QUEEN ELIZABETH REVIEWS HUGE FLEET

World News In Brief

Madrias, India —(Reuters) —The death roll rose of 64 today in a head-on collision between a passenger train and a freight Saturday near Madanapalli about 200 miues from Madras.

Fifty-six persons died on the spot and the rest on the way to or in hospital. Many were injured.

Belfast — (AP) — A time bomb early today wrecked the balcony of a Northern Ireland motion picture theatre which advertised that films of the Coronation would be shown next week.

The blast took place in the Savoy Theatre at Newry, County Down, about 40 miles from Belfast. No one was injured.

Police believe that the bombers attended the theatre Sunday night, and at closing time hid themselves in the building. The explosive charge apparently was placed inside a girder, in a position to do the greatest possible damage.

Bonn —(AP)— Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today that the new Russian peace offensive in East Germany does not justify "the slightest relaxation of our common effort to build up Western military strength."

The Supreme Allied commander in Europe also called for quick action to get the six-country European Army created even though many Europeans now regard this project as doomed by strong French opposition.

Ridgway paid a farewell visit to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer before leaving to take up his new post as chief of staff of the United States Army.

Canberra —(Reuters)— Agriculture Minister John McEwen said today all Australian wool production records will be broken in the 1952-53 season.

He said the increased output is due to good weather conditions, a successful campaign against rabbits, and land improvement.

McEwen said wool exports this year were estimated at £425,000,000 ($956,000,000). Total exports would be £690,000,000, an increase of £150,000,000 over last year.

206 Warships From Britain, Commonwealth, 16 Foreign Countries Seen In Review

Ships Anchor In Double File To Salute The Sovereign.

Spithead, England — (CP) — Britain, her Commonwealth and 16 foreign countries lined up 206 warships in this historic anchorage off southern England today to stage a sparkling, full-dress Coronation review for the Queen.

The warships were anchored in double file to salute the Sovereign. This afternoon the Queen and members of the Royal Family, in the dispatch vessel Surprise, were to sail down the line of ships and back as sailors manning the rails cheered.

Later the British fleet's air arm was to stage a fly-past over the fleet and a fireworks display was scheduled.

More than 500,000 persons defied wind and rain to pack the beaches to the gay sight.

Next to the crowning itself, it was the most impressive spectacle of the crowded Coronation calendar. All the ships were dressed "overall," with bright international code signal flags stretching from the bows, over the masts, to the sterns.

The 13,600-ton United States cruiser Baltimore tugged at her anchor in a place of honor at the head of the column of foreign warships. The only battleship in the display, the Royal Navy's 42,500-ton Vanguard, was moored opposite.

Canada's six warships made up by far the biggest Commonwealth representation outside Britain herself. They were the carrier Magnificent, eighth ship to be reviewed, the cruisers Quebec and Ontario, destroyer Sioux, frigates Swansea and La Hulloise, plus the government icebreaker D'Iberville.

Sixteen aircraft from the Magnificent were to take part in the fly-past.

The weather bureau promised moderate winds and occasionally rainy periods with moderate to good visibility, about eight miles.

In line behind the Baltimore came the French cruiser Montcalm and then the Russian cruiser Sverdlov, the first Soviet war craft to appear in British waters since 1937 and the object to keen attention. Canvas screens hid most of her topside secrets but she appeared as polished and as modern in design as any ship on hand.

The British and Commonwealth ships represented about one-third of the navies' combined strength. In addition, 50 ships represented the British merchant and fishing fleets and a large number of yachts of all sizes stretch around the fringes of the anchorage.

The review reflected the changes in naval tactics since the late King George VI visited the fleet following his Coronation in 1937. Then battleships dominated the scene and aircraft carriers were still something of a novelty. This time nine carriers were in the British line.

The anchorage recalled centuries of naval pageantry.

King Henry V inspected his fleet here in 1415 when bound for the continent on the expedition climaxed by the English victory over the French at Agincourt.

The Queen will stand in a special saluting platform which has been built on a gun emplacement ahead of the bridge. This wooden-framed saluting box has glass windows on all sides and a glass roof with a curved front to deflect the wind.

Trains Took Five Lives At Week-End

By The Canadian Press

Trains were responsible for five of the 28 violent deaths in Eastern Canada during the week-end.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed that traffic accidents took the highest toll with 11. There were 10 drownings and seven miscellaneous fatalities.

Seventeen persons died in Ontario, nine in Quebec and one in each of New Brunswick and Newfoundland.

In a triple fatality at Bradford, Ont., a train struck three members of a fishing party on a railway bridge. Dead are Mrs. Gerer Goodman, 47, Max J. Title, 29, and his wife, Annette, 27, all of Toronto.

Mrs. Frank Busch, 79, of Trout Creek, Ont., was killed by a freight train and Donald Gordon Smith, 11, of Alderwood, Ont., died in an ambulance after a train struck him as he bent to pick up the lunch packet he dropped on the tracks.

Quebec deaths: Cecil Robinson, 40, of Deschenes, was drowned in the Ottawa river near his home; Marjorie Auger, 37, of Montreal, was drowned while swimming in a quarry near St. Martin; Roger Coulombe, 14, of Montreal, was drowned in the St. Lawrence river, Claude Bourbonnais, 30, and Emile Limoges, 36, both of Montreal, were drowned when the rowboat from which they were fishing capsized; Raymond Tanguay, 18, and Jean-Paul Sirois, 22, both of Montreal, when their motorcycle collided with a car near Labelle; Rodolphe Montpetit, 33, of Ile Perrot, wheh his auto went out of control; Joseph Laprise, 67, of St. Naree, burned to death trying to rescue his belonging from his burning home.

In Newfoundland, Francis Short, 18, of St. John's, was drowned on a fishing trip and in New Brunswick, Louis Morrison, 4, of Nigado was fatally injured when struck by a car.

Cambodian Ruler May Be Deposed

By MAX CLOS

Saigon, Indo-China— (AP) — French circles said today that France may have to depose King Norodom Sihanouk if he does not soon end his self-imposed exile in Thailand and return to his Indo-Chinese Kingdom of Cambodia.

The 31-year-old monarch and an automobile entourage of 27 persons suddenly popped across the border Saturday and arrived in Bangkok Sunday. The monarch said he hoped to force France to grant fuller freedom to his Communist-threatened kingdom.

Before departing, the King transferred full power to his prime minister, Pen Nouth, who remained in Cambodia's capital, Phnom Penh. The king gave no indication he intended to abdicate.

In Bangkok today, a spokesman for the king said he had fled to prevent an anti-French revolution, and to lead a crusade to rally world opinion which he hoped would force France to grant his country independence.

A communique issued by the Cambodian legation in Bangkok said that Thailand, which has been sympathetic towards Cambodia's bid for independence, would be asked to take the subject before the United Nations.

French officials here expressed fear the king's flight would touch off uprisings by Cambodian ultra-nationalists, as well as by strong underground forces of the rebel Communist-led Vietminh.

Canada's Growth To Adult Status Given Recognition At Convocation At Bishop's

By ARNOLD BARON

Canada's growth to adult status in the family of nations was referred to most eloquently at Lennoxville Saturday afternoon when Bishop's University held its convocation, a convocation which marked the 100th year since Queen Victoria granted the University charter.

Said Lieutenant - General Sir Archibald Nye, United Kingdom High Commissioner in Canada: "One-hundred years ago Lord Elgin was both representative of the United Kingdom government (which I too am happy to be) and the effective head of Canada's government (which I am not). The difference in our positions is the measure of Canada's constitutional progress from uneasy adolescence to completely adult status as a sister country to my own, retaining ties of tradition and affection and common allegiance to the Crown, worn now so well, as a century ago in 1853, by a gracious Queen."

Sir Archibald noted that: "taking part in this ceremony are an official of the U.S. administration, the rector of a French-Canadian university, a Scots-born Canadian banker, a Church of England Bishop, a Newfoundland artist, now president of the Royal Canadian Academy, a Canadian chancellor born in Northern Ireland, and myself, a British general born in Southern Ireland. It is certainly a good augury that on Canadian soil, whether or not we are Canadian citizens, we all feel completely at home."

Said Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U.S. Representative to the United Nations: "At the United Nations I saw the individuals whom you sent there. Canada had the reputation of sending the finest individuals to the International civil service. The quality of the Canadian members of the staff is a byword."

Mr. Lodge praised the contributions to the world of Canadians such as Hugh Keenleyside, Dr. Brock Chisholm, Gen. Howard Kennedy, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, David Johnson and the present External Affairs Minister, Hon. L. B. Pearson, president of the U.N. General Assembly. He praised also Canadian initiative in pledging technical and economic assistance for underdeveloped areas, saying that this type of action is the most effective answer there could possibly be to the menace of Communism. Canada's military support of the U.N. in Korea and of her miraculous increase in national production.

"In the long run," he said, "the countries that don't do much talking but which take practical and unselfish steps to help the less fortunate—to drain the swamps, to irrigate the desert, to eliminate disease, to prevent hunger—are in the end the countries which humanity will hold in friendship and gratitude. "It takes great patience for free nations to stand together as allies," Mr. Lodge continued, "but there is no cause for which patience is more worthwhile, for if God forbid, the tragedy of war should come again, there is no new weapon or invention which is as valuable to a nation as it is to have stout-hearted allies who will help to carry the load of combat.

Sir Archibald and Mr. Lodge were two of six distinguished persons who received honorary Doctorates of Civil Law from Chancellor John Bassett at convocation where 74 young men and women received degrees in Divinity, Theology, Arts and Science and Diplomas in Divinity and Education. One degree in Science was to be bestowed posthumously to Willard Roger Pope, of Ayer's Cliff, a student who died as the result of a hunting accident last autumn.

Other recipients of honorary degrees were: Rt. Rev. William L. Wright, Lord Bishop of Algoma; Msgr. Ferdinand Vandry, rector of Laval University; James Muir, President of the Royal Bank of Canada; and Robert W. Pilot, President of the Royal Canadian Academy.

With the exception of Bishop Wright, who was introduced by Dean Sidney Jellicoe, of the Department of Theology, the recipients of the honorary degrees were presented by Dr. A. R. Jewitt, principal and vice-chancellor of the University. Dr. Jewitt did the honors for Msgr. Vandry in French.

Besides Sir Archibald and Mr. Lodge, two others of the six honored gave addresses, Msgr. Vandry and Mr. Muir.

The Rector, of Laval University said that Canada is and must remain a Christian nation and that Canadian universities, whether they are Protestant or Catholic, have the "severe duty of collaborating in such a task because they are the brain of the nation and they must give our country first-class leaders really worthy of their Christian responsibilities."

Msgr. Vandry expressed his pleasure at "the so kind gesture performed by Bishop's University in conferring an honorary degree upon the Rector of the French and Catholic university of Quebec.

"This," he said, "surely means very clearly that the attachment to spiritual values may bring closely together even minds that are divided by a different concep-

Twin Towns Menaced By Forest Fire

Edmonton — (CP) — Forest fires are burning today over a 500-mile front in Western Canada, some of them relentless infernos advancing in a dancing wall of flame through green northlands.

Starting from the twin towns of McMurray and Waterways in northeastern Alberta, scattered fires have been reported on a straight line through Saskatchewan to north of Flin Flon, Man.

Light rain Saturday and Sunday helped check a series of blazes which threatened to snuff out McMurray and Waterways 300 miles northeast of Edmonton where flames had moved in on three sides. But a blistering pall of black smoke rose higher in Saskatchewan, about 150 miles north of Prince Albert.

Small lightning fires also were reported at many northern Manitoba points. No accurate check could be made of the number of blazes in the three provinces' north country, desert-dry after weeks without rain.

Communists Make Major Dents In Allied Lines

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR

Seoul — (AP) — Thirty thousand Communists ripped into Allied lines today, breaking through as deep as two miles in the mightiest Red offensive in two years.

Two South Korean divisions on the east-central front buckled under an assault by two fresh Chinese divisions, about 20,000 soldiers.

A few miles to the west, another 10,000 Reds pierced Allied lines in several places before they were halted in bloody trench fighting by United States and South Korean infantry.

U.S. airmen flying shuttle missions dumped more than 2,225,000 pounds of bombs on the flaming 40-mile front. Smoke of battle could be seen for 60 miles.

