ROYAL TRAIN AT MISSANABIE

STOP WAS MADE THERE FOR BREAKFAST.

All on Board are Reported to be Well —Last Night the Royal Pair Caught Fleeting Glimpses of Canadian Scenery Through the Moonlight—Train on Time.

(From the staff correspondent of the Star on the Royal train.)

ON BOARD ROYAL TRAIN, on line at Missanabie, September 25.—It is the morning of the second day of the Royal progress from Ottawa into the West, and all is well on board both sections of the great train.

At Missanabie an hour's stop was made to enable the Royal passengers to dress and breakfast with more comfort than they could with the train in motion.

The weather continues beautifully fine and clear, a bright sun shining. This morning when the Royal visitors arose, there was hoar frost upon the station platform.

The principal features of the Royal progress westbound so far have been the splendid receptions at Arnprior, Almonte, Renfrew and Carleton Junction, where addresses were presented.

At the latter place, hundreds of children sang the National Anthem, and the enthusiasm was intense.

At Arnprior the band played "God Save the King" as the Royal car pulled out of the station.

Schedule time has been maintained since the departure from Ottawa in a most satisfactory manner.

THE PEOPLE ENTHUSIASTIC.

The receptions at Mattawa and Chalk River last evening were all that could be desired, thousands of people lining the station at the latter place.

Both sections of the Royal train ran smoothly and safely through the first night out, which was a beautiful moonlight one, permitting the Royal travellers to get fleeting glimpses of the beautiful scenery along the line.

Six hundred and seventy miles out from Montreal, all is well on the Royal train.

THOSE ON THE TRAIN.

The following is the complete list, amended before leaving Ottawa, of those on board section No. 1 and section No. 2 of the Royal train. Both sections contain nine carriages.

Section No. 1—Her Excellency the Countess of Minto and suite, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Major F. S. Maude, Mrs. F. S. Maude, Miss Grenfell, Capt. H. Graham, Mr. A. Guise, Mr. A. Pereira. Royal suite—Sir Donald Wallace, Rev. Mr. Dalton and Mr. Sydney Hall. Press—Melton Prior, D. A. McLaughlin, H. C. Charlesworth, C. W. Jeffries, T. A. Ewan, Douglas Storey, E. F. Knight, T. Watson, W. Maxwell, J. E. Vincent, M. Egan, J. F. Richardson, W. S. Topley, W. H. Notman, Fred Yorston, W. F. Kerr, James Harper, Lucien Pacaud, Hector Garneau, Marc Sauvalle, J. Haddon Taylor, J. Pearse and 23 servants.

On board section No. 2 are—H. R. H. Duke of Cornwall and York, H.R.H. Duchess of Cornwall and York, H.S.H. Prince Alexander of Teck. Suite—Lady Mary Lygon, Hon. Mrs. Derek Keppel, Lord Wenlock, Lt.-Col. Sir Arthur Bigge, Sir Chas. Gust, Bart., Hon. Derek Keppel, Sir John Anderson, Commander B. Godfrey Faussett, Major J. H. Bor, Lord Crichton, the Duke of Roxburghe, Dr. Manly, Major Denison, Col. Sherwood, Mr. R. W. Baker, Mr. T. P. Duff, three detectives and 24 servants.

INSPECTED THE TRAIN.

Their Royal Highnesses have made an entire inspection of the train. They were much interested in the electric system and the refrigerators, and well pleased with everything they saw.

FREDERICK YORSTON.

PROGRESS OF ROYAL TRAIN.

RENFREW, Ont., September 25.—As this is one of the chief stopping places of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the towns-people expected to get a good look at the Royal party, and they were not disappointed. The day was declared a part holiday, and between 2,000 and 3,000 people were massed about the station, the school children carrying the flags. An enthusiastic welcome was accorded the Royal couple as the train drew in almost on time. The Duke and Duchess graciously acknowledged the enthusiasm. Mayor Smallfield, Hon. Justice Craig, A. A. Wright, M.P., J. H. Walford and A. Gravelle, chairmen of the Boards of Education; John Mackay, president of the Board of Trade, and Miss Louise Barnet, who offered a beautiful bouquet of lilies of the valley, were presented. After about ten minutes' stay the train drew out amid hearty cheers.

ARNPRIOR, Ont., September 25.—The special train conveying the Duke and Duchess of York stopped a few minutes here on their way to the coast. The station was lavishly decorated, over 3,000 people were at the station, among them 600 school children, carrying flags.

PEMBROKE DISAPPOINTED.

PEMBROKE, Ont., September 25.—Pembroke's Mayor proclaimed yesterday a half-holiday to honour the passing of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, and also the arrival of Mgr. Falconio, the delegate of His Holiness Pope Leo XIII. The town was in holiday attire, and two pretty arches, one at the cathedral and one at the Bishop's Palace, were erected, the grounds of both places being beautifully decorated. As early as 2 o'clock the crowds gathered at the Canadian Pacific Railway station to await the arrival of the different trains, and fully two thousand people spent the afternoon in joyous expectation of a glimpse at the Duke and Duchess, but the train flew by at 4.30 p.m. without slowing up. The Imperial Limited arrived a few minutes later, bringing Mgr. Falconio.

SUDBURY, Ont., September 25.—The Royal train passed here westbound at 12.25 a.m.

WINNIPEG MAKES READY.

Two of the Largest Arches Ever Built in Canada are Being Constructed.

(Special to the Star.)

WINNIPEG, September 25.—Owing to the lack of time, the illuminations on Thursday night here will be very ordinary. When the Royal visit was first curtailed to six hours, contracts for over twenty thousand dollars' worth of illuminations were cancelled, and since the announcement on Sunday that His Royal Highness would remain to dine at Government House there has been no time to procure the necessary materials. The best possible under the circumstances will be done, however, and a torchlight procession will be organized. The best feature in the reception will be the largest arch ever erected in Canada. It is 132 feet wide, 80 feet high and 18 feet thick. It is covered with sheaves of wheat from top to bottom, and presents a magnificent appearance. Another arch at the C. P. R. station is almost as large, being only ten feet lower. They are both very handsomely decorated and will be ablaze with five thousand lights each.

ROYAL VISIT AT OTTAWA.

Although the Honoured Guests Have Departed it is Still the Leading Topic.

(Special to the Star.)

OTTAWA, September 25.—The Royal visit is over, but still it remains the one subject of conversation. Everywhere are heard congratulations on the success which has attended the whole of the carrying out of the programme. There has not been a single accident attributable to the celebration, the police and military arrangements have excited general praise, and crime has apparently been absent from the city. Then too it is known that T.R.H. the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York stated that they had not enjoyed anything in their trip so much as the shooting of the slides and the other portions of the lumbermen's entertainment. The Duchess especialy delighted the shanty cook. "La Grande Duchesse," said he, "eat everything that I offered her, but the Duke he did not want to till she made him. Everything was clean? Look at my floor, it is clean, so you can heat hoff it."

As to the Royal guests they have won golden opinions everywhere. Some criticism has been made on the character of the cheering, but that has to a large extent been hypercritical. The cheering has been hearty all along the line. True the heartiest cheers were those given on Saturday evening when the Duke drove aroupd to see the decorations, but on that occasion he was dressed as a simple gentleman, in plain civilian clothes, and himself was so evidently enjoying all the sights that the hearts of the people warmed up to him more than when, with formality he was performing some function of which, perhaps they did not appreciate either the full importance or beauty.

This is how it struck Mr. Chas. W. Watson, of New York, who came here to see the Duke. "For a democratic people you Canadians are the greatest lovers of Royalty that I have ever met," said he. "I have travelled through most countries of Europe and have seen Royalty a number of times, but in no country have I seen so much enthusiasm. I must also say that you do not appear to be awed by the presence of the Duke. I like that about the reception here. You appear to be proud to have the Duke as your guest and with all your welcoming you keep to the fore the fact that you are free, and that the King's son comes more as your guest than as the representative of the King or the future ruler of the Empire."

As to the Duchess, she has won every heart by her simple graciousness. This attribute was again shown at the reception in the Senate by her wearing on that, the first possible occasion, the diamond spray of maple leaves presented to her by the people of Montreal.

A PLEASING INCIDENT.

(Special to the Star.)

OTTAWA, September 25.—Forty years ago when His Majesty the King, then the Prince of Wales, went through Canada, one of those accompanying him was Mr. Martin Battle, of 64 Waller street. A few days since he informed Major Maude of the part he had taken in receiving the Duke's father. The communication was sent to His Excellency who wrote Mr. Battle asking him to be present at the station yesterday to meet the Duke. The Governor-General introduced Mr. Battle to his Royal Highness who enquired if he had accompanied his father through Canada and received a reply in the affirmative.

The Duke shook the hand of the old gentleman who is still hale, hearty and active and gave him a warm greeting. The honour was much appreciated by Mr. Battle, who probably is the only survivor of the party which accompanied the Prince of Wales through Canada, and who highly cherished the opportunity of greeting another member of the royal family. Mayor Morris has received splendid photos of the Duke and Duchess bearing their autographs. These were sent him last night as a souvenir of the visit.

THE CANAL QUESTION AND CANADIAN DISPUTES.

A Prospect of An Early Settlement Between Great Britain and the Roosevelt Administration—Britain Values Deeds More Than Words.

(Special to the Star.)

NEW YORK, September 25. — The London correspondent of the Tribune cables:

Caricature overshoots the mark in the Westminster Gazette when it depicts Bret Eagle, in the person of Mr. Roosevelt, conversing suspiciously, if amiably, with Brer Lion, and confessing that he "ain't gwine ter gush." There was no gush from Mr. McKinley over Great Britain, yet he commanded the respect of the Government and people here. Sentimental vagaries are considered both un-English and un-American and a poor substitute for practical evidences of good feeling, such as the settlement of all questions remaining open between the two countries.

There is no definite information here respecting the progress of Lord Pauncefote's negotiations, and the precise changes which have been suggested in the previous Hay-Pauncefote canal treaty, but the prospects for a satisfactory adjustment of the points raised by the United States Senate are brighter than ever before. Lord Pauncefote has been resting in the country, and not actively at work in influencing the Foreign Minister, before sailing for America in October. His labours ended before the Ministers took a holiday and scattered over the country, and he was satisfied with the result. There is a general expectation in diplomatic circles that a new treaty will be submitted to the United States Senate in December, and that it will be ratified and followed rapidly by a renewal of the efforts for disposing of the various questions in which Canada is interested, while this will be a legacy which Mr. Roosevelt will accept. It is also thought that his action in clearing the deck of all sources of international controversy will be decisive so far as the United States Senate is concerned.

All conditions here favour the settlement of the canal question. There are signs of reaction against the deferential feeling for Germany which accompanied the agreement respecting China, and a renewal of the friendliest possible relations with the United States. The resentment caused by the United States Senate's amendments has disappeared, and the King is generally credited with a strong desire to have the canal treaty negotiated. This disposition may have been developed during his stay at Copenhagen, where the United States' Minister is reported to be taking up the negotiations for the purchase of the Danish West Indies with fresh ardor, as the necessary sequence to American control of the Inter-Oceanic canal, and a wise safeguard for the prevention of future complications over the Monroe Doctrine.

UNSETTLED CONDITION OF COPPER BUSINESS

An Expert Explains the Present Conditions Arising Out of the Relation of Prices to Production and the Trust.

NEW YORK, September 25.—An expert on copper gives the following statement relating to the present uncertainty regarding the price of copper and the break in copper mining shares:

"The copper trade is in a sound condition, so far as the United States is concerned. Here, consumption this year has been larger than any time before. In Europe the situation is quite different. There consumption has fallen off from 35 to 45 per cent. as compared with a year ago. This naturally has been reflected in our exports, which are about 45 per cent. smaller than last year. The Amalgamated Copper Company, which controls about half the production of copper in the United States, made it a policy at the end of last year to maintain a price of 17 cents for lake copper and 16 5-8 cents for electrolytic copper. At that time the Amalgamated people tried to induce outside producers to hold to the same scale, and the socalled "gentlemen's agreement" was virtually accomplished.

"For a time everything went well. But at the moment when the outsiders found that they could not sell their copper, the first rupture occurred. The Amalgamated interests allowed the outside producers to do as they pleased, and the result was that their competitors sold copper at reductions, varying from 1 to 3 per cent. below the agreed prices. Meanwhile the Amalgamated began to accumulate their copper, asserting that if they found their accumulations were too large, they would simply curtail production. That state of affairs has been going on for some time, and the recent statement that the Amalgamated now holds on hand about $135,000,000 pounds of copper is thought to be about correct.

"This stock, while it looks large, is, perhaps, not so important as outsiders seem to think, when the copper position in general is being considered. Formerly, consumers carried more or less stock on hand. But since prices have been upheld by the Amalgamated interests, consumers have let their stocks dwindle to almost nothing, thinking that a decline in price was imminent. Of late there has been a better demand from Europe, and it is evident that trade is picking up abroad. But within the last few days, when affairs became disturbed in this country, the London Metal Exchange followed us quickly, and the price of standard copper shares in London declined to £63—a lower price than has been reached before in three eyars.

"In the face of general trade conditions, with most dealers disposed to take a bearish view of the markets, the decline is not astonishing. Copper can certainly be purchased abroad much cheaper than here. There exists, however, abroad, not enough refining capacity to meet demands, and for that reason buyers have constantly to come to American markets to purchase high conductivity copper. On that account it is less difficult here to hold prices firm.

"Decline in the price of Amalgamated shares is, therefore, to some extent, independent of the commodity, and it can be safely said that if the price of copper is held firm, consumption will be compelled to pay the asking figure. The whole question, therefore, resolves itself into what policy the Amalgamated people conclude to pursue. Will they go on accumulating stock a little while longer, if consumption abroad does not increase, or will they reduce production and smash the whole market to pieces? This is a proposition that is very difficult for outsiders to speculate upon."

AT THE DROP OF THE FLAG.

Ottawa is to be congratulated.

It is a pity, however, that Their Royal Highnesses are not there any longer to see a first class lacrosse match.

It seems carrying club hatred a little too far, when it can only be satisfied at the cost of preventing Montrealers from seeing what ought to be the most interesting match of the season.

The United States yachtsmen have had a number of surprises in connection with this year's America's Cup races, the latest being the one in connection with the time allowance. They ought to be pretty well prepared against anything that may happen.

The Montreal Lacrosse Club have once more asserted their claim that they play lacrosse for fun only. The action of their representative last night can only be looked upon as extremely disinterested, when it is considered that it must have lost the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association two or three hundred dollars in the way of rental for their grounds.

H. R. H. the Duke of York may have been deceived into attending a second rate lacrosse match, thinking it was a first rate one, but judging from the following story such a thing is not likely to happen again.

After the lacrosse game in Ottawa, the Duke asked to have the ball he had faced as a souvenir. The ball was presented to him by one of the officials of the club. The Duke looked at it keenly and hefted it in his hand: "Is this the same ball I faced at the beginning of the game," he asked, with a twinkle in his eye. The official turned red and explained that the original ball was too much soiled, or something of that sort. "I would like to have the ball I faced," said the Duke. It then turned out that the original ball had been appropriated as a souvenir and a new ball substituted after the first half hour's play and one of the Capitals was sent to the grand stand on the run to get the coveted sphere which was obtained and presented apparently much to His Highness's satisfaction.

It is really wonderful how badly United States and even English papers are posted on Canadian sporting matters. In yachting affairs this is particularly evident. The London Daily Express calls our local yacht club "The Royal Canadian," the "Spirit of the Times," goes one better and says:

It is pleasant to note the prompt challenge for still another contest for the famous Seawanhaka Challenge Cup, this dating from the Bridgeport Yacht Club and equally promptly accepted by the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Montreal. The race will be sailed on Canadian waters the later part of July or early in August, 1902. The Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, more often referred to as the Royal Canadian Yacht Club has defended the Seawanhaka cup for years against both the United States and England.

On top of all this comes the London Daily Mail with: Canada has got a cup of her own, which is the centre-point of a most fierce and ardent struggle every year. It is an extremely handsome silver punch-bowl, worth £70, and one of the most important of all yachting prizes, for it brings together the most up-to-date and scientific of the smaller racing yachts. This bowl is called the Seawanhaka Cup.

The man who by any trick of description can convince people that our big Seawanhaka urn is a punchbowl deserves a medal indeed.

Like the outlook for the yacht races, the outlook for the games to-day beaween the British and the American college athletes is most interesting, not only because we take a sort of a personal interest in the Britishers, but because of its uncertainty. The trainer of the Yale team is the only one in authority, to our knowledge, who has ventured a prediction; and he predicts that the Yankee boys will win by one point.

In some instances, the results of the trials between the two American teams on Saturday were surprising, but it is to be assumed that the composite American team will be made up of the fittest representatives for each event.

This will be the fifth match between British and American athletes. The team that Yale sent across the water in 1894 was beaten by Oxford five and a half points to three and a half. In 1895 Cambridge, the winner of the English collegiate match, came over to meet Yale, and at the same time the London Athletic Club sent over the best champions available to meet a representative American team wearing the colours of the New York Athletic Club. Yale beat Cambridge satisfactorily, while the New York Athletic Club team men buried their opponents, winning every one of the 11 events on the programme.

Three years ago Harvard and Yale joined hands and met an Oxford-Cambridge combination in London, of which match this present one is the complement. The English students won by five events to four, but there seems little doubt two of the American boys, Burke of Harvard and Boardman of Yale, who had been counted upon as certain winners, lost their races because they were not acclimated.

BASEBALL

Match Called Off.

Through the failure of some of the players who had been picked to play against Montreal yesterday, in time, the game was called off. The Montreal players left for Malone, N. Y., this morning to play the local team this afternoon.

CRICKET

The Work of a Seasen.

The Victoria Cricket Club gained the sixth place in the league, with twelve points to their credit. They showed considerable improvement as the season went on, and hope to make a much better showing next year. Although not occupying a very high place in the table, they hold one or two of the season's records, viz.:

Made most in an innings—220 against Carmon.

Got opponents out for least runs—Canada Paint Company for 5.

In the latter match, Lidgate took six wickets for no runs, an extraordinary performance, and in the Carmon match, Mather scored 67 not out, the highest score made in any league match.

In all league matches played, the Victorias scored 685 runs against 677 made by their opponents. This was for eleven matches.

The following are the individual records:

The Duke Will Attend.

TORONTO, September 25.—Mr. J. E. Hall, secretary of the Canadian Cricket Association, has received a message from Major Maude that His Royal Highness the Duke of Cornwall and York will be pleased to be patron of the cricket match to be played on the Rosedale crease, between the English and Canadian elevens, on October 5 and 7.

Season Closed at Sherbrooke.

(Special to the Star.)

SHERBROOKE, September 25. — The final shoot for the Cabinet trophy at the Sherbrooke Gun Club traps, was won by N. G. Bray, who, also wins the trophy. The following shows the number of matches won by each contestant in the series: N. G. Bray, 6; C. G. Thompson, 5; T. M. Craig, 4; W. E. Loomis, 1; W. B Neil, 1; C. D. White, 1; J. G. Walton, 1. This practically ends the season at the Sherbrooke traps which has been one of the most interesting in the history of the club. The club is deprived of one of its most active members by the death of Mr. J. G Walton, which occurred last week. Mr. Walton was instrumental in the organization of the club and probably all around the best known and most enthusiastic trap shooters in the Townships.

The English 500 yard swimming amateur championship was decided at Swindon. There were three competitors only, the presence of J. A. Jarvis, the holder, frightening away the opposition. The result was as follows: J. A. Jarvis, Leicester, 1; D. Billington, Bacup, 2; H. Harrison, Swindon, 3. Won by ten yards; a moderate third. Time, 6 min. 35 sec. This beat Jarvis's own previous record, 6 min. 42 3-5 sec. made at Sunderland.

THE CUP BOATS ARE MEASURED.

NEW YORK, September 25.—Both the Columbia and Shamrock are ready for the greatest race that was ever sailed for the America's Cup.

The official measurements of the cup challenger Shamrock II., and the cup defender Columbia, were made public last night at the New York Yacht Club. The result was in the nature of a surprise, for it showed that the Shamrock, which is the larger boat so far as sail area and displacement are concerned, allows only 43 seconds to the Columbia over the thirty mile course on which the contests for the America's Cup are to be sailed. The measurements are:

COLUMBIA.

Length of lead water line, 89.77 feet; length from the after end of the main boom to the end of the point of measurement of the bowsprit, where the jibtopsail halyard block is fastener 182.87 feet.

The foreside of mast to the end of point of measurement or end of bowsprit as above, 73.86 feet.

Length of spinnaker boom, 73.30 feet.

Length of main gaff, 64.94 feet.

Length of topmast, 64.64 feet minus 1-5—51.71 feet.

Upper side of the main boom to the topsail halyard block, 134.74 feet.

The sailing length as per rule—102.35 feet.

SHAMROCK II.

Length of lead water line—89.25 feet.

Length from the after end of the main boom to the end of the point of measurement or the end of the bowsprit where the jibtopsail halyard block is fastened—184.03 feet.

Length of spinnaker boom—78.28 feet.

Length of main gaff—66.17 feet.

Sailing length as per rule—103.79 feet.

Both boats were measured with 52 men on board.

The difference in the sailing length of the two boats is 1435 feet. This computed on the time allowance of the New York Yacht Club, gives the Columbia an allowance of 43 seconds in a 30-mile race.

