with typographers, pressmen and mailroom employees, locked out July 19.
 The union representing the photo engravers said it found it impossible to continue negotiations as long as the other three

 Nevertheless, he included it in his count. Carbon dioxide is accumulating in the atmosphere, where it absorbs the infra-red rays of the sun which are needed by plants in the process of photosynthesis to convert carbon dioxide into food and release oxygen into the air.
PEOPLE ARE PROBLEM
 Mr. Mitchell concludes that air pollution is a problem of people, their rate of increase, concentration in cities and their insatiable demand for more power and luxuries.
 He has compiled a national inventory which indicates that automobiles alone produce 330.2 million tons of pollution a year — about 20 per cent of the national total. Domestic heating

Made in Canada

With all the talk these days about unemployment, the fashion industry is perhaps yelling the loudest and the most persistently. Rather than placing the blame on the Canadian government, however, as most complainers are, they feel that the blame lies with the Canadian consumer.

For a long time now, Canada's colonial attitude has had Canadians believing that anything made anywhere but Canada had to be better than our native products, no matter what the differences in cost and convenience. Anything made in Canada had to be of inferior quality, with the possible exceptions of maple syrup or Quebec butter.

Recently, however, Canadians have come to realize that not all things Canadian are bad. Now and only now are Canadians themselves starting to realize that Canadians too were allotted their share of talent.

The time has come when our colonialism must be sacrificed for a greater faith in Canadian, if not because of a sense of national pride that this country has certainly earned then because our economy demands it.

The fashion industry in Quebec alone has seen 229 manufacturers go out of business in the last two years. Over 3,500 workers have been left at least temporarily unemployed as a result. Our economy cannot afford this kind of strain simply because Canadians cannot bring themselves to realize the value and excellent quality of local goods.

If Canadians are only using the excuse that they cannot tell what is Canadian-made, then the answer they should receive is that they haven't been looking very hard. Most textiles have "made in Canada" marked on their labels. The fashion industry is doing its best in promoting Fashion 71, designed specially to make Canadians aware of the truly fashionable merchandise available to them from our own producers.

Even the Canadian shoe-wear industry is doing its bit to make things easier for the Canadian looking for merchandise made by their fellow country men. By 1972, most of the 45 million pairs of footwear produced in Canada will bear a special mark, consisting of a gold maple leaf surrounded by the words "Made in Canada" — Fabrique au Canada.

Obviously, however, many Canadians will not look for these symbols because, once found, they will represent to them a symbol of inferiority. This disease has made it necessary for these industries to apologize for their claims of quality by emphasizing the degree to which the products have been praised by our friendly neighbors to the south.

Isn't it about time that this nation, at age 104, matured to the point that it has a little more self-confidence. The time has indeed come, when for the sake of our economy and the survival of fellow Canadians, as well as from a true pride in our talented and resourceful nation, that we recognize the labels bearing proof of Canadian materials and craftsmanship as descriptive terms carrying with them indications of quality and a fine distinctiveness.

HAVI ECHENBERG

TIMELY QUOTES

You don't turn around an economy that is generating a Gross National Product in excess of a trillion dollars a year and affecting over 200 million people. You just don't turn it around. It is not like a Yo-Yo.
—Treasury Secretary John B. Connolly Jr.

Lake Erie will not die in the next five years as pessimists predict, because while mankind is appallingly stupid, nature is exceedingly forgiving.
—Dr. P. D. McTaggart-Cowan, executive director of the Science Council of Canada.

Research is to teaching what sin is to confession: Without the one, you have nothing to say in the other.
—William R. Allen, professor of economics at the University of California, Los Angeles.

It will not be a joke by 1976, the 200th anniversary of our Republic, that a woman might run for president.
—Betty Friedan, at the inauguration of a National Women's Political Caucus in Washington.

If the job is impossible, why are there always so many applicants whenever a presidency is vacant? . . . If the job is untenable, why are there thousands of ambitious academicians and college administrators who want to wear the presidential hat and believe that, for them at least, it will not turn out to be a crown of thorns?

—Dr. Norman P. Auburn, retiring after 20 years as president of Akron University, who says that "resiliency" is the quality most needed by an American university president today.

Who's watching the Russians while the Russians are watching the West in the Mediterranean? United States, British and other NATO ships and submarines are chasing the Russians in a hide-and-seek game in international waters. Associated Press reporter Hugh A. Mulligan became the first correspondent ever to go along on Operation Tattle-Tale and tells what it's like to go Soviet-chasing on a U.S. destroyer.

ABOARD USS CONE (AP) — Wednesday, 6 a.m. — Four bells chime down the steel gangways. The USS Cone, a 26-year-old destroyer rejuvenated with anti-submarine rockets, lowers and folds her stern ensign, raises the American flag on her mast, and slips past the seawall of Catania, Sicily.

We are bound for the Sicilian Channel, off Tunisia, to intercept two new Soviet warships just come into the Mediterranean from the Baltic. One is the Krivak 500, a guided-missile destroyer that navigator Lieut. Ted Struckland, who also serves as intelligence officer, calls "the hottest thing in the Soviet fleet." The other is the Boris Chilikin, a tanker-supply ship reputed to give the Russians a capability of alongside, under-way refuelling for the first time. Both are prototypes of a class — floating proof of the spectacular growth of Soviet sea power.

