IRON POSTS SAY ALDERMEN

Some Think Contract for Street Lighting be Changed to Demand These.

WOULD MEAN NEW TENDERS.

Likely Difference of Opinion Will be Manifested at To-night's Caucus.

A proposal to change the contract for city lighting, so that the firm securing it will be required to install iron posts, will, it is said, be made at to-night's caucus of aldermen. This, if passed, would mean that the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company would have to remove all their wooden poles, at least from the down-town section. It would also mean tenders would be remade for the companies, it is thought, would hardly feel winning to stand by their present offers if they knew they were face to face with an expense such as this change would entail.

Indeed, from talking with the aldermen, it seems that this question of lighting is far from settled, despite th fact that the Board of Control has recommended the acceptance of the M. L., H. and P. Co.'s offer.

Besides the question of poles, some of the aldermen take exception to the length of time for which the contract is to run. Ten years, they say, is too much. But to this Mr. Wanklyn says no. A clause in the contract, he shows, enables the city to break this agreement at any time after five years. This would mean that the city could then start its municipal plant if such a thing were considered a wise step.

Ald. Gauvin has not fault to find with the agreement. 'I think,' he said, 'the best tender, whatever it may be, should be accepted. The contract should not be for more than ten years, and while it is running Council should carefully consider the advisability of establishing a municipal plant and of installing underground conduits.

LONE HUNTER KILLED.

Search Reveals Merrickville Citizen Dead at Landing.

Brockville, Ont., Sept. 26.—News has been received here of a gunning accident at Mud Lake, the victim being Arnold Boyd, of Merrickville, aged 23. Boyd was camping on the lake, hunting, and when he did not return on Saturday night a searching party was organized, with the result that his body was found at Lockwood's Landing yesterday afternoon, with his head partly blown off. Boyd had evidently made a landing, and is supposed that while pulling the gun out of the boat it accidentally discharged. From the nature of the wounds inflicted death must have been instantoneous. The body was forwarded to Merrickville after a coroner had been called.

COL. GORDON'S SUCCESSOR.

Appointment is Not Likely for Some Time Yet.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—Inquiry was made at the Militia Department this morning as to the successor of Col. Gordon, who was recently retired as D.O.C. of Quebec command. Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, was away, but it was stated that a permanent successor to Col. Gordon will not be named for some time, probably several months. In the meantime Col. Roy will continue to have charge of military affairs in the Quebec division.

SHOOTING SMALL BIRDS.

Fish and Game Protection Officers Make Arrests Near Cartierville.

Robins and wood-peckers seem to be the limit of some Montreal sportsmen's ambitions. Four more men appeared this morning before Judge Leet for shooting song birds, and were fined $3, besides having their guns confiscated, with an option of five days in jail.

They were caught yesterday near Cartierville by officers working for the Society for the Protection of Fish and Game in Quebec. Paul Chico, Frank Madrello, Doninco Sanrial, and Henri Pierre were the ambitious sportsmen.

VERDICT IN CRIPPEN CASE

Coroner's Jury Charges Prisoner With Wilful Murder of Wife

LITTLE NEW EVIDENCE.

Witnesses To-day Failed to Answer Several Important Questions.

London, Sept. 26.—The coroner's jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against Dr. H. H. Crippen, the American dentist, in connection with the finding in the Crippen residence last July of the mutilated body supposed to be that of Crippen's wife, who was known on the stage as Belle Elmore.

No evidence beyond that given at the Bow street police court in the case was produced at the resumed inquiry to-day.

William Long, who was formerly connected with the accused, and who purchased the boy's suit which Miss Le Neve wore when arrested on board the steamer 'Montrose' off Quebec, was asked by the coroner whether he had ever bought lime?

He answered in the negative.

The chemist from whom Dr. Crippen purchased hyoscin, traces of which compound Dr. William H. Wilcox, the scientific analyst of the Home Office, previously testified he had found in the buried mass of flesh, said that the order for the medicine was given several days before the drug was taken away. He also declared that Crippen never previously had purchased hyoscin at his pharmacy.

The verdict reached by the coroner's jury was to the effect that the mutilated body found buried in the cellar of the Crippen home was that of Cora Crippen, who had been wilfully murdered by Dr. Crippen. The verdict added that the cause of death was poisoning by hyoscin.

LIKE CANADA'S NEW ACT

Foreign Countries Adopting Industrial Disputes Measure.

(Canadian Associated Press.)

Paris, Sept. 26. — Interviewed here, Mr. Mackenzie King, Canadian Minister of Labor, said that during his stay there he had found that the different countries of Europe are following with close attention Canada's industrial Disputes Investigation Act. He said that he had had many inquiries from public men regarding the working of the act, and measures drafted along similar lines had been introduced in France and Sweden. Mr. King added that the legislation in Canada dealing with combines and trusts had also created considerable interest. One or two ministers had expressed the intention of sending special investigators to Canada to report to their governments on the working of these Canadian laws.

COURT OF KING'S BENCH.

Lemieux Case Fixed for To-morrow, the Appeal Having Been Dismissed.

Mr. Justice St. Pierre, having dismissed the appeal in the case of A. J. Lemieux, of Emancipation Lodge fame, the case has been fixed for the commencement of the trial in the Court of King's Bench to-morrow morning. If the case is concluded in one day, that of Dion and Keiffer, charged with responsibility for the death of Miss Bessie Smith, on Victoria Bridge, last summer, will be begun on Wednesday morning.

The motions for Habeas Corpus, made in the cases of Valentine Beauchamp and Antoine Mercier, were both dismissed this morning. Mrs. Beauchamp was sent back to jail, and the trial of Mercier, for theft, was begun before the jury, and will likely take up most if not all of to-day.

About twenty-five men were employed at the mill, and it was well equipped with fire apparatus. The flames had gained such headway, however, that they could no nothing, and it was with great difficulty that they saved the surrounding buildings. The loss will be over $10,000.

THOMAS ASHTON FOUND

Man Who Worked for Woods Getting Evidence Against Liquor Dealers Arrested

James O'Sullivan, aged 27 years, a coal carter in the employ of Daniel Donnelly, was arrested on Saturday at his boarding-house in St. Alexander street by Detective Grant, of the Thiel Detective Agency, and Detective Pigeon, of the city force. O'Sullivan is said to be the man who, under the name of Thomas Ashton was employed with another named Fox to secure evidence against hotel and saloonkeepers for selling liquor on Sunday. Woods was arrested earlier in the week but Fox's hiding place has not yet been discovered.

It is said that O'Sullivan made statements to the police that may lead to further arrests. He claimed to be only a tool in the hands of others.

O'Sullivan was arraigned before Mr. Justice Leet, pleaded not guilty, and was remanded to Thursday for enquete.

Judge Leet asked counsel for the prosecution to amend the complaint in the case of Woods. He was charged, under section 180 of the Criminal Code, paragraph 'd,' with wilfully attempting 'to obstruct, prevent or defeat the course of justice.' The magistrate was of the opinion that it was necessary to show in what way this was done, and suggested that paragraph 'e' be added, which says, 'by accepting a bribe or other corrupt consideration to abstain from giving evidence.' It was said that Wood would be brought to court from the jail this afternoon to plead to the amended charge.

Washington, Sept. 26.—In 1909 there were 2,854 homicides in that portion of the United States covered by death registry laws, and in the same area 8,402 deaths due to suicide. The figures are supplied by the census bureau's annual report on mortality, and cover about fifty-five percent of the population. WILL TAKE AWAY CONTRACT

City Not Pleased With Pavement Work Being Done By One Company

Upon the advice of Mr. Barlow, city surveyor, the Controllers have advised the Legal Department to enter a protest against the Quinlan Asphalt Paving Company. This concern, which is now laying asphalt on Mackay street, Prince Arthur street and Duluth avenue, is said to be proceeding very deliberately. Its board of management is to be informed that extra men must be put to work, and the job completed at once, or else the city will take the contract away, do the work itself and charge this to the company.

NO ONE OBJECTED.

Verdun's $250,000 Loan By-law Formally Approved To-day.

After a formal hour of waiting for possible objections on the part of any combined five owners against the Verdun by-law respecting the issue of debentures for $250,000, the by-law was this morning, in the absence of any objections, declared approved. The meeting was purely formal, only a dozen or so being present, and there was no discussion on the subject, most of those present leaving when it became evident there were likely to be no objectors.

Previous issues within the last twelve have totalled $421,000, and with this additional $250,000 the town of Verdun, it is claimed, is still one of the lowest, as regards municipal indebtedness, in the Province of Quebec.

POLICE PROMOTIONS.

Sergeant Charland was on Saturday promoted to be a lieutenant, and Constable Focault was made a sergeant. Lieut. Charland is now at No. 11 police station, 1720 St. Catherine street east, and Sergeant Focault is at No. 5 station, Chenneville street. The Chief said to-day that their transfer to other stations had not yet been decided upon. Constable Focault, who has been raised to the rank of Sergeant, has been doing plain clothes duty in the Chenneville street station district for a number of years. He is the constable who first went to arrest John Dillon in his boarding-house in Mance street, and was shot in the head, the bullet grazing his temple.

KING'S BEST WISHES

Extended in Warm Farewell Greeting to Queen's Own Rifles

(Canadian Associated Press.)

London, Sept. 26.—Sir Henry Pellatt received a telegram from the King as follows:

To Pellatt, officers, non-commissioned officers and men, Queen's Own Canadian Rifles:

'The King wishes you all God speed and a safe return to Canada, and hopes you will carry back with you many pleasant recollections of the practical experiences of your association with the troops of the Mother Country. His Majesty trusts that those who have had the misfortune to be indisposed may soon be restored to health.

(Signed) A. BIGGE.

The following reply was despatched: Sir Arthur Bigge,

Balmoral Castle.

'Sir Henry Pellatt, officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada humbly thank His Gracious Majesty the King for his kind wishes for their safe return to Canada, and assure His Majesty of their deep loyalty at all times. They return to Canada with the most pleasant recollections of their visit to England. The officers who had the misfortune to be indisposed are progressing favorably. His Majesty's kind inquiries after them are much appreciated.'

(Signed) PELLATT.

OVER BRASS FITTINGS.

Prisoners and Constable Have a Different Story to Tell.

George Bennigan, whose alias is Swan, of 99 Shannon street, and John Smith, better known as McPherson, of 130 Cadieux street, were found, at two o'clock yesterday morning, in Fortification lane. It was Constable 183 Fisher who found them, and the officer of the law also noticed that one of the pair, seen through the black of the night, had a bag slung over his shoulder. The bag, when opened, proved to contain brass fittings to the value of $75.

When they appeared before Judge Leet, in the Arraignment Court this morning, on a suspicion of theft, charge, the men emphatically denied the theft of the brass fittings, and stated that they had given them willingly over to the constable. The latter said the prisoners forgot a struggle over the grass, and the court fixed enquete for next Friday.

DRIVEWAYS BY AQUEDUCT.

Parks Commission Recommends the Making of these.

Several new suggestions were determined upon by the Metropolitan Parks' Commission this morning. First they decided to recommend that the City Council buy certain properties at the foot of Mount Royal Park. Were these bought by private citizens, buildings of a type which might spoil the general effect of the park might be erected, they feared.

They also proposed the establishment of two driveways, one on each side of the new acqueduct.

Besides this the Commissioners had a somewhat lengthy informal talk, in which they decided it would be wise to make a trip to Boston and New York with a view of studying what has been done to better parks there.

Winnipeg, September 26.—Joseph Thorson, of Iceland, Manitoba, a Rhodes scholar, who left to-day for New College, Oxford, was given a medal and supper Saturday by his associates of the Y. M. C. A. He has won more medals than any student who ever attended the University of Manitoba.

FREE TRADE OR LOW TARIFF?

Sir Alfred Mond, M.P., Surprised at Protectionists' Criticism.

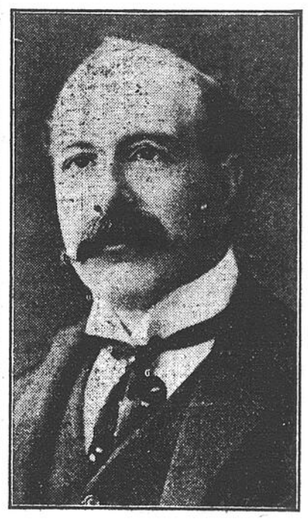

SIR JAMES WHITNEY'S SPEECH

If Reciprocity Benefits Canada It Will, it is Declared, Satisfy Britain.

Toronto, Sept. 26. — Sir Alfred Moritz Mond, M.P., Liberal for Swansea, South Wales, one of the exponents of free trade principles in the British Isles, arrived in Toronto last night on his way to inspect the properties of the Mond Nickel Company, Limited, at Sudbury. 'I was asked in New York, before I left, how reciprocity between the United States and Canada would effect the relations of Canada to Great Britain,' said Sir Alfred to a newspaper representative. 'I could not say anything about Canada, but as for England, I say that anything that was for the benefit of Canada would be for the benefit of Great Britain. If the Canadian people thought reciprocity would be of benefit we would not feel that we had any right to stand in the way. Anything that makes the consuming portion of Canada wealthier would be good for us, because you could and would buy more things from us. I must say I was surprised at the interview given by Sir James Whitney, the Premier of Ontario, in London, practically to the effect that if Great Britain did not hurry up and do something soon, Canada would go, and that it would be "all up" with the British Empire. In the first place I was surprised at a man in a responsible position making such a statement, because it is not the way to get Great Britain or Canada to do anything. Secondly, it seemed the more extraordinary because the Premier of the Dominion was making, at that time, speeches in which he stated emphatically, and which I understood was the feeling of the country, that Canada did not ask, and would not ask, Great Britain to do anything for them, and that their loyalty was not based on self interest.'

INTERESTING CRITICISM.

'Free trade revival in the West had been a matter of great interest in Great Britain and tariff reform papers had gone so far as to violently attack Canadian free traders on the score of their loyalty. The 'Saturday Review' had said Sir Wilfrid Laurier was always suspected, and the 'Morning Post' remarked that in the old days a bill of attainder would have been brought against the people making these speeches and they would have been dealt with summarily. Others said that the whole agitation was being engineered by American annexationists. This kind of criticism would have never been heard of in the days before the colonies were brought into the battlefield for mere party purposes. I think there can be nothing more dangerous to the interests of an united Empire than to drag questions affecting the self-government of the colonies into English or Canadian party politics. This is one of the inevitable dangers which thinking people must forsee when they start on this line of so-called bonds of Empire, consisting of mutually taxing each other's goods and making trade returns the touchstone of cordial relations. The better way is to be found in such ways as hte happy visit of the Queen's Own regiment to England. It was a great success in every sense of the word, and they made a fine impression over there.'

SIR ALFRED MOND.

FREE TRADE ENTHUSIASM.

In speaking of the benefits that would accrue from free trade, Sir Alfred said that he thought it was easier to get the people enthused over free trade than over a low tariff. The first was a great moral principle, while the other was simply a question of degree.

Cobden laid down as a fundamental principle the right of every citizen of a country to exchange the products of his labor wherever he could. But if it is simply a question of the difference between three and five on the tariff, the experts in the different lines of manufacture can present figures of statements of cost which would be hard to combat.

FREE TRADERS ARE SUCCESSFUL.

'A curious thing in Great Britain,' asserted Sir Alfred, 'is that the really efficient manufacturers are free traders and the others not. The heads of the largest industries who are members of Parliament in Great Britain are free traders. It is a funny thing that Harmsworth, who in Great Britain wants protection, in Newfoundland wants everything for his mills admitted free of duty.

'A point that is not sufficiently recognized in Canada in this tariff reform agitation in Great Britain is that the proposal is that there should be a considerable duty on Canadian flour though not on wheat. The Canadian people have to take their choice between a free entrance to the British market as it is now or a semi-taxed entrance.'

INDIAN WOMAN KILLED.

That Anna Beauvais, an Indian woman, was deaf and did not hear the approach of the train that killed her was the evidence at an inquest held by Coroner McMahon at Caughnawaga on Saturday.

A NOTABLE NEWSPAPER.

The Montreal 'Witness' has reached its fiftieth anniversary as a daily newspaper. During all these years the 'Witness' has been a telling force in shaping the life and the destiny of the country, and to-day it is stronger and brighter than ever.

The 'Witness' has achieved a notable success in the journalistic field because it has always been true to its best ideals. A Liberal in politics, it has stood for the principles of enlightened Liberalism rather than for party or faction. It has never been afraid to express its views, even when those views appeared to be in conflict with those of its own party leaders for the time being. It has not hesitated to criticise its own party when it felt the party to be in need of criticism. But its criticism, whether of friends or of opponents, has always been sincere and intelligent. No one doubts the honesty of the 'Witness.' And the policy which has governed its editorial page has extended to the whole paper. Its news pages are clean and reliable, and even its advertising columns are carefully guarded.

The success of the 'Witness' is a striking proof that success is possible in journalism in this country without sacrifice of self-respect or of high ideals. The 'Witness' is as far as possible from being a party organ; yet it is one of the great forces of Liberalism in Canada. The reputation it has won for honesty and independence makes its utterances doubly effective.

There is need for such journalism. The parties need it; the country needs it. Liberalism, especially, needs plain and honest speaking, to give freshness and vitality to its teachings. Liberalism must be a living, progressive force, otherwise it will cease to be Liberalism; and the cause of Liberalism can receive no better service from journalism than the free and independent support of papers like the 'Witness.'—The 'Sentinel-Review,' Woodstock, Ont.

FIRED SHOT AT CONSTABLE

Inmates of Disorderly House Defended Themselves With Revolver and Knife.

ELEVEN ARRESTED.

Men Suspected of Being Connected With Sheep and Rabbit Stealing Gang.

Chief Marchessault, of the Maisonneuve police station, raided a disorderly house, with the result that five girls and six men will be brought before the Montreal courts.

The chief, with a number of men, raided the house of Mrs. James Ferrus, on Saturday night, and after some resistance on the part of the inmates, in which Constable Germain's hat was pierced by a bullet fired by Jules Burknell, one of the male inmates, the Chief brought them to Maisonneuve station, and then to the city. A knife of enormous length was also used by inmates in resisting the police.

The Chief thinks these men are connected with those who were brought up and fined $10 each for sheep and rabbit stealing in the city.

This is the most serious thing which has happened in Maisonneuve for some years past.

BIG TRADING IN STOCKS ON FAIR ADVANCE--RATES

The week opened this morning on the local Stock Exchange in active fashion and at good prices. It would seem that our market has at length seen the sense of breaking away from the New York market and taking its own gait.

Half a dozen securities did well, with Power registering 2,340 odd shares, the price range being 154 1-2 to 156 1-2, the latter being the closing price. A sale of Power was made in a 1,000-lot at 156, which would seem to indicate considerable expectation on the part of one who should be a 'knowing one.'

Detroit was the next active on the list on information as to the new bond issue and payment of dividend. The 'Street' is patiently waiting this new flotation, as promise of dividend hinges, it is said, on its success before the public.

The sales this morning amounted to 1,315 shares at a price range of 58-60 3-8, the closing sale being made at 59 5-8.

Steel Corporation, which Mr. Rodolphe Forget predicts will go to 85 before Christmas, or thereabouts, was slow in number of sales this morning, only 290 shares changing hands, but the price was firm between 55 and 55 1-2.

Rio was a feature, with 695 sales, and a price range of 103-102 1-2; while 258 shares of Richelieu sold between 92 1-2-94; and 435 Soo Common at 133 3-4-134 1-2.

Other sales were well distributed, and the brokers and customers are feeling good about it. One encouraging feature as a start for the week is the fact that the large insurance companies are offering to lend money at 4 1-2, with a prospect of its soon being obtainable at 4 percent.

CONSOLS DOWN TO LOW RECORD ---MANY CAUSES

Cables from London tell of a decline in Consols, which fell to 80⅛ for the account to-day. This is the lowest record reached in many years.

The immediate cause was the rise in the German Imperial Bank rate, and the disinclination of investors to purchase first-class British securities.

A further fall in the figures for consols is freely predicted in the near future, and some uncertainty is felt in financial circles as to the immediate course of the market.

READING STRONG AT CLOSE--3 P.M.

New York, Sept. 26.—The New York Stock Exchange closed strong this afternoon. A feature of the market was the advance in price of Reading to 146½. Canadian Pacific was quoted at 190½; Soo, 133¾; Union Pacific, 67½. Southern Pacific, 116⅛; Copper, 62; United States Steel, 68½.

London Market Anxious As to Money—Consols

London, Sept. 26.—Consols for money were very low at 80⅛, off a quarter, and for account, 80⅛, off five-sixteenths.

The local market showed anxiety about the money outlook in view of the weakness in consols and heavy movement of gold to the Continent.

MERGER PLANS DISCUSSED AT MEETING TODAY

The special committees representing the Montreal Street Railway and the Light, Heat, and Power Company will meet again this afternoon, to renew negotiations regarding the successful culmination of the proposed merger between these two big concerns.

It is understood that at to-day's conference it will be decided to issue a circular putting before the respective shareholders the special merits of such a union, and advocating support in bringing about the desired end.

TRADE ACTIVE ALL OVER EAST

Senator MacKeen, of Halifax, who was in Montreal this morning to attend the meeting of Dominion Steel Corporation Board, told the 'Witness' that trade conditions throughout the Maritime Provinces were very satisfactory.

Senator MacKeen.

'Everything,' said the Senator, 'is in good condition, and in my opinion it augurs well for a largely increased business in that part of the Dominion.'

All over the Eastern provinces there are reports of very good trade, while the big manufacturing concerns are increasing their plants. Crops were never better, and money appears plentiful for legitimate business requirements.

BIG INTERESTS LOANING MONEY AT RATE OF 4½ P.C.

The brokers are happy, or at least a great many of them are. Business on the Stock Exchange is active, and the amount of trading that is passing each day is keeping them very busy and incidentally as one of them put it this morning, we are making a fairly good living these days.