NEW YORK, September 25.—Yachting folks of the metropolis gathered in tremendous force around the Erie basin yesterday, and there was a good reason for gathering. The Cup challenger, Shamrock, and old defender, Columbia, were brought together in one dock, where an admiring throng could see both at once. Both were measured, and as the result it was announced that Shamrock must allow Columbia 44.7 seconds over a thirty-mile course, and finally, after measuring was done and Columbia had left the dock for Sandy Hook and everybody was looking to see the Irish falcon go in chase of her, the gate of the dock was closed. Then the Shamrock was swung back into place above the keel blocks, and stanchions were adjusted and the water was pumped out of the dock once more.

Commodore E. D. Morgan, Commodore S. Nicholson Kane, Butler D. Duncan, Wilhe Jameson, George Watson, Chester Griswold and Herbert C. Leeds were on the Columbia while she was measured. The count showed that the Columbia would carry fifty-two men and no women for mascot in the race. From the Columbia, Hislop went to the Shamrock and measured her water line. Lipton, Charles Russell, Ratsey, Watson, Jameson and Duncan were on board, and with them were Dr. Mackay and Private Secretary Westward, to represent Ure and Hilyard, who will sail in the races. The water line on the Shamrock was marked with red. Both yachts will have a spin this morning. When the approximate results of the measurement of Columbia and Shamrock were told to Lipton he could scarcely conceal his joy.

LIPTON MORE CONFIDENT.

"We thought," he said, "that Shamrock would have to concede more time. All hands now believe our chances are getting better all the time for lifting the cup. Watson has shown his talent in this. I do not pretend to enter into mathematics of the sport, but I will say that the result of the calculations have been very gratifying. All the crew of the Shamrock now believe our victory is certain. Of course, I hope we shall win, but I am not so foolhardy as to ignore the magnificent capabilities of our next door neighbour," pointing to Columbia at the other end of the dock. Local sporting men complain of the dearth of speculative enthusiasm in regard to the races, and consequently betting is not vigourous. The fact that Columbia instead of the Constitution is to be the American defender has led some scepties to believe the cup is in danger of being "lifted," and what wagers have thus far been chronicled on Columbia have been ascribed as having been made on patriotic lines. A visit to prominent uptown hotels last night revealed the fact that very few genuine wagers have been made. Many big betters are inclined to remain under cover. The excuse is they want to wait until the first race is finished before they make up their minds how to invest their money. George Considine is one of the many who is of the opinion that the American boat is a false favourite. He thinks the price should not be better than even money. Considine has already bet $1,200 to $2,000 on Shamrock. He adds if any one will take even money against the chances of the English craft he will hedge and back Columbia for $2,000. Eddie Burke, Joe Vendig, Ike Thompson, Max Hirsch, Leo Sayer and other bookmakers, according to Considine, entertain the same opinion. John Dooner bet $500 even on the Columbia at Hotel Metropole and says he is ready to take two more wagers of $1,000 at the same price. Charlie Mahoney has received a commission of $2,000 to place on the American boat., Mahoney declares he will not give better than even money.

SOME ENGLISH MONEY.

Frank Bangs has $8,000 to speculate on the Shamrock. The money belongs to a party of English sportsmen. Bangs says he will invest the whole or part of the money at 3 to 5. He does not think he will have much trouble in placing the money at these figures. Jim Wakely is an admirer of Columbia and thinks the American vessel will win. Wakely is ready to bet $2,000 at 5 to 4 on any race of the series and 5 to 3 on the ultimate result. On the Wall street curb market yesterday the offer was made to best $500 to $400 that Columbia wins.

At an early hour last evening the British steam yacht Gundreda, owned by James Ross, of Montreal, arrived and anchored off Bay Ridge. The Gundreda came from Halifax to see the International races.

The excursion fleet to follow the yachts will be the largest and finest that ever went down the bay and all the higher priced boats will carry passengers to only about one-third of their licensed capacity, so that all may have a chance to see.

THE BETTING IN LONDON.

LONDON, September 25.—The betting in London shows how slim are regarded the chances of the Shamrock II for "lifting" the America's cup. There is such difficulty to find takers that after 50 to 40 had been twice laid, the Columbia's admirers were obliged to raise the odds to 110 to 80. Even this did not attract the betting men. The general public is apathetic, the long, optimistic special despatches from New York fail to enthuse or convince. The newspapers here are trying to awaken interest in the race by more or less colourable imitations of American newspaper methods, in announcing the progress of the cup races by electrical devices and firework signals, one paper having arranged to run a couple of launches, with green and red lights respectively on the Thames.

CYCLING

Won Long Distance Race.

NEW YORK, September 25. — The fifteen mile professional lap race on the indoor bicycle track at Madison Square Garden was the principal event on the programme, and eighteen men started in it. In the first five miles half of these dropped out. Lester Wilson's wheel slipped as he was rounding the Madison avenue turn in the lead on the fifth lap of the final mile, and rider and wheel slipped down the embankment.

Kramer won the race by a length from Freeman, of Portland, Ore. Wilson's time, 36.59 4-5.

In the amateur unlimited pursuit race, the team honours went to the New York team, but individual honours for plucky riding were won by W. C. Dobbins, of East Orange, N.J.

The one mile professional handicap was won by E. C. Hausman, of New Haven, Ct., who had an allowance of 80 yards. Time, 1.54.

An Unsettled Race.

BOSTON, September 25. — Elkes, Walthour, Michael and McFarland appeared in a five mile single paced race, the winner to take three heats at the Charles River Park. Elkes and Walthour each won two heats, and as Michael was obliged to leave for New York, and McFarland did not appear in the third heat, Walthour and Elkes will ride off the tie Friday evening. Time, 8.08, 8.02, 8.10.03, 8.13.03.

A New World's Record.

LONDON, September 25. — At the Crystal Palace yesterday, Arthur A. Chase cut the world's cycling record, covering 50 miles in 77 minutes 44 seconds. At the end of the sixth mile he was 16 2-5 seconds inside the record, and from that point he put all records in the shade.

Lipton Says "No Leak."

NEW YORK, September 25. — Sir Thos. Lipton says: The Shamrock is in splendid shape. She does not leak at all. That story is all wrong. If we should lose the race I can say that she was in the most perfect condition that money could make her.

VETERANS IN THE FIELD OF CANADIAN SPORTS

DR. E. W. SPRAGGE.

One of the best all round cricketers Toronto ever produced is Edward W. Spragge, M. D., a son of the late Chancellor T. G. Spragge, a brother of Rev. Canon Spragge, of Cobourg. He was born in Toronto, September 5th, 1843, and after studying at Upper Canada College and Trinity University, finished his education in England. At Upper Canada College he was famous as bowler, batsman, and fielder, playing in every prominent match after he joined the college club. Later he continued an enthusiastic cricketer during his university and professional career. He plays cricket but little now, having changed his allegiance to lawn tennis. Besides excelling as a player, Mr. Spragge has made a popular reputation for kindly, considerate and sportsmanlike treatment of opponents.

Canadian Dies in South Africa.

Skirving was a son of the late Davis Skirving, formerly on the staff of the Bank of British North America here and was for several years a member of the North-West Mounted Police. On the formation of the Strathcona's Horse Skirving joined that corps and served throughout its South African campaign. When the regiment returned to Canada Skirving remained in England, receiving a commission in the Yeomanry and returned to Africa. He was wounded in action on September 5, and died on the 8th.

EVERYTHING IS READY FOR UNIVERSITY GAMES.

Room for Ten Thousand to See Oxford and Cambridge Against Yale and Harvard.

NEW YORK, September 25.—Everything is in readiness at Berkeley Oval for the International University Athletic Games this afternoon. The seating capacity of the Oval is 10,000, and Mr. E. J. Wendell, the chairman of the Yale-Harvard joint committee, believes there will be an overflow attendance.

Both teams feel confident of a victory. The Englishmen seem to have beyond a doubt the distance events, while the American lads are reasonably certain to carry away the broad and high jumps, hammer-throwing and hurdle race. This would leave as the uncertainties the one hundred and the quarter.

An expert in matters athletics commenting upon the chances of both teams, gave it as his idea that the Yale-Harvard boys would be one, two in the hundred; one, two in the quarter; one, two in the hurdle; one, two in the high jump, and first in the broad jump and hammer throwing, with the Englishmen holding down all the places in the remaining three events.

SEASON'S FIRST FOOTBALL.

A Match Between Britannias and McGill.

The first senior football match of the season will take place on Saturday afternoon at the Baseball Grounds, between the Britannias and McGill, if the college boys can get a sufficient number of players. They will know to-night definitely whether they will be able to play or not. The Britannias are anxious for the match as it will give some of the younger players some experience which is not obtainable in practice. The players are in fine condition, and everybody is working hard for a position on one of the three teams. How they will be made up will be determined to-morrow night, when the three teams are picked for Saturday's matches.

MAGOG RESIDENT COMMITS SUICIDE.

Mr. Richard Copp Took Paris Green Last Night and Died at 3 a. m.—He Had the Blues.

(Special to the Star.)

MAGOG, Ont., September 25.—Mr. Richard Copp, one of Magog's old residents, committed suicide last night. He took a dose of paris green and died about three o'clock this morning. Medical aid was summoned, but without avail. He stated that his reason for his act was that he was feeling blue. An inquest will be held to-day.

PRINCIPAL GRANT.

His Doctors Report That Though He is Still Weak He is Gradually Improving.

(Special to the Star.)

KINGSTON, September 25.—Last night between six and eight o'clock, there were numerous enquiries as to Principal Grant's condition, as it was rumoured he had a relapse. He had taken a chill, but one which did not have any serious results.

At 8 o'clock this morning this bulletin was furnished by the General Hospital authorities: "Principal Grant, though still weak, is improving; he passed a very good night."

11 a.m.—"Principal Grant rested well until midnight, the kidneys acting well, fresh complications have arisen in the functions of the liver which cause jaundice of the skin."

STRIKE AT KINGSTON.

Two Hundred Employes of the Locomotive Works Went Out This Morning.

(Special to the Star.)

KINGSTON, September 25.—Two hundred men in the machine shop of the Locomotive works went on strike to-day, because an employe, named Gilmour, was discharged for refusing to return to work last night when so ordered. When asked, Managing Director C. Bermingham said that the works would close before the management would submit to union dictation.

Canada's Financial Position.

(Special to the Star.)

OTTAWA, September 25.—The revised figures showing Canada's financial position for the fiscal year ended on June 30, last, have been made public. The total ordinary revenue amounted to $52,551,722, while the expenditure under the same head was $43,805,751. This makes the surplus about $600,000 less than the Finance Minister figured it would be.

The capital expenditure upon railway subsidies, the South African contingent, etc., amounted to $11,083,938. Mr. Fielding's estimate was $10,700,000, and, deducting from this the surplus and sinking fund, he looked for an increase of about $1,800,000. The increase, as it turns out, will be $2,849,000. For the previous fiscal year the financial statement was as follows:

Ordinary revenue $51,029,999
Expenditure 42,975,279
Surplus..	$8,054,710
Capital expenditure $9,742,187
Decrease of debt 779,639

The revenue for the first two months of the present fiscal year was $8,817,062, or $600,000 ahead of July and August in the previous year. The expenditure was $5,362,982, as against $4,173,471 for the first two months of 1900.

A Mystery at Matane.

(Special to the Star.)

QUEBEC, September 25.—The party who has disappeared mysteriously from Matane and who is supposed to have been the victim of foul play, is Dougal McMillan. No trace of him has yet been found, though a detective is working on the case. There is considerable excitement over the matter in the locality and a peculiar feature of the case is the fact that the Coroner telegraphed the Attorney-General asking if he should hold an inquest. He was, of course, told that no inquest could be held until a dead body was produced.

Czolgosz's Relatives See Him.

BUFFALO, September 25.—Paul, Waldeck and Victoria Czolgosz, father, brother and sister of Leon F. Czolgosz, the convicted assassin of President McKinley, were granted an interview with the prisoner in the Erie County Gaol at noon. Assistant District Attorney Frederick Haller and Assistant Superintendent of Police P. V. Cusack, were present, under instructions of District Attorney Penney, throughout the interview.

No other person will be allowed to see the prisoner until after the sentence of death is imposed to-morrow afternoon.

The clerks were summoned to the Minister's room where he briefly addressed them. He spoke of the loyalty shown him by the employes and especially thanked Major Gourdeau, Deputy Minister; Mr. Prince, Fishery Commissioner, and Lieut.-Col. Anderson, the Chief Engineer, for their services.

THE TRIAL OF GERALD SIFTON

YOUNG HERBERT UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION.

He is Closely Pressed as to His Share in the Tragedy — He Hit the Old Man "a Middling Good Blow" — He Frequently Contradicts Himself.

(See also page twelve.)

(Special to the Star.)

LONDON, Ont., September 25.—The second day's session of the Sifton murder trial opened sharply at 9.30 a.m., the time set at yesterday's adjournment. Walter Herbert was again placed on the stand and Mr. E. F. B. Johnston continued his cross-examination.

The startling evidence of yesterday created a profound sensation throughout the city and country, and when the doors of the court room were thrown open, crowds of excited people, among whom were many women, rushed in and filled the comparatively small room uncomfortably.

In reply to questions as to whether he understood he was to receive money for being a false witness of the "accidental" death of Joseph Sifton, Herbert gave evasive replies, and it was only under much pressure that he finally acknowledged that such was the case.

Herbert said he was standing beside the trap door in the barn with an axe in his hand when the elder Sifton shoved his head through.

Asked if he struck Joseph Sifton with the axe with the intention of killing him, witness said he did as Gerald told him to do so, because he did not know what would be done to himself if he didn't do so.

"I hit him to save myself," said Herbert.

He gave the axe a swing of about three feet, holding the axe head about one and a half feet above the ground.

"You were perfectly cool, calm and collected?" asked counsel.

"I knew what I was doing."

"You hit him a hard blow to make him unconscious, and so prevent him recognizing you?"

"I struck him a middling good blow," said Herbert.

Joseph Sifton was leaning towards the south west corner of the opening, when Gerald came and picked up the axe which was lying on the east side of the hole, pulled his father over to the north side of the hole and struck him on the head. All the blows were hard and evidently intended to kill; and at the last blow Joseph Sifton went down through the trap door. Witness said the force used would be that of a man splitting wood. Herbert said he told his story to the crown officers the night before his arrest, because his conscience troubled him. Later, he gave as his reason the fear that Gerald intended to lay all the blame on him.

In the hands of Mr. Johnston, the young man frequently contradicted himself and his evidence is now looked upon as extremely unreliable.

SCHLEY INQUIRY RESUMES.

Attorney-General Rayner is Now Leading Counsel for the Admiral.

WASHINGTON, September 25.—When the Schley court of enquiry convened at the Navy Yard at 11 o'clock to-day, the wall back of the court was adorned to-day with a chart on a large scale showing the ground site of the battle off Santiago on July 3. The southern coast of Cuba, in the vicinity of Santiago, was plainly marked, and the points at which the Spanish ships had gone to the bottom or to the shore were all indicated in plain lettering. There were also a number of transparent charts intended to illustrate various phases of the Santiago campaign. All these were on a large scale.

The first witness called to-day was A. B Claxton, the machinist, on board the Texas, who had begun his testimony when the sittings of the court were so abruptly terminated yesterday morning by the death of Judge Wilson.

Admiral Schley to-day stated that, since the death of Judge Wilson, Attorney-General Isidor Rayner would be leading counsel in his case, and that he would be assisted by Capt. James Parker, of New Jersey, and by Mr. M. A. Teague, of Baltimore, as an expert assistant.

A Fire at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Ont., September 25.—A fire in the establishment of Chadwick Bros., brass manufacturers, King street east, at 1.30 this morning, caused damage to the extent of between $15,000 and $20,000 before being extinguished. The fire started in the pattern and moulding shops, located in the fourth story, and spread to the buffing and store rooms on the third story. Both these floors were gutted by fire and water, and the two lower stories were also badly damaged. Insurance, $15,000.

JUST A COMMON COLD.

Unpleasant of course, but consider how many colds you have had within a short time, and you will find each attack is harder to dislodge than the last. That's the way Catarrh begins, and very often Catarrh is consumption's first bow to a future victim. You should have Catarrhozone on hand: in a few minutes the cold would be relieved, and in a few hours it would be entirely gone. Besides being the best remedy for Catarrh, Bronchitis and colds, Catarrhozone is the most pleasant and convenient to use. You inhale its balsamic vapour, which is carried by the air breathed, into the throat, lungs and nasal passages, and it quickly cures. Druggists sell Catarrhozone in two sizes, 25 cents and one dollar. Try it. Druggists, or N. C. Polson and Co., Kingston, Ont. 226 1

TIE MATCH TO BE PLAYED IN OTTAWA

MONTREAL CLUBS VOTE AGAINST OWN CITY.

Cornwalls Now Have All They Asked for and Montrealers Will Have to Travel if They Intend to See the Real Championship Match of the Senior Lacrosse League.

There was a meeting of the Senior Lacrosse League at the St. Lawrence Hall last night, at which it was decided to play the Cornwall-Shamrock tie match in Ottawa.

The voting delegates were:

Shamrock—H. McLaughlin.
Capital—W. Foran.
Cornwall—W. Fitzgibbon.
Toronto—C. Nelson.
National—J. Lamarche.
Montreal—William Bramley.

President Pittaway took the chair and the actual business began when it was moved by Mr. Fitzgibbon, that the president be allowed a casting vote, seconded by Mr. Bramley. As this would practically give the Capitals two votes, it was objected to by Messrs. McLaughlin and Lamarche and the chairman ruled the motion out of order.

Mr. Nelson proposed that the match be played on the Rosedale grounds. As he had no seconder, the motion was withdrawn.

Mr. Fitzgibbon said that Cornwall wanted to play in Ottawa first; otherwise, Toronto. Money was no object to Cornwall. They wanted the championship.

Mr. McLaughlin wanted to play on either the National or Montreal grounds, with preference for the latter.

Mr. Lamarche moved the match be played on the National grounds, seconded by Mr. McLaughlin.

In amendment, Mr. Foran moved, seconded by Mr. Fitzgibbon, that the match be played in Ottawa. The amendment was put first, but it was declared lost. The main motion was also lost. Then Mr. McLaughlin moved to play on Montreal grounds, but he found no seconder.

It was next moved by Mr. McLaughlin that the match be played in Toronto, seconded by Mr. Nelson.

"We are willing to play in Toronto," said Mr. Fitzgibbon, and everybody thought it was all over, until a discussion arose as to the Island grounds or Rosedale. Then Mr. Fitzgibbon again moved his amendment to play in Ottawa, which had already been declared lost, and which was now carried by four to two.

The vote stood, when it was gathered together. To play in Ottawa—National, Montreal, Capital, Cornwall.

Against:—Shamrock, Toronto.

FOOTBALL

SHAMROCKS WANT POSTPONEMENT

HAVEN'T PLAYERS ENOUGH FOR SATURDAY.

If They Default They Will be Thrown Out of Both the Intermediate and Junior Series — An Interesting Chalk Talk to Montreal Players by Mr. Powter.

Whether the Shamrock will be a factor in the race for the championships of the intermediate and junior football series of the Quebec Rugby Union or not depends on their success in obtaining the Westmount and Point St. Charles teams to postpone until some future date the games scheduled for the coming Saturday. If the postponement cannot be arranged they will probably default and will therefore be thrown out of both series.

They are endeavouring to arrange the postponement of both matches, but it would not appear that they will be successful, unless they come to some agreement to play on some other day than a Saturday for, as the schedule stands, in both series there is not an open Saturday on which they could play.

The trouble, it would seem, is occasioned by the extension of the lacrosse season and the inability of the Shamrocks to get enough players together to play. A great many of the men whom they have been depending on are still in active training for the final lacrosse match with Cornwall for the championship, and this is the reason which has been set up in asking for the postponement of the matches.

The rule of the union regarding defaults reads as follows:

"Any team intending to default must send to the secretary of the opposing club and to the secretary of the union, at least four days' clear notice exclusive of the day on which the match was to have been played. Any team failing to send such notice shall be subject to a penalty of $15, which shall go to the club to which it defaulted, through the secretary of the union, within two weeks of the date arranged for the match. Any team making default shall be ruled out of the series and their record of matches nullified."

Chalk Talk at the Gym.

There was a good attendance of playing as well as others of the Montreal Football Club at the gymnasium last night, to listen to what Mr. Powter the coach had to explain to them about the game. The chair was taken by Mr. Herbert Molson, and for a few minutes the time was taken up in explaining certain rules which did not seem plain to some of the members. Mr. Powter then took the floor and for over half an hour talked to the players about what they should and should not do. Sleep was the one great necessity for the success of the team. Smoking was bad for them, especially the deadly cigarette. A few words about their diet followed and then Mr. Powter took up the subject of the style of play which he was introducing, the benefit of signals, etc. He took the back division, the quarter, the scrimmage and the wings one after the other, and pointed out faults which had to be overcome. Most of his points were illustrated on the black board.

First of the Season.

The first Rugby football game of the season was played before a good crowd on Monday afternoon, on the M. A. A. A. grounds, which resulted in a win for the Phoenix-Northern by a score of 2 to 0. It will be some time before the members of the above teams take part in another game, as it was rough, fast and close, from start to the finish, Phoenix-Northern securing the victory by forcing the Royals to "rouge" twice on Suckling's long punts within the last five minutes of playing time. Suckling and Buchanan for the Phoenix Northern, and Christmas and Russell for the Royals did the best work of the day. The following are the two teams:

Phoenix Northern — Massey, Moberley, Suckling, Paterson, Butterworth, Buchanan, Lawrence, Watson, Gilmour, Stewart, Tyre, Budden, Virtue and McMahon.