The United States and its allies have responded to this growth by shadowing the Russians all over the ancient landlocked sea to see what's what with the new Soviet armada. That is what the Cone is doing, a seagoing gumshoe in a game of mutual spying from Haifa to Gibraltar.

Thursday: Radarman George Taylor, standing the 6-to-12 watch, reports the first contact just after breakfast. West, 264 degrees.

The contact, still several hours away, is bearing down on us at 24 knots. By noon, three ships have come over the horizon. The telescope on the signal deck identifies them as the Boris Chilikin, the Krivak 500 and an Italian destroyer named Impetuoso.

The two Russians and their Italian shadow continue on an easterly course toward Greece. We tag along at a discreet distance.

Friday: Morning finds the Boris riding lower in the water after fuelling from a Soviet merchant tanker. Out of deference to her bulk, the Krivak knifes along at 16 knots, followed by the Italian destroyer and the Cone.

An RAF Shackleton reconnaissance plane makes a low pass over the Boris, causing her to rotate her huge air search radar antenna; then a U.S. Vigilants jet whines by. Toward noon, Corsairs from the U.S. aircraft carrier Forrestal swoop down for a look. The Russian guided-missile destroyer exercises her three-inch gun mounts, but there is nothing menacing in the gesture.

Late in the afternoon we close to within 1,000 yards to count the Krivak's portholes and get a better look at her weaponry, but the aptly-named Impetuoso comes in almost beside her. The Krivak pulls away, but the Italian circles her. For nearly an hour, the two execute a pas de deux in the gathering twilight. Then the Italian blinks out "arriverderci" on her signal lights and drops over the horizon for home.

Saturday: "All hands on deck for the international boat show." We are awakened by the friendly voice of the captain, welcoming us to the busy international anchorage of Kithira, northwest of Crete, where during the night the Krivak and the Boris have dropped anchor. At least eight Soviet ships are gently bobbing in the morning haze. The deck officers have Weyer's Warships of the World open on the bridge and already have identified two Zulu-class Soviet submarines, two light cargo ships nuzzled beside the Boris and a Sverdlov-class cruiser.

Early in the afternoon, the Boris and the Krivak suddenly up anchor, head north, turn sharply to the east, then swing south and west in an almost complete circle.

Toward sunset the Krivak has pulled in close to the Boris and is about to refuel. This is what we have come to see, and the Cone is the first NATO ship ever to witness this new Soviet capability.

Sunday: We are bound for Souda Bay on the north side of Crete to top off our own fuel at the Royal Hellenic Navy docks. The USS Lester, a destroyer escort, is pacing our old post back at the anchorage.

Late in the day we get word to head east, toward Turkey, to intercept the Soviet helicopter-carrier Leningrad and a new guided-missile cruiser coming our way.

Monday: The Russians are everywhere. There is the Leningrad, new and powerful, looking like a battleship up front and an aircraft carrier behind. The captain describes her as "the most powerful anti-submarine weapon in the world." There is a Kynda-class light cruiser bearing the name Grozny and the number 842, and next to it what the executive officer calls a "brand new, hot stuff" Kresta II-class guided-missile destroyer with no name and the number 585. There is a tank-landing ship with a dozen trucks and some Soviet marines in blue berets out on deck. There is a submarine tender, a diving tender, another guided-missile destroyer, three small, swift patrol boats, a naval oiler, a pair of merchant tankers and, from the pings echoing in the sonar room, a number of submerged submarines.

The combat information centre aboard the Cone reports that as of today there are 64 Soviet warships in the Mediterranean, compared with U.S. 6th Fleet's current total of 49.

Tuesday: There are so many Soviet ships now at anchor off Crete, Weyer's Warships of the World has replaced a blue book called The Greedy Gynecologist as the most popular book aboard.

Wednesday: Still walking the line east of Crete, in company with the Leningrad, the Grozny and the Kresta II, which has returned during the night. With the aid of a Russian dictionary, one of the lookouts is translating the writing on the helicopter hangar of the Kresta cruiser: "Our Motto: Outstanding Service, Highest Battle Readiness in the Year of the 24th Congress of the Soviet Communist Party."

Out of the woods

Dear Sirs:
On July 26 a group of us — 10 children and three adults — walked from Glen Sutton to Dyer Lake. At 3:15 p.m. we started the return trip and found ourselves hopelessly lost. At 9:30, after six hours of walking, we made camp and prepared to spend a long and anxious night.

Concerned local campers notified the QPP. They in turn contacted the C.P. Club and Mr. Schoolcraft, the local game warden who knew the area.

Words cannot express our gratitude to all those who participated in the search including those who searched the other side of the mountain.

Many thanks again from all of us who were led out of the woods at 2:00 in the morning: Phyllis Colborn, Timmy Colborn (10), John Colborn (8), Timmy and Gerry Colborn (7), Stanley Klyn (13), Pete Genkers, Madelon Genkers (16), Paul Genkers (14), David Wolfe (15), Madeleine Ghikas, Diana Ghikas (9), David Ghikas (7).

