A REMINDER — YOUR HELP IS NEEDED!

Above is shown one of several such signs which have been placed in prominent places throughout the area served by the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown. This one is that which is to be seen at the triangle in front of The Canadian Bank of Commerce in Huntingdon. The campaign to raise $80,000 for the Barrie Memorial Hospital is now in full swing and its progress toward the top will be shown on the thermometer from time to time. There is still a long way to go, but officials are quite optimistic of the results and the citizens are responding quite well.

Ormstown School Pupils To Help In Barrie Memorial Hospital Campaign

Ormstown High School has entered into the spirit of the Barrie Memorial Hospital Campaign by holding a week-long penny race, so it was reported to The Gleaner yesterday.

Penny races have proved a very successful media for raising money for the Junior Red Cross and the drive in Aid of The Blind, and this year the Ormstown High School pupils welcome an opportunity to participate in a project which touches, at some point or other, the life of every family in the community.

During the coming week two races courses will be set up in the school corridors of five and three tracks for Tribes and Houses respectively; the Tribes representing the lower classes and the Houses the higher. Scholars will bring pennies to be placed on the tracks they represent and a race will ensue. Monitors will be placed in charge of each track and of receipts, and it is hoped by all that the School can proudly assume an important place in this most worthy campaign.

Campaign Reports Encouraging!

While only a small percentage of the actual canvassing has yet been completed, reports from the canvassers themselves are extremely encouraging, and indicate the high esteem in which the Barrie Memorial Hospital is held.

As in every campaign, canvassers meet with surprises, the majority of them very pleasant ones. The expected widow's mite turns out to be amazingly large, and people from whom little could be expected because of their circumstances are responding generously. And perhaps 'generously' is not the appropriate word, for some of them are giving sacrifically and not out of their abundance which is lacking. It may be that such people more than others realize what a hospital in their community can mean to them.

A list of subscriptions up to yesterday is given elsewhere on this page, but it is obvious that the greater part of the returns will appear next week. In the meantime, those who have not yet been canvassed will have an opportunity to give to the limit of their ability and willingness.

Clarifying Recent Police Order On Buses

Apparently, the information regarding School Bus drivers being at fault, published in the last issue of The Gleaner, has caused confusion in the minds of some.

The information given by the Provincial police to The Gleaner is not supposed to convey the impression that other vehicles may pass a STOPPED school bus. That order is still in full force and still means the same as The Gleaner has published at all times.

The trouble is that some bus drivers ars driving their buses in the centre of the road and stopping them in the centre of the road when they let off or take on their passengers. It is this that is impeding the traffic.

The police are therefore asking that the bus be pulled to the side of the road when letting off passengers, etc., but no other vehicle can pass while this process is being gone through. However, when the bus driver is ready to proceed with his journey, he is asked to motion the other stopped traffic to pass him so as not to unnecessarily delay such traffic. Only when the bus is ready to move off and the driver motions other traffic to pass, may they do so. By that time the passengers would be looked after and the bus would be in motion and there is nothing to prevent the other traffic from passing. They must however stop when a school bus is stopped or at a standstill and cannot pass at such time, in either direction.

Dutch Visitors Spend Holiday Using Motorcycle To Tour U.S.A. And Canada

On Wednesday evening, September 18th, a Gleaner representative was surprised to see a motorcycle pass him with two people on it and the back carrier loaded to a height above the passengers. Both riders were equipped with coveralls and white helmets. It was this which aroused wonderment.

Later it was discovered that these riders and their motorcycle had a story and here it is.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Schamp, the riders on the motorcycle, were visitors in this country from Holland and they had chosen this method of transportation as a means of seeing Canada and United States and as the way of spending a holiday here. They left Amsterdam, Holland, on March 30th of this year and sailed to New York. The motorcycle, a "Matchless", made in England, had been purchased in Holland and shipped on the steamer which brought them to New York.

On arrival at this point, the motorcycle was put to use and loaded with their equipment which included camping gear and personal belongings required for the trip. Their travels took them from New York to Pittsburg, Columbus, St. Louis, Oklahoma City, Amarillo, Texas, Flagstaff, the Grand Canyon, through the desert to Los Angeles, San Francisco along the coast to Crescent City, Seattle and Vancouver, B.C. At this point they stayed with relatives for about three months. On August 19th, they left Vancouver and travelled through British Columbia, the Okanagan Valley, to Lake Louise and Banff National Park and on to Calgary. From here they again crossed the border into the United States and visited Glacier National Park, Yellowstone National Park, to Rapid City and over the Black Hills to the Bad Lands, Chicago and Detroit. They visited Niagara Falls, crossed to Toronto, continued on to Montreal and arrived in Huntingdon, on Wednesday evening. Here they stopped off to visit the Disch family, who recently arrived in this country from Holland, and some of whom are employed in various capacities at The Gleaner office.

This is the first time that Mr. and Mrs. Schamp have been on this side of the Atlantic and they certainly have enjoyed their trip and are much taken by the country they have seen. Since leaving the ship which brought them to New York, they have travelled about 9,000 miles. They had a few small troubles with the motorcycle as when the motor became too hot when crossing the desert and the valves burned out. But they experienced no real difficulties. They ran into several kinds of weather such as snow, rain, and in Texas, a tornado. There was a good deal of rain in British Columbia during their stay and residents there told them it was much more than usual.

When they would camp for the night, people were amazed at the amount of equipment they had packed on the motorcycle and wondered how they could pack it in such compact manner when loaded. Motorcycles are used extensively in Holland and Mr. and Mrs. Schamp are quite used to this mode of travel. They found roads very good in the Eastern part of Canada and through the United States, but very poor in British Columbia.

Asked regarding costs, Mr. Schamp said that these were comparable to those in Holland and the money bought about the same amount here as in Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Schamp stayed in Huntingdon with their friends until Monday, when they again loaded up and left for New York for the return trip to Rotterdam by ship and then to Amsterdam. They expected to board ship on October 1st.

Elsewhere will be found a photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Schamp and their motorcycle ready for the balance of their trip to New York.

Mr. Schamp says he thinks this is a country of great opportunity and that it could absorb another million people quite easily. He is on leave of absence from his employment in Holland for six months and has enjoyed every minute of it.

Huntingdon Delegates Attend Farm Forum Workshop At Bristol

The Huntingdon Farm Forum District Committee took part in the Regional Farm Forum Workshop, held at Pine Lodge, Bristol, Que., on September 15th to 20th, when they met with representatives from other district committees of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

Messrs Wilbur Arthur and George Irving represented Huntingdon District Committee, while others from this area were: Mrs. Carl Anderson, Provincial President Farm Forum; Keith Greig, President of the Quebec Farmers Association.

The workshop was under the direction of Floyd Griesbach, National Farm Forum Secretary and Leslie Young, Quebec Farm Forum Secretary. The program was very interesting, both as to entertainment and business. Everyone enjoyed taking part in the various phases which were presented. Much time was taken up in revising Farm Forum by-laws, also planning steps to be taken in the promotion of Farm Radio Forum and Quebec Farmers' Association.

In local areas, although there were some 57 other organizations and clubs, it was generally felt that F.R.F. and Q.F.A. could have the most far reaching effect on the future of rural living and agriculture.

There will be a province-wide drive organized for membership in either the F.R.F. or Q.F.A. as separate organizations or in both, the membership fee being the same for either one or both as desired.

First Meeting C.V.T.A. For 1957-58 Term

The first meeting of the Chateauguay Valley Teachers Association for the 1957-58 term was held on Thursday evening, Sept. 19, at the Huntingdon High School with 70 in attendance. The business meeting commenced at 5 o'clock with the new President, Dr. K. Willis, in the chair. Dr. Willis welcomed Dr. and Mrs. J. Paton of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers; Miss Dora B. Upton, Helping Teacher for the Department of Education and Mr. W. Brady, School Inspector, to the meeting.

For the past few years, the Chateauguay Valley Teachers have held an In-service Training program for the benefit of the children and professional improvement of the teachers. Subjects such as Reading, Language and Current Events were discussed. This program is being carried on again this year with Miss Ruth Low as lecturer and the topic to be: Discipline in the Classroom. Misses Aikman and Davidson of Ormstown are managing the undertaking.

A softball tournament for the seven larger schools of the area is being held at Ormstown, on September 28. Mr. B. Leckie of Valleyfield again accepted appointment as convener of the Extra Curricular Activities Committee of the Chateauguay Valley Teachers' Association which plans all inter-school athletic activities.

A delicious supper was served in the basement of the St. John's Anglican Church by the Ladies' Guild.

