Pickersgill Lauds Jewish Contribution

The Montreal Jewish community is making a distinctive contribution of its own to Canada, Secretary of State J. W. Pickersgill said Sunday.

Guest speaker at a dedication ceremony of the Bronfman collection of Jewish Canadiana at the Jewish Public Library auditorium, he noted many races were engaged in the building of Canada.

"Many Canadians of Anglo-Saxon origin," he said, "have been slow to learn that our French-speaking fellow-citizens are really resolved to maintain their own language and their customs and their own way of life, and that they are better Canadians for doing so."

"Every year, more and more Canadians come to realize that what is true of English and French is true also of the other communities, like yours, which are making a distinctive contribution of their own to the new kind of nation we Canadians of all races are jointly engaged in building in the northern half of this continent."

Samuel Bronfman, to whose initiative the assembling of the more than 3,000 items in the collection was attributed, said the collection was "another definition of Canada and of Canadianism, a

'Les Canadiens' To Be Featured At Local Event

One of the top attractions to adults and sports fans at the Westmount Rotary Carnival will be members of the Canadian hockey team to manage the Guess Your Weight contest, under the direction of Gerry McNeil.

The boys who will be present in person on the fair grounds in Westmount near the Glen will be Elmer Lach, Floyd Curry and Doug Harvey. Fans will be weighed and may be able to secure a personal autograph from the stars.

This will be one of the many attractions of the Westmount Rotary Carnival, Tuesday to Saturday sponsored by the Rotary Club of Westmount. Rotarians, all business men, have already built up the Midway with the full equipment of entertaining shows of several years.

Westmount Rotarians are especially happy that school closing coincides with the opening of the carnival and that children will be free to attend as a treat at the start of their summer holidays.

Inefficiency In Business Pointed To By Prof. Woods

"There is an area of inefficiency in business today, which is not detected on the balance sheet", Prof. H. D. Woods told members of the Rotary Club of Westmount at their weekly meeting at Victoria Hall on Wednesday.

Prof. Woods is director of McGill University's Industrial Relations Centre, an organization established by him in 1953. Previous to organizing the department Prof. Wood was in charge of the McGill School of Commerce.

To bring out his point Prof. Wood cited three different cases of individuals in industry who were doing the work they were best suited for and liked, but yet who were looking for employment in another company. He said that here was a certain amount of misunderstanding on the part of management to overcome the problems.

The professor told Rotarians that at McGill he had set up discussion groups from various large industries throughout the city to try and find a solution to employee relations problems. These groups he said came to the conclusion that certain problems would be best understood and overcome if a meeting between management and employee representatives could be brought about.

Examples

Professor Woods told members that the recent steel and mine workers strikes were examples of what we are up against in this day and age. It was a titanic struggle which is part of our society today, the professor said.

He said that the main problem wasn't the wage, or vacation with pay, or the time and a half disputes, but was "why had there been a strike in the first place." Something was lacking in industrial relations in this case, the professor pointed out.

"And when they signed the new contract, what was the outcome? Nothing, exactly nothing — after all the fighting and hot words, and arguing — nobody had won the battle," he said.

To the professor's mind the only way to overcome the situation is by bringing about meetings between labor and management. He told the members that his group ventured into this phase of the game with some success.

'Fire-logs'

At first, the professor said, members from each group would come into the meeting room with chips on their shoulders as big as "fire-logs." Soon however they were carrying on intelligent discussions about common problems. Straying quite far afield the professor expressed the opinion that a great

Apartment Owner Wins Court Suit

The long legal battle between the City of Westmount and rooming house and apartment house owners took another turn, Wednesday when Montreal Superior Court rule a zoning by-law illegal, as far as its application to apartment houses.

Mr. Justice Arthur I. Smith declared by-law 555, under which the city sought to prevent Mrs. Thomas Lapiere, of 336 Metcalfe avenue, from running her apartment house there, an illegal law.

The judgement ordered the Corporation of the City of Westmount to drop the municipal court charges.

Mr. Justice Smith upheld a "prohibition" action by Mrs. Lapiere in which she claimed that the law under which she was charged in Westmount Municipal Court with transgressing the city's zoning regulations was beyond the powers of the Westmount City Council.

For the plaintiff, R. Stewart Willis stressed that the building in question had long been used as an apartment house before the enactment of by-law 555 and that consequently the zoning law did not apply to it.

His Lordship agreed. The City and Towns Act from which the municipality derived its legislative powers, he said, gave the corporation the right to "regulate" rather than "prohibit" and in it there was nothing to empower it to prohibit the establishment, maintenance or operation of apartment buildings.

Mr. Justice Smith agreed that recently the Quebec Court of Appeal had ruled the same by-law to be a legal statute as it applied to the conduct of rooming houses in zoned Westmount areas.

Will The P.M. Phone Doug. Abbott On Monday Night?

ST. LAURENT

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent has an important telephone call to make Monday night. Tuesday will be the 75th birthday and automatic retirement, date of Thibaudeau Rinfret, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. On the eve of his retirement, it is a long-established custom that the Prime Minister will call Rinfret's successor to tell him directly of his appointment to the country's highest judicial office.

A possibility is that the new Chief Justice will be Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, federal representative for Westmount-St. Antoine. An astute lawyer, he is known to be ready to quit the Cabinet. By law, three members of the nine-man court must come from Quebec. Abbott was born in Lennoxville, Que., and would maintain the province's representation if he replaced Quebec-born Thibaudeau Rinfret.

It is also custom for Catholics and Protestants to alternate in the office. Only once before, in 1906, has one Catholic Chief Justice succeeded another. Abbott is a Protestant, and his appointment would maintain the normal course.

Will it be his phone that rings Monday night?

He said that his department at the university is trying to get the concerned parties in labor disputes to take another look at the situation. Only real understanding of the problems facing us will bring about a solution, the professor continued.

In conclusion Professor Woods said that what he considered as one of the main problems in his field today is trying to throw the light on the social problem in industry.

Older people are often offenders against traffic signals. They frequently start to cross the street against the red light and, since the older person is not as agile as the younger folk, they may be seriously injured. The lights are for the public's safety and regardless of age, their signals should be obeyed. It is not safe to cross the street after the yellow warning signal shows or when it turns red. It pays to wait it only takes a moment to send the jaywalker to hospital.

Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy Pays Fine Tribute To L.C.C.

