UNIONS WILL REFUSE TO DELAY STRIKE

World News In Brief

London, Aug. 17.—(Reuters)—Princess Elizabeth and her two day-old daughter had a good night and are "making excellent progress," an official bulletin said today.

"It is not intended to issue any further bulletin this week," it said.

A final bulletin probably will be issued early next week.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 17.—(AP)—A severe hurricane, with winds up to 140 miles an hour, surged westward in the Atlantic today, threatening the northern Bahamas.

San Carlos, Calif., Aug. 17.—(AP)—A spectacular fire and explosion last night levelled a chemical plant making material for the Korean battlefront. Adjoining buildings were damaged.

Owners said the plant may have been sabotaged. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

Athens, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Sophocles Venizelos announced today that five Liberal party ministers will resign from the government—an action that means collapse of the coalition cabinet formed last April under Premier Nicholas Plastiras.

Venizelos, the Liberal party leader, has demanded Plastiras' resignation. Plastiras had been under fire because of his insistence that communists convicted of treason be granted amnesty.

Prime Minister's Appeal For 30-Day Delay Will Be Rejected, Ottawa Reports

Headless Ghost Roams Road Hollow

Lock Haven, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP)—So you don't believe in ghosts? Well, maybe that's because you don't live near Road Hollow. For the headless Frenchman of Kettle Creek still roams the wilds in these parts.

At least, that's what the folks of Clinton County say. And a reporter and photographer for the Lock Haven Express, who checked the authenticity of the legend, aren't saying yes or no.

Legend has it that the ghost belongs to a French explorer who robbed a secret cave of Indian silver centuries ago. The Indians, it seemed, avenged their loss by beheading the Frenchman when he returned for more silver.

Reporter Pete Stevenson and photographer Jim Patterson set out to track down the ghost.

On a chilly, misty night they parked their car near the bridge spanning Kettle Creek at Road Hollow. As they sat waiting, the only sound filling the night air was that of the distant pounding of a gas-well drill working the night shift.

Suddenly a flickering, wavering form reared up less than 100 feet away. They edged toward the eerie, reddish-white figure for a look. A sound like that of a low, almost painful, moan could be heard.

The figure glided away, up the bank and onto Road Hollow. It moved quickly in the faint moonlight. They ran to keep it in sight.

A metal fink-holder fell from Patterson's pocket. They stopped to pick it up. When they looked up again, the headless Frenchman was gone.

Some say the Frenchman still roams the wilds of Clinton County looking for his head. Others say he's angry because "wildcatters" are drilling for gas.

As one valley resident put it: "It's his life blood, that natural gas, and these drillers are eating it all up. If they keep piping the gas out, the headless Frenchman will die."

Some scientifically-inclined folk scoff at the legend. They say the moan is nothing but methane gas seeping from crevices. A forest ranger offered the suggestion that the eerie, ghost-like figure is caused by glowing phosphorous clinging to moss and rotten logs in the damp woods.

Unions Agree, However, To Appointment Of Special Commissioner As Mediator.

Ottawa, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The two Canadian unions representing 34,000 of the 124,000 workers in the rail-wage dispute told the government today they could give no "encouragement" on its request for a 30-day postponement of their general strike if here is no settlement by the August 22 deadline.

Ottawa, Aug. 17.—(AP)—An authoritative source today disclosed that the unions have decided to reject the appeal of Prime Minister St. Laurent for a 30-day delay in the railway strike set for next Tuesday.

The source added, however, that the unions have agreed to the suggestion that a "special commissioner" to act as mediator in the dispute be appointed.

Mr. St. Laurent said yesterday that if the strike deadline is put off, the government will appoint this commissioner to begin mediation proceedings.

The source said it was the opinion of the unions that the mediator could be appointed without the 30-day delay.

"There still are a few days left before the strike is scheduled to take place," he said. "Mr. St. Laurent could appoint the commissioner now and start work at once. That would still give him a few days in which to work."

The source said the unions would like to see an end to the strike threat. There still was some hope that something could be worked out before the August 22 deadline.

It was indicated that an official announcement by the unions would be made later today.

The government's expected intervention in the wage-hour dispute took the form last night of an urgent appeal to both disputants to work out a solution themselves before Tuesday or, if that is impossible, to postpone strike action for 30 days.

The Prime Minister drafted a letter after two days of Cabinet sittings dealing with the rail crisis—now less than five days from the deadline for the crippling strike. It was delivered to the companies and unions last night.

Shortly afterwards, the two major railway unions announced at Montreal they were prepared to resume discussions with the unions. These were broken off last Thursday, when the companies' "final" offer was rejected by the 17 labour bodies representing the 124,000 employees involved in the dispute.

Union spokesmen withheld comment pending study of the government appeal by their negotiating committees.

The Prime Minister advanced no specific formula for solution in his letter, but he emphasized the government could not impose a settlement on the parties—but he made it clear the weight of the government was being thrown into the scales to avert a country-wide tie-up of rail transport.

The "full force of the government," he said, was behind the request for the 30-day postponement in the event of no railway union agreement by the deadline of 6 a.m. regional time of Aug. 22.

And he appealed to both groups "in the interest of all Canada" to dispose of the dispute between themselves or leave time for action by the special commissioner.

While the duties and authority of the special commissioner were not set out in the Prime Minister's letter, government sources said it would have any special powers but would act strictly as a mediator in attempting to use the good offices of the government to bring the antagonists to agreement.

While such an appointment is an unusual step, it has a precedent in the 1946 designation of Leonard W. Brockington, Ottawa lawyer, in the same role in the general steel strike of that year.

Today, Mr. Brockington's name cropped up in speculation on possible appointees in the rail case. Another mentioned was Mr. Justice I. C. Rand of the Supreme Court of Canada, author of the "Rand formula" for resolving problems concerning union dues check-off.

The commissioner could be appointed under the industrial relations and disputes investigation act. He would report to the government formally only in the event of failure, under the act, though presumably that would not prevent him carrying to the disputants—at least informally—any government ideas for bridging the gap between labor and management.

At present, this gap is wide. The unions are asking for the 40-hour work week with no reduction in take-home pay from the present general 48 hours, plus hourly increases of seven cents an hour for the 90,000 members of international unions and 10 cents for the 34,000 members of Canadian unions.

37 United States Prisoners Slain

By HAL BOYLE

With U.S. 1st Cavalry, Korea, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Thirty-two American prisoners with hands tied behind their backs were shot dead today by Red Koreans on a hill west of Waegwan just before a U.S. patrol reached the spot.

The Reds tried to kill 37 prisoners in all. But five lived to tell the story. They said the communists also massacred the wounded as they lay moaning on the ground.

This was in the area bombed yesterday by 98 B-29s in the heaviest air raid of the war.

The bodies were found on a ridge recaptured this afternoon.

The 37 Americans were mowed down by bursts of gunfire.

Three North Korean prisoners were taken after a sharp fire fight nearby. One of them was identified by an American survivor as a member of the squad of killers.

Regimental officers said he would be sent back with recommendation that he be tried as a war criminal.

5th Body Found In Cruise Ship

Tadoussac, Que., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The wreckage of the St. Lawrence river cruise ship Quebec which burned here Monday night gave up another body today. The body was found in the wreckage of the ship.

Early last night the fourth body, believed to be that of a woman, was recovered by police from the Canada Steamship Lines pleasure vessel.

The fifth was located not far away by a wrecking and salvage crew working over the burned hulk of the 7,000-ton ship from which more than 400 passengers and 150 crew members disembarked amid smoke and flames Monday evening.

The fifth body was described as being "whole."

One source said the bodies are believed to be those of a South Carolina doctor and his wife.

At first Canada Steamship Lines announced everybody aboard the stricken vessel had been accounted for. Even as the company continued to insist this was so newspaper men learned that three persons were missing and later three bodies—those of a man, a woman and a child—were discovered.

They were tentatively identified as Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shapiro of the Town of Mount Royal, Que., and son, Leonard.

Ottawa, Aug. 17 (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Agriculture, representing 400,000 Canadian farmers today declared that the government should take over operation of the railways as a national emergency if the threatened Aug. 22 strike materializes.

Large North Korean Force Starts Full Scale Attack On Central Battle-Front

By RELMAN MORIN

Tokyo, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Three divisions of North Koreans—25,000 to 30,000 men—started a heavy attack today on the Korean central front. The drive was made down from a line between Waegwan and Kunwui, 15 miles north of Taegu, the South Korean emergency capital.

The Red invaders poured through mountain passes and were reported within 15 miles of the provincial capital.

South Koreans control roads in that area.

There is no river barrier along this new line between the Reds and allied troops. It is on the east side of the Nakdong.

Taegu is shielded by a high ridge of steep mountains.

The sudden thrust was described by U.S. Eighth Army headquarters as the "most serious one to the United Nations in Korea."

The sudden outbreak to the north developed after U.S. Marines and infantry began a counter-attack in the Reds' Changnyong river-crossing bulge.

The Marine-Army attack centred on a steep hill near Changnyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu and produced some of the fiercest fighting of the war.

The Marines were withdrawn 27 miles from their Korean south coastal gains and moved to the Nakdong river line.

They hit at a craggy hill position as part of an offensive against the bridgehead which the North Koreans have held for 12 days south of Changnyong.

Stan Swinton, AP correspondent in Seoul, said U.S. infantry which now defends the bridgehead area, reports a build-up of Red forces there.

Swinton said an attack on U.S. defence positions west of Masan, 27 airline miles east of Pusan, the No. 1 U.S. seaport on the southern tip of the Korean peninsula, was building up.

The Marines were borrowed from the extreme southern front, where they had pulled back 27 miles from their advance on Chinhae. They joined the United States 24th Infantry Division in the new assault.

The Marines were fighting to take a steep, crescent-shaped cliff. The hill was defended by part of 12,000 Red Koreans who slammed across the Nakdong below Changnyong 12 days ago. The Reds poured heavy artillery and mortar shells into the slowly-advancing Marines.

U.S. artillery poured a constant barrage into the Red positions on the hill. Some of the communists came halfway down the slope to fire on stretcher-bearers carrying out the wounded Marines.

When the stretcher bearers ran short, South Koreans were pressed into service to help evacuate the Marine wounded.

Brig.-Gen. Edward Craig, the Marine commander, said the battle had been a "draw."

Foreign Ministers' Talks Will Centre Around Formosa

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

London, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The big three western foreign ministers will try to hammer out a common policy next month over what to do about Formosa—possible powder keg of a third world war.

Informants said the ministers' study will be preceded by a full-scale discussion of the problem by the United States and Britain.

The two countries have been at loggerheads over the status of the island, 110 miles off communist China's mainland but still occupied by Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist government.