Mr. Eric King of Ormstown introduced the guest speaker, Dr. J. Paton, who spoke on the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers. Dr. Paton stated that many times when a teacher is alone in a classroom trying to cope with the many difficulties that arise during a teaching day, he may feel that the Teaching Profession is a lonely one, but it need not be as we are all members of our own local association, of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, and of an organization that stretches around the globe. Mrs. Norma Robb thanked the guest speaker.

The meeting adjourned at 10 p.m.

N.Y.C. Employee Dies Suddenly Monday

Mr. Edouard Galarneau, a clerk employed at the N.Y.C. station in Huntingdon, died suddenly on Monday evening, presumably from a heart attack. He was working as usual when he was taken sick and fellow employees called the doctor, who ordered his removal to the Huntingdon County Hospital at 4.30 p.m. and he died there at about 6.30 p.m.

The late Mr. Galarneau was 57 years old and had been employed on the railroad for 39 years. He served the railroad at Tupper Lake, Malone and Huntingdon during this time, as a clerk. When first coming to Huntingdon he resided here with his family, but a few years ago moved to Chateauguay, Que., where the funeral will be held on Thursday. He leaves his wife, (Rebecca Galipeau, formerly of Huntingdon) and two sons to mourn him.

Miss J. MacClennan visited over the weekend with her mother, at the home of Mrs. Fred Rennie.

Raccoon Short Circuits Electric Service At Howick

Early Saturday evening electric service was interrupted at Howick for nearly an hour-and-a-half. The cause of interruption was one of most unusual character, as it was due to the fact that a raccoon had climbed an electric pole near Clarence McCaig's and shorted the primary wire. The raccoon, a female, had a hole burnt in its neck and likewise on its stomach. Shawinigan Water & Power Company linesmen report this is the first time they have ever heard of a raccoon being the cause of such a short circuit.

C. L. Starr Awarded $41,972

C. L. Starr, 61, of New Erin, has been awarded $41,972 as the result of an accident in which he was maimed near St. Barbe, Huntingdon County, on June 29, 1952.

Mr. Justice Ignace J. Deslauriers awarded the sum, on Tuesday, to Clarence L. Starr against Roger Pare, of St. Barbe. Mr. Starr was driver of an automobile which collided with a truck driven by Pare.

The judge noted that the collision occurred at night, after Pare had had several beers in three bars in the neighborhood. At the time of the accident, Mr. Justice Deslauriers continued, "Pare's truck was being driven in a most 'abnormal' way."

In his opinion, there was no doubt that Pare had been the cause of the accident.

In assessing damages, Mr. Justice Deslauriers noted that, at the time of the acident, Mr. Starr had been a successful businessman. As a result of his injuries, he had had to give up his business. He had suffered permanent partial injuries, which the judge estimated to be worth $25,000.

The remainder of the sum included hospital and medical treatment, and loss of enjoyment of life.

The judge dismissed an action brought by Starr against Alfred Pare, owner of the truck, and father of Roger. He ruled that Roger had taken the vehicle without the consent of his father and used it for entirely personal reasons, although, during the daytime, the son was supposed to use the vehicle to do work for his father.

Man Killed In Accident Thursday Morning

Richard Denver, aged 36 years, of St. Anicet was instantly killed at approximately 3.30 a.m. on Thursday morning, September 19th, when the truck in which he was riding, turned over on the Plank Road, near Huntingdon.

Mr. Denver was a helper on the truck owned and driven by James Quenneville of St. Anicet. The truck had left Montreal late that night with a load of feed and cement and was on its way to George Sutton's farm at St. Anicet. The night was extremely foggy and there was a great amount of smoke from the fire in the peat fields, hanging over the road.

Mr. Denver had opened the right hand door of the truck so as to help to guide Mr. Quenneville. It seems that the truck travelled too close to the side of the road and went into the ditch. Mr. Denver fell out of the truck and truck moved a little ahead and tipped over on the man.

The Provincial Police were called at 4.00 a.m. with Det. Frank Wilmot and Const. H. Hirsch investigating. The ambulance of Kelly Funeral Home Reg'd. was called to remove the body to Huntingdon. A Coroner's Inquiry was held on Thursday morning, and a verdict of accidental death was given. The body was taken to Maxville, Ont. where services and burial took place on Saturday.

Mr. Denver is survived by his wife, 2 children, 1 brother, 2 sisters and his father.

Dr. O. E. Caza Valleyfield, Died On Sunday

The Late Dr. O. E. Caza

One of the best known surgeons of Valleyfield has passed away. Dr. O. E. Caza died suddenly on Sunday, at the age of 64.

Though his health had not been very good lately, no one expected his death so soon. Dr. Caza was well known throughout the region, for the many services rendered in the different municipalities.

He was born in St. Anicet, County of Huntingdon, on January 6th, 1893. He was the son of Avila Caza, farmer, and of Dina Quesnel. He made his primary studies at the parish school and then entered the Collège Bourget in Rigaud. He received his doctor's degree from the University of Laval, Montreal, in 1919. He then went to Winnipeg, Manitoba, where he lived until 1925. While there, he studied surgery and also on many occasions went to Chicago and Rochester to acquire more knowledge of his profession.

In 1925, he came back to Huntingdon County and practised in Huntingdon itself until 1933, his office being in the Kelly and Lanktree block and his residence being 19 Henderson Street. At that date, he went to Valleyfield, where he has practised surgery exclusively at the Hotel-Dieu.

As a doctor, he has occupied the following posts: He was President of the Medial Office of the Hotel-Dieu; President of the Medical Association of the Beauharnois and Valleyfield districts; President of the Canadian Medical Association, Quebec Division; Specialist in Surgery for the Province of Quebec; and of the Royal College of Canada; member of the Surgeons' Association of the Province of Quebec; Member of the French speaking Doctors' Association; member of the Montreal Medico-Surgical Society; appointed doctor of the New York Central; Coroner of the Beauharnois District.

All those who have known Dr. Caza, as a doctor and as a civilian, are agreed that he was always eager to help the needy. Many patients who have undergone surgery practised by him during the many years he was in Valleyfield have appreciated his skill and comprehension of others. Many called him "the doctor of the needy". A number of his colleagues said of him that he was one of the best surgeons in Canada.

As a civilian, Dr. Caza always interested himself in school activities, and municipal, provincial, federal affairs. He was member and president of the Valleyfield School Board for many years; Mayor of Valleyfield for six years. The Board of Trade and the School Board owe a lot of achievements to his knowledge and advice. In politics, he was a good speaker and was called upon on many occasions. During the war, he was joint-president of the Victory Bonds campaign. At the end of the war, he was made Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel of the Army, in recognition of his services. Dr. Caza was also a Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus, member of the Reform Club and honorary member of the Zouaves, Garde Champlain, Garde Dollard.

Dr. Caza was also interested in sports organizations and always helped those who wanted to make his city known through this medium. In his spare time, especially in summer, he spent many hours on Lake St. Francis. He loved fishing and hunting. He was an active member of the Valleyfield Curling Club, of the Rotary Club also and those who know their bridge agreed that he was an authority on the game. The religious authorities often called on him for services professional and others, and always received his complete support.

The death of this eminent man is a great loss for the entire community.

When Dr. Caza started his practise in Huntingdon, he never refused to go on any call, whether in St. Anicet and Dundee or the opposite end of the County. At that time, in sub-zero weather, it meant hours of travel by sleigh; and if there was need of a daily visit, he never hesitated. This manner in which he has served his fellowmen and many other ways in which he helped others, made him one of the greatest doctors of the Beauharnois district.

He leaves to mourn him his wife, Josephine MacDonald; two sons, Dr. MacDonald Caza and Mr. Leonard Caza; a daughter, Mrs. Jean Minville (Marion); his daughter-in-law, Mrs. MacDonald Caza; his son-in-law, Mr. Jean Minville; two brothers, Dr. J. E. Caza of Huntingdon, and Mr. Romeo Caza of St. Anicet; six sisters: Mrs. Florian Champagne, Mrs. Antoine Dupuis, Mrs. Roger Payette, Mrs. Wilfrid Dumont, Mrs. Roland Sabourin and Miss Cecile Caza.

The "Poor People's Surgeon" is no more, but his memory will live for long in the hearts of those he has given so much to in his 25 years of practise.

Funeral was held this morning (Wednesday) from Hotel Dieu Hospital at Valleyfield. The cathedral service was held at 10 a.m. Burial at Valleyfield.

