Premier defends Bill 63

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand says his government's controversial language bill aims to recognize the contribution of the English-speaking minority to Quebec society as well as promote French as the province's priority language.

In a free-time political broadcast, Quebec Affairs, on CBC television Saturday night, he said Quebec province with about 5,000,000 French and 1,000,000 non-French speaking residents faces a unique language problem.

His Union Nationale government bill recognizes both. "We owe something to the English-speaking minority which has contributed to the shaping and promotion of the Quebec entity" in ways greater than its proportion of the population.

The bill seeks to make French the main language in Quebec, but it also retains the freedom of parents to choose English or French as a language of school instruction for their children, provided they have a working knowledge of French on graduation.

Debate on second reading of the bill is scheduled to resume Tuesday in the national assembly of Quebec.

The legislation is necessary, Mr. Bertrand said, because "only by promoting the French language at all levels of society" in Quebec can it be preserved in a section of North America.

The bill has sparked dissatisfaction by extremists among both English and French. A wave of French nationalist and separatist protest demonstrations swept the province last week, ending in a march by 15,000 to 20,000 on the legislature Friday night.

Frechette: 'English can protest, too'

Sherbrooke M.N.A. Raynald Frechette said on Saturday that the English might be expected to protest against Bill 63 rather than the French. "This bill requires the English-speaking people to speak French in Quebec whereas the French-speaking people of the province are not required to learn English," said Mr. Frechette. He said that in the name of democracy the demonstrators had the right to contest the bill but that in the name of the same democracy he also had the right to explain his position on the bill. He mentioned that article one of the bill requires all Quebecers to have working knowledge of the French language before graduating from school. "A working knowledge consists of a knowledge sufficient to write, understand, and talk the French language," Mr. Frechette explained.

Quebec's first self-serve liquor store was opened today in the Sherbrooke Shopping Centre at 2235 King St. W.

Director General of the Quebec Liquor Board, Roger Laverdure, says, "This is the first of many of these stores where customers will shop at their leisure."

Sherbrooke MP Raynald Frechette officially opened the store at noon.

The store will be open 1 — 6 p.m. on Mondays; 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays; 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Fridays and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

PROTEST BILL 63 — About 300 demonstrators, mostly students, protested against Bill 63 during Premier Bertrand's visit to East Angus Sunday. Detachments of Provincial Police were on hand to support the East Angus constabulary to prevent any outbreak of violence.

Called a 'traitor' Crowd jeers Bertrand at East Angus

EAST ANGUS — (Staff) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand was spat at and insulted by a group of demonstrators last night when he paid a visit here to honor Minister of Lands and Forests Claude Gosselin.

Premier Bertrand was here to meet with Union Nationale supporters at a dinner for Mr. Gosselin. The Lands and Forests Minister was struck on the head by a placard carried by one of the demonstrators.

The demonstrators followed the Premier from the Town Hall to the hotel where the dinner was held, a distance of about 1,000 feet.

A handful in the crowd waved placards and shouted objections to Bill 63, the government's controversial language bill. One of the demonstrators spat at the Premier.

A detachment of Quebec Provincial Police, supporting East Angus municipal constables, managed to keep the crowd under control.

Mr. Bertrand arrived at the East Angus airport early in the afternoon where he was met by several hundred party supporters and proceeded to the recently-established home for the aged in East Angus. He inspected the premises and later proceeded to the East Angus Town Hall where he was received by Mayor Herve Maltais and the members of the East Angus Council.

There he made one of his few comments on the opposition to Bill 63 concerning the protection of language rights in the province when he jokingly said:

"Well here I am, still able to speak to you in French."

Tight security was maintained at the hotel doors to assure that admission was restricted to the 350 guests at the banquet and to regular habitues of the hostelry, but the control appeared only designed to assure that those entering the establishment were suitably dressed.

The dinner itself was strictly a social affair, the Premier announcing in his preliminary remarks that he would not deal with political matters and what he was there only to pay tribute to his cabinet colleague.

He lauded the valuable work that the Lands and Forests Minister had accomplished for Compton County during his period at Quebec and advised the electors that it was in their own interest to see that he was re-elected for another term.

Mr. Gosselin, a member of the Nationale Assembly for 12 years, was equally friendly, thanking the electors for the support they had given him over the years and promising them of his continued service in the future.

Others speaking briefly included Public Works Minister Armand Russell, Agriculture Minister Clement Vincent and Chief U.N. whip in the National Assembly, Rene Lavoie, MNA for the neighboring riding of Wolfe.

Record publisher Conrad Black was at the scene of Friday's demonstration in Quebec City. The demonstration didn't live up to its advance billing, which may be an indication that the moderates have abandoned the unilingualists' cause.

Billed as a big bash, Quebec show a bust

By CONRAD BLACK
Record Publisher

QUEBEC CITY — The demonstration on Friday night before the National Assembly by groups opposing Bill 63 was a fiasco. Up to 500,000 people had been expected by unilingualist Raymond Lemieux; a minimum of 50,000 was predicted by local university organizers; fewer than 20,000 materialized.