The American, British and French foreign ministers are meeting in New York Sept. 9. Their parley will be followed by a session of the 12-country Atlantic Pact council. The Atlantic allies are bound by their treaty to consult each other on crucial foreign policy issues.

Weeks of discussion between American and British officials both here and in Washington so far have failed to produce a mutually-acceptable policy on Formosa.

The stalemate revolves around the order of President Truman last June dispatching the U.S. Seventh Fleet to protect the island against a possible Red Chinese attack. At the same time the President called on the nationalists to stop bombing the Chinese mainland and ships trading with it.

He did so in the hope of localizing the Korean war and neutralizing Formosa.

But the nationalist attacks on their communist foes and on foreign ships, including British vessels, trading with the Reds have not stopped.

Although Britain feels the communists have a perfect right to try to take Formosa in order to stop the attacks, she fears this might involve the United States in a war which could become world-wide.

Confusing the picture is the fact that Britain has offered to recognize the communist regime, while the United States still maintains relations with the nationalists.

Britain also feels that if Red China attacks Formosa, as she has pledged to do, the west could not count on such non-communist countries as India, Burma and Pakistan in a subsequent clash.

That is because most Asians regard the nationalist regime as discredited and broken.

Meanwhile, the United States is reported to have registered a few complaints of its own about Britain's part in the rearming of the west.

Diplomatic officials report the Americans have complained informally to Britain that her projected $9,520,000,000 program of rearmament against communism doesn't go far enough.

These informants said American officials have complained that the British program does not allow for enough combat divisions, does not provide for a big enough switch of British industry to war production and, above all, does not set aside enough money for defence spending.

Shore Batteries And British Destroyer Stage Gun Fight

By GORDON TAIT

Hong Kong, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The British destroyer Concord and Chinese communist shore batteries fought a 30-minute gun duel today at the approaches to Hong Kong.

It was the second clash between British warships and Red artillery in the area. After the Concord battle it was officially reported the navy frigate Whitedard Bay exchanged fire Aug. 2 with gun emplacements on Lingtin island.

The Concord said it fired in self-defence after Red guns on Taitami, Puntin and Lingting islands opened up.

Royal Navy officers said there was one minor casualty and no damage to the ship as it steamed into Hong Kong.

Red shore batteries have been quick to fire on ships recently. On three successive days last week merchant ships were shelled. These were British, American and Norwegian vessels.

It was estimated the Reds fired three-rounders at the Concord. The destroyer fired its much-more-powerful 4.7-inch guns.

This was the first reported exchange of gunfire between a British warship and the Chinese communists since April, 1949. At that time, the cruiser London, the destroyer Consort and the frigates Black Swan and Amethyst came under communist shore fire in the Yangtze river. In all, 43 British sailors were killed and more than 80 wounded in the 1949 engagement.

A British Navy release announcing today's incident said: "H.M.S. Concord (Lt.-Cmdr. I. D. McLaughlan, D.S.C., R.N.), while approaching Hong Kong this morning was fired on by batteries on Taitami and Puntin and Lingting (islands)."

"Fire of the Lingting batteries was returned by H.M.S. Concord in self-defence. One minor casualty was sustained by H.M.S. Concord but there was no damage to the ship."

A naval spokesman said he was unable to answer such questions as how far the Concord was from Chinese territory.

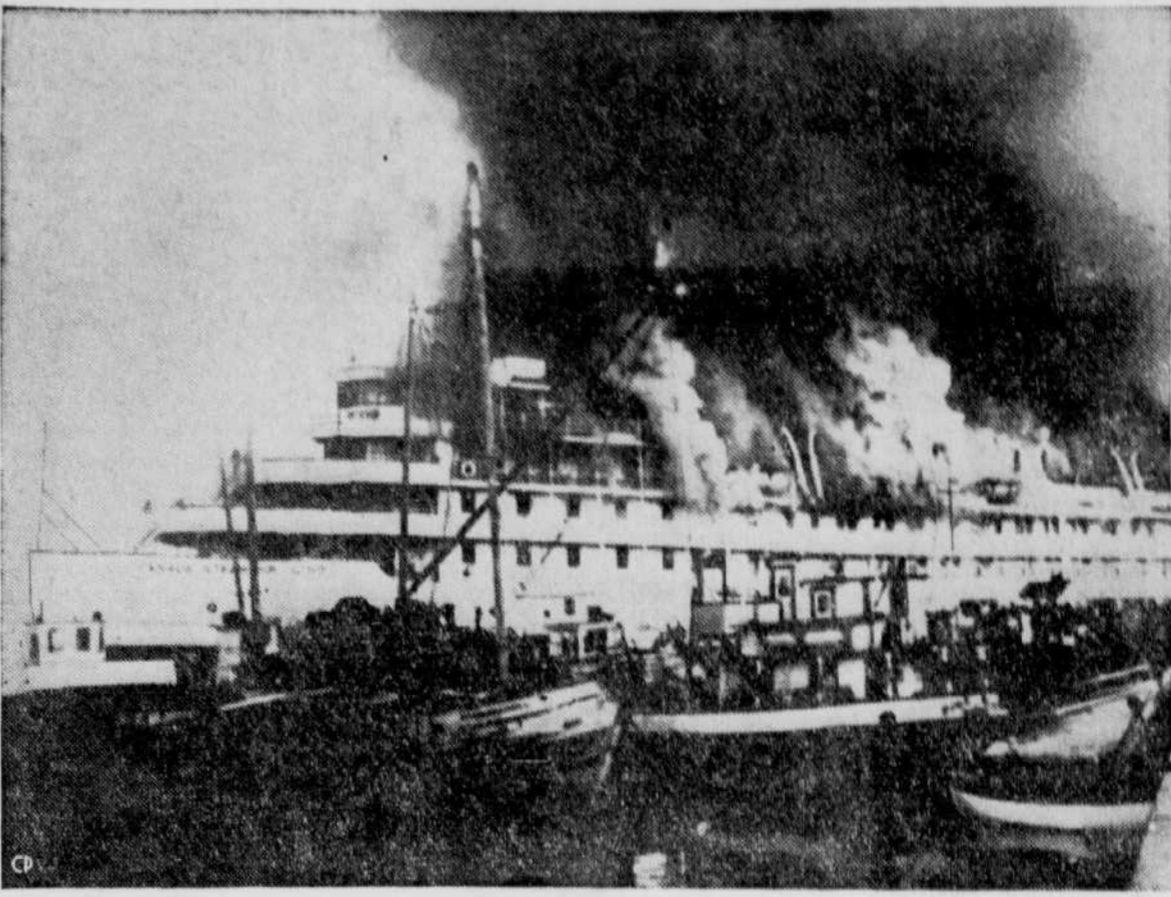

The Chinese fired first from Taitami. Then Red guns on Puntin and Lingting opened up as the Concord moved along.

These islands are about 12 miles south of Hong Kong and six miles west of the spot where the American freighter Steel Rover, the British merchantman Hangsang and the Norwegian freighter Pleasantville were fired on last week.

It was reported yesterday that the Chinese Reds have warned all foreign ships and planes not to infringe on Chinese territory.

The naval spokesman said he could not disclose where the Concord had been.

Cruise Ship Burns

Tied to the dock at Tadoussac, Que., approximately 150 miles down the St. Lawrence River from Quebec, flames swept through the SS Quebec, white-hulled Canada Steamship Lines cruise ship of the Saguenay-St. Lawrence routes. Fire broke out Monday afternoon while the vessel was half an hour upstream from Tadoussac. She was rushed to the north shore port where her 400 passengers and crew of 125 were removed. Five bodies were discovered. The ship is believed to be a complete loss. (AP Photo)

Rockingham Is Kept Busy At Ottawa

By DOUGLAS HOW

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The one man in kilts at defence headquarters said "the B.M. must have a gin palace." The officer conferring with him seemed to think that was a reasonable assertion.

They passed on to other talk, about supply, about jeeps and Bren-gun carriers and sleeping bags, all serious, exploratory talk because this was the temporary and tiny and busy headquarters of Canada's special force.

The man in kilts was Brig. John Rockingham, the husky British Columbian who has pitched into the job of commanding the special brigade group Canada is mustering to fight in Korea or elsewhere.

Until he moves his headquarters to Petawawa, Ont., shortly, he is working in a single, green-walled room at defence headquarters, with two desks, a temporary assistant, a map of Korea, a map of Canada, an open window and an open door.

People come and go constantly. Today the men named to command the brigade's units will marshal there to meet and to get instructions.

In the half-hour a reporter sat in a corner of the office yesterday, officers phoned or came into talk about later appointments, supply problems, the design of the brigade's shoulder patch, training, officers for the artillery regiment and a gin palace for B.M.

A gin palace for B.M. means a certain type of mobile office-truck that proved popular overseas in the last war with brigade majors. The brigadier said he thought that was a must for his B.M., his chief staff officer. He also wanted to be sure the carried wasn't ignored.

Carriers were excellent for getting across bullet-swept ground, he said. There would probably be carriers, the supply officer told him. The brigadier said he wanted all the Canadian equipment he could get.

When they brought in the shoulder patch, the brigadier got up and called a staff sergeant in to try it for size and they talked about it. By this time there was a general, a colonel or two, a major and the brigadier. The brigadier liked the design of the patch but he thought it was too big and the general suggested it be made smaller.

When they took the patch out, one of the colonels started to talk about the artillery unit for the brigade because he was Lt.-Col. A. J. S. Bailey who will command it. The brigadier, big and easy and informal, rolled back in his chair and talked about artillery officers.

He told the colonel to look over the list of volunteers. There was one basic rule he was laying down about officers, the brigadier said. Any man who took a unit or sub-unit into combat must have commanded a force of at least the same size in the last war.

Unemployed Women May Find Jobs

Ottawa, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Should Canadian industry gear again for wartime production it probably will find a bevy of feminine job-hunters pounding on the door.

There will be quite a number of them. The Labor Department reports 21 per cent of Canada's present labor force wears skirts.

Most of them will be young. A department official says more than 40 per cent of women in industry at June, 1949, were under 25. At June, 1950, more than 637,000 single women were working in Canada.

Some will be really anxious for those jobs. Labor department figures disclose that in May, 1950, there were 77,983 women seeking jobs in all provinces excluding Montreal.

A large number of older women will be in the group. Age, a barrier in peacetime, was no hindrance to women war workers during the last war.

"You'd be surprised at what older workers can do," said a Labor department official. "In the last war I saw women between 60 and 65 doing excellent work and taking difficult jobs right alongside the younger women."

Maybe the reopening of the war plants will create jobs for the 11,950 older women reported looking for work last May.

