Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

September 27 to October 4

A few sunny days with white frosts, but generally pleasant. Coastal storms may bring us some wind and widely scattered showers. Temperature range 30-60°F in the south and 25-50°F in the north and east, with some 45 sunny hours.

Windy but mild and clear mid-week, with scattered showers in the south, and flurries in the north. Some ice along the shores of northern lakes, but good hunting weather.

Generally fair for the end of the week, with some morning fog or mists.

Out with the old for progress sake

Chesterfield Cottage, on Victoria avenue, one of Westmount's oldest landmarks, once part of a 1,900,000-square-foot tract of land, is due for demolition to make way for a modern, four-family duplex.

Built in 1890, the Cottage stands on what was once the property of Thomas Campbell Bulmer, formerly one of the largest land-owners in Westmount and known now as "The Father of Westmount".

At one time, Bulmer owned as many as 25 homes in the City, many of which he built with the aid of his architect and electrician sons. The total area of the land measured 2,800 by 700 feet and was worth a comparatively small sum of money.

It's a far cry from the days when Chesterfield Cottage stood amid orchards in which there were a few other buildings, when city folk spent the summer in the country — Outremont, when streetcars went only as far as Greene avenue, the sidewalks were wooden and people used to get around in winter on snowshoes.

Now, the old, two-storey frame house is only a short distance from the turmoil of Sherbrooke street and cars and lorries roar past its doors.

Westmount is constantly getting a face-lift here and there and the demolition of Chesterfield Cottage is just the latest.

Local residents in major roles of Trinity play

Rosalie Briggs of 4166 St. Catherine St. W., and Ruth Reed of 14 Weredale Park are currently two very busy people. Both are helping to send Trinity Players off into their 50th anniversary year with the production of Terence Rattigan's "Separate Tables" at Trinity Memorial Hall, October 1 to 4, at Trinity Hall, corner Sherbrooke West and Marlowe avenues. Robert Verniks directs, assisted by Dave Raboy, and curtain time is 8:30.

Rosalie, who is president of Trinity Players, joined the group many years ago as an active backstage worker. Through hard work and the ability to understand the many phases of play production she has risen to her present position, and has been president since 1952. An actress of no small talent, she has appeared in "Craig's Wife", "My Three Angels" and "Fortune My Foe".

Ruth Reed, a British arrival, plays Mabel, the waitress, in "Separate Tables". She has done publicity and back-stage work in previous Trinity Productions. On the stage, Ruth has appeared for the Magog group in that city, with the MRT and in the Trinity production of "Craig's Wife".

"Separate Tables", which is a fascinating study of the guests at a small English seaside hotel, combines good characterizations with an interesting plot. This play ran for two years in London before moving to New York, where it recently completed another long run. Trinity's production, the first by a local group, will be seen at Trinity Hall from October 1 to 4.

Firefighters out twice in week

Westmount Fire Department were called out to tackle two fires this week, one serious and another that might have developed.

A fire broke out in the basement of a building at 451 Mount Pleasant avenue, Saturday. Severe damage was done to the beams in the ceiling. Cause is unknown, but may have been due to spontaneous combustion. Firemen were on the scene of the blaze for nearly two hours.

The second blaze broke out in an apartment house at 4478 Saint Catherine street west, Tuesday, when a five year-old child playing with matches, set some curtains alight. Surrounding paint work was damaged and a bed on which the blazing curtains fell, but little difficulty was experienced by the firefighters in bringing the fire under control.

Hits parked car; drives right on

Louis Darling, 38, 381 Perron road, Ville de Brossseau, told police he had left his car parked in front of 141 Clandeboye avenue between 1.15 p.m. and 5.10 p.m. Tuesday and on returning, found the left side of the car damaged.

A witness told police that a blue car had struck Darling's car, with licence number 737-751 or 737-757. The car's left rear fender was dented and the left rear tail light was broken.

Police seek hit-and-run driver here

A collision between two cars, one of whose drivers failed to wait for police to arrive, occurred opposite 84 Sunnyside avenue, Saturday.

David Leiner, 28, 5917 Macdonald avenue, told police he was driving along Sunnyside avenue when another car began to cut in on him. Leiner pulled over, the other driver slowed down to let him get ahead and this happened several times.

After the Belmont avenue intersection, the other driver pulled over, struck Leiner's car, then stopped. Leiner told police the other driver appeared to be intoxicated, refused to give any information or wait for the police. The driver was able to get the licence number of the car and the make before it drove off.

Hi-Y sessions this weekend

First annual Montreal Hi-Y conference will be held this week-end at YMCA Camp Otreke.

Using as their theme the phrase "Why Hi-Y" the conference delegates will be examining their purpose and re-emphasizing their service commitments.

Miss Di Flegg, president of the Westmount Girls Hi-Y has been a member of the planning committee and reports that 9 delegates will be attending from the Westmount Clubs.

John Clark, 155 Bruce avenue, is an 18 year-old, second year student of math and physics at McGill, while 16 year-old John Chambers is a first-year science student at Sir George Williams College. A third cheque, which went to John Shaw, formerly of St. Leo's Academy, was presented to the school's principal in Shaw's absence. —Acme-Harrison Photo

Youth injured

A collision between a car driven by James Bently, 32, 5202 Walkley avenue, Apt. 2, and a bicycle ridden by Christopher Lygitsakos, 13, 5131 Western avenue, occurred at the intersection of Metcalfe and Western avenues, Tuesday.

Bently told police he was driving north on Metcalfe when the bicycle started to cut in on his left to go along Western avenue, swerved and hit the car. The boy was taken to hospital with slight face cuts and later released.

A PROJECT OF WESTMOUNT ROTARY CLUB

By Maurice Mariasine

Former Club members are renewing their memberships at a fast rate this year in preparation for the forthcoming 1958-59 program season. Most of the renewals are boys and girls who have been members for the last six years, many from the official opening of the Club in 1950. It is noted that only eight new members have been inducted so far. New members are welcome. The starting age is six. Boys and girls living in the districts of St. Henry and Westmount are eligible to join. The fee is nominal, the services are extensive and the fellowship and friendships made during the course of a year are invaluable.

The Unity Boys' Club with a competent staff of full-time leadership is rendering service to the Youth of the Community by providing a well-balanced program of arts, crafts, hobbies, sports, social and special activities.