Students who attend a private school gain many advantages, but as a result are under more obligation to both parents and school, Vice Admiral E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., C.D., R.C.N., chief of the naval staff, said Friday.

Guest of honor at Lower Canada College's Founder's Day, the admiral praised the school spirit at such institutions. He said this was the result of smaller student numbers and more individual attention not possible in public schools.

But he reminded the students they were under more obligation to their parents and to their school to grow up as decent young Canadians with a purpose in life and a sense of loyalty.

Admiral Mainguy stressed the importance of sports in school life, and said they developed the characteristics of courage, endurance and a will to win.

He termed Lower Canada College "one of Canada's well known and great schools."

Largest Class

In a review of the year, headmaster D. S. Penton said the graduating class was one of the largest in the school's history.

He reported that the school had had an outstanding year in athletics, and announced that an artificial ice rink to be built for the school should be completed by next autumn.

A. R. (Sandy) Aird, head prefect, was awarded the Governor General's medal for the most outstanding record of the year.

C. D. Dennis accepted the Master's Shield on behalf of Drummond House.

Matriculation certificates were awarded to:

Rabbi Paul Liner of Temple Beth Shalom left yesterday for Camp Quinibeck, Eli, Vt., where he will participate in the summer program of the Congregational Church of Vermont.

His visit is being made after a request from the Jewish Chautauqua Society, a project of the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods, an affiliate of the Union of Hebrew Congregations, which sends rabbis and lecturers into Christian universities and summer institutes.

Rabbi Liner will serve as a teacher-counsellor at the camp until Wednesday. Following the camp assignment, he will attend the annual meeting of the central conference of American Rabbis at Pike, NH, until June 27.

Registration Open At Camp Westmount

Registrations are now being received for Camp Westmount, the boys summer fun club. Hugh Stratton and Lew Waller, co-directors of the camp, are planning an interesting summer full of special events, trips and athletic features.

Swim instruction, water sports and other activities in the Y swim pool will be high-lighted in the program. Boys will receive swim tests and receive the award cards of the Y.M.C.A. five star progressive tests during the summer.

George C. Marler Is Lauded For Provincial Activities

George C. Marler, MLA for Westmount-St. George, was paid tribute Saturday when 20 Liberal MLA's and four members of the Legislative Council feted him at a testimonial banquet in the Windsor Hotel.

They looked on him as the "perfect gentleman who saved the Provincial Liberal Party and kept it alive in the darkest hours of its history - from 1948-1952."

Mr. Marler was presented with a television set and his wife with a bouquet of roses.

Dr. Charles A. Kirkland, MLA for Jacques Cartier and Mayor of Ville St. Pierre, organized the banquet.

Among those who congratulated Mr. Marler in speeches during the evening were Georges E. Lapalme, Provincial Liberal leader; Hon. Hector Laferte, MLC, and Hon. F. Philippe Brais, QC, MLC.

Mr. Lapalme said that Mr. Marler had always been a very hard and conscientious worker, not only for his party, but his province.

"I got a faint idea of what he went through during the last session - my first in the Provincial Legislature," Mr. Lapalme stated.

His loyalty and his sincerity, Mr. Lapalme noted, were responsible for the Liberal Party's survival. Without Mr. Marler, the Liberal Party would barely exist in the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Laferte saw in Mr. Marler "the perfect notary, the perfect bilingual person, the quintessence of a loyal and devoted gentleman."

Mr. Brais emphasized that all sincere Quebecers will one day fully grasp the extent of Mr. Marler's huge task, which he fulfilled with unflinching loyalty.

In his reply, Mr. Marler said that compliments he had received were quite exaggerated. He recalled the days when there were only eight Liberals in the Lower House. He paid a special tribute to Paul Earl, Dave Rochon, Lionel Ross, QC, the late Henri Groulx, Yvon Dupuis, JP, Dr. Kirkland and others who had served at his side during his 1948-52 term of office.

Salvation Army Home Sure In District Within Year

The Salvation Army's Eventide Home Building and Maintenance Appeal is over-subscribed.

E. F. Tolhurst, chairman, reports totals from all the Divisions amount to $918,133.00, with $360,500 in cash and pledges and $57,633 incompleted returns to come in from the various Divisions. There is still a number of cards in the hands of canvassers, employees lists to be completed, as well as from corporations and individuals, he said, and hoped that those who would like to subscribe would do so to ensure that the new Eventide Home will have all the necessary equipment and furnishings for the comfort of those who will enjoy it.

Reporting for the Metropolitan Division, which included 60 Montreal Districts, Mrs. Sydney A. MacSween said that on an objective of $90,000, $116,943 has been raised. This is a marvellous achievement, she said, congratulating the workers. Women's Special Names Division was represented by Mrs. G. Gordon Hyde with vice-chairman Mrs. Frank Carlin and Mrs. Stuart B. Ralston and a total of $100,045 was collected against a quota of $75,000. The response in this division was outstanding. Advance Gifts (Individuals), Douglas Bremner, — the total was $87,245 with a quota of $85,000, with more to follow, he said. As Hon. Treasurer he stated that costs had been kept to the minimum and that a friend of the campaign committee has kindly underwritten campaign dinners and no campaign funds