It was the greatest Red drive since the 1951 spring offensive, and apparently intended to gain the Communists as much ground as possible before the impending armistice.

Fighting raged throughout the day and last reports described it as "fluid," meaning in full blast and undecided.

The Communists engulfed Capitol Hill and Outpost Texas, south of Kumsong, and had the South Korean 5th and 8th divisions reeling south toward the Pukhan river.

Dispatches from the front painted a bloody picture of reckless Chinese pouring over a 3,000-foot peak which dominates the area held by the two RoK divisions.

Some Allied officers considered the offensive a Communist move to punish the South Koreans, whose government had threatened to drive to the Manchurian border if a truce is signed. There was a possibility, too, that the Reds wanted one final victory before an armistice for prestige purposes.

The nearby Pukhan river and the great Hwachon reservoir, 25 miles south of the main battle area, presumably would block any sizable Red advance.

South Korean troops launched a counter-attack at the eastern end of the main Communist push and forced the Reds off an outpost known as Anchor Hill. Fierce fighting raged on nearby heights. The RoKs also smashed a Chinese assault on Christmas Hill, farther east.

To the west of the two embattled RoK divisions, fighting slackened after infantry of the U.S. 3rd and South Korean 9th divisions cut up an attacking force of Reds near the "Iron Triangle" and Outpost Harry. The Chinese made lighter thrusts elsewhere, mostly on the east-central front.

The fighting far overshadowed anything in the last two years except the ferocious 1952 battles for the Kumhwa ridges.

Front-line officers said the Communist gains were so great that the line of demarcation between the opposing armies, supposedly being worked out by truce negotiators at Panmunjom, may have to be revised.

By terms of the proposed armistice, each side is supposed to pull back two kilometres, about 1¼ miles, within 72 hours of the signing, leaving a 2½-mile wide "buffer zone."

Munsan —(AP)— Signs of a quick truce increased today even as Communist armies to the east smashed south in a stretch drive offensive.

Although reasons behind the 11th hour Red attack left observers mystified, these developments pointed to an imminent armistice:

1. Word leaked out that staff officers writing the last details of an armistice have struck no snags. However, they may have to consider the changing battle line, which might change the 2½-mile-wide truce buffer zone they are setting up.

2. Allied and Red liaison officers met in secret for 19 minutes. A spokesman said only that they met to discuss administrative details pertaining of the truce negotiations. However, they could have arranged for the next meeting of the main truce negotiation delegations, which have been in recess a week. The main delegates must approve the details written by staff officers.

3. Troops and supply trucks poured into this base camp as the Allies rushed preparations for the huge prisoner exchange to follow an armistice.

4. Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, UN field commander, warned his 8th army by radio that the impending armistice would not end the war in itself and told the soldiers to stay ready to fight if necessary. He said the "possibility of an armistice has increased to the point that we must consider what a signing would mean. . ."

Strasbourg, France — (AP) — Jean Monnet, chief of the steel-coal community, called upon Western Europeans today to join in the construction of a united states of Europe which would guarantee peace and prosperity for them all.

Speaking to the community's legislative branch, the Schuman plan common assembly Monnet said a common market for steel and coal production among the community's six member states is only the first step toward a larger and fuller union.

"Europe," said Monnet, "has herself enough resources in raw materials and in energy, and all the resources in manpower, technical skill and invention, to achieve a prosperity comparable with that of America if she will only reverse the tide of events which in her divisions have led to war and threatened her with decadence."

Vancouver — — A strike of British Columbia salmon fishermen started at midnight today, coinciding with the opening of the industry's most important season.

Fishermen all along the coast have been told by radio and telegram to keep their boats in port until agreement is reached with operators on 1953 prices.

Certain fishing vessels have been designated as float picket lines, union leaders said, and their duty will be to see that the tie-up is not broken.

Lt.-Col. Louis Roberge Nominated In Stanstead

By CUTHBERT JONES

Ayer's Cliff — Stanstead County Liberals fired the first gun in the federal elections battle insofar as the Eastern Townships are concerned Sunday afternoon when they nominated the retiring member, Lt.-Col. Louis Roberge, of Rock Island, to contest the riding for another term.

Col. Roberge's selection was made without dissenting voice after the joint presidents, reporting to a special general meeting of the Stanstead County Liberal Association held in the county building, said that the executive felt he was the logical candidate if he was willing to accept the challenge.

The meeting had been called originally by Presidents Yves Forest, of Magog, and Roger LaBaron, of North Hatley, to consider certain changes to the constitution, but with the announcement of the election for August 10, it was deemed advisable to add the item of a selection of a candidate to the original agenda.

In a brief acceptance speech, Col. Roberge reviewed his record of work on behalf of the county during the four years he had been at Ottawa, indicating that all sections of the riding had been benefitted by the policies of the Liberal government.

The feature speaker of the afternoon was Senator Sarto Fournier, of Montreal, who was called to the upper house on Friday at the same time the dissolution of the House of Commons was announced.

COL. ROBERGE

The Liberals were the only group in Canadian politics, he said, that really appreciated the needs of the Canadian people and its efforts had made Canada the third greatest trading country of the world. It was a party with traditions, policies and records. The people knew the party and what it stood for, he affirmed.

In 1896, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier first came to power, the country was on the verge of bankruptcy and had been pulled out of the morass by the wise and enlightened policies of the Liberal government. The story had been repeated in 1921 after the Borden Conservative misrule. In 1930, the Liberals had slipped on the issue of New Zealand butter. However, the country under the Bennett regime had only two memories—the moratorium for farm debts and direct relief for the unemployed.

The reviving power of the Liberals became apparent since 1935 until today the national production is in excess of 25 billion dollars. Despite the expenditure of two billion dollars to assure national se-

One Dead, 101 Homeless After Fire At St. Neree

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

St. Neree, Que.—(CP)—A third of this tiny agricultural village, 38 miles southeast of Quebec City, was levelled in a seven-hour fire Saturday night.

Sunday morning found 101 persons, including 51 children, homeless; a 67-year-old man dead, and material loss estimated at about $300,000.

The only fatality was Joseph Laprise, the church organist, whose partly burned body was found in a vegetable garden in the rear of his house. He died with a crucifix and a statue clutched in his arms.

The village convent for 65 boys and girls was destroyed, along with 17 houses, four stores, two garages, a small blacksmith shop and a half-dozen sheds.

The Church, vestry and presbytery and another house were damaged before firemen from four neighboring towns could stop the quick-spreading fire.

"There were so many sparks, they came at us in clouds," said Rev. Lorenzo Cote, the aging, white-haired parish priest. His coat and cassock were burned beyond repair by flying sparks.

Mayor Georges Laprise, brother of the dead man, said lack of water pressure in the village waterworks system hindered firefighters. Villagers used fire extinguishers to fight the blaze until equipment was brought from Levis, Que., to pump water from a nearby small stream.

Mayor Laprise said he would try to have the village council vote $20,000 for improvements to the system.

"But first of all we'll have to build a new convent for the children."

All that was left standing of the $33,000 school was the chimney and a statue of the Virgin Mary on the front lawn.

Mayor Laprise also said he hoped to obtain government help for the villagers who lost their homes. Most of them carried little insurance.

The fire started in the summer kitchen of Alphonse Lapointe's home in the rear of his dry goods stores. The Lapointes and their 11 children were asleep at the time, about 10:45 p.m. Saturday night.

Father Cote said Roland Godbout, whose house was razed, first noticed the blaze and sounded the alarm.

But the fire was already out of control and high winds sent flames tearing into a row of 15 homes on one side of the main street. Flames jumped to the other side to destroy two other homes and the convent.

Most of the villagers plan to rebuild their homes and re-establish businesses as soon as possible. Little was saved from the burned-out buildings.

INVERNESS

The Women's Institute held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Allan Little, on June 8th, 1953, in the evening. Ten members answered the roll call. Plans were made to have a dance in the Court House on July 1st. The monthly parcel was sent overseas. The new bulletin board has been put up ready for use. The School Fair has now been arranged and the children have planted their seeds. The county delegate, Mrs. W. Beattie, gave a very interestin report on the country W.I. meeting held in Lemesurier on May 16th.

The meeting closed by the singing of God Save the Queen.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Mr. And Mrs. L. Smith Elected Joint Presidents Of Sutton H. & S. Assn.

Sutton, June 15. — The annual meeting of the Sutton Home and School Association was held in the High School, bringing the year's activities to a successful conclusion. The president, Mr. Rupert Phelps, presided over the meeting which was opened with the Coronation prayer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Fordyce Ingalls, and Mrs. Orton Baker gave the treasurer's report, which showed a satisfactory balance, with which to cover outstanding obligations.

Mrs. Cedric Douglas and Mrs. George Dyer, who were the official delegates, each gave very interesting reports on the annual Federation meeting, which they had attended in Montreal, in May. Mrs. Douglas made special reference to the session dealing with the Home and School Magazine, a subject in which, as magazine convener, she is particularly interested. The editor is making every effort to improve this publication and it is hoped that next year the Association will have a large subscription list.

Mrs. Dyer told the group of several valuable suggestions she had heard in regard to carrying out a successful program and she gave a fine over-all account of the meeting as a whole.

Mrs. Phelps then called on Mrs. George Webb, who presented a gift to each of the four teachers, who are leaving the staff. She was thanked by Mrs. Ellis Gatenby, on behalf of the teachers.

The president then gave a short report of the year's activities and closed by thanking the executive, the committees and the members for the excellent co-operation given him during his term of office.

Mr. Gordon Allen then took the chair for the election of officers. Mrs. Arthur Darrah, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers: Joint presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith; first vice-presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Sweet; second vice-president, Miss K. Harper; third vice-president in charge of hot lunches, Mrs. George Dyer; secretary, Mrs. Fordyce Ingalls; assistant secretary, Mrs. Guy Chamlain; treasurer, Mrs. Orton Baker; committees: refreshments, Mrs. Hollis Hooper and Mrs. Stanley Whitford; program, Mrs. Rupert Phelps, convener, with Mrs. Arnold Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Brown; representative to Regional Council, Mr. Lawrence Smith, Mr. Dwight Sweet and Mr. Rupert Phelps with Mrs H. Hooper and Mrs. Stanley Whitford as alternates.

No further nominations were made and the slate of officers was adopted as presented. Mrs. Arthur Darrah, on behalf of the members, thanked Mr. Phelps for the fine work that he had done in the Association during his term of office.

The new president, Mrs. L. Smith, then took the chair for the remainder of the meeting, and after thanking the members for the honor bestowed on her, announced the winner of the attendance banner for the year, Mrs. Gatenby's room.

The remainder of the program was then taken over by the household science pupils under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Church.

The girls of the higher grades presented a fashion show, modelling the dresses they hade made in classes during the winter, while the pupils from Grades VI to VIII had on display the cotton blouses and other articles they had made. The work was exceptionally well done and much credit is due to both teacher and pupils. They were graciously thanked by Mrs. Arnold Thompson.

A delicious tea followed, which was also prepared and served by the household science class. The tea table, covered with a linen cloth, was appropriately arranged with a Coronation centrepiece. Mrs. George Webb and Mrs. Arthur Miller, honorary presidents of the Association, were the pourers.

A CHARMING SHOWER GIVEN MISS RUTH BINNING

Mrs. Howard Owens, Miss Bevely Eastman and Mrs. Robert Cowan, were the hostesses at the latter's home for a delightfully arranged shower for Miss Ruth Binning, a popular June bride.

The already attractive living room, where the many guests were assembled, was beautifully decorated with large baskets of purple and white lilacs, intermixed with other cut flowers while in the center of the room, arranged in a realistic procession, was a minature bridal party, of the bride and her three attendants.

The secret was that concealed under each full bouffant skirt was a beautiful lamp. In all, a set of three matching boudoir lamps, and a large living room lamp. In addition, the delighted bride-to-be was presented with a lovely sandwich toaster and tray.

Miss Binning graciously thanked her friends for the gifts and also paid a touching tribute to her mother, when she expressed the pleasure she felt in having her with her, on this occasion. Mrs. Binning having motored from Connecticut, to be present at her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Arnold Thompson, in her usual pleasing manner then gave two humorous recitations, in keeping with the occasion, after which an amusing contest was enjoyed. The prize winner was Miss Cleona Miltimore. This was followed by a short skit, in the form of a radio broadcast, with Mrs. R. Phelps taking the part of the announcer, Miss Honey Moon.

