Magog Stamp Club plans show

This is one of those odds'n ends column that becomes necessary once in awhile in order to keep you up to date on what is going on in the philatelic community.

The Magog Coin and Stamp club will be holding its third annual show on February 9th, 1986. Admission will be free. I know this is early, but mark the date on your calendar. More on the subject will be forthcoming. Those wishing more information on the Magog Coin and Stamp Club, may contact Bruce Morrison at (819)563-4922 or Eric Trussler at (819)563-6768.

I recently heard from the Knowlton Stamp Club. I'm told they are presently in the process of reorganization. At their last meeting it was decided that due to the high cost of rental facilities, future meetings will be held in individual members' homes. Meetings will continue to be held at 8:00 p.m. on the first Monday of each month. Everyone is more than welcome and that includes all area philatelists. The club is looking for new members, so if you are interested in philately and live in the Knowlton area, call (514)243-6403 for further information.

PHILA - SHERBROOKE

Phila - Sherbrooke also welcomes area philatelists to its regular meetings. Several activities are planned for the near future. Meeting nights are the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 7:00 p.m. The address is 1215 Kitchener St. For more information, call (819)566-2271 and ask for Paul Thibodeau.

Let's not forget Mrs. Woodman's generous offer of special prizes for the best stamp exhibitions at the Ayer's Cliff fair. The age categories as far as I know will be up to ten years old and from eleven to sixteen years old. This is open to Stanstead County children only. This is a good project for teachers to encourage their children to participate in. More information will be forthcoming.

If you are new to the hobby of philately, I sincerely encourage you to belong to a stamp club. You will learn to enjoy the hobby to the fullest extent. Members are always happy to share their experiences with each other.

On November 7th, Canada Post released a four stamp issue of steam locomotives to commemorate the completion of the C.P.R. Donald Smith drove the last spike in a ceremony at Craigellachie B.C. on November 7th, 1885.

BEST OF THE THREE

The stamps, the third set of Canadian locomotives, are very detailed in the drive mechanism. They are by far the best of the three series.

Canada Post ruined the stamp enthusiasm the next day, Nov. 8, by issuing a stamp commemorating the Navy. I haven't seen such an awful looking stamp in a long while. All that can be said is that it's an insult to the senior service. Canada Post should be receiving a flood of letters from the old salts.

The postal authorities came up with a new twist for Christmas stamps this year. Besides the regular domestic, foreign and overseas issues, a booklet of ten thirty two cent stamps has also been issued. Buy a booklet and this will allow you to mail your Christmas cards at the reduced rate of thirty two cents. The theme of this years stamps is the Santa Claus parade.

The Hong Kong Post Office announces the release of a four stamp issue on Nov. 27 depicting new buildings in Hong Kong. They are 50¢ Hong Kong Academy for Performing Arts, $1.30 Exchange Square, $1.70 Hong Kong Bank Headquarters and $5 Hong Kong Coliseum. These stamps are available by writing to General Post Office, 2 Connaught Place, Hong Kong.

Your comments and queries are always welcome and may be forwarded to, P.O. Box 688, Richmond, Que., J0B 2H0.

Children's book author to visit Sherbrooke area

By Bobby Fisher

SHERBROOKE — Internationally-known children's books author Robert Munsch will make two stops in the Sherbrooke region next week.

He'll be telling stories to students at St. Francis Elementary School in Richmond (9-10 a.m.) and at Alexander Galt Regional High School (10:30-11:30 a.m.) on Monday. Joining the St. Francis school children will be students from Asbestos-Danville School (ADS).

Munsch has authored books that have been translated into six different languages and published in France, Holland, Germany, Spain, Denmark and Sweden as well as Canada, the United States and Great Britain. Some of his more well-known works are: Mud Puddle, The Paperbag Princess, Mortimer and Millicent in the Wind.

"I started out studying to be an anthropologist," Munsch says in a biographical release, "but made the mistake of taking a part-time job in a day-care centre. I liked the kids better than anthropology. Maybe that was because I came from a family of nine children."

Munsch holds a bachelor of arts degree in history, a master of arts in anthropology, and a master of education in child studies. Currently he is an adjunct professor in the family studies department at the University of Guelph. A transplanted-American, Munsch now makes his home in Guelph.

Munsch says the storytelling began as a way to keep children on their beds during day-care nap times, but it later grew into something more.

"I ended up being blackmailed into telling a new story each day," he explains. "When I began working at the nursery school at the University of Guelph the director suggested that I try publishing."

To his surprise, Munsch says, the idea turned into reality and he became "a children's author," and of late he has found himself "doing storytelling workshops and also telling stories at schools, libraries, bookstores, parks and various street corners."

NOMINATED FOR JUNO

Munsch's success hasn't been restricted to hard and soft cover, however. He was recently nominated for a Juno award for best children's recording for the LP Murmel, Murmel, Murmel. Juno awards are the Canadian equivalent of American Oscars and Grammy awards.

Munsch is presently on a grueling schedule that will take him through the several Ontario municipalities and into Quebec.

For further information on the Sherbrooke portion of the tour contact Bev Steele at Alexander Galt Regional High School (819)563-0770.

Restaurants receive tourism awards

SHERBROOKE (WH) — Thinking about going out and getting a bite to eat tonight?

Here are a couple of suggestions: the Auger Hatley in North Hatley, and La Chapelle in Lac Mégantic. The Eastern Townships Tourism Association guarantees that you won't be disappointed with the food.

It was announced earlier this week that these two restaurants have been named co-winners of the first ever Merite Annuel de la Fine Cuisine Estrienne contest. The Auger Hatley won the 'best restaurant with lodging' category, while La Chapelle won the 'best conventional restaurant' award.

THREE-MAN JURY

A three-man jury visited all of the establishments which had entered the competition between August 7 and August 22, 1985. Each restaurant was evaluated on the basis of general ambiance, quality and originality, the use of fresh local products, prompt and courteous service, and so on.

"This award makes our restaurant a special and unique place, and hopefully it will improve business and tourism in the Lac Mégantic region," said Serge Parent, head chef and proprietor of La Chapelle. "We're very proud, and we feel that only good can come from this contest becoming an important annual celebration in the Eastern Townships."

IMPRESSED BY PRIDE

Estelle Gobeil, president of the E.T. Tourism Association's gastronomy committee, said she was very impressed by the pride and creativity which was shown by all participants in the contest.

"We've announced two winners today, but there were no losers," Gobeil said. "Every restaurant which was involved reached for excellence, and hopefully everyone has been encouraged to continue the pursuit of fresh dishes and new customers."

"When pride is the backbone," Gobeil added, "human beings can work wonders."