LEAVING FOR RETURN TO HOLLAND

The above shows Mr. and Mrs. J. Schamp, of Amsterdam, Holland, as they were about to start out on Monday for New York, where they will board a ship to take them back to Holland. They have been touring The United States and Canada on the motorcycle seen above, which they brought with them from Holland for the purpose. The motorcycle is well loaded with the two people and their belongings used for the trip which took them over 9,000 miles while on this continent. A story of their travels appears elsewhere in this issue.

The Tired Showman

Now that fairs are in progress all over Canada many showmen will sympathize with ten-year-old Giles Adam of Beloeil, Quebec, as he takes a brief rest using his calf as a prop. The photo was taken at the annual field day of the Quebec Branch of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada which attracted an attendance of 2,050 to the farm of Metairie St. Joseph, St. Hyacinthe, Que. The six-months-old bull calf realized $400.00 for the St. Hyacinthe Holstein Club. — The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, Brantford, Ont.

Both have a bank account - and a purpose for saving

Nurse and father both agree that some things are too important to leave to chance. So, like most Canadians, each uses a chartered bank for planned saving, making regular deposits to accomplish a definite purpose.

Your own savings plan may be a short-term, modest one — maybe a vacation trip, or new drapes for the living room. Or your goal may be long-range, like providing more security, greater comfort and independence for you and your family.

But whatever use you find for the money you save, you'll always be glad you saved it!

Save at a bank — millions do!

National Immunization Week

THIS is National Immunization Week, sponsored by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with the Health Departments. It might be termed one of the most important periods which are set aside for various purposes throughout the year.

Health is an important matter in the lives of our citizens wherever they may be. The growth and the wealth of our country depends upon the well being of our people. Many crippling and fatal diseases can now be avoided through the means of various toxins which either bring about partial or complete immunization. As new forms of disease appear, our medical research scientists work to find a toxin which will immunize the spread. In some cases, the various forms of innoculation have completely obliterated the disease such as smallpox, for there are no cases of this and have been none for many years. There have been no cases of this since 1946 and no deaths at all from 1943 to 1956. It is possible for another outbreak, but with the use of vaccines and the people being conscious of their value as safeguards, it should not take place.

Polio, one of the newer of the contagious diseases, is also being licked now that a toxin has been found to fight it. While the cases were lower in number in 1956, the number of deaths was higher than in 1955. Figures show 1021 cases and 36 deaths for 1955, and 607 cases and 51 deaths for 1956. Other years show much higher figures in both columns, but then the vaccine had not been available. Diptheria is on the low ebb, but whooping cough is still taking too high a toll. More innoculations of children should be done for these diseases and then they, in time, will be stamped out as Smallpox has been. However, like any war that is waged, there can be no relaxation, the fight must go on. National Immunization Week is intended to keep this fact before the public just as appeals to buy victory bonds were continually before the people to remind them of a war.

A welcome announcement has been made that a vaccine has been discovered with which to partially fight the common cold. The common cold is what one might say the foundation of many diseases and often the start of more serious illness. If a means can be had that would immunize people against the common cold, it is more than likely that the spread of many illnesses would be avoided. Dr. Winston H. Price of Baltimore, U.S., has announced that he has a vaccine for one strain of the common cold virus, which is merely the entering wedge, not a cure-all, but it could lead to a complete preventative. This announcement coming at this time, is something to be heralded. It shows that medical science is working hard all the time to safeguard the peoples' health by continual research. The new drugs and antibiotics that have been brought to help the medical profession, are performing every day wonders in lengthening the span of life and preserving the health of the people of the world.

It is well to think over these facts and if you or your children have not yet been immunized against the various diseases, have it done at the earliest possible moment. The important thing is to have young children immunized at an early age. In this way the coming generations will be protected and there will be less liklihood of these diseases ever taking hold in epidemic proportions.

Barrie Memorial Hospital Campaign In Full Swing

GREAT interest is being maintained in the Barrie Memorial Hospital Campaign to raise $80,000 with which to clear the debt on the hospital building and to erect the balance of the Nurses' home, half of which was built a few years ago. The teams of canvassers are out in full force in the various districts to which they have been assigned and results published so far are most encouraging as to the end result.

The deadline for this campaign is supposed to be on Monday, September 30th. However, it is more than likely it will have to be extended beyond that date for it is hardly possible that the complete objective will have been reached in such short time. People are certainly subscribing very well and it might be that the unexpected could happen.

The officials are well pleased with results so far obtained, but are keeping their fingers crossed until the final outcome. It has been emphasized that subscribers should take advantage of this opportunity to secure life memberships, for benefits under these start immediately if they are purchased during this campaign. Under ordinary circumstances there is a lapse of time before a subscriber can have the benefits which are allowed. The benefits allow a reduction in room rates for the member and members of his family up to age 18. Therefore it is advantageous to become a Life Member during this campaign. Such subscriptions will mean much to the drive, for the larger the sum contributed in each individual case, the more assurance that the objective will be met. The canvasser will explain the plan to you if you are not certain about any point of the campaign. Your help and your encouragement will do much to make this campaign a successful one. It will show your appreciation of having such a hospital as "The Barrie" in this area and ready for the services it may be called upon to give. In fact, in course of time greater bed capacity will be available through the top floor of the hospital being ready for use. The completion of Nurses' residence will help to bring this about, when it is hoped that more nursing staff can be obtained. It will thus be seen that this campaign is an important one not only to the hospital, but to the district it serves.

Something More Should Be Done

IT seems to be an annual event that there should be fire at the Tea Fields and the bog burns and keeps burning. Indirectly, this was the cause of an accident the past week when a truck fell upon a man and resulted in his death. The truck had stopped at the side of the road on account of the dense fog and smoke combination and the driver could not see. The victim stepped from the cab with the idea of going to the front of the vehicle to lead the driver through. However, he fell into the ditch and a few seconds later the side of the road gave way and the truck fell on top of him.

The reason for the truck falling was that the road had been undermined by the peat bog burning over several weeks and burning in under the road also.

It has always been difficult to maintain this road through this area and it is continually breaking up. A few years ago a ditch was dug with the idea of drainage and thus helping to keep this road in better condition. We believe this has worked out to some extent and that the road has held up much better. However, it is dangerous to get off the blacktop and onto the shoulders. Several trucks has had the misfortune of doing this during the year and have sunk into the bog and the ditch. At points along this road there are guard rails. Perhaps it would be better to erect some such safety device to keep drivers pulling too close to the shoulders. It would also seem that this road should be closed to traffic when the fires in the tea fields cause smoke which prevents a clear view. Perhaps men with flares should be placed at this point during such occasions to guide traffic through. Certainly something should be done for the safety of travellers, who will not use their common sense and are determined to take chances. On several occasions this year, travellers have come to the spot where the smoke was dense and have turned back and made their way around by another route. This year the burning has been particularly bad, due no doubt to the dry weather we have experienced.

This matter should be given some study by the Road Dept. to see what precautions can be taken to prevent a repetition of any similar accidents. Drivers of cars and trucks should also take precautions when the conditions of clear view are obstructed along this road. It is just another case of being safety first conscious and avoiding taking chances.

Looking Back Along the Trail

"ECHOES OF THE PAST"

A favourable reply was received from the governor-general when another meeting was called, and held Dec. 27, when R. B. Somerville, John Morison, J. S. Lewis. Dr. Shirriff, Archd. Henderson, Wm. Graham, Wm. Lamb, Colonel Reid, Jas. Botham, and the clergymen of the village were appointed a committee to get plans, let a contract for the building, and prepare a draft of constitution. The committee had not only to do all this but to see about a lot, and where the projected academy should be placed was a matter of strife happily ended by the crown granting a patent for the lot on which it now stands. It is right that it should be placed here on record, that, admitting there was a general desire to secure an academy, it would never have been carried into effect but for Dr. Shirriff. The members of the committee shirked the duties allotted to them, and had the Doctor not assumed the work they ought to have done, and the responsibilities they should have shouldered, nothing would have been done. In his own quiet persistent way Dr. Shirriff attended to everything that was essential. On the members of the committee appointed to see about plans failing to go to Montreal to secure an architect, he went and engaged George Browne and saw to the necessary heavy timbers being got out before the snow left. The first plan submitted by Mr. Browne was not approved of, being too expensive, when he drafted another which was accepted at a meeting held on 15 March, 1851. It was resolved to ask for separate tenders for the mason, plastering, and carpenter work. The tenders were opened on 1st May, and found to be as follows:

Mason Work

Robt. Barrie, Elgin	$1199
Wm. Marshall, Huntingdon	$1184
Geo. McGarth. Montreal	$1084
Archd. McDougall, Elgin	$1136
Alex Shearer, Elgin	$1000
Thos. Nelson, Montreal	$890