Brokers, however, are not always happy, or are they always busy. They have to put up with periods of depression and slowness of trade, and during such hardships as they term them, money is generally scarce or at least supposed to be, while rates are excessive.

However, such is the reverse to-day. There is plenty of money in circulation, and for borrowing purposes, and brokers are congratulating themselves on the fact that they are now in a position through the generosity of certain large private corporations to borrow all the funds they require for stock market purposes at 4 1-2 percent. A large amount at this figure is being loaned out at in Montreal to-day.

Leading Broker Says That The Stock Market Will Go Higher---Wall St. Influence

Mr. George Smithers, of Messrs. Burnett & Co., speaking of the local stock market conditions this morning, said that Montreal might expect a broad market, with some periodical fluctuations.

At present the market is active and healthy, and he expected to see stocks firmer after the excitement attending the Power and Montreal Street merger shall have passed away.

Money now is plentiful and fairly cheap. Conditions here looked, he said, as if Montreal brokers and investors had almost forgotten Wall Street, and that Canadian stocks just now were practically independent of New York influences.

The shareholders of the Dominion Steel Corporation will be pleased to learn that at a special meeting, held this morning, in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mr. J. H. Plummer had a very fine report on the business and finances of the company to present to the directors.

It also dealt with the increase of trade and the additions to the plant necessitated by the more extensive operations undertaken.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Plummer stated to the 'Witness' that everything was in an exceedingly satisfactory condition and the directors, he was certain, were well pleased with the prospects ahead of this gigantic concern.

EVERYTHING IS GOING WELL AT FAMOUS MINE

Colonel John Carson returned this morning from a trip of inspection of several days' duration to the famous Crown Reserve Mines at Cobalt.

It is needless to say that the president found everything in and about the property in first-class shape, and particularly was he pleased with the progress displayed in the development of the mine since he visited it several months ago previous to his visit abroad.

Several new and high grade veins of different sizes have been uncovered recently, and to-day the entire property presents a network of silver streamers. The work of taking out the necessary amount of ore to meet all necessary expenses of dividends, operating and management is being persistently carried out, while the amount of silver in sight guarantees a very prosperous and prolonged period of success for this valuable property.

Easy Money and Good Business Has Brought About Active Market

As anticipated comparatively easy money and sound business conditions, says Mr. Colin M. McCuaig, have created a bull market on the local exchange, and almost all of the leading stocks have had an advance during the past week.

Many good authorities believe that a still higher market will be seen, but caution must be exercised, and traders should only buy what can easily be taken care of in case of temporary reactions.

SOVEREIGN BANK LIQUIDATION & CHICAGO RY.

A despatch to the 'Witness' from Toronto states that Mr. F. G. Jemmett, general manager of the Sovereign Bank, is expected to return from England shortly, where he has been in connection with the affairs of the bank.

Mr. Jarvis.

It may be said that the affairs in the liquidation are progressing so that it appears now to be a matter of months only before this bank is liquidated. It is placed at a year more at the outside.

The officials of the bank under the energetic presidency of Mr. Aemilius Jarvis, have found that the Milwaukee end of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric Railway has proved most profitable, but expansion of the road is prevented on account of the attitude taken by rival companies who are fighting to keep this line out of Chicago.

The council of the latter city granted permission for the Chicago and Milwaukee to gain access to Chicago over the elevated tracks, but it was found that other railway interests placed so many obstacles in the way as to make the actual carrying out of this plan impossible.

The Sovereign Bank, the 'Witness' understands, is a heavy holder of bonds in this road, and with the Chicago and Milwaukee built as far as Evanston, Ill., twelve miles from Chicago, it is expected that the final entry into Chicago will only be a matter of a short time.

'THE SALT OF THE EARTH'

Sir George Doughty's Compliment to Canadians in Address This Afternoon

LOYALTY AND MORALITY.

Everything to Make a Nation Great, and the Salt That Will Not Lose Its Savor.

The Canadian Club held its first meeting of the season this afternoon in the Sailors' Institute. Sir George Doughty was the speaker, and a large and representative audience greeted him.

Mr. J. S. Brierley, the president, introduced the speaker, a well-built, ruddy-faced Englishman.

'I come here this morning not as a stranger,' Sir George Doughty began, 'but as a brother. We are all citizens of the same Empire.' He continued that Canadians in England must feel the past glory of the greatest Empire the world has ever seen. Americans cannot feel it, though they may approach nearer the ideal of the British than any other people.

Sir George then spoke of his trip—his second trip—through Canada, praising the West, telling how he had been impressed with its possibilities, its resources, on the prairie, in the hills, in the lake, now but ill-protected.

'Therefore,' he summed up, 'I am proud not only that I am a citizen of Britain, but a citizen of Canada, a sister nation, one of the greatest countries of the world.'

'I believe in the people of Canada,' he said, and explained that he had seen in Canada, the strength of morality that has made all great nations, the family purity that was brought over a century and a half ago. 'You are the salt of the earth, and the salt will not lose its savor.'

'Have we got the spirit of patriotism to-day that the men who made what our Empire is to-day, had? Do you know that there is something more in life, gentlemen, tha nthe making of dollars?' (Applause.) The speaker referred to the men of the past who had given their all, their lives for their country. He had observed a strong movement for more unity, for a great federated Empire. 'How does this appeal to every Canadian?'

He stated that as the country grows in wealth, in greatness, other countries will look enviously, and long to share those riches, saying that our troubles would have been begun long ago, because of this, had not there been a great navy hovering on the horizon. He continued, if Canada was to have protection she must become a more integral and important part of the Empire.

He spoke of the beginning of the Canadian navy as a wise step, not because it is a unit of ships, but because it will breed in the people a spirit of naval protection. 'You cannot do a wiser thing than train your young men. You can only assure peace by preparing for war.'

Sir George told of his trip up the Pacific coast, praised the great natural harbors and described them as the most vulnerable in the world.

'Every province is governed as its people wish to be governed,' he said, in praise, and added that Canada had been wise enough to develop a great Dominion Parliament to look after the bigger national issues, and suggested that this is what may happen among the various nations and dominions of the Empire. A Federal Parliament, each portion of the Empire represented Canada and Australia and New Zealand would not be lost in such a parliament, but the new blood would vivify the old.

'Have you watched the trend of events during the past twenty years,' he asked in conclusion and referred to the days when nations ruled. Now it is empires. There is the German Empire, the United States, now the American Empire, and in the future the Empire of Russia, the Empire of Japan, the Empire of China. What part is the great, proud, and generally just British Empire to play? Must we not play our part as the greatest people on the earth in the future as in the past? Our people did things in the past. I believe that we will do things in the future, a united empire, having at our command much of the best of the earth, and we will be a greater people than in the past.'

CONGRATULATED MR. GIRARD.

Mr. J. A. Gerard, deputy prothonotary, this morning received the congratulations of his confreres and the members of the bar for having been appointed to the new position created by an amendment passed to the Code of Civil Procedure, at the last session of the Legislature, under a bill introduced by Mr. J. L. Perron, M.P.P. for Gaspe. The new officer is given concurrent jurisdiction with the judge in chambers in certain matters pertaining to the Practice Court, and from this date such matters must be referred to the prothonotary or to Mr. Girard. The new position is somewhat similar to that of Master-in-Chambers existing in Ontario, although with a less extended jurisdiction.

A special office will be prepared for the new officer.

MANY INSCRIPTIONS.

In the Practice Court this morning, Mr. Justice Davidson called the attention of the members of the bar to the extraordinary number of inscriptions in law coming before the tribunal. He said that there were more such inscriptions here in one term than in all the other courts of the Dominion during the whole year.

The Pianola Piano Is Different

Chief among the exclusive superiorities of the Pianola Piano are the devices that give one a control over the music—the Metrostyle, the Themodist and many other marvellous inventions that enable the person with no musical training to put his own feeling into the music. More than 300 patents protect these various features—sure proof of the Pianola Piano's lasting supremacy. It is these features—found in no other instrument—that have won for the Pianola Piano the active endorsement of nearly all of the world's masters of music.

THE SULTAN OF SULU,
Who arrived in New York on Saturday.

Jamalul Kiram II., Sultan of Sulu, the United States' only crowned subject, is 40 years old and considerably married. Additional interest was added to the announcement of his coming visit by the statement that he was to bring a treasur eof pearls which he esires to sell in order to establish schools in his archipelago. Kiram has one of the most productive pearl farms in the world, several islands on the off side of the Philippines producing vast quantities of pearl oysters.

The Sultan has been much advertised by Americans returning from the Far East. Pages have been written about him. George Ade named a musical comedy after him. He is five feet five inches tall, weights 150 pounds, and wears a moustache which curls downward dolefully. He is said to believe that typewriting machines are operated by spirits, and was much more impressed by an X-ray machnne, by means of which he saw the bones of his own right hand, than by the Americans guns which commanded his city. The United States pays him a salary of $1,500 a year, and he has only civil authority over a tiny village.

FAIRMOUNT AVE. METHODISTS

Held Their Record Rally Day Yesterday.

The Fairmount Avenue Methodist Sunday-school yesterday celebrated their annual Rally Day, the motto chosen for the incoming season being, 'All aboard for a record year!' That the school got off to a flying start is evidenced by the crowded congregations at all three services of the day. The Rev. E. I. Hart, of Dominion Square Methodist Church, delivered a model sermon to children at the morning service. The Rev. G. I. Campbell, B.D., pastor, also gave a brief address, and there was special music by the choir.

The superintendent, Mr. N. F. Caswell, presided at the opening session of the school in the afternoon. He was supported by the honorary superintendent, Dr. H. S. Shaw. Mr. Abraham gave the address of the afternoon, and Master Willie White sang the 'Holy City.' There was also special music by the juvenile department, of whom 140 were present. A record was made in the matter of attendance, there being 560 present, and the collection amounted to $53.00. This is to go towards the support of one of the teachers, Miss Gagnon, who is entering the Methodist Deaconess Home at Toronto in training for home mission work, as a representative of the school. During the proceedings a class roll call was creditably conducted by the superintendent. Mr. J. H. Lauer presided at the organ. The Rally Day proved the most successful in the history of this rapidly developing Sunday School.

The late Mr. Chown about five years ago came from Kingston, where he was a life-long member of Sydenham street Methodist Church. When he first came to Montreal he attended St. James's Church, united with Sherbrooke street Church, and at the time of his death was a teacher in the Sunday school and a member of the quarterly official board. He was stricken down with typhoid fever about a month ago.

The remains were taken to Kingston this morning for interment. Floral tributes were sent on behalf of the Sunday school and officials of Sherbrooke street Church. Mr. Chown was a consistent Christian, and very deeply interested in and devoted to all departments of Church work. During most of his life he was in the hardware and stove business.

LINER IN COLLISION

Montcalm of C.P.R. Line Crashed Into Collier Crown Prince Olaf.

LINER'S BOW INJURED.

Wreck Commissioner Has Left for Quebec to Conduct an Inqury.

The Canadian Pacific line steamer 'Montcalm' and the collier 'Crown Prince Olaf' were badly damaged in a collision at Channel Patch, about forty miles below Quebec, on Saturday morning about four o'clock. The 'Montcalm' was on its way here from Bristol with a general cargo, and the 'Prince Olaf' was outward bound light. At the time of the accident it is alleged that the 'Prince Olaf,' which was on the south side of the channel, swung round and crossed the bow of the 'Montcalm,' which was on the north side. The result was that the two vessels came into collision, the 'Prince Olaf' being badly damaged amidships on the starboard side, and the 'Montcalm' having her stem on the port side seriously twisted. The 'Prince Olaf' anchored in the river, and last night proceeded to Halifax fofr repairs. The 'Montcalm' proceeded to Quebec and arrived at Montreal this morning. The damage, which is being repaired now, is not, it is said, serious enough to interfere with her next voyage.

A despatch from Ottawa states that Captain Demers, Dominion wreck commissioner, left this morning for Quebec to conduct an inquiry into the cause of the collision.

CHINESE STUDENTS BARRED.

Girl Cannot Become a Pupil of Georgia School. .. ....

Macon, Ga., Sept. 26.—May Ling Soong, a Chinese girl, has been barred from the Gresham High School, a county institution, because she is not a Caucasion and because she is not a citizen of this country.

She is a niece of Bing Chun Van, who is connected with the Chinese embassy at Washington.

Herisister was graduated last June at Wesleyan College, in Macoun, a famous Methodist institution. Miss Soong came to Macoun to enter Wesleyan, but was found deficient in some of her studies and it was suggested that she enter the Gresham High School to prepare for the next term at Wesleyan. When application was made for admission, Supt. C. R. Chapman called a meeting of the board of education to decide the question. The law creating the Bibb county Board of Education requires that all students of the Gresham High School must be of the Caucasian race, and for that reason Miss Soon was denied admittance.

DISGUSTING PRACTICE.

Man Who Cared for Bodies at Isolation Hospital Also Labelled Milk.

Toronto, September 26.—It was disclosed at the Isolation Hospital investigation this morning that the same man who carried out the dead bodies of the victims of diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc., was the man who labelled milk into bottles that were sent up to patients all over the building, and thus a fine opportunity for spreading different diseases among the patients was provided. Doctor Sheard attempted to minimize the effect of the disclosures in cross-examination, but failed.

HORSE SCATTERED CROWD

Runaway on St. Catherine Street Injured His Driver and a Lady.

A horse propelling a brick waggon owned by Mr. John Stuart, contractor, and driven by a man called Ward, furnished considerable excitement at 1.45 this afternoon, when it terminated a careening course down St. Catherine street west by plunging into the crowd at the corner of Mountain street. Its driver and Mrs. Lorne R. Hight, who was standing on the sidewalk, both sustained injuries to the head.

The horse took fright on Guy street, and came tearing down to St. Catherine street, where it turned and made for Westmount. The display in the windows of James Ogilvie and Sons proved too attractive, and the spirited nag left the straight and narrow path and made for the windows. Mrs. Hight was knocked down and her head was injured. The driver was hurled from the waggon.

A western hospital ambulance was soon on the scene, and the physician from it dressed the two injured persons' wounds. Mrs. Hight was taken home in a cab.

JEWS AND SUNDAY'S BREAD.

The 'Canadian Jewish Times' says in an editorial:—'At last there is some uniformity of opinion on the question of the delivering of bread on Sundays. Hitherto the ewish bakers, as well as the police, were in a quandary in regard to this mater, owing to a difference of opinion of two local Recorders. Thanks, however, to the Chief of Police, who reported to the Board of Control that he deemed it advisable not to molest Jewish bakers from carrying on their vocation on Sundays, the Controllers expressed agreement with Chief Campeau, and have given instructions to discontinue prosecuting the Jewish bakers in their delivery of bread on the Sunday. This is but another instance where justice was obtained through hard fighting, most of which was done by Mr. S. W. Jacobs, K.C., who took up the case of the bakers recently when they were being charged with the alleged infraction of this by-law.

BASEBALL MANAGER RESIGNS.

New York, Sept. 26.—George T. Stallings is no longer manager of the New York American league baseball team. He authorized this afternoon the announcement that he was through as the team's manager. He has received a cheque in full for his services for the year, he said, and had severed his connection with the club.

Mr. Stallings did not care to say at this time just what the circumstances were which led to the severing of his relations with the club. His announcement, however, confirmed anticipations which arose following the investigation by Mr. Frank Farrell, the president, in Cleveland of Stallings's charges that Hal. Chase, first baseman, had not given the club his best services.

Who will succeed Mr. Stallings as manager has not been announced.

LORIMER INVESTIGATION.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Mr. Charles C. White, state representative, was the first witness to take the stand in the investigation into the election of Mr. William Lorimer as United States senator, by the senatorial sub-committee. Six of the seven members of the committee were present when his examination by Mr. Austrian, the attorney representing the Chicago 'Tribune,' which by printing Mr. White's story, several months ago, brought on the investigation, began.

The special commissioners met representative business men and members of the Board of Trade, who will be asked to name committees to collect evidence to be presented when the commission returns to Ottawa in February next.

RATHER AN IRISH TURN.

The 'Messenger,' of Leamington, Me., says: 'The essentially French-Canadian festivities of Montreal seem to have had a rather Irish turn. The papal legate will return thinking that in Canada as well as in the United States we are under Irish domination. The influence of the Irish will be increased in Rome, and our own reduced.'

SAILORS IN TROUBLE

Teen Raided Shed, Drank Gin And Got Arrested

Ten sailors from the Canadian Northern SS. 'Royal George' were arrested this morning by Constables O'Connor and Regimbal from the Central Police station. Last night, it is said, they entered number 10 shed down at the wharf, and took therefrom nine cases of gin. That almost made a case for each man, but in the Recorder's Court to-morrow they will have pretty much one case for the whole lot.

Gin led to altercation, altercation to refusal to return to the ship, and so on, to the arrest.

POOR LITTLE BOSTON.

(Brooklyn 'Daily Eagle.')

The census has dealt the unkindest blow of all to Boston. Long since she was robbed of the literary primacy of the country by Indiana, to read whose best sellers and see whose plays Boston pays out her hard-earned shekels without a murmur. Coincident with that transformation the commercial reports showed that Brooklyn had become the great bean market of the world, thus wresting from Boston another of her long-cherished supremacies.

And now comes the census men with the cruel report that Boston numbers but 670,785 souls, a gain of less than 20 per cent. during the decade. From 1890 to 1900 the growth of Boston was 25 per cent., thus showing that, as in the once proud borough of Manhattan, the ratio of growth is declining. A brief comparison with the Brooklyn figures will give a clearer idea of what the Boston report means. Brooklyn grew during the decade at the rate of 40 per cent., and now has a population of 1,634,351. That is, our population would make almost two and one-half Boston's, while Brooklyn's growth during the decade, 467,769, is more than two-thirds the entire population of Boston. However, there are consolations for Boston. Though she is still smaller than St. Louis, she has not been outstripped by Pittsburg, and thus

CAPTAIN KENDALL HAS CLAIMED REWARD.

London, September 26.—Captain Kendall, of the Canadian Pacific liner 'Montrose,' has claimed the reward for the apprehension of Dr. Crippen. The prosecution has secured a witness who will be able to describe exactly the character and location of the scar which the operation on Mrs. Crippen left.

QUEEN'S OWN HAVE SAILED FOR CANADA.

Liverpool, September 26.—It was a roistering crowd of sun burned warriors that tumbled out of two special trains at Riverside station on Saturday night to embark on the White Star-Dominion liner 'Canada.' The Queen's Own Rifles to a man were full of the happiest recollections of their four weeks' visit to the Mother Country. Their departure was not allowed to take place without civic recognition. The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress awaited the arrival of the trains. Sir Charles Burnett, head of the western command, and Mr. Robert Gladstone, chairman of the Mersey dock board and others, were also at the station. As soon as Sir Henry Pellatt stepped from the train the Lady Mayoress presented Lady Pellatt with a bouquet. Sir Henry chatted for some time with those around. He expressed to the Canadian Associated Press the great gratitude of all the ranks for the hospitality shown them. About the military effect of the visit, he was genially reticent. 'I will tell you better in two years' time,' he declared, 'but it is bound to have a good effect.' Sir Henry mentioned that eight officers attacked with typhoid would remain behind. Lady Pellatt also remains until her son recovers. While the general body of the regiment embarked the band played lively English airs. The steamer left just before seven o'clock, the crowds on the landing stage giving answering cheers to those coming from the fellows lining the vessel's side.

He was taken to the Hotel Dieu, where Dr. Nichols located the bullet in the spinal cord. An operation will be performed this morning to relieve the sufferer.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1910.

'He asked for the co-operation of 'the British in forming such a force 'composed of both races. He thought 'that they should employ Lord Methuen in organizing the force, and if 'another British officer were wanted, 'they should get his old war friend, 'Lord Kitchener.' Who is it that is talking in this strain? We rub our eyes when we discover that it is General Botha, and that he used the above words when he was discussing the formation of a defence force for South Africa. We agree with a London contemporary in thinking that this cable of a few lines does more to bring home the new conditions in South Africa than many official documents or big speeches. Can anything more dramatic be imagined than that General Botha should now be seeking the co-operation of Lord Methuen and Lord Kitchener in planning the defence of United South Africa? And could anything better illustrate the noble results of free institutions, which turn enemies with magnanimous souls into friends? This is to the eternal credit of a British Liberal government.

ROME AND CATHOLICISM.

The despatch with regard to the difference between the Pope and the mayor of Rome has evidently passed through channels unfriendly to the latter, for it is spoken of as an attack on the Pope by the mayor, whereas it is evident that the attack was on the other side, and that the mayor has had to defend himself against an attempt by the Vatican advisers to lay upon him all the acts of insurgent democracy and anti-clericalism. The mayor is a Jew, and might, therefore, be selected as a scapegoat. But his being in the chair at the Capitol, which is the City Hall, is in itself an evidence of a very strong popular sentiment against ecclesiasticism. The change which seems to have caused the fulmination of the Vatican is not clearly stated in the much mangled despatch that has reached us, but it would seem to have been a secularizing one in some form in the schools. The mayor declares that it was not his planning or his doing, nor were certain utterances which have offended the Vatican his, —expressions not of irreligion, but of Christian democracy, of modernism and of the 'Sillon.'

It would seem that the 'Sillon' has reached Rome—a movement to bring democracy into sympathy with the Catholic Church and to reconcile the Church to democracy—and that the late denunciation of the 'Sillon' by the Vatican has evoked strong criticisms in the press of Rome, and at the hands of organizations in sympathy with the movement. The mayor's sympathies are evidently in the same direction. He says it was not he who commingled ritual and religion in a way that denied the consolation of religion to those who could not accept ritualistic dogmas. He had shown no lack of respect for other men's faith or for the Pope, who, within the limits of his heart and intellect, is wholly sacrificed to love and goodness. The offence taken by the Pope did not come from his words, says the mayor, 'but 'from the fact that, advancing with 'sure steps, the new Italy is lighting 'the road for anxious travellers' . . . 'men are looking on high in search of 'a faith illuminated by knowledge.'

