Sixty-Fifth Year

Fierce fighting continues in Elisabethville

UN jets are ordered to attack

Disagreement looms between US, allies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and its chief European allies may find themselves in serious disagreement over UN operations in the Congo unless some way is found soon to end the conflict in Katanga province.

French texts criticized

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec royal commission on education was told today that textbooks used in the province's French-language primary schools contain many examples of an impoverished vocabulary and clumsy expression.

The association said it has concluded from a committee study of a dozen books commonly used between Grades 1 and 7 that this basis is not being constructed solidly enough in the French-language school system.

Issues discussed by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan when they meet in Bermuda Dec. 21-22.

Authorities here are worried over the evidence of drifting apart which has recently become more apparent. The latest sign of differences of approach in London and Washington developed Wednesday in government announcements.

In plain language, the British position is that the United Nations has no right to use military force to compel President Moise Tshombe of Katanga to end his secession.

Both U.S. and British officials here said there is no basic difference over the policy of Congo unification; both governments support it.

State department officials said in fact, that the Western European allies, including Belgium and France, now agree that the only hope for the Congo's future lies in unity and that the split between Tshombe and the central government must somehow be ended.

Officials here say the Kennedy administration would not consider it wise in any case for the United Nations to try to unify the Congo by force.

Washington's support for Congo unity is based on several considerations. One is that if Katanga is not put under the power of the central government further secessions of other provinces will follow.

(CP from Reuters-AP) ELISABETHVILLE — United Nations jet planes were ordered to attack targets in the Elisabethville area today in support of ground operations as fierce fighting raged here for the third straight day.

Tough UN Kurkha troops smoked out pockets of Katanga forces in a street-by-street battle for control of this war-torn city.

The UN troops, backed by armored cars, pressed their attack with machine-guns, mortar fire and grenades.

But the Katangans were resisting fiercely despite heavy losses.

In the air, the UN had established complete superiority with its strong force of Indian Canberra jet bombers and Swedish Saab fighters.

But the UN air strength was of little offensive advantage in the fighting which has brought no clearcut fronts or battle lines.

A strafing attack would be virtually impossible at this time because of inability to distinguish the UN and Katanga forces.

But a UN spokesman warned today that if heavy sniping on UN forces continued the UN would start taking action which might result in loss of civilian life and heavy damage to property, an obvious reference to an air attack.

TROOPS HARASSED

The snipers, many of them Europeans holed up in their homes, have harassed UN troops as they pressed forward house by house and garden by garden.

Four Europeans were among the 20 dead at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital in this provincial capital.

Some of the heaviest fighting has raged around a vital tunnel on the road between the city and the camp of Swedish UN troops.

The Katangans were dislodged from the tunnel Wednesday night but today it appeared to be under no one's control.

Heavy fighting also centred around a traffic circle on the outskirts of Elisabethville and the UN headquarters and its adjoining military camp.

The traffic circle was on the road to the airport which has seen constant fighting for the last 24 hours.

The road is flanked by dense bush country from which the Katangans have frequently sought refuge before regrouping for new attacks.

Caught in the crossfire of one battle was a group of 29 American Seventh-Day Adventist missionaries.

They were trapped in a house adjoining the United Nations military headquarters and attempis were being made to evacuate them. They have suffered no serious casualties but several have minor injuries caused by falling plaster.

UN jets today struck at Katanga ammunition dumps six miles outside Elisabethville and explosions rocked the heart of the capital.

Katangans launched another attack against the UN headquarters just outside the city at daybreak after a tropical thunderstorm brought firing to a halt during the night.

The U.S. embassy in Leopoldville said an American Air Force Globemaster was fired on over Elisabethville, and the U.S. airlift was suspended while commanders in Leopoldville and Washington consulted on security arrangements for the planes.

American sources said the small-arms firing came from the official residence of Katanga President Moise Tshombe while the Globemaster was coming into land at Elisabethville airport. Several bullets hit the fuselage but no serious damage was caused. Tshombe's village is on one of the approaches to the airport.

Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba clapped U.S. Consul Lewis J. Hoffacker under house arrest, charging that U.S. planes made the UN raids Wednesday on Katanga air bases at Kolwezi and Jadotville. Both the U.S. government and the UN command denied that American planes were involved.

Another consul said diplomats see "UN Jets" on named Canadian named AMHERST, Mass. (AP)—Dr. Donald A. Fairbairn, a Canadian scientist, was named Wednesday as Commonwealth professor and head of the zoology department at the University of Massachusetts.

Fairbairn, 45, recently associate professor of parasitology at McGill University, will succeed Dr. Gilbert L. Woodside, who has been named university provost, in September.

U Thant seeks approval for wide new plan

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant today sought wider approval for his sweeping new plan to bring the breakaway Congo province of Katanga under United Nations control.

UN sources said Thant would submit the plan to his Congo advisory committee before making it public.

Thant disclosed earlier that the plan aims at carrying out UN resolutions on The Congo, including the Security Council's directive of Nov. 24 authorizing him to use force if necessary to expel from Katanga the estimated 200 foreign mercenaries serving with President Moise Tshombe's army and air force.

Thant outlined the plan Wednesday night in a 50-minute briefing at UN headquarters with Adlai E. Stevenson, the chief U.N. delegate to the U.N. G. Mennen Williams, assistant U.S. secretary of state for African affairs, and Edmund Gullion, U.S. ambassador to The Congo.

RETARDED CHILDREN SAY MERRY CHRISTMAS

Students send out over 100 cards

It has often been said that the Christmas season is a time of thanks and the pupils of the Sherbrooke School for Retarded Children seem to agree with this wholeheartedly.

This week and in the weeks before Christmas the children are sending out over a hundred Christmas cards to anyone who has donated in any way to their school during the past year.

This is just their way of saying thanks to the people who have taken an interest in their welfare.

The cards are made by the children themselves and every one of the 20 children in the school participated in some way in the making of these cards.

They are red on a white background with a big Santa Claus on the front which is pasted on to the card, it is made out of old scraps of paper and a piece of cotton.

On the inside are written these words, WE MADE THIS FOR YOU TO THANK YOU FOR YOUR HELP AND TO WISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

Mrs. T. Quinn, who advised the children in the making of the cards, said that this is the fourth year that the children have done this and they seem to enjoy it very much.

"Every year we seem to receive more donations and therefore we have to send out more cards" she said.

Last year the children sent out about 100 cards and Mrs. Quinn said that this year there will be approximately 125 cards sent out.

Immigration debate suspended

UK cabinet attempts to clear up tangle

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan and his cabinet ministers met today to find a way out of an extraordinary parliamentary tangle that threatens to hold up passage of the government's immigration bill.

The procedural dilemma — which involves ancient parliamentary rules — developed Wednesday night during a noisy and chaotic debate on the controversial bill. It ended with debate being suspended, only the fifth time in the last 50 years that suspension has been ordered.

Informed sources said today they expected that after Wednesday night's wrangle the House of Commons will be given more time to discuss the bill in committee stage, which allows line-by-line consideration of a measure.

An alternative would be to set a time limit for debate — the parliamentary device known as the "guillotine" but such a drastic measure seemed unlikely at this stage.

The debate — suspension by Deputy Speaker Sir Gordon Touche produced loud protests from the Labor opposition and cries of "what are the rights in a free House? This is not a Reichstag."

The Reichstag was the Nazi-era German legislature. Opposition members — who say the practical effect of the immigration bill will be to bar colored immigrants — have entered more than 100 amendments to it.

The bill will control immigration from Commonwealth countries for the first time in British history.

The major tangle that must be sorted out involves the position of the mace, the ancient symbol of the Speaker's authority, at the time that debate was suspended.

When the House goes into committee to discuss a bill, the mace is placed below the table which stands between the government and opposition, indicating that parliamentary rules for debate are in abeyance.

Labor members claim the mace was still below the table when the deputy-speaker suspended debate, making his ruling invalid.

Independence for Tanganyika

LONDON (CP)—At midnight Friday a burst of fireworks on snow-capped Mount Kilimanjaro will signal independence for Tanganyika, a chunk of East Africa almost as large as British Columbia.

Hero of the heady celebrations centred in the sun-splashed capital of Dar Es Salaam will be Julius Nyerere, one of 26 children of a polygamist chief, who has emerged as unchallenged chief minister of the new-born state.

But as the celebrants swirl around him, adoringly crying praises for leading the country so swiftly to independence, Nyerere more than anyone else will be calmly aware of the uncertainty ahead.

The personality and ambitions of Nyerere are probably better known and understood in Britain than those of any other leader coming to power on the Africa.

Chef fined

OTTAWA (CP)—For slapping waitress Madeleine Potwin on the arm with a knife, parliamentary restaurant chef Jan van Deerdonck, 39, was fined $50 and costs of 10 days jail Wednesday for common assault.

Deerdonck told police he slapped the waitress for lifting a ham with her bare hands, contrary to regulations. Magistrate's court was told a civil action is pending.

Goa situation

Portugal must clear out

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Prime Minister Nehru said today the only solution to India's dispute over the Portuguese enclave of Goa is for Portugal to clear out.

"There is no middle way," Nehru told Parliament "The present situation is not to be tolerated."

Nehru said there was talk of various countries "long asleep to this problem" lending their "good offices" to help find a solution, but he could see no solution except Portuguese evacuation.

He did not name any countries who had offered their good offices.

In the past, Nehru said, Portugal had undoubtedly profited, morally and militarily, by her NATO membership, but now there are internal developments in Portugal which show her "long-suffering" people are getting tired of conditions.

He told Parliament he could not say what would happen in Goa "but we feel we should be perfectly prepared for any developments and consequences."

His statement followed Indian charges that Portuguese troops had crossed into India this week and opened fire.

In what was taken as a warning that India might try to keep Portuguese warships out of coastal areas around Goa, Nehru said India "must clear the waters and see they are cleared."

ENFORCE CURFEW

A government spokesman said Wednesday that according to unconfirmed reports Portugal has between 8,000 and 10,000 troops in Goa. A curfew was in force in the main towns and troops had orders to shoot on sight if it was broken.

The spokesman said there is oppression and torture inside the Portuguese enclave on India's west coast.

The spokesman said India may move troops into Goa if there were any further shooting incidents.

Wolf at door of well-to-do

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—This is a wealthy New York suburb—but the wolf at the door was real.

Mrs. John Green called police Wednesday and said a wolf was at her home.

Sure enough, there was a 165-pound wolf, but police couldn't catch it.

Later, another resident called. The wolf now was at his door.

Police found the animal was owned by Adalbert Von Kontard, a banker, who kept it as a pet. The animal went by the name of Tommy.

Police Chief David W. Robbins had Tommy shot.

Bid for respectability

Hungary attempting to win West friends

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary appears to be launching a carefully-considered campaign to win friends in the West.

Five years after Soviet tanks smashed the Hungarian revolt and brought Janos Kadar to power, his Communist regime is making a bid for respectability in western eyes.

Ultra-sensitive, the present rulers maintain that the West is grossly unfair in labelling Hungary as a "colonialist slum" whose people would probably rise in rebellion again if it were not for the 50,000 Russian troops garrisoned here.

The invitation now extended to United Nations Secretary-General U Thant to come here and see for himself is a gamble which follows a good deal of preliminary probing of Western views on Hungary.

During the last few months a number of Western journalists have been granted visas to tour Hungary and size up the situation at first hand.

