World News In Brief

Sulbury, Ont., April 21.— External Affairs Minister Pearson last night branded the Canadian Peace Congress as "the agent of a foreign, aggressive imperialism," although some of its members might not know it.

Mr. Pearson said the "cunning demands" of the Congress that the atomic bomb be outlawed are designed "to sterilize the one great military asset held by the western powers at a time when the Soviet Union and its friends and satellites have a great superiority in other types of military power."

Paris, April 21.— Premier Henri Queuille today asked for another vote of confidence in his coalition cabinet in an attempt to speed general elections.

Queuille wants the National Assembly to consider a small agenda of budget and financial bills, and then hold elections June 10.

Each time the Assembly attempts to enlarge its agenda—a move which would delay the elections until next October—Queuille asks for a confidence vote.

Los Angeles, April 21.— Mrs. Beatrice Wood doesn't like her birthday because it is the same as President Truman's. She has served notice through the Los Angeles Times that she will celebrate hereafter on Gen. MacArthur's birthday instead. The personal notice said she will switch from May 8 to observe Jan. 26 "along with General MacArthur, with whom I am willing to fade away."

Seattle, April 21.— The last two contingents of Canada's United Nations brigade have sailed for Korea.

One of the contingents, at least, sailed in style.

After inspecting the 30,000-ton transport, Brig. John Rockingham, commander of the force, said: "After seeing this ship maybe I should go by sea."

He will fly to Korea early next week from Vancouver to oversee unloading of equipment and to map out the brigade's movements toward the front line.

Washington, April 21.— The American Society of Newspaper Editors was advised today to fight an increasing tendency toward "arrogant suppression of news" by government officials.

The committee on freedom of information, in a report prepared for today's convention session, told the 400 editors:

"We are beginning to suspect that the biggest uncovers of our time is the insidious seizure of news prerogatives by public officials."

Trade Talks At Torquay End Today

By DONALD GRANT
 Torquay, England, April 21.—(Reuters)—Seven months of international trade dickering ends today.

Tired men and women from 40 countries taking part in the world tariff conference will hear final speeches from L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian high commissioner to Britain and conference chairman, and Sir Stephen Holmes of the British board of trade.

During the whole seven-month wrangle it proved impossible to patch up a tariff-lowering agreement between the United States and Britain.

Although it is known the Americans came here ready to make substantial concessions, the price they asked in return from Britain and other Commonwealth countries in terms of reduced imperial preferences was not acceptable.

Instead of the hoped-for 400 bilateral tariff agreements, only 147 have been completed. Two of the most important parties, Britain and the United States, failed to reach any agreement.

And, as any concession received by one country is enjoyed by all others under terms of the general agreement on tariffs and trade, failure of the two largest trading powers to agree affected everyone else.

Details of the tariff reductions agreed on will not be made public for three weeks. Until then, business men will have to wait for the news that may mean greatly increased exports of their goods.

The secrecy that has surrounded the "silent conference" since it opened Sept. 28 will then be lifted and schedules setting out the new rates of duty will be published.

Observers believe the main value of the conference lies in the entry into international tariff bargaining for the first time of western Germany, Austria, Turkey, the Philippines, Peru and Uruguay.

These countries introduced new fields for tariff concessions on important goods and commodities. West Germany, in particular, is believed to have concluded many valuable agreements with older G.A.T.T. members.

Talks on general trade matters, side by side with the actual bilateral tariff negotiations, are believed to have strengthened the G.A.T.T.'s influence and position as logical successor to the ill-fated international trade charter.

This was accepted by the Havana conference in 1947 but probably won't be ratified by the majority of governments that took part.

Communists Fight Fiercely In Defence Of Chorwon, Transport Hub 18 Miles North Of Parallel.

By OLEN CLEMENTS
 Tokyo, April 21.—(AP)—Allied troops beat off Red counter-attacks with fists and rifle butts last night, and fought today for the last ridges barring capture of Chorwon.

The Reds briefly penetrated United Nations lines in west central Korea Friday night. They struck in defence of Chorwon, transport hub 18 miles north of the 38th parallel.

The Red attack, with hand grenades and automatic weapons, carried through allied lines at one point. It separated two allied elements and forced one U.N. company back.

Early Saturday the company fought back up the 1,500-foot height with the aid of artillery fire. At other points U.N. infantry men used fists and clubbed rifles in hand-to-hand conflict.

Heavy artillery batteries blasted Red troop concentration areas before dawn Saturday north of the allied-won Hwachon reservoir in central Korea.

Associated Press correspondent Jim Becker said the heaviest bombardment hit four miles north of the reservoir and about 200 yards east of the Suritchon river.

Another field dispatch reported an unopposed U.N. advance over ridge tops near the captured town of Hwachon.

Korean military sources said a captured Chinese Red reported the communists have been ordered to pull back to the 39th parallel to await reinforcements. The report was without confirmation.

The 39th parallel is 79 miles inside Red Korea.

A gradual Red withdrawal has been in progress all along the front. But allied sources estimate the 600,000 communist troops are north of the Chorwon-Kumwan line. A counter-offensive has been considered probable.

The Reds made several counter-attacks Friday south and south-east of Chorwon. One attacking force of 500 lost 75 killed and 150 to 175 wounded.

In central Korea, near the eastern end of Hwachon reservoir, an allied tank-infantry element clashed for four hours with 300 Reds. The Reds finally withdrew.

An allied force advanced Saturday toward the west branch of the Pukhan river against no opposition.

United States B-29s dumped 70 tons of bombs Saturday on two highway bridges in the Anju area of northwest Korea—on the main supply route from Manchuria to Pyongyang, U.S. Far East Air Force flew 915 sorties Friday.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force said its fighters and bombers killed 1,000 Reds in the week ended Friday. They also blasted 6,000 buildings, tore up rail and highway routes in 78 places and knocked out 400 vehicles. The airmen flew 4,403 sorties in the seven days.

Oil Tanker Collision Toll Is 38

New Orleans, April 21.— Thirty-eight seamen today were missing—presumably dead—after the collision of two oil tankers in the Gulf of Mexico about 300 miles southwest of here.

The collision, explosion and fire yesterday wiped out most of the crew of 42 aboard the Esso Greensboro, a 10,000-ton tanker loaded with 140,000 barrels of oil. Survivors related stories of horrible, flaming death aboard the floating inferno.

The 26,500-ton super-tanker, Esso Suez, the other ship in the collision, was gashed for 20 feet in the bow 10 feet above the water line. She had no cargo, but an avalanche of blazing oil from the other ship set her forepeak afire. The first mate was killed and four of her crew of 44 were burned.

Three bodies were recovered. Four survivors, including two from the Esso Greensboro, were flown to hospital at Corpus Christi, Texas.

Men from the tanker Virginia, one of a dozen ships that went to the scene, boarded the Greensboro late last night. The Coast Guard reported they put out the flames and took the ship in tow.

The Coast Guard received the first SOS from the Suez at 5:29 A.M. EST Friday. The message read: "Struck tanker and apparently Esso Burlington, another ship at the scene, picked up three charred bodies. Additional bodies were seen in the water, but darkness prevented further recoveries. Planes joined in a search of the area early today.

The Esso Suez crew put out the fire and she proceeded under her own power.

The Coast Guard listed the four Greensboro survivors as: Arthur Roif of St. Cloud, Fla.; Leroy E. Fay of Baltimore; John A. Pirro of Leominster, Mass.; and John W. Rohm of Mobile, Ala.

Fay and Rohm were flown to Corpus Christi, both badly burned.

Fay, who was lying on his bunk when the crash came, told of the tragedy through swollen lips.

"The passageways filled with men trying to get out. You should have heard all those guys screaming and holding for help. Everybody tried to run topside. Quick as they did, they were burned alive . . .

"I opened a hatch and flames blew back in my face. There was a kid there got burned standing up . . .

Fay said he was barefoot and his feet "were all burned."

"I ran over the red-hot deck in my bare feet. Then I jumped over the side . . . I swam to a lifeboat."

"It was red hot. There were two burned-up guys in the bottom of it."

Seaman John Horton of Cambridge, Mass., was on the bridge of the Esso Suez when the two ships collided in the dense fog. He said he didn't see the Greensboro until it was about 50 feet away.

"It seemed like they were right on top of us. Then there was a hell of an explosion."

"The minute we hit, there was nothing but smoke and flame. I don't think those guys (on the Greensboro) had a chance. I saw one of the men from their engine room try to escape through the vents."

"The Suez caught fire just as soon as she got off from the Greensboro hit us. I don't know how it happened."

Australian War Crimes Trials End

By GORDON TAIT
 Sydney, April 21.—(AP)—Australia has ended its war crimes trials of Japanese accused of war crimes.

In all, 156 Japanese were sentenced to death for crimes against Australian servicemen. Of these, 143 have been hanged.

The last trials began June 5 last year at Los Negros in the Admiralty Islands north of New Guinea. There, 91 suspects were arraigned on 113 charges. The war crimes court acquitted 45 Japanese, gave 15 sentences of life imprisonment, other shorter sentences and passed the death sentence 14 times.

One Japanese was sentenced to death twice. It is those 13 sentenced to death at the Los Negros trials who have not yet been executed.

The death sentences must be reviewed and confirmed by the military board in Australia.

At the end of the Los Negros trials, senior defence counsel Choji Nakayama said he was grateful for the "extremely fair" way in which the trials had been conducted.

"... The court was patient and gave us every possible assistance. Every help was given us to allow the well-stocked canteen operated by the military board to be presented," he said.

In a review in Melbourne of Australia war crimes trials, army minister Josiah Francis announced the courts completed 296 trials.

They convicted 623 of a total of 802 suspects.

They sentenced 156 Japanese to death, 38 to life imprisonment, and 429 more to varying terms of imprisonment.

Mississippi Floods Are On The Rise

Chicago, April 21.— The mighty Mississippi, on a spring rampage in its upper valley, today threatened serious floods to five towns in three midwest states.

"Old Man River," fed by rains and heavy run-offs, spilled out over midwest lowlands and forced nearly 3,000 persons to flee their homes.

Other hundreds were threatened with evacuation during the week-end or early next week.

A state of emergency was declared in some Iowa communities as the big stream's crest inched to near-record levels.

There was feverish activity along the river southward from Wisconsin into Iowa and Illinois. Bulldozers were building earthen dikes.

The Red Cross, National Guard and civil defence agencies joined in caring for flood victims and preparing to combat what may be the highest flood waters in years.

Two National Guard units were sent to Muscatine, Ia., after a state of emergency was declared for the city of 20,000. About 600 residents in suburban South Muscatine were urged to evacuate.

About 300 families were evacuated from the Dubuque, Ia., area, where the Mississippi reached a record level of 22 feet. The previous high was 21.7 feet in 1880. Railroad yards were under water, and it was feared all trains would be halted before the expected crest of 23.5 feet was reached.

About 600 persons were forced out in Prairie du Chien, Wis., where one-third of the city of 5,000 is under water. The river was expected to crest today at 21.4 feet, 3.4 feet above flood stage.

English Mark Feast Day Of St. George

By HARRY ECLES
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

The historic toast of "St. George for Merrie England" will be heard again Monday wherever Englishmen gather as the feast day of England's patron saint is celebrated.

It's a great day for the English, a triple celebration. It's more than the feast day of St. George, born a Greek Christian in A.D. 270. It's also the anniversary of the birth and death of William Shakespeare, and of the British navy's great raid on Zeebrugge in 1918.

"St. George for Merrie England" became the battle cry of English armies at Crecy and Agincourt in the 14th century. It was emblazoned in the Zeebrugge battle when Admiral Sir Roger Keyes sent the signal—"St. George for Merrie England, and let's give the eagle's tail a damn good twist." Nine V.C.'s were awarded for valor in that action, although it was only partially successful.

In England the day has been a national holiday since 1222, and this year's celebrations are linked with the vast preparations for the 1951 Festival of Britain to be opened by the King next month. Apart from war years the patriotic rallying cry has never come at a more opportune time, with British soldiers fighting in Korea alongside Canadians and others of the United Nations forces, and British sailors and airmen on duty all over the world.

The day has long been celebrated on this continent, too, with a gathering at Halifax in 1750. Another early Canadian observance was a celebration at Toronto on April 23, 1822. But it will be marked wherever a group of Englishmen gather, in any spot around the world.

As a symbol of chivalry and courage, in fact, St. George is honored in many foreign lands. St. George rose to high military rank under the Roman Emperor Diocletian, and his association with England began when he went there on an imperial mission.

The young officer vigorously opposed the emperor's persecution of the Christians and eventually resigned his commission in protest. But he was arrested, tortured and put to death on April 23, A.D. 303.

Elizabeth Marks 25th Birthday

Rome, April 21.— (Reuters)—No big parties, no speeches, no parades—just a quiet day alone with hubby. That is how Princess Elizabeth celebrated her 25th birthday today.

Elizabeth and Prince Philip, here on an official visit, were granted a day off from the round of formal affairs to "just do as they please."

And to thwart the public, British embassy officials kept the couple's plans for the day a strict secret. They would not even say what the Prince gave his wife for a birthday present.

But last night, as midnight chimed from the bellfries of Rome, she received her first present—a huge bouquet of red roses—at a lavish dinner in her honor at the Rome Polo Club.

Philip stood smiling by her side as the roses were presented.

This is the second year in succession that Princess Elizabeth has been away from home on her birthday. Last year she was visiting Malta, where her husband is stationed with the Royal Navy.

Herbert Evatt Has Tough Opposition In Australia

By LOUIS L. LECK
 Canadian Press Correspondent

Sydney, Australia, April 21.—(AP)—Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, deputy leader of the Australian Labor party and former president of the United Nations General Assembly, is fighting hard to hold his parliamentary seat.

He is opposed in the April 28 Australian general election by Mrs. Nancy Wake, a heroine of the second world war who tackled the doughty Evatt in the 1949 election and whittled his 1946 majority of 11,000 to a mere 2,644. This time the fight is tougher because Dr. Evatt must contend with the communist issue.

Last year Dr. Evatt opposed the coalition government's bill to dissolve the communist party when it was before the House of Representatives. His denunciation of some of its provisions astonished both his friends and his enemies by his passion and feeling.

Then the A.L.P. ordered parliamentarians to cease opposing the bill which was passed.

The communist party and several unions challenged the act in the high court and Dr. Evatt accepted a brief to appear for some of the unions.

He won the case and a few weeks later successfully defended the communist miners' president, Idris Williams, against a summons for contempt of court arising out of the one-day-a-week coal stoppages.

For this Dr. Evatt was bitterly attacked both inside and outside the Labor party.

He claimed that as a barrister he was bound to accept a brief offered to him, unless there were overwhelming reasons why he should refuse it.

A brilliant university student and one of Australia's leading constitutional lawyers, Dr. Evatt in 1930 was appointed by the Scullin Labor government to the high court at the age of 36—with-out precedent in Australia. In 1940 he resigned to contest the apparently safe anti-Labor seat of Barton. He won the riding and in 1941, when the Fadden government was overthrown, became Attorney-General and Minister for external affairs in the first Curtin government.

While a minister, he worked hard and made his staff work hard. It was said of him that wherever he went he left a trail of ulcers, heart attacks and nervous breakdowns.

He fought hard at the San Francisco conference in 1945 for the rights of small powers in the projected United Nations and against the veto power which was given to the big five.

He was elected president of the U. N. General Assembly for 1948-49.

At home he threw himself into the bank-nationalization controversy, helped draft the legislation and helped his leader, J. B. Chifley, pilot it through parliament.

Then when the act was challenged he donned wig and gown again and argued—unsuccessfully—its constitutionality before the high court and the Privy Council.

Mrs. Nancy Wake is 38, plump, vital, fun-loving and deadly serious; an idealist who can be realistic; a one-time Sunday school teacher who has broken a man's neck in the course of duty.

For her work with the French underground movement during the second world war she was decorated with the George Medal, the Croix de Guerre with palms, the Medaille de la Resistance and the Medal of Freedom with bronze palm.

She was born in Wellington, N.Z., and came to Australia when she was six months old. In 1937 she went to England and met a prosperous French steel merchant, Henri Fiocca, whom she married in 1939.

Patricias Enjoy Rest After Latest Session With Reds

(Editors: The following dispatch, filed Tuesday, was delayed by censorship.)