Yours truly,
Madeleine Ghikas

THOUGHTS

Whoever confesses that Jesus is the Son of God, God abides in him, and he in God. So we know and believe the love God has for us. God is love, and he who abides in love abides in God, and God abides in him.—1 John 4:15, 16

But when a man turns to the Lord the veil is removed. Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom.—II Cor. 3:16, 17.

The great tragedy of life is not that men perish, but that they cease to love.—Somerset Maugham, British fiction and drama writer.

Liberty is slow fruit. It is never cheap; it is made difficult because freedom is the accomplishment and perfection of man.—Ralph Waldo Emerson, American essayist and philosopher.

For since the law has but shadow of the good things to come instead of the true form of these realities, it can never, by the same sacrifices which are continually offered year after year, make perfect those who draw near.—Hebrews 10:1.

"No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon."—Matthew 6:24.

Not to pot

By
DR. ALEXANDRE KINDY

For several years our society has been plagued with a problem of growing concern and dimensions: drugs. In the face of tacit resignation from adults, the continual campaigning of youth and the recommendations of its own Ledain Commission Report, the government is being tempted to legalize the use of marijuana, a variety of hashish.

For the reasons enumerated below, we stand squarely against the legalization of this drug. And we invite all responsible citizens to work with us to prevent this gross error on the part of our government.

I entreat you not to allow a 14-year-old to become first a pusher of drugs and then a human waste. Do not stand by while young people become prisoners of an imaginary world of escape from life without raising your voice against this scourge.

Despite the publicized comments of experts and users of marijuana that the drug causes neither brain damage nor mental or psychological dependency, an American psychiatrist confirms having hospitalized several drug users. In addition, an objective drug user will admit that an excess of the drug causes vomiting and sensory disorientation. Moreover, we believe marijuana capable of fostering sickly tendencies by reducing psychological defences and the level of consciousness of the drugged individual.

Is it good to "trip" on a stormy sea? Would it not be more advisable to wait until calm sets in?

Other pro-marijuana militants claim the drug is no worse, if not better, than alcohol. Is that sufficient reason for legalization?

Already our society numbers among its members 6 per cent who are alcoholics and on whom it cannot call. Should we add another six per cent on drugs? And still another six per cent in five years when another medium of escape is developed? At that rate, there will not be a single Canadian living in the real world by the year 2000. Alcohol is to some a crutch; give two crutches to a man and he soon will forget how to walk.

We perceive already two valid reasons for rejecting drugs. And we have not spoken of the other dangers involved: psychological dependency and the seeking — albeit natural in man — for new sensations, a road which leads straight to stronger drugs such as LSD. And we have not spoken of the social dangers, such as the subsidization of an enterprise managed by the Mafia, such as subscription to an evasive apathy which is contrary to the basic principles of society. We respect the Canadian people too much to allow the government to think of legalizing marijuana.

We believe drugs drive much of their hold on the young from the fact that use of them is an indication of their malcontent and apprehension about the "establishment." We believe also that the Ledain Commission is not taking into account the breadth of its social responsibilities in its recommendations.

In the face of the ever-growing list of new social problems that confront government, it is perhaps time the Canadian people engaged in their cause the services of specialists in social problems instead of opting exclusively for jurists and lawyers learned in constitutional questions and little else.

To make a picnic special

Picnics are always fun but they can become truly special if you perk up the menu with Mandarin Barbecue Chicken!

Most outdoor enthusiasts are quite adept at barbecuing chicken so it is with this delicious and unique orange sauce that you'll work your magic.

The sauce can be prepared well ahead of time and then heated on the grill while the chicken is barbecuing.

If you baste generously with this special sauce, the result will be a marvellous golden-glazed chicken that will be irresistible to you; fellow picnickers!

1 tablespoon butter
2 broiling chickens (about 2 lbs. each), halved
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon packaged orange flavor crystals
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Drain mandarin orange sections, measuring syrup. Add water to syrup to make 1 cup. Combine 1/4 cup measured liquid with 1-3 cup orange flavor crystals, the salt, and butter; heat until blended. Use mixture to baste chicken 15 minutes before end of barbecuing.

Blend remaining measured liquid with sugar, 1 tablespoon orange flavor crystals, and the cornstarch. Cook and stir until sauce is thickened and clear. Add the drained orange sections. Heat and serve as sauce with the barbecued chicken. Makes about 4 servings.

Note: If desired, omit salt and use glaze on about 3 pounds barbecued ham slice.

Rehearsal party held

STANSTEAD — Following the rehearsal on Friday evening, July 30, at Stanstead South Church, in Rock Island, for the marriage of Judy Ann Boomhower and Bruce Turner on July 31, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Boomhower, of Stanstead RR3, entertained at their home.

The party included the bride and groom, their attendants, immediate families and a few close friends.

The bride and groom exchanged personal gifts. Judy presented her maid of honor a gold bracelet, the bridesmaids a gold choker, and necklaces, the junior bridesmaid and flower girl each a necklace. Bruce presented his groomsmen and the ushers with tie bars, the train bearer with a ring and the ring bearer with a pearl tie tie.

