Quebec MP Calls For New Unity

Maiden Speech Lauded

OTTAWA (CP)—Louis Fortin, the son and grandson of former Conservative members of Parliament, stirred the Commons Friday with a maiden speech on national unity that drew applause from all sides.

After he finished his speech, seconding the traditional address in reply to the speech from the throne, scores of members converged on Mr. Fortin to congratulate the 37-year-old Quebec City lawyer, elected Progressive Conservative MP for Montmagny-L'Islet in a bye-election Sept. 29.

They included Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Opposition Leader Pearson and all the cabinet ministers present. It was a rarely-seen spectacle, especially where a new member is concerned.

PLEA FOR UNDERSTANDING

Outside the Commons Mr. Fortin, who made a plea for continued understanding among various Canadian ethnic groups, said Mr. Diefenbaker told him: "It was better than I was told it would be."

He had prepared an 18-page text of a speech, but with unusual assurance for a maiden speech, he departed from it except for a half dozen sentences. He spoke in both French and English.

Mr. Fortin, who seconded the address proposed by Warner Jorgenson (PC—Provencher), said the time has passed to label Canadians as either French- or English-Canadians. This was because a third of the population was made up of persons with other racial origins.

There was such a thing as Canadianism, but it would be maintained only so long as the various groups that make up Canada remain attached to their traditions.

REPRESENT COUNTRY

In the eyes of the world, Canadianism was represented by such things as the picture of a Mountie, or the maple leaf or a beaver. These symbols represent not just a section of Canada, but all of the country.

But to maintain this Canadianism and promote the national unity already in evidence would require the co-operation of all groups.

Speaking of his home province—Quebec—Mr. Fortin said it may appear on the surface to be different from the other nine provinces because of its different laws, customs and rights.

"But Quebec is a province like the others," he said, adding that it is working towards national unity.

In his text, issued to reporters earlier, he expressed the hope that "in the near future, all Canadians, of whatever origin they may be, will salute with pride and emotion an emblem of this nation that is ours."

This was taken to be a reference to a national flag, but Mr. Fortin did not mention this part in the Commons.

WOLFE'S VICTORY

However, he noted that 1959 is the 200th anniversary of Wolfe's victory over Montcalm on Quebec City's Plains of Abraham, a battle that resulted in Canada passing into British hands.

Quebec City was preparing to commemorate the event—a very important date in Canadian history—and he invited all Canadians to participate.

The year 1759 had marked the "beginning of an experiment that"

Faces Guillotine

PARIS (AP)—French justice Friday decreed the guillotine for Jules Villon, who killed his two small sons to keep them from becoming public wards. "I cannot ask an eye for an eye," the public prosecutor said in demanding the death penalty. "Villon made two heads fall. I can only ask for one."

Oldest Woman Dies

SWEFLING, Eng. (Reuters)—Mrs. Rhoda Harris, said to be England's oldest woman, died here Friday. She was 108.

IT WON'T BE LONG — Just in case you've forgotten, this is what goes on around here when the snow goes away. The photograph is a mid-winter reminder to snow-weary readers that it can't last forever. At least it hasn't yet.

Batista Aides Get Asylum

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's revolutionary government, though believing the rules of asylum must be revised, upheld them to the letter Friday amid hoots and jeers of an airport crowd.

Three former high officials of Fulgencio Batista's regime, who had taken refuge in the Argentine Embassy, were put safely aboard a plane bound for Buenos Aires. They were Eusebio Mujal, former secretary - general of the powerful Cuban Confederation of Labor; Alejandro Herrera Arango, former finance minister; and Dr. Gustavo Gutierrez, ex-president of the National Economic Council.

It was a revealing sidelight on Cuban policy in a day that saw the toll of summary executions reach the 200 mark.

The three refugees got their safe conduct a few hours after provisional President Manuel Urrutia announced that his government proposes to seek revision of the rules on asylum to prevent "war criminals" from enjoying the privileges of haven under a foreign flag, at home or abroad.

The government said it will press for extradition of Batista himself, to be tried for war crimes, and return of the plane in which he and a group of close associates fled New Year's Day to the Dominican Republic, Latin American tradition, however, indicates that the chances of extradition are remote.

TO OBEY CONVENTIONS
In Geneva, the International Red Cross committee said Urrutia has promised that his government will obey the Geneva conventions for the protection of war prisoners. This apparently does not apply to the Cuban military men among the estimated 4,000 to 6,000 persons rounded up as war-crimes suspects.

It was learned Friday that Castro probably will go to Venezuela, on his first trip abroad since his victory, after the inauguration perhaps later this month of President Romulo Betancourt who overthrew the dictatorship of Marcos Perez Jimenez last January.

Castro disclosed last week that he planned to visit the U.S. in the early spring.

Adenauer, de Gaulle In Unlikely Friendship

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
An unexpected affinity between two commanding personalities may accelerate Franco-German reconciliation and strengthen European unity.

Amid the stilted official language of diplomatic dispatches, the impression emerges of a developing friendliness between West Germany's Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Few friendships would have seemed more unlikely. De Gaulle is a military man, Adenauer a confirmed civilian; their countries have fought three ferocious wars in less than a century; and the aloof men with few if any close friends outside their families.

GET TOGETHER TWICE
Yet the liking is real. The ice was broken last Sept. 14 when the two met at Colombey - les-Duex, Eglise, de Gaulle's country home. The initial favorable impression was strengthened Nov. 26 in a further meeting at Bad Kreuznach, a German resort town.

Reports of sympathy and understanding between the two statesmen, taken seriously by Canadian students of Europe, constitute another hopeful factor in the post-war course of Franco-German relations.

Ottawa observers said the federal republic's effort to achieve a rapprochement with its old rival, France, has been one of the "truly encouraging features" of present-day German politics.

Dr. Adenauer, it is believed, feels that it is his country's responsibility to lean over backwards in healing the old feud. He has made concessions on such nagging problems as the Saar question, and has sided with France in discussions on European unity.

Oddly, it might almost be embarrassing for Canada if Dr. Adenauer and de Gaulle become too thick.

Since the Second World War, Western Germany has espoused liberal trading policies, roughly in line with Canadian principles. There is just the barest possibility that Germany, following an indulgent line toward France, might depart from its liberal policy to appease its more protectionist neighbor. This would be disturbing to Canadian officials.

CBC Strike

Illegal-Nowlan

OTTAWA (CP)—Revenue Minister Nowlan said Friday the strike by CBC producers in Montreal is "entirely illegal."

"Rationality is one thing which has been somewhat lacking," he said in the Commons in commenting on the strike called by 74 producers Dec. 29 to back their demands for CBC recognition of a newly-formed association as bargaining agent.

U.S. TEAM
On the U.S. side in the conference along with the president were Dulles, Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, envoy to Moscow, and Livingston T. Merchant, assistant state secretary for European affairs.

Invited to the White House with Mikoyan were Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov and Mikoyan's interpreter, Oleg Troyanovsky.

Mikoyan spent most of Friday afternoon and evening in conference with Dulles and other state department officials. They covered among other subjects Russia's effort to oust the Western powers from Berlin and create a "free city" of West Berlin; U.S. policy on German reunification and Soviet proposals for a German peace treaty; and disarmament issues.

BEHIND THE MASKS
Eisenhower has said the most that would be expected from Mikoyan's informal visit "would be that we would try to get behind each other's facial expressions . . . to see what we're really thinking."

If Dulles and his aides succeeded in getting behind the 63-year-old Mikoyan's sometimes smiling, sometimes glum countenance in about five hours of meetings Friday there was no official word on it.

Narrow Escape
LA RIBA, Spain (Reuters)—This town in eastern Spain narrowly escaped destruction Friday when bundles of burning paper were scattered by a 60-mile-an-hour wind. The mill was destroyed as firefighters put out blazes in other buildings and in a nearby wood.

Fight In Theatre
NEW YORK (AP)—A spectator in a Times Square movie house was hurled from the balcony to the orchestra pit Friday in a fight with another patron. The victim was not badly hurt. Police said Charles Wright, 31, was tossed from the balcony of the Selwyn Theatre. His assailant escaped. No one was sitting underneath.

Busy Session For MPs; New US Line On Berlin

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Parliament opened this week for what looks to be a busy session.