Observers were unanimous in crediting the crowd with excellent self control and generally good spirits. The overwhelming majority were young people. Almost no workers, whose presence had been promised in substantial numbers, were present. For the most part, the crowd was in a festive mood, with demonstrators alternating fraternization before the Assembly with respite in nearby bars.

The quality of oratory was relatively low, and even the most tried and true cliché, when bellowed from the sound truck, didn't evoke great enthusiasm. Verbal attacks on English-speaking Quebecers, capitalism, and Prime Minister Trudeau, fell rather flat, and only a few slogans and the mentioning of the names of Premier Bertrand and Justice Minister Remi Paul drew much of a response. In a long succession of speakers, pyrotechnic union leader Michel Chartrand came closest to rousing the mob with an almost open incitement to violence.

It can be assumed that relatively few of those present had more than a vague idea of the contents of the bill against which they were demonstrating. Laval University was festooned last week with denunciations of the bill, which, it was claimed, would accord rights to English Quebecers that French Quebecers would not enjoy. One notice widely posted around the University denounced elections as mere exercises for "English election coffers", and claimed that if Bill 63 were allowed to pass French Canadians would end up in "reservations like the Indians". Such opinions were probably typical of the demonstrators.

By 11 p.m. the crowd had dwindled to five or six thousand, and the demonstrators' own excellent security forces were leaving to return to Montreal. There seems to be a division of opinion as to whether the crowd provoked the police with the hurling of projectiles (which had been going on sporadically all evening), or whether the police began to fire tear gas canisters without allowing the demonstrators sufficient time to disperse.

Most reporters, including the on-site staff of the CBC's French network, agree that the 11 p.m. residue of the crowd was, voluntarily or otherwise, in the hands of agitators. Most observers also agree that the police became somewhat overzealous, and probably employed an excessive amount of force.

Bill 63 will almost certainly be adopted this week. What remains to be determined is whether the relative smallness of the number of people before the Assembly on Friday indicates that the moderates have deserted the unilingualists. An alternative question is whether the generally peaceful nature of last week's demonstrations throughout the province indicates that the moderates have overwhelmed the less numerous non-parliamentary opposition.

Retire? Not me, says Smallwood

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — All thoughts of retirement are gone as Premier Joseph Smallwood settles down to leading the Liberal party and the provincial government for at least two more years.

He announced his retirement last spring after 20 years as premier and party leader only to enter the leadership race in July when it became apparent the party's top post might go to John C. Crosbie, a 38-year-old St. John's lawyer and former cabinet minister whose economic ideas are opposed to the premier's own.

Delegates from the party's 41 districts and ex-officio members voted slightly more than 62 per cent Saturday to keep Mr. Smallwood at the helm.

Defeat would have been a bitter turn of events for the 68-year-old premier, who has won every provincial election since Newfoundland joined the Canadian union in 1949.

The next election is due in September, 1971, and the premier says he has no intention of calling an earlier contest.

Some who favored Mr. Crosbie and former justice minister T. Alex Hickman, in the leadership race say the premier is less than jubilant about the outcome of the two-day convention.

EXPECTED MORE VOTES

They say he is disappointed that no more than 1,070 of the 1,715 ballots cast were for him. He had predicted more than 1,200.

If there is disappointment, Mr. Smallwood hides it well.

He showed some tiredness after the strain of the convention, but talked about completing "a number of large industrial projects" before giving any consideration to retirement.

"I'm not thinking about retirement. I'm thinking about hard work for at least two years."

He did not expect his weariness to last, anticipating a fast-paced week starting Sunday with a trip to Toronto for taping of a CBC TV program. He was to be back at his desk Monday morning.

His energy has been a source of wonder to friends and enemies since the battle for Confederation began at Newfoundland's national convention in 1948.

"I never saw a human creature with Joe's capacity for work," says Irving Fogwill, who worked with Mr. Smallwood in the Confederation campaign.

Health Minister Ed Roberts gives much the same picture of how the premier operates today.

SAYS HE LOVES FIGHT

"He doesn't know fear of any kind and loves a political fight."

"There have been many occasions when nothing but sheer courage kept him going."

His treatment of opponents is usually rough.

He said Mr. Crosbie, who quit the health portfolio in 1969 would not be asked to rejoin the cabinet. The future of finance minister H. R. V. Earle who supported Mr. Hickman in the leadership race, is also in doubt.

Mr. Smallwood said he would "think about it."

Mr. Smallwood got his first introduction to politics as a boy in St. John's where the family moved soon after his birth at Gambo on Bonaville Bay, Dec. 24, 1900.

He spent much of his spare time in the galleries of the colony's house of assembly, listening to the chief speakers of the day.

In 1928 he was campaign manager for Sir Richard Squires' Liberal government and in 1932 met personal defeat at the polls. It was his only election defeat.

He had worked for newspapers in St. John's, Halifax, Boston and New York and by the time the national convention started was well-known to thousands of Newfoundlanders for his local radio program Barrelman.

Since Confederation his name has become almost synonymous with that of Newfoundland.

Much of the color emanates from his rebuttals of opponents' statements and denials of news stories he considers inaccurate.