A dainty lunch was then served, with Mrs. Robert Fadden and Mrs. David Binning pouring at the lace covered table, which was centered with purple iris in a low bowl, and lighted with white tapers, in silver holders.

Sherbrooke Child Drowns In River At Melbourne In View Of His Mother

A four-year-old local child drowned in full view of his mother at Melbourne yesterday afternoon.

Michel Dore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dore, Alexander Street, Sherbrooke, left a family picnic near the shores of the St. Francis River and scampered to the bank to wash his hands.

His mother went after him but by the time she had reached the shore the child had slipped off a rock into the river and disappeared. Up to 9.30 last night, when dragging operations organized by Richmond police ceased until daylight, the body of the boy had not been recovered.

The tragedy occurred at 1.45 o'clock. The distraught mother plunged into the river after the child but the swift-flowing waters had carried him away, towards Drummondville. When last seen, the body, which had come up for the third time, was in a section of the river where the depth is 20 to 30 feet. Depth at the shore where the boy fell in is about five feet.

A Mr. Cote, of Richmond, an employee of National Hosiery Mills, plunged in after the boy but couldn't reach him.

The current at this section of the river, about 1½ miles from Richmond, is stiff and the bottom of the river is full of holes. Mr. Cote had just had his lunch and couldn't stay in the water for any great length of time. About 20 persons were in the vicinity when the drowning took place.

Police Constables Rene Gagnon and Gerard Paquin, of Richmond, immediately began grappling the river for the body. The Richmond Police department has one hook and the Municipal Police of Sherbrooke sent along two more.

Five boats took part in the search until darkness forced a halt.

A crowd of 2,000 persons converged on the area and Provincial Police Traffic Officers Rene Delorme and Jean-Louis Martin were kept very busy with the heavy traffic.

Richard Kerry, 62, of Eaton Corner, some fifteen miles from Sherbrooke, was found hanged in his barn Saturday morning. The body was found by a neighbour, Noel Kingsley, who immediately notified Police authority.

Kerry had been a sick man in the past few months and he just recently was released from a Montreal hospital. The body was taken to morgue in Cookshire where a coroner's inquest will be held today by Dr. Louis Gagnon of Sherbrooke, district coroner.

Detective Homer Ruiter, of the local Provincial Police, along with traffic officers Hubert Lawrence of Bury, and Gerard Belisle of Sawyerville of the Provincial squad, conducted investigations on the scene.

Ginette Halle, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Halle, of St. Romain, was taken to the Neurological Hospital in Montreal were she underwent an operation after being struck by a car Saturday noon.

The child was struck by a car not far from her home in St. Romain around noon Saturday. She was taken to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital in Sherbrooke by Chabot Ambulance of Lambton.

Later that day she was transferred to Montreal and hospital authorities today said that her condition is as good as can be expected. She is suffering from a fractured skull and lacerations to the body.

Jean Tremblay, 21, of 1565 Belvidere street received a fractured leg when the car in which he was a passenger collided with another early Sunday morning on the Montreal-Waterloo highway. The accident occurred around 2.30 a.m. at the outskirts of Waterloo. He was taken to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital in Sherbrooke by Ledoux Ambulances of Waterloo.

Guy Lapointe, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Lapointe of 1133 Lisieux Street, suffered leg lacerations when struck by a car while riding his bicycle Saturday night.

The accident occurred at 7.30 p.m. on the Drummond Road near the city limits. The victim was taken to the Hotel Dieu by Hamel and Freres ambulance. His condition is reported as good.

Army, Navy And Air Force Veterans Held Banquet Saturday At Magog

Magog, June 15 — Members of the Dominion Command of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Canada, were guests of Magog Unit 203 at a dinner held in the New Magog Hotel on Saturday evening, the occasion being the quarterly meeting of the Command.

Local Council Meets Tonight

The final regular session of the Sherbrooke City Council until September will be held this evening. At tonight's gathering, it is expected a resolution will be passed suspending meetings for the summer months and giving the committee of the whole power to deal with the routine matters which generally occupy much of the time at regular sessions. However, special sessions may be called from time to time to deal with major items of urgent business.

The adoption of committee reports, covering purchases and the payment of accounts, is the chief item on the agenda for tonight.

Sale, Tea Held By Philatheas In Scott Hall

The Gertrude Scott Hall in Lennoxville was the scene of a largely attended and highly successful event when the members of the Philathea Society held the annual sale and salad tea. Mrs H. Worster president of the society welcomed the many tea guests and shoppers.

The hall was most inviting, being artistically decorated with huge baskets of early summer flowers in various well arranged colors, while the head table was centered with a silver basket of multi-colored phlox. Mrs. C. E. Sterling and Mrs. J. Stafford presided at the silver tea services. The small tea tables had attractive centers of pansies in silver vases.

Mrs. William Wark was in charge of the decorations and flowers were decorated by Mrs. Wark, Mrs. W. McCurdy and Mrs. R. Pariseau. Mrs. W. Wark was in charge of the tea tables and was assisted in serving by several members.

Mrs. A. Scott, who was in charge of the food bar and the arrangement of the delectable jellied salads and accompanying menu, was assisted by other members on her committee.

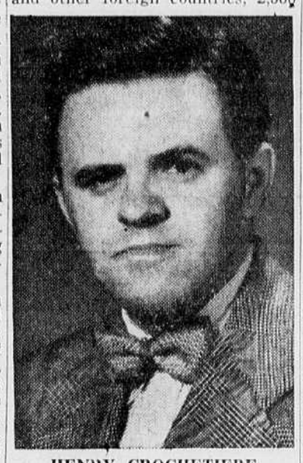

The various sales tables which were well patronized were looked after by the following members: Aprons, Mrs. W. Stanford and Mrs. R. Pariseau; fancy work, Mrs. R. Frizzell and Miss E. Taylor; baby garments, Mrs. C. H. George and Mrs. R. Suitor; food, Mrs. W. G. MacDougall and Miss M. Cote; plants, Mrs. M. Smiley and Mrs. M. Varney.

Members of the Women's Missionary Society had a table with cards for all occasions, where Mrs. W. S. Marlin and Mrs. P. Sarrissan were in charge.

More than a half million boys were aided in full or part-time projects. Optimist Clubs maintain boys' homes and ranches in 19 localities. Optimist boys' work property is valued in excess of $3,500,000 — to be augmented by proposed additional construction of $2,500,000.

Hedges of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Red Cross, Montreal, at a meeting at Headquarters where he will present honorary certificates to members in recognition of time and service given the Society over the past years.

Rebuttal Heard At Saturday Trial Sitting

"If we kept calling back witnesses already heard to testify and strengthen their evidence, this trial would never end," Mr. Justice Antonio Garneau, of Montreal, said here on Saturday during the Superior Court trial of the eight Provincial Police Officers, facing an action totalling $200,000 taken by eight miners on strike at the Canadian Johns-Manville Company, during May 1949.

The trial entered its 12th day on Saturday with the rebuttal.

Jacques Perrault, one of the three lawyers representing the plaintiffs, called five witnesses Saturday.

Two of the plaintiffs, Adelestin Lavalliere, of Thetford, and Joseph Beaudoin, of Asbestos, were heard again.

Mr. Lavalliere said that Provincial Police detectives, Charles Nadeau and Adrien Daniel, two of the defendants, mistreated him on May 6.

Leon Methot, Q.C., who with his son Jean, of Three Rivers, and Redmond Hayes, Q.C., of Sherbrooke, is defending the police, objected to further testimony by Mr. Lavalliere pertaining to his alleged abuse. Mr. Methot said that Mr. Lavalliere had testified and had mention what happened on May 6. The objection was maintained and Lavalliere did not testify further.

Lawyer Perrault made an objection that any evidence heard other than that pertaining to May 6th should not be considered. The Judge will decide the matter.

Three witnesses, Mrs. Joseph Beaudoin, wife of one of the plaintiffs, Mrs. Andre Bosse, her daughter, and Mrs. Z. Tellier, a neighbor, said that they saw Mr. Beaudoin at his home on May 5. The police had previously identified him as one of the strikers who took part in preventing the police from entering Asbestos.

Questioned by Mr. Methot Mr. Beaudoin's wife and daughter stated that they took part in the parade and that they were not at the house the entire day. Mrs. Tellier said she saw Mr. Beaudoin at a distance but could not remember what the distance was.

Mr. Beaudoin took the stand himself and said he never hit any of the police nor was he on the highway on May. 5.

Mr. Methot asked Mr. Beaudoin if it were not true that he told police in Montreal that he prevented the "scabs" from working and that he was on the highway on May 5. He said he was questioned in Montreal by the police because he gave his name as Aucoine, instead of Beaudoin.

The police identified him and another plaintiff, Gerard Chamberlain, of Thetford, as two men who swung a hammer at one of the detectives, Andre Labbe.

The trial was adjourned on Saturday until Thursday, June 18.

Closing Meeting Of Lennoxville Coronation Group

Lennoxville Coronation committee held a short business meeting under the chairmanship of J. W. Dunfield. This committee represented thirteen local French and English speaking organizations, which drew up plans for the Coronation Day celebration which was a highly successful affair.

Funds to finance this occasion were solicited from the local business firms and organizations, and some personal donations were also received, for which the committee extend their sincere thanks. These funds were used to finance prizes, field decorations, fireworks, free ice cream to all school children and pre-school age children attending, etc.

A vote of thanks was extended to Bishop's University for the use of the rugby field and to the Ross School for the Cadet band, which led the parade, and all who assisted in making the day a memorable one.

The local places of business along the parade route and private home throughout the towns were outstanding in their decoration schemes and deserve special mention and thanks.

At this closing meeting it was found that a small surplus of funds was held by the treasurer and after some discussion it was decided to call this a Dominion Day celebration fund, as the money had been given for this purpose. Plans will be made to start this celebration in Lennoxville in 1954, at which time a committee may be formed and arrangements made well in advance.

J. W. Dunfield and R. Spry will act as a committee for business purposes for the newly formed committee.

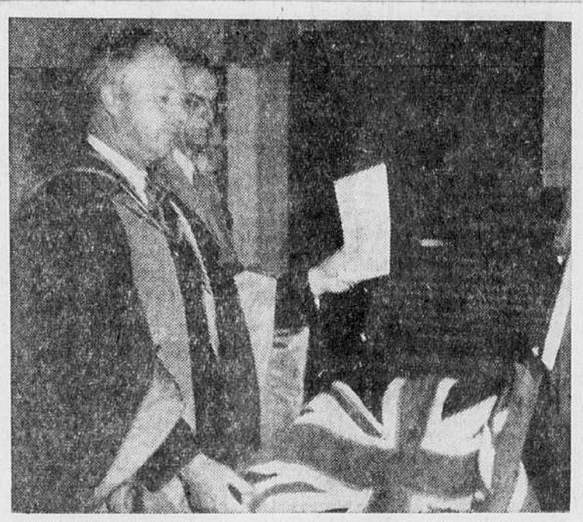

The work of the St. John Ambulance Association members, who assisted at the field, and the Lennoxville High School janitor, who assisted the dance committee, was greatly appreciated.

DON'T PESTER THE QUEEN

Queen Elizabeth is one of the busiest women in the world, even in normal times, and especially these days when she had all the fuss of the coronation, and its equally busy aftermath, almost every minute of her day being mapped out from morn till night. This causes The St. Thomas Times-Journal to comment that she has enough to do without being bothered with other than state duties just now.

But many people seized on recent events to write her personal letters pointing out that coronation day coincided with their birthdays or with their wedding anniversaries or some other family event and so they thought they would just drop her a line and extend their best wishes. Their wishes were no more sincere or more important than those of millions of other people, and why they should think the Queen would be interested in personal letters from them is difficult to understand. The probability is that they hoped the Queen herself would suspend her schedule to send personal replies signed by herself which they would frame and show to their relatives and firends, and also tell the local newspapers about. Or they might just be optimistic autograph hunters.

The Queen receives many such letters, but the likelihood is that she never sees one of them unless it be of unusual interest. They are answered by "ladies-in-waiting" who send a steretotyped reply that they are "commanded" by the Queen to thank them for their good wishes.