Carpenter Work

Robert Corbett, Huntingdon	$2080
R. Benn, Montreal	$1640
Wm. Lamb, Godmanchester	$1540
Dodds & Henry, Huntingdon	$1390

Plastering

John Buchanan	$200

Painting and Glazing

Rogers & Wright, Montreal	$146
3 coats $32 more.
George Munn	$100

On the 9th May, Thomas Nelson signed a contract for $989, the additional $90 being given on condition that it cover all extras. Dodds & Henry not having given security, the carpenter work was ofered to Wm. Lamb, but on his raising difficulties, new tenders were asked. After much trouble, it was finally settled that Mr. Nelson do the carpenter work for $1536. The work now being fairly under way money was needed, and calls were made upon the subscribers for payment. It is not easy to realize how scarce money was in this district 50 years ago. That is not a long period, yet it has seen a complete revolution in the mode of doing business. Then, if a farmer had anything to sell, he could not get cash for it unless he took it to Montreal. Well-to-do farmers were sometimes put about to make a small payment where cash was called for. The whole trading system was based on a barter, with its consequents of turning-in orders, and bons. Altho' the highest subscription from a resident was only $30, none paid it at once, and did so in small amounts. Some did not pay all, and a few never paid any part of what they signed for. Poverty is no disgrace, but dishonesty is, and looking at the originial list it is painful to see how many failed to pay what they promised. Mr. Somerville, who then kept store and had an ashery, arranged with its customers for the payment of many subscriptions and other storekeepers did likewise. Nelson was needy, had tendered for too low a price, and always asking advances beyond what was agreed upon, and the committee was often in a pinch to keep the work going on.

By the middle of July the walls were high enough to warrant the laying of the corner-stone and the committee decided Wm. Bowron should be invited to do so. For the ceremony great preparations were made. There then existed a division of the Sons of Temperance, which included the best people of the village and neighbourhood and was a live and energetic organization. Their co-operation was asked and gladly given and they, in turn, sent an invitation to a sister division at Durham (Ormstown). A Sunday-school picnic that had been arranged for decided the date, July 16th, 1851. Weather and roads favoured the occasion. At an early hour the teetotalers of Durham drove in, with regalia and banner flying, and headed by Colonel McEachern on horseback. The place of assembly was a large house that stood east of the residence of Andrew Philps. The lower flat was occupied by its owner, John Thompson, the upper was a good sized hall, used not only as a place of meeting by the temperance society, but as a day school and also as a dancing-school, when one was held in the winter. Issuing from their hall. came the teetotalers, a most respectable appearing body, each wearing the white collar of the order. They walked to the vacant space between the Methodist church and the bridge where the S.S. scholars were in waiting. Colonel McEachern was marshall and he formed the line of procession, riding back and forth in doing so. When arranged to his satisfaction, the command to march was given, and the procession moved down the front street, accompanied by a large crowd. Turning at Dalgliesh's corner the site of the proposed ceremony was reached when a large circle was formed. Mr. Bowron was not there, why he was not his daughter, Mrs. McEachern, explains:

I had come from Durham and was at my father's. He was quite ready to go to lay the stone when he took a weak turn. We sent for Dr. Shirriff, who came and said the disposition was a passing one, caused by excitement, but he could not advise him to venture on the cermony, and recommended him to appoint John Hunter, as the next oldest, in his stead to which my father agreed.

Mr. Hunter was the first to build a house in the village and now feeble from age. He was assisted to the staging at the N.E. corner, when the Rev. McBrock described the contents of the bottle about to be desposited and read copies of the documents.

Archd. Adams having got the stone ready, it was put in place, Mr. Hunter gave the usual taps and the deed was done.

King And Cinderella

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

"Wheat is in the dual position of being the production king of the prairies and, in the same breath, the Cinderella of world grain markets."

During a recent visit to Saskatoon I made a note of the above passage from an editorial in The Star-Phoenix of that city. It is a picturesque and apt sizing-up of the situation in which the grain grower of the west finds himself. He is at once the monarch of all he surveys, with vast stores of wheat overflowing his elevators and barns, and at the same time a poor Cinderella sitting among the cinders of his dreams waiting for the good fairy to transmute his golden grain into golden cash.

The good fairy is the Canada Wheat Board, and she is waiting for offers to buy grain at a fixed price. But the wheat buyers are waiting for the price to come down. or are buying grain elsewhere. Some are turning to other victuals and a great many people are existing on starvation diets.

The story of how the seller and the buyer of wheat got into this deadlock is a long and complicated one. It started with an attempt on the part of the grain growers to control the fluctuations of the price of wheat, which they claimed were due to speculation on the grain exchanges. They got together and decided to pool their crops—in other words, to corner their product in the first place and hold it until they could get a good price for it. That seemed like a possible thing to do. But the western grain growers were not the only ones in the wheat business. Grain growers in other countries continued to sell their wheat on the free market for what they could get for it. Canadian wheat was thus pooled out of the world market.

That is what happened in the hungry 1930's. The unsold grain was heavily mortgaged to the banks. The banks began to call in their loans and demanded that the surplus be sold for what it would bring or otherwise they would sell it themselves. To prevent this the federal government agreed to guarantee the loans and appointed John I. McFarland, a retired grain dealer, to sell the wheat. But Mr. McFarland, siding with the Pool in the belief that the price would rise began to buy more wheat, and the last state was worse than the first.

In 1934 a parliamentary committee appointed James Murray, a practical grain merchant, with instructions to sell the wheat regularly as the market would take it. This was done, and Canadian wheat was sold on the free market until the outbreak of the war in 1939. Then, in order to keep the grain from going to enemy countries, the government agreed to sell it to Britain at a certain price for the duration of the war. In the meantime, war scarcities forced world prices above what the Canadian farmers were getting, and they claimed they should be reimbursed for their loss. The government finally made them a grant of $65 million in settlement.

After the war, Canada joined in the International Wheat Agreement to sell quotas of grain to certain countries at an agreed price. But some of these countries have not accepted their quotas and have bought on the open market at cheaper rates. Thus another attempt at price fixing—this time on an international scale—failed. The Canadian grain growers are now back where they were in the 1930's, except that they are not so deeply in debt, for the farmers have had some good times since the war. But they are still tied to the Canada Wheat Board. The United States government encouraged farmers to hold their wheat for higher prices and paid those prices itself when the market would not. It is now unloading its surplus on what has been called a "give away" basis, while the king-Cinderella of the prairies is waiting impatiently for the fairy Wheat Board to perform a miracle.

The whole story is one of trying to defeat the law of supply and demand and stabilize the market. It has stabilized it to a standstill.

Letter to the Editor

Huntingdon, Quebec
September 23, 1957.

Editor of the "Gleaner",
Huntingdon, Quebec.

Dear Sir:

You are indeed to be congratulated for bringing to the attention of the taxpayer, the unnecessarily high Protestant school taxes and for pointing out the reason for a good part of this dangerous increase.

The average business-man in this district works six days a week, the farmer seven. Both put in long hours and work hard for a living. Most of us want good schools with as many advantages as we can reasonably afford; but we cannot and should not try to keep up with the city schools.

If the time comes when a property owner in Huntingdon can rent a five room heated apartment for from $100. to $150. per month as in Montreal or the average farmer, for his seven-day week has the same take-home pay as his city cousin for his forty-hour week, perhaps then we will be able to afford our present administration.

I honestly believe our School Board is doing all it can to give us the school it thinks we want. In many instances, we, the taxpayers, are extremely lax in letting the Board know what our wishes really are. The Commissioners are very busy men who are performing a thankless task. Sometimes they are forced to give in to excessive and often unwarranted demands. The general feeling amongst the people I meet and talk to, is that there are far too many unnecessary frills attached to our school. We send our children to school mainly to acquire a basic education. If they can be taught to think and use their imagination to advantage, something else very worthwhile will have been achieved.

There was a time when Huntingdon Academy produced some of the finest students with the highest marks in the Province. Possibly this was because there were not too many other activities then but more time for schoolwork and study. We have some very capable, conscientious teachers who are dead against excessive outside activities. The time consumed in planning and carrying out these activities could be well put to producing better students.

All of us who are taxpayers and who thereby, have a stake in this community, would do well to put a stop to the spending spree that has been going on in our School the past few years. Otherwise we will be taxed out of existence.

Personally, I think the Secretary-Treasurer should be the School's business manager, acting under the School Board's directions. This would allow the Principal more time for the work he is hired for and for which he is naturally better qualified.

The people in this district are conservative, hard working and good living and the majority live within their means. I'm sure they would like the School to do likewise.

Yours very truly,
Douglas A. Stephen.