Placement of older workers has

Raid Explains Why A-Bomb Is Not Used

By MAX BOYD

Washington, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The bombing of massed Korean communists by B-29 Superfortresses underscores some of the reasons why atomic bombs are not being used in support of American and South Korean soldiers.

With about 100 B-29s, the United States air force was able to spread approximately 1,000 tons of conventional bombs over an area in which North Koreans were concentrated for an expected attack.

The Superforts' bombing runs were made without interference by enemy fighters, since U.S. and Australian planes control the air over Korea.

Whether the expected communist attack will be stopped indefinitely by the single massive bombing is a question.

But should the communists recover and reform for a drive to cut the American and South Korean forces in two, the Superforts can strike again.

The Superforts also could be joined by hundreds of light bombers and fighter-bombers which the Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps are operating in support of ground troops. Unless and until this con-

U.S. Sources Say Russia May Occupy North Korea

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Many of the best-informed American officials now believe Russia will openly grab off North Korea—above the 38th parallel—rather than let a victorious United Nations force restore peace and unity to the country.

It is assumed here that the precise steps to be taken have been under negotiations between the Soviet Union and communist China. It is also assumed they will act jointly when the time comes.

United States government officials, however, give little credence to reports which have come mainly from Chinese nationalist sources that Russian vice-premier V. M. Molotov has been in Peking, Red Chinese capital, negotiating with Premier Mao Tse Tung and other officials on this and related problems.

Whether Molotov has or has not been there, the belief of responsible authorities here is that the Soviets and Chinese must be deeply involved in fateful talks at this time, concerning not only Korea but Formosa and other Far Eastern political questions.

Increasing evidence of the build-up of U.N. power in southern Korea, it is believed, must now give the Russians and Chinese virtual proof of the determination of the U.S. and other countries associated in the Korean struggle to drive the invaders out of the south.

For the United Nations the prospect of eventual success in South

THE WORLD LOVES A LOVER AND HOLLYWOOD LOVES A LOVE STORY

Hollywood — Olivia de Havilland isn't the only member of Screen Actors Guild beating the Literary Biscuits for a love story, Jimmy Stewart is right behind her in the searching posse. Says Jimmy:

"I think it's time for me to do a love story—something along the lines of Vina Delmar's 'Bad Girl.' But a good love story is the toughest thing in the world to find." Jimmy, now in "The Jackpot" at Fox, is still pinching himself over the critical praise he got in "Winchester '73."

"Didn't expect it," he draws. "Here's a cowboy picture that took just 30 days to make. It's just a story about a gun. I expected 'em to say it was just a pretty good western. But the notices were the best I've ever forgotten. You figure it out."

Inflation and deflation—There's a drug store across the street from Warner's studio where stars get their initials monogrammed on their breakfast hot cakes. . . . Edmond O'Brien, back from making personal appearances at the New York opening of "711 Ocean Drive," was asked what he did in his act. He replied: "I recited a hunk of Shakespeare."

Can't let U.I.'s inflationary announcement on the purchase of Ernest K. Gann's "Fiddler's Green" go unchallenged. It's not the Literary Guild's October choice, kids—it's the Dollar Book Club's tome for September. . . . Fred Astaire, in "Royal Wedding," will warble the mouthful: "How Could You Believe Me When I Said I Love You When You Know I've Been a Liar All My Life?"

The Heroine Wanda Hendrix is smiling bravely through it all, but she had her heart set on the role that Donna Reed finally snagged in Columbia's "The Hero." . . . Fox has earmarked "The Great American Hoax" as a Clifton Webb starrer. . . . Pears like Piers is getting to be a Hollywood word. There's "The Woman on Pier 13." Ida Lupino's "Pier's End" and now Piers Angelli, the Italian actress in "Teresa."

New hide-out for Hollywood's let-get-away-from-it-all set is the million-dollar Appley Valley Inn, set plank in the middle of the valley where the early Hoot Gibson and William S. Hart whinny-and-sport epics were filmed. The hotel was built 20 months ago to swank it after galloping in the hot desert dust all day.

Ronald Colman discovered Shangri-La by peeling through some big valley rocks when Columbia filmed "Lost Horizons" in the area. Jennifer Jones crawled toward Gregory Peck over the same Shangri-La rocks in "Duel in the Sun." UI turned the valley into Israel for "Sword in the Desert" and flew hundreds of extras from Central Casting to the location site daily.

When Appley Valley Inn opened, carrier pigeons were used until telephone communication could be installed between the cottages and

JACOBY ON CANASTA

GETTING RID OF PENALTY CARDS

Once in a while the penalty for making an insufficient meld may be severe. For example, suppose you put a joker, two kings, a deuce and two eights on the table when you need 120. This only counts 110 as your opponents promptly point out.

It is a remarkable thing that although all Canasta players have trouble with their own count, no Canasta player ever has trouble with his opponents' count.

Now you have to discard one of those cards. You are privileged to discard the deuce or the joker, thereby freezing the discard pile, but in all probability you will discard a king or an eight.

Now, if the play proceeds, and neither you nor your partner can meld 120, you may eventually have to throw away your deuce and your joker. In most cases, however, one of you will get the count before this unpleasant thing happens, and you will be able to save your wild cards.

Incidentally, any time your partner does make an insufficient meld, you should make every effort to go down immediately, even though you must use nine or ten cards. Give your partner a chance to be out of his troubles.

If you have penalty cards on the table and your partner makes the initial meld himself, he is not allowed to touch your penalty cards, but at your next turn to play, you may meld your penalty cards in any legal manner you wish.

For example, you have on the table as penalty cards a joker, a deuce, two eights and a king. Your partner melds four aces and a joker. At your next turn to play you have the right to add your joker and deuce to his meld of aces, thereby making a canasta for him and leaving your king and two eights still as penalty cards.

Or, you may add your joker to his ace meld, meld the deuce and two eights, discard the king and be all out of penalty cards. Or you might make your best play, which will be to add the joker to his meld room service. Hollywoodites wrote their orders and clamped them to the pigeons' legs. Bar business boomed. Movie stars, I understand, rushed to the resort just to order a gin fizz by releasing a pigeon.

DANVILLE

The Shipton Women's Institute held its meeting in the Farmers' Hall, Danville, on August 5, with an attendance of thirteen members. The meeting was opened with the "Mary Stewart Collect." The president, Mrs. Stanley Taylor, presided. Mrs. J. Saffin, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. A donation was given to the Dr. Stevenson Day committee. There followed a quiz and guessing contest. The first prize in the latter was won by Mrs. Lodge, and the second by Mrs. Allen Bulker. The flower show prize was won by Mrs. Ralph Bernard. There followed a lengthy discussion on the menu and serving of meals at Richmond Fair. The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by Mrs. Fred Gallup and Mrs. Stanley Taylor.

Congratulations are extended to Mrs. Roland Cleveland and her partner, Miss Murray, who copied the low gross in the E.T. Ladies' Golf ball tournament field day, held at Lennoxville.

At Trinity United Church on August 13, the Rev. C. W. Foggo administered the holy rite of baptism for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manville Williams, who received the names, Wenda Lynne.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bishop accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Olney are on a trip to the Gaspé Peninsula.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelles Richardson, of Montreal, who are on their holiday were calling on friends here. Miss Ethel Stewart is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. William Stewart, and Mr. and Mrs. N. McNiff. Miss Audrey Melber is also a guest in the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Poyer and family, of St. Georges de Beauve, were guests over the week-end in town.

Among those in town for the celebration of Dr. R. H. Stevenson were members of his family, Dr. R. H. and Mrs. Stevenson and family, of Shawinigan Falls; Mr. John Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Thomas and family, Miss Anna

THREE FACES EAST

I don't know enough about military matters to sound off on the wisdom of budding up to Franco of Spain, but I recently heard a story about collaborating with collaborators which might be worth three minutes of your reading time.

It was told to me at the "21" Club by a pleasant-mannered member of the Australian delegation to the U.N. General Assembly who had just returned from a mission to Hong Kong.

"How do things look in China?" I asked him. "Do you think there's any chance of shaking the Comies loose from all the territory they've grabbed?"

"That's a difficult question," said the gentleman from Down Under, "inasmuch as there are plenty of Chinese who don't care a great deal, one way or the other."

"It's hard for me to believe that," I said.

"Well, perhaps I can best illustrate what I mean by telling you about a refugee who recently slipped into Hong Kong from North China. He applied for a job as porter at our temporary office, and when I asked him how things were up north, he said, 'Bad. Things are always bad up north.'"

"He told me he had worked for years in a small factory which made dishpans, and that his boss had grown fat and rich overworking and underpaying his employees. And there was nothing the workers could do about it—the owner was in cahoots with the mayor, a petty despot who ran the town as if it were a private concentration camp. On one occasion when the men had appointed a committee to talk to the

Mrs. J. A. Stewart is spending two weeks in New Jersey visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Janice Stewart has returned to Montreal, after spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Harold Stewart and her aunt, Miss Evelyn Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Matheson and Mrs. D. Matheson spent a day in Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Billing and daughter, Sally, of Sherbrooke, and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Scott and son, Bobby, of Schreiber, Ont., were in town calling on friends.

Mrs. Annie Leonard has returned from Springfield, and Boston, Mass., where she spent the past few months.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Mills were visitors in Sherbrooke.

Mrs. H. B. Patton and her grandchildren, Audrey and Michael Nutbrown, with their guests, Mrs. Leon Greenly and Miss Bonnie Rancourt, were visitors in Cookshire.

Guests of Miss Evelyn Moore and Mrs. Harold Stewart were Messrs. William Moore, of Sherbrooke, and Robert Moore, of Drummondville, and Mrs. Kathleen Tobin, of Leominster, Mass.

Mrs. H. L. Everett spent a day in Sherbrooke and called on Mrs. John Matheson, who is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital. Mrs. Matheson's friends will be glad to hear that she is progressing favorably after an operation.

Mrs. J. Snyder and daughter, Jacklin, have returned to Montreal, after spending a month with Miss Colina MacKenzie. They were accompanied by Misses Katherine and Colina MacKenzie and Mr. W. O'Hara.

Mr. H. Nutbrown spent a week in Birchton with relatives. Mrs. Fanny Greenway has returned from Bethel, Me., where she spent a month with her niece, Mrs. W. E. Saunders, and family.

Mrs. M. E. French, of Jordan Station, Ont., spent a few days with Mrs. Beatrice Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker. Other guests at the same home included Mr. Herschel French and Mr. Donald Lake, of Drummondville; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wadleigh, Mr. and Mrs. George Parker and Mr. Douglas, of St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Swanson and family, of Martindale Heights, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goodenough and daughters, of Bury; Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Bailey, of Birchton; Mr. Reginald Bailey, of East Angus; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Parker, of Bulwer; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McCurdy, of the Spring Road; and Mrs. Roy Lake.

