Westmount Rotary Club Again Gives Scholarships

Two university scholarships, valued at $250 each, will be awarded again this year to two students matriculating from Westmount Schools, it has just been announced by the Rotary Club of Westmount. One scholarship has been allotted to a graduate of Westmount High School, the other to St. Leo's School. Principals of both schools were duly notified during the past weekend.

The same rules for competition will apply as in the past two years. Students must have sufficient marks to qualify for university entrance. Selection of the winners will be made by the principals of the schools in question, and they will act in conjunction with a special committee of the Westmount Rotary Club.

W. G. Moxley, chairman of the Youths' Service Committee, states in a report that the Rotary Club of Westmount were more than delighted with the results of the scholarships awarded since 1945, the year they were inaugurated. News from those who have since benefitted have fully justified the faith placed in these boys by their principals and the scholarship committee in making their choice. Griffith Marshall, who won the St. Leo's Scholarship in 1945, was able to continue his studies at St. Michael's College, Toronto. Richard Griffin, 1946 winner from the same school, was able to enter Loyola College. From Westmount High School, Howard Chamberlain, 1945 winner, went to McGill University, and Robert Smith, 1946 winner, to Dalhousie University.

Proves A Boon

The Westmount Rotary Scholarships were inaugurated two years ago as a gesture by the club to extend aid to young and promising students unable through circumstances to continue their education at a university. The aid in the above cases has proved a boon. Seen safely through first year, these boys have since been able to finance themselves by part time and summer jobs, enabling them to save sufficient money to carry them through succeeding years.

Part of the funds raised by the annual Westmount Rotary Carnival, being held in Westmount Park from June 17 to June 21, will be devoted to these scholarships. The funds are also to aid such Westmount Rotary undertakings as the Julius Richardson Convalescent Home, the Montreal Children's Hospital and the Unity Boys' Club.

Westmount YMCA Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Westmount Y. M. C. A., held on May 29, J. Alex Edmison, K.C., of Toronto, executive secretary of the John Howard Society, formerly known as the Prisoners' Rehabilitation Society, told the gathering that lack of proper association with the influence of home, church or school, the three chief agencies in preventing crime, was evident in the record of practically all young prisoners.

The work of the John Howard Society, he said, was to cooperate with all agencies in crime prevention, to arouse public interest in the cause of penal reform in Canada, and to give aid and counsel to men and women upon their release from prison. Maladjusted individuals exposed to crime-breeding influences need help not only from goodwill and kind in-

Rotary Carnival Proceeds To Aid Worthy Cause

The Rotary Club of Westmount will hold its 17th annual carnival from June 17 to 21 in the playing grounds of Westmount Park. The carnival will be in aid of the Unity Boys' Club, the Julius Richardson Convalescent Home at Chateauguay, the Montreal Children's Hospital, and other Westmount Rotary activities.

A large variety of booths will be erected in the playing grounds of the Park, it was stated by Mr. McKean, each with a special and different form of entertainment. One of the main attractions will be the valuable prizes, which already have been chosen for winners of the many games of skill.

Charles J. A. Cook Of Westmount Was Builder Of Many Famous Works

In the recent death of Charles James Allan Cook, of No. 2 Grenville avenue, Westmount lost a well-known and honoured citizen.

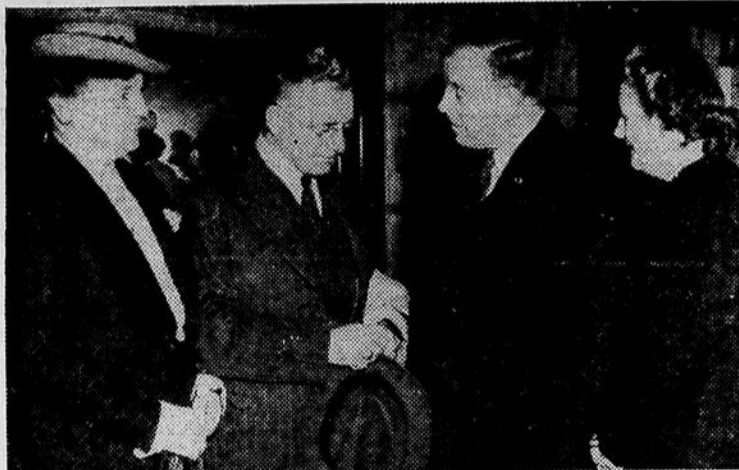

Mr. Cook, who died in the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital after a brief illness, was a prominent contractor, widely known throughout the country in the construction business.

He was a partner in the firm of Cook and Leitch, general contractors, that built many important structures, including the Sun Life Building, the St. Hyacinth Camp, built for the Army during the war, several Bell Telephone Buildings, many local banks

Westmount Salaried Employees Meeting

The Salaried Employees Association of Westmount had their regular quarterly meeting on Tuesday evening at Victoria Hall. A new set of by-laws, drawn up at the last meeting was discussed and accepted. The old by-laws were incomplete and cluttered up with amendments. Discussed also at some length was a sick leave bank, a system accumulating credits for unused sick leave. The Westmount City Council was requested to study the matter.

In response to previous request by the Association, the Westmount Council on Tuesday night passed a ruling to close the City Hall on Saturdays throughout June, July and August.

Plaque Dedicated To Honour Three Former Teachers

A dedication service, attended by students of Westmount Junior High School, was held in the school gymnasium on Monday afternoon at a ceremony dedicating a bronze plaque, given by the men teachers of the teaching staff in honour of three members of the staff who lost their lives on active service in defence of freedom.

"Today we are dedicating a memorial plaque, but that is not all. The memorial is engraved on our hearts and our minds," said Rev. R. Berlis of the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, in addressing the assembly. We must know gratitude if we are to be civilized," he said, before unveiling the plaque which is dedicated to the memory of Lieut. Hugh Wilson Gall, 1st Bn. Black Watch; Squadron Leader Leslie Neil McQuaig, D.F.C., R.C.A.F.; and Lieut. Kenneth Charles Sims, 1st Bn. Black Watch.

The prayer service was conducted by Hon. Sqn. Leader Canon G. Oliver, M.C., St. Matthias Church, and the dedication of the plaque by Hon. Capt. Rev. R. Berlis. The Scottish Lament was piped by Piper Cpl. Laurie of the Black Watch, and the High School Band took part in the impressive ceremony.

Westmount High Award Of Honour Dual This Year

By John Dickins

The Westmount High School Award of Honour, presented annually by the WHS Old Boys' Association to the boy in the graduating class who, in the opinion of his fellow students, has rendered the greatest service to the school and best combines the qualities of sportsmanship and scholarship, was last Wednesday awarded to Johnny Draper and Johnny Waterson. This marks the first double Award since its inception in 1936.

The duo were chosen by secret ballot of their classmates, after which the ballots were burned with traditional ceremony in an iron receptacle resembling the headpiece of an ancient suit of armor. Announcement of the tie vote brought loud cheers and whistle from the youthful electorate, austere applause from the teaching staff, and an interchange of congratulations between victors.

The crowd roar subsided, two brief but sincere thank you speeches were delivered and the winners were borne on willing shoulders to a waiting limousine. The annual Procession of Triumph then commenced, leaving WHS grounds at 2:45 p.m. Several cars, a couple of motorcycles and hundreds of milling, cheering students stretched out fore and aft of the winners' car followed the customary traffic-stopping route along Sherbrooke, south on Victoria and east on Western to Westmount Park. Here Waterson and Draper were carried from the car, deposited on the circular bandstand before the multitude, thoroughly soaked with buckets of whitewash, congratulatory kissed by WHS's Forman twins, photographed and cheered.

Bedraggled and dripping, they were then affectionately dragged to the brink of the nearby pond and bodily heaved among the bewildered ducks. A minor riot ensued wherein the majority of the male spectators also swam. (The dunking in the pond is a tradition)

Don't Penalize Your Merchants Due To Road Work

Westmount merchants on both sides of Sherbrooke Street are being seriously inconvenienced by the work now being done to widen the street. Many merchants report loss of trade owing to this, but realize that it will make the district a much more convenient place in which to shop when completed.

Meanwhile, the Business Association of Westmount urges the general public to be tolerant of the present situation, and to continue to patronize the local stores in order that an undue burden of this progressive work shall not fall on the local merchants due to loss of business. Please co-operate, in spite of the temporary local inconvenience, by shopping locally as usual.

