World News In Brief

Le Havre, France — (AP) — French pianist Robert Sergil today claimed a world record of 245 hours of steady piano-playing.

The old record of 244 hours was held by a German, Heinz Arnitz, who collapsed Monday after 225 hours.

Sergil said he would go on playing until midnight.

Tokyo — (Reuters) — Volcanic Mount Aso on Japan's southern-most island, which Monday erupted with heavy casualties among climbers on its slopes, exploded again early today and showered man-sized boulders near rescue workers.

The first eruption killed at least 10 persons and injured nearly 100, according to unofficial estimates. Rescue workers today feared the death toll might reach 30.

London —(Reuters)— Prime Minister Churchill's government Monday night won final passage of its first major piece of legislation—return of the freight trucking industry to private ownership.

The government, countering what Churchill called "gross obstruction" by the labor opposition, used the "guillotine" to chop off debate on the transport bill.

This parliamentary device thwarts delaying tactics by setting a timetable for debate.

Marine Air Wing, In Korea —(AP)— Capt. Ted Williams, former Boston Red Sox slugger now flying a jet for the marines, Monday brought his fighter-bomber home safely after it had been hit by Red anti-aircraft fire. The marines said Williams' plane sustained minor damage when flak hit the left-wing tip-tank. Williams was unhurt.

London —(AP)— Nine Canadian singers — five women and four men — will sing with the Westminster Abbey choir at the Coronation, it was announced today.

The nine, all now in Britain, are Canada's contribution to the group of Commonwealth artists invited to join the Abbey choir for the Coronation.

The singers are: Tenors Ernest Rosser of Hamilton and Robert Edy of London, Ont.; baritones Edmund Hockridge, formerly of Vancouver, and Naydn John of Toronto; sopranos Simone Flibotte and Clare Duchesneau of Montreal and Dorothy Allen, Sackville, N.B.; contraltos Jean Watson, formerly of Toronto and Mary McCallum.

Manila —(AP)— Fire of undetermined origin raged through the business district of Batangas Monday, leaving one dead, two missing and about 1,000 homeless. Batangas, 75 air miles south of here, has a population of about 65,000.

U.N. Threatens To End Truce Talks Unless Reds Offer Concrete Proposals

Allies Declare They Will Not Become Involved In Protracted And Useless Arguments.

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

Panmunjom — (AP) — UN negotiators today threatened to break off the renewed Korean armistice talks unless the Communists come up soon with a concrete proposal for exchanging prisoners — last big obstacle to a truce.

Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison said the UN command "does not intend to become involved in protracted and useless arguments." He warned the Reds that they "should be well aware that we mean what we say."

Official sources in Washington, however, were said to see a glimmer of hope that the Reds may be moving toward a truce despite today's UN threat to suspend the negotiations again.

The session at Panmunjom was the third since the negotiations were revived Sunday in an effort to decide what to do with prisoners who refuse to go home.

The Allies asked the Reds to name a neutral state which would assume custody of prisoners unwilling to return to Communist rule, but received no definite answer. The Communists have indicated they might name Red-run Poland or Czechoslovakia, neither of which would be acceptable to the UN command. The Communists rejected Switzerland.

The full, five-member delegations met for 39 minutes and will meet again Wednesday.

They were hung up on three main points:

1. The neutral state to handle balky prisoners.

2. The length of time after an armistice necessary for disposal of prisoners.

3. Whether prisoners will be shipped to the neutral state or be held in Korea while their fate is decided.

Nam once more called for debate on deciding the neutral state. He described the six-point proposal he advanced at the opening session Sunday as reasonable.

This proposal called for repatriating within two months after an armistice prisoners wanting to go home, and for sending to a neutral state those refusing repatriations. Within the following six months, representatives of Red China and North Korea would be permitted to visit the prisoners in neutral custody and give them "explanations" to quiet their "apprehensions" about returning home.

The United Nations command insisted that the nine months or more required to dispose of the prisoners is too long and proposed the situation be handled in two months.

The Communist proposal also provides that even after the nine months the fate of prisoners still refusing to go home would be decided by a high level post-armistice political conference.

Harrison again told the Reds that their proposal was neither reasonable nor constructive.

He said:

"It was our hope that we might be able to agree on a reasonable and honorable armistice which would protect the human rights of prisoners of war that caused us to consent to resume meetings of the full delegations. It still remains our hope."

Nam said there was no prisoners who would not go home once explanations were given them.

U.S. Still Rejects British Jets

London —(AP)— Three Labor members announced today they will raise questions in the House of Commons about the refusal of American authorities thus far to grant certificates of air worthiness for British-made jet airliners.

The questions will be directed to Civil Aviation Minister Alan T. Lennox-Boyd by Maurice Edelman, Austen Albu and Woodrow Wyatt.

They will ask what representations the government has made in Washington on this subject and "what reply has been received." A thorough parliamentary airing is assured.

Many London newspaper columnists have whipped up great emotional steam over the subject during the last two weeks.

They have taken this line: The United States, after long leading the world in airline manufacture, now knows that its plane makers are trailing Britain in the jet airliner field. The authorities in Washington hope to stall long enough on the issuance of certificates to keep British-made jets off airlines operated by Americans.

Today's Financial Times presented a somewhat different picture from that carried in much of the rest of the London press.

The paper said while the delay in Washington is causing concern "it has not yet jeopardized the Pan American Airways' order for three Comet III machines from the de Havilland Aircraft Company."

"Reports that the contract would lapse on Thursday if Britain and the U.S. had not reached an understanding about airworthiness are not correct," the paper said.

De Haviland's Comet I, the world's first jet airliner, now is in operation on British Overseas Airways Corporation's routes to South Africa and the Orient.

The Comet II, due to enter public service later in the year, now is undergoing British acceptance trials.

Pan American is interested in the Comet III, a large plane capable of trans-oceanic flights. The three machines of this type it has ordered are not due for delivery until 1956.

The financial Times pointed out that the civil aeronautics authority in Washington has been asked only to issue a certificate on the Comet III, and the application still is under consideration.

"So far as the Comet III's are concerned they have not yet flown, much less won a British certificate of airworthiness," the paper said.

U.S. Offers Reward For Soviet Jet

By C. YATES McDANIEL

Washington— (AP) —The United States Air Force has fired its first "silver bullets" in an effort to get what gunfire hasn't bagged in Korea, a live communist pilot with a flyable Mig-15 or other modern Soviet plane.

In offering rewards to Red pilots who land their planes on Allied airfields, the United Nations command has come up with a jet age version of an accepted tactic in the gaudy era of Chinese warlords.

The announced price scale for the first man and aircraft is $100,000 and for each subsequent pilot and plane, half as much.

Senators generally applauded the plan, although fear was expressed that the psychological warfare move might backfire.

Chairman Leverett Saltonstall (Rep. Mass.) of the Senate armed services committee said in an interview he regarded the offer as a bold stroke.

"Any step, however unusual and unprecedented, that leads in the direction of a satisfactory solution of the war in Korea is worthwhile and should be tried," he said.

Senator Wayne Morse (Ind. Ore.- said the offer furnishes "another example of taking the initiative in demonstrating to the people behind the Iron Curtain that the western nations are seeking only peace and to bring the war in Korea to an end without bloodshed."

But Senator John Sparkman (Dem. Ala.), a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, said he wonders if the psychological warfare move might boomerang if no communist pilot takes up the offer.

"What happens then, do we lose face and is communist morale boosted?" he asked.

No one here knows how the Russians figure the cost of a Mig-15, but its nearest U.S. counterpart, the F-86, runs to about $230,000. And the cost of training an American pilot is nearly $60,000.

The origin of the term "silver bullets" is obscure. Some old legends had it that persons with charmed lives were immune to lead bullets, but could be killed with silver ones.

In China, the term took on a special meaning. It was applied to the idea of buying what you couldn't or didn't want to risk, winning by fighting. More than 2,000 years ago, according to legend, a Chinese emperor bought off the chieftain of an invading horde by sending him a harem girl—palmed off, of course, as his princess daughter.

Not so many years ago entire Chinese armies have changed hands for less than $100,000, and the "defeated" general usually got a high-sounding title thrown in for face-saving good measure.

Eden To Undergo Second Operation

London—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today that ailing Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will undergo a second operation "within the next day or two."

The spokesman said the operation was necessary "in view of the persistence of jaundice."

Eden was operated on April 12 at a London clinic for the removal of gallstones. His recovery has been slow.

Five days after the operation the foreign secretary developed tonsilitis with some fever. Then he had a recurrence of jaundice. Eden had been ill off and on since the middle of the winter.

During his absence the foreign office has been under the direction of Selwyn Lloyd minister of state. Lloyd, in turn, has been operating under the direction of Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill.

C.M.A. Suggests Ottawa Put Brakes On Tariff Program, Scores U.S.A.

Ottawa—(CP)—The Canadian Manufacturers' Association today accused the United States of closing her doors against a "wide range" of Canadian manufactured goods and suggested the government apply brakes on her post-war program of handing out tariff concessions.

The association, representing about 6,700 manufacturers turning out 80 per cent of Canada's factory-made goods, outlined a 10-point trade-expanding plan to the Senate trade committee, but emphasized that countries other than Canada must take the initiative if world trade is to become freer.

In an 11-page brief presented by President G. K. Shiels of Toronto, the association said that sterling-area import restrictions have led to the loss of overseas markets for many Canadian manufacturers and these, in turn, found the U.S. a poor substitute.

"The ever-increasing demand in the U.S. for our raw and semi-processed products is of great importance to our basic industries," said the association, "but unfortunately Canadian manufacturers of consumer goods and other fully-finished articles have not found the U. S. a substitute for markets which they previously enjoyed in the United Kingdom, British Commonwealth and Empire and in some foreign countries for these products.

The association said it has strong faith in Canada's industrial future and the eventual restoration of peaceful and prosperous world trade. To help Canada in reaching a more fruitful trading future, the association suggested:

1. A further relaxation in corporation taxes to encourage construction of more plants and equipment.

2. Study of ways of keeping more and more of Canada's raw materials in Canada to be turned into finished goods by home industry.

3. Steadfast support of existing international organizations and institutions trying to solve world trade and financial problems.

4. A possible halt in Canada's post-war tariff-cutting program. Canada has a "comparatively low tariff," said the association, which asked if she had not gone "as far as she can, safely, in giving access to her markets."

5. Maintenance of transportation and communication facilities to provide an "adequate and reasonable service at reasonable costs."

6. Acquisition of new skills from abroad through a "positive and progressive" immigration policy.

7. Greater world publicity of Canada's achievements and her policies, with emphasis on her industrial life.

8. Extension of the Canada-U.K. token import scheme under which Canadian manufacturers are allowed to retain a portion of their pre-war U.K. market for certain goods.

9. Closer trade relations with the British West Indies.

10. Encouragement of aid for under-developed countries, including the Colombo Plan for South and Southeast Asia.

Sentence On Ottawa Man Maintained

Montreal. —(CP)— The Quebec court of appeals today dismissed the appeal of Rheal Leo Bertrand, 37, of Ottawa, convicted a year ago of murdering his 55-year-old bride of two months.

The appeal court's decision was unanimous. The judgment was read by Mr. Justice Gregor Barclay, who said the court had come to the conclusion that the jury in the Bertrand case could have reached no other verdict.

The appeal was made on the grounds that the jury had been misdirected by the trial judge and that the 12-man Roman Catholic jury had been allowed to go to confession during the trial.

Mr. Justice Barclay said that during the trial members of the jury had applied for permission to go to confession. After consultation with all parties permission was granted.

While there was no question of anything wrong in the procedure, said Mr. Justice Barclay, the practice was one that should not be continued.

Following his conviction May 22, 1952, Bertrand was scheduled to be hanged Aug. 8 at nearby Bordeaux jail. Delays of execution were granted following his appeal. A new date now will be set, subject to change if an appeal is taken to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Trial of Bertrand, dry-cleaning establishment employee by day and part-time psychologist by night, was one of the most spectacular ever heard in the Ottawa area.

He was tried in a crowded courtroom in Hull, across the Ottawa river from the capital. He was charged with having murdered his wife in a lonely hunting cabin at Lac Ste. Marie, about 60 miles north of Hull.

His first trial ended abruptly when the presiding judge, Mr. Justice Valmore Bienvenue of Quebec, collapsed and died of a heart attack while delivering his charge to the jury.

Mr. Justice Francois Caron presided at the second trial.

The Crown charged that Bertrand brought his wealthy bride to the hunting cabin, murdered her, doused her body with cleaning fluid and then set the building on fire.

Experts testified the body was so badly burned it must have been saturated with an inflammable fluid.

Reds Want Five-Power Peace Pact

Moscow. —(AP)— The Soviet government again has endorsed the Communist-sponsored proposal for a peace pact by the "big five" powers—Britain, the United States, the Soviet Union, Communist China and France.

The latest Russian nudge for such a peace agreement—which the Soviet Union has urged repeatedly at meetings of the United Nations assembly—was voiced by Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov in a message sent Monday to the meeting in Paris of the Soviet-supported Congress of the Peoples in Defence of peace.

There was no immediate comment from the state department in Washington on the Molotov message. Officials said privately it sounded like standard Russian propaganda. The Western powers have rejected previous Soviet overtures for a big-power conference to conclude such a peace pact.

They contend it promises nothing but fruitless talk unless the peaceful intentions in such existing bodies as the UN assembly, the UN disarmament commission, and the deputy foreign ministers trying to write an Austrian independence agreement.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said editorially that "there is no other question that would so vitally interest the peoples in all the countries of the world."

"The peoples realize that if the five big powers whose population makes up almost half of all mankind will live in peace then universal peace would be guaranteed . . .

"Who does not know that the very foundation of the United Nations is the unity of the five big powers? This principle agreed by all nations is being ignored by certain nations and thus hinders the United Nations organization from fulfilling its task. A pact between the five nations would strengthen the United Nations organization."

Prince Charles Practises His Salute

For some time the manner in which soldiers greet each other has fascinated the heir apparent to the throne, and today he had a chance to give his right arm a workout in the best military tradition.

The occasion was the presentation by the Queen of new standards to the Royal Household Cavalry. Prince Charles, in blue coat and cap, watched his mother intently, and while he didn't have an official part in the ceremony he saluted at every opportunity. He was impartial, saluting the man who beat the drum, a couple of policemen and the crowds which watched the colorful parade.

Household troops are attached to the Royal household for ceremonial duties, but they are relieved at intervals to fight in wars in which Britain may be engaged. More than 500 officers and men, smartly mounted, faced the Queen.

Old colors were removed, and honorably retired from service, while a band played "Auld Lang Syne." After the presentation of new standards the Queen addressed the parade.

Montreal Cab Driver Slain

Montreal. — (CP) — Andre Lorge, 44-year-old Montreal taxi driver, was shot to death early today after being brutally beaten and robbed.

The body of Lorge was found lying on a sidewalk at the downtown intersection of McGill and Wellington streets by a passing cab driver.

Police said that when Lorge was found he was without hat and shoes and that there was a bullet hole just above his left eye. It was believed made by a .45-calibre revolver.

Alonzo Blackburn, who found the body said that the engine was still warm, indicating it had not been abandoned for long.

In the cab were Lorge's cap and shoes and police said there were no signs of a struggle.

Police said Lorge was shot where the body was found. The cab was then driven to uptown Tupper street where it was abandoned.

Robbery was believed to be the motive although taxi company spokesman said Lorge would not have had more than $15 as Tuesday night was a slow night. Lorge's watch was still on his wrist.

Colleagues said Lorge was a quiet man, not in too good health, and not the type to get into an argument or put up a fight in the event of a holdup.

Guantanamo, Cuba —(AP)— A boiler accident aboard the U.S. aircraft carrier Bennington killed 11 seamen and injured four others, navy officials reported Monday night.

The accident occurred while the 27,000-ton Essex class carrier was operating off Guantanamo Bay, one of the navy's principal bases in the Caribbean.

Commons Gives Approval To New Wheat Agreement

Ottawa —(CP)— The Commons, with all parties in Opposition giving qualified support, has approved the new international wheat agreement.

While agreeing with the bulk-selling principle of the pact, opposition members expressed concern during a five-hour debate Monday over the fact that Britain, Canada's top wheat customer, has held aloof from the agreement.

Trade Minister Howe, who piloted through the House the resolution approving the price-stabilization wheat pact, heard one member, John Blackmore Lethbridge, suggests Canada should promise Britain $2-a-bushel maximum wheat and subsidize the other five cents a bushel. The pact's maximum price is $2.05 but Britain wouldn't go beyond $2.

Opposition members urged the government to try again, possibly during the cabinet's Coronation visit to London, to get the British government to reconsider. Mr. Howe said he, too, would like to see Britain take "one more look" at the agreement, but he doubted if she would change her mind.

Even as the Commons debate went on more and more countries were approving the pact in Washington Monday, the final day for signing. A total of 41 of 42 importing countries—Britain was the exception—signed the agreement effective on ratification Aug. 1.

Some British circles had expected that India, Ceylon, New Zealand and Greece, all importers, would withdraw if Britain did not come in. But all have signed.

The Commons went from wheat into a general discussion of agriculture as Agriculture Minister Gardiner's estimates came before the House.

The minister told the Commons Canada's farmers had a net income of just less than $2,000,000,000 in 1952—compared with a peak of $2,200,000,000 in 1951—and said there are indications this "present satisfactory position" will be maintained.

However, there are some surpluses and the government holds stocks of butter, beef, pork and skim milk bought to stabilize prices. The minister said 71,000,000 pounds of canned pork is expected to be disposed of this year.

Mr. Gardiner said Canadian consumers are taking a greater proportion of Canada's farm production. The hog market was in a "sound position," the egg market "well maintained" and increased milk consumption was being absorbed by Canada's increased population.

Mr. Gardiner also announced that the federal government has decided to "review and continue" discussions with Saskatchewan about the proposed south Saskatchewan river power and irrigation project, which a royal commission said should not be proceeded with at this time.

The discussions with the province would be re-opened subject to certain conditions, including the willingness and ability of the Saskatchewan government to assume costs of 'what we consider provincial obligations."

The House is expected to continue the agriculture debate today.

As the House approved Privy Council estimates, George Cruickshank (L—Fraser Valley) said the Prime Minister, no matter who he might be, should get more than his present total of $23,000 a year in salary, indemnities and allowances.

During this debate Prime Minister St. Laurent rose to deny a claim by Howard Green (PC—Vancouver-Quadra) that he took along J. W. Pickersgill, clerk of the Privy Council, on a "political" tour of the West last summer.

Mr. St. Laurent denied he was on a "political" tour when the $15,000-a-year civil servant accompanied him part way on his Western trip. When he was engaged on "political campaigns or political voyages," Mr. St. Laurent said, he did not take the clerk of the Privy Council with him. He recognized that would not be proper.

Washington Feels Korean Truce May Be In Making

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington. —(AP)— A faint, fresh glimmer of hope that the Communists may actually be moving toward a truce in Korea has been found by officials here in the latest Red proposals for dealing with prisoners of war.

This feeling was not substantially changed by the United Nations threat to suspend the talks once again unless the Communists produce a constructive solution.

In the latest Red proposals, presented to the UN command Monday, the Communists appeared for the first time to recognize officially that some prisoners held by the UN may never be willing to go home to Red China or Korea.

If this interpretation is correct, and if the Reds are willing to act on it, no matter how warily, in further negotiations, it may be a key to the future of the truce talks. In any event it was regarded here as good reason for going on with the meetings despite wide differences.

References to the existence, or possible existence of POWs in UN hands who will never voluntarily accept repatriation, appear at least by implication in two sections of the Red proposals.

In one it is suggested that after prisoners who initially refuse repatriation have been turned over to a neutral state all those "who request repatriation" shall be sent home within a period of six months. This implies that the Reds recognize some prisoners will not request repatriation.

Again, the Red proposals say that if after the six month period "there are still prisoners of war in the custody of the neutral state," their fate should be decided at a proposed political conference on the future of Korea.

The essence of the POW deadlock is that the UN command insists no prisoners should be forcibly sent home. The state department reports about 38,000 prisoners taken from the North Korean and Chinese Red Armies have said they would resist repatriation. The Reds have been contending all prisoners should be returned.

The first break in efforts to find a way out of the deadlock came several weeks ago. The Red high command then proposed that any prisoners who refused to go home immediately after an armistice should be turned over to a neutral state. But at that time the Reds went on the official assumption that all these recalcitrants, when they had been given assurances of good treatment in their homelands, would be ready to return.