By BILL BOSS
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

In Korea, April 21.—(CP)—In a tented city with gravelled sidewalks, electric lights, telephones, sports grounds and showers, the Patricias cleaned up Tuesday after their latest session in the North Korean hills.

South of the 38th parallel, in a camp prepared by Maj. George Flint of Montreal, second in command, the troops relaxed after their latest operation—a nine-day excursion into North Korea which saw them wind up eight miles north of the boundary.

The Patricias contributed more than 5 1/2 miles of that advance, taking five mountains against varying Chinese opposition and increasing thanks that North Korea's hills run mostly north and south, not east and west. They were easier to capture that way.

The job was done at a cost of eight wounded, mostly slight, and no dead.

The operation was the second led by Maj. Pat Tighe of Victoria, commanding the battalion in the absence of Lt.-Col. J. R. Stone, out with smallpox.

The battalion functioned like clockwork under the quiet-spoken major who directed every phase from the hills, always just behind the lead company.

It is unusual in this war theatre for a commanding officer to operate from a slit trench on the mountain tops, generally unarmoured and with only a map-board slung over his shoulder.

Twice Tighe has been commended by Brig. William Burke, commanding the 27th Commonwealth brigade, for the Patricias' work.

Budget Debate Rolls Along, Touches On Many Subjects

Ottawa, April 21.— The feature of a week-long debate on finance minister Abbott's 1951-52 budget has been demands for government action in a wide variety of fields.

Many of the speakers have not even referred to the budget in the debate, adjourned last night until Monday. They simply referred to the grievances of their own constituencies.

Sufficient latitude is granted in the debate for members to raise almost any topic.

Still to be dealt with are Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. motions calling for votes of non-confidence in the government because of the contents of the budget.

The Progressive Conservatives have called for repeal of the resolution increasing the general sales tax to 10 from eight per cent. The C.C.F. party has urged that the 20-per-cent surtax on personal incomes be applied only against single persons earning more than $1,500 and married persons earning more than $3,000.

Demands advanced yesterday were indicative of the trend of the debate. They ranged from requests for government action to halt inflation to formation of a commission to study government spending. They touched on defence contracts for the Maritimes, an economic survey of eastern and western Canada and improvement of telegraph communications in Newfoundland.

Washington, April 21.— (AP)—Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper (Rep. Iowa), today accused the administration of "smoke-screening" the issue of whether the United States high command ever shared Gen. MacArthur's military views on the Korean war.

Senator Russell B. Long (Dem. La.) replied that MacArthur had "lost one gamble" when the Chinese communists entered the war, and that President Truman was only preventing the deposed Pacific commander from "taking the final gamble that Russia would not come in if we bomb China."

Hickenlooper is a Senate foreign relations committee member. Long is a member of the armed services group. The two committees will sit together for an investigation late this month on Far Eastern military and diplomatic policies.

Their differences were characteristic of a Congressional split so deep that it erupted into a tussle yesterday among three or four senators recording a radio debate on the issues MacArthur had just raised.

The three contestants—Senators Hubert H. Humphrey (Dem. Minn.) and Herbert Lehman (Dem.-Lib. N.Y.) on one side and Senator Homer Capehart (Rep. Ind.) on the other—couldn't agree on exactly what happened. Senator Robert Taft (Rep. O.) acted as peacemaker.

He agreed with the others, however, that the four couldn't agree on MacArthur's program to fight an expanded war against the com-

Merchant of Venice," and by Isabelle, in "Measure for Measure.") In your study of Hamlet, Othello, Lear and Macbeth, you mark the culmination of the drama for all ages, and observe the effect of the poison of doubt and contemplative inactivity in the face of evil, in which, as it were, humanity, with heightened capacity for seeing itself, stands aghast at its own frailty. Then, in Othello, we trace mistaken jealousy. King Lear portrays parental folly and filial ingratitude; Macbeth—ambition, crime and remorse. The secret of his magnificent work was the poet's spiritual ecstasy which, with his exalted imagination and unequalled command of language, gave his work the stamp of immortality.

Weighing all this then, on April 23rd, annually, we owe an incalculable debt to the myriad-minded Shakespeare and should feed our minds on the literary food he has preserved for us. Yet there are those who insist on ignoring this good diet, preferring to feed on the husks which certain tabloids, movie pictures and radio programs provide.

On the anniversary of the birthday of this encourager who holds up the mirror of life, will you resolve to be strong and of a good courage and face life in the spirit of a victor? Ye English, never forget that you have a noble heritage! Grand memories on these shores! Forward then go depending on God and on His Word relying, all the while determined to make "each place of work a temple, each house a home of prayer—each city a name of beauty—The Lord is There."

THE SPIRIT OF BRITAIN

Of commendable sterling qualities, worthy of our imitation, these two Englishmen remind us. And, in an era when there is an attempt to tone down England's greatness, to review the lives of such heroes as these two is profitable and inspiring. Beware lest we forget that great men such as these do not die! There is a conservation of energy in the spiritual world. Ideals are not lost. Christ was nailed to a Cross, but the ideal and ethic of Christ makes the tapestry of existence fair to behold. Nothing is lost. Neither the good nor the bad. But the wheat is antitoxic to the tares. Power generates power. Genius engenders genius. Like produces like.

IN HOLLYWOOD

by Erskine Johnson
NEA Staff Correspondent

THE MAN NOBODY KNOWS IS AT HOME ON THE RANGE
Hollywood—You won't catch me trusting marquee titles again. I'll be careful to refer to it as "Delliah and Samson" when I run into Hedy Lamarr, "All About Margo Channing" when next I meet Bette Davis and I'll even ask Olivia de Havilland what she thought about the critics who reviewed "Juliet and Romeo."

And if I ever interview the lion who wins the role, I'll talk about George Bernard Shaw's "The Lion and Androcles."

What goes up in movie-house lights, I have to report, doesn't always match up with what gets spelled out in the mind of a movie queen or a profile king.

Howard Duff wised me up. I hadn't heard that it was called "Sam Bass and Calamity Jane" until Howard said it that way.

On the marquee it was "Calamity Jane and Sam Bass" and Yvonne de Carlo was Howard's costar.

Howard shrugged: "Look, I call it 'Sam Bass and Calamity Jane.' Let Yvonne de Carlo take care of herself."

(Yvonne probably will, son.)
Maybe Howard was kidding, after all.

He'd just been pulled out of a whiny-and-short opus tagged "The Cave" because his broken leg hadn't knitted well enough for horseback riding.

He rubbed his chin thoughtfully and said that he could take or leave westerns, anyhow.

Saddle-Happy.
But give him a choice between an ordinary sagebrush thriller and a so-so drawing room picture, and he'd leap into the saddle faster than Lash LaRue.

"Who can lose in a western?" Howard asked. "It's all in gorgeous color and who expects it to be anything?"

The only sunset he'd ever headed into was Sunset Boulevard—in a low-slung convertible—when UI tossed him his first bookskin starring chore in "Red Canyon."

"I thought a wrangler was a foot-stamping, door-slaming leading lady and I was scared to death of a horse. I went out a month before the picture just to learn how to get on and off a horse. Even so, I was terrible in the picture. The double had to do everything."

For years, Duff was radio's "Sam Spade."

People still refer to him as "Sam" or "Spade" or "Shovel."

And they even write to him about cousin Julius who mysteriously disappeared from home a month ago and want to know what his fee would be to track down the low-life who poisoned a flock of prize white leghorns.

Walled Howard:
"People really think I'm a private eye. I don't get fan mail. I get detective problems. These are mature people, too. Something's wrong somewhere. I don't know."

He admitted that he had his tongue in his cheek on the airshow when he dictated those private reports to Effie, his secretary.

"Sometimes I think we had too much fun on the show. Sam was a dull guy when it began and I was trying hard to be a Humphrey Bogart. We lightened it, put in more humor. Yeah, I guess we had fun, all right."

Dr. Gardner
Did he remember the time, when he was dating Ava Gardner, that he referred to a sawbones on the show as Dr. A. V. A. Gardner?

He hadn't thought of it for years, but he remembered:
"There was another time," he said. "We had an actress on the show who played a horrible boozy landlady. I said, 'Thank you and good night Ava Gardner.' Ava was watching the show from the sponsors' booth. She almost killed me."

Howard's right up there with Alan Ladd, Farley Granger and Tony Curtis as a leave-'em-limp boy with movie fan magazine editors.

His press agent, he sighed, is always in conference with writers on new ideas for Howard Duff stories.

The Blood Donor Clinic For This District Is Being Held At Cookshire On May 8 And 9 By The Red Cross

Scotstown, April 21. — The Canadian Red Cross Society is again appealing for blood donors. A clinic will be held in Cookshire at Victoria Hall, on May 8 and 9, for this district.

The local Women's Institute suggests that anyone wishing to be a volunteer blood donor would leave his or her name at any of the grocery stores, the mills, etc., or give their name to Mrs. Charles MacRae, who is chairman of the Red Cross Society in Scotstown.

On receipt of the names, a card will be sent by Mr. Gage in Cookshire, indicating the day and time to be present.

It is hoped that as many as possible will take advantage of this Blood Donor Clinic.

THE LADIES' CIRCLE
The regular monthly meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies' Circle was held in the Church Hall with Mrs. Philip Boy and Mrs. J. E. Nicholson, the hostesses. The meeting was well attended by members and visitors. Some time of the afternoon was spent in quilting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. D. A. Campbell, and the devotions were in charge of the vice-president, Mrs. A. R. MacDonald. Letters and notes of appreciation were received from members and friends who had been remembered during illness and bereavement.

The report of the conveners showed activity in all departments of work. Donations were received and appreciated, from friends and members.

Considerable business was transacted, after which it was decided to hold a variety concert in the near future.

Former E. T. Residents Now In Ontario Will Hold Annual Picnic On June 30

Plans for the 1951 Picnic for former Eastern Townships residents now living in Ontario were made at a meeting of the Planning Committee held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roarke, St. George, Ont. Following the meeting a pleasant social time was spent and Mrs. Roarke served a delicious supper before the members returned to their homes in Guelph and Hamilton.

The day was doubly interesting because of the fact that Mrs. Roarke's mother, Mrs. Mary Patton, was celebrating her 88th birthday, and the tea table was centered with a prettily decorated cake in her honor. Mrs. Patton was a resident of Sherbrooke for over 40 years, and has two sons residing there now — D. H. Patton and A. W. Patton.

The date of the picnic was set for June 30th, and as Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Locke again offered the use of their farm as a site for the picnic, the committee gratefully accepted the kind offer. Owing to the generous donations at last year's picnic it was decided that there were sufficient funds to allow for the construction of several picnic tables with benches, for the use of the few visitors who arrive without the customary folding tables and camp stools. It was also decided to procure a camp stove or other means of providing hot water for those who enjoy their cups of freshly brewed tea.

A work meeting was arranged for early in June, when the tables will be constructed and various other improvements to the grounds will be made. The usual program will be arranged, with emphasis on the entertainment of the younger folk, as their parents are too busy meeting and chatting with old friends to need any extensive program for their benefit.

These E. T. Get-Together Picnics, which were started five years ago, have proved a popular means of contact for the many former E. T. residents who have moved to the southern part of Ontario. In past years the register has shown names from Windsor, Niagara, Ottawa, Toronto, Owen Sound, Barrie and many other places in between, also from several places across the border. Several E. T. residents visiting at homes in Ontario were also given a welcome when they dropped in at the picnic to greet old friends.

Four miles north of Guelph on Highway 24 picnickers will turn left, drive one mile on a good county road to the Locke Farm, pass through the gate, up the slope past the farmhouse, then down the lane to the meadow, where a long line of cars will already be parked.

At first one seems to be among strangers, then suddenly one sees across the meadow, or just arriving by car, that girl or boy one went to school with years ago. Then there is much talking and laughing about the days when "we used to skip stones in the good old St. Francis," or maybe the Tomifobia. There will be news of friends not forgotten through the years, stories of sugar parties, and gay times at summer camps on the E. T.'s beautiful lakes.

The day is a nappy one, well spent in renewing the friendships which have suffered neglect in the busy whirl of modern life. The setting is most suitable, with its rolling hills, the open field for races and the game of baseball, shady groves with welcome relief from the hot sun at lunchtime, and the Speed River offering wading pools for the little ones.

The hills around the Royal City of Guelph remind visitors of those other Hills of Home in Stanstead, Magog, or Stoke, so that there is almost a feeling of being at home to those away from the scenes of their childhood. Added to this is the kindly welcome extended by Mr. and Mrs. Locke, who in addition to opening their farm to several hundreds of incomers, also do a major part of the work of preparing the meadows and groves for games and for ample space for parking cars.

It has been impossible to get news of the "Get-Together" to all E. T. people living in Ontario, and as it is the sincere wish of the committee that no one should be

Harry Maude Will Sing In "Elijah"

Rated by music critics as the most outstanding baritone oratorio soloist on the continent, Harry Maude will sing the leading role of "Elijah" on May 10, at Trinity United Church.

He has had considerable success in a field which covers concert, light and grand opera, radio and sacred music. In Montreal he has achieved a reputation in radio having starred in several C.B.C. coast to coast productions of opera and operettas.

In New York Mr. Maude performed in Carmen and in other operas given by the Master Institute. He has sung under such outstanding conductors as Sir Ernest MacMillan and Emil Cooper, of the Metropolitan Opera Association.

He has appeared as leading baritone soloist in ten Gilbert and Sullivan operas, has sung in Romeo and Juliet, Hansel and Gretel, Fidelio, Madame Butterfly and Rigoleto. He gave ten performances in five years as soloist in Handel's Messiah, besides appearing in nine other oratorios several times.

The Elijah is a highly dramatic work and is frequently referred to as a religious opera. Its story — the drought prophecy, the raising of the widow's son, the appearance of rain in answer to Elijah's appeal, his persecution by Jezebel; the sojourn in the desert; his return and disappearance in the fiery chariot; and the finale.

Appearing with Mr. Maude as soloists are Jean Seath, soprano, of Sherbrooke; Kevin Doherty, tenor, and Maureen Forrester, contralto, both of Montreal.

The performance is under the musical direction of Professor R. Harvard with Mrs. Robert Bell at the organ. Trinity United Church Choir, assisted by their friend will do the choral work.

Tickets may be obtained at the Sheffield Shop or at H. C. Wilson and Sons, Limited. Requests for tickets by mail should be made to Mrs. L. L. Gauthier, 174 Vimy Street, Sherbrooke.

Grace Chapel Young People Have Meeting

The young people's group of Grace Chapel had their weekly Saturday night meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Allcorn in Milby with 28 young people present.

Members of the I.S.C.F. (Inter-School Christian Fellowship), were in charge of the meeting. Donald Allcorn acting as chairman.

Many lovely old hymns and choruses were sung, with Ruth Robinson at the piano and Jean Hamelin, student of Bethel Bible Institute, Sherbrooke, playing his accordion. There was also singing by a quartet from the I.S.C.F. students from Lennoxville and Sherbrooke High Schools. Mary McHarg, Shirley Spackman, Mary MacMillan and Edith Rymill.

The guest speaker was Norman Buchanan, announcer for Sunday's "Glad Tidings Hour." Mr. Buchanan spoke on what it means to be a Christian and the stand Christian young people must take in the world today.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the end of the meeting.

W. M. S. Will Convene At Smiths Falls

Scotstown, April 21. — Annual Synodical meeting of Synodical Society of Montreal and Ottawa, W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada is to be held in Westminster Church, Smiths Falls, April 24, 25 and 26.

Speaker at the first general session on Tuesday evening will be the Rev. Malcolm Ransome, formerly of Yunnan, China, now preaching at Fort Erie, Ont.

Other speakers during the meetings will be Mrs. J. J. Inkster, of Toronto, first vice-president of Council, and a former president, and Mrs. D. F. Hazell, supply secretary on council executive.

Community Concerts' Membership Campaign Gets Under Way Monday

Mr. Justice Cesaire Gervais, president of the Sherbrooke branch of the Community Concerts Association, announced today that final plans are completed for the annual membership campaign which will be launched on Monday, April 23.

Mrs. C. B. Howard, Membership Chairman of the Association, and Miss Mimi Shea, Dinner Chairman, are making a last minute checkup of all preparations for attendance at the dinner meeting to be held in the New Sherbrooke Hotel on Sunday, April 22, at 6.30, so that the drive may be the same success it was last year.