Regular Classes Begin October 1

Although some classes have already started, the regular program year starts October 1. The Gymnasium schedule is complete, with basketball teams conducting regular team practices and gymnastics and general gym also fully organized. The sports program is under the direction of Pat Kearney. Program Supervisor Ron Havard and Girls' Work Supervisor Crystal Cunningham announce that the arts and crafts program plans are nearly complete and that a large number of volunteer workers have been secured for the busy times ahead.

Many former volunteer work-

Current events club begins new season with new advisor

Science and 'The Sack', sports and genetics — these are some of the controversial subjects which have been discussed over the past ten years by the Current Events Club at Westmount High School.

Behind this varied schedule, offering advice and encouragement, has been J. K. Snyder, head of the History Department, who, at the end of last year's program announced his retirement as the club's advisor.

"It all started," the teacher at Westmount High since 1932 says "because I was getting so many questions on current events during classes. This seemed to me the only way to answer them without interfering with the rest of the work."

He emphasized that the club was entirely student-run and that over half the school's 400 pupils attend the meetings, which take place approximately every other Wednesday, from 12 noon to 1:15 p.m.

J. K. SNYDER

They usually take the form of round-table discussions, debates, panels with guest speakers and suitable films. Snyder favors the first type because it gives each pupil a chance to say something of his own and because he must be prepared to defend his opinions.

The highlights of the year's program are visits made in October by Grade 1 to the UN in New York and in February by Grade 10 to Parliament Hill, Ottawa.

About 40 pupils usually attend the UN sessions and stay in the YMCA and YWCA. This will be eighth year the journey is to be made. In February, about 110 go up to Ottawa, listen to debates, lunch at Parliament House and are usually addressed by English-speaking Montreal MP's and, on occasion, by the Prime Minister.

After ten years of getting his ideas into action, feverishly organizing programs and adroitly parrying the awkward questions thrown at him by members of the club at debates, Snyder feels it's time to let someone else take over.

"The boys and girls looked around," he said, "and finally persuaded E. A. Hutchinson, head of the French Department, to accept the job."

Hutchinson should be just the man to keep things under control. Two or three years ago he coached the school to the Montreal Inter-scholastic Senior Hockey Championship.

Because the club's activities are on a year-round basis, Snyder thinks it is one of the most difficult jobs going. He'll keep a helpful eye on things, though, till the new advisor gets set in the saddle.

After ten years experience, it wouldn't be easy for him to give up entirely and, he says, he'll be watching from the wings.

Mrs. Yolande Grant burial tomorrow

Final tribute will be paid to Mrs. Yolande Mary Ethel Grant tomorrow at the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord. Mrs. Grant died Wednesday at her home on 448 Argyle avenue after an extended illness.

Mrs. Grant, nee Flannagan, was born in Montreal on March 18, 1912 and went to school here in Ville-Marie Convent and St. Paul's Academy. She lived on Argyle for six years and previously on Cote des Neiges Road for 10 years.

She was married to John Stuart Sinclair Grant in 1938 in Westmount's St. Leo's Church. Mr. Grant is district manager of London Life here. He has held this post for the past 11 years. He is also an active member of the MAAA.

Surviving Mrs. Grant is her husband, one daughter Linda, brother Frank J. Flannagan (in Quebec City), and two sisters Mrs. L. Lagranade and Mrs. Gilbert Mitchell.

Heather Smith will once again instruct the Unity Cuties, the Club's Chorus Line. Mona O'Brien starts her second year in charge of the Unity Major-ettes. Dorothy and Mrs. Mariasine resume as volunteers, the former as coach of the Junior Girls' Basketball Team and the latter as Leader of the Friday Nite Club. John McDonough and Richard Cessford are back again with their Midget and Bantam Basketball Teams. John Forbes has returned to the volunteer staff—this time as Coach of the Biddy Basketball Girls. Mrs. Fitzpatrick has returned to conduct one of the Craft classes. A newcomer this year is Ed Humphrey who will be attached to the Senior Games Room.

Despite the many volunteer workers mentioned here, the Club, to round out its total program will need approximately 20 more volunteer workers. ## Ewart Everson tells Rotary of 4-way test

The Four-Way Test of Rotary, as it applied to business life, was the subject of a talk given by Ewart Everson, a past-president of the club, at the weekly meeting of Westmount Rotarians, Wednesday.

First, is it the truth? Francis Bacon said, "No pleasure is comparable to standing upon the vantage ground of truth." But sometimes, telling the truth was not too easy and though it was human nature to compromise with things, truth was not always a matter of black and white.

There was something attractive about wandering away from the truth, said Everson, and he wondered whether, in these days of feverish commercialism, people wanted to be told the truth. The man who advertised 'Just a real good car' was far behind in sales compared with the extravagant claims made for other autos.