That's Entertainment

Emphasis on nostalgia

By Laurel Sherrer

LENNOXVILLE — The theme from Lawrence Welk, scenes from the Broadway musical 42nd Street and the Amos 'n Andy radio show might have been pretty foreign matter to Alexander Galt High School students at the beginning of the school year, but you won't know it when you sit back to enjoy their presentation of "That's Entertainment" next week.

For the fifth year in a row, staff and students at Galt have put together their own musical variety show, involving as many students as they can.

You may recall "Vaudeville" of four years ago which featured music of the 20s, or last year's "Bobby Socks and Hula Hoops", with music of the 50s, or one of the other shows in-between dealing with different eras. This time they decided to make it a sort of survey of entertainment history, but with an emphasis on nostalgia, because of the older audience they've come to expect.

LOTS OF PRACTICE

With over 100 students involved, rehearsing the various numbers has been a long and complicated process. It's been going on since mid-September, every noon hour and twice a week after school.

Bruce Patton, a biology teacher at Galt, is musical director for the show, as he has been for the past four variety shows. He says that as well as being a lot of fun for the students, it gives them valuable experience.

"The reason we put the show on is to expose as many kids in the school as we can to the live theatre," he says, "not only as a source of future employment for some, but more importantly as a source of enjoyment, so that if they hear there's a play on they'll go and see it."

The students' enthusiasm for this show is illustrated in the fact that even though they had to buy their own tap-dancing shoes, at considerable trouble and expense, 53 students signed up to tap-dance in the show — and yes, all of them will be up there tap-dancing, all together at one point.

In past years it's been difficult getting the boys to sing, says Patton, but even that was easier this year, with several good male voices to work with.

ENTHUSIASTIC

A 19-piece orchestra accompanies the students, nine of whose members are adults from the community who have volunteered their services.

The show still needed a little polish about a week ago, but even then it was clear this would be an engaging evening's entertainment. The enthusiasm was contagious.

A slight departure in the format this year was the inclusion of a non-musical segment, an episode from the radio comedy series Amos 'n Andy, called "The Marriage-Go-Round", directed by drama teacher Nelson Gonyer.

There was an attempt to cover most of the major facets of the entertainment industry which have had an influence on what we see and hear today. Besides Lawrence Welk and 42nd Street, for example, there's a tribute to Walt Disney, a hymn, and the song C'est Magnifique, to recall French influence on North American entertainment.

The students perform three nights in a row, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p.m. Tickets can be reserved by calling the school at (819)563-0770.

David Aikman tries to persuade a disillusioned Broadway hopeful (Laurel Thomson) not to give up on show business in a segment from 42nd Street.

Inventive bad guy's capers keep reader enthralled

Eight Black Horses by Ed McBain (ARBOR HOUSE-FITZHENRY & WHITESIDE): $24.50, 250 pp.

Good news and bad news for followers of Ed McBain's Eight-Seven Precinct series of police procedural novels. The good news is that McBain's adept handling of the wry and ribald antics of his cast of police detectives makes Eight Black Horses a genuinely funny read. The bad news for Brown, Carrella, Genero, Kling and Meyer, in fact for the whole precinct, is that the Deaf Man is back on the scene with another of his baffling, maddening capers that usually spell trouble for the Eight-Seven with a distinct increase in the murder and mayhem department.

The 87th squad works out of one of the five districts of McBain's unnamed city—Isola, the large island part of his city, named for the Italian word for "island", is the setting for the zany precinct house of the Eight-Seven — this novel beginning with a nude body found in the large park that fronts the police station. Before long the squad discovers that the receipt of envelopes containing pictures of strange objects points to a Deaf Man warning.

Kaleidoscope

By RICHARD LONEY

The Deaf Man has been a feature of several of McBain's books, and he delights in tipping the cops off about his upcoming crimes by feeding them seemingly unrevealing clues and teasing them by trying to outsmart the police I.Q.'s. The picture clues, including eight black horses, nine patrol cars, five walkie-talkies, and four police hats, begin to arrive at the Eight-Seven over the Christmas holidays, perplexing the officers and keeping the reader also enthralled to discover the Deaf Man's ultimate trickery.

As the tension mounts, McBain parades his rogue's gallery of witty cops and gritty street folk out for the reader, with the antics of his clever villains also vying for attention. Eight Black Horses chronicles a strange Christmas, as seen from the inside of a metropolitan police precinct under siege from an inventive, resourceful bad guy who gets more devious with each outing that McBain offers him. For police crime fiction lovers who like their fare spiced with generous amounts of humour, Eight Black Horses is a winner.

The Beach Boys Silver Anniversary by John Milward (DOUBLE-DAY): $19.95, 240 pp., photographs.

Unfortunately John Milward's retrospective coinciding with 25 years of the Beach Boys' music is more suited to a long piece in Rolling Stone or Creem magazines, but the glossy photos serve to not quite bind this thing into a book. Silver Anniversary reads for the most part of its 240 pages of text interspersed with colour photos, like a fan's lament for the creative drying-up of Beach Boy Brian Wilson. For Milward, the story of the Hawthorne, California quintet that popularized the "surfin'" sound, is really the tracking of the mental well-being, sandbox stage, and total withdrawal of Brother Brian from the recording ventures of the Beachies.

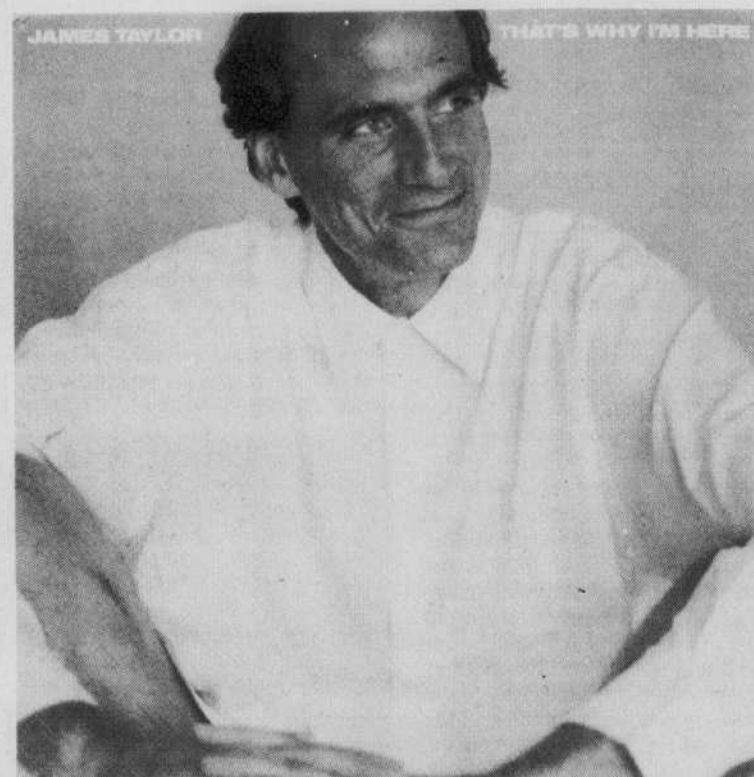

Non-afficionados of the Beach Boys can pick up some delicious bits of trivia about Brian and his two brothers Carl and Dennis, family friend Al Jardine, and their first cousin, Mike Love. For instance, Milward contends that the prolific output of Brian Wilson's songwriting between 1962 and 1966 is even more amazing when the tidbit of inside dope about Brian's hearing is related. Brian, having only 6 per cent hearing in his right ear, has never really heard pure stereo; therefore, the Beach Boys' classic songs sound best in raw monaural because that's the way 'ol Brian heard them "in his head".