Drill-team bandits net $250,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Working with clock-like precision, four armed men robbed Montreal's main post office Saturday and escaped with what police estimate may be as much as $250,000.

The hooded men burst into an area on the building's fifth floor about 3:45 a.m. and tied up one employee, Lionel Milo. Eight other employees having lunch in an adjacent cafeteria were handcuffed together.

An employee said one of the holdup men brandished a revolver and said: "If we hear one of you cry out, we'll come back and use this."

The gunmen then filled three postal bags with about 100 parcels and registered mail destined for banks. A post office spokesman said they "knew what kind of packages had money in them."

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Precautionary Measures
Control Cold's Miseries

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

The season of the common cold has started. On any late fall or early winter day, 20 to 35 million Americans are suffering from a cold. Many of them, especially the children, will have four or more recurrences before spring. Although the average cold in an adult lasts about two weeks, children's colds usually last a little longer. Elderly persons are less likely than others to catch cold. This may be because their blood has developed more antibodies or because they usually have less close contact with children.

To prevent catching a cold, you should avoid getting chilled or overheated, not because this will cause a cold but because it will lower your resistance. The same is true of neglecting to get enough sleep, exercise or proper nourishment. Your sleeping room in winter should not be heated. This is more important than getting a lot of "fresh air." Above all, you should avoid crowds and people known to have colds.

Colds, like most infectious diseases, are most contagious in the early stages. Every sneeze fills the air with thousands of virus-laden droplets, so cover your mouth and nose when you sneeze. Eating utensils used by a person with a cold should be kept separate from the rest or washed in boiling water. Only disposable handkerchiefs should be used, and after they are used they should be burned.

When one person in a household has a cold, all members should wash their hands frequently, especially before eating and after touching another person. A soap that contains hexachlorophene will afford the best protection.

If, in spite of all precautions, you get a cold, you should increase your intake of fluids. Nose drops that contain phenylephrine will relieve nasal congestion and postnasal drip but they should be used sparingly. If your cold is accompanied by a temperature of more than 99.6, you should see your doctor. If you must travel, go by train or bus, rather than by air, if you wish to avoid a middle-ear infection.

Q—Is it safe for a woman, 61, to use a hormone face cream?

A—Used in moderate amounts, such creams are safe, but there is no evidence that they will rejuvenate your skin or prevent wrinkles. Excessive amounts may cause undesirable side effects.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FOR TUESDAY, NOV. 4, 1969

Your birthday today: The coming year's expansive trends will carry you through sweeping changes into a more complex pattern of living habits. You may, if young enough, switch from one vocation to something very different and much more challenging. Since there will be very little time for reflection or review of your situation, many times you either think on your feet or rely on direct intuition for decisions. Today's natives usually have acute memories and seldom follow advice.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): The one thing you shouldn't do today is obligate yourself to pay future sums of money in installments. The affairs of your mate or partner promise enjoyment. Share in it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Health care, medical advice, fitness programs are favored. Cross talk manages to get in the way. Your patience will be well rewarded.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): So much is going on around you today that it is hard to concentrate on what you most want to do or even to know what is best to try doing. Keep your choices simple, spur of the moment, if you can.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Romance tends to progress by leaps and bounds — some of you will never forget today's experience. Chances for improvement in financial and vocational matters are good, as well.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Parents, older people resist today's expansive trend. Home improvements are encouraged by current circumstances. Sentimental interests come on stronger this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Romance and business both thrive, although they should never be mixed or confused. Relatives and their problems become difficult to cope with; there is a limit to how much you can sidetrack your own welfare to worry over others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Group and family affairs receive considerable push — probably favorable in the long run — from older people. Your financial position improves; personal interests advance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Nothing runs smoothly today, but the results are satisfactory. New interests, fresh subjects for study come to your attention. Prepare for a week of abrupt but minor changes at work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Planning is favored, while routine activities are hindered by petty discrepancies. People pick up your mood, which provokes further restlessness. If you can, follow some physical exercise or hobby briefly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): While important strangers wait for your response, close friends tend to get in the way. Romantic interests take a novel turn — the experience can be bright and unusual.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Group affairs thrive well despite some early confusion. Travel, particularly for entertainment or trivial reasons, produces rather unsatisfactory results.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Stay with your own close friends, loved ones for a day of good partnership and teamwork. Luck is attracted by action in or near home.

It all started 29 years ago out at the old Smiley Farm

SHERBROOKE — (DM) — When he was 15, Herbert Winget entered and won a ploughing match on the old Smiley Farm near Lennoxville.

Last Friday, he celebrated his 44th birthday after placing second at International competitions held in Paris two weeks ago.

Next year, he travels to the world match in Denmark, again as a representative of Canada.

Since that first contest, Mr. Winget has entered ploughing competitions throughout Quebec, Canada and recently, the world.

A past president of the Sherbrooke Ploughmen's Association, he has taken part in provincial matches for the last 14 years.

He entered his first provincial contest in 1956 at Waterville. Five years later in 1961, he took top honors at a match in Melbourne, also a provincial competition.

In the next two years, he was sent to National contests in Belleville and Manitoba, as a representative of Quebec.