Refreshments were served from the white linen-covered table having a centre arrangement of roses. A toast was proposed the bride and groom of July 31.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been dating a young man for several years. Dan is everything a girl could want. Well, almost. He is kind, nice looking, considerate, fun to be with, and he makes good money. The only drawback is Dan's grammar. For example, he says, "I seen," "youse" and "have went."

I bite my tongue when he makes these awful mistakes, especially in the presence of my friends. I don't want to be ashamed of him, Ann, and I don't want to embarrass him either, but I'm afraid one day I might.

Is there a chance that we can have a good marriage in spite of this? I am 26 and a college graduate. Dan is 27 and attended trade school. I do love him, but I fear I'll be a nagging wife—or worse yet, a silent wife who is ashamed of her husband's grammar.

Please hurry your answer. He is waiting for mine. —York, Penn.

Dear York: Dan sounds too good to discard. Ask him if he wants to be corrected—when the two of you are alone, of course. Incidentally, you misspelled the word grammar throughout your letter. It is ar, dear. Perhaps you and Dan are not so far apart as you think.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been enjoying the snoring letters immensely because this subject is very close to my heart. I used to snore, but I don't anymore. The solution was suggested by my friendly druggist. I'd like to share it with you.

Marie Cooper weds Roy Charleau

A pretty summer wedding took place on July 10, at the Chapel Hambleton Hall, Simcoe, Ont., when Marie Leota Cooper, graduate of Dover Composite School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cooper, 285 South Drive, Simcoe, became the bride of Roy Edward Charleau, computer operations co-ordinator, employed by Johnson's Wax, Brantford, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Charleau, Wilsonville.

Rev. S. Edworthy officiated in the presence of nearly 100 guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was becomingly attired in a floor-length gown of white peau de soie having a lace bodice with empire waist line and bell sleeves. Her chapel train fell from a wide-brimmed, crocheted hat, and she carried a bouquet of white daisies centered with pink sweetheart roses.

The bride was attended by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Gertrude Cooper, as matron of honor, wearing a floor-length gown of pink polyester crepe with embroidered nylon bodice and puffy sleeves.

The bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Slade, a friend of the bride, and Mrs. Patti Charleau, sister-in-law of the groom. Miss Slade's gown was of blue, and Mrs. Charleau's of yellow polyester crepe, of the same style as the gown of the matron of honor. All wore crocheted hats trimmed with matching velvet ribbons.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. John Charleau, and Mr. Alan Cooper, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a pink A-line dress of crepe with matching accessories. The groom's mother was attired in a sleeveless dress of orange crimp net with matching accessories.

The bride was honored before the wedding by a shower given by Marie Rose at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Charleau, and also one by a friend Nancy Smith, at her home.

A stag party was given the groom by Johnson's Wax and the best man, and was held at the Paris Golf Club.

The wedding trip was to Quebec, Vermont, and New York. The bride was travelling in a two-piece turquoise pant suit, with matching accessories.

Good grammar or good husband?

Everyone knows that snoring occurs only when the mouth is open—the trick is to keep it shut. Just take a piece of adhesive tape and place it over the snorer's mouth. Try it, Ann. It really works.

—Des Moines Reader

Dear D.M.: Thanks but I don't have to try it. I don't snore.

Dear Ann Landers: Not long ago you had a letter from a reader who wanted to know if it is possible for a woman to be pregnant for nine months and not know it. The writer told about a lady who had given birth in a parking lot—and until the last minute she denied she was pregnant.

A few days after I read that column the same thing happened in Grand Forks, North Dakota. This young couple (married five years) had been told that they would never have a child and adoption was recommended.

Shortly after, the young wife was stricken with back pains. She called the doctor because she was sure she was having a kidney attack. He rushed her to the hospital and her baby boy was born a few hours later.

The woman had been taking Alka Seltzer and Sal Hepatica for six months to relieve her "indigestion." She had also been dieting to lose weight. Her doctor told her she had a nervous stomach and not to worry. I've heard many people say you make up letters because some of the things that appear in your column are too far out to be true. Here is a good example that truth is stranger than fiction.

—N.D. Reader

Dear Reader: Right you are. Truth is Stranger—in fact, that's the title of my last book, a collection of the best letters over these past 15 years. Thanks for giving me the opportunity to plug it.

Hints on stamps

By M. M. Woodman

A lot of you are on holidays at this time of year and, believe it or not, so am I. My vacation started last Saturday but I have not been able to get anywhere as yet. I wrote my column last weekend and am cheating a bit and am going to write this one early—Wednesday to be exact—a week before it will be published, so that I too may forget the busy life for a few days.

If you remember correctly, I told you about buying a collection some time ago in which were two Canadian Jubilee Stamps, the $3 and $4 used. I offered them locally at a good price and no one seemed to need them, or wanted to spend that much money on them. To make a long story short, I received a phone call from a dealer in Lovell, Maine last night, and he had a customer who was willing to pay the price if I would let them go. Of course they were in the mail and on the way this morning.

