PRINCE ARRIVES

His Serene Highness is Now the Guest of the City

PRINCE ARRIVES AS ACTING MAYOR RECEIVED THE DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

No more propitious augury of a pleasant day could have been desired than that which greeted the morning when Rear-Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg arrived with his suite from Quebec in response to the invitation from the city of Montreal to pay the metropolis a visit.

The Prince arrived too early for a congratulatory welcome; moreover, it is his own desire that there should be no publicity.

Nevertheless, quite a crowd assembled outside the Place Victoria before 6.30 o'clock, the time at which the Quebec train with the admiral and party was due.

Outside the station four mounted policemen were on duty, and a double cordon of a hundred and ten men, under Inspector Lamouche, formed an avenue from the Acting Mayor's carriage through the waiting-room along the main platform to the train platform.

All the men were in full dress uniform and presented a smart and effective appearance. The police officers on duty, with Inspector Lamouche, were Captain Murphy, Lieutenant Leclerc, Lieutenant Beauregard and Lieutenant Banno.

Those assembled to meet the Admiral were a few of the city delegation, consisting of the Acting Mayor (Ald. Clearihue), Ald. Sadler and the city clerk, together with Colonel Buchan, D.O.C., and Lieut.-Colonel Pelletier, staff officer.

The train arrived promptly at half-past six. Prince Louis, who is a tall, graceful man of commanding carriage and easy courtesy, and who was dressed in a dark brown suit, looked the picture of good health. He wears a heavy moustache and handsome imperial, and is a typical specimen of a smart well-bred naval officer.

On alighting he shook hands with Colonel Buchan, who presented the city clerk (Senator David) who in turn introduced the Acting Mayor and Ald. Sadler.

Prince Louis, in a few graceful words, expressed his thanks for the reception accorded him as such an unearthy hour, and remarked: "I would gladly have spared you, gentlemen."

The city's welcome was voiced by the Acting Mayor. "In the name of the Mayor and citizens of the city of Montreal I bid you welcome," he said.

"We hope that your stay here will be a pleasant one and that you will thoroughly enjoy your visit and take away with you pleasant recollections of Montreal."

The Admiral having briefly acknowledged this welcome, the party left the platform and Prince Louis and the Acting Mayor drove off to the Windsor Hotel, the rest of the officers following.

THE KING'S NEPHEW.

Meanwhile another crowd had gathered at the Richelieu & Ontario Company's wharf to welcome Prince Alexander of Battenberg. The "Quebec" was due at 6.30 o'clock, but extensive bush fires near Three Rivers caused such a dense smoke that she had to slow down, and eventually arrived at nine o'clock.

Prince Alexander was welcomed on behalf of the city by Ald. Levy, and afterwards drove off with the alderman and Dr. Hingston to Sir William Hingston's residence, where he was the latter's guest at breakfast.

I. C. R. MANAGEMENT

A POLICY OF DECENTRALIZATION DECIDED UPON.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—The Minister of Railways has made up his mind in favor of a policy of decentralization in the management of the Intercolonial Railway. One result will be the abolition of the office of chief superintendent, held till recently by the late Mr. J. E. Price.

The divisional superintendents and heads of departments are to be vested with greater authority and more complete control in matters of detail. The Hon. Mr. Emmerson has taken this step on the recommendation of his deputy minister, and of the general manager of the Intercolonial Railway, who advise that it will promote efficiency and save about a thousand dollars a month in salaries.

By this policy of decentralization the general manager will be rid of an immense volume of routine and given a better opportunity to study the needs of the system under his control. The track and maintenance-of-way departments will be put under the charge of Mr. T. C. Burpee, C.E. He and all the other officials, whose responsibilities are increased, will be held accountable for the results in their respective spheres of action, and if not satisfactory they will have to reckon with their superiors. These changes will take effect at once.

Speaking of his recent trip of inspection over the Intercolonial Railway, the Hon. Mr. Emmerson said: "It proved beyond question that the Intercolonial, even though it seemed to cost a very considerable sum, was in the best position it ever was in his history as regards roadbed, rolling stock, station and terminal facilities and traffic."

net councils that have brought the members of the government to Ottawa, the Hon. Mr. Emmerson will complete his inspection of the I. C. R., and follow that up by a tour of the canals, in which he will be accompanied by his new deputy and by Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, the late deputy. After dealing with the railway he will deal with the canals.

FARNHAM TRAGEDY

LITTLE EVIDENCE OF MATERIAL VALUE ELICITED AT ENQUIRY TO-DAY.

Farnham, Aug. 22.—Dr. Mitchell, coroner, and his jury resumed their inquiry this morning at the Town Hall into the circumstances attending the death of Wilfrid Audette, the fifteen-year-old C.P.R. call-boy whose body was found on Sunday morning, Aug. 13, in Comeau's wood-yard. The post-mortem examination established the fact that the lad had first been strangled, and then his head battered with a heavy stone.

Detective McCaskill describes it as the most brutal murder he has known during the whole course of his experience. Feeling is very high in the town against the assassins—for the murder is believed to be the work of more than one man—and it was hoped to-day, when the inquest was resumed, that, after nearly a week's adjournment, the police would be able to report some success in their investigations, and that there was a prospect of bringing the culprits to justice.

Since Thursday last inquiry has been made for the call-book of the deceased. It was his duty to carry this book with him to be signed by the railway servants whom he went round to call. This was not found in his possession when the body was found, and the jury attached some importance to the fact. To-day it was stated that Audette had occasionally neglected to carry the book round with him, and when he made his last call, about one o'clock on Sunday morning, Aug. 13, he left it at the railway office.

A wealth of evidence was given to-day, but little of it was material. John Sagalia, telegraph line repairer, said on Saturday night, Aug. 12, that he saw two strange men in the wood-yard. One said, "You know what they did to me two or three weeks ago. You will see to-night."

William Mullen stated that he went to bed on Saturday night, Aug. 12, at eleven o'clock. If some one said they saw him talking to three men at one o'clock on Saturday morning he would have to believe them. He did not remember the fact.

Ozias Archambault, proprietor of the Rever Hotel, said three strangers called at his house between twelve and one o'clock on Sunday morning, Aug. 13. He saw the witness, Mullen, talking to the men.

No light had been thrown on the murder mystery when the inquest was adjourned until this afternoon.

The Misses Bruelle and Florida Davignon and Messrs. Peter Sabourin, B. Mercure and John Fitzpatrick have to be examined, and the jury's verdict will not be given until this evening.

The three tramps arrested at Angers, near Thurso, have been liberated after giving a satisfactory account of their movements on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 12 and 13.

FROM THE CAPITAL

APPOINTMENTS AT LIEGE—SUIT BETWEEN DOMINION AND PROVINCE OF ONTARIO.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—Messrs. Broadbent and Girardot, of the Canadian exhibit staff at Liege, have been appointed members of the jury of awards.

The suits between the Federal government and the Province of Ontario will be brought to trial shortly in the Exchequer Court. One is taken by the Dominion against the province, and is to recover a portion of the yearly annuity paid to Indians residing in territory being taken by the province. The other is taken by Ontario and arises out of the action of the Federal authorities in reducing from five to four percent the rate of interest which is payable on $1,900,000 of trust funds which the Dominion holds for the province.

CANADA-WEST INDIES

THE PALL MALL GAZETTE REFERS TO PROPOSED CONFEDERATION.

(Canadian Associated Press.) London, Aug. 22.—The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to the Confederation of Canada and the West Indies, says: "Canada's interest is mainly in the revival of the sugar industry. Confederation would mean free admission of Jamaican raw sugar. Canada could not take these islands over without some expense, providing for their naval defences and the treatment of the colored population, which would entail a difficult problem."

BANK OF COMMERCE.

GENERAL MANAGER DENIES RUMORS AS TO FUTURE PLANS.

Mr. Byron E. Walker, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, writes from Toronto asking that the statements as to proposed increase of capital, etc., be given an unqualified denial.

TWO-STORY WHARF SHEDS

IF FORCED ON THE HARBOR BOARD COMMISSIONERS MAY RESIGN.

The Harbor Commissioners, this morning took into consideration the new plans sent them by the Hon. Mr. Prefontaine for the nine new wharf sheds, which have yet to be built. Several of the commissioners said they were at a loss to understand why the new plans should have been prepared without the knowledge or authorization of the Board.

Senator Mackay explained the situation at some length, after which it was decided to write the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and ascertain from him whether the plans just received were government plans or not.

Mr. Bickerdike said that if the Trust received a reply in the affirmative it would be his duty to resign from the board, for it would then be evident that the government had no use for the board.

From the tone of the discussion it was argued that the commissioners are firm in their determination to construct two-story sheds, with, possibly, certain interior alterations.