The dinner will be attended by the members by a number of the invited guests and by members of the executive, who are the following: His Worship Mayor C. B. Howard and Mrs. Howard Mr. Justice and Mrs. Cesaire Gervais, Mrs. F. H. Bradley, Donald Nugent, Publicity Director, Community Concert, New York, Mr. and Mrs. Chénier Picard, Mrs. L. E. Codere, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rosenbloom, Miss Vioria Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fortier, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Camirand, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Robidou, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sampson, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Robins, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brovcher, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Watson, Mrs. Norris Robins, Mrs. P. D. Mathias, Miss Doris Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Danseure, Paul Beaudry, Miss Margaret Doherty, Miss Christine Sirois, Miss Mimi Shea.

Mr. Nugent is to address the meeting and will also be present for the entire week to assist in the campaign.

The gathering will be entertained by a musical film of about 20 minutes length, featuring famous stars of the concert world.

Saturday noon is the deadline for the campaign, and no members will be accepted after this hour. The artist's committee will meet immediately after the final results have been listed, to choose the series from a list including the most celebrated names in the music world.

Cost of membership will be as usual, $5 for adults, and $3 for students. One membership card entitles holder to attend every one of the concerts.

Lennoxville High Play Is Well Acted

By JOHN COX
Robert Carley's comedy, "Coming My Way," was presented by Lennoxville High School's Dramatic Club in Gertrude Scott Hall this Thursday and Friday evenings. The play was co-directed by Miss Marion Burt and Miss E. L. Farnsworth.

The lively comedy is about young people, about a lad with a broken heart, Herbert, and the friends and relatives who revolve around him. He is joined by two friends, "Bumps" and Joy Shook, in the ambitious project of making men's cold cream and other cosmetics. They are encouraged by Herbert's Aunt Effie who desires revenge on George Andrews and has the hope of marrying him.

The complications start with the falling plaster in the living room and continue under a quick-tempered father, the copping ideas of Ebenezer, the possessiveness of Joy Shook and the sophisticated wiles of Marilyn.

Sylvia Burt undoubtedly commanded the scene both as an actress and as the mother in an unpredictable household. Her diction was quite good. Her ability to converse with several characters one after the other was adequate.

Graham Baskerville in the role of Herbert, the hero of an amateur job, two companies and two girls, seemed competent to be the centre of the play's action. He spoke his lines well and with good expression, although he shuffled a little too much, especially when he was being spoken to.

Herbert's aunt, Effie, played by Elizabeth Home, was convincing enough to have an audience believe that she could influence young people and annoy a brother-in-law. Her manner was most mature and her gestures appeared sincere. On a par with her was Lynn Hill's portrayal of George Andrews. He spoke well and looked like a businessman. They made a good pair.

Jo Ann Peters, as Joy, seemed a little wooden, sometimes not knowing what to do with her hands. She made up for this with good expression. Her best scene was when she told Herbert off. Coleen Lavers as Marilyn, the latter's rival, gave an accomplished version of a sophisticated opponent to Marilyn for Herbert's affections. Of all the minor parts, she seemed the most at ease on the stage.

Patricia, Herbert's sister, played by Joan Sterling, showed she could express herself with emotion but at times she slurred her words so that one had to guess at the context.

Teddy Jenne made a good job of Herbert's friend, "Bumps," knowing when to be sarcastic, polite or skeptical. Richard Evans as the grumpy master of the Pennywate household, was grumpy at the right time and convincing in sympathetic at others. Charles Warner handled his double role well. The same manner of speech and action appeared to have been transferred from Ebenezer to the young Dick Loring. As he was constantly referred to during the play, there was considerable interest as to what he looked like when he finally showed up as Dick.

Hattie the maid by Ann Pearson was a thoroughly enjoyable character. Her remarks kept the play's action together. Playing the part of a delivery man was Bruce Sterling.

The play as a whole was very entertaining. The co-directors, the Misses Marion Burt and E. L. Farnsworth, deserve much credit in undertaking a comedy which had to move smoothly to keep its humor spontaneous and hearty.

Twenty-Nine Racial Groups In Sherbrooke

Twenty-nine racial groups make up the population of Sherbrooke according to the annual statistical report prepared by City Clerk Anton Deslauriers. These range from a single Rumanian to 41,368 French-Canadians who form the greatest part of the population.

Second to the French-Canadians are 7,061 English-Canadians, the third group being the Irish with 1,261.

Other groups as shown by the 1950 civic census were: Acadians; 6; Germans 13; Americans 98; Armenians 27; Assyrians 17; Belgians 14; Chinese 8; Scots 26; Spaniards 13; Estonians 68; Dutch 19; Welsh 12; Greeks 12; French 15; Hungarians 13; Italians 216; Jews 254; Norwegians 5; Poles 45; Rumanians 1; Russians 8; Slovaks 14; Swedes 13; Syrians 12; and Ukrainians 12.

The population increase of 2,323 during the year to a total of 51,009 was spread over twenty-six groups, the chief gains being French-Canadians 1,894 and English-Canadians 231. Other substantial gains were registered as follows: Estonians 10; Irish 57; Italians 20; Jews 25; Poles 19 and Syrians 10. No group showed a decline during the year although three, the Belgians, Rumanians and Swedes remained stationary.

Of the 31,009 persons residing in Sherbrooke, 43,149 listed their religion as Roman Catholics and 7,860 were listed as Protestants and other religions.

The West Ward continued to have the largest population with 17,109 residents. The East followed with 14,416, the population of the other wards being: North 10,378; Centre 3,468 and South 5,638.

Miss Charbonneau Named VP Of C.C.B.; Norman Tracy To Attend Halifax Meet

The first annual convention of the Canadian Council of the Blind, Quebec Division, came to a close yesterday afternoon with the election of the new executive, choosing of delegates to attend the national convention in August, and the appeal to Premier Duplessis' government to do something towards setting up a school in this province for the education of blind French-speaking boys and girls, over 12 years of age.

Anthony Zaplaski of Montreal was re-elected chairman of the Quebec Division. The rest of the new executive is as follows: Aline Charbonneau of the Sherbrooke Oasis Club of the Blind, vice-president; George Cohen, Marcel Lequin and Henri Roy, all of Montreal, are directors.

Norman Tracy, vice-president of the Oasis Club of Sherbrooke, was one of four persons named to attend the national parley of the C.C.B. to be held at Halifax August 13 to August 16, inclusive. The other delegates who will represent the Quebec Division at Halifax are: Mr. Zaplaski, Mr. Roy and Bernard Castonguay, also of Montreal.

At present there are no facilities in this province for the education of blind, French-speaking youngsters over the age of 12. The convention unanimously moved that this matter be attended to immediately and a wire was sent to Quebec City asking the provincial authorities for help in this matter.

A great deal of discussion at the convention was about education of the blind. Through the co-operation of the C.N.I.B. and at the request of the Council a survey was made of sightless university graduates and the type of work in which they are now engaged. While many of the 76 sightless graduates are employed with the C.N.I.B., blind varied men and women were found to have a wide variety of other jobs.

Adrien Tremblay, well-known in musical circles in Sherbrooke, died yesterday at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital in his 46th year.

Mr. Tremblay, employed by the Dominion Textile Company, was a member of both the Harmony Band and the Symphony Orchestra, in which he played the bassoon.

He is survived by his widow and one son, Jean Charles. Funeral service will be held Monday at 9 a. m. from the Cathedral. The remains are resting at Brien's Funeral Parlor.

DASTARDLY WORK

How often have the people heard from Communist sources about some of the most distinguished, bravest, most cultured and highly educated men pleading guilty when charged by the Communist police with various offences against the state? There comes revelation of the most dastardly work of all done by the Communists in the process of liquidating opponents. A Polish author has advanced the theory that human endurance is broken down by protracted and persistent cross-examination, day after day, with the victim under a fierce electric light as he or she faces the interrogator.

The author of the book himself experienced this ordeal, but his will-power sustained it. His fellow prisoners were less fortunate. But can such a system explain the abject self-abasement of highly educated and strong-minded men like Catholic dignitaries or well-known statesmen?

In medical circles there is a strong suspicion that the true explanation of these mental transformations is "frontal leucotomy," a comparatively simple needle-point surgical operation—which can be performed whilst the patient is under an anaesthetic—whereby a severed nerve weakens the mental initiative.

What a prostitution of science! What an abasement and degradation of human beings! What foul wickedness! In brief antichrist at work.

NATIONAL HEALTH COSTS

The British Socialist Government's national health plan, which was largely the work of Aneurin Bevan who recently left the Health Ministry to take over the portfolio of Labor, far exceeded his estimated cost for the first year. Mr. Bevan was an optimist, and predicted that within a year or two the rush for free medical services would shake down to a normal level. Undoubtedly, hundreds of thousands of people went to doctors for attention they would not have sought if they had to pay at the professional rates. And undoubtedly a vast number of people derived benefit. The service was very comprehensive. It included free dentistry, including sets of teeth, free eye-glasses, free hearing aids and even free toupees. Many millions of sets of teeth and many millions of eye-glasses were supplied.

That scheme was introduced in 1946, and Mr. Bevan's estimate of cost was $150,000,000 the first year. But the actual cost of services by doctors, dentists, optometrists and others was more than double that amount. Instead of going down it is still going up. The estimate for 1951 is $355,040,000, which is about $3,500,000 more than last year.

So Mr. Gaitskill, when he introduced his budget last week, announced that in future, people who wanted new teeth and eye-glasses would have to pay half the cost. His colleague, Mr. Bevan, was so angry that he threatened to resign, but Mr. Attlee talked him out of it.

Any minister who sponsors legislation that costs more than 100 per cent more than he said it would ought to retire.

If a lot of people feel that they cannot afford to pay half the cost of new teeth and new glasses it does not seem to matter much because the meat ration is so small that they can swallow it without chewing, and so small it cannot be seen with the naked eye anyway.

EDITORIAL WASTAGE

Calling attention to the number of 6,402,000 on the payroll of the United States at a monthly cost of $1,527,000,000 and an increase in the number of fatalities on state highways from 99 to 127, The Shawnee News-Star, Oklahoma State, submits:

"There are two topics on which an editorial writer completely wastes all thought and energy generated in discussing them — government spending and highway deaths.

"It doesn't matter how many indignant newspapermen hammer out commentaries on these two subjects, nothing happens—except more spending and more accidents."

There is still another subject, about which Canadian editors in particular write thousands of words of homily and advice, generally regarded as futile but essential editorial duty none the less. It is about the fire hazard. Year after year, little children all over Canada are incinerated and there are thousands of square miles of forests consumed by fire, not to speak of the city, town and village conflagrations everywhere.

The answer to less spending by governments, fewer fatalities on the highways, and reducing to the minimum the hazard of fire is in a higher level of mass education. It is a slow process, and the stern battle for existence by so many people is no expediter.

LACK OF LOGIC DISTINGUISHES GREAT DEBATE OVER MACARTHUR

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington—(NEA)—Some of the stuff flying around on the MacArthur firing and the great debate over sending troops to Europe should rate prizes as classic examples of lack of logic. This applies to both parties. And it should leave the average citizen wondering whether either party has a clear policy. Or if it has, do the individual members of each party understand it?

Take a few typical examples:
When the troops for Europe debate was on, one of the principal arguments against it was that building up North Atlantic defense forces in western Europe would provoke Soviet Russia into an attack.

When the MacArthur case came along, however, the general's defenders supported him in the idea that he be empowered to bomb Manchurian bases and order the Chinese Nationalists to launch an attack on communist China. The general's critics mentioned this would certainly provoke Soviet Russia into direct participation in the Korean mess, and thus start World War III.

This contradiction poses a question: If it's wrong to provoke a shooting war in Europe, why is it all right to provoke one in Asia? Or state it the other way: If it's all right to run the risk of all-out war in Asia, why isn't it all right to take the same gamble in Europe?

BRING 'EM HOME—NO, SEND 'EM TO CHINA
Here's another:
Four or five months ago, when UN troops were being pushed back in Korea, there was considerable agitation in Congress for the United States to pull out. Victory was considered impossible. Why should American troops die in Korea? Bring the boys home.

Meanwhile, the Truman administration kept insisting that the U. S. and UN must stay in Korea and fight. Then came the MacArthur crisis. General MacArthur wanted to wage more aggressive war. When President Truman relieved the general of command, the cry went up that he should have been supported. By jerking the rug, it was claimed that the President was trying to appease the communists and lose the Korean war.

Which position is right? If the Truman administration could be accused of pushing the war too aggressively before, how can it be accused of not pushing the same war now? On the other hand, if the President's opponents—both Democratic and Republican—thought the U. S. should pull out of the Korean war before, why should they change and insist it is proper to become more deeply involved now?

Take a third illustration:
Part of the congressional opposition to universal military training has been that the United States did not want to set up a military caste. It was feared that UMT might lead to military control of the government. It was even feared that sending General Eisenhower to Europe as supreme commander for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would put him in position to become a military dictator.

MILITARY OR CIVILIAN CONTROL?
When General MacArthur in effect defied the civilian head of government, however, many of the same people who had expressed concern over military control of government leaped to the general's support.

Question: If it is wrong to put General Eisenhower in a position that would make him a man on horseback over the civilian government, why is it all right to have General MacArthur in a similar position on the other side of the world?

Or look at a fourth case, or series of cases:
The Truman administration has time and time again denied active and all-out support to the Nationalist government of China, now on Formosa. Reasons given are that Chiang Kai-shek's government is weak, corrupt, ineffective, unreliable.

Even if you grant all these charges as true, it must be admitted that support has also been given to other foreign governments of which the same things could be said in varying degrees on each count. Greece, for example, The Philippines, The Argentine, Even South Korea.

Now if it is all right to support some of these weak and struggling governments, to help them attain stability, why is it wrong to deny such aid to others? Spain? Yugoslavia? India?

On the other hand, much of the opposition to more aid for western Europe has been that it was useless to try to defend it against communist aggression, if the Russians ever decided to move in and take over.

So the question here is: If it is wrong to try to support western Europe against possible communist aggression, why would it be all right to support Nationalist China against such aggression?

WIPE OUT SALES TAX

St. Catharines Standard
J. M. Macdonnell, Conservative Member Toronto-Greenwood, recently moved in the House that the increase of 25 per cent in the sales tax, making the total tax 10 per cent, be wiped out in the budget of Mr. Abbott. Of course, if the House voted in favor of the motion, the government would have to resign and ask the Governor-General for an appeal to the country. There isn't a chance of that happening, of course. The submission of the motion, which is one of want of confidence, by Mr. Macdonnell, financial critic of the Opposition, does focus the eyes of the country on the budget weakness. The increased sales tax has been generally condemned across the country.