But the trivia aside, Silver is a rather overblown, verbally excessive rave-up by a Beach Boys fan who feels that the boys from Hawthorne constitute an American institution in pop music. They may be that, but as even a "Hollywood biography" this book is long on hyperbole and short on interest value. The Wilsons and Friends never move beyond the image of paste-board figures gracing the covers of albums, and as a rock profile this book is as unimaginative as some of those Beach Boys' stage covers themselves.

RECORD REVIEWS

James Taylor THAT'S WHY I'M HERE (COLUMBIA)

For a while there — well, most of the late 70s and early 80s! — James Taylor seemed to have been dealt a knockout shot to his creativity by the emotionally paralyzing split from his musical and domestic partner Carly Simon. But THAT'S WHY I'M HERE is as perfect a melodic signal heralding the return of JT as any comeback album ever announced. The tracks on Taylor's album are hypnotic in their simplicity city and imbued with those qualities of mellow, laid-back Taylor songs that have you humming and singing along with the choruses on the first playback.

Songs such as the rolling, lighthearted "Only One", or the autobiographical title track — "fortune and fame's a curious game/perfect strangers can call you by name/ pay good money to hear fire and rain", reveal how in the groove JT is here. On the Buddy Holly chesnut "Everyday", Taylor lets Lee Sklar's easy floating bass patterns carry the song along, playing with the elemental rock melody and coaxing it up into a Latin-rhythm mood. Even a love song to James's pet pig becomes a pretty song, as "Mona" gets off to a deceptive start, with the singer appearing to be lamenting the death of a dear female friend — "life's good friends are hard to find/ and now one of mine is dead" — but the droll references to Mona clarify the song as it develops "I reckon everyone figured you for a bar-b-que when you died".

"Only A Dream In Rio" is about as beautiful a musical interpretation of the wondrous effect that the South American vacation paradise could have on Americans growing jaded with the commercial hassles of California and Florida. Taylor's reaction to the explosion of colour, merriment and joie de vivre found in Rio is given lyrical, spontaneous voice on this impressive song. Just when the harmonic quality of this mellifluous album needs a bit of a turnaround, James pulls out the funk on "Limousine Driver", with the Brecker Brothers and David Sanborn lending some tasty horn charts to the track.

With the kind of writing roll that JT was on for this superb album it's odd that he would choose to include the Bacharach & David song "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valence", but James even gets this one to sit up and beg with his eccentric phrasing and way with even a less than inspiring song. THAT'S WHY I'M HERE is a timeless album, even if you only want to hear what James Taylor sounds like singing ringing harmonies with Don Henley and Joni Mitchell on "Only One", and with Peter Asher, Graham Nash and other luminaries on one of the strongest collections of songs from a resurgent JT. The Clash CUT THE CRAP (COLUMBIA)

Finding a way to make their quintessential British punk palatable for a larger market seems to have been achieved on CUT THE CRAP, with Joe Strummer and his remodeled Clash hitting with their first album since COMBAT ROCK three years ago. Without Mick Jones, the Clash is very much the tool of Joe Strummer, and surprisingly the vocals on several tracks here have a notable similarity to the early sound of Roger Daltrey, particularly on "Cool Under Heat", not only in the accent but in the delivery.

Songs like "Movers and Shakers", one of only three of the twelve tracks for which lyrics appear on the sleeve, are the meat of this album, aimed at the street people from whom the Clash have great expectations. "Radical social change begins on the STREET!!" so if you looking for some ACTION...CUT THE CRAP and GET OUT THERE — so reads the mis-spelled communique from the Clash, October '85.

The Clash pursue this theme on the ironic "This Is England", with its repetitive Eddie Cochran riff, and on the bitterly caustic "Three Card Trick" — "law and order is a baton in the rib". Many of Clash's tunes have chorale ensemble choruses, just right for the singalong fervor generated by rabid concert ers. Again, Joe Strummer and Clash reveal that their fusion of punk and British radicalism combines to provide the measure which a lot of bands like the Dead Kennedys strive futilely to reach.

Having a system helps in wine tasting

Sometimes I hear the complaint that the more one learns about wine the more difficult the task of choosing the next bottle becomes. Personally, I have never had that problem, but at the same time I know exactly what the person in question means.

No sooner do you begin to get a handle on French wines, the regional differences and the appellation system, than you discover Italy. And after learning the difference between Chianti and Charetto some busybody asks you if you have tried the latest Konigsbacher Jesuitengarten. You can't win... But you can go down fighting!

For instance, last week I came upon a pamphlet put out by the Italian Commercial Delegation in Montreal. The handout, available at most SAQ outlets, lists all the wines—including vermouths—made in Italy that are now available in Quebec. A quick count produced a total of 186 different bottles. Some of these however, were half bottles of a similar wine or merely different years of the same wine. Thus, for the purist, there are probably only about 165 different Italian wines available at the present moment.

Wine Bits

For my own information, and to prove a point, I then decided to see how many of these I had actually tried. Using the list and my own index file, I found out—to my delight and probably my mother's dismay—that I had actually sampled 92 of the available 186. Now, considering that I am not overly fond of Italian sparkling wines and that many of the wines listed are available only at the Maison des Vins, in Montreal I had managed a fairly impressive sampling of what the shelves hold.

The point of the matter is that it does not take very long—albeit with a certain concentrated effort—to become familiar with a wide variety of wine, Italian or otherwise. What is necessary, is a system of notes or a card index since the mind boggles at the thought of remembering exactly what you thought of a particular wine 186 bottles later.

Speaking of note-taking. Two wines that you might want to try are Tocai di Lison 1983 ($4.30 in Ontario and $6.15 in Quebec) and Senator's Palatinate Landwein ($5.50).

The former comes from Veneto in North-East Italy and is a steal at $4.30 and not a bad buy at $6.15. It has a clean fresh bouquet that has a hint of flowers and a crisp taste with a bitter after taste that made it delicious with seafood. Not usually found in North America, it's worth seeking out.