COMPLAINTS . . . from a non-Westmount resident at that . . . he owns a Baby Austin . . . ran out of gas near Greene Avenue on Western Avenue . . . pushed his car into a nearby gas station and was told to get it out of there, but quick . . . probably the station attendant, for undoubtedly he must have been such, thought that he was begging for something . . . lots of people forget that the owner of a small car may someday own a large one, and he won't forget an incident like this . . . we heartily agree with some rather strong remarks he made about this particular gas station.

Noticed the Boys Brigade parading along Sherbrooke Street, going East, turned down Redfern . . . looked very smart, complete with a very excellent band . . . Westmount had a quiet week this past seven days . . . no fires to speak of . . . no arrests (and no crimes committed) and there were only a few small accidents involving only fenders and the like to break the quiet solitude of Westmount's streets . . . not so quiet, however, on Sherbrooke Street, around Victoria . . . no traffic East of Victoria on Sherbrooke, but west-bound traffic can now get through . . . but over such terrible roads . . . the sidewalk has been dug up all along Sherbrooke as far as Roslyn in preparation for the widening of the street.

Drop around to King George Park (formerly Murray Hill Park if you're confused) some afternoon and just watch the kiddies out playing baseball . . . It's really good to watch them having such a good time . . . and safely away from the busy streets which are such a danger . . . noticed some new awnings being erected along The Boulevard . . . this will make one of Westmount's busiest thoroughfares even a little more attractive.

Westmount Highlights

By Geoff Merrill

(Gentle Reader! If you will be as kind as you should be, you will throw your info-thirsty, bloodshot peepers at the byline again and thusly see that this week we have been able to acquire (at great expense) the magic scribbling hand of Geoff Merrill, renowned McGill student, famed hypnotist, and at heart, quite the baseball fan. We remember Geoff way back at Westmount High School when he pushed back the curtains of oblivion and stepped into the limelight by starring in the first edition of the Purple and White Review. We also remember him making faces and chewing bubble-gum (they had it in those days, don't let Yanks kid ya) while beating the drums for the old Modernaires Orchestra. Since then Geoff has served in the Canadian Navy and has just completed his second year (Arts) at McGill University: — A.A.V.)

At the beginning of the week, we were the recipient of a telephone call from one Arthur Voronka requesting us to manufacture this week's edition of "Westmount Highlights". Now, we had been warned previously that such a call would be forthcoming, and thus the shock was less than might be anticipated. For several years, we have read, with great enthusiasm, the words of "Buddy" Cochrane, who, we believe, was the first regular contributor to this corner. Later, we read with equal pleasure, the articles submitted by Messers Voronka and Dickins. It is then with great pride that we lift our pen to scribble a few words to the Westmount reading public, and we can only hope that they will be accepted with the same spirit of approval as are those of the regular columnists.

We think it timely to concentrate the greater part of our palaver upon those former students of Westmount High School, who are now attending McGill University.

The Gasbag: Several former Westmount High boys are listed among this year's graduates, viz. Bob Everson, B.A., Albany Moore, B. Comm., Don Clogg, B. Sc., Bob Bourne, B. Sc., Bob Smith, B. Comm. and many others whose names will ring a familiar bell . . . Our heartiest congratulations and good luck in your next venture . . . A friend of all students, both past and present, spent last year sitting beside us in an English class and the sight was, to say the least, startling . . . his name? Why, of course, — none other than Parker L. Wearing, who, incidentally, will return to his old stamping grounds again next year . . . Be prepared lads, he's really "hot" at English as well as French . . . Bob Sproule, another popular Westmounter is also to be seen at old McGill during his leisure hours, and spends most of his time trailing a rather trim looking "babe" . . . We had better be careful or Bob is liable to Sue us . . . Tom Fisher, who dates back a number of years, is frequently to be seen whizzing around in what he says, is the only convertible Lincoln Zephyr in the City . . . Ted Percy has just been admitted to Medicine — Nice going, Ted . . . Fred Tees, who is in Commerce, tells us that he has just moved to Belmont Avenoo — he adds that the moving was more tiring than studying for the examinations . . . Ian Fraser (both of them) are attending the institution with the red and white colours, and the Ian with the red hair has enlisted for this year's session . . . Joy McCay, who was a great worker in the Westmount Hy-Y Club a few years back, has been elected to a high campus position for the coming year . . . You just can't hold a good worker down . . . Roslyn News

By Douglas Turner and Ross Southward

On Tuesday, May 27th, a softball game was played between the Tigers and the Cubs. It was a very well played game with Cubs winning 19-12. Laurie Bennett, the Cub's pitcher, played an excellent game. His pitching, we think, was the spark plug of the team. The Tigers, who were never winning, tried in vain to catch up but did not have much success.

On May 28th, there was a softball game between the Cats and the Panthers. The Panthers got off to a slow start, and in this time the Cats got quite a lead. By the end of the fifth inning the Cats had piled up a score of 15-5. In the sixth inning, the Panthers went on a six run scoring spree. However, the Cats managed to hold their lead and the game ended with the Cats winning 20-12.

On May 29th, there was a game scheduled to be played between the Cats and the Lions. After two innings, however, the game was called on account of rain. The Cats were winning at the end of the second inning 3-2.

We hope that we will be able to finish the schedule before school closes.

Roslyn School had a new Gym teacher, Mrs. Ross, for the last two weeks. She was replacing Miss Spencer who recently got married.

The Roslyn pupils were happy to learn that they get a holiday on Monday, June 9th. This is the King's official birthday and the pupils are ready to celebrate.

Last Wednesday there was a baseball game between the Roslynites and the Thunderbirds of Grade VI girls. The score was 22-21 for the Roslynites. The game was played over at King George Park and Mr. Pitcairn was the referee. To-morrow there will be a game between the Grade VI girls and the Grade V girls.

W.H.S. is also well represented at Dawson College with such names as "Quasie" Common, Dave Laurin, "Shorty" Fairhead, Pete Marler, Kenny Robertson, Bob Worden and Charles McCrae.

There are, of course, many others of whom we should like to bring you some news. But space counts for much in a newspaper and that thought must always be considered. We should once again like to thank the regular contributors for allowing us this opportunity to speak of former Westmounter Highers at McGill and we wish them the best of luck in their future columns and feel assured that they will continue to meet the high standard which the readers have enjoyed thus far.

GOOD NEWS . . . it was announced only yesterday by Dominion Boy Scout Headquarters that the Canadian delegation will attend the International Scout Jamboree in Paris this summer. Previously, the trip had been cancelled due to a lack of shipping space, but the Canadian Government has stepped into the breach and announced that it will send the representatives of Canada over aboard a Canadian Aircraft Carrier.

We're certainly glad to hear this . . . for a while it looked as though Canada would be the only country not represented at the Jamboree. It will be an added thrill for the boys and leaders who go

Child Welfare Association Aids Health Of Nation

The popular theory that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure is exemplified in the ever expanding work of the Child Welfare Association, a Red Feather Service of Welfare Federation.

The well baby clinic, an institution that dates back to the First Great War, is one of the best known and most successful means of instilling good health habits in the very young. Patients of the well baby clinics which are located throughout Montreal include children from infancy to school age and their families.

Designed and operated for the purpose of keeping healthy children healthy, clinic care starts within 48 hours of an infant's discharge from hospital. Most cases are referred to the health centre by the maternity hospital where the prospective patient's mother was confined. After both mother and child have returned home, a clinic nurse calls to examine the new baby and set his mother right on any problems that may be worrying her. Many cases involve first babies and bewildered young mothers, so questions often fall on the nurse like rain.

The most important part of the first visit is to set a date for the baby's clinic visit. This is usually within six weeks or two months, when the child is old enough to be taken from his home.

His visits continue regularly until he reaches school age. During this time, all members of the family receive health supervision as a protective measure. This service is comparatively new, having been instituted in the mid '30's when it was recognized that a child's health reflects the health standards of the entire household.

Clinic care is an important part of the Child Welfare Association's health centres, but there are other phases of the work that parents have found profitable. One of these is instruction in the group classes where child care and training are discussed by parents and agency workers. Innumerable mothers, and even a few young fathers, have found the classes an invaluable source of information and enlightenment.