The speech from the throne, probably the last to be read by Governor-General Vincent Massey, listed most of the things the government wants to do. Some items:

Spend more money for homes and highways;
Change the Unemployment Insurance Act, probably by extending benefits and contributions to people in higher tax brackets;

Continue tax concessions to the provinces granted a year ago (this gives them 13 per cent of federal taxes);
Change the law about export credit insurance to help Canadian exporters meet competition from U.S. shippers who can get government credits for 20 years or more;

Set up a crop insurance scheme together with the provinces;
Create a board to regulate the oil and natural gas industries;
Make it easier for farmers to get loans.

On international affairs, the speech was critical of the Russian attempt to push Western forces out of Berlin.

NEW BERLIN LINE?
Berlin and Germany continued to be the chief topic of interest in the world's diplomatic capitals.

Secretary of State Dulles told a press conference questioner that free elections are "the natural way" but not the only way to reunite Germany. Previously, United States insistence on elections has been a cardinal point in discussions with Russia about Germany, the chief issue in the cold war.

The secretary's words aroused some misgivings in West Germany but Dulles later indicated he was only trying to keep the way open for further discussions with the Soviet side.

MIKOYAN'S VISIT
The Russians had a persuasive spokesman for open-mindedness. Anastas I. Mikoyan, a first deputy premier, continued his American tour and kept repeating his plea to let bygones be bygones and start anew.

Mikoyan returned to New York from the west coast. He toured a large department store, had lunch with a group of Wall Street bankers, spoke to 1,100 leading U.S. businessmen and visited the United Nations.

At the end of the week he was in Washington for talks with Dulles and President Eisenhower.

More Expected Today As Winter Tightens Grip On Townships

Freezing rain, 10 inches of snow, winds and the forecast of more snow today combined to snarl transportation once again in the Eastern Townships.

The rain last night followed nearly 24 hours of steady snowfall making roads hazardous and slippery throughout the area. Although skies were clear this morning, early forecasts predicted another 10 inches of snow would fall before the week-end is over.

Nearly 60 inches of snow has fallen on the Townships since the hardest winter in years set in at the end of November. The cold and snow have continued for seven weeks without a thaw.

In the country, an estimated 25 per cent of roads are still plugged tight, most of them secondary roads off the main routes. Many farmers have been isolated for nearly two weeks, unable to get their produce to market. Many are feeding their daily milk production to their pigs.

ROADS DANGEROUS
Officials of the Provincial roads department who have been battling heavy snow all week, stated that all roads are slippery and becoming increasingly dangerous throughout the Eastern Townships.

Meanwhile, heavy road-clearing and snow-removal equipment of the department is out in full force trying to keep up with the heavy fall of snow.

A late weather report promises blowing snow today.

A rash of minor accidents occurred within the city limits of Sherbrooke yesterday afternoon and evening, according to the Sherbrooke Police Department. All were caused by the slippery conditions of the roads. However, none of the people involved was injured.

Equipment belonging to the city worked through the night, salting and clearing the busier sections of town while crews of men sanded the sidewalks.

Travellers on the East Anglus-Sherbrooke road last night reported difficult driving conditions and while the roads were passable, snow hazards were increasing.

Farmers only recently freed from the grip of the snow, face another period of isolation.

Laramie Coach Lines Ltd. report the going fairly good with no holdups on runs outside the city of Sherbrooke.

All About Stamps

Ghana will issue a set of stamps to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. This issue will consist of three stamps in honor of this great American president. One design will be used, drawn by Michael Goaman of London, based on a photograph published in "Life" magazine in July 1958 showing the Prime Minister of Ghana, Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, standing before the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C. The denominations of the set will be, 2½-d, 1/3 and 2/6, printed in two colour photogravure by Harrison and Sons Ltd. of London. For the first time the stamps will show the watermark to be adopted by Ghana, the five pointed star and the letter "G".

Miniature sheets containing the three stamps, imperforate, along with an appropriate inscription and the dates of Abraham Lincoln's birth and death will be released. A limited number of first day covers, some with the stamps and some with the sheets will be available. The set will remain on sale for three weeks starting February 12th. The Agency advises that a beautifully printed folder, containing reproductions of the stamps and a significant text including quotations from Abraham Lincoln's writings and speeches, is available free of charge to collectors at the Ghana Philatelic Agency. The release does not say if these will be mailed or must be picked up, but here is the address — you may as well ask for it — Ghana Philatelic Agency, 91 Wall Street, New York 5, N.Y.

Collectors are reminded that the middle of this month is the time that the publishers of the extremely well known White Ace Line of album pages will issue the supplements to bring all their pages up to date. The White Ace line of products has enjoyed a popularity unequaled in its line for a number of years, and it would be interesting to know just how many Canadian collections are housed in their binders.

A collector asks what he can do with his duplicate stamps — a problem that faces all collectors. I would suggest that these be given to children who cannot afford to add to their collections, and what better place than the Children's Memorial Hospital in Montreal.

POT POURRI — The new definitive stamps from Ghana may be issued on the 1st of April. These stamps will fall into five distinct groups, and each stamp will be printed in multi-colour photogravure by Harrison and Sons Ltd. The divisions will be: 1) History and traditions; 2) Products and raw materials; 3) Birds; 4) Flowers; 5) Fish. The face value of the set will be 24/6.

The demand for the Vatican Sede Vacante set was really great. The printing was larger than usual, there being 700,000 of the 15 lire value, 750,000 of the 25 and 60 lire values. During the four days of sale, enormous queues formed outside the Vatican Post Office and each person was entitled to five complete sets. Dealers from all over the world received only a small part of the orders filed with the Post Office Department. These stamps are worth many times their face value now. Will look forward to having all of you as readers next week when once again we write about stamps.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The way John Compton, talks you'd expect to find him in a western or maybe "the real McCoy's." Here's how he describes how he came to Hollywood:

"Well, sir, I was out on a ridge in the moonlight with this purty girl down in Tennessee. She looks up at me and says, 'John, yer just handsome enough to be a movie star.' That was enough for me. The next day I told my mammy and pappy goodbye and started for Hollywood."

No cowpoke or hillbilly is Compton in the TV world. He plays the lead in The D.A.'s Man, NBC's new Saturday night crime show produced by Jack Webb. Compton is the wily undercover agent who adopts a variety of guises to ferret out criminals for a New York district attorney.

John tells a colorful story. Whether he's addicted to the tall

Important Industrial Announcement Expected Monday, Mayor Declares

An important announcement concerning industrial promotion will be made Monday, Mayor Armand Nadeau said yesterday during his weekly press conference. The mayor said the announcement would be made by someone other than himself at a special press conference called for 2:30 p.m. in his office Monday.

He said he had met with Finance Minister J. S. Bourque in Quebec earlier this week to submit an important item to be included in the city's private bill. He said the item concerned industrial promotion but he refused to elaborate further on the subject.

Mr. Bourque, he said, gave him assurance that the item in question would be "favorably studied."

The mayor said he had the highest hopes that the news would be released to the public Monday in the presence of the aldermen.

PRIVATE BILL
Sherbrooke's amendments to the city charter which have been included in a private bill will be reviewed by the Quebec Private Bills' Committee next Wednesday morning, January 21.

The bill includes, among other clauses, a request for increased borrowing power to execute the city's master plan.

SALES TAX HIKE
Referring to the Roman Catholic and Protestant School Boards' demand for a one percent increase in the five percent sales tax, the mayor said he did not see any point in opposing the proposal.

The mayor said although he was opposed to increases of any taxes, he maintained it was useless opposing the boards' demand since the Quebec Government had already complied with the demands for similar boosts by other boards.

SNOW BUDGET
In answer to queries, the mayor said the city's 1959 budget for snow clearance had not been exhausted.

He said the budget which covered approximately the months of January, February, March and December, 1959, might be exhausted by the year's end.

"Concerning snow clearance, we will try to do the best possible with what we have at our disposal for the rest of the winter. But the people will be concerned next summer to approve a loan to purchase machinery to adequately and reasonably maintain the streets."

"If and when the bylaw is adopted by the ratepayers, we will have budgetary allotments for repairs every year after."

The mayor said there were two policies about purchasing new equipment: one called for the purchase of heavy machinery at high cost, the other for more pieces of lighter machinery at lower cost. The latter policy, he said, was more reasonable.