After the meeting some of the commissioners expressed the opinion that the new plans for one-story sheds would not receive any further consideration at the hands of the Trust, because the board has decided on the sheds they are to construct.

YELLOW FEVER EPIDEMIC

NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE

SERMONS BY THE REV. G. CAMPBELL MORGAN, OF LONDON, BRING MEETINGS TO A CLOSE.

Northfield, Mass., Aug. 20.—The Northfield Conference of Christian Workers, which has been in session, since Aug. 4, came to an end to-day, with two sermons by the Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, of London. In the afternoon Prebendary Webb-People, of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, gave the last of his addresses on St. Paul's epistles. The attendance at the Conference still increases each year. One of the popular features has been the praise services led by Mr. C. M. Alexander, the singing evangelist who accompanied Dr. Torrey in his evangelistic campaign across the sea. On the last day a praise service of an hour and a half preceded the morning service.

On Saturday afternoon the closing exercises of the summer school at Mount Hermon were held, and in the evening the new organ in the auditorium, though not completed, was used for the first time.

Three prominent British leaders will give the Post-Conference address this year: Prebendary Webb-People, Dr. Campbell Morgan, and Prof. James Denney, of Glasgow. Besides these three, the following is a partial list of those who have been taking a prominent part in the Conference: The Rev. Arthur T. Pierson, President Henry G. Weston, of Crozer Theological Seminary; the Rev. George F. Pentecost, Dr. L. G. Broughton, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. John Willis Baer, New York, and Miss Sorabji, a converted Parsee. The burden of all the sessions has been the preparation for a great revival which it is believed by many is about to visit this country.

M. MILUKOFF ARRESTED

WAS PROFESSOR OF RUSSIAN HISTORY IN UNIVERSITY OF ST. PETERSBURG.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 21.—The police last night arrested Paul M. Milukoff, professor of Russian history in the University of St. Petersburg, his wife, and ten other members of the Bureau of the Association of Professional Unions, at their residences at Oudielnaia, near St. Petersburg.

Professor Milukoff, in October, 1902, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for participating in a political meeting in 1900. At the time the verdict was rendered, the professor was in England, but he voluntarily returned to Russia to serve his sentence. He was released after serving about two months. In the latter part of 1903 Professor Milukoff came to the United States and delivered a series of lectures. Among his works are 'Sketches of Russian history.'

MR. NESS RETURNS.

Mr. R. Ness, of Howick, has returned from a visit to England and Scotland and France. He attended the Royal Show at London, and the Highland Society's show at Glasgow, and brought over with him nine horses by the Allan Line, two Normans and seven Clydes. FRANCE AND MOROCCO

THE SULTAN WILL BE GIVEN AN OBJECT LESSON.

Tangier, Aug. 21.—The French minister is energetic in his demand for the release of the chief of the Algerian settlement at Gharb, who was arrested by the Moroccan government, and held for an indemnity. It is understood that if he gets no satisfaction France will make an important demonstration, either by the occupation of some point on the Algerian frontier or by a naval display off a Moorish port. Diplomatic circles are convinced that the Sultan will promise satisfaction, but it is believed that France, nevertheless, will carry out the demonstration as a lesson which will have a salutary effect on the negotiations for the coming conference. Count von Tattenbach Askhold, the German minister, will undoubtedly advise the Sultan to submit, as energetic French action would embarrass Germany's position at the Moorish court.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

ANNUAL SESSION OPENS AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, Aug. 22.—The annual session of the Canadian Medical Association opened in the School for the Blind this morning. The attendance promises to be large. Already quite a number have reached here and others are expected this afternoon and evening.

This morning's session was devoted to registering, a short time being given to the interests of the Canadian Protective Association. The formal opening takes place at 2.30, when addresses of welcome will be delivered by Lieutenant-Governor Jones and Mayor Maclellan.

Among those present at this morning's session were Dr. F. Montizambert, chief Dominion health officer, Ottawa; Dr. McKenzie, Montreal; Dr. Birkett, Montreal; Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Armstrong, Montreal; Dr. F. R. England, Montreal; Dr. C. E. Gurd, Dr. Paul Fabre, Montreal; Dr. Longstaff, Dr. C. Verge, Quebec; Dr. J. D. Page, Quebec; Dr. George Elliott, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, accompanied by Mrs. Elliott, is also here.

This afternoon the visitors will go on a harbor excursion and this evening will attend a reception at the Provincial Building, given by the president (Dr. H. A. March) and members of the Medical Society of Nova Scotia.

The chief features of to-morrow's work will be the address on surgery by Francis M. Caird, of Edinburgh, at 10 a.m.; the address in ophthalmology, by Dr. J. W. Stirling, of Montreal, at 3 p.m., and the address in gynaecology by Dr. Howard A. Kelly, of Baltimore, at 7.30.

BRIDGE BARRED THE STREAM

UNKNOWN PARTIES ATTEMPT TO GET RID OF STRUCTURE OVER CREEK NEAR BROOKVILLE.

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 22.—Early on Sunday morning an almost successful attempt was made to destroy by fire the new bridge recently erected over Jones Creek, near the mouth, about nine miles up the river from Brockville, Ont. Before very much damage was done the fire was discovered by some Brookville persons camped in the vicinity and put out with pails of water. The attempt was most deliberate and well planned, the superstructure being soaked with coal oil before the matches were applied.

It is supposed the fire was of incendiary origin because the bridge interferes with the free use for navigable purposes of the water in the creek. It is said that the persons interested in the erection and maintenance of the structure succeeded in getting the Ottawa Government to interest itself in the matter to the extent of declaring Jones creek to be an unnavigable stream. Whether this is true or not, it is a fact that the summer residence of the Hon. Clifford Sifton is situated at a point which derives the chief benefit from the erection and maintenance of the bridge. A big reward has been offered for the arrest and conviction of the firebugs.

PEACE CONFERENCE

MEETING POSTPONED UNTIL TOMORROW.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 22.—It has been decided to postpone until to-morrow the meeting of the Peace Conference which was to have taken place this afternoon. The failure of the secretaries to complete the protocols is given as the reason.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 22.—The following official bulletin was issued at 10.20 a.m.: "Owing to the impossibility of finishing before three o'clock this afternoon the work of preparing the protocols of the meetings of the conference to-day's meeting has been adjourned until 9.30 Wednesday morning."

STE. CUNEGONDE RECONSIDERS.

WILL DISCUSS ANNEXATION BY LAW IMMEDIATELY.

At last night's meeting of the Council of Ste. Cunegonde it was decided on motion of Ald. Hamelin, seconded by Ald. Geoffrion, to take into immediate consideration the conditions of annexation proposed by the City Council of Montreal. These conditions are contained in a by-law which was submitted for acceptance after it had received a first reading in Montreal.

The essential clauses of this by-law, which have already been published, may be summarized thus: Ste. Cunegonde will retain its name as a new ward of Montreal, and will be represented by two aldermen in the City Council. Its assets and liabilities will be consolidated with those of Montreal. The taxes and other municipal imposts will be the same as Montreal, and the new ward will be subject to the by-laws in force in the city, as well as to all enactments affecting the city or Ste. Cunegonde until the objects contemplated by such enactments have been attained. The by-laws of the city of Ste. Cunegonde are to remain in force, however, until May 1, 1906, after which date the new ward will come under the operation of the by-laws of Montreal. The two aldermen who shall be elected to represent the new ward in the Montreal Council will remain in office until Feb. 1, 1906. The permanent employees of Ste. Cunegonde will become employees of Montreal from the date of annexation and are to be employed, in positions corresponding as to the amount of salaries which they now receive, under the jurisdiction and at the discretion of the committee in charge of the departments. The chief of the fire and police force of Ste. Cunegonde (Mr. Tremblay) is to be appointed sub-chief of the Montreal fire brigade. The new City Hall of Ste. Cunegonde will be maintained permanently as a fire station and for other municipal purposes. The asphalt pavements and permanent sidewalks of the new ward are to be maintained in good repair without any special charge to the residents. No expropriations for improvements are to take place for a period of fifteen years.

The Council having unanimously resolved to consider these conditions, it was decided to hold a committee meeting to-morrow evening and to invite the following proprietors to join the council as a general committee to discuss the lands over without some expense in providing for their naval defences and the treatment of the colored population, which would entail a difficult problem.

Prince Louis of Battenberg, with his suite, arrived in the city at 6.30 this morning.

DECIDEDLY WARM

The sun turns hot. On all the silent street the dust lies white and thick. Along the road the grass grows and the weeds are tall. The spear-mint yields its fragrance to the heat. Not even the shade is cool. The wharves are still. But for the lazy creaking of the blocks at the mill-schooner raises useless sail, and drowsy ringing as the buoy rocks, just off the point, on every long, smooth swell.