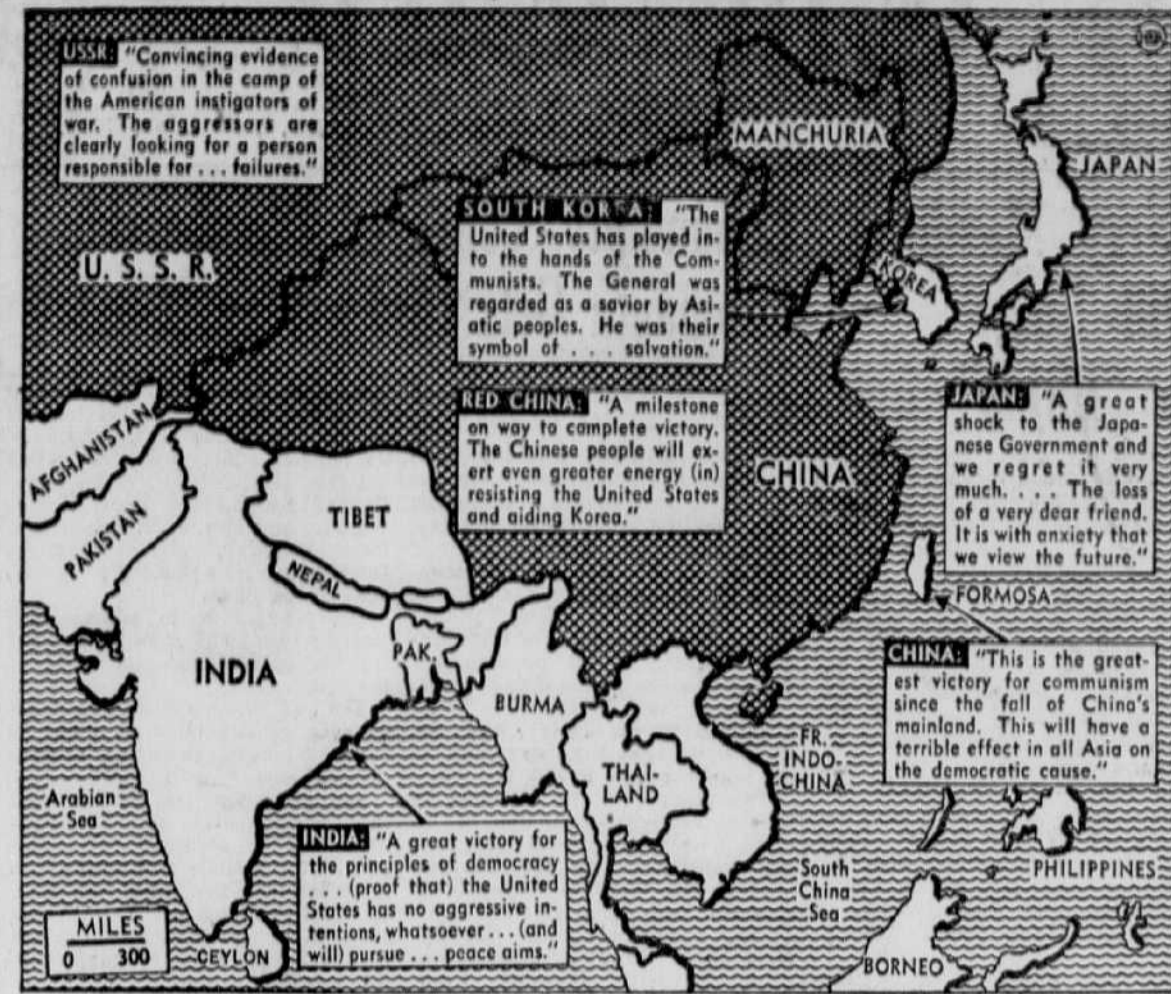

Much force is lent to the condemnation by Mr. Macdonnell's assurance that the Finance Minister's habit of budgeting for a surplus will again show a surplus quite equal to all the money taken in higher sales taxes from over the counter. And those higher taxes hit people in the lower wage brackets, least able to take any taxation at all.

And Mr. Macdonnell also condemned the budget as inflationary. Certainly it has the same effect as inflation, making it tough for people to exist.

The cold fact is that the more people examine into this new doctrine of Liberal government instability, the less respect, surely, they must have for such an unliberal doctrine.

Behold, in this thou art not just: I will answer thee, that God is greater than man.—Job 33:12.

Asia Has Its Say On MacArthur's Ouster

Asiatic opinion of the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur was sharply divided as the former supreme commander of UN forces in the Far East returned home to present his case to the American people. The Newsmag also gives the views of major Asiatic countries as reported by correspondents. One of the major points of issue between MacArthur and Truman is the general's insistence that Asia deserves priority over Europe as the foremost battleground against Russian aggression.

Lives of Two Men

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

Each month brings its own galaxy of great men. With January we associate Burns and Franklin Delano Roosevelt. February has Washington and Lincoln—March, St. David and St. Patrick. On April 23rd, the world recalls two Englishmen—St. George and William Shakespeare.

SOMEHOW these two great men, one, St. George, a soldier, and the other a great poet and playwright, Shakespeare, seem to fit into the April scheme. Each of them "opened"—the word April means to open—new fields of adventure. Each was a pioneer, a trail blazer in his generation. St. George fearlessly faced life in the spirit of a victor, and Shakespeare unabashedly held up the mirror to life. The winds, like those of March, blew on them causing proverbial showers which eventually issued in making them blossom as two of the best loved in England's storied past. With their roots in people who do extraordinary things.

ST. GEORGE
Wherever Englishmen gather on April 23rd, they'll be thinking of and—away from home—wishing they were in England to celebrate the festival of their patron St. George, Martyr c. 303. In his honor, they'll wear a rose, and perhaps drink a toast to "St. George and dear old England."

THE MYRIAD-MINDED SHAKESPEARE
God did give on April 23rd, 1564, a babe named William Shakespeare who in his lifetime became a mighty poet and dramatist with no one, as yet, attaining the scope of his oceanic mind. Here was one who knew the human soul and accordingly created human characters which are immortal.

HERE'S A LESSON IN GOOD BIDDING
"Please comment on the bidding of this hand," requests a New York reader. "When this hand was played in the Eastern States tournament recently, South won the opening spade lead and promptly led a club for a finesse of dummy's ten. East won and laid down the ace and king of diamonds. "West went into a deep huddle over the play to the second round of diamonds, but finally decided to drop his jack. East thereupon ran three more diamond tricks, setting the contract two tricks. "Isn't four hearts a sounder contract? If so, how should it be bid?"

FOUR hearts is a sounder contract, but it should be observed that it depends on a successful club guess. If South had guessed the queen of clubs at no-trump, he would have brought home nine tricks without any difficulty.

HOWEVER, the clubs guess is easier when hearts are trumps. Declarer can discover very early that East has a singleton heart. He then plays East for possible length in clubs, and the queen of clubs is thus easily picked up.

THE GAME in hearts is easily reached if South cue-bids two spades instead of bidding two no-trump. North can then go to three clubs, after which South belatedly shows heart support by bidding three hearts.

The Record Short Story
SAMSON'S NODE
By HOLLIS STARNES

Strange requests had been hurled over the drugstore counter during Hannah Griffin's years as village pharmacist in rural Silverlake. Patrons sought cures for broken hearts and troubled minds, as well as for ailing bodies. So it seemed a pleasant challenge when the local real estate man telephoned, "I've got a tenant for Doc Taylor's cabin, if you'll take on this fellow to feed."

"Quiet! Try and sleep with a flock of cackling hens under your bedroom window before dawn!"

"They must have wandered over from the Rector place. I'll call them right up. They may not know the cabin's rented."

"The hen's clucking was nothing to the hideous sounds from an ancient rooster—with nodes on his chords."

"Nodes?" Hannah asked vaguely.

"Warts. Singers get 'em on the vocal chords from straining. This old cock does some powerful straining! My son was out in the car or I'd have peppered him."

With their income now cut to the bone, 20-year-old Nancy Rector had been raising chicks and selling eggs to the market. "I'll speak to the Rectors at once," Hannah said. "First let me fix you a sedative. Drink it, go back to bed and try to relax."

After a long wait for the Rectors' party line, Hannah heard Nancy's brisk "Hello!" Instead of showing interest in the new neighbor, whom Hannah described as young, handsome and eligible—he must be unattached or he wouldn't be alone in this wilderness, she reasoned—the girl asked sharply, "If he's that young and abled, why isn't he in Korea?"

"He was in the last war. Your chickens disturbed him this morning, Nancy. He has to work nights on his munitions."

"Does he think he can come here and turn on all upside down?"

"By law your chickens have no right on his place. If he tries to eject them—"

Nancy burst out laughing. "I'd love to see anyone try ejecting my Samson! That rooster lives up to his name. Tell Mr. Composer he'd better not tangle with Samson!"

Greg Anders was back the next morning at 9. "You weren't wakened early again?" Hannah gasped.

"He nodded wearily. "My pal with the nodes and harem. But you know what I found when I dashed out to shoo 'em off? Eggs. Nine nearly white eggs!"

"No wonder Nancy said the hens weren't laying so well."

He swung onto a stool at the snack bar. "Now I'm here, may as well eat. A boy came to pick up the eggs, and said his sister's chickens had laid them. But I ran him off."

"Without the eggs?"

"My eggs, if they're laid on my land—that's the law here in my farm. I told him to tell that to his sister. Best way to force the old maid to keep her pre-dawn noise-makers home!"

Hannah smiled to herself at his vision of pretty, recharged young Nancy.

He was chuckling. "I told him to tell her if her monstrous old cock crowed under my window once more, he'd get shot right on his node. That ought to hold her!"

"He didn't know my nephew Nancy, mused Hannah as she fed him a hearty breakfast. He'd need it for his coming encounter with Nancy. "That's one encounter I'd like to see!" Hannah thought.

She had no idea her wish would be granted so speedily. When Anders paid his check, Hannah saw the Rector truck drive up and Nancy—in her brother's sun cap, dungarees and sweat shirt—come running into the store. As she swept by the counter, Hannah gave a low whistle of admiration.

"Paying him no heed she held up a crudely banded thumb to the druggist. "Nearly chopped it off just now on the rotary saw."

Soberly Hannah examined the wound. "However did you do such a thing?"

"Blame that ogre who's rented the Taylor place! I was trying to think up a proper revenge, and my hand slipped. You know what he did this morning. Stole our eggs that we needed for breakfast."

Anders came back from the door. "They're my eggs! They were laid on my property."

Nancy stared at him scornfully. "So it's you!"

"The ogre himself. But you're not quite what I expected." Hannah said. "Hold steady now, Nancy—this antiseptic may hurt."

Nancy didn't flinch as the cut was cleaned. Her eyes blazed at her neighbor. "Did you say my Samson had nodes on his vocal chords?"

"It's the truth. But you can have your eggs—if you'll come and get 'em."

"I wouldn't demean myself!"

"Children, children!" cried Hannah. "Can't you be more neighborly?"

Nancy tossed her red head. As Hannah banded her hand she asked in dismay, "Do I have to have my whole hand banded? I've got to drive the truck home."

Anders offered politely, "I'll be pleased to drive you home, neighbor gal!"

"I'll walk first!"

Hannah said, "I'm ashamed of you Nancy. When Mr. Anders wants to be a good neighbor, can't you meet him half way?"

"I'll go all the way," he amended. "I'll apologize to Samson, tote back your eggs. I'll even run your rotary saw—oh, I used to be a farm lad myself. Now—will you walk to your truck, or do I carry you?"

Nancy looked at him steadily, then they both laughed. Hannah watched them get into the truck. The sound of their laughter made sweet music.

Border Home, School Association Hears Address By Dr. E. C. Amaron

Rock Island, April 20.—The Border Home and School Association met on Tuesday evening, April 17, in the Centenary Church hall, Stanstead, with Harold Cass presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. John Sanction and Leonard McGilroy gave the annual treasurer's report which shows a balance on hand of $43.40.

Mrs. F. L. Abbott gave a report on the committee of school uniforms and stated Letourneau's score in Stanstead is willing to carry the complete line of uniforms. Mrs. Lee Jenkins was named to handle and place any second hand tunics. Forms will be circulated among school families to find out how many uniforms will be purchased from Letourneau's.

Mr. Cass then called on the speaker of the evening, Dr. E. C. Amaron, principal of Stanstead college. Dr. Amaron spoke of the good work done by President Cass and the achievements of the Association in his infant year. He spoke of his connections as principal of Stanstead college the past twenty years and on the relationship of the school with the community. In sport, at the school, every boy, either resident or day student is urged to play hockey, football, participate in track meets and other sports offered. Debating is encouraged, so is Student Council, and Dr. Amaron stressed the point that the college is concerned in recognizing the resident and day student on equal basis.

Dr. Amaron spoke on educational matters concerning the home and school, saying lack of attention is the biggest issue the teachers have to contend with. Dr. Amaron said possibly the poor type of many moving pictures may have much to do with lack of attention. Literature of low level which makes no demand on the reader, he feels, adds to the situation.

Dr. Amaron spoke of how discipline has declined in so many homes today, of the influence in the home, particularly in the early formative years when a person's habits are developed. He attributed insecurity of the child largely on many of the comics, shows of poor quality, and many baby sitters. He said he believes a child should be allowed to go to bed at night without being given the assurance of the love and security of his parents.

Dr. Amaron remarked on how children are great imitators and stressed the tremendous responsibility on the parents. It is the parent who has control of the home environment, and "your schools are the staff," not fine buildings. He spoke of the shortage of teachers now existing everywhere and asked for understanding and sympathy for the teacher from the parents, adding that here is where the Home and School Association is beneficial to the welfare of the student.

Dr. Amaron spoke of the home-work problem, and said to cover all the school work assigned by the government, it was necessary to do work at home. Parents should give encouragement to the student in doing this work.

Dr. Amaron said he felt the home and school, the teacher and the parents can do a lot together for the student and for the community. Dr. Amaron was thanked by Sam Abbott.

Mr. Cass then introduced Dr. J. S. Astbury of Montreal, who was at the college on business. Dr. Astbury in a few brief remarks spoke of his high regard for the Home and School Associations across the country. He said he has had the opportunity of attending fifty such meetings in Quebec Province and the very fact that so many exist is encouraging. He said the best work is done when the teachers and parents work together. Dr. Astbury was thanked by Leonard McGilroy.

President Cass gave a brief review of the year's work and said he had enjoyed working with the executive and members of the Association this past year. He then called on the nominating committee for the slate of officers for the ensuing year as follows: Honorary President, Mrs. F. L. Abbott; 1st Vice-President, T. Alden Peasley; 2nd Vice-President, W. B. Dustin; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Warren Souture; Recording Secretary, Lloyd Kezar; Treasurer, (re-elected) Leonard McGilroy; Executive, Miss Grace Libby, re-elected for elementary school; Mrs. Sidney Hartley, re-elected for Judd's Mills; Mrs. Leslie Tiechurst for Tomifolia and Hector Cunneen for Rock Island. The office of president was not filled.

A president was chosen but because of unavoidable circumstances will be unable to act and his letter of resignation was accepted. Mr. Cass agreed to carry on until the next executive meeting when a decision will be made on what to do.

Mr. McGilroy volunteered to attend the Home and School Federation Annual meeting in Montreal, May 11-12, and it was suggested Mrs. McGilroy accompany him. The evening concluded by the serving of refreshments by Mrs. F. L. Abbott, Mrs. W. Greer and Mrs. J. Sanction.

DIED TODAY

Laroche, France, April 21.—(Reuters)—Former Marshal Philippe Pétain died today, sources close to the local prefecture reported.

The 94-year-old first world war hero had been imprisoned on the tiny Ile d'Yeu off the French Atlantic coast since his conviction on treason charges after the liberation of France in the second world war.

N. S. Coal May Become Gaspe Power Source

Quebec, April 21.—(The) Quebec government is "seriously considering" drawing on Nova Scotia coal as a source of electric power for Gaspe peninsula.

Premier Duplessis, who celebrated his 61st birthday yesterday by doing a regular day's work, told his weekly press conference the plan.

He said 200,000 horsepower could be produced in an electric power plant in the town of Gaspe, a year-round seaport readily accessible to coal from Nova Scotia.

The Premier said his government has scrapped the idea of harnessing the Madeleine river in Gaspe because it could produce only 25,000 horsepower.

This was not enough to supply both the peninsula's developing copper-ore operations and complete electrification of Gaspe.

However, no decision has been reached on using Nova Scotia coal.

The leader of the Union Nationale government, which holds 82 of 92 seats in the Legislative Assembly, greeted newspaper men in a jovial birthday mood.

Surrounded by baskets of flowers sent by well-wishers, and puffing at an expensive cigar, the Premier told how he came to be named Maurice.

"I was born on the stroke of noon," he said. "My father got the news on the hustings as he thanked voters for electing him member for St. Maurice—that's why I was called Maurice."

Premier Duplessis said construction of a bridge across Baie des Chaleurs from Quebec into New Brunswick near Camp Bellon is a matter for the federal government.

Quebec had spent large sums to improve highway communications between the two provinces and "it would not be fair to ask contributions from either Quebec or New Brunswick."

and Nancy Flocca organized an escape route for British airmen and soldiers.

After a traitor denounced the organization, Henri Flocca was captured and shot. His wife escaped to England.

She became Ensign Nancy Wake of the "Fannies" (first-aid nursing yemenary), and then demanded to be trained as a saboteur. She learned, among other things, how to kill silently, banded.

On her first mission she was parachuted into France with orders to assist in the blowing up of a factory.

"I must have made a noise," she recounts, "because a sentry turned and saw me. I stepped up to him and broke his neck."

She was awarded the George Cross for her work on her third mission into France, when she took command of a group of men and showed "exceptional courage and coolness in the face of enemy fire."

Then for months she worked with the Maquis, helping to train and instruct them. They called her "Madame Andre."

She came back to Australia in January, 1949, with no greater ambition, she says, than a quiet life, a nine-to-five job, and a weekly pay envelope.

"Then I came down to earth, seeing exactly the same sort of things happening here as caused all the trouble in Germany and Europe... That is why I decided to take up politics."