Senator's Palatinate Landwein is produced by Sichel and Sohn and is the result of a new classification (1982) of German wines. The Landwein or "regional" wine carries the name of one of 15 different regions. This particular one from is the Palatinate—another term for the Rheinpfalz—and in quality rests somewhere between a Tafelwin and a Qualitätswein. Slightly drier than most of the SAQ's German offerings, it is very pleasant indeed.

With that said, I'll let you get back to your list of available Italian wines. Cheers!

Entertainment shorts

LONDON (AP)—Spanish tenor Plácido Domingo will interrupt his year of fund-raising for Mexican earthquake victims to sing in the Verdi opera Simon Boccanegra in January, the Royal Opera House has announced.

Domingo had been scheduled to sing the lead role in Verdi's Otello, but decided to devote a year to fund-raising after the earthquake killed four members of his family.

Sir John Tooley, director of the opera house, announced Wednesday that Domingo has agreed instead to sing a supporting role in Simon Boccanegra because it will require less rehearsal.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress-singer Barbra Streisand, donating profits from her new single Somewhere to AIDS research and nuclear disarmament, says the song's lyrics reflect a "life-affirming attitude" needed to save lives.

The American Foundation for AIDS Research and PRO-Peace, which is sponsoring an anti-nuclear march from Los Angeles to Washington D.C. next spring, will share the proceeds equally, Streisand said Wednesday.

In this corner, weighing 195 lbs., Ronnie Reagan!

Although it's a long way from the 15th round, Mikhail Gorbachev, wearing the red trunks and sporting an 'I Love the Media' button, seems to have Rocket Ronnie on the psychological ropes in the early going of this year's disarmament talks. With the hopes of the Western world riding on him, Ronnie III got sucker-punched when he met Gorbachev on the front steps of his headquarters without a hat or coat. Gorbachev dodged this obvious attempt by Reagan to show how tough he is and countered with a hard right to the ego when he reminded 'Father Time' that at his age he could catch a serious cold. Score one for Mikhail.

At the same time, Gorbachev's 'corner man', Ravishing Raisa added insult to injury by turning up for a meeting with Nancy looking like an Eastern version of our very own Marvellous Mila. Not since the Czars, the Czarinas and all the little Czarettes beat a hasty retreat into the pages of history has the world seen more diamonds, mink and leather on the wife of a Russian leader. Score one for Raisa.

Speaking of on the ropes, King Brian I seems to stumble from one fiasco to the next lately. On Wednesday 400 workers from Montreal's east-end arrived at Parliament Hill to protest the possible loss of 5,000 jobs. Calling for Mulroney, the crowd was on the verge of becoming ugly when John Turner arrived. Speaking, appropriately enough with the aid of a 'bull-horn', Turner told the crowd that the Liberals were "... with you to the end," which is only right since it was probably Liberal mismanagement that got them where they are in the first place. Anyway, the PM was spirited away by the remaining 20 Mounties that aren't investigating Marcel Masse when Public Works Minister Roch LaSalle threw up a smoke screen by talking to the crowd.

Meanwhile, Parliament's John Turner No. 2 — yes there are two of them just like in the movie The Other — attacked the CBC for "pulling the plug" on the Friendly Giant. For those of you who don't have any children or who have been in Siberia for the last 26 years, Turner 2 wasn't talking about depriving some big person of his bath water but about the cancellation of the highly successful children's program The Friendly Giant. Turner was outraged that the program had been cut by CBC and called the decision "another nail... driven into the Canadian cultural coffin." One can only sympathize. After all, what will Turner and his good friend Jean James Charest do on Saturday mornings?

The fate of Canada's prostitutes are in the hands of Canada's Senators. Legislation designed to wipe out the world's second oldest profession — the oldest being political patronage — after all who do you think got the first dollar for turning a blind eye on the business in the first place — passed through the Commons last week and was sent to the Senate for final approval. Now, if enough Senators can be awakened for the necessary three readings of the bill, Canada will have a new law that will forbid ladies of the evening from talking to potential clients in public. It is unlikely a better place can be found for a discussion concerning prostitution since many of the Senators took part in similar debates brought to the Senate in 1869, 1904 and 1936 and since several of the members also have an in-depth understanding of the business having received their seats under similar circumstance.

Several people have questioned just why Champlain Cougar assistant coach Bill Anderson was photographed with tears in his eyes following the Cougars Bol D'Or win last weekend. It has even been rumored that it had something to do with a bet Wee Willy had placed on the other team. Not true! As a matter of fact, the reason for his saddened state was the fact that Bill had just received the news he had been left out of Gazette sports writer Tim Burke's column once again and as everyone knows, you're nobody 'till Tim Burke says so. Just ask Bruce 'The Oracle' Coulter.

According to inside sources the costs for the redecorating of the Prime Minister's Sussex Drive residence is "... away over budget thanks to Mila Mulroney's insistence on the use of foreign craftsmen." Not true, says housepainter Milanovic Tanudrsic, pictured above. Tanudrsic, a landed immigrant, says the real reason is "an appalling lack of semi-gloss latex."

Soprano Sarah Hoblyn: bringing music to people

By Laurel Sherrer

GEORGEVILLE — When Sarah Hoblyn moved out to the Townships in 1979 from Montreal, she thought she was giving up a lot of the rich cultural life that, as a singer, she thrived on.

But after a bit of a delay, the energetic soprano is now as occupied with the music scene as ever, and enjoying the opportunities the Townships offer for musical pursuits.

After singing semi-professionally in England, regularly doing recitals and oratorios, and more recently singing with the Montreal Symphony Orchestra among other accomplishments, there are some things she misses, Hoblyn admits. But she doesn't have a lot of time to think about those things.

Since Hoblyn and her husband John immigrated in 1979, she has been leading a volunteer choir in Georgeville that sings for special church services and community events such as the annual Georgeville Revue. This year there are three different choirs getting ready for Christmas: an occasional choir, a church choir, and a youth choir. This entails a weekly practice of about two hours for each. Then there's her involvement with the University Singers at Bishop's. And since September she has also been teaching voice at Bishop's.

LOVE OF MUSIC

These things may not have the same lustre as some of her earlier activities, but it's all done for the love of music, and that makes it satisfying.

"The thing is that I absolutely love to sing," Hoblyn says. "I just adore standing up and singing; I'd do it for any reason at all, it means so much to me."

And although she may not be performing for the kind of audiences the Montreal Symphony Orchestra brings out, her standards remain as high. "Every performance has to be the best every time," Hoblyn says.

Not only does she love to sing, but there's a feeling of challenge in introducing others to music that they perhaps would never have the chance to perform otherwise.