REPORTS FAVORABLE

The regime has noted that a number of the subsequent reports on the country did not reflect unfavorably on developments here, although most of the newspaper and journals carrying the stories represented political hues which were anything but Communist.

Encouraged, the government last week took a big step forward and invited a group of 30 West European newspaper men for whom ministers were made

Attlee's condition 'grave'

Heart attack strikes former Labor leader

AMERSHAM, England (Reuters) — Earl Attlee, 78-year-old former Labor prime minister, has suffered a heart attack, it was announced today.

A medical bulletin from the hospital where Attlee was admitted Tuesday said his condition remained grave.

He was admitted for a checkup after complaining of a stomach upset, but the surgeon in charge of his case said Wednesday his condition gave rise to anxiety.

Today's bulletin said: "Lord Attlee has suffered a heart attack as a complication of his gastric disorder. His condition remains grave."

Lady Attlee, who has been detained in the same hospital with lumbago, spent some hours in a wheelchair at her husband's bedside Wednesday night. Their son, Viscount Prestwood, was also at the hospital.

Attlee became prime minister in 1945 two months after victory in Europe. Previously, he had been deputy prime minister to Sir Winston Churchill in the wartime coalition government.

He lost power in 1951 and four years later retired from the House of Commons and was created an earl.

During his six years as prime minister he launched Britain's welfare state and was the principal architect of the granting of independence to India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon.

The Queen, who arrived home from a tour of West Africa Wednesday night, sent a telephone message to the hospital saying she was disturbed to hear of Attlee's illness.

50 injured in demonstration against Algerian terrorists

PARIS (AP)—More than 50 persons were injured Wednesday night as police clashed with leftist-led demonstrators protesting the right-wing Secret Army Organization's terrorist campaign to keep Algeria French.

Skirmishes broke out in half-a-dozen big cities. The biggest demonstration was in Paris, where 10,000 marchers turned out.

Some 30 persons were injured in the Paris melee, another 30 in Toulouse and several in the Riviera resort of Nice where police threw tear gas bombs.

At least 24 police were among the injured.

Shouting "Secret Army assassins" and "peace in Algeria," the demonstrators demanded death for former Gen. Raoul Salan, fugitive leader of the underground army.

Salan already has been condemned to death in absentia for his part in the abortive "generals' revolt" in Algiers last spring. He still is hiding out in Algeria.

Although plastic bomb attacks by the Secret Army and its partisans have been daily occurrences in France for months, the government only won its first convictions of a plastic bomb gang Wednesday.

Nine persons were convicted at Riom of attacks against the security of the state and sentenced to prison terms ranging from one to seven years. The sentences were suspended for four of the defendants, but the government placed them in an internment camp.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Much ado about runaways.

Q. Has the trend to overseas filming cut Hollywood production drastically? A. Yes. Of the 38 American films currently shooting, 26 will be made wholly or in part away from Hollywood.

Q. Does this make Hollywood a ghost town? A. No. Employment is at the highest peak in three years.

Q. Are films that much cheaper to make abroad? A. Spectacles are. Hollywood labor has priced itself out of competition in the world film market.

Q. How do the foreign subsidies work? A. Movies made in a country might get a kickback from a boxoffice tax.

Q. Is Hollywood's plight a serious one? A. It is getting to be. Runaway films, TV production and selling real estate have kept the big companies in business.

Lennoxville fire station Project plans are dropped

By SANDRA PICKFORD
 (Record Staff Reporter)

Lennoxville town council has abandoned present plans to build a new municipal fire station, it was learned yesterday.

Mayor Ernest Gilbey said council would not go ahead with the idea because the cost of the building is more than the town can afford at the present time.

Plans for the erection of either a new fire station or a new shed to house the municipal equipment, such as trucks and tractors were studied at the October council meeting.

"Sketches of several different types of fire stations were presented before council," said Mayor Gilbey. "They ranged anywhere from $15,000 to $25,000."

Mayor Gilbey said council had not planned to spend more than $7,000 on either the building of a new fire station or a new shed housing auxiliary equipment.

"Those prices really frightened us away," he said.

At present, Lennoxville's two fire trucks are kept in the municipal garage situated behind the town hall which also accommodates the municipal trucks and tractors.

However, a section of the garage was recently torn down and a foundation was laid for the new addition.

Mayor Gilbey pointed out that the new addition will accommodate the municipal trucks and tractors.

He said the fire trucks will remain in their present quarters in the garage after the new addition to the garage is completed.

"At present, there is no great pressing need for a new fire station," said Mayor Gilbey, "but eventually a new fire station will have to be built."

He said when a new fire station is erected, it would be built near the street line, rather than at the back of the town hall.

Mayor Gilbey pointed out that when a new station is built, it will probably be separate from the town hall and will have quarters for the volunteer firemen.

Arrested in Trois Rivieres

Man held in murders and assault

VICTORIAVILLE — (Staff) — Police today are holding a 32-year-old local man in connection with two murders and an assault.

Provincial Police arrested the man Tuesday night in a tavern in Trois Rivieres after a search starting in Victoriaville led to his whereabouts.

The two murders are those of Jacques Cote, a young taxi driver who was found dead in his cab on November 1 in Victoriaville and Gilbert Pepin, a 38-year-old man who was also a taxi driver for the same company and was found dead in his car on Tuesday of this week on the road that leads from Victoriaville to St. Wenceslas.

The man was picked up Tuesday night in a Trois Rivieres tavern in connection with an assault with a deadly weapon on Mrs. Jean Fraser.

Mrs. Fraser told police that the man entered her house Tuesday night and demanded that she give him money. After refusing, Mrs. Fraser said that he beat her over the head and shoulders with a rifle that he was carrying.

After the man left, Mrs. Fraser called the police. Police said that the man made no attempt to escape when approached by them.

He told the police where his gun was in his hotel room.

Mrs. Fraser is now resting at the Ste. Anne Hospital, of Victoriaville.

Tax bills, lighting, parking, parade float discussed by council

Tax bills sent out by the City of Sherbrooke will show clearly which taxes are levied by the city and which by the school commission since both are included on the same bill. The council this week decided to do this in order to make it clear that the city tax of 12 mills has remained unchanged and that it is the Roman Catholic school tax which has increased from 12 to 17 mills.

A request that Street Lighting Ltd. that street lighting on Pacific Street be improved was approved and council also decided to improve the lighting on Arona Street.

The report made up by Charles Langlois, director of services, on the water system in Sherbrooke will be sent to various members of the water purification board, it was announced.

The city of Sherbrooke will sponsor a float in the 125th anniversary parade, it was decided. The council will ask the anniversary committee for more details on the matter.

them they saw the man in the company of Pepin on the evening before the man was murdered.

Pepin was found shot to death in his car on Tuesday morning. Police said that the wounds indicated that the gun was fired at close range and that the taxi driver was probably killed in his cab.

Pepin, 38, had been working for Diamond Taxi of Victoriaville for a day before he was murdered.

The Victoriaville police are investigating the possibility of a link between this murder and the murder of Jacques Cote, another Victoriaville taxi driver who was killed November 1 and found in the trunk of his cab by his father Aime Cote. No further details were given by the Victoriaville police.

The autopsy on the body of Gilbert Pepin was performed yesterday at the J. N. Rousseau and Brothers morgue by Dr. Jean Marie Roussel, Montreal medico-legal expert. Fragments of the bullet that killed Pepin were found in his head and it was thought that the gun was fired at very close range.

Dr. Yvon Thibault of St. George of Nicolet county will preside at the coroner's inquest, to be held next Monday night at Nicolet.

Two committed to stand trial on murder count

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. — Two men were committed Wednesday for trial on a charge of murdering a 72-year-old laborer in St. Nicéphore, Que., Oct. 25.

They are Marcel Cote and Jean-Louis Dumas, both from Granby.

A third man, Raymond Gauthier, was committed for trial on a charge of conspiring to rob in connection with the death.

The victim, Philippe Raymond, was found in his bungalow in nearby St. Nicéphore, a few days after he was killed.

A blood-stained pair of trousers and vest were introduced as evidence at Cote's and Dumas' preliminary hearing.

Recreation centre opens

WATERLOO — (Special) — A new Recreation Centre has been officially opened in Waterloo. Father George Brousseau blessed the Centre at a special ceremony on Sunday afternoon. Guest speaker was Mayor Armand Russell, M.L.A.

A group of citizens have rented the three large rooms in the block on Foster Square, known as the Draper Property, now belonging to Armand Belanger. At one time it was the A. C. Miller home and garage. These rooms have been completely decorated and are ideally suited for this purpose.

An active committee is in charge of the programs. The president is Guy Girouard, first vice president, Miss Pauline Denault, second vice president, Andre Robert, secretary, Alcide Lemire, Treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Moore. On the executive are Mrs. Joe Lippe and Julien Clement. This club is open to anyone, 14 years of age or older. An extensive list of hobbies or sports is planned for the instruction or entertainment of its members.

The Lounge Room is equipped with a television set, Ping Pong, badminton, darts and pool are among the games to be made during Christmas and New Year's. If anything pressing does come up the council will meet on December 27 in the afternoon.

Unless some urgent matters arise, the city council will not meet between Christmas and New Year's. If anything pressing does come up the council will meet on December 27 in the afternoon.

The city of Sherbrooke will sponsor a float in the 125th anniversary parade, it was decided. The council will ask the anniversary committee for more details on the matter.

The Knights of Columbus will have their club rooms at this new Center on Foster Square, and give their support. They will move from their present location on Main Street within a few days.

Rookies entertain members

Rookies Night was observed at the Sherbrooke Snow Shoe Club Wednesday evening when new members gave a short entertainment.

Highlighting the event was the auction by E. Wells of various articles of clothing supplied by wives of Red Party Members unknown to their husbands.

The meeting opened with a minute's silence in memory of B. C. Howard, a life member of the club.

A delicious chicken-pie supper was served by Honorary Purveyor Ed Smith and his crew. Len Gillam said grace.

The president reported that work was proceeding on the new parking lot and would be ready in time for the New Year's Day reception.

Captain Gordon MacMillan presented member badges to the new members and Vice-Captain Ed Salter outlined the program of tramps.

Guests of the club for the evening were Jack Shaw from Burlington, Ontario and Merritt Andrews.

Business section to be decorated

COATICOOK — The downtown town will shortly be redecorated with Christmas decorations and several lighted trees will be set up around town. The council has allocated three hundred dollars for this purpose. In addition there will again be prizes offered for the best decorated store fronts and private dwellings during the Yuletide season.

The members of the Coaticook police and fire departments are again sponsoring a campaign to provide Christmas baskets of food for needy families.

Instead of holding their usual dance to raise funds for this charitable work the committee has mailed letters to each household with tickets enclosed and will make a door-to-door canvass during the next few days to pick up the donations. Five turkeys will be won by holders of winning tickets just before Christmas.

Sherbrooke Court

Ontario man charged with fraud

A former Sherbrooke resident was ordered to post $2,500 in bail in Sherbrooke District Court Wednesday morning after he asked to be tried by a judge and jury in connection with several charges of fraud totalling about $2,200.

Guy Hamel, of Windsor, Ontario, was specifically charged Wednesday morning with obtaining, through the medium of a contract made under false pretences, about $2,200 from two Sherbrooke residents, Andre Bernier and Rosaire Nault. The complaint stated that the offences were committed on August 25, 1958. The court was told police had been looking for Hamel since a warrant had been issued for his arrest three years ago.