Mrs. Wake's first political assignment was a tough one. She was given the Liberal party's endorsement to contest Barton against Dr. Evatt, in 1949.

It looked an impossible task. She was a political novice, unknown, standing against a man with an international reputation.

But when the final votes were counted the figures were: Evatt, 21,681; Wake, 19,037; majority for Evatt, 2,644.

After the election Mrs. Wake, who had reassumed her maiden name by deed poll, got a job as appeals liaison officer for legacy.

Fine Entertainment Marks Bedford Home, School Assoc. Social Evening

Bedford, April 21.—The annual social evening of the Bedford Home and School Association was held recently at the High School. Raymond Whitcomb, president, was chairman.

The opening number on the entertainment program consisted of several hill-billy vocals by Bernie Young and Ronnie Corey who were dressed in keeping with their songs. Senior girls of the school, under the direction of Mrs. Garnet Steel, then presented a concert play entitled "The Ghost in the Green Gown."

Those taking part in the play included Lois Boomhower, Shirley Black, Betty Ann Nicholson, Kathryn Sheltus and Shirley Nicholson. The prize for the greatest improvement in the play, given by Mrs. Steel, was won by Shirley Black.

Several musical selections were presented by the junior choir of the United Church under the direction of the church organist, Mrs. Alex MacArthur, one of the outstanding numbers being "O, John Peel."

This was followed by several more vocal selections by Ronnie Corey and Bernie Young, including the popular Tennessee Waltz. The boys furnished their own accompaniment with banjo and mouth organ.

The concluding portion of the entertainment was several numbers by Mr. Xavier Battet. During the last war Mr. Battet, who comes from Lille, France, served with the French forces in North Africa. He gave a selection of native music, before the coming of the Americans and after the landing of American troops, showing the influence of American jazz. Another number given by Mr. Battet was a Maurice Chevalier song.

Following the program, refreshments were served by the hostesses of the evening, Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. R. S. McIntosh, Mrs. E. Ingalls, Mrs. Stanley Johnson, Mrs. Grant Lauer, Mrs. E. Martin, Mrs. Alex MacArthur, Mrs. H. Miller, Mrs. Harold Palmer, Mrs. E. Piche, Mrs. George Palmer, Mrs. Alfred Nicholson, Mr. Ross Preston and Mr. Richard Craighead.

Balance of the evening was spent in dancing, the music being furnished by an orchestra composed of Dr. Henry Shuter, George Rolland and Alex MacArthur.

Several announcements were made by the president, the regular business meeting having been cancelled for the evening. These included an announcement that a dental clinic will be held by Dr. Jean Leblanc for High School students. All parents wishing to have their children attend this clinic were asked to get in touch with Mrs. Clayton Campbell.

Hong Kong, April 21.—(The) Reports from Red China said today the communists set a record April 9 by executing 113 persons at one time at Wuchow. As far as was known here, the largest number of victims in any previous mass execution was 29. Those purged April 9 were mostly former nationalists and government employees suspected of being anti-communist agents.

Toronto St. Mikes Eliminate Quakers

Toronto, April 21.—(The) powerful Toronto St. Michael's Monarchs moved into the Alexander Cup finals last night with a handy 9-3 victory over Saskatoon Quakers. Monarchs won the best-of-seven series in four straight games.

Monarchs, who won the first game 8-5, the second 4-1 and the third 4-2, will meet either Valleyfield Braves or Sydney Millionaires for the Canadian major hockey championship.

The smooth-skating Toronto squad made it look easy in the final period as they blasted in six unanswered goals, all of them beating netminder Jackie Gioson cleanly.

Quakers managed to keep up with Monarchs in the first two periods and then fell apart in the last. They matched Monarchs with a 2-2 tie in the first session and a 3-3 deadlock by the end of the second.

munists in Korea or on whether military men generally shared MacArthur's views.

MacArthur has called for a naval blockade of the China coast, a tightened economic blockade of Red China, the freeing of allied air power to operate over Manchuria, and supply support for Chinese nationalist troops on Formosa to launch an attack on the China mainland.

He added, in a speech to Congress Thursday, that the joint chiefs of staff had shared his military views.

The defence department countered with a statement saying the joint chiefs had recommended the disapproval.

Hickenlooper told a reporter that whether the chiefs concurred in ousting the General was "not the point." He added: "The big issue is: Did they approve of MacArthur's program, as he said they did?"

Hickenlooper predicted that MacArthur would back up his statement with documents. And in Tokyo, a key military official said MacArthur certainly could do so.

and Nancy Flocca organized an escape route for British airmen and soldiers.

After a traitor denounced the organization, Henri Flocca was captured and shot. His wife escaped to England.

She became Ensign Nancy Wake of the "Fannies" (first-aid nursing yemenary), and then demanded to be trained as a saboteur. She learned, among other things, how to kill silently, banded.

On her first mission she was parachuted into France with orders to assist in the blowing up of a factory.

"I must have made a noise," she recounts, "because a sentry turned and saw me. I stepped up to him and broke his neck."

She was awarded the George Cross for her work on her third mission into France, when she took command of a group of men and showed "exceptional courage and coolness in the face of enemy fire."

Then for months she worked with the Maquis, helping to train and instruct them. They called her "Madame Andre."

She came back to Australia in January, 1949, with no greater ambition, she says, than a quiet life, a nine-to-five job, and a weekly pay envelope.

"Then I came down to earth, seeing exactly the same sort of things happening here as caused all the trouble in Germany and Europe... That is why I decided to take up politics."

Mrs. Wake's first political assignment was a tough one. She was given the Liberal party's endorsement to contest Barton against Dr. Evatt, in 1949.

It looked an impossible task. She was a political novice, unknown, standing against a man with an international reputation.

But when the final votes were counted the figures were: Evatt, 21,681; Wake, 19,037; majority for Evatt, 2,644.

After the election Mrs. Wake, who had reassumed her maiden name by deed poll, got a job as appeals liaison officer for legacy.

Dr. Anne Purdy, of San Francisco, Calif., on her way to Baltimore, Md., visited her brother, Mr. Harley E. Purdy and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Spinney spent a day in Burlington, Vt., where they visited Mrs. Spinney's brother, Mr. George Beakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Dean, of Cowansville, were calling on Mrs. C. G. Hall.

Mrs. Arthur Whitehead, of Foster, is a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Lewis, and family, on Macdonald Avenue.

Miss Marilyn McKergow has returned home from the Sherbrooke Hospital, where she was a patient for a few days.

Officers and members of Beaver Chapter No. 7, O.E.S., who attended the School of Instruction in the O.E.S., White Rose Chapter, Farnham, included Mrs. Harry Davis, Mrs. Roger McKergow, Mrs. F. W. Bockus, Mrs. E. J. McKenna, Miss Marjory McKenna, Mrs. J. W. Hacckwell, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bullard, Mrs. Fred Marsh, Miss Griffin and Mrs. W. C. Arnot.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bockus received a phone call from Tacoma, Wash., from their son, Pte. Lorimer (Mike) Bockus, who will soon be leaving Fort Lewis, Wash., with the Canadian contingent soon to see active service in Korea.

Mrs. Edith Bobo returned this week from a two week's visit with her sister, Mrs. Ira Boyd, and three sons, in Maccan, N.S.

Mrs. A. J. Buckland and sons, Foster, Bennett, Jimmy and Billy spent the day in Montreal and during the afternoon called on their son and brother, Alan, who is a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Mr. John Pinder, of Drummondville, and Miss Shirley Pinder, of Chambly, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pinder, over the week-end.

FORDYCE
Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McAllister, of Billings Bridge, Ont., are guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Chester Longeway, Mr. Longeway and family.

Mrs. George Bouchard has gone to Montreal, where she expects to enter a hospital for an operation. Several attended the Home and

MANSONVILLE
The Brownies entertained some of the boys of the Scout, Cub age at a box party in the Town Hall, after school one Friday. Games were enjoyed by the thirty-one children under the direction of Brown Owl and Tawny Owl, the Misses Alice Thayer and Alice Jones, until about five o'clock, when the prettily trimmed boxes were auctioned off by Tawny Owl. Proceeds from sale of boxes amounted to $3.55.

Mrs. Arthur Boulet and Miss Therese Gaudreau visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gendreau.

Fifteen from Owl's Head Chapter attended the O.E.S. School of Instruction, held in Farnham. Those who had an active part in this school were Sister Edith McLean, as associate conductress; Sister Bessie Sullivan, as Ruth; and Sister Eva Fullerton acted on the examining committee.

Mrs. Esther England spent the week-end at her home in Sutton.

Toronto, April 21.—(The) E. C. Whitehead, publisher of the Brandon Sun, yesterday was elected president of the Canadian Newspapers Association at the association's 23rd annual meeting.

Mr. Whitehead succeeds R. H. Thomson of the Thomson Dailies, Toronto.

Allan Holmes, director of the Galt Reporter, was elected first vice-president, and Walter A. Macdonald, publisher of the Edmonton Journal, was elected second vice-president.

W. J. J. Butler, Toronto Globe and Mail, was re-elected treasurer. Ian H. Macdonald is general manager.

Toronto, April 21.—(Reuters)—American Marine Corsair pilots today won their spurs in Korea in a whirling dogfight with Soviet-type Yak fighters which outnumbered them two to one.

In the first Corsair air battle of the campaign, the Marines shot down three of the Yaks and possibly destroyed a fourth.

The Yaks had jumped on the Corsairs near Chinnampo, northwest Korea.

NOBODY HAS PAID ANY ATTENTION TO THAT WINE BOTTLE IN THE MESSENGER'S POCKET!

OH, THAT'S THE ONLY IT WAS PLACED IN THE COMPARTMENT. TWO GUARDS ACCOMPANIED THIS MAN.

YOU SEE, PROFESSOR SANDS SENDS THE WINE TO HIS OLD COLLEGE DEAN WHO IS RETIRED AND LIVES ALONE OUT IN QUIET HOLLOW. THE DEAN STARTED THIS PROJECT, KINGS. HE'S BEYOND SUSPICION. YES, I'VE QUITE BEYOND IT?

MEANWHILE, IN QUIET HOLLOW! YOUR WINE, DEAN, CHILLED TO THE MOST EXACTING DEGREE, SIR?

I SUPPOSE YOU'LL RESPECT MY COUSIN HONOR OR LESS NOW SINCE HE FEEL HEIR TO A FORTUNE - HE HAS BOUGHT A BIG ESTATE AND IS A GENTLEMAN FARMER.

I'VE SEEN HIM FALL A LOT OF TIMES!

I MUST SEE HIS FARM - I CAN REMEMBER THE DAY WHEN HIS FAMILY HAD TO HOLD HIM TO PUT A SHIRT ON HIM!

THE MANNER HE'S GOT SHOULD NOT BE ADVERTISED!

WELL - OF ALL THINGS - HE'S GOT HIS SCARE-CROW NORMAL CLOTHES!

The Doctor Says

DOCTOR HAS SEVERAL WAYS TO STUDY STOMACH FOR ULCER

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
Suppose you have had pain in the stomach region or peculiar stomach sensations for a few weeks and go to the doctor. What next? The story that you tell may raise the suspicion of ulcer of the stomach. The doctor wants to make sure before starting treatment.

There are many things he can do. One is to give a special test meal, withdraw the stomach contents through a rubber tube after a little while, and examine the material for acid and other things. This is of enormous help and although sometimes a person dreads the tube for the first time, it is not painful. In fact, a great many patients learn to do it themselves without difficulty. Another thing that is usually done is to examine a sample of intestinal waste for blood since the doctor needs to know whether the ulcer is bleeding.

Important in any study of the stomach is the X-ray. For this the patient is given a liquid to drink which contains barium. The barium keeps the rays from going through so that the stomach can be seen in a sort of silhouette picture.

An ulcer pocket is visible by this method so that its location and size is accurately known. It is possible, too, to look directly into the stomach by means of an ingenious flexible tube fitted with mirrors and called a gastroscope. Pictures can be taken of the inside of the stomach if desired.

All this is necessary as a preliminary to treatment. But something should be said about treatment, also, because people often get confused about it and wonder why one person is treated one way for ulcer and the next-door neighbor another.

The answer is simple. The treatment depends on the location of the ulcer, on its size, on the symptoms produced, on the age or occupation of the patient, and many other factors which vary from person to person.

Treatments
In general, medical treatment is aimed at avoiding irritation of the ulcer from acid, nervous strain, or anything else so that the ulcer will be given a chance to heal. Surgical treatment, of which there are several kinds, has a similar purpose unless the particular operation is for removal of the ulcer and the stomach area around it.

Which of these various methods to use demands careful study and expert weighing of all the factors in each individual person.

L'AVENIR

Friends here regret that Mr. Smith is in poor health and extend best wishes for his improvement.

Relatives here have received word from Mrs. Charles Cardish and party, of Drummondville, who are on a motor trip through the Southern United States.

This community was saddened by the sudden death of Mr. Ernest Gill, of Richmond, and extend sympathy to the relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. Cardish, Bogie, Master Wayne and Miss Linda accompanied by Mrs. Colin Bogie, of Uxverton, and Mrs. Iva Towne, of Richmond, spent a day in Sherbrooke. Mrs. C. L. Bogie and Mrs. Towne remained to visit their respective relatives for a few days.
Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Doyle were evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Fraser, of Uxverton.

All are pleased that Mrs. Lewis Gunter, of Uxverton, is gaining, after her illness.
Master Vernal Doyle was an overnight guest of Master Wayne Bogie.

The portion of the new highway constructed here last year, is in excellent condition. This spring, being free of frost holes, which are so numerous in other parts of the road through Uxverton and Kirkdale proving a grave menace to motorists.

The maple sugar season has terminated here and the majority of the farmers have washed their equipment and closed the sugar camps for the season. Reports in general are that it has been a poor year.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davidson and Janice, accompanied by Miss Marion Waterhouse, of Uxverton, were callers at the Bogie home.
Residents of this community were saddened by the news of the death of Mrs. Emma Moir, of Beebe, known as the Grand Old Lady of the Eastern Townships, who passed away in her 108th year. Sympathy of this community is extended to the bereaved relatives.

LETTER FROM BRITAIN

Film Of The City

By A. K. ASTBURY

I doubt if there can be any place quite like the City of London anywhere else in the world. Ravaged by fire though it was in World War II, this compact area of offices, banks and warehouses, with its vast daytime population, its handful of nocturnal residents, its medieval churches and livery halls, still has an atmosphere all its own—an atmosphere so strong that I for one never weary of wandering through its narrow streets, peering down its alleyways, standing for minutes on end just looking at its venerable old buildings. And it has a life all its own, too; medieval privilege of a harmless kind still lives there side-by-side with a medieval ceremony; the King himself must stop at Temple Bar to obtain permission from the Lord Mayor of London before passing this eastern boundary of the City. And the City, small though it be in area compared with the rest of London, has its own police force independent alike of Scotland Yard and of the Metropolitan Police Force throughout the rest of London.

This administrative independence is but one expression of the City's intense individuality. There is nothing quite like St. Paul's Cathedral, the dome of which dominates the whole of London; there is nothing quite like the Lord Mayor's Show, when the newly elected Lord Mayor proceeds in state through the length of the City; there is nothing quite like the hurrying crowds in the streets or the long column of office workers which morning and evening crosses the east side of London Bridge, bound from the suburbs to the shipping offices of Leadenhall Street of the banks of Lombard Street.

The businessmen who through the Common Council control the destinies of the City, love its atmosphere no less than I; and as their contribution to the Festival of Britain they have decided to make a film about nothing else but the City of London—its silent empty streets on Sundays, its bustling life on week-days; the rich and colourful life of the Guilds in the Middle Ages and the famous street cries of London heard in succeeding centuries. The film will show the busy fish market of Billingsgate, the Stock Exchange, and the Mansion House, the Guildhall, the Tower, the Royal Exchange, with pictures of the Lord Mayor and the Common Council who together bear the responsibility for watching over the traditions of this great City. Museum Of Rule Life

At the same time as this step is being taken to record the life of the City of London one of our universities, that at Reading, has embarked on an enterprise of equal interest—the formation of a museum of English rural life. There is a growing interest in Britain in museums of this type. In the 100-acre grounds of the Welsh folk museum at St. Fagans, Castle in Wales a wood turner and basket maker may be seen practicing their traditional crafts; in the Isle of Man, between England and Ireland, a farm and cottages have been restored and furnished with typical Manx cottage furniture while at York in Northern England a street of early 18th century shops has been rebuilt in the museum and exhibits arranged, not in display cabinets, but in the shop windows and on sideboards inside the shops.