This winter, he said, the city faced the same problem as Montreal, that is, inadequate equipment for unusual weather conditions.

Delays Verdict In Illegal Painting Case

Verdict will be rendered January 30 in the case of Robert St. Pierre, 46, of Bromptonville, who pleaded not guilty yesterday in Court of Sessions before Judge Joseph Marier to a charge of painting without a competency card.

G. Delisle and Pierre Arcand, both labor inspectors testified, that during the evening of Oct. 28, they went to a new home under construction belonging to Valere Ouellette, of Bromptonville, and found St. Pierre was painting the walls of one of the bedrooms. They added that when they asked the accused for a competency card, he was unable to furnish one.

St. Pierre said that he was not being paid for his work and claimed that it was a service he was rendering one of his friends.

Valere Ouellette, owner of the house, said that St. Pierre asked him if he needed any help to paint the interior of his house. Ouellette said he did, but never a question of having to pay St. Pierre crept up.

"He was doing me a favor. He never expected to be paid for it," said Ouellette.

Prosecuting Attorney Carrier Fortin, said that by doing what he did, the accused was taking work away from a professional painter.

Judge Marier, who wanted more time to review the case, withheld his verdict until Jan. 30.

St. Pierre was defended by Ashton Tobin, Q.C.

Noted Humorist To Perform For Israel Banquet

Emil Cohen, one of America's foremost humorists, will be the guest artist at the annual community dinner to observe Israel's Golden Decade, on Sunday, Jan. 25 at 6:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Agudath Achim Synagogue.

EMIL COHEN

531 Montreal Street, Sherbrooke. The dinner is being sponsored by the State of Israel Bond Committee of Sherbrooke of which Manasseh Smith is chairman.

Mr. Cohen is renowned for his refreshing humor, wonderful personality, pleasing voice and dignified manner. He is considered one of the greatest dialecticians in any language. His cultural environment is rich in Jewish humor and music, making him a proud product of American and Yiddish culture. Mr. Cohen has already been seen and heard in Halifax, Cornwall, Quebec, Winnipeg, Regina, in addition to hundreds of communities in the United States. His full evening's program has been stretched in every instance to go beyond "the call of duty."

Nurtured in a rich cultural environment in which Jewish humor and music abounded, Emil Cohen enhanced the abundant ability inherited from his parents. From his father, a well-known cantor, and from his mother, a brilliant wit, he learned many of the anecdotes, songs, witticisms, and amusing stories in his repertoire. He is adept in the traditional, as well as the modern vernacular. Sherbrooke Jewry will long remember and treasure his performance. His Hasidic melodies, Israel songs, parodies, melodious voice and an engaging personality have won him warm acclaim wherever he has appeared. His program is stimulating, entertaining and even uproarious. He has that rare combination of musical ability and raconteur talent to make him a one-man show, capable of sustaining a complete evening of entertainment.

The guest speaker will be Samuel Moskovitch, Q.C., chairman of the National Executive Committee and secretary of the board of directors of Canada Israel Securities Limited, the organization responsible for the sale of the State of Israel Bonds.

Chinese Students Attend Bishop's

By MICK POWELL

The closest possible English translations of their names are "Worldly Ambition" and "Purpose-To-Have-Good-Character."

Their actual names are Lam Sai Hung and Ho Chee Leung, Lam and Ho being their respective family names.

Yet the translations of the names of these two young Chinese students from Hong Kong, at present attending Bishop's University in Lennoxville, actually reflect the feeling for further education felt by those for whom it is not so easily attained.

Their backgrounds differ as do their ages yet their education took place in the same Hong Kong high school; neither knew the other before their arrival at Bishop's, yet they were destined to be roommates. Lam, the elder, worked for 3 1/2 years with the government before deciding to return to school. Ho, fresh out of high school, came straight to Bishop's for the opening of term last September.

Both are cast in much the same mould: Short, slight, polite and quiet; studious and neat.

Ho, dressed casually in grey trousers and turtleneck sweater, studies science and is in the first year of a four-year course. A brilliant student he managed 81 per cent in his Christmas examinations.

Hesitant at first he explained his position at the University. Freshmen at University have traditionally been the butt of hazing and various other pranks, but Ho insisted that he had been well treated. "Perhaps" he grinned, "it is because I am regarded as a foreigner."

Lam is rather more reserved. Some 10 years Ho's senior, he is in second year of a four-year arts course. Where Ho preferred the sciences to Arts, particularly in view of his lack of interest in, and ability for English composition, Lam feels the arts education is necessary for improvement in one's future.

At the school in Hong Kong which both attended, courses were given by Jesuit brothers under whose jurisdiction the school came. All lessons were given in English except for a course in Chinese.

Ho pointed out that the Chinese he spoke was the Shang-Hai dialect, where he was born. He had also learned the Cantonese dialect which is spoken in Hong Kong. Lam, born and brought up in Hong Kong, speaks only the Cantonese dialect.

Ho pointed out one of the idiosyncrasies of the Chinese language: while they might not be able to communicate orally because of the different dialects, they could communicate by the printed character.

At one time, he said, all students were taught Mandarin, the classical Chinese language. Now the Communists are making considerable progress in trying to simplify the language. Written Mandarin lacks the clearness and concise stroke of the more modern characters.

The change in diet has been considerable for both men. Ho pointed out that at home the basic dietary staple was rice. Occasionally he would go out to an American restaurant and treat himself to American food.

Lam observed wryly that he had probably gained a few pounds since embarking on a Bishop's diet.

Although Lam is in second year, Ho arrived some time before him. Where Ho flew to Vancouver and then took a train across Canada, Lam had to make a 40-day trip aboard a freighter. "If I had been on the right boat," he mused, "I would have been here on time too."

As it happened, Canadian immigration officials recommended the University at Lennoxville to both men. A small residential college, it suited both. Yet it was not until Ho's arrival at the start of the academic year that he knew another student from Hong Kong — and coincidentally, his own school — would be sharing his room.

