Cold rains with a few snow flakes and mild, sunny periods to open this pleasant, but changeable week.

Morning rime frosts and some fog. Afternoons mild. Nights still frosty. Clouding mid-week for more freezing drizzle and light, sticky snow. Windswept powder snow for north and Gulf counties, with below zero nights.

235 pound purse snatcher caught with juvenile

Westmount police on the alert captured a purse-snatching duet in the act just as they had relieved a young lady of her purse on Dorchester street near Bruce late Saturday night.

The surprise came when police found themselves confronted with a 235 pound individual, 24 years of age, who gave a Maisonneuve Boulevard east address, as the culprit. He was accompanied in partnership by a 16 year old youth as his aide.

Screams of the woman alerted the police and the burly prisoner and his companion were in the grasp of the police before they knew it. The couple surrendered quietly and were hauled off to the police pokey.

Appearing in Westmount police court Monday, Melancon pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence to be handed out Friday. In the meantime his past record will be checked. The juvenile pleaded guilty in Social Welfare Court and was kept in detention.

Police believe this latest arrest will put an end to the recent series of purse snatchings in the Westmount district.

Westmount expresses its sense of loss

Westmount City Council at their meeting Monday night expressed their deep sorrow at the loss through death of the late Governor General Georges Vanier, P.C., D.S.O., M.C., C.D. by passing a resolution sent to Madame Vanier in the following words:

"WHEREAS the Westmount City Council, having learned with the deepest sorrow of the death of our beloved Governor-General, His Excellency General The Right Honorable Georges Philias Vanier, PC, DSO, MC, CD, desires to record its sincere appreciation of his outstanding courage and devotion in the many years of his service to our country; and

WHEREAS his labors on behalf of the people of Canada and the recognition granted him as the representative of our most gracious Sovereign has endeared him to all the people of Canada;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED That this Council desires on its own behalf and on behalf of all the citizens of Westmount, to convey to Her Excellency Madame Vanier, and all members of the family, its deepest sympathy in their bereavement."

Flags flew at half mast at the City Hall and on all other public buildings throughout the city.

The sum of $87,810 has been committed by the Westmount City Council to cover the cost of underground conduits and street lighting for Dorchester street. The amount will also cover the construction of a four duct lateral conduit leading to the Westmount Square development.

The conduits will accommodate street lighting, traffic control, power distribution and other cables and provision is also made for future infed cables from Hydro-Quebec. Street lighting will be installed in the centre mall, the Westmount Square Centre Complex will be supplied by four cables while two existing ducts will provide for a metering cable and spare capacity made necessary by the widening of Dorchester street.

The sum of $38,000 has been voted to cover the cost of traffic signal systems at the intersections of Dorchester, St. Catherine, Greene, Wood and Atwater avenues.

These new type of signals will replace the present pole top signals at Atwater and the temporary installation at St. Catherine and will provide traffic control at the Greene and Wood avenue intersections.

Boys win speaking honors

Abilities of Westmount youths in the enviable art of public speaking was vividly shown to members of the Westmount Rotary Club last week when three teen age students addressed club members in the annual public speaking program sponsored by the Montreal and Westmount Rotary Clubs.

The students spoke on subjects of their choice and were roundly applauded for their talent and ability of being able to think on their feet and express themselves with ease.

Richard Lande of Westmount High School was awarded top honors awarded by the panel of judges. Richard spoke on the subject of "Problems of Young People" and was allotted the

Selby Street demolition to provide valuable aid

Work of demolition has been started and is now well underway on the Selby street project. Teperman and Sons, responsible for the wrecking and tearing down of the buildings, moved in with their crews and are not losing any time in clearing the area.

The work however is not all one of destruction as some constructive instruction will come out of the work now being done before the job is finished.