Across the water where the line of sky and sea lies faint, a clearer streak of blue comes up and spreads, and all the languor die. The marsh grass stirs and sways. Along the wharves brisk, eager waves lap on the weedy piles. The schooner's bow throws down the glistening white. Of hissing foam. The harbor wakes and smiles. The south wind brings the sea's cool saltiness in. —Lippincott's.

BALMORAL BLOCK.

As the summer vacation is now drawing to a close, we desire to remind you that now is the time to purchase your Trunks and Valises which we have greatly reduced in price.

A fatal accident occurred on Sunday evening at Riviers aux Chiens, Ste. Anne de Beaupre, which resulted in the death of Adelard Racine, aged 27 years, son of Mr. Archange Racine, of the firm of Torreau & Racine, founders of this city.

The body of a dead man was found last evening in the gully on the east side of the picnic grounds at Port Stanley, Ont. Everything points to its being a case of suicide.

Mr. Matthew Parker, an aged man residing about three miles from Welland, Ont., was badly gored by a bull on Sunday night. The old gentleman had five ribs broken and one of the animal's horns passed through the fleshy part of his leg.

According to information received at Harriman, Tenn., a feud battle occurred on Sunday near Alice Station, on the Queen & Crescent Railway, a few miles south of Harriman Junction, in which Frederick Miller and his son, John Miller, aged 22, and Fred. Johnson were killed, and Henry Miller, another son of Frederick Miller, aged eighteen, was dangerously wounded.

Attempted murder will probably be the charge preferred at Toronto Junction against Marc Rinzetti, for whom the county constabulary are looking. The case is the result of a row which started while the men were at work one day last week.

CANADIAN CABLES.

London, Aug. 21.—The Dundee 'Advertiser' says the announcement of Mr. George, the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, that Canada must maintain tariff barriers even against Great Britain, will surprise no one acquainted with the trend of economic thought in the powerful association of which Mr. George is spokesman.

THE HON. MR. TARTE AND THE WORKINGMAN.

Over his own signature, the Hon. Mr. Tarte publishes in the 'Patrie' the report of a conversation which he had, on Sunday last, with one of the men employed by him in preparing the decorations for the Boucherville 'fete de nuit' of the previous day.

Mr. Tarte tells that he never offered any strong drink and had no liquor in the house. Taking advantage of the occasion, he made the man talk and learned from him that, although a good husband and father, he spent an average of one dollar a week for liquor.

Mr. Tarte concludes his report as follows: 'Is there not a whole world of moral teaching in that conversation between my workingman and myself, and is it not the duty of all intelligent citizens, bishops, priests, laymen, to call attention more and more to the terrible ravages of alcohol?'

CHINESE SERVANTS IN WESTERN CITIES

The women of Vancouver, and no doubt of other cities at the coast, have a grievance of their own in regard to the $500 tax imposed on each Chinaman entering Canada.

THE INVISIBLE NET. It sounds quite alluring to read in a story that the heroine had 'little tendrils and rings of hair which had escaped from their fastenings and were blown about her white neck and brow.'

There are two remedies, the veil and the invisible net, the latter now made large enough to cover the entire coiffure. The trouble with the net is that, in the way it is often put on, it is distinctly visible about the edges, and gives the whole coiffure a flattened look.

fully gives directions for putting the net on invisibly. Find the middle of the net at the end that is finished with the draw string, and hold it should be caught under the hair in the nape of the neck.

The mistake made by many novices is to begin by first adjusting the pompadour. This is not best, for it makes the entire pull then toward the back, tending to flatten the coiffure, whereas, when brought from the back up it preserves the contour better.

It is not unusual to find after the last pin is in that the work is not quite even, one side being a little flatter than the other. This is easily made right by taking a long hat pin and running it under the flat places, raising them until they are like the rest.

DEATH OF MR. TOLMIE.

The city of Montreal has lost a well and favorably known citizen by the death of Mr. Murdoch Tolmie, 162 St. Luke street. The deceased was born in Inverness, Scotland, and emigrated to Canada shortly after his marriage, in 1864. He immediately started in business as a carpenter and builder, first on Palace street, and later on Bishop street. During this time he formed an intimate acquaintance with a large circle of friends, to whom his death comes as a severe shock. He retired from business ten years ago, and enjoyed good health until two weeks ago, when he was stricken with apoplexy. Paralysis followed, and he passed away peacefully yesterday afternoon at the age of seventy-one years. He had been a member of Crescent Street Presbyterian Church since coming to this country. His widow and three sons survive. Four sisters reside in Scotland. The funeral will take place from his late residence at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 22, 1905.

Last Wednesday the people of Vermont dedicated a tower to the memory of Ethan Allen at Burlington. As a hero of the American Revolution and leader of the Green Mountain Boys, his chief exploit was the capture of Fort Ticonderoga in 1775. His fame arose principally from the bombastic reply he gave when questioned by the commander of the fort as to his authority for demanding its surrender. 'In the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress,' was his reply. Fort Ticonderoga, when he attacked it, was incapable of successful defence; it was cut off from hope of relief and surrounded by hostiles, so that its capture was no great feat. Ethan Allen found a harder nut to crack when he attempted to take Montreal, shortly after his exploits on Lake Champlain. Instead of him taking Montreal, Montreal took him, and held him prisoner of war until 1778, when he was exchanged. This is all the historical interest Canadians have in Ethan Allen.

President Castro, of Venezuela, shows his appreciation of President Roosevelt's new interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine by buying ships of war, laying in a stock of big guns, rifles and ammunition, and saying he is going to fight the Yankees. Evidently here is one republic in South America which objects to the overlordship of the United States. Castro is not afraid of the 'Big Stick' and, though his belligerent attitude may seem ridiculous, it has a serious side. He cannot be so devoid of common sense as not to know that the United States could make short work of smashing him and his army and navy. If there is any sense in his attitude at all his reliance cannot be on the individual power of Venezuela to defy and resist the great Republic of the north, but on the general feeling of opposition to its pretension to paramountcy which prevails in all the Spanish-American countries. For commercial reasons, the politicians of the United States are anxious to be on good terms with the southern republics. Though these may bitterly quarrel among themselves, they would, in sentiment at least, be united against dictation from the north. This is the only intelligible warrant for the warlike swaggering, by which Castro impresses his people with a notion of his greatness. He no doubt regards the United States as in a position where she cannot strike at him without risking consequences too disagreeable for contemplation.

It is edifying to note the strong preference of the Norwegians for a monarchical as compared with a republican form of government. They think that a small country, practically surrounded by powerful monarchies, would be placed at a disadvantage as a republic. Being a thrifty, economical people they have, from a study of republican forms of government, come to the conclusion that a monarchy is less expensive, when properly limited, than a republic, and more easily controlled. A republic, one of their writers contends, would mean rule by oligarchy and the cohesive power of public plunder, as in the United States. Such a combination, sure to arise from the conflict of parties, would be far more difficult to keep subordinate to the popular will than a royal establishment strictly limited within constitutional safeguards. No republic is more democratic than Norway already is and has long been. It is an actual democracy, with actual peasant rule, and not a plutocracy disguised as a democracy—a wolf in sheep's clothing. And no country anywhere is more thoroughly or better governed. Everything bows to the good of the people. They have enjoyed this well regulated freedom under a monarchy and they want nothing else. A king, according to their notion, is to all intents and purposes, a permanent president of a republic in which, as in Britain, the people enjoy, under monarchical forms, freedom as great as could be had in a republic, with all the advantages that flow from a non-partisan chief magistracy, placed high above the struggles of parties, and exercising a beneficent social influence. There is no echoing of the Marseillaise or flaunting of the red flag by these sensible Norwegians. They indulge in no illusions. Knowing what they want and determined to maintain their liberty and independence, they seek to establish that form of government which will give the best assurance for the preservation of these great and paramount objects.

Russian objections to the peace terms proposed by Japan have met with a rather disconcerting response in the reproduction of an article which appeared in the St. Petersburg 'Novoye Vremya' at the beginning of the war. In its political utterances that journal is considered semi-official, or, at least, inspired. At any rate, the press censor does not allow it to print anything distasteful to the government. The article referred to is, therefore, regarded as correctly stating the terms Russia would have imposed upon Japan had she been victorious. The 'Novoye Vremya' was quite confident that Japan would be crushed, and, among other things, would have to submit to entire exclusion from the mainland, deprivation of all influence in Korea and China, the transfer of Formosa to Russia, the surrender of all her war vessels, with a pledge never to build or buy any more such ships, an indemnity sufficient to cover all Russia's expenses in prosecuting the war, Japanese customs houses to be placed in charge of Russian officials till the indemnity was paid. These penalties were what the leading St. Petersburg journal set forth, with official approval, as the terms Russia would exact from Japan. Practically they would mean the destruction of Japanese independence, and their publication at the beginning of the war gave confirmation to the Japanese conviction that the war was for them a life or death struggle. Now that Russia has been so far defeated that she must accept the position of the vanquished, she must not complain if Japan imposes on her a fainter reflection of the terms she formulated as just penalties for defeat. It has further more been pointed out that the terms Russia intended to impose on Japan were very like those she imposed on Turkey at the close of her last war with that power, including indemnity and cession of territory. All this goes to show that Russia is now in the disagreeable position of being asked to take a dose of the same medicine that she forced on others, and would have compelled Japan to swallow had she been the victor in the present war.