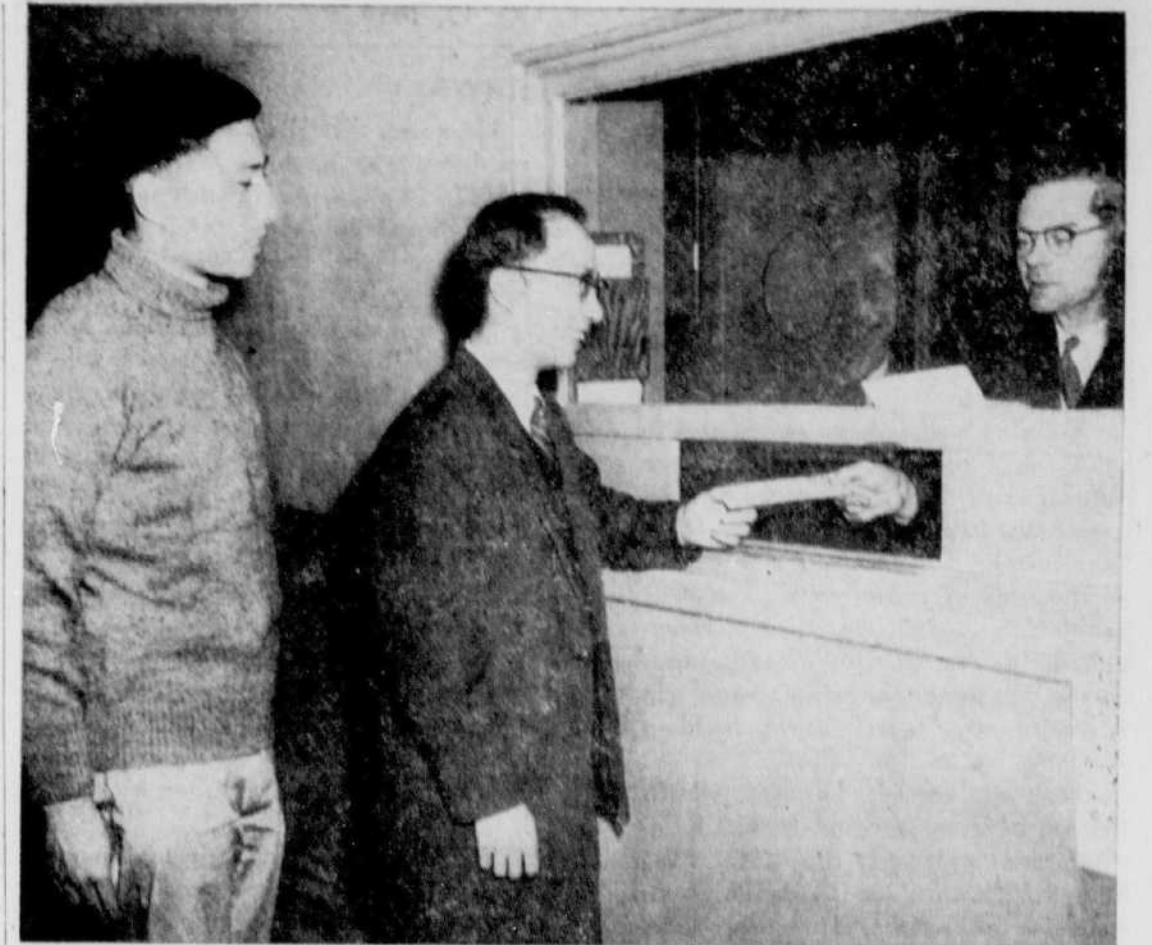

Criminal Negligence Case Heard

Maurice Vincent, 21-year-old Wickham resident, appeared before Judge Joseph Marier in Court of Sessions yesterday on a charge of criminally negligent driving which resulted in the death of 16-year-old Monique Deslandes, on the night of Sept. 13, in Sherbrooke, but the judge postponed his verdict until Jan. 30.

The accused was charged with criminally negligent driving following a coroner's inquest held in Sherbrooke Oct. 22.

The accident occurred at about 12:30 a.m. when Vincent, who was driving the car, apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Another couple were in the back seat of the car at the time of the accident.

Salk Vaccine

Polio Clinics Here Next Week

Free anti-polio vaccinations will be given to teenagers and adults who are not already receiving the vaccine in plant clinics at the Belvedere St. Armoire, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Jan. 19-21, from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m., sponsored by the Quebec Command of the Canadian Legion and the Rotary Club under the auspices of the Quebec Chapter of the Canadian March of Dimes.

The plant clinics are being held during the days mentioned above in the larger industries and workers who receive their shots at their places of employment are urged to bring their dependents to the evening clinics. The vaccinations are also offered to the residents of Lennoxville although there may be a clinic at Lennoxville at a later date.

A second shot will be provided in about a month with the third and final shot within a year.

The effectiveness of the vaccine is expected to last several years, but thus far no definite time span has been set.

Up to the end of October 1957, with about 5,000,000 Canadians having received one vaccine shot, polio incidence was about 65 per cent below the previous five year average.

The first shot begins to take effect from seven to 10 days after it is given; at that time polio-fighting antibodies can be found in the bloodstream. The second shot brings a sharp rise in antibodies. Long-lasting protection develops only after a third or booster shot seven months to a year later.

Coaticook Man Sent To Jail, License Lost

A sentence of 14 days in jail and a six months suspension of his driving permit was imposed by Judge Joseph Marier yesterday in Court of Sessions when Gerard Ouimet of Coaticook was found guilty of impaired driving.

Ouimet was arrested on the night of Oct. 14 on the Hillhurst road near Coaticook by Provincial Police Officers Rosaire Daigle and Gerard Charet.

Daigle testified that the accused had his car parked in the middle of the road and that when he and Charet went up to the car, Ouimet got out but he was so drunk he had to be supported by the two officers.

Doctor George Albert Samson of Coaticook, said that the accused was brought to him by provincial police for a drunkenness test.

"Following the examination," said the doctor, "I arrived at the conclusion that the patient was in an advanced state of drunkenness—too drunk to drive a car."

Ouimet was found guilty of impaired driving last July 7.

Judge Marier imposed the customary second offence sentence of 14 days in jail and a six-months suspension of the accused's permit.

ET Members Are Seeking Canada Flag

OTTAWA. —(CP)—The Commons today received notices of proposals by two Eastern Townships members who want to give Canada a distinctive national flag.

Samuel Boulanger L. — (Drummond-Arthabaska) gave notice of a bill "respecting flags of Canada." Details will be made known when his bill is introduced in the Commons, probably next Monday.

Maurice Allard (P.C.—Sherbrooke) seeks appointment of a parliamentary committee to study the adoption of a distinctive national flag and national anthem for Canada.

Canada now flies the Red Ensign when required to show its colors, but it is not considered the national flag. There is no national anthem, although both God Save the Queen and O Canada are played on occasion.

Firemen Collect Substantial Sum In MD Campaign

Sherbrooke's firemen, members of Local 967 of the International Firemen's Association, collected $130.29 for the annual Muscular Dystrophy campaign during the holiday season, Andre Dion, secretary of the local announced yesterday.

The money, he said, was collected from 150 coin boxes distributed in stores throughout the city during December. The firemen volunteered their services in distributing and collecting the boxes for the drive.

Thanks were extended by the campaign of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada to the store owners who allowed the boxes to be placed in their establishments, to the firemen and to the people who contributed.

Two of the Sherbrooke local's officers who aided in the drive were Theodore Lamoureux, president, and Raymond Dumont, vice-president.

January Thaws

January thaws as everybody knows, come along almost every year about this time.

But weather scientists in the past have not been unanimously willing to concede that such freaks of weather actually exist. Now, it appears, they are willing to make this concession.

Detailed studies have shown that in the United States, about the third week of January, there is a marked warm spell that happens too regularly to be accidental.

Records of many years have been studied, and rigid statistical tests applied. The results, say the weathermen, show that abnormal warming spells in January are "more than a random event."

Strangely enough, however, weathermen have yet to come up with a definition of a January thaw in meteorological terms. One authority, commenting on weather in the St. Lawrence Valley region, simply states that when there are periods in the month when the temperature persists in staying above the freezing point, there is a thaw.

He noted that there was absolutely no thaw, even in these general terms, in 1920 in this area. He goes on to say "the probability of a January thaw during any one January is high, but not 100 per cent."

No agreed-upon explanation has been found for these unseasonal warmings. But study has shown the same January period that brings warmer weather to the United States and Canada usually sees severe cold snaps in Europe. Recently, Canadian scientists made the intriguing discovery that a warming in the stratosphere over the Arctic late in January may have something to do with the month's thaw.

There will probably be some controversy around this district on whether we have already had our thaw, whether we are having it, or whether it is still to come.

But all this speculation is cold comfort for those who have suffered from this year's unusually heavy snowfall. With many of our rural roads still plugged tight, the snow is costing a lot of people plenty of money. The thaw, scientifically approved or otherwise, is long overdue.

Hidden Speed Traps

Ontario Attorney General Roberts, commenting recently on the hidden radar speed traps much cherished by some authorities, made a telling point when he said speed traps are more effective in plain view than if hidden.

"If it were known radar was in use, say with a 25 or 30-mile radius, it would seem to me that it would have a tendency for everyone to conform to the speed limits in the area," he is quoted as saying.

This is one of the most sensible comments on the issue we have heard in some time. Here in Quebec, we have had in the past considerable dealings with speed traps, not only of the radar type, but also other kinds. It wasn't so long ago that in this connection, municipalities were told to stop using traps as sources of municipal revenue.

Yet it must be admitted the hidden speed trap is still a prime favorite of many a Quebec law force.

In speeding, it is prevention that is wanted, as well as a cure.

A hidden trap does only one thing

— catches drivers who have already been speeding. It does not prevent them from speeding.

Police who use such traps reason the resulting fine will act as a deterrent to speeding in the future. But it will only act as a preventative if drivers so fined are aware someone is watching their speedometers. If they do not know this, they may speed again and again — and get caught again and again.

In the absence of any kind of deterrent driving system in this province, there is really little, if any, prevention in this type of law enforcement.

If, on the other hand, speed traps were well-advertised, there can be doubt that their very presence, and the fact that drivers know about them would reduce, if not eliminate speeding in the area in which they are located.

More than that, the purpose of their use would be attained without anyone necessarily being fined for speeding. Such a situation, all sides would agree, could hardly be improved upon.