The Scouts and Cubs with their leaders, Mr. Waldron and Rev. Mr. Turpin, are attending camp at Mr. A. E. French's in Flanders.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Barter, Miss Janet Barter and Rev. and Mrs. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woolley and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker were guests at the Scott-Burns wedding, in Island Brook, on Saturday.

Stanley Parker has returned home, after spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCurdy, on the Spring Road.

Mrs. O. C. Farnsworth, Miss Mary Jean Farnsworth and Mr. and Mrs. J. Beaumont are spending a week at Sunapee Lake, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Southerland, of St. Albans, Vt., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Standish.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. Eva Hurd and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hurd, of Sawyerville, have returned from a trip through New York and New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Heathering son, Roger, attended the church service and parade of the Sherbrooke County Orange Society, held in the Anglican Church, at Bury. After the service refreshments were served.

boss, the mayor had sent over a squad of policemen who beat them up and threw them in jail. "When the Japanese invaded China in '37, most of the workers secretly hoped they would take over the factory and shoot their two tormentors. But a few minutes before the troops marched in, two big Japanese flags appeared on the main street, one on top of the factory and one on top of the town hall. And before the day was over, the boss had convinced the Japanese officials that he could be useful to them manufacturing mess kits, and the mayor had convinced them he could do a valuable job maintaining public order and collecting taxes. "From then on, instead of working ten hours a day, the workers were required to put in twelve—at a twenty-five per cent cut in pay. "The refugee told me that last year, when the Commie troops took over, two new flags again showed up on the main street—this time red ones with hammers and sickles. The welcoming committee was headed by the boss and mayor, and in no time at all they had convinced the commissars they could be useful in keeping things going for the glorious army of liberation. A week later, a sixteen-hour work-day was announced—at virtually no pay. "When the refugee had finished his story," my Australian friend went on, "I told him not to despair—the United Nations were certain to drive the communists out of Korea, and one of these days would probably do the same in China. "The refugee shrugged his skinny shoulders. 'It won't make any difference,' he said. 'If I know that boss and that mayor, they already have United Nations flags hidden away in their cellars.'" Fine Weather Favored Start Today Of 94th Annual Richmond Co. Fair

Richmond, Aug. 17—The 94th annual Fair of the Richmond County Agricultural Society got under way today with fine weather expected to draw record crowds to the three-day exhibition.

This is Children's Day at the Fair and youngsters of school-age were admitted free to the grounds. The Midway was the centre of attraction for them as they headed for the many exciting rides and other attractions brought here by the T. Green Amusement Company, Ltd., of Toronto.

A total of $7,238 will be distributed in prize money, making this Fair one of the most valuable to the contestants of any in the Eastern Townships.

Fair officials are more than pleased with the number of entries received, reporting that interest in all departments has been greater than usual this year.

More than $4,000 was spent by the Society during last year in making repairs to the grounds and buildings and three new barns were constructed.

The grandstand revue, staged by Garden Brothers of Toronto, features acts never before seen in this part of the country and the colorful, gay and varied program should find favor with young and old alike.

There will be harness racing on all three days, with Bert Osgood, of Granby, officiating as the starter.

The livestock parade, always a big attraction at County Fairs, will be held on two days, Friday and Saturday.

The band music for the Fair will be in the capable hands of the Sherbrooke Regiment band, under the baton of Professor Havard.

The judging program got under way at 9 a.m. with junior department entries the first to be judged.

Ex-Employee Of Sherbrooke Dies Suddenly

For many years an employee of the City of Sherbrooke and later regional manager for Les Caissees Populaires Desjardins on King Street West, Georges E. Belisle died suddenly at his residence late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Belisle entered the service of the City of Sherbrooke in 1920 when the offices were located in the Whiting Block. On resigning in 1947 to take up his new position with Les Caissees Populaires, he was accountant for the gas and electric department.

First Sod Turned For New Plant

The above photo was taken at the turning of the first sod at the new location of the J. H. Bryant Ltd. plant on Cherbouge Street, off Drummond Road. After more than half a century on Depot Street, the company found the move necessary so that it might increase production facilities for its well known brands of soft drinks. Bryant's, which incidentally has changed its location to larger premises three times during the last 50 years, will equip its new plant with the most up-to-date machinery available.

In the picture from left to right are John Bryant, Cliff Bryant, Cubitt Gray, Guy Bryant, Edmond St. Pierre, Albert Bryant and Gerald Bryant. Three generations in the business are represented. Messrs. Gray and St. Pierre with a total of more than 100 years service to the company, represent the generation of the founder, the late John H. Bryant, Guy, Albert and Cliff Bryant are sons of J. H. Bryant, while John and Gerald are grandsons.

The new plant will be completed in November and is designed for a production of over 1,000,000 cases per year.

Mother, Child Burn To Death At Adamsville

Granby, Que., Aug. 17. — (CP) — A mother and her 7-month-old daughter died at Adamsville yesterday when a fire gutted their two-story frame house.

Mrs. Norman Taylor, 28, and her daughter Julie, were the only occupants in the wooden house at the time the fierce blaze swept the home in less than an hour.

Police said the victims had little chance to escape as the blaze raced through the house. Flames tossed 30 feet in the air and the heat kept fire fighters 50 feet away from the burning structure.

An attempt to break through flaming timbers to rescue the mother and daughter was halted when floors of the house crashed into the basement.

The woman's husband was at work at Granby when the fire broke out.

C. O. T. C. Will Be Resumed At Bishop's

Arrangements are being made to re-establish the Canadian Officers Training Corps at Bishop's University, Dr. A. R. Jewitt, principal and vice-chancellor, said yesterday.

He said talks between the university and the department of national defence had made "good progress."

No definite date has been set for the re-establishing of the unit, but Dr. Jewitt indicated that defence officials would make the necessary arrangements "as soon as possible."

Magog Loan To Improve City Passed

Magog, Que., Aug. 17.—Magog property owners yesterday voted in favor of raising a loan of $272,000 which will be used for the betterment of the city. The money will be used to install sewers, water pipes and sidewalks, to purchase a new fire truck and two additional trucks and to pay off long-standing debts.

Close to thirty per cent of the 1,389 eligible voters. In favor were 232 votes with property evaluated at $1,000,000; 130 voters with property worth $772,300 were against the by-law. Eight ballots were spoiled.

A sum of $48,000 will be used to build sidewalks, $39,000 to construct streets and $31,000 for the installation of sewers and water-works.

Ontario Mine Is Closed By Strike

Timmins, Ont., Aug. 17.—Pickets today patrolled the Preston East Dome gold mine in the first strike since 1912 in the rich Porcupine mining field.

Union officials said the strike may spread to Coniatarum and Buffalo Ankerite mines in the area unless demands for higher pay are met.

Some 900 men are employed by the mine. W. A. Hutchinson, manager of Preston East Dome, said the mine "will be open for those who wish to return to work. If enough don't show up, we will close indefinitely."

The strike was called suddenly yesterday by local 100 of the Porcupine Mine Workers Union (C.C.L.) after collapse of negotiations.

Pickets began to stop workers as the day shift left work yesterday afternoon. More than 300 miners were on the picket line by the time the night shift arrived. Police patrolled the area and warned pickets not to stop any miners who wished to go to work.

Leo Bohie, vice-chairman of the union, said the miners demands included six statutory holidays with pay, instead of the present two, incorporation of a cost-of-living bonus of 15 cents an hour in wage rates and an increase of 12 cents an hour.

Barn And Hay Are Burned Near Foster

Foster, Aug. 17.—A fire which started early yesterday evening destroyed a barn and 50 tons of hay on the farm of Col. P. A. Piuz, about one mile east of Foster, causing an estimated $15,000 damages.

Cause of the fire was laid to spontaneous combustion.

Firefighters from nearby Foster and Waterloo fought the blaze for five hours before it was completely extinguished.

The fire loss was partially covered by insurance.

The roof of the same barn had been torn off during the big blow last winter which damaged the farmhouse to the extent of $2,000.

Gordon (Chick) Whatley Will Attend Y's Men's Convention In Mexico City

Gordon (Chick) Whatley will leave here next Monday for Mexico City as the official delegate of the Sherbrooke Y's Men's Club to the 20th annual international convention of Y's Men's clubs.

Mr. Whatley, who will be attending his first international convention, will be in Montreal overnight on Monday then leave by plane for Mexico City, arriving there Tuesday evening after stop-overs at New York and Dallas, Texas.

The seven-day convention, which starts Tuesday, will include in addition to business sessions, conferences and forums, a sight-seeing trip to Chapultepec park with a Mexican Fiesta at Caballo Bayo, a trip to the Pyramids of the Sun and the Moon, a visit to Xochimilco Castle and Maximilian's Palace.

Delegates also will take in, if they wish, the bull fights at Mexico City.

Conference sessions which Mr. Whatley will attend will deal with such topics as boys' work, young adult work, world outlook, club bulletins and other subjects with which Y's Men's clubs of the world are associated.

There will be delegates present from a majority of the 315 Y's Men's clubs in North America as well as a number from central and South America and possibly eight representatives from Great Britain and continental Europe.

Jack Frost, Jr., of Shreveport, La., will be the conference chairman.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Holds Field Day

Sherbrooke Lodge 1070 B'nai B'rith held their fifth annual field day at Katevale Sunday, August 13.

Largely an event planned for the children, there were 25, 50 and 75 yard races for both boys and girls. Two of the most popular contests were the egg and wheelbarrow races.

During the afternoon, the annual Sherbrooke versus Montreal softball and volleyball games were held, with Montreal taking the volleyball event two games out of three (15-9, 8-15, 18-16) and the softball tilt by a score of 10-6. A new trophy, donated this year by Lodge 1070, will become the permanent possession of the team winning the above events three years in succession.

The Maurice Echenberg trophy, awarded to the highest aggregate winner for all events, went to Deanie Echenberg, of Sherbrooke, who also took top honors in the midget class. High Intermediate aggregate winner was Seymour Steinman, with Ralph Steinman taking first place in the junior rank.

Top aggregates for the junior and intermediate girls were won by Francis Foght and Barbara Geller, respectively, both from Montreal.

People present for the occasion are among those spending the summer months at Little Lake Magog.

WATCHDOG COMMISSIONS

The United Nations could wisely adopt a proposal by a church group that watchdog commissions be placed in trouble spots all around the world.