Camp With Pay To Teen-Agers

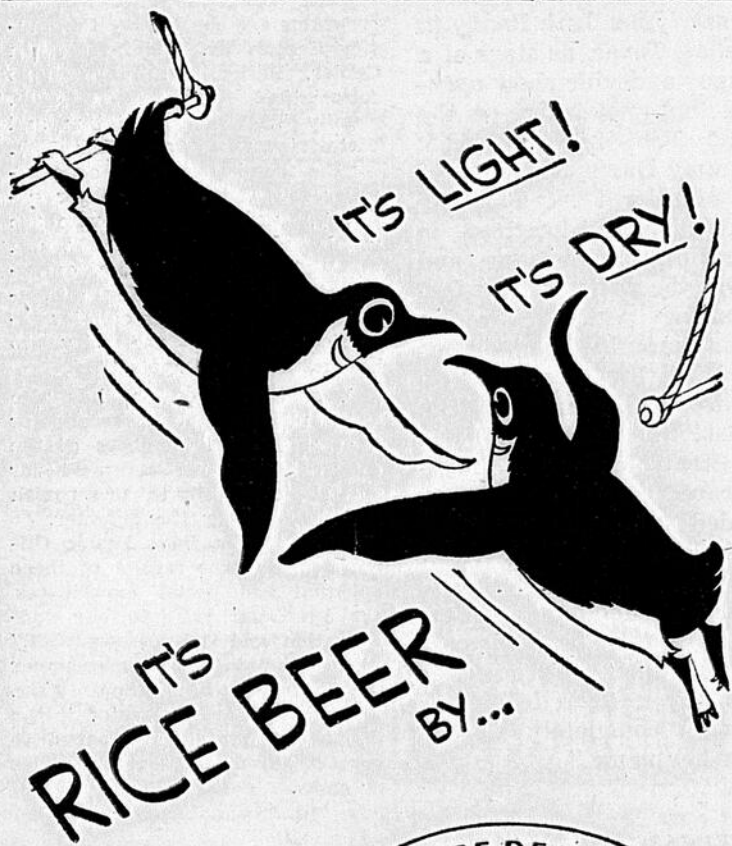

Young men of West-end Montreal, 16 years of age or over, who are interested in becoming commissioned officers in the reserve army or the permanent force, should contact Captain H. Stutt, 4567 Earncliffe avenue, or phone ELwood 4584, it has been announced by Lt.-Colonel Beverley Baillie, of the 37th Field Regiment R.C.A.

The student-recruits will spend seven weeks basic training at Farnham or Valcartier Military camps, starting soon after school closing. They will receive army pay during this period, all uniforms and equipment supplied. The alert, active type of young man, applying for this course need only pass his medical examinations to qualify for this seven weeks of camping, plus the consent of his parents. Furthermore, English and French speaking students may train under either language, enabling those who wish to progress in their study of the alternate language. They will not be inducted in the army in any way, but it is hoped that will remain at camp for the full seven weeks. Those wishing to do so, may join the reserve force in the fall.

As the reports were given, a miniature design of the new Eventide Home, situated at the back of the platform, was built and completed by the reports. The grand total of $918,133 was indicated by the chairman, the flag of victory was raised, and the Dology sung by nearly 500 Canvassers and interested friends, accompanied by the Montreal Citadel Band.

were used for this purpose. Advance Gifts (Corporations), J. N. Cole, reported $204,915 on a quota of $200.00 with more firms to be heard from. Special Names (Men), D. J. Black and D. O. Doheny, had exceeded their quota of $50,000. Commerce and Industry (R. D. Mulholland). The quota of $50,000 had been reached with more to follow Employees Division, E. F. Lyons and C. F. O'Brien announced that the quota of $85,000 was in sight when all outstanding lists and cards were completed. National Division (T. W. Hodgson) announced that the quota of $20,000 had been over-subscribed. Special Grants Division was handled by the Hon. J. Arthur Mathewson, Q.C., who was pleased to announce that, through the generosity of Premier Duplessis and the Provincial Government, a cheque in the amount of $150,000 was received.

"For this generous contribution we are indeed grateful and I want to publicly express our appreciation to the Premier for his assistance and also for the good wishes and encouragement we received from the Province", he said. "We are also indebted to the city of Montreal for a generous grant of $50,000, voted by the executive committee."

HOLLYWOOD, June 17 — Every week several dozen announcements spring from the imaginative typewriters of Hollywood press agents anent forthcoming productions to be sponsored by or to feature the sundry clients who pay the aforesaid publicists to smuggle the aforementioned clients' names into print.

Of these many proposed ventures only a tiny percentage come to fruition.

Among the projects announced some months ago from London for a certain producer named Alexander Paal was a cinematic dramatization of the crash in 1949 of a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane aboard which were 19 passengers, all of whom perished. The plane was subsequently proved to have been purposely destroyed and three accused personages paid for the deed when their necks were stretched upon the Quebec gallows.

While it is true that I have been out of touch with London news sources in recent weeks, I cannot but wonder if the announcement of Paal's intention to film this story was only another press agent's dream. The original dispatch to the New York Times even said Canadian Pacific Airlines had promised its full co-operation in the matter and that scenes would be shot in Quebec this spring.

I cannot conceive that the airline would have so dismal an appraisal of public relations as to sanction such an undertaking, let alone co-operate in it. Any publicity concerning the crash of a plane, whether by accident or criminal intent, only serves to make prospective customers switch their trade from the skyways to the railways or even the bus lines.

If I am wrong in this surmised I'd appreciate notification from such duly constituted authority as may care to make it. And if, per chance, the airlines has actually agreed to lend its aid in filming the gory story of the murders in the sky perhaps it is not now too late to suggest they revise their estimate. After viewing such a motion picture my personal reaction would be to roller skate, if need be, to my destination — but under no conditions to fly CPA.

TICKET TAPE — Despite all the smoke signals sent blazing from Danny Kaye's camp, no papers have yet been signed authorizing the comedian to impersonate the late Sir Harry Lauder in a biography already somewhat prematurely announced... Kaye and Sir Harry were close personal friends... Television in Hollywood is reaching rather far to gain an audience for local programs. One station recently televised a complete cancer operation and a week later followed it with coverage of homosexual activities in California, including an interview with several admitted sexual deviates who proudly recited their names for the TV audience.

Canada's Gisele MacKenzie joins Jack Benny in Dallas, Texas, as stars of a huge vaudeville show opening this week. Also on the bill: Tap dancing comic Sammy Davis, Jr., another Montrealer... The McCarthy-Army hearings in Washington, by far and large the nation's most fascinating video show in many months, reminds one of W. C. Fields' credo: "Do Unto Others, and Do 'Em Fast!"... James Mason, in Stratford for the Shakespeare dramas, has recorded an album for Decca of readings from American literary classics... Mike Connolly quotes John Barrymore's line anent his past love life: "Experience is what you have left after you've completely forgotten her name."

FINALE — Ingrid Bergman hasn't had a financially successful movie since she left Hollywood and most observers feel her husband, Roberto Rossellini, has ruined her career. Her next will be "Fear", to be lensed in Munich entirely in German... Latest on Marilyn Monroe for those who have not yet tired of the blonde: she is allergic to perfume... Star pitcher for the Los Angeles Angels in the Pacific Coast League is a Montrealer named Jacques Monette.

Pat Irwin Heads Fossils Group

Patrick H. Irwin was elected president of the Fossils Club at the 23rd annual meeting held this week in the Berkeley Hotel. He succeeds James T. Black.