Hamel was taken into custody Tuesday night in a local hotel following an anonymous tip received during the night. He was immediately charged and appeared before Judge Redmond

Hayes who set bail at $2,500 in cash or $5,000 in property.

Hamel was remanded to this morning when appeared before Judge Joseph Marier in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions. A date will be probably set for the accused preliminary inquest next week.

Hamel is represented by Sherbrooke lawyer, Reynald Frechette.

School bus protection

Bylaw notices given at council meetings

Notices of motion for by-laws to control traffic near school buses have been introduced at council meetings in three Eastern Townships municipalities.

All three notices of motion were made at council meetings held December 4 at Stanstead, Stanbridge East and Waterville.

A notice of motion regarding the school bus by-law was made at the Stanstead municipality council meeting. It is expected it will be passed at the January meeting. Also requested to be included in the resolution is a clause to the effect that all school buses be obliged to make stops in school yards and not on the street.

There have been reports that traffic in Stanstead had been held up as much as 20 minutes at a time while children were picked up and let off the school buses.

Stanbridge East's Mayor D. C. Blinn presented the notice of motion at the Stanbridge East council meeting. The bylaw should be passed within thirty days after the motion was presented.

Waterville Councillor Meredith Barter gave notice of presentation of the same bylaw at a Waterville town council meeting also held December 4. Jules Goyvaits, secretary-treasurer of the town of Waterville said the bylaw is expected to be passed either at the next Waterville council meeting or the one following.

Electoral changes to be decided at East Angus

EAST ANGLUS — (Staff) — East Angus property owners will vote January 18 and 19 to decide if council members should be elected at large instead of by wards, East Angus Mayor's Roland Brousseau said yesterday.

Under the present system, the alderman are elected in each of the city's three wards.

Mayor Brousseau said the decision to call the referendum followed a request from the town proprietors league.

Board requests tax on poles

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Had a request by the Cowansville French Catholic School Board been granted at the town council meeting Tuesday night, Cowansville would have had an additional tax — the taxation of Southern Canada Power and Bell Telephone poles.

The St. Therese School Board of Cowansville wanted to tax public utility poles throughout the municipality.

The request to impose a tax was forwarded to council members in the form of a letter Tuesday evening, but municipal council refused to grant the school commission such a permission.

"It's had enough taxing dogs, but public utility poles..." a resident attending the meeting was overheard saying.

Bromptonville needs new bridge

Confirmation of earlier reports that the provincial government plans an immediate start on a new bridge across the St. Francis river linking Richmond and Melbourne will be welcomed by anyone who has been compelled to make use of the MacKenzie bridge in recent years.

The MacKenzie bridge has never been known as a too satisfactory structure, even for the infinitely lighter traffic of the pre-automobile days. But with advancing years and the increasing size of motor transport loads, the structure has become a menace and is seriously throttling the economy of an important section of the Eastern Townships.

Its replacement will facilitate the flow of goods between various communities of the district, especially between the Asbestos-Victoriaville district and Montreal.

Unfortunately, however, there is another important barrier to free traffic which appears to have been forgotten by the authorities in recent years — the bridge on Highway Five over the St. Francis at Bromptonville. This structure is of approximately the same vintage as the MacKenzie bridge and is expected to handle as much or more traffic.

About twenty-five years ago, new approaches were installed, largely because even ordinary automobiles found it impossible to negotiate original steep entrances. But no basic changes were made in the bridge itself, which is too narrow for two large vehicles to pass and groans under present-day loads.

In moving to improve river-crossing facilities at Richmond, the provincial government should also consider the needs at Bromptonville.

Money laid away for the gas bill often pays the phone bill just when the light bill is due.

'Cooperative' fire departments

The problem of providing small communities remote from large urban centres with proper fire fighting facilities has caused many a town municipal officer to throw up his hands in despair.

Most small communities cannot afford adequate facilities to begin with, and are forced to enter into somewhat haphazard agreements with larger communities close by that have.

But this kind of an arrangement seldom works out when a fire starts. It usually affords the small community only slightly better fire protection than nothing at all.

And many villages are too far away from a sizeable fire department for any kind of assistance agreement to be of much use.

Stanbridge East and Dunham, two small neighboring farm communities in Missisquoi county, have come up with a plan, however, that may point the way towards the beginning of a better fire protection deal for small towns.

Dunham contributed towards the cost of equipment which is based in Stanbridge East. As a result, the two towns in effect, share a fire department.

At a recent demonstration of the equipment, the mayor of Dunham, M.

H. Hudon pointed out that other communities could help area fire protection if they would make sure ponds are available to supply water for fire fighting.

All of this suggests a two-pronged attack on the problem that all small town councils might consider.

The first would be in the nature of "cooperative" departments. Could not a number of communities contribute a share towards the financing of a modern, complete fire department centrally-located, which would be available to fight fires in the areas of all "shareholders"?

The second consideration would be water. Most small communities depend on wells. Not all have underground water systems, and where they do exist, they serve only a limited area.

A part of the "cooperative" fire-fighting plan could involve the construction of waterholes in the many areas where there is not a large enough existing water supply for firefighting needs.

There would, of course, be many other factors involved in the establishment of any such project.

But the common needs of a large number of small towns would seem to indicate a common or "cooperative" approach on a wide scale to the issue.

We could make it a much more cheerful world if we'd all forget our troubles in front of others.

The nightmarish paradox of our era

The military practise — and necessity — of guessing the enemy's probable tactics in the event of war points to the terrifying fact that we are living in a highly compartmentalized society.

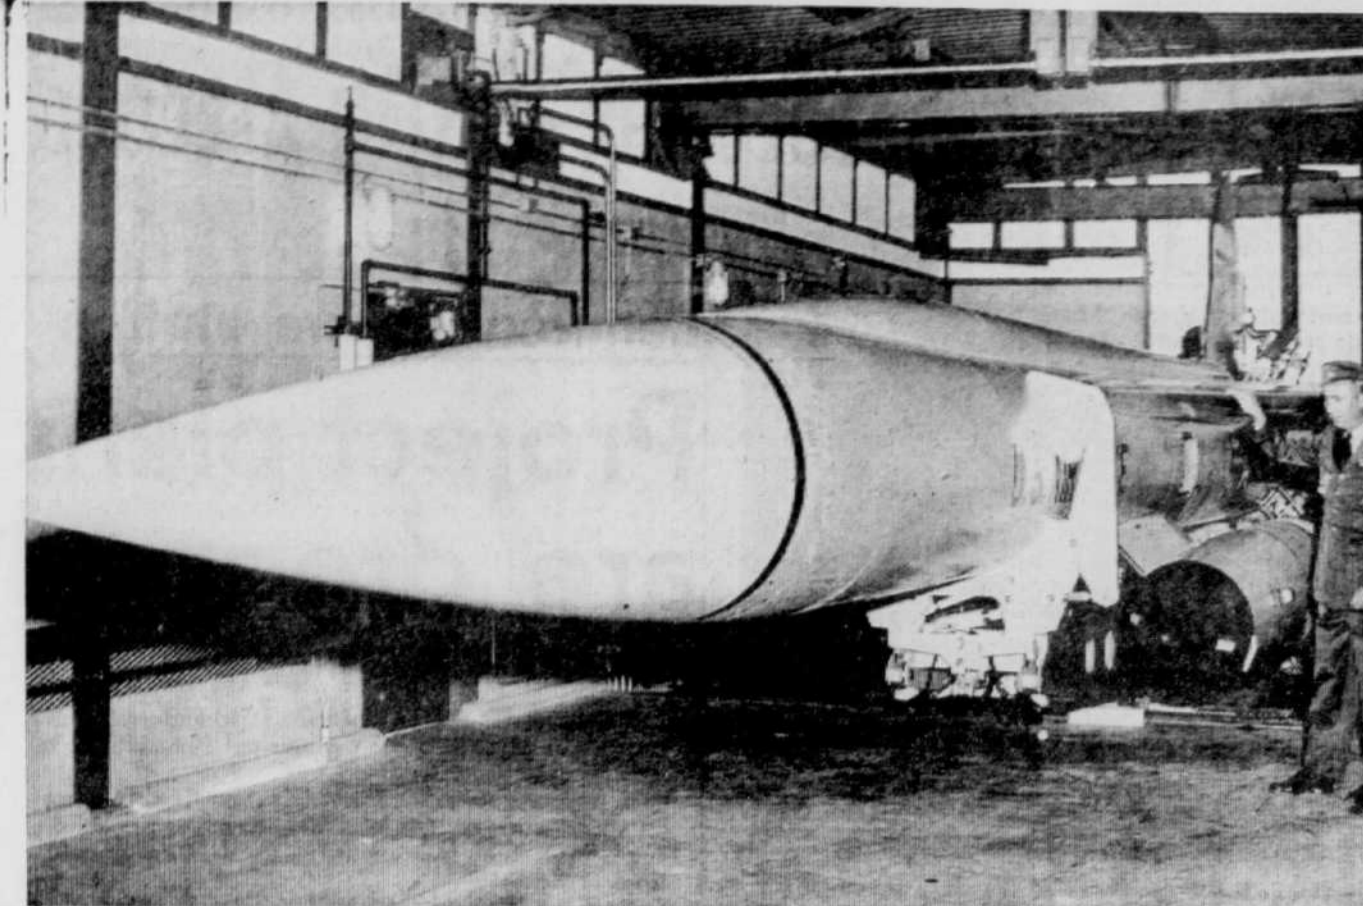

United States intelligence experts believe that a Russian attack on Europe would be held simultaneously with a nuclear strike on all of the continent's Western defences.

With what appears to be cold-blooded calculation, they list the number and kind of forces the Soviets would likely mobilize, their weapons — most of them will include nuclear arms — as well as where and how the attack would be carried out.

These predictions underscore the real threat of an all-out war more than reams of statistics on the West's military arsenal, the sheafs of brochures on defence measures and the thousands of suggested peace pacts.

It is essential, of course, that while diplomats negotiate in the capitals of the two power blocks to reduce world tension that military strategists map our firmest line of resistance.

The nightmarish paradox of maintaining peace on one hand and being ready for war on the other is a real, if grim fact of our era.

BOMARC 'COFFINS' — Concrete-and-steel shelters housing Bomarc-B missiles are described by American airmen as "coffins." Lt. Col. Robert Andrews (left), commander of the first Bomarc-B squadron on the U.S. east coast, says the description has gained wide use because the missiles lie horizontally in the sheds. But they can be raised and shot in 30 seconds. The Bomarc base is at Newport News, Va., about 150 miles south of Washington. (CP Photo)

Stringent safety precautions prevail at missile firing base

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (CP) The blue-uniformed commanding officer turned to his second-in-command and said: "Major, will you accompany me?"

"Can't come in here by myself," Lt. Col. Robert Andrews explained to a reporter as he opened a steel door of the concrete shelter housing a white Bomarc-B anti-aircraft missile lying horizontally on its launcher.

"No one person, no matter what his rank may be, can activate without the use of two or more controls — like having other person with equivalent technical knowledge of the weapon."

"That's just one part of the security arrangement. We have to comply with about 50 regulations to make sure the Bomarc are not sabotaged or fired deliberately or accidentally."

"Do I think the Bomarc is safe? Yes, I do. I don't think shelter at one time," Col. Andrews said. "We have a 50-man much to worry about, as long armed guard patrolling the as the regulations are followed."