But to return to Reading; the idea there is to bring together objects illustrating rural life from all over England so that the student may compare methods and implements used for the same job in different parts of the country. Details of the individual exhibits are given in card index, with a description of the process, and a photograph of the implement in use; while in another index may be found a list of books on the subjects. Specimens already received include a long plough from

When You Throw Boomerangs--Dodge!

BY DAN MURDOCH

WHEN the 1956 Olympic Games are held at Melbourne, Australia, something new will be added: boomerang throwing. And Australians are sure to win, for they're the best throwers in the world.

The boomerang, or throwing-stick, was an ancient weapon in many parts of the world—Egypt, India, Abyssinia, among Hopi Indians in the American Southwest. The typical boomerang is a couple of feet long, bent like an elbow, with sharp edges. It is about two inches wide, half-an-inch thick. It's usually made of green hardwood, bent into an angle over hot coals, or carved from a bent root or branch.

Making one is a long, painstaking job. Size, shape, weight must be specially planned to fit the boomerang for war, or hunting, or contests. Length, breadth, thickness, all must follow strict proportions, angle and twist must be exactly right to the fraction of an inch.

Every few minutes, the boomerang-maker stops bending or carving, and tries the weapon out in a test flight. Then he goes back to work on it, a little at a time. When it's perfect, he shapes one end into a convenient throwing-handle. Often, he carves or paints designs on the finished weapon.

THERE are two kinds of boomerangs: "Non-returns" are heavier, with only a slight curve, Gloucestershire, a set of the bells which used to be carried by the leading horse of a team and lace-making equipment, with many hand tools formerly used in thatching, slate cutting, wagon making and dry-stone-walling (the making of stone walls without mortar).

Record Of Rhodes Scholars

From another university, that at Oxford, comes news of particular interest to many in the Commonwealth—the appointment as Warden of Rhodes House, Oxford, of Mr. E. T. Williams, formerly Viscount Montgomery's Chief Intelligence Officer in North Africa, Sicily and Italy, and in charge of 21st Army Group Intelligence until the end of the war. Rhodes House is a centre for all who are interested in the Commonwealth and its people—but particularly for Rhodes scholars, of whom there are at the moment 20 from the Commonwealth at the University. These scholars who come to study in Britain under a trust set up that great Commonwealth pioneer Cecil Rhodes, always exert an influence both at the University and in later life out of all proportion to their numbers. These students, who since 1903 have come from Canada (including Newfoundland), Australia, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, Rhodesia, India, Pakistan and other Commonwealth countries (as well as the United States and Germany) have always been good athletes, over 400 out of a total of less than 3,000 having represented Oxford against Cambridge in various sports; 20 former Rhodes scholars are presidents of colleges or universities and 20 are judges, while during the last year the new Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of South Africa and the Chief Justice of Southern Rhodesia have been appointed from Rhodes scholars. One Canadian among Rhodes scholars. One Canadian Archbishop was a Rhodes scholar and there are a number of Rhodes in the Canadian Department of External Affairs. Archbishop was a Rhodes Affairs.

CRAIG'S ROAD

Messrs. Arthur and Herbert Lowery spent a day with their nephew, Mr. C. MacVetty and Mrs. McVetty, at Reedsdale.

Mr. Reid Carroll, of Irvine, was a tea guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. Seale.

Messrs. Arthur and Herbert Lowery were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. H. Cummings and Mr. Norman Cummings.

Friends of Mrs. H. J. Lipsey, of Inverness, were sorry to hear of her accident.

Mr. Ben Seale was calling on Messrs. Arthur and Herbert Lowery.

SUTTON JUNCTION

St. Aidan's Guild was entertained at the home of Mrs. J. de la Mare with a good attendance. Plans were made for a card party to be held on Saturday, April 28, in the hall here.

Mrs. Caswell, of Bulwer, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wilson, of Iron Hill, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Todd and family.

Mrs. W. Duffin and Mr. and Mrs. Austin, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith and Mr. Gerald Duffin.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Blackwood were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Standsch, in Cookshire.

and used mostly for war at close range. Return boomerangs are more sharply curved and twisted. You grasp one end, and make a spinning throw, generally toward the right. If you do it properly, the boomerang zooms through the air whirling like a helicopter. It circles toward the left, following a course that brings it right back to you.

The boomerang is a speedy, powerful, deadly weapon. If you aren't careful, it may zip back at you so fast you can't dodge. Many throwers have been badly hurt that way. This is why we use the word "boomerang" for anything we do to hurt someone else that actually hurts our own selves.

Return boomerangs are used for hunting, to knock down birds from the air or kill animals on the ground. Unlike arrows, spears, or bullets, boomerangs return to the hunter, to use again and again. Boomerang throwing is also great fun. Australians often compete with one another in matches and contests. These may be for distance, speed, or trick shots.

DINING ROOM

The dining room is one of the most difficult rooms in the house to explain because there is so much that goes into it. Not only in the way of furniture but also in the way of dishes, knick-knacks, glass, etc. In the first article I shall try to give a general account of the dining room and in other weeks shall break-down the various things which make up the room. In all the articles I have tried to leave out paintings, pictures, and other things confining, just referring to colour and major furnishings.

The dining room is not just a place to sit and eat. Many people use the kitchen, if they are fortunate enough to have a nice large apartment, and leave the dining room for those special occasions, and Sunday dinner. Beautiful effects can be had by making it a colonial type room with knotty pine paneling. This does cost money, but if handled right can repay every cent spent. If this proves too expensive, just set one room apart, and decorate it in a nice simple taste, nothing too elaborate, and not too much gingerbread.

After dinner is served there is

SHERBROOKE BRANCH NO. 10

Well, comrades, the overhauling of our home is nearly completed but much to my sorrow it has been left to only a few of the members to do the job and believe you me they have worked like horses without complaint, except for your president who stepped into a nail of liquid paper-remover on one occasion, and another time when your secretary Jones closed up a ladder when the president was on top. Harvey was quite surprised to see how fast the president can come down a ladder without touching one of the steps on the way down.

But I would like to thank each and every member who gave us a hand. They have the true Legion spirit. Alterations will be over by next week and then you will have a home nice enough to bring in your mother-in-law as a guest.

Ypres parade. "Lest we forget." I hope you chaps will remember these words, also the obligations which you took upon your induction into the Legion, especially that we should always remember our fallen comrades. Well, this Sunday we are holding a remembrance parade at 10 a.m. Wedge caps, blazers and medals will be worn. We are forming up at the branch home on Prospect street and we are going to march down to the Salvation Army on Wellington street with the Legion Pipe Band. There we will have a service at 11 a.m. by Lt. Boorman of the S.A., and he is also a returned veteran. Then we will march back to the home which will be wide open after the parade.

I have spoken to several comrades who are going to turn out, but there are many more whom I have not seen. We are forming up at 10 a.m. Remember this date, if your obligations mean anything to you. If you need a lift call president Hart at 8-1484 or 2-3393 and we will arrange to pick

BURY BRANCH NO. 48

Bury Branch No. 48 of the Canadian Legion held its regular monthly meeting in the Armouries on Monday evening.

The following officers and members were present: J. Luce, Fred Provis, Wm. MacDonald, D. Hopkins, A. Whitehead, Elwin Herling, Wm. Cook, K. Tarrant, Fred Martin, Ralph Coleman, Tom Lawrence and Fred Charlebois.

It was decided to level the area surrounding the Monument located in front of the Municipal Hall and it was proposed that a side walk be constructed leading to the Monument. A number of members volunteered to assist in preparing the lawn and helping with the grading. Comrade Tarrant offered to supply the necessary soil to carry out the foregoing.

The secretary was directed to write for more information as to how the Branch could assist in furnishing a room for the New Sherbrooke Hospital. This room would be sponsored by all Branches in the St. Francis District.

The meeting was adjourned by the President, John Luce.

Two hundred years of living are represented in Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Denault of Sherbrooke, Que. Mrs. Denault celebrated her 101st birthday on April 16 and her husband will be 100 on May 2. Married 78 years, both are in good health. They have outlived six of their 12 children.

SPORTS OF SORTS

By GLEN BROWN

Today we will discuss the Granby High School team in the pastime of running and jumping. Granby's heaviest asset is their coach Wilf Anderson. Wilf has done an outstanding job in all lines of athletics, but his all-round coaching of track and field has been a highlight in our area. His greatest claim to fame is Canada's best shot put artist, big Jack Clark. Jack has vanquished all opposition, and is headed for a Dominion record that may stand for some time with the twelve-pound ball. In last year's Victoria track and field day Granby took every class in the shot put except the open and they placed second in that. Miezkowski took first in class two, Huet in class three, Jack Clark in class four and Nelthorpe in class five.

However this is another year and Wilf has lost Clark, Huet, and a few more of the boys, so it will be a rebuilding job all the way. Just about all his last year winners will have to be replaced, and boys such as Miezkowski, and Major will have to shoulder a very hefty load. Keep an eye on class one as it looks as if Anderson is cultivating a young crop to form the basis of his up and comers.

Chief. That round Robin series for the Vissar Trophy basketball school cup, should be a knock down and drag em out affair on the Bishop's College floor this Saturday. Knowlton, Stanstead, Richmond, and Sherbrooke are supposed to be supplying the thunder and lightning. . . Norm Ling dropping school will leave Knowlton without their high scorer. . . J. Black and Thomas Wilkenson are putting on a good girls' and boys' badminton tournament at Waterford Meads, and Ann Brown will too Saturday. Junior Atkins, head of the home forces, Bev Webster is Granby's top individual, and Mighty Mite Yen, Cris Reglin will head the Purple from Knowlton. John says there are about thirty entries. . . The Waterloo intramural basketball league wound up with the Wildcats beating the Bearcats in two straight games. Last game's score was 23 to six for those rampaging tabbies. Phillip Benoit was high scorer with 21 points. . . Allen Short showed well for the losers. They say his one handed shot is something to get rapturous over. Jim Cramer and Warren Brown, Cowansville, are removing that cocoon and are beginning to stretch those muscles. Warren should crack off a good time for the mile this year. . . Dave Crandall has had a big winter and will give K.H.S. a big boost in class two. Pneumonia laid him low last winter. Ellis Island is not a part of New York state, having been purchased by the federal government. It required 70 years to complete the Capitol in Washington, D. C.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, 1951, on Sunday, April 22nd, 1951.

The Golden Text is from 1 Timothy 2:5 and 6—"There is one God and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high. Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed."—(Isaiah 52:13 and 53:4 and 5).

The Lesson-Sermon also include the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy:—"Jesus bore our infirmities; he knew the error of mortal belief, and with his stripes (the rejection of error) we are healed; 'Despised and rejected of men,' returning blessing for cursing, he taught mortals the opposite of themselves, even the nature of God; We acknowledge Jesus' atonement as the evidence of divine, efficacious love, unfolding man's unity with God through Christ Jesus the Way-shower; and we acknowledge that man is saved through Christ, through Truth, Life, and Love as demonstrated by the Galilean Prophet in healing the sick and

MARRIAGES

CLOUGH—NEEDHAM
Pigeon Hill, Que., April 21.—On Saturday evening, April 7, in the United Church Parsonage, Bedford, the marriage took place of Margaret Harriet, daughter of Mr. Frank Needham and the late Gladys Whittier, of Waterloo, to Leslie Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clough, of Pearceston, the Rev. T. Duncan officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.
Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Willey, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were the only attendants of the bride and groom. Only immediate relatives attended the ceremony.

Following the ceremony the young couple left on a short honeymoon trip to Sherbrooke.

The bride, formerly of Waterloo, had spent the past year with her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Willey. The groom is an employee of the Champlain Milk Products.
Mr. and Mrs. Clough are residing in Stanbridge East.

HARLEY—RITCEY
St. John's Nfld., April 21.—The marriage of Roberta, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ritcey, to Captain Bruce F. Harley, M.C., second son of Mrs. and the late J. Glen Harley, of Windsor Mills, was solemnized by the Rev. F. E. Vipond, at Gower Street United Church, St. John's, Newfoundland, on Saturday, March 17, 1951.

AS THE JUDGES MAKE THEIR DECISION

RECORD SUBSCRIPTION RATES
(by mail)

1 Year	$8.00
6 months	$4.25

PLEASE NOTE

The Record cannot be held responsible for cash sent in the mail. Please remit cheque or money order.

RULES

Opposite each Jumbled Name, list your solution. For example, the first Jumbled Name, when the letters are re-arranged properly, will form the name St. Laurent.

Don't be discouraged if you fail to solve every name. Perhaps no entrant will get them all correct. Failure to enter your list, even if it is incomplete may cost you a cash prize that you would have otherwise won.

Each of the Jumbled Names will, when the letters are re-arranged in their proper sequence, form the name of a prominent man or woman frequently mentioned in the news.

Sports personalities, Canadian and American political figures, military men and men prominent in the international sphere are included in the list.

Prizes will be awarded according to the list with the largest number of correct names, and the amount of subscription money sent in; new subscriptions earning twice as much as renewal. That is if you sent in $4.25 for a 6 months renewal subscription and won first prize you would receive $50.00. If you sent in one new subscription for six months you would receive $100.00. In the event of a tie with the same amount of correct names then the contestant sending in the most money for new subscriptions will be declared the winner as money for new subscriptions counts twice as much as money sent in for renewals. It's up to you.

At least $4.25 must be sent in with each entry. That would pay a six months mail subscription to The Record.

The contest is open to any resident of the Eastern Townships except (a. Employees of the Sherbrooke Daily Record or their immediate families, b. Record correspondents or carriers.) No mail subscriptions will be accepted for delivery within the City of Sherbrooke. Subscribers receiving home delivery in Sherbrooke or any town within the Eastern Townships may compete by sending in mail subscriptions for delivery outside of Sherbrooke or by sending a remittance of $4.25 (covering 17 weeks home delivery at regular delivery rates), the carrier being allowed his usual credit on all subscriptions paid in advance. Not more than 1 year's advance payment will be accepted on any one subscription.

In the event of more than one person having the most words unjumbled correctly, and tied with the amount of money for new subscriptions, The Record will run one tie-breaker. Only those tied in the first contest will be permitted to solve the second Contest. No subscriptions will be necessary on the second puzzle.

No Prizes are offered for lists without a subscription enclosed.

Participants, by sending in an answer, agree to accept the decision of the judges as final. No controversy can possibly be entered into with any entrant.

ALL ANSWERS AND MONEY MUST be sent direct to The Record and addressed "Names in the News Contest", Sherbrooke Daily Record, Sherbrooke, Que.

Different solutions may be sent in by any contestant but each must be accompanied by at least a six-months new or renewal order to the Sherbrooke Daily Record.

Mrs. F. A. Burton Was Hostess For The Guild Meeting Of St. John's, Waterville

Waterville, April 21 — St. John's Guild held its regular meeting in the Jubilee Hall, with Mrs. F. A. Burton for the hostess. The president, Mrs. H. Loomis, was in the chair, and opened the meeting with the Guild prayer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and accepted. The treasurer reported that the proceeds from the food sale, amounted to $31.40.

A letter was read from Mrs. Urwin in Canterbury, England, thanking the Guild for a most welcome Easter food parcel.

The church flower list for the summer months was drawn up, and each member was assigned her Sunday to supply the altar flowers.

It was decided that St. John's would entertain the neighbouring Guilds at a tea, on June 6. The invitations are to go out early in May. After the adjournment, tea was served.

Mrs. Cordeau Is Honored At Boundary

Rock Island, April 21—Mrs. C. O. Cordeau, of West Park was feted on her birthday by relatives and friends on Thursday April 12.

In the afternoon her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. J. Cordeau, entertained in honor of the occasion, at her home on Church street. Mrs. Cordeau was presented with gifts and when she opened them, was delighted to find a collection of fragile china cups and saucers and a lovely hand-crocheted dolly. For these lovely remembrances, Mrs. Cordeau very graciously expressed her thanks.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent visiting and listening to musical recordings. At the ten hour the hostess, Mrs. Cordeau, served a delicious supper at the dining-room table, attractive with a white linen cloth and flower decorations and centered with a daffodil birthday cake, made by, and a gift from Mrs. Georgianna Hall.

That same evening Mrs. C. O. Cordeau was invited to spend the evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Emslie in Beebe. Upon arriving there she was taken completely by surprise when a number of her neighbors and friends descended from upstairs singing the traditional birthday song.