DRINK'S DECREASE AND INCREASE.

It would seem that 'England's reproach' is about to be removed. Notwithstanding the increase of population, the consumption of alcoholic liquors has very sensibly decreased during the past five years. The diminution of consumption is shown in the following official returns:—

1900	a diminution of	£1,046,031 ($7,230,453)
1901	"	5,142,583 ($37,714,765)
1902	"	2,228,428 ($16,191,130)
1903	"	5,054,546 ($37,272,739)
1904	"	5,458,106 ($39,790,530)

Mr. Austen Chamberlain, in his budget speech, said that 'A wave of sobriety has passed over the country,' and the change in the habits of many of the people is credited largely to the campaign against intoxicants on the part of many eminent physicians, which has worked upon a 'public feeling prepared by education and social influence.' In the five years for which the figures are given above, a total decrease of some eighty-five million dollars is shown, much the greatest decrease having taken place during the past two years. Such a sum is a graphic sign of a great change in the habits of a people. In Canada, on the other hand, the drink bill is increasing alarmingly. The total duty collected by the excise on spirits, malt liquor, and malt during the past five years has been as follows:—

1900	..	$5,612,149
1901	..	6,085,052
1902	..	6,613,522
1903	..	7,015,004
1904	..	7,664,119

The greatest increase has been in spirits, upon which, in 1900, the excise duties paid amounted to $4,774,527, compared with $6,591,445 last year. In the same period, too, the duty collected on cigars increased from $225,005 for 1900, to $1,070,823 last year, and that on tobacco from $3,252,505 to $4,050,257. The prosperity of the country probably accounts for much of these increases. Drinking men in good times very often drink more than in bad times, or drink more expensively. Whether any of the increase must be apportioned to any spreading of drinking habits we do not know. Something is also to be credited to the increase of the population. Taking the census figures of 1901 as the basis of calculation, or 5,371,315, the per capita increase in the excise duty collected in Canada on intoxicants shows as follows: In 1900, every man, woman and child contributed $1.05 to the excise; in 1901, the contribution increased to $1.12; in 1902, to $1.23; in 1903, to $1.30, and last year it had increased to $1.43. Regarding the population as stationary, the per capita increase of duty collected, comparing 1900 with 1904, is 38 cents, or 36 percent; but if we take the 1901 census figures for 1900, and allow six millions for the population at the present time, the per capita payment of duty is reduced to $1.28, and the increase during the five years is reduced to 23 cents per capita, or about 22 percent. It is very questionable, however, whether the population amounts to so much as six millions, or, at least, that it did last year. During the five years, 1899-1903, the Royal Commission on the Liquor Traffic in Canada reported that the average consumption of spirits, wine and malt liquors for those years was 4.48 gallons a head; for 1899, the per capita consumption was 4.7 gallons a head, and for 1903 it is given at 5.6 gallons a head. The total consumption in the United States for 1903 was 1,606,545,301, and the population about eighty millions, which works out at twenty gallons a head; while the consumption in the United Kingdom for 1903 amounted to 1,605,469,105, and the population was about 42,500,000, which figures out at about thirty-eight gallons a head. Canada, therefore, still compares wonderfully favorably in respect of drinking with the Mother Country and the United States. But the figures would be more valuable if they gave the amount of pure alcohol consumed as well as the total quantity of wines, spirits and malt liquors drunk.

A RACE GATHERING.

It is pleasing to observe that the dominant sentiments expressed by the speakers in the Acadian convention at Arichat were loyalty to Great Britain, contentment with the laws and institutions of the Dominion, and hopefulness for the future. Satisfactory progress was noted in the matters of primary and higher education, the teaching of the French language, material prosperity and devotion to the Church. Apart from a certain historic wall that marks all Celtic patriotism, associated, in their case with that painful episode by which an end was at last put to the interminable strife between the English and French settlers, the only note of sadness was in the references to the more recent and more voluntary exodus of the same people in the same direction. But now, as of old, the Acadians are not alone in that form of depletion. Emigration from the Maritime Provinces has been going on continuously. The industrial attractions in the towns of New England naturally draw young people from rural districts, where the opportunities for getting on in the world are few and restricted. Father Bellevue's regret was added to by the fact that many of those who go to the United States are lost, not only to Canada and the Acadian race, but to the Church. The American maelstrom swallows and assimilates all sorts of people, and while it may be comparatively easy to segregate the Acadians in New Brunswick, like their co-religionists in Canada, it is impossible to do so in the United States.

While, from a broad national point of view, it would be better for the Acadians and all other races to become welded into one Canadian people, we cannot but sympathize with the sentiment with which they cling to their usages and traditions. But unless the aim is to make Acadia into an Acadia, it is plain that the more they live apart, from the life and thought of the Dominion and the continent, the more they must lose touch with the progress of the age. Is it not a sad misuse of the word national to associate it with efforts to keep our people apart? There is no element in our population more worthy than the Acadians. In physical stamina they have no superiors. They are peaceable, law-abiding and morally exemplary. Anything that the government can do, in the way of colonization or otherwise, to keep them in Canada would be heartily approved. But is it not regrettable to see some of the most broad-minded of leaders giving counsel in favor of a policy which runs directly counter to real nationhood? And is it not pardonable if occasionally those of other race, or at least of other speech, ask if they are accounted as lepers, that Senator Berthiaume should recommend his people to eschew their company?

A Quebec newspaper, in eulogizing Lord Grey, thanks him with evident sincerity for giving the French-Canadian people credit for genuine loyalty, and expresses resentment that this confidence in their steadfast attachment to the crown is not universally admitted. It may not have occurred to the writer of that article that a great and unnecessary strain is put upon such confidence by those most interested, by the constant preference of foreign to British emblems. We have of late seen many carloads of happy school children passing through the streets, in every case waving the flag of France, and in no case that of our own King. Can any one be blamed for looking on these signs as evidence of an established purpose in certain quarters to bring up the rising generation in ingrained anti-British sentiments? Can any one be blamed for asking if it is for this that the leaders of the people so unanimously demand that the education of their children shall be under separate control? There is no doubt that there is a great deal of unreasoning and un-British intolerance and repulsion in Protestant quarters, and an unwillingness to accord to others the equal rights which we demand for ourselves. But such sentiments, though sometimes frantically invoked, do not control the English-speaking community. We regret that they should exist. We also regret that they should have such obvious and such useless excuse as the customs and separatist sentiments which we have mentioned.

THE DAY'S ACCIDENTS.

Harry McCarthy had his foot fractured to-day by a heavy box falling upon it while working in a shop at 90 Delormier avenue. He was taken in the ambulance to the General Hospital. The ambulance of the Notre Dame Hospital was called this morning to the corner of Berri and Ontario streets for Pierre Joubert, a six-year-old boy, who had fallen from a stairway and cut his forearm.

PRINCE HENRY TO VISIT AMERICA

Berlin, Aug. 21.—The 'Tagblatt' says it has received confirmation from a member of the entourage of Prince Henry of Prussia, of the report that the Prince soon will make another visit to the United States. The details of the trip and the time for it have not been settled yet.

LONGUEUIL SCHOOLS.

The financial statement of the secretary-treasurer of the Protestant School Board of the Town and Parish of Longueuil for the school year 1904-5 shows the total receipts to have been $2,880.74, and the disbursements $2,770.79, thus leaving a balance on hand of $109.95. The Longueuil Model School, reopened on Monday, Sept. 4, under the principalship of Mr. A. McPhee, assisted by Misses A. Hamilton, E. M. Sulley and E. de Kastner. The large new school building offers ample accommodation for two hundred and fifty students, and the efficient staff of teachers, with the comparatively small cost, ensures for it an increased attendance of pupils during the approaching term.

THE POLICE COURT

DESERTER FROM H. M. S. 'DRAKE' ARRESTED IN MONTREAL.

George Lockett, a stoker on H. M. S. 'Drake,' of the squadron now at Quebec, deserted and came to Montreal. He was found by the city detectives yesterday afternoon, and officers from the 'Drake' are expected to arrive this afternoon to take him back to his ship. He was dressed as a civilian when arrested, and was looking eagerly towards the western harvest fields.