Some of these writers may just be precocious children, and others are put up to it by doting parents who think it would be wonderful for little Mary or little Johnny to have a letter on Buckingham Palace stationery. This is one of the penalties of being Queen which she should not be required to endure.

OF WINDS AND MEN

Rarely do the so-called forces of nature exert themselves in uglier forms than when they wrench winds together into the roaring vortex of a tornado, says The Christian Science Monitor, which continues that rarely do men exert themselves more bravely and unselfishly than when they meet the onslaught of such disasters, rescue the trapped and aid the survivors.

Within less than a month especially destructive tornadoes have swept through the very sizable cities of Waco, Texas; Flint, Mich., and Worcester, Mass., not to speak of scores of other communities where the losses appear less at a distance but appallingly big close by. The sympathy, material help, and supporting prayers of millions have been flowing toward these stricken towns — and will continue to flow, we are sure.

At such times there is always a searching about for some comprehensible cause. And news comes that a member of Congress would investigate the theory being advanced that the violence of these storms in 1953 has been occasioned by the atomic explosions on the Nevada proving grounds. As a forum for the airing of authoritative knowledge such an inquiry might be useful. Otherwise speculation of this kind can easily grow into a superstition of fear.

No one yet knows enough about either tornadoes or atomic fission to dismiss the possibility of a connection out of hand. But we doubt that many experts will give it credence. For one thing, this much is known: Tornadoes result in spring and fall from Arctic air masses overriding flows of heated tropical air. The descent of the first and the rise of the second can spin into frightfully violent whirlwinds. For another, even more destructive tornadoes have occurred long before an atomic bomb was thought of.

It is unlikely Congress will discover any quick and simple method of abolishing tornadoes — such as by not exploding A-bombs. Only a clearer and higher understanding of God's universe can bring an effective realization of their unreality. But who shall say that human intelligence, illuminated by glimpses of the Divine, cannot lead men to better ways of protecting themselves from such blind, inanimate fury?

Press Comments

DECLINE OF HEARTY BREAKFAST

Editorial in the London Times

Nothing brings out more striking the leisured tempo of the comfortable classes in the past than their addiction to entertaining one another and to table-talking at breakfast. Shelley grumbled at dinners convivial and political, suppers of epic poets, teas where small talk dies in agonies, and breakfasts professional and critical. But his more genial contemporaries — and their descendants for two or three generations — seemed to have faced with alacrity and appetite, enormous meals as soon as they got out of bed. There was no nonse about thin toast and coffee. Main table groaned under the burden of solid cold food, and the side tables had sizzling dishes of eggs and bacon, chops and kidneys. Tea and coffee urns were on parade and so, in the most hospitable houses were various decanters.

The present age, nostalgic though it is over gormandizing does not breed the men and women who could face that ordeal and at the same time hold their own in the sparkling conversation.

Changing conditions have divided the nation into two camps at breakfast. The ascetic and the trappist one holds that silence is golden at that hours. The degenerate survivors of the old tradition are ready to exchange desultory comment on the news and to tackle a small square meal.

But all are agreed that home is the best place to be in before the day's work begins. An invitation to a breakfast party, even at the week-end, would no longer be generally welcomed.

As for grappling with affairs of state while chins are still feeling the razor, it must surely be a relief to living politicians that Mr. Churchill has not revived the practice most loyal champions argue, is the meal that follows the longest fast and comes before the longest spell of toil in the day. They treat in with qualified seriousness and others enjoy, when they get the chance, lingering over eggs and bacon.

MISUSE OF TELEVISION

Ottawa Journal

The British Broadcasting Corporation made available to television chains in the United States films of the Coronation, and free of charge. The understanding was that they would not be interlarded with commercial "plugs," so far as ceremonies with Westminster Abbey were concerned, and that the films of the street processions would be treated with discretion.

Apparently this agreement was not kept, at least ont by all the American TV chains. British newspapers have reports that one station in the U. S. introduced a chimpanzee for advertising purposes during the showing of the Abbey service; that another cut in an advertisement of a deodorant just before the Queen received her Bible. And there are other reports of vulgar and tasteless advertising interpolated into this moving chronicle of a solemn religious ceremony.

The BBC is looking into the situation with a view to a protest, for what little satisfaction that may bring. But there is no assurance in such a protests that this sort of thing will not be done again by commercial television.

What happened was, of course ,that some radio stations were unable to resist the opportunity of making a profit out of the Coronation film, and there is always that risk when TV and radio are controlled and managed by private interests — the danger that discretion and good taste will be trampled under foot in the rush to fatten the cash box.

The incident demonstrates again that in this matter of public communications, as in television and radio, it is unsafe to put control entirely in private hands — the profit motive may introduce a discordant note.

Here, as in the United Kingdom, our standards are higher. It is incredible, for example, that any Canadian TV station would have inserted a piece of advertising in the film of the movingly solemn communion service of the Coronation.

GLASGOW BUYS TRAMS

Edinburgh Scotsman

A recommendation that Glasgow Corporation should purchase 24 tramcars from Liverpool, where the tramway system is being scrapped, has been put forward by the Transport Committee.

The cost will be £500 each, with an addition of £100 per tram to adapt them to Glasgow's needs. This compares with an estimated £10,000 for a new tramcar.

The vehicles are 17 years old, and are believed to have a life of about 20 more years.

BITTEN BY MAD DOG

Calgary Herald

Two Calgary people of the Forest Lawn district, one of them a twelve-year-old girl, are now undergoing the complicated and painful Pasteur innoculation treatment because of having rabies.

The dog may or may not have rabies, but under present circumstances the only possible course to pursue it to treat these unfortunate people. It is not a pleasant treatment.

Throughout Alberta so far, more than 50 people have been advised to take the Pasteur innoculation as a safeguard because they have been bitten by animals which might or might not be suffering this dreadful disease.

A DOG'S EDUCATION

Brockville Recorder and Times

A dog of the countryside has a lot to learn from puppyhood on to full growth.

Man can teach him a lot: housebreak him, teach him not to molest domestic animals and property, and instruct him in obeying orders and guarding against the dangers of traffic, and in responding to his name. But even then a countryside dog is only partially educated.

He cannot be considered to have achieved his "degree" until he has been indoctrinated in two of Nature's stiffest tests, the first a bout wih a skunk and he second a tangle with a porcupine. Then, and only then, does a dog really know something.

MORAL OF A BLACKBIRD

Sault Ste. Marie Star

A baby blackbird fell out of a nest and was rescued by a nine-year-old California school girl. It has since become so thoroughly domesticated that now, at six weeks old, it takes a hand, helping or otherwise, in the little girl's homework, and in general is described as "practically ruling the roost" in the household which adopted it, or vice verse, as the bird seems to view things.

One of the most striking features of its adjustment to a new life, however, is revealed by the comment that "the poor bird would starve" if its young benefactress didn't "cut up her worms and serve them on a plate."

There seems to be a moral in this somewhere, but no doubt only a reactionary would dwell on it.

BAD NEWS FOR WIVES

Edmonton Journal

That latter-day Solomon the income tax appeal board, has many awkward problems to settle.

A Toronto business man appealed his assessment, claiming a deduction for his wife's expenses in accompanying him to conventions of his industry. The board held that he was entitled to deduct his own expenses, but not his wife's. The reasoning presumably was that attendance at certain conventoins is essential for a business executive, and therefore should be considered a necessary expense in earning his living; but there is no such economic justification for his wife to along.

This is perfectly logical, but the net effect will be give husbands another excuse for not taking their wives to the annual get-together — and one that will be hard to answer. "I'd love to take you, dear, but you know you're not deductible, and with th cost of living what it is. . . ."

Rhee Is Simple, Direct Man, But Stubborn In His Ideals

(World attention is focussed on strong-willed 78-year-old President Syngman Rhee of South Korea because of his adamant stand against a truce that would leave his war-wrecked country divided. What sort of a man is he and what is his background? Here are some of the answers):

Seoul — AP — Allied troops re-occupied Seoul in September, 1950, after landing at Inchon and routing the North Korean Reds. A throng of Koreans gathered in the battered capital city to hear an address by their white-haired president, Syngman Rhee.

It was a momentous occasion for the little man who had endured prison torture and 33 years of exile in his long fight against monarchists, Japanese militarists and now the Communists. Many present expected a dramatic, spine-tingling speech from the leathery - skinned graduate of Harvard and Princeton Universities.

Rhee said: "We have returned to our beloved city. Now let's get the stink out of the streets and get some trees on those mountains."

The incident illustrated several points in the character of the 78-year-old president. He is a simple, direct man with no apparent affections, but stubborn in persisting for what he believes is best for Korea.

He is a passionate lover of trees and flowering things. He has a mania for sanitation.

Today, in the midst of the armistice crisis, he still is exhorting Seoul residents at least once each week to clean up and plant.

His love is for a country in which he was born under a monarchy March 26, 1875; which threw him in prison when, as a Methodist mission convert, he tried to stir up the spirit of democracy; and from which he was eéiled, fleeing for his life soon after the Japanese took control in 1910.

He returned to Korea in 1945 after Japan's defeat only to be caught up shortly in a war which kept him moving in and out of Seoul as its fortunes swayed.

Rhee lives in a fine-concrete-and-tile mansion on a Seoul hillside. He spends many waking hours in its spreading, beautiful gardens.

When Gen. Mark Clark flew to Seoul recently for an urgent conference over Rhee's bitter opposition to a truce with the Reds, they held their meeting in the "garden office."

While talking with important guests, Rhee is apt to stop his conversation momentarily while walking over to pull up a weed. He prunes his own trees and hedges and attends to his flowers and shrubs daily.

After a 6 a.m. arising and a light breakfast, Rhee reads newspapers for an hour and then sketches Chinese characters on paper with a brush dipped in heavy black ink. His characters spell out such mottoes as "respect Heaven and love humans."

At 8:30 a.m., he goes to a large pond and feeds bread and rice to more than 100 goldfish.

Then he walks to his office and receives reports on the war. He consults with his ministers. By 9:30 a.m., he is back in the garden receiving visitors and giving instructions to his secretaries.

Just before noon, he sits down to his typewriter to bang out personal letters or statements. Often they are appeals to his people to plant trees, use coal instead of wood for cooking and heating.

Rhee deplores the barren hills of Korea. He flies often to the battlefront in light army planes, scanning the terrain closely.

"On several occasions, President Rhee has discovered tree or brush fires during his trips," said his secretary, Chang Ki Bong. "On each occasion the president made note of the exact location and sent out fire fighters immediately."

At 12:30 p.m. daily, Rhee lunches with his Austrian-born wife, Francesca, 20 years his junior, whom he wed in 1934. He eats what he likes, including chicken, fish, beef and pork. He prefers Western food but occasionally eats rice and some Korean dishes.

After receiving visitors from 2 to 4 p.m. and a 7 p.m. dinner, he listens to the radio. Before retiring, Rhee opens his Christian Bible and reads passages aloud to himself and his wife.

London — (AP) — The powerful slipstream of an airliner warming up near offices and waiting rooms at London airport swept the roof off a customs building. The roofing fell into a public enclosure and injured two women.

Loughborough, Eng. — (AP) — Resident here found bluebells in their gardens had turned red; tulips were purple and the grass and leaves were brown. Fruit trees were ruined. The cause was a "rain" of sulphuric acid from an explosion in a chemical works.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

HERE'S WHEN NOT TO DRAW TRUMPS

The bidding in today's hand was very easy. South had a sound opening bid with 13 points in high cards and 2 points for the singleton. North had an excellent double raise with strong four-card trump support, 11 points in normal high-card strength, 1 point extra for the king of South's bid suit, and 2 points for the singleton.

The double raise showed strong trump support in a hand that counts from 13 to 17 points, and in this case North's total count was 14 points.

South was not really tempted to try for a slam. He had a minimum opening bid, and it was very unlikely that the combined count was even close to 33 points. Hence South contended himself with bidding game, and North naturally had to accept this decision.

The play should have been every bit as simple as the bidding, but South found a way to be set. The hand is worth a second look because it is a type that you often encounter in actual play.

West opened the five of hearts, and dummy won with the ace. South immediately drew three rounds of trumps and then looked around for new worlds to conquer.