Royals—Pickering, Christmas, Wonham, Russell, Cleary, Allen, Whimbey, Mudge, Adams, Walsh, Alloway, Hoerner, Galt, Bowie and Shaw.

The Strathcona Team.

The team to represent the Strathconas in their last match of the League will be chosen from the following: J. Butler, J. Brown, S. Shoemaker, J. Duffy, E. Gillard, W. Messer, R. Coull, C. Moore, J. McClure, Anderson, T. Douglas, Campbell, E. Nettleship, G. Porter, A. Stewart. All players are requested to be on the ground at 2.30 p. m. sharp.

Presented With a Medal.

At a meeting of the Strathcona Club, on Saturday night, presided over by Mr. Chas. Longpre, the president, Mr. Denis Maher was presented with a gold medal and an illuminated address, for services rendered the club.

Punts.

Cliff. Jack is expected to be out on Friday morning.

Barry Watson was out on the track this a.m., getting in good condition.

Kingston, Celdutt and McLean, new men, are turning out to be good material for Montreal.

Practice Thursday morning for all men eligible for Montreal 2nd and third XV. Senior men practice Friday morning as usual.

The Montreal junior XV. are preparing to take a strong team to Quebec on Saturday, the Intermediates play the "Brits" on Montreal grounds.

Wotherspoon was out working hard with the Montreal third XV. this morning; it is a good sight to see the officers taking an interest in the teams, and a good example to the men, some of whom can improve in this respect.

THE TURF

HUNT RACES AT TORONTO.

Surprises on Some of the Other Tracks.

TORONTO, September 25.—The third day's racing at the Hunt Club's meeting was favoured with splendid weather and a big gathering of fashionable people. The betting ring again suffered heavily, particularly by the popular win of Beau Ideal, owned by Mr. Price, of Montreal, in the D'Alton McCarthy memorial handicap. Beau Ideal quite outclassed his company and, coming away last, won easily by a couple of lengths.

The fields were again very large, few entries having been scratched.

First race, 6 furlongs, purse, $300, selling—Lady Kent, 99, A. Jones, 30 to 1, won; Midnight, Chimes, 109, W. Woods, 12 to 1, second; Pharoah, 106, May, 2 to 1, third. Time, 1.15¾. Antagone, Dondie, Belle, Lofter, Prince Esther, Juanita M., Cheval D'or, Farsight, Johnny Brown, Divertisement, Ry George, Our Lizzie and Lelia Barr also ran.

Second race, the Autumn handicap, purse, $700, 6 furlongs—Flint Lock, 112, Hayden, 6 to 5, won; Red Robe, 110, May, 5 to 1, second; Plum Tart, 102, Alarine, 12 to 1, third. Time, 1.17. East Street, Lemuel, Frank McKee, Wire In, Lucrusta, and Strathcona Belle also ran.

In a false break Red Robe fell and ran away, but was remounted.

Third race, the D'Alton McCarthy memorial plate and purse of $400, 1¼ miles—Beau Ideal, 109, Mr. Strathy, 7 to 5, won; Barley Sugar, 102, Mr. Hendrie, 11 to 5, second; Wenlock, 119, Mr. Marshall, 6 to 1, third. Time, 2.50¾. Galahad, Storm, Daryl and Abingdon also ran.

Fourth race, open handicap steeplechase, purse, $300, about 1¾ miles—Arquebus, 162, Ray, 8 to 5, won; Conover, 148, Mr. Harris, 8 to 1, second; Snowstorm, 140, Gallagher, 13 to 5, third. Time, 3.33. Geo. W. Jenkins, Harry Corbett, Lord Farondale and Terry Ranger also ran. Interference, Gordon M. and Venetian fell.

Fifth race, 1 mile, purse $300, penalties and allowances—Handicapper, 108, Boland, 6 to 5, won; Mynheer, 103, Redfern, 8 to 1, second; Tenderloin, 103, Alarie, 20 to 1, third. Time, 1.44¾. Free Lance, Tip Gallant, Woodtrice, Bellcourt, Arganauta and Tenario also ran.

Sixth race, selling, 5 furlongs, purse $300—Sir Louis, 105, L. Daly, 8 to 1, won; Caller Herrin, 102, May, 10 to 1, second; Natalie H., 102, Pirrman, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1.05. Woodmansten, Sir Clifford, Prancer, Dubious, Miss Graft, De Milson, Transfer, Elizabeth Jane and The Wish also ran.

Surprises at Gravesend.

NEW YORK, September 25.—Favourites went down in startling succession at Gravesend. The sport began with an upset, when Jim McGibbon won the King's Highway Hurdle in clever style from Miss Mitchell and Matt Simpson, Salesman, the favourite, was handicapped by a bad ride, and finished in the ruck. Lord Quex headed the favourite, Tribe's Hill, in the second race in the last jump, after the latter had made all the running. Roxanne, favourite in the third, came to grief as the flag fell. She stumbled and threw her jockey, and the field went on without her. Lucky Star winning, ridden out, from Alpen.

Femeseole was the disappointing favourite in the fourth race, the Albemarle Stakes. She was off badly to a very poor start, and never had a chance. Prophetic was second most of the way, and won, ridden out from Lady Sterling. Leichen was left at the post. Old Kinniklinnic was a bad favourite in the fifth, and finished in the ruck, and Wealth, at odds on, completed the route in the last race, third being the best she could do. Illum was played for a killing in this race by Pittsburg Phil and his followers, and won cleverly from Irene Lindsay. She was played from 15 to 1 to 7 and 6 to 1.

First race, King's Highway Hurdle Handicap, 1 1-4 miles—Jim McGibbon, 134, Barry, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1, won; Miss Mitchell, 134, Mara, 5 to 1 and 2 to 1, 2; Matt Simpson, 160, Hueston, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, 3. Time, 2.19.

Second race, about 6 furlongs—Lord Quex, 102, O'Connor, 7 to 2 and 6 to 5, won; Tribe's Hill, 109, Wonderly, 13 to 5 and even, 2; Port Royal, 117, Spencer, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, 3. Time, 1.10 3-5. Otis, Highlander, Josepha, Flora Pomona, Cryptogram and Carroll D. also ran.

Third race, 1 1-16 miles, selling—Lucky Star, 105, Burns, 14 to 1 and 4 to 1, won; Alpen, 106, Cochran, 5 to 1 and 2 to 1, 2; Dalonda, 105, Shaw, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, 3. Time, 1.48 1-5. Erigat of the Garter, Animosity, Maximo Gomez, Vesuvia, Himself, Harry McGoun, Disturber and Roxanne also ran.

Throw rider.

Fourth race, Albemarle Stakes, 5 furlongs—Prophetic, 101, Shaw, 4 to 1 and 7 to 5, won; Lady Sterling, 98, Wonderly, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, 2; Girl, 94, J. Martin, 7 to 1 and 5 to 2, 3. Time, 1.01. Wild Bess, Femesole, Pearlfinder, Destitute, Octopoon, Ascension, Leischen, Sedition and Lady Godiva also ran.

Fifth race, 1 mile and 70 yards—Louisville, 103, Wonderly, 10 to 1 and 4 to 1, won; Redpath, 110, Burns, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, 2; Lombre, 85, Michaels, 15 to 1 and 5 to 1, 3. Time, 1.44 4-5. Gunfire, The Amazon, Toddy, Barbara Freithchie, Janice, Kianklinnic and Glengar also ran.

Sixth race, 6 furlongs — Illum, 109, J. Woods, 7 to 1 and 2 to 1, won; Irene Lindsay, 109, Beauchamp, 30 to 1 and 8 to 1, 2; Wealth, 109, Cochran, 4 to 5, 3. Time, 1.19 3-5. Elegy, Scotch Bush, Lamp o' Lee, Arak, Lady Georgiana and Welsh Girl also ran.

On Her Feet

All day long and racking with pain from her head to her heels. That is what many a self-supporting girl must experience. On those days each month, when in other circumstances she would go to bed, she must still be at the desk or counter and struggle through the day as best she may.

Backache, headache, and other pains caused by womanly diseases are perfectly cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the cause of these pains. It establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

PAIN ALL GONE.

"I have taken your medicine with the greatest satisfaction," writes Mrs. George Riehl, of Lockport Station, Westmoreland Co., Penna. "Your 'Favorite Prescription' has cured me of uterine trouble that I suffered from for fifteen years, and painful monthly troubles. I can honestly say I can work a whole day and not get tired, and before taking Dr. Pierce's Medicines I always felt tired. My pain is all gone and I feel like a new person. I suffered with headache all the time, but have no headache now since taking your medicine. I have been cured of troubles that I suffered from for fifteen years, and the best doctor in the state could not cure me."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

PRESIDENT POLK'S NIECE SAYS:

"PE-RU-NA Is Woman's Friend"

MRS. MINNIE LEE COLLINS

MINNIE LEE COLLINS, OF TENNESSEE.

Mrs. Minnie Lee Collins, Granddniece of the late President James K. Polk, writes from 912 High street, Nashville, Tenn.:

"For several years I experienced a severe attack of female trouble. The best physicians prescribed for me, but without avail. Two years ago I began to take Peruna at the advice of a friend. I noticed a perceptible improvement at once; after taking several bottles I was cured. I hold Peruna in high esteem, and am always ready to say a good word for it."—MINNIE LEE COLLINS.

Mrs. L. A. Brily, Michelsville, Tenn., writes:

"My health is very good. I weigh 147 pounds and when I began taking Peruna I only weighed 129 pounds. I can and do recommend it to all as the best medicine in the world, knowing, as I do, the great and wonderful benefit that it did me. My friends speak of how well I am looking. A thousand thanks to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful Peruna."—Mrs. L. A. Brily.

Miss Ellen Royer, Louisville, Ohio, in speaking of the national catarrh remedy, Peruna, says:

"I am now enjoying good health. My bowels are regular and I have a good, healthy complexion. I cannot thank you enough for your good advice, and the books you have sent me. Peruna has done me more good than any medicine I ever took in my life for catarrh of the stomach and nervous dyspepsia. I can eat anything I desire and work. I recommend Peruna to every one, and hope it will do them as much good as it has me."—Ellen Royer.

Miss Phoebe Smith, Sweet Springs, Mo., in a recent letter, says:

"I have not had a sick spell since last April. I am a great deal better of leucorrhoea. I have gained 28 pounds in flesh, and feel as well as I ever did. I took only four bottles of Peruna. I am truly thankful that I can live without being sick half of the time. I never fail to speak a good word for Peruna."—Phoebe J. Smith.

Mrs. Bertha Mohr, 123 Gilbert street, Iowa City, writes:

"I was very nervous and weak, had frontal headaches and catarrh of the stomach, bowels and intestines (systemic catarrh). I had female weakness very bad. I cannot express my thanks for the wonderful benefit obtained through Dr. Hartman's medicine, Peruna. I could not work, my limbs trembled so. I am restored and can do my own work. I am certain that who ever tries Peruna will be satisfied with it."—Mrs. Bertha Mohr.

Mrs. A. E. Stouffer, Sabetha, Kansas, writes in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman:

"Peruna is the best medicine for catarrh of any organ. I was troubled with headache, palpitation of the heart, pain in the side, and suffered very much every month. If I did any hard work I would have cramps. I was treated for inflammation of the right ovary, but I was not cured. I also had catarrh of the head, and offensive breath and had to spit a great deal. After I had taken about half a bottle of Peruna I could do work which I had not been able to do in three years. My friends say they never saw such a change in a woman. I work hard every day now and it doesn't seem to hurt me, either. Peruna did it all. I talk to every one about Peruna. I can not say too much for it.

When I wrote you I had given up all hope of ever being strong again. Peruna has given me health and strength that no doctor ever did for me. Peruna is the best medicine that was ever made for women.

My husband says it is the cheapest doctor he can get."—Mrs. A. E. Stouffer.

This is the same old story told by a thousand women in a thousand different ways. Female trouble; doctors fail to cure; Peruna, as a last resort, a happy relief from a dreary servitude to aches, pains and a complication of physical anguish that can never be described.

These women all tell the same story. Pains all gone. Dragging sensations gone. Quivers and throbbings and tremblings and dizziness and nausea and the irregularities and painful periods all gone. In their place has come vigour and vivacity, health and hope, peace and patience, grace and gratitude.

Peruna is a wonder-worker in female diseases and yet the explanation of it is a simple. Catarrh is the cause of these troubles. Peruna cures the catarrh. The cause being removed the symptoms disappear.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Peruna can be obtained for $1.00 a bottle at all first-class drug stores in Canada.

"The Ills of Life," which can be secured at all up-to-date drug stores, and upon request is sent free to all, gives a short description of all catarrhal diseases. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O., U.S.A. 1 226

MONSOON

Thanks, dear Mr. Grundy, for your advice about the 40c MONSOON CEYLON TEA. I have tried it, and must say it is most delicious. My husband now says that breakfast is something to look forward to. 226snty1

WHY IT CURES MEN

Why the Frightful Tension of Stricture is Dissolved Like Snow Beneath the Sun IN FIFTEEN DAYS.

Why Weak Men are Restored by the Magic St. James Treatment Applied Locally and Directly to the Affected Parts.

We answer the questions briefly. If you cut an artery in your arm you do not take internal medicine to stop the flow of blood, YOU USE LOCAL APPLICATIONS.

Similarly when the urethral ducts become weakened and relaxed, it is ridiculous to take internal treatment, which must pass through the stomach and urine before it reaches the seat of disease. The seminal ducts project into the urethral canal through the Prostate Gland, and are easily reached by LOCAL TREATMENT.

Dr. Carter's "Gran-Solvent" soluble Bougies will dissolve, digest and for ever remove in 15 days, without pain, injury or inconvenience. The bougies are inserted at night and act while you sleep. "Gran-Solvent" removes every symptom of stricture, leaving the canal as healthy as when nature formed it. No BRUTAL CUTTING OR DILATING. NO INJECTIONS TO IRRITATE THE MEMBRANE.

NO INTERNAL DRUGGING TO RUIN THE STOMACH. The St. James treatment is local, direct and positive.

The St. James treatment is prepared in the form of cravons, very narrow, smooth, flexible and wholly soluble, which are inserted into the water passage at night, where they dissolve and deposit the medication in its full strength upon the Prostate Gland, contracting and strengthening the ducts and FOR EVER STOPPING DRAINS AND EMISSIONS, and curing while the patient sleeps.

Varicocele.

Varicocele is an accumulation of sluggish blood in the veins of the scrotum, due solely to imperfect circulation, and has its origin in a diseased and torpid Prostate Gland. Operations in this disease are only temporary, and no mechanical device yet discovered has cured a single case. Gran-Solvent tones the Prostate and restores healthy circulation. Varicocele disappears and the sluggish accumulation is replaced by pure, healthy red blood.

Thousands of men strictured, weak, wasting and despondent were cured and restored by the St. James method last year. A vast army of men in whom the light of life has penetrated the fearful nightmare of stricture and seminal decay.

Space will not permit a complete description of the incomparable St. James Treatment in urethral diseases. Every sufferer from Stricture and its offspring, Prostatitis and Seminal Weakness, should write to the St. James Association, 77 St. James Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, for their wonderful illustrated work showing the parts of the human system involved in urethral ailments, which they will send securely wrapped in plain package, prepaid.

UNSCRUPULOUS WOMAN.

BY MRS. BAGOT HARTE.

"But have you travelled the whole way quite by yourself?"

"Yes. My father"—here Marie's voice trembled slightly—"said that he wished me to do so."

"For one so young and unaccustomed to travel it must have been a trying experience."

Marie smiled. "I feel so old, so very equal to taking care of myself," she said; "and I have travelled a good deal. I have been to Egypt, Turkey and Spain."

"And is this your first visit to London?" asked Lady Rylmer, taking her seat in the hansom.

"Yes; and I have been looking forward to it."

Each moment Lady Rylmer's astonishment was increasing, and also her annoyance. Hopes of being able to overawe her niece and cow her into obedience faded into the region of impossibilities. Marie could only be managed by love—one glance at her firm yet sympathetic face proclaimed the fact.

"It's most disappointing," thought Lady Rylmer. "I shall have to cultivate an affectionate, coaxing manner, instead of making her do what I wish by force of will. The latter has always been so much more after my taste than the former. I wonder if she is already in love. These Italian girls are such premature mortals. And she is a very beautiful girl. How I wish she was illiterate and commonplace, instead of everything that is attractive! It seems almost impossible to believe that she is a donkey driver's daughter; but of course the lawyer must be right. It's just like Horace to act in a manner to upset everyone's calculations."

"And is this Westminster Bridge?" exclaimed Marie.

"Yes," answered Lady Rylmer, "we are driving to Waterloo Station, and shall take the train from there."

"I cannot tell you how much I have looked forward to coming to London and seeing everything, and shopping in Bond street and Regent street. I have made up my mind not to be disappointed with anything."

"If you will, it will not be our fault, dear; for we are all determined to make you as happy as we can."

Marie raised her large brown eyes to her aunt and murmured "Thank you," with genuine gratitude in her voice. "I am so glad to be in England amongst my father's people," she added after a moment's pause.

Lady Rylmer smiled a sweet, appreciative smile.

During the remainder of the journey home, conversation lagged. It was evident that the girl was growing anxious, now that the moment of her arrival at the Hall was close at hand. Unfortunately rain was beginning to descend in torrents, and the country was donning its most miserable aspect.

"Is it often like this in England?" she queried, with a shudder.

"Not often—at least, we have many bright days."

"But, of course, there are plenty of amusements—theatres, operas, parties, and 'At Homes.' There is always gaiety to be had, is there not?"

"Oh yes! But for the next year you will not be able to mix in society. A year's complete seclusion is expected after the loss of a father. People would say unkind things of you if you went into society earlier; and I am sure you would not enjoy yourself."

"No," said Marie, speaking with a touch of self-blame.

"You will have the society of your two cousins, Derrick and Laura."

And Maurice?"

"No, Maurice is leaving home very soon."

"Oh, I am sorry to hear that. Father always said that I should like Maurice. And is this Rylmer Hall?"

"Yes, and your uncle, and Derrick, and Laura are hurrying out to greet you. Your uncle is prepared to love you as if you were his own child—and so am I, dear."

tender pressure of the hand accomplished the last word.

Marie's face lighted up. Love, mental sunshine, would be indeed welcome in this land of fogs and rain.

The next moment the carriage drew up, and Sir James hurried forward to greet the new arrival, with a look of surprise.

She glanced shyly at him, and her lips trembled with emotion. It was a critical moment in her life, and she longed to know if she had done right in cutting herself adrift from old associations and placing herself in the hands of these relations.

To eyes accustomed to the palaces of Italy, the house was small and insignificant. The long, dark hall, with its low ceilings, looked depressing on this most dismal of days. The girl's heart sank and her eyes glistened. Everything was different to what she had anticipated. She had expected brightness and an air of luxury.

"I am so glad you have arrived safely, Marie." It was Laura who spoke, and there was genuine welcome in her voice.

"And you're awfully punctual," put in Derrick, shaking hands.

Then followed an animated chat of the accepted type for such occasions, in the midst of which Laura slipped upstairs and joined Maurice.

"She's come!" were her first words as she entered his room. "And she's absolutely beautiful, with dark hair and a lovely complexion; and when she smiles you see a lovely row of exquisite teeth."

"I always expected she would be good-looking," he answered, putting down the book he was reading.

"But she's fifty times more than merely 'good-looking.' She is beautiful! So tall and graceful! Do come down and see her. And put your necktie straight and brush yourself up. I know you'll fall in love with her."

"Hi, stop, don't rush on like that, giving my heart away in that open fashion."

"It's done you good already to hear that she is beautiful. You were looking so dull when I came in just now. I'm sure you're well enough to come down to the late breakfast we're just going to have. Shall I go down and tell her you can be expected? I'm sure she would be pleased to hear it."

"Don't chaff, Laura. Just choose me another necktie. This is a beast that I have on. Do you know, you are rather a trump of a sister."

"That's no news!" she replied airily, making the required selection.

CONVICTED.

Our neighbours are certainly to be congratulated upon the rapid and orderly and, above all, unostentatious and quiet way in which they have conducted the trial of Czolgosz. The grave had only been closed over his victim when the murderer was before a judge and jury in the little court room at Buffalo. Every necessary form that the law required was carried out and evidence is carefully prepared as though nobody positively knew what the prisoner had done. Eminent counsel were assigned to him and the strictest rules as to the admission of testimony were applied.

The evidence as to his mental condition removed any vestige of doubt as to the justice of his conviction and, in a trial lasting less than eight hours and a half, he was found guilty.

To-morrow, exactly one week from the day on which the murdered President was consigned to the tomb, the convicted murderer will make his last appearance before any earthly court and receive his death sentence. The contrast between this and the long drawn out trial of Guiteau is most marked. There is a calm dignity about the proceedings now which deprive the incident of that element of sensationalism so dear to the heart of the crank. It is as though a good man had been bitten by a rabid dog, and the people simply waited long enough to make sure they had the right dog and then quietly tied him up in a bag and drowned him.

OBSTRUCTING THE STREETS.