"I've got an obsession, really, to bring music to people," she says. She found the attitudes toward music in Canada quite a jolt when she and her husband John emigrated from Britain. "The thing that I find difficult here is whereas the English child is brought up with a lot of music in his background, the Canadian child is not," she explains. The English child considers learning and performing music "quite a normal thing," while the average Canadian shows a lack of familiarity with music, and a distinct disinclination to want to perform.

MISSING OUT

There ought to be time allotted for music instruction in schools from a fairly young age, Hoblyn feels. "It offers another whole facet to life which people are missing out on if they don't take part in anything musical," she says.

She hasn't had the response she hoped for with the three choirs in Georgeville, but there are enough people involved, with 24 in the occasional choir and 12 in the youth choir, to get some fairly big plans together. A major one is the occasional choir's annual "Nine Lessons and Carols" service coming up Dec. 22 in St. George's Church in Georgeville.

The whole music industry is drastically different here from what it is in England, Hoblyn explains. In England every town and village has its choir, its music society, etc. In fact much of her career consisted of being hired to sing the lead parts of pieces that local amateur choirs were performing.

CAN'T HAPPEN

This kind of thing can't happen here, she says, because of the strict union regulations. She speaks of times when musicians she knows in Canada have had to pay to belong to a union for one night's performance.

In Canada, "you are either Maureen Forrester and touring the world, or you are nobody. The in-between stage we had in England can't exist."

The lack of smaller orchestras, choirs, music societies and so on and the union problems are further complicated by the vast distances that have to be travelled to get to the cities where the music world is centred — and a public that's very spread out.

But with her volunteer choirs, an expanding Bishop's University music department, and initiatives like the University Singers, the music world in the Townships is showing great promise — and Sarah Hoblyn is certainly part of that promise.

John Hoblyn (centre) helps to swell the numbers in the bass section, which Sarah finds hard to fill.

WHAT'S ON

Music

The Sherbrooke Symphony Orchestra performs its first concert of the year tomorrow night at 8:30 in the Salle Maurice O'Bready of the University of Sherbrooke's Cultural Centre. Joined by the Sherbrooke Vocal Ensemble and choristers from the University of Montreal's faculty of music and the Montreal Choir, the orchestra will celebrate the 300th anniversary of the birth of G.F. Handel and J.S. Bach with extracts from Handel's Water Music and the Messiah, and Bach's Gloria in Excelsis Deo (Cantata No. 191). For tickets or subscriptions to the orchestra's series of three concerts, call (819)821-7387.

The pastoral (mask) Acis and Galatea by George Frideric Handel will be presented at The Old Brick Church in West Brome tomorrow at 8 p.m. and again Sunday at 3 p.m. It will be performed by the Studio de musique ancienne de Montréal with soloists Suzie LeBlanc, Peter Butterfield, Michael Webber and Winston Purdy. Admission is free.

There will be a repeat performance of the University Singers' Christmas concert, performed last weekend in Richmond, this Sunday at the Centennial Theatre in Lennoxville. Forty-two voices strong, this choir is made up of students and staff in the Bishop's University faculty of music as well as members of the community. The featured work this year will be Schubert's elegant Mass in G major with solo parts performed by voice students at the university and the 12-piece University Strings providing accompaniment. There will also be a generous selection of traditional carols and a sing-along. Tickets are $3 ($2 students and seniors) and they're available through the box office at (819)563-4966. The concert starts at 8:30 p.m.

While on the topic of Christmas music, the Tudor Vocal Ensemble of Montreal is presenting a feast of choral music with harp and brass quintet for the Christmas season on Sunday, Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. in McGill University's Pollack Hall (555 Sherbrooke West). The major works on the program include Praetorius' Ein Kindelein so loeblich for choir and brass, Michael Hurd's Canticles of the Virgin Mary for choir and harp and Noël canadien by Cable, for choir and brass. There will also be contemporary and traditional carols. Tickets are available at all Ticketron outlets at $12 and $7 (students and seniors), or by calling (514)288-3782 with a Visa or Mastercard number.

Folksinger/songwriter Tom Rush will be performing a mixture of new ballads and old favorites from the 60s and 70s in a show tomorrow night at the Flynn Theatre in Burlington, Vt. Recognized as a leading figure on the folk scene of the 60s, helping to popularize such performers as James Taylor, Joni Mitchell and Jackson Brown, Rush has recently emerged from a year of semi-retirement in New Hampshire and is promoting a new album called New Year. The Milwaukee Journal calls him a "gentle prophet of the new folk music wave". You can call (802)86-FLYNN to order tickets for the concert which starts at 8 p.m.

week at Hillcrest outside North Hatley tonight, Saturday and Sunday night from 9:30 until 2:30.

Memo will open at the new bar Scruples on Wellington South in Sherbrooke this weekend, with blues and a retrospective of 50s and 60s music. They play from 9:30 to 2:30 tonight, Saturday and Sunday.

The story at the Motel Bretagne in Waterville is still the same, with Country Fever playing tonight and Saturday starting at 9 and Tom Wheeler performing Sunday afternoon starting at 4.

The F.L. Hideaway in Lennoxville was closed for repairs last weekend, but they're open this weekend with the music of KGB.

The Del Monty in Rock Island has a rock band called Sarasin this weekend.

All month-long at Station 88 in South Stukely Syndicate Revival will be providing the music.

The Konkordes, likewise, have settled in at the Maples in Stanstead for the month of November.

Whiteline is featured at the Shady Crest in Ayer's Cliff for the rest of the month as well.

At Katevale's Chez Ben this Saturday night, Roy Bray and the Countrymen will be playing for a Sherbrooke Young Farmer's dance. It starts at 9 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

André Gagnon has received acclaim across Canada for his piano concert-performances, and now he's bringing his one-man show Seul to the Centennial Theatre in Lennoxville Nov. 30. Gagnon has recorded 13 albums, winning Juno Awards in 1976 for Neiges and the composition Wow, and again in 1978 as the Best Instrumental Artist of the Year. In this show he will perform pieces by Mozart, Gershwin, Satie and others, as well as his own compositions. He is known for the warmth and highly personal flavor he gives his shows by chatting and sharing anecdotes between pieces. Tickets are on sale for $12 and $6 (students, seniors and children) at the box office Monday to Friday in the theatre lobby or you can reserve by calling (819)563-4966.

Dec. 1 Les 4-temps bring their lively musical show to the basement of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Sherbrooke, with profits going to the church. Les 4-Temps are a group of over 90 members, now in their tenth year, who sing everything from classical music right up to the latest hits, as well as dancing and interspersing a few elements of drama among their songs. It's an event that will delight the whole family and tickets are now on sale at the church presbytery and Plomberie Gilles Girard (1470 Alexander Blvd). The show starts at 8 p.m.