There is something lofty and prophetic about these utterances. The mayor has seen the Catholic world, in revolt against an ironclad system, trying to get on without religion, with the saddest results. Religion there must be, but it must be a religion that does not contradict knowledge, that does not refuse the discoveries of science, that does not demand submission to the dictates of men. Across the path of the noblest movement of the day the Pope has by ill-advice thrown himself, in the condemnation of the 'Sillon' movement. Against the development of democratic institutions, he will fight in vain. The vision of Mayor Nathan, who is a Roman to the core, is that from his ancient city, to which and from which all roads lead, which once ruled the world by force, and later by spiritual thunders, shall go forth a new and free enlightenment that will include all men of light and good-will till it fills the whole earth. Then will the title Protestant, which Monseigneur Bruchesi rightly deprecates, lose itself in a new Catholicism that knows no human masters—none but the Master who humbly walked the hill-paths of Galilee, who said, 'All ye are brethren'; for that cannot come about except as a realization of his ideal.

SENDING A 'WIRE.'

At the conference of the Institute of Journalists, in London, which has been attended by the 'home and overseas' members of the press, a discussion on the question of cable rates took place, during which Mr. J. Henniker Heaton, M.P., of imperial penny postage fame, made an important suggestion for a conference of European postmasters, the purpose being the establishment of a penny-a-word telegraph rate throughout Europe, and to put an end to all cable monopolies. In Mr. Henniker Heaton's opinion, the British Empire will never be perfect until communication between, say, the Fijis and New Zealand is as cheap as it can be made 'by means of a few thousand tons of copper wire.' He acknowledged that the early pioneers of telegraphy had great difficulties to face, and he declared against injustice to any man; at the same time, he put the proposition that if by some miracle the cables of the world could be destroyed by earthquake, they could to-day be reconstructed at a third of the original cost. Mr. Henniker Heaton has faith in public ownership of public utilities, and he advocated to the conference that the best way to secure for Britishers perfect communication by telegraph with all parts of the world was for the governments of the civilized world to buy out the cables—'take them out of the hands of monopolists or cable rings, was the way he put it—at the market price of the day.

Mr. Henniker Heaton urges that government ownership of ocean cables would be a vast improvement on private ownership such as now obtains. The people of England, he estimated, now pay twenty to twenty-five million dollars a year for cable communication, yet the charges are still so high that it is only one in a hundred messages that is a social or family message. Socially, at least, the cables are now, in fact, for the millionnaire, and not for the million. At the present time,' declared the speaker, 'a workingman in Australia would 'have to save up three weeks' wages 'before he had enough money to tele-'graph home to his native village in 'this country.' In further support of his contention for government ownership, he said that the British and Colonial Governments pay about $1,250,000 every year for official cable messages, and that this sum would go far towards the interest in purchasing the cables from the companies. By putting an end to cable monopolies, Mr. Henniker Heaton told the conference that the cables could be run by the government for some five million dollars in place of the twenty or twenty-five millions it costs the United Kingdom to-day. Whether or no, the conference agreed that the question of inter-communication between the various parts of the Empire was one most important one before it, and a resolution was passed affirming that the time has arrived for binding the Empire together with an electric girdle of cheap cables. Some might go further than Mr. Henniker Heaton, and think that the past was long enough for the companies to reap the fruit of monopoly without capitalizing it now. As the capacity of the present cables is strained, or certainly would be if the rates were revised, as proposed by Mr. Henniker Heaton, the way in which a business firm would go to work would be to lay new cables at modern cost. If it ran them at the proposed rates, the other cables would soon become much more easily purchasable.

EATING WOOD.

The London 'Morning Post' prints an article from 'a special correspondent who is visiting Canada,' which says that in the west of Canada an industry is growing up which manufactures wood sawdust into horse and cattle foods. He goes on to say that whether sawdust will prove a valuable food supply for animals, or whether it will be found adaptable to the human stomach, it is too early to say, 'but I 'would venture to offer a new battle-'cry to the Radical party for the next 'election, to add to their late war 'screams of Chinese slavery, horse-'flesh and black bread. Let one of 'their leather-lunged leaders proclaim 'from some stronghold of hypocrisy 'that colonial preference means chil-'dren's food made of sawdust.' It is seldom one meets with a finer frenzy of vituperation than that. One would think if Canada is producing food in this way for man or beast, there could not be a better use for the leather lungs of leaders than to warn against tying up tight with a sawdust-eating country. This correspondent does not seem to know that protection did precisely mean sawdust for children's food some hundred years ago. At that time, when the landlord influence was at its height, it was declared in a London protectionist organ, for the benefit of the poor, that sawdust was susceptible of conversion into a substance something like bread. Says the 'Westminster Gazette': 'The exponent of the 'process was sufficiently honest to ad-'mit that the product was "certainly "less palatable than flour"; but he was 'firm in opinion that it was in no way disagreeable, but wholesome, di-'gestible, and highly nutritive. The 'recipe was as follows: Take the inner 'rind of the pine-tree next the wood, 'in flakes like a sheet of foolscap pa-'per, and steep or wash it, in warm 'water, to clear off its astringent prin-'ciple. Then hang it across a rope to 'dry in the sun; and, when dry, pound it into small pieces mixed with corn, 'and grind into meal on the hand-mill 'or quern.' Of a truth, Canada has hardly come to sawdust yet, even for her cattle; but the 'Post's' correspondent is invited to cast his eye over Germany, where meetings of protest, caused by a food famine which is already causing intense suffering among all but the well-to-do, are multiplying at a great rate all over the country. The food question is scarcely less serious in France, and we know what a live matter the cost of living has become on this continent. It is a curious time to abuse Radicals with such schoolboy rhetoric for maintaining their love for free trade when in all protectionist countries the public anger against protection, at least of foodstuffs, is growing more and more intense.

FIFTY YEARS AT SEA.

Stirring Life of a Quebec Mariner.

(From the Quebec 'Telegraph.')

It is given to few mariners to boast that they have had the experience of half a century traversing the sea, with all its attendant incidents and dangers, but a son of Neptune who has a just claim to this rare distinction is Captain Joseph Dugal, who at present and for some years past has been the popular commander of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company's steamer 'St. Irenee,' and who is well known to tourists and others who travel to the Saguenay in the summer time.

Born in Gaspe in August, 1847, Captain Dugal, after pursuing an ordinary school education in his native parish, took to a seafaring life when he was but thirteen years of age, and has since followed it up. When but thirteen years of age he shipped on board the 'Sword Fish,' a clipper brigantine of a hundred and fifty tons, as an apprentice seaman. This ship sailed from Montreal for Jamaica, in the West Indies. After serving on board several other vessels in various capacities, he went before the board of examiners at Quebec in 1867, when he secured his certificate as master of seagoing vessels, and the following year took his first command, his first experience as master being on board the 'Pon Dichery,' which was a Quebec-built ship of 900 tons. In 1878 he took command of one of the best ships ever constructed in Quebec, 'the workmanship' of the two yards of A. Samson. The name of this vessel was 'Le Montagnais,' and in this vessel he went around the world from Glasgow to Rio Janeiro, from the latter place to the Philippine Islands, and from there back to England. Going round Cape Horn in the winter of 1881 Captain Dugal had the misfortune to break his leg by being caught by a heavy wave, which broke over the ship. At the time this wave struck the ship he was lashed to the poop, and the force of its impact carried off everything on deck, including the rails and skylight, and it was the carrying away of the latter which caused his injury. With the aid of some of his officers he went below to his cabin and in pulling off his boot he discovered a bad gash in his leg, which necessitated stitches being put in to close the wound. With the sturdiness of the sailor, he called for a needle and thread and with his own hand sewed up the wounds. To add to the difficulties of the position in which the ship was placed through this storm, the compass was also carried away.

In talking of this incident to a 'Telegraph' reporter, Captain Dugal said he placed his first mate in charge after he met with his accident. Shortly after the mate took charge he reported to him that another cyclone was approaching. This with no compass on board was a serious affair, as Cape Horn is of difficult navigation. However, the captain cheered the mate by saying the wind was going to bring the ship round Cape Horn, and told him to hoist his topsails and let the ship go before the wind, and to send the carpenter aft to fix the compass. The latter accomplished his task, and the vessel went round the Horn that night.

The next day, when the ship was in the Pacific Ocean a mutiny broke out on board the ship and the mate went forward to interfere, when he got beaten by one of the crew. Captain Dugal, in speaking of this incident, said he called the men aft, and put the official log book on the table, and making the entry of the mutiny and assault on the mate read the entry to the men. He then asked the man who struck the mate what he had to say. The latter said he was on self-defence, as the mate had struck him first.

'Well,' said Captain Dugal, 'in this case I must put you in irons,' to which the man answered, 'It will take more than you to put me in irons.'

The captain then took a pair of handcuffs and placed them on the table and with a revolver in his hand, and pointing it at the man, said to him, 'I will give you three chances—first, put those handcuffs on yourself.' This the man did before the command was made a second time.

A couple of hours after the ringleader of the mutiny had been put in irons, the other members of the crew went aft and wanted the captain to release the man, claiming that he had acted on the defence. This was too much for the captain, and he replied, 'You intend to take charge of this ship by dictating to me what to do with this man,' and taking a revolver in each hand, determined that his orders would be obeyed, where it meant life or death for him, he threatened the first man to move. In this trouble he had to deal with twelve stubborn seamen, and two apprentices. He ordered them to the forecastle and kept them there for two days without food or water. On the third day they showed themselves humble, and he asked them what they intended to do, telling them that to disobey meant death. They asked for food, and the captain told them that each man might have a pint of water and a biscuit and at midnight, if everything went well, they would have a cup of coffee, the following day they being given full allowance if their behavior warranted it.

This happened in August, 1881, and fire in longitude 144 west and latitude 30 north. For thirty days before this they never sighted a ship, but with the flames spreading broadcast there was no hope of saving their lives. When the vessel took fire the shio was steering northwards, and the captain, thinking the only chance of meeting a vessel was to go back by steering south, he accordingly tacked to the south. At noon the man at the wheel hailed the captain and informed him that there was a ship in sight. He then ordered his ship worked in the direction of the sighted vessel. It was a barque, and Captain Dugal hoisted the signal 'Ship on fire; give assistance.' The signal was recognized and the welcome answer came, 'Yes.' Another signal was sent up by the oncoming barque which said 'Your ship is going to blow up, because gas can be seen coming from the stern; time to leave.' Captain Dugal signalled that he had no boats, so one was lowered from the 'Avona,' for such was the name of the vessel which went to the rescue of the doomed ship. Into these the crew was shipped, but Captain Dugal and his mate remained on board. At the time the captain was standing on the main hatch, when the mate came along, and saying, 'Captain, we are losing a good ship,' he knocked the hammer on the hatch, and this caused it to blow up. The force of the explosion threw the captain up in the air and he fel on a mattress that was left on deck by the men. The fumes of the gas overcame him, and when he came to it appeared to him as if he had been in a dream. He saw his mate standing by him with a life-preserver ready to jump, thinking the captain dead. When the mate saw the captain stand on his feet the former could not utter a word, being bewildered. The captain was the first to speak, saying 'Thank God, we are safe and a boat is coming back for us.'

After being taken on board the boat Captain Dugal said he became so nervous that he thought he was going to die, and the steward gave him a bottle of brandy and he drank the whole of its contents, from which he said he felt no after effects and he then went to sleep. When he awoke he went on deck and saw his ship still burning nearby. The captain of the rescuing barque said to Captain Dugal that he would send his mate and latter's mate on board to try and save some of the marine instruments that were in the cabin. While the two men were on board the vessel trying to get through the skylight and into the cabin the mainmast of the burning ship, which was of iron, fell, and the only thing that saved the two mates was the fact that one was standing before the other in front of the mizzenmast. The two mates then jumped into a boat and rowed back to the ship which they had left, and shortly after the burning vessel canted over and disappeared beneath the surface, and came up again bottom up.

Twelve days after this Captain Dugal was landed at San Francisco and here the ship masters collected the sum of $500 which they presented to him to help him out. He then took train for Quebec, but en route stopped off at Iona, Ill., and here Captain Dugal has another reminiscence. While walking along the platform of the station a smooth-faced gentleman came along, and addressing the captain said, 'I know you, Dugal, and the owner of your ship. I am going to Quebec and would like to have your company, if you will take the next train.' The Captain thought of his money, and being wise, he declined acquaintance of his would-be acquaintance, and as a result he never saw his 'friend' again. Captain Dugal mentioned the occurrence to the porter of his train, who remarked that this was an every-day occurrence, and very often people were relieved of their money through the acts of these gentry.'

Returning to Quebec in October, 1881, he married, and in 1882 went down to the Baie des Chaleurs to open a line in connection with the Intercolonial Railway from Campbellton to Gaspe, after which he commanded the steamer 'Admiral' for fifteen years, subsequently joining the service of the R. & O. Company, with which he has been since.

Despite his fifty years of active sea life, and his strenuous experiences, Captain Dugal is still hale and hearty, and in every sense well qualified to handle a vessel with the best mariners many years his junior. Those who know him, and his friends are legion, will wish him long life and many years of command his good steamer the 'St Irenee.'

HOW THE SCALES ARE MADE TO CHEAT.

In some cities the street pedlers use a balance of German manufacture. In Germany it is forbiden because it is recognized as so potentially iniquitous an implement, and it is made for export to those countries where, as in ours, the standard laws are uncertain or lax. One of our American labor-saving devices, however, is quite as bad. This is a cheap 'computing scale' used by many a small tradesman on the pretext that, as it tells him not only the weight of the goods he is selling but what he must charge for them at so much a pound, it spares him thus much mental calculation; but as the instrument is inexact enough to leave always a trifling margin of uncertainty, he feels justified in giving himself, and not his customer, the benefit of that. Another scale, outwardly of the conventional pattern, is so constructed that the weights will weigh true or false according to the position in which they are set on their plate; and one, specially designed for use in a hardware store, is connected with a magnet concealed under the counter, and so placed as to exert its influence on the pan in which nails and similar metal goods are weighed.

Even the best of scales can be used by an unscrupulous dealer for bad purposes. He may appear annoyed by the rattling of the pan against its iron holder, and slip an innocent-looking wad of paper under it; or, if he keeps a small and not over-nice butcher shop, he may leave the pan unscoured, so that, by successive weighings of fat meats, it accumulates on its inner surface a thick smear of grease. For this smear, as well as for the folded paper, the customer pays for an extra ounce or so at the rate charged for his groceries or his meat. And what do these trifles signify? In a city where the inspectors have to visit ten thousand shops annually, it has been estimated that half of them contain at least one scale which is short weight by an ounce, and that a reasonable average use of such scale would be forty times a day. Counting three hundred business days to the year, the loss to the purchasing public in that period would amount to three million seven hundred and fifty thousand pounds; and the larger part would fall upon the class of small purchasers least fitted to stand it.—From 'With What Measure Ye Mete,' by Francis E. Leupp, in the October 'Scribner.'

PRESENTATION TO OFFICER.

Lieut. S. C. Phillips, of the Victoria Rifles, who is to be married on October 5, was presented by his brother officers on Saturday evening with a silver entree dish engraved with the regimental crest, and a suitable inscription. The presentation was made by Lt.-Col. Fisher, who wished Lieut. Phillips and his bride long life and happiness.

MAYOR'S REPLY TO VATICAN

Chief Magistrate of Rome Was Rebuked by Pope for Criticism

REITERATES HIS VIEWS.

Many Societies and the Press Have Taken Sides in Discussion.

Rome, Sept. 26.—Mayor Nathan has written a letter in reply to the note of Pius X. to the Cardinal Vicar, in which the Pontiff described the Mayor's speech on the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of the entry of the Italians into Rome as blasphemous and expressed regret that a public officer should be allowed to outrage and ridicule the Roman Catholic Church and religion.

The Mayor says that the Pope in sending from the Vatican thunders against the one who sits in the Capitol makes more evident than did the Mayor's speech the contrast between the Rome of the past and the Rome of the present. Mr. Nathan adds:

'I am not the author or inventor of the plan to banish from the schools and seminaries the whole daily press, nor have I imagined the solemn condemnation by Christian democracy, by the Modernists, by seeking a faith which reconciles the intellect and the heart, tradition and evolution, science and religion.

'I have not bound together the dogma of the ritual and religion, thus denying the consolation of the faith to those who could not blindly submit to the changeable instructions and will of men, nor have I failed to respect other people's beliefs or been lacking in any regard for the Pontiff as a man called to the highest office, who within the limits of his heart and intellect sacrifices his whole being for love and goodness according to the dictates of his conscience.'

The Mayor says that as the supreme Pontiff from the height of his chair in St. Peter's has the duty to tell the truth as it appears to him, so the Mayor, the same as before the breach which ended the temporal power of the Church, has an equal duty to his fellow citizens to interpret the new political and civil era. The offence taken by the Pope did not come from his words, says the Mayor, but from the fact that, advancing with sure steps, even as the dawning day, the new Italy is lighting the road for anxious travellers. The influences guiding the people are ruled by laws that govern the universe. They are above the Pontiff and the Mayor. Mr. Nathan says in closing:

'These forces move, evolve and broaden. Men raise their eyes seeking a faith illumined by knowledge. If I have offended the law, I will answer before the courts. If I have exceeded the duty of my office, the citizens must judge me. If I have offended religion, my conscience, without any intermediary, will answer before God.'

Mayor Nathan's reply has resulted in the struggle between the Clericals and Anti-Clericals becoming fiercer. This is reflected in the press of both parties. The Catholic organ, 'Corriere d'Italia,' calls Mayor Nathan the 'Anti-Pope.' In the meantime the various Catholic clubs and bishops, both in Italy and abroad, have joined the Pontiff in protesting against Mayor Nathan's attacks, while the Mayor has received the support of the Liberal associations, the anti-Vatican elements and the Free Mason lodges. Meetings are announced on both sides in support of their respective ideas.

DENIES PROTEST TO FOREIGN POWERS.

Rome, Sept. 26.—Reports that the Holy See has despatched official protests to the foreign governments against the anti-Clerical speech delivered by Ernesto Nathan, the Mayor of Rome, at the celebration on Sept. 20th, of the fortieth anniversary of the fall of the temporal power of the Church, are denied in Vatican circles. It is understood, however, that the foreign nuncios and bishops have been instructed to encourage a world wide protest against the Mayor's address. Many messages protesting indignantly against the alleged insult to the Pope are reaching the Vatican.

REGRET AND SURPRISE.

Expressed by French-Canadian Papers Over Appointment of Archbishop.

In its recent article, expressing regret and surprise at the appointment of Mgr. Gauthier as Archbishop of Ottawa, the 'Temps' said: 'There is no doubt that Mgr. Sbaretti is alone responsible for what now occurs. We had often heard that this prelate was entirely opposed to the development of the French language, not only in Ontario, but also in the western provinces, that that he did not understand our mentality.'

The 'Bulletin' says: 'We have simply to bow before the will of Rome which has not designed to recognize the title of the French-Canadian and Catholic population to the elevation of one of their own members to the archiepiscopal see of the French-Canadian diocese of Ottawa. We must bow, and that is what we are doing, while deploring from the bottom of our heart the insult done to our religious and national rights, which have been for too long a time exposed to the intolerance and cupidity of the Irish clergy. Sursum corda! but, I pray, let us awaken!'

The 'Pays' says: 'The three hundred thousand French-Canadians of the Province of Ontario are no longer represented in the hierarchy by a single prelate. A cruel query appears in all this affair. Are we to fear that the influences which resulted in the appointment of Bishop Gauthier to Ottawa will bring the same weight to bear for the disposal of the cardinal's hat which the Church of Canada expects to obtain from the next consistory?'

The 'Nationaliste' says: 'The French-Canadians see an encroachment on rights sacred for them, and they do not seem disposed to accept these changes with all the sereneness of temper hoped for in certain quarters. No doubt the Anglo-Irish element have done their work in Rome, where, more than ever, there is faith in the assimilation, in the absorption of the French element in America by the great English and cosmopolitan whole. One would feel inclined to believe that three centuries of ardent faith, of battles gallantly fought by our fathers on this American soil for the defence and maintenance of our religion, of our language, of our institutions, that so much heroism and devotion to the Catholic cause in Canada have left in Rome but a slight impression. It is unfortunate, it is sad!'

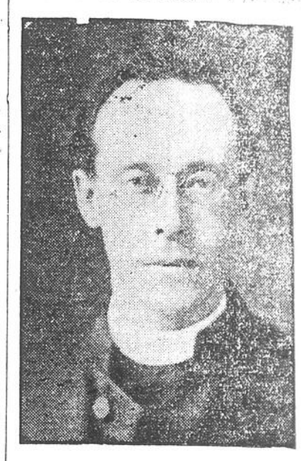

After stating that the Roman Catholic Church cannot betray her children, whoever they be, the article concludes with the declaration that if it is necessary to begin again the battles of old for the vindication of their rights, the French-Canadians will find in their ranks men able to do so with firmness, prudence and loyalty.

The 'Action Sociale' advises its co-patriots to remain calm and dignified, to ever show themselves devoted and respectful sons of the Church, to bend their knees before their God, but to stand erect in the presence of men. In one paragraph it says: 'The question is not to get angry or discouraged, but to accept what must be accepted, and to see what means should be adopted to defend what must be defended.' The explosion of narrow and spiteful criticism, the echoes of which come from the west, is nothing new. It comes at almost regular intervals, as old as it is newed and will ever be renewed. Attempts at assimilation, so long as there are Canadians without genes, are public men without a spirit of in-

CHURCH ENLARGEMENT

Corner Stone of New Building For Church of the Ascension Laid Saturday

On Saturday afternoon Bishop Farthing laid the corner stone of the new Church of the Ascension at the corner of Park avenue and St. Viateur street, Montreal Annex, of which congregation the Rev. J. L. Flanagan is the incumbent. H. C. Stone, the architect, pre-the Lord Bishop with a silver trowel used in the ceremony.