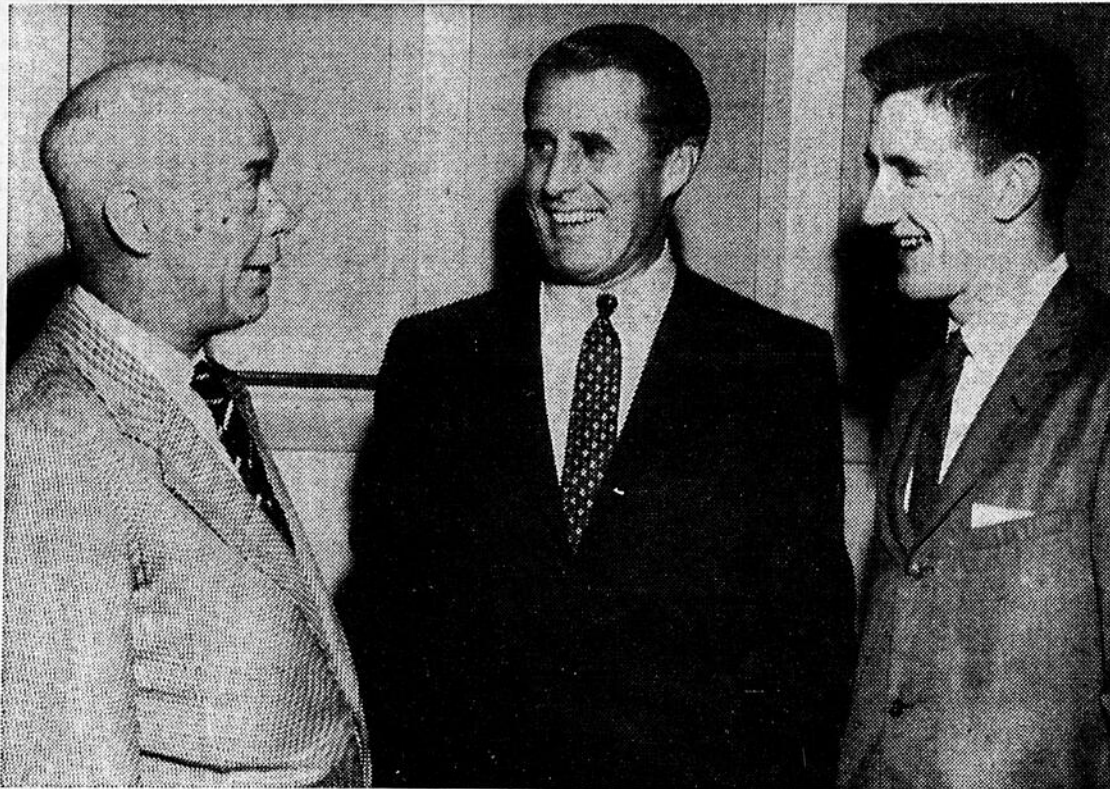

Truth, he maintained, saved time and tended to lessen worry and its absence tore down confidence, defeated and destroyed.

Second, is it fair to all concerned? This question, perhaps not so clear cut as the first, required judgment and experience. The faculty of being able to see the other man's point of view was a great advantage because one-sided deals were sure to make trouble later.

"Sometimes," said Everson, "it is better to abandon a point of argument if, knowing in your own mind the thing is fair, you can't convince the other man."

Third, will it build goodwill and fellowship? Everson suggested that good-will was contagious and that frequent attendance at Rotary meetings helped because no-one knew how much good they could do by

Young PCs lauded for election work by Transport Minister

An important reason for the success of the Progressive Conservative Party in Montreal was the effort of the young PC's who actively participated in building up a following said Minister of Transport George Hees. He was addressing a gathering of some 75 West End Young Progressive Conservative Association members Tuesday evening in Westmount Junior High School's auditorium.

Mr. Hees praised them for their "door-to-door" hard work convincing people of PC policies. He expressed the hope that Montrealers would come to Ottawa and see their MP's in action and the process by which the work of Parliament is done.

He stated that since he had been in Ottawa, the average age of MP's had dropped by 20 years. "I was considered a boy when I entered Parliament at 40" he explained. Participation of young people in politics is taking on greater importance.

Other speakers during the evening were: Postmaster-General Bill Hamilton, Deputy Speaker Colonel Pierre Sevigny (MP—Longueuil), Phillip Gelin (President of Montreal YPC's), Les Greenshields (YPC president—NDG), Egan Chambers (MP—St. Lawrence-St. George).

Mr. Hees gave a run down of the daily work methods of the government and then went on to explain Progressive Conservative aims and ideals.

It is to "help people help themselves and to develop this country", he said. "We are opposed to a socialist government that would do everything for the people."

Our aim to complete Sir John A. MacDonald's vision of opening up Canada from East to West by opening up the country from South to North.

The first speaker Mr. Gelin, outlined PC policy and voiced the hope of starting up a PC club in Montreal again.

Following him, Mr. Greenshields reiterated party policy and stressed the role of the Young Progressive Conservative Associations.

Mr. Hamilton considered that governments tend to get greater blame for inefficiency than private enterprise doing similar work.

He referred to the decision to cease production of the CF-105 jets and said that all facets of the Government were brought to bear on the problem.

Mr. Sevigny concluded the talks by thanking Mr. Hees for his address. A brief question period followed before the meeting broke up.

Other platform guests were: chairman of the meeting William Aaron (YPC president—Dollard), Ross Webster (MP—St. Antoine-Westmount), Joyce

Westmount 'Y' offers new, varied program

A new season, a new physical department and new classes. Yes, everything new this year. One class which we know will prove popular will be our Coaching Clinic on Wednesday 7-8 p.m. The starting date is Wed., October 8th and the Athletic Department of McGill University has kindly consented to send us an assistant coach of the Redmen's football team to open our classes. Football will run for a six week period followed by hockey and basketball. It is our wish that all coaches and teachers in Westmount and District who are now coaching or contemplating coaching, to attend. This class will be followed by a men's swim period until 9 p.m.

Another new class will be our Adult Water Safety Class on Tuesday from 7-8 for those interested in safety for themselves and their children around water. Since it is the mothers who have the job all summer or at least the biggest part of summer, caring for the children, it is our wish that the ladies will make up the largest part of our class. These classes will be run on a basis of eight week periods. A

WE SAY

Sales tax sums raise eyebrows

ANNOUNCEMENT by the city of Montreal that for the fiscal year ending April 30 a total of nearly five millions of dollars had been received in sales tax and that Westmount's share is $388,040 opens up a considerable avenue of thought.

It reveals, for one thing, the extent to which the municipalities on the island can and do depend on one another.

When the question of Metropolitan government is raised, there are some who take the view "Why should we be our brothers' keepers?"

Aside from the moral aspects of the situation — the fact is that none is anyone else's keeper. We are all in the same boat.

Westmount gets its water from Montreal. Yes, we pay for the water — but it would be a costly proposition indeed to set up a water system as efficient.

And the vast majority of local businessmen go to Montreal each day to make their living. On the other hand, of course, a great many local residents go to Montreal frequently to spend much of that money in the shops of the greater municipality. Westmount was established originally by a group of persons who wanted to break away from Montreal — largely because they did not agree with the manner in which Montreal was being governed at the municipal level.

At the time and since, there were wise individuals who said in effect — "we may move away, but we will never truly be able to exist as a completely independent entity in every respect."

Just as this is true in life, it is true in municipal life. When the Forum empties of a Saturday night, for example, after a hockey game, many of the cars parked in the vicinity use Westmount streets. Some, of course, are the cars of local residents — others are merely passing through. And so it goes. There is hardly a single phase of municipal operation of the whole art of living that can be confined to one municipality, one family, one person. We are dependent and interdependent, and there is little, if anything we can do about it.