U. S. officials found no evidence of any acceptance by the Reds of the idea that some of their former soldiers would not be willing to go home at all. That is what makes the present interpretation of the new proposals potentially important.

Von Manstein Will Be Freed

Bonn—(AP)—Field Marshal Erich von Manstein, one of Hitler's most brilliant war lords, will be set free next month after serving his war crimes sentence.

An informed British source said today that Manstein, now 66, will have completed his prison term and will be set at liberty some day in May not yet officially fixed.

Manstein is at present on medical parole, convalescing in the south German village of Allmendingen, near Ulm. He has not actually been in his prison cell at Werl war crimes jail since last August, when he was let out on parole to undergo an eye operation.

Manstein was sentenced to 18 years in prison by a British military court in 1949. He was convicted of being responsible for atrocities committed by German troops under his command in Russia. The sentence later was reduced to 12 years.

Given the customary one-third reduction for good behavior allowed by British law and allowing for pre-trial custody, Manstein has now served all but a month of his sentence.

Mountain Post Falls As Red Advance Continues In Laos

By LARRY ALLEN

Luangprabang, Laos — (AP) — The Communist-led Vietminh captured the mountain post of Pakseng, 42 miles northeast of Luangprabang, as invasion columns continued today to press upon Laos' royal capital from the north and east.

A French Army spokesman announcing the fall of Pakseng said he did not know now whether part of the French Laotian garrison there had escaped or whether the Vietminh took the post in a sharp fight.

The invading troops Monday night were reported within 25 miles of Luangprabang on the east, and one unofficial report said advance Vietminh units were within 12 miles on the north.

The sector north of Luangprabang was reported quiet today, indicating the enemy may be awaiting fresh supplies before pushing closer to the town.

The exact position of the Vietminh north and northeast of Luangprabang was difficult to determine. The invaders were filtering single file through dense jungle toward the ring of mountains surrounding the town, which lies in a palmlined valley along the Medong river.

The French continued to rush men and supplies into Luangprabang tonight by airlift while bombers and fighters hit the enemy wherever troop concentrations were spotted.

French and Laotian soldiers dug trenches and constructed barbed wire entanglements around the little town of 6,000, hereditary home of aged, ailing King Sisavang Vong.

The King's son, Crown Prince Savang, told correspondents his people are determined to defend their country and "we know we are going to defeat the enemy if they attack Luangprabang."

A French major reported that advance units of the invaders are within 12 miles of the town on the north, while on the east larger forces had advanced to within 25 miles.

Gen. Raoul Salan, French commander in chief in Indo-China, flew to Luangprabang Monday from his headquarters at Hanoi, 275 miles to the northeast. He assured the Crown Prince the French would fight it out before the town.

The Red command was reported also building up its forces circling the Plaine des Jarres, 70 miles southeast of Luangprabang, where French and Laotian forces have thrown up strong defences in the hope of bringing the Veitminh to a showdown battle on ground of their own choosing.

But the Vietminh, by-passing the plain, has aimed three powerful columns from the northwest, northeast and east directly at Luangprabang. Its capture would represent an enormous political victory. The Red columns already have clipped off a third or more of the kingdom of 90,000 square miles.

At Vientiane, seat of the Laotian government 140 miles south of the royal home, defence preparations also were under way. Evacuation plans for the town's 15,000 civilians have been drawn. General mobilization of all able-bodied men 18 to 35 was stripping the government service of its youthful employees.

The mobilization order has boosted Laos' active, armed forces from an estimated 13,000 to about 23,000 men.

Pleasing Variety Concert Presented By Coaticook High School Students

Coaticook, April 28 — The Guild Hall of the Anglican Church in Coaticook was the scene of a large gathering on Wednesday evening as the students of the senior grades of the High School presented a very entertaining program of group singing, solos, musical items and novelty acts.

The program began with the singing of "O Canada," followed by group singing by grades 6 and 7. They sang, "Sicilian Night," "Bells of St. Mary's," "Sweet and Low," and "Evening Song." Two selections, "Solomon Levi," and "Spanish Cavalier," were sung as one song. This was followed by a number entitled, "Old Maid's Drill," by the students.

A piano solo by Miss Patsy Thompson was then enjoyed, after which an item called, "The Little Red School House," was put on by several of the pupils. Miss Sheila Rafal entertained with a piano selection, "March in D." A vocal solo, "That Doggie in the Window," was rendered by Jacque Roberge. Two well known songs, "The Lord's Prayer," and "On Wings of Song," were sung by Stuart MacKinnon. For an encore he sang, "The Lost Chord."

Grades 8, 9, 10 and 11 were then heard in a group of songs, "Oklahoma," "Surrey With the Fringe on Top," "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," and "Standing in the Need of Prayer." Mrs. Kendall, teacher at the High School, sang a selection, "Bluebird of Happiness," which was much enjoyed.

The next item, a pie eating contest, afforder lots of amusement. This was won by Mr. Clarence Davis.

During a brief intermission the girls of the school were kept busy selling home made candy throughout the audience. A drawing which was held to aid the work of the Students. Council resulted in the winning of a large ham by Mr. Jay N. White.

The concluding item on the program was the rendition of another group of songs by the school. They sang, "Dear Land of Home," "Come Loyal Hearts," and "Perfect Day." The group also sang, "Home," which was followed by the singing of the National Anthem.

LODGE MEETING

Members of Ashlar Lodge, A. F. and A. M., were honored on Wednesday evening at their regular lodge meeting by an official visit from Right Worshipful Brother James Corfield, District Deputy Grand Master of the District of St. Francis. Visitors were also present from the Masonic Lodges of Magog, Cookshire, Lennoxville and Sherbrooke.

Following a fine demonstration of the work of the Third Degree of Masonry, by the officers and members of the Coaticook Lodge, the gathering enjoyed refreshments and a social hour in the anteroom.

CHILDREN'S SERVICE

A special children's service was held at St. Stephen's Anglican Church in Coaticook on Sunday morning at the hour of the regular 11.00 a.m. worship. Appropriate hymns for a young peoples service were selected and the lessons, read by the rector, Rev. W. J. Rowe, and S. A. Meade, were specially chosen for the occasion. An inspiring sermon was delivered to the children by Rev. Mr. Rowe.

The regular offertory was taken up by Lance Bishop and Charles Adams while Tony Woodman and Michael Barron held a large tray on which the children placed their Lenten missionary mite boxes at the altar rail. All stood in the chancel while the joint presentation of the offerings were made and the offertory sentance was sung by the choir.

MAIL DELIVERY

Effective immediately several important changes will be in force concerning lobby and wicket hours at the Coaticook Post Office. In addition to the two arrivals of mail by train as previously there will be further service by truck delivery twice daily, all of which should ensure speedier and more convenient service.

The lobby will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily except Sunday. The wicket will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday to Friday and on Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon. The office will be closed completely on Sunday. Mail will arrive by train at 12.35 p.m. and 2.30 p.m. and at 6.30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. by truck. No mail on Sunday.

GENERAL NOTES

Miss Ethel Brown, of Coaticook, and Mrs. Andrew Smith, of Compton, were tea guests of Mrs. Gerald Boisclair.

Mr. Andrew Thompson was a business visitor in Montreal on Friday and Saturday.

Among those who attended a series of bowling contests held at the United Church hall in Lennoxville were, Rev. K. K. Miller, Rev. W. J. Rowe, Rev. Dr. W. B. Perry, Mr. Jack Brown and Mr. Cecil Akhurst.

Mrs. Myrtle Pyne was a guest at the home of her son and family at Rock Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nosworthy and daughter, Sylvia, of South Portland, Maine, were recent guests at the home of Miss Ethel Brown, Baldwin Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peters, of Montreal, and Mrs. Norman Lucier, of North Troy, Vt., were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Glendhill.

Mr. William Perry, of Montreal, was a week-end visitor at the home of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Perry.

Mrs. Andrew Smith, Sr., of Compton, has returned home after having been a guest for a few days of Miss Ethel Brown.

Mrs. Earl Beerworth, of Sherbrooke, was a visitor in town on Saturday.

The Students' Council Of Sutton High Sponsored A Fine Variety Concert

Sutton, April 28 — The annual Spring entertainment presented by the senior pupils of Sutton High School was again this year an outstanding success. The program took the form of varied entertainment and was presented in the Town Hall before a large gathering of parents and friends.

The first item was a group of "Old Songs," by the girls of the High School grades. The scene showed a Victorian living room, and as each girl made her appearance she came to center stage and curtsied, thus displaying to advantage the beautiful and authentic "old time" costume she was wearing. Then posed in graceful groups they sang the following numbers: "Danny Boy," "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "Passing By."

Then followed a one-act play, "Summer Comes to the Diamond O" with an all boy cast. The scene was the cook shack of the Diamond O Cattle Ranch in a valley of the Ruby Mountains, in Montana. The story was as follows. "The cowboys of the Diamond O Ranch are discontented with their lot until a handsome, well dressed stranger arrives. The stranger, "Windy," changes the whole atmosphere of the shack and the outlook of the cowboys, especially when he offers to take them with him to Mexico.

" Unfortunately the Sheriff arrives to take Windy to jail. It turns out that shortly before, Windy has fallen on his head, while working for Mr. Bland at the Lazy K. Ranch, and imagines the stories he tells them.

"The cowboys, with the unexpected help of their stingy boss, buy the horse Windy has stolen so that they can keep their guest permanently at the Diamond O Ranch."

The play indicated that it is one's attitude to life that brings happiness or discontent, rather than the circumstances of life, and this philosophy is summed up by "Stub," when he says, "While Windy was here the grub tasted good, the cookshack was warm and my guitar made fine music. He 'shore' had a way of looking at things."

The girls' chorus again made its appearance, this time in modern dress, colorful peasant skirts and blouses, and sang a group of modern songs. "The Loveliest Night of the Year," and "Anywhere I Wander."

Marjorie Smith a Grade X pupil then gave the speech with which she won the Eastman Trophy for Public Speaking in March. The subject was "The Mau Mau Terrorists." She was introduced by the principal, Miss K. Harper. Mr. H. E. Eastman, chairman of the School Board was to have made the introductory remarks but was unavoidably absent.

A novelty number, "Side by Side," by the girls' chorus and the singing of "God Save The Queen" brought the very enjoyable entertainment to a close.

The following is a list of those taken part. Chorus: Accompanist, Mrs. Ellis Gatenby; Shirley Baker, Mae Biggs, Shirley Boule, Betty Clark, Ruth Fleuler, Judith Giffin, Sylvia Hayes, Catherine Hazard, Jean Holden, Gail Lukassen, Dawn McKell, Dorothy Miner, Beverley Moynan, Sandra Phelps, Dorothy Robinson, Jane Safford, Nancy Shepard and Marjorie Smith: In the Play: Cooky, cook of the Diamond O Ranch, Merlyn Royea; Curly, a handsome young cowboy, Gerald Righton; Stub, a guitar playing cowboy, Perry Cohen; Tex., a complaining cowboy, Bruce Hunter; Granny, an old cowhand, Douglas Holness; Windy, a stranger from over the Ruby Mountains, Clifford McKell; Sheriff Lash, the law from prairie county, Glenn Hawley; Houston, boss of the Diamond O, Kay Lukassen; properties and stage manager, Morton Jaquays, Tom Clark.

The proceeds of the evening were for the benefit of the Students Council, to provide money for their extra curricular activities. Upwards of $500 a year passes through the hands of the Students Council and is spent on such matters as: running the hockey and skating rink; buying track equipment; providing games for the younger children; giving occasional parties for the younger children and paying for transportation on trips of various kinds.

Next year the council hopes to publish a year book if sufficient funds can be obtained to meet the expence.

Before leaving the hall the children were served refreshments provided by the parents and the Home and School Association.

Russians Try To Jam Up Networks Of Radio, Radar

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Tokyo — (CP) — Russian radio stations periodically try to jam the network of radio and radar navigation aids on the Pacific airlift route.

RCAF fliers said during my flight here from McChord Field, Wash., that the jamming usually occurs during bad weather when the aids are most needed.

Only one radio station used for navigation on my trip was drowned out by a Russian propaganda station. Its signals came through the Russian program only when other aids had guided the aircraft into its immediate range.

FO. Mort Lightstone of Ottawa, the navigator, and others of this crew captained by FO. John Middleton of Burlington, Ont., told of other flights when the weather was poor and the Russians were correspondingly more active.

Lightstone said that once last December his then flight captain filed a 10-hour flight plan from Shemya in the Aleutians, to Tokyo. They had 13 hours' fuel aboard.

"The weather was bad and we couldn't take astro shots to fix our position. The Russians jammed our loran and radio. Twelve hours passed before we could see two stars and took a sextant bearing. The third engine conked out. We found we were 100 miles off course, flying over the centre of a prohibited area.

"The only thing was to carry on through the area and back on course. We reached Tokyo 12 hours 10 minutes after leaving Shemya — with only 40 minutes' fuel left."

Along the other two legs of this flight — McChord field to Elmendorf field at Anchorage, Alaska, and Elmendorf to Shemya — that would be impossible. The Russians can't interfere with the set-up.

But they can on that final leg, when aircraft must pass close to Russian territory.

Navigation-aid stations dot the route, throwing out radio and radar beams, and aircraft check in by radio as they pass. Additionally, the planes send regular position reports to their last airport or the one ahead.

The whole procedure is so controlled that Middleton could say: "They don't leave anything to chance.

"It's a lot safer flying today than driving down St. Catherine street in Montreal. We know what the weather ahead is like, what it's like at the other end, who is using the route with us and where he is; and we know exactly when we're going to reach our destination."

The navigators work out an estimated time of arrival after the pilot decides his route. They work out the distance ,the plane's speed, make allowance for winds — and usually are accurate to within five minutes. Between the Russians and stiff headwinds, however, variations of up to two hours are not unknown on the Shemya-Tokyo leg.

The international dateline, I was delighted to note, crosses up airmen who deal with it frequently, just as it does the rest of us. The gaining and losing of days still throws men who go through the process several times a year.

Mort Lightstone said he and Middleton three months ago crossed the Pacific braced for two Christmas days — one in Tokyo and the other en route back at Shemya.

It worked out they missed Christmasmas altogether. They reached Tokyo Christmas Eve and hit Shemya Boxing Day.

Polar lights are to be seen in some half dozen forms, the most common one being the arch. Scientists have connected the polar aurora with sun spot activity and beautiful displays may be expected when the sun spot cycle it at its maximum.

GORE

Gore, April 28. — The April meeting of the Gore Women's Institute was held on April 9 at the home of Mrs. Melvin Griffith with Mrs. Myrlin Griffith and Mrs. Percy Frazer for co-hostesses. There were seven members present.

The president, Mrs. W. Gee, was in the chair, and opened the meeting by all reciting the "Mary Stewart Collect."

It was decided to divide the members into two teams to act as Ways and Means committees. The first group to act from March until September.

It was decided to order seeds from the government for the children. A membership pin will be given to all members who have a record of perfect attendance at the end of the coming year.

The treasurer reported that a cheque for $23.56 had been sent in to the County secretary for the Quebec Service Fund, Red Cross, Registration, and Peace Garden. All bills were ordered paid.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Gee, with Mrs. Melvin Griffith and Mrs. Inez Fallona, for hostesses.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Canada Should Have More Influence In World Affairs, Women's Club Told

Whether Canada classifies itself as a small, big or middle-sized power doesn't matter a great deal but we have today the capacity to exert a growing influence in world affairs and that we should be prepared to use boldly and wisely, it was stated to members of the Women's Canadian Club of the Eastern Townships at their luncheon meeting yesterday by Charles J. Woodsworth, editor of the Ottawa Citizen.

Mr. Woodsworth made four proposals for Canadian foreign policy shapers: (1) we must have good relations with all nations; (2) we must promote trade even where it is unpopular; (3) we must sympathize and assist the struggles of other nations towards independence; and (4) we must do everything we can to raise living standards in the underprivileged areas, through such schemes as the Colombo Plan and the United Nations' technical assistance program.

"In these days when the alphabet of the bomb has progressed from A to H, it is well to remember that the hope for the better world that can make survival possible depends, not on material strength so much as on intelligence and ideas.

"Out fate is being determined today by the clash between West and East, a clash in which the United States and Russia play the dominant roles. If we want to have an effective voice in deciding our fate, now is the time to make that voice heard."

In dealing with good relations among all nations, Mr. Woodsworth said that it is wise not only to be on friendly terms with our neighbors but to help keep them on amicable terms among themselves. In the past, war between the United States and Great Britain might have meant the end of our independence. And in the future we might be the Belgium in a war between the United States and the Soviet Union. So this necessity for good relations goes for Russia too. In this air age Russia has become a very close neighbor of Canada's. Sooner or later we shall have to send a full-time ambassador to Moscow again.

Regarding trade, Mr. Woodsworth said that its importance to us dictates our general interest in promoting trade even where it is unpopular, as for example with China. The United States, he pointed out, has been the keenest to inject trade into politics as trade is relatively less important to the U.S. than it is to Canada or Great Britain and the Americans can therefore afford to play politics with trade when we cannot.

Proposing that Canada sympathize with and assist the struggles of other nations towards independence, Mr. Woodsworth said that, like India, we too had to emerge from colonial status. Also, it is in our interests to do everything we can to raise living standards in under-privileged areas of the world.

We have already had an impressive example of the influence Canada can exert on the United States if we have the courage to take action, Mr. Woodsworth said. This was the change that was brought about in the U.S. attitude toward the Indian resolution of last December, aimed at achieving an armistice in Korea. That change resulted largely from the determination of our own external affairs minister, L. B. Pearson, in seeing that the Indian resolution was pushed through. As the result of the unanimous stand taken by the friends of the United States, the U.S. came finally to support the resolution in spite of its earlier determined opposition. The outcome has laid the foundation for the present happier turn of events in the Far East, the recent acceptance by the Chinese Communists of the UN proposals to exchange sick and wounded prisoners and to reopen the Korean armistice negotiations on the one remaining issue, the prisoners of war.

The United States, Mr. Woodsworth stated, has had little experience in dealing with other nations, in sharp contrast to Great Britain which has developed the most advanced technique of dealing with economically and politically-backward countries the world has yet seen. And while Britain has moved on into the new era of international relations, of encouraging self-government and independence among the unindustrialized nations, the United States has reacted to the threat of communism by going to the other extreme and supporting the forces which are attempting to suppress nationalism and social change.

As the result of this approach to the profound changes that are taking place everywhere throughout Asia, the United States unfortunately has been put in the position of endorsing and giving support to "discredited dictators" such as Chiang Kai-Shek, Syngman Rhee and Bao Dai in Indo-China. "This type of expediency arises out of the basically-wrong policy adopted by the United States which has been suddenly precipitated, after a long period of isolationism, into a position of paramount power, without adequate training and experience.

During the course of his address, Mr. Woodsworth said that there is no guarantee that the American Japanese "experiment" will last, particularly since Japan has always been largely dependent on trade with the Chinese mainland or that a rearmed Germany will not turn about and fight on Russia's side. He advocated that we recognize Red China so that this country will not have to rely on Russia as its one supporter at the UN.

Mr. Woodsworth was introduced by Mrs. J. K. Edwards and thanked by Mrs. George Witty. Others at the head table were: Mrs. Lewis Rosenbloom, Mrs. J. E. Dorrian, Mrs. J. A. Stewart, Mrs. A. R. Jewitt, president, Mrs. Newman Hunter and Miss Lora St. Laurent.

Mrs. Jewitt introduced three guests, Mrs. J. C. Massie, Dunnville, Ont.; mother of Mrs. R. M. Boright; Mrs. F. W. Stewart, mother-in-law of Mrs. J. A. Stewart; and Mrs. P. Robert, Bournemouth, England, who is currently visiting in Bishopton. The president welcomed back Mrs. Stewart, who has been ill, and was pleased to note that Mrs. C. H. Niles, one of the honorary members, is home from hospital. The annual meeting will be held May 14, when Rev. Lewis Clark will be speaker.

Adjourn Inquest In Double Death

Inquest into the deaths of Jean-Guy Blouin and Jeannine Champoux, both 23, was opened for identification purposes by Dr. Louis Gagnon, district coroner, here yesterday and adjourned pending the recovery of the two persons injured in the crash—Adelard Labrecque, 36, and Marguerite Trepanier, 33.