Unfortunately, he had already conquered himself. There was now only one trump left in dummy, and South had three losing diamonds in his hand. It was obviously impossible to ruff his three diamonds with dummy's one trump, and South wound up losing three clubs and two diamonds.

An experienced and expert declarer would foresee as soon as the dummy appeared that he would have to ruff some losing diamonds in the dummy. Such a declarer would therefore carefully refrain from drawing trumps.

This can be stated as a general rule for the guidance of inexperienced bridge players: Study the dummy to see whether or not you need to ruff your losing cards with dummy's trumps. If you need ruffs of this kind, don't draw trumps; if if you don't need ruffs of this kind, do draw trumps.

	NORTH 15 ♠ K 9 7 6 ♥ A Q 9 7 3 ♦ 9 ♣ Q 8 7
WEST ♠ 3 ♥ 5 4 2 ♦ K 10 7 6 3 ♣ K 4 3 2		EAST ♠ 5 4 2 ♥ K J 10 8 ♦ J 8 2 ♣ A J 9
	SOUTH (D) ♠ A Q J 10 8 ♥ 6 ♦ A Q 5 4 ♣ 10 6 5

Both sides vul.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♥ 5

Following this rule, declarer should win the firt trick in dummy with the ace of hearts, cash the ace of diamonds, and ruff a diamond in dummy. He returns to his hand by ruffing a heart in order to ruff a second diamond in dummy.

Then South gets to his own hand once more by ruffing a heart in order to ruff his last diamond in dummy. Now South can cheerfully give up three club tricks but cannot lose the game contract.

CARD SENSE

Q—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Heart	2 Diamonds	?

You, South, hold: Spades 7-5, Hearts K J-5-4-2, Diamond 6, Clubs K-7-6-5-2. What do you do?

A—Bid four hearts. This triple raise shows about the same trick-taking power as the double raise, but it shows that a good part of the strength is distributional rather than in high cards. Partner is warned that you have a maximum of about 8 points in high cards.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 7-5-3-2, Hearts K-J-5, Diamond 6, Clubs A-K-J-5-2. What do you do?

JACOBY ON CANASTA

SHOWING HAND VIOLATES ETHICS

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"I have a peculiar problem for you," writes a Pittsburgh correspondent. "The discard pile was frozen. My opponent asked his partner why she didn't make a canasta so that she could go out.

"To prove his point, he exposed his hand, which consisted of three kings. At her next turn his partner placed a meld of kings on the table, and out he went.

"It seems to us that there should be a penalty for playing this way, but we can find nothing in the rules that covers this. What should be done?"

This is both an easy and a difficult question to answer. There is no real penalty for this sort of shenanigans, because it is an offense against the ethics of the game rather than against the laws.

Every canasta player in the world knows that he is not supposed to show his hand to his partner. Even the most inexperienced canasta player knows that he is supposed neither to tell his partner what to do nor to show his hand in order to indicate his wishes.

What sort of player would deliberately do what he knows to be wrong? Either a player who cares nothing about rules or a player who is so hopping mad that he cannot think straight at the moment.

This is an easy problem to solve if your player just doesn't care about rules and is determined to break them when it suits his purpose. You read him the riot act and warn him that you simply won't play cards with him unless he mends his ways. You might even have to carry out this threat.

If the player was so exasperated that he completely lost his head, you have a difficult problem to solve. The laws of the game do not give an adequate penalty for this particular offense. (According to the laws, the defender's cards are exposed, and he must either meld them or discard them at his succeeding turns to play. Since the offender is delighted to meld them at his next turn, this is no penalty at all.)

When a player loses his temper he should be willing to apologize and to make amends. This is the general practice among noncard players as well as among card players. In other words, you have a problem in behavior and human relations, not a problem in the laws of canasta.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

SHORT STORY

Secret Of the Locket

By EDWARD LEE

3-Minute Fiction

Silas Henbury, wedged into a chair tilted against the counter, was slipping into his regular afternoon snooze when the door opened. The customer was an elderly woman.

Silas rose and the chair creaked its relief. He clumped behind the counter and said: "Good evening, ma'am. Something I can do for you?"

"Wh-why, yes, I suppose so. At least I hope so."

"Anything within reason. That's why I'm called 'Uncle Silas.' My customers are just like relatives to me."

"That makes it easier. I never had to pawn anything before. But . . ."

Her voiced trailed into silence. Silas knew that when she continued, throughout her story would run the same theme as countless others to which he had listened during his 40 years in the pawnbroker business. He nodded his head encouragingly.

"This gold locket," she said, unfolding her hands to reveal the trinket, "was presented to me by my husband when we were married. No matter how often we moved trying to better our circumstances, they never improved. After his death last year things became worse. I sold most of my valuables. But this . . . I just couldn't. I only want a loan on this locket, for some day I shall redeem it.

"A woman wouldn't stay married 40 years unless she loved her husband a great deal," Silas said.

"But to every pawn shop I've gone, they refuse to lend me any money. They say it is not valuable enough to be held as security.

"We'll soon see," said Silas. He lightly scratched the surface of the locket with a penknife. Into that shallow furrow he let fall a few drops of acid, then shook his head as a greenish tinge appeared, saying: "I'm sorry, but this locket's only value is as a keepsake. It's tin."

The woman looked bewildered. "I . . . I can't understand it. There must be some mistake. Look here," she directed, unfastening the trinket. Its two heart-shaped halves swung open and she pointed to meal that encircled two miniature portraits. "See how bright and solid that is?"

"That photograph favors you, ma'am, even though it was taken when you were younger."

"Forty years younger, to be exact, when I was married. The opposite one is of my husband. It favors him, too."

"I'm sure it does. Looks like he was a fine man."

"He was. Folks said he was unreliable and irresponsible. I suppose Henry was, in a way. But they were his faults."

"Pardon my asking, but you loved him a great deal?"

"Yes, and I still do," she answered. Then, regarding him with a quizzical look, said: "Why did you ask?"

"Well, I just kind of thought a woman wouldn't stay married 40 years unless she loved her husband a great deal."

"You make me feel noble," she replied. "Now, concerning this locket."

Her words recalled Silas to the business at hand. He said: "I was mistaken. The inside was what convinced me."

Silas gave her the mony she requested and closed the deal. Her fervent thanks made him glad that he had gone through with the deception.

For, he had recognized Agnes Trumbull's picture. That was how she had looked when she had rejected him to marry his cousin, Henry, whose photograph appeared in the locket's other half.

Silas had known Henry was unreliable and irresponsible but he did not criticize him to her. Leaving home, he had never written or returned. Thus Silas had lost all track of Henry and Agnes until tonight when he had recognized her picture in the locket.

Silas knew Agnes still loved Henry and would be hurt to learn the truth. And Silas still loved her so much that he had created a certain way to insure her remaining ignorant of Henry's deception. That was, to advance so large an amount on the locket that she would never be able to redeem it.

DOGS USED IN MINE RESCUES

Experiments in use of dogs for mine rescue work are being conducted in Great Britain. The experiments were prompted by successful use of royal air force police dogs in the Whitehaven, Cumberland, mine disaster of August, 1947, in which 104 miners were killed. The dogs used in the catastrophe were Alsatians, but a ministry of fuel spokesman pointed out that the breed need not necessarily be used. The dogs' job is to locate buried or trapped miners, not to drag them out.

Last Ditch Battle For Rosenbergs

Washington — (AP) — Pleaders for the lives of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, condemned to die as atom spies Thursday, fought last-ditch battles today at the White House and the United States Supreme Court.

The street in front of the White House Sunday night teemed with thousands of placard-bearing demonstrators, including the Rosenbergs' brown-eyed sons, Michael, 10, and Robert, 6, who brought another letter to President Eisenhower.

The Supreme Court, which has refused three times to review the case, was scheduled to rule today on an appeal filed Saturday to stay the Rosenbergs' execution set for three days hence.

If it should grant a stay of execution and agreed to review the case, the lives of the husband and wife would be spared at least until a final decision next fall or winter.

If not they must die in Sing Sing's electric chair Thursday night, unless the President grants them clemency.

"There is no question about it if we are denied a stay," said the Rosenbergs' lawyer, Emmanuel H. Bloch. "We will try again for executive clemency."

Eisenhower refused their last request last Feb. 11, saying the crime of which they were convicted involved betrayal of their country. The President said they had a fair trial.

It is upon this point that the Supreme Court appeal is based. Counsel for the condemned couple argues new evidence has been found and contends they were the victims of false testimony at the trial.

The White House demonstration was arranged by "the national committee to secure justice in the Rosenberg case," which picketed the White House on two other occasions last winter, but in smaller numbers.

The committee estimated Sunday's crowd at between 10,000 to 13,000, most of them from out of town. Police said the actual count of marchers came to 6,832.

After the Rosenberg boys presented their letter to a White House gaurd, the marchers moved to the Mall on Constitution avenue. There they held a 45-minute prayer meeting.

Michael said he had written the letter himself, just as he had his earlier one to Eisenhower. When asked for comment by newspaper men, he replied slowly:

"What I said is in the letter to the President. I do not desire to comment further."

"I wrote a letter that I hope you got. I am in Washington today with my brother Robby six-years-old and my grandmother. She took me to the White House and I am bringing this letter to you. Then we will go home. I hope you got my letter that I sent because it is a letter about not letting anything happen to my mommy and daddy. Very truly yours, Michael Rosenberg."

CANADA'S GROWTH

tion of truth and faith.

"It is also evident proof that Christian charity has the power of bringing closer all open-heated human beings who are deeply interested in moral beauty and also prepared to forget their differences in view of finding what could join them in pursuing the same idcal.

"What is of the utmost importance to me in connection with Bishop's University and what I admire the most in its history is its faithfulness in maintaining tenaciously the primacy of spiritual values. By so doing, Bishop's University becomes a very valuable asset for Canada and is helping a great deal in building a genuine Christian civilization in our country."

Mr. Muir, whose banking career commenced in his native Scotland at the tender age of 15, told the graduating class that their experience of convocation never fell to his lot for he never had the chance to go to university himself, he being the second speaker of the day (Sir Archibald Nye was the first) to have confessed to not having attended a university.

Said Mr. Muir: "You can sense, however, something of my emotions today. If when I landed as an immigrant on these shores someone had told me that one day I should be honored as I have been today, and that I should be privileged to address even briefly the graduating class of this fine old university, I should have considered even the thought of it as utter fantasy."

What the students have gained, Mr. Muir said, carries with it a greater debt to society and greater responsibility. He urged that the students not think him dogmatic in saying that they are not yet completely educated, that they have been taught only to use their minds and talents, and success depends upon advantageous use of minds and talents plus hard work, sacrifice and unflinching application to the job.

"Ability and knowledge of the routine sort are easy for business to obtain are personality, salesmanship and leadership: all these are vital attributes of people who have the unquestioned ability to get along with their fellowmen and to bring the very best out of them.

"Because of the training given your minds in this University, it should be easier for you to acquire more rapidly the needed knowledge that others but you will have to work hard at it nevertheless."

In the Chancellor's address, Mr. Bassett commented on how great an achievement was the setting up of a university in the new world and receiving of the charter seven years later. Even the great Bishop Mountain had his doubts in those early years.

He had, as he said, to admit that "Lennoxville is a new place and is considered to partake of the rough character of the woods."

The task of founding a university in the new world, Mr. Bassett said, was one demanding the utmost in faith and action—a task beset with problems and difficulties.

"But back of all these human problems," he said, "and back of the greater and massive problems of finance and organization lay the faith of the founders of Bishop's—the faith that the future would come to their side as a friend and ally. They knew well the new troubles would come and that one problem would be solved only to raise another. But they never looked into the eyes of the future as into the eyes of an implacable enemy.

"They had the inner assurance that if they played their own part truly and well, the years to come would work together for the great cause that they had at heart, and that when their time of service and work was done, they could rest, knowing that others would go on building, where their hands must leave off.

"Let the celebration of this 100th anniversary be one of the spirit and one of thanks to Almighty God for those men who in pursuit of a dream travelled the trackless paths of suffering, sacrifice and sorrow, and ate the bread of weariness, trial and disappointment. We need all the more to have faith in the graciousness of the future because we live in an age when many would seek to destroy such faith within us. We are told on all sides that no one knows what the future may bring forth. There has grown up a dismal fellowship of the despondent. Hopelessness is almost beginning to assume in our age the character of a self-satisfied righteousness.