Some form of metropolitan government is the only way out of inequalities and duplication of services.

It is coming — and coming fast.

Since Westmount is a part of the island of Montreal, and drawn into the plan, the most advantageous thing that can be done is for the municipal authorities to get into the forefront of the metropolitan planning, so as to be able to make whatever suggestions are found to be best.

There is much to be done in connection with the setting up of a metropolitan authority and much to be done in the running of one.

Toronto is perhaps the best example of a large and populated area that set up a workable metropolitan authority, and its experience is a valuable guide.

Fortunately for the Greater Toronto, Herbert Gardiner, a reeve of Forest Hills, took hold of the project and has devoted a great deal of time and effort to wrestling with its complications. We would be fortunate indeed if his counterpart could be found locally.

Westmount in autumn

FALL, autumn, call it what you will, is North America's best season of the year. After suffering a frigid winter, a barely perceptible spring and a, generally, scorching summer, the 'season of mists and mellow fruitfulness' comes as a welcome breather before we once again plunge into the full rigors of winter.

Most people will say that the best place to see the leaves turning is the Laurentian region or the White or Green Mountains of New England. Westmounters tend to forget that right in their own backyards they can see some of the most spectacular color changes in Canada.

People who have never experienced a Canadian autumn get the surprise of their lives at the fan-

Examiner Profile

Joachim pair makes music

By CYNTHIA JONES

Otto and Walter Joachim are first rate musician brothers who have, and are giving, much enjoyment to Montreal music lovers and incidentally, making the city the most active in chamber music in Canada, if not North America.

Otto, the elder by one and a half years, is a viola player and composer of note. Walter, less volatile and more philosophical than his brother, is principal cellist with the Montreal Symphony Orchestra and CBC radio and TV orchestras.

Both are members of the Montreal Quartet with Hyman Bass, first violinist, and Mildred Goodman. They started with Bass as a trio five years ago and a year later expanded to a quartet at the instigation of Jean Papineau Couture for the first concert of the League of Composers of Canada.

Instructors

The brothers teach at the McGill and provincial conservatories here while Walter also teaches at the conservatory in Quebec City. Both tastic profusion of blazing colors which suddenly erupt from a seemingly impenetrable wall of green foliage each year.

Scotland's Troosachs or England's Lake District, generally regarded as among the top beauty spots in Britain offer plenty of exciting scenery in spring and summer. In fact, spring is the best time of year in Britain.

For sheer spectacle, though, you can't beat the Canadian fall autumn; one of the best places to see it is in Westmount.

Go to the top of the Lookout and see for yourself. The Mountain may be a nuisance to motorists; it's a delight to lovers of beautiful scenery, and it's the best spot from which to get a panoramic view of the city. You can't appreciate how much gold, orange, yellow and brown there is.

The color cascades down the slopes, broken here and there by a street, punctuated by a park adding its own contribution to the show.

And the eye wanders further down until it reaches Sherbrooke street where the city's main artery passes Westmount Park. Here is a most vivid splash in the whole riotous mixture of autumnal colors.

Autumn brings football games, falling leaves and a touch of sadness because it announces the approaching end of another year. But while it lasts, it makes up for the coming bleakness with splendor.

are directors of the two-year old Friends of Music Society.

The brothers came here from China, having fled there to escape Hitler. Otto arrived in Montreal first, en route to Brazil, but changed his mind because he liked Canada. He encouraged Walter, who had returned to Europe in 1950, to join him here in 1952. "Somehow I just didn't enjoy Europe," said Walter.

"All our lives we have been separating and then joining forces again," he went on. "In Europe before the war we played together, then split up and came together again in Shanghai in 1940."

From Dusseldorf

The brothers were born in Dusseldorf, Germany, the only children of an opera singer and many concerts sponsored by a variety of musical societies. Last season Walter played at Carnegie Hall.

Composer

Otto, the honorary treasurer of the League of Composers of Canada, has had many of his own compositions played in concerts here, in the United States and Europe. His "Concertante" enjoyed its world premiere at a public and radio concert in Paris on September 4. It was played by Hyman Bass accompanied by the Orchestre Nationale.

The majority of Otto's compositions are in the chamber music idiom. A cello sonata dedicated to his brother, Walter, has been recorded by CBC. One of the few strict 12 note writers in Canada, Otto is and his non-musician wife. "We've always been musicians since we were five," said Walter. "We toured the European coffee houses and the hotels but Hitler followed me to Czechoslovakia and Vienna."

In 1930 when he was 18 Walter made his first trip to the Far East. Two more trips and he settled in Shanghai in 1940, becoming the principal cellist of the international Shanghai Symphony Orchestra. For more than two years during World War II Walter and his wife were both interned by the Japs.

Otto had gone to Malaya in 1934. He stayed there for seven years, then joined Walter in Shanghai where he taught music and did a lot of concert work.

On their arrival in Montreal Otto worked as a radio service man and Walter a salesman for a firm on St. Lawrence boulevard until they could qualify for the union which requests six months residence before musicians are eligible.

But it didn't take the brothers long to circulate in the city's music circles and now they are constantly on the hop — seven days a week — with their many activities in concert halls, on radio and TV, and teaching at conservatories.

Walter has given recitals to the Ladies' Morning Musical, at McGill University concerts, with the Quebec Symphony, at festivals, in conjunction with pianists John Newmark and Glenn Gould interested in electronic music and has experimented with it. He also constructs electronic musical instruments.

A year ago Otto founded with Serge Garant, Francois Morel, and Jean Landry the Societe de Musique de Notre Temps. He has travelled with John Newmark in Quebec and New Brunswick, giving viola recitals. With Newmark and Maureen Forrester he made a recording which is to be released soon by RCA Victor. He has taught chamber music out of town and Renaissance music here in the city.

Both brothers married Berlin girls whom they met in Shanghai. Walter, his wife and 12 year old daughter, Miriam live on Madison avenue. Otto, his wife and nine year old son, David, reside on Wavelle avenue in the City of Cote Saint Luc.

What do they feel about Canada?