The organization, which sponsors summer camping activities, named the following officers: Wallace D. O'Conner, first vice-president; G. Joslin Watson, second vice-president; David E. Cornell, secretary; and Ronald S. Urquart, treasurer.

Robert N. A. Kidd, Raymond Binmore and Robert W. Smith were elected to two-year terms on the organization's executive board.

Commencing on the Club's financial statement for the year under review, retiring president James T. Black said that of $7,758.18 realized from the organization's Annual Show and Klondike Nite, $7,750. had been appropriated for welfare work during the year ahead. Annual dues cover the Fossil's operating expenses.

In 1953-54, the Fossils' welfare committee spent $5,750. to send 173 underprivileged boys to Camp Lewis, operated by the Montreal Boys Association, and to improve facilities at the camp.

This year's appropriation, increased by $2,000, will be applied not only to the Camp Lewis program, but will also provide assistance to the Boy Scout and Wolf Cubs camps.

Service Groups Planning Events

Several local service organizations are among clubs which have organized summer programs, including picnics, for the city's children.

Seven social agencies and clubs in the South Area Council have organized matters for children in the district bounded by Sherbrooke, Windsor and Notre Dame streets and the Glen.

Other agencies with summer programs are the Iverley Community Center, St. Andrews Youth Center, Parks and Playgrounds Association, Unity Boys Club, Family Welfare Association and Victoriatown Boys and Girls Club.

"The idea is to provide opportunities for exercise and other entertainment for children who are city-bound during the warm months," said S.A. Clyke, executive director of the Negro Community Center. "Plans call for excursions outside the city to beaches and rural spots."

A summer program has also been planned by Westminster Central Church. Members of the congregation have arranged for special picnic visits to rural parish churches during the summer.

The minister, Rev. Frank Gilmore, said: "The results of these spiritual and social experiences are beneficial both to our congregation and the ones we visit."

Parents living in the area under the jurisdiction of the South Area Council, who are interested in the planned programs, are asked to contact any of the seven agencies or clubs.

Named To Office Of Authors Group

Several local residents were involved in elections of the Canadian Authors' Association this week.

Paul Kuhring was succeeded as president by Frank Stiling, of London, Ont., principal of University College and dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Western Ontario.

John F. Hayes, vice president and general manager of the Southam Press, was elected national secretary succeeding Hugh McLennan.

This new method of contact grilling ensures that the food is intensively heated right through, without burning. This is the ingenious principle on which the INFRA-GRILL is based. Between the two plates, heated to 850 degrees F., the food is first quickly browned. Then the infra red rays cook it right through — from inside.

The Infra-red rays close the cells instantaneously and keep meat juices intact.

All foods grilled with very little fat.

★ Romantic Suspense Story

Gene Tierney's 'Personal Affair'

At The Avenue Theatre This Friday

"Personal Affair", a romantic suspense story with an explosive surprise ending that is in the best English tradition, opens Friday at the Avenue theatre. Co-starring Gene Tierney and Leo Glenn with Glynis Johns Pamela Brown and Walter Fitzgerald heading the supporting cast, "Personal Affair" puts emphasis on suspense.

Unlike the general run of tough-guy thrillers, which deal in such exotic settings as gambling dens and bawdy houses, in such odd characters as gangsters and dope-fiends, the English operate on the principle that terror and suspense are more potent in ordinary, everyday surroundings, and when they happen to ordinary everyday people like the movie audience itself.

This theory is carried out in "Personal Affair" which deals very simply with what happens when a seventeen year old school girl, infatuated with her teacher, suddenly disappears. The snowballing of this commonplace incident provides the body of the story, until the unusual and dramatically astonishing climax. No blood running in the streets, no sadistic private eye, no unclad blondes . . . just the chills that come from the introduction of something eerie into everyday surroundings.

Charity Is Personal

Government Grants Come From Taxpayers' Pockets

On the authority of Alexander Pope, charity is "all mankind's concern"; and on the authority of St. Peter, "charity shall cover the multitude of sins." It is unlikely that either poet or apostle had in mind what is frequently understood by charity today, namely an elaborate organization for collecting and distributing money. They were thinking rather of the virtue itself, the spirit of helping others, either from love of them or as a matter of religious duty or from a mixture of motives.

That humble virtue still exists. Obscured by the showiness of drives and campaigns, it is still responsible for their success, for charity is a personal virtue, not an attribute of an organization.

Because it is personal, charity is subject to human frailties, including a tendency to encourage the fuzzy thinking. Organizers of campaigns seem to think that because an enterprise is labelled as charitable, it ought to be supported by everyone. From this assumption it is easy to evolve the idea that any organized charity has a right to a grant from the Dominion, provincial or municipal government, or all three.

With the exception of the occasional charity rackets that are exposed from time to time, most Canadian charitable organizations deserve support of someone. They have been established to fill a need, possibly a need that was originally recognized by only a few persons. Expansion has come or is needed, because the extent of the need has grown or because the organizations have assumed heavier responsibilities than were originally contemplated.

Whatever may be the justification for a campaign for funds, the response should be personal and voluntary. Obviously, no one, not even the wealthiest, can afford to contribute to every charitable appeal. It is a matter for everyone's conscience to decide how much and to what he shall give.

There is nothing personal or voluntary about a government or municipal grant. The money thus spent is not the property of aldermen, controllers or cabinet ministers, to be used to increase their popularity. It is trust property, belonging to the taxpayers. Some of those taxpayers, for reasons that seem good to them, may not have cared to contribute to a campaign for an organized charity. It seems to be an unwarrantable conversion of their property when their elected representatives make a grant to the organization.

The Raid On The Field

By Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor
(Rector of Trinity Memorial Church)

It is a very disturbing thing to find the Editor of our principal morning paper, the Principal of McGill University and the President of the Montreal Board of Trade combining to cut another sizeable slice out of the great playground of the City — Fletcher's Field. There are few cities with so magnificent an heritage of unspoiled open land as Montreal possesses in Mount Royal and Fletcher's Field. And there are few possessions which our City Fathers prize so lightly. The University of Montreal needed a site, so the City ceded 32 acres of Mount Royal. The Fire Department needed headquarters, so the City appropriated one of the choicest sites — between Mount Royal and the Field. A place was required for a monument, so it was placed on the field. The Tramways needed ground for a switch and it secured the corner of the Field; then the City took another slice to help the motorists. Every donation or grab has cut into the City's playground. We talk about the need of playgrounds and then take away what the children have.