"The world, we are told, is full of frightening possibilities, the mortal sin of our modern Pharisees. Only the foolish, we are told, would seek to build for the future, when that future is sinister in its uncertainty.

"But this attitude, of once adopted, can wither everything within us that makes life worth the living. For life can never become for us merely a matter of daily testing the strength of our bomb-shelters. We must live in the faith that the future is still ample enough to stand and endure, as the mansion of our vastest hopes and labors."

Assisting in the presentation of prizes were the recipients of honorary degrees and members of the teaching faculty of the University. Among those in the procession were: Mayor L. M. Watson, Lennoxville, Mayor Emile Levesque, Sherbrooke; Hon. J. S. Bourque, Rev. L. M. Outerbridge, Ph.D., Most Rev. Philip Carrington, Lord Archbishop of Quebec, who made the Invocation, Rt. Rev. John Dixon, Lord Archbishop of Montreal, Col. A. A. Munster, Chief Justice W. B. Scott, Mr. Justice William Mitchell, Archdeacon Albert Jones, Alfred Penhale, Dr. W. A. Mather, John Molson, president of the Corporation, and other members of the Corporation.

Dr. Molson, on behalf of the Corporation of Bishop's, unveiled a memorial plaque in honor of the late industrialist and philanthropist Harry A. Norton who, for 21 years, was a member of the University's board of trustees and one of the most generous benefactors of Bishop's.

Bishop Wright preached the sermon at the special service in the morning and Convocation Day concluded with a garden party for the large number of visitors who had crowded the Memorial Gymnasium almost to capacity.

CAMBODIAN RULER

They said all major Cambodian demands already had been satisfied and the king only three weeks ago had told France's high commissioner, Jean Letourneau, "there remain some points to settle but they are only of secondary importance."

These sources said this referred to negotiations now under way aimed at granting Cambodia and the two other associated states of Indo-China, Laos and Viet Nam, increased independence.

French observers said France would have to take steps to avoid trouble in the kingdom if Norodom did not return. They suggested two possible solutions:

1. Depose the king and install his uncle, Prince Monireth, who is next in line for the throne;

2. Set up a regency under Princess Soutamarith, the king's mother.

French sources who know the Cambodian royal family said the king had been greatly affected by the recent death of his three-year-old daughter. They described him as a devout Buddhist who considers he is under divine direction to obtain Cambodia's independence.

Light drizzle fell over most of northeastern Alberta and throughout Saskatchewan during the weekend and more rain was predicted over the entire fire front today.

The 1,000 residents of McMurray-Waterways were prepared to flee when rain swept the area. However, the hazard still was high with flames within four miles of the towns and one fire at Waterways still out of control.

Most damage was expected in Saskatchewan's Lac La Ronge district, 150 miles north of Prince Albert. A fire at Portage la Roche, just within the Saskatchewan boundary east of McMurray, had burned through more than 20,000 acres.

Fires in northern Manitoba were not considered too serious but rain was needed badly. No fires were reported in southern Manitoba, as was the case in southern regions of Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The June meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. H. Purdy, at Waterloo, with Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. C. Young, Mrs. H. Ashton and Mrs. Paul Jones for the joint hostesses. The roll call, "My favorite proverb," was answered by nineteen members and two visitors. Mrs. C. Mairs presided with the secretary, Mrs. D. Martin reading the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. Sicard gave the financial standing and reported donations amounting to $11. She also gave a report of the Leadership Training Course, which she had attended at Macdonald College, in Ste. Anne de Bellevue. A fine report of the County meeting held at Granby and attended by 17 of our members, was given by Mrs. Marcotte. The guest speaker, Dr. Rita Bels, formerly of Holland, was introduced by Mrs. Mairs and gave a most interesting talk on her native land. On closing a hearty vote of thanks was expressed by Miss Kilton. Following the adjournment, a salad tea was served by the hostesses. The July meeting is to be entertained by Mrs. Henry Jones, at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Purdy, of Regina, Sask., and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Purdy, of Waterloo, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Marcotte.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Muncey, of Montreal, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Marcotte and daughter, Barbara.

LT.-COL. LOUIS

curity in 1953 as compared with 1½ millions in 1867, one billion for social security and greatly improved public services, the Liberal government had reduced the national debt substantially since the war and had effected sweeping reductions in taxation. Newfoundland had also been brought into confederation by the Liberals, he continued.

The Conservatives, he said, lacked a record, a policy or a tradition. They were content to promise to do whatever the Liberals did, to expand upon it but at the same time to cut taxes.

A few years ago, Hon. George Drew had condemned family allowances but now said he would double them. This was typical of Conservative double-talk.

He denied that the federal social security program menaced provincial, municipal or individual authority.

"Is the autonomy of the parents endangered by receiving the family allowances, is the autonomy of the old folks undermined by the old age pensions, are the chancellors of the universities in fear and trembling because of the federal grants they receive, such as the $26,000 recently given to Bishop's?" he asked.

Kenneth MacKay, of Montreal, said the Liberals had a national policy, while the Conservatives appealed to provincial prejudices and preached a "me-too" policy.

"Their policy is negatives and useless," he concluded.

Operations At New Asbestos Mill Underway

St. Adrien de Ham, June 15.—The inauguration of the latest and most efficient asbestos milling plant in the world takes place here this afternoon in the presence of company officials when the Dominion Asbestos Mines, Ltd., mill, designed by R. A. Denovan, commences its break-in period at 2,200 tons daily capacity, which will be shortly stepped up over 4,000 tons daily.

The mill will derive its ore from indicated reserves of some 23,000,000 tons with an average asbestos content of 7 per cent as estimated by Professor Raymond LeBlanc, Montreal, the company's consulting engineer, providing over 35 years supply of ore at the maximum capacity of the new plant. Company officials predict that net profit of some $4.05 per ton, being equivalent to $1.60 per share of present listed stock of the company, is likely to be realized from operation of the new mill.

Company officials and engineers will be present today at the commencement of operations of the new $2,000,000 plant, which has been under construction for over a year, and incorporates many entirely new patents and asbestos milling refinements developed in the Province of Quebec, including the new Denovan sycopator, the only one of its type in operation in the world.

Following the inaugural test period, when the mill is running at capacity, shareholders, government officials, financial and trade interests will be reperesented at an official opening ceremony and inspection tour which is to be announced in the near future by H. H. McGee, president of Dominion Asbestos Mines Ltd.

Home And School Program Report

"Education for World Understanding,' the theme of the 1953 conference of the Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation, Inc., held the week of May 31 to June 6 in the Physical Sciences Building of McGill University, could be used to advantage throughout the Eastern Townships by program planning committees throughout the coming year.

The vital part all Home and Schoolers must take in the world crisis was dynamically put across by all speakers, discussants and audiences of the convention sent us back to our branches with no doubt about our duty and responsibility. Our aim to help ALL children and not ours alone—makes our mission one that cannot be neglected.

John Fisher, CBC commentator, in his talk entitled "One Spot," was most forceful in his attack on us as Anglo-Saxons with set ideals and customs. The advantages of learning to live and respect the habits and customs of others was pointed out by the story of the Canadian who was fed roast monkey while guest of another country. A great delicacy to his host but he had trouble keeping it down. Mr. Fisher's presentation of the theme was delightfully humorous.

The following night at the banquet when Mrs. Newton P. Leonard, president of National Congress of Parent and Teachers, U.S.A., was the guest speaker, her message left no doubt in our minds that time was running out and that it was in the homes and by parents that children learned respect for others. "That child is fortunate who is born into a home where father and mother believe in the brotherhood of man," said Mrs. Leonard. "It is not difficult to sense prejudice on the part of parents, respect for others is instilled in home, reinforced in the school and put into practice in the community," continued Mrs. Leonard. The Rose Room at the Windsor Hotel took on a hush that was profoundly felt with cerebrations of unusual depth.

The reception given by the Montreal School Board afforded an opportunity for Home and Schoolers from distant provinces — like Prince Edward Island to British Columbia—to get together and get acquainted as well as renew old acquaintances.

"The School Education Workshop", by Dr. J. A. B. McLeish, chaired by Mrs. B. C. Silver, at which Dr. Winspear, Dr. Kilpatrick, Dr. Harold Grant participated—lacked nothing in providing the know-how for improving existing conditions. As Dr. McLeish summarized, after very enthusiastic buzz session reports had been given, "It is a question of values."

"Group Discussion Techniques"—chaired by Mrs. Ernest Evans at which the speaker was Mr. D. L. Tough, principal of Forest Hill Village School, Toronto, brought program planners good pointers of what not to do as well as do.

The speakers and executive taking part from the Eastern Townships and Quebec province were praiseworthy, to mention a few, Mr. Robert Flood, president, Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards, did a "second to none" job in my estimation as a discussant in "Four Partners in Education." As for the talk given by Miss Hazel Sinclair, principal of St. George's School, Quebec City, I am convinced that if she could give more time to presenting her point of view as a teacher, the teacher shortage would be greatly relieved.

collector's items

Have you any old records in the attic? Better look them over. If you find a recording of Jenny Lind among them, it may be worth $500 or more. The famous Swedish Nightingale is supposed to have made just one recording, so future generations could hear her voice. But nobody knows where it is.

Collecting old and rare records is a mushrooming hobby these days, and collectors are willing to pay fancy prices for some of the more out-of-the-way discs. A New York advertising executive decided ten years ago to get every record ever made by Bing Crosby. He believes he's done just that, and all it cost him was $25,000.

So start digging in the attic! You may find a record of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig chatting about baseball, made in 1927 and sold then for 10 cents. It's worth $35 now. On the longhair side, a disc of the great Caruso singing La Donna E Mobile and marketed by Zonophone around 1902 may bring you a cool hundred dollars.

If you draw a blank in the attic, you can always turn for consolation to a record that's a real treasure — the record set by Molson's Ale, acclaimed by connoisseurs in the province of Quebec and adjacent territory since 1786. To the man who likes to collect pleasant moments as he journeys through life, Molson's is indeed a collector's item. Fortunately it's easy to track down; in fact, Molson's is everywhere. For mellow, sparkling refreshment, just tell the man, "Make Mine Molson's".

Clyde Thomas Hurls Two-Hitter To Blank Miners 1-0

Drives Home Winning Run In Ninth To Win Own Game; Indians Edged Out In Other Two; Granby Here Tuesday

"Lefty" Clyde Thomas of Sherbrooke came within one inning of entering baseball's charmed circle last night when he tossed a two-hitter to shut out Thetford Mines at the Municipal Stadium before 1,619 fans.

Thomas had a no-hit, no-run going into the top half of the ninth when Irwin drove out a single and then Beverly came up with a fielder's choice to force his mate. Mann connected for another single but Bob Diers came up with a beautiful throw to nip Beverly at third when he tried to stretch it. "Windy" Hall killed the rally when he picked Mann off at third.

In the lower half of the frame Castro was tossed out at first. O'Donnell walked and stole second base. Del Gaudio went out to short left. Hall was given a free ticket and Clyde Thomas won his own game when he lashed out his second single of the evening sending Bob O'Donnell home with the winning run.

It was a pitcher's duel the whole way with Thomas holding the upper hand. He faced only twenty-eight men and had perfect control. He retired four at the plate and gave up only one walk.

Beverly, his opponent, had a little more trouble. He walked five men, of which one proved to register as the winning run. He accounted for two at the plate as the locals got hits in the third and fourth, and the last four innings. Good fielding on the part of his mates helped him to no account. Jack Waters and Jack Castro smashed out doubles for the only extra base hits of the evening.

In the two other tilts played at Thetford the Indians were edged out twice, each time in the last of the ninth. On Saturday evening they were leading 10-8 but the Miners rallied for three runs to win. On Sunday afternoon it was the same story as the Indians were ahead 3-2 only to lose out in the last frame.

This evening the Indians move to St. Hyacinthe to play a postponed game while tomorrow evening they return home to be hosts to the Phillies of Granby in a regular scheduled fixture at 8.00. Manager May has nominated Danny Osinski for duty tonight in St. Hyacinthe against the A's.

On Thursday night the Indians will play their first doubleheader at the local park when they will entertain the Phillies of Granby commencing at 6.30. Next Sunday will be Father's Day at the park and all men entering the stand will be handed cigars by the executive of the Sherbrooke club.