The suggestion comes from the Commission of the Churches on International Affairs. Its leadership includes John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser to the State Department; Francis B. Sayre, U. S. delegate to the UN trusteeship council; Arnold Toynbee, British historian; Charles Malik, Lebanese minister to the U. S., and several other prominent figures.

An American editorial writer, commenting on this suggestion, states that it is perhaps doubtful whether such watchdog commissions would act, as the group declares, as a "deterrent to aggression and a third world war."

After all, he states, a U.N. observer commission was in Korea June 24 and before, but it did not stop the Koreans from marching.

But such commissions can perform one vital service: carefully assessing the political and military situation in each of the critical areas, and establishing the truth about aggression if and when it occurs.

We need only listen to the prattling of Russia's representative on the UN Security Council, Jacob Malik, to realize that any aggressive move anywhere by Russia or her satellites will be twisted into a "peaceful" gesture if the world's observers are not there to prove otherwise.

According to Moscow's version, it was the South Koreans who started things in Korea. The North Koreans are merely counter-attacking. And of course the United States, too, is held to be guilty of aggression against the "Korean people."

But thanks to the UN Korean commission, the world knows exactly what the facts were when the invasion began. By that date, the North Koreans already had sliced across the 38th parallel bordering South Korea at several points. These salients, designed to give the northerners tactical advantage, were never wiped out by the defenders.

Furthermore, authenticated reports made clear that the North Koreans were massing men and armor and were clearing civilians out of the border zones from which an attack would be launched.

In contrast, the South Korean constabulary army was doing little or nothing. Not only was it not deploying for an assault; it wasn't even placing itself wisely for defense. More than that, as we now know all too well, it wasn't equipped for more than internal police action.

All these facts are documented and in the UN's hands because a commission was on the scene to establish them quickly. The information actually was in the UN's possession when the Security Council met to try to end the aggression.

Russia being what it is, we will get this same fantastic inversion of the truth everywhere she threatens. Perhaps many millions of westerners, including Americans, have long since discounted anything the Soviet propagandists says. But we have to remember that in Asia and some other places the West is trusted little more than the Russians.

So it's important to unity of world action against aggression that the real facts be known to all nations beyond any shadow of doubt. Let's put watchdogs in Indo-China, Malaya, Iran, Turkey, Yugoslavia and Germany.

THE BATTALION COMMANDERS

There can be no complaint voiced about the choice of battalion commanders for Canada's United Nations Brigade.

In the selection of Lieutenant-Colonels James Stone, D.S.O. and Bar, M.C., R. A. (Bob) Keane, D.S.O., and Jacques Dextraze, D.S.O., the army has brought back into service three men whose leadership and bravery were unparalleled in the Canadian army of the Second World War.

Jim Stone is a big Englishman who went to the Peace River country in Alberta as a homesteader. When the last war began he enlisted in the Loyal Edmonton Regiment as a private and rose through the ranks, finally becoming commanding officer of his battalion. As a company commander during the bloody fighting for Ortona in Italy in December, 1943, his inspirational leadership played a major part in the final defeat of the fanatical German defenders. In future battles he fully maintained the fine reputation he gained in that fight.

Bobby Keane is a husky, handsome Fort William man who was known to Canadians before the war as an ace defenceman on Lakehead hockey teams. He commanded the Lake Superior Regiment in northwest Europe and under his able guidance his motor battalion spearheaded many of the successful Canadian advances.

Lt.-Col. Dextraze, at 31 the youngest of the battalion commanders, was to Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal what Jim Stone was to the Edmontonians. He was known throughout his division as "Mad Jimmy" and there were few battles in which the F.M.R.'s engaged which did not see the colonel leading his men personally.

When Groningen in northern Holland fell to the Canadians, Lt.-Col. Dextraze accepted the surrender of the German garrison of some 20,000 troops. With only his driver as a companion he went to the German headquarters and talked the German commander into laying down his arms.

Like Lt.-Col. Stone, Lt.-Col. Dextraze also rose through the ranks, having started the last war as a private.

Under the general direction of Brig. John Rockingham and with such able battalion commanders as the three men whose names have been announced, Canada's United Nations brigade can be certain of the best of leadership.

Press Comment

PRICE INCREASES DEMAND ACTION

Conditions rapidly are arising which, if allowed to continue, will make necessary a strict re-imposition of economic and other controls in Canada. Unless the government gives prompt leadership in counteracting the trend, it will continue and at an increasing rate.

It has been easy to discern these past few days certain deliberate price increases. Possibly some of these are due to higher costs. But what is occurring in the United States shows another influence at work. Prices and other controls already have been discussed. Prices are being boosted, in advance of any ceilings, so that if ceilings do come profits will be higher than they otherwise would have been.

It is a sorry commentary on democratic peoples that, at the very moment when their system is threatened seriously, some are prone to think of their profits first, their country second. And this at a time when profits generally are at their highest in recent history.

It is not a situation that can be shrugged off by the Canadian government. It immediately should call Parliament into session. It should seek whatever power is necessary to cope with the problem, and to cancel any unnecessary price increases. It should warn all concerned that if prices are increased, controls will be clamped on, all across the board, and that any guilty of unwarranted increases before that time will have their prices cut back to a fair level.

As a companion measure, there should be a stiff excess profits tax. By this means inordinate profits taken from the people, under the stress of the times, could be recovered by the nation to help meet increasing defence costs. And the profit level at which the tax becomes operative need not necessarily be that of the past couple of years. Profits have been extraordinarily high in most instances.

It also is suggested income tax rates be increased and exemptions lowered, and this action also should be taken when circumstances dictate. But it is only fair to say that those in the lower brackets of earnings are not those who profiteer. They are the victims, not the beneficiaries, of inflation. They are earning more than a decade ago but inflation has offset, or more than offset, their higher earnings.

Defence, or war, costs will be proportionately much greater than in 1939. Even if the weapons and equipment were the same, production costs are sharply up due to the postwar inflation. And, of course, new and more costly equipment is needed. Any additional inflation will step up costs of the preparedness program that much more.

Military preparedness and assistance, in keeping with Canada's honor and commitments to the United Nations, are essential. But it is idle to talk of them without giving equal thought to economic and industrial effort.

The Canadian government must be ready to step in, and let all those concerned know it will step in, if people use the present dangerous situation as an opportunity to enhance their profits.

"SOCIAL" MAYOR OUT

Kitchener-Waterloo Record
Rather an unusual but understandable situation has arisen in Edmonton with the nomination by Mayor Sidney Parsons that for three months neither he nor any of the aldermen will accept any social engagements as the representative of the city.

The reason for the unusual action is pressure of civic business and Edmonton should know what that means with all the problems of a great city expanding so rapidly that it is hard to keep track of things. Edmonton has 140,000 people in an area the equal of Chicago. In addition, the western city has been grappling with a proposition to spend $25,000,000 on a big civic centre downtown embracing four complete blocks.

Mayor and aldermen are elected to conduct civic business and that is a big task, particularly in the larger cities where budgets of many millions are involved. Unfortunately, organizations seem to think that the mayor is at their beck and call and he sometimes becomes a social ornament. Night after night of banquets and speeches are being and, actually, the time spent in this way is in proportion to that spent on civic business.

Doubtless many mayors wish they had the courage to follow the plan of Mayor Parsons so that they could have a few nights at home with their families. At any rate, the result will be watched with interest all over the country.

TOO MANY DROWN

Winnipeg Tribune
Already this year 23 persons have lost their lives by drowning in Manitoba waters, and the holiday season is little more than half over. This is a shocking record, particularly so since there is almost no drowning accident that cannot be set down as preventable.

Despite repeated warnings and object lessons, a great many persons continue to take long chances in and on the water which all too frequently result in death and saddened homes. There is tragic evidence of the need for wider teaching of commonsense safety rules.

Bill Ryan stood in the driveway of his gas station watching down Main street. Almost two blocks away he could see the trim little figure trudging along, looking back now and then to see if a car were coming that she might hail.

She wouldn't have to wait long. Bill knew that. Not with her looks she wouldn't have to wait. Not with her personality. Not with that something about her that you could not describe. Something that was just there. Something that no other girl had except one. That other girl Bill had once thought would be his wife. The one who had told him by letter she would always be a sister to him when he came back from the war. The one who had married someone else while Bill was away.

No, she wouldn't have to wait long. Someone would pick her up. Bill hated to think who that someone might be. There were so many possibilities. He shuddered as he thought of it. But she was gone. She was a fighter. He could tell that from having talked to her. Her father was near death. For him she would brave anything. She just had to get there.

Her little red car stood in the driveway where she had left it. Left it when she knew or thought she knew it would be too expensive to repair. Left it while Bill stood dumb. Too dumb to say, "Here's MY car. Drive it. Take it. Never bring it back if you don't care to. It's yours. Because you remind me of that other girl. So much it hurts."

Her looks, every mannerism brought back memories of that other one. The one who wasn't there when he had come back from the war. For five years he had been like a hermit. At least that was what Murphy, his mechanic, had told him.

"Come on out tonight, Bill," Murphy used to say. "Come on out tonight. Forget about everything. Move fish in the ocean." Stuff like that. Murphy knew him well. Murphy had seen it all happen, all the way from the beginning. From the beginning to the lousy end. But he had not listened to Murphy. He had remained sort of a recluse. He had enough. Enough until today when the girl had driven into the gas station. Then she had stood there crying softly when she should have been laughing. That's what had gotten him.

The little red car had come down Main Street dancing a rumba. Wheezing, coughing and back firing until everyone on the street was watching. Then it had turned into his station and with one last great back fire had lunched to a stop. The girl had crawled out, laughing nervously and said: "Eloise is dead."

Then she had cried. Cried softly, with big tears slowly rolling down her cheeks from blue eyes over long black lashes. "Who's Eloise?" he had asked and she had just pointed to the car. "She's gone and done it again. Failed me."

Then she had told him all about it. How she had been visiting an aunt when she had gotten the telephone call from her mother this morning that her father was very sick and asking for her.

Bill had left the station and they had walked to the hamburger stand a block away and had a hamburger together. He wondered now how she had agreed to go with him. But it had seemed so natural to ask her. Just as though it was the other one he was talking to again. He hadn't told her about the other one.

He had just told her that Murphy was on a job and that as soon as he came back he could surely fix her car. But she had told him she couldn't wait that long.

Later, as they talked she had told him the real reason. She had only enough money to buy gas to Lyndale. And he had sat there like an ox, just thinking about how much she reminded him of the other one; not thinking of how he was going to help her get back to Lyndale.

In the old days he used to go fishing near Lyndale twice a year. He wondered if she, too, liked fishing. He pictured her in a boat on the bush, and learnt their customs.

After the end of the war he returned to Tete and immediately resumed his old way of life. It was said that his family had cut his allowance to $50 ($150.00 a month and his visits to the town became less frequent.