Fees for clinic care are computed on a basis of the family income. In general, the charge ranges between one dollar and five dollars per year. The highest charge is made in cases where there is an income of four dollars of more per family member after the rent has been deducted. In exceptional cases, no fees are charged at all.

The Child Welfare Association works closely with other family and health agencies of Welfare Federation. Although agency services never overlap, the work of the Child Welfare branch is closely related to that of the Family Welfare Association, largest of the 30 Red Feather agencies of Welfare Federation, and the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Canadian Follies Of 1947 Coming

Final rehearsals are now in progress for the "Canadian Follies of 1947" to be held in Victoria Hall, June 13. An outstanding musical entirely produced and directed by Miss Carrie Biggers of the Biggers School of Dancing, the "Follies" are jam-packed with a wide variety of featured attractions and dances to suit every taste. A flashing array of Scottish dances comprise the Highland Fling, Sword Dance, Broad Swords, the Shean Trews—performed in incomparable style to the stirring swirl of five master pipers. Majorette Dorothy Cunningham ushers in the performers whose starry routines include a dazzling Skating Tap and Acrobatic solo by Jenny MacMahon, and an authentic Hungarian Folk Dance displayed by Ray and Lorraine Grant.

The curtain rises for Part 2 on a beautifully executed ballet number to the accompaniment of an exquisite rendition of the Lord's Prayer by Joan Coller. This section of the show demonstrates the versatility of Miss Biggers' cast as they dance their way through a series of national numbers, waltzes, tangos, and eye-catching choruses. George Waldie captures the spotlight for a spectacular Modernistic Ballet Solo, smoothly assisted by Irene Haydock, Margaret Noakes and Ruth Randlett. Another highlight of Part 2 is the polished interpretation of the Toreadore Dance by Miss Eva Watt, well-known Montreal entertainer.

Part 3, the final portion of the

Westmount YMCA Enters New Field

The Westmount Y.M.C.A. is developing an active home based Gra-Y Club program in the King's and Roslyn School districts.

Gra-Y is a club for boys 9-12 years of age. The purpose to which members of the Gra-Y Club pledge themselves, is "to be strong in body, mind and spirit and to live in a Christian way in our homes, schools, churches and neighbourhoods. Parents of boy members are serving as sponsoring committees and are actively enlisting the support of other parents in their neighbourhood.

The Gra-Y Club provides an opportunity for a boy to get together with boys his own age during leisure hours, under guidance of a competent Christian leader. The program of the group supports the character training by the home. It is important therefore that parents understand the organization and program of Gra-Y and that they participate with their boys and Club leader in Gra-Y activities. This is being accomplished by parents serving as members of committees that sponsor Gra-Y Clubs and assume responsibility.

show, provides a fitting climax to the well-paced musical. Smooth waltz rhythms balance sparkling tap routines and intricate choruses. Twelve beautiful girls provide an attractive setting for the memorable Sweetheart Waltz, to ring up the last curtain. The tempo then increases sharply as the very talented Jean MacMillan swings into a novelty number, the captivating Mexican Hat Dance. Irene Waldie follows with some fast tapping and a vividly costumed chorus returns in an enactment of a Gypsy Encampment. The music drops back to lilting strains of a waltz, and the ballroom team of Jean Sutherland and Bill Waldie glide into the finale to cap a fine show with an artistic dancing study.

Smart costume design, attractive scenery and special lighting effects have been planned to aid presentation of what will undoubtedly be one of the better entertainment attractions of the Summer season.

Rotary Club Told About Charm Of French Canada

Guest speaker at the Westmount Rotary Club luncheon this week, was W. Maxwell Ford, of the Montreal Refrigerating and Storage Company, who spoke about "The Charm of French Canada".

Introduced by P. G. Delgado, who pointed out that the speaker was at one time principal of King's School, and later principal of Sir George Williams Business College, Mr. Ford pointed out in his address that nowhere else in Canada can you find greater hospitality that comes right from the heart than among the people of French Canada. They are a happy, kindly folk, whose great loves are Le Bon Dieu, and love of the soil, and love of family. "Jean Baptiste" is far from being simple mentally, but he has lacked educational facilities enjoyed by others, and by and large, he is content to live a simple life.

The average French Canadian travels very little except around his home district during his lifetime, said Mr. Ford, and this fact, with his limited education tends to make his outlook parochial. There are two very important men in the life of "Jean Baptiste" for this reason—M'sieu le Curé and M'sieu le Notaire. These two men take the lead in every French Community.

In addition to supplying spiritual guidance, the church serves as a meeting place, and every week after mass "Jean Baptiste" and his wife can there meet their neighbours, hear the local news and have a bit of friendly gossip before returning home, declared Mr. Ford.

Only on rare occasions, he said, do these people have real get-together for fun, such as a wedding, Christmas, or New Year's, when they really enjoy themselves. There is where you will find them at their best.

Insufficiently understood by the outside world, French Canadians were the victims of the political football of conscription long before and during the war, he declared. A complete reversal after 20 years of no-conscription promises was hard to take.

Concluding his address, Mr. Ford stated that the average French Canadian greatly appreciates the use of the French tongue, no matter how imperfect the speaker may be.

He treated his listeners to two excellently delivered patois poems during his address.

A WARNING AGAINST COMMUNISTS IN UNIONS

David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Worker Union and a vice president of the American Federation of Labor, whose union has a remarkable record of constructive co-operation on behalf of its members, published an article, "A Warning Against Communism in Unions," in the New York Times Magazine, May 11, 1947, writes John Atkins in the Scene from Shingwauk Farm.

He said in part:

"Although our nation is free of the Communist menace today, it was not always so. In 1923 the Communist party through its demagogic propaganda and exaggerated promises was able to attract many of our members. It thus managed to obtain control of our New York organization and succeeded in plunging the coat and suit industry into a general strike. After a futile eight-week struggle the local Communist leaders had had enough. They were ready to come to a settlement, but the Communist party, feeling that the Moscow line was about to change, ordered their agents inside the union to continue the strike—against their better judgment and against the interests of the workers.

The strike ended disastrously. This terrible fiasco unseated the Communists in our union. Since then, most of the leaders of that strike have broken with Communist totalitarianism and have returned to the union. These same leaders are now the most effective fighters against Communist influence and domination.

"It took ten years for us to recover from the criminal and stupid Communist-led strike of 1926 which cost $3,500,000 and left in its wake a chaotic industry and a crippled union.

"What the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union has been able to do since it routed the Communists twenty years ago every progressive American labor union can do today."

FINE AIR RECORDS

For the first time in history of Canadian aviation, safety trophies will soon be awarded to Canadian and American aviation firms having operated without a single accident for a certain number of years. This was announced today by the headquarters of the Province of Quebec Safety League.

These companies have set wonderful records, their planes having travelled for periods varying between 4 and 19 years without a single accident. The trophies symbolize the safety enjoyed in this country by plane users.

Public ceremonies will mark the distribution of the first trophies, here in Montreal, by the end of May or the beginning of June. They will be awarded to Colonial Airlines and the Transatlantic Division of Air-Canada.

Around 1,300 flights have crossed the Atlantic, between Canada and Scotland and Great Britain since the establishment of the Transatlantic Service of Air-Canada in 1943.

Colonial Airlines hold the world record in air transport without an accident, having nearly 30,000 flights in 19 years.

Through the carefulness of the companies and pilots concerned, some 300,000 passengers have been able to travel on this continent and over oceans with absolute safety.

During the next few months, the League will also study the records of other aviation companies, flying schools and smaller aviation firms.

MOTORISTS, DRIVE SAFELY

Motorists, let us be fair. Let us be careful. Level railway crossings are death traps where a car may be caught by a train, states a message from the President of the Province of Quebec Safety League, Mr. J. D. Perrault.

And the same remarks apply to streets where tramways pass along. These are indicated by stop signs. If we keep straight on, the danger is as great as that at a level railway crossing. The collision's consequences will be as deadly.

We sometimes read in the morning papers that a car was hit by a tram during the preceding night. Often the inquest reveals later that the poor driver ignored the message on the sign and went on his way. He is no more there to tell us the story, but he thought he was alone in the street. Now he is in the morgue. In the hospital are those who were with him. His car does not exist anymore. He is being mourned by his family. The widow and the children will suffer on account of the father's foolhardiness.