The young couple, who were engaged to be married, died in hospital here Sunday evening after the car driven by Mr. Blouin crashed underneath the rear of a transport truck on the Montreal highway, only a few feet beyond the city limits. The other two persons, occupants of the same automobile, were said to be holding their own at the Hotel Dieu this morning.

Jean Dickenson Appears Tonight With Symphony

Following is part of the program which will be presented at the Granada Theatre tonight, Jean Dickenson, outstanding radio singer and concert star, is guest soloist with the Sherbrooke Symphony Orchestra, in a benefit for the Orchestra.

Egmont Overture (Beethoven); two extracts from Mozart compositions by Miss Dickenson, including "Non Sopio Cosa Sun" from the Marriage of Figaro; Haydn's London Symphony; "Eclat de Rire" from Manon Lescot of Aubert, by Miss Dickenson and "Rose Softly Blooming" by Spoh, also to be sung by the soloist; two Hungarian dances by Brahms; Tales from the Vienna Woods (Strauss); and La Danza of Rossini, by Miss Dickenson.

Cent Convives Banquet Held Last Night

The Lions Club of Sherbrooke last night held its second annual banquet for "Les Cent Convives."

Close to 100 persons were present for the $25-a-plate dinner, held at the New Sherbrooke hotel. The program was informal and was devoted chiefly to enjoying the special meal that was the feature of the evening.

Lions president Doug Amaron, in explaining the purpose of the banquet, stated that the major activity of the club is supporting the blind and the funds for this purpose are raised during the White Cane week each December.

There are many other calls for assistance made upon a service club each year, however, and the proceeds from last night's banquet will be used to finance these other activities. Providing Christmas cheer for the orphans and aiding underprivileged families were among some of these many projects.

Greetings to the club on behalf of the city were extended by Ald. Henri Labonne, who spoke of the Lions' valuable work in this city. Similar comments were contained in a letter from Mayor Emile Levesque, who was unable to be present because of a council meeting.

Roland Savoie led a spirited sing song, with assistance from Sarto Roy and from Merrill (Pinky) May, manager of the Sherbrooke Indians baseball club.

Mr. May, who had arrived in Sherbrooke only a few hours before, led the group in the singing of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game." He also made the drawing for the door prize which was won by Emile Gauthier.

Entertainment was provided by the well-known radio and television comedian Marcel Gamache who was introduced by Henri Delorme.

A reception preceded the banquet.

New Officers Are Named By Optimist Club; Paul Nadeau Chosen President

Joe Gilbert, in charge of the election, presented the following slate of officers for the coming year: Paul Nadeau President; Vice-president, Ivan Dugre, Fred Bean and George Garard; Recording Secretary, Casey Vincent; Secretary, Maurice Sirois; Treasurer, Pete Blais; Assistant Treasurer, Gilles Dufour; Sergeant-at-Arms, Paul Allard; Whip, Guy Labrie. The new officers take over their positions in June.

President Erich Marquardt was in the chair for the business meeting, and reported that Waterville Club is holding a public speaking contest at the Jubilee Hall this Thursday and urged each member to attend.

Paul Allard reported that he had obtained a sample of the posters that will be used to advertise the dance they are sponsoring next month. This will feature Illinois Jacquet and his orchestra.

Guy Labrie was welcomed back to the club last night following a long illness. He was released from hospital yesterday.

Seated at the head table were President Erich Marquardt, Vitol Scneib, Joe Gilbert, Jacques Laliberte, Paul Nadeau, Pete Blais, R. L. Guilemette of Drummondville was a guest of the Club.

British-Foreign Bible Society To Hold Annual Meet

The local branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society will hold its annual meeting at St. Andrew's church hall on Sunday at 8.30 p.m.

The highlights of the evening will be the reports of the various committees on the work they have accomplished, and the election of the officers for the coming year.

The district secretaries, Rev. M. W. Booth, and Rev. H. Rayner will attend the meeting and they will present a film entitled "China Harvest." Mr. Booth will also speak at St. Paul's Church on the same day at 11 a.m., and later will speak at Grace Chapel.

MARGARINE SEIZED

Royal Canadian Mounted Police seized 11,300 pounds of margarine coming from the United States at the end of last week. They also confiscated a two-ton truck and arrested 36-year-old Wilfrid Roy of Waterville. Roy's case will be heard in local court on Thursday. The seizure was made at Burrough's Falls.

DRIVER LOSES

A driver was fined $50 and costs and lost his license for three months when he pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of liquor, Municipal Judge Redmond Hayes, Q.C., handed down the sentence yesterday.

St. Pat's Old Boys Discuss Summer Camp

A camp committee report was the highlight of the regular monthly meeting of the St. Patrick's Old Boys' Association held last night at the Acodemy.

John Galvin reported that a meeting was held with the Mayor and councillors of the municipality of Stoke concerning a telephone service for the camp. This meeting was successful and a phone will be installed.

It was also suggested by G. Daniels that the club should inquire as to the operations of the National Film Board and renew the club's membership.

Plans were made for the annual banquet that will be held at the boys' camp at Stoke on June 21. The following day, June 22, an open house will be held, and all members of the parish will be invited to attend.

DEPRESSIONS CAN RETURN

Cheerful optimists tell us that we need have no fear of the present boom being followed by a depression because we have worked out plans for keeping enough money in circulation to maintain a demand for all the goods our people need and thus to keep all our workers employed.

But it seems that we have heard that story somewhere before. During the boom years of 1928 and 1929 we were told that depressions were a thing of the past, that production and distribution were so well organized and had everything so well in hand, that industry could be kept going at a rate that would give every man a job, and provide for a fire on every hearth, a chicken in every pot and a car in every garage.

Then came the crash, and what a crash! Everything seemed to go wrong at once. The great depression was upon us.

The first indication was a loss of export markets. Other people were not buying our products. A drying up of demand for our home industrial products followed and unemployment spread over the whole country.

We looked to the government to set things right, but the depression stayed with us until we were once more able to sell our goods at prices the markets could pay.

A depression is a condition under which people engaged in producing goods find it necessary to curtail operations and lay off workers because prices are not sufficient to cover costs.

The obvious remedy of selling goods for what they will bring and cutting costs to the point where this is possible is almost impossible because so many people contribute to the making of any article that it is a difficult job to persuade them to accept a pay cut.

During the last depression we listened to a spate of nonsense about maintaining purchasing power by maintaining prices and wage rates, and looking to government relief or government work projects to take care of the unemployed.

This was like advising a sick man to wait till he got better before taking the treatment the doctors ordered. But many people were impressed by it, and most governments followed it to some extent.

Today, in spite of the abounding prosperity we see around us we are finding products because we are asking too much for them.

Is this an indication that another depression is on the way? If it is, what is the magic formula by which the optimists hope to protect us from its effects?

There is nothing new about their formula. It is merely a more extensive application of the remedy that most governments tried and found wanting during the last depression — namely the free spending of government money — baby bonuses, unemployment insurance, old age pensions, supported prices for farm products, food subsidies, and a government policy of full employment, all to be paid for out of taxes which the government will have to collect from the people.

To all these organized labor would add further wages increases, with no corresponding increase in production, impossible pension plans to be paid by employers, a guaranteed annual wage whether the worker is employed or not, and higher unemployment insurance benefits at no additional cost to the workers.

These are the things that we are asked to believe will protect us from unemployment during a depression.

All these things would have to be paid for by the people, either in taxes to the government or in higher prices for the goods they buy. Every one of them would add to the costs of production and would widen the spread between the prices our industries have to charge for our products and the prices the market will pay for them.

They are the kind of things that cause depression. They can't possibly prevent them.

The government is already collecting in taxes all the money it can safely take from the people. Much of it is being skimmed from the profits of corporations and the larger incomes. If we should have a depression these sources of income would dry up, for there would be no profits to tax nor many fat incomes either.

What would the government do then for revenue to meet its own obligations? It would have to resort to new forms of taxation and collect more from the less wealthy classes. It would be in position to throw money around trying to create employment. Nor would the people be in any position to pay more taxes.

The paper does not pretend to know when the next depression will come. But this much we believe — that we will never be free from the threat of depression till our industries have such control over their productions costs as will enable them to sell their products at prices the markets will pay.

BURIED TALENT

A former Czechoslovak Judge of that country's Supreme Court is working at Montreal as a metal polisher.

Highly trained and superbly educated technicians from European countries are working in Canada as domestics says an exchange.

Trained doctors who have immigrated to Canada are working in sugar beet fields.

These are facts brought out by the Canadian Citizenship Council. Admittedly, it is not easy to place an immigrant in his proper niche just as soon as he arrives in his new country. Nor can barristers and doctors from other countries begin the practice of their professions immediately, without benefit of a new period of training through which they can adapt their knowledge to Canadian methods and conditions.

At the same time, the Citizenship Council in performing and important service is seeking out such buried talent and putting it to work in the best interests of the country.

RUSSIA'S REAL INTENT

What happens in the Korean truce negotiations within the next few days will be a far stronger indication of how far the Russians are ready to go toward peace than anything contained in the latest Moscow statement of Russian policy.

The truce negotiations at Panmunjom had no sooner been reopened than the Communists came up with some of their familiar gimmicks. None of them seemed particularly important if they really wanted to go through with a truce in a hurry. All or any of them were sufficient to tie the whole business up if they were merely intending to stall as they have for the last two years.

It was this matter of undetermined intent which surrounds the Moscow statement with the usual doubts.

President Eisenhower, speaking to American newspaper editors, had outlined U. S. hopes for peace and some of the things which he would expect Moscow to do to arrive at it.

The Russian reply obviously emanated from the Kremlin but carried no official stamp beyond publication in Pravda and Izvestia, official newspapers of the government and the Communist party.

It was one of the most complete policy outlines issued in a long time. It said Russia was ready to negotiate the issues between East and West either directly or in the United Nations, which is nothing new.

It gave no indication of willingness to accept in advance any of the principles outlined by Eisenhower, on the grounds that it was the West, not Russia, which was violating them.

Allied observers were inclined to take some small satisfaction from the fact that the statement was couched in what, for the Russians, were relatively civil terms.

But in essence the statement served notice that there was no break in the continuity of general Russian policy as manifested to the world over the long years.

POWDERED ORANGE JUICE

Detroit Free Press

The Agriculture Department announces the "most important discovery in years" in the dehydration of food — a method of concentrating orange juice into dry powder which tastes like fresh orange juice when water is added.

Department researchers are confident that the process can be used to turn out tomato, asparagus, broccoli and other vegetables and fruits in powdered form.

This would enable shoppers to slip their weekly grocery purchases — individually packaged in tiny envelopes — into their pockets. Prices would be cheaper, too.

FARTHER IS BETTER

Calgary Albertan

Possibilities of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were slightly misrepresented in a recent Albertan editorial. We said they had a chance of moving to Guatemala. On rechecking we find it's Costa Rica, farthre down the Central American chain, next to Panama. But Costa Rico, too, has a small railway system and no doubt thinks a lot of it. Whether it would be happy at the immigration of a race of railway saboteurs is doubtful.

"ASK THE POLITICIANS"

Montreal Gazette

"Ask the politicians." Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery used the phrase four times recently in answer to reporters' questions during a two-round press conference.

The deputy commander of Allied Forces in Europe first read a short general statement declaring sacrifice was needed to ensure world security and praising the reception accorded him in Canada.

Then in a quick "tactical manoeuvre" — recalling to some his wartime battle successes — he walked from the room before reporters had a chance to ask him a question.

A few minutes later, however, he agreed to answer questions in his cabin aboard the Empress of Scotland, just one hour prior to sailing for the United Kingdom.

Lord Montgomery insisted he was "simply a soldier" and shrugged off questions which he considered "political" saying "ask the politicians."

Asked if his thoughts were solely on military matters, the Field Marshal replied:

"I am a busy man. I think about many things but I cannot do anything about politics. Ask the politicians," he said.

Quebec's Deputy Secretary Makes Visit To Portugal

Lisbon — (AP) — Jean Bruchesi, deputy secretary of Quebec, lecturing in Europe, recently returned to France after a short visit to Portugal.

Professor Bruchesi had three busy days here. He visited Fatima, toured Lisbon, had long talks with some of the leading Portuguese university professors, met the leaders of the press and finally had a 45-minute talk with Portuguese strong man, Dr. Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

When leaving professor Bruchesi said how glad he was to have used this opportunity to visit Portugal.

"Fatima, of course, is a place which should be visited by all true Christians," he said. "Canada is well represented there by the Dominican fathers, who have established a seminary there under the guidance of the Provincial Father Gaudrault. They are doing splendid work there and have become another strong link across the Atlantic and Europe's westernmost country, Portugal."

Referring to Dr. Salazar, premier of Portugal, Dr. Bruchesi said: "I could tell how good the work of this man has been for the last 25 years, the moment I crossed the border from Spain into Portugal.

"I met and talked with one of the few great men in the world at any time when I was with Dr. Salazar."

Research Experts Experimenting On How To Milk Cows

Hamilton, N.Z. —(AP)— Research experts here are conducting experiments to determine the best way to milk a cow. The machine they are using in the tests was made from parts of two war surplus bombers.

The tests are being conducted at Ruakara animal research station in the Waikato district, centre of one of the world's richest dairying areas. The machine used is a complicated electronic arrangement of lights, cables, wheels, relays, levers and springs. It is the first of its kind and has already attracted the attention of overseas farm scientists.

It tests not only the efficieny of milkers and milking machines, but also the likes and dislikes of individual cows. It shows if a cow is affected by the presence of visitors or loud noises, and if she is fond of "music while you milk."

Every time .23 lb. of milk is given by the cow an electric impulse records the fact on a graph. Scientists studying the completed graph can tell how much milk the cow has given, measured vertically, and the time taken, measured horizontally. The shape of the graph shows exactly how the cow has reacted during milking.

Thus a scientist knows by a glance whether a cow really is contented. He can tell if a cow has been happy during milking, or whether any incident has upset her, because a contented cow gives more milk faster.

The machine is of far more than academic interest to scientists. By its means farmers can get information on improvements in milking technicians for different types of cows, and study ways to speed up milking.

The inventor of the machine, W. G. Whittlestone, a milk ejection recorder at the research station, made it himself. Unlike most complicated electronic devices, it cost very little. Most of the parts came from the surplus bombers which were bought for a nominal amount from the government.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

SWITCH TO CLUBS IS CORRECT PLAY

When the Intercollegiate Contract Bridge Tournament for 1953 was held recently, teams representing Purdue and Princeton University won. More than 300 students in 110 leading colleges and universities in all parts of the United States took part in the contest.

Frank McClure of Wooster, Ohio, and Carey Yelton, Jr., of Warren, Ohio, played the North-South cards and won for Purdue. Harlow S. Lewis, II, of Ben Avon Heights, Pennsylvania, and David W. Bradley, Jr., of Greensboro, N.C., played the East-West boards and won for Princeton.

A comic note was struck when the judges found that an entry made by Oswald Jacoby and his partner, John F. Fish, both of Notre Dame University tied for third place North-South honors. They thought that this was just a schoolboy's prank, but it happened to be my son, James Oswald Jacoby, using his middle name for the fun of it. (When he gets home he's going to have to do some explaining about how he missed first place!)

Today's hand is taken from this year's Intercollegiate contest. South reaches a contract of four spades by normal bidding and has to play the hand extremely well because of the very bad trump break.

West opens the queen of diamonds, holding the trick, and continues the suit. South ruffing. South naturally lays down the ace of spades, expecting no trouble with the hand. When East discards a diamond, South realizes that he will lose two trump tricks in addition to a diamond and a club unless he plays the hand with great care.

The right line of play is to switch immediately to clubs, forcing out West's ace. West's best defense is to return a heart, dummy winning with the ace. South now ruffs another diamond, and is much relieved when this is not overruffed.

South cashes the rest of his clubs, takes the queen of hearts and the king of hearts, and is lucky enough to get all of these tricks by without a ruff by West. The risk must be taken, however, for if West can ruff the hand is hopeless.

By this time, both West and South are reduced to three trumps. South leads a low trump towards dummy's nine, and West is helpless. He must step up with the jack of trumps to win the trick, and now he must return a spade u pto South's king-ten.

A substantial number of college bridge players made this difficult contract, thus indicating that our colleges will soon produce a new crop of bridge experts.

SHORT STORY

Something Of Value

By ANNA E. WILSON

The porch was broad and sunny, and Elsie placed the big chair where Dad could see the people passing and look across into Mr. Barnes grocery store.

3-Minute Fiction

"You see, Dad," she said cheerfully, "you'll be happy here in the sunlight and you can watch what goes on over there in the store—it'll be no time at all until you forget about the shop—Goodness knows, a man who's worked until he's sixty-five years old has earned a rest."

Dad sank back in the chair and sighed wistfully. "I know, Elsie, and the company was real nice. Mr. Twillinger presented me with a watch, and said they were real sorry about my eyes, and hated to let me go. Watch making is such fine work and," Dad finished carefully, "there was no other place open in the shop where they could work me in. Mr. Twillinger explained about it all before I came away."

"Yes," Dad tried to settle himself uneasily, "but sitting here isn't going to help pay for this house, and I did hope to see you settled in a home of your own before I died."

He was glad when Mrs. Frisby stopped to talk. She was gossipy and friendly and liked a chat.

"Glad to see you taking a rest at last, Dad. Goodness knows, it was time. I see you've been looking at the sketch for the new Memorial. Isn't it wonderful that a great artist like Mr. Bonelli's been engaged for the job. They say he's been asking for medals to copy on the figures of the war veterans and I'm hurrying right down with this one of Willie's.

Dad stared at the sketch of the Memorial, thinking of what Mrs. Frisby had said. Something of value. Dad went over all his meager possessions and they weren't much. Just his clothes, neat and clean, the watch Mr. Twilinger had given him and that old coin.

Dad was confused by the noise and bustle when he entered Mr. Bonelli's studio, but Mr. Bonelli smiled at Dad and took him into a little office in the rear.

"It's about a coin," said he humbly, and took out his lucky piece.

"Where did you get it, and why do you want to sell it, Dad."

It was easy to talk to Mr. Bonelli, and Dad explained about his home and Elsie.

The artist sighed—"It might have been valued once but it's too defaced for restoration.—I'm sorry," he looked as if he really was. "I wish I could tell you that it's worth something but I'm afraid it's not."

Dad thanked him, but as he got up to go, Mr. Bonelli spoke.

"I have a friend coming tomorrow and if you drop in you can talk it over with him."

All afternoon Dad polished the coin and when he went down to the studio in the morning the metal in the coin shone.

Mr. Bonelli was talking to another man, when he saw Dad he beckoned him in. Dad took out the coin and the stranger glanced at it, but he was really looking at Dad.

Dad in his neat worn clothes, was worth looking at. He had lived a good life and all this good living showed in his wrinkled face and clean blue eyes. Mr. Bonelli's own eyes twinkled.

"We find you have something of value, Dad, after all," he said softly.

"The coin was worthless," he continued. "We want to use you as a model for one of the figures on our Memorial. We want to employ you in the studio to keep track of valuables loaned to us. Mr. Twilinger says we couldn't get a better man. The pay is good, well over five hundred dollars for the year's work," he said gently. "You see, Dad, the thing you have of value is yourself. You've been a good citizen and it shines right in your face."

Dried Fruit Value

A pound of dried fruit equals four pound of fresh or canned fruit in food value, according to Purdue nutrition specialists. The new tenderized dried fruits do not require soaking. This saves food value and flavor, cook quicker, and do not require additional sugar.

Because They Are Red

The river and the state of Colorado were so-named by the Spanish explorers from the reddish appearance of the water.

A scapegoat doll, dressed and fed as though alive, was given to mothers in old Japan to ward off evil from children, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

THE MATURE PARENT

WHY GIRLS RESENT BOYS WHO WON'T HELP THEM DRAW LINE

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Ellen is 15. She's enamored of a boy named Halsey. She really likes him. The thing is, he belongs to a crowd that goes in for heavy necking. On his second date with Ellen, she had to say, "No, no, no" to his overardent caresses. Eince then, he hasn't called for another date.

"The child is miserable because this boy hasn't called," writes Ellen's mother.

I don't believe that. I think Ellen's miserable because she didn't say what she really meant to Halsey.

When we like a boy very much, we don't enjoy saying, "No, no, no" to his advances. Our impulse is to accept them. We can't accept them beyond a certain point.