The case submitted by His Honour Mr. Recorder Weir for the decision of the full bench of the Court of Appeal is an important one. It involves the question as to how far people can obstruct the street without actually being persons creating a disturbance. A street preacher who was holding forth on Union Avenue was selected by the police apparently as a test case. The gentlemen who hold forth in a decidedly profane way under a flaring torch and have attracted crowds by their ribald eloquence for years—with the object of selling sundry unconsidered trifles, usually of the nature of worm medicine with dollar bills wrapped around it "once in so often"—will probably be handled by the police later.

It is doubtful whether those who occupied stands which obstructed the whole sidewalk in places during the recent Royal visit, as well as those who put the stands there were not liable to prosecution. If not, the law certainly should be amended to prevent a recurrence of such obstructions.

His Honour disposed of the street preaching case with a nominal fine, but made it the occasion for preparing a very full and careful case for the consideration of the Court of Appeal, covering the whole question of street obstruction. The decision is one which will be looked for with great interest as there certainly is a disposition to ignore public rights in the streets, especially on the sidewalks, when it suits private convenience to obstruct the pathways of the people.

THE ROYAL ASSENT.

The authority of the Crown (meaning with the advice of the Government of Great Britain) to withhold assent to any act of Colonial legislatures is not arbitrarily exercised, but the right is asserted sufficiently to preserve it from mildew. A return asked for by the House of Lords of Great Britain, recently, required a list of all bills passed by both Houses of the Legislature in colonies possessing responsible government, to which the Crown has not given assent, and of bills so passed with a suspending clause, under which the act does not go into operation until proclaimed, in respect of which no proclamation has been issued.

The return has been prepared and is now given to the public. The dates covered are from 1894 to the present time. Part I. of the return contains a list of the Acts and reserved Bills to which the Royal Assent has not been given. Among them are the following: Dominion of Canada.—Cap. 3 of 1899—an Act to provide for the establishment of direct submarine telegraphic communication between Canada and Australia; still under consideration. Newfoundland.—Cap. 25 of 1899—an Act to amend the law relating to the extradition of criminals; not yet assented to. Natal.—Cap. 27 of 1895—an Act to define the privileges, immunities, and powers of the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of Natal respectively; not yet assented to. Cap. 15 of 1897—an Act for removing a certain restriction upon marriage within the colony of Natal; not assented to and since repealed. New South Wales.—Cap. 41 of 1896—an Act to apply and extend certain provisions of the Chinese Restriction and Regulation Act of 1888 to other coloured races, etc.; not assented to. Cap. 32 of 1899—an Act to abolish the Marine Board; to constitute a department of navigation and Courts of marine inquiry, etc.; not yet assented to. South Australia.—No. 672 of 1896—an Act for the restriction of coloured immigration (reserved); not assented to. Western Australia.—Cap. 37 of 1894—an Act further to amend "the Constitution Act, 1889" (reserved); not assented to. Tasmania.—Cap. 55 of 1896 an Act to apply and extend the provisions of "the Chinese Immigration Act, 1887," to certain other coloured races (reserved); not yet assented to. New Zealand.—Cap. 64 of 1896—an Act to prevent the influx into New Zealand of persons of alien race who are likely to be hurtful to the public welfare (reserved); not yet assented to. Cap. 73 of 1900—an Act to establish and define an ensign for New Zealand (reserved); not yet assented to.

In the list of Acts with a suspending clause, contained in Part II. of the return, are the following: Cape of Good Hope.—Cap. 25 of 1899 an Act to amend the law relating to the extradition of criminals; not yet assented to. Cap. 38 of 1899—an Act to amend the law in force in British Bechuanaland; assented to but not proclaimed. Natal.—Cap. 16 of 1895 an Act to extend the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to the province of Zululand; assented to but not proclaimed.

It will be noticed that a greater number of instances in which the Royal assent has been withheld are where legislation has been sought to restrict undesirable immigration. The fact that this class of legislation is apparently sought by almost all the colonies, though all are making efforts to build up their population by immigration, and that the United States has such restrictive laws in force, gives food for thought. Where such legislation actually interferes with international obligations there is no other course but disallowance, but it is apparent that all the countries have had the same experience and find themselves confronted with "a condition, not a theory." They find that immigration which cannot be assimilated, which is incapable of understanding or appreciating the advantages and responsibilities of responsible government is not only socially undesirable, but an actual drawback to the progress of the country.

The theoretical arguments as to the advantages of a country for immigrant labour do not command great respect in communities where the question of all who have the national welfare at heart is to have labour generously remunerated. Asiatic countries, where labour is so plentiful that it is scarcely paid at all, have not made such progress as to make other nations desire to have the same conditions, nor can it be forgotten that the countries which are making the greatest advancement in population and material wealth, the countries which are taking the lead in industrial progress are those in which the highest wages are paid.

Do You Want To Gain Weight?

If you are too thin, you may gain in weight by taking a proper diet. It is not the quantity of food you eat that increases your weight, it is the food you assimilate. One meal a day of food that is taken into the blood will strengthen more than three meals of food from which the body gets no nourishment. Heavy foods that are difficult of digestion consume more nervous energy than they furnish the body.

The prepared foods of the B. C. Health Food Co. are easy to digest and their flesh-building elements are readily taken up by the blood and distributed all over the body, making strong, healthy flesh.

LONDON, July, 1901.

Battle Creek Sanitarium Food Co.
Gentlemen,—

I have great pleasure in testifying to the merits of the food manufactured by you. For a number of years I suffered from nervous dyspepsia, until my condition was so bad that my doctor was afraid to give me medicine. Some friends recommended me to try Granose Flakes, which I did, with results little short of marvellous. As I was able to digest the food, I rapidly put on flesh, and to-day I am as strong and hearty as any woman need be. My sister has been using your Granose and Granola largely this year, and as a result she has been able to accomplish more work, without overstraining herself, than she ever did before in her life.

Yours gratefully,

NELLIE TAGG,

THE PASSING HOUR.

THE MAN WHO TELLS HIS DREAMS

The world is full of awful bores
(You may be one yourself),
So much so that your friends would like
To put you on the shelf).
But when I pass them in review,
From mild ones to extremes,
Among the very worst I count
The Man Who Tells His Dreams

"I dreamed the strangest thing last night,"
He tells you when you meet,
You heave a sigh, but, wretched man!
Politeness chains your feet,
And then he pours into your ear
A farrago that seems
Of highest interest to him,
The Man Who Tells His Dreams.

You try to break away, and can't,
He holds you by the coat
Until he's told his foolish tale,
From common sense remote.
What cares he though his victim writhes,
And mentally blasphemes?
He thinks of no one but himself,
The Man Who Tells His Dreams!

The American papers complain of the apparent unconcern manifested by Czolgosz during his trial. If he was not concerned about it, we do not see that anybody else need be.

The latest thing in liquor laws is at present at Grimaldi, La., where it is forbidden for two people to congregate to drink beer. Many people in Montreal hold that one bottle of beer and one man make a big enough crowd.

The Duke of Cornwall is not in the market for gold bricks. He wanted the lacrosse ball that he faced in the Ottawa game as a souvenir, and like a diligent student of the patent medicine advertisements refused to accept a substitute that was "just as good."

Johann Most, who was arrested for publishing an Anarchistic editorial, and released on bail, and re-arrested Sunday night for taking part in a meeting of Anarchists, is, as usual, indignant. He says the gathering was not a meeting of Anarchists, but of a singing society. We have heard some pretty bad singing, but none bad enough to be taken for anarchy.

The two lawyers who were assigned to defend Czolgosz are entitled to public sympathy, but having accepted the task, it was their duty to do their best for their client. Counsel for the defence is an essential part of the machinery of justice in a murder trial, and is as honourable a part as the judge on the bench. They are making their aversion to their client a little too manifest.

FEW SO LUCKY.

Few of us need hope for luck equal to that of the Sharon man who found $700 his grandfather had hid in a barn. Most of us have no barns. And of the few who have barns, hardly any have grandfathers. And none of the grandfathers had $700. And if they wouldn't have left it for their descendants, anyway.

RULES AND EXCEPTIONS.

"Politeness is never wasted," remarked the man of Chesterfieldian manners.

"Well, mister," answered the weather-beaten person, "that may be true in your part of town. But if you was in the canal boat business you'd know that there ain't any use whatever of sayin' 'please' to a mule."

WOULD DO BETTER.

A little fellow six years old was showing a visitor his drawing book containing pictures labelled "a bird," "a horse." "These are my worst ones," he explained.

"Indeed," replied Mr. Smith, "and where are the others?"

"I haven't drawed them yet," answered Young Hopeful.

They had been engaged, but had quarrelled, and were too proud to make up. Both were anxious to have people believe that they had entirely forgotten each other.

"No, sir," she replied, "father is not in at present. Do you wish to see him personally?"

"I do," he answered, feeling that she was yielding, "on very particular personal business," as he turned proudly to go away.

"I beg your pardon," she cried after him, as he reached the lowest step, "but who shall I say called?"

WINNIPEG, September 25.—D. D. Mann, Wm. Mackenzie, and Hugh John Macdonald, solicitor for the Canadian Northern, arrived from Toronto this week. Mr. Mackenzie says that work on the Port Arthur line has been retarded by the inability to get men, over 500 of whom have left lately to go threshing in Manitoba. There are 60 miles of steel still to lay on the Winnipeg-Port Arthur line, and 45 miles on the Port Arthur-Duluth line, but Mr. Mackenzie says they will both be finished this fall. The company will next year have a line of lake steamers to connect with the Parry Sound line, controlled by Booth, of Ottawa.

CZOLGOSZ IS FOUND GUILTY

THE VERDICT IS "MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE."

The Case Closed With Remarkable Quickness — No Witnesses Were Called for the Defence—Prisoner's Counsel Were of No Use to Him — Peculiar Speech by Counsel Lewis.

BUFFALO, N.Y., September 25.—Leon F. Czolgosz, alias Fred Nieman, was yesterday found guilty of murder in the first degree by the jury in Part III. of the Supreme Court, in having, on the 6th day of September, shot President William McKinley, the wounds inflicted by such gunshots afterwards resulting in the death of the President.

The wheels of justice moved swiftly. The trial of the assassin consumed eight hours and twenty-six minutes, and covered a period of only two days. Practically all of this time was occupied by the prosecution in presenting a case so clear, so conclusive that even had the prisoner entered the plea of insanity, it is doubted if the jury would have returned a verdict different from the one rendered yesterday.

The announcement made yesterday by the attorneys for Czolgosz that the eminent alienists summoned by the Erie County Bar Association, and by the District Attorney to examine Czolgosz and to determine his exact mental condition had declared him to be perfectly sane, destroyed the only vestige of a defence that Judges Lewis and Titus could have put together.

Before adjournment Justice White announced that he would pronounce sentence upon the defendant on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Czolgosz was immediately taken through the tunnel under Delaware avenue back to the gaol. To all appearances he was in no way affected by the result of the trial.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

BUFFALO, September 25.—After the examination of Mr. Quackenbush, in the Czolgosz trial yesterday, the prosecution called the secret service men to the witness stand.

Secret Service Officer Albert L. Gallagher said he was in the Temple of Music at the time of the shooting, standing ten feet from the President and on his right.

"Tell us what you saw," said District Attorney Penney.

"My duty was to keep the crowd moving. The reception had been going on only a few minutes when I heard two shots fired. A man standing near the President had something white in his hand. I sprang forward. I heard Foster say, 'Get the gun, Mr. Gallagher.'

"I grabbed the gun and handkerchief. Some one grabbed the revolver, but I held on to the handkerchief.

"Have you got it now?"

"Yes."

"Let us see it," said the District Attorney.

Detective Gallagher then produced a powder-blackened and partly burned handkerchief, about ten inches square. It was shown to the jury and appeared as evidence.

"Some one grabbed me by the throat," continued Mr. Gallagher. "After this fight I found that the gun was in possession of one of the artillerymen. I advised that the blood be removed from the prisoner's face before he was taken from the building, which was done."

Cross-examined by Judge Lewis, Detective Gallagher was asked some questions about the handkerchief.

"Do you think it is a lady's handkerchief?"

"No; it is a gentleman's," was the answer.

Geo. A. Foster, of Washington, another secret service man, then took the stand.

Mr. Foster described his position in the line as opposite that of the prisoner, and said he had been scrutinizing the people as they passed. He said the prisoner had looked him straight in the face as he passed, and the next instant he saw the prisoner's hands go together, as if clapping, and two shots were fired. "I grappled with him. As the man lay on the floor he looked back—as if to see what effect his bullets had," said the witness, "and this made me so mad that I smashed him right on the jaw."

Continuing, Foster testified that he had seen a dark men about ten feet in front of the defendant, and not liking his looks had pushed him along toward Detective Gallagher.

Judge Titus then cross-examined the witness, and asked:

"Did you see the coloured man who has been spoken of?"

"Yes; I think he was some distance ahead of the defendant, not behind him. I did not see any coloured man in the fracas that followed at all."

"Did you see any little girl ahead of the defendant?"

"I saw a little girl, but cannot tell just where she was."

"As the man passed you, you did not see his right hand?"

"No, they were so close together that I could see no one's right hand. I depended on the other guards to do that."

AN ARTILLERYMAN.

Francis P. O'Brien, a private in the 7th United State Coast Artillery, was next called. He was detailed to guard the President at the Temple of Music, and was standing on the left of the President when the shooting occurred. His story follows:

"When I heard the report I was looking at the President, and saw the man. I jumped at this defendant. I saw the smoke coming from his hand. I knocked him over against some one. I don't know who I got the revolver, and gave it up to my commanding officer, Captain Wisser."

"Did you mark it?" asked Mr. Penney.

"I put my initials on it."

Mr. Penney then produced the murder weapon and O'Brien identified it by the initials.

"Were you on the side of the President from which the people were coming in?" asked Judge Titus, in cross-examination.

"Yes."

"Were there any secret service men beside you?"

"Not right beside me."

"How near were you to the President?"

"Three or four feet."

"When you saw the second shot fired you jumped at the prisoner?"

"I did."

"Were you the first to get at him?"

"I think I was."

"Did any one help you get the gun?"

"I got it myself."

"Was he on the floor then?"

"No, he wasn't. A minute later I was battered by men who wanted me to turn the revolver over to them."

Louis Nell, another private, and Corporal Berkeley then gave testimony in corroboration.

John Branch, a coloured employe of the Exposition Company, in the Temple of Music, next took the stand. He indicated on a map where he had stood at the time of the shooting. He saw Czolgosz coming toward the President. He noticed that his hand was wrapped in a handkerchief. Suddenly two shots rang out, and he saw the defendant's hands coming together. An artillery man grabbed the prisoner first, and then he was borne to the floor.

"Did you hear the President say anything after the shots were fired?" asked Judge Titus in cross-examination.

"Yes, I thought I heard him say: 'Be easy with him boys.'"

This ended Branch's testimony, and the court then took a recess until 2 o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

The court room filled up rapidly long before the opening of the afternoon session began. A number of ladies were given front seats among the spectators, more than have been present at any other time during the progress of the trial. At 1.55 the jury filed into the court room and a few minutes later Czolgosz, shackled to his guards, was brought into court and taken to his seat in front of the bar.

Promptly at 2 o'clock Justice White took his seat on the bench, and court opened.

Judge Lewis and Titus appeared at 2.12, and the roll of jurors was called. Each answered present; Judge Lewis turned in his chair and said something to the prisoner. The latter leaned forward and listened with his head bowed, but then sat back in his chair and shook his head in the negative. Judge Lewis spoke again and again but Czolgosz shook his head negatively.

The first witness was James F. Vallely, a detective at the Pan-American Exposition. He described an interview which he had had with the prisoner at the gaol.

"I sat down beside him," he said, "and offered him a cigar. He accepted it and in the conversation he told me where he was born, and where he lived in Buffalo. I asked him: 'Why did you shoot the President?' and he replied, 'Only done my duty.'"

He was then cross-examined by Judge Lewis, who asked: "Were there any other officers in the room?"

"Yes," Vallely replied, and named some of them.

SUPERINTENDENT BULL.

of the Buffalo Police Department, was then called.

"Were you present at headquarters when the prisoner was brought there on the night of the murder?" he was asked.

"Yes."

"Were any threats made against him?"

"No."

"Tell us what Czolgosz said."

"He said he knew President McKinley. He knew that he was shooting President McKinley when he fired. The reason he gave was that he believed that he was doing his duty. He said that on the day President McKinley spoke at the exposition grounds, the day previous to the assassination, he stood near the stand on the Esplanade. No favourable opportunity presented itself. He followed the President to Niagara Falls and back to Buffalo again. He got in line while the reception was in progress, and when he reached the President fired the fatal shots. Czolgosz told me in details the plans he alone had worked out, so that there would be no slip in his arrangements. I asked him why he killed the President, and he replied that he did so because it was his duty."

"Did he say he was an anarchist?"

"Yes."

"Did he say any more on that subject?" asked the district attorney.

"Yes; he said that he had made a study of the beliefs of anarchists and he was a firm believer in their principles. The prisoner also stated that he had received much information on the subject in the city of Cleveland. He said that he knew a man in Chicago named Isaaks. The Free Society was the name of an organ mentioned by the prisoner."

"Did he ever say anything about his motives in committing the murder?" asked the district attorney.

"Yes," was the reply. "He said that he went to the exposition grounds for the express purpose of murdering President McKinley. He knew he was aiming at President McKinley when the fatal shots were fired. Czolgosz said that all kings, emperors and presidents should die."

Supt. Bull was cross-examined by Lawyer Titus and said the defendant had on his person some memoranda and $1.51 in money. There was also a piece of paper, orange coloured, with an address upon it, a memorandum book, and a letter or identification card from the Order of the Golden Eagle.

"Did you ask him if he was an anarchist?" asked Judge Titus.

"Yes."

"And he said he was?"

"Yes."

"Was his language intelligible?"

"Yes; he spoke very good English."

"He spoke in monosyllables most of the time, did he not?"

"No, he was quite lengthy at times."

"You were present at the gaol when a man named Nowak saw the defendant?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Bull.

"He immediately recognized Czolgosz as a man whom he knew in a printing office in Cleveland. He said to him: 'You know me well. I have always been a friend to you. Why did you commit this crime? Why bring disgrace on the Polish race, and your father and mother?'

"Mr. Nowak," witness continued, "asked the defendant if they had not been members of the same society, and the prisoner assented. Nowak then said that he had left the society because it was too radical, adding that he was a Republican. 'Oh, yes,' replied Czolgosz, 'you are a Republican for what you can get out of it.'"

CASE CLOSED.

This concluded Superintendent Bull's testimony, and District Attorney Penney announced that the case for the prosecution was closed.

Then Judge Lewis arose slowly, and, addressing the court, said:

"We are embarrassed by the sudden closing of the case of the prosecution. We had not expected them to close so abruptly. We have no witnesses to call for the defence, but I ask the court that my colleague and myself be allowed to address the jury."

Permission was granted by the court, and Judge Lewis began his address at 2.45. He pointed out to the jury that if there existed a doubt in their minds as to the evidence presented by the prosecution it was their duty to give the prisoner the benefit of the doubt. Their evidence must be conclusive. In some communities, he said, a case of this kind would be disposed of by mob law. It was a hard matter to pick up a newspaper to-day and find nothing about some case of mob or lynch law, but this spirit did not exist in this community.

"This man," he said, "has declared that he is an anarchist. We all feel that organizations of this kind are dangerous, but I don't think that they are nearly so dangerous as the doctrine of lynch law. That is something that will sweep aside the strongest of our institutions, if allowed to grow at its present rate of progress. It is the duty of every good citizen to see that every man charged with a crime, no matter how heinous its nature, should get a fair trial in a court of justice.

"My colleague and myself are in this court for the same purpose that the District Attorney is here—to see that this prisoner gets a fair and honest trial." He illustrated the case of a negro for whose life a mob was clamoring. An eminent jurist volunteered to defend this person, and there was great indignation in the community, but the lawyer lubbornly insisted, and in doing so upheld the dignity of the law.

Judge Lewis referred with feeling to the personality of President McKinley, of his life, and the awfulness of the crime committed.

At the conclusion of Judge Lewis' address, District Attorney Penney began summing up the case for the prosecution. He reviewed the evidence presented in a clear, concise manner, and asked for a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

The jury retired and thirty-three minutes later brought in a verdict convicting Czolgosz of murder in the first degree, as charged.

He will be sentenced on Thursday.

LEON CZOLGOSZ,
Convicted at Buffalo of the Murder of President McKinley.

TRIALS COMPARED OF PRESIDENTS' SLAYERS.

LINCOLN.

President Abraham Lincoln was shot in Washington, D.C., by J. Wilkes Booth, on April 14, 1865. Booth was slain by his pursuers, on April 27.

By an order dated May 1 President Johnson decided Booth's fellow conspirators amenable to trial by military commisson and appointed a court to hear the evidence.

Trial of the conspirators was begun May 8. Finding of the military commisson, forty-eight days after the beginning of the trial, was approved by President Johnson July 5.

Mrs. Mary E. Surratt, James Thornton Powell, David E. Harold and George A. Atzerott were hanged July 7.

GARFIELD.

President James A. Garfield was shot in Washington, D.C., by Charles J. Guiteau, July 2, 1881. He was brought to trial before a jury November 14.

Insanity was the only defence advanced by George Scoville, the assassin's lawyer. Guiteau himself maintained that he was sane.

After a trial of seventy-two days the defence was overthrown and the assassin convicted. Guiteau was hanged June 30, 1882.

McKINLEY.

President McKinley was shot at Buffalo, N.Y., on September 6, 1901, by Leon Czolgosz.