Do you know that in August of 1967 I bought Doctor Ernest Cross Collection of World Wide, and that even today I still have three volumes that I have not put into my stock? There are also a couple of other collections that I have been trying to put with my stock, but there just is not time to do it all. I keep saying that when I retire I will have plenty to keep me busy for the balance of my time. Great to have a hobby, whether it be stamps or something else, as when you leave your job, no matter what, and have nothing to do with your time, you will really find it a bore.

The 1972 Scott Catalogues were ordered today, and I am in hopes that some of you who were away will not forget to put your order in early and save a bit on the purchase price. From now on, I think that Scott's newest idea of three parts is a smart one, as you will only have to buy the volume that you need for your favorite countries and not all those you do not care about. Volume one should reach me in September and of course you will have it immediately after.

Sometimes items come your way that you hate to part with. Several years ago, such an item came to me and I still have it. This was a letter written by a Mr. Thomas of Stanstead Plain on the 2nd March 1870 to one James Mairs of Melbourne, Que., the text of the letter being that Mr. Thomas had a chance to sell the "Market House" in Stanstead but needed the deed and description of the land to complete the deal. He would be unable to make the trip to Melbourne so wished Mr. Mairs to send same up by mail. He included a six cent stamp, that Mr. Mairs would register same at no expense to him, meaning Mr. Mairs.

Now, what makes this interesting is that the envelope bears a Stanstead postmark dated March 2nd, 1870, and the stamp bears the 4 ring No. 45 cancel of Stanstead which is rare. I know of about 20 left in the Eastern Townships and one man owns nearly all of them.

A party offered this to me one day and at the time the envelope was worth about $3 or $4 so I offered $2.00 for same and the party was delighted, and, I might add, so was I. When I arrived home, I thought I would see what the letter inside was all about and to my surprise I found a beautiful Mint copy of the Canadian Large Queen Stamp (Scott's No. 27) at that time valued at about $20.00 in the Scott's 1949 Catalogue, of which I still have a copy. I suppose the stamp was selling at about $15.00 at the time. The Cover was worth as I said about $4 then. I carefully put my prize away but did show it to a couple of collectors, but said it was not for sale. One said that he wanted it badly, so I said $50, but it was declined, so I forgot all about it for a long time. One day this man came to my home and said he would take the letter for the $50 that I had offered to sell him. I politely told him that since that time, the value had increased greatly and I wouldn't part with it for $100.00. The 1971 Scott's Catalogue shows it to be worth $150 mint in any condition, and the one I have is worth far more.

The cover in the meantime with the large three cent Queen's Head is worth more than $15.00. I might add that this letter was back stamped in Melbourne on the 4th March 1870, which means it made better time then than now.

I have covers from the Sherbrooke Gazette, which was the local paper before the Sherbrooke Record was founded and was located in the "Brooks Block." Many years later my father operated a grocery store in the same location.

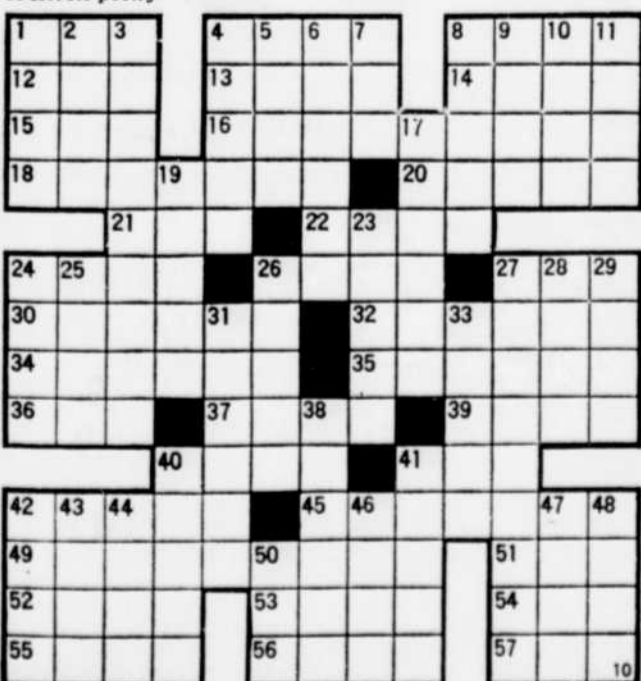

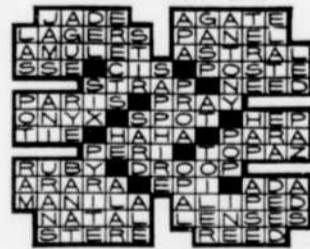

I also have some Sherbrooke Record covers that were printed especially for correspondents to send in news items to the Sherbrooke Record. My grandfather, who lived in Moe's River at the time, did just this and also to the Stanstead Journal, which again is one of the oldest papers in the country. It was owned at that time by a Mr. Robinson.

If items such as the above interest you, please let me know and I will try to find more along with my memories from the past.

WAY'S MILLS — On Wednesday afternoon, July 14, the Way's Mills Anglican Church Women and the United Church Women were hostesses at a salad tea and sale held in the Way's Mills Union Hall.

