Independent food stores swamped in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — The competitors of three city food chains embroiled in labor disputes were doubling stock and hiring extra help to cope with the influx of new customers on the weekend.

All are hoping the new customers — who frequented the area's 97 Steinberg, 45 Provigo and 13 A and P stores closed by the disputes — will break their old shopping habits.

At least one store in the conflict-free Metro-Richelieu chain opened its doors Sunday — illegally, as its management cheerfully conceded.

"We have six Steinberg and Provigo stores in our area, so we figure we owe it to the people of the neighborhood," said assistant manager Richard Caron. "The worst that can happen is that we'll get fined."

His store had to hire security guards to keep people in line because it could only handle 150 customers at a time.

Although labor troubles have shut down 40 per cent of the city's supermarkets, shoppers still have access to over 700 large grocery stores and more than 2,000 smaller neighborhood convenience stores.

Many of the open grocers reported that business has risen by as much as 50 per cent. Some have doubled stock in their warehouses and added a night shift to replenish the shelves for the next day's clientele.

"This is where we can make our mark and be seen as a viable alternative to the big chains," said Cyril MacNeil, manager of a west-end farmer's market.

Meanwhile, no progress was reported on the weekend in the disputes between the three chains and the United Food and Commercial Workers International Union representing their employees.

Steinberg locked out its 7,500 workers last Thursday after they voted to reject the company's final contract offer, which included roll-backs in benefits and pay.

Talks at Provigo, where 2,200 employees have been on strike for three weeks, resumed last week, but their status has not been disclosed. The chain's 53 franchised stores remain open.

And the 13 A and P outlets shut by a strike for several weeks were put on sale last week.

The Steinberg proposals, offered in a two-year contract retroactive to Sept. 21, would mean a wage freeze in the first year for regular employees and a pay cut for part-time employees, with a four-per-cent increase for everyone in the second year.

Four mayors dumped in Eastern Townships' elections

By Charles Bury

SHERBROOKE — Reform slates displaced several Eastern Townships mayors and councillors in municipal elections Sunday while other towns and villages chose to stick with what they had.

Dozens of Eastern Townships communities were among over a thousand Québec municipalities to go to the polls Sunday. In other towns voting takes place today.

In Rock Forest, East Angus, Thetford Mines and Coaticook the reformers triumphed while in Ascot Township and Bromtonville voters returned the incumbents. And Coaticook council now boasts what may be Québec's first-ever husband-and-wife team on council.

Rock Forest's controversial mayor Laurent Boudreau was beaten by Gaétan Lavallée, 1876 votes to 1455 while Pierre Blais-Paquette earned 987 votes and former mayor Aldéric Dussault ran last with 298. Boudreau's council went out with him.

Only Yvon Côté, re-elected by acclamation to seat number 4, remains from the previous Rock Forest council.

A large crowd gathered at the Rock Forest town hall to learn the results: Côté and Lavallée will be joined at the council table by Claude Vermette in seat number 1, André Nadeau in seat number 2, Gilles Jeanson in number 3, René Tardif in seat 5 and Jean-Guy Dion in seat 6.

Lavallée said he will work with the new council to "make Rock Forest a positive place in people's minds again," after the colorful reign of Lau-

Not on the list?

Many would-be voters in Bury were shocked Sunday to find their names had been removed from the list of eligible voters. Those turned away from the polls are still seeking an adequate explanation. Story page 3.

PLO rebels pound last Arafat stronghold

TRIPOLI (AP) — PLO rebels in north Lebanon bombarded Yasser Arafat's last stronghold with up to 50 shells a minute today, while in Beirut experts defused a "huge amount of explosives" in a stolen French jeep parked near the Iranian Embassy.

The French contingent of the multinational peacekeeping force reported one of its jeeps was stolen a few days ago. Police spotted the jeep near the Iranian Embassy in West Beirut at dawn and Lebanese explosives experts dismantled the deadly cargo, a police statement said.

The statement indicated the embassy was the intended target of the explosives, but it said police had no clue as to who might have been behind the attempt.

A pro-Iranian extremist group claimed responsibility for the suicide truck-bombing last Friday which killed 60 people at an Israeli military post in southern Lebanon and similar attacks at the U.S. marine and French bases in Beirut on Oct. 23. A total of 230 U.S. servicemen and 58 French soldiers died in those attacks.

Beirut radio stations said Syrian-backed PLO mutineers led by Col. Saed Mousa rained heavy artillery fire today on the Palestinian refugee camp of Baddawi, outside the northern port city of Tripoli in apparent preparation for a final assault.

Outgunned loyalists of Arafat, the Palestine Liberation Organization chairman, abandoned the Nahr el-Bared camp Sunday to make a last stand around his headquarters in Baddawi.

RETREATS TO TRIPOLI

Today, state-run Beirut radio said Arafat abandoned his Baddawi command post at mid-morning and retreated to a PLO political office in the old quarter of Tripoli. The report could not be independently confirmed.

Lebanese police said more than 1,000 people have been killed and 3,000 wounded since the rebels began their attack Thursday.

Burning oil tanks at a refinery near Baddawi spewed thick black smoke for a fifth consecutive day over Lebanon's second largest city. Police said thousands of Tripoli's 500,000 inhabitants have fled to safer areas.

The rebels say they want to oust Arafat because he has abandoned the struggle with Israel. Arafat's men say Syria is backing the assault because it wants to control the PLO.

Christian and Moslem religious leaders in Tripoli have appealed for a ceasefire and the International Red Cross is seeking medical supplies for hospitals overwhelmed by the wounded.

Arafat's control over the PLO began to collapse 13 months ago, when Israeli invaders forced him and his fighters to evacuate Beirut. Syrian-backed guerrillas openly split from Arafat's leadership in May, Syria declared him unwelcome in June and then helped mutineers oust Arafat loyalists from eastern Lebanon.

Zip A-Dee-Doo Daub

LA LUZ, N.M. (AP) — Vernon and Betty Daub's first son was born Oct. 18 and they gave him a name that "just seemed right" — Zip A-Dee-Doo Daub.

"My husband has been wanting to name a baby that for 10 years," Daub said Friday. "It's one of his favorite songs and one of his father's favorite songs. My father used to tell me those stories about the Tar Baby and Br'er Rabbit."

At the Daub home, one of the most popular records is the soundtrack recording from the 1945 Walt Disney movie Song of the South, which includes the song Zip-A-Dee-Doo-Do.

Daub, 32, said she and her husband, a civilian engineer at Holloman Air Force Base, waited 12 years to have a baby, although they had contemplated the name for a decade.

"I was against the name for many years," she said. "But once I got pregnant, it just seemed right."

The boy's mother promises she won't force Zip, as he'll be called, to bear such a name all his life.

"If he wants to change it later, that will be fine," she said.

The boy's grandparents were a little surprised at the name at first, but then decided it was fine, Daub said.

"The whole family has a sense of humor."

Andropov absence starts rumors

MOSCOW (Reuter) — Soviet President Yuri Andropov was absent from the group of Politburo members reviewing today's traditional Revolution Day parade, heightening speculation that he may be seriously ill.

It was the first time in memory that a Soviet leader failed to attend the Nov. 7 parade, the highpoint of the Soviet calendar when eyes at home and abroad are fixed on Lenin's Mausoleum in Red Square for hints on possible changes in the Soviet hierarchy.

Andropov has not been seen in public for more than two months and did not turn up at an indoor Kremlin rally Saturday in honor of today's 66th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

There were, however, no indications that the condition of the 69-year-old Soviet leader might be critical.

Defence Minister Marshal Dmitri Ustinov, making his traditional speech from atop Lenin's Mausoleum, was flanked by veteran Politburo member Konstantin Chernenko, once thought to have rivaled Andropov for the top job, and Prime Minister Nikolai Tikhonov.

Andropov is officially said to have had a cold for the last few weeks, but western observers and Soviet citizens alike said only a much more serious illness could have kept a Soviet head of state away from the biggest event in the Kremlin's year.

WEATHER PERFECT

The weather for the event was unusually good, with bright sunshine and temperatures near 5 Celsius.

Soviet television commentators, in an apparent attempt to curb any anxiety over Andropov's absence, introduced the broadcast of the parade with a reference to the "people's trust in our Politburo, headed by Yuri Vladimirovich Andropov."

Ustinov, in his "order of the day" published in the official media, made a similar reference to Andropov.

"The Soviet people, soldiers of the army and navy, warmly approving and unanimously supporting the foreign and internal policy of the Soviet state, rally ever more tightly round the Communist party and its Leninist Central Committee and Politburo headed by comrade Y.V. Andropov," the order said.

Soviet television heralded the ceremonies with the usual festive programs of song and dance ensembles, a generally reliable indication that no grave news is in the offing.

Following the Red Square parade, Politburo members were to receive the heads of diplomatic missions in Moscow at a buffet in the Kremlin. However, after missing the parade, diplomats thought it unlikely Andropov would attend the reception.

PICTURE PROMINENT

Many veteran diplomats said it is possible Andropov has a condition that often makes it difficult for him to attend public functions but would not necessarily prevent him from running the country.

Ustinov's speech contained standard attacks on U.S. foreign policy and the television commentary on the civilian parade of political floats contained several quotes on the same topic from Andropov.

Andropov's picture was also prominent on many of the motorized floats which drove across Red Square and was first in the parade of pictures of Politburo members behind Marx, Engels and Lenin carried by marchers.

Leonid Zamyatin, head of the Soviet Communist party's information department, told western reporters after Andropov's absence at Saturday's ceremony that the Soviet leader had a cold and it would be up to Kremlin doctors to decide if he should attend today's ceremonies.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, 74, and 69-year-old Moscow party chief Viktor Grishin were among the Politburo members present on the mausoleum.

Danville holds memorial parade

Despite the cold, rainy weather, members from the Danville Branch 41 Canadian Legion, The Sherbrooke Hussars, The Sherbrooke Sea Cadets and the Asbestos Air Cadets held the annual Armistice day parade with few problems. Similar events were held in Bury and Cookshire this weekend for the remembrance of those who died at war. Rest in Peace.

Progressive Party draws 250 to weekend policy meeting in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Progressive Party of Manitoba drew about 250 to a weekend policy meeting that focused on French-language rights, but about 125 Liberals seemed more concerned with a search for a new leader at their weekend gathering a few blocks away.

The Progressives, a splinter group formed two years ago by right-wing New Democratic Party members, paid a lot of attention to a plan by Manitoba's New Democratic Party government to seek an amendment to the Constitution guaranteeing bilingual services at government head offices, Crown corporations, boards, agencies and at regional offices where there is a demand.

Claude Morin, former Quebec minister of inter-governmental affairs, took a pro-French stand at the Progressive policy meeting, where he was a guest speaker. But he said moral support is about all French-speaking Canadians outside of Quebec can expect from his province.

He said it is not fair to say Quebecers aren't interested in the use of French outside Quebec.

"The more French that is spoken in Canada and North America, the better it is for us," he said.

"We cannot be indifferent, but we cannot be politically or administratively responsible for the French outside of Quebec."

REJECTS LINKS

He also disagreed with attempts to link francophone rights in Manitoba to English-language rights in Quebec, something that is done frequently in the debate now raging in Manitoba.

"If French-speaking Manitobans had one quarter of the rights English-speaking Quebecers had, they would be much better off today."

Despite some added words of support for the French cause from language rights activist Georges Forest, most at the Progressive meeting sided with yet another guest speaker, rebel New Democrat Russ Doern. Doern is fighting the NDP's language-rights package.

Even though he has been exiled from the NDP caucus, he says Manitoba francophones are now doing well with the roughly $10 million in special services they get from their government. "There are rights, privileges and services for French-speaking Manitobans that are unavailable to anyone else," he said.

Progressives and Liberals are poles apart on the issue with Liberals strongly in favor of bilingualism, but they have one thing in common — their dismal performance in the 1981 provincial election shortly after the Progressive Party was formed.

LOSES SEAT

Liberals lost their last remaining seat in the legislature. The Progressives, who went into the election with a claim on three seats held by the former New Democrats who defected to form the party's nucleus, were decimated. They finished behind Liberals in most ridings and the party received less than two per cent of the popular vote.

The party was founded by Sid Green, a former cabinet minister in the provincial NDP government of Edward Schreyer.

The Progressives ran in the 1981 election on a platform which included calls for a balanced budget, less government regulation and an end to public funding for political parties.

Meanwhile, at the Liberal policy meeting, language rights had a somewhat lower profile. What attention was paid the issue was directed toward plebiscites held Oct. 26 in Winnipeg and about 20 other Manitoba communities on language rights.

Liberals endorsed a resolution at their meeting opposing any such future plebiscites on minority rights issues.

About 75 per cent of those who turned out to vote on the Oct. 26 language plebiscites voted against the government plan. Spokesmen for the government of Premier Howard Pawley have said the vote will not derail the proposed constitutional amendment. But Liberals focused more attention on the search for a new leader — a post that has been vacant since June. The party voted to hold a convention before July to fill the $36,000-a-year job.