The assassin was indicted on September 16. His trial began on September 23, and he was convicted of murder in the first degree on September 24.

Croker Snubbed Devery.

(Special to the Star.)

NEW YORK, September 25.—One of the visitors at the Democratic Club last night was Deputy Police Commissioner Devery. He evidently wanted to talk with Mr. Croker, but the latter snubbed him unmercifully. Andrew Freedman told Mr. Croker that Devery was at the club. Croker passed and re-passed Devery without noticing him. While talking with Judge Truax, Croker stood within six feet of Devery, who made signs as if to attract Croker's attention. Croker deliberately turned his back on him. Several times Croker walked in front of Devery, but he made no sign that he saw the deputy commissioner. Devery was visibly affected, and evidently much embarrassed by these slights, which were witnessed by nearly everyone in the club.

Got the Sacred Scroll.

TORONTO, September 25.—Nearly 500 Hebrews, many of whom were women, clustered about the Austrian Jewish Synagogue, on Chestnut street, near the corner of Agnes street, early yesterday morning, and for a short time a riot was imminent. The cause of the trouble was the desire to recover from the synagogue, the rear portion of which was in flames, a scroll, the sacred value of which to the members of the congregation could not be estimated. The scroll was recovered after a lot of searching and taken from the building in a slightly damaged condition. As for the fire it was put out after about $500 damages had been done.

The seizure of the schooner Josephine, of Yokohama, by a Russian gunboat, is reported by the Vera. Full details were learned of the seizure, which was reported at Attu to the Vera's crew by the Japanese schooner Seito Maru. The City of Sandiego reported the Josephine as in her. Henry Dennis, which was said to have gone to a rendezvous in the Okhotsk Sea for her catch of 625 skins, nearly one-fifth of that taken by the majority of the Japanese vessels. The majority of the Japanese schooners went to the north of the Behring Sea.

OUR AMBASSADOR AT MIKADO'S COURT

SIR CLAUDE MACDONALD ON CHINESE TROUBLES.

He Says Had Ambassadors Accepted the Chinese Escort to Tien-Tsin, Not One Would Have Escaped — Modern and Progressive Japan is Friendly to England.

"British prestige is in no way diminished in the Far East by the events in China," declared Sir Claude MacDonald, late British Minister to China, who is at the Place Viger, on his way back to Japan.

Sir Claude, after the troubles in China was transferred to Japan, and replaced at Pekin by Sir Ernest Satow, who had up to that time been accredited to the Japanese Court. In June last he was called home to England, to consult with the Government on affairs in China, Japan and the Far East generally, and is now on his return trip to his post in Tokio.

Sir Claude is a man of middle age, tall, slight, and most pleasant to meet. He greeted the Star representative with great cordiality and expressed his willingness to impart any information that might be of interest. He arrived in the city yesterday with Lady MacDonald, and leaves to-morrow for Quebec.

He went to England by way of San Francisco and New York, but will return to Japan by way of Vancouver on October 6th.

In reply to a question as to the effect on British influence of the trouble which took place last year in China he replied as above.

"Of course," he continued, "we must share the trade and other advantages with other powers. We were the first to open the oyster, but we cannot expect to keep it all to ourselves. During the siege of Pekin, the Chinese treated us all with the greatest impartiality. They fired on the Russian and American flags, and on the members of all the legations without any distinction."

THE BOXER MOVEMENT.

"The Boxer rising was as serious as it was painted then?"

"The Boxer rising was nothing in itself," replied the Minister of Japan. "The Boxers, however, profited by a famine and drought which existed in the country at that time, and the peasantry arose with them. The latter did not know exactly what they were rising for, but the Boxers had adroitly led them to believe that all these misfortunes were due to the 'foreign devils.' We did not fear the combined forces of the Boxers and the peasants, however, for our forces killed many of them. When he had to face trained soldiers, however, provided with the best of artillery, the matter became very serious. The Boxer movement would have amounted to very little had it not been countenanced and openly assisted by the Chinese Government authorities."

"Did they appear to be animated by a spirit of hatred against England or any other particular power?"

"No, they simply wanted to exterminate foreigners. The ignorance of the people in China is tremendous, even the officers about the court are profoundly ignorant for the most part of the extent and power of the European nations. So far from showing any particular disposition against England, the Chinese government treated me as the leading representative. All the messages from the Government were addressed to me personally, although I was not the doyen of the diplomatic corps. I reported the occurrence to the other ambassadors, in accordance with diplomatic usage, and pointed out that the Spanish Minister was the proper person to receive and despatch messages in the name of the diplomatic body. The representatives of the other powers agreed to this view, and we advised the Chinese Government accordingly, but the next message was addressed to me as usual."

THE DOWAGER EMPRESS.

"Did you have occasion to meet the Empress Dowager in connection with the troubles?"

"Oh, no. My wife met her on two occasions, but I never saw her at all. You know we did not recognize her at all. My credentials from our late beloved Queen were addressed to her beloved brother the Emperor of China.

None of the foreign Ministers recognized the Empress at all. I met Kwang Su, and spoke with him through an interpreter, and whenever I had any message to send it was forwarded to him."

"What is your opinion of the Emperor?"

"Well, he seems to be an intelligent man. He is very ill, however, and unable to attend to the business of his Empire. He is a young man, above thirty."

"Is he informed on matters that are going on in Europe?"

"Well, I think he is, but I am not altogether certain."

NO CHANCE WHATEVER.

"Do you think you would have had any chance of escape, had you accepted the offer of an escort to Tien Tsin?"

"None, whatever. Even if the Chinese Government had been in earnest in their offer to give us protection they could not have carried out their promise. They fired on us at every opportunity, and we were fortunate indeed that any of us escaped. Baron von Kettler, the German representative, was killed, while the Dutch Minister and the Austrian Ambassador were wounded, one in the leg and the other in the breast. As I said before, they treated us with the greatest impartiality. They blew the Russian flag to pieces, tore up the American and shot a couple of holes in ours, and would have done the same for us had we given them the opportunity."

"Where did Li Hung Chang stand in all this trouble?"

"Oh, he is a very shrewd old man. He was away down in the south at the time of the Boxer movement, and the subsequent troubles. Had he been in Pekin, things might have been arranged sooner. He was high in power and influence, and could have impressed upon the leaders of the revolt what they were undertaking in attacking ten European and Asiatic powers. The ignorance of these people is astounding. Two or three officials who had been at legations in Europe, one in Germany, I believe, and another in France, tried to show them the terrible consequences which might ensue for the country in attacking European powers in that manner, but they were rewarded by having their heads taken off. The Chinese believed that they could murder us all, and that would be the end of it, and anyone who differed from this view dared not say so, or he must take the consequences which meant the loss of his head."

"Is there any reform party in China?"

"Well, I hope so, for the benefit of the country. We saw nothing of it in Pekin, however. On the contrary, people who were well known reformers in Shanghai and other parts of the Celestial Empire, became staunch Chinese Conservatives when they came to the capital. As a matter of fact, it was not safe for them to do otherwise."

HAVE LEARNED A LESSON.

"Do you believe that the troubles are over?"

"I hope so. They have learned a lesson which I believe will be of some profit to them. They have found out that they cannot with impunity molest the representatives of foreign powers duly accredited to their court."

"How were you satisfied with the soldiers who were sent to your assistance at the time of the siege of Pekin?"

ADMIRED THE JAPANESE.

"They were splendid men" replied the British Minister. "Among them all, however, I must say that I especially admired the Japanese. They are small men, something like our own Ghoorkhas, but hardy and splendidly drilled. They are very quick on their feet, and the man behind the gun is a wonder. In their training they have adopted what they considered best in the German, French, British and American systems. In their navy I notice that they have adopted the same principle, and they are a most progressive and industrious people who are bound to get ahead."

"Have any of the men pointed out by you for punishment received the reward due them for their part in the massacres about Pekin?"

"So far as I am aware none of them have yet been executed. If there is any way of getting out of it, of course, the Chinese Government will do so. All of them are more or less responsible for the outrages committed, but those whom we designated were particularly violent, and were more directly to be blamed. Of course, I have left China since last October, and what I know of affairs since June, there has been gleaned from reading the newspapers. I have failed, so far, however, to read any account of the execution of these wretches who so richly deserved the sentences we meted out to them."

"Did you know the Marquis Ito, of Japan, was coming to this country?"

"No, but I am glad to hear it. He is not the actual Prime Minister, you know, but he is the grand old man of Japan, the confidential adviser of the Mikado, and possesses great influence in the country."

"But is not the form of government constitutional, and the Ministers responsible to the people?"

"Oh, yes, but they have not evolved the problem of responsible government to such a degree as we have, and the Marquis Ito is retained in an advisory capacity, and, in fact, controls to a great extent the policy of the country."

"Have you met the Emperor and Empress of Japan?"

"Oh, yes, on several occasions. The barriers which, in China, prevent the Foreign Ministers from meeting the ladies of the court do not exist in Japan. Everything there is modelled on European customs, and the intercourse between the Emperor and the representatives of foreign powers is the same as at any court of Europe."

"Do you consider that any serious results will follow the present misunderstanding which seems to have arisen between Japan and Russia?"

"Oh," said Sir Claude, with a quiet smile, "that is one of the things which I must not discuss at all. For me that is forbidden ground altogether."

JAPAN AND ENGLAND.

"What is the attitude of Japan towards England?"

"Oh, most friendly indeed. My relations with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mr. Khatto, who no longer occupies the position, but whom I hope to see back again soon, were of the most cordial nature. The officials in Japan have all visited Europe, most of them having at one time or another been attached to some of their legations in Europe or America. They, consequently, know what is going on in the world, and they are intelligent progressive men, with whom it is a pleasure to come in contact."

Sir Claude expressed his appreciation of Canada, and seemed to enjoy his visit very well. As the reporter took his leave he remarked that he was pleased at all times to furnish such information to the press as his office allowed him to mention. With a pleasant smile and a hearty hand shake the interview was brought to an end.

NATIVE CUSTOMS SWAY IN JAPANESE EMPIRE

Though in Some Respects European Customs are Being Introduced, Says Lord Maaski Mouye.

Lord Maaski Mouye, of Tokio, Japan, is in town for a few days on his way home after visiting in England and on the continent. His Lordship in conversation with a Star representative spoke on various topics of interest in his country. In referring to the rapid strides that had been made of late years in all lines of industry throughout Japan, His Lordship called attention to the fact that while in several ways Japan was copying European customs, in many others it was adhering most scrupulously to the old Japanese customs.

Take, for instance, he said, the way in which we look at the position occupied by woman. In our country, strange to say, the old principle of place aux dames has not yet become recognized. The marriage question is still one that is settled by parents, and not by the gentleman and lady interested. In the upper classes we do not marry till quite an advanced age is reached, while in the lower classes marriage is contracted at a very early age.

"What do you think is Japan's attitude at the present time towards other countries?"

"Well, as far as I can see," he replied, "Japan is very friendly towards England, and while she is still on friendly terms with Russia, it would be surprising to few if war broke out between the two countries in the next couple of years. To all appearances the relations between Japan and China are friendly, but as country to country there is indeed very little friendship between them. The great increase in our commerce is bringing us in closer relations to the United States, and our people seem to get on very well with the representatives from that country."

"Are the missionaries making much headway in your country?"

"Yes, I think they are, as our people become more and more Europeanized, as it were, there is also a much more marked tendency to Christianity. Among the lower classes throughout the country, however, the missionaries make but little progress."

Shortly after returning home Lory Mouye will succeed his father in the House of Lords.

ADVISED HIS PARENTS OF THE HONOUR CONFERRED

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's Telegram to His Aged Parents in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee is the birth place of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, and the newspapers of the city, in common with their Canadian confreres warmly congratulate the President of Canada's great transcontinental road, upon the honour conferred by the King.

Sir Thomas, according to the Milwaukee Sentinel, immediately upon reception of the news, sent the following telegram to his father, Mr. Thomas Shaughnessy, 97 Twentieth street, Milwaukee: "You may be gratified to know that His Majesty has conferred upon me the honour of knighthood. One owes a good deal to a good father and mother.

"T. G. SHAUGHNESSY."

What pleased Mr. and Mrs. Shaughnessy most of all, says the Sentinel, was the unselfish acknowledgement by their son of the debt he owed them for his bringing up at their hands.

Mr. Shauhgnessy, Sr., is 84 years old, his wife being two years his junior.

The paper goes on to say:

"The story of the life of Thomas G. Shaughnessy reads like a romance, and illustrates to what heights one can rise from the lowliest positions. He was born in Milwaukee in the Third ward, and there are lots of men in Milwaukee to-day whom he has distanced in the race for position and influence, who can remember 'Tom' Shaughnessy running about the streets like any lad destined to spend his life in the ordinary trades. Young Shaughnessy seemed to take naturally to railroads. He received his education in the public schools and at St. Gall's public school and finally took a course at the Spencerian Business College. Upon leaving that institution he took a position as clerk in the stock room at the West Milwaukee yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad. He stayed there until he was 29 years old, and then he secured a position in Montreal with the Canadian Pacific Railroad. That was nineteen years ago, and step by step he rose in the service until three years ago he was made president of the road."

Miss Wilson-Smith's Funeral.

The funeral of Miss Kathleen Nora Wilson-Smith took place at 2 o'clock to-day from her father's residence, 595 Sherbrooke street, to St. Martin's Church, and thence to Mount Royal Cemetery. The funeral, which was a most impressive one, was conducted by Rev. J. Osborne Troop, pastor of the church. The funeral was very largely attended.

HARBOUR BOARD AGAIN HESITATES

CANNOT DECIDE AS TO MR. CONNERS' DEPOSIT.

A Conference to be Held With the Attorneys Before They Attempt to Forfeit it — Mr. Bickerdike Discovers Port Was Not Harmed to the Extent of $50,000.

William Conners and his deposit of $50,000 came once more into prominence at the meeting of the Harbour Commissioners to-day.

Ever since the signing of the famous Conners contract, by which the aforesaid gentleman promised to erect an elevator in Montreal harbour and establish a fleet of vessels between the Lakes and Montreal, the deposit has been in the hands of the Commissioners, and now the question arises of how it will be disposed of.

The following resolution was reintroduced by Mr. James Crathern this morning, the same having already had the attention of the board upon a previous occasion:

Moved by Mr. James Crathern, and seconded by Mr. John Torrance,

Whereas the Conners Syndicate has wholly failed to carry out the terms and conditions of its contract with the Harbour Commissioners and of its lease to the different sites belonging to the Commission.

Be it resolved, That, in accordance with the terms of the letter of August 15 from the Commissioners' attorneys, they be instructed to take immediate action to secure a resiliation of the lease and the forfeiture of the $50,000 deposited as security for the fulfilment of the obligation under the lease.

Mr. Robert Bickerdike said he failed to see where the port had suffered $50,000 by Conners failing to make good his bargain. The grain men themselves had stated time and again that the building of an elevator would not make one dollar's worth of difference in the trade of the port. The member for St. Lawrence further stated that while he did not wish to be at variance with the attorneys of the board, at the same time he could not agree with them. To his mind, there were two courses open for the Commissioners. One was to make Mr. Conners carry out his contract, and the other was to confiscate his money. The Commissioners had the money, and it was for Mr. Conners and not for them to worry.

The mayor said that while he did not wish to question the advice given by the board's attorneys, he favoured a committee of the board's members holding a conference with the attorneys to see what could be done. His honour appeared to be not altogether satisfied with the decision which they had given on the case.

It was finally decided that this should be done and in the interval Mr. Crathern's resolution was tabled.

PARIS AND LONDON DISCUSSED BY MR. PAYETTE

The Twelve Year Old Traveller Gives His Views on Old Cities and Current Events.

Mr. Charles Payette, son of Mr. Louis Payette, who has for years been identified with Mr. Thomas Burdette's enterprises, arrived home on the SS. Wassau yesterday, after a business and pleasure trip to the centres of Europe.

Mr. Payette was born in 1889 and is now in his twelfth year. This is his first trip across the ocean. Some months ago he suggested to his father that he should go across and see a little of the old world, and at the same time look after some business which needed his personal attention. While Mr. Payette, senior, agreed that the idea was a good one, he remarked en passant that Charley was a little young.

With disdain the young man treated the remark, and commenced to get ready for the trip. His father handed out the cash in a good big roll and the youngster went to the office of the Franco-Canadien line and purchased his birth.

Before the ship sailed, a large party of his friends went on board, and gave him a dinner at which he was toasted and made much of.

On reaching Havre he cabled his father of his safe arrival, and incidentally ran up a nice little bill (collect) giving an outline of his plans for the next few weeks.

As he sat in his office this morning, he received a Star reporter's card, and consented to an interview remarking as the reporter entered that he could spare but a few moments of his time. Bronzed and browned by the wind and sun he is looking much better from the partial holiday from business cares and he talks with great delight of the seed he has sown in the old land by which Mr. Burdette's inventions may become world famous.

"I was delighted," he said, "while walking down Lime street in Liverpool about ten days ago at being accosted by a number of sailors who had met me in my father's concert hall in this city some months ago. They knew me at once, and put me up at their club. It is run much on the same principle as our Sailors' institute. While I was there, they had a concert, and I sang several French-Canadian songs for them. Everyone was delighted with the songs, and, when I recited some of Dr. Drummond's poems, they got up in a body and asked me to give them an introduction to the doctor when they meet me in Montreal. I told them that I would, so I must look the doctor up and prepare him for the occasion."

"Did you go to Paris?" Mr. Payette was asked.

"Did I? Well indeed I did. My father had given me letters of introduction to a number of prominent people, and I called on them all. Paris is a fine city. I thought several times of settling down there, but came to the conclusion that this Canada of ours is just as good a spot as can be found in the world. I went from Paris to London. There's the city. Why Toronto, where I went last year, isn't in it, in comparison with London."

Mr. Payette had little to say about the coming yacht race and the feeling in England, but he finally said: "The betting is about ten to eight that the Shamrock will win, and though I don't want dad to know anything about it, I don't mind telling you that I have ventured a few bob on the result. I learned to say 'bob' while I was in dear old London. My, but they have fine music halls there. The Central Garden that dad used to run wasn't one two three with some of those places. If we ever open up again in Montreal there's a few turns over there that I should like to get."

The outside office was by this time becoming blocked with people anxious to see Mr. Payette so he begged to be excused. "Being interviewed and seeing your name in the paper is all very nice," he explained, "but you know we must attend to business. 'Phone me down some news about the yacht race, won't you. Good day."

THE ROYAL TRAIN.

The Grand Trunk itenerary for the Royal trip over its system has not yet been accepted by the Governor-General. It is pretty well settled, however, that the pioneer road will take over the Duke and Duchess at North Bay on the 10th of October. They are due to arrive here on the 16th about 7.30 a.m. on their way to Sherbrooke.

The first section of the Royal train reached White River Junction at 11.05 a.m., the second with the Duke and Duchess at 12.23, the latter about 45 minutes behind time, caused by delays owing to demonstrations along the line.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and Mr. C. W. Spencer returned from Ottawa last evening, having seen the Royal party safely embarked on their trip to the Pacific.

The Royal Train.

WHITE RIVER, Ont., September 25.—Royal train passed here at 12.45 p.m. to-day. All well.

HERON BAY, Ont., September 25.—First Royal train passed here 1.15 p.m. The second at 1.35 p.m.

MEMORIAL BRASS ERECTED TO HEROES

BEAUTIFUL TABLET IN ST. JAMES THE APOSTLE CHURCH.

Erected by the Officers, Non-Coms. and Men of the Victoria Rifles to the Memory of Those Who Fell in South Africa—An Artistic Piece of Workmanship and Design.

The brass memorial tablet, which the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the 3rd Regiment Victoria Rifles, are to place in the church of St. James the Apostle in this city, in honour of those of their comrades who, as members of the various Canadian contingents, either fell in battle or died of wounds or disease in South Africa during the present war, is a handsome and most artistic piece of work.

The design is very pretty, incorporating as it does in its make-up, the regimental crest, some intricate scroll and floral work, an effective border and a scene reminiscent of the South African war.

The tablet is four feet in length by two and one-half feet in width. A border surrounds the entire brass, inside of which has been placed the regimental crest and the lettering. These have been coloured in red and green enamel, the regimental colours of the Vics.

The upper portion of the tablet is relieved by an oval border, in addition to the square border, which surrounds the tablet. The space between the borders is filled with scroll work, in which the maple leaf figures prominently.

Below the regimental crest, which occupies the centre of the oval formed by the inside border is the following inscription:

This tablet is erected by the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the 3rd Victoria Rifles of Canada, in affectionate remembrance of their comrades who fell in action or died of wounds and disease during the South African war of 1900-01.

"They have not lived in vain who died for Empire, Home and Duty."

"God Keep Their Memory Green."

KILLED IN ACTION.

Henry Cotton, "Houet-Nek," 30th April, 1900.

DIED OF WOUNDS.

Cecil Herbert Barry, "Paardeberg," 20th February, 1900.

DIED OF DISEASE.

Alexander Richmond Kingsley, 15th May, 1900

George Henry Bolt, 1st June, 1900.

Gerald Stewart Racey, 27th April, 1901.

Beneath the names is a scene representing a soldier's burial in South Africa. In the distance one sees the kopjes, while in the foreground one beholds the veldt with its occasional patches of weeds and grass. Beside a new made grave stand an Australian lancer, and a Canadian infantryman. The latter is resting on his reversed rifle, while the former joins him in silent homage to the dead. On the grave is a wreath of laurel. Below the picture is the following quotation from Kipling:

"Wards of the outer Watch,
Lords of the Lower Seas."