People are beginning to wonder about him now, as he has not been seen in Tete for more than six months.

WESTMINSTER REPORT

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Aug. 17.—(C)—World War No. 2, as the Korean conflict has sometimes been called, marks a setback in economic planning in the western world.

For the first time since the 1939-45 war ended, the dollar drive of Britain and western Europe now officially takes second place to defence. The ambitious plans for restoring trade balances and meshing free economies must be discarded, or at best revised.

International events march quickly. Three months ago, in what Canadian officials considered to be a bold step forward, it was decided that Canada and the United States would associate themselves with the organization for European Economic Co-operation to strengthen economic co-operation between North America and western Europe.

Broadly speaking, the idea was another phase in the post-war pattern which has seen the west move closer together to try to handle economic problems as a unit. Canada welcomed the proposal as a possible means of regaining some of the markets lost because of dollar-sterling difficulties.

Thus, with the blessing of Canada and the United States, the O.E.E.C. met in June to draw up a four-to-five-year program for western European recovery. Then along came the war in Korea, and this first attempt to plan beyond the end of Marshall aid went out of the window.

Korea means defence instead of dollars, guns instead of butter, so economic planners will have to start again. Member states which have pledged new rearmament programs in response to a call from the United States, will have to submit revised economic estimates based on increased military spending.

Western rearmament also means particular problems for particular countries. Britain, for instance, will have to decide to what extent the woollen mills of Lancashire and Yorkshire are to be turned over to the production of service uniforms instead of shirts for North America.

Prime Minister Attlee has set Britain's expenditure at £3,400,000,000 ($10,200,000,000). If plants are going to start turning out more military equipment, how can the United Kingdom maintain its engineering exports to Canada; will priorities for export markets be established?

These and other questions undoubtedly remain to be settled. Some outline of what the government has in mind may emerge today, when Hugh Gaitskell as minister of economic affairs, meets representatives of organized labor to explain how rearmament will affect industry.

Attlee may fill in other details in a broadcast Aug. 23. Present guesses are that the government will increase the call-up period from 18 months to two years, and increase service pay.

Members of a prominent aristocratic family, he lived a strange life here until he broke out in 1939. He joined up, but returned to Tete in 1943.

The author of a book on arms and ammunition, he hunted extensively in the district and came to know the natives.

He tired of civilized way of life, adopted the Moslem faith, and afterwards wore a red fez or a burnous. He lived among the natives in

TAKE GUESSING OUT WHEREVER POSSIBLE

"That's the craziest trick I've ever seen in my life," gasped North.

"That's nothing," said Pessimistic Pete. "Stick around, old fellow, and you'll see even crazier tricks." The trick to which North referred was the second trick of the hand shown today. I wonder how many readers will figure out what Pessimistic Pete actually did.

West's opening lead was the six of hearts, and dummy won with the queen. What is the craziest—and yet most sensible—trick that declarer can do at this point?

Pessimistic Pete was in no hurry to make his second play. After about a minute, however, he led a low diamond from the dummy!

East won with the ten of diamonds and returned a spade. Pete won in his own hand, entered dummy with a trump and ruffed a low diamond. He then drew the rest of the trumps and entered dummy with the ace of clubs. The ace and king of diamonds dropped East's remaining cards in that suit, allowing South to discard the two losing spades. The low diamonds were now good, but South needed only one of them in order to discard his losing club. The remarkable play at trick two was not as crazy as it seemed. South wanted to establish the diamonds without losing control of trumps. He couldn't tell how either red suit was going to break. The line of play Pete adopted assured his contract against any 4-2 break in each of the red suits. He needed to ruff only one diamond after giving one away and therefore could stand a 4-2 trump break. Since the diamond ruff occurred on the second round, he didn't have to fear an over-ruff.

Pete might have made his contract by some risky line of play that involved guessing how the missing cards were distributed, but the line of play that he actually adopted required no guess-work and entailed no risks.

Socialism Ends In New Zealand With New Gov't.

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

Wellington, N.Z. — New Zealand's new government has taken a major step in reversing the socialist trend of the Labor government's 14 years in office by offering the state air services for sale to private enterprise. The previous government bought out all internal air services and established a state monopoly.

The new National Party government's offer is its first attempt to return a large nationalized undertaking to private control and it has been met immediately by a Labor threat to re-appropriate the services, without payment of goodwill, if the Labor party regains power in the future.

Since it came into office, the new government has been occupied principally with reducing the volume of controls built up by Labor. Many price controls, real estate sales and rent controls, house building restrictions and limitations on the use of currency held abroad have been abolished. All rationing has been lifted. The import licensing system is undergoing an extensive review with a view to cutting its operation to a minimum.

Among the state enterprises which were losing money was the National Airways Corporation. It was formed in 1945 by the purchase of privately-owned airlines. Most of these, including the line operating the main trunk routes, Union Airways, were being run at a profit. Since then the state had had a monopoly of regular internal air services.

Labor Party Hostile
Announcing the government's intention to withdraw from internal air services and sell to private enterprise, minister of civil aviation W. G. Gosman said: "As matters stand, private operators are prevented from establishing air services, although they may be satisfied they would pay their way, while the National Airways Corporation holds a monopoly and runs at a loss. The government believes that private airlines can be operated successfully and that by giving the opportunity to do so the taxpayer will be relieved of the present burden of losses."

The proposal came sharply up against Labor party hostility. The opposition leader and former Prime Minister, Peter Fraser, declared that if the Labor party was returned to power in the future it would forthwith take over the airways again. They would be taken at exactly the selling price, with additions for improvements and deductions for depreciation.

Prime Minister Sidney Holland condemned the Labor attitude as an attempt to thwart the will of the people who had declared at the election against state trading. He said the Labor statement did an injury to the country as it might discourage purchasers and affect their bidding for the airlines.

Associated Press correspondents Don Whitehead and Jack Macbeth reported the Marines hung on to part of "slaughterhouse hill."

The hill commands one of the vital sections of the Nakdong river bridgehead in the heart of the 120-mile Korean battleline. It is about 20 miles southwest of Taegu.

Correspondent Macbeth said the Marines were badly outnumbered but grabbed and hung to part of the heights in a bloody fight.

Elements of the U. S. First Marine Brigade jumped off at dawn Thursday and stormed the hill.

Macbeth said by mid-afternoon Thursday they had secured part of the ridge and Marine reinforcements were pouring into the battle.

U. S. 24th Infantry Division troops were held back at the start of the new offensive, under battle plans. Then they were rushed into the fight on the Marine's right flank.

Throughout the day Marine and air forces fighters pummeled the top of the hill with rockets, machine-gun fire and bombs.

Most of the hill was enveloped in smoke during the bitter fighting. North of the Red's eastern bank toe-hold, in the area pounded Wednesday by B-29s in their mass bombardment of 60,000 ground troops, allied and enemy forces see-sawed in attacks and counter-attacks around Waegwan.

Fighting swirled around the city of Waegwan. The U. S. 1st Cavalry Division pushed up a hill outside of Waegwan that it had lost earlier to Reds attacking from the bombed area.

The South Korean 1st Infantry Division smashed into the Red's

OBITUARIES

CONLIFFE ERIC SAVAGE, OF GRANBY.

Granby, Aug. 17.—There passed away on August 10, at his country home on Brome Lake, Conliffe Eric Savage, one of Granby's prominent business men, at the age of 53 years.

On Sunday, July 30, he suffered a coronary thrombosis, but was making a good recovery, as physicians both here and from Montreal assured the family, but the end came quite suddenly on Thursday morning and at ten o'clock he passed peacefully away.

Mr. Savage was born in Granby on March 1, 1897, and was educated at the Granby Academy and later attended Feller Institute at Grande Ligne and the Laime Commercial School at St. Hyacinthe. He entered the business of his father, Raymond C. Savage, in 1915.

In 1922 he was married to Miss Florence Leah Bard, who survives him, also his two sons, William and Wayne.

He was active in many local organizations, including Yamaska Lodge No. 4, A.F. and A.M., the Granby Kiwanis Club, Granby Golf Club, Granby Curling Club and the Granby Fish and Game Club.

He was a faithful and devoted member of St. George's Anglican Church and interested in all branches of church work.

In 1917 he enlisted in the Royal Flying Corps but the war was over before he was called to go overseas.

In 1930, after the death of his father, he took over the business, when it passed into the hands of the third generation, and carried it on successfully until the day of his death.

been one of the most serious problems facing the National Employment Service since Canadian industry swung back into peacetime production.

It often results from the prejudice of many employers against hiring older men and women, regardless of their high qualifications and experience. Company pension plans sometimes are the cause of such reluctance to hire older persons.

Reopening of the war plants might help the housewife now locked in a penny-to-penny struggle with the cost of living. In June this year more than 302,000 married women were working in Canada.

The funeral took place at St. George's Church on Saturday afternoon, August 12, and a large and sorrowful congregation filled the auditorium to capacity.

The bearers were Messrs. Robert Mitchell, Carl Bullock, Lionel Allen, Justin Horner, George Shutt and Roger Barre. Mr. O. R. Jackson acted as funeral director.

The service was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Lidstone, and Miss Doris Lewis played Chopin's and Haydn's funeral marches and the carillon of bells while the organ played the hymn "The Church Grounds."

The veterans under the direction of Walter J. Wright, attended in a body.

MRS. FELIX ROUTHIER, OF DERBY LINE.—Funeral services for Marie Grandbois, wife of Felix Routhier, of Derby Line, who passed away on Thursday, August 3, at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, in Sherbrooke, was held on August 5, at St. Edward's Church, in Derby Line, with the Rev. Armand Fortin officiating, assisted by Rev. J. George Guay, of Rock Island, and Rev. Emile Caron, of Stanstead.

The mass was sung by Paul and Hubert Lussier, accompanied by Miss Irene Lussier.

Mrs. Routhier was born in St. Edouard, on May 30, 1876.

On October 27, 1899, she married Felix Routhier, and to this union seven children were born.

In 1915 they came to live in Derby Line, where the members of the family have been actively engaged as merchants.

Mrs. Routhier was a devoted wife and mother, and was a member of the Rock Island Ladies of St. Anne, as well as an active worker in her church until her illness of thirteen years duration.