Protection Against Polio

The sharp decline in poliomyelitis in Canada over the past few years can be directly attributed to the widespread use of Salk vaccine. Polio is not yet conquered. But now that we know it is possible to control the disease, the work of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis (Canadian March of Dimes) takes a new importance.

Statistics tell the story. In 1953 there were 8,875 cases of polio in Canada. In 1957, due largely to the use of Salk vaccine, there were only 273 cases. Total number of cases for last year is not yet known. In Manitoba, up to mid-September, there had been 70 cases and five deaths. Fifty-six cases were paralytic. Of the paralytic cases, three had had vaccine. Of the deaths, only one, a six-year-old boy had had two of the three doses. None of the others had received Salk.

The figures show that where Salk vaccine is not administered, there is a much greater chance of contracting the disease.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, free anti-polio vaccination will be available at the Belvedere Street Armory between 7 and 9 p.m. Everyone who has not had the vaccine privately or through industry, should take advantage of the opportunity to protect himself and his family.

WEAK HAND CAN FORCE WEAKLY

Today's hand seems to have created quite a stir around the Elks Club in Fort Lauderdale. J. W. Shoop, who sat South, decided to open with two hearts in view of the part score. North raised him to three and Mr. Shoop passed. Apparently there was a roar from someone—maybe North—maybe East or West—maybe even a kibitzer.

Mr. Shoop played the hand out. He guessed the diamond finesse but since West held four hearts the queen-ten all he could make was five odd so the result was perfectly satisfactory but the discussion went on.

Mr. Shoop wrote me to ask what I would open with his hand. My answer to Mr. Shoop is that I would only open his hand with one heart but that in common with most supposedly expert bridge players I weaken my requirements for the forcing two bid somewhat when I have a part score. It is just that I don't weaken them quite so much as Mr. Shoop did this time.

I must say that Mr. Shoop's second bid of pass meets with my full approval. He realized that he had given his all and then some when he bid two hearts and proceeded to get right off the hook by passing.

MODERN ANTIQUES

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)
It's an old custom in more than violins, but it should be stopped, so the Swiss sentenced Henry Werro of Bern to pay a fine of $1,162 and suspended a one-year jail term.
Henry's offense was selling antique violins that were not either the Stradivari or the Guarneri he claimed them to be. He produced more fake antiques than his masters made in their lifetime.
Now if people everywhere were jailed for making and selling antiques that are no such thing, the cells would be crowded — and not just in Switzerland. The fakers are not so much to blame as the gullible people who buy them.

"The Rest of the Family Will Be Along in a While"

Saturday's Sermon:

On My Tombstone

By Rev. B. S. Murray, M. A.

Well do I remember that day I happened upon a column in a magazine bearing the title WORDS TO LIVE BY. After reading it I knew I had made a discovery. This the ensuing weeks and months confirmed as I gleaned therefrom, thoughts which when translated into action brought enrichment to my mode of living.

COMPASSION.

During these opening days of 1959, I find myself examining words so that I may find one so related to the peculiar conditions that confront us that by incorporating it into the warp and woof of daily living I may be like Job (4:4) steadied and upheld and, of course, inspired to play up and play the man! My choice? Compassion.

Do you agree? I hope so. Anyway I am convinced that were we all compassionate our most dangerous problems would be solved. Whatever our creeds and political dogmas we would find a way to live and let live. There would be an end to man's disastrous "inhumanity to man" and therefore to war. And poverty and misery, too, which with their "have-not" state of existence constitute a blot on our civilization. A blot, mark you, that must be removed forthwith or it may eventually destroy us.

Our society if it is to survive and go from strength to strength (Psalm 84:7) must have members, men, women and children who conceive it to be their duty to not only FEEL with but also GO with their brethren prepared to share their lot whatever that may involve. Now this act which we call identification involves the ability to put oneself in that of another. I like the poetic interpretation of this as the process of "folding to thy heart thy brother." Where pity dwells, the peace of God "is there".

AS ILLUSTRATIONS, LIVES

Well, history abounds with illustrations of heroines and heroes who did just that. Perhaps the most striking example of Christian compassion is Dr. Albert Schweitzer. By the time he was 30 he had acquired fame as scholar, musician and philosopher. Then one day he read the account of the Congo natives and their miserable plight. Since by nature he had to "feel with" them he had also to take action for them. He abandoned fame and security to spend his life as a doctor among them, sharing their hardships and suffering.

Then there was Livingstone whose compassion for the black man led him to give his life in service also in darkest Africa. Grenfell lost himself in serving fisher folk on the bleak coasts of Labrador. Dr. Bernardo known as "the Foster Father of Nobody's Children" gave up a lucrative practice to serve the homeless children of the London slums.

These then are but a few of that great multitude no man can number whose delight was - and is - to be like their God - a God Whom the psalmist depicted as "full of compassion (86:15) - and so go about ministering to others with a special concern for the least, the last, the lost.

"IN THEIR HEEDLESSNESS"

There are unfortunately those who are so insensitive - uncivilized some say - sufficiently not to be interested in and concerned with others. There are various reasons for this, lack of imagination, selfishness, self-complacency all of which is covered in "hardness of heart". Busy perhaps making money, they cannot be bothered. Their money they give but without any sentimental feeling for those hidden in the background - the poor, the handicapped, the sick, the dying parent, the weeping orphan. Nor can it be said that these people are cruel; they are not. They are heedless they are guilty of both offences in a gross form.

"COMPASSION BEGETS COMPASSION"

To set their hearts ablaze with tenderness and compassion is your task, my task, our task as citizens. This because the art of living successfully, happily, nobly - the success of friendship, marriage, parenthood, employer-employee relationships - are all rooted in compassion.

Compassion then is the rich soil from which springs a civilized life. When we are courteous, when we give way to others, when we are generous, and forbearing with their foibles and weaknesses, we are well rewarded. For compassion begets compassion, as courtesy begets courtesy. How our heart is moved by a stranger's courtesy and helpfulness which sends us on our way with a sense of friendliness to the whole world, bathed now by the sunlight and warmth of a common humanity.

IT IS UP TO YOU

All of this is inspiring. But it is in the life of the Master that we find compassion at its best. Their needs, their problems moved Him (Matt 9:36). He was their Brother, their Friend as well as their Lord and Saviour. Throughout the Bible and in my life, I hear the blessed voice of Jesus, saying: "I have had compassion on a lost world and now it is up to you to have compassion". This we must do remembering that after teaching His followers by word and deed the law of compassion, the Master was content to place Himself among those who suffer innocently and thus most power-

REPORTING

OTTAWA. — If everybody works eight hours a day five days a week, a man suggested the other day, everybody can take a three months vacation every year. With pay.

This person is an industrial relations counsellor. An expert, forsooth. The gimmick in his argument is that if Canadian workmen are to get the 30 hour week advocated by the Canadian Labor Congress, they should take the 25 per cent cut in working hours in one lump sum. His "consolidated leisure plan," I believe he called it. Atop a regular two weeks vacation, it would give a man a total of three months off once a year. The rest of the time he'd work a 40 hour week.

Having just broken off my leisurely 60 hour week schedule to start a gruelling six months at something like 72 hours weekly to cover the new session of Parliament, I am all for this plan. My wife is too. Says if we can consolidate my leisure in the next six months, maybe we can spend a week-end in Montreal.

However, it's just as well not to make Parliament privy to these enlightened labor practices. If the MPs put the squeeze on Dief for even a 40 hour week, then they'll need a full year to get their talking done. Be no time left for that three months vacation. Or even a two weeks one.

I hope you don't misunderstand me. I'm not trying to oppose labor's legitimate aspirations. If a 30 hour week or a nine months year is what labor wants, then by all means let labor have it.

But at the same time let labor know that it has to pay for its extra leisure. Naturally the unions aren't going to accept a 25 per cent cut, or probably any cut at all, in wages as return for a 25 per cent cut in working hours. However, their members will pay just the same, in higher prices for the things they buy, reflecting a 25 per cent increase in labor costs. We'd all pay.

The economists and the politicians have been preaching for years about the danger of Canada developing a high cost economy, and pricing its goods out of world markets. With a 30 hour week, while our competitors work 48 or 60, we might as well close up our seaports. We wouldn't be able to sell abroad at the prices we'd have to ask, and we wouldn't have much foreign exchange with which to buy other countries' goods.