The tablet is the work of Messrs. F. Adams & Co., Bleury street, and is one of the handsomest in the city. It is hoped to have it in position in the church in the course of a few weeks. A regimental parade of the Vics. will then be ordered, and the tablet will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies by the venerable chaplain of the regiment, the Rev. Canon Ellegood.

INDEFATIGABLE'S MISHAP DUE TO ERROR OF PILOT.

Finding of Naval Court of Enquiry—Secretary of the Vice-Admiral Writes to the Harbour Board Notifying Them of the Pilot's Fault.

There is every indication that Pilot Bouille who was in charge of His Majesty's ship Indefatigable, at the moment she ran aground a few miles above Quebec, will get into trouble over the accident.

At the meeting of the Harbour Commissioners to-day the following indictment in the form of a letter from the Secretary of the Commander-in-Chief of the North Atlantic and West Indies Squadron:

H. M. S. Crescent, September 22.

To the Hon. Robert Mackay, chairman of the Harbour Commission, Montreal.

Sir,—I am directed by the Vice-Admiral Commander-in-Chief, to inform you that the H. M. S. Indefatigable while under the charge of Mr. Bouille, pilot, who had been specially sent down from Montreal to take the ship up the river grounded off the Chaudiere river at 2.30 a.m. on the 18th inst., and sustained very considerable damage which will take two or three months to repair.

2nd—A Court which was convened to enquire into the circumstances of the case reported that the accident, "was due to a grave error in judgment on the part of the pilot" and the Vice-Admiral desired to bring this to your notice for any action you may think fit to take to mark the want of skill displayed by Mr. Bouille in performing his duty and through which one of His Majesty's ships was imperiled.

(Signed)

CHARLES E. BYRON, Secretary.

Pilot Bouille wrote to the Board that the Indefatigable went aground in a narrow place; that the eddies were very strong and that the vessel sheered.

One of the Commissioners remarked that the channel was 1400 feet wide at this point and very deep and for the life of him he could not see how the accident could be justified.

House Destroyed by Fire.

The residence of Mr. Stanley Switzer, situated on the Boulevard road, Kensington, was completely destroyed by fire at eleven o'clock last evening. The fire was caused by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp, and the flames spread so rapidly that it was even found impossible to save any of the household effects. The barn, in which a good deal of grain had been stored, was likewise destroyed. The house was partially insured.

WALL STREET'S WEAKNESS.

The Easy Tone Was Continued To-day Soon After the Opening.

(From the Special Correspondent of the Star in Wall Street.)

NEW YORK, September 25.— The early stock market lacked activity and the excitement of the past few days. With conditions at London somewhat improved local speculation opened with a firmer tone and initial transactions for the most part were at a higher level of quotations. Even copper stocks displayed a rallying tendency, both Amalgamated and Anaconda rising about a point. The Junior Vanderbilts were strong, with advances of 1¼ in Lake Erie and Western Common and 1¾ to 2¼ in New York, Chicago and St. Louis Common and Second Preferred. Iowa Central Preferred gained 1¾ and Peoria and Eastern 2. The rising tendency, however, was soon checked, through the sudden renewal of weakness in Anaconda and Amalgamated, which dropped 1¼ to 2¾. St. Paul also became weak and fell off 1¼. Tractions joined in the downward movement to a liberal extent, Manhattan falling 2 and Brooklyn 1. Missouri Pacific lost even more than any other stock, breaking 3 points from the opening quotations. The remainder of the list recorded declines from the top notch, extending to a point. On the decline there was more doing.

DEATHS.

EVANS—At Churchill, Ont., on Friday, the 20th of September, 1901, Marcella Abbott, widow of the late Samuel Evans, of Quebec, in her 90th year. 225 2

LAPLAINE TRIAL DEFENCE HEARD

MOTHER TESTIFIED ACCUSED WAS BORN OUT OF WEDLOCK.

Has Looked After Himself Since He Was 13 Years Old — His Grandfather Died in Longue Pointe Asylum—Witnesses Testify That He Was Peculiar.

The mother of Joseph Laplaine, accused of the murder of Madame Lefebvre, was the chief witness for the defence to-day.

She declared that he had been born out of wedlock and that he had acted strangely all his life. At the age of 13 he ran away from home, and looked after himself up to the present.

Laplaine heard the evidence with more apparent feeling than anything else that has been said at the trial, and it seemed to be news to him. With the exception of these few moments, he paid little or no attention to anything that was done.

Doctor Villenneuve, of Longue Pointe Asylum, gave evidence to the effect that the records of the asylum showed that Joseph Laplaine, grandfather of the accused, had died in that institution. He was 68 years of age, and his death took place in 1877.

His Lordship, Mr. Justice Ouimet, pointed out that it would be necessary to produce evidence that the Joseph Laplaine who had died on the date named was the grandfather of the accused. The mere production of the certificate of the death of a man of that name would not do the defence much good. Mr. Geoffrion promised to get evidence to corroborate what had been said.

Among other witnesses who have been examined for the defence was Special Constable Joseph Belanger, of St. Cunegonde, who said that he had had occasions to employ the accused, but he had to discharge him because he was unreliable.

Mr. Napoleon Boulet said that he had noticed for some time that Laplaine acted strangely. Dr. Charles Robillard, who has attended the Laplaine family for some time, swore that the accused had often acted strangely but on being questioned by the crown prosecutor he said that he would never have advised the incarceration of Laplaine in an asylum on account of the manner in which he acted. Benjamin Laplaine, brother of the accused, swore that his brother was erratid in his actions, especially just before the shooting.

It is thought that a verdict may be reached to-night, but in all probability the case will not be given to the jury until to-morrow morning.

Funeral of Mr. Greenshields.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Greenshields took place at Danville to-day. A large number of people met the Montreal express as it brought in the body of the late Mr. Greenshields from Iroquois, where he died. The procession started immediately for the little Presbyterian Church on the Hill, where the Rev. A. Stevenson spoke briefly from a passage in Revelations. The bearers were Messrs. Joseph Dennison, Alex MacLeay, J. Brown and A. Dennison. After the service the body was laid at rest in the little cemetery on the Hillside. The mourners included the immediate relatives of the deceased, and also Messrs. G. Munro, G. and C. Glass, of Montreal, Rev. McAllister, of Perth, and Mr. A. McAllister, of Iroquois.

MONTREAL STREET HAMMERED HARD

BEARS WERE AGAIN IN EVIDENCE THIS MORNING.

Price Has Declined Fourteen to Fifteen Points in a Few Days — The General Tone of the Market Adversely Affected by the Bear Raiders and Their Tactics.

The special correspondents of the Star in Wall Street and on the Chicago Board of Trade report in this column that stocks were for the most part easier, while wheat was steady. In the local market a bear raid on a number of domestic securities was in course of development. Sales on the New York Stock Market yesterday were 740,476 shares.

The principal feature of interest in the Street at present continues to be the bear raid on such stocks as Montreal Street, Toronto Rails and Richelieu. These stocks were some time ago advised as a sale by prominent insiders. Montreal Street has declined the most as a result of the bear efforts, while the other two mentioned stocks have fallen off to a lesser extent.

In July Street Railway went to 304½ on the expectation of an issue of new stock to pay for the Park and Island road, and in August the highest was 295, a lot of buying being done around the latter figures. This morning's lowest was 277, so that the decline from the highest in July has been 27½ points, and from the August top price 18 points. In the early part of the year the price of Street went down to 263, and later on in the summer went as high as 306.

To-day the price of Street Railway at the opening was 280 for 1,775 shares. There was a good sized lot of orders in the market at those figures, but as soon as they had been filled the bears commenced to hammer, and the prices went down gradually to 277, after which there was a slight rally of 1½. The weakness of the past few days has brought out a good deal of enforced liquidation as the result of weakened margins.

The bear raid has had a weakening effect on the market generally. Twin City sold down to 100¼, while Richelieu sold off to 113½. Toronto Rails stood fairly steady at 113¼. On trifling trading Dominion Cotton went off 1¼ to 85. Dominion Steel pfd. had the most serious drop, breaking from 75 at the opening to 71xd. Liquidation in a weak market is given as the cause of the drop.

Canadian Pacific weakened again, although the London market for Americans was improved to-day, and Pacific rose from 112¼ yesterday to 113⅝ to-day. The opening trading here was at 109½, but subsequently the price went off to 109¼.

There is talk in the Street of the Dominion Cotton Company's issue of preferred stock, largely in the hands of a city bank, being called in the near future and replaced by bonds, while another story is told that the Montreal and Dominion Cotton Companies will join hands as soon as arrangements can be made. The recent rise in Dominion Cotton from 80 to 88 in a few days is said to have been due to these reports.

In New York, at noon—Money on call was nominally at 3½ to 4 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5 to 6 per cent. Sterling Exchange firm, 4.85½ to ¾ for demand, and at 4.83¼ to ½ for sixty days. Posted rates, 4.83½ to 4.84 and 4.86 to ½. Commercial bills, 4.82¼ to 3¼. Bar silver, 58⅛. Mexican dollars, 45½. Government bonds weak.

Messrs. L. J. Forget and Co.'s London cable to-day quoted: Grand Trunk first, 100¾; second, 86¾; third, 37¾; Canadian Pacific, 113⅜; Anaconda, 4⅞.

The first sale recorded in Wall Street was 500 shares of Amalgamated Copper, unchanged in price from last night. The stock subsequently rose a fraction. Twenty-five hundred shares of Anaconda sold at 36 to 37, compared with 36 last night. Fractional gains were the rule elsewhere in the list, with some slight concessions on secondary sales, and a few losses among the less prominent stocks.

The Twin City Rapid Transit Company's statement for August is favourable. After paying all fixed charges and dividends on preferred stock, there is left a surplus of $86,204 for the common stock. The surplus for the common stock from January 1st to August 31st is $500,657, as against $397,150 in a corresponding period last year, which is an increase of 26.5 per cent.

A seat on the New York Stock Exchange sold for $65,000, which is the record price since the panic of May 9 this year.

There is talk of Toronto Railway issuing a million of new stock to acquire suburban lines. The board is said to be divided as to the advisability of the move.

MEETINGS.

PAST AND FUTURE.

LACHINE LODGE.—Several of the Grand Lodge officers of the A.O.U.W. visited Lachine Lodge meeting last evening. A very pleasant time was spent.

BRANTFORD DELEGATES.—There will be a meeting of the Central Trades and Labour Council to-morrow evening in the K. of L. Hall, St. Lambert Hill. The Brantford delegates will give an account of the deliberations of the Congress.

HATTERS' UNION.—The Hatters report work improving, but there is still a decided dulness. The union is getting on nicely, and is now affiliated with the Trades and Labour Council. Several prominent labour speakers will attend the next meeting of the union.

WILL GO TO PLATTSBURG.—Mr. Jas. Drury, president of the Montreal Typographical Union, will attend the meeting of the Plattsburg Typographical Union on Thursday evening for the purpose of installing the new officers. He will represent the International Union.

ALL MEN EMPLOYED.—The Painters and Decorators' Union has been greatly strengthened during the past few months. It now embraces the great majority of workers belonging to the craft. The officers report all men employed, and for the balance of the season all house painters will be very busy.

LADIES' AUXILIARY. — The Ladies' Auxiliary, Division No. 1, A.O.H., held its regular meeting last evening, with Miss S. Mack, the president, in the chair. This division will hold a euchre party in their hall, 262 Notre Dame street, on Tuesday October 8th next. A series of lectures on subjects of interest to women will be delivered once a month, preceded by a short musical programme.

EXCELSIOR LODGE.—The Excelsior Lodge, No. 12, I.O.O.F., held a very successful meeting last night in the Oddfellows' Hall, 251 St. James street. In the absence of the Noble Grand, Bro. H. J. Weaver, V.G., occupied the chair. A large number of brethren from the various sister lodges were present. A sum of money was voted the entertainment committee for social purposes.

CAP WORKERS' UNION.—A meeting of the Cap Workers' Union, behind closed doors, was held on Saturday evening in the Standard Hall. It was stated that one of the local manufacturers had expressed his determination to do all in his power to create a division among the members and bring about the disbanding of the union. President Papkin, in a strong address, advised the members to stand firm.

BOOKBINDERS' UNION.—The regular meeting of the Bookbinders' Union was held last night in St. Joseph's Hall. The officers report a slight improvement in trade conditions. The prospects for a busy time in the fall are said to be bright.

Messrs. Martineau and Gravel, delegates from the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, were present, and addressed the meeting on the necessity of workingmen buying only boots and shoes bearing the union label.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—At the last meeting of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners' Union, No. 88, Anaconda, Montana, a resolution was unanimously passed deploring the untimely death of Bro. Hugh Robert McBride, who had been a member of the union for many years. The late Mr. McBride, while at work in a building, missed his footing and fell, sustaining injuries from which he did not recover. His parents reside in Montreal, where he is well and favourably known.

LAUNDRY WORKERS' UNION. — The laundry workers held a large meeting Monday in the Oddfellows' Chambers, 1563 Notre Dame street. Several new members were initiated, especially a number of shirt and collar cutters. It is the intention of the officers of the union to thoroughly organize this branch of the industry. The union is now in splendid shape. They have increased their membership wonderfully of late, they are in good financial condition, and have the promise of a still further increase in membership.

INDEPENDENT TAILORS' UNION. — A special meeting of the Independent Tailors' Union was held on Saturday evening. There was a long discussion in reference to supplying the Labour Department with certain information. The general opinion seemed to be that it would be placing a weapon in the hands of employers to supply the information requested. It was finally decided to notify Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Deputy Minister of Labour, that it would be a violation of the constitution of the union to give the desired information, besides, it might be the means of doing some of the members a great deal of harm.

TO FORM EUCHRE LEAGUE.—Metropolitan Lodge, No. 4, A.O.U.W., held a very successful meeting last evening, there being a large attendance from sister lodges interested in the formation of the proposed A.O.U.W. Euchre League. A provisional chairman and secretary were appointed, and the meeting proceeded to discuss details. As only seven lodges were represented, and the delegates have to report to their various lodges previous to taking action, it was decided to adjourn to the second Thursday in October, to meet in Federation Lodge, Masonic Temple, for the purpose of arranging a schedule and making all necessary arrangements.

REPORT OF DELEGATES TO BRANTFORD.—The regular meeting of the Barbers' Protective Union was held Sunday afternoon in the Oddfellows' Hall, 251 St. James street. The president, Mr. O. Beauvert, occupied the chair. Mr. J. T. Fontaine, who attended the meeting of the Trades and Labour Congress at Brantford in the interests of the Central Trades and Labour Council, presented a report of the proceedings. Among other things Mr. Fontaine said: It was one of the largest and most interesting labour meetings ever held in Canada. The best of good feeling existed throughout the Congress, and many questions of vital importance to the workers of this country were discussed, and will eventually be made law. The most important question affecting the barbers was a resolution passed, urging upon the Government to pass a license law compelling all barbers who have served three years of an apprenticeship to take out a license, and that a board of inspectors be nominated to see that all barber shops are kept in good sanitary condition, and protect by the same the interests of public health. A resolution was supported by the International and National Barbers' Unions of the Dominion, and was adopted unanimously. A special committee was then appointed to interview Chief Legault in reference to the closing of all barber shops in Montreal on Sunday. The union is determined to put an end to Sunday shaving. The union decided to be represented by two delegates at the next meeting of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, which will be held in Berlin, Ont., in September.

SAFETY APPLIANCES FOR INDUSTRIAL WORKS.

An Interesting Exhibition Being Held in the Old St. Gabriel Church.

The opening of the exhibition of appliances for the prevention of accidents in factories and other industries took place Monday afternoon in the old St. Gabriel Church, corner of St. Gabriel and St. James streets.

The exhibition was given under the direction of Mr. Louis Guyon, chief inspector of industrial establishments for the Province of Quebec, assisted by Mr. P. J. Jobin, inspector of industries for the Quebec City district, and Mr. Felix Marois, secretary of the new conciliation and arbitration department of the Quebec Government, and Louise Roy, inspectress of the Province of Quebec. Hon. Lomer Gouin, Minister of Public Works and Colonization, was present, and delivered an address. He said the work of factory inspection in the Province of Quebec was only in its infancy, but it was the intention of the department to make it as perfect as possible, and that the long procession of mutilated toilers will soon be a thing of the past, and that every precaution would be taken to prevent accidents in factories often so terrible.

Among the appliances for the prevention of accidents there are five covers for circular saws. These comprise simple, medium and complicated coverings. There are two covers for shapers—technically called stickers. One protective device for buzz-planers. This device challenged the admiration of all interested in wood working machinery present.

A protective appliance on a cotton loom, to prevent the flying out of the shuttle, was also admired, and pronounced by experts present to be a first-class device. The three automatic devices for handling belting, and the four simple appliances, all of which have for their object the prevention of the human hands being brought in contact with belting, shafting or pulleys attracted a great deal of attention, and the opinion was freely expressed that these devices should find their way into the hundreds of factories and workshops throughout the province. There are also a large number of small devices, such as respirators, spectacles, chisel covers, shaft collars, and hundreds of photographs of protective appliances for special machinery.

The fire escapes attracted a great deal of attention, especially the one on exhibition by Bouvier & Belair. It is called a tower stairway.

A great many of the articles to be seen were on exhibition at the Paris Exposition in 1899-00. The inspectors in charge are desirous that a large number of manufacturers and employers should take advantage of this exhibition, as the Quebec Government went to considerable expense in sending Mr. Guyon to the Paris Exposition to make the collection entirely in the interests of the workers and manufacturers of the province. Many firms, including the Montreal Cotton Company, Merchants Cotton Company, Dominion Cotton Company, Hamilton Powder Company, Sir William McDonald, Singer Co., Ocean Insurance and Guarantee Company, Royal Electric Company, Canada Sugar Refinery, St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, William Rutherford & Sons, Canada Paint Company, Montreal Rolling Mills, Thomas Davidson Company, J. C. Wilson Company, Canada Rubber Company, Caledonia Iron Works, Dominion Oilcloth Company, Dominion Cardboard Company, and Messrs. Burland Company are all interesting themselves in the movement for better appliances for the prevention of accidents in factories. The exhibition will continue for several days. Mr. Jobin has recently been selected by the Government from the ranks of labour as factory inspector for the Quebec district, and the appointment has given entire satisfaction throughout the Dominion.

Iron and Steel Markets.

Men eagerly applying for their old positions at all the mills of the United States Steel Corporation shows the end of a most unfortunate and disastrous strike, says Dun's Review of New York. Exports of steel manufactures have been checked, imports of black plates for tinning were made necessary, domestic construction of many kinds interrupted, and men and employers compelled to suffer loss. Echoes of this labour controversy will be heard for some time, but the vigorous prosecution of work to make up for the delay will do much to prevent suffering and hardship by the families of the workmen. Liberal credits advanced by storekeepers have proved disastrous to some shops with small capital, but helped those of the workers who had nothing saved for such a day. Conditions in other lines are little disturbed by disagreements, and the general situation is much better than it was a year ago, when 120,000 coal miners were idle in the anthracite region. Canneries that closed for want of tin plate are making arrangements to resume.

It is too early to feel the full effects of resumption at steel mills. Yet the better conditions are reflected in renewed interest in proposed undertakings. There are no more sales at fabulous figures, as buyers are assured of supplies at reasonable prices within a short time. Prices are still nominal in all branches, but there is a firmness of tone and confidence in the future that augurs well for the stability of prices in this industry.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Liverpool and London Trading in Bad Shape for Shippers.

Live stock shipments from Montreal last week were 2,900 cattle, 1,124 sheep and 54 horses.

Liverpool and London cables indicate that the market is bad for shippers. Canadian cattle are quoted at 12c, and sheep at 10c to 11c.

The trade in the western cattle market has been slow of late owing to the increased offerings of export stock, and the poor quality of the same, but in spite of these facts prices show little change. Good to choice loads sold at $4.75 to $5, and medium at $4 to $4.25 per 100 lbs.

Prices at the Eastern Abattoir show no change. A few choice cattle sold at 4½ to 4¾c; good at 3¾ to 4¼c; fair at 3¼ to 3½c, and lower grades at 1½ to 3c per lb. The demand for sheep was good and prices steady at 3 to 3½c, and lambs sold freely at 4 to 4¼c per lb. A fair trade was done in live hogs, and as the supply was not large, prices were maintained at 6c to 7¼c per lb., weighed off cars.

TORONTO, September 24.—Export cattle, heavy, from 4¾ to 5c per lb.; export cattle, light, from $4 and $4.30 to $4.60 per cwt.; bulls, heavy, 4 to 4¼c per lb.; export bulls, light, $3.40 to $3.75 per cwt.; butchers cattle, choice, $4.25 to $4.60 per cwt.; butchers' cattle, mixed, $3.60 to $4; butchers' cattle, medium, 3 to 3¼c per lb.; butchers' cattle, common, 2 to 3c per lb.; short keep feeders, $3.70 to $4.10 per cwt.; feeders, light, $3.40 to $3.70; stockers, 3 to 3¼c per lb.; stockers, common, $2.50 to $2.90 per cwt. One hundred and ten loads, about fifty loads for Gould, Boston. Milch cows, from $35 to $50; export rams, 2¼ to 2¾c per lb; culls, $2 to $3 each; calves, $2 to $10 each; hogs, singers, 7⅝c per lb.; fats and lights, 7¼c.