Robert Finn and Michael Power, arrested by Constable Demers, and charged with the theft of a quantity of cheese, were to-day found guilty in the Court of Special Sessions and sentenced by Judge Choquet to two years each in the penitentiary.

John Smith, accused of having stolen about a hundred and twenty dollars in French money, was to-day discharged from custody, there not being sufficient evidence before the court on which to convict.

Louis Boucher was to-day sent to jail for six months for the theft of a fur coat from Mr. J. B. Baillargeon.

A RESPIRE FOR KING.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—It is thought that the government will consent to postpone for a week the execution of King, the Edmonton murderer. The people of that place are anxious not to have the celebrations attending the inauguration of their new province marred by a hanging.

BELL FOR ALL SAINTS.

Through the generosity of Mr. G. M. Bosworth, fourth vice-president of the U. P. R., All Saints Church has secured a bell, which is now doing duty in the tower.

CARRIED OFF BY A MOOSE.

Miraculous adventures form the staple of the 'Wide World Magazine,' and probably the most 'thrilling' story in the August number is the account of how Abbott Nelson was carried on the great antlers of an infuriated moose-bull a distance of three miles, nearly drowned in a lake which the moose swam from shore to shore, and finally flung this way and that while the animal gave battle to a rival.

The moose had burst upon the hunter as he was plodding along a woodland pathway, and the branch of the tree on which he took refuge gave way and he landed full on the antlers of the infuriated animal, and was pinioned there by the broken branch, which was firmly caught in the tines of the antlers.

Over the hills and vales the terrified moose travelled at a sharp trot, with his strange burden firmly attached, resisting all attempts at dislodgment. Now he crashed through a dense growth of underbrush, now through the dark corridors of a bit of gloomy fir forest; then out again into the open, across a barren waste studded with grey granite boulders, and dotted here and there with small ponds and lakelets. So bruised and buffeted was the hunter during this wild, Mazepa-like journey that he lost consciousness, and remembers the fearful ride but vaguely.

He was revived by the sound of the splashing of waves and the shock of an occasional dip into the coolness of dark water. Opening his eyes and looking around him, he made the startling discovery that the great moose was bearing him across a large lake nearly two miles from shore to shore.

Once landed the moose seemed uncertain whether to advance or recede. The reason for his hesitancy soon dawned on the hunter, for with a loud trampling of the undergrowth and hoarse bellowing of the challenge note another bull-moose appeared on the scene preparing to dispute the passage of the trail, and evidently full of fight.

A few seconds more elapsed ere the two mighty monsters closed in fierce battle. At first they struck heavy blows at each other with their forefeet, but at length, as the starting discovery that the great moose was bearing him across a large lake nearly two miles from shore to shore.

At length there was a sharp shock, a tearing sound, and, to his intense relief, the hunter found himself forcibly detached from his perch and flung full length on the ground—bruised and bleeding, it is true, yet alive and with no bones broken.

BLIND MEN SUCCESSFUL FISHERMEN.

(From the Chicago 'Chronicle.')
Three blind men fished skillfully, side by side, in a launch off Anglesa, drawing in black bass and flounders at the rate of one a minute. They never missed a bite. They never failed to land a fish. Only the captain had to bait their hooks for them—but then the captain baits the hooks of all deep sea anglers as a rule.

The sightless trio, smiling, said that blind fishermen were not rare; that in the institution where they lived a full third of the inmates fished. They pointed out that fishing is a sport singularly suited for the blind. To sit still, to catch fish by 'feeling' them on the line, is, indeed, the only sport where the blind are at no disadvantage. Fly fishing, of course, is beyond them on account of the difficulties of the cast. Side by side in the rocking launch, hauling in the bass and flounders briskly, their faces growing redder and redder with sunburn, the three blind men fished and smoked and chattered, and at the day's end it was found that they had severally caught more fish than any other men aboard.

STRIKE IN POLAND.

Employees in all the Factories in Warsaw and Lodz Go Out.

GENERAL STRIKE OF RAILWAY EMPLOYEES WILL FOLLOW.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 21.—The employees of all the factories in Warsaw and Lodz have struck. It is rumored that there will be a general strike of railway employees throughout Russia soon.

HOPE FOR POLITICAL FREEDOM.

London, Aug. 22.—A correspondent of the 'Standard' at Moscow telegraphs:—'With the exception of official circles at St. Petersburg and those having relatives at the front, the question of peace interests nobody. Russia to a soul, is a nation filled with hopes of political freedom.'

A despatch to the 'Standard' from St. Petersburg says that it is reported from Helsingfors that the Czar is considering the question of an extra session of the Diet, to deal with Finland's relation to the duma. Martial law has been proclaimed at Mitau in the Government of Courland on account of the revolt of the peasants. The insurgents have gone to the length of establishing a rival government in imitation of the example of the Georgians and Armenians.

THOUSANDS STARVING.

London, Aug. 22.—A despatch to the 'Daily Mail' from St. Petersburg says that the results of the continuous strikes are becoming terribly apparent. Among the strikers of the Putiloff Works, who, with their families, number sixty thousand, hunger and disease are making terrible ravages. The number of deaths, especially among the children, is alarming. The state of things at Ivanovnessensk is worse. The strike there lasted three months and fifteen thousand are absolutely starving. The number of deaths from hunger exceeds those among the Putiloff workers.

PRINCE KILKOFF FOR MANCHURIA.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 21.—Prince Kilkoff, Minister of Railway Communications, will start to-night for Manchuria. It is announced that his mission is to supervise the transport service during the coping campaign.

CHECKING REFORMERS.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 21.—The police at last have applied a check to the activity of the central bureau of the league and confederation of professional reform organizations by descending to-day on the meeting of the central committee and arresting ten of the leaders present. In this committee are included university lecturers, doctors, engineers, lawyers and other professional men. The organizations of which the league is made up, composed of the most advanced reformers, and since its organization the central bureau has passed through radicalism to the verge of revolution.

Paul M. Milukoff, at whose home in St. Petersburg the arrests were made, and who was among those arrested, formerly was a professor in the University of St. Petersburg. He had just returned from a lecture trip down the Volga with the litterateur Tahn, one of the socialist leaders, and an article from his pen, violently assailing the Douma project, has appeared in the latest number of the weekly 'Pravo.'

REDUCTION IN GRAIN RATES.

The Great Northern Railway has announced a sweeping reduction in its grain rates throughout its eastern territory, extending to the boundary of Montana. The reduction ranges from five cents a hundred for the most distant points, to half a cent per hundred from points nearest St. Paul and the head of navigation on the Great Lakes.

LAW FOR STREET VENDORS

POLICE COMMITTEE WILL INVESTIGATE COMPLAINTS OF STREET NOISES.

Investigation is to be held concerning a complaint recently made by Alderman Marchand at a meeting of the Police Committee that street vendors were responsible for a great nuisance in the city by reason of their loud shouts and cries in the street while disposing of their goods.

The street vendors are an organized body and their president, Mr. Remi Renaud, called at the City Hall yesterday and said they were opposed to excessive shouting on the streets. The by-law prohibiting the practice will now be more strictly enforced.

Under the regulation governing street peddling a vendor was charged in the Recorder's Court yesterday afternoon with having a license not granted in his name. He had bought it from another vendor. This kind of transfer is prohibited by by-law 313 and the arrest was made at the request of the Fruit Vendors' Association.

The action is taken, it is said, on principle, the members of the Association contending that if transfers are to be permitted, objectionable persons may get licenses by purchasing them from obliging friends.

The hearing of the case was adjourned.

WESTMOUNT GARBAGE

WILL BE UTILIZED IN CONNECTION WITH NEW ELECTRIC LIGHTING PLANT.

The Council of the town of Westmount have taken the initial steps in the establishment of a joint garbage destroyer and electric lighting plant. At a special meeting of citizens, protests against the erection of such a plant were submitted by Messrs. R. W. Smith, F. Luck, W. de M. Marler and W. Smith, property holders, of St. Catherine street, but, as these protests depended upon the plant being built above the C. P. R. track, they were filed, and no action was taken on them. The Railway and Light Committee's report recommended that the tender of Messrs. Meldrum Bros. of Timperley, England, for one of their garbage consumers, at a price of $13,475, be accepted. The report was adopted, and it was decided that the immediate erection of the necessary buildings and boilers be proceeded with under the direction of Messrs. Ross and Holgate, the engineers in charge.

The purchase of a new rotary stone crusher at a cost of $1,120, was authorized. This action was made necessary on account of the inadequacy of the machine at present in operation to perform the necessary work.

RAILWAY PERSONALS.

Mr. W. F. Tye, chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has returned from a trip through the west. He reports that the company's extensions there are progressing rapidly.