Although no names have been mentioned, party spokesmen say as many as five people are interested in the leadership.

Thumbs down to military, News-in-brief

Turks back Motherland

ANKARA (Reuter) — The Motherland party of former deputy premier Turgut Ozal won a convincing victory in Turkey's general election Sunday, dealing an embarrassing blow to the governing generals who had backed another rightist party.

With more than two-thirds of votes counted, Ozal's party had received 44.8 per cent of the popular vote compared with 30.2 per cent for the moderate leftist Populist party. The rightist Nationalist Democracy party, which had been backed by the military, received just 23.6 per cent of the vote.

The Motherland party won 99 of the 183 parliamentary seats so far settled and looked set for a working majority in the 400-seat, one-house parliament.

The result was an embarrassing rebuff for the military, which had signalled support for the Nationalist Democracy party and unease with Ozal in an eye-of-poll television address by President Kenan Evren. Seven ministers of the military government, including Prime Minister Bulent Ulusu, stood as NDP candidates.

As Ozal headed for victory, the governing National Security Council met to discuss the situation and was still conferring early this morning, sources said.

MISTAKES MOOD

Political analysts said the generals, who seized power in a 1980 coup, badly miscalculated the mood of the electorate.

They said the National Security

Council assumed that widespread public support for the coup, which ended a spate of political violence, would ensure backing for the NDP, which pledged to continue the military government's tough law-and-order policies.

But, with Evren installed as president for another six years, millions of voters believed there was no need for another general in government, the analysts said.

Instead, Ozal won votes because of his confident and forceful advocacy of free market, anti-inflationary policies to improve the economy, they said.

Ozal, 56, presided over Turkey's economy from 1979 to 1982. He engineered a recovery from near bankruptcy by persuading foreign bankers to reschedule billions of dollars of debt and cut the annual inflation rate to about 30 per cent from more than 100 per cent. He also more than doubled Turkish exports.

Sources say many top military officers dislike Ozal's cocky self-assurance and his tough monetarist beliefs.

WILL CO-OPERATE

But he served in the military government for almost two years before resigning in mid-1982 and the sources said a number of key generals are prepared to work with him again.

Ozal told reporters he believes his party will have an overall parliamentary majority, but he went to bed in the early hours without formally claiming victory.

Religion costs four their jobs

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Superior Court has ruled that a home products manufacturer did not practise discrimination when it fired four people in 1978 because their church obligations interfered with their jobs.

In his precedent-setting ruling, Justice Claude Benoit rejected a suit launched by the Quebec Human Rights Commission against Ekco Canada Ltd. of nearby Laval that alleged the fired workers were victims of religious discrimination.

The company had said observance of religious holidays disrupted production during peak periods and was not covered by the collective agreement.

Churches to collect for Pope's visit

MONTREAL (CP) — Another special collection will be held in Roman Catholic churches across Canada to help pay for next year's visit by Pope John Paul, a spokesman for the tour says.

Although an initial collection last June yielded $2 million, Jean Charpentier said that is not enough to help church leaders prepare for the papal visit next Sept. 9-19.

"It didn't bring in much," Charpentier said. "There will certainly be another collection."

He did not know when the new collection would be held, but another official was quoted by a Montreal newspaper Saturday as saying a new fundraising effort may be launched early next summer.

Choquette elected in Outremont

MONTREAL (CP) — Former Quebec Liberal justice minister Jerome Choquette was elected mayor of suburban Outremont Sunday in an upset victory that gave his Municipal Reform Party seven of nine seats on the municipal council and heralded his return to politics.

Outremont was one of more than a thousand municipalities throughout the province which held elections on the same day, as one out of three Quebecers was called on to decide who would run city hall.

Choquette attributed his victory over incumbent Pierre Lussier to the high taxes that have hit homeowners among the 24,338 residents of the affluent municipality in the heart of Montreal.

Police talking with barricaded man

VAL-BRILLANT, Que. (CP) — Police were still negotiating late Sunday with an armed man who had barricaded himself in his house in this Gaspe town since early Friday.

"We're waiting," a Quebec provincial police spokesman said.

Three families in neighboring houses have had to move out of their homes at police request until the situation is resolved, and some 40 provincial police officers, including members of the tactical squad, are on the scene.

The incident began when Bertrand Valcourt, 42, who is unemployed, allegedly wounded a hotel patron in nearby Sayabec shortly after midnight Thursday after threatening a dancer in the bar with a knife.

Tory hubris will hurt

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP) — The present Tory feeling of invincibility will help re-elect the Liberals in the next federal election, Deputy Prime Minister Allan J. MacEachen told Liberal supporters Saturday.

Speaking at a $150-a-plate dinner given by the Cape Breton Highlands-Canso Liberal Association, MacEachen said the current polls which indicate the Tories have a commanding lead "will be history when we are in the circumstances of the next election."

He said the great expectations of Progressive Conservatives in the past had evaporated.

"I find the current feeling of invincibility among the Tories rather comforting."

Bay of Fundy oil search dropped

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — The Bay of Fundy, renowned for its lobster and high tides, has a less favorable reputation with oil exploration companies as two more have discovered.

Irving Oil Ltd. of New Brunswick, on behalf of its partner Chevron Resources Canada Ltd., announced Saturday it has abandoned a $10 million exploration well drilled in the Bay of Fundy within sight of Saint John residents.

The announcement said the well was drilled to a depth of 2,587 metres but none of the zones tested warrants further exploration. The well, originally planned to be drilled to about 3,048 metres, has been plugged.

St. John's, da comrade?

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — This city and St. John's, Nfld. have names so similar that they are often confused, especially by people from outside the Atlantic provinces.

The latest victim of mistaking the names of the two cities is a Soviet research vessel, the Akademik Sergey Korolyov.

The ship arrived for a three-day stay here Monday and there were some protests among city councillors during the regular meeting that night that it was allowed into port. The following day it suddenly left.

An official of the External Affairs Department in Ottawa said Thursday the research vessel should never have been in Saint John in the first place.

It had been given permission to dock in St. John's for three days to take on fresh water and supplies.

BC strikers sail for pregnant mom

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — An eight-pound 10-week boy was born in a hospital in this eastern Vancouver Island city after striking provincial government employees fired up the boilers of a ferry to transport his mother from nearby Gabriola Island.

Margaret Deacon, 22, made the 20-minute trip at 6 a.m. Friday and Jesse was born 2½ hours later.

Deacon, who was two weeks overdue, says she wasn't worried, despite the strike which shut down service Nov. 1.

"We knew the ferry would run for an ambulance," she said. "They always have before."

Now her main concern is how to get Jesse back home.

"We can't really go in an open boat," she said. "He's too little."

Greens will be ready within year

OTTAWA (CP) — A spokesman for the Green party of West Germany predicted Saturday that the Green party of Canada could become an effective political force within a year.

While few of the Canadian Greens are politically ripe, the party's founding convention this weekend "will be the starting point for an ecologically minded party" in North America, Wilhelm Knabe said.

"We don't need new American missiles in Europe, but we need a new political power in America. I think the Greens could do that job. We are waiting for their success."

US should use mind more — Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. should undertake more research into potential mind-control weapons to counter Soviet advances in "psychotronic warfare," says a U.S. Army study just made public in a new book.

The Pentagon study, author Martin Ebon writes, reported that the Soviet Union appears to have made significant progress toward developing psychic weaponry that could play a role on future battlefields.

Ebon said mind-altering effects or "remote monitoring of brain wave activity" are among possible reasons behind Soviet microwave bombardment of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

FBI recovers stolen Rembrandts

NEW YORK (Reuter) — FBI agents have recovered five etchings believed to be Rembrandts that were stolen from public and private collections in Canada, officials announced Sunday. They did not mention any arrests.

In a terse statement issued in New York, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said the etchings are worth about $100,000 and had been recovered in Manhattan's Grand Central Station. A spokesman said no further information would be available until today.

Two of the etchings were tentatively identified as the Presentation in the Temple in the Dark Manor and Clement Dej Jonghe-Print Seller which are believed to have been stolen from the National Art Gallery in Ottawa on Oct. 14.

Chrysler strike ends

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP) — Auto-workers returned to Chrysler Corp. assembly plants today after settling a five-day strike at a key facility that forced five other plants to close, put 20,000 out of work and cost the automaker about $50 million.

Members of United Auto Workers Local 122 approved a contract Sunday by a vote of 801 to 293 for the stamping plant at Twinsburg, Ohio. Some of the 3,200 workers were called back Sunday and full production began with the midnight shift today.

Blood test clears Paul's name

LONDON (AP) — Blood tests at the University of Berlin have proved that a 20-year-old West German isn't the illegitimate daughter of former Beatle Paul McCartney, Britain's Sunday People newspaper reported.

Blood tests under the supervision of British and West German doctors previously indicated that McCartney couldn't be the father, but a West Berlin court rejected them because they weren't conducted in West Germany.

The 41-year-old rock music star was sued by Erika Huebers, 41, who says she had an affair with him while he was appearing at the Star Club in Hamburg, West Germany, from 1959 to 1962 — before he became famous as a guitarist, singer and composer with the Beatles.

300 British WW1 deserters shot

LONDON (Reuter) — The British army dealt more ruthlessly than any other with First World War deserters and executed more than 300 young conscripts, says a book published today.

For The Sake of Example, by Anthony Babington, says that the men were shot at dawn after trials which denied them the most basic forms of justice by today's standards.

Babington, a British judge, was allowed special access to records of courts martial and executions that are officially classified until at least 1989.

He quotes one brigadier as saying that deserters should be shot as an example to conscripts who did not want to fight. The convicted men were often executed in the presence of fellow soldiers, on one occasion outside a local abattoir, he adds.

US — British relations at risk

LONDON (Reuter) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher has told President Reagan that the "special relationship" between London and Washington might be at risk if the U.S. embargo on arms sales to Argentina is lifted, the London Daily Mail reported today.

Thatcher told the newspaper that lifting of the embargo "would be the single most difficult thing for me."

It was "the one thing I am very worried about; very, very concerned about indeed," it quoted her as saying.

The newspaper said Reagan has twice postponed coming to a decision on the issue since he and Thatcher met in Washington last month. At the time, the prime minister warned of possible repercussions in Anglo-American relations.

Cause of death — instant replay

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — A British soccer fan on trial for killing his girlfriend has told the court he did it because she turned off the TV set during a replay of the national soccer championship, The Guardian reported Saturday.

"I was still in love with her when I killed her," the paper quoted Stanley Dingley, 43, as telling Nottingham Crown court on Friday.

He denied a charge of murder in the death of Christine Worley, 43, at her flat in the English Midlands village of Gornal last May 26, but admitted manslaughter, the newspaper said.

"She came in from the kitchen and turned off the TV, saying she could not stand football," Dingley was quoted as saying.

6 dead in shoe factory explosion

GRAVESEND, England (AP) — Six people, three of them children, were killed in an explosion and fire that started in an unlicensed shoe factory and destroyed the interior of a house in this town 12 kilometres east of London.

Police Insp. David Hatcher said two other people, a 48-year-old man and his 23-year-old son, escaped death by jumping out a second-storey window. The son was in a London hospital in serious condition, he said.

The victims, an Asian immigrant family, were asleep upstairs in the home when an explosion in the basement Sunday triggered the fire, police said. The blast occurred three days before the local council was to consider an application to license the basement shoe factory where the family worked.

Pope to preach to protestants

VATICAN CITY (AP) — In a bold move for Christian unity, Pope John Paul has agreed to preach in a Lutheran church in Rome, Vatican sources and Lutheran officials said Saturday.

In a letter released the same day, the Pope praised Martin Luther, the 16th-century German priest who broke with the Vatican and led the Protestant Reformation.

Lutheran Church officials said they received word from the Vatican on Saturday that the pontiff has accepted their invitation to join them in services Dec. 11 at a Rome church and to deliver a sermon.

Greeks protest US missiles

SALONICA, Greece (AP) — An estimated 30,000 people marched in this northern Greek city to protest the planned deployment of U.S. cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in Western Europe.

The demonstrators shouted anti-nuclear slogans and carried banners reading "No to war, yes to life" and "Europe without nuclear weapons."

The demonstration Sunday was organized by Greece's three main peace groups and supported by the governing Panhellenic Socialist Movement and the pro-Moscow Communist Party.

Israel vows revenge for bombing

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel, which began burying its dead from last week's terrorist bombing in southern Lebanon, vowed Sunday to "strike back sevenfold" in retribution for any more attacks.

Israel accused the Syrians of helping engineer the blast that killed 28 Israelis and 32 Lebanese and Palestinians on Friday at an Israeli military headquarters in the southern Lebanese city of Tyre. Families held funerals Sunday for 20 Israeli victims.

The bombing caused the worst Israeli loss of life in hostile action since Israel's invasion of Lebanon in June, 1982, to destroy Palestine Liberation Organization guerrilla bases, a campaign Israel calls Operation Peace for Galilee.