What with the resulting higher cost of things—which is just another way of saying the lower standard of living—we likely couldn't afford to do very much with our three months vacations anyway.

People would write furious letters to Dief. We always blame the government for our troubles. Otherwise we'd have no one to blame but ourselves. That's one reason we must always make sure we have a government.

And tariffs! Say, you've never seen a tariff until you see what we'd have to put up to protect our industries operating on a 30 hour week basis.

In Australia they tried to isolate their economy; to insulate it against the ruinously low prices of competing goods made in low cost Asian countries. The Australian working man insisted on having leisure to enjoy his climate and his beer. He got it—but he has to do without consumer durables we consider essential to modern living. You probably own a car. In Australia you probably wouldn't.

Thus the consolidated leisure plan might solve our urban traffic problems for us. But I'd rather live with them, and consolidate my standard of living.

LIVE BETTER Electrically... WITH FULL HOUSEPOWER!

IS YOUR WIRING OUT-OF-DATE?

- DO FUSES BLOW OUT TOO OFTEN?
- DOES YOUR TOASTER HEAT UP TOO SLOWLY?
- DO YOUR LIGHTS DIM WHEN YOU TURN ON APPLIANCES?
- DO YOU HAVE TOO FEW OUTLETS AND SWITCHES?
- DO YOU HAVE TO DISCONNECT ONE APPLIANCE TO PLUG IN ANOTHER?

If you're like most of the people in your community, you've acquired many more lamps and electrical appliances over the past ten years! Have you enough outlets in every room to handle the extra load — or has every outlet a double or multiple plug to carry additional wires?

Poor wiring is often the cause of your electrical troubles. Adequate wiring, however, increases the value of your home, as well as its comfort and convenience. Have it modernized for today's heavier appliance load.

Talk it over with your electrical contractor, or call for the help and guidance of a Southern Canada Power representative.

ROYAL VISIT

Earlier, Mr. Diefenbaker made a brief announcement about the forthcoming royal visit, saying Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will begin their 15,000-mile, six-week tour of Canada on June 18 when they arrive at Torbay Airport, near St. John's, Nfld.

The prime minister, who said the itinerary covering all 10 provinces, the Yukon and the Northwest Territories would be announced next week, declined under Opposition questioning to state where the Queen will officially open the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The speeches of the mover and seconder of the address in reply to the throne speech were the only ones in the Commons Friday. The throne speech debate opens Monday when Mr. Pearson will probably move a motion of non-confidence in the government, to be followed by a reply from Mr. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Jorgenson, who stressed agricultural problems in his speech, warned that packinghouses and feed companies which are promoting so-called vertical integration of agriculture may gain a monopoly of livestock production.

Under vertical integration, packinghouses advanced to farmers the capital necessary to produce under contract.

The farmer thus becomes an

BISHOP'S BULLETIN BOARD

The Students' Executive Council received an overwhelming vote of confidence to back up their withdrawal from the Association of Quebec Universities in a regular monthly Association meeting held last Wednesday night.

In a surprise move, which caught most students unaware, a motion was put forward demanding that Bishop's rejoin the other five universities in the Association whose representatives had travelled to Quebec to meet Premier Duplessis early last December.

Those who supported the motion said that the Council's motives in dropping out were purely selfish, and pointed out the advantages of a united student opinion of the six Quebec universities.

Student President Ray Jensen defended the Council move and one student advanced the argument:

"We'd appear rather ridiculous if we rejoined now."

Only a handful of students backed up the motion. Shortly after the meeting with Premier Duplessis in December Bishop's decided to quit the Association, a move initiated and carried out by the student body's elected representatives - the Students' Executive Council - without consulting the rest of the student body.

Jensen gave a number of reasons why he and his Council had not shared the decision with Bishop's Student Association, but most of the students were not too worried about that. By the end of the meeting it was difficult to appraise the student reaction. One interpretation could easily point to the view that students simply didn't care what their elected representatives were doing, and what's more, were completely apathetic about the Quebec meeting and the resulting Bishop's withdrawal from the province-wide student association.

The other interpretation, and the one which most people around here would like to believe, is that Bishop's students have a full measure of confidence in the competence and wisdom of those whom they put in office last spring.

HOCKEY CONTROVERSY

The Campus, Bishop's weekly newspaper, screamed in their January 15 issue, "The hockey team spent $540 last weekend. — We have two more pages of material we can't afford to print. Enough said." — Ed.

The statement was printed in bold-face type, immediately below a story of Bishop's 9-0 hockey defeat last weekend in Kingston against Royal Military College.

The editor's statement could easily be interpreted to mean: Spending all that money on a losing hockey team seems a little futile, especially when many of the players refuse to get into shape. Why not spend the money on something more worthwhile, like two more readable pages in our University newspaper.

One of the editors of the weekly paper even went so far as to suggest that maybe Bishop's would be better off without a hockey team.

To most students around here, it seemed that The Campus editors were placing too much emphasis on the ability of a team to win as the justification of a team's existence.

A few enraged supporters retorted, "Hockey is Canada's national game. It is ridiculous to even think of a Canadian university without a hockey team."

It was evident that The Campus was trying too hard to attract readers to the six pages they could afford to print. Besides, their $540 estimate was about $50 too high.

MORE MONEY
Everybody would like to get their hands on a little more money, and the leaders of Bishop's societies are no exception. Philip Scowen, student president of athletics, allowed hockey team members $6.50 for meals and taxi on the Kingston trip, less than half of the amount that is normally required by the average player.

Hockey, basketball and football are the major sports at Bishop's. The budget for the hockey team is around $2,000, $500 more than the football budget and roughly $1,100 more than basketball.

When asked about this inequality, Garth Smith, director of athletics and coach of the basketball Gaitsers, pointed out that the hockey budget is swelled by a considerable amount owing to the necessity of hiring taxis to take team members to and from in this country. Mr. Moskovitch is one of the few Canadians ever to have served as president of District No. 1, B'nai B'rith.

In addition to Mr. Smith, the Sherbrooke Committee includes: co-chairmen, Sam Cohen, and Max Rothschild; women's co-chairmen, Mrs. I. Echenberg and Mrs. M. Rothschild; vice-chairmen, Irving Steinman, Sam Vineberg, and Albert Hyman; and committee members Joseph Baroff, I. Echenberg, S. Gillman, Mrs. M. S. Goodman, Sam Green (Coaticook), D. Heilig, Rabbi N. Lobel, H. Prupas, Mrs. A. Schacter, Mrs. M. Smith, Mrs. I. Steinman.

To take the place of the ice show, free skating will be allowed after the hockey game and a giant torch-light parade, consisting of students from the two universities, will wind its way through the streets of Sherbrooke up to the arena.

artificial ice arenas three times a week for practices.

Garth also pointed out: "The more games a team plays, the better it should be."

Referring to his own basketball team, Garth said, "Our team this year is the best potential championship team I've seen. But we can't play all the games we'd like to." He said this situation might be remedied by giving the potentially better team the larger budget. But this would be a difficult thing to do because budgets are made by incoming councils in the spring when there is little knowledge of what a team will be like the following academic year.

Answering criticism of the amount spent by the hockey team on the Kingston trip, Garth stated, "I don't think the hockey team can cut down," and added, "unless Bishop's gets an indoor rink."

ICE SHOW CUT

There will be no ice show this year, it was announced by the carnival committee early this week. During past Bishop's Winter Carnivals skating talent has been imported and the students themselves have participated in amateur skating acts.

Tony Vincent, dynamic business manager of the carnival committee, explained sadly, "It isn't worth the time and money spent, and there's not enough interest among the students, and the advertising situation is bad."

Instead the evening in the arena will include, as it always has, a hockey game between the University of Sherbrooke and the Bishop's Gaitsers, and the crowning of the Carnival Queen; only this year two Carnival Queens will be crowned: one to represent the student body of Bishop's, and the other, the University of Sherbrooke.

The article is written against the background of the government's problem in deciding whether to continue production of the CF-105 Arrow by A. V. Roe of Canada.

It says there was no chance of U.S. government participation in the project because the U.S. already had the F-106 in the development stage when Canada decided to go ahead with the Arrow.

The F-106 now was operational and cost less than the Arrow for various reasons, including the fact it was a single-jet plane manned by only one man while the Arrow was a twin-jet aircraft manned by two.