The Dean of Montreal gave a resume of the history of the parish from the time when his brother, the late Canon Evans, was the pioneer missionary in Outremont and the Annex.

The Rev. W. W. Craig was reminiscent of the days when the first wooden church was built in the parish, at which time the present rector was appointed, and spoke of the responsibility of the people to support their parish clergy in the suburbs.

Bishop Farthing told of the remarkable impetus given to church development by the Church Extension Movement inaugurated by the late Bishop Carmichael, three years ago, since when no less than fourteen new churches and stations have been opened.

Mr. Gordon White, the parish secretary, read the record that was placed in the vessel in the stone, containing the names of all those connected with the building, and a history of the parish. Copies of the daily newspapers and certain current coins of the realm, together with a list of subscribers to the building fund, were also encased within the stone.

Among the clergy present were, the bishop's chaplain, the Rev. H. E. Horsey, of St. Alban's; the Rev. J. A. Elliot, of All Saints; the Venerable Archdeacon Davidson, the Rev. J. Roy, and the Rev. J. S. Ereaux, of St. Jude's. Prominent lay members and officials were: Messrs. C. A. Sharp, Griffith, W. Mount and S. Mount, of the building committee; and Messrs. J. E. Loiselle and W. Sullivan, churchwardens.

The ladies of the Women's Guild served refreshments at the close of the ceremonies, and a collection was taken up for the church building fund.

LORD PENTLAND

As Governor General of Australia to Succeed Lord Dudley

London, Sept. 26.—Honors are falling thick upon the shoulders of Lord Pentland. He has been elevated to the peerage, the last honor given by King Edward, and now he is to be Governor-General of Australia in place of Lord Dudley.

Lord Pentland married a daughter of Lord Aberdeen, to whom at one time he was aide-de-camp. He has been a soldier, a county councillor, a member of Parliament, a social philanthropist, founding many institutions for the benefit of the East End poor, and a Liberal whip.

Lord Pentland and Lady Pentland are both known in Canada. Lord Pentland, then plain John Sinclair, spent two years at Ottawa as secretary to Lord Aberdeen. Lady Pentland, then known as Lady Marjorie Gordon, was at Rideau Hall with her parents during Lord Aberdeen's term as Governor-General.

Lord Pentland's appointment is particularly interesting to Canada in view of the fact that he acted as private secretary to Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada [illegible]. He was born in 1860, the son of the late Captain George Sinclair, and was educated at Edinburgh Academy, Harrow, Sandhurst. He married in 1904, Lady Marjorie Gordon, daughter of the seventh Earl of Aberdeen.

Lord Pentland served in the Nile expedition in 1885, and retired as captain in 1887. He represented Berwickshire from 1892 to 1895, when he was defeated by A. Wylie, M.P.

FLANAGAN BROKE THE HAMMER THROWING RECORD AT CHAMPIONSHIPS

Cold Wind Blew, And Spectators Were Not so Numerous as They Might Have Been, But the Sport Was First Class.

There were a lot of people who missed a day of great sport by not attending the Canadian Amateur Championships at the M.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday.

The 1500 who went are still talking about it, for there was only one disappointment, the crowd. There should have been 10,000 people in the stands, for the afternoon's performances warranted good support.

One record event. John Flanagan did it. John usually is the one who smashes some mark. It was the 16 lb. hammer throw, which took a new distance unto itself. The Canadian record previously has been 173 feet 7 inches. John, with his perfect triple whirl, let it go, and it dug up the turf 179 feet 2 1-2 inches from the circle. One could see the muscles rolling down his arms as he played with the weights.

It was a cold wind that blew across the green field. The slim-legged chaps who were awaiting their turn at the pole-vault, huddled together in their blankets. The group of men in civilian clothes, who held watches, or tape, or had other duties, were truly representative athletics in Canada. J. J. Menick, president of the A.A.U. of Canada, and N. H. Crowe, secretary of the organization, were both on hand from Toronto. There were men of long experience from the big clubs of New York and Boston, men who have seen all the records made twenty years ago smashed time and again—men who have seen many athletes rise and fall.

And the beauty of it all was to see the heads of the old waning clans fraternizing together, the old C.A.A.U. men and the Federation leaders, all the past forgotten, being polite to each other, and not calling names or referring to the past. It was a truly all-Canadian meet, the first of the new all-Canadian organization.

Over at the 440 yard mark the bunch of competitors began to shed their blankets and sweaters. Cameron, of Toronto, fails in another attempt to make 11 feet 11 inches in the pole vault, Flanagan is whirling with the ancient discus tight clasped in his fingers. A whistle blows, there is the answering signal, a gun report and a short brown figure is five yards along the track, with a trail of fleet young men strung behind. The crowd rises, cheers, leans forward to watch them on the stretch. The brown figure is losing, a tall youth has passed him, with arms upraised he breaks the taut tape, and the 440 yards dash has been run and won. And the crown with a complete cinematograph picture of the sprint still in their minds, look back over it, and groan, 'Oh, what a start for a championship. He beat the gun five yards.'

Frank Lukeman gained a lot of prestige. Three firsts he took, and one second, which second might ha' been a first had not Destiny put her finger into it. He wouldn't pass the stand without being cheered. And the American men, a really fine bunch, seemed just as pleased to see the Canadian boy grab the events as anyone else. They were always the first to congratulate him.

Lukeman won his heat in the 100 yard sprint in 10 flat. The other winners were Coughen, the red-headed giant of the Irish-Americans, New York, and Llewellyn, of Boston. Their times were 10 1-5 and 10 2-5.

The final was a great race. They were in a bunch all the way. Five yards from the finish Lukeman and Cloughen were running abreast, stride for stride, when at the tape almost, Lukeman broke a spike in his shoe, lost his stride, and had hard work holding second from Schaefer, of Halifax. The opinion of the majority was that Lukeman's well-known leap at the finish would have won for him the race had it not been for this mishap. The time was 10 flat.

After the first hundred yards there was no one in the 220 yard sprint but Lukeman. He won his heat in 22 1-5, and met Cloughen and Eller, of the Irish-Americans; Dorland, of the Pastimes, New York; Schaeffer, of Halifax, and O'Hara, of Toronto. It was a perfect start. The Montreal boy rapidly pulled ahead and had four yards at the tape on the others, who were bunched behind. The time was 21 4-5 seconds, and the event was looked on as about the best performance of the entire meet. Seibert, the West End Y. M. C. A. man, who is very fast in the 220 and 440, was not in condition. He was up in the woods all summer, and though the life is healthy, it does not develop the fine physical points of a sprinter.

Knox, of Central Y. M. C. A., got the 880 in rather an easy fashion. He let the others run as they pleased until the stretch was reached. Then he let out and broke the tape. Brock, of West End Y. M. C. A., Toronto, was second, and Pitey, of Boston, panted in third.

Bowser, of Boston, was the man who beat the pistol in the 440. He led away at a terrific clip, but the last 100 yards saw Rosenburger, of the Irish-Americans, overtake him. It was the American's race all the way through, Prout and Guething, of Boston, running second and third.

Kiviat showed that he could run a mile some. He and Jack Tait, the hope of the Canadians, and a little bald-headed gentleman from the Irish-American Club in New York, named Monument, were the three best. They held the lead all the way, and Tait seemed running easier than the other two until the last lap, when he made a futile effort to pass Kiviat. The gentleman from Boston refused to be passed and drew away. Tait seemed to weaken, and Monument, who had contentedly hogging third place, became suddenly ambitious and jumped to second. Tait finished third. Considering the bitter wind, the time, 4.26 2-5 was good.

West End Y. M. C. A. won the mile relay. Brock, their first man, gained a lead and the others held it to the finish. It was very pretty running all the way.

Tressider, of the Central Y. M. C. A., Toronto, Canada's best five-miler, won that event. To the great majority, Tressider was never a factor till the last half-mile, when he jumped in front and took the place away from McVicar, of Boston, who was looked or, as the winner. Hebert, of the Nationals, and Heefer, of Winnipeg, did the pacemaking.

It took a long time to finish the pole-vault. Archibald, the champion, went out at 11 feet, and Happenny, of the M. A. A. A., and Cameron, of the Central Y. M. C. A., Toronto, were tied at 11 feet 11 inches. They both failed there, and the bar was lowered to 11 feet 9 inches. Happenny failed there and Cameron got over.

Flanagan and Coe, of Boston, starred in the weights. Flanagan took two firsts. Bob Edgren, of New York, nearly equalled Martin Sheridan's record with the discus.

Goudgin, of Toronto, gave Galis 100 yards in a mile exhibition walk, and then beat him by 300 yards. The time was 6.25 4-5.

Frank Lukeman and E. Farrell, of South Boston, were the only entrants for the broad jump. Lukeman won.

Y. M. C. A. OUTING CLUB.

A meeting of those interested in the above club was held last Saturday afternoon, in the Y. M. C. A. building, Dominion square, at 3 o'clock. It was clearly demonstrated by the enthusiasm of those present that the spirit of friendliness and goodwill which had grown such a prominent power during the season would be continued through the winter to the next summer D.V., by snowshoeing, skating, and sleighing picnics, etc., weather permitting, and homely social gatherings.

The suggestion of holding a closing tea and social was heartily agreed to, and was fixed to take place next Thursday evening, the 29th instant, at 6.45 o'clock. The committee is confident with Mr. Mervin, the president, Mr. Macartneyr, Mr. Priest and Mr. Tilbury in charge of the separate departments, to make not only Thursday evening, but all the winter gatherings in connection with the club, a model of social, healthy and clean amusement.

Tickets 25 cents each, can be obtained from the secretary, or any member of the committee, or by applying at the Y. M. C. A. office.

Will those intending to be present kindly apply for tickets early, in order to assist the catering department.

ROYALS LOSE A LONG GAME

Fifteen Innings Struggle Finally Goes Against Them and They Win Second Game

McCONNELL AS A BASEMAN.

This Thin Person Had Much to Do With the Visitors' Success.

If Friday's game between the champions and Montreal was a farce that 15-teen innings struggles of Saturday was quite the reverse. It was fine baseball. Both teams had innumerable opportunities to score, yet for 14 sessions one run was all either could gather. Then came the 15th and the end, for then Rochester brought in four runs, and the Royals, though game, could only gather two.

The struggle was won and lost at first base. In the thirteenth, McConnell, the slim person who officiated at the bag for Rochester, leaped high in the air, catching a wild throw of Simmons. It saved a run.

In the fifteenth, Hardy, Montreal's catcher, who played first in the absence of Cockill, made an error and a mistake. These caused the trouble. Of course, Hardy cannot properly be blamed. He wasn't used to the position, that was all. Besides, he played splendidly for fourteen innings. And then only a few unpleasant individuals felt in a fault-finding mood on Saturday.

While talking of first basement some remarks might be made concerning McConnell. He is the Buffalo man who was pulled off the back lots to play first for the Bisons. He became afflicted with the idea that he was a pitcher That would have been all right if his idea had been wrong. But it wasn't. Therefore, and ergo, as the lawyers say, the world has lost a fine first baseman. As a pitcher McConnel wasn't quite good enough for the big leagues. So he was sent to Rochester, and has since done fine work for that club. But on first, McConnell seems more useful than in the box. He doesn't field in the finished style of Agler, of Newark. But he gets everything and gives the fielders confidence. Then he is a mighty hitter. In Saturday's first game he got four safeties, one of which would have been good for three bases to a fast runner. McConnell made second.

Hardy, though as has been said, largely responsible, for the defeat, made some fine plays. Three times he ran back to the bleachers after foul tips, and he made several difficult plays at the bag. In hitting he had ill-success. Twice he was at bat with a man on third and two out. Twice he landed on the ball for a low, hard drive which seemed safe. But twice Tooley leaped in the air, making the catch.

But in the great fifteenth innings—yet pause. Why write the details. They are horrible and saddening. Let the curtain be rung down on the baseball season amid sounds of gladness, so let it be remarked the Royals won the second game.

Rochester Wins by Good Margin and Montreal Finishes Fifth

It's all over. Since early May the teams in the Eastern League have been struggling for supr macy, and now, after the four months' play, Rochester is once more returned Champion. They had a hard fight. For a long time Newark led. Toronto held the premier position for a few days. But Ganzel's men improved as the season advanced, and won by a clear lead of nine games. As for the Royals, they have done better than for years past. During the last two months, in fact, they have played at least as good ball as any team in the League. They didn't do the game of baseball in Montreal any harm.

The final standing is:—

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.

CORTES ADJOURNED.

Opposition in Portuguese Party Was Absent.

Lisbon, Sept. 26.—The Cortes, which was opened by King Manuel on September, has been adjourned until December 12th. SECOND CUP GAME EASY

Nationals, Without Lalonde, Were Defeated by 11 Goals to One

RESULT NEVER IN DOUBT.

Captain of Challengers is in Vancouver Hospital—Game Was Clean.

New Westminster, B.C., Sept. 26.—New Westminster overwhelmed Nationals in the second game of the Minto cup series at Queen's Park, the challengers putting in a lone goal to eleven for the cupholders. That made the score on the series 18 to 4, the Salmon Bellies thus beating the latest challengers by the same margin of goals that they trimmed Montreal in midsummer.

The game Saturday was considerably faster than the first contest, though the score was more one-sided. The Nationals played better lacrosse, while the cupholders were travelling at top speed. As a result the first half of the game saw some of the prettiest lacrosse ever played on the coast.

Westminster scored two goals while Nationals were getting their line tally in the first quarter, and thereafter the Westminster defence held the National attack safe. The cup holders put in three goals in each of the succeeding quarters.

A crowd nearly as large as that which attended the first game was on hand, despite the indications that Westminster would again score an easy win. In the neighborhood of 10,000 people paid admission.

On the coaching line Jack Laviolette, of the Nationals, who is still out of the game, was prominent for the visitors, and used the megaphone to advantage.

Play was started shortly after three o'clock by Miss Hazel Kirke, leading lady with the 'Stubborn Cinderella" company, escorted by a throng of admirers. She made a neat little speech to the players, gracefully placed the ball between the waiting sticks, and then retired to the side lines, where she remained one of the most interested spectators in the park.

FLAG FLOWN
AT HALF MAST.

The feeling of both teams was subdued, the Royals because of the death of their reliable point man's father, Galbraith, while hope seemed to be at a low ebb in the Montreal ranks over the illness of their brilliant captain, 'Newsy' Lalonde, who is in a Vancouver hospital cot suffering from blood poisoning. Lalonde has a bad attack and will be in bed for two weeks though the sickness is not so very serious just now.

Out of respect for the memory of Charlie Galbraith's father, the championship club flag that has flown high on the headquarters of the New Westminster lacrosse team for so many years was flown at half-mast just before the game commenced, where it remained throughout the progress of the match.

The teams were changed since last Saturday. Galbraith was absent at point, but this was covered by the introduction of the youngest lacrosse player of the Gifford family, Hughie, who went to first defence. Tommy Gifford held down point and Marshall moved to cover-point. Jimmy Gifford was at second defence. Otherwise the team remained unchanged. Beauchamp filled Lalondes place on the challenging line-up, while the defence fielders played their positions.

Straight from the face-off, with their old-time rushing tactics, the New Westminster team increased their standing lead of four goals for the cup by a score in seven and a half seconds, to which the Nationals retaliated with a score by Secours in twenty-eight seconds. This commencement of the fireworks got the crowd on its toes, while Westminster pressed hard for another opening, running the ball into the National defence time and again.

NATIONALS FADED
IN SECOND QUARTER.

About the middle of the quarter Westminster took the lead, and thereafter it was simply a procession, though for the first two quarters the challengers battled bravely. Sensational work by the Westminster home featured the first half of the game, the cup holders in the second quarter pulling off one of the finest pieces of work ever seen on a western field. Cliff Spring brought the ball down the field and passed to Bill Turnbull. Then Bill unloaded to Grumpy Spring, who returned the ball to Cliff, his brother. From him it travelled like lightning over the famed ground, again finally going to Wintemute, who bored in past the National goalkeeper for Westminster's fourth goal in 9.30. It was exceptionally brilliant work.

By half-time the fate of the Minto cup was ensured until next season.

The Nationals had been doing wonderful work, but their every effort was surpassed by the world's champions, who earned that title over and over again. The fielding on the part of the red and blue brigade was nothing short of magnificent, while their work around French-Canadian nets was worth going miles to see. The second quarter brought out the best in both teams, and that division of time alone was worth ten times the gate money.

Play throughout was clean, and though penalties were frequent, they were for minor offences. The teams suffered almost alike.

Mr. Forbes Robertson on Montreal's Critical Audiences

Mr. Forbes Rogertson who arrived in the city on Saturday evening by the Laurentic, is not yet sure whether he will be able to play in Montreal again during his forthcoming tour. 'As to whether or not I shall be able to return to Montreal for a short season,' he said, 'will largely depend on our ability to stand the fatigue of constantly travelling long distances without much rest. I am obliged to leave this side at the end of May, at the latest, and should much prefer to return by way of the St. Lawrence route, and if it is not too late, I shall certainly stop over in Montreal for an engagement before sailing. At the same time I should not care to play to a Montreal audience unless we are all of us quite fit and well. Montrealers are critical, and a jaded company would never be able to please them.

Mr. Forbes Robertson opens in Toronto in 'The Passing of the Third-floor Back,' afterwards going to Chicago and all the large cities in the middle western states.

ROYAL SOCIETY OF CANADA.

Will Open Annual Meeting in Ottawa To-morrow.

The annual meeting of the Royal Society of Canada, postponed from May last by reason of the death of King Edward, will be opened in the Normal School, Ottawa, to-morrow morning, and will be continued during the two following days, when various papers will be presented and read.

At 8.15 p.m., the president, the Rev. Dr. George Bryce, will deliver the presidential address, subject, 'The Colonisation of Western Canada.' All the meetings are free to the public, who are cordially invited to attend the lectures. The annual popular lecture will be on 'Aviation,' and will be delivered on Wednesday evening by Professor Charles M. McKergow, assistant professor of mechanical engineering in McGill University, who has given the subject much attention.

PAVING CO.'S NEW SCHEME.

A new scheme is being adopted by the Canadian Hansam Paving Company to induce the residents of St. Antoine street to ask that the pavement on that thoroughfare be laid by the Hassam people. A meeting is to be held in the Queen's Hotel on Thursday night at which delegates will be elected, and these, with a representative of a newspaper, will be taken to certain cities where the company has laid pavements, and where they hold it shows to advantage beside that of other concerns.

MONTREAL SOUTH

An adjourned meeting of the town council of Montreal South was held on Friday night last, Mayor N. Labonte in the chair. The whole of the councillors were present, and after the secretary-treasurer had read the order calling the meeting a communication from the Daoust Realty Company was read in which they stated they had clients who wished to locate in Montreal South—a shoe factory and a copper foundry and plant—and asking the council's offer in line of exemption from taxes for these industries. They stated that the lots for this purpose had been purchased and were within the limits of the municipality of Montreal South, and that naturally the employees would reside near their work. The question was fully discussed and a committee was appointed including the Mayor, to wait on Mr. Daoust. They were authorized to give full encouragement to the proposed industries, as this was considered to be the first stepping stone towards booming Montreal South.

A communication from the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company, enclosing a blue print, was received, in which they asked the council's authority and advice as to where eight poles should be placed on Marquette avenue. The Board of Railway Commissioners have given power to the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company to erect two poles, sixty feet high, on the right of way of the Quebec, Montreal & Southern Railway at Marquette avenue, for the purpose of tapping the feed wire from Chambly. This is the initiatory of having the town lit by electricity.

Mr. Nixon, representing the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, made his official visit to the village this week and was escorted over the right of way of the Montreal & Southern Counties Railway Company, by His Worship the Mayor. His visit was in response to the complaints which had been lodged by the council in respect to having the electric railway company comply with various clauses of the by-law passed last October.

The next important question brought before the meeting was the water and sewerage question. The substance of the proposed by-law (which was a lengthy document in itself) was read by the secretary-treasurer, article by article. Upon conclusion of which resolutions were adopted by the council; and as soon as the necessary powers can be obtained through the new charter now in course of preparation, provisions would be made to enable said works to be carried out in a manner suitable to the needs and requirements of the future of the municipality. Further, that a contract be made with the firm of Brennan and Kearney for the provision of a water and sewerage system under a municipal franchise, the whole to be subject to the formalities required by law; including proper by-laws approved by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, and also the ratepayers. His Worship the Mayor and the secretary-treasurer were authorized to make arrangements with Messrs. Brennan & Kearney for the plans and engineering observations; and also to negotiate with said contractors with a view to said franchise, subject to proper conditions, charter amendments, by-laws and ratepayers' approval. A large number of ratepayers and proprietors were present, and seemed highly elated at having a water supply in the near future. At the next regular session of the council these documents will be read in French, and in the near future council proposes to have public meetings for discussing the by-laws, before they will be put before the public for approval.

In regard to the proposed military college, outside of the fact that the buildings are to be erected in the near future nothing can be definitely decided until the return of Sir Frederick Borden. In order to dispel any mistaken opinion as to which municipality the government farm is in, the Council of Montreal South had a complete search made in the registry office at Longueuil. The result showed that 876 lots (which constitutes the government farm) is situated within the limits of Montreal South, and not in Longueuil. A copy of this search has been filed with Colonel Fiset, Deputy Minister of Militia, who has promised the officials of the council that they will be promptly notified of the minister's return.

New sidewalks will be laid on Prefontaine avenue, from Victoria avenue to Washington street; as well as on new St. Lawrence extension.

Mr. Fellowes, C.E., has been engaged to look after the town's interest during the construction of the water and sewerage plant.

Miss B. Rock (Ottawa), who has been staying with Mrs. J. W. White, Lafayette avenue, left for home on Saturday.

Mrs. J. Glennie, who has been staying with Mrs. Bush, Maple Grove, has returned home.

Mayor and Mrs. N. Labonte is spending the week end at St. Annes de Bellevue.