Japanese protest Reagan's visit

TOKYO (AP) — Thousands of Japanese rallied Sunday to protest U.S. President Ronald Reagan's coming visit and accused him of attempting to form a "nuclear-armed alliance with Japan." Police said they arrested nine people.

During Reagan's four-day stay starting Wednesday, Japanese authorities plan to deploy 90,000 policemen to guard him. Last week, police said they uncovered a plan by leftist radicals to attack the U.S. Embassy and a U.S. Navy base south of Tokyo during Reagan's stay.

About 2,600 attended a rally in Tokyo's Hibiya Park to protest Reagan's visit. Police said they arrested nine protesters for "obstructing police duties" during a march to the U.S. Embassy after the rally.

Townships municipal elections bring big changes in several councils

SHERBROOKE — Municipal elections were held throughout the Eastern Townships Sunday and the final results showed some major changes in the make-up of a few municipal councils.

In Ascot Township, mayor Robert Pouliot easily withstood a challenge by ex-councillor Denis Lafontaine as the former received 1,691 votes to Lafontaine's 935. The re-elected mayor will be working with an entirely new council, however, as both of only two councillors seeking re-election were defeated in the township's new district voting system. William R. Bell was defeated in his re-election bid by Jean-Guy Landry in district 1, coming in third behind Bernard Houle. Landry also defeated Hervé Kirouac and Collette Martin.

In district 2, Henri-Louis Beaulieu lost his bid for re-election coming in third with 135 votes behind winner Paul Flipot, who earned 276 votes, and James Wark who polled 167.

In district 3, notary Michel Beaulieu, with 310 votes, easily defeated Yves Dubois, 128, and Serge Guimond, 68.

In district 4, André Chénard, with 317 votes beat his only opponent Jean-Guy Soulières, who polled 188.

In district 5 Marcel Cyr, with 145 votes, easily beat Roger Labbé, who received only 20 votes.

Finally, in district 6 Maurice Guibault (130) defeated André Beaumier (15), Claude Bouchard (108), and Hervé Thibault (70).

In Rock Forest, veteran mayor Laurent Boudreau was defeated in a rather close four-way race by Gaetan Lavallée. Lavallée polled 1,876 votes while Boudreau gathered 1,455. Pierre Blais-Paquette came third with 987 votes followed by Albéric Dussault with 297. In district votes, Claude Vermette (517) took seat 1, defeating Robert Bergeron (131) and Marcel Rodrigue (123).

In district 2, incumbent Bertrand Pariseau (96) was soundly defeated in a four-way race by André Nadeau (221). Nadeau also defeated Yves Beaurgard (32) and Claude Longpré (136).

In seat 3 Gilles Jeanson (432) handily defeated Léonard Gaudreau (228).

In seat 5, René Tardif (404) ran away from Marc-Aurèle Jacques (289) and Marcel Poulin (286).

Finally, in seat 5 Henri-Louis Vincent (239) was defeated in his re-election bid by Jean-Guy Dion (456). Dion also defeated Gilles Gobeil (126) and Robert Cabana (63).

In East Angus, former mayor Roland Brousseau (1,317) got his old job back by easily defeating incumbent mayor Roger Couture (769) Réal J.

Gagné came a distant third (292).

In seat 1, Alain Descôteaux (1,279) defeated Rhéal Varin (703) and Léopold Dufresne (378).

In seat 3, Isabel Dugal (1,580) easily defended her seat from Normand Vachon (766).

In seat 4 incumbent Gérard E. Roy (406) was soundly defeated by Clément Bouchard (1,392). Claude Godbout was second with 567 votes.

In seat 6 Roland Blouin defeated incumbent Rodrigue Blouin 1,635 to 728.

In Cookshire Guy Veilleux polled 404 votes to win the mayoralty, defeating Claude Morneau who received 262. Veilleux replaces retiring mayor Jacques Théberge.

Also in Cookshire in seat 2, Lucette Mignault (433) held on to her seat, defeating André St-Onge (215).

In Bromptonville, mayor Clément Nault easily beat a challenge by Dorilas Gagnon. Also re-elected in Bromptonville were; in seat 2, Bernnard Guay (1,048) over Robert Lapointe (442), in seat 3 Raoul St-Cyr (1,134) over Lucien Laroche (360); in seat 4 Lionel Marchand (1,001) over Charles ferland (495). In seat 5, André Paradis (1,002) becomes the only newcomer to council, defeating incumbent Gilles Boissonneau (503) almost two to one.

In Coaticook incumbent mayor

Ernest Lafaille was defeated in his bid for re-election by high school principal André Langevin. Langevin obtained 1,816 votes to Lafaille's 1,281.

Also in Coaticook a close race for seat 1 saw incumbent Robert Baillargeon (1,118) narrowly hold on against challengers Michel Viens (1,070) and Roland Breault (888).

In seat 4, Lorraine Sharpe (1,750) defeated Rolande Ouellette (1,286).

In Bury, mayor Adolphe Larivière and his council defeated all challengers in a controversial race. Larivière defeated Susan Renaud for the mayoralty, while Robert Fitzsimmons, Orvil Anderson and Cedric Jenkinson defeated Rosaire Vachon, Gary Barter, and Fernand Laroche respectively for seats on council.

In St-Hermengilde (p) Jean-Marc Dupont defeated Léo Lanciaux for the mayoralty 227 to 143. In seat 1 Roch Lavoie (194) narrowly beat out Réal Lanciaux (173), while Victor Dubois (190) beat Julien Thibault (179) in another close race for seat 5. In seat 6, Mrs R. St. James (231) defeated M. Bissonette (140).

In St-Hermengilde (vl), Gérard Duteau held on to his mayor's seat by defeating Gerald Simard 74 — 38.

In Windsor, Adrien Pelouin was elected mayor, defeating Irénée Pelierin 1,696 — 1,119. In seat 4, Richard Normandin defeated Michel Champagne 1,824 to 928, while in seat 3, Lucien Côté defeated Luc Drapeau 2,189 to 586.

In Thetford Mines, incumbent mayor Maurice Côté was defeated by Marc Bergeron 5,005 to 3,610, while Jean Paré defeated Nicole Huppe in Auteuil district 709 to 637. In Amiante region, Lucien Labonté (690) defeated Serge Tanguay (517) and in St-Georges region, Denis Bouffard (641) defeated Jude Lafleur (528).

In Drummondville, Francine Ruest-Jutras (988) becomes the first woman ever elected to Drummondville council, as she defeated Roger Prince (582) and Jacques Vincent (384) in seat 1. In seat 2 another newcomer Robert Lafrenière (1,307) defeated Gilbert Lapointe (216) and Raymond Luneau (310). In seat 3, Jean-Paul Genereux (726) held on to his seat against challenges by L. Nault (584) and Gaetan Mailhot (348). In seat 4 incumbent Lindor Letendre (579) defeated P-Y Aubé (473), Oménil Boucher (181), Jacques Dion (548), and Marcel Joyal (338). In seat 5, Jean-Marie Boisvert (757) defeated Marcel Bédard (552) and Jean-Yves Desjardins (411) to keep his seat, while in seat 7, newcomer Denis Savoie (831) defeated Henri Montminy (545) and Jean-Guy Gauthier (287). Finally, in seat 8, another newcomer Gilles St-Martin (438) squeezed by Hervé Savoie (402) and Ovelus Demers (207) to win.

Robert Pouliot ... Re-elected mayor of Ascot Township.

Bury voter's list doesn't help reform slate

By Charles Bury

BURY — A suspect voters list backfired Sunday on the 'reform' slate which had sought to 'politicize' this rural municipality.

John Matheson ... They found his name for a tax bill but not for the voters' list.

Just over 1200 names appeared on the Bury municipal voters' list, including several landowners living in other provinces. But between 30 and 50 were somehow left off — names of long-time residents so confident of their civic status they had failed to check the list until it was too late to change it. News of the incomplete list surfaced last week and those left off — accused by election secretary Diane Loiselle of being 'not politicized enough' — mobilized enough sympathy that Bury saw almost double the usual turnout for a council election and the reform candidates for mayor and three council seats were soundly defeated.

Mayor Adolphe Larivière, who Loiselle said is French-speaking "but thinks like an Englishman," defeated reformist Suzanne Renaud by a whopping 513 votes to 119. A "normal" election brings out only about 300 voters, say Bury insiders. Reform candidates for the three open council seats fared no better than their leader as Orvil Anderson defeated Gary Barter 508 to 123, Robert Fitzsimmons beat Rosaire Vachon 503 to 127 and Cedric Jenkinson beat Fernand Laroche 469 to 169.

Referring to the earlier remarks of the supposedly-neutral election secretary, victor Larivière said "when she said that, it really helped us; that was a turning point."

Even voters who knew their names had been dropped showed up at the town hall polling station to make sure their opinions were counted, if not their ballots. "I was born here and have always lived here," said Geraldine Murray. "My husband is on the list but not me. This whole thing is rather queer, to say the least."

"If this is just a mistake," she said, "it makes you wonder what else is done just the same way!"

Madeleine Perron was also left off the list; she says it was no mistake. "It looks intentional to me," she said. "I can't blame anyone who thinks so. It's certainly not normal."

John Matheson, 51, said he has been living in Bury 44 years. "He brought his tax bill to the polling station to see if it would help his case but no last-minute revisions were allowed. "They managed to find out where I live to send me this," he said, "but they couldn't find me when they made up the list. Pretty funny!" Matheson said he lives directly across the road from town secretary-treasurer Marcel Beaudoin. "I helped him move in when he came here," he said. "He should have known where I live anyway."

In an unusual move, reporters were expelled from the town hall. Twice a nervous Beaudoin called Québec Police Force officers to the scene but they said there were no incidents of note. His future as town secretary-treasurer may now be in doubt. Re-elected councillor Orvil Anderson said that by 3 p.m. Sunday 27 non-voters had appeared and claimed they should have been on the list. "A lot more probably didn't bother to show up," he said.

Anderson said he had spoken with Mayor Larivière about the irregularities and "We will definitely be discussing this whole matter at council at our meeting next Monday (November 14). We want to find out exactly what happened here and see whether he (Beaudoin) is competent or not. A lot of people are asking."

Bury secretary-treasurer Marcel Beaudoin ... At the centre of voters' list controversy.

"Two or three names left off could be a mistake," said non-voter Nancy Perkins, a life-time Bury resident. "But not 40 or 50! That's not a mistake — no way."

Bury Mayor Adolphe Larivière ... Council will seek the reasons why some names were missing from the list.

QPF untie theft in North Hatley

NORTH HATLEY — Police arrested three suspects in their 20s and seized a $15,000 tie pin Wednesday evening, following an investigation that began with an anonymous tip.

A squad of eight Québec Police Force officers arrested one man trying to sell the tie pin

Townships talk

SWEETSBURG WARD (JM) — Rejean Duquette, of Farnham, was given his provisional freedom pending preliminary hearing on a charge of sexual assault in the Town of Brome Lake, Oct. 17, on the conditions he report to Dr. Pierre Gagne, remain in his domicile between 8 p.m. and 7 a.m., report to the Farnham Municipal Police on a weekly basis, and refrain from communicating with his victim. The hearing was continued to Nov. 18.

SWEETSBURG WARD (JM) — Patrick Ouellette, a Cowansville pensioner, pleaded guilty to two counts of assault on Sept. 25. Claude Hamann told the court his client had been on a party when the landlord asked him to lower the noise and was slapped. The police were called when Ouellette grabbed Cowansville Const. Michel Tremblay by the throat. Hamann then suggested fines and a probation order would satisfy the interests of justice which was seconded by Crown attorney Henry Heyslerink. Judge Leveillé imposed a $50 fine on the first count, $150 on the second, in default to a total of 15 days and found Ouellette over to keep the public peace for one year.

and two others trying to buy it, in the parking lot of St-Elizabeth church in North Hatley.

QPF spokesman Alain Côté said the arrests came as a result of a phone call from a citizen. The shady tie-pin salesman spent the night in jail and will appear in Sessions Court this morning to face a charge of theft. As of late Wednesday the two potential buyers were still being questioned by detectives.

The precious tie pin was apparently stolen from a home in North Hatley in early October.

Wet snow and ice brought down branches and whole trees in Montreal this weekend and the debris always seemed to end up on someone's car.

Ascot keeps mayor, ditches town council

rent Boudreau. He said he hopes to attract new residents, new businesses and industries to the Sherbrooke suburb.

Ascot Township mayor Robert Pouliot was re-elected over former councillor Denis Lafontaine, 1691 votes to 935. Pouliot will be the only veteran on the Ascot Township council however, as a full slate of newcomers was elected to work with him.