If you like Latin-American music, start planning for a Tropical Evening being presented by the Spanish Cultural Circle of Sherbrooke Dec. 3 at 8:30 p.m. El Clan Latino provides the music for this event, taking place at Le Pub

Chez Ronnie, 154 Wellington South in Sherbrooke. Tickets are $6.50 and are now on sale at La Trouvaille in the Carrefour de l'Estrie, Baldini Jewellers on Wellington, Le Coin de l'Italie on Alexander, Délices de l'Orient on King St. E. and Le Pub Chez Ronnie.

Theatre

Michel Barrette's One Man Triple-Show begins at the Théâtre de la Poursuite in Sherbrooke tonight. This is in the form of a stand-up comedy routine, and the press release here says it guarantees only one thing — that you're gonna laugh. It's supposed to be a good light comedy that comments on the attitudes and mores of today's world. This one-man show goes on at 8:30 tonight and tomorrow, as well as Nov. 29 and 30 and Dec. 6 and 7.

If you're one of these people who like to zip in to Montreal once in awhile, you might want to catch Edward Albee's adaptation of Carson McCullers' The Ballad of the Sad Café being presented at McGill tonight and tomorrow. The story involves a strange love triangle consisting of a giantess, a hunchback dwarf and an emotionally scarred ex-convict and it all takes place against the backdrop of the Great Depression in Southern Georgia. The show starts at 8 p.m. in the Moyses Hall of the arts building at McGill. Tickets are $5 for the general public, $3 for students and senior citizens. Groups can get a discount by calling (514)392-5000.

At the Petite Salle of the University of Sherbrooke Cultural Centre, Couloir 1525 began last night, and continues nightly until Dec. 7. Evidently this play came about as a special International Youth Year project and has had a very favorable reaction wherever it's been presented in the region. It has to do with four young people's search for happiness, and the general theme is planning for the future. Showtime for this is 8:30 p.m.

More than 100 enthusiastic and talented Alexander Galt High School students are performing next week in an extravaganza you won't want to miss. It's called That's Entertainment, and it's a collection of skits and musical numbers that scans entertainment history, with tributes to Lawrence Welk and Walt Disney among others, as well as several pieces from the Broadway hit 42nd Street. They've put a lot of work into this, and judging by parts of the rehearsal I saw last week, you'll be caught up in the students' exuberance. In addition to the actors and singers, there's a 19-piece orchestra and 53 tap dancers involved. There are three performances, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p.m. To reserve tickets in advance (because Galt productions have been known to sell out) call the school at (819)563-0770.

The Champlain College Drama Department is performing John O'Hara's Farmer's Hotel next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday (Nov. 27 to 29) in Studio 1 (top floor) of the Centennial Theatre in Lennoxville.

The Centennial Theatre has made a special effort to provide shows for children this year, and the first is coming up Dec. 3 to 5 when the Toronto Dance Theatre presents their production of the classic Story of Babar. The beloved elephant, created by French author Laurent de Brunhoff, runs away from his native forest when he loses his mother, and is introduced to city life by a wealthy old lady. Despite all the advantages he receives, he eventually returns to the forest to be married and crowned king of the animals. Seven performances are scheduled for the Centennial, five of them reserved for groups and schools. Performances open to the public are Wednesday Dec. 4 at 8 p.m., narrated in English, and another Thursday Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. narrated in French. Tickets are on sale at the box office Monday to Friday for $5 and $7.50 and you can reserve by calling (819)563-4966.

Exhibitions/Events

The new Blue Armoire Gallery has apparently already become a real cultural highlight in the village of Dunham with its gallery and gift shop, and this weekend you can see some of the recent work of well-known Townships artist Mary Martin while you get acquainted with the place. Martin has only recently made the transition from oils to watercolors, but evidently with great success. This Sunday from 1 to 5 is your last chance to see this exhibition. The gallery is at 3740 Main St. in Dunham.

Until next Wednesday, you can visit an exhibition of Traditional Wood Sculpture from Burkina Faso (formerly Upper Volta) at the Bishop's — Champlain Art Gallery in Lennoxville. The show includes carved figures, masks, fertility dolls, stools, locks, pulleys and ceremonial staffs from nine ethnic groups. By incorporating symbols from nature and myth, these sculptures communicate the history and preoccupations of the people of Burkina Faso. The gallery is open Monday to Friday, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

An exhibition of naive art bringing together some of the best representatives of the genre from Canada and France continues until Monday at the Museum of Fine Arts in Sherbrooke. Naive or primitive art, as described by Yvon Daigle, a local artist who organized the show, is art that's simple in form with a rather flat appearance and little emphasis on light and shadows, but which arises spontaneously from the "profound solitude of humanity," often presenting a unique perspective on life. The museum is open every afternoon from 1 to 5.

André Dufour, a Charlevoix artist, exhibits his recent paintings at La Galerie Canard de Bois on Alexander in Sherbrooke until Nov. 30. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

B.P. Nichol, author of As Elected / Selected Writing 1962-1979, will be reading his poems and leading a discussion in the Salle du Conseil, faculty of arts at the University of Sherbrooke next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

Paintings, shaped canvases and one bronze sculpture by Ayer's Cliff artist David Sorensen are exhibited at the Horace Gallery in Sherbrooke until Sunday. Since his last exhibit at the Horace two years ago, Sorensen has introduced curves into his work, influenced by Haida masks and African sculpture. Sorensen exhibits regularly in Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver. The gallery is open Wednesday to Friday noon to 5 p.m. and from 1 to 5 p.m. weekends.

Also at the Horace, two sisters from Montreal, Isabelle and Marie-Josée Grondin are presenting their work in paint, sculpture and engraving in an exhibition entitled Connivences. Both exhibitions continue until Sunday.

Sunday at the Hotel LeBaron, Claude L. Brocard is having a sale of Canadian paintings between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Some of the artists on the list are A.Y. Jackson, M.A. Fortin, and H. Masson.

Sherbrooke painter Jacques Barbeau has some of his works on display at the art gallery of the Caisse Populaire de Sherbrooke-Est at King and Bowen until Nov. 29. This exhibition can be visited during regular banking hours.

Works by Sherbrooke painter André Bellefleur are on display at the municipal library in Sherbrooke during regular library hours until Nov. 29.

Six religious paintings by Antoine Plamondon, forming part of a Chemin de croix intended for the Notre Dame Church of Montreal in the 1830s, will be on display at the Centre d'exposition Léon Marcotte on Frontenac St. in Sherbrooke until Dec. 15. Plamondon was asked to do a series of 14 large paintings for the church, but after three years of work the church rejected them for reasons of religious orthodoxy. The set disappeared at one point, and only these six were found in an attic in the 1930s.