No less serious is the collision with a bus. There is room for everyone on the road, but everyone has to keep his place. The train, the tramway and the bus are public means of conveyance. We must give them the priority because they transport the mass of people. So let us not forget this last particularity and let us be very careful at all times.

the people of India for independence is in itself a tribute to the cultural, industrial and political progress that has been achieved in that country under the imperial rule of Great Britain.

With all its faults and blunders—and sometimes because of these—British imperialism has made for progress wherever its flag has flown. Yet it has never forcibly interfered with the religious and social customs of its subject peoples, except where these were inhuman or degrading. The British Empire was the first to abolish slavery, and it was the first great empire to grant complete self-government to its colonial dependencies. Compared with the great empire of the past, the British Empire has been a benevolent institution; it has explored the unknown, and spread the light of civilization into the dark regions of the earth, circled the globe with its merchant ships, established and guarded the freedom of the seven seas, and brought the separated peoples of the East and the West into closer communion with each other.

If the British Empire were to be dissolved tomorrow, the great achievements of British imperialism would remain firmly established on the foundations of freedom, justice, education, enterprise and social and scientific progress. Can Russian imperialism, with its class consciousness, its sinister propaganda and dictatorial planning improve on the achievements of the British Empire?

WEEKLY REVIEW

British Versus Russian Imperialism

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

The term "imperialism" is being bandied about by communists and socialists as though it could be applied today only to the international actions of Britain and the United States, while Soviet Russia is regarded as the great opponent of imperialism. But what is imperialism? One of the best and briefest definitions, taken from the Columbia Encyclopedia, is as follows: "Imperialism, the extension of a nation's control beyond its boundaries."

If that is a correct definition of the term, then it fits Soviet Russia like a glove. Even before the war the Soviet Government extended its control beyond its boundaries, and since the war it has established its domination over a number of neighboring countries without consulting the United Nations which helped to save those countries, and Russia itself, from the domination of Germany.

Communist Russia is the most ambitious and aggressive imperialistic power in the world today. The avowed aim of the Communist Party of Russia is to spread the gospel of communism among the civilized nations of the world, and by this means to bring all working people (the proletariat) under the direct influence of Moscow as the centre of an international organization. This is a new and insidious form of imperialism which seeks to extend its control beyond its borders by undermining established systems of government and displacing them by revolution.

Whatever may be said about British imperialism, it never sought to extend control of Britain over neighboring countries in Europe or to interfere in their internal affairs. The British Empire was built up by the colonization and development of backward or uninhabited countries. One of the first countries to be colonized and developed was North America.

The great United States was cradled and reared to the point of independence in the British Empire. The British Commonwealth of Nations of today, which includes Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, is the crowning product of British imperialism. The present demand of

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

When the Presbyterian General Assembly opened in Calgary on June 4th the reporter for Canada's newspaper from coast to coast was a Montreal Minister, the Rev. DeCourcy H. Rayner. He will take a fortnight's vacation from his work as district secretary of the British and Foreign Society to cover the Presbyterian gathering once again for the Canadian Press wire service.

Mr. Rayner recently helped the C.B.C. International Service to inaugurate a religious program beamed by short-wave to Great Britain, and each week writes the religious news bulletin for this new feature. He is also Montreal correspondent for the weekly international journal "The Christian Century," which is published in Chicago. As a free lance writer he has contributed to a number of Canadian publications.

Journalism became the hobby of this young clergyman when he was a student at the University of Toronto, where he edited the undergraduate daily and became president of the Canadian Intercollegiate Press Union. While studying theology at Knox College he wrote sport for a Toronto daily, and when he went to British Guiana as a missionary turned to magazine writing. In England as a padre with the R.C.A.F. he edited the station newspaper at Odiham, Hampshire.

The General Assembly at Calgary will be the fifth that Mr. Rayner has covered for the press.

He is still actively associated with the R.C.A.F. as chaplain of No. 401 Auxiliary Fighter Squadron.

"For better or worse, management and labor have reached a stage when all three must be solved jointly or not at all. 'Produce — or else!' Nobody has any business, in a democracy, giving that order except the American people. But unless both management and labor respect their common boss, we won't have — or need — the new houses, radios and automobiles promised for next year. We'll have lost the peace and be too busy making rockets and bombs for World War III."

Charles R. Walker, Director of Research on Technological Change, Labor and Management Centre, Yale University.

Modern science has to work hard overtime inventing devices to save us from the inventions of modern science. — Stanley G. Jones.

"American industry is facing the demand for a new miracle under new conditions. A new technological revolution is beginning. The war promoted electronics, radar, television, jet propulsion and atomic energy. Engineers say that more new methods and machines will be introduced by American industry over the next five years than in any like period in our history. How much, and how fast the technological revolution will solve our production problem will depend on something else.

American industry is facing the problem of production not only with new and more modern tools but with a new partner, organized labor. I use the words "new partner" carefully. As late as 1936, few of the major industries of the U.S.A. were unionized. Today, in spite of the bitterness and the huge losses to both sides in the present strike wave, all the basic and major industries are now under contractual relations with organized, or will be by the end of the year. Which means that management must produce with union workers on most of its production lines or not produce. A common necessity and a common stake in production is, I submit, a true basis for partnership, even though, in some cases, one or the other of the partners won't admit it."

—Professor Charles R. Walker, Yale University.

Tomorrow gets here just as fast as the people who sit and wait for it ever get any place.

Canadian Fashions Viewed Here Before They Go To Casablanca

The Canadian fashions designed by Lawrence Sperber, which are to be flown to the Casablanca Fair and also exhibited in London, England, and Johannesburg, South Africa,—as well as Montreal of course—were on view on Friday morning at a special showing held in the Mount Royal Hotel for the members of the press and radio. The noted designer in person commenting as his creations were paraded down the runway, remarked that an effort was being made to introduce Canadian fashions to the outside world. Already, according to the reports of experts, they are being very well received.

The new trend, said Mr. Sperber, is now well established, and since the lifting of restrictions on the amount of material to be used per dress, Canadian designers are really getting a chance to show what they can do. The new silhouette, according to Mr. Sperber, has a nipped-in waist, new flaring hip line and a mid-calf skirt length. There are a number of high necklines in the collection and the new shoulder line, not quite so exaggerated as before, is retained.

Quicksilver Satin
Mr. Sperber stressed that Canadian fabrics are tops and the new nylons, crepes, sheers and velvets in striking and soft shades amply proved his point in perfect draping, beauty of color and texture. Quite an ovation greeted the dramatic "Quicksilver" model, a gleaming radiant grey satin with nipped-in waist and slightly padded hips rounding the peplum. The crownless brimmed hat for this was faced with the quicksilver satin and trimmed with a flat whorl of matching ostrich feather tips.

After Five Gowns Are Longer
Cocktail and sem: - cocktail gowns are longer than the afternoon dresses. Dianer and theatre gown, skirts touch the back of the heel, and in this collection only the formal gowns showed trailing skirts. The exaggerated hip line was emphasized by padding, slight gatherings at each side, and also by small pouches heavily embroidered or sequined. The turtleneck and long sleeves gave that "covered up" look to several models. Bustles on some of the formal gowns were large with handmade ostrich feather "roses" tucked into the looped puffs. The floor length narrow skirts were slit for comfort in stepping into a car, bodices close-fitting in front showed a fullness at the back just above the waistline, and formal off-the-shoulder necklines are fashioned so that they can be worn as conventional low necks. The prices mentioned were most reasonable, and there is a "wearableness" about all those Canadian Sperber designs that will be a great factor, the writer believes, in capturing the favor of women at home and abroad.

Colorful Cloak
Sperber isn't afraid of color and dash—as evidenced in "Capablanca" in a geranium scarlet velvet evening cloak with hood, which was worn over a formal gown of white and checkerboard squares of solid sequins, a glittering eye-ful. Soft raisin velvet; new nylon fabrics, several in the new emerald shade; sumptuous striped taffetas in swishing elegance were shown in styles which, believe it or not, despite their gathers and slight padding at the hips, will be quite kind to average figures—it's all in the way it's done. Shoes supplied for this very interesting collection were by Del Grande, and were solely beautiful.