Among the safety instructions which likely will also apply to clear warhead that they cart the two Canadian Bomarc-B them around from the shelter to bases, in Ontario and Quebec, a concrete maintenance shack is a brief lesson on how to build an atomic bomb. This gives you an inkling of why the nuclear warhead won't go off its fire. Flames did break out without a great deal of deliberation on a Bomarc-A model at a New Jersey air base last year.

The fissionable materials that Bomarc-A is different from the make up the inner core of the B model in that the A missile is bomb are surrounded by a boosted in the air by a highly outer casing of high explosives combustible liquid fuel. Men who work with Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles say there is practically no danger of explosion or accidental firing. In this story, Harold Morrison, CP's Washington correspondent, who visited a U.S. Bomarc base, tells about security and safety precautions.

Further for saboteurs, bunglers and psychotics, some of the important switches cannot be activated without the use of two or more controls — like having other person with equivalent technical knowledge of the weapon.

Dr. Adenauer was first reported as believing the Western Big Three — Britain, France, and the United States — should demand that the Communists tear down the East Berlin wall as a prerequisite to discussions. His true position, with which Washington and doubtless London and Paris agree, is that removal of the wall should be one of the subjects for negotiation.

In other words, instead of contending that "what is mine is mine and what's yours is negotiable," the Soviet Union should recognize at the outset that the status of East Berlin as well as of West Berlin is open to discussion.

Beyond this, it is interesting that the West German Chancellor is understood now to have no objection to a new "contractual arrangement" which would take the place of the postwar statute for West Berlin. Obviously this would have to safeguard communication with West Germany.

Though the Communists continue to invent new ways to harass travelers to the surrounding city, they are likely to tire of a game which focuses attention on how unwelcome their rule is to the East German people. In that case, it is not impossible that by early next year they may be willing to talk realistically of terms that would clarify rather than becloud further the status of Berlin.

for one at sector headquarters about 100 miles from here."

Nevertheless, Col. Andrews feels all personnel must be constantly alert to the possibility of a mishap. Men selected for a Bomarc base are checked for possible mental quirks that would rule them out. Their intelligence is expected to be higher than average.

"Safety underlies everything we do in this operation."

TOMORROW: BOMARC-B STILL TO BE TESTED WITH NUCLEAR WARLOAD.

BERLIN STATUS CAN BE IMPROVED (Christian Science Monitor)

Probably the most important point to emerge from the three days' talks between President Kennedy and West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer is that there can be positive value in negotiations with the Soviet Union about the status of West Berlin.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — The political cartoonists should have fun with Justice Minister Fulton's new role as defender of Canada's Columbia power against the plots of Premier Bennett, US Interior Secretary Udall and various unidentified US power interests.

For example, in his wrangle with Bennett over the question of selling surplus power in the States, Fulton has figuratively wrapped himself in the Red Ensign. Surely some cartoonist will come up with Fulton as a sort of Canadian John Bull or Uncle Sam.

But before we go about pedestalling Fulton as boy with finger in dike, maybe we should ask some questions. For example, whose power is it anyway? Ottawa's?

Well, no, not really. When it is generated it will belong to the people of the Province of British Columbia, whose political leader is Premier Bennett.

Then the generating plants must belong to Ottawa? Again, no. The power plants are on the lower Columbia River, in the United States, and most of them belong to the people of the United States.

Then the water used to generate the power must belong to Ottawa? Not at all. The water of the Columbia within Canada belongs to British Columbia. When the water crosses into the States it belongs to the US. However, that part of it which will be impounded behind the dams in BC and released as controlled flow to increase the power production at the US plants will have a BC lien on it. That's why half of the power this water produces will belong to BC.

Then why does Ottawa want to stop the export of this power to the US? Well, as a matter of fact, it doesn't. The power can't be exported because it won't be produced in Canada. What Canada wants to do is to require Premier Bennett to import the power from the U.S. Bennett doesn't want to import the power because he says BC doesn't need it. What he wants to do is sell the power in the US and import US dollars, but only for as long as BC has no use for this power. When BC does need it, he proposed that the sales contracts be terminated, and the power be brought into BC.

Then why does Fulton describe this as a "sellout" by Bennett?

That is what might be described as "a good question." He doesn't agree with Bennett that BC can't use the power. He says it will attract industry to BC because it will be cheaper than any other power in BC. He says that once this power is committed to service in the US, BC might never be able to get it back — an argument that Udall called "stuffed and nonsense."

Fulton doesn't trust Bennett, he doesn't trust Udall and the US, and by happy coincidence there'll be a federal election soon. Who will then be saving Canada from the rapacious Americans and the traitorous Social Crediters? Davie Fulton and the Tories, of course.

Concern for Jews in Soviet Union

The arrest of three leaders of the Jewish community in Leningrad, one of them sentenced to 12 years imprisonment after a closed trial, gives rise to concern for the plight of the Jews in the Soviet Union.

It is reminiscent of the five years after 1948, which came to be known among Soviet Jews as "the black years," when Jewish leaders were tried and executed on trumped-up charges of disloyalty and treason and the anti-Semitic content and tone of official policy were stepped up.

With one sweeping administrative decree, Stalin eliminated every facet of cultural Jewish life. Religious practice and instruction had already been drastically curtailed and virtually driven underground and contacts between Soviet Jewry and other Jewish communities throughout the world largely eliminated.

Conditions under Khrushchev have not changed much, although recently a magazine in Yiddish has been allowed to appear, a step which seems now to have been designed to set at rest opinion in the Western world.

It is significant that Soviet policy toward the Jews clearly conflicts with Soviet constitutional doctrine and the basic egalitarian tenets of Marxist-Leninist ideology. The long chain of official anti-Semitism from tsarist days remains unbroken.

Throughout modern history the treatment of national and religious minorities has been a barometer of social sanity and moral decency. In singling out Jews for discriminatory treatment by preventing them from maintaining a cultural life, on the one hand, and denying them the opportunity to assimilate, on the other, the Soviet isolates them from normal existence. The situation is damaging to the self-assumed Moscow role of champion of underprivileged minorities everywhere.

Like the Indian, the buffalo apparently migrated to the New World from Asia. Buffalo herds crossed the old land bridge at the Bering strait some 400,000 years ago—many thousands of years before the first man. So anybody who judges an American by how long his ancestors have been here had better pay his respects to the ungainly buffalo—the oldest American of us all.

Border Guild realizes $375 from tea, sale

STANSTEAD — Proceeds of approximately $375 were realized by the Guild of Christ Church at its annual tea and sale.

A prettily decorated Christmas tree, snow sprinkled evergreens and colorful ornaments adorned the Parish Hall, where the event was held.

Mrs. C. E. Hill, Mrs. Jack Kerwin, Mrs. George Millet and Mrs. Roy Wells were in charge of the food sales and fudge table. The table was centered with a silver candelabra with lighted red tapers, the fruit cakes and other home-made food finding a ready sale.

The Christmas wreaths and candles, made by Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. Howard Miller, who convened the table, also sold quickly. Mrs. M. J. Hyatt, Mrs. Raymond Curtis and Mrs. Lloyd Kezar were in charge of the fancywork and apron table which was soon sold out.

The mystery package table, in charge of Mrs. George Hatch, proved a favorite with the children and adults alike.

Afternoon tea was served at small tables centered with light red candles. Guild members were in charge of the kitchen and others were waitresses.

YOU MAY THINK ALL MAKES OF DRYERS ARE ALIKE BUT...

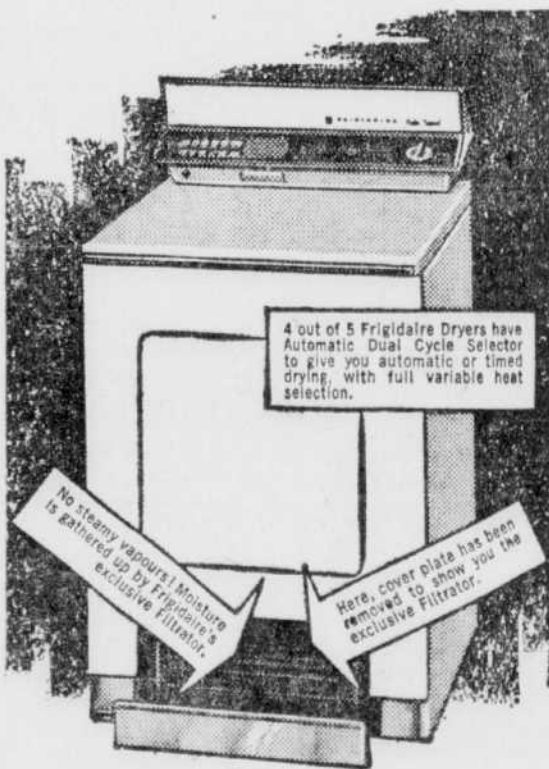

LOOK AT ALL YOU GET FROM FRIGIDAIRE

You get unprecedented reliability — thanks to the "15-Year Lifetime Test" in which Frigidaire Dryers are run day and night to equal 15 years of home use! Every engineering development is watched for weakness that might lead to breakdown during the test — and corrected when detected. Your 1962 Frigidaire Dryer is as reliable as science can make it!

ONLY FRIGIDAIRE DRYERS OFFER A CHOICE OF ALL THESE FEATURES!

1. Flowing Heat System, so your clothes are dried quickly, safely, by a "blanket of air", with no hot spots.
2. The Exclusive Filtrator, which means no venting or plumbing is needed, and you can connect your dryer anywhere — even on an inside wall.
3. Nylon Mesh Lint Screen which catches all the lint, and is handily located on the dryer door, so it's easy to remove for cleaning.
4. "Wrinkles-away" Wash and Wear setting that saves you hours of ironing time.
5. Automatic and timed drying. Just match fabric on Cycle Selector to get correct drying time automatically — or set time for special loads.

Also look for: Porcelain enamel finish on the drum; 180° side-opening door; recessed toe space; recessed spill guard top.

SCOTSTOWN —

Mr. Earl Murray, of Montreal, and Miss Christine Horan, of Pointe Claire, were weekend guests of Mr. Murray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. MacDonald, of Littleton, N.H., visited Mr. MacDonald's mother, Mrs. K. N. MacDonald. Other guests were Mrs. K. N. MacIver and Mr. K.W. MacIver, of Gould.

At a service in St. Andrew's United Church, Miss Isabelle E. Miller, medical missionary from Hong Kong gave an interesting talk on her work, the people, housing conditions, the climate the roads and the ever increasing population there.

Miss Miller was accompanied here by four-year-old Judy Wu Su Chung for whom she is caring. Miss Miller is on a year's furlough at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Miller, of Knowlton, and spent the weekend here with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Mayhew.

Mr. William Beaton, a former resident of Milan, son of the late Donald and Mary (Macdonald), Beaton, now of Saskatchewan, and his son, Lawrence, and daughter, Elizabeth, and family were guests of Mr. Beaton's niece, Mrs. Kenneth A. Macdonald, and Mr. Macdonald, and called on his cousins, Mrs. Neil D. and Mr. Russell MacIver and Mrs. John Matheson, Mr. Matheson and family.

Among those from out of town spending the weekend at their respective homes were Rev. R. D. Sandford, Messrs. Roddy MacIver, Ben Waldron, and W. K. Gordon, of Montreal, Mr. Alexander MacIver, of Fredericton, N.B., Mrs. Harvey MacRae, of St. Johns, Miss Patricia Gordon, Miss Doris MacKenzie, and Miss Maud Smith, of Montreal, Dalton F. Mackenzie, of Sherbrooke, Messrs. Ronald Macdonald, Robert Nicholson and Robert MacRae, of Lake Megantic, and Miss Helen Ladd, of Lennoxville.