This is the point that makes the misery, for then we not only have to control our impulses to accept Halsey's caresses, but control his impulses, too. This is unjust.

If we're intelligent, wideawake girls, we won't put up with it. We'll say to Halsey, "I am not stopping you because I don't enjoy your love-making. I do. But lines have to be drawn. If you won't cooperate on drawing them with me, can't you see you're making me into your mother, instead of treating me like your girl? That's what's wrong here. You're asking me to manage us all alone."

Halsey doesn't realize he's being unjust to ask us to behave like his disciplinarian instead of his girl. He's just an American boy who thinks that placing the total responsibility for sex control upon girls is the smart thing to do. If we're really fond of him, we won't let him get away with this destructive impression.

This heavy necking custom can mix us up terribly if we are not alert to its bad suggestion that girls are in the world to control and manage men.

Nobody profits—girls or boys—when a custom makes one sex responsible for the other's behavior. If we don't watch out, our teen-age experience in saying "No, no, no" to boys' sex impulses can turn us into women who'll say it automatically to all male impulses through force of habit.

And that silly, short-sighted Halsey who now thinks it's so smart to make girls draw the lines for him—what of him? Well, 20 years from now, he'll be calling us his "Ball and Chain" to his men friends at Friday night lodge meetings. On weekends, he won't be able to get away fast enough from the Managing Female he has encouraged to control all his impulses for him.

I have this to say to Ellen. If we like a boy very much, his dignity is important to us. That's why we're miserable drawing the lines for him. If we can explain this to him, we'll stop being miserable regardless of what Halsey does about it.

We'll be peaceful and happy, Ellen, because we have filled our real responsibility to refuse to humiliate or patronize a person we like very much.

Matthews Uses Sauer's Bat

Milwaukee—(AP)—The bat Eddie Mathews has been swinging to gain the major league home run leadership actually is Hank Sauer's, it was learned Monday as Milwaukee Braves headed for New York on their first eastern road trip.

Mathews has blasted five homers in the three games he has used the bat he obtained, through a friend, from Chicago Cubs' outfielder, last year's National loop's most valuable player. He got one earlier with his own for a total of six, best in the majors.

The Braves' 21-year-old third-baseman was too bashful to ask Sauer for it himself. He had read, he said, that the Cubs' slugger improved his batting by taking a heavier bat. Worried about his own work at the plate, Mathews wondered if it might help him.

Last Wednesday the Braves arrived at Wrigley Field. Mathews watched Sauer take his cuts in batting practice and tried unsuccessfully to get up enough nerve to talk to him. Finally he asked Ebba St. Claire, Milwaukee backstop, to approach Sauer on his behalf.

"I didn't know him very well," Mathews explained.

St. Claire obliged, and came away with a new bat, a gift from Sauer to Mathews.

The youngster used it that afternoon and slammed two home runs. The next day he hit another, also against the Cubs.

Last Saturday the Braves made their second showing of the year against Cincinnati. In the first inning Matthews clubbed one of Herm Wehmeier's pitches into right field, the ball hitting the wire field marker 320 feet from the plate and bouncing back in. Four innings later he boomed another, this one clearing the low fence in front of the bleachers about 335 feet out.

Mathews had been using a 32-ounce bat 35 inches long. The Sauer model is one inch longer and weighs 38 ounces, one of the biggest bats used in the majors.

15 Horses In Derby Trial

Louisville, Ky.— (AP) —Fifteen horses, most of them second-stringers as far as the Kentucky Derby is considered, are entered for the $10,000-added Derby Trial Tuesday at Churchill Downs.

Royal Bay Gem, one of the solid horses considered to have in the $100,000 Derby run Saturday, tops the field for the one-mile Trial although the distance may not be long enough for the stretch-running son of Royal Gem II.

The crowd probably will make him the favorite, although his trainer, Clyde Troutt, agrees the distance may be too short. Royal Bay Gem came from last in his Chesapeake field of 15 to win in a stretch drive.

The Trial was inaugurated in 1938 but only two horses have won it and then taken the Derby itself. They were both Calumet Farm aces, Citation in 1948 and Hill Gail a year ago.

Another entry in the trial is Alfred Vanderbilt's Native Dancer, the unbeaten gray flash from New York who added the $100,000 Wood Memorial to his spotless racing record last Saturday at Jamaica.

Native Dancer is accompanied by Social Outcast, another Vanderbilt Derby candidate, and the Saxon Stable's Invigorator, third in the Wood Memorial.

Commissioner To Be Appointed As Dane's Watchdog

Copenhagen. — (Reuters) — Among the proposed changes in the constitution which Danes will be asked to approve in a country-wide referendum later this year, probably in June, is one which would appoint a civil commissioner to investigate complaints about bureaucrats who behave like autocrats.

Danes are worried over the increasing powers of civil servants under modern legislation which often gives them extensive executive power.

It is proposed to appoint an ombudsman, or sort of watching-dog, to see that the bureaucrats behave themselves. The ombudsman, although appointed by Parliament, would be independent of the legislature and free to carry out his investigations.

All civil servants would come under his jurisdiction.

All Danish citizens will be able to write to the ombudsman who will be required to keep secret the identity of those submitting complaints.

The ombudsman will be a highly qualified lawyer and will be paid the same salary as a high court judge of the highest rank. Once a year he will be required to make a report to Parliament.

He will have to see that all servants of the state, from minister to messenger, do their jobs properly, according to the law.

If he finds that laws have been broken he can demand that the public prosecutor take action.

Since the proposal is necessarily somewhat experimental, Parliament is required to reconsider the measure not later than during the Parliamentary year 1955-56.

Proposals For New Toronto Highway Being Considered

Toronto, (CP) — Across the southern edge of Toronto stretches a highway intended to speed traffic along the Lake Ontario shoreline from one side of the city to the other.

Motorists driving over it from the western entrance pass over the Humber river bridge, roll through the heart of Sunnyside amusement area, skirt the Canadian National Exhibition grounds and Maple Leaf Stadium, then traverse the waterfront and a busy industrial area before passing Woodbine racetrack and heading for the eastern exit.

Suburban growth, coupled with a tremendous increase in the number of automobiles in use in the area, created congestion and bottlenecks along the driveway patterned after Chicago's famous Michigan Boulevard.

Untangling the rush hour chaos is to be one of the first major tasks of the new metropolitan Toronto council. Planners from Toronto and the 12 other federated municipalities are thinking in terms of elevated super-highways to lift through traffic out of the local flow.

No. 1 bottleneck is at the city's western entrance, where traffic from the Queen Elizabeth Way, the fine super-highway linking Toronto and Niagara Falls, merges with through and local traffic on No. 2 trans-provincial highway which runs from Windsor to Montreal.

Two main possibilities are under consideration for eliminating this bottleneck. One includes building a raised six-lane super-highway eastward from west of the present single bridge over the Humber river. The other is to improve roads at ground level and erect a second Humber bridge.

A third idea is to detour Queen Elizabeth Way traffic by way of Toronto Island, which lies across the harbor mouth. This would involve building causeways to link the island with the mainland.

Most authorities are agreed that virtually any improvement plan will call for the moving of Sunnyside amusement park from the west-end site it has occupied for more than 30 years. The amusements now are on either side of the highway and children and adults surge back and forth across the busy thoroughfare. It has been suggested that Sunnyside be moved to the exhibition grounds about a mile to the east.

The proposed super-highway would skirt the northern edge of exhibition park itself, running parallel with the Canadian National Railways line. An elevated road would take traffic through the central industrial area which lies west of the Union station.

Fred Gardiner, super-mayor of metropolitan Toronto, foresees the eventual possibility of extending the expressway farther along the lakefront by building a breakwater under the Scarboro Bluffs east of the city and cutting into the bluffs for a road surface to connect with existing highways to the east.

TINY VEHICLES TAKE A BOW — In Europe, where the average car owner must pay high prices for his gasoline, car manufacturers concentrate on models that give economy in fuel consumption. The "Iso," show below and above in Turin, Italy, will deliver 60 miles to each half gallon of gasoline. The tiny auto opens from the front and the steering wheel "bend" forward to permit access to the two passenger vehicle. Top speed is about 50 miles per hour. In tune with the small-car demand in Europe is the tiny trailer, below, on display in Paris. Designed to be hitched to a small car, the trailer can lodge two persons comfortably.

Montrealers Went Underground When Indians At War

Montreal— (CP) —When the Indians were on the war-path, Montrealers went underground. And underground to the city's early inhabitants meant the cellars of historic Notre Dame Church at Place d'Armes, near the waterfront.

Besides saving many a white scalp, these cellars were used for many other purposes.

Rev. J. B. Vinet, rector of the church, says the church basement originally was a cemetery, moved in later years to make way for an asphalt floor. But one body was left interred in the old cemetery—that of James O'Donnell, the church's architect. O'Donnell, a Protestant from New York, became a Roman Catholic before he died.

The cellars also were used to store wines for the first priests who came here from France. The wine bottles are still there—covered with dust—but empty.

On a tour of these basements, you grope around musty, gloomy corridors and climb down into unlighted cellars. Notre Dame Church is 130 years old but the basement underneath has largely been modernized. The only ancient features are huge rafters made from trunks of trees, hacked into shape by an ax.

From the church, you may enter the cellars beneath Montreal's oldest building, the adjoining presbytery of the Sulpician Fathers, built in 1672.

Parts of this cellar still have earthen floors.

The visitors who braves the farthest depths will find in an even lower basement an escape tunnel that runs down to the St. Lawrence river. But for many years the tunnel mouth has been sealed.

British Singers To Miss Holiday For Night Stand

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London — (CP) — Webster Booth and Anne Ziegler, Britain's top man-and-wife operatic team, will ditch a well-earned holiday to fly 8,800 miles to a one-night stand in Calgary.

Calgarians can thank a long-standing friendship between the British couple and Harold Ramsay, former British Broadcasting Corporation organist who founded the Calgary Choral Society under the sponsorship of the Calgary Kiwanis Club.

Ramsay said wistfully in a letter describing a musical play he is producing: "I only wish you and Anne were free."

The couple immediately gave up plans for a three-week holiday in France and will appear in the opening performance May 9 of "Merrie England," a Tudor production well suited to the Coronation of the second Elizabeth. They will be the only professionals in an otherwise all-Canadian cast.

Calgarians will be the more appreciative of Ramsay's success because the Booths have leading roles in this country's Coronation summer entertainment plans.

The Calgary appearance will be one in a series of "Merrie England" performances. The first in the United Kingdom is scheduled to begin June 1 at Newport, Wales. One of the biggest will be at the country home of Sir Harold Wernher at Luton Hoo, Bedfordshire.

Bulldozers have processed three acres for a vast open-air stage that will hold a cost of 1,000, of whom 300 will be on horseback Forty-one microphones have been installed to accommodate audiences of about 21,000 expected every day in a week-long festival starting June 8.

It will be Miss Ziegler's first trip to Canada. Booth last visited the country in the '20s when the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company toured North America.

London Housewife Spent Holiday In Communist Country

London— (AP) —A trim London housewife in her 50s is back home from the "biggest thrill in my life" —a holiday in Communist Yugoslavia.

Mrs. Marjorie Mackendrick says she is sure a great many more tourists would take the same vacation trail if they knew how easy it was.

"You just get on the Tauern express here in London," she said in an interview, "and two days later you're in Belgrade. You don't even have to change."

Mrs. Mackendrick said she found the Yugoslavs anxious to please their tourist visitors. Marshal Tito's government is striving hard to encourage a tourist industry to bring in much-needed foreign currency.

"It really is a lovely country," she said.

"Belgrade has the air of a fine capital city. The Yugoslavs themselves have to go short of many things. Coffee costs about $6 a pound for instance, and a pair of nylons about as much. But for the tourist, the official exchange rate of 300 dinars to the dollar is quite liberal."

Mrs. Mackendrick said she first thought of a Yugoslav vacation after she'd read a book about Marshal Tito's wartime partisans. To keep expenses down she decided to exchange hospitality with a Yugoslav who wanted to visit London. Soon Danilo Gribic, a Belgrade radio commentator, was spending a month at Mrs. Mackendrick's home in Chelsea. And Mrs. Mackendrick was on her way to stay with friends of his in Belgrade.

For many Yugoslavs, she said, life is drab. New clothes are beyond the reach of most pockets. Nobody has his own car. Many families have no radio.

But she found the Yugoslavs intensely patriotic and too proud to grumble about adversity.

SENTENCE ON OTTAWA

The defence claimed that Mrs. Bertrand, second wife of the accused, was burned to death when a gasoline lamp exploded as she was about to light it.

Bertrand told police the explosion occurred while he was some distance from the cabin getting supplies from his car.

The jury convicted him after deliberating 25 minutes. Bertrand fainted on hearing the verdict.

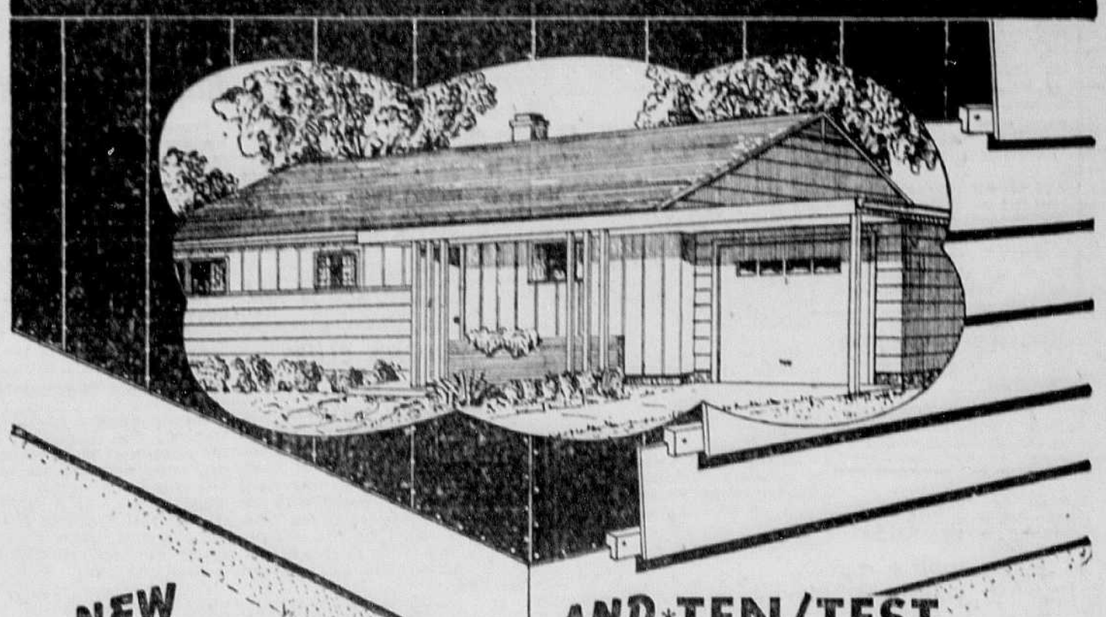
COMPLETE DRY WALL CONSTRUCTION
SAVES TIME . . . MONEY!



NEW *MASONITE TEMPERED PRESDWOOD EXTERIOR SIDING

It's smoother . . . stronger . . . permanent! The permanent exterior siding in panels of 12", 14" and 16" wide by 4' and 8' long. No waste, no splits, no sap. Harder than oak. Won't rot or decay. Fits snugly without gaps. Nails hold securely. It will outweather the weather and outlast the framing. Takes less paint and holds it longer. Tests for years have proven long life, lasting appearance and definite economy of this improved siding.

Available in 1/8" and 1/4" thickness. Comes in natural color Tempered Presdwood that requires priming and paint finish . . . or surface primed ready for final paint finish.

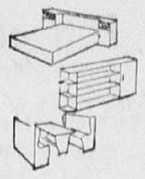
AND *TEN/TEST ASPHALT PROTECTED INSULATING SHEATHING

It's rigid, bracing insulation! Greater insulation in 5/8" thickness as the large panels cut down on joints and reduce cold infiltration. Faster applications as 4' x 9' panels can be easily handled by one man — reducing nailing, fitting and sawing to a minimum. There is less waste, for even cut-off pieces can be used at eaves and under windows. No open knots or split ends — a sound sheathing. The large panels cover greater studding area and ensure a stronger, more durable structure. A money-saving innovation!

Remember, this asphalt protected TEN/TEST Insulating Sheathing repels water moisture, but still allows free passage of vapour for the prevention of condensation. It builds stronger, warmer, economical — well insulated homes.

WITH *IP. BIRCH HARDWOOD PLYWOODS

It's rich . . . lasting . . . beautiful! The attractive, velvety surface and rich graining of IP. Birch Plywoods make them the accepted choice for interior wall panelling of discriminating home owners. Many individual wall treatments can be realized with these smooth, rich grained plywoods. So bright when applied in natural finish — so distinctive when stained to simulate any wood treatment. Won't check or craze — the finish will last indefinitely.



Practical, too, for wall built-ins, furniture, cupboard doors and counters. Easy to work with ordinary carpenters tools. In panels up to 4' x 8' and thicknesses of 1/8" to 3/4".

FOSTER— BROWN

Montreal, April 28.—The marriage of Dorothy Ruth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Brown, of Knowlton, to Mr. Thomas S. (Buster) Foster, son of the late Mrs. Elton Foster and Mrs. Foster, of Ville St. Laurent.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Malcolm Campbell, of the First Presbyterian Church, Montreal, on Saturday, April 18, 1953.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MUNICIPAL CHAPTER I. O. D. E.

The April meeting of the Municipal Chapter was held at headquarters on Tuesday evening, April 21. The meeting opened with the Prayer of the Order as the Standard was raised by Mrs. Charles Varney. Due to the absence of Mrs. A. A. Munster, Mrs. E. T. Harbert presided.

Mrs. George Smith, educational secretary, gave a resume of an educational meeting held by Mrs. M. Eaton at the provincial annual meeting and requested that all donations for bursaries be forwarded during the month of May.

Motion was accepted that letters of thanks be sent to Mr. Sarto Roy, New Sherbrooke Hotel; Rev. Canon Russel Brown, for the use of the church hall; Judge Redmond Hayes, for obtaining a representative of Quebec Government; Lt. Col. A. A. Munster, for obtaining and arranging the use of the Officer's Mess for the sherry party; Lt. Col. Norman Welsh for the use of the Officer's Mess; Mr. George Logie for the speaker's desk and public address system; the Canadian Bank of Commerce for the auditors to count ballots and to members of the press for all the publicity during the provincial annual meeting held in Sherbrooke.

Mrs. A. A. Munster was named delegate to the national annual meeting which will be held in Edmonton in May.

The next municipal meeting was announced for May 19, at headquarters.

Mrs. E. T. Harbert gave a short resume of the provincial annual meeting held here.

Conveners elected at that meeting were: Press and publicity, Mrs. W. Cochrane; Services at home and abroad, Mrs. M. M. Loughheed; Empire and World Affairs, Miss Ina Cobleigh; Commonwealth and Empire, Mrs. G. Foreman; films, Miss Mary Long; immigration and Canadianization, Mrs. F. P. Kenalty; distinguished visitors and hospitality, Mrs. A. A. Munster.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by the de Laval Chapter.

MILBY

Mr. and Mrs. J. McVety spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. T. Johann, at Coaticook.

Mrs. O. H. Parker, of Lachine, spent the week-end with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Orr.

Mr. R. H. Wallace, of Stanstead, was a week-end guest of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. McVety, while callers included Mr. and Mrs. A. Boyce and family, of Bellamy, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. E. Sarrasin, of Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Graham were guests of Mrs. A. Griggs and Mrs. William Graham, in Sherbrooke.

Mrs. E. A. Orr, Mrs. R. Suitor, Mrs. E. G. Beattie, Mrs. W. T. Evans, and Mrs. C. Graham attended the Sherbrooke County W.C.T.U. Convention, held in Scott Hall, in Lennoxville, on April 24.

Your correspondent while driving on Huntingville road to Lennoxville, was amazed at the quantity of paper scraps which decorated fences, trees, shrubbery and even stuck to some buildings. I wonder if the local councils could not do something to do away with this unsightly mess.

Scotstown's St. Andrew's W. M. S. Held Impressive Service With The C. G. I. T.

Scotstown, April 28. — The Easter Thanksgiving meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. C. M. Smith on Wednesday evening, April 15. The worship service was conducted by the president, Mrs. F. B. Mayhew, assisted by Mrs. Donald Murray and Mrs. A. A. MacKenzie.