The tea-tables, arranged in the ground floor hall, were centered with rose bowls each containing a beautiful red rose, the gift of Mrs. Sid Davis. Serving were Mrs. Richie Harrison, Mrs. Howard Standish, Miss Anne Standish, Mrs. Dorothy Geddes, Mrs. Shirley Whipple and Miss Beverley Davis.

Mrs. Bernard Holmes made the tea and, assisted by Miss Donna McLaughlin, kept the tables well supplied while the squares were cut by Mrs. Albert Littlejohn and Mrs. Arthur Jordan.

Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. Gordon Cass, Mrs. Sharmar Molony, Mrs. Gordon Whipple and Mrs. George Nason were in charge of the attractively arranged salads.

The sales tables were in the upper hall. Here the home-cooked food was sold by Mrs. Weyland Pope, Mrs. Clair Libby and Mrs. Lottie Drew. The handicrafts and novelties were sold by Mrs. Harry Emo, Mrs. Freeman Sutton, Mrs. W.N. Horn and Mrs. A.H. Davidson.

Tickets were sold by Mr. H. Carl Mayhew while Mrs. Mayhew welcomed the guests who came from the Boundary Villages, Lennoxville, Waterville, Coaticook, Dixville, Magog, North Hatley and many other points near and far in spite of the inclement weather.

Mrs. Carlo Pedersen, a member of the planning committee, was unable to be present due to illness but her many friends, who missed her on that day, will be glad to know that she is much better now.

The ladies of the church groups are grateful to all who, by their loyal support, helped them to make this annual Ecumenical Summer project a success.

Check with doctor about pregnancy

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb — Four years ago I had cancer of the cervix and was treated with cobalt for one month, but did not have a hysterectomy. I am still in my 40s. Is it possible for me to get pregnant again?

Dear Reader — Usually heavy doses of radiation, like the cobalt treatment you have had, stops all ovarian function. It has the same effect in this regard as surgical removal of the ovaries, including inducing an artificial menopause.

I never tell anyone they cannot get pregnant. You should have an examination and find out. Pregnancy after radiation, if it is possible, is not always wise because radiation increases the likelihood of having a deformed baby. Since the rest of your letter states you have children perhaps your concern is to prevent pregnancy.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Will you say something about our stomachs? My husband has been in constant distress going on four years. After X rays, his doctor says his stomach problems are anxiety and pain is not physical. His diet has not been restricted. I can't understand why his doctor doesn't prescribe a limited diet. My husband also worries he'll lose weight if he is on a limited diet and he is thin enough already. Every time the TV is on there is an ad about gas bubbles, stomach distress, so it must be common.

Dear Reader — Your husband's doctor probably told him that there was no physical cause for his pain, like an ulcer, that was causing his discomfort. All pain is physical, even if the cause is anxiety — and it hurts just as much.

The most common cause of indigestion in our society is coffee, cigarettes, alcohol, cola drinks and stress. The latter often goes along with the other bad habits. Anyone with indigestion — certainly for four years — should stop all of these at once. Individuals can develop chronic gastritis (inflammation of the stomach) from these habits, and improper eating. This problem does not show on an X ray. It is cured by changing one's habits. If the difficulty persists, then it is time to think about medicine. The wrong kind of foods can cause indigestion but the items mentioned are much more often at fault. The stomach is a pretty tough organ if you give it half a chance.

As I have mentioned several times some people have an intolerance for milk — after stopping the bad habits it is worth a trial to stop milk entirely.

Chronic frustration can and does cause stomach problems and leads to ulcers.

Fordyce WI meets in Cowansville

COWANSVILLE — The regular monthly meeting of the Fordyce WI was held on Wednesday, July 7, at the home of Mrs. Randolph Dustin with Mrs. John Syberg as co-hostess.

The President, Mrs. Annie Dryden, opened the meeting with the Collect. Fourteen members answered the roll call.

Mrs. R. Lewis acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. O. Patterson and Mrs. G. Bromby as treasurer in the absence of Mrs. E. Stowe. The minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given. It was reported that 24 duty bags had been filled.

The Conveners' reports were: AGRICULTURE: Mrs. Bromby read a humorous article entitled Parsley.

WELFARE AND HEALTH: Mrs. Dougall read Wider Social Welfare Urged.

HOME ECONOMICS: Mrs. Longway read Is Packaging Pollution?

PUBLICITY: Mrs. Bell read an advertisement which was an authentic ad which came out in an 1890 newspaper and was printed in Montreal Star in 1964 at the time of the 100th anniversary of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, as follows:

WANTED — Five teachers for Waterloo Academy. Must belong to the Methodist Church, and sign a pledge abstaining from dancing and young men. The salary will be small but the honor of teaching under such a noble set of commissioners will make up for all deficiencies.

Mrs. A. Dryden and Mrs. R. Lewis gave a very detailed and interesting report of the Provincial Convention held at Macdonald College.

The program for the day was Citizenship. Miss N. Cummings gave two readings and held a contest which was won by Mrs. Syberg.