Some eight years ago a proposal was made to build a hospital for Veterans on the south end of Fletcher's Field. It was a most worthy object, and the City authorities supported it on the ground that that section was never used. They were quite astonished at the outcry. Now someone suggests that the proposed site for a concert hall is swampy and never used. I walked over the Field a few days ago, and I can assure you that the idea of swampy ground is sheer myth. On Thursday last, in spite of the heavy rains two days earlier, every acre of the Field was occupied by children and mothers, by young people, and weary people not so young. Any concert hall would have meant so many displaced persons.

The fact is that the people who want to give away the Mountain and the Field are people who do not need that kind of open space; they go to the country. There is a common saying that everyone goes to the country in the summer. That is another myth. There are tens of thousands who never get away from the City; there are other tens of thousands who get away for two weeks and spend the other eight weeks of the school holiday in the City. It is for them that Fletcher's Field exists. If the lovers of music will go up Park Avenue on a hot August evening and see thousands of Montrealers cooling off; or if they will go up on a fine Saturday morning in January and see the Field dotted with skiers, they will realize the value of Fletcher's Field to those for whom it was designed — the ordinary people.

It is quite true that Montreal needs a concert hall; and it is not going to be easy to raise money for it; and it would be very nice to get the land free. But it is not only land for a lovely building, but more free land for the parking of cars; and more free land for the adequate landscaping of a lovely building and for the concealment of the car lot.

Yes, we need a concert hall, but first we need a large watch dog to guard Fletcher's Field against raiders, musical or otherwise. It is strange the the Parks and Playgrounds Association has not spoken out, but perhaps the directors are all music lovers. If so, I suggest that their first obligation is to buy, not to Bach.

ATABRINE

Most servicemen who served in the Far or Middle East during World War II are only too familiar with the bitter yellow tablets of atabrine which they had to take as an anti-malarial measure after the Japanese onrush cut off supplies of quinine. Without it, whole armies might have been put out of commission.

A new peacetime use for the drug has now been found by a team of British doctors, who have tried it on 60 patients suffering from lupus erythematosus, a severe skin disease. Nearly 70% of patients receiving atabrine benefited, and nearly 50% said the doctors, were completely or almost completely cured of the disease.

Summer World Can Be Gayer With Application Of Paint

Now that summer is here, the world suddenly widens. Even households seem larger because we can extend the scene of our daily activities to the garden, terrace and porch. While some of us are fingering fascinating travel tickets, there are others whose activities keep them close to home base and who are, of necessity or choice, "arm-chair travelers." Our indoor arm-chairs can now, of course, be swapped for gaily colored porch chairs and porches may be painted and decorated to simulate the inviting outdoor recreation areas of fashionable summer resorts. Naturally, you've got to keep within bounds. Your color scheme for your porch must be in harmony with the exterior of your house. But there is always latitude for an air of frivolity that induces relaxation and gay, good spirits.

Drab and dirty surfaces, chipped and peeling paint should, of course, have no place in your private summer world — especially when you can have so much fun transforming them with gleaming, colorful new coatings. If you've never found how easy it is to make new worlds from old — with the aid of your trusty paint brush — you'll enjoy discovering what a lot of pleasure and pride-in-accomplishment you've been missing.

As you stand on your porch, critically and quizzically — eyeing each area that is part of it: ceiling, house wall and windows, pillars, railing, floor, fibre rug, screening and steps — you plan your improvement program.

Even though you know they come last, your gaze falls first on the porch floor and steps. They need paint — but definitely. They're foot-scuffed and weather-worn. In some places the paint is gone entirely. That means the wood will rot and necessitate expensive replacement, if a protective coating is not applied in time.

Porch-an-deck paint supply the answer — just as it provides an attractive and durable coating for porches with cement floors. If your steps have a tendency to sag a little in spots and to retain puddles of water after a rain, it's often a good idea to drill half-inch drainage holes at strategic points before your paint is applied. When you're painting the steps, incidentally — and have no other access to your home while they are drying — remember to paint every other step during your first painting session. When these are thoroughly dry, you can coat the alternate ones.

If you're planning on painting a fibre porch rug that has become faded or discolored, you'll find that regular house paint, thinned with an equal part of turpentine will serve admirably as a flexible coating. It's best to put your rug out on the lawn, if possible, while you're painting it. If not, place a thick layer of newspapers under the rug and paint it on the porch. Before you paint the porch floor, of course!

If your porch is screened, the wire screening should be enameled every three or four years — even though the wire is copper. A corrosive wash develops on copper, you know, that stains any light-colored area beneath it. Painting the screen is usually a twosome task — with half of the team working on the outside and the other member working inside on the same area simultaneously. Screen enamel is available for the purpose — and there are special applicators to simplify the project.

Exterior enamel is the type of coating to use for both wood and metal porch furniture. It's easy to apply and easy to keep clean.

As for the rest of the porch — the ceiling, the railings and the pillars — these can often be re-coated — even when the rest of the house is not done at the same time. Hollow pillars and the spindles on railings are often moisture-traps that can cause trouble, if they do not have adequate paint protection.

Delegates From 13 Countries To Attend Zonta International Conference In Ohio

Officers, delegates, and members of 300 Zonta clubs located in 13 countries around the world, will assemble in the Netherland Plaza Hotel in Cincinnati, Ohio, on June 21, to open the thirty-second convention of Zonta International, one-of-a-kind classified service organization of executive women in business and the professions. For four days, these busy women, who devote at least 60% of their time to the business or profession in which they hold their Zonta classifications, will direct their attention to the ways and means by which their clubs can better serve their communities on the local, the national and international levels.

Several members of the Zonta Club of Montreal will travel to Cincinnati for the Convention and Miss A. May Jackson President of the Montreal Club will be official delegate for the club. A record convention attendance of 700 — including twelve members from overseas clubs — is anticipated on the basis of advance registration.

Four workshop sessions have been planned around the convention theme, "To serve is our privilege; to find the way, our responsibility." The workshops will be held on Service, International Relations, Membership, and the Thriving Zonta club.