Miss Katie Morrison, of Somerville, Mass., was a weekend guest of her cousins, Mrs. Mamie Macleod and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hutchison and family, Donald and Nancy Lee, Mrs. Donald R. Murray and Mrs. Susan Corke, of Sherbrooke, and Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Rudd, of Bury, were guests of Mrs. Hutchinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dannie Mac-

United Church groups discuss amalgamation

BURY — A meeting of the women of the three churches of the Pastoral Charge, Cookshire, Island Brook and Bury, was called to discuss proposed changes in each group, whereby the groups would amalgamate into one working unit. The meeting was held in the Bury United Church.

Rev. E. Breen presided, and the session was opened with a solo. He Cared, by Mrs. A. Sutherland, followed with prayer by Mrs. Breen and Scripture reading by Mrs. Don Hopkins.

Mr. Breen explained the proposed change and what it would mean. Discussion followed and a vote was taken.

Bury was unanimously in favor of the proposed change; Cookshire wished further discussion with the junior group; Island Brook felt more time was needed to study the situation; Gould agreed to have their answer, after the next meeting, in a week.

Lean

Mrs. Alena Macaulay spent the weekend visiting friends in Sherbrooke and East Angus. Friends of Mrs. Ansel Wintle are pleased to know she is recuperating nicely after undergoing surgery in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

For and about Women

Plan a Yule party nook for the young

KAY SHERWOOD

A party for the children during the holidays is on the docket of more than one homemaker. I know some determined youngsters whose birthdays fall near Christmas and they assure me they won't permit their birthday celebrations to be lost in the general hubbub.

But that's not why I'm getting ready for a children's party. When we moved from our old neighborhood into a new one and a new school district we automatically acquired some new problems.

One of them, which has kept me hopping this fall, is the happy settlement of the children into the new school with new schoolmates.

Established cliques of youngsters, like adults, as I'm sure you know, are slow to throw open their arms to the shy newcomer. Progress has been steady but slow.

If you have moved to a new community, you may be hearing from your kids the same question I do: "Do you know George's (or Polly's or Jim's or Wendy's) mother and daddy?" I would guess the same question is being asked by George and company of their parents. When the answer comes up "No," this seems to me to reinforce shyness on one side, suspicion on the other.

It's in the interest of getting better acquainted all around, that you'll find a children's table at our annual Christmas Day open house. We'll invite as many of our new friends as we can squeeze into the house.

To keep refreshments separated, the children will gather at their own table, to be helped (I hope) by our young ones dressed like their pals in their holiday best.

This must be a festive occasion and yet I can't spend too much time fussing with decor. Our dining table will be reserved for the adults.

A gay children's table, sug-

A SPECIAL TABLE for children's refreshments at Christmas open house can be easily festive in red, white and glitter. A frothy fruit drink served from a punch bowl and special yule sweets are the magnets in this attractive setting. To avoid accidents, keep decorations off—but near—the table.

gested by a friend of mine for this or a birthday, combines tried-and-true red and white and glitter. A round table (which I will get from the rent-all agency) is covered with a red cotton cloth. White lace plastic mats on top of the red define where to put the refreshments (guide for juvenile table-setters) and add beauty as well.

Decorations are kept off the table but arranged behind it on a table, or server or shelf. Long spikes of rhododendron or long-necked evergreen, for example, can be hung with shining Christmas tree balls. Bright blue, red and silver balloons anchored to lace paper dollies and sticks might be added to the greenery.

In keeping with the holiday spirit, a frothy fruit punch will be served in a white glass punch bowl, cupcakes on a cranberry glass cake plate, and candy in white milk glass composites.

nowadays bowl and cup sets for punch bowls and cups but are so inexpensive, it's easy to own one. Even those that look like costly antiques (a paneled grape milk glass set) sell for less than $10 for 27 pieces.

The pourers for the tea are Mrs. L. Pettigrew and Mrs. John Allen.

In the evening the teenagers dance will take place. This will be a special Christmas dance and the chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. A. Swan, Mr. and Mrs. L. Raspberry, Mr. and Mrs. G. Cathcart and Mr. and Mrs. W. Mutchler.

ASK THE DESIGNER

by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I am hoping you will give me some advice in the matter of styles that would flatter my figure. I find that I often buy on impulse something that later makes me unhappy. If I KNEW which style was most becoming (and comfortable), then I could stay with it.

Although I am 49, I have youthful skin, outlook and manner. My hair is silvery gray. My measurements are 38-28-38, which I am hoping to reduce by Christmas! My height is 5 feet 6½ inches, neck short to medium, oval face. I'm trying to arrive at a style that will be smart yet comfortable. I would appreciate any suggestions you can give.—A. R.

Dear A. R.: First, stick with that resolve to trim your figure (basically a good one) by Christmas! Now, as to necklines, advice comes from designer Ben Barrack, who says:

"The neckline should never be high but always a V, square or scoop. Any one of these will make your neck appear longer. Your hairdo should always be an off-the-neck style.

"For your work, your very best bet is the dress-and-jacket style. Have it in variations and in colors as well as the basics: black, navy, gray or beige.

"For evening, select colors but avoid two-tone dresses as they tend to emphasize a short waist. Brocades and floaty chiffons are your best fabric choices for evening."

Dear Gaile: Next spring, right after Easter, my sister is getting married. I am to be her matron of honor. I would like to select a dress which I can wear for special occasions after the wedding. Would you please give me an idea as to the kind of material and color I could choose? If possible, I would like to wear this dress for special occasions the year-round. Thank you for your help.—Mrs. S. B.

Dear Mrs. S. B.: A good many women feel just as you do these days. They regard the one-occasion dress as wasteful. I took your problem to designer Louise Armour of William Fox, who says:

"A jacket dress seems the very best solution to your problem. The dress can be long or short, depending on the degree of formality of the wedding. In either case, the dress should be décolleté with a natural waistline, preferably belted, and with flared or easy sheath skirt.

"The fabric should be fluid—chiffon, a soft crepe or tissue taffeta. A fitted jacket is more attractive for dressy occasions. I suggest one with below the elbow length sleeves. Or perhaps an elbow-length cape in several layers of chiffon in colors that blend with the dress.

"As for color, pick a soft shade such as blue, a rosy beige, a soft rose or any of the lovely shades of mossy green. If the bridal gown is elaborate, you could wear a dress with beaded bodice. But if it is simple, then your dress should be simple, too, with little ornamentation."

Y.W.C.A. NEWS

The teenagers of the Y.W.C.A. will be sponsoring a Holly Fair and Tea to be held at the Y.W.C.A., 300 Montreal Street, on Saturday, December 9, from 3:30 - 6 p.m. As a special feature the girls will be displaying articles which they have made through the year at the Thursday afternoon meetings which take place each week.

An added attraction will be a recital by the Singing Girls of Sherbrooke, under the direction of Lois Ogilvie Blanchette.

The pourers for the tea are Mrs. L. Pettigrew and Mrs. John Allen.

In the evening the teenagers dance will take place. This will be a special Christmas dance and the chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. A. Swan, Mr. and Mrs. L. Raspberry, Mr. and Mrs. G. Cathcart and Mr. and Mrs. W. Mutchler.

Bite-size tarts make delicious offerings

By LOUIS MOORE

To the reader who is distraught because of her age and inability to get around and do things she once enjoyed, may I repeat a little yarn about a ninety-five-year-old man who when asked if he didn't hate being that old replied, "Why should I be? If I wasn't this old I'd be dead"—and isn't it the truth. None of us are getting younger and in the aging process we should gain wisdom to get the most from the simpler things of life and they are many.

Libraries abound in good reading for a few cents, good music is at your finger tips, classes in everything under the sun are held for those interested; the telephone is within reach to phone a friend for companionship and a cup of tea.

For the companionable cup of tea you'll want cookies and here are a few tried and true recipes.

FRUIT ROCKS

Cream 1 cup butter and gradually beat in 1 cup granulated sugar. Beat until light and fluffy.

Add 2 well beaten eggs and mix. Add ½ tsp. almond extract, 1 tsp. vanilla and mix.

Put 2 cups pastry flour in sifter with 2 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. cinnamon, ¼ tsp. grated nutmeg, ¼ tsp. salt. Sift and add ½ of these dry ingredients to creamed mixture.

Drop by scant teaspoons onto cookie sheets and bake in moderate oven 375F., about 8 minutes or until done.

Its best to drop them an inch or two apart as they spread.

OATMEAL CRISPS

Melt 1 cup butter in large kettle and add 2 cups granulated sugar, 2 cups uncooked quick-cooking oatmeal and 1 cup seedless raisins. Cool, add 2 lightly beaten eggs and beat well.

Sift 2 cups sifted all purpose flour, 1 tsp. baking soda, ½ tsp. each cinnamon and nutmeg and ¼ tsp. salt and add to creamed mixture.

Drop by heaping teaspoons on lightly greased cookie sheets about 2 inches apart and bake in moderately hot oven (375) 12 to 15 minutes. Make about 3 doz.

Coconut or chocolate bits may be added if desired.

Tint Rug Spots

Bleach spilled on dark cotton rugs can be made less noticeable by applying food coloring to the lightened spot. The coloring will have to be replaced, when the rug is washed, but it's a cheap and easy way to make the rug presentable.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

TORONTO, December 7th — Say "Merry Christmas" with money? . . . It can be very tastefully done for those hard-to-buy-for people on your list at the BANK OF MONTREAL. Look at this list . . . holly-decked cheques for personal giving . . . festive—but more formal—cheques for business gifts or gratuities (seasonal covers available for all cheques) . . . money orders in a cheery envelope carrying your personal Christmas greeting . . . for youngsters, student pass-books with suitable entries in a special Christmas Bank's "Christmas line-up". Shouldn't you make the B of M your first stop on your Christmas shopping spree?

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING? . . . it will be a "breeze" when you begin your day with a RED RIVER CEREAL breakfast! Yes, every bowlful of piping-hot Red River gives you just the nourishment you need. Active adults and youngsters alike need its extra energy values—particularly at this busy, blustery time of year. You see Red River is a wholesome blend of cracked wheat, rye and flax. So easy to cook in just a few minutes . . . and so delicious, with its tantalizing, nut-like flavour. So fortify your family for each busy day by serving a healthful breakfast of piping-hot Red River!

YOU'LL BE SURPRISED AND DELIGHTED at how little it costs to serve good wines. Simply ask for Bright's Canadian 74 SHERRY and 74 PORT—two of the nicest wines I know. Smooth and mellow, 74 Sherry is a delightful luncheon wine and is also perfect to serve before dinner. Then for after-dinner there's no more sociable wine than 74 Port. So for your holiday entertaining, I suggest you stock up on Bright's 74 Sherry and 74 Port. I know you'll thank me for the tip!

THREE FLAVORFUL CHRISTMAS IDEAS FROM SHIRRIFF For a Special Turkey Treat add a few drops of Shirriff True Lemon Extract to a cup of Shirriff Cranberry Sauce.

Next Time you're making eggnogs add 1 tablespoon of Shirriff True Vanilla Extract to each quart of your favorite recipe. Gives a rich, truly satisfying taste.