One of the readings which will give food for thought was: A Canadian is a fellow who sips Brazilian coffee from an English cup while sitting on Danish furniture after coming home in a German car from an Italian movie, who writes his MP with a Japanese ballpoint pen demanding that he does something about foreign domination.

The drawing was won by Mrs. Dustin. Mrs. H. Bowling contributed to the birthday box. The meeting closed with the singing of O Canada.

A delicious lunch was served.

Friendly Christmas Club

WATERVILLE — Ten members and two guests were entertained by Mrs. A. Corey at Earlstown, for the July meeting of the Friendly Christmas Club.

500 was played at three tables with winners being—1st-Mrs. P. Ingham; 2nd-Mrs. M. Smith; 3rd-Mrs. R. Brown.

Following the games delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. C. Ball.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

There is a second form of counting to help you locate missing high cards. Count your opponents' points and see what this count will tell you.

We aren't sure that we like South's four-heart bid but he did make it. West opened the king of spades and continued with the deuce after East played the queen. East led the four of clubs back.

South won the trick with the ace and proceeded to lead his king of diamonds. West won with the ace and returned a club. Now South led his queen of trumps, went up with dummy's ace and pickled East's singleton king.

It was all a matter of counting. He had played his king of diamonds before touching trumps to locate the ace and West had played it. West was also marked with the ace and king of spades. He could not hold another king, since he had dealt and passed. Therefore, South knew where the king of trumps was. He did not know that it would drop but he did know that a finesse would be a hopeless play.

Edmonton, B.C. seek initial win

Edmonton Eskimos and British Columbia Lions will be trying to scrape up their first Western Football Conference win tonight. At the same time, Calgary Stampede and Ottawa Rough Riders will be working to keep their unbeaten records.

Calgary's encounter with Ottawa and Edmonton's match with British Columbia are the first regular-season home games for the Alberta teams. They are not televised.

The Eskimos, who had trouble standing up as they were beaten 22-11 by Ottawa, will have the same starting lineup as was defeated 17-15 by Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Coach Ray Jauch said a win would be welcome but a loss wouldn't spell the end.

A's hurler Vida Blue absorbs Royal beating

The pressure of winning his 20th game is beginning to take its toll on Vida Blue.

Blue, the young left-hander of Oakland Athletics, failed for the second straight time to win his 20th game and absorbed one of his worst beatings of the season before the Athletics rallied for a 7-5 victory over Kansas City Royals Tuesday night.

Elsewhere in the American League, Washington Senators beat Detroit Tigers 4-2, Minnesota Twins edged Chicago White Sox 4-3 in 10 innings; Milwaukee Brewers blanked California Angels 2-0; New York Yankees blasted Cleveland Indians 8-1, and Boston Red Sox at Baltimore Orioles was rained out and will be played as a doubleheader tonight.

Blue, the winningest pitcher in the majors with a 19-4 record, was cuffed for five runs and nine hits in five innings by the slumping Royals, who suffered their eighth straight setback.

"I was almost crazy from the pressure of this game," said the usually relaxed southpaw.

"This was the toughest game of all. Everyone wants to know when I'm going to win 20 games. That's where all the pressure is coming from."

One of the hits off him was a three-run homer over the left cent's field fence by Bob Oliver in the fourth inning, giving the Royals a 3-2 lead.

Blue's two-bagger came when the Royals scored twice in the fifth, Blue's last inning.

Only some erratic baserunning by Lou Piniella saved Blue from a possible defeat. After Piniella led off the fourth with a double, he was tagged out when he took a big turn round second.

After singling in the second run in the fifth and going to second on the throw home, he tried to score on Chuck Harrison's single, but was cut down at the plate. And in the eighth, Piniella smacked his second double, but was out trying for a triple.

Rick Monday's two-run homer in the seventh started Oakland's comeback. In the ninth, Monday followed with a double, driving in the winning runs.

Eighth inning Buc explosion sinks Expos

MONTREAL (CP) — Pittsburgh Pirates exploded for six runs in the eighth inning on Gene Alley's second homer of the game and Manny Sanguillen's bases-loaded triple Tuesday night to overpower Montreal Expos and Carl Morton 10-6 in a National League contest.

After Alley's second circuit blast and fifth of the season, tied the game 2-2, Roberto Clemente tagged Morton for a single.

Willie Stargell then lofted a high pop fly which Bob Bailey dropped and both runners were safe. Bob Robertson walked to load the bases before Sanguillen cleared them with his shot down the right-field line.

With Sanguillen on third and two out, Jose Pagan was walked intentionally by reliever Dan McGinn and pinch-hitter Vic Davalillo followed with a tworun double.

Bob Veale, 6-0, who relieved starter Steve Blass when Montreal took a one-run lead in the seventh, was the winner while Morton was tagged with his 13th loss in 21 decisions.

Montreal took a 1-0 lead off Blass in the first inning when Rusty Staub blasted a fastball over the fence in left-centre field, 390 feet from home.

Alley sent the Pirates ahead in the third with a two-run blast and Pittsburgh scored two more in the fourth when Staub misplayed a line drive for an error.

Montreal came back to tie the game at 4-4 in the fifth inning on Boots Day's bases-loaded single and went ahead in the seventh when Day drove in another run with his second base hit.