Before the business part of the meeting was held, Mrs. Mayhew welcomed Mrs. C. Leney, C.G.I.T. group leader. Eight of the twelve members of the C.G.I.T. were also present, and several mothers were welcomed.

In the absence of Mrs. R. L. MacIver, Mrs. C. M. Smith read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved as read. The treasurer's report, which was read by Mrs. A. A. MacKenzie, showed that the first quarter of the allocation, which amounted to $27.30, had been sent to the Presbyterial treasurer.

Correspondence consisted of a thank-you note and a letter from the Presbyterial president with the date of the Presbyterial's 27th Annual Meeting of the W.M.S. of the United Church of Canada to be in St. Paul's United Church in Magog on May 13-14. It was undecided whether any members would be able to attend this meeting.

Mrs. C. M. Smith reported that the pyjamas for the bale had been sent to Bella Coola Hospital. Mrs. Mayhew reported having received a gift of $6.00 from the members of the Women's Association in memory of the late Mrs. Annie Sherman. This money will be used for a life membership for the Women's Missionary Society.

The offering was taken by Mrs. A. A. MacKenzie and dedicated by Mrs. F. B. Mayhew.

A very impressive affiliation service was then held with the C.G.I.T. leader, Mrs. C. Leney, and the following girls taking part: Janet Gaulin, Delores Jacques, Joyce Coates, Marilyn MacDonald, and Faye MacDonald. Five candles were on a table to form an appropriate Worship Centre, with a poster on the wall behind the Worship Centre of the special objects for the year and a large poster made by the girls of two large hemispheres, with a cross in the centre resembling those in the World Friendship Insignia.

Mrs Leney, on behalf of the group, presented the W.M.S. with a gift of money to be used for one of the special objects for affiliated groups.

They chose the Means School for their object.

Mrs. Mayhew thanked the group for this gift and said she would send it to the Presbyterial secretary for affiliated C.G.I.T. groups.

Mrs Mayhew then, on behalf of the Women's Missionary Society, presented each girl with a World Friendship Insignia which showed that they had fulfilled the requirements for affiliation with the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada.

The meeting closed by singing, "In Christ There Is No East or West," followed by the benediction.

After several games were played, refreshments were served in the dining room by members of the Women's Missionary Society. Miss Helen Ladd, secretary of the C.G.I.T. group, on behalf of the group, thanked the W.M.S. members for inviting them to the meeting and presenting them with their insignias. She also thanked them for the donation of money given them last fall to start the group.

ST. ALBAN'S W.A.

The W. A. meeting of St. Alban's Church was held at the home of Mrs. Harvey Parsons, on April 14th. There were six members present

The devotional period was led by the vice-president, Mrs. Woolley, in the absence of the president, Mrs. H. A. Scarth.

The minutes of the last meeting, a financial statement, and correspondence were read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Charles Baker. The usual business routine book arrangement. The meeting closed with the Members Prayer and the Blessing.

Tea was served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Judy, and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

Compared with a clock that runs uniformly, the sundial is slow from Dec. 25 to April 15 and from June 14 to Sept. 1, and is fast the rest of the year.

AUTOMOTIVE HINT

Carbon in the intake manifold and poor carburetion sometimes causes offensive fumes to leak into a car which has been dirven many thousands of miles. Sandblasting the inside surface of the manifold, and carefully adjusting the carburetor, will remedy this trouble.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

You remember Mrs. Smith but you are aware that she may not remember you. Then give her a break when you go up to speak to her. Say: "I don't know whether or not you remember me, Mrs. Smith. I'm Dorothy Jones. We met at the Brown's Christmas party."

That makes things easy for Mrs. Smith. She'll be so grateful that she says: "How nice to see you again." Always pave the way for your own welcome by putting the other person at ease.

Otherwise, you put him on the spot.

ELECTRIC COOKING

. . . would you want to cook any other way?

IT'S CLEAN! Clean as your electric light. Cooking heat comes from a wire. No combustion — no soot, no grime. Utensils, kitchen walls and curtains stay cleaner.

IT'S FAST! Electricity provides fast, clean heat. Surface units cook by direct contact with utensil bottom. Completely insulated oven retains heat to cook with maximum speed.

IT'S ECONOMICAL! There's no waste! The average cost of electricity for medium sized families using electric range, water heater, lights and other appliances runs around $2.00 a week.

IT'S ACCURATE! Electricity can be accurately measured and controlled. Every switch setting gives the same amount of heat every time. No fluctuation. To good cooks that's important.

IT'S AUTOMATIC! Freedom from the kitchen. Slip a meal in the oven. Set time and temperature controls — on your way. Control turns oven on, cooks meal, turns off — all automatically.

IT'S MODERN! An electric range offers you all the modern features you desire plus the advantages of efficient electricity — truly a cleaner, easier, more practical way of cooking.

These six advantages only tell you part of the wonderful story on electric cooking. So before you buy your next range, talk it over with a friend who cooks electrically. She will give you more facts. Then see your Electric Range Dealer or call at our store for a revealing demonstration . . . and start to enjoy this easier, better way to cook — today!

St. Barnabas' Guild At North Hatley Planned Many Summer Activities

North Hatley, April 28.—A regular meeting of St. Barnabas' Church Guild was held in the Community Hall in the evening.

The president, Mrs. Hornett, asked the members to stand in silence for two minutes, in respectful memory of the late Queen Mary. The Guild prayer was then recited in unison.

After the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report, the secretary, Mrs. Henry Blachford, read a letter from the Rev. Mr. Newton, of Mutton Bay, Saguenay County. This letter described local poverty, and asked for contributions of warm clothing for the mission.

It was decided to begin at the next meeting to collect clothing, and pack it, and send a box as soon as there was a large enough supply. Mrs. Blachford and Mrs. LeBaron offered to pack the box.

The president then asked the members if they would like to help the Eustis congregation financially with the building of their new church hall. After discussion it was decided to postpone the decision on the method of raising money for this worthy cause, but all agreed that they would be glad to help.

The executive was asked to decide a date for a Coronation Tea, and the date of May 27 de decided upon.

Plans for a "shower" were made. This will be an evening party at the Community Hall. The secretary was asked to send invitations to the members of the other church organizations in town.

Mrs. Hodgson had material to distribute for sewing for the annual church bazaar in the summer. Mrs. Kennedy displayed a beautiful patch-work child's skirt she had made for the Guild to sell, and asked for orders for children's skirts for wear at square dances. Mrs. Daintrey offered to cut the squares for these fascinating skirts, as it soon became obvious that Mrs. Kennedy would be very busy making them. The secretary suggested that shutin members might like to receive carbon copies of the Guild minutes; this idea was approved.

The hostesses, Mrs. George St. Pierre and Mrs. Beane, served delicious refreshments to the 22 ladies present.

General Notes

Mrs. John C. Murray and children, Bruce and Lynne, were guests of Mrs. Murray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Groome, while Mr. Murray was on a business trip to Vancouver, B.C., and other western points. On his return trip he joined Mrs. Murray and the children in North Hatley, and after a brief visit they returned to their home in Fredericton, N.B.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Desruisseaux, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Coates, Mr. Erwin Brazel, Mr. Walter Hodgman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lefebvre, Miss Georgie Coates, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Brazel, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Stowe, and Mrs. M. Hodge were in Cookshire to attend the funeral of Mr. Arthur Newport.

Mr. Orren Bailey conveyed Mr. Chester Warner, of Lennoxville, to Montreal, on Sunday morning, where Mr. Warner had the misfortune of losing his warehouse in the city by fire. Mr. Bailey was accompanied by Mrs. Bailey as far as Sherbrooke, where she spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatch.

The Christmas Club meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Nutbrown with a very good attendance. The afternoon was spent in playing Canasta and "500", after which, a very delicious picnic tea was served. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. William Nutbrown and others.

Mr. David Currier, of Adderly, and Mr. and Mrs. Currier, of Crosby, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McVetty.

Miss Kathleen McKenny, of Sutton, spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Elwin Brazel, and Mr. Brazel.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Parker and daughter spent a day in Sherbrooke with Mrs. Parker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paige.

Messrs. Charles Henderson, Elwin Lowry and William Henderson spent an evening in Bury with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker.

Mrs. Oscar Dersuisseaux, Miss Georgie Coates and Mrs. M. A. Hodge were business visitors in Cookshire.

Messrs. William Henderson, Elwin Brazel, Mrs. Mabel A. Hodge and Miss Georgie Coates were business visitors in Sherbrooke.

A Dedication Service Was Held At At Saints' Church In Dunham

Dunham, April 28. — A large number of relatives from Montreal, Sherbrooke and Dunham of the late Misses Emma and Harriet Baker attended All Saints' Church service on Sunday, April 19, for the dedication of a Litany desk presented by them in memory of the Misses Baker.

Rev. Canon Stevens, a nephew of the former, dedicated the desk.

They were entertained at dinner at the New Ottawa Hotel, at Cowansville, by Miss Elizabeth Watson, after the service.

A cover for the baptismal font was presented by Miss Clara Watson and dedicated at the same time.

THE LADIES' AID

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held in the United Church.

After the business meeting supper was served to a large number of members and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Blinn and son Peter, of Stanbridge East, and Rev. and Mrs. Fee and family, of Cowansville, were present.

A meeting of the W. A. was held at All Saints' Church to meet Bishop and Mrs. Powles, who are missionaries from Japan.

They were accompanied by a Japanese clergyman. Mrs. Powles was the guest speaker.

There were upwards of 40 ladies present from Cowansville, Bedford, Stanbridge East and Philipsburg.

General Notes

A "bee" was held at All Saints' Church to clean the grounds and cemetery. There was a good number of workers. The ladies served dinner in the church hall.

Mrs. Lavery and Mrs. Manson were in Bedford to visit Mrs. Annie Buchanan at the hospital. Other callers were Mrs. Forde, Miss Doherty, Miss Guillet and Mrs. R. S. Selby.

Mrs. E. McCrum entertained at a birthday party on Sunday for her daughter, Lynn, who was celebrating the fifth anniversary of her birth.

Mr. Russel Doherty, of Montreal, spent the week-end at his home here.

A special meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. McElroy to make plans for the county convention, which is to meet here on May 13.

Mrs. Marcus Doherty is a patient in the Sweetsburg Hospital for a few days.

The Asbestos Arts Society Presented A Fine Variety Concert In Theatre

Asbestos, April 28. — The Arts Society of Asbestos held a Variety Concert in the A.A.A.A. Theatre, on Tuesday evening. The hall was very well filled and the program was a credit to all who participated. The soloists and their accompanists were all splendid.

It is the sincere hope that this evening will be the forerunner of many more similar ones. It certainly showed that there is plenty of talent in the surrounding community.

The guests of the evening were from Montreal and were ably received.

THE TENNIS CLUB

The slate of officers for the new season are as follows: president, Mr. J. L. Gendron; vice-president, Mr. Maurice Blackhurst; secretary, Miss Arlette Reid; treasurer, Mr. Andre Lachance; court director, Mr. Jay Wooding.

agenda to raise money that is badly needed by the association. Plans are being made for refinishing the present courts and also arrangements for an early playing date.

CANCER FILMS

In the C.J.M. conference room cancer films were shown to members of the office staffs.

Dr. Robertson was present to answer any questions that might arise from the movies.

The same films were shown in the Anglican Church Hall to the members of the Canadian Association of Consumers, on Tuesday afternoon, when Dr. Robertson also gave the answers to the many questions arising from these very interesting educational films.

A "SHOWER"

A surprise "shower" was held in the "Golden Room" at the Iroquois Club in honor of Miss Fran Bernier one evening.

The guests assembled in the large room and on a pretext the bride-to-be was ushered into a circle of friends and co-workers.

The bride-to-be was taken by surprise as she was under the impression that the room was being decorated for a bowling party and she was to go with someone else to deliver a book on decorations.

The group had purchased linens and a blanket.

After the gifts were presented, a very lively game of bunco took up the guests' time.

The prizes were won by Denise MacAllister, Joyce Perkins and Mrs. Lamplough.

At the tea hour refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Sherry and Miss Vivian Lynch.

THE W. M. S.

The W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. C. Brown, in Danville.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by the president, Miss Christine Morrison, followed by the Scripture reading by Mrs. Edith Boyd.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Harriet Heath, who also gave the program on mission work.

The next meeting will be held on May 12, at the Nurses' Home, when Misses Lilian Graham and Anna Morrison will be the cohostesses.

GENERAL NOTES

The Friendly Christmas Club met at the home of Mrs. George Heath, on St. Jacques Street. There was a good turn out and at the tea hour refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Trippear, of Upper Melbourne, and their two children, Donna and Billy, were the guests of Mrs. Trippear's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Campbelton, on Belvedere Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Campbelton accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Descotes motored to Newport, Vt., where they were guests for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stock have sold their home on Belvedere Street to Mr. Herman Frerichs and have taken up residence in Danville.

Mr. and Mrs. Donat St. Cyr were in town calling on their nephew, Mr. Wilfred Beliveau, and Mrs. Beliveau.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilfred Beliveau were guests in Waterville visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Errol Beliveau. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Beliveau and children were guests at the same home.

A rummage sale was held at 14 Gaspe Street, on Friday morning. The proceeds went to the Women's Association of the United Church, and were gratifying.

A Board of Stewards meeting of the United Church was held in the Church Hall. Many topics and church finances were discussed.

Mr. Edward MacGonigal and Miss Dorothy MacGonigal were in Montreal for a few days for medical check-ups. While in town they were guests at the Windsor Hotel.

Congratulations are extended to Miss Sheila Barclay on winning the Odd Fellow and Rebekah trip to New York. Her many friends were delighted in her good fortune.

Miss Dorothy MacGorigal while in Montreal was the guest of Miss Ida Champoux and also visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Champoux, on Decarie Blvd.

Mrs. Jean Campbelton has taken up the agency for Beauty Councillors Products and plans on giving home demonstrations.

Mrs. Lottie Dean went to Kingsbury to visit her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wilkins.

Ayer's Cliff C. G. I. T. Group Held An Impressive Reaffiliation Service

Ayer's Cliff, April 28. — The C.G.I.T. Group with the leaders, Mrs. H. Nelson Pierce and Mrs. L. D. Mosher, held their very impressive "Re-affiliation Service," in the Church Hall, on Tuesday afternoon.

The worship service was conducted by the group president, Miss Kathleen Kezar. The theme was "God Is Calling."

Miss Sandra Mosher, read the scripture lesson followed by prayer, and this was from the beautiful "Worship Center," with an insignia poster "World's Friendship," with three white lighted tapers and an open Bible at the front. This all helped to make the service more impressive.

The study book, "Torch Bearers in Angola" had provided much enjoyment for the girls and they have taken a keen interest in the study period.

Mrs. Boomhour, vice-president for the younger groups, received the group. Miss Sandra Mosher was affiliated as treasurer, and the sum of ten dollars is to be used for this year's special objective, the Angola Mission Station.

The president of the W.M.S., Mrs. MacVicar, presented each new member with the "World's Friendship Insignia" and welcomed them into the fellowship, and closed with a beautiful prayer.

The scrap book compiled by the girls was on display and was most attractive. The cover design was an outline drawing of the map of Africa, the work of the president, Miss Kezar, who has much talent in this line as well as in leadership. Her drawing showed the contrast between the old and new Africa, before and after Christianity was introduced. A thoroughly enjoyable afternoon was spent.

AYER'S CLIFF W.A.

The Women's Association was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Helen Clouston and Miss F. V. Remick, at Mrs. Clouston's home, when a large representation of members and friends were present.

The president, Mrs. C. F. Wallbridge, presided and the devotional period was taken by Mrs. W. P. Berwick.

Many items of business was disposed of and plans were made to cater for the "Fish and Game Club" and for June 3, tentative plans were made for a "Coronation Tea." The date for the mid-summer event was set for July 11.

The highlight of the afternoon was when Mrs. Fred Brooks gave a very interesting talk on "England." Mrs. Brooks is a native of Yorkshire and she presented a vivid word picture of many war events. The first bombing raid, the many years of "lights out," and many other sad stories, not forgetting to tell of the beauty of England's countryside.

Mrs. F. M. Wyman invited the ladies to her home for the May meeting.

A delicious tea was served and a very pleasant hour spent over the tea-cups.

A GOING AWAY PARTY

Mrs. Kenneth Cooper, assisted by Mrs. P. W. Baldwin, entertained at a "Going Away" party, in honor of Mrs. Reginald Gay, who is leaving this week to take up residence in their old home in Montreal.

This party was held at the spacious Cooper home and was in the form of a "Flower Pot" tea, each being presented with a corsage.

The afternoon was spent socially and a delicious tea was served, when the lace covered tea table was centered with pink and white snapdragons and pink tapers in silver holders.

Before leaving for their homes, the guests expressed to Mrs. Gay their good wishes for years of happiness, and though they were sorry that she was not remaining in this community they were happy for her that she was returning to her old friends in the city.

GENERAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sanderson have returned from an extensive motor trip through the West and the New England States.

The friends of Mrs. Gerard Hamel were sorry to learn that she has been a patient in La Providence Hospital in Magog, for two weeks, with an attack of pneumonia. She is now well on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Gay, and son, George, have taken up residence in Montreal. Friends here are sorry to lose them from this community. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wallbridge, who have purchased their home, will occupy same in the near future.

The friends of Mrs. Glen Little are sorry to know that she was taken by ambulance to the Sherbrooke Hospital, Room 212.

Messrs. Lynn Gothrop and Elmer Lyon were in Sherbrooke when they brought Mr. Charles Libby home from the Sherbrooke Hospital. Mr. Libby fractured a shoulder some time ago and is now progressing favorably.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Johnston, and Mr. Elmer Lyon, were in New-

Brownleigh-Kingsey Falls W. A. Met In Danville At Home of Mrs. W. Sells

Kingsey Falls, April 28.—Mrs. W. C. Sells entertained the Brownleigh-Kingsey Falls Women's Association in her home in Danville, on April 16.

There was a good attendance of members and a number of friends, who came to celebrate Mrs. Sells birthday, which by happy coincidance fell on the same date.

The president, Mrs. Donald Smith, presided. Following devotionals, roll call, and discussion on various business items, the meeting closed with all joining in singing the hymn, "In Christ There Is No East Nor West." Mrs. D. Buchanan was at the piano.

The social hour was very pleasant. The hostess served a delectable tea including the traditional birthday cake and a guest cake presented to Mrs. Sells by Mrs. Mabel Blake and Mrs. J. M. Leith. Mrs. Sells received several pretty and useful gifts and lovely cards from her fellow members and friends for which she expressed sincere thanks.

The May meeting is to be held in the United Chapel, in Kingsey Falls, on May 21.

General Notes

Mrs. Allen Fitch and little daughter, Patsy Anne, of Vancouver, B.C., who are guests of Mrs. Fitch's mother, Mrs. K. Myers, and her grandmother, Mrs. A. Blunden, in Danville, and spent an evening with their aunt and cousins, Mrs. Robert Sells and family. Mrs. K. Myers was also a guest on this happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Leith were guests of Mrs. A. Perkins and Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Perkins, in Brownleigh.

Mr. and Mrs. Drummond Buchanan motored to Ste. Anne de Bellevue and were accompanied home by their son, Mr. Robert Buchanan.

Mrs. S. J. Turvey has received word that her son, Mr. Hubert Turvey, of Victoria, Australia, is on his way to pay her a visit. The many friends of Mrs. Turvey rejoice with her and wish for her port, Vt., to attend the Music Festival of Vermont, when Mr. Lyon's granddaughter, Miss Faith Gaffield, of Derby Line, was one of the soloists.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Merrill were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart H. R. Frizzle and Mr. and Mrs. Foster Ross, of Lennoxville.

Mr. Paul Champagne, has purchased "Underwood Lodge," of Mr. Eugene Standish, of Dixville, and will operate the same for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McHarg were in Bishopton, where they attended the funeral of his cousin, Mrs. Carl Bishop.

Ives Hill And Draper's Corner Forum Activities Reported By Secretary

Ives Hill, April 28. — Following is a report of the season's activities of the Ives Hill and Draper's oCrner Farm Forum, presented by the secretary, Mrs. Fred Green:

It is my pleasure at this time, according to our custom, to submit this report or summary of our season's activities for your consideration, that we may better plan our future actions.