"The advancement of young women is a major interest of all Zonta clubs," said Miss Edwina B. Hogadone of Rochester, New York, president of Zonta International. "On the international level, the clubs maintain the Amelia Earhart Scholarship for young women graduate students in aeronautical engineering; and fully 85% of the clubs work directly with young women on the community level." This work includes scholarships for young women training in various professions, career counselling, providing camperships for young girls, equipping and maintaining health and social centers, and a variety of other services.

During the convention, Miss J. Winifred Hughes of Syracuse, N.Y., chairman of the Amelia Earhart Scholarship committee, will announce the 1954 winner of the $1,200 award which is given annually to a young woman of high ability and fine character to enable her to do graduate work in the field of aeronautical engineering. Fifteen awards have been given since the scholarship was established in 1938 in honor of Amelia Earhart, the pioneer woman flyer who disappeared in 1937 while on a flight around the world. She was a member of the Zonta club of New York City at the time of her disappearance.

HOT POT NO CURE

A doctor in India recently reported that an East Indian who tried a novel home remedy for stomach ache wound up in hospital with second-degree burns.

It happened this way, reported Dr. John B. Oliver: the patient took a neighbour's advice and clapped a found, heated brass pot against his aching stomach to 'draw out the pain'. But once on, the pot would not come off. Both he and the neighbours tugged at it in vain. At last, he went to the hospital. Dr. Oliver and his colleagues 'operated' by cutting the pot away with a pair of cutting shares. The patient's skin had been sucked into the pot as National Dressmaking Contest Open To Seamstresses 11-17 Yrs.

Three thousand prizes worth $60,000 are awaiting young seamstresses ages 11 through 17 years — in the Singer Sewing Machine Company's 1954 Junior Dressmaking Contest, which opened May 17, and was announced by Mr. Seguin, manager of the Singer Sewing Center, 5714 Sherbrooke West.

"This is the first time the Singer contest is national in scope, and something new and valuable has been added in the way of grand prizes," he said.

Top grand prize winner, selected from the U.S. or Canada, will receive a $1000 scholarship fund or a cash payment, if preferred. Second, third, and fourth placers each win a $500 scholarship or cash. In addition these top four get an all-expense trip to New York City for themselves and their mothers. There they will be honored at a fashion show where the top winner will be selected.

Grand prize winners will be selected from top entrants in 33 regional competitions in the United States and Canada, where 99 Singer Sewing Machines will be awarded. First prize in each region will be a famous Singer slant-needle portable; second prize, the popular Singer Featherweight portable; and third, the Singer straight-needle portable.

Contestants advancing to the regional competitions will be selected in each of Singer's Sewing Centers. The first prize winner in each center will receive a complete scissors set and her garment will go to the regional judging. Second place winner will be presented with a fitted sewing box.

"Thus some skilled seamstress by making one garment, a dress or sports outfit — no suits or coats — can win a scissors set, a Singer slant-needle portable, a scholarship, or $1000 cash, and an all-expense trip to New York for herself and her mother," stated Mr. Seguin.

Girls from 11 through 17 years of age enrolling for a Singer Teen-Age Sewing Course between May 17 and August 21 are eligible for the contest. The garment must be made in the class and must be completed by September 4.

Local, regional, and national judging will be based on coordination of fabric and design, construction, workmanship, fit and finish.

Official entry blanks and rules can be had at Singer Sewing Center located at 5714 Sherbrooke West.

SPCA Will Care For Dogs, Cats Left In Summer

The S.P.C.A. hopes that this summer people will not trust the neighbours to look after their pets. At least they should have the courage to call the S.P.C.A. It is far more heartless and disgracefully cruel to simply shut the house and turn their former pets out to starve, while they go off to enjoy their holidays. It is useless to say the neighbours will look after these animals. They probably have their own or are going to the country themselves.

If you are taking your pets along with you, bring them back again, it is requested. If the pet doesn't happen to be around the cottage at the time of your departure for the city, have the kindness to wait for their return.

Fashion Hints

Cotton lingerie has come a long way from its original interpretation and is now, both in fabric, easy care and fine detail, as smart, as practical and as pretty as many more expensive. For proof, we offer this beguiling, figure-flattering slip of combed cotton plisse. It is made with a front shadow panel, has all-over embroidered nylon sheer at top and inset of bodice and also at the hem, and extra frothing in the form of nylon satin ribbon edging and bows. Washes, of course, easily and being crinkled scorns the touch of an iron.

When washing flannels, add a teaspoon of powdered borax to each quart of rinse water to keep the material soft.

Eleven-year-old Ken Billinger, a promising performer, placed in the junior broad and hop, step and jump.

Lawn Bowling Competition Won By Lachine Rink

There was more activity at the Westmount Bowling Club last week, as the weather took a turn for the better. The highlight of the week was the playing of the final game of the L.L.B.A. rink competition on the club greens.

The competition started on June 7 and continued throughout the week, 17 rinks drawn from the clubs belonging to the association taking part, including three from Westmount skipped by Mrs. R. C. Braithwaite, Mrs. G. Cheese and Mrs. I. Guilboard.

The finalists were Mrs. Cheese and Mrs. J. Clark, Lachine. The game was a close one with the result in doubt to the end, but Mrs. Clark had the edge and won 16-14.

The rinks were:—

Lachine: Mrs. R. Boyer, Mrs. T.

Turson, Mrs. D. Grieve, Mrs. J. Clark (skip).

Westmount: Mrs. A. J. Martin, Mrs. A. M. Lindsay, Miss E. Johnson, Mrs. G. Cheese (skip).

The prizes were presented to the winners by Miss W. A. Mann, president of the association, and to the runners-up by Mrs. D. Johnston, vice-president.

A mixed competition was held Saturday, the winning rink being Mrs. E. C. Janes, J. McConnell, Miss E. Johnson and M. Hall (skip).

Entries from the Westmount Club in the P.Q.L.B.A. doubles championship, are J. Douglas and R. C. Braithwaite, J. M. Heggie and J. Perrigo, and W. Hunter and J. Keyes.

The annual meeting of the Walker credit union will be held Monday, at 8 p.m. at 3007 Delisle Street, off Atwater avenue. The film "King X," the story of credit unions, will be shown.

Unity Boys Club Indians grabbed the lead in Little League American B section this week, by sweeping four straight games, and pushing their win streak to five.