Steve Arlin hurled a four-hitter Tuesday night and got some unusually lusty hitting from San Diego Padres to beat St. Louis Cardinals 6-1.

"It relieves the pressure," said the young right-hander, reciting a pitching axiom, "when you have some runs."

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh Pirates ripped Montreal Expos 10-6, Chicago Cubs shut out Houston Astros 5-0, Philadelphia Phillies edged Atlanta

Braves 3-2, Los Angeles Dodgers blitzed San Francisco Giants 9-1 and Cincinnati Reds split a doubleheader in New York, winning 5-2 before losing to the Mets 9-4.

Arlin's sharp performance against the Cardinals was the 10th complete game in the last 16 starts for the Padres' staff. But San Diego has won only six of those games.

In 69 games since May 23, the San Diego pitching staff has a 2.97 earned-run average. Yet the club's won-loss mark was 27-42 over that span.

However, the Padres managed 13 hits Tuesday night and gave Arlin four runs in the first four innings as he lifted his record to 6-13 and needed just 98 pitches to do the job.

Rookie John Vukovich, who carried a .157 batting average into the game, drove home two Philadelphia runs, including the winner, with a single and a double as the Phillies knocked off Atlanta. Hank Aaron hit his 31st homer of the season and 623rd of his career.

Bill Hands tossed a five-hitter and Ron Santo hammered his 17th home run, helping the Cubs past Houston. Santo's homer was the game's only run until the ninth when Chicago ganged up on reliever Fred Gladding for four more.

Doyle Alexander hurled a six-hitter and the Dodgers exploded for four runs in the first inning and whipped San Francisco.

Steve Garvey, whose three-run homer beat the Giants in the ninth inning the night before, singled in two of the Dodgers' early runs as LA trimmed San Francisco's National League West lead to seven games.

Tony Perez hammered a three-run homer, climaxing a four-run Cincinnati rally in the sixth inning as the Reds knocked off the Mets in the first game of the doubleheader.

Rookie Chasey sparks Als to 29-16 victory

MONTREAL (CP) — The running power of Moses Denson and the precision passing of rookie Jim Chasey gave Montreal Alouettes a victorious start to their Canadian Football League season Tuesday night as the Als dumped Saskatchewan Roughriders 29-16.

Chasey completed 13 of 25 passes for 162 yards as the defending Grey Cup champions rolled up a 22-4 half-time lead and held on to stall the Roughriders in the final two quarters.

The first-year quarterback played the entire game for the Als except the final few minutes when Sonny Wade came in to call the signals.

"He played a hell of a game and the line did a hell of a blocking job," Montreal coach Sam Etcheverry said after the game.

"He has an awful lot of poise for such a young player," he's a real student of the game."

Etcheverry said a good example of Chusey's ability to read defenses came on his second-quarter pass to Jim Foley, who broke into the clear and scampered into the end zone for a 28-yard touchdown.

"He read the blitz real well on that one."

WADE IMPRESSES

Despite the Dartmouth College graduate's performance, Etcheverry said Wade also was impressive during his stint calling the signals and could easily win back the starting quarterback position.

"Sonny had more authority than I've ever seen him with when he came into the game. I think he's on the right track and in the long run I think Sonny will be there."

However, Chusey would probably start in the Als' next game, Aug. 12 against Toronto Argonauts.

Saskatchewan drew first blood in the game when Jack Abendschan's 25-yard field goal attempt went for a single. Montreal then moved the ball from their own 25 to the Saskatchewan three, where George Springate evened the score with a single on a field goal attempt from a sharp angle.

Denson, who picked up 140 yards on 23 carries, gave the Alouettes a seven-point lead at the end of the quarter when he plunged into the Saskatchewan end zone on a one-yard run.

The Als struck again in the second quarter on Foley's touchdown at the 4:10 mark before the Roughriders narrowed the gap with Abendschan's 29-yard field goal at 10:55.

THROWS FOR TD

Chasey then directed the Alouettes from their own 35 to the Saskatchewan six in 10 plays before tossing a touchdown pass to Bruce Van Ness to complete the first-half scoring.

Montreal went into the dressing room at the half with a 259-80 edge in yards gained.

The Roughriders struck early in the third quarter when quarterback Ron Lancaster connected with Bobby Thompson for a 44-yard touchdown pass.

They picked up another two points at the 12:08 mark when Wade gave up a safety touch in a punting situation which placed him five yards inside his end zone facing a stiff wind.

Etcheverry lauds his quarterbacks

MONTREAL (CP) — Sam Etcheverry doesn't like a two-quarterback system, but Tuesday night he was full of praise for both Montreal Alouette signal callers following his team's 29-16 win over Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Rookie Jim Chusey went most of the way for the defending Grey Cup champions and Etcheverry said the Dartmouth College product is most likely to start next Thursday's game against Toronto Argonauts.

"He mixed them up real well," the Montreal coach said after the game. "He kept them off balance."

"It's a real bonus when a man plays that well in his first league game."

Etcheverry said Chusey "has an awful lot of poise for such a young player—he's a real student of the game."

The young quarterback was especially good in making quick decisions.