Arrow Issue

Criticism Of US Not Justified

TORONTO—John Bassett, publisher of the Sherbrooke Record and The Telegram, says in a front-page article a "careful and detailed inquiry" shows that criticism of the U.S. government for its refusal to participate in the development of Canada's Arrow jet interceptor is not justified.

In the first of two articles based on questioning of business and government sources in Canada and the United States, Mr. Bassett says the facts show it is wrong to think the U.S. failed to take part in the Arrow development plan because of strong pressure in Washington by U.S. airplane manufacturers.

"The general staff of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Ottawa knew from the beginning that the United States has no interest in the Arrow for itself. Even as the RCAF urged the defence committee of the cabinet in 1952-53 to order the Arrow, it knew the United States had under development the Convair F-106, designed to do much the same job."

"The repeated efforts of Defence Minister Peakes to sell the Arrow to the United States could only end in failure."

A clean sweep for a confident father

The youngster with the broom is making a clean path for the curling stone. Maybe he doesn't realize it yet, but his father is guiding him through life on a path as direct and as smooth. Life insurance is a way to meet the future and a way to save. By insuring his son now, this father is encouraging thrift, building an attitude of mind.

Many people who plan their life insurance programme through The Mutual Life of Canada, take out policies at low cost on the lives of their children: policies the children take over when they start earning. It's a good idea. Worth discussing with your Mutual Life of Canada representative — soon.

The apostle John's inspiring account of the raising of Lazarus by Christ Jesus is featured in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life" which will be heard at Christian Science services Sunday.

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (75:13): "Jesus restored Lazarus by the understanding that Lazarus had never died, not by an admission that his body had died and then lived again. Had Jesus believed that Lazarus had lived or died in his body, the Master would have stood on the same plane of belief as those who buried the body, and he could not have resuscitated it."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (118: 14, 17): "The Lord is my strength and song, and is become my salvation . . . I shall not die, but live, and declare

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE BEGINNING TO TIGHTEN UP.
The race in the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League is beginning to tighten up and only eleven points separate the top four clubs in the loop. Victoriaville and Richmond are holding fifth and sixth spots in the standing.

The addition of Roland Rousseau to the Braves along with their kid goalie will certainly help them in their drive in the second half of the schedule. The Drummondville Rockets seem to have the top position pretty well to themselves unless some of the others wake up.

Sherbrooke Beavers are holding down second but the Meteors are remaining right on their heels and a win or two could well wreck the picture. Tomorrow the Beavers move to Drummondville in an important tilt with the Rockets and in order to stay within hailing distance they must post a victory.

The Poliquin squad will be out to maintain their home winning stride. The Rockets are undefeated on their home ice and you can rest assured that they will be trying to do just that tomorrow when they cross sticks with the Beavers.

The Dube squad gave Magog a lesson Thursday evening at the Arena. It was one of those games when the puck was rolling for the Beavers and not for the Aces. The Magog crew is a better team than they showed against the Beavers and will be out to take the count of the Meteors tomorrow.

The league is enjoying a good season as the teams are beginning to click and the brand of hockey has improved considerably. A lot of the rough stuff has been nipped and the boys are really giving a good impression for the fans.

It is a shame that the fans are not supporting their clubs a little better as the brand of hockey which is being played is very good. It is fast, and we mean just that. Some of the boys could hold their own with higher leagues and the fans are seeing something good.

We think that from now until the end of the schedule any club in the loop will be able to knock over the others. Trying to pick the winners before the games now is beginning to be a problem. It was always understood when a team played Richmond or Victoriaville they could count a victory but things have changed a little during the past couple of weeks.

The teams will now begin to pick their positions and they will be shooting for higher berths in the final standing in order to get the home ice for the odd game and also the privilege where they will start the playoffs. So from now on you should watch things closely as anything could happen.

The Bing Crosby Golf Tournament will be televised tomorrow afternoon and it will be very interesting to watch the outcome of the $50,000 event. By this evening the field of 300 will be cut down with only the top performers competing for the big money.

It is an amateur-pro best-ball competition and it means a lot to the winners as they battle for the big share of the greenbacks. Bing will be around to do a little running commentary on the match. So don't forget to tune in and see one of the big golfing tournaments of the year.

They say that some newspaper men will do anything to get a story but it is hard to imagine anyone wanting to face Archie Moore in the ring to be able to write about it. Good way of getting a quick vacation in the hospital we think.

Anyway George Plimpton, co-editor of the Paris Review, is doing a series of articles for Sports Illustrated on how it feels to face a champion. We think he should have asked Yvon Durelle. It would have been a lot easier and he wouldn't have wasted so much blood. Anyway now he knows and his stories will be appearing shortly. It will be interesting to read them.

The skiers should be happy with all the snow and we shouldn't have any complaints like years past regarding the "white stuff." We understand that the Hillcrest and Mont Orford are running full blast and are having a grand time. The racing boys are reported in top shape and within a short time they will have an opportunity of showing their wares.

President Bob Gingras of Hillcrest and a few of his boys journeyed to Big Bromley, Vt., to try out the hill where the North American ski events will be held. Jean and Roland Lessard, Bob Therrien and Mike LeProhon made the trip. We would like to pass on a little information regarding competing in these various meets. They are open to bonafide members of a registered club with the Zone only. So if you wish to race you must join a club.

Beavers Face Rockets In "Big One" Tomorrow

GETTING READY FOR THE RACES—Guy Durocher is seen with Kruger Babs, a 12-year-old stallion owned by the Morgan Stable of Sherbrooke, which was purchased last fall in the States. Before coming to Sherbrooke he set a record of 2:05 on a half mile track for his mark. He is sired by Blackstone, who holds a world mark of 1:59. The stud will be used mainly for breeding purposes and in the meantime he is being worked in preparation for the coming summer.

Burke Emery Scores Win Over Noel Trigg In London 'Blood Bath'

Burke Emery of Sherbrooke, Que. won a hard-earned decision over Noel Trigg in Earl's Court, London, England this week.

Emery, at 173 pounds, one less than his opponent, scored the only knockdown of the fight when he caught Trigg with a hard right near the end of the second round. Trigg managed to get off the deck and weathered the storm to last out the round.

Trigg's best round was the fourth. He staggered the Canadian fighter twice, but Emery refused to back off and traded punch for punch with the hard-hitting Englishman.

Both fighters were heavily marked at the end of the eight-round bout.

Emery was cut twice under the left eye, which was completely closed during the last round, and had a badly bruised left ear.

Trigg came out of the battle with a two inch cut over the eye and a deep gash on the bridge of his nose.

The fight was a real brawl with the two fighters bleeding freely and slugging away trying for a knockout.

Emery, elated over his win, claims he will be ready in four or five weeks for his second bout in England. An opponent has yet to be named but Emery says he is willing to meet anyone.

Canadian Sports Council Should Be Set Up, Says John Russell Taylor; Governments Should Help Financially

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Canada Sports Council should be set up to do for amateur sports what the Canada Council is doing for culture, says John Russell Taylor.

Taylor, son of hockey great Fred (Cyclone) Taylor and a Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Vancouver-Burrard, adds he is ready to do more than just talk about it.

The 41-year-old lawyer said in an interview: "I have placed on the House order paper a motion asking the government to establish a sports council."

Taylor said action should be taken now when a majority "of our Canadian sports editors agree amateur sports needs government help. But the help should be given without interference or government control."

(A 1958 Canadian Press poll revealed 86 of 106 sports editors and broadcasters favored government subsidization of amateur sports. In a 1953 poll a similar view was expressed.)

The Dominion and provincial governments have contributed to the cost of sending teams to Olympic and British Empire Games but none has subsidized sports training. Federal officials have said that the policy of successive governments has been not to support any sports directly on a continuing basis.

Taylor said the sports council he proposes would sponsor and encourage amateur sports.

"It should follow the same pattern as the Canada Council," he said. "A fund of $100,000 should be given it and donations and bequests from private individuals and sportsmen made tax free."

"However, details will have to be worked out by a committee appointed by the House, with representatives from each province."

CALLS FOR STUDY
Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia and a member of the Canada Council, commented:

"Whether a council similar to the Canada Council or the National Research Council is the answer to amateur sports in Canada, I don't know. It is a matter for serious and careful study."