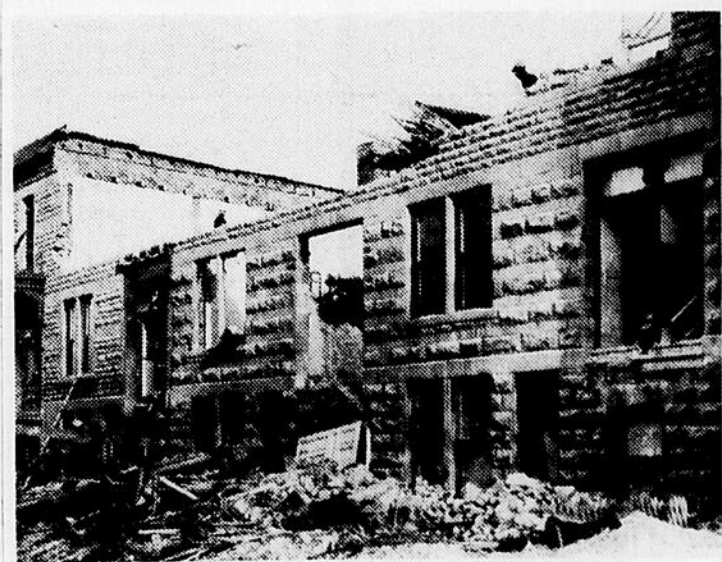

According to Director of Public Safety, Chief E. C.

Harper one building unit at 351 Selby is being preserved for the time being in order to be used as an open air classroom in which Civil Defence, Fire and Police as well as other services may take advantage of the opportunity in using the building as a model in which the various services may actually put their knowledge in rescue work to good advantage.

The building chosen will be used to train crews in the use of drills, power saws, emergency forced entry, demolition etc., as if they were working under actual disaster conditions.

Rescue work by the fire department and the civil defense is being practiced under near actual conditions. In this manner the crews will have an opportunity of learning the intricacies of their work. Forcible entry will be practiced as well as rescue work performed with the use of stretchers and ladders thereby putting the equipment at the departments disposal to work simulating actual disaster.

In this manner the various departments are receiving instruction of value and at the same time helping in the work of demolition.

Making Way for Progress

Selby street demolition is now well underway and workmen are at present levelling homes which have seen better days. This was the scene which greeted passers-by on the south side of the street as the wreckers hammers continued their work of levelling the area. A portion of the buildings will be used to train civil defence and fire protection units in actual disaster conditions.

Delivery of new plates awaited

Westmount City Council passed first, second and third reading in rapid succession at their meeting Monday night to an amendment of the taxi-by-law No. 543 concerning taxi cabs, automobiles for hire, autobuses and cabs bringing the tariff in line to coincide with Montreal taxi rates.

It was announced by General Manager and Treasurer N. T. Dawe that all taxi meters on city cabs are at present under process of being changed to conform with the new tariffs.

A notice of motion was given by Ald. McEntyre to move first reading of a by-law concerning the general pension fund of the city to amend by-law 698 and also 699 concerning the police and firemen's pension fund.

It was noted that delivery of new name plates for Maisonneuve Boulevard (formerly Western Avenue) is being awaited and they will be in place within a few days.

MONTREAL

When Rev. Robert Norwood was moved to Montreal from his

Westmounter in Britain:

The Power of The Pulpit

By Stephen Schofield

obscure home in Nova Scotia, my grandfather happened to be one of a committee seeking a man for his church in London, Ontario; and he induced Mr. Norwood to go to London. Ten years later he was moved to Boston; then to a larger church in Philadelphia; and finally to St. Bartholomew's in New York. Colossal as it is, he repeatedly filled it. Why? And why was he moved from one place to another? Because he sanctified the vestry? Because he was less blemished than others? Because he conducted meetings efficiently and established a good troop of Boy Scouts wherever he went? Partly perhaps. But I think the main reason was because he spoke with such passion.

Between Montreal and Teas is there a mightier means of propagating His wishes? "The ability to speak effectively," said William Jennings Bryan, "is an accomplishment rather than a gift." Worthwhile? Oh, ye men of the Church, under His stars in Surrey fields I gape in awe and wonder: Is there anything under them that is more worthwhile?