Mr. Archie Glasco has been engaged on the engineering staff of the G. T. P., and not as bridge engineer, as announced. Mr. D. D. Mann, vice-president of the Canadian Northern Railway, left the city last evening for Ottawa. He has just returned from Nova Scotia, where he inspected the Halifax and South-western Railway, which will run along the Atlantic coast from Halifax to Yarmouth. This railway will be completed by midsummer next year. Charming from a scenic point of view, Mr. Mann is confident of a prosperous future for the route, which will be one of the feeders of the Canadian Northern when that line makes its Atlantic connection.

SHOOTING AT LONG BRANCH.

At the thirty-sixth annual Ontario Rifle Association meet, held yesterday at the Long Branch Rifle range there were 350 entries. Nearly every province of the Dominion is well represented. In the Canadian Club match; seven shots at 600 yards, Quarter-Master Sergeant Dymond, C.S.O.M., with a score of 35, secured first place. Private Drysdale, of the 3rd Vics., scored 33, and Private C. L. Morrice, 7th, 1st Prince of Wales Fusiliers, scored 31 points.

'BENNINGTON' INQUIRY.

EXPLOSION RESULTED FROM THE CLOSING OF A VALVE.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 22.—Mr. Bonaparte, Secretary of the United States Navy, yesterday received and made public the proceedings and findings of the court of enquiry, which investigated the explosion on the gunboat 'Bennington' at San Diego, Cal., on July 21. The findings were a complete surprise for they at once set at rest stories to the effect that the 'Bennington's' boilers and perhaps those of other naval vessels of the same age were defective. The court found that the explosion resulted from the closing of a valve, which connected the exploded boiler with its steam gauge.

While praise was accorded to the officers and ship's company for their conduct during the harrowing scenes following the accident, the officers and men who were responsible in the opinion of the court were pointed out and court martial proceedings suggested in the case of only one of those surviving, Ensign Charles T. Wade, who was in charge of the engineering department at the time of the explosion.

THE PRINCE'S DAY.

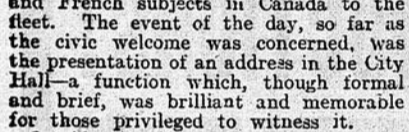

No Time to Spare Since Early Morning AN EARNEST AND GRACEFUL REPLY TO THE CITY'S WELCOME.

The popularity of the British navy, wherever the British flag flies, is always exemplified in the heartiness and warmth with which officers of the fleet are received wherever they go.

The Second Cruiser Squadron, commanded by Rear-Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg, now visiting Canada, has been royally feted in Quebec; now it is the turn of Montreal, as the metropolis, to welcome the admiral and his staff in her midst.

All over the city, wherever a flagstaff stood, flew flags and banners, English and French, side by side, typifying the cordial rapprochement recently witnessed between the British and French navies.

H.S.H. PRINCE LOUIS OF BATTENBERG

at Portsmouth, and the unity of the welcome given by the King's English and French subjects in Canada to the fleet. The event of the day, so far as the civic welcome was concerned, was the presentation of an address in the City Hall—a function which, though formal and brief, was brilliant and memorable for those privileged to witness it.

Outside the City Hall, extended from Gosford street to Jacques Cartier square, a single cordon of police on each side of Notre Dame street kept the crowd which gathered in hundreds towards 11 o'clock back. Within the hall, while no lavish decorations had been attempted, what was done was effective and in excellent taste.

Opposite the Mayor's chair, was the presentation of an address in the City Hall—a function which, though formal and brief, was brilliant and memorable for those privileged to witness it.

Quite recently Europe has witnessed the happy spectacle of French and English sailors exchanging courtesies—nay, more than courtesies, pledges of esteem and friendship. British tars were entertained on French soil; those of France saluted with respect the statue of England's greatest admiral.

Here, in Canada, more than anywhere else, on the globe, have we reason to welcome that proud agreement, ratified at Brest and Portsmouth, which is a presage of peace to all mankind. Esto perpetua.

In the royal navy, of which Your Serene Highness is one of the commanders, we recognize the chief bulwark of that peace, of that good-will between the motherlands of Canada. In you we honor one of those captains who is a noble link between the empire's crown and the empire's shield.

Mr. J. A. T. Archambault and Mr. Campeau (chief of police). The spectacle presented when the electric lights were turned on was a brilliant one, the gold and blue of the naval uniforms and the scarlet of the military unit plants and the blended hues of flags and shields, forming a pleasing contrast with the staid morning dress of the civilians present, and constituting a picture which, for vivid coloring and striking effect, has seldom been witnessed within the sombre walls of Montreal's City Council chamber.

The actual ceremony was of but a few minutes' duration. Mayor Laporte, addressing Prince Louis, read the following address, first in English and then in French:— To His Serene Highness Prince Louis Alexander of Battenberg, G.C.B., G.C.V.O., Personal A. D. C. to His Royal Majesty King Edward VII., Rear-Admiral, R.N., etc., etc., etc.

May it please Your Serene Highness:— The citizens of Montreal are happy to have the opportunity of saluting in your person one of the members of the royal family, and a worthy representative of the British navy.

It is not, indeed, the first occasion with which they have been favored of thus expressing their devotion; and Your Serene Highness can bear witness that their loyal sentiments have not been weakened by time.

The glorious task of peacemaker, which His Majesty King Edward so fruitfully discharges in the troubled scene of the world, and the high reputation of His Royal House, are nowhere more appreciated than in Canada, nor can any nation boast of a ruler more wise, more thoughtful for his people's weal.

The citizens of Montreal are glad to honor in your Serene Highness a true sailor, who helped, when need arose, to make the world respect the British flag. They know what the British navy has done to promote the progress and prosperity of the world, upholding in every sea the fortune of England, her institutions, her commercial and industrial genius.

They know the history of that great service and of its illustrious admirals, a history charged with deeds of heroism. Their ancestors testified to their admiration for it when they raised in one of our public squares a monument to the deathless Nelson, whose name and fame this centennial year has made more dear than ever to his countrymen.

Quite recently Europe has witnessed the happy spectacle of French and English sailors exchanging courtesies—nay, more than courtesies, pledges of esteem and friendship. British tars were entertained on French soil; those of France saluted with respect the statue of England's greatest admiral.

Here, in Canada, more than anywhere else, on the globe, have we reason to welcome that proud agreement, ratified at Brest and Portsmouth, which is a presage of peace to all mankind. Esto perpetua.

press my keen regret, shared by them all, that the great size of the ships has prevented the squadron from steaming up to Montreal, notwithstanding all the enterprise has already achieved in deepening the river, and which, I understand, will, by next year, result in a 30-foot channel from the sea to this city.

The recent manifestations of mutual good-will and friendship, born of mutual respect and won in many a hard-fought battle, between two great nations of the old world, acquire a peculiar significance and valuation in this portion of the new world, where the descendants of the same two nations have now for generations worked side by side, in the utmost loyalty to the common Sovereign, in the noble task of developing the boundless resources of a happy land.

In the same spirit in which my colleagues of France recently saluted the Trafalgar Square statue of our immortal Nelson, I have, within the last few days, reverently visited the tomb of that great French warrior whose name is so inseparably connected with the old Canada of this province.

Your appreciation, so admirably and eloquently expressed, of the great share the navy had in building up the Empire, and of the guarantee it offers for the further development and consolidation of that world-wide trade on which its prosperity rests, shows how thoroughly the people of Canada—both French and English—understand what a strong navy means to our country.

The luncheon tendered to Prince Louis and the officers of the squadron by the officers and members of the Forest and Stream Club at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon at the club house, Dorval, was a most enjoyable affair.

The party left the Windsor station by special train for Dorval at 1.15 o'clock, and on arrival at the latter place they were driven to the club house, which had been specially decorated for the reception of the guest and the officers of the squadron.

The chair was occupied by Lieut.-Col. Whitehead, while on his right sat the Prince. After luncheon the toast to the King was loyally honored. Prince Louis and the invited guests were afterwards given a sail through Lake St. Louis, and at the time of leaving Dorval it was the intention to return to the city by boat.

Among the prominent citizens invited were Sir Montagu Allan, His Worship the Mayor, Lieut.-Col. Whitehead, Mr. W. R. Miller, Mr. A. B. Evans, Mr. D. W. Bole, Mr. C. J. McCuaig, Mr. Forbes Angus, Mr. M. McLennan, Mr. A. E. Ogilvie, Mr. G. W. Stephens, Mr. F. N. Beaudry, Mr. J. Abbott, Mr. P. W. Thompson, Mr. A. D. Sadler, Mr. Angus Hooper, Mr. George Hooper, Mr. J. G. Kilton, Mr. Hugh Paton, Mr. William Starke, Mr. C. M. Hays, the Hon. Senator Mackay, Lieut.-Col. Starke, Mr. G. L. Cains and Sir Gilbert Parker, M.P.