"We love Canada and are Canadian citizens. Canadians are wonderfully open-minded, receptive to music. It's much more fun to be part of a growing country. Everything is young. Look at the directors and producers. Where else is there such fine music, and chamber music, on television?"

Kate Mitchell recalls years as organist

Resident of Westmount since 1918, Mrs. Kate Verity Mitchell is a well known organist, and has played on different types of organs since arriving in Montreal from England. Mrs. Mitchell who lives at 16 Winchester ave., has a Licentiate in Music from the London School of Music, and is a member of the Fellow Incorporate Guild of Church Musicians (England) On June 29th of this year, she celebrated her 85th birthday.

"I am going to put down on paper some things I remember about Christ Church Cathedral and its organ; also other churches in the vicinity which, at that time, were many — the year 1892." Mrs. Mitchell told the Examiner. "First, I had better relate circumstances leading up to my connection with the Cathedral. I had begun to play for the evening services at historic St. Stephens Church, Chambly Canton, now Fort Chambly, on a portable organ (in passing I must say a terrible contraption) belonging to the Rector, Rev. E. McManus, who afterwards became city missionary, and one of the pioneers of the Fresh Air Movement."

"St. Stephens is one of the oldest Anglican churches in Canada, having been built during the military occupation. It had a one manual pipe organ with about six speaking stops, pedal couples, and one octave of pedals — a very nice toned instrument built by T. Warren of Montreal. It had recently been renovated and another octave of pedals added. This instrument was placed in the gallery at the back of the church, and no one was allowed to touch it. However, it was not long before I was playing at morning and evening services which I did for five years. That organ was the beginning of a long and happy career of church organ playing.

THE ORGAN
"I went to the Cathedral to study under J. Edgar Birch, the organist, who had just arrived from England. Now something about the organ. It was built by Hill of London, England — a three manual of rich mellow tone and with all the appliances that were available at that time.

and practice, entering the building by a small door near the Chapter House, from there into the office, then into the church, and the organ. I think that a Mr. Noble was Vestry Clerk, and/or Secretary and a Mr. Cowan was Verger. At this time Marie Hollinshead was soprano soloist. I cannot remember the name of the bass soloist. This was in the time of Archdeacon Norton. The women of the choir were robed about 1890, and caused quite a furore in the city.

If you need MONEY
for Business or Personal Reasons

I know the manager of our local Bank of Montreal pretty well. The other day we were talking in the locker-room after a friendly 18-holes.

"Look Jim," I said, "what's behind this slogan you people use in ads, 'You don't ask a favour when you ask for a loan at the B of M'?"

"Simply that . . ." he replied. "Let's be frank about it, George . . . lending money is the bank's business. We make money by lending money, just as the grocer makes money by selling potatoes. When you can pay for the potatoes you want to buy, you're not asking a favour when you make the purchase . . . And when you can pay back the money you want to borrow from the Bank, you're not asking a favour either.

"In other words, my bank regards a loan as a straight business proposition. If your proposition is sound and reasonable, there's money for you at the B of M."

Westmount Junior High School has been introduced to the new forty-minute period that has already been in use in the Senior High and in other Montreal High Schools. The system provides for seven periods of forty minutes each, instead of five periods of sixty minutes each . . . which means, the more periods per day, the more home-work per night!

The Bantam Football team is shaping up under Mr. Flanagan's direction, the same Mr. Flanagan who coached last year's Bantams to the City Championship. This year's team will be cheered on to victory by one of the groups trying out for the Cheer-Leaders' Contest. The final judging took place yesterday, with results coming in too late for this week's deadline. The Cheer-Deers have been taking box lunches to school and practising after-hours in groups of seven for the final honors.

used for classes in Buenos Aires for problem children, ages two and three, who are slower than the average child, and satisfactory progress has been shown" added Mme. Zare.

Two of her most outstanding pupils in Montreal are: Marie Cote, winner of the first Quebec Provincial Scholarship ever to be awarded a Canadian ballet dancer; and Bernadette Beliveau, member of the National Ballet since last year.

Marie Cote, was formerly employed at the North District Plant Assigning Department of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada in Montreal. She studied with Mme. Zare for four years; and devoted all her time to her career during the last year.

Most dancers start studying at a much earlier age. Miss Cote is using the money from the $1,000. scholarship to study in Paris with the noted Boris Knia-seff, former teacher of Mme Zare. She plans to return to Canada with a future in dancing with the National Ballet Guild.

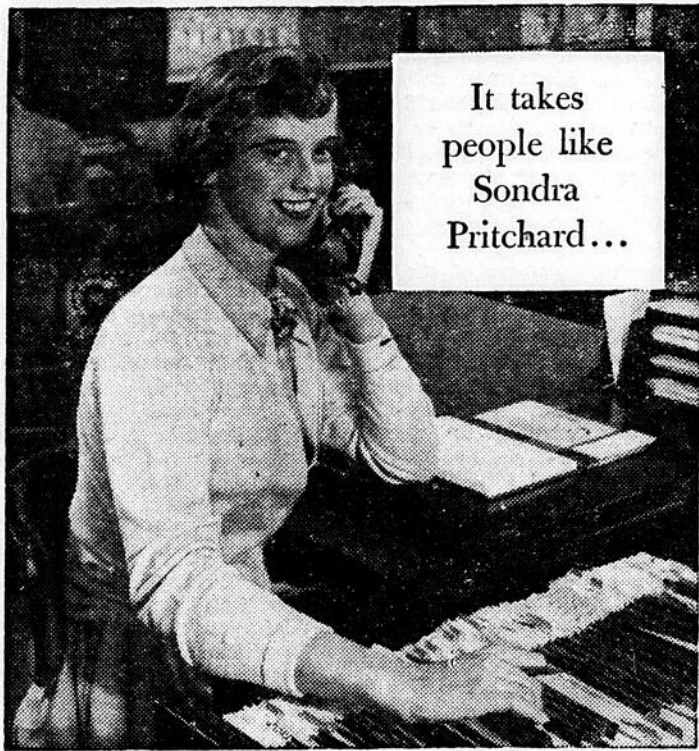

Bernadette Beliveau, whose mother lives in N.D.G. was originally a native of Three Rivers. Miss Beliveau was auditioned by Celia Franca, director of the National Ballet, and was offered a scholarship in the summer school. Later she was invited to join the company in September 1957. Her first teacher was Mme. Zare. Miss Beliveau has also danced with the Montreal (Continued on Page 10)