On October 27th, 1952, this group met enrolling nine member families. Officers were elected. At this meeting the amount of $45.00 was voted to finance the study of "Farm Credit."

On October 31, our representative attended the Quebec Farm Forum Council meeting, to assist in preparing a questionaire to be sent out to each member for the purpose of getting first hand detailed information on the above mentioned subject.

During the month of November our Community Hall was enlarged, the labor and much of the material were donated by the members.

On November 24th (Fourth Night) we entertained the Sherbrooke County groups at our hall. "Farm Credit" was the topic at this meeting.

On December 15, in reporting on the discussion, "Building For Peace," our group had an opportunity to give undeniable support to the United Nations and the principal which they represent.

Mr. Albert Cairns and Mr. Clayton Bernard attended the Christmas Short Course, at Macdonald College

Two representatives attended the Eastern Agricultural Conference in Montreal, where our resolution on "Farm Policy" was presented and endorsed.

Through the courtesy of the Sherbrooke County Farm Forum Council, Mrs. Fred Green attended the "Farm Forum Conference," in the Mount Royal Hotel, in Montreal, on February 18 - 19, putting in two very busy days. At this meeting further action was taken on Farm Credit study. The county council was asked to name a committee to prepare a recommended action or plan from the result of the questionaire and other available information. This committee was named at a council meeting on February 23, at the Lennoxville Experimental Farm, where we were guests of the Spring Road and Eaton Road Forum Groups. The committee includes— Fred Green, Leslie Young and Clayton Bernard.

In regard to the general condition of the group, during these five months we have taken in $135.96 and paid out $121.50 leaving net earnings of $14.46. We have met and reported every broadcast night. We have been the guest of the county once, and of neighbours not members of our group three times. We have had a large number of guests at nearly every meeting.

We have given encouragement to sick persons in the community, and made donations to charitable organizations, also furnished entertainment to the community.

Two projects deserve a few words of comment, namely "Farm Credit" and "National Farm Policy." (resolution to C.F.A.) both of these having been the results of a long period of study. In sponsoring this detailed study of "Farm Credit," we are not unduly critical of the efforts of those, who have given us the many excellent features of the present available credit, as these will undoubtably be the foundation of any future credit plan. However we are confidant a plan, which calls for greater co-operation between individual Farmers, Farm Groups, lending agencies, and the different Government Agricultural services can result in more efficient farming.

Our Farm Policy resolution is the result of many discussions on this topic, It is the result of the knowledge that agriculture is being gradually forced into an almost impossible position, where our costs, labor, goods, services, taxes, etc., are constantly increasing to the point, where we are not able to compete with products from other countries, where labor, and production costs are much cheaper. This is the result of the growing practice of monoplies, of varying degrees, which includes labor, industry, professions as well as sections of the farming industry. As examples we mention the Railroad and Grain Elevator Strikes. In these disputes the people they serve have no voice whatever and there is no competition. This is true to a large extent in regard to almost every item in farm production costs.

Our aim has been to have a "National Farm Policy" established by and with the consent of the people of the Nation through an Economic Council comprised of representatives of all interests. That a formula will be found to maintain resonable stability, encourage good conservation practices, and make possible the production of high quality foods, that we may serve better both the people of this and other countries.

This is a challenge to the people and government of this country, and may well become an example for other countries. It can be an effective means of combating depression periods, and it should offer confidence and create conditions, which will give us strength to win the cold war.

As secretary I have been most happy to serve with you and have received a full share of the wonderful comradeship which is ours.

Plan Cabinet Space And Save Your Energy

Good use of space provided in wall and base test cabinets at the University of Illinois home economics center suggests improvements for home kitchens. Simple handmade metal racks line the inside of doors to keep small articles safe and accessible. Interior shelves are eight inches deep to accommodate larger bowls and packages without overcrowding. Note the pull-out shelf, varisized drawers for specific storage of utensils, pans, flour and sugar.

No matter how we doll up the face of the kitchen with paint, paper and plastic, it's still essentially a workshop. So anything we can do to streamline work in the shop the more we will enjoy it.

As a scarred veteran in the battle of the bulging cupboard, I know that inadequate and poorly planned storage is a major bugaboo. Some of my defeats are my own fault. A squirril-like tendency to buy six cans when I can store only four, is one. Another, I found out the other day, is poor use of the space I've got.

But some of the fault lies with the builder who tacks up a couple of cabinets and calls it a kitchen. Also, most standard cabinet design leaves a lot to be desired.

Does this, for example, look familiar? I mean a neat, deep wall cabinet with two shelves about evenly spaced? This means we stack canned goods in rows, especially on the top shelf where there's more room. Then you reach for the split pea soup which is the third can back behind mushroom and tomato. If you're careful, skilful maneuvering will free the can in a few minutes. If you're in a hurry, tomato scores a hit on your head. Besides, little jars and boxes of spices get lost and spilled on a deep shelf.

What's to be done? Space specialist Helen McCullough of the University of Illinois home economics staff gave me some answers. Miss McCullough, by way of introduction, has been doing research on the problem of space design for household storage for several years. Her recently published findings in a bulletin for the University of Illinois Agriculture Experiment Station is as absorbing as the latest whodunit.

To make storage easier and more convenient (assuming that you make do with what you have) you may be able to rearrange pots and pans to better advantage. You can also revamp existing cabinets.

Miss McCullough recommends storing utensils and nonfrigerated foods at the point of first use. This means that cake pans, muffin tins, cookies sheets as well as mixing spoons, bowls, etc., should be stored near the flour, cake mixes, sugar, spices, and so on. Skillets, griddle, a saucepan or two and the lids should be stored in or close by the stove. Sounds obvious, doesn't it?

Look around your own kitchen and see if your utensils are really handy. I was surprised to find that by shifting two cake pans and a cookie sheet from the stove storage drawer to a base cabinet rack and transferring pot lids from rack to stove drawer, I save about eight trips back and forth across the room every time I fix dinner.

To give wall cabinets greater flexibility, shelves should be easily adjustable. In test cabinets, Miss McCullough used two metal shelving strips at each end of the cabinet. Shelves rest on supports and can be moved up and down in a moment. This idea can be adapted for our cabinets without too much trouble.

Her test wall cabinets are 12 inches deep. At the mixing center, interior shelves are shaved to eight inches deep. Racks, an inch and a half to three inches deep, are lined up the inside of doors. This gives easy accessibility and safe storage for small bottles, spices and packages in the racks. Larger bottles, cans and mixing bowls are lined up single file on the shelves. A few are stored two deep.

Here are two more ideas from Miss McCullough which I liked. One is the use of a metal-lined drawer to store crackers, cereals and cookies. This brings them down from the shelf and keeps them neatly bunched.

Another idea is a pull-out shelf set a few inches below the counter top. This would make mixing easier for petite women and give more emergency serving space when you need it. We can't insert a shelf, but we can add a hinged drop shelf to the end of the counter that would serve the same purpose.

Barrie Flyers Come From Behind To Win Over St. Boniface Canadiens

Winnipeg —(CP)— Barrie Flyers played 20 minutes of solid hockey Monday night and it was enough to give them a 6-4 victory over St. Boniface Canadiens in the first game of their best-of-seven Memorial Cup finals.

The highly-touted Flyers overcame a 4-2 second period deficit to score four times in the final period while holding the Habs off the board.

Second game will be played at Brandon tomorrow night, with the third back in Winnipeg, Friday night.

After the game Canadien centre Len Thornson said: "We blew the big one but we know now that Barrie aren't the super team they're cracked up to be. We forgot to keep checking in that last period."

"We tried the rough stuff in the first two periods and found we were getting the worst of the deal, then we settled down," Emms said.

Coach Bryan Hextall of the Canadiens said "we know we can beat them now, but we've got to play hockey the full 60 minutes."

The pro-St. Boniface crowd continually blasted the two referees, Louis LeCompte and Bing McDonald of Ottawa, for their officiating. Larry Desjardins, the Habs' manager, blamed the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

"We've got a big team and like to lay it on, but we haven't a chance with Manitoba officials. I don't blame Barrie nor the officials. It's the CAHA that's at fault. There's no consistency in refereeing. If we carried our sticks or charged like the teams did last night we'd be crucified during the regular schedule."

Skip Teal, Captain Don McKenney and Doug Mohn were the big guns for Barrie. Teal collected two goals and two assists. McKenney set up three tallies and scored what proved to be the winner while Mohns assisted twice. Other Flyer goals went to Jim Robertson, Tony Poeta and Orv Tessier.

Maurice Parsons Is Re-Elected

Maurice Parsons was unanimously re-elected Sherbrooke District Minor Hockey Convener for a fourth consecutive term at the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke District Minor Hockey Association held on Sunday afternoon at the Superior School, Sherbrooke.

Mr. Parsons, in his opening address, stated that this was the best year in minor hockey since its foundation. In the season 1950-51 when he took over for the first time as convener, 38 clubs registered with 470 players. In 1951-52, there were 43 clubs and 609 players registered and in 1952-53 a record 51 clubs and 676 players were registered.

The Eastern Townships champions for the past season were, St. Francois in the Juveniles; Superior School in the Midgets; Bishop's College School in the Bantams, and Beebe A. A. in the Pee-Wees. The Juveniles received the Nadeau Trophy while the Midgets received the Sports Equipment, Montreal Trophy, and the Bantams received the J. P. Perreault Trophy.

Bedford was a new entry this year with four Bantam clubs and three Midget clubs. It is expected that this district will enlarge next year. Rev. Father Belisle was the instigator of this project this year and was very successful.

Knowlton was back again with four Pee-Wee clubs with Glen Brown in charge and will hold their league banquet around May 15, in Knowlton.

Next year, the Sherbrooke District winners in the Juvenile and Midget sections will travel in the provincial semi-finals and finals. This year Rockland Juveniles defeated Sherbrooke St. Francois and Verdun Canadians beat out Superior Midgets by one point in the semi-finals. With the mounting interest in minor hockey it is expected that next year will again break records as far as club and player registration. Convener will represent Sherbrooke District at the minor annual meeting and the Q.A.H.A. annual meeting to be held in September in Montreal.

Feller Happy Over 240 Wins

Cleveland — (AP) — "I haven't won for so long, I don't know how to act," was Bob Feller's comment after he posted the 240th victory of his career, a 2-1 five-hitter over Detroit Sunday.

Feller's last victory was over Chicago last Aug. 17, and he made only one start in the final month of the season. In the last four months of the 1952 season, he had a total of four wins.

So elated was the veteran right-hander when he won Sunday's opener, that in piloting his private plane from the lakefront to his suburban home, he flew over the stadium where the nightcap was in progress and wiggled his wings happily.

Only 31 pitchers, besides the 34-year-old Feller and Hal Newhouser of Detroit, who is 32, have been able to reach the 200-victory mark since the turn of the century. Feller's 240th enabled him to pass two Hall-of-Famers, Herb Pennock and Mordecai Brown, who posted 239 each.

I.L. Makes Canadian Debut

The 1953 edition of the International Baseball League will made its Canadian debut Wednesday on all three fronts. Buffalo, the loop's northernment outpost in the United States, also will see its first game of the new season.

All eight teams are taking it easy today, limbering up for their northern invasion.

A twi-light doubleheader at Springfield was the only activity on Monday night's schedule. The Cubs broke a three-game losing streak by winning the abbreviated first game from Buffalo 4-3, but suffered their first whitewashing of the season 5-0 in the nightcap.

Montreal Royals, last season's pennant winners, will play host to Rochester Red Wings. Syracuse Chiefs will make a stand on the grounds of Ottawa Athletics and Springfield will take on the Maple Leafs at Toronto. The Bisons will greet Baltimore Orioles.

Springfield starter Jim Brosnan gave up only three hits and fanned eight Monday night but the win went to reliefer Gen Tarabilda who came on in the seventh and final inning. Ted Kapuscinski won the nightcap in his first start for the Bisons, giving up seven hits. Starter Bob Hartig was the loser for Springfield.

Britain's Racing Classics Open With Two Thousand Guineas At Newmarket

London, —(CP)— They're off and running tomorrow in the first of Britain's 1953 racing classics, and there'll be plenty of kings and princes around to provide an atmosphere appropriate to Coronation year.

Not flesh-and-blood kings and princes, necessarily. The regal touch will mostly be supplied by the nomenclature of horses such as Masai King, King of the Tudors, Prince Charlemagne and Prince Christian—all fancied equine entries in the first big flat race of the season.

The event is the Tow Thousand Guineas, a test for three-year-olds run over the Straight Rowley mile at Newmarket. The other classics of the year are the One Thousand Guineas for three-year-old fillies, run at Newmarket Friday, the Derby, Oaks and the Doncaster St. Leger.

The event, won last year by French invader Thunderhead II, is usually a wide-open event, but this time north country folk won't hear of the possibility of defeat. Their faith is reposed in William Humble's Nearula which if successful will be the first Yorkshire horse to win the Guineas in this century.

Trained by Charles Elsey, Nearula easily defeated the best English colts and fillies in his two-year-old season and consolidated his claims this month by cantering home six lengths clear in a north country classic test. He is likely to go to the post tomorrow a 2-to-1 favorite.

Among Nearula's opponents in the field of about 17 top three-year-olds will likely be the sensational filly Bebe Grande, six times a winner as a two-year-old. South African sportsman J. S. Gerber, part owner of the flying filly, has said it will contest both the Two Thousand Guineas and the One Thousand Guineas, a tough schedule.

Other contenders are the Aga Khan's massive colt Masai King, second favorite in the betting despite a series of disappointing workouts; the mystery horse King of the Tudors, which won the only race of his life like a champion but hasn't been seen out since; the Queen's horse Aureole, a sentimental choice which is thought to have a better chance in the Derby than the Guineas; Prince Christian owned by Lincolnshire farmer Frank Dennis; and Prince Charlemagne, a recent winner by eight lengths. The only French entry, Toscp, is said to be better over a longer distance.

Wins But Has To Be Revived

Lewiston, Me. — (AP) — Maine middleweight champion Stanley Ketchell retained his title Monday night, but they had to revive him to tell him about it.

Smitty Hicks, 159½, of Portland, threw a knockout punch which referee Joe Bovin said landed after the bell ended round six.

Ketchell, 152, of Banger could not answer the bell for round seven and the fight was award to him on a foul.

Hicks appeared to be leading on points when the knockout ended the scheduled 10-round bout.

Commissioner Wants Rule Change

Boston —(AP)— In the wake of the much-discussed Jimmy Carter-Tommy Collins fight, Henry Lamar Massachusetts boxing commission member, said Monday he will recommend a rule change calling for a bout to end automatically after a boxer is floored three times in any one round.

Allan Cup Final Tonight

Kitchener, Ont., — (CP) — The East and West meet here tonight for the opening of the 44th series of the Allan Cup, emblematic of Canadian senior amateur hockey supremacy.

The East is represented by Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and the West by Penticton V's.

The West has claimed the trophy 20 times and is the current holder. Fort Frances Canadiens won it last year by defeating Stratford Indians.

Should Penticton win the cup it will be the third time a British Columbia contender has taken it. Trail Smoke Eaters defeated Quebec Aces in 1938 and Kimberley Dynamiters turned back Sudbury Falcons in 1936.

This year's series is the first for Kitchener fans. The Dutchmen, Ontario Hockey Association Senior A champions, came from behind to defeat Smiths Falls Rideaus in the Eastern final. The V's turned back Fort William Beavers for the right to represent the West.

The V's are in the cup finals with only two years organization behind them, but coach Bill Carse has a collection of veterans on his line-up.

The three Warwick brothers — Grant and Bill, both ex-New York Rangers and Dick — made up one line. Jim Fleming, former Kansas City pro, is on defence and Jack McIntyre at centre has had seven years professional experience with New Westminster and Victoria.

The second game of the series will be played Thursday and the third Saturday. Fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh games are set for May 4, 6, 8 and 9.

Flyers Win Western Title

Edmonton— (CP) —The rags-to-riches Edmonton Flyers captured the Western Hockey League championship Monday night by routing Saskatoon Quakers 9-4.

When league president Al Leader presented Flyer captain Jimmy Uniac with the President's Cup it marked the end of Edmonton's long climb from the bottom of the eight-team loop in the early season to the cinderella team of the playoffs.

The charges of Bud Poile, who took Flyer to their first professional hockey championship of modern times in his Edmonton debut, swept the series from the defending titleholders four games to two.

Leon Bouchard, fancy-dan defenceman converted to forward, paced flyers with three goals. Ray Hannigan sniped two and the others were bagged by Uniac, Dutch Reibel, Larry Wilson, and Jimmy Anderson.

Quakers got goals from coach Doug Bentley, Chuck McCullough, Johnny Chad and defenceman Murray Parker.

Today Major League Teams Take A Look At Their Distant Relatives

Today's the day the ball clubs quit playing the home folks and take a look at their distant relatives for the first time this season.

This first invasion, which this year sees the American League take Horace Greeley's famous travel suggestion while the National League views the sights in the east, always is particularly important.

It shows how the leagues are balanced.

It gives the rooies their first glimpses of some new parks.

And it gives a better line on whether a club can be depended upon to win away from home, since it is a prolonged trip rather than the short opening junket to nearby cities.

Here's the major league picture at the start of the east-west invasions:

Philadelphia Phillies, riding an eight-game winning streak, lead the National League by 2½ games over second-place Chicago Cubs. Brooklyn, experts' choice to win the pennant for the second straight season, is third. St. Louis and Milwaukee are tied for fourth followed by New York, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

In the American League Cleveland owns a 28 percentage point advantage over the defending champion New York Yankees, although due to a mathematical quirk the Yankees are a half-game ahead in the games behind column. This is because the Indians have played only nine games to the Yanks' 12. The dangerous Chicago White Sox are a close third with St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics tied for fourth. Boston, Washington and Detroit finish out the standings.

In both leagues the leaders will be playing at home. The Phillies begin an 11-game stand against the west with the Cardinals coming in tonight for three straight night contests. Milwaukee will stop off for two games, Chicago for four and Cincinnati for two.

The Indians have only seven games against the eastern American League entries this time around. They start off tonight and Wednesday with the Athletics, rest a day before a two-game series with Washington and then take another day off prior to a single night game with the Yankees.

Other games today in the American League bring Washington to Chicago and Boston to Detroit while the Yankees play tonight in St. Louis.

In the National League all the teams wait until tonight when, in addition to St. Louis at Philadelphia, it will be Milwaukee at New York, Cincinnati at Brooklyn and Chicago at Pittsburgh.

Paddy De Marco Wins Unanimous 10 Round Decision Over Armand Savoie

Montreal. — (CP) — Paddy DeMarco of Brooklyn last night strengthened his position as a top contender for the world lightweight boxing crown, winning a unanimous 10-round decision over Armand Savoie of Montreal, Canadian lightweight champ.

Savoie recently won a split decision over world champion Jimmy Carter in a non-title fight and was touted for a shot at the crown. But, when DeMarco had finished with him, even the partisan hometown crowd didn't dispute the decision.

DeMarco, 138, tough and rugged, threw two many punches for Savoie; continually crowded him; and gave the rangy Montrealer at 137 pounds little chance to cut loose with his sharp-shooting rights.

DeMarco's powerful right hand swings gave him the advantage in the eighth and ninth and Savoie took the 10th when DeMarco was content to coast on an obvious lead.

Judge Leon Germain scored it six rounds for DeMarco, three for Savoie and one even. Judge Rene Ouimette had it 6-4 for DeMarco and judge Johnny Gowe saw it 7-3 for the winner.

Stranahan, Ward Top Entries

New York —(AP)— Defending champion Harvie Ward and Frank Stranahan, a two-time winner, top a 29-man United States delegation entered in the British amateur golf tournament at Hoylake, May 25-30.

The U.S. Golf Association, announcing this list Monday, said 12 of the Americans plan to play in the French championship at Chantilly June 4-7 and at least four, including professional Lloyd Mangrum, in the British Open at Carnoustie, Scotland, July 6-1.

Crooner Bing Crosby, who shoots in the 70s, is entered in both the British and French amateur events despite criticism in some British newspapers.

Desmond Hackett of the London Daily Express said recently Crosby and Bob Hope should be barred from British tournaments. He said Crosby turned the 1950 amateur at St. Andrews into a circus and added that Hope 'made an ass of himself" in the same tournament at Porthcawl two years ago.