Walter Eilers, prominent Vancouver sportsman and sponsor of Canada's 1958 senior men's and women's basketball champions, says: "As a starter the government should pay transportation costs for any Canadian team representing Canada in an international competition."

Taylor says he has received support for the plan from a group of members in a private caucus.

The plan was conceived by the late Lionel Conacher—Canada's athlete of the first half century in a Canadian Press poll—he said. But Conacher died before he could introduce it in the House.

Support has also been received from leading sports personalities across Canada, Taylor said.

SAYS SPORT SUFFERS
He added:

"The country has become culture conscious at the expense of sports. Millions have been spent for foreign paintings, television and radio programs to bring culture to Canadians. But up to now the government grants to sports

Canada Cup To Be Played In Australia

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1959 Canada Cup and International Golf championships will be played at the Royal Melbourne Club in Australia, Nov. 18-21, Frank Pace Jr., president of the International Golf Association, said Thursday. Professional golfers from 32 countries will be invited to compete.

The Irish team of Harry Bradshaw and Christy O'Connor, winners of the Canada Cup in Mexico City last year, and Angel Miguel of Spain.

SHS Midgets Down LHS 7-1

SHS Midget Hockey Club maintained its streak of undefeated games when it triumphed against Lennoxville to the score of 7-1.

The game was played on sticky ice and made it slow at times. In the first period Mills and Pariseau connected for SHS, Mills, Covey and Ross respectively scored in the second period to run the score to 5-0 for the Maroon and White Team.

In the final period Lennoxville put on a drive in order to avert the shut-out and Harmer scored at 7:45. SHS came back with two more before the final whistle by Mills and Covey.

The game was keenly contested with both sides going all out at times. Only five penalties were called, four going to LHS and one to SHS.

First Period
1—SHS Mills (Ross) 10:45
2—SHS, Pariseau 13:30

Penalties—None.
Second Period
3—SHS, Ross (Mills, Coates) 4:01
4—SHS, Covey (Pariseau) 12:00
5—SHS, Mills (Coates) 14:45

Penalties—None.
Third Period
6—LHS, Harmer (Hodge) 7:45
7—SHS, Mills (Coates) 12:15
8—SHS, Covey (Matthews) 17:35

Penalties—Hodge (2), Crosby, Matthews, Harmer.

have been inadequate.

"We expect our teams to be good ambassadors. The government doesn't order this, but its wishes are impressed upon athletes by team officials."

"Yet when the team asks for financial assistance, the federal government does little."

MacKenzie said it will require a lot of planning to set up a sports council.

"But, sports are not being neglected for culture. That's crazy. The two aren't even in competition, they are complementary."

"Interest in culture by Canadians has been pathetic, but sports has always held the public's attention and large sections of our daily newspapers are devoted to sports. Official government interest, however, has been weak."

Meteors Travel To Magog, Braves At Victoriaville In Afternoon Tilts; Clubs Open Bid For Higher Berths

The battle for a higher berth in the E.T. Intermediate Hockey League continues tomorrow afternoon with three games on tap. Sherbrooke will visit Drummondville, Richmond is at Victoriaville and Asbestos moves up to Magog.

The Rockets are in first place and will be out to protect their lead over their closest rivals, Sherbrooke Beavers, when they clash in an important game for both clubs. Asbestos Meteors are taking on the Aces in their own backyard and on their past showing before their fans the Magog squad is a slight favorite to take the decision.

The Drummondville team are still undefeated on their home ice and no doubt Coach Lou Poliquin will have a full squad on hand for the game with Sherbrooke. The Rockets haven't played since Tuesday when they battled the Meteors to a 2-2 draw in the Mining Town and should be in top shape.

Sherbrooke, on the other hand, stopped the Magog Aces Thursday and pulled out without any serious injuries. The line of Dube-Bedard-Dussault will be in for a little extra watching after their performance when they accounted for four of the seven goals registered.

The tilt at Magog will be another close match as the Aces will be out to reduce the five-point spread the Meteors hold over them. The Magog team has two games in hand but despite this they will be gunning for a win to help their cause.

At Victoriaville the Braves and Canadiens, both reinforced lately, will be meeting each other with new players in their lineups. The Red Goupille team is favored since they are playing on their home ice but it will be a hard fight.

St. Francis And Indians Clash In First Game Of Junior Twinbill Tomorrow; Maroons - Beavers Meet

First place in the Sherbrooke Junior Hockey League will be at stake tomorrow afternoon at the Arena when St. Francis and the Indians clash in the first game of a twinbill. In the second tilt Pat Murphy's Junior Beavers will be out for their second consecutive win when they tangle with Roger Roy's Maroons.

The first tilt is booked for 1.45 with the second at 3.15. The Indians are enjoying a slim one-point lead over second-place Saints while the Maroons are third with a three-point spread over the cellar-dwelling Beavers.

Coach Murphy has added Keith Peak to his squad since they played the Maroons in their first encounter with the Roy aggregation emerging with a 8-5 count. The Beavers have also added a new goalie and will be gunning for their victory of the season.

In their last outing the Beavers held the front-running Indians to a 3-3 deadlock and are favored to take the Maroons tomorrow afternoon. In the first tilt the Indians will be out to protect their undefeated streak as they are the only club in the Dugre circuit who has as yet to come out on the short end of the count.

Seven points separate the four clubs and a few wins could upset the standing in good shape. The youngsters are playing good hockey and with the rough stuff cut they are settling down.

The Maroons are hoping to have a few new players in uniform for tomorrow's game as they are meeting a tough opponent in the Beavers. Coach Murphy's team with his new players have added plenty of strength and it will be a hard test for the Maroons of Roger Roy.

Sugar Ray To Defend His Title This Year
NEW YORK (AP)—The 1959 National Boxing Association's executive committee said Thursday it has accepted Ray Robinson's assurance that he will defend his middleweight title no later than June of this year.

Robinson and Cus d'Amato, manager of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, had been invited before the NBA executive committee to explain their plans for title defenses.

Patterson will defend his title within a reasonable length of time against an NBA-rated challenger, d'Amato said.

Robinson said he already has started negotiations for a title defence, presumably against Carmen Basilio, but he did not identify his opponent. Robinson out-pointed Basilio last March to regain the title he lost to the challenger the year before.

Perhaps you have already faced up to the summer-time anti-freeze problem. If you haven't it is, quite frankly, time that you did.

A habit has grown up among many motorists to leave their "permanent type" anti-freeze in the radiator through several winters and summers. Quite recent research on the subject says that you shouldn't.

There are two good reasons. First of all, the rust inhibitors have more than likely been consumed through the winter and without the rust inhibitors the anti-freeze becomes a highly-corrosive solution, especially to copper, brass and solder.

Secondly, ethylene glycol, which is the "permanent type" anti-freeze, does not carry away heat as well as plain water. This is fine in the winter time, but in the summer it can mean an over-hot engine.

An engine running hot is more liable to knock and ping. Even if the temperature gauge doesn't show it, the engine may still be overheating at local trouble spots. This pin-point overheating, if it's bad enough, can result in cracked blocks or cracked cylinder heads.

I always hate writing these doom-and-gloom columns, the kind that promise dire consequences unless you do something right away. But it's simple enough to drain the radiator and fill it with plain water and rust inhibitor.

Summer can be the time of driving fun it's meant to be, but it's a time when you want a reliable car, a car that's been checked thoroughly by trained mechanics, not just plumped down on a lot. You want a car that will be fun, not misery, and the place to find it, of course, is over at Foxbrooke Motors' used car lot.

NEW BP SERVICE STATION

NOW OPEN IN NORTH HATLEY

There's a brand new BP Service Station in North Hatley offering district motorists a complete service. The Woodard BP Service Station is geared to service. Motorists with problems will receive good service... and prompt service, by experts in their field. One problem that country motorists are constantly confronted with, is where to find efficient auto electric service. Philip Woodard himself specializes in this work. Both 12 and 6 volt electrical systems, and both Canadian and European car owners will appreciate the fact that, right in North Hatley, they can have their cars' electrical systems put in tip top condition. Mechanical service is also offered. Tune-up jobs are a specialty and bigger jobs, such as motor reconditioning, are also offered. When road service is needed, just phone Woodard's Garage. An expert repair man will arrive in no time to make temporary repairs and get you "back on the road."