BOONOTE:

The above article I mimeographed and sent to about 2,000 Canadian clergymen. This elicited some 60 letters, mostly encouraging. But one of these gentlemen, ensconced in the wilds of northern Ontario, unwittingly put me in my place very nicely. Few people impress me. He does:

Ontario.

Dear Mr. Schofield,
I have just been reading your article. While you may picture conditions correctly in some situations, it would seem that the normal conditions of other ministers' lives are unknown.

Take first the preparation of sermons. A great many of us have 2 or 3 sermons to preach each Sunday; sometimes 4 sermons in one day. Then we have a pile of work to do in the week. While the idea of noting down anecdotes and ideas is correct and often used, I believe in practice we find it better to concentrate, during the preceding week, on the subject matter of the sermons to be delivered than in putting down items as trying to grasp too much and producing chaos.

Then there is the common experience of finding members of the congregation of the last church you have taken service in, present at the next church in your mission, to hear another sermon; and woe betide you if you preach the same sermon to them again. Also the position you find yourself in when a visitor comes to you just before the service starts and begs you to speak on a certain text instead of the sermon you have prepared. They have a reason, I suppose, for such an action. You may never get the chance again.

With regard to speaking with passion, as per John the Baptist, it may be all right. But I don't find either passion or even deadly earnestness were the outstanding marks of Our Lord's preaching. He seems to have gone in more for quiet talks and stories which people would think of time after time, turn them over in their minds and puzzle the thing through gradually. A new light on common things. His speaking and teaching were more convincing because he was certain of the things he spoke of. He had experienced their truth in his own life. He could say quietly, "I know." That has more power than passion.

Now in connection with delivery there immediately comes the question of physical ability and fatigue. I doubt if any man could deliver with passion four or even three sermons a day, besides taking the services, and travel 30 miles over all kinds of roads, with all kinds of temperatures. This winter the thermometer has been usually below zero, down to 50 below, usually 10 to 25 below steady, and every day endless snow shovelling. In summer, July and August, we usually have very hot and oppressive weather. The church buildings and school houses where we hold services are like ovens, no breeze outside, and the very atmosphere deadens you. In the country the people are tired and the struggle to live is so hard that of the little money they earn they can give very little towards the offertory.

Then you are up against the fact of half-a-dozen different sects in a settlement of perhaps 15 families and not a complete Anglican in the bunch; father and mothers being of different religious denomination.

Of course, these good people value church services and are anxious for their children to be baptized and taught Christian truths. But the isolation of the settlers and the hard struggle to exist put an atmosphere about life which people in cities have absolutely no idea of. I've lived their life and know what is like.

I would suggest that if the minister himself has received that personal vision of God which is such a wonderful anchor in life, and also an inspiration, he will be able to help folks face life a little more as God would have them do and bring them to God at the last. I believe it is the personal vision of God that counts.

Yours sincerely,

(Rev.) W.

St. Paul's Academy began Centennial Year very well with a violin performance by a Canadian Artist, Arthur Leblanc. The honorable guest came by request of our Superior Sister Drouin. The grades and high school of both the English and French sections seemed to truly enjoy this cultural event offered to them.

The graduates of this year were cordially invited to an open house held at Marianopolis College. The invitation was extended to Fourth High by the Freshman Class of Marionopolis.

The purpose of the invitation was to give '67 grads an idea of

YOUR MP REPORTS FROM OTTAWA

When people want an example of how a Crown Corporation should be run, they usually point to Polymer Corporation. During its 25 year history it has not only quadrupled the value of its assets, but it has returned a healthy annual profit to its only shareholder, the Canadian taxpayer.

The company was incorporated on an auspicious Friday the thirteenth of February, 1942. C. D. Howe, at that time Minister of Munitions and Supply, was the moving force behind the foundation of the company, but he was unwittingly assisted by the Japanese Imperial Army which had cut off our supply of natural rubber by capturing Malaya. The Japanese, who are not slow to take advantage of history's turnabouts, are among the most active of Polymer's customers.

From the original Order-in-Council charging Polymer with the responsibility of building a synthetic rubber plant to help meet wartime shortages, the company has grown to a giant international complex selling its products in over 90 countries and supplying about 10 per cent of the world's synthetic rubber.