The United States has won five of the last six British amateur tournaments and Americans will be heavily favored to score again. Stranahan was the victor in 1948 and 1950, and ward won last year.

Kelly Wins Lady Byng

Montreal — (CP) — For the second time in three years Red Kelly of Detroit Red Wings has won the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy, the National Hockey League announced Monday night. Kelly received 80 of a possible 90 points in the balloting by 18 hockey writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities.

The trophy is awarded annually to "the player adjudged to have exhibited the best type of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability during the year."

Estelle Maufette Known To Million Radio Listeners

By CHRISTINE SIROIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Montreal — CP — As a musician and lover of poetry, Estelle Maufette is known to few, but as Donalda, the patient, submissive wife of grumpy, miserly radio husband, she is known to millions.

For 14 years Estelle Maufette has starred in the radio presentation "Un 'homme et Son Peche"—"A Man and His Sin"— over the CBC's French network. In radio parlance, this endless serial is pure soap opera. To deveoted listeners from Edmonton to Edmundston, N.B., it is life, true and real. They suffer with meek Donalda—no author's creation to them, but flesh and blood.

When penny-pinching Seraphin Poudrier wouldn't let his wife buy a spool of thread, Donalda received dozens from radio listeners —a tremendous audience the CBC estimates at 4,000,000.

Sympathetic listeners have sent along a baby layette, stamps, tea and even money. Some gifts have historical value — souvenirs and personal belongings treasured by the owners.

In her daily life Estelle Maufette has nothing outwardly in common with Donalda. The voice of this gracious brunette and her laughter is gay. Imaginative, intuitive, visionary, she has had a deep feeling for the arts since childhood.

She comes from a family of musicians, but it is in poetry that she finds greatest enjoyment. "It is through poetry that I understand things," says Miss Maufette. "If I like Donalda it is because of the poetic and mystical side of her character."

Estelle Maufette's maternal grandfather was Emery Lavigne, a celebrated pianist of his day. Grandfather Maufette was the first layman to found a classical college in Canada—St. Joseph's in Montreal. A brother, Guy Maufette is a radio producer.

In 1939 when the CBC and author Claude-Henri Grignon began plans to put "Un Homme et Son Peche" on the air they looked around for a Donalda. But Estelle Maufette was not among the 10 candidates. Because her brother was the producer she thought she should not apply.

When none of the 10 proved satisfactory to Grignon, he urged Miss Maufette to give an audition. She did, and Grignon was overjoyed.

Three years later when Miss Maufette was crowned queen of the radio, Grignon wrote: "Never have I known a woman so wonderful—the real Donalda of my dreams."

Miss Maufette, a conservatory graduate, appears also in other radio plays—as Mme Bellerose in "Cure du Village," as Marguerite Bourgeoys in "Le Ciel par dessus les Toits."

But it is as Donalda she is most widely known—and known simply as that. Even her working associates call her Donalda.

Miss Maufette has one cherished engagement each year. Each Good Friday she recites Claudel's "Chemin de la Croix" "The Way of the Cross."

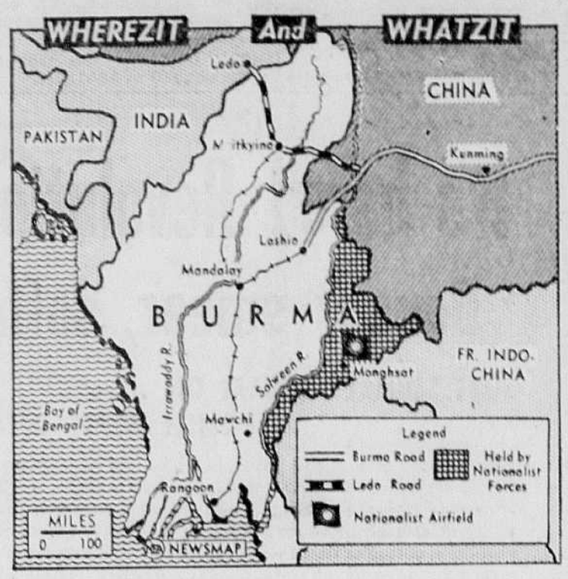
BURMA SEEKS UN AID TO HALT "AGGRESSION" The long smoldering problems of Burma reached a climax when Myint Thein, its delegate to the UN, asked the General Assembly to declare the Nationalist government on Formosa an aggressor. He claimed that 12,000 Chinese Nationalist troops, supplied from Formosa, were trying to overthrow the Burmese government. Dr. T. F. Tsiang, replying for Nationalist China, denied the charges, saying this "Nationalist Anti-Salvation Army" was not part of the regular Chinese forces. Map and pictures show issues and some of the key personalities involved in the Burma problem.



Burma, romantic land of Kipling, now finds herself threatened by the Chinese Communists to the north, and harassed internally by native Reds, and remnants of the old Chinese Nationalist army. In 1949, after the Nationalists collapsed, part of their army under General Li Mi fell back across the Burma border. Soon an airfield was built at Monghsat, and in 1951 Nationalist units again attacked Red China, but were driven back. General Li Mi regrouped, lived off the land and extended his activities as shown on above map. The weak Burmese army turned from fighting Korean rebels and two factions of Communists to fight Li Mi's men. Finally, in April, 1953, the Burmese government asked the UN to condemn the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa for an act of aggression on Burma. Then the Burma government, to the amazement of everyone, thanked the U. S. for the $31 million economic aid already received and declined to accept any further help. There was some talk of a Soviet aid program to Burma. Burma is a land almost as big as Texas, with twice as many people—about 17 million. Its population is one of widely assorted Asiatic races, mostly of Buddhist religion. The nation's life-stream for centures has been the Irrawaddy River, navigable for 900 miles through dense jungles. Its rich soil and abundant rainfall produce many other "money crops." Extensive mineral deposits and jewels of unsurpassed quality add to Burma's riches. The famous Burma Road, and its companion Ledo—or Stillwell—Road, are the back doors to Red China. Both roads are now eyed greedily by the Chinese Communists. Burma is a key nation in the defense plans of the free world's attempt to halt the spread of communistic imperialism.

Premier Thakin Nu has been beset by civil strife, by Communst groups remnants of the Chinese Nationalists army, and Karens who want an autonomous state within Burma. These problems have upset his nationalization program.

Thakin Tan Hun, head of militant "White Flag" Communist Party operates out of the thick jungles in central Burma, 50 miles south of Mandalay. He has 2000 seasoned fighters under arms and 500 non-militant supporters.

Burmese troops wading through a jungle stream in search of Chinese Reds may have to batle Chinese Nationalists. The Chinese Nationalist troops under the command of General Li Mi are based in the northern Shan states.

Nazi Buzz Bombs To Be Launched To Fight Cold Germs

Ueberlingen, Germany — Reuters — The "buzz bombs" that Germany launched during the Second World War are going to "war" again—this time against germs, bugs and cold.

Three peacetime products, developed on the "buzz bomb principle," are ready for distribution in Canada, the United States and other western hemisphere countries.

Under the over-all trade name "swingfire" three devices — "swingheater," "swingfog," and "swingburner"—have been designed to utilize the "buzz-bomb" idea to give quick warm-up shots to engines on cold mornings, provide easily-installed emergency heating units for buildings and construction sites, and develop a heavy insecticide "fog."

Research on the devices was begun just after the German rout at Stalingrad when the Russians' "general cold" stalled German mobile equipment. After the Stalingrad defeat, German scientists were assigned the task of finding a way to enable vehicles to operate in intense cold.

They hit upon the idea of using the idea behind the "buzz bomb" in which a mixture of fuel and air was ignited to provide the oscillating pulse jet to supply the thrust for the bombs.

Before the scientists completed their work, the war ended. Their research was taken over by private interests here. A British firm acquired interests in the products and recently a licensing agreement for their sale in North America was concluded with a U.S. firm.

The "swingheater" device is attached to the cooling system of a car, truck, plane or almost any other liquid-cooled internal combustion engine. A small spark from the vehicle's battery is enough to set the "swingheater" in operation and quickly bring the engine temperature up to normal operating heat.

The company claims that 40 per cent of engine wear is caused by cold starting. The device may also be adapted to supply heat for the passenger section of the vehicle. In the battle against insects and germs, "swingfog" atomizes solutions of standard insecticides to create a heavy, blanketing fog and its makers claims it can do the same job quicker and more effectively than standard "dusting" or "spraying" methods with a fraction of the insecticide.

Early Inventor

Credit for the invention of the gasoline motor car sometimes is given to Siegfried Markus, a German, who, in 1875, constructed a crude machine which actually ran.

B.F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire

Because IT HAS NO TUBE

It may save your life...

The B.F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire gives you maximum protection against the hazard of blowouts and dangerous skids, that frequently result in serious injury, and even death.

It can save you trouble...

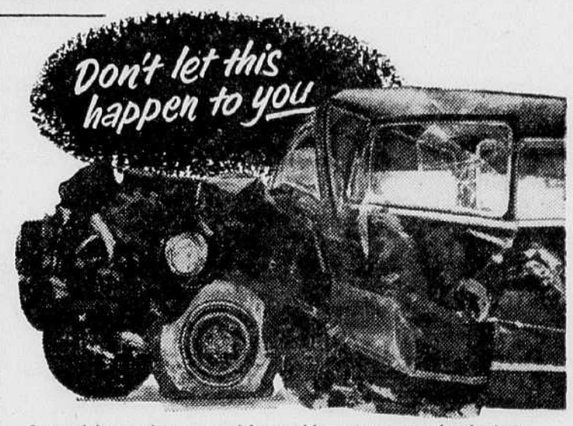
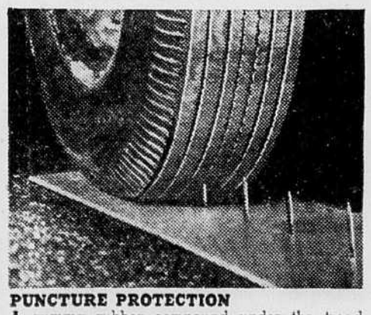
It will save you money...

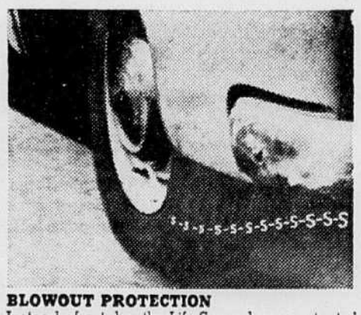
The B. F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire provides greater safety than any tire and tube, yet it costs less than the conventional safety tire-tube combination.



Automobile accidents caused by tire blowouts account for the loss of many lives, and an even greater number of serious injuries. Blowouts are caused when the inner tube explodes through weakened or broken tire cords. Because it has NO inner tube, a B.F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire changes a sudden, dangerous blowout to a safe s-s-s-slowout—allowing you time to stop your car safely, with perfect control.



PUNCTURE PROTECTION
A gummy rubber compound under the tread immediately seals around puncturing objects, and permanently seals the hole when the object is removed. Inconvenience and delays are eliminated.



BLOWOUT PROTECTION
Instead of a tube, the Life-Saver has a patented inner lining that's part of the tire. In event of damage there's no sudden blowout, only a small break in the liner, a s-s-s-slowout that lets you stop safely.

SKID PROTECTION
The Life-Saver tread is cross-cut into thousands of tiny grip-blocks. At 30 miles per hour on wet roads, it stops you a car length quicker than regular tires . . . and gives you longer mileage too.

Where does the money go?

At times most of us have looked at purse, wallet or bank-book, and wondered: "Where does the money go?"

Each year we at Imperial add up the company's bills to see what happened to the money we received in the previous 12 months for the gasoline, fuel oil and other products we sell. Here's where each dollar of Imperial's 1952 income went:

54.32 cents — CRUDE OIL and other raw materials we bought, plus freight, took more than half of each dollar.

28.20 cents — OPERATING expenses took more than 28 cents. This was the cost of searching for and producing crude oil, and of manufacturing and marketing the hundreds of products we supplied for thousands of uses. Throughout the year high quality products were made available where and when you needed them.

10.00 cents — TAXES to provincial and federal governments took 10 cents. And this did not include gasoline tax, which—depending on where you live—took from 24 to 36 cents out of every dollar you spent for standard grade gasoline.

4.06 cents — DIVIDENDS paid to shareholders for use of plants and equipment amounted to 4.06 cents.

3.42 cents — TO REPLACE worn out equipment and to make sure that we can supply your needs in the future 3.42 cents was put back into the business.

Barrie Flyers Come From Behind To Win Over St. Boniface Canadiens

Winnipeg —(AP)— Barrie Flyers played 20 minutes of solid hockey Monday night and it was enough to give them a 6-4 victory over St. Boniface Canadiens in the first game of their best-of-seven Memorial Cup finals.

The highly touted Flyers overcame a 4-2 second period deficit to score four times in the final period while holding the Habs off the board.

Second game will be played at Brandon tomorrow night, with the third back in Winnipeg, Friday night.

After the game Canadien centre Len Thornson said: "We blew the big one but we know now that Barrie aren't the super team they're cracked up to be. We forgot to keep checking in that last period."

"We tried the rough stuff in the first two periods and found we were getting the worst of the deal, then we settled down," Emms said.

Coach Bryan Hextall of the Canadiens said "we know we can beat them now, but we've got to play hockey the full 60 minutes."

The pro-St. Boniface crowd continually blasted the two referees, Louis LeCompte and Bing McDonald of Ottawa, for their officiating. Larry Desjardins, the Habs' manager, blamed the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

"We've got a big team and like to lay it on, but we haven't a chance with Manitoba officials. I don't blame Barrie nor the officials. It's the CAHA that's at fault. There's no consistency in refereeing. If we carried our sticks or charged like the teams did last night we'd be crucified during the regular schedule."

Skip Teal, Captain Don McKenney and Doug Mohn were the big guns for Barrie. Teal collected two goals and two assists. McKenney set up three tallies and scored what proved to be the winner while Mohns assisted twice. Other Flyer goals went to Jim Robertson, Tony Poeta and Orv Tessier.

Today Major League Teams Take A Look At Their Distant Relatives

This first invasion, which this year sees the American League take Horace Greeley's famous travel suggestion while the National League views the sights in the east, always is particularly important.

It shows how the leagues are balanced.

It gives the rooies their first glimpses of some new parks.

And it gives a better line on whether a club can be depended upon to win away from home, since it is a prolonged trip rather than the short opening junket to nearby cities.

Here's the major league picture at the start of the east-west invasions:

Philadelphia Phillies, riding an eight-game winning streak, lead the National League by 2½ games over second-place Chicago Cubs. Brooklyn, experts' choice to win the pennant for the second straight season, is third. St. Louis and Milwaukee are tied for fourth followed by New York, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

In the American League Cleveland owns a 28 percentage point advantage over the defending champion New York Yankees, although due to a mathematical quirk the Yankees are a half-game ahead in the games behind column. This is because the Indians have played only nine games to the Yanks' 12. The dangerous Chicago White Sox are a close third with St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics tied for fourth. Boston, Washington and Detroit finish out the standings.

In both leagues the leaders will be playing at home. The Phillies begin an 11-game stand against the west with the Cardinals coming in tonight for three straight night contests. Milwaukee will stop off for two games, Chicago for four and Cincinnati for two.

The Indians have only seven games against the eastern American League entries this time around. They start off tonight and Wednesday with the Athletics, rest a day before a two-game series with Washington and then take another day off prior to a single night game with the Yankees.

Other games today in the American League bring Washington to Chicago and Boston to Detroit while the Yankees play tonight in St. Louis.

In the National League all the teams wait until tonight when, in addition to St. Louis at Philadelphia, it will be Milwaukee at New York, Cincinnati at Brooklyn and Chicago at Pittsburgh.

Paddy De Marco Wins Unanimous 10 Round Decision Over Armand Savoie

Montreal. — (CP) — Paddy DeMarco of Brooklyn last night strengthened his position as a top contender for the world lightweight boxing crown, winning a unanimous 10-round decision over Armand Savoie of Montreal, Canadian lightweight champ.

Savoie recently won a split decision over world champion Jimmy Carter in a non-title fight and was touted for a shot at the crown. But, when DeMarco had finished with him, even the partisan hometown crowd didn't dispute the decision.

DeMarco, 138, tough and rugged, threw two many punches for Savoie; continually crowded him; and gave the rangy Montrealer at 137 pounds little chance to cut loose with his sharp-shooting rights.

DeMarco's powerful right hand swings gave him the advantage in the eighth and ninth and Savoie took the 10th when DeMarco was content to coast on an obvious lead.

Judge Leon Germain scored it six rounds for DeMarco, three for Savoie and one even. Judge Rene Ouimette had it 6-4 for DeMarco and judge Johnny Gowe saw it 7-3 for the winner.

Maurice Parsons Is Re-Elected

Maurice Parsons was unanimously re-elected Sherbrooke District Minor Hockey Convener for a fourth consecutive term at the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke District Minor Hockey Association held on Sunday afternoon at the Superior School, Sherbrooke.

Mr. Parsons, in his opening address, stated that this was the best year in minor hockey since its foundation. In the season 1950-51 when he took over for the first time as convener, 38 clubs registered with 470 players. In 1951-52, there were 43 clubs and 609 players registered and in 1952-53 a record 51 clubs and 676 players were registered.

The Eastern Townships champions for the past season were, St. Francois in the Juveniles; Superior School in the Midgets; Bishop's College School in the Bantams, and Beebe A. A. in the Pee-Wees. The Juveniles received the Nadeau Trophy while the Midgets received the Sports Equipment, Montreal Trophy, and the Bantams received the J. P. Perreault Trophy.

Bedford was a new entry this year with four Bantam clubs and three Midget clubs. It is expected that this district will enlarge next year. Rev. Father Belisle was the instigator of this project this year and was very successful.

Knowlton was back again with four Pee-Wee clubs with Glen Brown in charge and will hold their league banquet around May 15, in Knowlton.

Next year, the Sherbrooke District winners in the Juvenile and Midget sections will travel in the provincial semi-finals and finals. This year Rockland Juveniles defeated Sherbrooke St. Francois and Verdun Canadians beat out Superior Midgets by one point in the semi-finals. With the mounting interest in minor hockey it is expected that next year will again break records as far as club and player registration. Convener will represent Sherbrooke District at the minor annual meeting and the Q.A.H.A. annual meeting to be held in September in Montreal.

Feller Happy Over 240 Wins

Cleveland — (AP) — "I haven't won for so long, I don't know how to act," was Bob Feller's comment after he posted the 240th victory of his career, a 2-1 five-hitter over Detroit Sunday.

Feller's last victory was over Chicago last Aug. 17, and he made only one start in the final month of the season. In the last four months of the 1952 season, he had a total of four wins.

So elated was the veteran right-hander when he won Sunday's opener, that in piloting his private plane from the lakefront to his suburban home, he flew over the stadium where the nightcap was in progress and wiggled his wings happily.

Only 31 pitchers, besides the 34-year-old Feller and Hal Newhouser of Detroit, who is 32, have been able to reach the 200-victory mark since the turn of the century. Feller's 240th enabled him to pass two Hall-of-Famers, Herb Pennock and Mordecai Brown, who posted 239 each.

Britain's Racing Classics Open With Two Thousand Guineas At Newmarket

London. —(CP)— They're off and running tomorrow in the first of Britain's 1953 racing classics, and there'll be plenty of kings and princes around to provide an atmosphere appropriate to Coronation year.

Not flesh-and-blood kings and princes, necessarily. The regal touch will mostly be supplied by the nomenclature of horses such as Masai King, King of the Tudors, Prince Charlemagne and Prince Christian—all fancied equine entries in the first big flat race of the season.

The event is the Tow Thousand Guineas, a test for three-year-olds run over the Straight Rowley mile at Newmarket. The other classics of the year are the One Thousand Guineas for three-year-old fillies, run at Newmarket Friday, the Derby, Oaks and the Doncaster St. Leger.

The event, won last year by French invader Thunderhead II, is usually a wide-open event, but this time north country folk won't hear of the possibility of defeat. Their faith is reposed in William Humble's Nearula which if successful will be the first Yorkshire horse to win the Guineas in this century.

Trained by Charles Elsey, Nearula easily defeated the best English colts and fillies in his two-year-old season and consolidated his claims this month by cantering home six lengths clear in a north country classic test. He is likely to go to the post tomorrow a 2-to-1 favorite.