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA

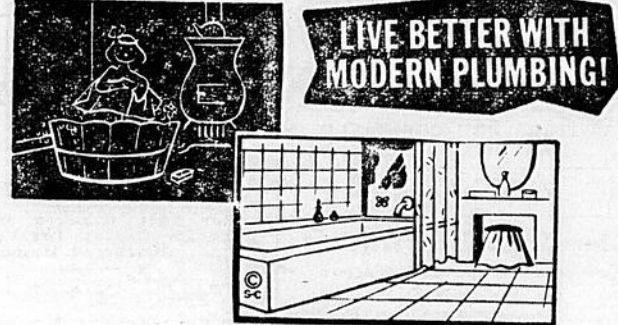

"Montreal is the crossroads of the world. All the best in plays, ballet, music, and the arts from the United States and from Europe comes here" Mme. Seda Zare told the Examiner recently.

Mme. Seda Zare, Caucasian by birth, and former Prima Ballerina of the Berlin Ballet Company, has had an exciting career. While bombs fell on Berlin during World War II, she strove to perfect her technique in a crowded shelter below the city. Her ballet training was acquired in London with Nicolai Legat; in Paris with Boris Knia-seff; and in Berlin with Mme. A. Nicolaeva. Here she attained the title of Mistress of Ballet in 1940. She has performed in more than ten of the large ballet theatres in Europe, and toured in Switzerland, Holland, France, Norway, Denmark, Austria and Germany.

She has appeared in solo performances in several European Cities, has drawn rave notices from ballet critics, and has done a considerable amount of teaching. One of her pupils from Europe E. Shiele, is at present in New York with her own studio, engaged in ballet instruction.

Mme. Zare arrived in Canada in 1950, and now has three studios. One in Three Rivers, one in St. Sauveur, and one in Westmount at 223A Melville avenue. A former studio which was located at St. Adele is no longer in operation. Her forte is the classical technique and expression of character as taught by the late Jacques Dalarozze.

I find I have not said quite enough about the character of God. It is expressed in the things He has done, in the creation of an orderly and dependable world, and also in the way of life that He has laid upon His children whom He has made in His likeness. I have said over and over that He gave man two laws which should govern their relationships with Him and with one another. The two laws are "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God," and "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." Then, to make sure that the laws were properly understood He laid down certain negative guards for each law. They are: Thou shalt not have another God; Thou shalt not represent Me by any demands a return, the cultivation of those gifts in the individual, and when there is a defiance on the part of man, there is of necessity some serious consequence.

We might go on at very great length describing the character of God. It is said that the Mohammedans use thirty-nine adjectives to describe Him. But there are two words which I should emphasize. They belong definitely to the Jewish-Christian tradition; the one is Father, the second is good.

The psalmist said: "Like a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him;" but Jesus took the matter a great deal farther, and made "Father" the name by which He addressed God, and the word He taught His disciples to use as well. He changed the believer's approach to God. We no longer come before God as a judge, even a righteous judge, but we come to Him with confidence because He is our Father. We have a claim upon Him, which is more than the claim of creation or discipleship. It is the most intimate word we can use as we come to Him. Nevertheless, the use of the word does not affect the reality of discipline. God is our Father but He still makes His demands on us, and the fact that the demand is within the family does not make it any less an obligation.

The force of the word "good" comes out in the parable of the Householder who took workers into His vineyard. They were brought in at different times and worked for very different periods yet all received the same wage. When the early comers complained that they had borne the burden and heat of the day and should have received more the Householder replied: "Is thine eye evil (i.e., envious) because I am good?" In that word Jesus put our relationship with God on a new level. The goodness of God takes Him beyond the range of mere justice to something warmer and more personal.

But I come back to where I began. God has conferred on us a share of His imagination, His freedom and His power and He allows us to exercise those gifts even for sinful ends, but in His goodness He will sometimes say: Thus far shalt thou go and no farther. And if we find that the problems bear heavily on us, we remember that God Himself shared in those problems in the Person of Jesus Christ, and He too found them almost unbearable.

Senior members of the population require foods which supply plenty of protein and calcium. For those in normal good health, and not on a prescribed diet, their basic diet as mentioned in Canada's Food Rules will supply the nutrients the older person needs. If the ordinary meal is a little heavy, he may enjoy smaller meals taken more often than the usual three a day.

Public speaking course begins October 1

Do you become nervous, weak-kneed and worried when you are asked to speak in public? Do you think you could introduce a speaker, propose a toast or speak "off the cuff" for a few minutes?

Statistics show that the average person faces some or all of these situations from time to time throughout his life span. And many of these same people wish they could have an opportunity to receive some coaching or instruction in the art of public speaking.

The informal education program of the NDG-YMCA has announced that a ten weeks course in effective public speaking will begin on Wednesday, October 1st. The course is open to both men and women and has a limited registration.

Instruction for this course will be provided by Miss Rina Gordon, graduate of the Teachers' Training Course, Dale Carnegie Institute, New York. Miss Gordon is well qualified in this field, having given instruction in public speaking to many Montreal organizations as well as running her own school.

The ten weeks course at the NDG-YMCA deals with developing confidence and poise, overcoming fear, preparing and organizing a speech, making impromptu talks, voice recording, introducing and thanking a speaker, acquiring a better vocabulary, class analysis and duties as a chairman.

The course has a limited registration and those wishing to enroll can do so by applying at the NDG-YMCA, 4335 Hampton avenue.

Very Smart or Very Nice

Every self respecting news gatherer or commentator, covering his or her beat, will confess the occasional blind spot getting a particular piece of reportage or heavy thinking off the top of the head and into understandable prose. Very often to ease into the subject matter without too much strain, some quoting, or selective borrowing, from master talent sources, is necessary, and even desirable. After all, the Bible and Shakespeare are usually available to most of us. Our small message, if it may be so termed, has to do with the reasons why some resorts and restaurants enjoy a steady and faithful patronage, while others suffer the doldrums and don't even seem to draw curious flies. Therefore, we launch the quote forthwith, and derive great satisfaction in bowing humbly and thankfully to writer Mary Chase of Denver. An outstanding newspaperwoman, a polished playwright, a fine mother, person and citizen — and, probably one of a handful of top flight scribes who has made a lasting contribution to contemporary literature.