This growth results from Polymer's continuing, successful efforts to reduce the cost of its products despite increases in the costs of labor, materials, and services. These product cost reductions are based on a substantial and expanding program of industrial research and development. Research is carried out not only in Polymer's own laboratories, which are among the most modern and best-equipped in the world, but in the laboratories of many Canadian universities, where research is sponsored by Polymer grants and commissions.

The vocabulary of synthetic rubber research is a type-setter's nightmare (isobutylene copolymers, carboxylated latices, polyacrylates, styrene monomer, polypropylene) and the company's patented trade marks are probably not familiar to the general public (POLYSAR, KRYLENE, KRYFLEX, TAKTENE and TRANS-PIP). But we are all using Polymer products in our daily lives in our cars, our homes, our offices, our food packages, our clothes, and even our golf balls.

Although Polymer Corporation would not have been started without government support, its remarkable growth results from its aggressive policy of expansion and competition, unhampered by the restrictions which would govern a government department. It has combined the advantages of public ownership and administrative autonomy. Successive governments have wisely allowed it to operate (and pay taxes) as if it were a private business.

Crown Corporation report to Parliament through a Cabinet Minister. One of my pleasantest parliamentary duties is to act as Polymer's spokesman.

On its silver anniversary, Happy Birthday Polymer!

The Swiss have been using coaches (horse-drawn and motorized) since about 1832, to transport mail to hamlets and towns high in the Alps to which railroads could not be operated. Because of their regularity and dependability, passengers requested transportation on them and the Postal Administration obliged until now, when the passenger business is an important revenue source, however the service of carrying mail still remains the first and foremost purpose of the modern vehicles, Scott nos. 237, 307, 345, 346 and 355. A survey of the Office for Trade Development, in Lausanne, revealed that today the Postal Administration is "by far the biggest road transportation concern in Switzerland."

The second stamp issue in February by the Hungarian Post Office was a true propaganda label. This stamp, a 2Ft. value, was to commemorate the 10th Anniversary of the Workers' Militia and is the first in the series 'Anniversaries — Events 1967'. Printing was by photogravure in bluish grey and depicts a workers' militiaman holding a submachine-gun and in the background the emblem of the Militia and smoking chimney-stacks may be seen.

I am sure that all you collectors of 'birds on stamps' will be interested in this beauty from Iceland. It is a 20Kr. stamp to be issued March 16th, depicting the Great Northern Diver. Printing was by Courvoisier S. A., La Chaux-de-Fonds Switzerland, multicolored by heliogravure process.

The inauguration of international commercial satellite communication service in Japan by means of the Intelsat II that was launched over the Pacific in January 1967, was marked with a special postage stamp of 15 yen. The stamp portrays Intelsat II with the Earth and the Moon in the background, and printing was by photogravure in greenish blue and dark brown grey. The ninth of the 'Fish Series,' a special stamp, 15 yen value, was issued issued Feb. 10th having buri (Seriola quinqueradiata) for its subject. Printing was by photogravure in five colours and like the foregoing was printed on white paper without watermark.

The Republic of Burundi has issued a series of souvenir sheets consisting of 8 stamps, each a different value in rows of three with a tab in the center. The border inscription reads "Republic of Burundi — 4th Anniversary of Independence 1 July 1966."

On the occasion of the World Championship in Biathlon 15-19th Feb. 1967 in Altenberg/Ostetzzgebirge, German Democratic Republic the Ministry of Posts issued three special stamps, 10 pfg. — Shooting lying; 20 pfg. — Shooting standing; 25 pfg. — Change of relay. Each stamp was printed in three colors by offset process on unwatermarked paper, and design was by Joachim Riess.

We Say

The sort of person we dream of being

GREATEST loss to Canada in Georges P. Vanier's death is not in that he was a gallant soldier, distinguished diplomat, or even our Governor-General.

In the 100 years since Confederation and well before, this country has failed in all but a few shining examples to produce true, unhyphenated Canadians — whose language, deeds, outlooks and thoughts not only embrace but soar above our two-nation history and exemplify the people we dream of being.