Mrs. Routhier is survived by her husband and seven children, three daughters, Emelia, Mrs. Lucien Lamarche, of Claremont, N. H., Orise, Mrs. Orlor Lamarche, of Derby Line, and Miss Marie Routhier, of North Wampole, N. H., four sons, Adalbert, Alphonse and Lucien, of Derby Line, and Phe-lipp, of North Wampole, N. H.; also Mrs. Irene Martin, of Claremont, N. H., who was brought up by Mrs. Routhier from infancy; also surviving are Samuel Grandbois, of East Angus, a brother; Mrs. U. Pepin, of Sawyerville, a sister; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Routhier, of Providence, R. I., a brother and sister-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Routhier, of East Clifton, a brother and sister-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Hector Deprats, Mr. Joseph Lafleur and Samuel Pouliot, of Woonsocket, R.I.; Miss Eugenie Tetreault, Mrs. Liza Lemure and Florence Landry, of Franklin, N.H.; Mr. and Mrs. Irene Cote, of Beebe, Mr. and Mrs. Andre Routhier, of East Clifton; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Routhier, of Coaticook; Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Routhier, Louise, Leone, and Leonard Routhier, of Way's Mills; Denis Routhier, Hector, Bouffard and Mrs. Arthur Bibeau, of East Angus; Mrs. Aurore Richard and Mrs. Auror, Fontaine and Simons, of Montreal; Mr. Octave Patenaude, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Patenaude, Janine Muriel and Rose Patenaude, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Marchessault, of Derby Line.

The bearers were Messrs. Louis Roberge, M.P.; James W. McNally, F. D. LeBlanc, Leo Gignac, Leo Plante and Mr. Alfred Beauclair. Interment was in St. Edward's Cemetery, at Derby Line.

The railways last Thursday made a final offer—excluding hotel and steamship help—of a 44-hour week with the same take-home pay as now and with an assurance the 40-hour week would be put in "at the appropriate time."

Mr. St. Laurent said he did not wish to comment on this because of its implication that matters were being taken out of the hands of the negotiation parties. But one government source said such a suggestion could be put forward by a mediator without the aura of government dictation.

ventional striking power forces inadequate, the use of atomic bombs is unlikely.

In the massive Superfortress bombing, the area attacked was 7 1/2 miles long and 3 1/2 wide.

To cover such an area with atomic blasts of fatal force, it would take not one but perhaps half a dozen A-bombs of the power used at Hiroshima. Authorities agree, however, that A-bombs would kill far larger numbers of the enemy than would ordinary bombs.

For safety's sake, American troops facing an area under atomic attack would have to remain at a greater distance than if the zone were under attack with conventional explosives.

Some American authorities also are fearful that use of atomic weapons, even against purely military targets rather than city masses, would tend to turn people elsewhere in Asia against the United States.

Present Canadians To King And Queen

London.—Six Canadians were formally presented to the King and Queen at the first Royal garden party of the season.

They were Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow of the Supreme Court of Canada, and his wife; George Chalmers, minister without portfolio in the Ontario government; Maj.-Gen. H. R. Phelan of Ottawa; Mrs. Kay Walker of Ottawa, wartime commandant of the women's division of the R.C.A.F.; and Mrs. Robert Kindersley, daughter of Ray Lawson, Ontario's Lieutenant-Governor.

HEATHTON

The August meeting of the Heathton W. A. was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Roy Aldrich assisted by Mrs. Douglas Bullock at the home of Mrs. Aldrich, when a large attendance of members and friends were present.

After the usual business, meeting was adjourned with plans to meet with Mrs. K. D. Cooper, later during the month, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Miss Frances Bullock.

The funeral was Mr. and Mrs. Hector Deprats, Mr. Joseph Lafleur and Samuel Pouliot, of Woonsocket, R.I.; Miss Eugenie Tetreault, Mrs. Liza Lemure and Florence Landry, of Franklin, N.H.; Mr. and Mrs. Irene Cote, of Beebe, Mr. and Mrs. Andre Routhier, of East Clifton; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Routhier, of Coaticook; Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Routhier, Louise, Leone, and Leonard Routhier, of Way's Mills; Denis Routhier, Hector, Bouffard and Mrs. Arthur Bibeau, of East Angus; Mrs. Aurore Richard and Mrs. Auror, Fontaine and Simons, of Montreal; Mr. Octave Patenaude, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Patenaude, Janine Muriel and Rose Patenaude, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Marchessault, of Derby Line.

The Doctor Says

TREATMENT FOR HIVES IS SIMPLE IF ITS CAUSE CAN BE FOUND

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
Hives, or urticaria, is usually considered to be a form of allergy. The condition usually starts suddenly with the appearance on the skin of reddish, swollen spots or lumps of various sizes. There is almost always severe itching not only of the red spots but also of the entire skin.

Frequently the spots disappear almost as fast as they come; often they last only a few hours. However, in some cases urticaria goes on for days or weeks and a chronic condition can occur which does not disappear for months or even years.

Hives may follow the eating of some food to which a person is sensitive. It can also develop after drug or serum has been given, after infection, exposure to heat, furs, insect bites, and many other things. In other words, it is not a single disease but is a peculiar reaction in a sensitive person.

Urticaria differs from many other kinds of allergy in that a sensitive person does not always show a skin reaction when the offending substance is placed in contact with the skin. Often this failure of the skin to respond (a type of testing used in many allergies) makes diagnosis of the cause of hives particularly difficult. Furthermore, no one knows why red spots should appear on the skin as a sign of sensitiveness.

In spite of the common difficulty in picking out the cause, treatment is most satisfactory when an accurate identification of the offending substance can be made. If strawberries, shrimp, or some other article are found to bring on an attack of hives, it is usually easy to eliminate the offender and so avoid future difficulty. Thus, when the cause can be found and avoided, the problem is solved unless sensitiveness develops to some other substance.

Mysterious Hives
In chronic cases when the cause cannot be discovered the condition is particularly distressing. The skin condition is unsightly, and itching can be quite intolerable. In certain cases, however, the use of one of the new antihistamines brings great relief. These drugs do not cure the underlying cause but often relieve the itching and cause the disappearance of the skin lesions for several hours at a time. They should, however, be taken for this condition only under medical direction.

In many ways hives, or urticaria, is still a mysterious condition. The completely unexpected appearance of hives in a person who has never had them before is one of the many problems which has not yet been solved. There is still a long way to go in learning all about urticaria.

MERRILL ISLAND MINING CORPORATION

(NO PERSONAL LIABILITY)

INCORPORATED UNDER THE QUEBEC MINING COMPANIES' ACT WITH AN AUTHORIZED CAPITAL OF THREE MILLION SHARES OF $1.00 PAR

A NEW COPPER-GOLD DEVELOPMENT IN THE CHIBOUGAMAU MINING AREA OF QUEBEC

Merrill Island, Kokko Creek and Blake Chibougamau Mining Corporation are names long familiar and commonly associated with a copper-gold deposit of outstanding merit in the Chibougamau Mining Area of Quebec.

Merrill Island Mining Corporation was formed recently to acquire Blocks "A", "B" and "C" in Obalski Township and Block "B" in McKenzie Township, in the Chibougamau Mining Area, and these Blocks contain a portion of Merrill Island, the showing on Kokko situated on the Mainland on the west shore of Dore Lake opposite the island. These Blocks were acquired from Blake Chibougamau Mining Corporation Limited and have been held under Mining Concession issued in 1921 by the Province of Quebec. The area covered by the mining properties of Merrill Island Mining Corporation contain approximately 667.89 acres.

Access to the property is had by the recently completed gravel highway of some 145 miles in length joining St. Felicien on the Canadian National Railways to the Chibougamau Townsite in McKenzie Township.

ECONOMIC GEOLOGY

The properties are in the anorthosite complex which had been subjected to major gaulting and extensive mineralization—minerals of economic consideration being copper, gold and silver. Reports concerning the deposit appear in various publications issued by the Department of Mines at Quebec and at Ottawa.

EXTRACT FROM: Canada, Department of Mines, Summary Report, 1927, Part C, Geological Survey 1928—"Substantial values were found in the mineralized trenches near the lake. The report of J. G. Ross, of Milton Hersey, of Montreal, notes values in one case over a width of 31½ feet as being 4.3 per cent copper and $14.03 in gold. Greater values over shorter lengths were obtained in other trenches."

ORE OCCURRENCES:

It is reliably reported that four ore occurrences exist on the properties: two are located on Merrill Island and two are located on the mainland on the Northwest shore of Dore Lake.

ZONE "A" (on Island) consists of a sheared mineralized zone traced by surface trenching and by 20 diamond drill holes on a length of 2,000 feet. It shows a width on surface and in the diamond drill cores varying from 10 feet to 85 feet. Mineralization consists of chalcopyrite, pyrite and pyrrhotite, with some quartz in sheared altered anorthosite. Mineralized narrow porphyry dykes have been observed on the margin and in the ore zone, on surface.

ZONE "B" (on Island). This zone is located some 300 feet northeast of Zone "A" and has been explored by 6 diamond drill holes on a length of 550 feet and is open at both ends. This zone shows widths varying from 5 feet to 38 feet as indicated in diamond drill cores. Mineralization is similar to that of Zone "A".

ZONE "C" is located on the northwest shore of Dore Lake and appears to represent the strike extension of Zone "A". This zone consists of two bands of heavy chalcopyrite mineralization contained in a width of 7 feet of sheared altered anorthosite. No work has been done on this zone.

ZONE "D" located a few hundred feet off the Northwest shore on Kokko Creek. This has been explored on surface by means of trenching on a length of about 300 feet. This consists of heavy mineralization containing chalcopyrite, pyrite and pyrrhotite, similar to Zone "A". Sampling in one trench on a width of 15 feet gives an average of approximately $18.80 in gold and silver and 4.21% copper. No diamond drilling has been done on this zone.

INDICATED ORE:

From diamond drilling alone on Merrill Island on Zone "A" and on Zone "B" to a vertical depth of less than 250 feet, there is indicated a minimum of one million tons of ore averaging approximately 0.015 ounces in gold, 0.25 ounces in silver and about 2% copper. Diamond drilling at closer intervals and to greater depths, as well as exploration of the ore occurrences on the mainland, are expected to add materially to the ore tonnage.

SALIENT FEATURES

Property surrounded by other mining companies which are carrying on diamond drilling and exploration. Diamond drilling to less than 250 ft. has indicated one million tons of copper-gold ore. Deeper diamond drilling to greater depth and at closer intervals may easily be counted upon to enlarge the ore tonnage.

Four ore zones already known. The indicated ore zones on Merrill Island Mining Corporation property show a length of approximately 3,100 feet.

An extensive programme of diamond drilling and exploration to commence immediately.

DOROTHY DIX

It Can Work

Plenty Of Mothers-In-Law Add Happiness To Home

Dear Miss Dix: Can two people who are sure that they love each other, having been engaged for four long years, hit it off O. K. with a third party, my mother, thrown in on the deal? I am an only child. My father died when I was only 5 years old and mother has been everything when it comes to me. I owe her everything, including a living. Naturally when I marry I shall insist that she live with my husband and me, and my husband agrees that he can and will get along with her and insists that everything will be all right. Why all this fuss about mothers-in-law? It scares me before I even start.