In Ascot's seat number 1, which includes over half the township's area, stretching from Earlstown to Sand Hill, incumbent councillor William Bell, with 124 votes, was defeated by Jean-Guy Landry with 195. Also-rans were Bernard Houle with 129, Hervé Kirouac with 67 and Colette Martin with 53. In seat 2 Paul Flipot won with 276 votes over James Work with 167 and Henri-Louis Beaulieu with 135. Michel Beaulieu took seat number 3 with 310 votes over Yves Dubois with 128 and Serge Guimond with 68. André Chénard won seat 4 with 317 votes over Jean-Guy Soulières with 188. Seat 5 now belongs to Marcel Cyr, who beat Roger Labbé 145 votes to 20. Maurice Guibault won seat 6 with 130 votes against Claude Bouchard with 108, Hervé Thibault with 70 and André Beaumier with 15.

Pouliot says he will have little trouble working with his new council "because they are all people with abilities." He says priorities for the group will be the new Ascot-Lennoxville police force, river cleanup efforts, town planning and commercial and industrial development. "First though, will be the preparation of the 1984 budget."

East Angus got back one former mayor while rejecting another one. Outgoing mayor Roger Couture lost to 1960s' mayor Roland Brousseau, 1370 to 769 while Réal Gagné came in third with 292. Also elected were former councillors Alain Descôteaux, seat 1 and Isabelle Dugal, seat 3, and newcomers Clément Bouchard in seat 4 and Roland Blouin in seat 6.

Brousseau says he won because "the people are tired of getting an increase on every tax bill." He says he will return East Angus to the deficit-free days it knew during his previous terms as mayor.

Coaticook got a new mayor as school-board administrator André Langevin beat long-time incumbent Ernest Lafaille, 1816 votes to 1281. Councillor R. Baillargeon was re-elected in seat 1 and Lorraine Sharpe took seat 4. Sharp joins her husband John Sharpe, acclaimed last month. The couple are believed to be the first to sit on the same council at the same time in the history of Québec municipal politics.

Langevin said he was particularly pleased that the Coaticook election had been "clean and proper." He said his experience as a school-board director general would be his main asset as mayor.

Defeated mayor Lafaille said he was "a victim of the economic times."

In Thetford Mines outgoing mayor Maurice Côté was wiped out by candidate Marc Bergeron, 5005 to 3610. Bergeron triumphed in 47 of 52 polls. Also elected in Thetford Mines were Jean Paré in Auteuil district, Lucien Labonté in Amiante district and Denis Bouffard in St-Georges.

Bromptonville voters re-elected mayor Clément Nault by a comfortable margin, 965 to 559 over Dorilas Gagnon. Bernard Guay was re-elected in seat 2 over Robert Lapointe, 1048 votes to 442. In seat 3 Raoul St-Cyr was re-elected over Lucien Laroche, 1134 to 360; Lionel Marchand took seat 4 over Charles Ferland 1001 to 495 and André Paradis took seat 5 over Gilles Boissonneau, 1002 to 503.

FITNESS NOW • AND HOW

How does fitness start here?

Physical fitness begins with a mental act.

Let's say that when it comes to fitness you're full of the best intentions. But somehow you've always hung back on the sidelines, never quite managing to take action. How do you get yourself going?

The trick is to roll all your good intentions up into one concrete decision. That simple act of deciding can be the deed that switches the lights from red to green—that switches you from stop to go.

You see, the difference between saying "I'd like to get fit" and "I'm going to get fit" could make all the difference in the world.

Can making a decision give your fitness a head start? AND HOW!

The price will be paid

The Progressive Party of Manitoba met over the weekend focusing mainly on the provincial government's intention to seek an amendment to the Constitution guaranteeing bilingual services at government head offices, Crown corporations, boards, agencies and at regional offices "where there is a demand." Notably, the Liberals, meeting a few short blocks but worlds away, were more concerned about selecting their next savior.

Once again, the rights of Franco-Manitobans to bilingual government services is in the news. More discussion, but little change and even less hope for Manitobans whose ancestors were among the first to settle the province. While the Progressive Party and the Liberals are said to be "poles apart" on the issue, the rights of franco-Manitobans still hang in limbo. The Liberals endorsed a resolution opposing any such future plebiscites on minority rights issues while many of those at the Progressive Party gathering took a stand opposing the government's plan to push bilingual services.

The only bright spot on the language-rights horizon is the position of Manitoba premier Howard Pawley. Spokesmen for his government have said that they will not let results of the October 26 plebiscite derail the proposed constitutional rights amendment. Pawley is fighting a lonely battle for Franco-Manitoban rights, following the plebiscite's 75 per cent against result.

The battle must go on however, if that faction of Manitoba's population is to be guaranteed government services in their mother tongue. If Franco-Ontarians are able, in some instances, to receive services in French, then surely some sort of a precedent has been set. Granted there is a significant cost involved in installing bilingual services in government offices but the price will be paid either in dollars and cents or in the rights of a significant portion of a province's population to be answered in their own language.

Gander gets down up can floating nest move?

WELLTON, Ariz. (AP) — Dizzy the gander's lonely love life was a matter of community concern for more than a decade. But it's just ducky now, thanks to some human matchmakers who fixed him up with the goose of his dreams.

The Further and Amorous Adventures of Dizzy began about 12 years ago when Sam Finrock brought the grey goose to the pond at the Butterfield golf course, said Vivian Hibbard, recreation director in this town of 1,000 about 50 kilometres east of Yuma, Ariz.

Ugly duckling, or gosling, that he was, Dizzy was ignored by the mated pair of white geese and the ducks who frequented the pond.

"We felt so sorry for him because he was so lonely," Hibbard said recently.

In his solitude, Dizzy apparently came to think of Finrock as his father. When Sam drives away from the golf course, Dizzy "runs after the truck crying," Hibbard said. "It's pitiful."

She also said Dizzy follows his human friends around the links — such as Bob Davis, a winter visitor from Crescent City, Calif.

"The son of a gun tells me how lousy I am," Davis said. "He picks at my golf bag and my clubs and the hole when I'm putting. He seems to get disgusted with me. I can't blame him. I get disgusted, too."

GETS SYMPATHY

The town's sympathy for Dizzy's solitary state led to an extensive search to help with his romantic endeavors. Townspeople ran ads in the paper. Searchers visited farms and ranches as far away as Phoenix, 290 kilometres to the east.

It was a particularly difficult search, because Dizzy was "so particular about his women," Hibbard said. "Geese breed for life and are reluctant to interbreed with other types of geese — computer dating doesn't always work."

Dizzy apparently was holding out for his dream goose and Davis — never one to hold a grudge despite Dizzy's implied criticism of his golf game — found her. The suitable companion was a beautiful young emperor goose named Ms. Dizz.

"I brought her home in a box," Davis said. "I let her go, and she swam out into the lake and then flew away."

"Bob's heart was broken," Hibbard said. "Dizzy wasn't feeling too good, either. After all, he is a very loving individual."

But two days later, Ms. Dizz flew back into Dizzy's life just as suddenly as she had disappeared.

"I guess after flying around and thinking about it for a while, she decided Dizzy was the guy she wanted to spend the rest of her life with," Hibbard said.

The community got into the spirit of the reunion, throwing a bachelor party for the lucky gander.

And the newlyweds have hatched two goslings — only to lose both offspring to wild predators, Davis said. Now the community plans to build the pair a floating nest in mid-pond.

Disco a sin but black bottoms pass sect checklist

By Victor Mallet

POTCHEFSTROOM, South Africa (Reuter) — Even the conservative country town of Potchefstroom sometimes echoes to the sound of disco-dancing, but at least one church is fighting a rearguard action against what it sees as a sinful activity.

The Gereformeerde Kerk (GK), one of the most puritanical Christian churches in the world, is based in this stronghold of racial segregation and white Christian nationalism southwest of Johannesburg.

"We do not approve of dancing," said Jan van der Walt, former chairman of the GK synod and professor of theology at Potchefstroom's University of Christian Higher Education.

"This kind of sexual pleasure is only for marriage," he said in an interview.

"You're playing with fire, not in the sense that through dancing there may come sin, but in the sense that dancing itself is the starting point of the sexual act."

SOME EXPELLED

The university is closely tied to the GK, which has its only theological seminary in the town, and in the past students have been expelled for dancing.

"We say: 'If you tell me that dancing doesn't arouse you, you're not a man; if it does arouse you, you're sinning,'" said Van der Walt.

He emphasized that the dancing issue was a pointer to broader principles rather than important in itself, and added regretfully that some church members did dance.

The rigid puritanism of the church may not be popular with the young, but it is said that traditional GK households still read only the Bible on Sundays.

With 115,000 adherents, the GK is the smallest and strictest of the three main Afrikaans churches, whose roots lie in the Calvinist traditions of 17th-century Dutch settlers in the Cape.

MEET SEPARATELY

Most members are white. The few black and colored (mixed race) worshippers attend separate services along the lines of the government's policy of apartheid, although the GK is generally regarded as politically more liberal than its two sister churches.

Potchefstroom itself, founded in 1837 by Boers (Afrikaans farmers) who trekked up from the Cape to escape British domination, was the first capital of Transvaal province and is a major Afrikaans centre of education.

It is also the site of one of the country's biggest military bases.

Most whites among the town's 66,000 inhabitants are sympathetic to extreme right-wing parties which bitterly oppose any erosion of apartheid or the supremacy of South Africa's white minority.

Conservative party leader Andries Treurnicht received standing ovations and roars of approval recently when he told an overflowing town hall audience of whites that he was fighting for white nationalism and Christian decency.

Critics have accused Treurnicht of using religion to support his belief in the separation of races.

ATTACK REFORMS

Conservatives have attacked constitutional reforms proposed by the ruling National party on the grounds that non-Christians would participate in government. The reforms would allow limited power-sharing to coloreds and Indians, but exclude the 20-million black majority.

Most members of the GK, which is influential in Afrikaner circles despite its small size, believe in separate development for blacks in tribal "homelands," churchmen say.

"The Zulu may be a Zulu, the Tswana may be a Tswana and I as an Afrikaner want to be an Afrikaner," said the GK's Van der Walt.

Afrikaners make up about 60 per cent of the 4.5-million white population of South Africa while most of the rest are of British descent.

Dutch Calvinism has a significant influence on social attitudes, although the country has not avoided the western world's upsurge of sexual liberation over the last two decades.

Movie theatres are closed on Sundays and strict censorship laws — by western standards — are applied to magazines and newspapers.

Photographs of bare-breasted or bare-bottomed white women are not allowed, although pictures of naked black "tribal" women are permitted.

Deadly leftovers litter deserts, jungles, streets

By Anthony Goodman

UNITED NATIONS (Reuter) — Almost 40 years after the end of the Second World War many areas are still strewn with unexploded mines, shells and other relics of that and later conflicts, says a United Nations report.

In North Africa, Allied and Axis forces are estimated to have laid between five million and 19-million land mines during the campaigns that rolled back and forth across the desert landscape.

In Poland, invaded by Germany in 1939 and later fought over by the Soviet and German armies, about 15-million land mines and 74 million other pieces of ordnance have been cleared since the war, while in Finland about one million have been disposed of, the report says.

Since 1945, it adds, more than 7,000 bombs, 718,000 artillery shells and almost 476,000 grenades and other small explosive devices have been neutralized in West Berlin alone.

The task of clearing continues.

EXPERTS ON JOB

Mine disposal units in France employ 90 experts at a one time, organized in 10 teams. More than 13,000 high explosives were cleared in 1978 alone.

About 50 professionals are similarly employed in the Netherlands, the UN report says.

The report was prepared in response to a December, 1982, General Assembly resolution, prompted by concern for the human, economic and environmental effects of unexploded battlefield munitions.

Libya has been in the forefront of the campaign to draw attention to the problem. The report says 33 per cent of Libya's entire land area is considered to be dangerous owing to the explosive remnants of the Second World War.

In the 30-year period after the fighting ended, about 4,000 Libyans were killed and more than 8,000 wounded by such munitions. More than 125,000 domestic animals — camels, sheep, goats and cattle — were reported killed.

CLEAN UP SUEZ

As a result of more recent fighting between Egypt and Israel, about 8,500 items of explosive ordnance were found in the Suez Canal and disposed of, while almost 700,000 land mines were cleared from the adjacent terrain.

In Zimbabwe, the scene of a protracted independence war, the lower Zambezi national park has had to be virtually abandoned, the report says because the park itself and the roads leading to it were heavily mined.

The UN document also provided a revealing insight into the hazards of "dud" munitions that malfunction when fired but might still pose a danger for years or even decades.

During the Second World War, it said, between five and 10 per cent of United States bombs did not explode, especially those fitted with delayed-action fuses.

The failure rate of the high-explosive munitions used by the U.S. during the Vietnam War was around 10 per cent.

IN MILLIONS

On that basis the report concluded, about two-million bombs, 23-million artillery shells and millions of hand grenades and other high-explosive munitions did not explode as intended.

The report suggested every type of high explosive munition should be designed to incorporate a built-in mechanism that would render it harmless in due course.

A UN body might serve as a repository for information about the location, magnitude and destructive capacities of remnants of war, as well as data about the techniques available for their removal, the report said. This would be of particular help to developing countries that lack the technical expertise.