This evening Prince Louis and the officers of his party will be the guests of the garrison of Montreal at dinner at seven o'clock. At a quarter past eight o'clock the grand naval and military tournament will be given in the Arena, under Prince Louis's patronage.

they are to astonish the public of Montreal at the tournament this evening. There is no more sportive creature under the sun than the British Jack Tar, and the men this morning put a lot of fanciful extras into their gymnastics. The few citizens who were privileged to witness them at practice must have been completely puzzled at their behavior. It was a sort of chaos without confusion. Two or three hundred men were at times rushing hither and thither, all busy pulling or pushing at nothing, and all in the end managing to disentangle themselves and come out in the orderly squad formation with which they began. The explanation of the apparent confusion was that they were practising without the apparatus which they will use this evening.

Dressed in blue trousers, brown gaiters and flannel shirts, they worked with a will all the morning. Whether the blazing sun of the Arena grounds or in the shade of the Arena itself, it made no difference to them.

The men brought with them half a dozen twelve-pounder guns—dazzling weapons of burnished steel, fitted up with rope larnes so that they themselves can supply the motive power for hauling them from place to place. These guns are to be used in the tournament this evening, which, judging from the nature of the competitions outlined this morning, is to be of a highly interesting nature.

When they go to New York. After their stay at Quebec the Second Cruiser Squadron will proceed to New York. It is seldom in the past that Americans have had the opportunity of entertaining British sailors, though the ships of the United States have repeatedly enjoyed the hospitality of British ports. The latest advice from the American metropolis, however, indicate that the visit of Prince Louis's squadron during the first week in October will be the occasion of a remarkable demonstration of fraternity and good will between the Jack Tars of the navies of Great Britain and the United States.

Invited to Windsor. Windsor, Ont., Aug. 22.—An effort is being made to have H.S.H. Prince Henry of Battenberg visit this city and unveil the fountain being constructed opposite the post-office in memory of the Essex Volunteers who lost their lives in the South African war. It was the original intention to request General Roberts to unveil the monument, but the latter will not visit Canada this year.

Grand Trunk Pacific Tenders were opened to-day for a section of the track.

Tenders for the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway from Portage la Prairie west to Touchwood Hills, were opened to-day by Mr. Frank Morse, vice-president and general manager of the company.

The tenders numbered about a dozen, several of them being delivered personally by contractors from western points, who had journeyed to the city for the purpose, and who are now staying here awaiting the decision. These include Mr. J. D. Mann, of Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann; Mr. Donald Stewart, of Farnell, Mann; Mr. Tim Foley, of Messrs. Foley Bros., St. Paul; Mr. Peter Larson, of Helena, Montana, and his partner, Mr. J. Stewart, of Winnipeg.

Indecent Post Cards Chief Campeau recently gave instructions to Lieut. Landriault to visit all stores in which illustrated post-cards are sold and order the suppression of all indecent picture cards. The exposure in store windows of indecent postal cards was complained of as scandalous and had it been allowed much longer, it is said, might have resulted in the postal authorities withdrawing private post-card privileges. A great difference has been noticed in the character of the illustrations exhibited within the past week or two. The lieutenant's warning was effective.

Against Public Weal. Jennie Vincent, for keeping a disorderly house, was to-day sentenced to a fine of $50 or three months. Five women, found in her house, were fined $10 each and one man $5.

DETROIT UNITED RAILWAY.

Troublesome Clause in Stock Transfer Bill has Been Amended.

NEW YORK PRICES—LOCAL MARKET QUIET BUT STEADY.

The earnings of the Detroit United Railway for the month of July showed a considerable increase over the corresponding period of last year. The net income amounted to $49,867, but after deducting expenses and taxes showed a heavy increase over previous months the amount considerably reducing the record of net increases for the previous months of this year. The net income for July amounted to only $11,136, compared with $24,343 in June, about $200,000 in April and May, $35,000 in March, $22,000 in January. The ratio of operating expenses to gross is, however, not by any means heavy, even for the month under review, being only 56.81 percent, contrasted with 61.51 percent in the month of July, 1904. The surplus for July showed an increase of $12,014 over the corresponding period of last year. For the seven months ending July 31, gross earnings increased $2,607, and net increased $182,168, or an average of monthly increase of over $36,000. The seven months' surplus made the good showing of $489,546, or an increase of $100,685.

The tremendous earning expansion of the company, together with the increase in dividend from four to five percent, the new rate came into force on the first day of this month, has naturally caused more than usual interest to be taken in the stock by investors on the local market at a price around 94 to 95; this will give a return of about 5.26 on the investment. It is predicted that the stock will reach par at an early date, such prediction being based on the earnings powers of the system.

Clause No. 1 of the Stock Transfer Act, recently passed by the Quebec Government, has been modified, and put into a more workable shape. In the original clause there was a stipulation that a tax would be required upon every sale, transfer or assignment of shares, bonds, debentures, or debenture stock issued by any corporation or company. Owing to the difficulty in applying the rule the department at Quebec has made the following modification:

Collectors to be instructed that the intention of the Act is to tax only the mutation of ownership owing to contract, that only one tax is to be levied on each contract, that the tax may be paid on the contract or on the transfer or assignment necessary to give it effect, but that the tax once paid, transfers or assignments connected with the contract, and convenient, but not necessary to carry it into effect, are not to be again taxed.

Twin City gross for July shows an increase of 49,246; the net increase is $41,963; surplus increase, $31,179. From Jan. 1, gross increase, $161,534; net increase $100,418; surplus increase, $42,792. For second week Aug. increase, $6,289. From July 1, increase, $19,545.

'Soot' earnings for the second week in August increased $31,038. From July 1, to date, the increase is $229,830.

Toronto Railway earnings for the week ending Aug. 10, show an increase of $5,219 over the corresponding period of a year ago.

Comparative statement of gross earnings of principal tractions listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange from Jan. 1 to Aug. 14:

Table with columns for Year (1904, 1905), Increase, Montreal, Toronto, Twin City, Detroit, Toledo.

Toronto Railway is only compiled up to Aug. 7.

The Imperial Bank of Canada has recently opened two new branches, one at Ridgeway, Ont., under the management of Mr. W. H. Collard, and one at Cobalt, New Ontario, under the management of Mr. F. W. Marsh.

The United States Government figures indicate the following estimate of the crops: Wheat, 790,000,000 bushels, valued $800,000,000. Corn, 2,037,000,000 bushels, valued $1,200,000,000. Oats, 949,000,000 bushels, valued $395,000,000. Cotton, 10,000,000 bales, valued $200,000,000.

Montreal Street Railway earnings for the week ending Aug. 19 shows an increase of $4,800 over the corresponding period of 1904.

'Soo' directors have declared the regular semi-annual dividend of two percent on the common stock, and 3 1/2 percent on the preferred, both payable on Oct. 16, to stockholders of record on Sept. 30.

There was generally easier tone on Wall Street this morning on the opening transaction. London started the decline on unfavorable news from Portsmouth, and there was a session of heavy selling which depressed the market of the support that had held the upward range of prices so well of late. A severe break on Wall Street is due, and a decline of several points during the course of the next few days.

would not surprise those who appreciate the already high prices at which many of the stocks are held. Locally, conditions were very dull, the only feature being a falling off in Havana common, losing a large fraction early in the session at 23, but recovering to 23 1/2. On the turnover of a fair sized parcel, Canadian Pacific was quiet, but steady at 160. Scotia was a small fraction lower at 66 1/2. Detroit opened at a slight improvement at 94 1/2, later dropping to 94 1/4. Considering the break in New York prices the local market held exceptionally well, there being a clear demonstration of an underlying strength which may be very acceptable if there is to be anything like a slump on the greater market of New York.

MORNING EXCHANGE SALES. Mont. St. Ry.—25 at 23 1/2. Twins.—50 at 118. Detroit.—100 at 94 1/4. 75 at 94 1/2. Havana.—25 at 24, 50 at 23 1/2, 5 at 24, 50 at 23, 100 at 23 1/2. Toledo.—125 at 35 1/2. Halifax Ry.—20 at 104. Telephone.—25 at 155 1/2, 25 at 156 1/2. Can. Pac.—25 at 160. Scotia.—100 at 66 1/2. Telegraph.—1 at 165. Montreal Cotton.—1 at 116. Iron preferred.—50 at 72.

GRAIN MARKETS. The condition of the flour market is unchanged and prices are steady. The demand is limited, being principally for small lots to fill immediate wants. The demand for rolled oats is quiet and prices are unchanged. Cornmeal is quiet and prices are unchanged at $1.45 to $1.50 per bag. Millfeed is in active demand and prices are well maintained.