Bake a Cherry Pie with a richer cherry flavor! Add ½ teaspoon Shirriff True Almond Extract to one 20 oz. can of Cherry Pie Filling.

A pretty back for holiday fashions

A PRETTY BACK is essential for holiday evening fashions. This girl uses a sudsy loofah mitt to give hers a beauty treatment.

ALICIA HART

Those intriguing little black crepe and chiffon dresses with low cut backs and modest high necklines are just the thing for holiday parties. But they do put your back on display from neckline almost to belt. So a really pretty back is a must if you're to wear such a dress.

To get into necessary shape and thus be able to display a back that's smooth and subtly shining, start with one of those loofah mitts. Most drugstores have them. Their purpose is to stimulate circulation.

You step into a warm shower, cover your skin with soapy lather and go to work with a loofah mitt. You need the long length mitt in order to reach your back adequately. Work it up and down and then crisscross, too.

Be sure that you rinse your back thoroughly. Towel yourself dry and take a peek in the mirror. Your back should show improvement after one scrubbing. But don't stop there. You'll need nightly sessions in order to have and keep a pretty back.

But it will all be worth it when you rate admiring glances on evenings out during the holidays.

Ruth Millett

Just call her the "errand girl"

There's one time-consuming job I've never seen listed with the other duties of today's housewife and that's errand-running.

Yet any housewife who has an automobile of her own or even occasional use of the family car spends hours every week in running errands for the family.

When a suburban housewife is not actually chattering children, chances are she is running errands, "toting" groceries, leaving clothes at the cleaners or picking them up, going to the bank, taking a broken piece of household equipment to be mended, delivering cookies to a bake sale hurrying the junior left at home to his classroom, taking shoes to the cobbler, picking something up at the drugstore — and so on and on and on, day after day and week after week.

The fact is that the average housewife has so many errands to run that the only way she can keep track of them all is by keeping an errand list.

It is the kind of list that is never finished because it is constantly being extended. As soon as a housewife picks up the toaster she left to be repaired, a table lamp goes haywire.

No wonder so many housewives drive station wagons. They may have been purchased as a status symbol—but they've become almost a necessity for the errand-running housewife who actually runs a pickup and delivery service.

Even when the housewife hops in her car for a purely social engagement chances are she has a couple of errands to do on the way to her tea or luncheon or on the way home.

A housewife can easily spend a full day a week running errands—and have nothing much to show for her efforts, and no feeling of accomplishment.

And yet errand-running is never mentioned as one of the modern housewife's biggest headaches and most time-consuming duties.

MOTHERS' AUXILIARY 2ND SHERBROOKE GUIDES AND BROWNIES

The November meeting was held recently in Sangster Memorial church hall with seven members and leaders present. Hostesses were Mrs. J. George and Mrs. I. Wheeler.

The president, Mrs. B. McAuley presided, and opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer.

A new Guide Captain is required for the 2nd Sherbrooke Company and efforts are being made in this direction. At present the Guides are carrying on by themselves, meeting each Saturday morning. This is a very enthusiastic group of girls.

It was announced that there would be a Flying-up ceremony on December 12. This is to be combined with a Christmas Party for the Brownies and Guides.

The Brownies had a candy table at the W. A. Tea on Dec. 2. A very interesting report on the Camp Meeting which she attended in Drummondville was given by Mrs. J. Brown.

Plans for the Annual Mother and Daughter Banquet were discussed at length. Several tentative dates were suggested but no definite decision was reached.

Personals

Mrs. J. V. Ames, of Ridgewood, N.J., and Mr. Willard A. Carvell, of Vancouver, B.C., who have been guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon B. Loomis, Dufferin Avenue have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mosher, Church Street, Lennoxville, left for Camp Borden, Ontario where they will be guests of F/Sgt. and Mrs. Ashmore Mosher and family. F/Sgt. Mosher will leave Camp Borden in January for his new post, Saskatoon, Sask.

Melbourne lady is honored at bridal shower

MELBOURNE — Miss Dawn Converse, a popular bride-to-be, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower. The event took place in the Kirk Hall of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Upper Melbourne, and was given by a number of her friends. About 85 guests were present. As the guest of honor entered the hall, she was greeted by Mrs. Robert Pariseau and presented with a corsage, as were also her mother, Mrs. Fred Converse, and her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Wright. Miss Converse was then escorted to a table covered with a white linen cloth, with white candles in crystal holders, and pink and white streamers suspended from the ceiling. The hall decorations were also carried out in pink and white. Mrs. Pariseau on behalf of the guests, presented Miss Converse with numerous prettily-wrapped gifts, drawn in on a decorated wagon by little Robin Converse, sister of the bride-to-be and Sharon Osborne, cousin. After Mrs. Converse and Mrs. Wright had assisted in unwrapping the gifts, the guest of honor graciously thanked everyone for the lovely gifts, and the friends who had given her the shower. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Charles Grainger, Mrs. George Grainger, Mrs. Robert Pariseau, Mrs. Neilson Jameson, Mrs. Irene Burrill, Mrs. Fred Oakley, Mrs. Ernest Oakley, Mrs. Art Fowler and Mrs. Royce Fowler. A bride's cake, decorated by Mrs. Albert Smith, adorned the table.

Shipping experts astonished by canal proposal

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP) — A proposal by the mayor of the northwestern Ontario town of Geraldton that his community be linked to Lake Superior by a canal astonished shipping experts here. Geraldton is 100 miles from the shore of Lake Superior but Mayor Ben Pressman suggested a canal to handle its output of iron ore. A canal could run northward up the Pie River to Longlac and then northwest to Geraldton, or could go from Lake Superior to Lake Nipigon and eastward through a system of small lakes and rivers, he said. R. B. Chandler, chairman of the Lakehead harbor commission, said: "Nothing is impossible, but I hardly think this scheme is practical." "The plan is certainly the vaporization of a fertile mind. A canal of this nature would have to be somewhat similar to the Welland Canal and the cost would run into billions." Cliff Lindeman, representative of grain shippers, said: "It would be a good trick if he could do it, but I think it would be geographically impossible."

Beavers lose to Olympics, first place at stake tonight

Throwing the rock through the rings

Is it good strategy or bad luck to lead to throw his stone through the rings deliberately on the last end? Half a century ago in Canada such tactics were frowned on as poor sportsmanship but today the practice is accepted in championship as well as in club play.

Not so in Scotland, the home of curling. When the Richards of Regina employed this weapon against Willie Young's champions of the heather during the first Scotch Cup Matches in 1959 the Scots were aghast. To them it violated both the tradition and true spirit of the Royal and Ancient Game.

Arthur Frame, a member of the Royal Club of Glasgow Province, who had witnessed the second series, voices the feelings of many of his compatriots in a recent letter to "The Scotch Cup News" by indignantly asking: "How long are spectators at your bonspiels going to stand a lead intentionally throwing a stone to the barrier?"

But skip Ernie wanted no part of this so in subsequent ends he ordered his men to wheel their granites through the bumpers when such signs were manifest. Saskatchewan went on to win handsomely. To our Scottish friend who feels this is not in keeping with the spirit of the game we can only say that since striking has become a major factor in Canadian curling in recent years a lot of new wrinkles have been added in the evolution of modern strategy. This is progress whether we like it or not. If you wish to avoid this manoeuvre tried out on you, get a few points ahead of your opponent then he can't afford the luxury of throwing his stones through the rings. (TNS)

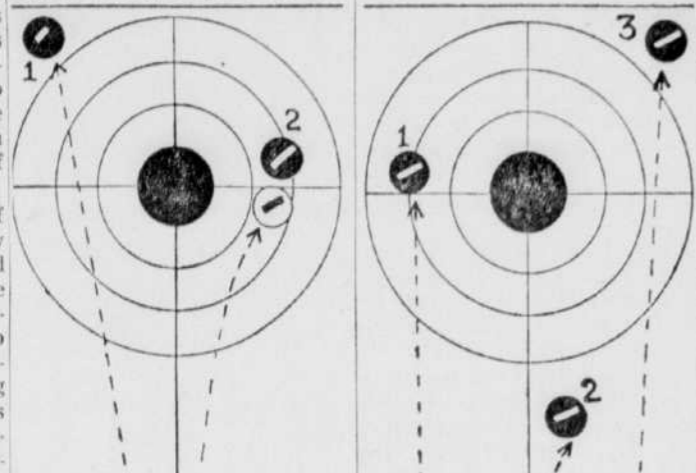

Fig. 1 — When several points up playing the last end, ask for lead stone through the house (as in No. 1). By drawing to No. 2 position, you offer opponents a chance to build an end.
Fig. 2 — When enjoying a good lead in the middle or late stages of the game, some skips call for stone No. 3 to prevent a lay-up to No. 1 or a draw be- hind No. 2. Use with discretion.

RIGHT THROUGH
My good friend Arthur is just as incensed as Billy Whalen the B.C. skip was the time we were five up coming home against him in the Brier at Toronto. I signalled Charlie Kerr, our lead, to hoist his first one through the house as had been the practice back home. Billy took a dim view of the action and let me have his opinions in no uncertain terms.

How times have changed! Today it is commonplace for a scorer to give a lead man four points for breezing his shot through the circles if he is acting on the instructions of his skip.

The object of the manoeuvre is simply to afford your opponent no backing for his draws; or if your stone happens to be short of the rings, no cover for him to sneak behind. In other words, with a three or four point margin you refuse to let your stones provide him with an opportunity to manufacture a big end to tie or win the ball game. It is the same strategy as an intentional pass to a power-hitter in baseball or running out the clock in football.

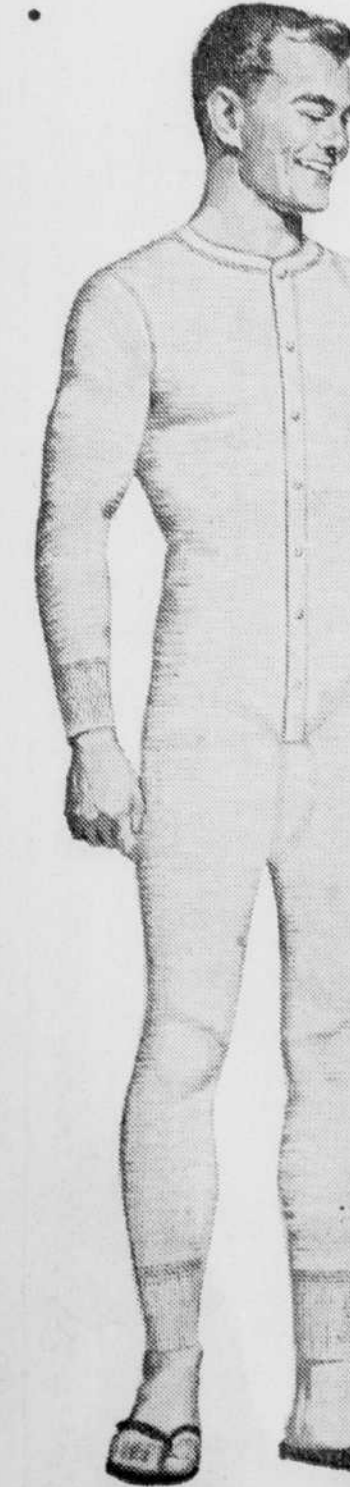

USE IT EARLY
Present day champions have gone one better. They argue — and correctly — that if such master-minding is effective on the last end why not employ the device earlier?
Ernie Richardson used this logic against Manitoba's Mac Scales during the F.C.T. William Brier in 1960. Along about the sixth end Scales tried to overcome a big Saskatchewan lead by asking for lay-ups or draws to the front of Richardson

Ernie Davis is only interested in playing football, will go where he gets best offer, Stamps make bid

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Davis says he's not interested in becoming a guinea pig in a professional football racial dispute.
"I wish they would quit bringing up this race stuff," the great Syracuse University halfback said Wednesday. "I don't want to be another Jackie Robinson. I just want to play football, and I'll go where I can get the best offer."
The 210-pound speedster, who smashed Jimmy Brown's ball-carrying and total offence records at Syracuse, is the first Negro in 27 years to receive the Heisman Trophy as the best college player of the year.
Now he finds himself the pawn in a giant tug-of-war between the National and American Football Leagues on the one hand and the government and George Marshall's Washington Redskins on the other.
Davis was the first pick of the Redskins after owner Marshall, whose teams have been picketed by racial groups, was given a stiff warning by Interior Secretary Udall to hire a Negro player to prove himself not guilty of discriminatory practices.