Tattoo or not tattoo, death squads hunt criminals

By Kenneth Whiting

JAKARTA (AP) — When President Suharto granted freedom to 3,198 criminals in this year's National Day amnesty in Indonesia, prison administrators were surprised to find that hundreds preferred to remain behind bars.

Many feared for their lives on the outside because of an 18-month wave of officially sanctioned killings of suspected criminals. Some reluctantly accepted release after trying to extract guarantees for their safety.

There are no exact estimates on how many criminals have been slain, but before the government told editors to stop carrying stories about the slayings several months ago, published reports put the death toll at 550.

Sources said more than 1,000 had been killed by Oct. 1. The Hong Kong-based Far Eastern Economic Review said in its Sept. 29 issue that the countrywide target for murder was 4,000 criminals.

BAN STORIES

Indonesian newspapers are still banned from reporting the discovery of bodies of criminals. However, readers note more dispatches describing a decrease in crime.

Western diplomats and one Indonesian official said in interviews the teams of criminal hunters seem to be less active these days.

The Indonesian official described the crackdown on crime on condition that he not be identified.

"It began in East Java early last year after several ghastly mutilations and murders."

It was obvious that the underpaid and undermanned police force no longer could cope, he said. Indonesia, a nation of 150-million people, has only 119,000 policemen.

A local army commander stepped in and started hunting down known criminals with a list drawn up from police records, the official said.

TATTOO A SIGN

Four-man teams in civilian clothes but with telltale military haircuts tracked down prominent lawbreakers. Bodies with tattoos — a criminal trademark in Indonesia — were found. Most had been shot in the head at close range.

Tattooing is often a legacy of a stretch in prison where it is done as much to while away the time as to indicate allegiance to one of the underworld gangs that proliferated in large cities in the 1970s, the official said.

The vast majority of those shot had both long criminal records and tattoos, the official added.

The campaign seemed to get high-level blessing on Aug. 17, 1982, in Suharto's National Day state-of-the-nation speech, the crime rate had increased substantially but would be reduced, he said.

Tattooed corpses of former prisoners and others with criminal records began turning up in Bandung, Jogjakarta and other cities in Central and West Java late last year.

START CAMPAIGN

The campaign picked up in Jakarta with the launching early this year of a formal anti-crime drive called Operation Sickle. Police sources said 13 suspected criminals were killed in separate incidents in one night last May.

Hospitals reported that scores of frightened young men turned up to have tattoos removed.

Former prisoners appeared at police stations to ask for official certificates confirming they had given up their law-breaking ways.

Government leaders reacted coyly when asked who was behind the death squads.

Attorney-General Ismail Saleh described the squads in June as "Guardian Angels." Justice Minister Ali Said was quoted as saying the death of scores of suspected criminals was better than having hundreds of thousands of innocent people victimized by them.

ADMITS SANCTION

Any pretence that the government had not sanctioned the murders was dropped in July when Lt.-Gen. Ali Murtopo told reporters that the bloodbath was carried out "in accordance with the enforced stipulations" of the Defence and Security Ministry.

He said crime had become a national security problem and "the people at large were relieved and happy."

But some well-known Indonesians don't agree with the tactic.

Endang Mutaquien, chairman of the National Council of Religious Scholars, said: "It is feared that taking such (judicial) shortcuts will become the accepted way of solving problems."

Adnan Buyong, chairman of the Legal Aid Foundation and a civil rights activist, said that if the crime wave was serious enough for drastic action then a lightning trial could be arranged to prosecute criminals.

Former vice-president Adam Malik agreed.

"We have courts. If need be, arrest (them) in the morning, sentence in the afternoon and carry out the sentence in the evening. His death will then result from the legal system. What takes place now is beyond the legal system."

Dome Petroleum subsidiary fined $20,000 for Beaufort Sea spill

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — Canadian Marine Drilling Ltd., a Dome Petroleum Ltd. subsidiary, has been fined $20,000 for spilling waste oil into Tuktoyaktuk Harbor off the Beaufort Sea.

Judge Michel Bourassa said that in future the court may "intervene in the internal and external operations of a corporation" to prevent further offences under the federal Fisheries Act. No Canadian judge has used that power, granted under a subsection of the Fisheries Act, he said.

Court was told Canadian Marine spilled 25,000 litres of waste oil into the harbor over five days in the summer of 1981 after one of its badly overloaded and damaged barges almost sank in stormy weather.

The company pleaded guilty to one charge under the federal Fisheries Act, which provides for a maximum $50,000 fine for the first offence.

tage buildings will be rebuilt at a cost of $40 million will be named Sinclair Centre in honor of former federal fisheries minister and retired industrialist James Sinclair.

Public Works Canada announced last week that Sinclair, 75, will attend a ceremony at the site on Nov. 14 at which Senator Jack Austin, minister of state for social development, will officially name the block Sinclair Centre and the project will get under way.

Sinclair is the father of Margaret Trudeau, estranged wife of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

Sinclair, of West Vancouver, was an MP for 18 years, from 1940 to 1958. He was fisheries minister from 1952 to 1958.

EDMONTON (CP) — Four aldermen have called for an investigation into the theft of historical city artifacts from Fort Edmonton Park.

"We have a juicy little scandal," said Ald. Ed Ewasiuk, who along with Aldermen Jan Reimer and Percy Wickman backed Ald. Bettie Hewes's call for an investigation.

"It seems someone was covering up. There is going to have to be some answers," said Ewasiuk.

Bob McClure, who resigned July 1 from his $40,000-a-year post as curator of the city artifacts restoration centre, said $30,000 to $40,000 worth of antiques have been stolen from the park in the last three or four years.

McClure said city negligence allowed the thefts, which were probably committed by the public and summer staff. He said the problem was hushed up by the city parks and recreation department, a claim denied by Hugh Monroe, parks and recreation general manager at the time the losses are said to have occurred.

REGINA (CP) — Schools must share responsibility for helping children acquire the value system that is multiculturalism, says Ray Fast, education director for the Saskatoon public board of education.

Both the federal and provincial governments also must pay more than lip service to the principle of multiculturalism if it is to flourish, Fast told a provincial conference on multicultural education last week.

He said governments must show leadership in providing physical and fiscal resources for efforts aimed at eliminating racial tensions and discrimination, and school boards must develop policies to promote multiculturalism and eradicate racial and ethnic bias.

Boards in Vancouver and North York have already done work in this regard, Fast said, with policies that touch on everything from curriculum and in-service programs to hiring practices and the teaching of English as a second language.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Serious mental illness in school-age children is increasing dramatically in Winnipeg, says child psychiatrist Dr. Jack Perlov.

And Perlov says the city does not have facilities to combat the problem.

"If you look at the suicide rate among young people as one indication of the need for services, it has been going up," he said last week after speaking to a child psychiatry conference.

He said Winnipeg does not have enough support services to handle an increasing caseload of emotionally disturbed children and teachers are becoming frustrated at the lack.

"Some teachers have to stamp up and down before they can get help for a kid."

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Two sisters have shot what is believed to be the biggest moose ever taken in the Kirkland Lake area.

Colleen Huffman of nearby Tarzwell and Pat Schlep of Kirkland Lake bagged a moose estimated at 1,200 pounds and standing about six feet high at the shoulders, said Norm Quinn, a district biologist with the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources.

Huffman said the pair got perfect scores on their gun permit examinations and "the instructor said he wished more men did as well as we did."

MONTREAL (CP) — Spurred on by provincial Fisheries Minister Jean Garon, the Quebec government is preparing to introduce legislation to appropriate sole jurisdiction over the province's fisheries.

The move is the latest in a tussle between Quebec and Ottawa launched last July when federal Fisheries Minister Pierre De Bane announced the federal government's intention to take back administrative responsibility for Quebec's fisheries. That responsibility had been turned over to Quebec in a 1922 agreement.

A spokesman for Garon said last week that two pieces of legislation will be introduced when the national assembly reconvenes Nov. 15. They will set out the principles on which Quebec is basing its takeover and establishing new permits, new rules and new quality-control systems.

CLC declares honeymoon with new Canada Post Corp. over

OTTAWA (CP) — The two-year honeymoon between the postal unions and the Canada Post Corp. is officially over, the Canadian Labor Congress declared last week.

The CLC and three unions representing postal employees told a news conference it is a myth that service has improved and that labor-management relations are better since the post office became a Crown corporation in October, 1981.

Instead, conditions on both fronts have deteriorated to an all-time low, said CLC vice-president Shirley Carr.

Carr joined Jean-Claude Parrot, president of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers; Bob McGarry, president of the Letter Carriers Union of Canada and Denis Gagnon, president of the Union of Postal Communications Employees, in accusing corporation president Michael Warren of being the cause of the new woes.

There had been earlier reports of unrest and feuding at the Crown corporation, but this was the first time the various union leaders involved called a joint news conference to denounce the postal management.

Carr said that instead of living up to the post office's mandate to maintain and improve service, Warren has implemented, or is considering, a string of service cuts.

She told reporters these include the idea of a basic fee for service, alternate-day delivery, new rural service cuts, post office closings, reduced wicket service and assorted new box fees.

CALLED OBSESSED

The labor leaders portrayed Warren as an obsessed corporate mandarin trampling on both the rights of workers and the needs of individual Canadians for adequate postal service.

The president's single over-riding goal seems to be implementation of a five-year "self-sufficiency" program for the post office, even if it means systematic violation of legislation under which the corporation was created, the group alleged.

Carr said one example of Warren's attitude is the decision to abolish third-class postal rates for Christmas cards.

The public will have to pay the same 32-cent rate for cards that they pay now for first-class letters, but corporations will get bulk rates as low as 13 cents a card, she said.

The situation has become so bad that postal unions met recently with Labor Minister Andre Ouellet, the minister responsible for the corporation, to inform him of what has taken place, the union leaders said.

"He was concerned with all the things that we raised," Carr said. "He was surprised, very surprised at how deep some of these problems are."

Carr said the unions are demanding that the five-year program be junked and that Warren also throw out a "hostile, very hostile" report that has been prepared on absenteeism.

She said the unions will demand a meeting with the board of directors of the corporation to press their case further but will not demand Warren's resignation. She also ruled out any possibility of strikes.

"We are not talking about strike at all," Carr emphasized.

Parrot said the union is not happy about Warren continuing as president but to demand his removal would be to draw attention away from the central issues at stake.

Seasonally-adjusted unemployment figures down in month of October

OTTAWA (CP) — There were 1,238,000 people out of work in October, 19,000 less than in September, lowering the seasonally-adjusted unemployment rate to 11.1 per cent from 11.3 per cent, Statistics Canada said last week.

That is the fewest number of unemployed since April, 1982, when there were 1,233,000 people looking for work and it's the lowest seasonally-adjusted jobless rate since June, 1982, when the rate was 10.9 per cent.

However, after increasing at an average monthly rate of 35,300 jobs a month this year, 25,000 jobs disappeared in October, the first time the number of jobs in the economy has declined since November, 1982.

That's a sign the recovery is stalling, opposition party spokesmen said and they blamed what they called Finance Minister Marc Lalonde's almost paranoid obsession with inflation.

The decline in employment comes while there are still a quarter million fewer jobs in the country than prior to the recession, said James McGrath, Progressive Conservative employment critic.

"It means we're in for a hell of a bad winter," the St. John's East MP warned.

Nelson Riis, New Democratic Party finance critic, said the decline means the recovery has stalled and that in the months to come there will be fewer and fewer jobs.

The government should be working to lower interest rates and should forgo any future tax increases to increase spending and stimulate the economy, the Kamloops Shuswap MP said.

Statistics Canada official Marlene Levine said she was unable to explain the decrease in seasonally-adjusted employment, all of which was full-time work. She called the decline very small.

Meanwhile, the number of discouraged workers — those who say they have given up looking for jobs because they don't believe they exist — also rose to 90,000 in October from 73,000 in September.

However, unlike previous months, the decline in unemployment during October was due to a decrease in the labor force and not an increase in jobs. There were slight declines in both employment and unemployment during the month, Statistics Canada said.

As well as being the first month this year that no jobs have been created, the decline was in full-time employment while part-time employment was virtually unchanged.

An estimated 47,000 full-time jobs disappeared once the figures are adjusted for seasonal variations. The decline was almost equally distributed among men and women.

Employment declined by 9,000 in primary industries other than agriculture and by 15,000 in transportation, communications and other utilities industries. Employment remained stable in other industries.

The unemployment rate fell by 0.6 to 20.3 per cent for males aged 15 to 24 and by 0.2 to 16.5 per cent for females in the same age group. There was a decline of 0.1 to 8.6 per cent for males aged 25 and over, while the rate remained unchanged at 9.2 per cent for females 25 and over.

The jobless rate fell by 0.8 to 14 per cent in New Brunswick; by 0.2 to 9.2 in Ontario; by 0.1 to 7.4 in Saskatchewan, and by 0.4 to 10.1 in Alberta.