Enquiries for bran for export account are numerous and dealers are unable to keep up with the orders. Trade in baled hay is active and a firm tone is given to the market by the scant delivery, which is hardly up to requirements. Business in oats for local account is quiet and sales are principally in small lots for immediate consumption. Prices are unchanged. We quote for the old crop, 42c to 43c for No. 2 white, and 41c for No. 3. Oats of this year's harvesting are offered at 35c to 37c for No. 2 in car load lots. Beans are firm and unchanged at $1.65 to $1.70 for choice primes per bushel, and $1.60 in car load lots. Soup peas are scarce and quotations are firm at $1.15 per bushel; No. 2 for feed purposes are offered at 84c to 85c.

DAIRY PRODUCE. To-day receipts of butter and cheese by rail and canal were 3,251 packages of butter and 9,545 boxes of cheese. On the basis of prices paid in the country holders of cheese would have to get 11 1/2c to 11 3/4c for Western cheese, but a comparison of these figures with the cable quotations from the Old Country shows that very little business can be done at these prices. Some lots of cheese that were bought some time ago for less money are going forward, but trade generally is quiet. Quotations this morning are 11 1/2c to 11 3/4c for Ontario and 11c to 11 1/2c for Quebec.

Butter is moderately firm, dealers holding out for 22 1/2c to 23c for finest creamery. The market is fairly steady and a fair demand for England is reported. A mail advice from Liverpool under date of Aug. 11 states that arrivals of continental butter have not all been cleared and that there was a good demand for Canadian butters at a little easier prices. Medium grades of butter have met with fair request. The egg market is steady under a moderate and competitive demand and prices are unchanged at 18c to 20c for No. 1 candied; straight, 17 1/2c to 18c, and selects at 21c to 22c. To-day's receipts were 583 cases. Sherbrooke, Aug. 21.—Sales on the board of salted butter at 22c to 22 1/2c; saltless, 22 1/2c to 23c; cheese, 10 1/2c.

Voting will be continued until next Thursday afternoon at three o'clock, when the retiring president, Mr. J. J. McGill, will deliver the annual address, after which the regular business of the branch will be discussed.

It is expected that several new faces will be seen on the new Council Board and it is said that the younger element of the local branch is being well represented in the contest. The result of the voting will be announced at noon on Friday.

DEATH RATE STILL HIGH

SEVENTY-SIX INFANTS UNDER A YEAR DIED LAST WEEK.

The infantile mortality of Montreal still retains a regrettably high level. For the week ending Saturday last there were 147 deaths, including 125 Catholics, 21 Protestants, and one Jew. Of this total 83 were caused by infantile diseases, and of that 83 no fewer than 76 were of children under one year of age. This is over 51 percent of the total.

Typhoid accounted for four, whooping-cough for four, consumption for 15, capillary bronchitis for one, and bronchopneumonia for one also. During the same period there were reported one case of diphtheria, five of scarlet fever, seven of typhoid, 10 of whooping-cough, and 30 of tuberculosis.

The births during the same period were 46 percent less than the deaths, numbering only 101, 50 males and 51 females.

BEGGARS' STORIES.

Timothy Murphy, charged in the Recorder's Court yesterday with begging, said he only stopped a long-lost friend and asked him for fifty cents which the man borrowed from him at their last meeting.

The Recorder—Pay ten dollars or go to jail for a month.

Another man, James Staines, charged with begging, asked why he should beg when he had got a dollar in his possession. He produced a dollar bill from his pocket.

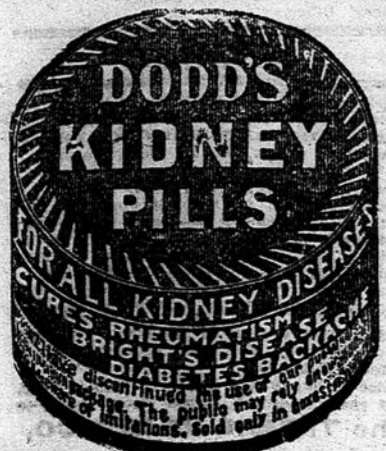

The Recorder intimated that it was not his business to say why any man begged. It was sufficient if the police proved the offence, and the dollar produced by the defendant could be devoted to pay a fine of that amount.

ACTION FOR DEFAMATION.

An action for $10,000 damages has been entered by Dr. Daniel E. Lecavalier, through his attorneys, Messrs. Monk & Baker, against J. L. Carle. The plaintiff complains of alleged defamation affecting both his professional standing and his reputation as a gentleman.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS A PRIEST.

Diamond Dye Blacks

Are the Blackest.

The three wondrous and famous Blacks of the Diamond Dye family, for Wool, Silk and Cotton and Mixed Goods, have a reputation for perfect dyeing work in every part of the civilized world. These three Blacks which are sold by all druggists and dealers, are simple and easy to use in the home, and always give delight and satisfaction to our women and girls. No other package dyes in the world can equal the DIAMOND DYE BLACKS in purity, strength and beauty of color.

Beware of the crude, adulterated and worthless black dyes sold in some stores for the sake of large profits. Such defective dyes are positively dangerous to handle, and they are destroyers of good materials. Your safety and protection demands that you ask in every case for the "Diamond Dyes." Send to Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, P.Q. for new book, "Diamond Dyes and How to Use Them," and sample card of 48 colors. All sent free upon application.

THERE ARE MANY

PREMIER IN THE CITY

Alarmed at the Large Number of Murders Occurring

NEWCOMERS TO THE COUNTRY LARGELY RESPONSIBLE.

Mr. Gouin is in the city and was at the Government Offices at an early hour this morning. He received a large number of callers having business to transact with him, both as leader of the Government and as Attorney-General.

Mr. Arthur Globensky, K.C., general secretary of the Bar, called upon the Premier in connection with the new tariff of lawyers' fees, and handed him the resolution of the general council of the Bar requesting the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to approve the tariff as prepared by the council for Superior Court cases.

Mr. Gouin referred to the alarming increase in the number of murders and other serious crimes. He said he would make a special point of his present visit, as Attorney-General, to impress upon the officers of the law the necessity of leaving no stone unturned in their efforts to bring the guilty parties to justice.

He remarked that this increase of crime brought on also a large increase in the expenditure for the administration of justice and justified more than ever a demand for larger federal subsidies.

The present grant from Ottawa, he said, was in no way proportionate to the expenses incurred in that direction, and while the provincial government has to face the expenditure, it must not be forgotten that many of the crimes committed are the work of newly-arrived immigrants, and the question of immigration was one which the Ottawa Government was responsible for.

Referring to the alleged difficulties and hitches in connection with the question of precedence at the recent ball at Quebec and the dinner at Spencerwood, in honor of Prince Louis of Battenberg, the Premier said that the whole story was unfounded and nothing occurred to mar the proceedings in any way.

Mr. Gouin will leave on Wednesday with the Hon. Mr. Prefontaine for Anticosti and the Maritime Provinces, and as already stated, he will confer with the premiers of those provinces with a view to bringing on the long-desired increase of subsidies from Ottawa.

READABLE PARAGRAPHS

QUICKLY SETTLED. General Russel Hastings, who served with such distinction in the American Civil War, was wont to tell the following amusing story, says the writer of the 'Story of the North and South Campaign.'

At one time the soldiers' pay was in arrears, and a young Westerner, full of braggadocio, walked up to his captain during the temporary trouble.

'Three words with you, cap,' said the soldier. 'Well,' said the captain, 'what are they?' 'Money or discharge.'

The captain smiled, grimly. 'Five with you,' he said, 'Well?' 'Neither one nor the other!'

He was a little boy, and he got a splinter in his foot, and a motion to poultice the wound, made by his mother, and seconded by his grandmother, was carried in spite of his objections.

He kicked and screamed, and protested that he would not submit to any such indignity, but the majority against him was two to one, and the poultice was made ready.

It was arranged that the grandmother should apply the poultice while the patient's mother stood over him with a stick, with authority and instructions to apply that also if he made the least show of resistance.

When all was ready the youngster was placed on the bed and operations began. As the hot poultice touched the boy's foot he opened his mouth to say something, but his mother, wit the stick, awed him to silence.

Again the boy strove to make himself heard, and again the upraised stick warned him to keep quiet. In a few short minutes the poultice was firmly in place, and the boy was tucked up in bed, there to remain until the application had done its work.

As the urchin's tormentors moved away, a shrill, small voice came from under the bedclothes:— 'You've dot it on the wrong foot!'

COR. METEAFEE AND ST. CATHERINE STS. DAILY TEXT. August 22. I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.—Rom. xii, 1.

Thou hast my flesh, Thy hallowed shrine, Devoted solely to Thy will; Here let Thy light forever shine, This house still let Thy presence fill; O Source of Life, live, dwell, and move in me, till all my life be love! —Joachim Lange.