Caribbean-bound

By now Gilbert Macmillan, O.B.E. will be well down the South Atlantic approaching or into the Caribbean area. He boarded the Cargo-Passenger vessel, S.S. Sunadele of Saguenay Terminals Steamship Company's fleet, one of the most modern boats of that fleet, at Montreal, on September 12.

Lindwood Farms

The "Sunadele's" first stop was at Halifax, to take on more cargo, and in writing from that Port on Monday, September 16, Gib Macmillan wrote:

"I will be lucky if all my stops work out as well as this one. Yesterday Alex Lamond (Manager, Lindwood Farms, Bedford, N.S.) took me out to spend the day at Lindwood, a beautiful place and very well kept. No sign of drought down here; not ideal farming land but beautiful scenery. The picture of the dairy herd (Ayrshires) on a hill side, viewed from Alex Lamond's new residence, would make a wonderful picture."

Mr. Macmillan also mentioned his pleasant visit with Col. S. C. Oland (owner of Lindwood) and Mrs. Oland; the fine hospitality accorded him by Mrs. Alex Lamond. And, of course, he naturally enjoyed Lindwood's fine herd of Ayrshires, including Glengarry Pansy's Burton, grand champion at the Royal Winter Fair in 1955 and 1956.

The Scottish Engineer

Concerning his trip to that date, Gib Macmillan wrote: "Trip all right so far and the accommodation is all one could ask for. Nearly all the crew are Europeans, with not even a Scotsman as Chief Engineer. We are still loading flour, but expect to sail by mid-afternoon."

Greatest Milk Cow

Says a Holstein Friesian Association of Canada report, two generations of a Quebec family have combined to develop the greatest milk cow ever seen in Canada. She is the purebred Holstein cow Elegante Bijou Tensen, the new Canadian Champion for lifetime production of milk, with a total on official Record of Performance test of 240,068 (equivalent to 96,027 quarts) milk, and 9,072 lbs. butterfat.

Elegante was born in the herd of Wm. Bosquet, La Presentation, Que., nineteen years ago. The herd was since been taken over by a son, Herbert Bosquet, under whose guidance the championship mark was completed:

The cow's lifetime production was made in 13 lactations — 8 on twice-daily milkings; 5 on thrice-daily milkings. In 6 of these lactations she qualified for the 305 day division. Her latest yearly record, commenced at 17 years of age, 18,057 lbs. milk, 657 lbs. fat, is a Canadian record for that age. Her best record was 26,012 lbs. milk, 980 lbs. fat, made at 11 years of age.

Outstanding Relatives

The sire of the remarkable cow "Elegante" was the well-known "Extra" sire Bijou Dad Tensen. No details of her dam are given but it is noted that "Elegante" has three paternal sisters which are also in the Hundred Thousand Pound Milk Class. Also that two of her sons are in service at the St. Hyacinthe Artificial Breeding Centre, while a third son went to Brazil, South America.

Canadians own this big share of The Bell Telephone Company

Of every hundred Bell common shareholders, 98 are Canadians. And following the recent sale of additional common shares, they now own 92% of Bell stock.*

No other company has so many Canadians sharing in its ownership. Bell shareholders in Canada today total 150,000. Of these, 12,000 are our own employees and pensioners. And, of course, many, many more are Bell customers.

So Bell Telephone—owned, controlled and operated by Canadians to serve Canadians—is a distinctly Canadian enterprise.

*Of the balance, 6.2% is held in the U.S. (including 4.2% by American Telephone and Telegraph Company); 1.7% in the United Kingdom and elsewhere.

Views Of My Visit To Ireland
By Watson Sellar

A FEW DAYS IN IRELAND (2)

Last week's notes consisted of some first impressions: this week it will be more of the same with emphasis on social life in County Clare. Having been warned before leaving Canada that September is generally a wet one along the west coast, a shower every hour on the hour has not dismayed us but wet feet put me in the market for a pair of shoes — men's rubbers are not displayed — and it was pleasant to find that shoe prices appear to average $10 below Canadian. I'm now wearing a waterproof pair that cost the equivalent of $7. In passing, one day I asked an Irishman how to forecast the weather and got a typical indirect answer: "The finer the morning, the worse it may be later on in the day".

Roadside hotel advertisements can be misleading anywhere and in Ireland the shift from the quite good to the indifferent cannot always be established by looking at the exterior or the lounge. However, the Government issues a comprehensive hotel guide and, so far as my experience goes, it is reliable. The introduction is in Irish, English, French, German and Spanish. A little taken back to find the last because experience on the continent indicated that only Latin Americans are Spanish-speaking tourists and they favour cities. It was just another example of my ignorance of things hibernian. Ireland's association with Spain is one of long standing, dating from the days of the Spanish Armada. After the defeat by Drake, the Spanish ships ran into storms and several were wrecked along the Irish coast. Survivors, of necessity, stayed where they were washed ashore and gradually Spanish colonies became established with result that various places are spoken of as of Spanish origin. Moreover, as one cultured gentleman explained to me: "We Irish and the Spaniard have a common affinity in addition to religion; we have a traditional respect for the art of smuggling and co-operated very well at it when under the English flag".

Returning to hotels, rates are quite reasonable. A Class "A" room with bath averages around 40 shillings (roughly $5.25 and this includes breakfast). According to Government gradings, there are other categories where a room and breakfast may be had for the equivalent of $2. but these are not recommended to North American tourists looking for comfort and style. Room rates vary according to the length of stay and the season. There is often a discount after three days and almost invariably a larger one if a room is kept for a week or longer... On the other hand, rates are higher during the tourist season and at Easter, Christmas and during race meets, shows, etc. In short, price is adjusted to what the traffic will stand. A variation from Canadian practice is that check-out time is noon.

We were never disappointed at the table although, even in the best hotels, lunch is rarely more than a dollar and dinner from $1.75 to $2. A local custom is that, while one type of potato is on the plate when the meat course is served, another kind is offered as one of the vegetables. The potato is king in the vegetable line but when it comes to fruit, regardless of whether it is breakfast, lunch or dinner, the chances are excellent that you will be offered grapefruit in one form or another. On this trip I've also learned the distinction between "afternoon" and "high" tea. The latter is served between six and eight and is in the nature of a supper — in many of the smaller hotels high tea takes the place of an evening meal.

Our first hotel was the Old Ground at Ennis (a Grade "A" place, and properly so). Every room had a night bolt but we were to find that only in city hotels are room keys issued. All hotels we stayed in had one thing in common; extremely hot water, not infrequently there were printed signs warning you of that. The tourist season is largely over, so the majority of night guests at the Old Ground were commercial travellers, all apparently travelling by car with some of the soap salesmen using small panel trucks. Their check-out time in the morning was a leisurely one; few were down for breakfast before 8.30 and it was an hour later before there was a genral exodus. During our stay we also saw two wedding breakfasts. It was noon before the bridal party arrived; after a sit-down meal with toasts, the couple moved out to the lawn for pictures — Irish photographers take as long as do Canadian. Along about 3 p.m. the guests began to depart, the bride shaking hands with all. There was no exciting get-away for the newly married couple.

Ennis shops are mostly small with many depending on candy and tobacco and, sometimes, ice-cream. They run strongly toward hard candies and either in the window or on a shelf will be a glass jar of the old-fashioned peppermints that my grandmother always took to church to keep us kids quiet and to stop her coughing. As to tobacco, I decided to try some Irish twist. The first cost was low but a box of matches quickly disappeared as I tried to keep the pipe going.

Irish people lean strongly to the cigarette. The drapers (drygoods) stores were more pretentious but to a North American there was a singular absence of glass showcases; instead, there was a long wooden counter with bolts of cloth on shelves. A number of these stores had good-sized show windows faced with plate glass, but even in Dublin it is the exception to illuminate them at night.

As you move from place to place it is observed that there are many chain stores. Some are quite small others pretentious; and in the cities the red sign of Woolworth is a commonplace. Another thing that registers is the state of the signs above the shops; rarely in a village (you will sometimes in a city) will the eye catch a badly faded shop sign. As a matter of fact nearly all village shop fronts have the appearance of being painted this year — the inside will often be dingy.

Moving out into the country, the standard of farming is much below our's and investments in farm equipment modest. Practices differ in various parts of the country, so County Clare will be used. Few farmers have more than 30 acres and some work about ten. The farmers are, so I'm told, operating as landlords. Absentee landlordism was long a political and social issue in Ireland, so the Government of the Republic has taken over many big and some modest sized estates. There are then broken up into farms of such size as it is assumed the farmer can finance. This takes the form of an "annuity" payment to the Government —it may be over a period of 25 years but more generally it is 50. The Government's aim is to recover its cost, plus interest charges actually paid. The interest rate to the farmer is that being paid by the Government for the money borrowed to buy the land involved. In other words, there is no standard rate for Government farm loans.