An inventory and cataloguing project at the museum of the Sherbrooke seminary, 195 Marquette St. in Sherbrooke, combined with some re-arranging has allowed their collection of more than 180 works of art to be exhibited to better advantage, with information on each artist presented along with the works. You can see works by Rodolphe Duguay, Edmond-Joseph Massicotte, and William-Henry Bartlett among others by visiting the museum between 12:30 and 4:30 p.m. Sundays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

A collection of about 20 paintings and sculptures entitled L'Art Pense dominates the central hall of the University of Sherbrooke's Cultural Centre, and will continue until Dec. 15. An intriguing and diverse collection being presented by the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, they have the unifying characteristic of commenting in some way on how art itself defines what art is, or how theories of art arise from the work of art itself. In some of the cases, for example, the process of creating is clearly represented within the work. It's worth at least an hour of looking and pondering.

In the gallery attached to this hall, local artist Michel Denée presents, in his Plaques: 1975-1985, an exhibition which in many ways could be related to the L'Art Pense show. It's a series of plaques that are partly engraved, partly painted, wherein he uses elementary forms in basic, earthy colors combined with words, both French and English, to examine the communion between nature and culture which is art. This show also finishes Dec. 15.

Taking place in the foyer of the Salle Maurice O'Bready, also attached to the central hall of the university's Cultural Centre, is an exhibition of photographs by Jonquière photographer Michel Gauthier entitled Retour à l'âge de pierre (Return to the stone age). The photographs are realistic, in the sense that they are simply photographs of stones, recording only what's there, but by his use of light, camera angle and framing, Gauthier makes abstract compositions or imaginary landscapes out of them.

A show featuring the recent work of Montreal artist Louise Myette is on now at the town hall in Granby (77 Main Street). Myette works in pastels, watercolors and oils, and has shown her work in various places throughout the city of Montreal, including many solo exhibitions. The show continues until Nov. 29, and it's accessible during office hours.

The Laurier Museum's new exhibition, starting Sunday, is called Matière Apprivoisée. It features works by artisans of the Corporation des Métiers d'art des Bois-Francs. The goal of this exhibition, according to the literature they sent out, is to show that although many artisans reconcile themselves to a certain amount of utility in their work in order to live, they have greater, more creative and innovative impulses which drive them to greater heights. This work is complemented by Christmas decorations made by students of the Polyvalente le Boisé in Victoriaville.

An exhibition of contemporary work in lace continues at the Beaulne Museum in Coaticook until Dec. 22. Museum hours are 1 to 4, Wednesday to Sunday.

And for your future file: coming up Saturday Nov. 30 and Sunday Dec. 1, Almut Thouin is offering her traditional Christmas Market at the Massawippi town hall on route 143. The show features Thouin's imaginative and useful handicrafts which are difficult to describe because of their variety. Other items on sale include baked goods, antiques, batiks, wooden toys and honey. Refreshments will be served. The Market is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

The Shelburne Museum in Shelburne, Vt. isn't all that far away, so it might be worth a trip Saturday or Sunday Dec. 7 and 8 for their annual celebration of an Early Vermont Christmas. A jitney will carry visitors from the the museum's 1890 railroad station to the Vermont House, Dutton House, toy shop, general store and apothecary shop which will be decorated in authentic 19th century fashion. There will be horse-drawn wagon rides, wandering carolers, a public carol sing, and many other features designed to take you back in time. The events will go on from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

Movies

The director of The French Connection, William Friedkin, has apparently come up with another smash in To Live and Die in L.A. — at least sources at the Cinemas Carrefour in Sherbrooke say it's going to be there for a while, and the critics seem to have some positive things to say. It's a police-thriller, with lots of violence, and apparently one of the most spectacular car chases you'll ever see. This movie starts tonight at the Cinemas Carrefour, playing every night at 7:15 and 9:25 and on Sunday at 12:30, 2:40, and 4:50 as well.

Sylvester Stallone just never gives up. Now we have Rocky IV coming our way, starting next Wednesday, Nov. 27, at the Cinemas Carrefour. Unlike most sequels, the Rocky saga continues to draw in the crowds, so it'll be interesting to see if Stallone has outdone himself this time. Apparently his opponent in the ring this time is a Russian — in keeping with the current pre-occupation with U.S.-Soviet relations. Who wins, I wonder? The movie plays at 7 and 9 nightly and Sunday at 1, 3, and 5 p.m. as well.

The Capitol Theatre in Sherbrooke has Death Wish 3 with Charles Bronson for another week. It plays at 9 p.m. every night and Sunday and Tuesday at 3 p.m. as well. Also at the Capitol is American Ninja showing nightly at 7:15, and Sunday and Tuesday it shows at 1:15 and 7:15 as well.

The featured film starting tonight at the Cinéma Princess in Cowansville is Target, starring Gene Hackman and Matt Dillon. It plays at 9:00 nightly. It is preceded by the completely silly European Vacation with Chevy Chase. You'll laugh — but not much, I'm afraid.

Agnes of God, the powerful story of a young nun who has a baby, and the court psychiatrist (Jane Fonda) who tries to find out who killed the new-born baby, plays at the Merrill's Showplace Cinemas in Newport Friday and Saturday at 7:10 and 9:20, Monday to Thursday at 7:25 and at bargain matinees Saturday and Sunday at 1:55. Also playing at Merrill's is Target at 7 and 9:15 p.m. Friday to Sunday and 7:20 Monday to Thursday. Death Wish 3 shows Friday to Sunday at 7:20 and 9:25 and Monday to Thursday at 7:35 with bargain matinees on the weekend at 2:10 each day. The Black Cauldron plays only as a bargain matinee Saturday and Sunday at 1:45.

Television

Well, why not start the weekend off with something light and frivolous. CTV television has the 1978 comedy mystery The Cheap Detective on tonight at 2 a.m., with Peter Falk, Ann Margaret and Eileen Brennan forming the cast who sometimes play themselves, and sometimes play famous movie stars.

A special on Vermont ETV Tuesday, Nov. 26, features Ella Fitzgerald and Oscar Peterson "On Stage at the Wolf Trap." It starts at 10 p.m.

I find it hard to get caught up in the hoopla that surrounds the Grey Cup game, but there do seem to be a few people out there who are interested, so in case you didn't know, CTV television is broadcasting the Grey Cup Parade from Montreal at noon Saturday, hosted by Lloyd Robertson and Liz Grogan. This is followed at 2 p.m. by a replay of the 1984 Grey Cup game where the Winnipeg Blue Bombers defeated the Hamilton Tiger Cats.

Later on CTV there's something special for the kids. Ewoks: The Battle for Endor is the sequel to last year's successful Ewok Adventure. Warwick Davis returns to his role as Warwick the Ewok who tries to save Cute Little Cindel (Aubree Miller) after she is captured by an evil Queen. The story begins at 7 p.m.