On Sunday at Grenville the corner stone of the new Catholic church, which is to cost $35,000, was laid. Services were conducted by the Archbishop of Ottawa, who was assisted by a large number of priests.

FIRMNESS IN PRODUCE MARKET

EGGS SHOW FRACTIONAL ADVANCES EACH DAY.

Prices in the West are Now Pretty High and Fresh Gathered Stock Sells Well—English Merchants Do Not Seem to Follow Advance in Cheese.

CHEESE—Dealers claim that the recent advance here is unjustifiable, and that they are unable to get orders from the other side at present figures. Local holders are asking 9 7-8 to 10c for Sept. Quebecs, 10 to 10 1-8c for Sept. Townships, and 10 1-4c for Sept. Ontarios. Receipts reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 9,242 boxes. The Liverpool public cable is steady at 45s 6d to 46s 6d.

BUTTER—The market appears steady, and receipts are rather light, those reported on the Board of Trade to-day being 2,223 packages. For finest makes 21 1-2c would have to be paid, and possibly 21 3-4c, but the general view of the market is 21 1-4 to 1-2c for finest, and 20 3-4 to 21c for seconds.

EGGS—The British and European Produce Co., of Liverpool, write on Sept. 14 regarding that market, as follows: "Canadian fresh eggs, selected, 16 pounds, 7s 10d to 8s per 10 doz.; ordinary stock, 15 pounds, 7s to 7s 4d per 10 doz. eggs. Demand is fair. Irish is cheaper on account of increased supplies of Canadian and continental. Canadian glycerined stock is offered on contract to retailers at 7s per 10 doz. Liverpool arrivals this week were 1,960 cases of Canadians. No change in prices anticipated for a few weeks.

Holders in the country do not appear specially anxious to sell, and receipts continue light, those reported on the Board of Trade to-day being 644 cases. Dealers are paying 12 1-2c f.o.b., west, and 13 1-2c east, and holders are demanding 1-2c more, and they frequently receive it. Fresh gathered straight receipts sell here at 14 1-2 to 15c, those known to be otherwise bringing considerably less. No. 1 candled bring about 15c, or very little more than fresh straight gathered, owing to the candled being older stock. No. 2 candled bring from 9 to 12c, according to quality.

POTATOES—There is considerable talk of the rotten condition of the stock in the vicinity of Montreal. Dealers say they the getting fine stock from Quebec at 55c a bag in car loads on track. For these there is a good jobbing demand at 70c.

HONEY—A fair sized lot of white strained in tins is reported at 8c a pound. Light comb in pound sections is valued at 9 1-2 to 10c.

BEANS—Few dealers have any stock on hand, but they quote $2.00 per bush for primes, in a wholesale way, or 10c more in jobbing lots. The market is undoubtedly easier than during the past month or so.

GRAIN MARKETS ARE GENERALLY STEADY TO-DAY.

The Liverpool wheat market was 1-8d easier to-day, Dec. closing at 5s 7 1-2d; March at 5s 9 3-8d. Antwerp closed unchanged at 15 1-2 for No. 2 red winter. Paris was steady, Sept. closing unchanged at 21.25, and April 5 down at 22.30.

London reported No. 1 northern spring, steam psge., 25s 10 1-2d paid new; No. 1 hard, Manitoba, steam, Oct., 27s 4 1-2d paid; No. 1 stand. Cala., iron psge., 28s 9d.

Weather was foggy in England and cloudy in France.

The Bartlett Frazier Co.'s private wire quoted Dec. options at one o'clock in Chicago as follows: Wheat, steady at 70 5-8c; corn, steady at 58 7-8c; oats, steady at 36 1-2c.

The George H. Phillips Company, with 500,000 capital, 20 per cent. paid up, has been formed in Chicago, with the former corn king as president. The plan to form a company of the creditors of the old company was recently abandoned. Mr. Phillips owns 25 per cent. of the stock of the new company. He will draw a salary as president and manager of the new concern, and states that whatever dividends his stock paid him would be applied to the debts of the defunct company.

The Bulletin des Halles of the 7th instant computes the French wheat crop at 300,000,000 bushels. This is about 8,000,000 less than last year, but it is from twenty to forty million bushels above some estimates that were made early in the summer. The lowest estimates were made by the organs of the farmers; there were at the same date estimates in the millers' organs of about what the Bulletin des Halles now puts the crop, and this paper represents the sentiment of the grain trade rather than that of the producers, who are, perhaps, as apt as our own to make very low estimates of their crop prospects. The crop estimate above is about 10,000,000 bushels under the average for ten years, and it is 45,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels under the average consumption. The Bulletin says the estimated German deficit is confirmed by the fact that in the twelve months ending July 31 the importation of wheat was nearly 12,000,000 bushels greater than in the previous year. The present shortage, of course, could not have visibly influenced the imports till early in the summer. The latest news from Russia, says the Bulletin, is that both winter and spring wheat are very deficient over a large part of the empire, and the crop will be considerably inferior to that of last year. For five weeks ending August 31 the Russian exports were about a million bushels less than last year.

LOCAL MARKET.—No. 2 white oats are quoted at 39¼c afloat, No. 3 being 38¼c afloat, or 38c ex store for local use. Rye is nominally 56c afloat; No. 2 peas, 80c, with a good enquiry. Some sales of No. 2 barley, at 54c afloat, No. 3 extra being 1c less. Odd cars of No. 2 Ontario red wheat have sold at 75c afloat; no demand for spring; buyers of buckwheat, at 55c, in store, and sellers at 57c, first half October. Manitoba No. 1 hard is worth 76½c afloat here, and No. 1 northern, 74½c.

FLOUR.—Manitoba spring patents, $4.10; best strong bakers', $3.80; winter wheat patents, $3.60 to $3.85; straight rollers, $3.35 to $3.45; in bags, $1.65 to $1.70.

ROLLED OATS—The market is steady. Quotations are $4.10 to $4.20 in barrels, and $2 to $2.05 in bags.

FEED—Manitoba bran, in bags, $16; shorts, in bags, $18; Ontario bran, in bulk, $15.25 to $16; and shorts, $17 to $18 in bulk; moullie, $18 to $25.

HAY.—The market is firm on spot and weak to arrive. No. 1, $8.50 to $9.50; No. 2 $7.50 to $8.50; clover, $6.50 to $7.

A REMARKABLE FIND.

(Special to the Star.)

VANCOUVER, B.C., September 25. The Dawson News prints a remarkable story about the prospecting tour, just completed, of H. W. Bracken, who has returned to Dawson after six months in northern Alaska. Bracken says that about 1,000 miles from Dawson he and his servants ascended a glacier, 8,000 feet high. They found a herd of mountain sheep frozen in the ice. The theory is that some extreme midwinter blizzard caught them while stampeding over the dome, and the sheep huddled together and perished, the snow gradually forming an icy coating. Whatever parts of the bodies were above the ice had been devoured by Arctic bears and wolves. Bracken is said to be a scientific miner, of 25 years' experience, having lived three years in the Yukon.

Baldwin-Zeigler Polar Expedition.

NEW YORK, September 25. — Mr. William S. Champ, private secretary of Mr. Zeigler, who reached New York yesterday on the steamship Cymric, brings an account of the first stage of the Baldwin-Zeigler Polar expedition.

Mr. Champ accompanied Mr. Baldwin in charge of the supply ships as far as Franz Josef Land, to assist in establishing the headquarters of the expedition there. Everything was more favourable for the dash to the pole than Mr. Baldwin had dared expect, Mr. Champ said.

The America had difficulty with ice before reaching that point, and was delayed ten days. Fog and heavy weather were also encountered.

Mr. Baldwin has taken a large number of dogs—420 of them for the dash. Some of them are expected to serve as food for the men as well as the other dogs.

Mr. Champ intimated that there might be some trouble with Walter Wellman, who is conducting a polar expedition over practically the same route.

GOOD ROADS IN TOWNSHIPS.

A MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATION AT KNOWLTON.

A Number of Leading Men to Address the Association at a Meeting at Foster Park, on October First — Wheat Has Been Accomplished in This Direction.

The Good Roads Association of the District of Bedford will hold a grand picnic at Foster Park, Knowlton, on October 1st. Several distinguished and well known speakers have been invited to attend, and it is expected that most of them will be present. Among those whose names are mentioned are Hon. J. J Tarte, Hon. S. A. Fisher, Hon. S. N. Parent, Hon. F. G. M. Dechene, Hon. H. T. Duffy, Hon. M. F. Hackett, D. Macmaster, K.C.; Geo. G. Foster, K.C.; A. W. Campbell, Commissioner of Highways of Ontario, and, J. A. Canniand, Inspector of Roads, Sherbrooke.

The Good Roads Association of Bedford has been doing splendid work in that district for the last three years. Organized in January 1898, chiefly owing to the efforts of Mr. Justice Lynch, the Association has been keeping up its good work and by frequent public meetings has kept the important question before the farmers of the district.

Mr. Justice Lynch still continues to preside over the association. He is ably assisted in the work, however, by Mr. J. Bruce Payne, of Granby, vice-president for Shefford county; Mr. J. J. Mullin, of Bedford, vice-president for Missisquoi and J. C. Draper, of Sutton Junction, vice-president for Brome county. Mr. E. Slack, of Waterloo, has since the inception of the association acted as secretary. Exhibitions of road making with the latest and most approved machinery, with lectures on the best methods of road making, have been given in different parts of the district, and have done much good. The reports of the deliberations of this pioneer association have been published by the Government of the Province, an encouragement and an incentive to others to form like associationse.

On Monday evening, September 30th, at eight o'clock, a meeting of the association will be held in the County House, Knowlton, to transact the affairs for the year. It is expected that a proposition will be submitted to divide the association into three parts, one for each county, so that the work of road improvement may be more readily carried on.

Single fare tickets will be issued at all C. P. R. railway stations in the three counties, good going on September 30th and returning up to October 2nd. A special train will run through from Sutton to Waterloo, on the morning of October 1st, on the arrival of the local train from Newport, and run back again in the evening to connect with the same train, and with the Sherbrooke and Montreal trains at Foster. The speaking at Foster Park will begin at one o'clock sharp, and as every resident of the district has to suffer some inconvenience by bad roads, it is expected that good audiences will be present to profit by the teachings of experience, as well as by the encouragement which will be given the work by the public men present.

THE BANQUET POSTPONED FOR INDEFINITE PERIOD.

Hon. J. Isreal Tarte Writes That He Cannot Attend on October 3rd.

The Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, writes the President of the Chambre de Commerce that it will be impossible for him to attend the banquet which was to have been held in his honour on the evening of October 3, owing to the accident which befel him at Quebec at the time of the Duke of Cornwall's arrival. The banquet will therefore be postponed until a date later on.

SICK WITH GALL STONES.

You can't get any means more effective than Powley's Liquified Ozone to dissolve kidney impurities and make that organ healthy. Almost the first dose will improve the condition and make the system healthy. Mrs. Abbott was most grievously afflicted. Read the story of her bringing back to life as told by herself:—

THE OZONE CO., Ltd., TORONTO, ONT.

Gentlemen: About three years ago I was taken very sick with gall stones in the bladder. I had one of the best doctors in the city, but my case baffled his skill. I also tried various remedies. I became so low that my life was despaired of, and my children, who were in Chicago, were sent for to see me before I passed away. I was advised by my neighbor to try Ozone. In a few days my condition was so much improved that my family began to hope. I continued the treatment and, after taking three bottles was completely cured of my trouble. I am 66 years of age and I feel several years younger since taking the Ozone, as it has toned up my whole system.

I have recommended Ozone to several of my friends, and it would be an encouragement to you if you could hear the praise these people give your remedy.

(Signed) MRS. CHAS. ABBOTT, 24 Hamilton St., Toronto, Ont.

The healing effect of Powley's Liquified Ozone on the membraneous linings of the body are peculiar to the preparation alone, because of the stable oxygen it contains. It eases the pains in the back and makes the kidneys perform their duties thoroughly. It cures permanently and effectively.

AN APPEAL STATED TO COURT OF KING'S BENCH

The Right of Persons to Preach in the Streets at Issue.

The Court of King's Bench in appeal will be called upon during the present term to decide whether street preachers have the right under the Vagrancy Act to hold meetings in the street, and whether the police shall arrest them for obstructing the public highway. Incidentally the right of holding religious or national processions will be discussed, and the decision will be of the deepest interest.

The case to come before Their Lordships is that of Kneeland, a street preacher, who was arrested and brought before Mr. Recorder Weir on a charge of obstructing the streets through the holding of a public meeting.

His Honour Mr. Recorder Weir has submitted the two following questions to Their Lordships in connection with this case:

"1. Does the holding of a public meeting in a public street necessarily involve an impeding of peaceable passengers, and as a consequence the causing of a disturbance? Is direct evidence that peaceable passengers were impeded or incommoded essential to justify a conviction?

"2. Is Article 207 of the Criminal Code applicable to persons of general good character as opposed to loose, idle or disorderly persons, who hold a public meeting in a public place?"

Mr. Recorder Weir found the prisoner guilty, in accordance with previous decisions of the Recorder's Court, and fined Mr. Kneeland twenty-five cents or one hour's imprisonment. At the same time, he announced that he would submit the case to the Court of King's Bench, as he has done. His Honour the Recorder has evidently studied the case thoroughly, as he has submitted with the questions a list of authorities as well as a condensed history of the legislation with regard to such cases.

Burned in the Bath.

Mr. Justice Lavergne yesterday gave judgment for $80 damages in favour of the plaintiff, in the case of Lanoix vs. Idler. The plaintiff went to take a bath in the establishment conducted by the defendant, and while there was badly burned by coming into contact with a hot water pipe, which was very much over-heated. The action was for $150, but while the court found that the defendant was at fault, the damages were reduced to $80.

LIKE OPIUM EATERS.

Coffee Drinkers Become Slaves.

"The experience, suffering and slavery of some coffee drinkers would be almost as interesting as the famous "Confessions of an Opium Eater," says a Boston man, W. J. Tuson, 131 W. Newton St. "For twenty years I used coffee at the breakfast table and, incidentally, through the day, I craved it as a whiskey drinker longs for his morning bracer. I knew perfectly well that it was slowly killing me, but I could not relinquish it.

The effect on the nervous system was finally alarming and my general health greatly impaired. I had dyspepsia, serious heart difficulty, and insomnia. When I would lie down, I would almost suffocate. My doctor assured me it was due to the action of caffeine (which is the active principle of coffee) on the heart.

"I persisted in its use, however, and suffered along just as drunkards do. One day when I was feeling unusually depressed, a friend whom I met looked me over and said: 'Now, look here, old man, I believe I know exactly what's the matter with you. You are a coffee fiend and it's killing you. I want to tell you my experience. I drank coffee and it ruined my nerves, affected my heart, and made me a sallow, bilious old man, but through a friend who had been similarly affected I found a blessed relief and want to tell you about it. Try Postum Food Coffee, a grateful, delicious beverage, full of nourishment, that will satisfy your taste for coffee and feed your nervous system back into health, rather than tear it down as coffee has been doing.'

"I took my friend's advice, and within a week from that time, my suggestion seemed perfect. I slept a sweet, refreshing sleep all night, and my heart quit its quivering and jumping. I have been steadily gaining in health and vitality right along."

ST. LOUIS COUNCIL DISCUSSES THE BONUS.

A Public Meeting of the Ratepayers to be Called to Discuss the Question in All Its Details.

The meeting of the Council of St. Louis last night was largely patronized by the cigarmakers now on strike. Mayor Gelinas, who presided, had no difficulty in maintaining order, as the men were very quiet and attentive.

The by-law granting a bonus of $16,000 to the N. O. Grothe Company, was reintroduced in a modified form, the most important change being that the bonus shall be payable annually as a percentage of five per cent. on a proportion of the expenses representing wages, salaries, etc., paid out in each year. This proportion is fixed at 40 per cent. for the first year, 50 per cent. for the second, and 60 per cent. for the third year.

The first reading of the by-law led to a debate which took up the whole sitting.

Councillor Collerette struck out on a new line of opposition by insisting that a clause be put in the by-law binding the company not to use any cigar-making machines. Each one of these machines, he declared, would do the work of five men. If these machines were used, and the company refused to bind itself to employ a certain number of heads of families, he did not see how the payment of this bonus could add anything to the general prosperity of the town. The Council should not pay money out to run machines, but to encourage people to come within the limits and build up the town; for this it is necessary to offer inducements in the way of employment to householders and people who pay rent and taxes.

The Councillor's remarks met with the approval of the audience, who applauded.

Councillor Jubinville objected to paying 5 per cent. on a proportion of the expenses. The percentage should be on wages alone.

Councillor Shinnick was opposed to the bonus; but if the Council granted it asked that the company be required to employ 75 or at least 50 heads of families.

Councillor Chausse did not see that the use of machines made any difference provided the full number of employes stipulated for in the by-law were kept at work. As to binding the company to employ any given number of heads of families, he had been told by Mr. Grothe that the company could not accept that condition, not even if the bonus was raised to a hundred thousand dollars, because it would put the company completely under the control of the leaders of the union.

The Mayor said the question was one in which the tax-paying proprietors were so deeply interested that he thought they should be consulted. He advised the Council to call a public meeting at which the whole matter may be discussed.

After further debating it was resolved, on motion of Councillor Jubinville, to call a meeting of tax-paying proprietors for Thursday, at 8 p.m., at the Town Hall, and the Council adjourned.

PRINCE CONSORT LODGE.

A Farewell to the Worthy Master at Last Evening's Meeting.

The first regular communication of Prince Consort's Lodge, No. 52, Q. R. A. F. and A. M., held after the summer holidays, was very largely attended at the Masonic Temple last night, the W. M. having made it the occasion on which to say farewell to his old associates in the craft, a separation having become necessary as he had accepted an important position in Lebanon, Pa. After the work of the lodge had been concluded the W. M. invited the visitors and there were many, to join the members at supper, which would be presided over for the last time by him. The toast of the King and Craft and that of the Grand Lodge of Quebec, having been honoured, Bro. Wm. Johnston gave a song, followed by a violin solo by Bro. Silverstone. The toast of the Visitors brought forth responses from W. Bro. Tate, of St. Andrews; Bro. Buckin, of Prince Rupert Lodge, G. R. of Manitoba; R. W. Bro. P. McTavish, of Mount Royal, and Bro. Etherold, of New Jersey, who made a neat speech referring to the warm feeling of friendship daily growing up between the two great Anglo-Saxon races, which would be fostered by the craft. After the health of the two youngest Masons had been honoured W. Bro. Council said that he would propose a toast that he had only once before heard. It was that of the retiring master, who was obliged to leave before the expiration of his term. He spoke in the highest terms of W. Bro. Ed. J. Renshaw's association with the lodge, and in proposing his health he called for Highland honours. The W. M., in responding, said that it was a difficult matter to sever the ties of friendship and brotherhood that connected him with his mother lodge, and he hoped to be able to visit them at least once a year. Looking back over the years he had spent in Montreal he was bound to say that they were the happiest in his life.

HOW TO ASCERTAIN VALUE OF PROPERTY

ASSESSORS FIND OBSTACLES PLACED IN THEIR WAY.

In One Case a Proprietor Was Caught by An Offer to Buy at the Assessed Value and Finally Backed Out — An Assessor's Tale—Between Aldermen and Public.

The recent public meetings that have been held in St. Gabriel Ward, to protest against the increase of values put upon real estate, show that in very many ways the lives of assessors, when they are making the annual assessments, are not at all to be envied.

On one hand they are watched with eagle eyes by owners of real estate to see they do not increase the values; while on the other hand they know the aldermen will be bitterly disappointed if there is not a good increase every year. If there is the usual healthy increase it means there will be an additional three hundred thousand dollars for the good civic fathers to spend.

MEET VERY MANY OBSTACLES.

Speaking to-day of the difficulty in assessing real estate, one of the city assessors said: "Assessors, like other mortals, are apt to make mistakes and assess a property at a higher value than is just; but I must say that such mistakes are as scarce as humming birds in winter time. We often have the most amusing obstacles to overcome in order to ascertain the real value of a property. Let me give you an instance. A few weeks ago, it was my duty to try to ascertain the value of a handsome row of houses that had been erected in one of the most fashionable parts of the city. I sought out the owner, a very keen man after the shekels, and after praising the way in which the structure had been put up, and speaking of its handsome appearance, said I would assess it at a certain sum.

The moment he heard the amount, the man of many houses (for he owns a multitude) fairly collapsed.

With a look of consternation, that would have deceived any one but an assessor, he gasped: "Why, you must be dreaming! The building and ground are not worth half the amount you name. Preposterous, sir, preposterous."

DID NOT WANT TO SELL.

"I must frankly say my heart was not at all stirred with pity, and I made the simple rejoinder that a block of houses across the road, which had been built for some ten years, were being assessed for as much as the sum I had mentioned for the new and modern block. I could not see my way clear to lower a dollar from the amount I had mentioned.

"Then sir, let me tell you," he broke out wrathfully, "that you are behaving most unjustly; you are under a misapprehension as to the value of the house and the ground and are committing a gross injustice."

I now made a somewhat subtle move, which I am glad to say carried the day. I asked him if he would be willing to sell the land and the building for the amount I had assessed them. He had already said I had put an assessed value upon them far above their market value.

In reply to my question he said, without a moment's hesitation: "Certainly, I will be glad to sell it for the enormous assessed value you have mentioned."