Between 1962 and 1968, Mr. Winget's farm business kept him from ploughing on a regular basis.

During this time, he changed from the trailer type to a hydraulic plow and the changeover involved months of extra practice.

He now uses a Swedish plow, the most common in foreign contests. At 800 pounds, the plow is twice as heavy as domestic types and it can be finely adjusted for competition purposes.

After he began to plow regularly again, he placed second at provincial matches in St. Augustin last year and Bedford this year.

At international competitions in Paris this fall, Mr. Winget was the runner up, four percentage points behind the world champion.

Nearly 20 countries take part in these international contests. Mr. Winget has twice before represented Quebec and Canada at national and world matches.

Competition in these matches basically involves the ploughing of a plot of land, 250 by 65 feet.

Points are given for the shape and uniformity of the furrows, with 30 of the maximum 200 given for general appearance.

Seven categories of judging, worth between 10 and 40 points, decide the final score, which is then divided to reach a percentage.

Very rarely does anyone score over 80 per cent in competition. This year in Paris, Mr. Winget reached a total of 76, placing second.

He will again represent Canada, when he goes to Denmark this year to compete in the world match.

Ploughing a total of 15 acres last year, Mr. Winget has come a long way from Smiley's Farm.

CHAMPION PLOUGHMAN — Herbert Winget, who has taken top prizes in ploughing contests across the country, recently represented Canada in Paris, where he placed second in international competition. Mr. Winget travels to Denmark this year for another try at the world title.

Miss Lincoln gives 'House' to U of S

AUSTIN — (Staff) — "The House of Studies", a lecture centre situated on Patterson road near here, was donated to the University of Sherbrooke Saturday afternoon by its owner, Miss Natalie Lincoln.

The house, near the St. Benoit du Lac Monastery, has sheltered some of the most prominent figures in the world of philosophy, theology and religious sciences.

Monsignor Roger Maltais, Rector of the University of Sherbrooke, signed the document which now makes the house the "Natalie Lincoln Centre".

Emanating from one of the oldest families in America, which produced one of that country's most illustrious presidents, Miss Lincoln was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, and spent the greater part of her life in Washington, D.C., where she attended Catholic and Georgetown Universities.

For a number of years, Miss Lincoln was active in teaching and demonstrated a genuine interest in the intellectual promotion of young students.

She believes in the cultural traditions of old Europe, where she attended the better institutions of France, Italy and England.

In addition, Miss Lincoln speaks three languages: French, English and Italian.

During her stay in Quebec, she obtained a degree in philosophy under the teaching of the famed Prof. Charles de Koninck of Laval University.

In a letter to her friends at the Centre, Miss Lincoln writes "After having given twenty years of work building and running the House of Studies in the summer months, I find myself obliged to give up this apostolate."

"I expect to give the House of Studies to the University of Sherbrooke," she continues, "which, in close co-operation with the Department of Theology, will I trust continue and improve my work making the new institute a thriving Ecumenical Centre and a place where scholars can meet to discuss their problems, hold seminars, or simply rest and recreate themselves over a weekend."

Monsignor Jean Marie Fortier, archbishop of Sherbrooke, Reverend Bill Williams, of Plymouth United Church and Archdeacon T. J. Matthews, of the Lennoxville Anglican Church, attended the brief ceremony.

Just a quiet weekend in town: Rain and 24 minor accidents

Except for minor traffic accidents, and a little rain, it was a quiet weekend in the city with no reports of major happenings.

A total number of 24 minor traffic accidents occurred over the weekend.

A woman, Mrs. David Franco, of 938 Portland was slightly injured following a two-car collision at the corner of Belvedere and King streets last night.

In another part of the city, last night Radisson Restaurant owner Origene Carrier of 514 Galt St. West was the victim of a pack of cigarettes, three dollars from an amusement machine, and a possible $50 repair bill.

In connection with the break-in police said they were investigating two suspects.

Early Saturday morning, 11 cars that were parked on Avila St. in the North Ward were damaged as vandals took the antennas and tires.

In all matters, police are investigating.

Bedford

BEDFORD — At a special meeting of the Town Council of Bedford, tenders were received for installation of ice machinery in the arena. These tenders totaled $110,000 and councillor Fred Gilman moved they be turned over to the consulting engineers, Monarque, Morelli, Gaudette, Laporte for study to reduce the price to the original estimated cost of $72,000.

It was moved by councillor Gerard Fontaine and carried that the Town of Bedford install the artificial ice as soon as possible to be ready for use this December.

Councillor Lino Marzali proposed that a financial campaign be organized throughout the Bedford region to help pay the cost. The campaign will be headed by councillors Lino Marzali, Jean-Maurice Bedard, Gerard Fontaine with councillor Fred Gilman as secretary.

They feel that they can raise the funds as follows: Provincial Government, Minister of Tourism, Honorable G. Loubier, 35 per cent, Loisirs de Bedford, 10 per cent, Commissions Scolaires of the region, 5 per cent, other interested groups, Chamber of Commerce, Loisirs of the region, Church groups and municipalities, 10 per cent, industries and businesses of the region, 15 per cent, Town of Bedford, 25 per cent.