The farmer's 30 acres having been carved out of a 5,000 acre estate, let us say, it follows that quite often there would be no building on his farm. The construction of these is a matter within the jurisdiction of the local authority (municipality in Canada). The Government makes a grant, quite often of 10% of cost and assist the local authority in raising the balance of cash needed. The farmer's contribution, I think, takes the form of labour, etc. Types of houses are more or less standardized and generally have either a cement or stucco facing which is generally painted a cream yellow. They are never built of wood. They vary in size, the more pretentious ones always have a fancy stone wall between them and the road (as a rule they are on the road) even when the plot of lawn or flower bed is only 15 feet or so in depth. None, so far as I could judge, have a cellar. Some have a second floor but more generally it would seem to be an attic. Roofs vary: galvanized iron, different grades of slate, tile or asbestos. Flat tile squares are rated the best according to our driver. Thatched roofs on new places were never observed but on the old buildings they are quite general — I was told that a good job should last three years before any patching is necessary.

Livestock is expected to live in the open the year round, therefore, while one passes many places with low stone outbuildings, the thing that is common is a steel frame 15 or 20 feet high with a curved galvanized roof. At one end will be the hay — no sidings — while at the other end it may be walled with galvanized iron to provide some stabling and other storage space. They are Government designed and assisted financially.

The farmer pays for his buildings by means of assessments levied by the municipal officers. Apparently, the rate may vary from year to year, but I never got a clear explanation of the basis. As to livestock, we were rather surprised to find that pigs are rarely in evidence. There is always a horse and cart about the place and there may be sheep or cattle (or both) in the fields. Hens were not numerous, but nearly every place had some geese and, once in a while, turkeys. The geese were invariably described by the driver as "fat" but the turkeys were scraggy. What surprised me was to see any at all for in a country where it rains every day the job of raising them must be a problem.

So much for settled people, the colourful people to us were those living in wagons parked along the roads. The horses would be loose and an endless number of children looking out from under the tarpaulins. They were either gipsies or "'tinkers". Our driver could distinguish at a glance, I never could. He had strong dislike for the tinkers but had a kindly eye for the gipsy "they are horse traders".

Next week Galway and the sheep country.

The Late Mrs. J. K. Dunlop

On Saturday, September 14, there passed away at her home in the Beaver, Dundee, one of our oldest residents, in the person of Mrs. John K. Dunlop, a woman highly esteemed for her many gracious qualities and belonging to a prominent family in this district where she had lived through the years. Born Annie Elizabeth Sutherland, daughter of the late Donald Sutherland and his wife Mary Todd, she spent her childhood and early maidenhood on the old Sutherland homestead, now in the third generation of the Sutherland family. She attended the local school and academy and took the training course for teachers which at that time qualified for teaching in most of the Canadian Provinces. In early youth she became a member of Zion Presbyterian Church, the fine old building that was unfortunately burned in 1931, and carried out in her life the traditions and faith of this, the only Protestant denomination of the Township. After graduation she answered the call for teachers from the prairie provinces and was appointed to Portage La Prairie, and there met Mr. John Dunlop, a young farmer who had emigrated west from Ontario, and they were married at Portage, March 18, 1847, by the Rev. Peter Wright. Later they moved back into Dundee Township and settled on the section of land where they have lived through the years, and where seven of the family of eight were born, one dying in Portage before their return, Donald, as infant. This aged couple certainly have met with sorrow in the bereavement of three others of their children who died: Lillian, deceased in 1935, and Margaret, August 23 of this present year; also Raeburn deceased 1930. Of the remaining, Jane, Industrial Nurse with the Steel Company of Canada, Montreal; Annie, Mrs. Donald Sutherland, Toronto; Robert, Montreal; and Willie at home.

One might remark and it is not out of place, that Mr. Dunlop himself was able to be present. He is 94 years of age and was in a wheel chair on account of a broken hip sustained in a fall. It was a pathetic service, but one of faith and grace. It could not be otherwise. Mrs. Dunlop had been in failing health for some years and near the last was a great sufferer. But she bore it all patiently in the knowledge that the end was near. She was in her 87th year.

The funeral was held on Tuesday, September 17, and was conducted by the interim minister, Mr. Van Goudoeuver. It was well attended, and a large number of elderly people were noted in the congregation.

The Late Mrs. P. Swanston

Mrs. Peter Swanston, 67-year-old resident of Lacombe, Alberta, passed away on Thursday, Aug. 15th, at the three-way convalescent hospital at Rimbey, Alta, after a short illness.

Funeral services was held on Monday following, from Brown and Johnson chapel, with Rev. John D. Yoos of Sylvan Lake officiating. Pallbearers were Gordon Ferguson, George Brown, Jesse Sowerby, Ron Moore, Lloyd Sweet and Cy Poutney. Interment was made at Lacombe's Fairview cemetery.

The late Mrs. Euphemia Florence Swanston was born in Montreal, Quebec, and came west with her husband, Peter, in 1919. Six years later they moved to Lacombe proper, where they have since resided.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband; one sister, Mrs. Minnie Donaldson of Ormstown, Quebec; and two brothers, Ralph Miller and George Miller, Montreal.

Rockburn

ROCKBURN — The regular meeting of the Ladies Aid Society was held in the Church Hall, on Thursday evening, Sept. 12th, with a good attendance. After the business was finished, some quilting was done by the ladies, who later went to the home of the hostess Mrs. Jas. Sloan where refreshments were served.

Several people from here attended the funeral of the late Mr. Lindsay Watson at Athelstan, on Sunday, Sept. 15. Friends in this community extend their deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Distaff Bermuda Angler Shatters World Tuna Record By 32 lbs.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, — A lady angler from Bermuda is claiming a world record Allison Tuna catch. And if it's officially confirmed, Mrs. Eugene Meyer will have shattered the existing world mark by 32 pounds!

Mrs. Meyer, a native of Malone, N.Y., landed her 42-pound Allison on 12 pound test line while trolling a red and white feather over Challenger Banks.

She battled the game yellowfin, which had been foul hooked, for two hours and seventeen minutes before she was finally able to bring it to gaff. And as soon as the fish hit the deck of the fishing cruiser "Troubadour" the hook plopped out of its head.

In its initial run the powerful tuna stripped more than 650 yards of line from Mrs. Meyer's reel, a half dozen similar runs followed before the fish sounded.

"It was then that I began to doubt whether I'd land the darned thing," she said with a tired smile. "Foul hooking gave the fish the advantage of increased mobility to the point where I was beginning to loose control."

But suddenly the Allison started to weaken, and the advantage shifted as quickly to the petite angler. With a reel that had begun to "freeze up" after having been subjected to several hard runs, the veteran fisherwoman drew her catch closer and closer, and finally to gaff.

Doctors Urged To Report 'Flu Suspects

All physicians are urged to report any suspected cases of Oriental influenza immediately to their health departments by an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association received by the Health League of Canada.

Epidemics of 'flu have swept various far Eastern countries, and U.S. Public Health officials expect outbreaks to occur in the United States as more travellers return from the Orient.

A centre for epidemic intelligence is being maintained in the National Office of Vital Statistics of the Public Health Service, and summaries of this information appear weekly.

In addition to following the epidemics in the Far East and on commercial and U.S. Navy vessels, the U.S. Public Health Service and the World Health Organization have set up an intensive program for tracing and preventing outbreaks in the United States.

The disease, caused by a new form of type A influenza virus, has typical 'flu symptoms: rapid onset, fever, general tiredness, muscle aches, and running nose. It lasts three to five days. Attack rates have been as high as 19 per cent, although mortality rates have been less than 1 per 1,000 cases. Most deaths occured in infants and persons already weakened by age, chronic illness or hunger.

Preparation for including the new virus strain in influenza vaccine is already underway, the report stated.

Woman Doctor Helps To Build Heart Machine

Dr. Jeanne Colison, 27, has won fame in Australia. The heart-and-lung, machine she helped to build has been used in Melbourne in two miracle operations.

The machine is an Australian-built version of the American Lillihei pump oxygenator which takes over the action of a person's heart and lungs during an operation, permitting once-impossible heart surgery to be performed.

The operations which Dr. Colison's machine made possible were performed at the Alfred Hospital, Melbourne, and were the first of their kind in the Southern Hemisphere.

The director of Anesthesia and resuscitation at the Alfred Hospital, Dr. R. H. Orton, said Dr. Colison's work made it possible to perform operations six months earlier than had been thought practicable.