The Redskins are the only NFL team which has never had a Negro player. Government pressures were brought because the Redskins this season started using a new federal-built stadium in Washington.
The powerful Syracuse halfback also was drafted by Buffalo Bills of the young American Football League. He says he has also been approached by several Canadian teams, with Calgary Stamps making a particularly good offer.

ROCK ISLAND — The red carpet was rolled out Tuesday for the visit of Maurice (Rocket) Richards and Mrs. Richard when they came to officially open the hockey season at the Border Arena. The Richards were guests of the Jets hockey team.
A reception was held at the Del Monty hotel following the arrival of this noted hockey player and his lovely wife. The reception was attended by a number of the community persons which included mayors, members of the clergy, business and civic representatives including George Vaillancourt, MPP, from Coaticook and Yvan Letourneau, who represented his father, Rene Letourneau, MP who is in Florida.
The guests were received by Paul Teller, vice-president of the Jets hockey team, Raymond Lemieux, Manager Jean Lecours, secretary, and Roger Roy, Director, who introduced each to Mr. and Mrs. Richard.
About 35 persons attended the banquet where Mr. and Mrs. Richard were the guests of honor. Gerald Clark, Jets' president, on behalf of the club, presented him with the gift of an oak encased lighter inscribed with these words: "To the Rocket from Rock Island Jets, Dec. 5, 1961." Mr. Richard responded with words of appreciation, he said he was pleased that the town has a good hockey team and placed emphasis on the importance of having Midget, Pee Wee and Bantams teams to keep the top club in players and also to keep the younger boys active in the sport.
Mr. and Mrs. Richard were introduced by Jean Beasse and Mr. Richard was thanked for his informative talk by Raymond Lemieux, team manager. Other speakers included Yvan Letourneau, Mr. Vaillancourt, E. J. Struthers, Jean Lecours was master of ceremonies.

The hockey season was officially opened at the Border Arena when The Rocket dropped the puck. He was accompanied by other guests. Between the first and second period Mrs. It was Mrs. Richard's first visit.

Archie Moore claims he refused to fight Cleroux when they wanted him to take cut, will return to Montreal

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Archie Moore said Wednesday night he refused to fight Canadian heavyweight champion Bob Cleroux in Montreal Tuesday night after the fight promoters "started to barter" to reduce the $50,000 he was guaranteed for the 10 rounder.
Moore told a reporter during a stopover here he was returning to Canada to explore possibilities for rescheduling the bout at a later date or to "possibly sue somebody." He did not elaborate.
Moore said "the fight did not come off when they started to barter to reduce my guarantee of a $50,000 appearance fee. I conferred with my wife and she said: 'No. Make them live up to the terms of the contract.'"
Cleroux's co-manager, Alsoner Merv McKenzie suspended Cleroux in Ontario for Moore ran out on the fight. The cancellation of the fight at Vir-

Three quick goals give Montreal 4-2 victory, first place is at stake when Rockets play Vics

MONTREAL — Montreal Olympics bashed home three goals in 43 seconds last night to change a 2-1 defeat to a 4-2 victory over the Sherbrooke Beavers at the Paul Sauve Centre, before 1,000 fans. With less than two minutes to go Montreal took the lead on goals from Chagnon and Mandalla.
Beavers were playing without the services of three of their top performers in Marc Bouvette, Bert Bourassa and Raymond St. Cyr, who are all out with injuries. However the Beavers held their own until the final minutes when their expected victory backfired.

This was the second Montreal win over the Beavers this year compared to four wins for the Beavers over the team from the Metropolis.

Jacques Gagne had given a 1-0 lead to the Olympics in the first period when the Beavers were at a man disadvantage. In this first period it was only the playing of Andy Pratte, Sherbrooke's veteran netminder, that held the score down. On many occasions he stopped the Olympics right on his doorstep.

Sherbrooke seemed to come back to life in the middle period with Desy notching two goals on passes from Dube. In the third period, the Beavers held their slim lead until the final minutes when the team from the Metropolis found the range and netted three big goals for the victory.
ROCKETS TRAVEL TO GRANBY
The Granby Vics will play host to the Drummondville Rockets tonight in an important game that could tie the two teams for the league's lead. Both teams will be out to win this one and a very good game is expected as when these two meet anything can happen. Last year neither team lost a home game against each other.

The Vics will be back at full strength this evening as their star left winger, John Mentis, will be back in uniform after recovering from a "charley horse."

Winnipeg's minor football system nursed over years, has finally come to life, 16 with Blue Bombers

WINNIPEG (CP) — Greater Winnipeg's minor football system-nursed with loving care over the years—has come to full blossom.
The 1961 record speaks for itself.
St. James Rods won the Canadian junior football title. St. Vital Bulldogs, defending Canadian intermediate champs, lost a 33-32 heartbreaker to Verdun Shamcats in Montreal in the 1961 final.
Fort Garry Lions easily defeated a Victoria team 32-9 in what was dubbed the Canadian juvenile final, although the East didn't compete.

If they had a Dominion playoff for high school football, there's one Winnipegpeger who feels confident a Winnipeg club would be in that, too.
Says Vince Leah, Tribune sports writer who has been observing the football scene here for many years: "Our high school football is the best in Canada, and the best organized, too."
BOMBERS BENEFIT
Leah has seen the minor football setup in the area grow to about 20 teams in bantam, midget and juvenile, and to dozens of six-man teams in the parks and recreation leagues.
Of all the arguments that say Winnipeg's minor football organization is one of the best in Canada, there are 16 that can hardly be refuted. They are members of Winnipeg Blue Bombers and every one cut his football teeth here.

The Canadian talent on the Bomber roster is the envy of the rest of the Western Football Conference, and most of the 16 natives would fit into the plans of any football club in Canada, perhaps even a few in the United States.
Most prominent, of course, is Gerry James, the Regina-born product of Winnipeg high school ranks who has twice been named Canada's outstanding player. The 26-year-old fullback has been with Bombers nine years.
Others include end Norm Rauhaus, centre-linebacker George Druxman, defensive end Jack Bruzell, tackle Roger Hamelin, halfback Henry Jan-zen, guard Ed Kotowich, halfback Ron Latourle, defensive ends Cec Luining and Pat Meadmore, tackle Steve Patrick, guard Ted Mikliechuk, halfback Nick Miller and tackle Roger Savoie.

BULLDOGS UNBEATEN
The Rods from suburban St. James started the city's march toward the Canadian football throne, defeating defending champion Montreal Rosemount Bombers 16-13 in the junior final in Calgary. They had won a hard-fought Manitoba-Saskatchewan Junior Football League title and eliminated Vancouver Meralomas to get there.
St. Vital Bulldogs breezed through all opposition, as they had done a year earlier. They had a perfect 8-0 record in the Manitoba intermediate league, beat Fort William Redskins 86-0 in the Western semi-final, then defeated New Westminster Royals 28-7 to reach the national final.
Fort Garry Lions won the seven-team Manitoba juvenile loop to gain the right to travel to Victoria. While the East doesn't compete in this class nationally, Westerners regard the winner as Canada's champion.
From this mass of budding talent, it appears the Blue Bombers should be well set for Canadian players for years.

Mrs. Jones of Sutton, Mrs. C. Guild of North Hatley win in Lennoxville Ladies Curling Club Invitation event

The Lennoxville Ladies' Curling Club held their annual Invitation Day on Tuesday, Dec. 5th.

The winner of the morning games was Mrs. Jones of Sutton, and the afternoon winner was Mrs. C. Guild of North Hatley.

Rinks from Windsor Mills, Sutton, Border, North Hatley, Danville, Sherbrooke and Drummondville - Celanese, took part in the one day event.

Mrs. Jones' Sutton rink comprised of Mrs. Rowe, Miss A. Draper and Mrs. Watt defeated a North Hatley rink skipped by Mrs. L. McKay.

Mrs. C. Guild's rink was made up of Mrs. O. Knutson, Mrs. W. Sharman, and Mrs. H. Johnston, and defeated Mrs. Holmes from Drummondville - Celanese.

The day was brought to a close with a tea, which was served by members of the entertainment committee.

Ab McDonald leads way with three goals, first win over New York this season, Gendron gets two

This may be the season that Ab McDonald, Chicago Black Hawks' husky 25-year-old winger, finally cracks the 20-goal barrier.

If he does it'll be because of his versatility, aggressiveness and a hard, accurate shot. For these were the ingredients that earned him a job on coach Rudy Pilous' revised power play.

McDonald already has scored five goals when the opposition was shorthanded since Pilous, mostly out of desperation, first tested the new power play in a National Hockey League game Nov. 7.

Two of them came Wednesday night against New York Rangers. Altogether, McDonald rapped home three goals as the Black Hawks, displaying some of the form that made them Stanley Cup champions last spring, romped to an 8-3 victory at New York.

Pilous' power play is unique in that it is made up of three centres—Bill (Red) Hay, Bronco Horvath and Stan Mikita—McDonald and a defenceman, McDonald, normally a left winger, shifts to right winger for the power play.

DOESN'T MIND SHIFT
But he doesn't mind. Right wing was the position he played in juvenile hockey in his native Winnipeg and in his first year of junior hockey at St. Catharines, Ont.

"Pilous was my coach at St. Catharines and the one who changed me to a left winger," says McDonald. "He knew I used to play right wing so I wasn't surprised when he shifted me."

McDonald's three goals raised his season output to seven. In three previous seasons in the NHL he scored only 39 times, including a high of 17 in 1960-61.

Eric Nesterenko scored two of Chicago's other goals Wednesday night as the Hawks bolted to a 6-0 lead after two periods of play. Murray Balfour, Bobby Hull and Jerry Melnyk got the others. Hay drew four assists.

Guy Gendron got two of New York's goals while the other went to Andy Bathgate, the NHL's scoring leader. Bathgate's goal—his 11th of the season—gave him 36 points—four more than runner-up Claude Provost of Montreal Canadiens.

The victory was Chicago's first over New York this season and boosted the Hawks into fourth place, one point ahead of the idle Detroit Red Wings. The Hawks had scored only six goals in four earlier games against New York—losing three and tying one.

New York remains in third place, five points behind the front-running Canadiens. The Rangers had gone nine games on home ice without losing prior to Wednesday night.

The eight goals represent the second highest total chalked up by a team in one game this season. Toronto Maple Leafs beat Boston Bruins 9-1 Oct. 22.