Since your internal clock will be all off as a result of staying up 'til all hours Friday night on my advice, you'll have no problem keeping alert through two late-night movies Saturday, again on CTV. The first, at midnight, is the 1975 comedy Shampoo, starring Warren Beatty as a Beverly Hills hairdresser who has several mistresses at the same time. His ego is shattered when the women, including Julie Christie and Goldie Hawn find out about each other and decide to leave him. This is followed at 2:20 a.m. by the 1975 drama White Line Fever in which a group of independent truckers decide to fight the corrupt forces that control the trucking business. Jan-Michael Vincent, Kay Lenz and Slim Pickens star.

Sunday afternoon, of course, the Grey Cup game dominates the set, so if you don't plan to watch it, you'd better take a quick look at the other parts of this column to find something to occupy yourself with.

On CBC television Sunday evening from 9:30 to 10:00 there's a special about The Making of Anne of Green Gables. This is an in-depth look at the filming of the television miniseries based on the classic children's novel by Lucy Maud Montgomery. It features interviews with the actors, the director and crew.

Julie Andrews, Richard Mulligan and Robert Preston star in the 1981 comedy drama S.O.B. Sunday at 1 a.m. on CTV in which a Hollywood director facing a slump rebuilds his career with a blockbuster erotic movie starring his wife.

Ella Fitzgerald and Oscar Peterson On Stage at Wolf Trap is the last of three music specials airing on On Stage at Wolf Trap on Vermont ETV next Tuesday Nov. 2 at 10 p.m. Filmed at America's only national park for the performing arts, Wolf Trap Farm Park, the specials include interviews with the performers, visits to the stars' homes and background information relevant to each performance.

Radio

The Ideas program on CBC Radio, Monday to Friday at 9:05, spends the first part of the week finishing up topics begun last week, but I find it's quite possible to pick up in the middle in most cases and still get a lot out of the program. Monday is the second and final part of a feature on Ezra Pound, the controversial poet who held some interesting, and sometimes unpopular views. Tuesday it's the second of three broadcasts dealing with The Assault on Canada's Forests — the factors leading to the endangered state of our trees and what can be done to restore our woodlands' health. Wednesday it's the regular Ideas in the News feature, which will analyse and explain the concepts and assumptions behind the headlines. Then Thursday there's a new, two-part broadcast beginning, dealing with schizophrenia. Part I deals with institutional mental health care, and part two, the following week, looks at conversations around and about the family circle. Friday, the program will look at how doctors and hospitals have taken control of the birth and care of infants.

Arctic voyage of Norwegian steamship threatened

Simon Haydon

TRONDHEIM, Norway (Reuter) — The Coastal Express, a fleet of ships that combines luxury travel with a lifeline for the inhabitants of Arctic Norway, has been given 10 years to prove it can support itself or face closure.

The 4,025-kilometre round trip from the western port of Bergen, through the mountainous Lofoten Islands, around the world's most northerly town of Hammerfest to Kirkenes near Norway's border with the Soviet Union, has been a favorite with fans of unusual vacations since 1893.

But the ships that make the voyage — one leaves Bergen every day — also provide a key link with civilization for remote parts of Norway, almost inaccessible by air or road.

In the past, the Oslo government has heavily subsidized the four companies that operate the 11-strong fleet, but a state commission this year recommended the service should be closed down in 10 years unless it can begin paying for itself.

"The effect of closing the service would be catastrophic for northern Norway. The society would perish overnight," said Randi Storsve, marketing manager for the four companies.

BOOST REVENUES

Speaking on board the Ragnvald

Jarl as it prepared to sail from this northern port, she said that while tourists have boosted Coastal Express revenues, the transporting of cargo and local passengers is its most important service.

The vessels, known in Norwegian as the Hurtigruta (the quick way), carried 250,000 Norwegian passengers on short journeys last year, and 15,000 tourists willing to pay up to $1,125 for the 11-day round trip.

Cargo, mainly fish from the tiny coastal ports along the route, accounts for 40 per cent of revenue today, compared with 60 per cent from passengers, a reversal of figures five years ago.

Storsve, also booking manager for the Trondheim-based Northern Steamship Co., one of the four operators, said the suspended death sentence hanging over the line was an opportunity for a radical rethink of the Coastal Express service.

"I can see a very bright future for us, mainly because we are not embarrassed about the price we charge," Storsve said. "This is a cargo and passenger ship serving northern Norway."

BLOCK MOVES

The northern Norwegians have little political muscle in Oslo, but the opposition Labor party, whose power base is in the more remote regions, has said it will try to block any moves to close the Hurtigruta.

A Labor party spokesman said closing the route would not only have a devastating economic effect, but it would also "give north Norwegians the feeling they had been forgotten."

Controversy has struck the Hurtigruta in the last two years with the introduction of three sleek boats which, said one of the ship's captains, more resemble four-star hotels than the sturdy steamers so admired by hardy passengers.

The new boats forced owners to revamp the older vessels and install toilets and bathrooms in cabins, but the feeling of stepping into another world is still present on ships such as the 30-year-old Ragnvald Jarl.

The main attraction of the voyages, which are booked at least a year in advance, is the midnight sun, which brings constant daylight above the Arctic circle in summer and the dazzling display of northern lights in the winter.

But the natural beauty of the Norwegian coastline is also a big selling point with long-distance passengers, most of whom are English, German, Italian or French.

CUT COSTS

Tourists are the most obvious means of ensuring that the Hurtigruta pays its way.

Although it is too early for the shipping companies to have made any definite plans, Storsve said there would be more vigorous attempts to attract foreign passengers and to cut the cost of short-distance travel between ports, a service used mainly by Norwegians travelling to the shops and back.

Storsve said booking figures for next year show a 20-per-cent increase in tourists and a seven-per-cent increase in Norwegian short-distance passengers.

No one cares to contemplate the effect on Arctic Norway if the route closed. There are few roads in the region and air links are limited because flying is expensive and cargoes are restricted as only small planes can use the tiny airstrips.

Tourists drawn to Norway's scenic fjords may be the lifeline for the Arctic shipping companies, since local passengers and freight have failed to support them.

Sherbrooke Businesses: A Source of Pride

For two years I've been the technician in charge of operations for Hydro-Sherbrooke, Quebec's second largest electric compagny. I supervise all construction starts, repairs, and modernization of electrical and electronic equipment."

"At present, I'm in charge of the crew that is upgrading the St. Francois station, which supplies electricity to about half of the city. The main objective of this work is to significantly reduce long outages and current fluctuations. Total conscientiousness is a must for everyone in our division, where errors are always costly. Doing our jobs seriously and meticulously is our way of making Sherbrooke more than a city."