He said an Australian heart surgeon visited America and sent back a description of the Lillihei machine. Dr. Colison organized construction of an Australian version.

When the machine was completed she worked sometimes 12 hours a day on research, using animals in the early experiments. Dr. Orton said: "Dr. Colison was tireless. I sometimes thought she was three people. She was the moving spirit."

Dr. Colison, the only woman doctor in the operating team, gave orders to the male doctors, including the surgeon, while the operations were performed. Eighteen people took part in the first operation.

Maple Leaf Grange

At the meeting of Maple Leaf Grange No. 11 held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 17th, Allan Hunter gave notice that the installation of officers would be held at the next meeting, Oct. 1st, and it was expected that Howard Dunn, Pomona Master, would be present. It was also decided that the annual oyster supper would be held the same night.

Allan also spoke of the Safety Driving Certificates that are being issued by National Grange and anyone who is a licensed driver and a Grange member, and has driven a car for ten years without an accident, to please contact Rupert Hawley, Secretary, who will forward the names to the proper authorities and in due time the certificates will be received.

Chevrolet Plant Soon To Be Built Near Massena

Detroit — The Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors intends to break ground within the next month for the aluminum foundry it will construct near Massena, N.Y. When in full operation, the foundry will employ about 700.

Edward H. Kelly, general manager, said that grading of the site for the new plant will begin as soon as possible after bids are received and a contract awarded for this phase of the project.

"We hope to be able to begin laying the foundation for the Chevrolet-Massena foundry about mid-October and start structural steel work around the first of the year," he added.

Manufacturing operations are scheduled to begin in the plant in June, 1959. It will provide aluminum castings for engines and transmissions for Chevrolet cars, and trucks.

The plant will utilize about 50 acres of a 242-acre site in the Town of Massena. The site is bounded by the South Channel of the St. Lawrence River, the Raquette River, Roosevelt Toll Road and the St. Regis Indian Reservation.

There will be about 180,000 square feet of space in the plant's manufacturing area. Exterior walls will be masonry under aluminum sash and paneling.

An office building approximately 275 ft long and 100 ft deep will adjoin the plant to the north-west. This structure will house administrative offices and employee facilities, like a cafeteria, medical department, locker rooms, etc. There will be a 400-car employee parking lot at the rear of the building.

The Chevrolet foundry will be supplied with molten aluminum from an adjacent Reynolds Metals Company plant which is being constructed now.

Over $1,400. Made At Turkey Supper Of Barrie Memorial Womens' Auxiliary

The annual Turkey Supper and Bazaar sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown, was held on Thursday, September 12th, in MacDougall Hall.

Once again the weather was all that could be desired for the occasion.

Mrs. G. C. Elliot as convener of the Bazaar, had ten different booths in operation, each did a flourishing business.

Mrs. E. Forrester and Mrs. A. Finlayson had charge of the dining hall, where their many waitresses were kept busy throughout the evening.

The kitchen was a hive of activity, as was proven by the fact that upwards of 750 suppers were prepared and served. The supper conveners, Mesdames Hamilton, Martin, McCormick and Macdonald are very grateful for the co-operation they received in every phase of the work. Only with team work, such as was displayed, could an enterprise of such magnitude be carried out so successfully.

The following is the financial statement to date, submitted by the treasurer, Miss M. Roy.

Hunting Season 1957

Here are a few points that Hunters should know about the Hunting Season which opens shortly.

Deer: A Zone, buck only, from Nov. 9th to Dec. 1st, except in the counties of Vaudreuil-Soulanges;

Transportation Coupons for Moose and Deer

In pursuance of a recent Order in Council, it is ordained:

1 That any person who has killed a deer or moose shall report the fact to a game-warden;
2 That the said person shall produce the horns of any moose or of any deer within the zones where the female is protected or, simply upon the request of the Officer in charge of the registration;
3 These reports should be made, as well as the production of the horns, within the FORTY-EIGHT (48) HOURS AFTER THE HUNTER HAS LEFT THE FOREST.

The transportation coupon is now part of the hunting license and as soon as it has been detached the license becomes null and void. As soon as the big game has been shot, the hunter must detach the coupon from the hunting license and fasten it to the animal; any moose or deer seen by a game-warden without said coupon can be confiscated.

Birch and Spruce Partridge: From September 28th throughout November 24th everywhere in the Province under the following conditions: no more than five (5) partridges a day, no one may have in his possession more than fifteen (15) birds and no one may have partridge in his possession after the sixth (6th) day of January 1958. The hunting of Sharp-tailed Grouse is again prohibited in 1957.

Pheasant: No restrictions on pheasants raised in captivity by individuals and released on private grounds. Pheasants are protected the year round in the following counties: Beauharnois, Chateauguay, Huntingdon, Lotbiniere and Megantic (in the latter two counties experiments are being carried out on the acclimatization of pheasants). Elsewhere in the Province, from October 15th throughout the 31st, the legal daily bag limit is 3 birds and the season bag limit is 9.

N.B. — September 28th is the opening day of the Partridge, the Hare and the Deer seasons (in C and D Zones).

Migratory Birds:

Ducks, Snow Geese and Canada Geese: Northern District: September 7 to November 15; Central District: September 14 to November 22; Local zone: Southern District: September 21 to November 29.

Wilson's Snipe: Northern District: September 21 to October 28; Central District: September 28 to November 3; Southern District: September 28 to November 3.

The Daily Bag limits as well as the season's possession limits are the same as in 1956.

N.B. — "Throughout Canada, no person who is not otherwise permitted under these regulations to do so shall kill, hunt, capture, injure, take or molest or attempt to kill, hunt, capture, injure, take or molest a migratory game bird by the use or aid of ELECTRICALLY-OPERATED CALLING DEVICES". This includes all electronic calling devices.

The good huntsman is the man who knows his fire-arms as well as the hunting laws and regulations: he always asks for a copy of the Department Summary and never fails to carry his hunting license.

Maurice Laberge, Union Nationale, Elected In Chateauguay Election

Since Wednesday, Sept. 18th, at 7 p.m. Chateauguay County has a new Union Nationale representative at Quebec. Mr. Maurice Laberge was elected by a majority of 4927 votes over his Liberal opponent, Mr. A. Bourdon.

The Returning Officer, Mr. Emile Laberge, told our reporter that it is the highest majority ever to be given a candidate in this county.

After the election was conceded, thousands of electors joined from all over the county to congratulate the newly elected member of the Provincial government.

Mr. Laberge will go to Quebec as a representative of the county for the first time. He has promised to work hard to make his county the nicest, the best developed and the most progressive in the province.

This election was made necessary due to the death of Mr. Arthur Laberge, which occurred a few months ago.

The detail of the election shows that 8878 voters registered their vote from a total of 12,906 eligible voters.

CARS ARE MY Line

by Noel A. Foisy

It must have been one of the most distressing sights a man in the automobile business could experience, and I'm just as glad I wasn't there.

They told me about it though — at Dearborn, Mich. Ford took brand new 1955 cars off the assembly line and drove them into walls and other cars and smashed them up in every way possible.

What a horrible sight — but out of it came 1956 safety features on Ford cars that are unequalled in any other line. With the introduction of the new safety features a lot of style improvements have been made too, just one of them is the smart, new dashboard on all Ford-line cars this year.

The safety features really impressed me. There are new door latches, for instance, that won't allow the door to fly open in a crash. Does that seem insignificant? Well, tests proved that doors flying open were a major factor contributing to accident injuries.

There are a lot of little things — or things that seem little — that add up to the new Fords being not only the best but also the safest cars on the road. When you're in to have your first look-see, take a peek at the three-spoke steering wheel.

It's smart, and the center hub is recessed more than three inches below the rim to keep the driver's chest from hitting the steering column. The steering wheel itself is designed to absorb the impact if a driver is thrown forward.

There's a special backing to prevent the rear view mirror from shattering, and many, many other safety features. The style and the power and the performance and economy of the new Fords are features, though, that you really have to see for yourself.

It's no secret where you can see them.

Duck Season In And Around Dundee Sees Many Hunters

DUNDEE—The opening rounds of the 1957 duck season for South Western Quebec sounded like an army barrage in the early hours of Saturday, September 21, as scores of hunters eager to get their limit of ducks went about to achieve their purpose.

For the most part, Saturday's weather was warm and humid, quite a contrast to opening days in bygone years.

Nearly everyone contacted, who was out shooting, came home with at least a few birds. Blacks and Teal seem to be the most plentiful species at the moment. As the weather cools down a bit the Fall ducks from the North will be coming in and judging by all the hunting gear in evidence, the ducks are in for a rough time of it.