Chicago built up a 3-0 lead in the first period by Balfour, Nesterenko and McDonald. The Hawks added three more in the second—McDonald getting two and Hull one.

Bathgate broke Chicago goalie Glenn Hall's bid for a shutout at 2:22 of the third.

Hall wound up with 27 saves while Lorne (Gump) Worsley had a bad night in the Ranger nets, making only 20 saves.

All teams are in action tonight with the big game being at Montreal where the Canadiens meet the Leafs. It's a battle for first place as Canadiens go into the game carrying a two-point edge.

Chicago moves on to Boston for a game against the cellar-dwelling Bruins while New York is at Detroit in tonight's other games.

Tonight's game at Montreal could also be termed a battle of the cripples. Both Leafs and Canadiens have three players who rate as question marks.

All-star goalie Johnny Bower is not expected to dress for the Leafs. Bower suffered an ankle injury in another game against Canadiens last week and missed Toronto's last two outings. If he isn't ready, rookie Jerry Cheevers or veteran Don Simmons will be in goal.

Toronto may also be without forwards Dave Keon and Ron Stewart, both suffering from groin injuries.

FAULKNER GETS CHANCE
The Leafs will have a new comer in tonight's game. He is Alex Faulkner, 25-year-old centre from Bishop's Falls, Nfld. Faulkner, who has never played in an NHL game, was called up from Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League.

Faulkner is rated high by the Maple Leafs brass. He has scored five goals and helped set up 27 others, tops in the AHL, for Rochester this season.

He will be the first Newfoundland to play in the NHL.

Montreal's question marks are centre Jean Beliveau, left-winger Marcel Bonin and defenceman Lou Fontinato. Another defenceman, Tom Johnson, is recovering from an eye injury and definitely will not dress.

Beliveau hasn't played in a game this season but his injured knee is improving. A final decision on whether he'll play won't be made until shortly before game time.

Fontinato has a swollen right ankle and Bonin a painful right wrist. Both are considered doubtful starters.

Bewley named coach of Redmen

MONTREAL (CP)—Bill Bewley, pro football halfback with Montreal Alouettes and Eastern Conference scoring champion in 1958, Wednesday night was named coach of McGill University Redmen of the Senior Intercollegiate Football League.

The 30-year-old Hamilton native succeeds ex-Alouette Bruce (Bones) Coulter, who resigned to take the post of athletic director at Bishop's University, Lennoxville, Que., after four seasons with the Redmen.

Harry Griffiths, director of athletics at McGill said the appointment is for one year "but this does not mean a lack of confidence in Bewley. It's normal for such appointments."

Blind man makes hole-in-one

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Charles Tooth, blind since the age of nine, scored a hole-in-one Wednesday.

The 57-year-old Hamilton Ont. native who spends winters in St. Petersburg, recorded what is believed to be the only ace ever scored by a blind golfer.

Tooth, international blind golf champion in 1946, used a No. 5 wood on the 167-yard hole at the Pasadena golf course.

He formed the Canadian Blind Golf Association in 1948 and was its president until 1957. He was Canadian champion in 1945-46 and 1957.

Enjoy Skiing

By ANNE HEGGVEIT
During the early days of the skiing season there are enough things to think about without the added annoyance of dragging skis. New skis tend to be "slow" but a little work on the base will remedy this problem.

Before using your skis, old ones too, if the base is of the Kofix-type, RUB on white paraffin which can be bought in a grocery store. Polish off with a rag. Repeat this procedure twice more then do not throw the rag away but keep it with your wax kit for this purpose, and use each day before skiing. The Kofix-type base should never be sand-papered or steel-wheeled even when removing a painted wax job as this substance will absorb small flecks of steel and the grit from the paper which will result in a very slow ski. To remove a painted wax job, use a scraper. It will do the work sufficiently.

REMOVE GRAIN

The Cellox-type base needs to be steel wheeled. I would spend half an hour working on each ski before ever putting wax on it. This is the secret to the very fast, smooth base I have on my slalom skis. You do not need to work that long but it is advisable to remove some of the grain from the base. Afterwards rub on white paraffin and polish as mentioned above.

If you prepare your skis this way, you will very rarely get caught with a slow ski. It is easy to add another wax on top of this for extreme weather conditions.

Many beginners are reluctant to wax their skis because they do not realize that a ski which slides well is much simpler to turn and to control. A slow dragging ski is difficult to keep under control. (TNS)

Frank "Pop" Ivy quits as coach of St. Louis Cards, has no immediate plans, not interested in Canada

ST. LOUIS (CP)—Frank (Pop) Ivy, a man who turned the split-T into a devastating weapon in Canadian football and then switched to more challenging fields in the United States, has quit as head coach of St. Louis Cardinals in the National Football League. His record here was disappointing.

Although the move surprised football followers, Walter Wolfner, managing director of the Cardinals, said he offered to renew Ivy's contract about six weeks ago but "sensed" that he would not accept it.

Ivy said in a statement: "My feeling is a coach can only work so long. Then, if he does not get the desired results, it is in the best interest of everyone concerned that a change be made."

Ivy said he has no immediate plans. There is no indication he will return to Canada.

Ivy, 45, who guided the Eskimos to three straight victories in the Grey Cup classic against the great Montreal Alouettes and quarter-back Sam Etcheberry, was in the last season of a four-year contract with the Cardinals.

Pop's record with the Cards—they were based in Chicago in 1958 and 1959—totalled 15 vicories, 31 losses and two ties, a far cry from his 61-18 mark with the Eskimos in four seasons.

Etcheberry, whose explosive passing arm carried the Alouettes to the Eastern Conference title and into the Grey Cup, now is with the Cardinals. He is on a two-year contract but has seen only limited action this season because of arm trouble.

Radio career explained

WATERLOO — The Home and School Association at a recent meeting had the privilege of listening to Bill Roberts, whose voice on a Montreal radio station is well known. Members enjoyed meeting the young man who has his serious as well as his humorous side. Mr. Roberts spoke easily and informally on the subject. Radio as a Career. His personal opinions on radio work were rather surprising. He discussed the particular career. A man's voice undoubtedly broadcasts better, he said. Radio for boys to venture in will prove successful for the few who stick with it and work hard. It is not glamorous, or fun, as one might believe, but work. Youth is a prime requirement for success in this vocation also a natural born talent. One has to have energy and youthful enthusiasm for the daily grind. The speaker stressed the importance of education that is practical today. He urged the parents to make sure their children were getting the kind of training that would be useful in the world. If we want our children to talk French, see to it they learn conversation, not just to read and write French, the speaker stated. If possible, a child should follow the natural talent he possesses, not just a set groove. The audience would not allow Mr. Roberts to conclude his talk without a few of his stories which have brightened early morning broadcasts. The jokes, told in character, were most amusing. The short business followed and coffee was served by Mrs. Jack Corthorn and Mrs. Sam Wayne.

BEDFORD — Mrs. Kenneth Jones, of Penacook, N.H., who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, has returned home. Mrs. Charles Hase, of Farnham, is a guest for a time of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor. Miss L. Larocque, of Montreal, spent the weekend with her father, Mr. Phileas Larocque. Mr. Arthur Sheltus is a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering from a fractured hip sustained in a fall.

Mrs. L. Quayle, who has spent the past six months with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Preston, has returned to her home in Cleveland, Ohio, where she is a patient in hospital. Mrs. Preston accompanied her mother by plane to Cleveland and remained for a time with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fulton. Mr. and Mrs. John Pope and daughter, Louise, were guests over the weekend of Mr. and Mrs. L. Pope in Montreal. The rink from the curling club playing in the men's bonspiel at Sutton included B. W. Draper,

R. Cruise, Russell Blinco and Raymond Whitecomb. The Nov. 29 meeting of the St. James W.A. was cancelled owing to the severe storm. A corporate service of Holy Communion was held on St. Andrew's Day, when the rector, Rev. W. J. White, spoke of the Saint's life and work. Collection was taken by Mrs. Grisdale Gould.

HENDERSON VALE

Mr. Kenneth Kelso, who attended the funeral of Dr. S. J. Bennett, in Cookshire, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. Rothney, in Sherbrooke, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Kelso, in Lennoxville. He also visited his brother, Mr. Allan Kelso, and other friends in Bury. Mr. Forrest Wright and Mr. K. Kelso attended an L.O.O.F. meeting in Bishopton. Mr. Lynn Marshall, of Macdonald College, spent a week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marshall.

The Doctor Says

Dr. Hyman
HERE'S NO-GIMMICK ROUTINE FOR EXERCISING AT HOME

Here are the details of a physical fitness program. It will help to loosen your joints, whether normal or arthritic, and stretch your muscles and tendons so they don't creak like a barn door that is opened in the spring after a winter of disuse. Turn on your radio to a musical program that's to your liking. Preferably (if you can find such), one that's free for a quarter-hour from commercials and the oh-so-jolly jingle of an oh-so-jolly disc jockey. Now, standing before an open window, with or without clothes, put each joint through its normal range of motion. And, do what you do slowly, but with maximum precision. Don't just flap away like a flag in the wind. Give the sort of firm beat that's given by the leader of a band or an orchestra. Beginning at the neck, turn your chin to right and then left, perhaps 10 to 20 times. Then chin-to-chest and chin-in-air. Then make a sort of circle with your chin. Next get to work on your shoulders. With arms outstretched, force them back as far as they'll go and then cross them in front as far as they'll go. Then, with arms still outstretched, touch fingers to toes, and up and back as far as possible to limber the spine at the same time. Next, still with arms outstretched, make circles. And finally, with hands clasped back of head, bring elbows together in front and then jam back as far as they'll go. Now go to work on your back. With hands on hips, twist to right and left. Then bend to right and left. And finish with the upper half of your body by hitting your shoulders with clenched fists. Then, spread arms and fingers as far out as they'll go as if you were a candidate appealing for votes. Before you start on your lower extremities, put your hands over your lower ribs. Then, as you blow out all the breath you can, crush the rib cage in as far as possible. And, when that's done and you start to gas up, hook your fingers under the cage and open it up as far as you can while you expand your lungs to capacity. For your leg work, you'll need apparatus. That is to say, a chair and a nearby couch or bed. Holding on to the chair with one hand, loosen hips by raising and lowering first one leg and then the other with knees stiff. Then to the side. And then the partial circle. Now, with one hand on the chair and the other on the bed, squat down as far as you can and then straighten your knees as far back as they'll go. And finish off the standing exercises by rising up on heels and back on toes. Finally, lie on top of your bed or couch with hands clasped behind head. Point toes up as high as you can and then bend them down and at the same time make believe you are trying to pick up something with them. You may find that more trying than you imagine. But it's a very important exercise. Then make circles with your toes to limber up the ankles. Repeat your breathing exercises and call it a day.

Dodge newness goes a whole lot deeper than its great new looks. Dodge for 1962 is a low price, full size car that'll out-run and out-economize most any car around. It accelerates quicker, yet gets five per cent more miles per gallon than the '61 Dodge. It goes twice as far between oil changes—drives 32,000 miles between grease jobs. Its brakes adjust themselves automatically. The body is rustproofed. Want more? Dodge gives you more! Things like an improved gearshift for smoother, crisper shifts; a smaller transmission hump that gives the man in the middle more legroom; and deep-sprung chair-high seats. There's never been a Dodge like this one. There's never been any car like this one. There's a new lean breed of car for '62 and its name is DODGE