The Minister of Tourism has already promised $25,000 to this project, which is considered very necessary for the region.

Councillor Jean-Maurice Bedard moved that the Town men start work immediately to install the drainage, remove boards and sidewalks and excavate ready for the cement slab.

Bury

The fourth of the series of card parties sponsored by the Women's Institute, was held Oct. 22 with cards played at 11 tables. Those winning prizes were: Ladies, Miss Joyce Dougherty and Mrs. Fred Martin; Men, Mr. Cecil Ross and Mr. Elwin Herring.

Mr. Robert Bennett, Trenton, Ont., spent several days with his mother, Mrs. Hilda Bennett. Mr. and Mrs. Gwylm Lawrence were overnight guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Dunn, Richmond.

Construction going like a house afire

MARBLETON — Construction began last week on the town's new fire station, following the official sod-turning by Mayor Pierre Perrault.

Ten volunteer firemen will work with the department, under the direction of Mr. Roger Lamelin.

Even before the $12,000 construction was announced, Marbleton registered a $2,000 deficit when Mr. Perrault was named Mayor. Under his administration, this has been replaced with a $13,000 surplus.

"The Municipal Commission and Fire Commissioner, with the Department of Municipal Affairs, were completely agreed on the proposed construction," Mr. Perrault said.

"A great majority of our population," he added, "is anxious to have a modern fire station which will provide essential protection for our citizens."

Tempest at Bishop's Decide today on boycott

By BRIAN HANNA

LENNOXVILLE — Decision on a student boycott of all regular classes at Bishop's University will take place today when students meet to discuss student representation and voting rights within the Faculty of Arts administration.

The boycott has been brewing since last Thursday when it was disclosed that the University's Senate had unanimously rejected a Faculty of Arts motion to allow representation and voting rights.

The students of the Philosophy Department announced plans to boycott regular lecture sessions starting Friday and urged the student body to support them.

The boycotting measure had immediate results when the Political Science Department followed with similar tactics along with growing student approval.

At the Faculty of Arts professors meeting Friday, a motion was introduced requesting the Senate to reconsider their decision not to allow student voting at all Faculty meetings.

Prof. Shearson of the Philosophy Department spoke in favor of the proposed motion and Prof. Arthur Motyer of the English Department, a Senate member, spoke against. Each member of the Faculty sitting in the Senate also gave his views but no firm lines of action were decided upon.

A serious measure intended to establish student guidelines may prove otherwise when Prof. Thibault, Head of the History Department and assistant to the Principal, sent a letter Friday morning to all students in his Department or those taking history courses inviting them to a special Saturday morning class where he staunchly delivered an ultimatum warning his students that penalties would result if they did not show up in class.

In the Biology Department, the same stand has been taken, whereas the Science Department agrees in principle with the boycotts.

In other departments, uncertainty abounds and discussions are still going on. One professor feels that if the students back the boycott earnestly enough then he will suspend classes while another was informed by his department head that if he did not give his lectures, then he would teach them himself.

As the situation stands now, the next move is up to the student body. One source predicts that the faculty will endorse student representation and voting rights if the students consolidate. That is likely to be worked out today.

Ancient Celts started the Halloween mask tradition. They wore disguises as protection against witches and evil spirits who supposedly emerged from underground lairs to dance and play one night a year.

Hunting and fishing in the E.T.

By NORM NICHOLL

DEER HUNTING started Saturday. The woods once again took on the colours of Fall. Yellows, reds, greens were again seen throughout the countryside. The crackle of firearms were once again echoing throughout the hills and dales of the country.

Yes, it's that time of year when the enjoyment of a sport can easily become grief to some. The farmer might lose a cow or horse or a bullet might land in his home. Or it could mean that someone will be hit by a stray bullet, killed or maimed for life.

We seem to lose our frustrations in curious ways by shouting and shooting in the woods. Hunting has and will continue to be a wonderful sport. Some take pride in their pastime and seem to take their sport seriously, quietly searching the woods for their quarry. Others, whose numbers seem to increase, work in curious ways making nuisances of themselves to other hunters and landowners.

"Deer Hunting Tips" from the Mattawa News:

1—First you need a fast car, one that will do 90 or 100 miles per hour so you can beat the other hunter to the good spots. This will give you a chance to kill yourself before getting out in the woods and save some hunter the trouble and mess of shooting you.

2—Get about 2 bottles of whiskey, two cases of beer, lots of cigarettes and bullets. Food, tents and sleeping bags take up too much space, so get another case of beer instead.

3—Take a king size gun. Don't use a 30-30 or 30-36 as most hunters do. Use at least a 300 Magnum and this will show that you mean business.

4—Be sure to shoot at anything that moves, or looks like it might move. If it's not a deer it might be your mother-in-law.

5—Don't waste money on a compass because if you get lost, there's always some hunter who will give up his hunting, take you buy the hand and lead you out.

6—Don't let your buddies know the general area where you will be hunting. That way, if you don't return before night fall it gives them something to do and keeps the whole thing from turning into a dull poker game.