Mr. McAuley, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company, addressed the 'Men's Own' in the Methodist Church yesterday afternoon.

KNIGHTLY GOVERNORS.

The visiting governors for the present week to the Protestant House of Industry and Refuge, and to the homes at Longue Pointe are: Sir Edward T. Clouston, Bart., and Sir Wm. C. Macdonald.

DANGER OF DOGMATISM

British Association Members Believe in Science Going Humbly

SIR OLIVER LODGE'S VIEW.

Science Knows Nothing of Origins, But Starts With Matter in Motion.

'Witness' Special Correspondence.

Sheffield, Sept. 7.—The closing of the meetings of the British Association leaves one wondering if the main thought through the whole week in each of the nine sections has not been the danger of being dogmatic. In the agricultural section, Mr. A. D. Hall, speaking of the farmers' estimate of the fertility of various soils, said that when science, a child of barely a century, came to deal with a fundamental art-like agriculture, which goes back to the dawn of the race, it should begin by humbly accepting and trying to interpret the long train of traditions, science, after all, being only an extension of experience.

In even the mathematical section the same tone prevailed. Professor E. M. Hobson, F.R.S., referring to the general belief that truths of mathematics have absolute certainty or the highest degree of certainty of which the mind is capable, said that on the contrary, differences of opinion have frequently existed among mathematicians giving rise to controversies as to the validity of whole lines of reasoning and affecting the results of such reasoning, and that a considerable amount of difference of opinion of this character exists among mathematicians at the present time.

The accepted standard of what is deemed necessary to contribute a valid demonstration had undergone considerable change, and it had, he said, ever been shown that results which were once supposed to have been fully established by demonstration are in point of fact affected with error.

Speaking on the Sunday afternoon to a crowded audience on the story of creation, Sir Oliver Lodge said modern science knows nothing of ultimate origins. It never asked the question. It started with matter in motion; it traced its past, and to some extent its future. It might look backward and forward for millions of years, but to every part, however remote, there was an antecedent past. Nothing pointed to a beginning or to an end. At every point we could ask, 'And what before?' or 'What after?' The most certain thing about scientific text books, he declared, was that sooner or later they must pass out of date.

Of one thing, however, the geological section was sure enough for all practical purposes.

Professor Kendall, of Leeds, announced that in the investigations into the coal beds of South Yorkshire they had discovered a coal measure at Scunthorpe eleven miles further east than at Thorne. This new field, on which thousands of pounds had already been spent, and on which millions could be spent with profit, would be, he assured them, the hope and support of industrial England in the future.

The sermon to the association by the Archbishop of York was characterized by the Sheffield papers as one of the most striking addresses ever given in the Parish Church. It was a clear statement of the present position of the old controversies between science and revealed religion—an admission of recent modifications of theological thought, but an assertion of the inadequacies of materialism and insistence on the existence of a creator. His text was Job xxviii., 12-28: 'Where shall wisdom be found, and where is the place of understanding?' his theme the 'Friendship of Religion and Science.' The agnosticism of fifty years ago, which had declared that nothing could be known had given place to a true agnosticism which recognizes the limits of scientific knowledge. On the other hand, theology, which was religion thinking itself out, had learned to reconsider its old conceptions of God, and to return to conceptions which belonged to the fuller and more primitive Christianity—to look upon God as not standing apart from nature, and asserting His power by occasional arbitrary interference with the laws which he had ordained, but as dwelling within it, revealing Himself through it, over all, yet in all, through all, working out His will. Religion proclaimed that He, and no mere blind energy, was the worker, but it waited for science to give tidings of the way in which He worked. They must be on their guard against the danger of allowing faith and science to go each on its own way without intercourse—turning respect for difference into a voluntary separation, instead of a true friendship. We were coming to a time when science and religion were stretching out hands of desire one for another. The man of religion must love God with all his mind as well as with all his soul, and the man of science must love God with all his soul as well as with all his mind.

One of the most noteworthy things shown the association was the open air schools in Sheffield and in various other places in England for the care of the children of weaker physique, which their parents are too poor or too ignorant to give.

The charitable bequests mentioned in the will of the late Mr. F. X. St. Charles, published in Saturday's 'Witness,' have now been made known. They are as follows: St. Denis Street Deaf and Dumb Institute, $8,000; Sisters of Providence, $500; Nazareth Asylum for the Blind, $4,000; Notre Dame Hospital, $5,000; Laval University, $5,000; Home for Apprentices, $500; St. Vincent de Paul Society, $200; Little Sisters of the Poor, $1,000; Canadian College in Rome, $2,000; Hospital for Incurables, $6,000; Sisters of l'Esperance, $1,000; Hochelaga Convent, $1,000.

All the above-mentioned bequests are to be paid within one year from the testator's death, and after the death of Miss A. St. Charles the property now occupied by the St. Catherine street branch of the Hochelaga Bank will revert to the Notre Dame Hospital, to the Hospital for Incurables and to the Nazareth Asylum.

THE 'WITNESS' DAILY PATTERN.

The home dressmaker should keep a little catalogue scrap book of the daily pattern cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

LADIES' WAIST.

The waist pictured above is one of our newest models, and very pretty one it is. The effect over the shoulder is that of body and sleeve cut in one, but it is only a small portion of the body that is cut with the sleeve. The waist closes in the back, and the backs are perfectly plain, the sleeve section and the lower part of the front lapping on the backs, and the upper part of the front lapping on the yoke. The fullness is gathered into a peplum. The lower part of the sleeves has two tucks, and sewed to the upper one is an under-sleeve of allover tucking. The waist is made without collar, which is a very popular style. This waist may be made of silk or satin, or velveteen would make up splendidly with the yoke of all-over lace or braided with soutache; also the space between the tucks on the upper sleeve portion may be braided to match. The pattern (5159) is cut in sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure. To make the waist in medium size will require 2 3-4 yards of material 24 inches wide, 2 yards 36 inches wide, or 1 5-8 yards 44 inches wide, with 7-8 yard of allover tucking 18 inches wide.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

J. Ranson Howitt, a young Conservative lawyer of Guelph, Ont., was chosen by the Conservative convention on Saturday afternoon as standard-bearer in succession to Mr. Joseph P. Downey, ex-M.P.

Searchers for 17-year-old Elizabeth Anderson, of Goderich, who has been missing from her home since Tuesday, found her mutilated body in the cellar of a vacant house in the outskirts of this town. The girl attended the Fair here on Tuesday and was seen talking to a strange man for a short time.

Robert Reilly, a New York chauffeur, took three friends out for a ride in his employer's car early yesterday at Hastings-on-the-Hudson. The machine rolled down an embankment, crushing out Marion Morgan's life.

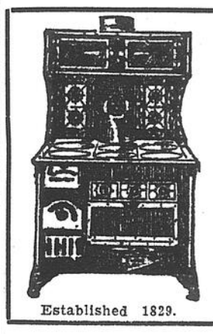

Mr. P. S. G. Mackenzie, Provincial Treasurer of Quebec, has returned to Quebec City after attending a number of country fairs throughout the province. He reports that the exhibits made by the fairs which he attended were very much above the standard of other years.

Three persons were killed and two seriously injured at Gloucester, N.J., when an electric train on the West Kersey Railway struck an automobile. The dead are: C. B. Davis, Collingwood, N.J.; C. S. Fest, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. William Mackie, Philadelphia, Pa. The seriously injured are William Mackie, husband of the dead woman, and Myrtle Fest, a sister of Mrs. Mackie. There are no safety gates at the crossing and the big buildings on both sides of the street prevented the occupants of the automobile from seeing the train.

Macking his automobile across a country road towards a private driveway, Dr. Morris D. Steph, of Columbus, O., drove the machine directly before a speeding electric car late yesterday. The machine was hurled high into the air and in a moment the dying bodies of Mrs. Steph and her two small children lay beside the unconscious form of the husband and father on the ground. Death came in a few moments to the woman and the little ones, Morris, aged eight, and infant daughter. Dr. Steph was removed to a hospital, where it was found that he had three fractured ribs and internal injuries.

Sam Hogart and W. W. Van Sickle, mining prospectors, of Sault Ste. Marie, leaving Red Sucker Cove in a flat-bottomed boat on Saturday night, intending to coast to Michipicoten River, were caught in a fifty-mile gale and blown out into the lake. The boat overturned, and for five hours they clung to their craft as it was tossed about Lake Superior. Just as the sun rose on Sunday morning they were washed by the waves upon the sands of Michipicoten Island, where they lay for more than an hour unable to move, and where they were found by inhabitants utterly exhausted. The men lost their personal property to the amount of three hundred dollars, and all of the mineral specimens secured from a three months' prospecting trip.

The visiting governors to the Western Hospital this week are Messrs. E. B. Esdaile, S. A. Finlay, T. Esplin and T. W. Evans.

Maritime Provinces Fight Against Reduction of Federal Representatives

To ensure against a further diminution of their federal representation in the House of Commons, the Hon. F. L. Haszard, Premier of Prince Edward Island; the Hon. Mr. Maclean, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, and the Hon. Mr. Hazen, Premier of New Brunswick, have been in consultation at St. John, on behalf of their respective provinces, in the endeavor to arrive at a common basis by which united action could be taken.

This was the intimation given at the Windsor Hotel by the Hon. W. H. C. Grimmer, Attorney-General of New Brunswick.

SMUGGLING IN AEROPLANES.

Paris, Sept. 26.—The first case of smuggling by aeroplane was recorded on Thursday, when Nieuport won a cross country race at the Maubeuge flying meeting, near a Belgian frontier. He landed at Grand Rend and returned with flowers and cigars, with which he had been presented by young Belgian women. The aviator distributed the cigars among the notables present, who included a French customs officer from the head office. The latter automobiled to Maubeuge later in order to satisfy himself that Nieuport's aeroplane was not prepared for contraband work.

CHOLERA IN NAPLES

Official Announcement Made of Dread Disease—Many Suspected Cases

Rome, Sept. 26.—Official announcement was made last night that one case of Asiatic cholera had been found in Naples. The Foreign Office has notified the governments adhering to the sanitary convention signed in Paris. It is also announced that the patient and all who were exposed to the disease have been isolated, and that further measures are being taken. The sanitary staff at Naples has been reinforced, and all cases of gastro-enteritis have been isolated.

The Mayor has had a lengthy interview with Signor Luzzatti, the Premier, who urged the necessity of proclaiming the truth concerning the situation. Although the fact that cholera has been prevalent for some time past in Naples was known, it had not been officially announced, and it was generally believed that the authorities were keeping the truth concerning the disease back. No mention was made of cholera, but gastro-enteritis is one of the results of that disease. The number of cases reported in the last few days has mounted into the hundreds, and yesterday's report showed 100 new cases and 80 deaths.

CAUCUS ON LIGHTING

Aldermen Discuss Big Question in Private—Decision Made Tomorrow.

To-night the aldermen meet in caucus to decide whether or not they approve of the report sent up from the Board of Control recommending that the contract for lighting the city be given to the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company. The controllers will be present to answer any questions which may be put to them. If the report is approved, as seems likely, since it proposes the lowest tendered, a special meeting of council will be held tomorrow at which the contract will be let.

The old, old question of the moneys in dispute between the company and the city is bothering some of the aldermen. For past lighting the concern is claiming ninety dollars a lamp, and the city refusing to pay the dispute is now before the courts. Some claim that if the company is given the new contract it should agree to take the figure of $72.70, mentioned in it as payment of arrears. Others hold, on the other hand, that the present offer is for the future, and should be entirely independent of the past.

'CHANGE-RINGING.'

'First Peal in Canada' Rung by Six Old Country Campanologists at St. Patrick's.

Before the Sunday morning service at St. Patrick's Church what is believed to be the first complete peal of Grandsire Doubles, heard in Canada, consisting of 120 changes, was given by the following executants:—H. Whiteman Treble (conductor), of Northampton, Eng.; A. H. Burgess, 2nd (St. Saviour's Church), Bath, Somerset, Eng.; J. F. Pearson, 3rd Brigham Yorks, Eng.; J. Merrick, 4th Feltham, Middlesex, Eng.; W. Livermore, 5th Woodbury, Devon, Eng.; D. S. Bell, tenor, Trowell, Notts, Eng. The peal was conducted by H. Whiteman, and was crowned with complete success. This is the first of a series of peals which is contemplated for the near future, and it is hoped that ere long a peal of Grandsire Triples, which is rung on eight bells, and makes a grand total of 5,040 changes will be given. This operation which is the most complex in the whole science of bell-ringing will, if successfully performed, be sent for record to the 'Bell News,' a paper which concerns itself exclusively wtih statistics of bell-ringing.

The trial at St. Patrick's was given under the kind permission of the Rev. Father McShane.

THIRTY-FIVE FEET NEEDED.

If Montreal is to Keep Its Place Among First Ports.

Discussing the necessity for further deepening of the ship channel between this port and the sea, Mr. Andrew A. Allan stated on Saturday that if Montreal was to keep its place as one of the premier ports of North America a thirty-five foot channel must be made. Now that the completion of a thirty-foot channel of the requisite width was within measurable distance it was time to think of what should be done next.

It was no longer reasonable to put a fourteen-thousand-tone vessel as the limit of size which Montreal would have to provide for, and the work of dredging a channel with a minimum depth of thirty-five feet should be undertaken at once, indeed it was doubtful, Mr. Allan thought, whether even this depth would be sufficient within a few years. The tonnage of vessels using the St. Lawrence route could not be materially increased under the existing conditions, and if vessels of twenty-two thousand tons were to be built it meant that unless radical improvements were made the chief interests of the city as a port would be diverted elsewhere.

OBITUARY.

MR. SAMUEL PEDLAR.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—Mr. Samuel Pedlar, who nearly half a century ago practically introduced to Canada the present system of personal canvass in connection with the life assurance business, died in this city early on Saturday morning, nearly 78 years of age. In 1865 he was commissioned as manager for the British North America of the Etna Life Assurance Co., of Hartford. He was joined by his two brothers-in-law—John Garvin and W. H. Orr—and together, at Montreal and Toronto, they opened up a new era in that business in Canada. The late Mr. Pedlar was married ten years ago to Miss Emma J. Arnold, daughter of the late Col. Arnold, of Toronto. His widow, his two sisters—Mrs. Orr and Mrs. Dingle, of Toronto—and his youngest brother, Geo. H. Pedlar, of Oshawa, survive him.

MADAME PASTEUR.

Paris, Sept. 26.—Madame Pasteur, widow of Louis Pasteur, the celebrated chemist and microscopist, died yesterday, at the age of 84 years.

MR. C. A. JONES.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—Mr. C. A. Jones, barrister, aged 71 years, passed away yesterday morning after a few months' illness. During his long residence here he had occupied many public positions of trust. He was a member of St. George's Church, being a member of the advisary board, and at one time held the office of warden and superintendent of the Sunday school. He was town solicitor, a member of the Y.M.C.A. board, public library, and hospital, at the time of his death. He was also a prominent Mason. He leaves a widow and six sons and three daughters. The funeral will take place on Tuesday, interment at Toronto.

AVIATOR KILLED PUPIL INJURED

Edmond Polliot's Machine Dropped 60 Feet Like a Stone.

THE TWENTIETH VICTIM.

Aviator Was Also Known as a Journalist, Amateur Boxer, and Motor Racer.

Paris, Sept. 26.—After making five successful flights with pupils at the aviation school at Chatres, this morning, Edmund Polliot was landing on his sixth flight from a height of 150 feet, when his aeroplane fell like a stone from a height of 60 feet. Apparently, it had been struck by a sudden wind eddy. Polliot's backbone was broken and he died in twenty minutes without regaining consciousness. The pupil who was with him was only slightly injured. The apparatus was a savary two propeller biplane used for tuition. Polliot is the nineteenth victim of aviation. He was 26 years old, an amateur boxer, a newspaper reporter, an automobile driver and then a professional flying teacher.

CHAVEZ PROGRESSING.

Domodossola, Italy, Sept. 24.—Although suffering from a slight fever, the general condition of George Chavez, the Peruvian aviator, who was injured yesterday after a flight across the Alps, is good. He received visitors to-day, and appeared in gay spirits for a man who has so recently come through a thrilling experience.

The popular penny subscriptions is pouring in, and it will go to erect a shaft of Simplon granite at the spot where Chavez made his descent. One wing of the monoplane will be placed in the museum at Domodossola and the other in the museum at Milan.

RAISING A PURSE.

Milan, Italy, Sept. 24.—A committee of the Italain Aviation Society, of Milan, is raising a purse of $10,000 to be presented to George Chavez, whose accident at Domodossola yesterday prevented him from winning the prize for a flight from Brig, Switzerland, to Milan.

PARIS-BRUSSELS RACE.

Paris, Sept. 26.—Mahiuaf, the biplanist who started yesterday with a passenger on a flight to Brussels, for the Auto Club's prize of $30,000, and the prize of $5,000 offered by the municipality of Paris, resumed his journey at 6.45 o'clock this morning. He was forced yesterday to descend in the Bois de Boulogne because of the trouble with his engine.

Loridan, who also ascended yesterday in an effort to reach Brussels, met with misfortune. He got as far as St. Quentin, then his gasoline gave out, and he was forced to descend.

HALF THE PRIZE.

Milan, Sept. 26.—The aviation committee which had the supervision over the aerial flight across the Alps, has awarded ten thousand dollars, half the amount of the prize, to George Chavez, the Peruvian aviator, who was injured after covering the most dangerous part of the journey. The condition of Chavez is reported very favorable by the attending physicians.

CHINESE ARE HELD

Thirty-Eight Immigrants Alleged to Possess Fraudulent Passports

Vancouver, Sept. 26.—The difficulties in connection with regulating Chinese immigration into Canada via Vancouver, as evidenced by the holding of 38 immigrants, who came on the 'Empress of China' last Saturday, on the charge that they were using fraudulent passports, are not beyond solution if a suggestion made is put into practice. It has been proposed that by the introduction of the finger print system the problem of identifying immigrants and the persons for whom the passports were originally issued in China will be made easy.

Whether or not the dapartment has any intention of adopting this principle is not stated, but Mr. Edward Foster, the Dominion police official who is in the city working on the case, is himself a finger print expert, and this gives some force to the report that he is developing a plan to make the work of the department easier in the future. At present, when suspicion of fraud arises it is practically impossible to get at the facts of the case, as witnesses would have to be brought from China at great expense.

The Chinese immigrants who arrived on the 'Empress of China' last Saturday, and who carried passports entitling them to free entry, are still under detention.

The only reason I can ascribe for my suspension as controller of Chinese immigration is that I misunderstood the instructions of the department at Ottawa. It is owing to this misunderstanding that I reinstated Vipon, the customs Chinese interpreter' said Mr. John M. Bowel, collector of customs.

PRESENTATION AT VERDUN.

Retiring Superintendent of Presbyterian Sunday-school Honored by Scholars.

A pleasant interlude in a pleasant service took place in Verdun Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon, at the open meeting of the Sunday school, when Mr. Robert S. Lee, who has been superintendent for many years, but has retired owing to going to live in Notre Dame de Grace, was presented with a clock by his scholars, teachers, officers, and friends. The presentation was made by Mr. S. R. Jennings, chairman of the board of managers. Great regret is felt at Mr Lee's departure.

SIX KILLED IN WRECK

Disobedience of Orders Causes Serious Electric Car Collision.

Tipton, Ind., Sept. 26.—Disobedience to orders by the crew of a freight train is said to have been the cause on Saturday of the second inter-urban traction wreck within three days in Indiana. This disaster cost the lives of six persons, the serious injury of six more and severe hurts to a score.

A southbound freight car crashed head-on into a northbound passenger car on the Indianapolis and Peru division of the Indiana Union Tracton Company shortly after noon, two miles north of this city. The dead are: Dr. W. C. Holthouser and Walter H. Holthouser, Brooklyn; Verden Railsback, Hymenia, Ind.; Joseph Baker, motorman, on limited car, Logansport, Ind.; Louis Broo, Kokomo, Ind.; B. F. Welsh, Marshall, Mich.

The freight car, it is said, had orders to stop at the first switch north of Ressler's Crossing, but tried to make the first switch south. A clump of trees had the limited, and the crew of the freight barely had time to jump to save their lives. The front end of the limited was shattered and all passengers in the smoking compartment were killed.

Dr. W. C. Holthouse, of Brooklyn, N.Y., who, with his brother, Walter H. Holthouse was killed in the wreck, was on his way to Kokomo, Indiana, where he was to have been married on Saturday night, and his brother was to have been best man at the wedding. The bride was to have been Miss Nellie C. Coxon, daughter of the secretary of the Great Western Pottery Company, of Kokomo.

ACCEPTS NO DENIAL

The 'Devoir' Again Attacks Bishop Fallon

'Le Devoir' of Saturday says:—'We would accept with great joy the declaration of Mgs. Fallon, if such denial coincided perfectly with the words which the Monsignor pronounced at the last ecclesiastical retreat which he preached to his priests. At that time his Lordship pronounced strongly against bilingual teaching, saying that such teaching had failed in the province of Quebec. We also wish to make it plain that his Lordship, in declaring himself against bilingual teaching in his diocese, pronounced himself at least indirectly or verbally against the teaching of French. There is more. Did not Mgr. Fallon forbid the sisters of St. Joseph, in his own diocese, to teach a single word of French in the Walkerville and Belle Riviere schools? As a matter of fact, we have the documents under our hand to affirm what we have just said. If, therefore, Mgr. Fallon wants us to believe his public utterances, let his acts be in accord with the declaration, which we accept with pleasure. We believe him, however, to be too loyal not to put into practice in future the good resolutions he has just taken. In the light of reason and of faith, he no doubt understands that the mission of the Church is not to tear away from the faithful that which they hold so dear, viz., their language and their nationality. Rome, we hope, will hear our earnest supplication, and it is from Rome that we look for justice and peace. Rome alone can re-assure us and put us beyond the blows of Mgr. Fallon who, by the way, certainly said during a conversation that in an English province like Ontario there was but one tongue, and that tongue was English.'