Wednesday they swamped St. Andrews Red Sox 14-1, after having Tuesday, Saturday in a replay of a game against the Red Sox, the Unity nine again copped the decision, this time 5-0. Last Thursday they edged the White Sox 3-2 in eight innings.

Morgan Turner came through with his second win of the season in the Wednesday tilt, allowing only two hits over the six inning route. Maynes hit a home run in the last stanza, and the only other bingle was a single in the second.

Gets Support

The 10-year old struck out 11 and walked three in the game. Meanwhile his mates gave him solid support banging out 11 hits good for 14 runs, and including three homers.

Catcher Claude Schaffer swatted two, good for six RBIs, and Doug Rowland another with one on. Schaffer hit a grand slam in the first, then another with one on in the second. Rowland picked up three hits, got his round tripper in the third.

B. Elliot took the loss, striking out five and walking four in the time he worked. Mr. Elliot relieved him in the fourth, fanning five and walking two.

The feature of Tuesday's game was Doug Rowland, who established a new league record by striking out 18 hitters. It was a perfect pitching performance except for two hits and a walk, as the Indians walked away by a 10-2 score.

Peter Bennett of the Browns tripled and scored on a passed ball in the second inning, and the only other hit Rowland allowed was a single.

He also led the hitters with two singles in four trips, including a shocking fish story

The future looks bright for flies, minnows and worms. If experiments now going on work out, sportsmen should be able to do without them. All they'll do is flip a switch and the fish, hypnotized by an electric current, will swim straight onto the hook.

It may sound fishy, but the idea is to increase the yield of commercial fisheries, not make things easier for anglers. Out in Alberta, using electricity, they've been able to televise fish habits 100 feet below the surface.

Right now, they're trying to figure out why fish act the way they do. Sort of a fish psychiatry. For reasons known only to a fish, he'll swim straight towards a positive electrode. But set up a "barrier" of alternating current and he refuses point blank to cross.

In some respects it's easier to predict human behaviour than fish. For example, if you place a long, green bottle of Molson's Ale within 100 feet of most men, they'll head straight towards it. The explanation is simple. Flavour and bouquet, acting together, are like a magnet with an irresistible attraction.

Humans were first attracted to Molson's Ale in 1786, the year John Molson founded his brewery. In the 168 years since, the attachment's grown so strong they don't bother to fish around from brand to brand. They just say "Make Mine Molson's" and land a dandy every time.

by MARTY GOODMAN

● One Westmount sports group gaining noted success this summer is the Unity Boys Club Indians, currently leading their section in Little League baseball. Unity only entered the team last year, when they took over a franchise left open by Saint Leo's Academy.

Little League baseball has grown considerably in recent years, at the same time arousing much controversy over its merits. Though most authorities will grant that it serves to keep youngsters off the streets at an age when they are very liable to turn from the straight and narrow, some also claim that Little League baseball is harmful.

There is a strain of having to make a good showing, sometimes sacrificing of sportsmanship for the sake of winning, and the idea of highly competitive play at such an early age — all this produces harmful psychological effects, according to these critics.

No one has yet conclusively proved where the answer lies, but according to Jack McKissock, one of the Unity coaches, Little League is definitely beneficial. His main point is that the youngsters would spend their time elsewhere if they didn't play baseball, and that somewhere else could easily be on city streets.

We don't intend to haggle over the merits of Little League, though our own opinion is that almost any form of organized sport is beneficial to youngsters. What we would like to do is show how a group of local youngsters are steadily improving their baseball skill, and through this, their character and physical health.

Little League baseball is restricted to boys 12 years and under as of Aug. 1. Each team is allowed 15 players, five of whom must be 12 years old, five 11 years old, and another five 10 years old or under. This insures a large group of youngsters playing the game, while the teams always have players developing for the future. Five of the players must be listed as pitchers, though they can play other positions when not pitching. Two must be 12, two 11, and the fifth 10 years old.

The game is played on a small size diamond to conform with the ages of the players. The pitcher's box is 44 feet from home, and the bases are 60 feet apart. Playing rules are mainly the same as in organized baseball, though pitchers are restricted in the amount they are allowed to pitch. In addition, runners are not allowed to lead until the ball crosses the plate. If one does, he goes back to the base; if the ball was hit, he is allowed to stay only one base ahead of the batter.

All games are only six innings, and pitchers are only allowed six innings each week. Nor can they pitch two nights in a row — it was this rule which caused a Unity game to be replayed this year. The Indians' star hurler Doug Rowland pitched one inning in relief one Tuesday night, then threw a five inning no-hitter the next night against the Red Sox. The game was protested on the ground that Rowland had pitched two nights in a row, and league officials ruled the tilt had to be replayed.

If a pitcher huris four innings in any game, he must wait at least three days before pitching again. Similarly, he can only pitch six innings even if a game goes into extra innings. Most of these rules apply for the post season tournament play too.

Batters must wear protective helmets, to guard against beanings, and this rule was extended to base runners this year. Bats, balls and gloves must all be certified Little League equipment.

The Unity coaches, Jack McKissock and Dave Barnard, provide a clearcut example of the fascination the youngsters hold. Both are all-around athletes who became associated with Unity through its basketball team, which they played for. The two had played a good deal of softball, being ranked among the best players in the Snowdon Major Fastball League. But neither had played any organized baseball. Still, when club director Maurice Mariasine approached them about coaching the Little League entry last year, they readily accepted.

"Now we find ourselves a lot more involved with the team than we ever thought we would be," Jack said. "But we haven't regretted it in the least. It's really a wonderful feeling when you can look back over the summer and see the improvement in the youngsters. When we first took over the team, we figured the only thing we'd have to do is make sure of nine men for each game, get a pitcher who could throw a ball straight and hard, and let things run from there."

"Later, though, we found the boys really eager to learn, and we were amazed at what they could pick up with some coaching. It takes a lot of time to teach them fundamentals, but in the long run it's well worth it," he added.

About the only time the team can really practice during the season is on Saturday, and if the day is nice the squad may be out for as much as six hours. Otherwise, the bulk of the coaching is done when the boys turn out at the beginning of the year. This season training got underway in the Unity gym in January. Outstanding results of this early training are Morgan Turner, 10 year old pitcher, Claude Schaffer, who has turned into a good catcher, and Doug Rowland, rated the loop's best pitcher.

"Doug had a good fast ball last year," McKissock explained, "but in the gym he developed quite a few other pitches and now is a first rate thrower. I feel the team is 75 per cent improved over last year, and much of it can be traced directly to the indoor practice."