Georges Vanier is one of those shining examples.

Canadians of whatever origin can identify themselves with him.

The spirit of this man pervading the land makes our second century less uncertain.

Centennial Project or excuse for one

IN an adjoining column appears a welcome clarifying letter from Mr. Colin M. Russel, president of the Westmount Municipal Association, on the matter of Westmount's Centennial Project.

The history Mr. Russel outlines, up to about a month ago, is known to us and our readers. It was, of course, the most recent decision of the WMA executive which — perhaps because it was not made known except by hearsay — which prompted us last week to express dismay that Westmount appeared to be well into 1967 without an undertaking worthy of this important year.

It is obvious from the WMA's Feb. 13 resolution that the modified

You Say

Sir: You are to be complimented on the generally broad coverage of matters of interest to the residents of Westmount.

It is for this reason that I am somewhat taken aback to read your editorial "How Will Westmount Mark Centennial?" appearing in the issue of March 2. You state that nothing more has been heard since you conducted, in co-operation with the Westmount Municipal Association, a contest for the best Centennial project idea.

May I refer you to lead articles appearing on the front page of your paper. On April 28, 1966, you report "Centennial House Dropped — Westmount Municipal Association Wants Library Extension as City's Centennial Project". This was when it was found that the Library proposal was more practical. On July 21 you report "Library Extension Set By City As Centennial Project" when Council adopted this proposal.

Since that time there has been the usual run of technical details to implement such a project and obtain approval for the expenditure of taxpayers' funds. These have included the passing of By-law 690 on August 19, the convening of a public meeting of proprietors who are electors on August 30, the approvals of such By-law by the Minister of Municipal Affairs on December 9 and by the Quebec Municipal Commission of December 13, the calling for tenders on January 4, 1967 and the opening of tenders on January 19, all of which are a matter of public record and presumably known to your staff.

It was originally thought that a completely new wing to the Library would be required to provide the facilities which had been envisaged in the Centennial Project.

When the plans were considered by Council and by library scheme is but tenuously a Centennial Project.

By all means, let's have a new and enlarged reference room. But is simply making better use of existing library space appropriate enough to mark Confederation's 100th year?

the Library Trustees, in conjunction with tenders submitted, it was found that the capital cost involved was far beyond what seemed appropriate to the City's means. Further, the implementation of such plans would have involved an addition to the Library's annual budget of some $15,000-$20,000 a year. It must be remembered that all such expenditures are inevitably paid for by all taxpayers. City funds cannot be drawn upon with impunity.

Space was found which could be brought into more effective use and provide all the necessary facilities to meet the increasing demands on the Library, including a completely new and enlarged reference room. As a result, the City's Centennial Project was considered at a special informal meeting called by Council on February 12, at which the Library Trustees and representatives of the Westmount Municipal Association were present, and all the possibilities were discussed in detail.

The whole question was further discussed at length at the meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association Executive held on February 13 and the following resolution was moved, seconded and unanimously passed:

THAT the Westmount Municipal Association approve the principle of a modified version of the Centennial Library Project, provided that its final character and appearance justify its being termed a recognizable Centennial Project, and that it is desirable that a focus and symbol of the Centennial commemoration be incorporated and that a multi-purpose display area of unspecified size in keeping with those found in most modern libraries be provided.

This matter is now in the hands of Council to work out with the architect. The Executive of this Association is confident that the Centennial Project will be in keeping with the best traditions of Westmount and, in particular, will be an impressive and useful symbol to the youth and all residents of our City for some years to come.

New Canadian centennial coins now making their appearance will have an honored position to play in a ceremony to be held in Westmount in the near future. When the cornerstone of St. Andrew's Church in Westmount was laid on May 30, 1908, among the articles placed in it was a set of the first Canadian coinage minted in Canada. Prior to that year Canada's coinage was minted in Great Britain, a practice which was ended with establishment of the Royal Canadian Mint. After the church was destroyed by fire in August, 1965, the cornerstone was opened and its sealed contents removed. These are now on display in the Westmount office of the Royal Trust Co. When the cornerstone of the new church, now under construction, is laid, the 1908 coins will be re-interred, along with a set of Canada's 1967 centennial coinage.