Mr. Bourassa himself holds the pen in and article entitled, 'The Nomination of Mgr. Gauthier.'

'We cannot do otherwise than repeat our words of warning to the French-Canadians of Essex some days ago. Let our compatriots of Ottawa not forget for a single instant the rules of moderation and of respect. They may believe that Rome is ill-advised, and that under the circumstances the nomination of Archbishop Gauthier is ill-advised. The question of moral or dogma has nothing to do with this, and they cannot but give to the Holy See all the veneration and love which the Catholics owe to the supreme pastor of the Church. They should also receive the new Archbishop with all exterior marks of respect, and not allow one bitter thought to penetrate their souls as regards His Grace. We may be assured, in fact, that the venerable Archbishop did not seek the false position which fell to his lot. We may regret that in the interests of the peace of souls that he did not decline the weight of that responsibility which falls to his lot. For I am not in error in writing that His Grace would have preferred not to assume the difficult task. In fact, very powerful motives must have determined his acceptance. In any case, the Roman Catholics of Ottawa should not lose sight of the importance of that order and discipline which constitute the force of the Church of Rome. Apart from this, however, I do not consider it out of place to say that the nomination of Archbishop Gauthier will render the task still more difficult to maintain the equilibrium between the two important groups of Roman Catholics, and prevent the development of the germs of discord. I repeat, however, what I have already written: I have the most profound respect for the character, the ideas, and the person of Mgr. Gauthier.

'It is, however, an undeniable fact that many Catholics will see in his nomination a new proof of the work that is being carried on, in good faith, I hope, by those who believe in the possibility of furthering the interests of the Catholic faith by setting aside more and more the influence of the French-Canadian clergy in the government of the Canadian church. In any case, we have reason to believe in this work, it is not by making a noise and creating a scandal that we will put an end to this work of Anglification. We must enlighten Rome on the true situation of the Church, and Rome will be enlightened by representations based on right, justice, and reason, and by worthy and constant action.'

SEND PROTESTS TO QUEEN.

Women in England Complain of Motor Cars.

London, Sept. 26.—The Queen has consented to receive a petition from the 'Cottage of England' on the subject of hardships imposed on them by automobilists. The petitioners number 10,000 and they are all women living on the most frequented roads. They claim that their lives are made miserable by automobiles rushing past, endangering the lives of their children and ruining their households by dust. The Queen expresses the greatest sympathy with their complaints.

ISSUED FALSE REPORTS.

Albany, N.Y., September 26.—A crusade against false reports on bovine tuberculin tests is being made by the State Agricultural Department. As a result of an action brought against a veterinarian in Putnam county, who had issued certificates representing that cows had successfully passed a test when no test had been made, a fine of $200 and costs was imposed, and the offender was disbarred from further practice in this state. Similar cases are pending.

THE DOCTOR,' (by Sir Luke Fildes).

One of the great modern masterpieces that has captured all hearts. It has often been called 'the most human picture ever painted.' It tells its own story of childish helplessness, parental grief and professional solicitude. This picture was purchased by public subscription and is now in the Tate Gallery, London, the property of the British people.

To get this picture, worth in any art store $2.50, cut picture coupons from the 'Daily Witness.'

III.—'THE LAST CHANGE,' (by Heywood Hardy).

A realistic picture of the good old coaching days in England, when travel was more picturesque, if more leisurely than it is now. There is something about a coaching trip that makes the blood stir and secures the sport as a pastime when no longer practical as a serious mode of travel. Mr. Hardy has, with a master hand, caught the spirit of action and adventure as well as the charm of rural life of bygone days, and has given it all to us as a permanent possession.

To get this picture, worth in any art store $2.50, cut picture coupons from the 'Daily Witness.'

Either of the splendid pictures roughly illustrated on this page may be obtained at the 'Witness' Office for coupons cut from the 'Witness' on six consecutive days, and the nominal sum of Ten Cents to cover cost of handling. If sent by mail add five cents for each picture to cover postage and tubing.

THE SCARLET LETTER.

The American people owe a constantly growing debt of gratitude to Mr. W. R. Hearst for the publication of interesting and important private correspondence. First came the Archbold letters, which were illuminating. Then came the Murphy letters, which were enlightening. And now comes the Gaynor letter, which is revelational. Without Mr. Hearst [illegible] would never have been written, less published. Yet it is one of the bitterest ironies of journalism that this very human document, which he so directly and so knowingly contributed, should [illegible] precisely the one to appear against him in another newspaper of his own.—New York 'World.'

SUMMARY OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

This stirring story of invention and adventure opens in the solitude of the Arctic Circle, and Philip Cayley, a young American army officer, is at first the only human being on the scene. The disgrace following a false charge brought against him by his greatest friend, Perry Hunter, has driven him into solitude in disgust at humanity. During his four years of life alone in the north he has mastered the secret of flying, and it is while aloft that he watches his first signt of human beings once more, and at the same time witnesses a deliberate murder. The murderer and his companions disappear. Cayley waiting until midnight descends cautiously on the hitherto unknown spot where he had discovered the men, first visiting first the ship, which is anchored to an ice floe, startles a young girl who is alone there. After they have convinced each other that they are not dreaming she tells Cayley that her name is Jeanne Fielding, and that she is at present waiting for word of her father lost years ago whose records or remains are being sought by a party from the yacht. Cayley, in turn, explains his presence, and after promising to make a search on his own account, flies away, having told her nothing of the murder he had witnessed. He leaves behind him by accident, however, the instrument he had picked up on the scene of the murder. The murderer himself, a giant named Roscoe, was one of the survivors of the 'Walrus' wrecked four years ago. The crew of eleven had been welcomed to this shore by Captain Fielding and two other survivors of the previous wreck, but for the sake of a deposit of gold known of by them, Roscoe had one day murdered all three and assumed undisputed command of the 'Walrus' men. On the approach of the yacht he had forced them to desert their huts and go into hiding. To Planck alone, the former captain of the whaler, he explains his purpose in trap the search party now on land in Fog Lake, and after so drawing away from the yacht the inevitable relief party, take the vessel and steam away with the gold they had collected. Meanwhile on board the yacht, Jeanne and her guardian, Mr. Fanshaw, are becoming anxious when Mr. Fanshaw's son Tom is brought back by two of the party with a sprained ankle. Jeanne tells about the visit of her 'sky-man,' and on hearing his name, Tom tells her the story of Cayley's disgrace. Another member of the search party brings news of the murder witnessed by Cayley, of Perry Hunter, who had been one of the party. It is just discovered that the arrow with which Hunter was killed fits the instrument Cayley had left behind when he returns. He is angrily accused of the murder of the man who, he discovers to his horror, was his old chum. Jeanne's assertion of Cayley's innocence angers Tom Fanshaw, and after Cayley has flown away, determined to return to solitude, and the relief party have left the yacht, Jeanne attempts to 'make it up' with Tom, only to have him passionately declare his love. In her distress at this she leaves him and rows ashore, not knowing, on account of fog, that in her absence, the yacht has been attacked by Roscoe and his party.

She scrambled out of the boat and pulled it high up on the beach. The fog made the air seem cold, though for the arctic it was a mild night. Two of the abandoned buildings on the beach behind her were mere sheds, windowless, absolutely bare, never having served, evidently, any other purpose than that of storage. But the third, and largest, as she remembered it, offered a shelter that was becoming attractive. There were some rude bunks in it where she could rest comfortably enough; and, unless she was mistaken, Scales had left in the hut a half-burned candle which they had used in exploring its dark interior. She had a box of wax vestas in her pocket. She could go in there and make herself at home, and at the same time keep an alert ear for a hail from the yacht.

She found the candle in the place where she remembered Scales had laid it down, struck a light and wedged the candle into a knot-hole. She turned toward one of the bunks with the idea of stretching out there, and by relaxing her muscles, persuade, perhaps, her oberstrung nerves to relax, too.

She had taken a step toward it, indeed, before she saw, through the murk and candle smoke, the thing that lay right before her eyes,—a rather large, brass-bound rosewood box or chest. It had not been here in the afternoon when they had entered the place, for they had searched its bare interior thoroughly in the hope that there might be something which previous investigators had overlooked. This box, six inches high and a foot long, or more, could not have been here then. It was standing now in the most conspicuous place in the room,—in the very middle of the bunk.

The sight of it might well have caused astonishment or alarm in the girl's mind. But it was neither alarm nor astonishment that her next act expressed. She dropped down on her knees beside the rude wooden bunk, drew the chest up close in the tight embrace of her young arms, laid her cheek against the cold polished surface of its blackened wood, and cried.

Every question that might have asked itself—how the thing could have come there, and what its coming might portend to herself or to the other of the 'Aurora's' people — was swept away in a sudden rush of filial affection and regret which the sight of it instantly awoke. It had reached her with that sudden poignant stab of memory which inanimate objects, familiar by long association, seem to be more potent to call up than the very persons of the friends with whom they are associated. The sight of her father himself could hardly have had so instantaneous and overwhelming an affect upon her as the sight of this old chest, which was one of the earliest of her associations with him.

It had always stood, until he had taken it with him on that last voyage of his, upon a certain farther corner of his desk in the old library. It was one of those objects of a class that children always love—smooth, polished, beautiful; beautiful and, at the same time, defying curiosity.

It was quite a masterpiece of cabinet work. No hinges were visible, and the cover fitted so closely upon the box itself that the line which separated them was hard to discover. And there was no trace of keyhole or lock. To those uninitiated into its secret, it defied every attempt to open it.

Somewhere in her mind now, in a comparatively quiet eddy, sheltered from the torrent of memory that was sweeping through it, was a half-amused recollection of what had been, for a long time, her chief ground of superiority over Tom Fanshaw. Her father had taught her the secret of the box. If Tom would turn his back and shut his eyes, she could open it for him in a moment. But the boy, with all his ingenuity, never was able to solve the secret for himself. He had spent whole days over it—long, precious holidays—but always in vain.

She remembered, too, the day when her father had shown her the mystery, had done it by way of consolation for some terrible childish disappointment she had sustained. He had opened it for her, and then had sat watching her efforts to repeat the operation; correcting her mistakes, pointing with a long, bronze letter-opener, but never touching the box itself nor her own clumsy fingers.

He never had exacted a promise from her that she should guard this mystery; had never even instructed her that she was not to tell. But she remembered, and at the memory she kissed the unresponsive surface of the cover with her cold lips—remembered just the half-grave, half-amused tone in which he had said, 'There is a secret, Jeanne, that we have from all the world—you and I.'

Presently she seated herself on the bunk, took the little chest on her knees and set about opening it. Between the cold and her excitement she found this rather a difficult thing to do, though her mind never, never hesitated over the slightest detail of the necessary formula of procedure. She knew in just what order you pressed in those innocent-looking little ornamental tacks in the brass binding; remembered the right moment to turn the box up on its end to let the just released steel ball roll down its channel to the pocket, where it must lie before the last pressure upon the last spring would prove effective. She no more faltered over it than she would have faltered over her alphabet.

And at last, when her numbed fingers had completed their task, the counter-weighted lid rose slowly by itself, just as it had used to, and revealed to her swimming eyes the content of the interior.

Up to that moment she had not realized what the finding of the despatch box meant. It had not occurred to her that a full account of her father's expedition, a narrative which would reach, perhaps, to the morning of the last day of all, was lying here, right under her eyes.

But now when the cover opened and she saw beneath it a thick volume, bound in red borocco, she realized that here, under her hand, was the very object, in search of which the 'Aurora' had set out upon her perilous voyage.

With the first realization of what the contents of that book must be, a tragedy, and the central figure of it her own father, the man she had loved best in all the world, she found it almost impossible to open the book. She took it out of the despatch box and for a little while sat, dry-eyed, hugging the precious, poignant thing up tight against her breast.

But at last she put the despatch box to one side, brought the candle nearer, so that its light would serve to read by, and began turning the pages of the book.

The first sight of her father's clear, erect, precise handwriting warmed her with a sudden courage. He had not set out upon his voyage of discovery without weighing and expecting the possibilities of failure and death. Well, he had died, but he had not failed. He had added a new coast line to the map of the world. And she knew—knew as clearly as if his own spirit had stood there beside her talking to her in his old, dearly remembered voice, that next to coming home alive, bringing the fruits of his discovery with him, his last wish in the world must have been that that should happen which had happened now,—that she, his daughter, should hold that very book in her hands and read the story, and know that he had not died in vain.

But even this new inspiration of courage did not make her strong enough to turn back and read the last entry in that tragic journal first. She tried to do it, but the will failed her. So she began at the beginning. Once she had plunged into the fascinating narrative, the whole of the outside world faded away for her. She was oblivious to the fact that the darkness outside was no longer the mere darkness of the fog; oblivious to the rising wind that poured its icy stream through the leaky walls of the hut and made the candle flicker; oblivious, even, to the very sound which she had meant to wait for—the sound of Tom's voice calling out to her from the yacht, and the sound of other, more alarming, nearer voices.

"BED-TIME STORIES"

QUEER BIRDS.

(By John Clair Minot).

The camping-place selected by Uncle Henry and Roger was in a thick cluster of tall spruces, close by the shore of the lake, and when a fire had been started and the supper was all ready, Roger felt that things were about as fine as they could possibly be.

It had taken a lot of teasing before his aunt had consented that he should make the trip. He had come from his city home in a distant state to spend the summer with Uncle Henry in eastern Maine, and one happy experience had followed another, until now he was really camping out in the big woods. All day he and Uncle Henry had been travelling in a canoe, he sitting very still among the blankets and the food supplies, while Uncle Henry, in the stern, had plied the paddle.

For hours and hours they had gone up the beautiful river which flowed by Uncle Henry's home. Then leaving this, after a lunch on the shore at noon, they had gone up a smaller branch stream most of the afternoon, until they reaced the lake, a big sheet of water, with hills and great forests round it. Here Uncle Henry was to look over some timber land the next day—for this, and not the camping out, was the real object of the trip. It was all very wonderful to Roger, and when supper had been eaten they sat beside the camp-fire while Uncle Henry told many stories of the woods. How still it was when the sun had gone down and the last bird had ceased its call in the tree-tops!

They had cut a lot of spruce boughs before dark, and with these for a bed and cushions from the canoe for pillows, they were just setting down to sleep between the blankets!, when there came a long, mournful cry which made Roger's heart jump into his throat. It was unlike anything he had ever heard before, and strangely enough, it seemed to come from the lake instead of from the woods behind them.

'Is it a wildcat?' he managed to ask, and he was sure Uncle Henry heard his teeth to chatter.

'Only a loon,' came the answer, with a laugh, 'a crazy loon out on the lake!. Perhaps we'll see him to-morrow. Now go to sleep.'

But before Roger went to cleep the cry was repeated several times—a wild scream which seemed like a human voice ,and which was echoed and re-echoed from shore to shore and through the woods. At last he heard it no more, and !was sleeping so soundly that all the loons in the state would hardl have disturbed him.

Bright and early in the morning Uncle Henry awakened him, and after a wash in the lake, how good the breakfast tasted! They were soon off in the canoe, and for hours paddled along the shore, where Uncle Henry frequently landed to examine the timber. It was not until late in the after noon that Roger's eager watch was rewarded by the sight of a! loon. And not only one loon, but several, were pointed out in the distance by his uncle. They seemed little more than black spots on the water, instead of great birds, for their bodies were under the surface, and only their heads and necks in sight.

'Loons are funny birds,' said Uncle Henry. They are as large as geese, and are almost as clumsy !on the land, but they are quick as a flash in the water. Old hunters say they can dodge a bullet. Anyway, it is almost impossible to shoot one. They sleep on the water with their heads tucked under their wings. Both their cry and their actions have made the saying, 'Crazy as a loon,' a very common one.'

As he talked, he paddled up the lake towards the loons, which did not appear to mind the approaching canoe. The birds, four of them, were now close together, and began a most crazy performance, apparently not in fear, but for reasons known only to themselves. They raised their dark bodies half out of the water, and flapping their wings, made a terrific splashing. Back and forth they went in a small space, half-flying and half-swimming, and keeping up a furious screaming all the while.

This continued several !minutes, when they gradually stopped, and with only their heads in sight, calmly watched the canoe, as much as to say 'How do you like our little entertainment?'

Then, quick as a wink, they all disappeared. Roger watched the spot to see them come up to the surface again.

'You won't see them there,' said Uncle Henry. 'Loons are g eat divers, and go very fast under water, using both feet and wing. !Look!'

Uncle Henry pointed back on the other side of the canoe, in the direction from which they had come, and there was one loon just appearing. Another came to the surface quite near to the canoe, only to dive again and come up far off toward the shore. For a long time they watched, but at last the loons gradually went up the lake and out of sight beyond a point.

The next day the happy campers returned home. And of teh many things of that trip which Roger long remembered and often told about, nothing was of more interest to his young friends in the city than the story of the crazy birds of the lake.—Youth's Companion.

WHAT SAITH THE SCRIPTURE?

September 26.

A God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he.

Him that judgeth righteously.—We must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ;| that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad.—Every one of us shall give account of himself to God.—The soul that sinneth it shall die.

Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, and against the man that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hosts: smite the shepherd.—The Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.—Mercy and truth are met together: righteousness and peace have kissed each other.—Mercy rejoiceth against judgment.

The wages of sin is death:| but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

A just God and a Saviour; there is none beside me. Just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus.—Justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus.

Safe Crackers Are Working Near Regina.

Regina, September 26.—The blowing up of a safe in the post office store at Balgonie at an early hour yesterday morning and the theft of $600 cash indicates that the band of yeggmen who have been a source of worry to citizens and police in Western Canada for some two months are drawing nearer to Regina. The men have worked backward and forward on the main line of the C. P. R. for some weeks, but for a short time were quiet. This escapade marks them as men who know their 'business.'

FRIGHTENED BY FIRE.

Residents Awakened, Had to Rush Into the Street.

Damage amounting to $1,500 was done in an early morning fire at the corner of Gilford and Chambord streets yesterday, at the coal and wood yard occupied by G. Collette. When the firemen, under District Chief Hooper, arrived on the scene the whole yard was a mass of flames, while fear was expressed that the adjoining buildings would also succumb. Hastily awakened by the firemen, the inhabitants were taken out into the street, some of the young children being carried down in the arms of the firemen. Some delay was experienced in turning on the water, and by the time the first stream was directed on the buildings the woodwork of the houses was well alight.

EARLY MORNING SCENES AT A MONTREAL FRUIT MARKET

A hundred men rose to their feet, and with hoarse cries in several languages, menaced another who stood on a dais above them. They shrieked at the man, they scowled at him, and it looked a dark day for this single frail, human against the awful tide of wrath. But he was unafraid, and yelled back, and waved a little book, and appeared to hurl defiance at the multitude.

It is a long shed, wooden pillared and beamed, wherein sweet fruits from all the world lay piled. Their scent brings pictures of warm, sunny islands of the southern seas, where the mango and the balm wave in the tropic breeze. Huge oranges take one beyond the Sierras, where the huge quaint monasteries of a past lay. For a moment the mind dwells on these peaceful scenes, and then, J. J. Callahan is on his chair again, the mob surrounds him and imaginings are lost amid the din of modern commercial strife.

There are long lines of green and ripening bananas from Jamaica, about 4,500 bunches in all, piled 10 bunches i na pyramidial heap. The bidding is brisk. Russians, Germans, Syrians, Italians, Canadians and English all wave their price-cards and shout. And J. J. Callahan seems to know them all by name and the language of each. The bananas soon go, from the puny bunches to the 'Jumbos,' for which the fight is fiercest. Then to the figs. 'I'll soon figs you fellows up here,' says the happy auctioneer, and then apologizes for the pun when the roar subsides. A box is opened and samples are handed out. The crowd of men fight for the fruit like children for souvenirs at a country fair. The figs go almost before they are offered, and pears are called.

Callahan is on a barrel, and with him are a bunch of excited dealers. Those on the barrel push and struggle, and a Russian Jew, tall and lean, is finally thrown off into the arms of a couple of Syrians and an Italian below. He climbs back, muttering 'low-life' and 'loafer,' and promptly takes the last two barrels from the men who had caused his fall.

There was a joyous spirit of camaraderie which seemed to imbue the competition and rob it of all the lower and meaner elements which might easily have entered into the deals. And J. J. Callahan, with his happy smiles and his jokes, which turn many a quarrel into a joke, has much to do with it. Cheerfully he goes on, urging up the price, selling when it has reached the limit, with a bright word for everyone, and a little encouragement for the timid.

For an hour the scene continued, with paper and dust flying about, and the din audible to the surrounding district, and at the end of that time Callahan laid down his book, wiped a moist brow, and the crowd dispersed. He had sold several thousand dollars worth of California fruit in that hour to those howling men who waved papers, and shook their fists, and were very excited. And he does the same thing twice a week in the hall of the Montreal Fruit Auction Company at the foot of Mountain street, where the railway tracks cross.

By such methods as these are sold the California fruits which appear in the ice cream stores and grocers' windows throughout Montreal. Greek, Italian, Jewish and Canadian venders get their supplies from the same source, and it would appear that they get them by tooth and nail.

Six cars of fruit from California arrived this morning. There were Tokays grapes, which sold from $1.85 to $2.50. Prune plums went at $1.20. Peaches started at the same figures and went as high as $2. Pears, which are scarce, were $4 a case. Small bananas cost the buyers $1.25 a bunch, and the larger ones went as high as $1.75.

At to-day's sale it appeared impossible for a man with one pair of eyes and one brain to follow the bids given by Montreal fruit dealers. Yet as fast as they were rapped out he had them memorized. Sometimes the mere shaking of a catalogue or the nodding of a head was significant of a bid.