In Miss Chase's big theatre hit "Harvey", one line stands out. This, when Dowell as the wistful alcoholic observes philosophically; "To succeed in this world, a person either has to be very, very smart, or very, very nice." Then he adds: "And, I've found it easier to be very nice." Without being overly addicted to the flowing bowl, the simile applies in large measure to the well being of most restaurants, resorts and proprietors. By smart, we don't mean loaded with cupidity; any more than niceness connotes stupidity. The busboy who has wended his way laboriously upward to headwaiter and eventual ownership is, as a general rule, a solid restaurant man. His experiences, at the different working levels, have brought tolerance, good taste, know-how, and infinite wisdom regarding customers and their foibles to his aid and judgment. His supervision of staff, kitchen and service is excellent. His personality, usually mellowed and warm, reflects in the restaurant's operation. If he's "nice", too, it's ten to one the place is filled and popular. The very smart, having concluded that as people must eat, the restaurant business is a sound investment, encounter greater administrative problems. They must remain alert always. Choosing a location, hiring chef and kitchen help, buying food, etc. don't come naturally; and study and time are necessary. For personality and atmosphere, the bartenders, checkroom girls, waiters, headwaiters and decor must carry the ball. Advertising and public relations become major issues. Yes, the neophyte restaurateur or innkeeper, has to be very, very smart, indeed.

Back in the depression of the thirties, a large luxury hotel opened in New York. Name bands and top entertainers played to mammoth gobs of emptiness in the supper room section. A publicity expert solved the problem, up to a point, by "dressing" the empty ringside tables with recruited young and attractive couples, whose bills were chalked up to the "house". The pleasant and different audience quality drew legitimate paying guests. There-to-fore, supper clubs had been peopled mostly by card carrying members of various hoodlum factions, with their ill-gotten pelf who arrogated the best ringside positions and service to themselves. While it was true that most of them met an early demise, ignominiously sealed in blocks of concrete at the bottom of the East River; nevertheless the turnover in their numbers kept up a steady supply of undesirable customers. The club owners definitely were neither smart, nor nice. In fact they had all the qualifications of short sighted boobies. The publicity man did the industry a signal favor with his manoeuvre, as today both the smart and nice places welcome the young (or otherwise) couples with modest means, as decorative and over a period repetitiously profitable.

That's it, friends, And, thank you, Mary Chase.

The Goofers star in new Bellevue Casino show

THE Goofers, an outstanding comedy act, comprising five furiously funny young men, opens tonight at Jack Suz's Bellevue Casino after what is termed in press agency as a "sensational" Boston appearance.

The current engagement, long delayed, finally was expedited by the popular Ontario street show-place's general manager Suz's for sight in flying to the bean city to personally escort the zany musical aggregation to our city.

Their material, which includes acrobatic dancing, music and comedy is far above average. Frank Nichols, the trumpet star who doubles in the string arrangements, and Tom Terry an ex-Ohio State boxing champ, pair to vocal some top tunes. The others in the very amusing combination, Jim Dell, Jimmy Vincent and Jack Holliday make solid contributions.

In the succinct wordage of The Bellevue Casino's tub thumper: "They'll fracture the audience!" After catching the act once in Las Vegas, we agree. Dance productions by the Moro-Landis, featuring Lola Sully, dancing by Tommy Wonder, and Don Delleaire's dancing and m.c. work complete what

The Harp of Life

Each life is like a golden harp,
And ours alone to choose
What strings shall wake the instrument,
What beauty win or lose.

Our task to tune it, slack or true,
With discords harsh to hear,
Or by an inner listening,
Bring notes of Heaven near.

Then strike sure strains, both clear and strong,
With no uncertainty,
And life will be "one grand sweet song"
Of perfect harmony. DOROTHY SPROULE

Bishop Chandu Ray of Pakistan to preach at St. Matthias Sunday

By LESLIE BELL

On his way home to distant Pakistan, the vital young Assistant Bishop of Lahore, Rt. Rev. Chandu Ray, who is now in Canada is scheduled to preach in St. Matthias Church, Westmount, at the 9.30 and 11 a.m. services and at Christ Church Cathedral in the evening, on September 28.

The grouping of the Muslim people of India into East and West Pakistan would be roughly equivalent to carving Quebec Province into two sections, one of them West of Saskatchewan!

Bishop Ray's new Diocese with headquarters in Lahore, has spiritual charge of West Pakistan Anglicans. His life has been a dramatic one from the moment when, born a Hindu, he decided to become a Christian, with all that it means in estrangement from family and loved ones, to the recent weeks when, with 300 Bishops, he took part in the Lambeth Conference. As a student and a scholar, Chandu Ray did extensive research in comparative religion. After studying a Bible which someone gave him, he made his momentous decision to give his life to Christ.

For several years he was Secretary in Pakistan for the Bible Society of India, Pakistan and Ceylon. In 1953 he organized an intensive teaching and preaching campaign on Commando lines. His personal account of the spectacular response from the village settlements he visited appeared in a local periodical. He tells us:

"We had an invitation from a village of Bhils and it was a great sight to see the utter amazement on their faces as they heard the Gospel for the first time."

In January 1954 Archdeacon Chandu Ray was consecrated Assistant Bishop of Lahore in the Cathedral there. Although Lahore was celebrating Black Saturday in protest against India's action in incorporating Kashmir, all the Bishops taking part in the consecration service (more than thirteen) crossed the border without incident and the Cathedral was packed to the doors.

One of Bishop Ray's most breath-taking experience was his part in the final revision and printing of the Bible in Tibetan. After an odyssey of delays and disasters he finally arrived — with Gopal the Tibetan translator — in Delhi, en route to Lahore. It was July and the temperature was 113 in the shade. Having lived all his life in a mountainous region of Tibet, Gopal lay gasping with the heat, almost unable to breathe.

"There was only one thing to do," Bishop Ray tells you — "to ask God to send relief. That night the monsoon came! Three inches of rain fell in one night."

By train and plane and on foot the two men reached Lahore. "There with fans blowing on blocks of ice in my room, Gopal was kept cool! The presses worked three shifts to complete the printing and at last the translation was done. I gave him a bound copy and drove him back to India in my car, where I bought him a pony for the forty days journey back to his own village."