8—Don't wear bright coloured hunting togs. Be sure to wear either brown or tans. This makes the other hunter look twice at you and it tests them to make sure they are alert and on the ball.

There are still a few more helpful hints for later in the week. Now, forget everything you have just read, go hunting, BE CAREFUL and GOOD LUCK.

Remember too... the deer registration stations that are operating at Scottstown and at Magog for hunter to provide helpful information. Members of the survey team will be in attendance daily.

MOOSE KILL FIGURES for the province now total 6,503, with bulls 3,624; cows 2,372 and calves 507. In controlled moose hunts, the kills are: La Verendrye-150; Laurentide Park-97; Matane Reserve-59 and the St. Maurice Reserve-17.

YAMASKA CONSERVATION Association Inc., are once again sponsoring a "Big Buck Contest", once again in conjunction with Molson's. Prizes will be awarded for the largest deer. The weigh-in station will be located at the Warden Hotel, Warden. Information will also be gathered at this point for the deer survey.

Congratulations are in order to this Association in their efforts to promote and carry out a fine programme in the "Hunter Training Programme".

STANSTEAD COUNTY F and G Club are also holding a contest for the largest woods dressed deer. Forms can be obtained from Ivy Hatch, Box 83, Rock Island, if unavailable at one of the weighing stations.

Hope you had a good weekend but take heed. Many Clubs and Associations have been getting judgements against trespassers. Guy Martin, president of the Pinnacle Club, reported that his group lodged complaint against eight trespassers and won the cases in court. So, it might be well to heed the "No Hunting" and "No Trespassing" signs.

G—FOR GOD ALMIGHTY:
A PERSONAL MEMOIR OF
LORD BEAVERBROOK.
By DAVID FARRER.
RYERSON PRESS, TORONTO,
172 PAGES.

The most agreeable aspects of this book are the personal insights it gives into the mercurial and sometimes quite irrational mind of Lord Beaverbrook, and the numerous amusing anecdotes concerning famous personalities and memorable situations.

Unfortunately, these more interesting aspects of the story only open after two preparatory chapters describing personal and world events leading up to the author's association with Lord Beaverbrook, the autobiographical parts being rendered with a modesty

Rivalling Lord Beaverbrook and the author as principal characters of the book is the remarkable butler, Nockels. Inspired by this picturesque figure, the author presents himself more in the role of a personal servant than official aide, and much of the book is a rather gossipy recollection of the cat and mouse game important men often have to play, involuntarily, with employees.

The Lord Beaverbrook that emerges from this peculiar angle is, however, a familiar one: Hambovant, entrepreneurial, indomitable, but forceful personality, but emotionally often childish, and prone to grievous errors of political judgement.

Beaverbrook was undoubtedly the man for the job of producing aircraft during the Battle of Britain in 1940; not a particularly good administrator, but innovatively resourceful, and with an unflinching sense of theatrical morale-boosting that the critical situation then demanded.

The campaign for pots and pans for strategic metals, like the Spitfire Fund, was not of imminent utility, but gave the embattled citizens a sense of participation.

Prior to the war, Beaverbrook had been an ardent appeaser. After the crisis of immediate survival had passed in 1940, he became an insufferably quarrelsome cabinet colleague, and in some respects a disloyal one. He became Stalin's most stentorian advocate in the western capitals, yet by the end of the war was accusing the British Labour Party (which won the election of 1945) of being lacking of Moscow. He connived in all directions behind Prime Minister Churchill's back, and at one point even dreamt more or less aloud of replacing him. His economic conception of the Commonwealth was almost completely erroneous, before, during, and after the War. He was not above gross distortions of fact for his own personal purpose, as when he compelled the author to write a chronicle of the Aircraft Production Ministry, including the statement that Beaverbrook was an eye witness to the first large-scale German bombing raid on London in 1940, which was a complete falsehood. At several points during the War, he tinkered with the idea of setting up his own party in opposition to the Churchill-Atlee coalition, a foolish and arrogant proposition, not to say an unscrupulous one.

For all this, he had a very remarkable career, which brought him from the boondocks of New Brunswick to the centre of the Imperial stage, where he remained for half a century, and the author gives many glimpses of the scale of Beaverbrook's personality.

The portrait this book paints of Beaverbrook is, as it is advertised, personal, and the less elevated side of his character is not disguised. But this serves to make more credible the author's overall admiration for his subject as an often generous and very talented titan. Perhaps too brash and self-assertive to be an effective and popular political leader, Beaverbrook was nevertheless as the author claims, probably one of the most important and colourful British figures in the first half of this century.

There are many amusing anecdotes that mainly centre around the irrepressible butler, Nockels, and give a refreshing view of many historic personalities. Canadians will find especially interesting the rather uncomplimentary sketch the author provides of our former Prime Minister, R. B. Bennett.

Perhaps the most memorable description of the whole book is saved for the end, Lord Beaverbrook, on his 85th birthday, at a large banquet given in his honor, and only a few weeks before his death from cancer, spoke ex tempore for half an hour. He looked forward to becoming an apprentice again, he said; he did not know where or when, "but somewhere, sometime, soon"; the end of a stormy but often brilliant career.