HUNT CLUB OPEN

Breakfast and First Run of the Season on Saturday

Although fewer members were present than had been expected the opening meet of the Montreal Hunt, on Saturday, was quite a success. Breakfast was served at the clubhouse on St. Catherine Road, Cote des Neiges, Mrs. A. D. MacTier assisting Mr. A. E. Ogilvie to receive the guests. The subscribers this year, most of whom were present, are:—Sir Edward Clouston, Sir Montagu Allan, Lt.-Col. Jeffrey Burland, Major G. R. Hooper, Dr. Charles McEachran, Major J. J. Riley, Mr. Justice Davidson, Messrs. R. A. Allan, Archie Allan, F. N. Beardmore, R. A. Brock, A. Baumgarten, James Alexander, Wilthorp Brainerd, Colin Campbell, George S. Cantlie, Thomas Cushing, Peers Davidson, Thornton Davidson, T. A. Ekers, F. C. Fairbanks, G. W. Farrel, A. Hamilton Gault, G. E. Gault, J. R. Hutchins, J. W. A. Hickson, C. R. Hosmer, J. S. G. Ogden, H. G. Oswald, J. J. M. Pangman, A. Haig Sims, G. R. H. Sims, A. Reford, Farquhar Robertson, L. McI. Spackman, Kenneth Turnbull and J. C. Watson.

Many ladies were present. Mrs. Thornton Davidson, Mrs. E. G. M. Cape, Mrs. Peers Davidson, Mrs. Hamilton Gault, Mrs. G. R. Hooper, Mrs. Fairbanks, Mrs. J. R. Hutchins, Mrs. Ross Sims, Mrs. James Alexander, Miss Donner, of Hamburg, Miss R. Turnbull, Miss Chevalier, Mrs. Arthur Boyer, Mrs. C. P. Davidson, Mrs. James Bell, Mrs. A. Haig Sims, Mrs. Brimacomb, Mrs. James Thom, Miss Madge Law, Mrs. J. J. Riley, Miss May Riley.

The scene in the dining-room was one of brilliance and color, the scarlet coats of the huntsmen forming a definite contrast to the blues, greens and mauves, which were the dominant shades of the ladies' costumes.

Immediately after breakfast a move was made to the club steps and verandah to watch the arrival of hounds and the departure of the huntsmen. Those mounted included the Master, Mr. A. E. Ogilvie, Dr. C. McEachran, Mr. Bartlett McLennan, Mr. Percy Mathias, Mr. G. R. H. Sims, Sir Montagu Allan, Major Hooper, Mr. P. Beardmore, Mr. Alan Law, Mr. Hamilton Gault, Mr. W. R. Miller, Mr. E. A. Parnard and Mr. L. McI. Spackman. The ladies following the hounds were Miss M. Allan, Mrs. McEachran, Miss Ilse Baumgarten, Mrs. Hamilton Gault and Miss Sheila McEachran.

Several coverts were drawn on the way to Blue Bonnets, but it was not until the woods to the west of the race track were reached that the hounds gave tongue. A fine fox was seen scurrying along in the distance, and the members of the hunt settled down to a good chase which lasted over fifteen minutes steady-going, when Reynard went to earth just beyond Dorval station.

The party then returned well satisfied with the morning's run. Many of them lunched at the club-house and afterwards rode across to Back River in order to see the polo match.

During breakfast unstinted praise was heard on all sides for the arrangements of Mr. Trudove, the new steward. A ball at the club-house had kept all the servants busy until after 2 a.m., yet the arrival of the first members for the breakfast found everything transformed and in perfect order, the floral arrangements alone showing that many hours' work had been done by the energetic servants of the club.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS.

The McGill University tennis enthusiasts are beginning to get into shape for the Intercollegiate tennis meet, which takes place in Kingston some time during the latter part of October. Last year the meet was held at the Royal Military College courts. At the close of the last day Queen's invited all the universities to compete on their courts in October, 1910, and the offer was accepted.

McGill were last year very nearly equal to the champions in points, so should do well this year. A. G. Williams is the only man of the old team who has graduated. G. S. Ramsay, Bert Sargent, Court Woodyatt, Peace and Strang will all be on deck, while there will doubtless be several new men who can handle a racquet. McAvity, of Royal Military College, who was individual champion of the Royal Military College last year, was expected at McGill. Whether or not be arrives is as yet a question.

The college tournament has also to be held. This will commence soon after the opening of the session, and the team will be picked from the men at the top of the list.

HELIGOLAND.

Heligoland has undergone a wonderful transformation since Great Britain handed it over to Germany, twenty years ago. Vast sums have been spent in protecting it from the destructive assaults of the sea. Massive ramparts of granite, constructed at a cost of five million dollars, confront the waves on the south-west. Three other great seawalls have been built, and in time, practically the whole island will be encased in granite. In places where the porous red rock has been eaten away by the sea, the corrosion has been arrested by the wholesale use of cement. The waves have been robbed of their prey, and Heligoland, instead of disappearing altogether, as once seemed probable, has become a fortress which is comparable with Gibraltar. It is armed with the most powerful guns, contains huge stores of munitions of war, and is provisioned against a long siege. Its garrison is complete, and, should an enemy succeed in silencing its batteries, the difficulty of scaling the rock would be almost insuperable. Deep water gives good anchorage to battleships, and there is to be a new harbor for torpedo-boats and small craft, for which the sum of $7,500,000 has been voted.

McGILL MUST PAY

Higher Salaries Needed Says Principal Peterson

Principal Peterson, of McGill University, returned from Europe on Saturday on the 'Laurentic.' Speaking of the increases in salary which have just been accorded to the professors at Yale University, Dr. Peterson considered that McGill would soon have to follow suit if she was to continue to get the best material. 'We must have the very best,' he said, 'and in order to get such men to come to our university, we must make it worth their while. By no other means can we continue to keep McGill in the forefront of the universities of the world as it has been in the past, and it is time that Montreal appreciated this fact. The activity among the universities in England at the present time is little short of marvellous, and this activity we must keep pace with, if we would continue to hold our present high position.'

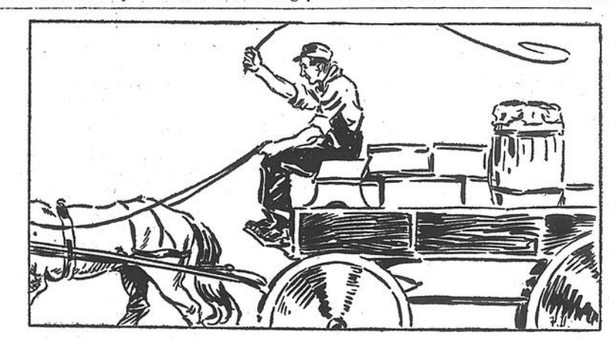

FALL PROVED FATAL.

Mrs. H. B. Brown, [illegible] of Sherbrooke, Dies of Injuries.

Sherbrooke, September 26.—Mrs. H. B. Brown, wife of the late H. B. Brown, K.C., fofr many years a prominent lawyer of this city, died at her home in this city at five o'clock this morning. Mrs. Brown accidentally fell down a flight of stairs yesterday morning and sustained fatal injuries.

STORM ON THE LAKE.

Toronto, September 26.—Both passenger and freight traffic were hampered on Saturday by the biggest sea and most severe storm that has been known on Lake Ontario for many years. Steamers were hours behind their regular time, and at Hamilton harbor the freight steamer 'Kenora' fought the storm for three hours to enter, and was then forced to leave for Windsor without being successful.

The Offer of the Season.

QUEENSDALE PARK

Last week we had a tremendous rush in the sale of our KINGSDALE property. This sale exceeded our most sanguine expectations, 850 lots were sold, in fact, the whole property, and we had to disappoint many prospective purchasers.

Why was our sale of Kingsdale lots such a gigantic success?

Because the values were there, because lots on adjoining properties are being sold at five times the price we asked, because anyone can, in an hour, examine the property, and because anyone familiar with the onward march of Montreal's West End cannot fail to see the tremendous bargain we are offering.

ANOTHER SPLENDID OFFER!

We have been fortunate in securing an adjoining property which we have named QUEENSDALE situated on beautiful "Cote St. Luc Road.'

You will now have the opportunity to lay the foundation for a 'Queenly Home' by purchasing lots in this desirable estate.

ENGLISH POLO TEAM WON

Canada's Representatives Opened Well But Lost by 14 Goals to 2.

VICE-REGAL PARTY THERE.

Earl Grey Presented Cup Given by Back River Club—Many Society Leaders There.

The most interested and appreciative group of spectators at the Ranelagh Canada polo match on Saturday at Back River was the vice-regal party, consisting of Earl and Countess Grey, Lady Evelyn Grey, Lord Lainborough, Lord Lascelles and Captain Newton. For the greater part of the game they were leaning on the railing, watching every move of the clever horsemen, and applauding every point of the game.

At the opening the Canadians showed themselves more aggressive than in the previous day's match, and time and again Mr. Sexsmith and Mr. Macdougall came within an ace of scoring, but Mr. F. A. Gill, the English back, would manage to frustrate them even when the ball was apparently right between the posts. Fortune smiled upon them, however, just before the finish of the first period, and after a splendid run up the field with every other man after him as hard as the ponies could carry them, Mr. Sexsmith scored, which made both teams even, Lord Rocksavage having gained the first goal in the match.

In the next period both Mr. F. Grenfell and Lord Rocksavage scored for the visitors, and it was not until the third period that Mr. Sexsmith scored Canada's second and last goal.

The final score gave the Ranelagh men 14 to Canada's 2, but the severe beating was not grudged by the local men, and probably the polo they saw played will be the finest lesson in the game of games they have ever received. The visitors moved like well drilled troops: they rode up the field strictly in line at regular intervals, wheeling as if on the word of command; if number one missed the ball he galloped straight on to the point where he knew number two would hit it, whilst three and four galloped on in support of two ready to follow up, or reverse, no matter what happened. It was the most wonderful display of team work the Montrealers had ever seen, and they lost all count of the score in watching the work of the ponies and their masters. The complete mastery of the riders and the almost human knowledge of the game the ponies appeared to have, were demonstrated just before the final bell rang, when Mr. Sexsmith made another desperate attempt to score. He had taken the ball in the centre of the field, and had it well in hand with his nearest opponent some distance off; the light was failing and it was impossible to see who the Englishman was, but better mounted than Mr. Sexsmith he reached him, turned as though on a pivot, picked the ball from beneath the ponies feet with a back-handed twist and saved almost from between the posts. It was as clever a piece of work as took place during the game, and only the most expert horsemanship seemed to save a collision.

At the end of play Earl Grey presented the Ranelagh men with a cup presented by the Back River Club in memory of the first visit of an English polo team to Canada. 'It is,' he said, 'a great privilege to be present and watch your splendid playing, and it is a privilege to be able to present you with this cup.' His Excellency then announced that Mr. Walter Grenfell, a brother of the two Grenfells, who were playing in the Ranelagh team, had presented a cup to be emblematic of the Canadian Polo championship. The cup is a facsimile of the famous Warwick cup, and will be competed for at an annual tournament, which will be open to the world, but will be played alternately in Montreal and Toronto. 'This,' he concluded, 'is intended to encourage polo in Canada, and also to encourage the breeding of your clever Canadian polo ponies. A little while ago a man bought a pony for a small sum in the streets of Calgary. He took it over to England and tried it at polo, with the result that in a short time he sold it for $500; soon after it changed hands again for $1,000, and at a price higher than this it was sold and ridden in the National polo championships in England this year, when it was shown to me. If Canada can breed one polo pony like that it can breed many, and I hope it will.' His Excellency then called for cheers for the Ranelagh men, which were heartily responded to. Amongst the spectators were practically all the leaders of Montreal Society, many of the members of the Hunt Club having come direct, after hunting was finished.

HORSE SHOW TOMORROW

Many Horses Arrive for the Opening.

Many horses have arrived at the Arena for the Horse Show which opens to-morrow, when the first performance will be given in the evening, at 8.15 o'clock. Nearly all the horses will be in by this evening, and the remainder will be here to-morroy morning.

Among the notable animals that are here now are the Crow and Murray, as well as the famous animals of the Hon. Clifford Sifton and Mr. Pepper, of Winnipeg. The animals of Mr. Charles Wilmott are also here.

All arrangements are now completed in the Arena, and everything is in readiness for the opening of the Autumn Horse Show to-morrow evening. The orchestra that has been arranged for are to provide special appropriate music, and it is expected that the opening performance will have a large attendance.

On entering the Arena the spectators will be struck with the appearance of the place, for instead of entering a large empty looking Arena, they will step into a rustic arbor. A false ceiling of green lattice work will hide the iron girders, while huge candelabra suspended in the centre of the Arena, and bedecked with thousands of purple and white morning glories, will give the whole a rich and warm effect. These are to be illuminated with 250 electric lights each, while over two thousand electric incandescent lights will make the whole interior one glow of lights.

In contrast to the green lattice work and overhangings, the boxes are decorated in a deep rich cloth of red.

With these exceptional novelties and other entirely new arrangements this fall show is promising to be one the like of which has never before been seen in Montreal and will take considerable invention to surpass. All lovers of horses will agree with the management on this score when they have attended the first night of the five days of the Horse Show, lasting until Saturday evening.

ROUND THE WHIRLPOOL

Bobby Leach Made Niagara Trip in a Barrel.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 24.—Bobby Leach, of Niagara Falls, Ont., this afternoon made a trip through the Whirlpool Rapids in a barrel, starting from the old Maid of the Mist landing, near the cantilever bridge. Except for a few scratches and bruises, Leach, who claims to have made the trip several times, was unhurt.

Leach started at 3.55, his barrel being towed out to the middle of the stream by a tugboat. He entered the rapids at 3.57, and three minutes later was in the whirlpool. The barrel went through the rapids holding to its course and riding the tremendous waves smoothly. The great wave caught it and hurled it clear of the water, but the barrel righted itself nicely and went into the whirlpool without mishap.

Five times the barrel circled the whirlpool, keeping on the outer edge, away from the vortices. At the south end it was caught by an inshore eddy and floated in close enough to be caught at 5.05.

TOURNAMENT CLOSES.

Mixed Foursomes the Last Event—Miss Campbell the Star.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The ladies' tournament of the Royal Canadian Golf Association came to a close, on Saturday, with the playing of the mixed foursomes. The weather was the worst of the whole week, but the scores turned in were very good. The winners were Mrs. Rodger and J. A. MacFadden, with a gross score of 99. The handicap of 12 brought this down to 87, Miss D. Campbell, British, American and Canadian Champion, with T. B. Wood, brought in the best gross score, 93, thus winning another trophy.

As a result of her prowess in the tourney the champion has captured no less than four trophies, first prize for the best gross score in both the annual handicap and the foursomes, third prize for the best net score in the handicap, and the association gold medal for the ladies' championship. The Ross cup, which was also awarded to the champion, remains in the custody of the club from which she was entered, and before becoming her property must be won on two future occasions. Subjoined is the result of the day's play:

WESTMOUNT BOWLING CLUB.

Willie Brown won still another points competition at the Westmount Bowling Club on Saturday afternoon. This was for the gold and diamond scarfpin presented by Mr. T. Mitchell, of Toronto. The winners score was 44. Mr. H. Mason was second with 39, and the scores of the other six qualified competitors were: R. Steacie, 34; A. G. Gardner, 32; Alf. Muir, 29; H. R. Cobbett, 26; W. Brisbane, 23; C. P. Creamer, 21.

In the match between rinks skipped by W. Brown and R. M. Liddell for a mahogany inkstand, to be the property of the club, the team of the latter player won after a close contest by one point. Scores:

CAMERON DEFEATED.

Wood Won the Ten-mile Race at Amherst on Saturday.

Abbie Wood defeated Fred. Cameron in a ten mile race in Amherst, N.S., on Saturday, thus adding another victory to his list.

The runners started off together, but Wood took the lead and kept it through a full third of the distance. Only once did Cameron exert himself to such extent as to pass Wood, and then it was only for a short time, for the latter made one of his spurts and continued the pace which won for him the race, finishing ten yards in front of his competitor.

Naturally enough, Cameron's supporters were disappointed, but gave Wood credit for the victory, because of his wide experience, and taking the lead in the earlier portion of the race.

It is expected that within a couple of weeks or more the pair will race again on Ramblers' grounds, and those interested are expecting a swift run, as the time for the race was 55.42.

Strange to say, Cameron defeated Fowler last fall in a little less than this time on the same track.

BOY SCOUTS' OUTING.

The 1st Maisonneuve and Hochelaga Troop Boy Scouts, R. Martin, scoutmaster, in company with a patrol of the Grand Trunk Troop (Mr. Clarke) went up to the mountain for scouting games. Mr. Nigel Young, secretary of the Boy Scouts, also appeared with the Outremont Troop in his charge.

The troops were marched up to the cemetery, where just outside the gates they were photographed by Scoutmaster R. Martin.

After that one of the G. T. R. troop was sworn in, taking the oath of allegiance to God and his country in front of the combined troops who stood at the salute while he repeated the form.

Mr. Young then went away to put one or two of his boys through their tests, and as one of his boys had a football it was decided to have a game of football.

The Maisonneuve and the G. T. R. boys lined up in opposition to Mr. Young's troop. Scoutmaster R. Martin officiating as referee. The game finally ended in a win for the Maisonneuve, the score being 1 to 0.

This completed the afternoon, and the scoutmasters present decided that more combined outings were what was needed.

KELLY OUT FOR G. T.'S

After all the statements and assurances that George Kelly would certainly play for Montreal, it must have been somewhat of a shock for sporting experts to see him on the Grand Trunk grounds on Saturday in charge of teams of juniors and intermediates. It was a good practice, and gave promise of showing a lead to many of the local teams. Outdoor team practice will be held on Tuesday and Thursday this week in order to get the juniors into condition to play their first match on Saturday at Outremont.

MANAGER BARROW'S SMILE

He Wears it Because of a Present He Got Because He Could Smile

Since Saturday Mr. Edward Barrow, manager of the Royal Baseball team, has worn a smile and a diamond studded watch charm. Each is the cause of the other. The players wanted to show Mr. Barrow how they appreciated his geniality in luck and out, so they made the present just before Saturday's second game.

In the evening the management tendered the players a dinner. It went the full nine innings, and while there were many assists there was not a single error. But hits were plentiful, each man who arose to speak, in fact, made one.

CLEAN WRESTLING

Lapointe Beat Roby and Issued Challenge to Tremblay

There were three clean and interesting wrestling bouts put on at Sohmer Park on Saturday night by the Canadian Athletic Club. Mr. Bourque, of Springfield, Mass., was the referee, and introduced quite a lot of formality to his duties that amused the fairly large audience. He carefully examined each man and inspected their nails and insisted on these being trimmed, while the only pair of scissors were too small in the handles to be used, so that it was necessary for one of the sidesmen to turn manicurist.

The two preliminary bouts were between St. Louis and Monferand, in the 1.15 pound class, being three rounds of six minutes, and Barrette and Beauchamp in the 145 pound class; both bouts were a draw, and quite lively. Monferand and Barrette, however, did most of the work, but were unable to break the good defence of St. Louis and Beauchamp.

The main bout, between Fred. Lapointe and Pierre Roby, of Manchester, kept the whole audience going, and their work was clean throughout. Lapointe assumed the aggressive on the start, and managed to secure the first fall in 11.30 by a crotch and half-Nelson. Roby put up a good defence, but did not attack, and they kept on the mat throughout.

In the second, Roby started the attack, and several times had Lapointe in danger, but Lapointe got clear each time in a style that was remindful of Beel, and finally after 20 minutes of hard work, put Roby to the mat with a bar hold. His victory was greeted with applause, and he was cheered when he advanced to the footlights and issued a challenge to Tremblay for a match with the toe hold barred.

McGILL TRACK TEAM.

Last year McGill's track team was anything but a star aggregation, and even the good men of that team seem to have gone. K. W. Dowie, who was the only man taking first places, has graduated. R. E. L. Hollinsed, the best sprinter, is also missing, as are L. G. Jost, R. S. Tippett, and E. H. Gray, the champion long distance man. W. E. G. Murray is probably the best of those remaining, and he is almost sure to net several points for his Alma Mater. He has been training for some time. Coates, a long distance man from the M. A. A. A., is also expected. Others of last year's team available are: A. E. Thompson, Harry Smith, W. Roy Smith, R. B. Robertson, G. H. Macdonald, J. S. McLeod, G. M. Grundy, E. Futterer, H. C. Steeals. The Freshmen-Sophomore sports will probably come off on Saturday, October 8, while the university track meet will be on the following Friday. On Friday, October 21, the Intercollegiate Track meet will be held. The cross country run will also come. It is to be the week after the Intercollegiate meet, and will be run off in Kingston.

ATHLETE FOR McGILL.

Rex Hovey, of Sherbrooke, Won Championship.

Sherbrooke, Sept. 24.—The second annual field day, under the auspices of the Sherbrooke Y.M.C.A., was held here this afternoon. The championship trophy was won by Rex Hovey, who won the 220, the 100, the 12-lb.-shot-put, and the hop, step and jump. He also competed in the 12-pound hammer throw and high jump. Hovey is only 18 years of age, and he will enter McGill this fall.

RANELAGH SEASON OVER.

The finals in the Ranelagh Country Club handicap competition took place on Saturday between F. H. Foster and G. M. Somerville, and resulted in a win for F. H. Foster. The play throughout was steady, but not brilliant. The prize will be donated by R. & W. Kerr. This match completes the golf schedule for 1910, which has been the best season in the club's history. The annual dinner will be held on the 8th prox.

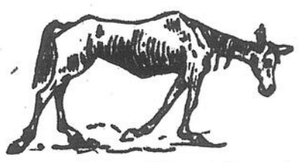

EPWORTH LEAGUE AT VERDUN

The Verdun Methodist Church has reorganized their Young People's Christian Epworth League, and a good rousing meeting has been held, but all the young people are asked to come out to the rousing missionary meeting to-night at eight o'clock. The meeting will be taken by Miss Jennie Stevens, when a splendid address will be given by Mrs. Leggett, and then at the close a social free of charge.

BOY SHOT BY ACCIDENT.