Fifth Annual Three Choir Festival of Lenten Music

THE CHURCH OF ST. JAMES
THE APOSTLE, corner of St.
Catherine and Bishop, will hold its fifth annual THREE CHOIRS FESTIVAL of LENTEN MUSIC on Saturday, March 18, at 4:00 p.m.

The three choirs consist of the Choir of the Church of the Messiah, Barbara Keats, Director, the Choir of St. Andrew's United Church, Westmount, Gordon White, Director, and the Choir of the Church of St. James the Apostle, Ted McLearn, Director.

As in the past, the choirs will be heard individually, antiphonally, and combined, in a program of pre-Easter Carols, Chorales, Canticles and Choruses by Tal-lis, Sweelinck, Weelkes, Viadana, Blow, Pitoni, Stanford, Brahms,
Douglas Clarke and Joseph Gelineau.

The program will begin with the combined choirs singing two Chorales from Bach's St. Matthew Passion; it will later feature the antiphonal singing of Jacob Handel's Alleluia for Three Choirs, and will conclude with two choruses from Handel's Messiah.

Organ music by Bach and Clerambault will be played by Gordon White.

There will be well-known hymns for the congregation to sing. An offering will be taken. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Unitarian, World Scripture series

At the morning service, Rev.
Leonard Mason will preach the fifth of his World Scripture sermons, THE OTHER JESUS.
Originally Jewish, the Book of Ecclesiasticus written by Jesus, son of Sirach, is a collection of essays and poems reflecting the life, manners and morals of a cultured Jew of the 2nd century B.C. But its wisdom and practical religion made it a church handbook for Christians. Its song, "Let us now praise famous men" has entered deeply into Christian liturgy. The book appears in the Old Testament Apocrypha.

On Tuesday, March 14th, the continuing series on "The War on Poverty" by the Social Responsibility Committee will be held in Channing Hall, 3415 Simpson street at 8:15 p.m. Mr.
C. W. Dickson, Director Gen-

dians are held on Monday evenings at eight o'clock.

Christian Science 'Substance'

The imperishability of spiritual things will be contrasted with the transience of materiality at the services in the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Substance". Relevant Scripture will include this verse from Psalms:
"They that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever." Pertinent selections from the denominational textbook will include: "As material knowledge diminishes and spiritual understanding increases, real objects will be apprehended mentally instead of materially" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Prep School Pupils Present Modern Plays

In an effort to produce more English theater of quality in Montreal, Prep School is staging three modern one-act plays: Eugene O'Neill's, 'The Rope' and 'Bound East for Cardiff,' and John Synge's 'Riders to the Sea.' They will be presented at 12 Church Hill in Westmount, March 10 and 11 at 8:30 in St. Mathias Church.

Sandy McAdams, their director, who has done similar work in the United States, feels that more English-speaking theater is needed in Quebec — "As a newcomer to Montreal I have marvelled at the lack of productions here. To fill this void I have chosen three plays from the American and Irish theater as debut pieces for this group. I hope students at Prep School can now and in the future show the community fine dramatic theater."

The three plays all revolve around the sea and around the lives of people intimately involved with it. O'Neill's characters are New Englanders and rough seamen presenting the paradox of hating the sea yet depending on it for their living. Synge deals with the people of the Aran Islands. In the late 19th. century Synge spent a year on these islands and then produced this work for the Irish National Theater of W.B. Yeats and Lady Gregory.

fect, Harold Fernberg, and just before Christmas in 1953 they were married in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer in Westmount.

In all this time nothing had dampened the now Mrs. Fernberg's ambition to be a professional textile designer, although it was not until 1962, after a son Peter and a daughter Margaret were born that she found it possible to return to Finland and study for three years at the Kreetta Pohjanheimo Textile Design School. Harold Fernberg made the trip back later and the family were all together in their former homeland for one year.