"I am glad to hear it; I will go with you to your office and you can make me out the promise in writing. I will get a purchaser for your block inside of one hour.

Off we started, at quite a sharp and business-like pace towards the office of the irate landowner. But, bless your heart, that pace did not keep up for two minutes. Presently the man of dollars and cents began to lag behind. I marched ahead as though I was not aware he was not still close at my side. He hated to ask me to walk a little slower, but finally he did so. He was now pulling at his gray moustache in a way that meant a new move.

"If I sell the building it will have to be spot cash," he said with sudden abruptness.

"Spot cash," I answered cheerfully.

He was soon walking slower than ever. Finally his office was reached. He pointed to a chair. I seated myself with a business-like air. Pulling a chair directly opposite mine, he sat down and looked me dead in the eye. There was a peculiar twinkle in his own. "So," he said, "you can get a purchaser for my property for the assessed value you want to put upon it?"

"That is it, my good sir."

"Well, it is very good of you, Mr. Assessor, but I think I had better not sell after all." He now broke out into a most hearty laugh and said, "But I must say you are one of the most persistent men I ever met. I guess my retreat has not been a very masterly one, eh?"

WORSE CASES THAN THIS.

"In this instance," said the assessor to the reporter to whom the incident had been related, "you see it only needed a keen discernment of human nature to see the city got its proper taxes. In scores of other cases, however, right down meanness is met with. There are properties in Montreal that have naturally increased in value with the growth of the city, yet when an attempt was made this fall to raise their value, a regular storm was raised about our ears. There is not an assessor but who will tell you of a host of obstacles that are put in their way so as to put them at sea in regard to the real value of building, etc. It can truly be said that the assessors' lot is not a happy one.

"The total revenue the city gets from all sources is a little over three millions annually, but before the aldermen get it in their hands to spend, enough labour and anxiety is expended to almost get it from one of the mines in the Klondike."

The Catholic School Board.

A meeting of the Board of Catholic School Commissioners was held last evening at Plateau School, Mgr. Racicot presiding. This was the first meeting held since the opening of the different schools. Mr. W. E. Archambault submitted the reports of the various committees.

The report of the School Committee was adopted with the exception of one clause calling for the appointment of a number of supplementary teachers for schools in which some classes had been found to be too large. The matter was laid over till next meeting.

The report of the expense committee was then read and adopted. A point of discussion arose from the question whether the custom of charging an admission fee had been abolished in all the schools under the direction of the commissioners. The secretary replied that the fee was still charged in the schools under the direction of the Christian Brothers and the Sisters of Notre Dame. It was decided that Mr. Archambault should investigate and report at the next meeting.

Festival of Fruits and Flowers.

The Pan-American Exposition will be the scene of pageants of great beauty and splendour, of extra fine entertainments and general amusements of greater magnitude than usual during the week of September 30th-October 5th, when a carnival will be given to be officially known as the "Festival of Fruits and Flowers," and the methods usually prevailing in the countries of the South will be employed to make it spectacular and gorgeous in all details. A queen and court will preside on a throne during the week and her maids of honour will be selected from the largest adjacent cities.

A Pleasant Duty.—"When I know any thing worthy of recommendation, I consider it my duty to tell it," says Rev. James Murdock, of Hamburg, Pa. "Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder has cured me of Catarrh of five years' standing. It is certainly magical in its effect. The first application benefited me in five minutes."—7, 225 3

BOER AGENTS VISIT REFUGEE CAMPS

GENERAL BLOOD INVITES VILJOEN TO INSPECT THEM.

The Boer General Sends a Representative, Who Finds That All the Refugees are Contented—Only Complaint is About Meat, Which is the Same as the Soldiers Get.

PRETORIA, September 25.—In the interview between Generals Blood and Viljoen, at Lydenburg, the discussion turned, among other points, on the concentration camps. To remove any doubt in the minds of the Boers as to the manner in which these are conducted, and as to the general principles actuating the British throughout the war, General Blood proposed that Viljoen should visit one. The Boer general declined to go himself for fear of giving offence to the burghers, but readily assented on behalf of one of his staff. Accordingly, on Tuesday, Lieut. Malan, of the Staats Artillery, aide-de-camp to Viljoen, arrived at Middleburg by train from Belfast, for the purpose of inspecting the camp. Early on Wednesday morning General Blood, accompanied by some members of his staff, rode out with Malan and paid a long visit to the camp.

Arriving at the camp, which contains nearly 7,000 men, women and children, Malan made an inspection alone, being charged by Sir B. Blood to ask if any complaints were made. Malan addressed as many of the refugees as possible, and stated that he found all of them content, and that nothing was specially wanted. The only complaint heard was regarding the quality of the meat, which was not unexpected, as the camp receives the same meat as that served to the soldiers and other inhabitants of the town, the quality of which is poor at present, owing to the difficulty of securing grazing cattle.

The Boer emissary returned the same afternoon to Belfast to join Viljoen, who is at present in the neighbourhood of Bullstroom, south of Foos Senekal.

REPULSED FROM NATAL.

The Boers are Being Driven Back From the Frontier.

(Special to the Star.)

LONDON, September 25.—The War Office has received a despatch from Lord Kitchener stating that the last information from Natal is to the effect that the Boers who have been raiding there are retiring to the eastward and north-eastward. Despatches from South Africa to-day say Lieut. Rundle has driven the Boers back to Nkandi, south of the Vryheid, on the Natal border. Capt. Goetze, of Commandant Beyer's Scouts, has been captured near Pietersburg.

CAPE TOWN, September 25.—Colonel Munro's column engaged General Fouche's commando, estimated at 400, at Penhoek, twelve miles east of Sterkstroom, on September 14. Previous to this, Colonel Munro had driven Gen. Fouche from the vicinity of Jamestown. The fight resulted in the Boers retreating in an easterly direction. They left eighteen dead on the field.

Kruger and the United States.

BRUSSELS, September 25.—The Soir prints a despatch from The Hague saying that Mr. Kruger has decided to send soon a special mission to President Roosevelt.

THE HAGUE, September 25.—The announcement made in the Soir, of Brussels, that Mr. Kruger has decided to send a special mission to President Roosevelt, is not correct. The expenses incurred since Mr. Kruger came to Europe has reduced the Transvaal funds to a small sum. In fact, some of the Boers here are even destitute, and all of them agree that Mr. Kruger has scarcely enough for himself. The course probably to be adopted will be that Montagu White will be instructed to approach the United States Government.

Details of Reverses are Reassuring.

(Special to the Star.)

LONDON, September 25.—The war news from South Africa remains vague, but the details of recent reverses are reassuring in one respect. The evidence points to errors in judgment of the officers rather than apathy and staleness of the men. The rank and file fought well, and there was no lack of courage and spirit. Dewet's re-appearance in some unexpected quarter is looked for hourly, since the recrudescence of Boer activity, after a long period of stagnation, was evidently the result of preconcerted action among all the commandoes.

Arbitration Tribunal Won't Act.

(Special to the Star.)

BRUSSELS, September 25.—It is authoratively stated that permanent council of the International Court of Arbitration will declare itself incompetent to deal with the appeal of the Boer delegation for arbitration.

Canadian Scout Wounded.

(Special by Cable from the Special Correspondent of the Star in London.)

LONDON, September 25.—Albert Sharples, a Canadian Scout, with Remington's column, was slightly wounded on 31st of August. WINDERMERE.

Kitchener's Weekly Report.

LONDON, September 25.—Lord Kitchener reports that twenty-nine Boers have been killed, sixteen wounded, and three hundred and fifty made prisoners, and that forty-eight have surrendered between September 16 and September 23.

Roosevelt and Reciprocity.

WASHINGTON, September 25.—Secretaries Gage and Wilson, Attorney-General Knox, and Postmaster-General Smith were the only members of the Cabinet at yesterday's meeting.

All of the members of the Cabinet present yesterday took the opportunity to give the President information as to the working of the Executive Department. The status of the reciprocity treaties now pending before Congress was discussed briefly. It was decided that the appointments made by the late President where no commissions had been issued, owing to his illness and death, should date from the time President Roosevelt signed the commissions.

Dr. Robillard Will Resign.

OTTAWA, September 25.—Dr. Robillard, for the past 22 years medical health officer of Ottawa, will send in his resignation to the council at its next meeting, a week from Monday. A special meeting of the Board of Health has been called for to-night, when Dr. Robillard will state his intentions to the board. Asked if the report about his contemplated resignation was true, the doctor replied that it was.

"I have been," he said, "so bothered, lectured and found fault with by those who seem to know more about how matters should be run than I do, that I have fully made up my mind to retire."

HIGH SHERIFF OF ST. JOHN IS DEAD.

H. Laurence Sturdee, a Prominent Resident of the New Brunswick Metropolis, Passes Away.

(Special to the Star.)

ST. JOHN, N. B., September 25.—H. Laurence Sturdee, M. A., High Sheriff of St. John, died this morning after a few weeks' illness, of cancer of the stomach, aged 59. He was a native of St. John and a son of the late H. H. P. Sturdee. He was Lloyds' agent at this port. He leaves a wife and five children. The deceased was vestry clerk of Trinity Church for the past 25 years. He served two terms as president of St. George's Society, was twice Mayor of the old city of Portland and filled various other positions of trust. He was a Liberal, and in 1880 was the unsuccessful candidate for a seat in the Provincial Legislature. He was Warden of St. John County for two years. Sturdee was president of N. B. University and before becoming High Sheriff enjoyed a large law practice.

SAFTIG'S ANARCHIST PLOT.

The Story Told by a St. Louis Thief Respecting McKinley's Assassination.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., September 25.—The circumstances attending the alleged confession of knowledge of an anarchist plot to kill President McKinley, made by Ed. Saftig yesterday, are as follows:

Saftig was arrested on Monday afternoon on suspicion of having stolen articles valued at $4 from a department store at Broadway and Morgan streets. Yesterday morning, Chief Desmond was talking to Saftig in his outer office, when a detective remarked the striking resemblance the prisoner had to Czolgosz. Saftig said that he had on more than one occasion been taken for the assassin. In reply to Chief Desmond's question, he replied that he knew Czolgosz and other anarchists. Chief Desmond immediately took him into his private office and "sweated" him for several hours. Saftig told Chief Desmond that he would tell all he knew regarding the plot to kill the President. He prefaced his remarks by telling of his life prior to the present time.

"It was on the Monday before the President was killed that I first knew anything was going to happen in anarchistic circles," said Saftig. "On that date Frank Harrigan an anarchist that I had known in New York and other Eastern cities, located me, and made an appointment for me to meet him at the Michelobe saloon, in this city.

"I did not know before why I was to meet him. He knew me of old, and he knew that my weakness was liquor. We both drank, but what I drank affected me most.

"Harrigan told me that he wanted me to go to Buffalo with him. He said that there was a man to be killed, a prominent man. I asked him who it was. He told me to wait and I would see.

"I finally consented to go with him. We left here on Tuesday and got into Buffalo on Wednesday evening late. Harrigan gave me $50 and paid my way there, and gave me a return ticket for St. Louis.

"When we got to Buffalo we went to a boarding-house. I do not remember the name of the proprietor nor the street where it was located. The man was arrested after the President was shot.

"When we got into the boarding-house we saw Czolgosz. I knew him, having met him in Chicago several years ago. Czolgosz told me that he intended killing the President. He said he had been to Niagara Falls with that in view, but had failed. He was to make another attempt soon."

Chief of Detectives Desmond, who talked all this morning to Saftig, is convinced that Saftig is telling the straight story of President McKinley's assassination. The chief says that he will hold Saftig subject to the Federal authorities.

DOES NOT KNOW HIM.

CHICAGO, September 25.—Emma Goldman, who was released yesterday by Justice Prindiville, was found at the house of Isaaks, where the anarchists were holding a jollification meeting on account of their release from custody. She sent out word that she did not know any such man as Saftig.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE.

BUFFALO, September 25. — Assistant District Attorney Haller was shown the report of the arrest and alleged confession of Saftig at St. Louis. He was much interested and read it intently.

"That is very important, if true," he said.

"Do you know anything about this matter at all?" he was asked.

"No; it is all news to me."

London Papers on Czolgosz's Trial.

LONDON, September 25. — Newspapers here express the hope that no such delay in executing Czolgosz will be permitted as was witnessed in the case of President Garfield's assassin.

The trial at Buffalo has revived the question of the treatment of Anarchists. It is agreed that the time has come for the governments of the civilized world to make a determined effort to stamp out anarchism. One of the suggestions made, is the framing of a definition of "incitement to crime," which would leave no loop-holes for escape. With an international force of police, organized to hunt down inciters to political crime, little would then be heard of re-organization of society by assassination.

The Copenhagen correspondent of the Telegraph states that the Russian and German foreign ministers discussed at Dantzig the best methods of ridding Europe of anarchism. The subject was discussed later between M. Delcasse and Count Lamsdorff. They are of the opinion that concerted action is needed by all civilized countries.

Anarchists After Emperor William.

(Special to the Star.)

BERLIN, September 25.—It is stated that the police measures at the hunting lodge at Romanton, where Emperor William is staying, are more rigorous than ever taken before. Residents of the frontier village of Matzulkehmen were arrested, with two strangers, whose lodgings contained a quantity of anarchist literature. The villagers were subsequently released, but the strangers were extradited to Russia on the charge of smuggling anarchist literature.

MISS BLOODGOOD HAS BEEN FOUND

MISSING NEW YORK GIRL HAS BEEN LOCATED.

She Spent Several Days in An Obscure Hotel and is Not Any the Worse for Her Experience — Proprietor Recognized Her From Decriptions.

NEW YORK, September 25.—Helen A. Bloodgood, the daughter of a New York millionaire, who left her home, 83 Irving Place, on Thursday last, has been located in a small hotel at Basking Ridge, N.J. She had been at the hotel since Friday morning, living under an assumed name, and her conduct during that time seems to have been that of a person in a perfectly normal mental condition.

Just once, while at this hotel, did Miss Bloodgood absent herself from the neighbourhood for any length of time. That was on Saturday, when she left at nine o'clock in the morning, ostensibly to visit her mother, who she said was living at Summit, a short distance away, and returned late in the afternoon. All this time she was living under the name of Louise Johnson, and claiming a residence in Summit, and none of those with whom she came in contact at Basking Ridge thought of doubting her story until they read in the newspapers of the missing Miss Bloodgood, of New York.

PROPRIETOR TOLD PARENTS.

"Miss Johnson," of Summit, fitted too accurately the description of Miss Bloodgood, of New York, for her identity to be doubted for very long, and the hotel proprietor, without letting the young woman know anything about it, communicated with her father and mother here, and speedily established the fact that his guest was the missing girl. Her mother went after her at once and she was back home again shortly before 6 o'clock last evening.

While the girl's sudden departure from New York, and her prolonged absence from home when there seems to be no doubt that she was in her right mind and fully aware of the anxiety she was causing her parents is strange, the Bloodgood family have done all in their power to explain it, and they have been especially frank in giving out for publication all that they have been able to learn of their daughter's exploit. Mr. Bloodgood, accompanied by his brother-in-law, S. F. Kuneo, went to police headquarters and in the presence of Capt. Titus, of the Detective Bureau, told all that he knew of his daughter's mysterious absence from home, and consented to answer any questions that were put to him about it.

Mr. Bloodgood has succeeded in tracing every movement of his daughter from the time she left home until she was found, save her exact whereabouts on Thursday night, the night of the day when she left home. Miss Bloodgood says that she stayed at a farmhouse near Summit on that night, and Mr. Bloodgood says that he will look up the farmer with his daughter. When Miss Bloodgood is in a little more settled condition she will also be questioned about her absence from the Basking Ridge Hotel almost all of Saturday. In the meantime, it is stated, on the authority of Mr. Bloodgood, that the girl is in excellent mental and physical condition, and has suffered no ill effects from her rather unusual excursion into the country.

WHY SHE LEFT HOME.

The question as to why the girl left home in the way she did is a rather delicate one. Hints of dissatisfaction on her part with the constant surveillance of a governess, have been thrown out from time to time since Miss Bloodgood went away, but this story of dissatisfaction is denied by her parents. They say that the girl has suffered from fits of depression for some time, and that on Wednesday night, the night before she went away, she cried all night. They attribute her conduct in leaving home so suddenly to one of these fits of depression, and her remaining away from home so long, to hesitancy to face her parents after having caused them so much anxiety and trouble.

A CURIOUS COINCIDENCE.

In the mysterious disappearance of Miss Helen A. Bloodgood, of New York, fiction has been paralleled by truth with startling accuracy. Everybody's Magazine for this month contains a short story by O. K. Davis, in which the opening of the plot corresponds almost precisely with the circumstances regarding Miss Bloodgood's adventure.

The story tells of the disappearance "from her Fifth avenue home of Alice Mills, the only child of one of the wealthiest men in the city. Three days before the young woman had walked out of the front door early in the afternoon, and there all trace of her ended. It was a fine fall day, and she had told her maid that she would probably be out for an hour or more."

MISS HELEN A. BLOODGOOD,
The New York Heiress Who Was Missing and Has Been Found.

Miss Bloodgood is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bloodgood, of 83 Irving place, one of the wealthy families of New York's exclusive society. She left the house at 11 o'clock last Thursday morning. Like the heroine in the magazine story, she said she would not be absent long, calling to her mother from the hall that she would take a short walk and attend to some shopping.

In the imaginative plot Mr. Mills made inquiries among his friends, then notified the police. "They worked two days and found not the slightest clue. So far Mr. Mills had been able to keep the matter a secret among his intimate friends. But when the detectives failed to unravel the case the broker gave up and a general alarm was sent out."

The conditions were exactly similar in the mystery of real life. The newspaper account of the Bloodgood case said yesterday:

"The search was thorough, though it was carried on quietly, because the parents dreaded the notoriety. Late Saturday night they consented that Devery should send out a general police alarm for the missing girl."

The author of the magazine story brings it to an odd conclusion, the missing heiress having absented herself from home purposely. A New York detective pointed out that Miss Bloodgood had $15 with her when she left the house, which he said "would be enough to keep her until now and longer, if she had purposely absented herself from home."

It appears that his surmise was correct, Miss Bloodgood having remained from home deliberately, just as did the Miss Mills in the story.

RANSOM FOR MISS STONE.

Her Captors are Bulgarians Not Turks, and Want Money for Her Return.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 25. — Bulgarian brigands, instead of Turks, kidnapped Miss Ellen H. Stone, the American missionary in Turkey, according to the last advices to the State Department. Consul-General Dickinson, at Constantinople, has cabled the departure that Bulgarian brigands crossed the Turkish border and, seizing Miss Stone, carried her back into Bulgaria, and outside of the Sultan's dominions. The Consul-General has been in communication with the brigands, who demand a ransom for the release of the prisoner, and he asks the State Department whether the American Board of Foreign Missions is willing to pay this ransom. The request has been transmitted to the mission board. Miss Stone was a resident of Chelsea, Mass., where her mother now resides.

LONDON, September 25. — "Turkish troops," says a despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Constantinople, "rushed the village, where it was supposed the brigands held Miss Stone, the abducted American missionary, but found it empty, the brigands having gone into Bulgaria, with their captive."

Horsemen Disappointed.

TORONTO, September 25. — The horsemen at Woodbine track are all disappointed at the action of the Hunt Club in declining to grant their petition for prolonging the race meeting another week. The horsemen argue that, with so many horses here the club could easily do this. The club takes another view of the matter. More than once outsiders have tried to get into Toronto to run long meetings. These people have always met with the strongest opposition from the Ontario Jockey Club and the Hunt Club. The committee, taking this into consideration, cannot see their way clear to allow the meeting to be extended.

HAMBURG, September 25.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra started on their return to England last night, travelling by way of Flushing. The railway to that place was doubly guarded as a precautionary measure.

THE SIFTON MURDER TRIAL.

Walter Herbert Tells a Convincing Story of How the Father of the Prisoner Was Killed.

LONDON, Ont., September 25.—The Sifton murder trial was proceeded with here on Tuesday afternoon.

Walter Herbert went into the witness box and told a very straight story of the crime. He admitted having struck the first blow, but said he then threw away the murderous axe. Gerald Sifton picked up the axe and struck his father repeatedly through a trap door on the side of the head. The blow dazed Sifton, but he did not fall from the ladder. Gerald Sifton then seized the axe and rained three or four blows on top of the head. The now unconscious man was pulled up through the opening and thrown on some hay. Here Gerald struck him twice and again he did so before the body was let fall through an opening in the end of the barn—a fall that the defence claim was the cause of death. Herbert was then sent around to where the body lay and placed it as Gerald directed, together with the axe and some stones, putting blood on the latter. The injured man's head was covered with blood. Herbert said Sifton told him to hit the old man again as there would be trouble if he came to. He struck the prostrate man twice on the head.

The witness told the court he knew nothing of Sifton's intention to kill his father until the morning of the tragedy. He was milking as usual when Sifton called him and said he was going to his father's to do away with the old man, and if he would go along as a witness and say there was no foul play, should the question be raised, he would give him $1,000. He consented, not until the deceased was about to come through the trap door was Herbert asked to assist. He then struck one blow, but was evidently disheartened, and threw the axe away. The younger Sifton then grabbed the axe and while belabouring his father with it said: "You old —— you won't fool me any more."

Herbert's story carried conviction with it. There was absolutely no display of bravado. Many times he seemed on the point of breaking down. Upon not a few points in the boy's story the Crown will bring forward strong corroboration and the defence recognize that they have an up-hill fight ahead.