To Model At Fredrica Premiere

By BETTY BRUCE

When Arthur Schwartz, of New York, designer of the fabulous Fredrica fur fashions, said at the Ritz Carlton in Montreal the other day that Canadian girls are very fashion conscious and wear clothes beautifully, he wasn't paying an empty compliment, for he has already chosen five Canadian girls to model his creations at the showing to be held under the auspices of the Fur Division of the Better Business Bureau in Montreal about the middle of this month. Frequently when expensive collections are shown here, models are flown in from New York, but, Mr. Schwartz pointed out, many Canadian girls have had to go to New York for recognition. "Canadian girls are as fine as any in the world," he said, "so why should I bring in others?" The five girls who will show the collection of furs will be

Joy Gilmour, Sylvia Goltman, Mickie Case, Margaret Hill and Muriel Stevenson.

Modelled in Paris

Some of us are inclined to think of these beautiful creatures as strong-minded girls who turn down the second piece of pie, or even the first, and subsist on meagre salads between bouts of strenuous exercise. When I asked Sylvia Goltman, of Cote St. Luc Road, about this, she scoffed at the idea. "I, myself, have a terrific appetite," she said calmly.

Her specialty is modelling the ultra sophisticated fashions so it was a bit of a surprise when she repeated, "I have a big appetite — and what's more, I'm a good cook!" Well, even when turning the chicken and peeking into the oven to see if the pie is done, we'll bet Sylvia looks like a Paris model — which she has been at that! She modelled for Molyneux in London, Schiaparelli in both sides, the fountain of fashion inspiration. She loved it there and London and Paris. Paris she concedes she got quite a thrill watching top French designers work out their ideas.

"Did you have any trouble with the language in Paris?" we asked her. "Not at all," she answered, "they all spoke English!"

Joy Likes to Travel

Blue-eyed Joy Gilmour thoroughly enjoys her job also, both in the city and on long trips. Joy is no stranger in this district, being the niece of Mrs. P. B. Earle, Redfern Avenue, and the granddaughter of Mrs. A. Joyce, who until a month ago resided on Madison Avenue.

This gal gets around quite a bit, one of the longest trips being to Nassau, in the Bahamas, where she modelled Canadian fashions for Associated Textiles at indoor showings at the Golf Club and also did a good deal of out-door work connected with fashion photos for "Mayfair". Another assignment she enjoyed was a tour through Nova Scotia, posing in photographs featuring famous N. S. hotel, summer resorts and beauty spots for a C.P.R. booklet. "We travelled the whole length of the coastline," said Joy, "and I enjoyed it all, including the fishing villages."

We didn't have time to ask Joy what effect the Nova Scotian sea air had on her appetite, but if bright eyes and bubbling good spirits are any criterion, Joy did all right by the haddock.

Mr. L. C. Tonnersen Sails For Denmark

Mr. L.C. Tonnersen, of Claremont Avenue, sailed from New York on Monday on the Danish liner Jutlandia, and will spend the summer months in his homeland, returning to Montreal some time in September. The Jutlandia is expected to arrive in Copenhagen about June 12th. Mr. Tonnersen will spend the summer visiting two sisters, a brother and several nieces and nephews.

One of the oldest Danish residents in Canada, Mr. Tonnersen is a member of the Danish Club, and it is through the King Christian the Tenth Jubilee Fund that this trip has been made possible.

Before he left for New York, Mr. Tonnersen was the guest of honor at a banquet in the Mount Royal Hotel, given by the Danish Club of Montreal when a presentation was made to him. The members of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer also honored him with an entertainment and presentation and many other friends feted him prior to his departure.

His daughter, Miss E. Tonnersen, accompanied him as far as New York on his journey. Mr. Tonnersen who is 87 enjoys excellent health. He was at one time well known as a violinist, and still plays for his own recreation, music and reading being his chief interests. He came to this country in 1881 and his previous visit to his native land was made in 1888.

Melville W.M.S.

The Women's Missionary Society of Melville Presbyterian Church will meet at 3 p.m. on Tuesday in the Church Hall, Melville Avenue, Westmount.

Mrs. W.A. Aston will lead the devotions and the soloist will be Mrs. James D. Brodie.

Miss Watson of Tyndale House will tell of the work being done there.

Mary Beetles Revue Aids Kinsmen's Work

Last Saturday afternoon the Kinsman Club of Montreal presented the Mary Beetles Junior Revue at the Victoria Hall, Westmount. The proceeds of which will be given to aid their boys club and youth work.

The program as usual was presented in a fast moving pace, notwithstanding the fact that the first part featured nearly seventy tiny tots under the age of six, who were seen in a Ballet entitled Bed-time Stories. Big Sister was played by Diane Adeles substituting for Susie Beck, who read Nursery Rhymes to her tiny family dressed in pyjamas until they were asleep. Then the Nursery Rhymes came to life and danced. The final scene showed Big Sister and her little one waking up wondering just what had happened to them.

There were many mirthful moments, when some small artist danced with her back to the audience, or decided to sing louder than her companions, but they undoubtedly were a credit to their teachers Eliane Charbonneau and Nancy Saunders and all looked as if they really enjoyed performing.

The second half of the program featured older and more advanced pupils in group and solo work. Gypsies and Las Moritas two character group were well danced. Dorothy Cohen as a Spanish Gypsy made a very delightful picture. Two lines of Senior pupils, Graduation tap line and the Maryettes, were performed in a truly professional manner. A lighter moment in the performance came when Ann Holland and Joan Willisroft were seen in Les Bouffons, a comedy acrobatic dance. Intermediate pupils presented a toe group, Waltz of the Flowers and featured Heather Birnie.

Winners of the Drawing which was held at this Recital by the Women Auxiliary of Montreal Kinsmen Club were as follows:

1st Prize— Radio Combination won by Mrs. R. F. Rivard 4670 Earncliffe Ave.

2nd Prize — Northern Electric Washing Machine won by Mr. R. J. Munns, 2070 Peel St.

3rd Prize— Automatic Toaster Master won by Miss Lorna Buckingham, 2435 St. Antoine St.

FIRST RUN BRITISH FILM AT SNOWDON! Lilli Palmer and Albert Lieven, above, are co-starred with Sir Cedric Hardwicke in the film adaptation of Stefan Zweig's book, "Beware of Pity", which has its first Montreal showing at the Snowdon United Theatre, starting on Saturday for one week.

Almost Human Horse Is The Star Of "Gallant Bess" At Monkland

A horse almost steals the picture from his human co-players in the new drama, "Gallant Bess", in Cinecolor, which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Friday night.

It is the nationally famous horse, "Silvertip", called "Bess" in the current film narrative, and it is the devotion of Marshal Thompson for the mare which gives the story both its warmth and mounting excitement.

Marshall is seen as the young orphaned rancher Tex, whose dream is some day to own a horse ranch. "Bess", an intelligent young mare, is the basis for the continued growth of the ranch. The two great friends are separated, however, when Tex is high-pressured into joining the Seabees; and during the youngster's basic training the mare dies.

It is an inconsolable Tex who ships out for a South Pacific atoll until circumstances bring him a successor to "Bess". It is a horse who has been pinned beneath a fallen tree during battle, and Tex takes her for his own. Later, wounded in a skirmish with the Japs, Tex is hospitalized home, and for a moment it looks as though he will have to leave his beloved horse behind. But after a heartbreaking scene in which the new "Bess" swims after the boat carrying Tex to America, the horse is transported back home with her master. Later, "Bess" has a foal and Tex's lifelong dream of owning his own horse ranch is on its way to reality.

Marshall Thompson, one of the younger players on the M-G-M lot, proves himself worth watching and gives an appealing naturalness to his performance as the young rancher. George Tobias and Jim Davis, as his Seabee buddies, are also good, and Clem Bevans adds a nicely etched characterization in a homespun role as the owner of a general store.

The picture, filmed in the new

Cinecolor process, captures the full beauty of its outdoor backgrounds in the picturesque Mount Shasta region of Northern California where most of "Gallant Bess" was filmed on location.

For those who are touched by the intelligence and beauty of animal actors—and they are legion—as well as those who like a fast-paced adventure tale, "Gallant Bess" may be recommended as superior entertainment.