Right now McKissock finds two things lacking in the Little League setup. First is somewhere to go when they boys are not eligible anymore. Bantam baseball is the next category, but there are only a few teams in the city. The Unity club is thinking of sponsoring a bantam team next year, as triple, while Andy Byford also hit two for four.

Big Inning

Unity's big inning was the fourth when Crouch walked, Stewart singled, Rowland tripled, and then came in on an overthrow to account for three runs. Carter kept the ball rolling by singling, MacKay and Laviolette did the same, and Byford doubled to account for three more runs.

Saturday Unity replayed their game against the Red Sox of May 26, and Byford and Schaffer limited Iverley to one hit as Unity won 5-0. Andy pitched the first inning, walked one and struck out one, while allowing a single.

Schaffer then came in and threw no hit ball for five innings, fanning nine and walking the same amount. He loaded the bases on free passes in the third and sixth, and walked two in the fourth.

Maynes Loser

land each got two hits, while Schaffer got one, all were singles. Iverley errors resulted in two runs. Maynes was the losing pitcher, relieved by Chichester in the fourth.

Thursday the Unity squad reversed a decision nine days earlier by beatin St. Andrews White Sox 3-2. The game was an eight inning affair, with the teams tied 1-all at the end of regulation time. Byford got the win.

Byford Wins

Doug Rowland started, allowed one hit and one run while fanning 15 and walking one. Schaffer came on to pitch the seventh, then went back to catching while Byford cleaned up.

White Sox went ahead 2-1 in the seventh, but Unity tied it up in the bottom half of the inning, and then won it in the next.

Crouch walked, stole second, and stayed there while Stewart bunted safely. Carter walked to load the bases, and then Frank Robinson also took a free trip to force in the winning run.

St. Leo Midgets, Bantams Capture Softball Titles

Westmount municipal softball titles in midget, bantam and mosquito classifications were decided this week, ending a successful season.

St. Leo's took the midget crown when they edged Pointers at Westmount Park last Thursday. It was the first loss of the year for the Pointers, who were outplayed both at field and at bat. Mike Lunny was the winning pitcher.

St. Leo's bantams emulated their older brothers by winning their division Friday, beating Crusaders 5-3. The Crusaders went ahead 3-0 in the fifth inning, but St. Leo's tied the game in the sixth.

In the bottom half of the seventh, Gord Dooley pinch hit a double to bring in the winning markers.

Regals took the mosquito crown winning their fifth straight game Saturday. They trounced Queen's Aces 16-7. The team was well handled by captain John Wright.

Junior High Whites won the municipal pee wee championship last week.

many of its members will be eligible and want somewhere to play.

His second beef concerns the umpires. Last year Kiwanis, who sponsor the Little League program, supplied umpires too, but this season a switch was made to City of Montreal arbiters. Besides lacking much fundamental knowledge, there have been many cases where they didn't show up at all. Nevertheless, the leagues have been running well, the youngsters have been enjoying it all, and all that is necessary now is for the Unity Indians to come home with the league title at the end of the season.

MacRae Leads Inters With Dow and RCMP Holding Next Two Spots

Westmount teams continued their mastery over NDG teams in the West End Intermediate softball league, with three victories in as many tries this past week.

MacRae Electric remained atop the heap by winning both their scheduled tilts, 4-2 against Columbus Tuesday and 13-3 against Dow last Thursday.

Other Tuesday results saw Dow beat Bnai Brith 14-9 and St. Augustine's edge Trenholme 5-4. Last Thursday RCMP slipped by the Saints 5-4 while Columbus beat Bnai Brith by the same count.

The results left MacRae in first with Dow two points behind and the Mounties an additional two back. The RCMP are tied with St. Augustine's, but have a game in hand over both the Saints and Brewers.

Conley Forey led MacRae to their win over Columbus, with a triple, double and single in four times at bat. Sonny Smith fanned eight and walked two in gaining credit for the victory. Billy Quirk was tagged with the loss.

MacRae took a 2-0 lead in the fifth inning, but Columbus tied it up with singletons in the seventh and eighth. In the top of the ninth Forey, Doug Brambell and Dunbar all doubled to bring in the winning markers.

Jim Beasant saved the game for MacRae in the eighth when he went to his left for a line drive, then doubled a runner off first.

Phil Martin slammed a homer Thursday as MacRae beat Dow, while almost everyone else chipped in with scattered hits to run the total up. Sonny Smith struck out 11, walked two.

Dow totalled 19 hits in beating Bnai Brith 14-9 Tuesday. Repayier struck out three walked eight, and picked up the win, while Harold Chaitoff fanned three and walked five while being tagged with the loss.

Jackson hit two homers for the Brewers, including a grand slam in the sixth inning. Morton went four for four, including a homer, double and two singles.

Stu Glazer was best with the willows for the Brithers, hitting a homer with one on in the fifth, and picking up another single.

Al Anderson pitched the Mounties to a victory over St. Augustine's last Thursday, as Gus Graham took the loss, but the Saints came back Tuesday to even their record for the week with a 5-4 edge over Columbus.

Behind 3-0, they tied the count and then went ahead 4-3. Columbus tied it all over again and that was how matters stood in the ninth, when Mike Barnard took over from Red Davis. Neil Langill swatted Barney's first pitch high, wide and handsome to give the Saints their win.

Mrs. Sargent Tops Ladies' Putting

Mrs. Sargent topped the ladies in a sealed hole putting tournament Wednesday at Westmount Park. She had a 13 score to also take low honors for the night.

Jack Smith and L. Dunn tied for the men's lead with scores of 11. A. L. Boden donated two golf balls for the competition.

The opening tournament of the putting season was played June 10 at the park. This was a handicap affair and 16 competitors went into action for the silver teaspoon prizes.

Mr. Warner was the victor in the men's tourney while Mrs. Aldford was best of the lady entrants.

Another handicap tournament will be held Wednesday, June 23 at 7:30 p.m. Competitors are asked to arrive on time.

Nearly 4 1/2 million clocks and 2 1/2 million watches were produced in the U.K. last year and about one-third of this total, worth over $2.8 million, was exported. The great achievement which the figures represent can only be appreciated if it is remembered that before the war all watches and most clocks, except electric ones, were imported by the U.K.