While playing with other boys, in a yard in rear of his home, 598 Frontenac street, yesterday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock, Ovila Jean, 15 years of age, was accidentally shot in the right leg by a companion, Armand Beauregard, 14 years of age, of 572 Frontenac street.

When horses were worth $50 to $60 it might be policy to kill the horse and save the wagon. Now when a good horse costs $200 to $300, is it not a better policy to save the horse and use a light easy running wagon, even if it don't last as long as a heavy one?

MONTREAL HIGH SCHOOL CELEBRATED YESTERDAY ITS SIXTY-SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Interesting Glimpses Into the Early History and Development of Higher Education in the City.

Sixty-seven years ago yesterday, September 25th, 1843, the first high school under Protestant auspices was opened in Montreal. Two years later the High School of Montreal was legally constituted by act of the Quebec Legislature. Its course has been marked by many vicissitudes and its present position of efficiency and public favor, not to say prosperity, has not been reached without struggles, courage and heart aches on the part of its early supporters and later administrators. An organizaton that began its work in a private house, has been burned out more than once and had its home sold by the sheriff before becoming a firmly established institution, cannot fail to have an interesting and inspiring history.

MR. WELLINGTON DIXON, B.A.,
The present rector of Montreal High School.

The first schools in Canada were French and Roman Catholic; but when English Protestant settlers began to come here in reasonably large numbers, one of the earliest anxieties was to provide educational facilities for their children, of a character similar to that existing in the Old Land. The earliest instruction was naturally provided by private schools, and most of this was elementary. Those who wished to give their children the best educational advantages were compelled to send them across the ocean, or to the New England States—both undesirable contingencies.

In 1787 a committee of the Executive Council of Canada was named to inquire into the condition of educational matters in Quebec. They reported in 1789 to Lord Dorchester. In 1799 Bishop Mountain wrote the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir R. C. Milnes, on the subject, and recommendations were made to the Home Government which led to the establishment, in 1801, of the Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning. The purpose of this body was to organize a system of education for the province of Quebec, to comprise all grades from the elementary classes to the university.

In 1797 Mr. Alex. Skakel, a graduate of Aberdeen University, came to Canada, and after spending about a year in Quebec city, came to Montreal early in 1799 and established the Montreal Classical and Mathematical School at 43 Little St. James street, just east of Place d'Armes.

In 1816 the government established grammar schools in Quebec, Montreal and Kingston, and the Rev. John Leeds became headmaster of the Montreal School, at a salary of £200, with £54 extra for rent. Part of the maintenance of the school was derived from the Jesuits' estates. Fees from the pupils made up the balance of the revenue. The school was required to receive twenty free pupils, nominated by the government. Mr. Leeds severed his connection with this school in 1819, and Mr. Alex. Skakel, of the Classical and Mathematical School, was chosen as his successor. For more than twenty-five years Mr. Skakel presided over this the first government school for superior education in Quebec.

During the last three years of his principalship the school was really in charge of the Rev. Mr. Brown. Mr. Skakel died in 1846. He delivered the first series of lectures ever given for the benefit of the Protestants in Montreal on scientific subjects. This brought him into contact with the Rev. Mr. Sommerville and his associates, the founders of the Natural History Society of Montreal.

In 1842 circulars were issued to the Protestant citizens advocating a further advance in the interests of higher education and proposing the establishment of a High School. The Edinburgh High School was selected for the model of the new school. A board of nine provisional directors was appointed and in 1843 the organization was completed. The directors were increased to twenty-two, with five referees resident in Edinburgh. The movement was brought to the attention of the board of governors of McGill College as promising to provide a preparatory course for students intending to go to college and the governors intimated that they would be glad to unite with the supporters of the cause in the management of the new institution. In a short time the Bingham residence at the corner of Notre Dame and St. Denis streets was secured and the school was opened. The premises have been briefly spoken of as follows: 'As the home of one of Montreal's leading families, and for a time a vice-regal residence, it furnished desirable quarters for the new school. Its imposing exterior, its extensive grounds and the grandeur of its interior decorations combined to lend an air of importance to the school and to exercise an elevating and refining influence upon the pupils.'

The Rev. George F. Simpson, M.A., a graduate of Cambridge University, was the first headmaster, or 'rector,' of the new High School. He was present at the opening and his staff consisted of two teachers who came from Scotland, and three who were secured locally. During the first term the enrolment rose from 65 to 167. The first closing exercises took place on July 15, 1844. The Hon. Peter McGill presided and His Excellency Sir Charles Metcalfe, Governor-General, took an active interest in the exercises.

From 1843 to 1853 the High School was under the management of a board of fifteen directors. On March 17, 1845, the Provincial Legislature passed an act incorporating the High School of Montreal and placing it under fifteen directors, five of whom were to retire each year. By 1845 over two hundred pupils were attending the High School, and a more desirable site, with larger premises was needed. A suitable site was secured on Beaver Hall Hill, now occupied by the Belmont School buildings. The new High School involved an expenditure of over forty thousand dollars. While this was being erected the pupils had to vacate the Bingham property, and take temporary quarters in St. Paul street. In these premises the closing exercises were held on July 11, 1845. At the close of the exercises scholars, parents and friends, led by the band of the 93rd Regiment, marched in a procession to Belmont street to lay the corner stone of the new High School building. This was in the ninth year of the reign of her late Majesty Queen Victoria. This building still stands, and has long been known as the McGill Normal School. There could not have been a more lordly school building and playground than was this turreted structure in perpendicular Gothic, with the magnificent and spacious gravelled terrace extending to Lagauchetiere street, which was the scene of ten thousand joyous games of 'shinny' in the autumn and 'prisoner's bar' in the early summer. There were no clubs then, no newspaper publicity, no recording of scores; simply joyous play. The daily sessions were from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., with an hour for noon, except Saturday, when the session was from 9 a.m. to noon. The fees were $24 and $40 a year, later reduced to $20, $32 and $40 according to the classes entered. The attendance ranged from 167 the first year to 250 in later years, but at times dwindled down to 150.

In 1847 one of the High School teachers, Mr. S. Phillips, retired from the staff and organized the Lower Canada College, which was a formidable rival of the High School for many years. It was situated at 51 St. Urbain street.

In 1848 the first rector, the Rev. Mr. Simpson, resigned. He returned to England, and was a successful teacher for several years after, dying suddenly on April 28, 1857.

Mr. H. Aspinwall Howe became Mr. Simpson's successor, assuming his duties as soon as the appointment could be approved by the Edinburgh committee.

Hard times were now experienced by the institution. The shareholders, who originally expected the school project to develop into a paying proposition, found themselves instead, involved with a heavy burden of debt. Their interest waned and many of them deserted the sinking ship, with the result that the building went under the hammer, being sold by the sheriff. This was about the year 1850. Then the High School was without a home, and, abandoned by those who had brought it into existence.

But the rector and two of his assistants, T. A. Gibson and David Rodger, famous in the intellectual annals of Montreal, remained loyal to their educational duties and obligations, and stuck to their guns, working with commendable energy amidst almost overwhelming discouragements, a full corps of teachers and a high standard being always maintained. Though there was still a board of governors of the school was for some time conducted practically as a private enterprise.

The board of governors of McGill, on having the condition of the High School brought to their attention early in 1853, resolved to take over the management, including the staff, on a basis quickly agreed upon, which included the financing of the school. So the High School was accepted as a department of McGill College in August, 1853. The appointment of Mr. Dawson, afterwards Sir William, as principal of McGill, had an important influence on the High School.

For a short time the school was conducted in the Belmont street building, but this being soon purchased by the Provincial Government for a normal school, the governors of McGill apportioned on the extremity of their own property the site at the corner of Dorchester and University streets, on which the Fraser Institute now stands. On it they erected a building known as Burnside Hall, which was opened in March, 1854. The ground floor was used for high school purposes and the floor above for lecture, library, museum and convocation hall for the classes in arts of the university.

For two years they enjoyed their new quarters. Then on a Saturday afternoon, Feb. 2, 1856, fire broke out and destroyed the building. The classes were once more forced to return to Belmont street while Burnside Hall was being rebuilt. On this being completed, the new premises were taken possession of, and occupied until 1860, when the Arts Department of the McGill College was transferred to the old college buildings.

In eight years the McGill College board spent $12,000 on the maintenance of the High School over and above the revenue derived from it. This called for a readjustment of the financial administration, and in 1863 it was decided that the 'High' must be made self-supporting. Many difficulties followed this decision, until relief came with increased revenue through the operation of the Confederation Act of 1867 and the Education Act of 1869. In 1870 the Protestant Board of School Commissioners took over the control of the High School, and bought the Burnside Hall property. The administrative system was re-organized three departments being formed under three heads. Two lower classes were taken away to a separate building to form the nucleus for a preparatory department, and the remainder of the school was divided into a classical department under Dr. Aspinwall-Howe, and a commercial branch under Mr. D. Rodger. Prof. S. P. Robins was given charge of the elementary department. A preparatory school was built at a cost of $4,000, and a staff of lady teachers was organized under the direction of Prof. Robins. This department was merged with the High School again in 1891. The late Mr. George Murray became connected with the High School in January, 1864.

In 1878 a three-story stone building was erected and opened on the site occupied by the present High School buildings on Peel street, above St. Catherine street. On Friday, Nov. 28, 1890, just after school had been dismissed, this building caught fire, and the place was burned to the ground.

While the new school was under construction, some of the classes met in the Fraser Institute (formerly Burnside Hall), and others in the Berthelet street school. The new building was opened on June 20, 1892. Many improvements, including fire escapes, have been added since, and at the present time the premises are very commodious and conveniently arranged, and provided with practically all modern equipment, and under a very capable administration and staff of instructors.

The Rev. E. I. Rexford, LL.D. D.C.L., now principal of the Montreal Diocesan College, was appointed assistant head master in 1880, and acted in that capacity until 1882, when he resigned, to become the English secretary of the Department of Public Instruction for this province.

A High School for Girls was opened in a private dwelling, 131-133 Metcalfe street, in September, 1875. It was transferred to the Peel street building in 1878. The first principal was Mrs. Scott, who afterwards became the wife of the late Mr. Charles Morton. She held the principalship until 1880, when she was succeeded by Mrs. Fuller, who is now the wife of Dr. F. W. Kelley, senior master at the High School. In 1894 Mrs. Fuller resigned and Miss Findlay, B.A., had charge for two years.

From 1896 to 1904 both schools were placed under one head, Dr. Rexford being rector during that period. In 1904 Mr. Wellington Dixon, B.A., became rector, and Miss Georgina Hunter, B.A., was appointed principal of the Girls' High School, which position she still occupies. About three years ago the School Commissioners, at a heavy expense, equipped a kitchen where a full housekeeping course is carried on for the benefit of the senior girls. The counterpart of this, on the boys' side, is the sloyd room. Both boys and girls have gymnasium exercises. There are about 625 boys and 475 girls attending the High School, the former occupying the north wing and the girls the south. The Girls' High has played a very important part in the educational advancement of Montreal. There are over four hundred teachers employed in the Commissioners schools at the present time, and when it is remembered that the great majority of these are women, the importance of the Girls' High can hardly be over-estimated. How many of the three thousand teachers who have graduated from the McGill Normal went up from the Girls' High it would be hard to say, but certainly the number must be very large.

Prof. S. P. Robins was made secretary-superintendent of all schools under the Protestant Board in 1871, and held that office until 1883, when he resigned to take the principalship of the Normal School in Belmont street, where he remained until 1907, when the Normal work was transferred to the Macdonald College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue. He was succeeded in the position of secretary-superintendent by Mr. E. W. Arthy, who has since been succeeded by Mr. H. J. Silver, B.A., the present superintendent.

Dr. Howe retired from the rectorship of the High School in 1891, and the Rev. E. I. Rexford, B.A., was appointed as his successor. He remained in the office until 1904, when he was appointed principal of the Diocesan College and Mr. Wellington Dixon, B.A., became rector, which position he holds at the present time.

In the preparation of this article, the 'Witness' has been greatly aided by being permitted to take notes from manuscript prepared with much care by Principal Rexford for the purpose of publication at some future date.

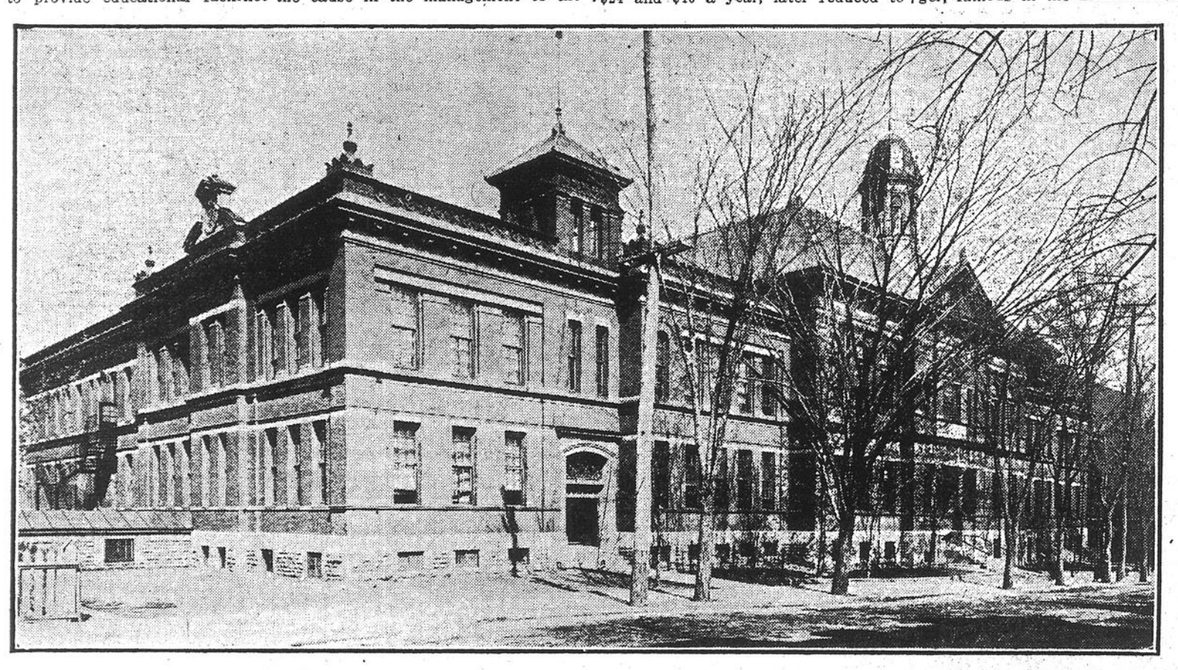

THE HIGH SCHOOL BY DECADES.

The history of the High School naturally divides itself into periods of approximately ten years each, which derive their distinctive features from the character of the external control or of the internal organization under which the school was conducted:

1843-1853, High School under Board of Directors.
1853-1863—A department of McGill College.
1863-1870—A self supporting department of McGill College.
1870-1880—Under the Protestant Board of School Commissioners (old regime).
1880-1891—Under the Protestant Board of School Commissioners (new regime).
1891-1901—Under Protestant Board, reunited with the preparatory department.
1901-1910—Boys' and Girls' High with sub-heads under one rector.

SCOURGE OF CORDS NEEDED

Montreal's Degradation in Tolerating of Vice Subject of Scathing Sermon

APPEAL TO YOUNG MEN.

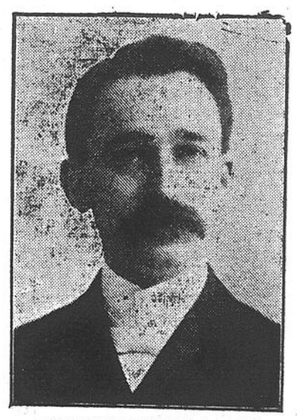

The Rev. Frank J. Day Preaches First of a Series on 'Cleaning Up Montreal.'

Last Sabbath evening, before a large congregation, the pastor of Zion Church, the Rev. Frank J. Day, delivered the first of a course of sermons entitled 'A scourge of cards for Montreal.' He took his text from John ii., 13, where Christ scourges the money changers and overturns the tables.

This incident, the preacher said, was one of the most astonishing and interesting pictures contained in the gospels: astonishing because this young man from Nazareth of pure heart and fine ideals had ventured to do that which others would not dare, and interesting because none had ventured to say nay to his actions.

Continuing the pastor said: 'These were the actions of Jesus, that young man of high ideals, just starting out after his first miracle into the world with his heart full of passion for purity, and love for the lives of men.'

Mr. Day pictured Christ after sweeping the fragrant chips from the carpentering shop and bidding his parents a last farewell, going forth to wield the scourge of knots upon all unrighteousness; right on as the Saviour of the world and on to the cross of Calvary, where he completed the work which caused heaven and earth to rejoice and be glad.

THE REV. FRANK J. DAY.

But though the temple was now cleansed from the filth and dirt caused by the sheep and oxen, and though the money changers were put out; yet it did not remain clean, for again later on the actions had to be repeated. The pastor remarked how these conditions must have caused pain in the heart of that young man of 'pure heart and fine ideals; and sorrow upon his face—'Oh! if some one could paint Christ's face that all men might behold it.'

The Rev. Frank Day compared the state of the temple in Christ's time to the present state of Montreal; and made an urgent appeal to all men in this city, and especially in Zion Church, to make for themselves scourges of knotted cord and wield them for righteousness, and thus, little by little, the degradations and sins such as liquor traffic, white slave traffic, and the cocaine habit would be eliminated from the city, and mothers and sisters would live to rejoice and pray that the sins may vanish away. Men say in Montreal that these evil traffic must be abolished, yet, because of the passive interest taken on the part of the men concerning these evils, the doors of these places still swing open to admit all.

'But what can Christians do?' 'He who would follow Christ must make or find a scourge to use in Montreal; let it be your own desire for righteousness to prompt you to action.'

The pastor continued to remark that it was impossible to travel through the slums of our greatest cities and witness the sin and want there without feeling pity for the victims and nourishing a hatred towards the cause which placed them there, and it is when our hearts burn with a passion to help our poor fellow creatures that we resemble that young man of 'pure heart and fine ideals,' who had tested for himself the human needs of men.

In concluding, and in fact all through the sermon the pastor made urgent appeals to the young men to awaken to the needs of quenching the evils of Montreal.

Next Sabbath the second of the course of sermons will be delivered and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be held.

HIGHER CRITICS

Only Touch Intellectual, not Devotional, Side of Religion, Says Rev. R. Dickie.

The Rev. Robert Dickie, B.A., at Crescent Street Presbyterian Church, preached from Acts v. 38-9, 'Refrain from these men and let them alone; for if this counsel, or this work, be of men, it will come to nought; but if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it,' his subject being, 'What shall we do with the higher critics?' Mr. Dickie said that their criticisms did not touch the devotional centre of religion. They had only to do with its intellectual aspect. Often their statements dealt with science rather than with theology, as in the case of Galileo, whose views concerning the relative movements of the earth and sun had nothing to do with religious belief. To persecute men who hold different views from ourselves was an obsolete way of dealing with them, and generally tended to increase their influence later on. Many of those who held views contrary to received opinions on minor matters were perfectly orthodox on the main questions of Christianity, and were of devoted and irreproachable lives. It was best to examine their views, and if they were sound on the principal truths of the faith, to leave them alone.

INHUMANITY ON SABBATH

The Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore On the Need for the Day of Rest

A PHYSICAL NECESSITY.

Working Life of a Man Who Works Every Day is Only 12½ Years.

'It does not pay physically to rob man of his weekly rest. Science and experience have proven this.' This is one of the facts around which Rev. Albert Moore, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, wove his pleas the preservation of the Sabbath in a sermon in Stanley Street Presbyterian Church last night. Dr. Moore spoke on 'Man's inhumanity to man on the Sabbath.'

THE REV. DR. T. ALBERT MOORE.

'The Sabbath is threefold in character,' began the preacher, and continued, saying it was the Lord's day, the day God made for man. To make it a holiday was an error. Some go to the woods, who wander by the streams, who stroll through the fields, saying they will sit at the feet of the God Nature, and worship him, but a study of the character of these will show that they are not the people in need in this Canada of ours.

Dr. Moore's second point was that Sunday was a day of rest. He held that though work was sacred, and a man can worship God in his shop during the week as well as in church on Sunday, we must turn from the tiring toil and wearying work during the week and bring ourselves to other experiences. He stated that experiments had shown that the scientists were right in saying that the working life of a man who toils without his weekly rest is only twelve and a half years. At the end of that period he is in his grave, or worn out and tottering towards it. Those who rest one day in the week from work, whether it is of the brain or brawn, enjoy a working life of over twenty-six years.

'The Sabbath is not a day for indolence or laziness,' and the speaker quoted one of his texts: 'It is lawful to do well on the Sabbath day.' I can't blame no one for lying in bed an hour later on Sunday morning, but there is no reason why he should spend the day there. Sunday should be spent in well-doing, in gentle helpfulness, making the lives of others sweeter and better.

That every one has a double duty to perform on Sunday was another point. One must get the right idea of the Sabbath and then instruct the children. He said that in old Puritan days there was too much prohibition. There should be more principle. The children should not be told what they are not to do. Tell them what they may do. If they are under continued restraint they will get a wrong idea of the Lord's Day. God gave a boy activity on a Sunday as well as on any other day. Then on the Sunday give them guidance in their activities.

Dr. Moore then spoke on the Lord's Day Act, the Canadian law which regulates work on the Sabbath. He stated that he had received a letter from M. Fallieres, the President of France, who stated that it was the best law of its kind in the world, and that ex-President Roosevelt of the United States, when President, had said that he wished that his country would enact like legislation.

Turning to the work of the Lord's Day Alliance, Dr. Moore said it was persuasian rather than prosecution. Only in extreme cases did the Alliance take any matter to the courts. By the new law a hundred and ten thousand men have been given their weekly rest day, and only a few months ago one of the heads of that powerful corporation, the Dominion Steel Company, had promised that fifty percent of the men working seven days a week would get their Sundays, and that all would get one day a week of rest.