TECHNICOLOR MUSICAL! Betty Grable and Dick Haymes are co-starred in "The Shocking Miss Pilgrim", in Technicolor, which starts on Saturday at the Seville United Theatre, playing until Tuesday night.

Record-Breaking Musical Hit "The Jolson Story", At Snowdon

Filmed in Technicolor, the record-smashing extravaganza, "The Jolson Story" is now playing at the Snowdon United Theatre until Friday night. Based on the music the magic and the times of a great entertainer, the film features Larry Parks, Evelyn Keyes, William Demarest and Bill Goodwin.

Acclaimed as a colorful and rhythmic panorama of American show business, the screen play carries through nearly forty years of Jolson's remarkable career. Dramatically revealed are the steps leading to his success. In New Orleans, he has become tired of minstrel show; the new-fangled "blues" music fascinates him, and deep inside he is developing a technique all his own to fully capture the rhythms of jazz. Audiences excite him—he wants to get ever closer to them, to make them feel what he feels in his blood. When he gets his first crack at Broadway, he is ready with his new-found style and creates a sensation.

"The Jolson Story" is largely told in music, as might be expected, for no other entertainer has had so many melodies associated with him. Some of these tunes are in the film, as for example, "Swanee", "You Made Me Love You", "April Showers", "By the Light Of the Silv'ry Moon", etc., as well as the phenomenally successful "Anniversary Song".

Much praise has been heaped on the broad young shoulders of Larry Parks for his spectacular performance in the title role. Virtually unknown when the film was first planned more than three years ago, he is being acclaimed today as a top-flight star. The way he has cloaked himself with Jolson's personality is remarkable.

Gorgeous Evelyn Keyes has the romantic lead opposite Parks, and enjoys the flattery of Technicolor. William Demarest and Bill Goodwin play associates of Jolson who aided him in reaching the top and their performances add much to the film. Other favorites in the cast include Ludwig Donath, Scotty Beckett, Tamara Shayne, Jo-Carroll Dennison, John Alexander, Ernest Cossart and the Mitchell "Boychoir".

TRIO OF TOP STARS! Walter Pidgeon, June Allyson and Claudette Colbert are the popular stars of "The Secret Heart", which starts on Sunday at the Westmount United Theatre, playing for one week.

DENNIS MORGAN IN MUSICAL! Dennis Morgan and Martha Vickers, above, co-starred with Jack Carson and Janis Paige in the Technicolor musical film, "The Time, The Place and the Girl", which starts on Saturday at the Monkland United Theatre, playing until Tuesday night.

Betty Grable and Dick Haymes In Technicolor Hit At Westmount

Betty Grable and Dick Haymes are co-starred in "The Shocking Miss Pilgrim", in Technicolor, which is currently playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday night. A major factor in the making of a Betty Grable-Dick Haymes production is the musical score and this picture has the distinction of having its music composed by the late George Gershwin. Eleven previously unpublished melodies used in the film are songs that were discovered among the personal effects left by the composer when he died and his brother, Ira, wrote the lyrics for them.

As Miss Pilgrim, the first typist in Boston, who shocked that sedate city by entering the business world, which until that time was the exclusive domain of men, Miss Grable has one of the best roles of her career. In addition to the opportunity of utilizing her famed vocal talents in singing the Gershwin songs, Betty's part provides a grand showcase for her fine acting abilities.

For Dick Haymes, too, "The Shocking Miss Pilgrim" offers unprecedented opportunities. The role of John Pritchard, the young head of an old Boston shipping firm, and Miss Pilgrim's reluctant employer, calls from the popular young baritone the best of his vocal and acting art.

Anne Revere heads the outstanding supporting cast which also includes Allyn Joslyn, Gene Lockhart, Elizabeth Risdon, Arthur Shields, Elizabeth Patterson, Charles Kemper and Roy Roberts.

Anne Baxter's love for music has resulted in her setting aside one entire room in her home for her extraordinary collection of records. Now starring in Paramount's aviation film, "Blaze of Noon," Anne has her collection insured for $50,000.

Westmounters Star At Snowdon

Dodgers Supply Most Material

By GEORGE COCHRANE

With so many Westmounters playing starring roles in the Snowdon Senior Fastball League this summer, The Examiner's sports staff has added to its already numerous duties by deciding to include in its section of your favorite newspaper each week a brief resume of the doings in the high-class Snowdon circuit.

First, leave us inform one and his good friend all that Snowdon games are played Monday and Wednesday evenings at Macdonald Park, corner of Earncliffe and Isabella, Friday evening at N.D.G. Park, corner of Girouard and Cote St. Antoine Road, and Saturday and Sunday afternoons at Macdonald.

The league this year is comprised of five teams: Steinberg's, 1946's city champions, Thrift Stop & Shop, Hampton Food (which boasts pucksters Bill Duran and Toe Blake), St. Malachy's and St. Augustine.

Steinberg's has a couple of well-known Westmounters on their roster. Noel Romney, the blonde army veteran and Westmount Dodger, is in right field and Gerry Snyder, the sports store man who also performs for the Westmount Dodgers, is in centre. The Steinbergers also have Canadiens' Jimmy Peters on their line-up.

Thrift and St. Malachy's, so far as we can recollect, have no Westmounters on their rosters but Hampton, the most recent entry to the Snowdon loop, is plentifully stocked with them. They have the Dodgers' Jackie McKissock and Tootsie Provost at short and third respectively. They have also Sibbie Munday, the hockey referee and man about town, Tommy Brennan, the Boston Olympic puck-chaser, Doug Heron, the McGill hockey and grid star and the popular Dan Daniels. The Hamptonites are managed by Ernie Munday.

St. Augustine's, who never fail to come up with a battling aggregation, have the highly rated Kev Kennedy, of Dodger fame, at second base and bespectacled Allan Dykes, who has pitched many a fine game in the local ball league, on their line-up.

This year all the Snowdon League teams are completely uniformed—cap, short-sleeved shirt, baseball pants, stockings and spikes. It makes things look very professional.

Bill Hutchinson, who used to be president of the Atwater Intermediate Baseball League and who still umpires a few games in the Atwater circuit, is president and umpire-in-chief up Snowdon way. Ced Kelly is the league's secretary-treasurer and Art Mann, who should be known to all Westmount softball fans, is the league's official public relations man.

Everything that a boy, ten to fifteen years of age, may desire in a summer camp.

Y.M.C.A. Notes

Boys' Division: The Triangle Hi-Y Club of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. had Mr. Rudy Lehr's speak to their club on "The Essentials of Christianity." The club had innumerable questions and Mr. Lehr was busily engaged answering questions for three quarters of an hour after the final conclusion of the meeting.

The boy members of the World Youth Fund department have been requested to make personal pledges to the World Youth work of the Association. So far twenty-one dollars has been listed on this personal pledge basis. Apart from this club's efforts, the Hi-Y, Y-Eba's, Je. Hi-Y Club are all carrying on individual campaigns among their own members. Boys are being encouraged to earn, save and give and so extend a helping hand to other less privileged boys in countries devastated by the war.

The Y-Eba's are a newly formed group of employed boys, between the ages of 15 and 18, members of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. The purpose of the club is to assist employed boys to develop themselves, physically, intellectually and socially and to be of service to other working boys. The club conducts an all round program, including swimming, baseball, dances, public speakers, meetings on vocational questions and weekend trips. Recently members of the club toured to Plattsburg for a weekend outing together.

Members of the 'teen-age clubs of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. are anxiously looking forward to Belmont Park Nite to be held June 14th. Thanks to the courtesy of Mr. Lamarre, publicity Manager for the Park, members of the Westmount "Y" and their friends are offered a 40% discount on all amusements. The group will meet at 7 p.m. on June 14th at the Westmount "Y" and proceed to the park together. The evening will conclude with dancing. Tickets may be obtained at the Westmount "Y".

Members of the Junior Hi-Y will have an induction of their club on June 13th. This is a newly formed club composed of members of the boys' department, thirteen and fourteen years of age.

Boys to be inducted are: Richard Swan, president; Paul Arnold, secretary; Harold Draper, Morley Swan, Peter Howey, Ralf Lamartine, Malcolm Brownridge, David Mackey, Bob Bunten, Paul Manson, and John Nourse.