BEAUTY BRIEFS

Don't Be a Tease

Fashion trends notwithstanding, there are still some girls who tease their hair so that the total picture is one of Atlas balancing the world on his shoulders. Smart girls want the world at their feet, not on their heads. A minimum of back-combing, to give extra fullness to a hairstyle is attractive—anything more takes away from the shiny, clean, healthy look that makes hair attractive. Here discretion is the key.

Dieters Need Fluids

If you are on a weight-reducing diet, you should take care that your intake of vitamins, minerals, fats, carbohydrates and proteins is adequate. Each is required to maintain the good looks and good health of your skin and other body tissues. Be sure that you drink enough fluids each day to prevent dehydration. Dieters may also benefit by applying an enriching lotion to moisten and soften the skin.

Oswald: "Today is the age of specialization. If you want to be the best at anything, you have to specialize and learn all you can about the subject."

Jim: "This means that if you want to be a top bridge expert you have to put as many lazy bids to work as you can and must use some bids that are completely artificial."

Oswald: "At the same time, you must start by learning your basic bidding. Without a sound, simple, basic structure to work with, you will get nowhere. Take today's hand as an example. The bidding by expert or beginner will be exactly the same. The expert will make the hand. The beginner may not."

Jim: "The beginner will win the first trick and attack either diamonds or clubs. If he goes after the diamond suit, he will knock out the diamond ace and, while West will be able to get his spade suit set up, he won't have an entry for it. If he leads a club, East will win the trick and play a second spade. West will have his spades set up and will get in with the ace of diamonds to run three spade tricks."

Oswald: "The expert will let West hold that first trick. Then it won't matter which minor suit he starts with. If East gets in, he won't have a spade to lead. If West gets in, his tooth will have been pulled."

Jim: "It really doesn't take much expertise to duck that first spade. We would expect any real bridge player would do so. Peculiarly enough, the duck player winds up making 10 tricks. The man who grabs the first spade and happens to play diamonds first will wind up making 11."

DerbyFish and Game Club has sighting-in day

DERBY LINE — The Derby Fish and Game Club held their annual Sighting — in day on Sunday, October 26, at the Club Range between Derby Line and Derby, beginning at 9:30 a.m. The jobs were handled by qualified NRA men and the event was opened to the general public as well as the Club members. Many people turned up to have their rifles and other guns sighted in with the 16 day hunting season opening in Vermont on November 8.

The Club is again going to offer a deer trophy for best set of antlers based on the Boom and Crocket system. This year the women who hunt and get their deer will also have a chance for a similar trophy, as the executive have decided to offer two.

At the executive meeting on Monday, Oct. 20, in the Village hall, Pearce Wheeler reported that 81 boys and girls, ages ten to thirteen have completed a four hour Hunter Safety course sponsored by the Club. The young people have been awarded their crest and shoulder patch, they are now ready to go hunting but in company with an adult, as they have been taught only the fundamentals of safety.

Plans are in the making for the usual NRA shooting courses to start the beginning of the 1970 year. These are always popular with men, women, and youth.

A note of appreciation was made to Mrs. Tom Dishaw and all who co-operated with her to have a successful food sale with a sum of $38.35 realized and turned over to the Club treasury as their contribution to the expenses for the archery range on the Club shooting range.

George Noyes mentioned the membership has reached nearly 300.

Ben Heath, range officer, noted several Trap shoots have been held at the range with success, one recent Sunday a group of men from Keene, N.H., came. This was fun, profit and gifts for the Club treasury. Because of the Sighting — in day on October 26, another shoot, probably the last of the season, will be held at the range on November 2, starting at 1 p.m. weather permitting. This will be excellent preparation for the hunting season opening a week later.

U. E. Cargill and Mr. Heath referred to the Club publicity which is gratifying to the executive.

President Paul Bedard said that because of the hunting season in November the next executive meeting will be in December.

Rangers vault into first place with Bruins in 6-4 win over Blues; Leafs, Boston tie 4-4

BOSTON (CP) — Ron Ellis rifled a goal in the sixth minute of the final period to lift Toronto into a 4-4 deadlock and drop Boston Bruins into a first place tie in the National Hockey League's Eastern Division Sunday night.

Ellis' goal, his seventh of the season on a pass from Paul Henderson, climaxed an uphill Toronto battle that saw the Leafs twice come from behind two-goal deficits.

The Bruins' Phil Esposito tallied twice, his sixth and seventh goals, and Bobby Orr added three assists to run his point total to 18 in 10 games.

Esposito got Boston on the board at 5:53 of the first period with an unassisted goal seconds after a face-off by the Toronto net.

Esposito tallied his second goal of the night at 13:37 of the same period on a power play while the Bruins had six skaters on the ice in anticipation of a second Leaf penalty.

Toronto tied it up moments later on goals 2½ minutes apart by Dave Keon and Mike Walton.

CASHMAN SCORES

But the Bruins went ahead with 40 seconds remaining in the opener when Wayne Cashman took a centring pass from Ed Westfall behind the net and fired past Leafs goalie Marv Edwards.