American Race Driver Killed

Le Mans, France — (AP) — Tom Cole, a daring, 24-year-old driver from Sayville, N.Y., was killed Sunday as a British team won the 24-hour Le Mans endurance race with a record-smashing performance.

Cole cracked up in his four-litre Ferrari at 6:20 a.m. on the hazardous Maison Blanche curve of the 8.38-mile course. In sixth place at the time, Cole cut too close into the turn and slipped into a shallow gully. Coming out his rear end whipped around and hit a small barrier, causing him to lose control of his car.

Eye witnesses said he was thrown from his open two-seater and died instantly when he hit the ground. His partner, Luigi Chinetti, an Italian-born American, was resting in the pits at the time.

Britain's Tony Rolt and C. Duncam Hamilton won the endurance classic in a Jaguar with British teams in other Jaguars taking second and fourth place.

GM DIESEL POWER AND MUSSENS SERVICE FOR UNGAVA ORE TRUCKS

The Iron Ore Company of Canada needed hard slugging power that could pull a 34-ton payload of iron ore at around 30 miles per hour. They also needed service to keep the loads rolling day after day under adverse conditions. They chose General Motors Diesel power and Mussens service.

The Company's fleet of 12 Euclid Model IFFD Dump Trucks, shown above being serviced by Mussens Canada Limited, are powered by two GM 6-71 engines. Each drives a rear axle through torque converter and Torqmatic transmission. And of course, the GM 2-stroke principle makes the engines smaller than any other diesel of equal horsepower.

This is just one of the hundreds of jobs which the GM Diesel—Mussens team does better, more economically, and more profitably. If you are interested in making higher profits through the use of efficient power and experienced service, write for our free literature today.

Elliott has played in 48 games so far and is batting .258.

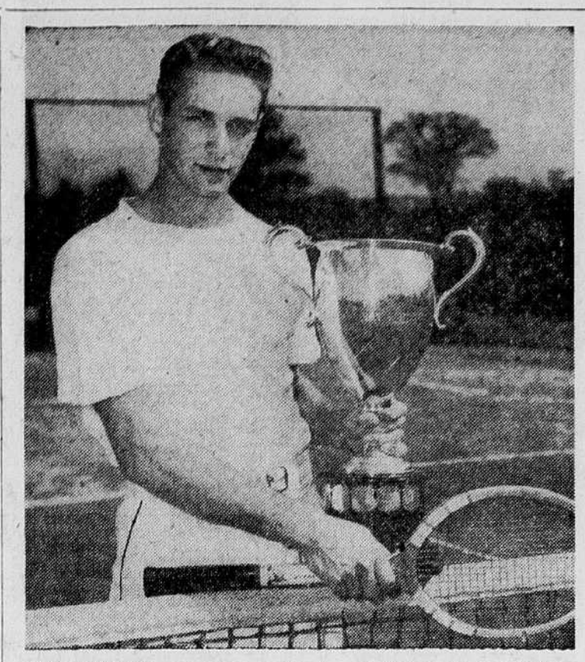

Both Kretlow and Johnson have been with the Browns before.

The amount of cash involved was not announced.

Bill Harris Hurls Perfect Game For Memphis Chicks

Memphis, Tenn.— (AP) —Mobile pitcher Bill Harris became the fourth player in Southern Association baseball history to hurl a perfect game when he stopped Memphis Chicks 1-0 in a seven-inning second contest of a twin-bill here Sunday.

Harris personally speared the only ball which threatened to become a hit as he racked up the first no-hit, no-walk, no-run game in the Southern Association since 1917. Only four other pitchers have turned the trick in the league's history.

Harris, a 22-year-old resident of Moncton, N.B., compiled the lowest earned run average in organized baseball last year with an average of 0.89 for Miami of the Florida International League. He won 25 and lost six for Miami.

Memphis defeated Mobile 12-5 in the first game of the doubleheader.

Yanks Beat Indians Twice To Move Clean Sweep Of Series; Braves Move Back In Lead With Double Victory

Unless Al Lopez is an incurable optimist who wears rose-colored glasses even in the dark, he could do worse than give his Cleveland Indians a little talk today, something like this:

"We've tried everything to beat those Yanks, but whatever we do, they manage to go us one better. When we streak, they put together a better streak. When we have the pitching, they manage to get the big blow to beat us. When we have the hitting, they outslug us. Let's concentrate on nailing down second place this year and give it another whirl in 1954."

Until a week ago, Lopez was still talking pennant. At least the Indians were within hailing distance of the Yankees at that time. But the clean sweep of the four-game series that ended with a double conquest, 6-2 and 3-0, for the Yanks Sunday, just about knocked the breath and hope out of the Tribe.

Casey Stengel and his swashbuckling crew now are 10½ games ahead of the Indians with the season not half over.

The crowd of 74,708 on hand to watch Sunday's proceedings must have been disappointed. Yankee catcher Yogi Berra knocked in enough runs to win each game. In the opener, Yogi hit a home run off Bob Lemon with two on in the eighth with his team behind 2-1. Then in the second game, he clouted a triplele in the fourth with two more mates aboard.

Lemon was the loser of the first, and Mike Garcia, who permitted only seven hits, was the victim in the nightcap. Johnny Sain, Bob Kuzava and Allie Reynolds all saw service for the Yanks in the first game. Kuzava was the winner. Vic Raschi tossed the shutout in the second contest, yielding just three hits.

St. Louis Browns lost their 14th straight when they took a twin shellacking from Philadelphia A's, 4-1 and 3-1. This equalled the Browns' longest losing streak which the 1940 club ran up.

Chicago White Sox moved into third place with a pair of triumphs over the Red Sox 6-0 and 1-0. The White Sox now hold a half-game margin over the White Sox and Washington Senators.

Billy Pierce tossed the first shutout for the Pale Hose, giving up only two hits, while Sandy Consuegra threw the second.

In the only single American League game of the day, the Senators slugged the hapless Detroit Tigers 6-1 behind the strong-arm hurling of Frank Shea. He was assisted with home runs by Eddie Yost, Mickey Vernon and Jackie Jensen.

The see-saw battle for first place in the National League continued between Milwaukee Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers. The Braves edged past the Brooks by winning a doubleheader from Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-0 and 8-0.

Don Liddle pitched a five-hitter for Charlie Grimm's lads in the first game and Bob Buhl came right back with a two-hit job in the afterpiece.

The Brooks knocked off Chicago Cubs 6-3 in the opener of their scheduled doubleheader with Billy Loes and Joe Black both working. But in the nightcap, they had to be content with a 6-6 tie. The Dodgers were ahead 6-2 in the ninth when Ralph Kiner smashed a home run with the bases loaded and two out to tie the count. The game was called on account of darkness.

Ken Raffensberger outpitched Robin Roberts as Cincinnati Redlegs beat Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Phils came back to win the second 4-1 with Carl Drews going eight innings.

Harvey Haddix and Sal Maglie hooked up in another brilliant pitching duel, with the former hurling St. Louis Cardinals to a 1-0 triumph in the first game of a twin bill. The Cards also won the nightcap 9-4 behind Vinegar Bend Mizeli.

BOB BEDARD UPSETS HENRI ROCHON IN EXHIBITION

Local Player Registers Victory Over Former Davis Cupper 6-4, 6-2; Sure Bet To Make Team, Says Rochon

Robert Bedard, Sherbrooke, who now ranks as one of Canada's top tennis players, made it look easy yesterday afternoon, when he defeated Henri Rochon, Montreal, in two straight sets, 6-4, 6-2.

The exhibition match drew a record crowd of nearly 1,000 cheering fans at the Sherbrooke Sporting Club, on Fraser Street.

Bedard's brillaint victory might win him a berth on the Canadian Davis Cup team that will meet Mexican representatives some time in July, on Mount Royal courts, in Montreal.

In a men's double following yesterday's main event, Bedard and Roger Roy edged out Rochon and Jean Levesque, 6-4, 6-4.

After a whole season in Los Angeles, where he had a chance to meet some of the best American tennismen, Bob Bedard seemed unusually confident yesterday when he entered the court against the Montreal veteran, Henri Rochon.

The first set which the local boy won 6-4 was a close affair up to the 7th game, each player winning his serve. Bob finally succeeded to break Rochon's serve in this 7th game to take the lead 4 to 3. Rochon bounced back right after mastering his opponent's hard-spinning served balls to tie the score, 4-4. Again, Bedard broke Rochon's service and won the first round 6-4.

The second stanza looked a lot easier to Bedard as Rochon could get only two games. Bob was all over the court playing nice rallies and hitting hard smashes, some of them Rochon never got on the end of his racket.

The victory was a most pleasing one for the local boy, ousted last year from the provincial tournament by the same Rochon, in three straight sets.

Rochon had no excuse to offer yesterday after the match. "Bob is a much better player all around", said the Montreal veteran, "and I know no one that will stop him now from becoming Canada's No. 1 tennis player".

"No doubt," he continued, "the months he has spent in the south have helped him to improve his showing on the courts. Bob has completely changed his play. He is aggressive and more confident. He hits hard balls and places them well on either side."

Rochon also emphasized the need for young tennis players to go across the border to develop and get familiar with big-time competition. "Huge amounts of money are invested each year in hockey and baseball," concluded colorful Henri, "and I don't see why the same thing could not be done for tennis."

As far as Davis Cup competition is concerned, the French-speaking Canadian player called its quits officially a few days in Montreal, "because I can't afford it any longer", he said.

Rochon, former No. 1 Canadian singles player and Davis Cupper, is now selling insurance in Montreal and he would rather put an end to his long career in sport than give up his business.

Royals Take Twin-Bill From Ottawa To Remain On Top In International; Cubs Stop Red Wings; Leafs Split

Montreal Royals remained comfortably in the International Baseball League lead, sweeping a Sunday twin bill from the sixth-place Ottawa Athletics.

Tom Lasorda pitched the Royals to a 5-1 victory in the opener, allowing only four scattered hits and fanning seven. Montreal took the abbreviated nightcap 8-4. The victors outhit Ottawa 12-8 and Ronnie Lee, third of four Montreal moundsmen, got the victory.

The Royals lost a Saturday game 6-4 to Toronto Maple Leafs, whose Bobby Hogue held the Montrealers to only two safeties until they got to him in the seventh for another three. Lew Sleater finished the game.

Rochester Red Wings, three games back of the Royals, lost both ends of a doubleheader to Springfield Cubs, 5-4 and 3-2.

Reliefer Tony Jacobs, who took over from George Long in the sixth of the opener, was the winner. Don Elston hurled six-hit ball to chalk up his fifth win in the nightcap.

Rochester edged the Cubs 3-2 Saturday. Starter Floyd Melliere was the winning hurler, but he needed help from Jack Crimian in the ninth. The pitchers gave up a total of seven safeties.

The Leafs and Buffalo Bisons split a Sunday double bill. Paul Foytack pitched Buffalo to a 4-3 opening victory, striking out nine Leafs and allowing only two walks. He was relieved by Milt Jordan in the ninth.

Righthander Don Johnson held Buffalo to five hits in the nightcap, which Toronto won 2-1. He fanned eight and walked one.

Buffalo lost a 3-2 decision to Ottawa Saturday. Bob Trice of the Athletics held the Bisons to six safeties.

Syracuse and Baltimore traded shutouts Sunday, the Chiefs winning the first game 2-0 and the Orioles the second 3-0. Arne Landeck limited Baltimore to four hits in the opener, while Dick Starr held Syracuse to five to win the nightcap.

Baltimore swept a Saturday doubleheader from the Chiefs, 9-3 and 4-2.

Belgium And France Advance Into European Zone Davis Cup Semi-Finals When They Defeat Britain And Germany

London— (AP) —Belgium and France advanced to the semi-final round of the European zone Davis Cup eliminations Sunday with victories over Britain and Germany.

Both the winners scored victories in the final two singles matches of the best-of-five series to run up 4-1 margins.

Belgium's ace, Philippe Washer, stopped Geoffrey Paish of Britain, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, and Jackie Brichant crushed Tony Mottram, 7-5, 6-4, 6-0.

In the only extra-set match, France's Robert Haillet upset the veteran Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany, 1-6, 2-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-4. That gave France the required margin, but Paul Remy came back to defeat Angelbert Koch, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2 to make the win emphatic.