Mrs. Cordeau was presented with a prettily wrapped package which contained a box of all-occasion greeting cards. One card had her name on it and inside she found a substantial gift of money from the ladies gathered there.

The evening was pleasantly spent playing canasta and 500. Later the hostess served delicious refreshments at the linen covered dining-room table which was centered with a pretty birthday cake decorated in white, yellow and green, with the table decorations carried out in the same color scheme.

As the guests departed for their respected homes in Beebe, Rock Island and Derby Line, they wished Mrs. Cordeau many more such happy occasions. Mrs. Cordeau also received several other personal gifts and a shower of cards from her many relatives and friends.

Noted Cover Girl Former War Guest Is Great Success

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London. — Blonde Marianne Burwood came back from Canada with what she called "a terrible Canadian accent" and a fondness for bobby-sox styles. But that didn't stop her from becoming one of Britain's best-known cover girls.

Although other models called her "Canada" and kidded her on her striking resemblance to Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott, Marianne managed to "live down" the mannerisms she acquired through four years as a war guest in Winnipeg.

"I came back to London in the bleak days of 1944," Miss Burwood said in an interview, "and I must have looked really odd in my bobby-sox and sloppy-joe outfits. Who knows? Maybe my Canadian ways even helped me in my modelling."

Now, at 20, slender, soft-voiced Marianne is an experienced mannequin and has appeared in fashion films and on television.

It's a life she hardly dreamed of during school days at Rupert's Land College for Girls, which she attended during the war years while staying with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Thorburn of Winnipeg.

As a full-fledged, sophisticated model, the five-foot, six-inch Marianne has just one complaint. People still think she can't be more than 16 years old.

"I still feel guilty when lighting a cigarette in public," said Marianne. "Many times I've heard people complaining about 'that child' smoking."

Attached to a well-known model-agency she travels throughout Britain showing teen-age clothes in retail showrooms. If anyone is needed to model school uniforms, Marianne is always chosen.

"I guess I just haven't got a sophisticated face," she said with a laugh.

At some shows she models older styles and is sometimes chosen to show the bridal gown. The veil makes her look older.

Modelling keeps her busy these days, but ultimately she hopes to pay a return visit to Canada and look up her old friends there.

There is only one-sixth of an inch difference, both in width and length, in each shoe size variation.

Only one two-billionth part of the heat given out by the sun is received by the earth.

Meat Saw, Knife Help Housewives To Save On Food

By VIVIAN BROWN
 Quebec, April. —(P)— Women can't be lazy if they want to save on their food bills, says chief Louis Baltera.

"Buy a little meat saw and a sharp knife," is his advice to housewives.

"Then when you go to the butcher shop, buy your meat in chunks and don't pay for the butcher's labor. You can buy a half-loin of pork and cut the chops yourself for much less than you can buy the same number of pork chops already cut.

"A leg of veal can supply cutlets, stew meat and bones for soup. A loin of beef will furnish many steaks, much cheaper than butcher cuts. Leftovers of any meat can be ground at home for hamburgers, croquettes and meat pies."

Housewives concentrate too much on buying choice cuts of meat, Baltera says. Much can be done with other inexpensive cuts if the time and trouble are taken

At Purebred Beef Cattle Sale

Some of the top Hereford and Shorthorn cattle in the East were on display at the purebred beef cattle sale here Thursday. The top picture is a general view of the auction ring at the start of the sale, while in the lower picture is seen Jarvis Monty's Domino, top-priced female Hereford, which brought $825 at the sale. C. A. Tanner of Windsor Mills bought the cow from F. W. Reicheld of Jarvis, Ont. (Gerry Lemay photos) to evolve good recipes. It takes a little more effort perhaps, than broiling a porterhouse steak, but Baltera says its worth it.

In his kitchen at the Chateau Frontenac, where he has been chef de cuisine with 100 odd helpers since 1928, Italian-born Baltera manages to please Canadian, United States, French and English appetites.

When the 1945 United Nations food conference met there he satisfied representatives of 30 nations with foods ranging from "keftedes and kokoretia" for the Greeks to a dish called "sidesalat" for the Norwegians.

When the King and Queen visited in 1939, it took 2,000 boned snow birds for "petits oiseaux blancs de l'ile d'Orleans en belle vue."

Tasty Recipes—
 Here are a couple of his suggestions for inexpensive main dish recipes that housewives will find a real treat:

Canadian pork pie:—Put two pounds of lean pork from the shoulder, two small onions, one pound fresh back fat, one ounce of salt, a little pepper, nutmeg and all-spice through the meat chopper, (medium grind). Put in a saucepan with one cup of water and cook half an hour on a moderate fire, stirring often to prevent it from sticking to the pan. Remove from the fire and add three cups of white bread crumbs, mixing well and letting cool. Fill like an ordinary pie and serve either hot or cold.

Beefsteak and kidney pie:—Cut a pound of rump in big cubes and flatten with the cleaver. Slice about the same quantity of beef kidneys, one-quarter inch thick. Fry these separately over a quick fire and drain in a colander. Put in a pot together with some chopped onions, salt and pepper and moisten with brown stock (or beef consommé). When nearly done, thicken with some brown sauce and a little tomato paste. Five minutes before removing from the fire add a small bunch of parsley with one bay leaf, chopped. Put in an individual dish or large pan. Cover with pie paste and bake until the crust is done. Serves four.

North And Salmon Rivers Opened To Sport Fishing By Minister; Rod And Line Only To Be Used

Permission to the public to fish, with rod and line only, in the North River in the counties of Argenteuil, Two Mountains and Terrebonne, and the Salmon River in the county of Huntingdon is given in a public notice issued by the Department of Game and Fisheries for Quebec.

Charles Fremont, K.C., General Superintendent of Game and Fisheries, said that these rivers and the waters within one-half mile on either side of the mouth of each, had been set apart for the natural propagation of fish, under the Quebec Fisheries Act, 1932. Article 62 of this Act prohibits fishing in such waters except under written permit. This regulation was not generally known and these rivers have been fished by residents of Montreal and other parts of the province, without interference by wardens, until the regulation appeared in the 1951 summary of fishing laws.

Mr. Fremont said that his Minister and department wished to make it possible for such fishing to continue as there seemed no good reason for these rivers to be closed to angling. However, a written permit is necessary, and it would be impossible to issue such a permit to the great number of individuals interested. The Minister of Game and Fisheries, Hon. C. E. Pouliot, M.D., therefore authorized the following public notice which will be accepted by wardens as written permission under the Quebec Fisheries Act:

Notice is hereby given in accordance with Article 62 of The Fisheries Act 1932, that the public is permitted to fish, with rod and line only, in the waters of the North River in the counties of Argenteuil, Two Mountains and Terrebonne, and in the Salmon River in the county of Huntingdon and also within one-half mile on each side of the mouth of each of these rivers. This permit is subject to the General Fishing Regulations in regard to the open season, legal length and catch limit for each species of fish.

By Order
The Minister of Game and Fisheries,
Charles Fremont,
General Superintendent.

Experts Agree Indians Would Be At Best With Organized Baseball's First All-Negro Classy Outfield

New York —(NEA)—Al Lopez starts as manager of the Indians with one of those nice baseball problems.

What to do with Orestes Minoso? Those closest to the situation say the Cleveland club would be most formidable with the organized game's first all-Negro outfield, Harry Simpson, Larry Doby and Minoso.

The principal dissenters are, of course, holdovers Dale Mitchell, who last trip played 130 games in left field, and Bob Kennedy, who got in 146 in right.

Suitcase Simpson is considered a fixture. Doby is a strikeout in center. So, soon Senior Lopez may have to choose between Mitchell's bat and Kennedy's glove and arm.

And Minoso, the Havana Something Special, easily could beat out both.

Minoso—27, five 10, 175—was the talk of the Cleveland camp a year ago before being shipped to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League, where he manufactured 20 home runs and drove in 115 runs batting .339 as a third baseman in 169 games.

"Minoso for a time might be a little rough in the outfield or at third base, but he has as much ability as any player of the game," says one close to the Cleveland command.

"He has exceptional speed, a remarkable arm, hit .380 on the training trip, led the squad with

FULFORD

The Women's Association of the United Church met at the Island on April 12, with Mrs. Fessenden and Mrs. Sweet. A hot luncheon was served by the hostesses and the afternoon was spent in finishing off a very pretty butterfly quilt. Seventeen ladies were present and a very pleasant time was spent. Mrs. Douglas Bockus offered her home for the next meeting. The ladies enjoyed maple sugar-on-snow in the late afternoon before closing.

Mrs. Ruthford, of Montreal, is convalescing for a month at the home of her friend, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bockus.

Mr. H. Bailey, of St. Johns, was a guest of his sister, Mrs. Gordon Bockus, and Mr. Bockus.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Hosiopodewski and daughter, Catherine, of Montreal, spent a day in their summer home, "The Log Cabin."

flamed appendix, he managed to finish with a 17-15 mark, and a confidence completely restored.

Now they say nothing ails him. He looks like the Blackwell of old.

His performance stir wary Luke Sewell to an unwary statement.

"He's a cinch," says the pilot, "to win 20." This, some observers feel, is a masterpiece of understatement. The way Ewell looks he might win 30, a feat which no pitcher has turned since Dizzy Dean did it in '34.

Now that Raffensberger has shown that he, too, is back on the beam, the Reds feel they have a one-two pitching punch.

And with Kluszewski's homers, a batting punch to go with it. A guy can dream, can't he?

THE KNUCK—Willie Ramsdell shows how he holds the knuckle ball, which also figures in the Reds' plans. His one-hit shutout of the Senators was the best pitching performance of the training season. (NEA)

Cincinnati Reds Behave Like Long Downtrodden Gang That Has Just Spotted Bluebird For First Time

Cincinnati—(NEA)—Maybe the Reds ought to have their heads examined.

For a club that finished a soggy sixth last year, their silver-lined thoughts this spring seem monstrous. With becoming modesty, the Cincinnati players have foregone to talk pennant. But they're thinking it. It shows in their smirking, swashbuckling manner, in a new esprit de corps. They are behaving like a long downtrodden gang that has just spotted the bluebird.

It must be submitted that this is not altogether illusion. There's solid basis for a degree of optimism. Perhaps it's not the bedrock kind on which pennant dreams stand up, but the Reds' air castles are not being built exactly on quicksand.

They are rooted on the good right arm of Ewell Blackwell, the southpaw wing of Ken Raffensberger and the lethal bat of Ted Kluszewski.

They lean most heavily on the Blackwell flipper. In spring training, this fragile pitching appendage has shown irrefutable evidence that it is mended again, and apparently, as good as new.

You can remember how wondrous it was at the outset, for that was not so long ago and, besides, it was the sort of thing not easily forgotten.

Blackwell came blazing across the horizon in 1947, his sophomore year in the majors, looking like a right-handed reincarnation of Carl Hubbell. He won 22 for a rather nondescript team, lost but eight. The stringbean six-foot-five, practically paralyzed batter as he led the league in strikeouts and victories. He fashioned a no-hit no-run game against the Braves, strung together a modern mark of 16 in a row.

Then, at this pinnacle of a towering career, he came a cropper. Arm trouble was his first seizure. This was sufficiently serious to clip his victory string to a meager seven in 1948. But this was merely the beginning of his misfortune. Kidney trouble necessitated a post-season operation. A shoulder muscle, which shook its moor-

Sky Pilot Has Hopes Of Breaking Warmerdam's Record; Has Topped 15 Feet Several Times In Practice

La Verne, Calif. — (NEA) — Rev. Robert Richards says God will inspire him to break the world pole-vaulting record.

Bob Richards, voted trackman of the year by the New York writers, believes that some time this spring or summer he'll better the 15-foot 8 1/2-inch mark set in 1943 by Cornelius Warmerdam.

Since last winter, when at Madison Square Garden, Richards became the second human being ever hours daily in conditioning workouts. Prior to his eastern invasion the past winter, he had to take his workouts in the cramped college gymnasium because of the lack of a suitable pit outdoors.

He made what he considers one of the best jumps of his career in the gym—14 feet 10, while wearing tennis shoes. He had a short, 96-foot runway, and the amazing feat was accomplished between halves of a basketball game.

Richards, handsome Illinois alumnus, follows the trend of top pole vaulters in vowing to compete indoors, but the stocky parson believes he has more success outdoors.

BIG MEETS COMING UP

Thus, with such meets as the West Coast Relays in Fresno, the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays and National Amateur Athletic Union coming up, it's no wonder that the self-confident Richards sincerely believes he'll crack the existing record Warmerdam set at Fresno State, by the way.

The tireless Richards also has taken up the decathlon, ranks as one of the all-time greats in the event after one competitive start. A week after vaulting 15 feet 4 1/2 in Chicago, Richards scored 7480 points in the John Muir Decathlon Meet in Pasadena, Calif.

Bob Richards hopes to score at least 7800 when he challenges Bob Mathias at the National AAU Decathlon.

BUCKING FOR BUCKS

Another thing causing the minors much concern is the likelihood that the "amusement dollar" won't

Ralph Kiner Can Break Ruth's Home Run Record This Year, Says Meyer; Slugger Works Good At First

Pittsburgh — (NEA) — This being an odd year, Bill Meyer has an idea that Ralph Kiner will break Babe Ruth's seasonal major-league home-run record of 60.

Kiner hit 23 homers as a freshman with the Pirates in 1946, 51 in the odd years of '47. The big left fielder, playing first base this trip, slumped to 40 in '48, blasted 54 in '49, dropped to 47 last season.

"Kiner is stronger than he was last year," says Manager Meyer. "The schedule is in his favor. Ralph finishes strong, is at his best in August and September. We play most of our late-season games at home, where he will have the Forbes Field fences to shoot at."

Kiner is enthused about his new job at first base.

"I'll make some mistakes, sure, but I'll improve as I go along," he says.

NOT WORST FIRST BASEMAN

Meyer believes the Pittsburgh club is better equipped with Kiner at first, which makes room for George Metkovich in the outfield.

"He isn't the worst first sacker by any means," asserts the little Tennessee farmer. "He has good hands, has improved a lot in the short time he has been at the position. He looks great at times, but still lacks finesse on slow-hit balls. That will come to him as he goes along. He's a great one to adapt himself to any situation."

"Naturally, he wouldn't want to play the position, and we wouldn't want him there, if he was another Zeke Bonura."

"But if he plays first base adequately, we'll be much better off. He has done a lot more work than he would have done had he been playing in the outfield."

FINALLY TAGS BLACKWELL

Kiner's biggest home-run thrill came last year when he poled one of Ewell Blackwell's sidarm fast ones over the center-field fence at Forbes Field, a point 450 feet from the plate. Many figure the ball went at least 500 feet.

It was more than the distance that pleased Kiner. Blackwell, the towering Red, had been taming him regularly.

Speaking of his appointment as Marty Marion's successor as the National League's player representative, Kiner, the well-dressed man, says he'll try to carry out the wishes of the athletes.

"After all, I'm one of them," he says. "Their troubles are mine."

Ralph Kiner is the fair-haired lad who will keep Branch Rickey in business for another year at least.

That should be long enough for be so easy to get—what with higher living costs, higher taxes and ceiling on wages. . . . Some time ago Clark Griffith warned club owners they can expect one bad year in 10—and 1951 may be it. . . . Assistant Bob Finch chimed in to report a one ball park in West Texas with a heated grandstand so the fans can be comfortable even in bad weather. . . . Trautman chuckled at that one. . . . "It was in that part of the country," he said, "where one club owner told me he had to hire a bulldozer every couple of weeks to push away the sand so the fans could see the signs on the fences. The sand-storms piled it up too high."

A method has been devised for making concrete in which air bubbles take the place of sand. The air concrete is particularly promising for the construction of walls and roofs of farm buildings.

Mr. V. G. Rexford, who has arrived here and opened up his home, "The Croft."

Mr. George Hornby had the misfortune to have an eye hurt in the woods, and has been taking treatments from a specialist in Sherbrooke. All are glad to hear they have been successful.

The Ladies' Guild was entertained one Wednesday afternoon

by Mrs. D. Ramage, at the home of Mrs. Boynton. In spite of the very rainy day and bad roads, there was a large attendance. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in sewing and social intercourse. A lovely afghan was raffled and the winner was Mrs. P. C. Taylor. A delicious salad supper was served by Mrs. Ramage, assisted by Mrs. G. Hornby and Mrs. J. Haight. Mrs. William Rediker and Mrs. P. C. Taylor received the sad news of the death of Mrs. Arthur Davis, of South Bolton, a relative of both. On account of the bad roads, neither were able to attend the funeral services.