Bishop Ray's Diocese includes

Karachi with its Overseas Air- port and the desert region of Sind. A major project of the Anglican Church in Canada, technical Services Association, has Headquarters in Lahore. Through its extensive program for bringing new land under cultivation, TSA has already drilled sixty wells of varying size. This helps the Pakistani farmer to avail himself of the Government offer to lease desert land at minimal rates provided a well is dug and a pump installed within two years. Bishop Chandu Ray will be telling us more about these vital happenings when he visits Montreal in the near future.

...so both are borrowing from a bank

When borrowing is sound business practice, it is a simple, straightforward process to arrange a loan from a chartered bank.

Every day, in every part of Canada, the chartered banks are lending money to farmers, fishermen, producers, manufacturers, processors and other commercial customers, large and small...to meet pay-rolls, buy raw materials, market goods and meet a multitude of financial needs.

A bank manager is constantly on the lookout for opportunities to make such loans — that's his job. Bank loans are an essential part of the process that provides the goods and services that make life better for all Canadians.

coming to a meeting and chatting in a friendly manner to their associates. In business, too, good-will was the very basis of building up trade and keeping good relations between supplier and consumer.

Fourthly, is it beneficial to all concerned? Everson thought this was not a difficult question for Rotarians to answer because, if the three preceding questions had been answered properly, it followed that it would be beneficial.

Summing up the points he had made, Everson said, "We live in a materialistic atmosphere in North America and the main yardstick of success is, I fear, materialistic. The business of living and earning a living in a complex society is sometimes disappointing and frustrating but it seems to me there are far more compensations on the good side through honesty, fairness and friendship and a true sense of trying to do the thing that will be beneficial."

Atlas captures ball crown over Wm. Morris

Atlas captured the Snowdon Married Men's League championship with a pair of wins over William Morris. The Atlas team won out 8-5 and 7-6 to take the best of seven final 4-1.

PRESENTATIONS made at Mt. Royal Tennis awards dinner saw Eleanor Dodge receiving a special presentation for having won the Dominion ladies' singles crown. The award is being made by club president Jean Rinfret.

Huskies continue along grid trail with 2nd win

The Westmount Eight-Man Tackle Football League once more had fine weather for their Saturday morning games.

Bulls pulled off the big upset of the day by taming the Broncs 13-0. Bulls' scoring was done by Ron Sheel and Gil Gagne, each with majors and Alan Rubin with a convert.

The outstanding players for the Bulls were Ron Sheel, Gil Gagne, Alan Rubin and Ross Tyldsley.

The losers played a very tired type of game with Tim Rothwell, Michael Weston, Mike Dench and John McNally doing most of the work.

In the second game, Huskies mused over the Mules 18-6. Bruce Wilson and Bob Robertson had their team up and full of fight. Claude Servant and Buddy McKaig turned in stellar performances for the winners. Claude scored two TD's and Buddy scored one.

Don Grant made tackling look easy by continuously stopping the Mules' offense. Tony Tyrrell played hard for his squad, but only had the help of Gary Duncan, David Salomon and Colin Black.

Tomorrow morning, two more games will be played, the first commencing at 9.30 a.m. Parents are encouraged to come along and see their boys play.

We'll stay with Cats and Riders

Trying to pick Big Four winners when your paper appears mid-week is not an easy thing to do, for after you are out on the street, sudden changes, injuries to key players, or new ones signed can sure upset your pickings.

Picking Hamilton to beat Als last Saturday saw the team draw which we'll have to throw out. But Ottawa beat Toronto and the score now reads: 12 games played, two we did no picking; eight right, one wrong and a draw in 10 games.

Our selections for Saturday are Hamilton to beat Montreal and Ottawa to win over Toronto. Hamilton seem to be good for only two losses this year. Figuring Als, they are good for maybe three more wins.

Barbs register third straight rigger win

DEFENDING champions Montreal Barbarians racked up their third straight win of the campaign against the Bytown Beavers to remain on top of the Quebec Rigger League.

Barbs travelled to the nation's capital with a weakened team but won 8-0.

In other action Wanderers defeated Town of Mount Royal 14-3 to move into a second place tie with Montreal Irish who beat Canadair 45-3. The game between Westmount and RCAF St. Hubert was called off because of RCAF flying commitments.

Mount Royal after a promising start fell away and although they finished the game with only 14 men were never in the hunt even when at full strength. The three big men in the Town pack Dave Craig, Tom Reid and Lionel Beckett were in their usual fine form but received no support.

Superior forward play in front of the inspired play of captain, Cliff Davidson at scrum-half was enough to give the league leaders a shut-out win against the tough Ottawa crew.

Cliff Davidson scored the only try of the game on a short run on the blind-side. This effort was converted by Cyril Fagan who also kicked a fine penalty goal to round out the scoring. Graham Sadler, the giant second-row forward and captain of the home club played another fine game.

Wanderers who have been the surprise team of the young campaign bounced back from the shellacking they received last week at the hands of the Barbs to win deservedly 14-3 against the Town of Mount Royal. This win vaults Wanderers into a second place tie with Irish.

John Davis was once again the big scoring gun for the winners as he kicked two penalty goals and one conversion for a total of eight points. John Hodge put the Wanderers ahead with a fine try following an interception. Tom Bradbury scored the other TD for the Wanderers. Next week's action will have a big effect on league standings as the Irish and Wanderers tied in second slot meet head on at Westmount High School. Westmount, tied with Ottawa but a game less played, travel to Ottawa to meet the Beavers.

Dow collect their share of World fastball tourney awards

Dow Brewery, who competed in Minneapolis finished in the World's Fastball tourna- fifth in the final standing with three wins and two losses.

The Brewers lost their opener 1-0 to Lake Charles and dropped down to the loser's circle. Then they started to win. Their first was 1-0 and then 14-1. They polished their third opponents 1-0 and then lost 1-0 to Long Island for their elimination.

The team remained in the American city for eight-days.

Dow's biggest victory was their 1-0 win over Auroa, who were highly favoured.

Raybestos, the team that Dow beat 1-0 while on an exhibition four-game series against Snow- don team this summer won the