France thus qualified to meet Denmark and Belgium gained the right to play Italy in the zone semi-finals which must be completed by July 14.

Both Denmark and Italy qualified Saturday by virtue of taking the first two singles and the doubles in their ties against the Philippines and Sweden, respectively. Each split the last two singles Sunday to make the final count 4-1 for each.

Kramer's Troupe Opens Canadian Tour At Halifax

Halifax — (CP) — Jack Kramer and his troupe of professional tennis stars opened another tour of Canadian cities here Saturday before 2,500 fans.

Australia's Ken McGregor defeated Pancho Segura 6-4 in the only set the played. Australian Frank Sedgman and Kramer split two sets, Sedgman winning the first 6-2 and Kramer the second 6-4.

Kramer and Segura swept the best-of-three doubles in straight sets 7-5, 6-4.

Y., divided the honors with Jean Harvester, N., the property of Amedee Beaudoin of Bulwer. In the other The Grey Goose and Stan H. split the honors with each one taking a heat. In the first race H. G. Brooke, owned and driven by F. Gravel of Brompton, won from Eventide Brooke of C. Chute's stable from Birchton. In the second event on the card Brady Signal the property of the Riverview Stable of Richmond came home the winner in 2.12 and a fifth.

E. Leblanc, who drove The Grey Goose in the third and sixth races, was suspended five days by the presiding judge, M. Ryan, for cutting another horse in the second heat of the event. Two other drivers were called to the stand and were warned by Judge Ryan for illegal tactics during the races.

In the first race Saturday evening Louisa Worthie, owned and driven by O. Beaudoin of St. Adolphe, copped the honors when she toured the oval in 2.19 and one-fifth. Simeon Hanover the property of Mrs. V. Kidder of Woodsville, N. H., was a close second while Dr. Veilleux's Cadet Hanover took third.

The second race saw another horse from the Townships, Brady Direct owned by the Riverview Stables of Richmond and teamed by F. Desrochers, edge another American entry, Jolly Lee owned and driven by L. R. Huckins of Derby Line, Vt., in a close finish. The pickers of the daily double were awarded with a total of $18.90 for their usual $2.00 wager.

In the third and sixth races Tara Talara, owned by Mrs. W. Kidder and driven by A. Beeton, walked off with both ends of the two-heat affair. In the first battle the American brown mare posted a mark of 2.13 to take the honors while in the second trip 2.16 was required to compete the mile. Mrs. Kidder's entry rewarded her backers with $9.60 on the straight ticket and $4.20 on the place. The quinella paid $15.65 to the lucky pickers.

Peter R. Signal the property of C. Pelletier of St. Hyacinthe copped the two heat affair in the fourth and seventh race of the evening. Both times he was forced the whole way by Roy Dillard of the Riverview Stables of Richmond. It was a close duel right to the wire. The first heat was timed in 2.13 and a fifth while the second was 2.14. The sum of $45.10 was paid in the first but the odds dropped to $3.60 in the second.

In the third double feature of the evening the honors were divided as Mabel K. Brooke, owned by Edgar Litt of Stratford, Ont., took the first with E. Leblanc up. Ogilvie won the playoff on the third hole when he shot a par five while Shymko had six.

Quebec Braves Sweep Three Games To Move Into Sole Possession Of Top Spot In Provincial League

Quebec Braves strengthened their hold on their newly won position atop the Provincial Baseball League ladder by sweeping three week-end games.

The Braves took both halves of a Sunday double bill from St. Hyacinthe Athletics, winning the first 2-1 and the second 3-2. Quebec downed Three Rivers Yankees 5-3 Saturday.

Granby Phillies, who lost the leadership to the Braves, and St. Johns Canadiens split a four-game series.

Granby pounded two St. Johns moundsmen for 13 safeties to edge Canadiens 7-6 in the first game of a Sunday home-and-home doubleheader. Malcolm hurled a brilliant one-hitter to blank the Phils 3-0 in the second game. The Canadiens won the opener of a Saturday double bill 3-2 and the Phillies took the nightcap 8-7.

Bantam Ben Hogan Takes His Fourth U.S. Open Golf Championship With Four-Round Total Of 283, Five Under

Oakmont, Pa. — (AP) — Ben Hogan's fourth victory in the United States Open golf championship has revived the controversy whether lithe little Ben Hogan or somewhat bigger Bobby Jones is the best golfer the United States ever has produced.

Gene Sarazen, who probably is in the best position to judge, unhesitatingly picks Hogan. Gene was one of the game's gingpins when Bobby was at his peak and he's still playing good golf against Ben and the new crop of tournament stars.

Bobby Cruickshank, who lost to Jones in the 1923 Open championship playoff, the first of the four Bob won, stood in the Oakmont locker room the other day, nodded in Hogan's direction and said: "This young man is the greatest." He didn't even mention Jones, going back to some of the great Scottish players for comparisons.

Hogan didn't win his first Open title until he was 35 years old and now, at 40, he is just starting out to earn world-wide recognition. He'll play in the British Open at Carnoustie next month for the first time.

One sure thing is that Hogan had to beat more good golfers to win his titles than Jones ever did. In two previous opens at Oakmont only one player ever had broken 300 for 72 holes. When Tommy Armour and Harry Cooper shot 301s in 1927, Jones's total was 309.

Last week Hogan fired rounds of 67-72-73-71—283, against a par of 72, and there were exactly 20 players with 299s or better.

Sam Snead, cracking on the toughened-up last nine when he knew Hogan was in front of him with scores that could be beaten only by perfect golf, finished with 289. Lloyd Mangrum had 292 for third place. Three others, the youngest 37, had 294s. They were George Fazio, Jimmy Demaret and Pete Cooper.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York— (AP) —Sports fans who revelled in the superlatives of the giddy 20s, when Uncle Sam's athletes rose to world heights in virtually every branch of endeavor, will ever be convinced that the late Bill Tilden was the greatest tennis player yet seen on this planet.

They are equally certain that Jack Dempsey was the best fighter, Bobby Jones the best golfer, Earl Sande the best jockey, Babe Ruth the best ball player. In some instances the faith of the Charleston set undoubtedly is well placed. Concerning Tilder there is at least reasonable doubt.

Having seen Big Bill only after he was well past his best, we cannot speak with impressive authority. We have, however, seen all the good ones since his heyday and have talked many an hour with experts who watched Tilden pile up his championships, and our conclusion as that there have been, and are today, better tennis players than the famous Philadelphian was at his best.

There's no way of proving it, of course, but we firmly believe that the Jack Kramer of today could have walloped Tilden at his peak. We further believe that Fred Perry of England could have done the same, and perhaps Donald Budge. In other words, our contention is that the calibre of tennis has improved in the last 25 or 30 years, and the more honest of the old-timers say there is no doubt of it.

For instance, we were told within the last year by a famous player of another country who met Tilden numerous times that Bill did not have a really good overhead game. Having moved with the times, this internationalist of a quarter-century ago said this would have proved a fatal weakness against the best of the moderns.

Only recently, when Bill, a tragic figure, was crowding 60, a noted west coast player told us he still was much the best coach and practice opponent in the game.

Maritime Major Hockey League Will Decide Future In July; Mr. Dudley Explains CAHA Setup To Owners

Halifax — (CP) — The Maritime Major Hockey League, holding its annual meeting here Sunday, deferred decision on its future classification until its next meeting July 26 at Sydney.

The only major league still in operation, the circuit's problem is whether to remain in the major series, turn professional or revert to Allan Cup play.

The MMHL was left by itself in major play during the last season when the Quebec Senior Hockey league turned professional.

C. R. MacDonald, Glace Bay, vice-president of the league and former president of the old Cape Breton senior circuit, was elected president, replacing Judge J. Elliot Hudson of Halifax.

Judge Hudson, president of the league since its formation two years ago, was lauded by the league for his work.

Vice-presidents are: Gilbert Gaudet, Charlottetown; Roy Duchemin, Sydney; and J. E. (Gee) Ahearn, Halifax. The appointment of a secretary and treasurer will be made at the next meeting.

Picnic And Ride For Children Of Vale Perkins

Vale Perkins, June 15.—A Coronation Day picnic was held at the United Church hall on the afternoon of June 2 for the "small fry" of the community.

A short ceremony took place, the Union Jack being raised by Mrs. George Jewett, who also led in the Lord's Prayer. Three small trees were planted, the honors being done by Mrs. Paul Ethier, Mrs. Mary Magoon and Mrs. Ralph Knowlton. Mrs. Fred Jersey led in the singing of "God Save the Queen" and then came three rousing cheers for Queen Elizabeth.

The bonfire was cancelled because of the strong wind. Her Majesty's message was heard over several car radios.

Then came the highlight of the the day a Coronation ride in trucks driven by Maurice and Leverett Jewett. This was a colorful feature as the trucks were decorated by Mrs. Maurice Jewett and Mrs. Leverett Jewett with red, white and blue streamers and each child had a pennant made of the same colors. The first truck was flying the Union Jack.

Following this lunch was served in the hall, with ice cream and soft drinks furnished by the community fund.

Inspiring Service As Compton United Church Observed 115th Anniversary

Compton, June 15 — An inspiring service was held last evening in the United Church at Compton to commemorate the one hundred and fifteenth anniversary of the church in this community, as well as marking the reopening of the building which has been closed for a period of renovating and redecorating of the interior.

Assisting in the special service were Rev. T. D. F. Everett, of Trinity United Church, Sherbrooke; Rev. R. P. Stafford, of Sangster Memorial Church, Sherbrooke; Rev. Dr. W. B. Perry, minister of the United churches at Compton and Coaticook; and members of the Coaticook United Church choir. Miss Allison Perry, of Coaticook, presided at the organ during the worship service and for the special music presented by the choir.

A fine congregation was noted, not only of members of the Compton church but friends from Lennoxville, Waterville, Coaticook, Sherbrooke, and other points.

The service opened with the singing of "All People That On Earth Do Dwell", used as a processional hymn. The call to worship was given by Dr. Perry, followed by the singing of "God Reveals His Presence", and the invocation and singing of the Lord's Prayer. The well-known hymn, "Now Thank We All Our God", was then sung.

The responsive reading of the 145th Psalm was led by Mr. Everett, which was followed by the singing of the Gloria. The choir rendered an anthem, "The Song of the Church Bells". This was followed by the reading of the lesson by Mr. Stafford and a prayer by Mr. Everett.

Dr. Perry then extended a welcome to all present on behalf of himself and the Compton congregation and thanked all those who had taken part in this impressive worship hour.

Following the offertory a male quartette, Jack Turnbull, Stanley Cromwell, Jack Gledhill and Stanley Beerworth, from the Coaticook church, sang, "Ivory Palaces".

There was then heard greetings and congratulations from various congregations and friends. Mr. Stafford, as president of the Quebec - Sherbrooke Presbytery, brought a word of greeting from the Presbytery and also from his own congregation at Sangster Memorial. Rev. Everett brought the expression of congratulation for work well done and best wishes for the future from his congregation at Trinity. Others who spoke were Dr. W. L. Shurtleff for the Coaticook church, Mr. W. McDougal for the Lennoxville church and Mr. Hooper representing the church at Waterville.

Letters were read by Dr. Perry from former ministers of the Compton charge, namely Dr. Robert Smith, who served from 1895 to 1900, Rev. Mr. Muir, now at Westmount, Rev. W. P. Wornell, Rev. Albert Johnson now in Ontario. A letter of congratulation was also received from Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, whose boyhood home is adjacent to the Compton church property. Former members of the congregation, Anna Waldron, Mary Church and Eleanor Pocock also sent expressions of well-wishes.

A timely and forceful address was delivered by Mr. Stafford on the topic, "Doorways to the Heart". The choir sang, "A Psalm for the Sabbath," followed by the benediction and the three-fold amen sung by the choir.

The Compton church, a lovely well-kept building in attractive surroundings, has a wonderful history and in the early days, as it still does today, played an active part in the life of the community. The minister from there was the first to start services at Coaticook, even before a church was erected in the latter settlement. Today the Compton church is served by the minister residing at Coaticook and although the members of the small church have dwindled in numbers they are active and interested in the life and work of the Lord. They are to be congratulated in their efforts to maintain the property in such fine state of repair and hope for continued success and spiritual growth is wished for them.