The rate increased by 0.1 to 18.3 per cent in Newfoundland; by 0.5 to 13.1 in Nova Scotia, by 0.2 to 9.3 in Manitoba, and by 0.1 to 13.5 in British Columbia.

The rate was unchanged in Prince Edward Island at 12.1 per cent and in Quebec at 13.5.

Canadian Club of the Yamaska Valley

The Canadian Club of the Yamaska Valley will hold its November meeting on Monday, November 14th, 1983 at 2:00 p.m. at the Auberge des Carrefours in Cowansville. Miss Una Wardleworth and Mrs. Helene Brais will give a slide presentation entitled "The Artist and the Arctic".

Mrs. Helene Brais was born in Beauharnois, lived in the Gatineau for fifteen years and obtained a Bachelor of Arts Degree at the University of Ottawa. She studied Library Science at the University of Montreal and is a Librarian at the main branch of the Municipal Library in Montreal. The staff of seventy-five is responsible for doing all the ordering for all the technical services. This entails doing the cards, the indexing, the listing of the books and getting the material out to the branch libraries.

Two years ago Mrs. Brais went to the Arctic on her honeymoon. She spent 14 days there and The Canadian Club will have the privilege of seeing her landscape and flower slides.

Miss Una Wardleworth was born in Westmount, attended Westmount High School,

McGill University and the McGill School for Teachers. She taught five- and six-year-olds at Victoria School and ended her professional career at Montreal West High School teaching Kindergarten. She is the first woman President of the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society of Montreal in its 125-year history. Miss Wardleworth has travelled a great deal, but her most exciting trip was to Baffin Island in 1965 with an Alpine Climbing Expedition led by Colonel Baird.

The group camped on Summit Lake on Pangnirtung Fjord. Miss Wardleworth was second cook. "The famous artist A. Y. Jackson was along," she said. "It was a wonderful opportunity to get to know him and watch him paint. He was a dear, amusing and good company. He was full of stories about his different painting trips." We shall be privileged to see the slides that Miss Wardleworth took on this trip.

Miss Wardleworth will be spending the weekend prior to the meeting of the Canadian Club with Mr. and Mrs. E.C. McCurdy with whom she travelled to China last year.

Mrs. K.B. Keefe and members of the executive will be entertaining Mrs. Brais and Miss Wardleworth at luncheon on Monday, November 14th.

Fréchette opens new job placement service

By Peter Scowen

SHERBROOKE — The opening of a new service for the placement and integration of handicapped workers in the Eastern Townships was formally announced last week at a press conference in Sherbrooke.

Trav-action, in collaboration with the Quebec manpower office, will serve as a liaison between possible employers and handicapped men and women looking for work. It will also evaluate workers and oversee their placement and orientation in the working world.

Trav-action is the creation of the Eastern Townships committee for the integration of handicapped workers (CEPIT — Comité de L'Estrie pour l'intégration des personnes handicapées). Raynald Fréchette, the Minister of Labor and Deputy of Sherbrooke, was on hand at the conference to give the president of CEPIT, Jean Lefebvre, a $72,000 grant from the Manpower Ministry which made the creation of Trav-action possible.

In a brief statement, Fréchette said he is very pleased with the project, which has created three new jobs and called for the collaboration of employers in helping to create jobs for the handicapped.

He also said that the government is in the midst of putting together a bill concerning the rehabilitation and reintegration of victims of industrial accidents.

The three new jobs went to Monique Langlois, director of Trav-action, and her two assistants, Dominique Perron and Irene Bilodeau. After the press conference, Langlois said that employers have already approached her about the possibility of hiring handicapped workers but that for the moment Trav-action was more concerned with finding and evaluating the workers. She also said that the service would be offered in English as well as French.

Trav-action's office is located at 1650 west King Street, room 400, Sherbrooke. The telephone number is 564-1271.

The Canadian Club of the Eastern Townships

The Canadian Club of the Eastern Townships' Inc. will hold a dinner meeting on November 8th, 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn. The guest speaker will be Mr. Richard French, M.N.A. from Westmount. His topic will be "Quebec Politics in the mid 1980s".

Mr. Richard D. French was born in Montreal, Quebec, his primary education was taken in Boston, Mass., Vancouver, B.C., and Toronto, Ontario. He obtained his B.Sc. (Biology) at the University of British Columbia, D. Phil. (History) at Oxford University, was a Rhodes Scholar in 1968 (British Columbia), and was also awarded the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship in 1968.

Since 1981 he has been a member of the National Assembly for Westmount Riding.

We are most fortunate to obtain his presence and are looking forward to hearing him speak.

Pill's side effects overrated

QUEBEC (CP) — The negative side-effects of the birth control pill are overrated and it remains one of the surest and safest methods of contraception, says a doctor who helped organize an information session on women's health problems for 300 general practitioners.

"Women come and tell me they are worried about taking the pill," said Dr. Diane Boivin, a general practitioner in the Montreal suburb of Longueuil. "I tell them: 'But you are smoking and that's worse'."

Boivin and two other doctors — Dr. Edith Guilbert of Quebec City and Dr. Lucie-Helene Lachance of St. Augustin — told reporters Thursday there is no perfect method of birth control for a woman. Each case must be evaluated according to a woman's age, health, level of sexual activity and medical history.

Women who are over 30, take the pill and smoke are at greater risk than younger women, said Lachance.

But since much of the additional risk is caused by smoking, the solution is to get her to give up cigarettes, not the pill.

"All this bad publicity against the pill hurts — we can see it in the abortion clinics, where women who have stopped taking the pill are coming for abortions," said Boivin, chairman of the organizing committee for a two-day meeting sponsored by the Quebec Federation of General Practitioners.

"Every day there are women who stop taking the pill because they think they need to give their bodies a rest. If a woman has no medical problems, then she should stop taking the pill only if she wants a pregnancy."

If a woman for some reason can't or doesn't want to take the pill, Boivin said she would recommend "soft" birth control methods such as condoms rather than the implantation of an intra-uterine device.

"As a woman doctor, I would never use an IUD personally," said Boivin.

In fact, said Guilbert, women who wear IUDs run five to eight times the risk of getting infections in their reproductive organs than women who don't.

But, added Lachance, if a woman has already had all the children she wants, then she may be able to live with an infection that could lead to sterility.

The diaphragm, meanwhile, takes some of the spontaneity out of sex and isn't for people who can't live with planning.

"It takes collaboration from one's partner to say to him, 'Wait for me for a few minutes while I install my little gizmo.' A lot of men aren't willing to wait," said Guilbert.

What about birth control for men? Although Guilbert said new methods are being developed — notably a pill for men whose only side-effect is to increase their libido — surveys show women don't trust men to take the precautions.

Ann Landers

Pack it in, pal

Dear Ann Landers:

I am almost certain that your advice will be, but I must see it in print before I give up on this.

I am a 36-year-old divorced woman involved with a 28-year-old bisexual male. We have been seeing one another for two years. "Larry" had a long-time relationship with an older man. When they broke up, we began to date.

I have shared everything with Larry — travel, dinners out, the theatre and dancing. I always pay the tab because I have more money than he has. I've given him many expensive presents and paid for intensive therapy, trying to straighten him out.

Now Larry tells me he has been seeing his male friend again. He says he cannot give him up completely and I will have to "understand". I am in therapy myself, and my doctor says he is using me and I should stop being a fool. My friends and family say the same thing.

I am really hung up on this guy. Please tell me if you think there is any chance that I will win out if I hang in there.

Daffy Delores

Dear Delores:

No. There's the answer you needed to see in print.

Your therapist, family and friends are right. Tell the freeloader to pack it in, and make a decent life for yourself.

The Spinal Column

By DR. RICHARD ARGALL
CHIROPRACTOR

Pain plays a very important role in our lives. Although it is not a pleasant sensation, we can be thankful that our body was created with this valuable mechanism. If we should accidentally touch a hot stove, pain is registered almost immediately in our brain, and the hand is pulled away. Imagine the damage that would be done if we did not have this defense mechanism. Only when it is understood that pain is a part of the body's warning system, can its function be appreciated.

Suppose you had installed in your home a very expensive fire alarm that would warn you if a fire broke out. If this alarm should go off in the middle of the night, it would not be sensible to shut off the alarm and ignore the fire. Does it seem any more sensible to try to deaden the pain in your body and leave the cause?

At best, covering up pain with drugs can only be a temporary treatment. Chiropractors recognize that pain is only a symptom, only a warning of an underlying cause. They are concerned not with treating the pain, but with correcting the Cause. Because the body created the pain, only the body can permanently eliminate it. It can do this only when the cause is corrected.

Human beings have never been able to create a warning system that would guard against the intricate warning system our body uses hundreds of times a day. Pain is an important factor in its right perspective. Far from being our enemy, it is our protector and our friend.

Pulp and Paper Reports:

Farming the Forests

FOREST RENEWAL EXPENDITURES CANADA ($ MILLIONS)

(Source: CPPA)

Canada's bountiful forest lands provide the base for the country's largest manufacturing industry: pulp and paper.

In recent years, attention has turned to the question of how Canada can produce an adequate supply of wood fibre so that it can maintain its present share and participate in the growing world demand for forest products. Spending on forestry by governments and industry has risen sharply in recent years and much more is required.

Money is invested in protecting existing forests from the ravages of fire, insects and disease. It is invested in seedlings, and in thinning and fertilizing stands of timber. The investment pays off in more fibre per hectare.

To meet the growing competition in world pulp and paper markets, Canada needs more than modern, efficient mills. It also needs, and is developing bigger and better forests.

For more information, send for "New Challenges", a free booklet from Public Information Services, Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, Dept. 23, 23rd Floor, 1155 Metcalfe Street, Montreal, Quebec, H3B 2X9.

Prosperity Rebekah Lodge No. 32 holds meeting

COWANSVILLE — The regular meeting of Prosperity Rebekah Lodge No. 32 was held in the Fraternal Hall on Monday, Oct. 17. Lodge was opened in form at 8:15 p.m. by Sister June Royea, N.G. and Sister Gladys Brunton, V.G. with their officers. 15 P.N.G. answered the roll call.

The N.G. Sister June Royea welcomed all the Brothers and Sisters and especially Sister Laura Burnham D.D.P. and her staff. Brother Grant Winkle of Knowlton Lodge and Brother Ernie Clifford of Waterloo Lodge. Sister Donna Luce P.N.G. introduced the appointed officers, Sisters Phoebe McBride, Outside Guardian of the R.A. and P.D.Q.P. and Brother Percy Burnham, Chaplain of the Gr. Lodge of Quebec. They were welcomed. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

It was reported that Sister Bernice Russell of Sutton Lodge is in hospital and Brother Gordon Peron and Sister Margaret Mahannah of Prosperity Lodge are also in the hospital.

There were several bills handed in. The N.G. ordered them paid.

The secretary read a thank-you letter from Sister Phyllis Durkee and a letter from Sister Viola Noble, Sec. of the R.A. notifying the lodge that the Sovereign Grand Lodge tax on each member had gone up from $1.00 to $2.00.

The investigating Committee which had visited our new candidate Elaine Fowler reported. She will become a member on November 21.

The financial sec. Sister Margaret Jones gave her annual report.

Sister June Royea was appointed as representative to the R.A. of Quebec in May 1984 and Sister Phyllis Durkee as Alternate.

As it was Installation of Officers, the D.D.P. Sister Laura Burnham was present. She was given the Honors and her Marshall Sister Rachael Norton escorted her to the chair of the N.G. Sister June Royea pinned a corsage containing currency on her. Then she and her staff capably installed the new slate of officers for the term 1983-84. They are:

Under Good of the Order, the D.D.P. spoke. She thanked the lodge for all courtesies and for her corsage. She told us our item we put on at the District meeting gave everyone food for thought. She closed with a poem.

Sister Phyllis Durkee, Jr. P.N.G. asked Sister June Royea to come to the center of the floor. She pinned her P.N.G. pin on Sister June. In return, Sister June thanked the lodge for her pin and wished the new N.G. and her officers a good year and thanked her officers for their support.

Lodge closed in form, and all retired to the dining area where stuffed rolls and cakes were served and prepared by the committee in charge.

W.H. and F.M. Society of Advent Christian Church meet at Stanstead

BEEBE — On October 19, the W.H. and F.M. Society of the Advent Christian Church assembled at the home of Ruth Ashman in Stanstead assisting. Mildred Woodard called the meeting to order by reading a poem, "When Happy in Being a good Neighbour".

Roll-call was answered by ten members with a Thanksgiving reading.

The devotional period was led by Dorothy Humphrey whose theme was, "Christian Woman at her best is a peacemaker". Rev. Beulah Purkiser led the prayer.

Correspondence was read, Missionary for the month of October was Melody Dean of the Philippines.

National, International and Regional dues were voted to be paid.

Donation was voted to go to Christmas in October. The gift to the kitchen on the campground will be given at a later date.