Among Nearula's opponents in the field of about 17 top three-year-olds will likely be the sensational filly Bebe Grande, six times a winner as a two-year-old. South African sportsman J. S. Gerber, part owner of the flying filly, has said it will contest both the Two Thousand Guineas and the One Thousand Guineas, a tough schedule.

Other contenders are the Aga Khan's massive colt Masai King, second favorite in the betting despite a series of disappointing workouts; the mystery horse King of the Tudors, which won the only race of his life like a champion but hasn't been seen out since; the Queen's horse Aureole, a sentimental choice which is thought to have a better chance in the Derby than the Guineas; Prince Christian owned by Lincolnshire farmer Frank Dennis; and Prince Charlemagne, a recent winner by eight lengths. The only French entry, Toscp, is said to be better over a longer distance.

Flyers Win Western Title

Edmonton— (CP) —The rags-to-riches Edmonton Flyers captured the Western Hockey League championship Monday night by routing Saskatoon Quakers 9-4.

When league president Al Leader presented Flyer captain Jimmy Uniac with the President's Cup it marked the end of Edmonton's long climb from the bottom of the eight-team loop in the early season to the cinderella team of the playoffs.

The charges of Bud Poile, who took Flyer to their first professional hockey championship of modern times in his Edmonton debut, swept the series from the detending titleholders four games to two.

Leon Bouchard, fancy-dan defenceman converted to forward, paced flyers with three goals. Ray Hannigan sniped two and the others were bagged by Uniac, Dutch Reibel, Larry Wilson, and Jimmy Anderson.

Quakers got goals from coach Doug Bentley, Chuck McCullough, Johnny Chad and defenceman Murray Parker.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

New Haven, Conn. — Eddie Compo, 131, New Haven, outpointed Harry LaSane, 132, Houston, Tex., 10.

Stranahan, Ward Top Entries

New York —(AP)— Defending champion Harvie Ward and Frank Stranahan, a two-time winner, top a 29-man United States delegation entered in the British amateur golf tournament at Hoylake, May 25-30.

The U.S. Golf Association, announcing this list Monday, said 12 of the Americans plan to play in the French championship at Chantilly June 4-7 and at least four, including professional Lloyd Mangrum, in the British Open at Carnoustie, Scotland, July 6-1.

Crooner Bing Crosby, who shoots in the 70s, is entered in both the British and French amateur events despite criticism in some British newspapers.

Desmond Hackett of the London Daily Express said recently Crosby and Bob Hope should be barred from British tournaments. He said Crosby turned the 1950 amateur at St. Andrews into a circus and added that Hope 'made an ass of himself" in the same tournament at Portheawl two years ago.

The United States has won five of the last six British amateur tournaments and Americans will be heavily favored to score again.

Kelly Wins Lady Byng

Montreal — (CP) — For the second time in three years Red Kelly of Detroit Red Wings has won the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy, the National Hockey League announced Monday night. Kelly received 80 of a possible 90 points in the balloting by 18 hockey writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities.

The trophy is awarded annually to "the player adjudged to have exhibited the best type of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability during the year."

Wins But Has To Be Revived

Lewiston, Me. — (AP) — Maine middleweight champion Stanley Ketchell retained his title Monday night, but they had to revive him to tell him about it.

Smitty Hicks, 159½, of Portland, threw a knockout punch which referee Joe Bovin said landed after the bell ended round six.

Ketchell, 152, of Bangor could not answer the bell for round seven and the fight was award to him on a foul.

Hicks appeared to be leading on points when the knockout ended the scheduled 10-round bout.

Allan Cup Final Tonight

Kitchener, Ont., — (CP) — The East and West meet here tonight for the opening of the 44th series of the Allan Cup, emblematic of Canadian senior amateur hockey supremacy.

The East is represented by Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and the West by Penticton V's.

The West has claimed the trophy 20 times and is the current holder. Fort Frances Canadiens won it last year by defeating Stratford Indians.

Should Penticton win the cup it will be the third time a British Columbia contender has taken it. Trail Smoke Eaters defeated Quebec Aces in 1938 and Kimberley Dynamiters turned back Sudbury Falcons in 1936.

This year's series is the first for Kitchener fans. The Dutchmen, Ontario Hockey Association Senior A champions, came from behind to defeat Smiths Falls Rideaus in the Eastern final. The V's turned back Fort William Beavers for the right to represent the West.

The V's are in the cup finals with only two years organization behind them, but coach Bill Carse has a collection of veterans on his line-up.

The three Warwick brothers — Grant and Bill, both ex-New York Rangers and Dick — made up one line. Jim Fleming, former Kansas City pro, is on defence and Jack McIntyre at centre has had seven years professional experience with New Westminster and Victoria.

The second game of the series will be played Thursday and the third Saturday. Fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh games are set for May 4, 6, 8 and 9.

I.L. Makes Canadian Debut

The 1953 edition of the International Baseball League will made its Canadian debut Wednesday on all three fronts. Buffalo, the loop's northernment outpost in the United States, also will see its first game of the new season.

All eight teams are taking it easy today, limbering up for their northern invasion.

A twi-light doubleheader at Springfield was the only activity on Monday night's schedule. The Cubs broke a three-game losing streak by winning the abbreviated first game from Buffalo 4-3, but suffered their first whitewashing of the season 5-0 in the nightcap.

Montreal Royals, last season's pennant winners, will play host to Rochester Red Wings. Syracuse Chiefs will make a stand on the grounds of Ottawa Athletics and Springfield will take on the Maple Leafs at Toronto. The Bisons will greet Baltimore Orioles.

Springfield starter Jim Brosnan gave up only three hits and fanned eight Monday night but the win went to reliefer Gen Tarabilda who came on in the seventh and final inning. Ted Kapuscinski won the nightcap in his first start for the Bisons, giving up seven hits. Starter Bob Hartig was the loser for Springfield.

Commissioner Wants Rule Change

Boston —(AP)— In the wake of the much-discussed Jimmy Carter-Tommy Collins fight, Henry Lamar Massachusetts boxing commission member, said Monday he will recommend a rule change calling for a bout to end automatically after a boxer is floored three times in any one round.

Estelle Maufette Known To Million Radio Listeners

By CHRISTINE SIROIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Montreal — (CP) — As a musician and lover of poetry, Estelle Maufette is known to few, but as Donalda, the patient, submissive wife of grumpy, miserly radio husband, she is known to millions.

For 14 years Estelle Maufette has starred in the radio presentation "Un 'homme et Son Peche"—"A Man and His Sin"— over the CBC's French network. In radio parlance, this endless serial is pure soap opera. To deveoted listeners from Edmonton to Edmundston, N.B., it is life, true and real. They suffer with meek Donalda—no author's creation to them, but flesh and blood.

When penny-pinching Seraphin Poudrier wouldn't let his wife buy a spool of thread, Donalda received dozens from radio listeners —a tremendous audience the CBC estimates at 4,000,000.

Sympathetic listeners have sent along a baby layette, stamps, tea and even money. Some gifts have historical value — souvenirs and personal belongings treasured by the owners.

In her daily life Estelle Maufette has nothing outwardly in common with Donalda. The voice of this gracious brunette and her laughter is gay. Imaginative, intuitive, visionary, she has had a deep feeling for the arts since childhood.

She comes from a family of musicians, but it is in poetry that she finds greatest enjoyment. "It is through poetry that I understand things," says Miss Maufette. "If I like Donalda it is because of the poetic and mystical side of her character."

Estelle Maufette's maternal grandfather was Emery Lavigne, a celebrated pianist of his day. Grandfather Maufette was the first layman to found a classical college in Canada—St. Joseph's in Montreal. A brother, Guy Maufette is a radio producer.

In 1939 when the CBC and author Claude-Henri Grignon began plans to put "Un Homme et Son Peche" on the air they looked around for a Donalda. But Estelle Maufette was not among the 10 candidates. Because her brother was the producer she thought she should not apply.

When none of the 10 proved satisfactory to Grignon, he urged Miss Maufette to give an audition. She did, and Grignon was overjoyed.

Three years later when Miss Maufette was crowned queen of the radio, Grignon wrote: "Never have I known a woman so wonderful—the real Donalda of my dreams."

Miss Maufette, a conservatory graduate, appears also in other radio plays—as Mme Bellerose in "Cure du Village," as Marguerite Bourgeoys in "Le Ciel par dessus les Toits."

But it is as Donalda she is most widely known—and known simply as that. Even her working associates call her Donalda.

Miss Maufette has one cherished engagement each year. Each Good Friday she recites Claudel's "Chemin de la Croix" "The Way of the Cross."

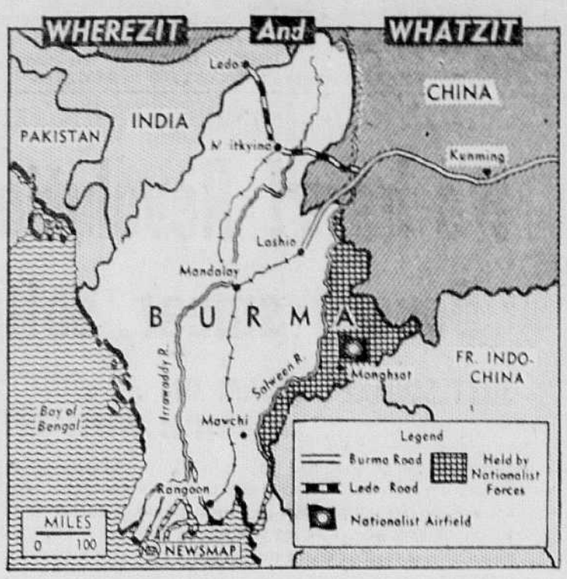
BURMA SEEKS UN AID TO HALT "AGGRESSION" The long smoldering problems of Burma reached a climax when Myint Thein, its delegate to the UN, asked the General Assembly to declare the Nationalist government on Formosa an aggressor. He claimed that 12,000 Chinese Nationalist troops, supplied from Formosa, were trying to overthrow the Burmese government. Dr. T. F. Tsiang, replying for Nationalist China, denied the charges, saying this "Nationalist Anti-Salvation Army" was not part of the regular Chinese forces. Map and pictures show issues and some of the key personalities involved in the Burma problem.



Burma, romantic land of Kipling, now finds herself threatened by the Chinese Communists to the north, and harassed internally by native Reds, and remnants of the old Chinese Nationalist army. In 1949, after the Nationalists collapsed, part of their army under General Li Mi fell back across the Burma border. Soon an airfield was built at Monghsat, and in 1951 Nationalist units again attacked Red China, but were driven back. General Li Mi regrouped, lived off the land and extended his activities as shown on above map. The weak Burmese army turned from fighting Korean rebels and two factions of Communists to fight Li Mi's men. Finally, in April, 1953, the Burmese government asked the UN to condemn the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa for an act of aggression on Burma. Then the Burma government, to the amazement of everyone, thanked the U. S. for the $31 million economic aid already received and declined to accept any further help. There was some talk of a Soviet aid program to Burma. Burma is a land almost as big as Texas, with twice as many people—about 17 million. Its population is one of widely assorted Asiatic races, mostly of Buddhist religion. The nation's life-stream for centures has been the Irrawaddy River, navigable for 900 miles through dense jungles. Its rich soil and abundant rainfall produce many other "money crops." Extensive mineral deposits and jewels of unsurpassed quality add to Burma's riches. The famous Burma Road, and its companion Ledo—or Stillwell—Road, are the back doors to Red China. Both roads are now eyed greedily by the Chinese Communists. Burma is a key nation in the defense plans of the free world's attempt to halt the spread of communistic imperialism.

Premier Thakin Nu has been beset by civil strife, by Communst groups remnants of the Chinese Nationalists army, and Karens who want an autonomous state within Burma. These problems have upset his nationalization program.

Thakin Tan Hun, head of militant "White Flag" Communist Party operates out of the thick jungles in central Burma, 50 miles south of Mandalay. He has 2000 seasoned fighters under arms and 500 non-militant supporters.

Burmese troops wading through a jungle stream in search of Chinese Reds may have to battle Chinese Nationalists. The Chinese Nationalist troops under the command of General Li Mi are based in the northern Shan states.

Nazi Buzz Bombs To Be Launched To Fight Cold Germs

Ueberlingen, Germany — Reuters — The "buzz bombs" that Germany launched during the Second World War are going to "war" again—this time against germs, bugs and cold.

Three peacetime products, developed on the "buzz bomb principle," are ready for distribution in Canada, the United States and other western hemisphere countries.

Under the over-all trade name "swingfire" three devices — "swingheater," "swingfog," and "swingburner"—have been designed to utilize the "buzz-bomb" idea to give quick warm-up shots to engines on cold mornings, provide easily-installed emergency heating units for buildings and construction sites, and develop a heavy insecticide "fog."

Research on the devices was begun just after the German rout at Stalingrad when the Russians' "general cold" stalled German mobile equipment. After the Stalingrad defeat, German scientists were assigned the task of finding a way to enable vehicles to operate in intense cold.

They hit upon the idea of using the idea behind the "buzz bomb" in which a mixture of fuel and air was ignited to provide the oscillating pulse jet to supply the thrust for the bombs.

Before the scientists completed their work, the war ended. Their research was taken over by private interests here. A British firm acquired interests in the products and recently a licensing agreement for their sale in North America was concluded with a U.S. firm.

The "swingheater" device is attached to the cooling system of a car, truck, plane or almost any other liquid-cooled internal combustion engine. A small spark from the vehicle's battery is enough to set the "swingheater" in operation and quickly bring the engine temperature up to normal operating heat.

The company claims that 40 per cent of engine wear is caused by cold starting. The device may also be adapted to supply heat for the passenger section of the vehicle. In the battle against insects and germs, "swingfog" atomizes solutions of standard insecticides to create a heavy, blanketing fog and its makers claims it can do the same job quicker and more effectively than standard "dusting" or "spraying" methods with a fraction of the insecticide.

Early Inventor

Credit for the invention of the gasoline motor car sometimes is given to Siegfried Markus, a German, who, in 1875, constructed a crude machine which actually ran.

Where does the money go?

At times most of us have looked at purse, wallet or bank-book, and wondered: "Where does the money go?"

Each year we at Imperial add up the company's bills to see what happened to the money we received in the previous 12 months for the gasoline, fuel oil and other products we sell. Here's where each dollar of Imperial's 1952 income went:

54.32 cents — CRUDE OIL and other raw materials we bought, plus freight, took more than half of each dollar.

28.20 cents — OPERATING expenses took more than 28 cents. This was the cost of searching for and producing crude oil, and of manufacturing and marketing the hundreds of products we supplied for thousands of uses. Throughout the year high quality products were made available where and when you needed them.

10.00 cents — TAXES to provincial and federal governments took 10 cents. And this did not include gasoline tax, which—depending on where you live—took from 24 to 36 cents out of every dollar you spent for standard grade gasoline.

4.06 cents — DIVIDENDS paid to shareholders for use of plants and equipment amounted to 4.06 cents.

3.42 cents — TO REPLACE worn out equipment and to make sure that we can supply your needs in the future 3.42 cents was put back into the business.

B.F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire

Because IT HAS NO TUBE

It may save your life...

The B.F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire gives you maximum protection against the hazard of blowouts and dangerous skids, that frequently result in serious injury, and even death.

It can save you trouble...

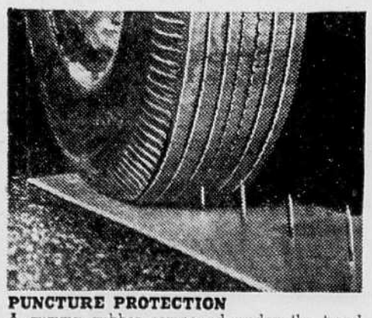
It will save you money...

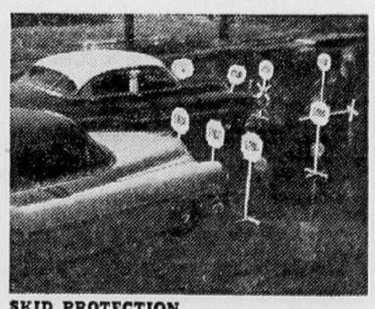
The B. F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire provides greater safety than any tire and tube, yet it costs less than the conventional safety tire-tube combination.

Automobile accidents caused by tire blowouts account for the loss of many lives, and an even greater number of serious injuries. Blowouts are caused when the inner tube explodes through weakened or broken tire cords. Because it has NO inner tube, a B.F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire changes a sudden, dangerous blowout to a safe s-s-s-slowout—allowing you time to stop your car safely, with perfect control.



PUNCTURE PROTECTION
A gummy rubber compound under the tread immediately seals around puncturing objects, and permanently seals the hole when the object is removed. Inconvenience and delays are eliminated.

BLOWOUT PROTECTION
Instead of a tube, the Life-Saver has a patented inner lining that's part of the tire. In event of damage there's no sudden blowout, only a small break in the liner, a s-s-s-slowout that lets you stop safely.



SKID PROTECTION
The Life-Saver tread is cross-cut into thousands of tiny grip-blocks. At 30 miles per hour on wet roads, it stops you a car length quicker than regular tires . . . and gives you longer mileage too.

Your B.F. Goodrich dealer now has the Tubeless Tire
...it can be your LIFE-SAVER

St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid Met At Home Of Mrs. R. E. Morrison In Lake Megantic

Lake Megantic, April 27 — The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Morrison with a good attendance of members and visitors.

The meeting was opened in the usual manner with Scripture reading and prayer. The minutes were read and approved. Several bills were presented and ordered paid.

A quilting bee was held at the home of Mrs. David MacDonald, since the last meeting, when twelve members of both societies gathered to quilt. Another quilting will be held in the near future.

A generous donation was gratefully received from Miss Rebecca Morrison, of Montreal, also from Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Donald Morrison, of Holeb, Me.

After the business session, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. John MacDearmid.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. D. MacDonald.

A PRESENTATION TO R. E. MORRISON

Several members of the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Morrison, on Saturday evening, April 18.

The reason for the gathering was to present Mr. Morrison with a token of appreciation for his long and faithful service to the congregation, both as an elder and as a member of the board of managers.

The presentation was made by Mr. Andrew Patton, student minister, who spoke of the many years in which the congregation of St. Andrew's had benefitted by Mr. Morrison's wise counsel and sound judgment, and expressed regret that ill health, now prevented his taking an active part in church work.

Mr. Morrison replied and thanked the congregation for their gift

The meeting closed with a Scripture reading and prayer by Mr. Patton.

Australian Town To Be Set Up To Defy Regulations

Sydney, Australia, (CP) — An experimental village is to be built near here in which each of the 100 homes will defy many of the present government and municipal regulations.

Architects have long felt unhappy about what they considered were antiquated and long-out-of date building laws. Some of these demanded a minimum ceiling height of nine feet. Others prohibited washing machines in kitchens and insisted that every house have tubs and a laundry boiler whether or not there was to be a washing machine. Other regulations refused to allow concrete floors unless supported on piers.

Now a new agreement between the Royal Australian Institute of Architects and the New South Wales housing commission will allow at least a trial of what the architects claim is "a commonsense application of specialized training in contemporary planning and the use of advanced knowledge in building materials and techniques without necessarily conforming to any existing building ordinances."

The operation from planning to final supervision of the completed village will be the responsibility of a committee of private architects selected by the institute with an architect from the housing commission.

Aussie Government Pays Off Founder Of Uranium Field

Sydney, Australia, (CP) — The Australian government has paid Jack White, discoverer of the famed Rum Jungle uranium deposits in the Northern Territory, a tax-free reward of £25,000, it was revealed in the House of Representatives.

After complaints earlier this year that the government was discouraging prospectors by making only minor payments, the government gave the Rum Jungle finder another £17,000 bringing his total reward to £25,000. White, who had been farming and prospecting in the Rum Jungle area south of Darwin when he made his find, is still working for Northern Drillers Ltd., which is developing the field.

Another prospector now working in the Northern Territory is H. J. Conolly, leading Australian geologist, who is test drilling in 137 square miles around Tennant Creek on behalf of unnamed Canadian mining interests seeking large investment possibilities.

Conolly has been most secretive about the claims he has pegged some of which take in the Tenant Creek post office and flying field. But F. J. Wise, administrator of the Northern Territory, said that Conolly believes there are shallow fields of rich deposits of gold, copper, cobalt and bismuth there.

Wise said that Conolly proposes drilling test bores this year to depths of 2,000 to 3,000 feet.