The group will participate in a weekend camping trip to Camp Perrot on June 21st and 22nd. Tonight, the Friday Nite Club of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. is holding a special Sadie Hawkins dance. Miss Joan Noseworthy is serving as Program Convener—a special program of novelty dances and contests has been arranged. All members of the club are participating in providing refreshments, girl members bringing sandwiches, boys, cakes and cookies. Mr. Jim Nesbit and Miss Joan Gillingham will be Social Conveners.

Dancing will commence at 8:30 p.m. and continue till 12. Prizes and decorations will make this a big event in the Friday Night Club year.

Members may bring friends by

A football, was one of the main reasons for Westmount's Protestant Hockey Cup, served on the Students Council, and was big gun with the Boys' Athletic Ass'n.

Both are likeable, popular guys—the people's choice.

In a similar ceremony, but minus the post-election parade, whitewash and dunking, Emily Ann Nasmith received a corresponding "most popular girl" vote. This award was inaugurated last year when it was won by Natalie Fochs. Miss Nasmith is a WHS reporter for Canadian High News.

providing a special guest ticket. These have already been distributed to members of the club.

Admission will be by ticket only. The Westmount Y.M.C.A. is sponsoring the opening of boys' club work in the St. Henri area. Already initial meetings of a Gray Y Club in Lewis Evans School have been held. The club is being organized with the full co-operation of Mr. Campbell, Principal of the School—meetings taking place in the school.

Boys active in the formation of this new group include: Robert Booth, Fred Griffith, Art Nicholson, Dave Cesare, Kennis Morin, Robert Samuels, Nicki Volihakis, John Nicholson, Rene Berube, Ronald Farr, Wilfred Evoy, John Pecenko, Fred Griffiths, Earl Goddard, Robert Booth and Arthur Nicholson, John Kowal and Albert and Joseph Braithwaite.

This club will carry out an all round physical, mental and spiritual program and members promise to be of service to their school their home and their community.

Another group of St. Henri boys, 14 years of age and over attending school and working are being organized by William Mitchell with the idea of carrying on a new program during the summer. This program would consist of overnight trips, cycling, sports and discussions on employment. Unfortunately this latter group has not yet been able to find a place in which to hold its meetings. Both these clubs are affiliated as an integral part of the Westmount Y.M.C.A.

Kamp Kanawana Famous For Safety And Health

The questions which are uppermost in the minds of parents selecting a place for their boy's vacation are those affecting health and safety.

It is the recognition of this, and the extreme care which is exercised, that has made Kamp Kanawana, the Y.M.C.A. camp for boys, now in its 54th season, one of the outstanding camps on the continent. Careful consideration of the factors affecting health and safety make Kanawana an ideal spot for boys. All campers are medically examined before leaving the city and are checked periodically while in camp. A qualified doctor is always in attendance with a finely equipped dispensary and hospital at his disposal. Menus are prepared by an expert dietitian and all food is purchased from recognized city firms. Pasteurized milk is delivered fresh each day from the City and there is no limit to the amount a boy may consume.

All boating and swimming periods are carefully patrolled by qualified life-guards. Careful instruction is given to the boy to make him perfectly at home both in and on the water.

The day's program at the camp is a varied one. When the rising bell rings, all boys go down to the lake for their wash and dip. The daily soap bath is an important feature and is followed by an inspection of cuts, bruises, and sores of any kind. All such are immediately reported to the doctor who sees that necessary treatment is received. After the boys are dressed comes the signal for breakfast and it is seldom that a second call is needed. A short period of grace precedes each meal and this is usually taken by a staff member.

Group Periods

The next forty-five minutes are spent in cleaning up the dining hall, tents and campus, when everything is put in shipshape for the day. Then follows the interesting group periods. Here there is opportunity for boys of all types to find something that interests them. There are groups in woodwork, leatherwork, metalcraft, nature study, dramatics, bird lore, campcraft, canoeing, boating, and many others. Frequently boys, either individually or in small groups, work on particular projects. One group may build a lean-to across the lake, in which they will sleep later, or a cabin in the woods. Perhaps a group will decide that one of the bridges along the trail needs repairing and will set out to do that.

When the interest groups are over it is time for the swimming classes. Beginners are taught separately with individual instruction, and it is the exceptional boy who does not learn to swim quickly at Kanawana. There are also classes for those who are able to swim a little and classes for advanced swimmers who are anxious to improve their stroke. Instruction is given in both elementary and fancy diving. At the same time the class in Life Saving is under way, where boys are taught the fundamentals of life saving methods leading to the certificate of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. There are classes for all grades of swimmers and an effort is made every year to have each boy improve his swimming ability.

After these instructional periods comes general swim which is lots of fun. Two diving boards one high and one low, provide opportunity for boys to try their skill at the thrilling sport of diving. The long water chute, where boys slide from the top of the hill down into the water with a mighty splash, is always well occupied. Obviously only the good swimmers try this so that all non-swimmers are keen to pass out of the beginners class so they can have their fun at it.

After the swim the boys lie about in the sun for ten or fifteen minutes to get thoroughly dried before lunch.

Then the noon-day meal following which is a song and music period. New songs are learned and campers with playing ability take turns at playing for the rest of the camp. Every day after lunch there is a rest period. Campers are always urged to take full advantage of this period for it is the time of day when it's most beneficial. Sometimes the boys sleep, or read, or write home, and very often the counsellor will tell them a story.

The afternoon is comparatively free. Boys may boat or canoe or go on short hikes. The craftshop is open for those who want to work there. Games are organized for those who want them, but no coercion is used to make boys participate if they do not desire it, however, the advantages of participation are usually quite evident. Regattas, swimming meets, and other special programs are usually held in the afternoon in which most campers either participate or are ardent spectators. Before supper is another swim as carefully patrolled as the one in the morning.

After supper, quiet games are played, or boys again go out on the lake, boating or canoeing. When darkness falls, the campfires are lit. Sometimes the fire is in the Council Ring, sometimes on the hill across the lake, or on cold nights in the large open fireplaces in the recreation halls. What memories these campfires bring to old Kanawansians, of songs learned, of stories told, of stunts and games and of the quiet, inspirational note which brings the day to a close. Friendships are cemented firmly around the fires of Kanawana. Then as the embers are dying down, it's off to bed to snuggle down in the blankets thoroughly satisfied with life, and determined to make tomorrow an even better day than today.

Briefly stated, the purposes of Kanawana are to provide a camp where a boy is safe, morally and physically; to stimulate the boy's growth and development by furnishing opportunity for happy and profitable activities under the leadership of carefully selected counsellors, thus filling each day brimful of fun and happiness and the keen zest of healthful living; and, through attention, to inspire the boys with the ideals of Christian Citizenship, that they may make a worthy contribution to the life of their home and community.

tains, Canada's great year-round playground, north of Montreal, was announced here today by Alfred Lapointe, president of the Laurentian Resorts Association which promotes the development of the region.

Golf tournaments, horse shows, skeet competitions, regattas, trail rides, tennis tournaments and swimming meets are slated for the next three months throughout Shawbridge-St. Jovite area. One of the season's highlights will be the annual summer flight of the Sportsman Pilots Association, which will bring upwards of 75 privately-owned airplanes to Gray Rocks Inn at St. Jovite, July 13-19.

Other aviation developments in the Laurentians include improvements to the landing strip maintained by Chalet Cochand at Ste. Marguerite.

Golf Tournaments

Two major golf tournaments are slated for June over the Ste. Marguerite's Golf Club course. The annual newspapermen's tournament, sponsored by the Ste. Adele Lodge, will be held on June 8, while June 15 will see the Province of Quebec Golf Association sponsored invitation tournament held by the Alpine Inn at Ste. Marguerite.

Horse Show

The summer horse show circuit, long a feature of the Laurentian's sports calendar, will get underway on July 12 at Chalet Cochand, Ste. Marguerite, when a show in aid of Canada's 1948 Olympic Ski Team will be staged. Sun Valley Farm, scene of the spring trail ride of the Laurentian Trail Riders Association earlier this month will stage a horse show on August 2. An international show will be presented by the Ste. Adele Lodge, Ste. Adele, on August 3.

Mont Gabriel, set high atop one of the district's most picturesque hills, will hold a show on August 9, while Ste. Agathe, focal point of the district in summer and winter, has a horse show scheduled for August 16-17.