November 16 meeting will be held at the home of Gertrude Sharkey with Eunice Aulis assisting. Roll call will be something in observance of Remembrance Day.

Rev. Ronald White is leaving the local parish (Advent Christian) in November and a farewell party came under discussion when it was decided to hold a social hour after the last evening service (Nov. 20) when he and his wife will be honored guests and gifts were also discussed.

At this point Rev. Beulah Purkiser was presented with a plate with the picture of the local church on it, as she is leaving the spend the winter in Florida and the plate will keep the local friends in her memory.

She thanked everyone for the plate saying she would cherish it and hang it in her home in Florida, she also remembered all the sick and shut-ins, locally, in her prayer.

Following repeating of the Mizpah Benediction, the hostess served dainty refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, coffee and tea.

CINDERELLA SHOES

I have a friend who is a riot but even more so since she went on a diet.

High protein all the way bread, but only dry forget about the comfort of an early evening Rye.

She was very devoted till she noticed one day that her shoes were looser and hampered her way.

She went to the shoe store and asked for size nine but they were all too big even the ones tied with twine.

So far the low calories the small portions of meat had only minimized the size of her feet.

The doctor was amazed and as he studied her knees he suddenly turned away and stifled a sneeze.

He informed her she was losing from the feet upward but urged her to keep herself out of the cupboard.

Very soon her torso would catch up in the race very soon those double chins would be gone from her face.

Very soon her waistline, her hips and her thighs would be carried by tiny feet and admired by masculine sighs.

St. George's ACW hold regular meeting

AYER'S CLIFF — The regular meeting of the ACW of St. George's Church was held in the Church Hall on Oct. 6 with six members present.

The meeting was conducted by Alice Vance, President, and opened with the guild prayers. Maude Chadsey read an article from the Diocesan Gazette on Thank offering and Joyce Ounsworth read some interesting items from the same paper.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary Lorraine Harrison and the correspondence. Thelma Piercy reported on the Youth Conference she had attended at Quebec Lodge on Sept. 24. It was also agreed to sell the church calendars for $2.00 each. Thelma Piercy gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Barbara Wintle. It was noted the rummage sale in September was a decidated success. As Sunday, Oct. 7 was to be the Thanksgiving service. Mrs. Vance asked for help and items to decorate the church.

The date for the Christmas Tea and Sale was set for Nov. 24 from 3 to 5 p.m.

The menu to be chicken salad, rolls, tea and squares. It was decided to order the Armistice wreath again this year.

A bee would be held to clean the hall on Oct. 11 and 13.

Members were reminded to bring in Thankoffering boxes at the next meeting. A sunshine basket was planned for Margaret Gustin who has recently returned home from the hospital. Alice Vance will look after same.

Meeting was adjourned and refreshments of donuts, cheese and coffee were served by the hostess and a social time enjoyed.

Concordes' playoff hopes die as Ruoff hits last-minute field goal

By Terry Scott

MONTREAL (CP) — Like an unwanted guest who finally shows up at a party, Hamilton Tiger-Cats place-kicker Bernie Ruoff spoiled the fun for Montreal Concordes on Sunday.

The Concordes had brought some long-missing football enthusiasm back to Olympic Stadium — drawing a crowd of 41,157, the largest crowd in their two-year existence — and were on the verge of completing a late-season, Cinderella comeback when Ruoff entered the picture.

He got his toe into a 39-yard field goal with 45 seconds to play, lifting

Hamilton into a 21-21 tie, enabling the Ticats to beat out the Concordes for the final playoff spot in the East Division. Both teams finished with a 5-10-1 won-lost-tied mark, but the Ticats advance because they beat Montreal 35-30 in a previous meeting.

"Nobody in this town should get down on the Concordes," said Ruoff. "We had to come back."

"They put the ball in our court, and we delivered it."

Ruoff came close to missing the opportunity to deliver the goods. Earlier, he limped off the field after Montreal's Mark Hopkins made contact with him while blocking a punt.

HAD CRAMP

"That last kick sort of knuckled because of a cramp in my leg following the hit," said Ruoff. "Fortunately, it got through."

"The team made some good plays to set me up for the winning field goal."

The biggest play, in the view of Montreal head coach Joe Galat, was a 20-yard catch by Rocky DiPietro on a second-and-20 from the Hamilton 38. One play later, quarterback Dieter Brock hit Scott Collie with a 14-yarder before running backs Johnny Shepherd and Mark Bragagnolo, with runs of one and five yards, set the stage for Ruoff.

Following the tying field goal, the Concordes moved the ball up to their own 41. With time for at least three more plays, quarterback Kevin Starkey went for the bomb, and his pass was intercepted by Mark Young at the Hamilton 23.

"We read the defence," said Galat. "You have to take what the defence gives you."

"We would have liked to have taken five yards and the first down, but they were playing tight. We couldn't throw the short pass, so we had to go deep."

Both of the Concordes' earlier touchdowns were scored by Lester Brown, on runs of eight yards. The second, at 4:36 of the fourth quarter, provided Montreal with a 20-18 lead, and the margin became three points on punter Gerry McGrath's single at 11:51.

Don Sweet, with two converts and field goals of 12 and 29 yards, accounted for the rest of the scoring.

Brock connected with Bragagnolo on a two-yard TD pass before Collie hauled in a 30-yarder for Hamilton's TDs. Ruoff, besides the tying field goal, booted a 29-yarder and had a 39-yard single.

"It's hard to swallow," said Galat. "We worked hard to try to get to the playoffs."

"I thought the guys played with a lot of heart and courage."

The Concordes entered the game with three victories in their last four outings, while Hamilton had won one of six. Momentum, the old intangible, was said to be on Montreal's side.

But after the game was over, someone carefully wrote on the blackboard in the Hamilton dressing room, "So much for momentum!"

Jets win, lose and draw over busy weekend

By Bobby Fisher

SHERBROOKE — Sherbrooke Jets had a weekend with a little bit of everything, hitting for the cycle with a win Friday, a loss Saturday and a tie Sunday.

Last night in front of another disappointing crowd of 1,634 the Jets battled to a highly-entertaining 1-1 overtime tie with Fredericton Express. Centre Brad Tippett gave the Jets the tie when he beat Express goaltender Brian Ford with a quick wrist shot from the slot at 10:24 after seldom-used Sandy Beadle intercepted a Fredericton clearing pass and set up his team mate.

Tony Currie had given the Express an early lead when his low hard slap shot from about 20 feet to the right of the Sherbrooke net eluded Paul Pageau on the glove side. Currie had been allowed to skate out of the corner to the right of Pageau as the Sherbrooke defence made one of its few mistakes.

The five-man defensive unit of Bill Whelton, Steven Fletcher, Craig Channell, Kelly Elcombe and Jryki Seppa enjoyed strong outings in the Jets' two weekend home games — a convincing 6-2 win over Adirondack Red Wings Friday and last night's tie. Saturday Sherbrooke was thrashed by Adirondack 9-1 in Glen's Falls, New York.

After the Tippett goal the goaltenders took over as the two teams traded 26 shots in the third period and seven more in the five-minute, sudden-death overtime session. Sherbrooke dominated the final 20 minutes despite being outshot 14-12. They held an advantage in overtime as well, testing Ford four times. Pageau faced three shots.

In the third period Pageau, who had not started a game in more than two weeks because of the superb play of Warren Skorodenski, made his best saves while Ron Wilson was serving a tripping penalty.

Action was a little rough at times during the Sherbrooke Jets' 1-1 tie with Fredericton Express at the Sports Palace Sunday night.

Ford, not to be outdone, did the same thing only seconds later as Sherbrooke's penalty-killing pair of Tom Gibson and Guy Fournier broke up the ice on a two-on-one break. Gibson hit Fournier with a pass from the left boards near the Fredericton blue line and the latter went in all alone. His attempted deke was foiled by Ford who stopped 36 of the 37 shots the Jets sent his way. Pageau saw 35.

Saturday night Sherbrooke found itself in a 9-0 hole before Gibson got his second of the year at 8:05 of the third period. Don Murdoch pumped in his fifth, sixth and seventh goals of the season in the first period to pace the Red Wings, frustrated repeatedly Friday night by Skorodenski.

Six different players shared the scoring Friday as the Jets played one of their best home games in their two-year existence. Skorodenski kept Adirondack at bay in the first two periods stopping all but one of 30 shots aimed at his net giving Murray Eaves, Rick Bowness, Tim Trimmer, Alain Daigle, Fournier and Wilson a chance to give Sherbrooke a 6-0 lead.

Hollywood in hot water

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former Dallas Cowboy linebacker Thomas Edward (Hollywood) Henderson was free on $16,000 bail Thursday night after being arrested when two teen-age girls told police he held them at gunpoint, demanded sex, assaulted them and then threatened to kill them.

Long Beach detectives Jerry Gadbaw and Sgt. Don Hesslink said Henderson, 30, was taken into custody at his Ocean Boulevard apartment Wednesday evening.

Officers said they found a .38-caliber revolver in the apartment, as well as narcotics paraphernalia, some rum and about $200.

Lt. Jim Reed said Henderson was booked for investigation of oral copulation, kidnapping, exhibition of a firearm in a threatening manner and use of a gun in the commission of a felony.

Gadbaw and Hesslink said Henderson was apparently walking to a store several blocks from his apartment at about 8 p.m. Wednesday when he met the girls, who are 15 and 17 years old.

The 17-year-old, who is a paraplegic and confined to a wheelchair, told the Long Beach Press-Telegram she and her friend were on their way to a bus stop to go to a birthday party when they met Henderson.

After accompanying him to his apartment, the girls alleged that for three hours Henderson wielded a gun and forced them to remove their clothes. They alleged he threw them about, kicked them and ordered the 15-year-old to perform a sexual act or be killed.

Henderson, reached at his home late Thursday, denied he had threatened the girls' lives at gunpoint.

"I was solicited on the street," Henderson said. "And they stole some things from me."

"I retained those things."

He said the girls took $100, but "I got my money back."

He refused further comment. The former football player was selected by Dallas Cowboys in the first round of the 1975 National Football League draft. He played for Dallas from 1975 to 1979, and was a member of the Cowboys' 1976, '78 and '79 Super Bowl teams. He later played for San Francisco 49ers, Houston Oilers and Miami

Buccaneers finally get on the board by beating Vikings

Tampa Bay Buccaneers finally could celebrate a victory, but there were no celebrations for Houston, Denver, Minnesota and Los Angeles Raiders — the latter despite posting another National Football League victory.

"I think our rallying cry of late has been, 'Whatever it takes,'" said quarterback Jack Thompson after Tampa Bay captured its first game of the season after nine losses by downing Minnesota 17-12.

"James Wilder had the right stuff. It wasn't artistic, but the bottom line is we won."

Wilder banged out 219 yards in 31 carries, including a 75-yard touchdown sprint that put the Bucs ahead to stay in the third quarter. The TD run was the longest by a Buccaneer and the 219 yards broke the team's single-game rushing record.

"It's something to celebrate about," said Wilder. "It feels great when you want to win and you never get tired."

In other games Sunday, it was Dallas 27, Philadelphia 20; Pittsburgh 26, San Diego 3; New Orleans 27, Atlanta 10; Cincinnati 55, Houston 14; Green Bay 35, Cleveland 21; Los Angeles Raiders 28, Kansas City 20; New England 21, Buffalo 7; Miami 20, San Francisco 17; Seattle 27, Denver 19; Los Angeles Rams 21, Chicago 14;

Devils end 10-game skid

New Jersey Devils laid a number of negative streaks to rest Sunday night.

First and foremost to go, by virtue of a 6-3 victory over Chicago Black Hawks, was the 10-game losing streak.

Second, goaltender Chico Resch kicked out 43 shots in the Devils net for his first victory of the season after sporting an 0-8 mark. Ron Low was the goaltender in the club's only other win of the National Hockey League season.

And New Jersey finally scored a power-play goal after missing on 30 opportunities.

Aaron Broten scored two goals for New Jersey, one on a power play, to spark the offence.

Meanwhile, a few teams kept some positive streaks alive.

The Washington Capitals won for the seventh time in their last eight games with a 3-2 victory over Detroit Red Wings; Philadelphia Flyers upped their record against Hartford to 11-13 with a 4-2 victory over the Wha-

Baltimore 17, New York Jets 14, and Washington 45, St. Louis 7.

N.Y. VISITS DETROIT

Tonight, New York Giants are at Detroit.

Wilder's performance came a week after he carried the ball a league-record 42 times against Pittsburgh.

"He's a genetic mutant," Thompson affectionately said of the six-foot-three, 225-pound Tampa Bay running back. "When you have a body like James Wilder, you never get tired."

Wilder's broke the Ricky Bell's single-game team rushing mark of 167 yards.

Three teams lost their quarterback, while Houston running back Earl Campbell threatened to leave the Oilers after being benched in the second quarter.