Back in Canada again they found the house they wanted, in Westmount and Mrs. Fernberg settled down at last to raise her small family and create her own designs, some on a large loom imported from Finland and some on the smaller Canadian loom.

Since then she has been exhibiting regularly, last year the Galerie des Artisans in Montreal showed her work, and now Kirsti Fernberg creations will be shown at the Canadian Handicraft Guild in Toronto in a five man show starting today.

All the Weaving will be Kirsti's, and the Fernbergs will attend the opening in Toronto.

And what could be more fitting than that one of the designs which will form a part of the exhibition of Canada's 'Family Tree' at Expo this summer will be a tapestry by this talented and plucky Westmounter?

St. Leo's

Senior Hockey Team wins championship

By KEN HAMILTON

St. Leo's Academy Senior Hockey team brought home the Academy's first Greater Montreal Interscholastic Athletic Association Senior 'A' hockey title in eight years last Thursday by defeating Westmount High School, the defending champions 5-2. It took a fabulous team effort and a three-goal performance by captain Neil Fernandes plus singletons by Grant Sherriffs and Mike Gormley to turn the trick. Defenceman Dalton Barnoff supplied what amounted to an almost impenetrable wall in front of goaler Reid Sherriffs who turned in a sparkling display of net-minding.

Neil Fernandes opened the scoring at the 4 minute mark of the game assisted by Wayne Colomb and Grant Sherriffs. A few minutes later Grant Sherriffs tallied on a pass from Neil Fernandes who then went on to score 2 goals in less than one minute to put the Saints well out in front and at the same time got his third hat trick of the season. Fernandes' first goal was assisted on by Gerry Fortin and the second was unassisted as Neil broke through the Westmount defence and beat goaler Art Reid. Mike Gormley added the fifth goal which guaranteed the Saints of the title.

Congratulations to the team on a sparkling victory and season, and to Coach Andy McGillis who has done a fantastic job in leading his squad to the championship.

Looking back over the season, St. Leo's has scored 39 goals in 10 games for a 3.9 goals per game average. During this same period of time a total of 17 goals was scored against the Saints for an average of 1.7 per game. Goaler Reid Sherriffs is the proud holder of an amazing 1.7 'goals against' average which should put him at the top of the league in the goaling department. Neil Fernandes was the leading scorer on the team this season with 15 goals to his credit. He is followed by Mike Gormley with 8, Grant Sherriffs 7, Gerry Fortin 4, Wayne Colomb, Dalton Barnoff and Desio Fernandes each with 1.

The Second Annual Winter

Carnival of St. Leo's and St. Paul's Academies will be held on March 9, with a number of sports activities in the afternoon followed by a dinner and dance in the evening. The nominations for King and Queen are: Queen: 4th High Eng., Joan Lunny, Fr. Sylvie Dagenais; 3rd High Eng., Cathy Colvey, Fr. Claire Brosard. King: 4th High Eng., Dan Cere, Fr. Jerry Laurandean; 3rd Eng., Eddy Laflamme, Fr. Guy Badeaux.

usual time of five minutes to put his message across. As a result he now moves towards the finals to compete with other youthful speakers who have won honors in various parts of the province.

Barry Lazar of Selwyn House was second choice of the judges. He spoke on the subject of "The CBC, a cultural Asset" and delivered his talk with the ease and poise of a veteran after dinner speaker. His talk indicated he had done a lot of research on the subject matter.

Third honors went to Timothy Crilly of St. Leo's Academy who spoke on the same subject as the winner namely the problems of young people.

That the judges had some difficulty in coming to a final decision was indicated by the length of time they took following their withdrawal to choose a winner.

President Frank Starr introduced Jay Burke who acted as chairman for the public speaking session and explained the rules and regulations covering the competition which is one of Rotary's pet projects.

During the proceedings Roy McKelvie, executive Secretary of the Westmount YMCA was installed as a new member and heartily welcomed by the group.

Books, books, books, that was the theme hammered home by M. C. Robinson to the members. At least 20,000 volumes of discarded books from libraries are being sought for a special project to be developed at this year's carnival, tentative date of which will be held June 13 to 17 this year.