Skeet Shooting

Throughout the summer, skeet shooting meets will be held at Mont Gabriel, the Alpine Inn and Chalet Cochand. Regattas and golf tournaments will be staged at Shawbridge, Val Morin and Val David.

The famed aquatic unit of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, oldest athletic club in North America, will present exhibitions during the summer at Ste. Adele Lodge, the Alpine Inn and Gray Rocks Inn.

Belmont Park Draws Crowds

The skies were overcast; the wind assumed 'gale-like' proportions; the clouds parted occasionally to permit the sun to shine; there was a chill in the air yet thousands jammed Belmont Park's grounds over the week-end seeking relaxation and recreation from the past week's arduous labours. Many new faces were seen along the Midway as several American Cars deposited their occupants. All attractions were well patronized.

Adults thrilled to such 'rides' as The Whip; the Sensational 'Looper'; the Scenic Railway; the "U-Drive-It" "The Dragon" to mention but a few. Parents with their youngsters visited Kiddie Land where there are several 'rides' exclusively for those, aged six months to 12 years.

The 3 Barretts, the free outdoor attraction, kept spectators in a state of high tension as they executed their death-defying hand-balancing and other gymnastic routines atop a swaying rigging eighty-five feet high. These daredevils, now in their third and final week, appear daily at 5 and 11 p.m.

The dance pavilion also came in for its share of attention with hundreds dancing, with an equal amount listening to the rhythmic

Camp Westmount To Open June Twenty-third

At the last meeting of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Boys' Work Committee, plans were made for Camp Westmount, the In-the-city camp, operated at the Westmount Y.M.C.A.

The purpose of the camp is 1 To give to as many as possible the best camping experiences in the heart of the city, to boys who would otherwise be left to their own devices on the city streets. 2. By a carefully planned, organized and supervised program to provide a certain amount of discipline and direction for boys suddenly released from school restraints and thrown entirely on their own. 3. To open up areas of experience and do stimulate boys that they will desire to continue to explore for themselves, either by continuing their formal education or furthering their knowledge informally by reading, developing hobby interests, etc.

The plan calls for a five week program, intensive in nature, beginning immediately after school closing during which time the boys learn how to spend their leisure time to advantage. In August, a Vacation Club program less extensive in nature will be operated. Members will be entitled to full privileges in the Y.M.C.A. till September 30th.

Dates: Camp Westmount —

Monday, June 23rd to Saturday, August 2nd. Vacation Club — Monday, August 4th to Saturday, August 30th.

Program: The Camp will operate every day in the week from 9.30 a.m. till 4.30 p.m. closing at noon Saturdays.

9.30 to 10.15 a.m. An assembly with the theme "Know Montreal" — at which speakers and films will be utilized to awaken an interest in the boys about the history of the Island of Montreal, its streets, public buildings, its places of interest and its transportation system. Definite provision has been made for the boys to ask questions and to make collections in scrap books of information they obtain.

10.15 to 12.15 p.m. After the general assembly, instructions will be given in swimming, in craftwork, woodworking, aeroplane building, printing, plastic work, crepepaper work and wood-carving — followed by a period of reading and story telling.

At 12.15 there will be a dinner period — the boys bringing their own lunches and purchasing milk.

Two afternoons a week outdoor physical activity such as: baseball, soccer, track and field will take place while other afternoons will be spent visiting various industries and learning first hand how different articles are made. Movies are shown each Friday, all day picnic trips taking place out of the city, Wednesdays.

Mobile Red Cross Clinics Service Northwestern Part Of Que. Province

Way up in the northwestern part of the Province of Quebec there live thousands of settlers cut off from the ordinary benefits of life in civilized centres. Their lands lie as far north as a line that cuts across the Gaspé coast; and as far west as the border between Quebec and Ontario. This is the marvellous new country known as Abitibi and Temiskaming.

Some day the land will probably be built up and these settlers will enjoy the advantages of modern community living. But until that day hundreds of families find themselves without the services of a resident doctor or a resident dentist. In many cases there is not even a nurse for miles around, except of course in the larger towns.

It is to bring medical, dental and nursing services to these isolated Canadian settlers that the Red Cross sends mobile clinics up into the Abitibi and Temiskaming country each summer. There are two such mobile clinics and each of them is equipped to give both medical and dental services and the services of trained nurses. The work of these units has already become famous in the region and is now quite widely referred to not only in the Province of Quebec, but in other parts of Canada. For their work is peculiar to this province.

First, let's see what each of these medical-dental units consists of. The mobile unit proper is made up of a truck especially built for the Canadian Red Cross. It's a heavy duty vehicle big enough to contain the equipment needed for the work—articles such as a dental chair, an operating table, a couch for patients to rest on, drills for the dentists, instruments for doctors and dentists alike, drugs, bandages and all the paraphernalia of modern miniature hospital. Then there is a station wagon to transport the professional staff of the clinic. The whole of the mobile clinic is thus moved in only two vehicles the special truck and the station wagon.

School For Crippled Children Holding Tag Day On Saturday

Recently the students of the School for Crippled Children played host to the members of the Students' Council of Westmount Junior High School. The Westmount boys and girls were greatly impressed with the wonderful work that they saw was being done for the Students of the School for Crippled Children. One of the Westmount boys was heard to remark, "They are all so happy and cheerful" therein lies the very reason for the Success of the School.

Each child is taught to stand on his own feet, is shown by careful teaching and sympathetic understanding that their handicaps can be overcome, that they can and will take their place, as good members of their community. The proficiency of the teaching staff is reflected in the smiling and courageous outlook of the students.

The School turns no children down but opens its doors to all those that are physically handicapped regardless of race, creed or colour.

School buses call each day for the children to take them to school, returning them to their homes at the end of the school day. When you talk to the drivers of these buses you realize how the children win over everyone's heart. They could very easily obtain better jobs elsewhere but they become so attached to the children and their good work that they stay on year after year.

At the School the children take the regular school curriculum with added individual attention and special courses such as speech control, dressmaking, weaving, music, wood-working, and ceramics. Each child is studied carefully so that every help can be given towards helping them earn their own living. No child has been known to go on relief. They graduate into business world as bankers, office workers, skilled workmen, stenographers, and to every branch of business.

The children's day starts early so they are given a light snack at mid-morning. At noon hour they are given a full meal consisting of soup, meat, potatoes, vegetables, desserts and milk. Their weight and development is constantly checked.

A Registered Nurse watches the health of the children and regular weekly treatments are given.

If a child is confined to the Children's Memorial Hospital they do not drop behind in their studies. Qualified teachers continue the lessons at their bedside.

The good work that this school

Canada Carpet Plant Progresses

Notwithstanding minor delays occasioned, as in all other building projects, by shortages of certain materials, work on the new plant of the Canada Carpet Cleaning Company, on Namur street, just inside the Mount Royal town limits, is proceeding apace.

All departments of the organization will, from present indications be in full running order within a comparatively short period. The new building, occupying as it does an area of some 14,130 square feet with a 157 foot frontage on Namur street, will house all activities involved in the washing and repairing of rugs and carpets in addition to the company's executive offices, garage and elaborately appointed showrooms devoted exclusively to the display and sale of new merchandise, for the accommodation of its customers.

The plant is being equipped with the most modern machinery so far developed, and will, when completed, be one of the finest of its kind on the continent.

Top Right: Eventide Home—a refuge for aged men in their time of greatest need. A similar home is planned for women—your contribution will hasten it and will help maintain the Army's Fresh Air Camp for children at Lac l'Achigan.

Will You Help THE SALVATION ARMY?

The Salvation Army in Montreal needs $125,000 to continue the work that has brought happiness and comfort to thousands. Your contribution will help fill a double need.

For the poor and distressed, it will help make the last stages of their voyage of life happier and more comfortable. It will permit the Salvation Army to embrace with its tender care and attention a greater number of aged men and women in need.

Your contribution will also help to keep from going adrift youngsters starting out on the perilous journey—it will stem a rising tide of juvenile delinquency by taking children off the streets where the germs of delinquency are laid. It will help neglected youth along the path to worthy citizenship by contributing to the development of healthy minds and bodies.

Wouldn't you like a share in this great work?