Mrs. Grace Heath has been spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. C. Copp, in Derby Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Keet, who have been spending the winter in Quebec, have arrived back home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Silvester, of Montreal, are spending an indefinite time at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Max Grainger and Mr. and Mrs. V. Robinson.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. S. Kimpton and son, in the death of Mr. Kimpton, of Apple Grove.

Mr. Douglas Lindsey, who has spent the winter in Montreal, has opened up his summer home here. Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Davidson spent a day in Montreal on business.

the 1951 Mercury

Yes! . . . it's a mighty, beautiful car. Beautiful from the distinctively-groomed grille to the graceful, flowing lines of the newly-styled swept-back rear fenders. Fresh, new, rich colours give extra emphasis to Mercury's exterior beauty. A larger rear window adds to safety.

"Studio-quiet" interiors are rich in breath-taking beauty. New, long-wearing fabrics . . . artistically fashioned to enhance your riding pleasure. Comfort is supreme on soft, spacious seats.

Mercury performance is mighty, beautiful, too. There are big, oversize "Duo-Servo" brakes for sure, positive straight-line stopping; "Cushion-Coil" springing for greater comfort and driving ease. Truly, the '51 Mercury is the mighty, beautiful car of the year.

PROVEN V-8 PERFORMANCE AT ITS POWER-PACKED BEST

The Mercury 112 Hp. V-8 "Hi-Power Compression" engine has been further improved for smooth, economical performance. The "Econ-O-Miser" carburetor makes gas-saving automatic. The Mercury V-8 type engine has been time and road-proven by 20 years' experience of the world's largest manufacturer of V-8 engines.

"TOUCH-O-MATIC" OVERDRIVE (optional at extra cost) provides easier, more restful driving, saves up to 20% on gasoline, cuts engine speed 24%.

CAN YOU IMAGINE a shipment of men's hats weighing 3 1/2 tons?

According to a trade journal article such a shipment of Christy's Hats from England recently made history because it was the largest single shipment of hats ever to enter Canada. We have some of these hats on display in the store right now, and we are quite proud of them.

RECENTLY we were showing a customer a Christy hat when he said, "Why do you try to sell me an English hat? I have no objection to buying Canadian products." This could easily have developed into a political discussion and frankly we don't know much about politics. Our specialty is quality clothes for gentlemen, and we go to unlimited pains to bring to our customers the best products on the market. We find that our customers prefer the Christy, for its distinctive styling, as well as for the long service which it gives. At $10, it's exceptional value.

FOR SIMILAR REASONS we feature many British products, such as Welch Margotson neckwear, Burberry Coats, Jaeger Sweaters, Webb's Gloves, Aertex Underwear, Hudson's Bay Blankets, etc. We consider each of these the best of its kind that we know. It is interesting to note that Rosenbloom's is the only men's store in Sherbrooke with any of these famous agencies. This is no mere coincidence. These top quality products are restricted to top quality stores, and so they just naturally belong to Rosenbloom's. You'll find the clothes you like here.

Canadiens Can Have Richard But Toronto Fans Will Take Kennedy, Mainstay During Present Playoff

Toronto, April 21. — (CP) — Montreal Canadiens can have Richard and his goal-scoring wizardry. Toronto hockey followers will settle for tenacious Ted Kennedy whose dogged centre-ice play has brought the Maple Leafs to within one game of their fourth Stanley Cup championship in five seasons.

Dick Irvin Can Sign For Another Two Years, Says G. M. Frank Selke, Highly Pleased With Coach's Work

Montreal, April 21. — (CP) — Dick Irvin, completing his 11th season as coach of Montreal Canadiens, can sign for at least another two campaigns, General Manager Frank Selke made it plain yesterday.

Praising the Regina resident highly for his work in moulding the present team, Selke said an assistant could be provided so Irvin could become "the master coach of Canadiens' hockey empire."

Selke's statement said also that though Canadiens "find themselves on the brink of defeat" in the Stanley Cup final against Toronto Maple Leafs, "we are all very proud of our team."

Happy Chandler May Have Heard His Last Dispute As Commissioner; Minor Teams After Detroit Tigers

Cincinnati, April 21. — (AP) — A. B. (Happy) Chandler yesterday heard what may be his last dispute as Commissioner of Baseball.

It revolved around radio broadcasts of Detroit Tiger games into four clubs of the Central League claim is their territory.

They want $40,000 of broadcast money for the season, or they want the practice stopped.

It is understood here the clubs—Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Flint and Saginaw—would divide the money.

After hearing the arguments, Chandler took the matter under advisement.

Lawyers for the Central League asked that he announce his decision by May 1. He said he will try.

Central League officials, headed by President Thomas J. Halligan, appeared in support of the clubs' contention that broadcasts of Detroit games reduce attendance at the class A contests.

George Trautman, head of all minor leagues, also was present.

Chandler, courteous and apparently unworried over failure of baseball's high moguls to re-elect him recently for another seven-year term, devoted several hours to the meeting.

Reports are current that he will resign within a few days—perhaps to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky. His contract, at $65,000 a year, still has a year to run.

Halligan said "we never deviated from our position, and we definitely are going through with our demands. We will carry the matter to the courts if necessary. We want the money or we want the practice stopped."

The dispute was brought to Chandler because of a ruling that minor league clubs cannot receive a share of major league broadcast receipts.

BASEBALL CLUB ROUNDING INTO CONDITION

The Sherbrooke Athletics are beginning to look more like a baseball team each day as different members report in for duty, and by the beginning of the week Manager Gladu hopes to have his full squad on hand.

Ten players have so far showed up and are working indoors daily while waiting for the warm weather. Terry McDuffy is the latest to join the A's and Manager Amodeo is expecting the rest of the squad by Monday.

It seems that some of the Cubans are having trouble getting traveling visas to cross the States but the local pilot hopes to have the matter cleared up by the beginning of the week.

In signing Terry McDuffy the A's added considerable strength to the local hurling staff and "Terry the Great" should come in very handy both on the mound and at the plate. Terry should be well remembered by the fans when he performed for the Braves of St. Johns a few years back. He was considered quite a clown in his days, but he could really toss the old ball around and he was a big factor when the Braves copped the title.

He has been away from these parts for two years but from the reports we have heard we understand that he can still throw them in. At the plate he could hold his own and no doubt still can. One thing that seems certain from looking over the lineup is that the A's will not be caught in the same position as last year. Lack of pitchers. We understand that they are starting out with at least eleven on the staff. No doubt some of these may not make the team but the better part of them will be around at the start of the season.

The team is forced to do the majority of their training indoors but the moment the ground begins to dry up a little they will move over to the Park Avenue Stadium and all the players will love that. It seems that they are really bearing down in order to be ready for the opener.

The Stanley Cup playoffs have set a new record with overtime games. So far every tilt has gone into extra-curricular play and it wouldn't surprise us if tonight's should follow the pattern of the others.

From listening to the games over the air it seems that the Leafs are getting the breaks but on the other hand the Canucks have missed with some wonderful opportunities, and that is just the difference. Once you make a mistake at that stage there always seems to be someone in the right spot to capitalize on it.

One thing certain is that the fans are getting their money's worth and are seeing some very good hockey. The games have all been close, either one team or the other has made a run away of any tilt. Penalties have been low but that doesn't mean that the boys are not laying into each other.

We think that the umpes have received instructions to take things easy unless it is really dangerous.

Thursday night's game was a tough one for the Canadiens to lose but they had a wonderful chance to win it a few times in the overtime before Big Harry Watson ended activities. On the other hand the Leafs didn't miss when they had their chance and that makes the difference. Anyway no matter what happens tonight it was a wonderful series.

Joe Blake and his Braves received a setback Thursday evening in Sydney when they were edged out 3-2 in what seemed to be a close battle. They will meet again this evening in the Steel Town before moving into the Montreal Forum next week for the balance of the series.

So far everything has been within order and the reason for this must be the Maritime Association, who laid the law down to the Sydney team and fans. Anyway the Braves are having their hands full and unless they get moving the Millionaires are liable to take them into camp.

The Quebec Citadels pulled an upset over the Barrie Flyers and swamped them 7-2 on their home ice to get in the series with their first victory. Coach Hap Emms of Barrie figures if they can keep going they will chalk up four straight wins and take the series.

They met again this evening in the Capital City and maybe the series will be all tied up after that. Seems funny that they couldn't do an thing up in Toronto and Barrie. Are the Citadels a bunch of homers? We don't think so because they have quite a few good players but perhaps the kids just couldn't get going on the Maple Leaf surface and it wouldn't be the first time we have heard this sort of thing. It seems that the ice is a little different in Toronto and that place else. At least this is what the players say and they should know.

It would be very funny if Quebec's final hope was brushed off especially after all the bally-hoo about them all season long. They were picked a long time ago to win the Memorial Cup by the experts but they are having their troubles. Maybe things will change from now on.

The major baseball leagues are having a little trouble all over the country with the Weather Man and very few games have been played so far.

The underdogs seem to be enjoying themselves so far and are ruling the roost, even if it is only for a little while. We suppose that once the big guns get rolling things will change along the front to put faith back in the experts' pickings instead of crossing them up.

The E.T.H.L. held their semi-annual meeting at Downing Bourne's residence and from all reports the teams had a very good season. East Angus was the only team which finished the season in the red. The others enjoyed one of the best years they have had since joining the circuit.

The annual meeting will take place later in the summer with the election of officers and the tabling of entries from new clubs.

Visser Trophy Competition Opens This Afternoon At Bishop's; Finals Slated For This Evening At 7.30

Basketball in the Eastern Townships will be wound up for the season today when the four top high school teams in the E. T. meet at the Bishop's University gymnasium in the final rounds of the Visser Trophy competition.

This trophy is awarded for the school championship among school teams off the Island of Montreal. Competing will be Thetford Mines, Richmond, Knowlton and Stanstead College.

The teams will draw for opponents and the first game will start at 2 p. m. The semi-finals will be completed this afternoon and, in addition, there will be an exhibition game between Bishop's University girls and a girls' team from Thetford Mines.

The finals and consolation rounds of the Visser Trophy series will be played tonight, with the first game scheduled to start at 7.30 p. m.

New York, April 21. — (AP) — Sixteen three-year-old horses are scheduled to clash today in the $40,000-added Wood Memorial at Jamaica, and it's quite possible the result will produce the Kentucky Derby favorite.

With the Derby gallop at Louisville just two weeks off, no solid horse yet has been uncovered. The Wood brings together the best sophomores in the East. Thirteen are nominated for the Derby May 5. Heading the list, and probable favorite for the 1 1/16-mile run, is J. J. Colando's Uncle Mittie. This, despite Uncle's poor race last week when he finished eighth to King Ranch's Son in the Experimental Handicap No. 2.

Citation Gets Another Try In Meadows Stake

San Mateo, Calif., April 21. — (AP) — Calumet Farm's Citation, greatest money-winning thoroughbred in racing history, heads an imposing list of 23 nominees for the Bay Meadows Handicap at Peninsula Track April 28. The $60,000-added fixture will be over 1 1/2 miles.

Along with Citation, who ran third in the opening of his comeback here last Wednesday, Calumet Farm also named Coaltown and Bewitch for the richest stake of the meeting.

Six-year-old Big Cy came out of his six-furlong sprint this week satisfactorily. His trainer, H. A. (Jimmy) Jones said: "He's a long way from being ready for his best but if his left leg holds up he should have some good races left in him."

Chicago White Sox blanked Detroit Tigers 5-0 in Chicago for their third straight American League victory behind the three-hit pitching of Randy Gumpert. The issue was settled in the third inning when the Tiger defence blew up behind starter Ted Gray and the Sox scored three runs.

Philadelphia Athletics spoiled the American League opener at Boston's Fenway Park by trimming Boston Red Sox 6-3 before 11,461 Beantown fans. The victory, first for the A's in Boston since Sept. 12, 1948, was at the expense of Mel Parnell, Boston southpaw who had run up a string of 10 consecutive triumphs over the Athletics.

Bob Feller turned in a five-hit pitching job as Cleveland Indians defeated St. Louis Browns before 48,316 in Cleveland.

It was the third straight American League victory for the Tribe and the third successive loss for the Browns. Feller, his curve breaking sharply, fanned eight. He yielded five hits but wasn't in serious trouble, although pinch-hitter Hank Arft homered off one

$185,000 To Be Stake In Ontario Spring Meet

Toronto, April 21. — (CP) — A total of $185,000 in purses will be distributed during the 14-day spring meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club and Greenwood Racing Club starting May 19 at the Woodbine Race Track here, it was announced yesterday. Condition books are being distributed.

Top event will be the 92nd running of the King's Plate, Canada's stellar turf classic and the oldest continuously-run horse race in North America.

It will be decided this year Saturday, May 26. The King's Plate carries a purse of $15,000 added, estimated value $21,000, plus the gift of 50 Guineas donated annually by the King.

It is open to three-year-olds foaled in the Dominion. The 1 1/2-mile classic will be preceded by the $2,500 added Plate Trial.

The Copper Kings won the Eastern crown last night from Fredericton Capitals and their spokesman said they will challenge Trail.

Trail Ready To Meet Noranda Copper Kings

Trail, B. C., April 21. — (CP) — Frank (Deacon) Wait, coach of Trail intermediate hockey club, Western Canada champions, said yesterday his team will be glad to meet Noranda Copper Kings, Eastern champions, for the Dominion title.

The Copper Kings won the Eastern crown last night from Fredericton Capitals and their spokesman said they will challenge Trail.

CAMBRIDGE CREW LEAVES FOR HOME

New York, April 21. — (AP) — The Cambridge University crew, victorious over Yale and Harvard during a brief American visit, sailed for home last night aboard the Queen Elizabeth.

Washington Downs Yanks For Third Straight Win; President Truman Presides At Official Opening

Washington Senators made their delayed home opening a victorious one, thanks to the wildness of Yankee pitchers, as they downed the New York team 5-3 in an American League Game Friday.

President Truman delivered the opening pitch and incidentally showed better control than any of the regular hurlers. His neat left-handed throw was grabbed by Allie Reynolds, Yankee pitcher.

The president was booed twice—once when he entered the Presidential Box and in the eighth inning when it was announced that no one was to leave the field until the President had gone.

Max Surkont, sophomore Boston righthander, throttled Philadelphia Phillies with two hits as the Braves squeezed out a 2-1 victory in Philadelphia over the National League champions. Surkont also drove home the winning run with a fly ball.

In the only other day game in the National League, Brooklyn registered a 7-3 victory over New York Giants in a ragged opening game before 30,870 fans at the Polo Grounds. Don Newcombe, the Dodgers' 19-game winner last year, held the Giants to five hits, yielding only one in the last five innings.

Chicago White Sox blanked Detroit Tigers 5-0 in Chicago for their third straight American League victory behind the three-hit pitching of Randy Gumpert. The issue was settled in the third inning when the Tiger defence blew up behind starter Ted Gray and the Sox scored three runs.

Philadelphia Athletics spoiled the American League opener at Boston's Fenway Park by trimming Boston Red Sox 6-3 before 11,461 Beantown fans. The victory, first for the A's in Boston since Sept. 12, 1948, was at the expense of Mel Parnell, Boston southpaw who had run up a string of 10 consecutive triumphs over the Athletics.

Turco 2nd Goes Down To Defeat In Debut

London, April 21. — (AP) — American-bred Turco II, William Woodward's hope for the 1951 English Classic races, was beaten by a head in his three-year-old debut yesterday.

The Fighting Fox-La Rosa colt started as an 11-10 favorite in the Hurst Park seven-furlong feature but was edged out at the finish by J. Olding's Crocodile, a 100-8 outsider.

Grey Sovereign, the 7-2 second choice, was third—another four lengths back.

Manley, Patton Upset Walker Cup Favorites

Pinehurst, N. C., April 21. — (AP) — Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., a couple of golf-playing lumbermen, yesterday reached the finals of the North and South Amateur Tournament.

They completed the conquest of the Walker Cup contingent that began the tournament a strong Monday, with Manley eliminating Cup regular Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, 3-1, and Patton scoring over Cup alternate Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., 3 and 2 in 36-hole semi-final matches.