Boston went two up again in the second period on Johnny Bucyk's power-play goal from Ken Hodge and Orr with eight seconds to go on penalties to Mike Pelyk and Terry Clancy.

Walton fired McKenny on a three-on-two rush at 17:09 of the period to bring the Leafs back to within a goal of the Bruins.

Boston's Dallas Smith had just put a skate back on the ice after a two-minute holding penalty when Ellis rammed in the tying goal at 5:55 of the finale.

The tie, coupled with New York's 6-4 victory over St. Louis Blues, dropped the Bruins into a tie with the Rangers for the East's top spot.

Bruins had 41 shots on Edwards, 18 of them in the period while Toronto had 24 shots or Gerry Cheevers.

NEW YORK (AP) —

vic Hatfield fired three goals, two of them in a frantic third-period rally that carried New York Rangers to a 6-4 National Hockey League victory over St. Louis Blues Sunday night.

The Rangers carried a 3-2 lead into the third period when Ron Anderson tied the score for St. Louis. Then the goals started coming hot and heavy.

Hadfield, who had scored a second-period goal, tipped in Jim Neilson's power-play slap shot at 14:47. But 23 seconds later Phil Goyette, an ex-Ranger, scored his second goal of the night, tying it again.

That deadlock lasted barely a minute before Hatfield put the Rangers back on top. He fought Noel Picard off the puck behind the St. Louis net where Ernie Wakley, making his first start of the season.

Walt Tkaczuk, who had scored New York's opening goal, added another, clinching it with just over two minutes to play.

After Bill McCreary's first-period goal had given the Blues the early lead, Tkaczuk, Ron Stewart and Hatfield bunched three goals in 1½ minutes of the second period to put New York ahead 3-2.

Tkaczuk's power-play goal started the rally and Stewart deflected Arnie Brown's slap shot for the second goal. Hatfield's first goal of the night came on a 40-foot slap shot from the left side.

The two goals by Tkaczuk extended his scoring streak to four games—three wins and a tie for the Rangers.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Flyers defeated Minnesota North Stars 6-2 Sunday night in a penalty-marred National Hockey League game which included five majors, infractions and 70 minutes in penalty time.

Lew Morrison and Gary Dornhoefer paced the Flyers with two goals apiece and Reggie Fleming and Jean-Guy Gendron added the others. Bill Collins and Bill Goldsworthy had the Minnesota tallies.

The teams incurred 25 penalties as they slashed, held, hooked, tripped, elbowed, interfered, roughed and squared off—in fist fights.

In between the roughhouse action, the Flyers scored enough for their second win in nine games this season and tied Oakland for second place in the NHL's West Division. The Flyers also have five ties.

Although they had a man in the penalty box, the North Stars opened the scoring after 7:04 of the first period on a shot by Collins. It rolled between Philadelphia goalie Bernie Parent's legs and into the net.

HILLMAN SCORES

The Minnesota lead lasted exactly 19 seconds as Wayne Hillman backhanded a shot that bounced off Fleming's chest past North Star goalie Cesare Maniago. It was a power play with Minnesota still a man short.

With seven minutes left in the first period, the Flyers went ahead to stay on a goal by Gendron which hit Maniago in the chest and bounced over the goalie's shoulder into the net.

In the second period, which featured 50 minutes in penalties, the Flyers scored on the first of Morrison's two goals while two North Stars were in the penalty box and on a goal by Dornhoefer on a face-off pass from Gary Peters.

Goldsworthy shot one past Parent with 10 seconds left in the period to make it 4-2.

The Flyers wrapped up their scoring in the third period with Morrison and Dornhoefer each scoring their second goals of the night.

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe scored three goals Sunday night to rally Detroit Red Wings to a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh Penguins.

Gary Unger had the other Detroit tally before 12:38 fans. Wally Boyer had two for the Penguins and Michel Briere had the other.

It was the 19th time in his professional career that Howe has scored three times in one game.

Howe, who never has had a four-goal game in his record 24-season NHL career, passed up a shot at a fourth goal with the Penguin net empty and seconds to play.

Instead, he passed up ice to eliminate Frank Mahovlich, and Pittsburgh left wing Dean Prentice just managed to deflect it wide of the net.

But it wasn't an empty night for Mahovlich. He assisted on two of Howe's goals and lifted his career point total to 700 in regular season play.

RED WINGS SLUGGISH

Detroit played an uninspired game and had to come from a 3-1 second period deficit to run its winning streak to three games—all over Western Division teams. Even playing poorly, Detroit overmatched the Penguins in the final two periods.

Pittsburgh goalie Al Smith kept it close with some great saves on close-in shots but he couldn't stop Howe who started the Detroit comeback at 3:54 of the second period after Boyer's second goal had given Pittsburgh a 3-1 lead.

Howe's first goal was on a power play, as he fired in an Alex Delvecchio passout. Howe tied the game at 14:29 of the same period, giving the puck to Delvecchio, taking it back and then drilling it through Smith's pads.

Instead, he passed up ice to eliminate Frank Mahovlich, and Pittsburgh left wing Dean Prentice just managed to deflect it wide of the net.