Steve DeBerg suffered a separated left shoulder and will be lost to Denver for the remainder of the season. The Raiders' Marc Wilson will be sidelined for at least six weeks because of a broken left shoulder, while Minnesota's Steve Dils was put in hospital overnight for observation when he became disoriented after taking some heavy hits.

Bengals 55 Oilers 14

Pete Johnson slammed into the end zone for three touchdowns and Ken Anderson came off the injury list to direct 34 first-half points to lead Cin-cers; and Boston Bruins and Edmonton Oilers both won their fifth in a row. Boston beat Los Angeles Kings 7-3 while Edmonton downed Winnipeg Jets 8-5.

In another game, Quebec Nordiques pounded Buffalo Sabres 7-1.

On Saturday, it was: New York Islanders 4 Buffalo 0, Hartford 2 Los Angeles 1, Vancouver Canucks 3 Detroit 2, New York Rangers 4 Quebec 4, Boston 10 Montreal Canadiens 4, Edmonton 7 Pittsburgh Penguins 3, Calgary Flames 5 Toronto Maple Leafs 3, St. Louis Blues 7 Philadelphia 6, Minnesota North Stars 10 Chicago 5.

After New Jersey built a 4-0 lead on two goals by Broten and one each from Mel Bridgman and Paul Gagne, the Black Hawks roared back with three goals 51 seconds apart, two by Denis Savard and one by Darryl Sutter.

But that was it for the Hawks as Joe Cirella and Don Lever closed out the scoring for the Devils.

lossing streak to 17 straight games — 10 this season.

Houston running back Earl Campbell was upset after being taken out of the game in the second period after gaining 42 yards on 16 carries.

"I think now the only thing they (Oilers) can do is put me off this team," said Campbell. "The Houston Oilers treated me bad today. They treated me like a dog."

Rams 21 Bears 14

Rookie Eric Dickerson ran for 127 yards and scored twice to power Los Angeles Rams over Chicago.

Dickerson ran his 1983 rushing total to 1,223 yards and scored his 16th and 17th touchdowns of the season, both tops in the NFL.

The Rams' victory overshadowed the achievements of Chicago running back Walter Payton. He carried 14 times for 62 yards to become the fourth man in league history to top 11,000 yards in career rushing. With 11,020 yards, he trails only Jim Brown, Franco Harris and O.J. Simpson.

Cowboys 27 Eagles 20

Quarterback Danny White completed 21 of 24 passes, including two for touchdowns, as Dallas stopped Philadelphia.

The Cowboys trailed 10-0 in the second quarter when they put together a 39-yard field goal by Rafael Septien and a touchdown pass from White to Timmy Newsome within a 3:09 span to tie the score.

Seahawks 27 Broncos 19

Dave Krieg, starting his second straight game after being replacing Jim Zorn at quarterback, passed for two third-quarter touchdowns and ran for another in the fourth to lead Seattle over Denver.

Krieg passed 14 yards to Steve Largent and 30 yards to Paul Johns for touchdowns and rookie Curt Warner rushed 25 times for an NFL career-high 134 yards to become the Seahawks' single-season rushing record holder.

Saints 27 Falcons 10

Dave Wilson, playing in place of injured quarterback Kenny Stabler, threw for 146 yards and a touchdown, while reserve fullback Hokie Gajjanran for two touchdowns as New Orleans defeated Atlanta.

Atlanta, which took a 10-0 lead before the Saints began their comeback turned the ball over three times — twice on fumbles and once on Steve Bartkowski's fourth interception of the season.

Patriots 21 Bills 7

Two long scoring passes by Steve Grogan to Clarence Weathers and another 35-yard Grogan pass to Stanley Morgan to set up another touchdown keyed New England's victory.

Grogan capped a five-play, 80-yard drive with a 40-yard scoring pass play to Weathers, giving the Patriots a 14-0 halftime lead.

Dolphins 20 49ers 17

Rookie quarterback Dan Marino and Nat Moore combined for two touchdowns and defensive end Doug Betters recovered two San Francisco fumbles in the closing minutes to give Miami its fourth straight victory.

Colts 17 Jets 14

Two touchdowns by Curtis Dickey led Baltimore to its victory over New York.

Bromont rider takes top honors at U.S. horse show

NEW YORK (CP) — Young Mario Deslauriers of Bromont, Que., won the individual championship at the U.S. National Horse Show with a pair of weekend victories in international jumping, but the U.S. captured the team title in the final event Sunday night.

In their best showing in a decade, the Canadian equestrians were second in the team standings.

Deslauriers, 18, was making his debut at the 100th-anniversary show and he showed he will be a contender for a spot on the Canadian equestrian team in the 1984 Olympics next summer at Los Angeles.

Deslauriers and team captain Ian Millar of Perth, Ont., had their team in first place after they finished one-two in the jumping Sunday afternoon.

But the U.S. picked up enough points in the Grand Prix of New York City, the last jumping event of the six-day show at Madison Square Garden, to retain the team title while Canada was blanked.

MILLAR SECOND

Deslauriers won the individual title with 31 points. Millar was second with 29½, Joe Fargis of the U.S. third with 24½ and Herve Godignon of France fourth with 19½.

The two other members of the Canadian team were far down the list. Alan Brand of Calgary, badly shaken during a spill earlier in the show, had two points and Gail Greenough of Edmonton one point.

The U.S. team of Fargis, Conrad Homfeld, Katie Monahan and Norman Dello Joio took the Nations Cup and two other classes in international jumping. The Americans finished with 85½ points. Canada had 74 and West Germany 23.

Britain, Ireland, France and Japan had only one rider each in the show.

Englishman Nick Skelton won the Grand Prix of New York City on Everest Arabesque. He had the fastest time in the jumpoff, 31.76 seconds. Fargis on Touch of Class was second in 31.92. Seven of the eight finalists had faultless rides.

Deslauriers, the lone Canadian in the jumpoff, went out with four faults when his mount Aramis knocked down a fence.

On Saturday, Deslauriers captured the first of his two jumping victories, riding Aramis, while Millar was second on Foresight. In the evening, Millar placed second, riding Wotan in a fault-and-out event won by Homfeld aboard Second Balcony.

Deslauriers rode Beauwulf in a hit-and-hurry event Sunday afternoon in which the rider had to clear the most hurdles within a time limit to win. Two points were awarded for each hurdle cleared and one point for a knockdown.

Deslauriers and Millar, on Wotan, each scored 24 points. But Deslauriers won the event with the fastest time, 47.32 seconds. Millar clocked 47.73.

"We were very very close to that team award but the last class decided the whole thing," Millar said.

Talking about Olympic equestrian prospects, Millar said: "We have five or six horses that we feel have the scope and the power to do the Olympic job."

"If we can get them aimed, programmed and ready, then I think we'll be all set."

Aramis would be one of them, Millar said.

"We hope that by Christmas the whole plan will be laid out for the Olympic year."

Cougars to meet rival Diablos in showdown after crushing Vanier

By Bobby Fisher

LENNOXVILLE — For a little while Saturday afternoon it appeared that history would repeat itself.

It was halftime at the Champlain Cougars semi-final game with Vanier Cheetahs and the home side was up only 8-2 despite playing in front of a boisterous, hot-dog throwing Homecoming crowd. And when a team is accustomed to going into the locker room after two periods with at least a 20-point lead, a big six means they are in a fight. It was a scene right out of the 1982 semi-final with Marie-Victorin Trappeurs when last-minute heroics were required for Champlain to advance to the provincial championship.

Fortunately for the Cougars history repeated itself but in a different form.

Wide receiver/punt returner Wally Zatylny enjoyed an outstanding regular season scoring more than 100 of Champlain's 428 points. Saturday he enjoyed an outstanding afternoon hauling in three passes for 55 yards and dazzling the crowd with a 160-yard punt return touchdown as time ran out in the third quarter. That made the count 20-2 and broke the bubble Vanier had been blowing up. Oh yes, he added a couple of other major scores.

"I think the game was over before he even reached the end zone," said Cougar head coach Ian Breck. "I looked over as he was running down the sideline and you could see it on their faces."

Joining Zatylny in the second-half touchdown explosion were Jim Johnson, who had a good day rushing with 109 yards on 15 carries, and Rick Gau-vreau, with 52 yards on six attempts. Kicker George Malaxianakis had four second-half extra points and a 40-yard field goal, while the punt return team was credited with a safety when the Vanier punter downed the ball in his own end zone.

In the first half Malaxianakis booted a single on the opening kick-off and added a conversion on Dennis Walker's touchdown run. Vanier scored its points on a safety touch.

Offensive coach Dave Shields agreed with Breck's assessment that the first half problems were more a case of Vanier playing well than the Cougars performing poorly. "They took some things away from us that we would have liked to have done," he explained. "But I think in the end we just had too many players who can come up with big plays for them to stay with us."

Zatylny, the man of the hour and a serious — if not the only — candidate for the most valuable player of the league honors, said it was a halftime talk by Breck that lit a fire under the Cougars on the cold, rainy afternoon. "I think the weather had something to do with our play in the first half. That plus the bad week of practice we had. Breck told us between halves that we were playing well but if we could just give that little extra effort it would help."

It did and the Cougars will meet arch-rival Trois Rivieres Diablos Sunday in a rematch of last year's Golden Bowl when the favored Champlain team was upset. Kick-off at McGill University's Molson Stadium is at noon.

Zatylny says he is looking forward to it. "It is going to be sweet revenge."

Wally Zatylny (80)... Should run away with most valuable player honors.

Hoopsters enjoy weekend

By Bobby Fisher

LENNOXVILLE — The red-hot Bishop's Gaiters ran their win streak to four-and-a-half games this weekend by downing Carleton Ravens 77-71 Friday night then gliding by Vanier College in a controlled scrimmage game Sunday afternoon at the J.H. Price Sports Complex.

Friday the Gaiters held a 44-41 half-time lead and doubled the three-point margin in the second half despite what head coach Wayne Hussey termed 'shaky' play. "The game was still in doubt with three minutes left," said Hussey. "We didn't play as well as we could have but what pleased me was that they buckled down when they had to."

The Carleton victory came two weeks after the Gaiters won a tournament in Montreal, and raised hopes that they have made a complete about-face from last year when the team went 0-29.

The defending national champion Lady Gaiters made an impressive season debut Friday night as well by clobbering a highly-rated team of Montreal area university graduates 80-44.

Centre Andrea Blackwell led the Lady Gaiters' scoring with 27 points while Lynn Polson added 18. Wendy Verrecchia hit for 12 points while highly-acclaimed newcomers Michelle O'Keefe and Kelly Tucker pitched in with seven and six points respectively.

Hussey said he was also happy with the performance of the women's team in its season opener. "We wanted to use that game as a tune up for the University of Toronto tournament next weekend (where the Lady Gaiters are defending champions) and I was pleased with the way everyone played." The Montreal grads had beaten another highly-rated university team — McGill Martlets — by 42 points in a tournament earlier this fall.

Andrea Blackwell... 27-point debut.

Free agent pool quality down after recent signings

NEW YORK (AP) — The most popular pick could have been Jerry Reuss, Los Angeles Dodgers left-handed pitcher. Even Graig Nettles, New York Yankees Gold Glove third baseman, could have drawn some interest.

But they chose to stay with their clubs, leaving 46 other players to test baseball's free-agent market in today's re-entry draft.

Reuss re-signed with the Dodgers on Wednesday, Nettles with the Yankees the next day, one hour before the midnight deadline Thursday. That left 20 pitchers, 13 outfielders, 12 infielders and one catcher to go through the re-entry draft.

This year's draft included five Type A players, all pitchers, and two Type B players. Teams losing these players will get additional compensation, beyond the usual amateur draft choices.

The Type A players included two Detroit Tigers pitchers, starter Milt Wilcox and reliever Doug Bair. The other three were Kent Tekulve of Pittsburgh Pirates, Dennis Lamp of Chicago White Sox and Tom Underwood of Oakland A's.

The Type B players were infielder Manny Trillo of Montreal Expos and outfielder Ruppert Jones of San Diego.

This year's draft promised to depart from some longstanding traditions.

ANGELS OPT OUT

The free-agent hungry California Angels were among five teams that asked to be excluded from Type A drafting. In addition, the Angels have said they will break with another tradition and reserve the right to try to re-sign first baseman Rod Carew, a seven-time batting champion who hit .339 this year.

The other Type A-excluded clubs were Boston, Los Angeles, Minnesota and Seattle. By promising not to draft any A players, the clubs are not required to participate in the A compensation pool.

And New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner, another normally busy free-agent grabber, has said he would draft only those players the Yankees stood to lose — pitchers Rich Gossage and Dale Murray, outfielder Oscar Gamble and infielder Bert Campaneris — while trying to rebuild the team through trades and the farm system.

Gossage and Tekulve were expected to among the big draws at this draft, along with catcher Ted Simmons of Milwaukee, outfielders Warren Cromartie of Montreal and Dave Parker of Pittsburgh, and infielders Darrell Evans of San Francisco, Trillo and Carew.