As is usual on the opening day, everyone gets a good round of shooting but as this is written on Monday, things are pretty quiet on the Lake with only a sporadic shot here and there.

Mr. Harold F. Brewerton, who has a camp on A. H. Fraser's farm in Dundee, was out hunting with his 15-month-old Labrador Retriever this week-end Trained and in service, these dogs are really the answer to a duck shooter's prayer when it comes to hauling in downed birds and cripples out of weed beds instead of having to paddle out each time the hunter makes a swing at incoming flights. Mr. Brewerton has given his dog, which is a thoroughbred male from a Laurentian kennel, an intensive training routine since he was 6 months old. An hour and a half to two hours a day of primary education for the first four months. The same schedule when he began what he calls his college education for the past four months, have certainly made his protegé a past master at the art of retrieving. Mr. Brewerton is a mechanical engineer in the Crane Ltd. factory in Montreal and his dog has already achieved such notoriety that his picture is to be on the cover page of Crane News next month with an inside story in the magazine. Dog lovers would get an eye-full to see this animal perform.

A sidelight on the duckshoot — Mr. Maurice Patenaude of "Chez Maurice" Hotel, at Dundee, probably established a first or a record of some kind or other over the week-end. Maurice boasts a family of nine sons and one daughter, most of whom are fairly well grown up. On Saturday a veritable army of Patenaudes invaded the duck marshes as he and seven of his sons sallied forth to do battle with the fast flying birds. It is reported that all told the boys and their father bagged 46 ducks.

Maurice is very proud of his fine family and is often heard to boast of his "baseball nine".

The September meeting of the W.M.S. of the United Church was entertained on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 12, at the home of Mrs. George Sutton. There was a good attendance of members.

Letters of appreciation were read from Korea for the box of clothing sent by the Church Mission Band and the W.M. Society. Refreshments were served by the hostess at 5.30, after the business meeting was over and the ladies had busied themselves piecing quilt blocks during the remainder of the afternoon.

McPhee for several weeks. Her friends and neighbours hope that she may soon be her usual self again. Mrs. Smellie is 88 years of age and had been remarkably fit for a person of her years until she suffered the recent injury which has kept her confined to bed for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland Platt and daughter recently moved to Fort Covington, to take up permanent residence in the U.S. Mr. Platt is employed on the Seaway project at Massena, N.Y. The family are occupying a house on High Street in the Fort.

Miss Janet Cockerline of St. Lambert spent the past two week-ends visiting her sister Mrs. A. H. Fraser and family.

GLEANER Announcement

It's with regret that we are obliged to announce new rates for the annual subscription and single copy sales of The Gleaner. The latest announcement indicates newsprint is up another $8.00 a ton, in other words almost $50.00 a ton since the last raise was made in the subscription price of The Gleaner. Over the years wages and general overhead expenses have been greatly increased. The increase in subscription price will not be sufficient to meet the combined increased costs of publication, but the increase will help meeting the extra costs of paper and ink.

Commencing October 1, 1957 the annual subscription price for the mailing of The Gleaner by second-class mail, in Canada, will be $3.50; to the United States addresses $4.50 per annum.

Single copies of The Gleaner will continue to be on sale at the various news stands and the price will be 10c per copy.

Subscribers who wish to avail themselves of the present rate of $3.00 per year may renew their Gleaner subscriptions for one year beyond the present expiring date, if the remittance is received by The Gleaner on or before September 30, 1957.

Visit With Author Of Book "Off Watch"

A two weeks vacation was being enjoyed at "Heather Lodge", Rawden, Que. last spring by Mrs. Sellar and myself. When sitting on the porch enjoying the sunshine along with several other guests, we heard a snore, it was from a guest who was flat on her back and also in the sun. With that snort the writer stepped over sat down with Miss Anna Young, of Guelph, Ont. who had already awakened. We had quite a nice chat, and these brief chats continued for several days.

Miss Young we learned was brought up as a child by her father and aunts as her Mother was taken when she was but a tot. Her Father was a purser on ships that travelled the Great Lakes. As a little bit of a girl Miss Young often travelled the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence with her father or with crews of other ships. Miss Young was greatly interested in the Deep Waterways, and what was going on in the Beauharnois area of development. It was then that I learned she had just recently completed the writing of a book titled "Off Watch". "Off Watch" is really a history of shipping that has taken place on the Great Lakes and a bit about the St. Lawrence, as she has observed or gleaned from Captains, Engineers and ship mates, etc.

"Off Watch" was printed by the Ryerson Press, Toronto, and is now on sale. It's a type of book that can be read with real interest by anyone, especially so if they have at least a little pride as to being a Canadian. Miss Young might well have been a mariner for she seems to know so much about ships, navigation hazards, man-power required to operate ships and how to go about acquiring the essential cargo to make shipping profitable. Shipping has, and can continue to be a very worthwhile avenue of commerce for Canada. In reading "Off Watch" one is inclined to feel that from Miss Young's observations that labour unions have not aided shipping on the Great Lakes. Years ago young men were seeking employment as mariners, but to-day the crews have to be so large in order to provide for three shifts per day, it is not so profitable an avenue of commerce for the ship owners and evidently the workers do not enjoy so much idle time when on a ship.

This book "Off Watch" is informative to a reader and it also serves as a sort of life history of the authoress, but actually such is not the case. Miss Young, though now no longer a youngster, loves to travel and so it was in 1956 she spent an extended vacation in Scotland. Photography is one of her pet hobbies and she enjoys screening her colored pictures for people, particularly shut-ins and people who would love to see more distant places. At the moment she is toying with the thought of spending March 1958 in the Barbados.

"Heather Lodge" has long been one of her pet places to spend a few weeks, and there she is ever welcome, and at the same time Miss Young contributes much toward making others enjoy the environment at the foot hills of the Laurentians.

Congratulations Miss Anna G. Young, upon your writing "Off Watch", a valuale contribution to the history of Canada. You are an accomplished woman being a historian, writer, musician, photographer, portrayer of kindly words wherever you go, and always with a view toward promoting happiness.

"My Life Insurance man did a grand job for me, Ed"

All talk over the back fence isn't about sport, or politics, or television programs. Very often it's about such vital things as looking after the family and having enough money to retire on.

Your life insurance man is well equipped to solve these problems. He is trained to analyse all the facts about a family's future requirements. He serves Canadian families by offering practical plans to meet individual needs.

Life Insurance representatives have exceptional training opportunities today. Their own companies provide them with basic courses covering a wide variety of subjects.

Through the Life Underwriters Association of Canada they have access to the experience of many able men who have helped to make Canadians the world's best-insured people. This Association has a 2-year training program for its members. And, in addition, for those who desire to pursue more advanced studies, there is a 3-year university extension course leading to the Association's designation of Chartered Life Underwriter (C.L.U.)

This thorough training plus practical experience in helping people explains why millions of Canadians have welcomed the services of the modern Life Underwriter.

NEW 2-3-PLOW INTERNATIONAL B-250

Lowest Priced Diesel in Canada

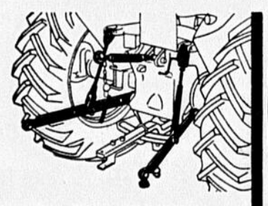
You can't come anywhere near the all-new B-250 for downright dollar-value in a 2 - 3-plow Utility tractor. That's our claim. But

You Be The JUDGE

Take the wheel and take to the field. Prove the B-250 for power – for performance – for farm-easy features.

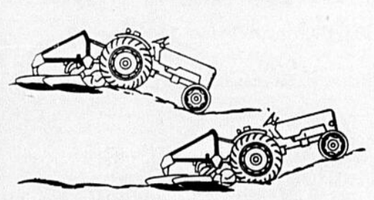
Get all the facts on IH Diesel fuel-and-maintenance economy. Compare the B-250 point-by-point with any other Utility tractor in or near its power range. Then compare the price which makes the B-250 Canada's lowest priced diesel. You'll agree it's an unbeatable buy.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE MANY BIG FEATURES:



UNIVERSAL 3-POINT HITCH
and full line of 3-point hitch implements—or use any 3-point mounted tools you already own.

DIFFERENTIAL LOCK
Easy pedal operation locks differential when needed – gives you a "straight through" axle which reduces wheel slip, gets you through soft-going.



BUILT-IN WEIGHT TRANSFER
Automatically applies "wheel weight" to balance traction with the load. You keep going when others slip or spin.

A lightweight B-250 + Weight Transfer and Differential Lock = a heavy-duty tractor!