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: It has been done, Helen. There are exceptions to every rule. There are many households in which the mother-in-law is not first aid to divorce but the guardian angel of the home. And there are plenty of sons-in-law who love their wives' mothers as well as they do their own.

TACT NEEDED
It depends chiefly upon how much tact and self-control the mother has and upon her willing-ness to sacrifice woman's innate mania for running her own household. It happens to be in it. Also whatever house the prospective husband is one of the posses-sions upon how much good, hard, horse sense you have in managing the situation and keeping both your husband and your mother feeling that he or she is first with you. And, believe me, that requires some doing.
If your mother is one of the bossy kind of women and will not only rule you, as she has always done, but will tell your husband where he gets on and off, you will never make a success of your marriage. Nor will you if your husband is so much in love with you that he is jealous of your affection for anyone else. And you will certainly mess things up and probably land in the divorce court if you are always throwing mother in husband's teeth and telling him that mother thinks she should do this and so, and mother women who can keep her fingers out of other people's pies, and if husband is an easy-going, good-natured chap who likes company and doesn't object to a third party, and if you are an adept at rubbing fur the right way, why, there is no reason why you shouldn't marry and live happily ever after, despite the handicap of having a mother-in-law in the house.

Dear Miss Dix: I am married to a man who is good and kind, without any bad habits, and who is a good provider. He complains unhappy with each other and quarrel over little things. He complains because I like to stay up late at night and read and sleep in the morning and he has to get his breakfast. He has to go to work early, but I leave the things on the table at night for him to cook. Also, he "do" if he leaves his shoes on the floor for me to pick up. Don't you think that he is unreasonable in these matters? S. E. C.
Answer: No, I don't. I think you are making mountains out of molehills and that if all you have to complain of in your husband is that he leaves his shoes on the floor and tracks in a little dirt, you are blessed among women.
If you had a husband who beat and mistreated you or one who was a drunkard whom you had to haul in the door because he couldn't find the keyhole or if you had one who was a philanderer who kept you awake wondering what pretty young girl he was out with, then you would have a right to bewail yourself, but you have no cause to weep over a pair of shoes or a mud or snow stain on the floor.
Also, it seems to me you are giving your husband a mighty raw deal when you won't get up and get his breakfast for him at a moment's notice and if he were not as patient as a job he wouldn't stand for it. If a man is willing to toil hard all day to support his wife, she might at least be willing to cook the food that he brings home.

Dear Dorothy Dix: You have never given a logical definition of love. Please send me that information at your earliest convenience. W. R. Y.
Answer: Nobody has ever given a logical definition of love because there is no logic in love. It comes and goes as it pleases and none know why they love nor why they cease to love, nor is there any way of reviving love when it is dead.

DOROTHY DIX cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet D-11, "Attentions From Marriage Men," analyzes the dangers of an extra-marital relationship from the girl's point of view. she was inundated with confetti. The varied gifts were attractively wrapped in pink and blue trappings which matched the decorations of the tea wagon on which they were presented to the bride-to-be and when uncovered exhibited an array of beautiful and useful presents.
Gladoli were used to adorn the rooms, the pink blooms in a crystal bowl and pink candles in crystal holders centering the dining-table. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by several of the guests.
Miss Mary McDonough and Miss Monica Veilux entertained on Friday evening at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. she was inundated with confetti.

Sawyerville Bride-Elect Showered

Sawyerville, Aug. 17.—A miscellaneous "shower" was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Forgrave, when upwards of eighty-five relatives and friends gathered in honor of Miss Dorothy Smith, a popular bride-of-the-month.
The joint hostesses were Mrs. Gordon Forgrave, Mrs. Elmer Dempsey, Miss Esther Brazel, Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. Gordon Dempsey.
The house was decorated with cut flowers and pink and white streamers.
The bride was met upon her arrival and escorted to a seat of honor by Mrs. Forgrave and was presented with beautifully decorated wheel-barrow, filled with many pretty and useful gifts.
The bride-elect thanked her friends for their gifts and invited them to visit her at her new home, in Sherbrooke.
Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses. The bride table was centered with a beautiful bride's cake, with candles on each side.
Gerald McDonough, Morkill Street, in honor of Miss Shirley Stewart, whose marriage will take place this month. The event took the form of a kitchen shower and the living room, where the guests assembled, was decorated with summer flowers toning in with the pink and pale blue motif carried out on the lace-covered table arranged in one corner, and on which the camouflaged kitchen utensils gave the appearance of a flower garden.
Mrs. Harry Hall, mother of the prospective groom, provided the music for the party and accompanied Miss Nancy Doiron, who sang old and new favorites of the bride-elect and her friends, who numbered twenty.
The bride-to-be was then presented with the many gifts, all matching her kitchen, and no duplicates, and shortly their full utility was revealed.
A buffet supper followed, when the tea table was centered with zinnias in a crystal bowl and contrasting candles in matching candlesticks. Mrs. A. R. Stewart, mother of the guest of honor, poured and also cut the heart-shaped cake, special for the occasion, which harmonized with the decorations.
The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. McDonough.

Around the Home...

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

It seems as if most people have a struggle to furnish their first home. We visited newlyweds last weekend and it was almost like reliving our own first few months! They will succeed, though, as first things had been put first and improvisation took care of the rest. One of their best "makeshifts" was a hall table. His parents had modernized an old sideboard by removing the top section—mirror and all. The top shelf and two supports had been left intact; a third leg was placed in the centre at the back and then braces run to the other two legs. It made an ideal hall table for the telephone and hadn't cost a cent. Even the mirror had been resilvered, etched and mounted on half-inch plywood, making an inexpensive hall mirror.

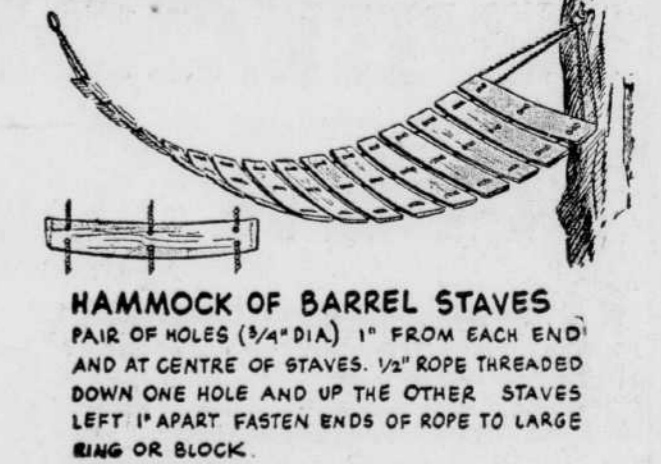

Barrel-Stave Hammock
 If you would like a hammock to hang under your favourite tree but must pamper a limited budget, try the idea developed by a neighbour down the street. Holes were bored in old barrel staves and then threaded with half-inch rope. You'll see how it was done by examining the diagram shown. A heavy blanket or old sleeping bag will make the hammock quite comfortable.

Corner Garden Seat
 If you wish a garden trellis in a half-pint backyard, don't stick it out in the centre of the lawn like a sore thumb. Arbours and gateways should lead somewhere; high trellises should terminate some line of vision. One of the best ideas I have seen for a small garden combined the trellis with a corner garden seat. It was most attractive and a solid mass of blue morning glories when I last saw it.

I notice some of my perennials are beginning to fall over. In case you haven't suitable flower supports for your garden, here is the type I have been using for years. They are easy to apply and just as easy to store away in the fall.

Committee Scores Dockers' Tactics In Auckland, N. Z.

By J. C. GRAHAM Canadian Press Correspondent Auckland, N.Z.—Poor work by longshoremen has been blamed by an investigating committee as the chief cause of the slow turn-round of ships here. The delays caused shipping companies operating from Britain, the United States and Canada to impose a surcharge of 7 1/2 per cent on freight rates. The committee consisted of representatives of shipping companies, importers, the waterfront industry commission and the harbor board. The watersiders' union refused representation. In its finding the committee stated: "The committee finds that the poor work performed by many waterside workers is very much the major cause of port congestion and is largely attributable to a grave lack of responsibility, with almost complete lack of discipline on the part of many workers and loss of control by the employers. "One cause of this unfortunate position is that the employer has no voice in the selection of men who wish to enter the waterside industry and no control whatsoever in the allocation of union members to vessels. This committee considers that no substantial change for the better is likely until the employer has a far more direct and personal interest in the selection and employment of the men for whose services he pays. "Industrial Blackmail" The committee said the action of the union in frequently stopping work to push claims for extra rates of pay amounted to little less than industrial blackmail. It strongly criticized other restrictive practices, especially the system of "spelling" under which one gang works while another rests, though both are being paid for the time involved. "It is a flagrant abuse of the conditions of work laid down and would not be tolerated in any other industry," the committee said. "It is fundamental that men should work during the hours for which they are paid. It is clear that this is not being done."

The committee found that inadequate port berthage space was a contributing factor to port delays, but almost all the rest of its report criticized the present waterfront labor set-up and the methods adopted by the watersiders. The Watersiders workers' union at Auckland, as at other ports in New Zealand, is a "closed" union—that is its membership is limited and new members can join only by election by the union itself. Members of the union are given preference in all calls for labor and non-unionists can get work only when all union members offering have been engaged. So strong is the union's influence that when the watersiders go on strike, calls for labor are hardly ever made among non-unionists. Watersiders have won for themselves by militant tactics a basic wage rate higher than that of skilled tradesmen, and in addition receive higher rates for special cargoes and bonuses in certain circumstances. They are now among the highest paid manual workers in the country.

Miss D. Smith Of Sawyerville Given A Shower

Sawyerville, Aug. 17—A "shower" was held in the Town Hall in honor of Miss Dorothy Smith, on August 8. The hostesses were Mrs. Ben Nell, Mrs. A. Noble, Misses Ruth Matthew, Blanche Hunt, Mrs. Harold Locke, Mrs. E. M. Tannahill, Mrs. H. Lassenba and Mrs. C. H. Burns. When upwards of 50 friends and relatives gathered to shower the bride-elect. The friends had assembled and Miss Smith was called at the telephone central and was asked to go to the hall and get a person there. Upon her arrival she was met by Mrs. Nell and escorted to a seat of honor amid showers of confetti. Miss Smith was taken by surprise, when Mrs. Nell presented her with a beautiful trillium lamp from the friends present. Bingo was played during the evening, later delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by others. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a bride's cake beautifully decorated.

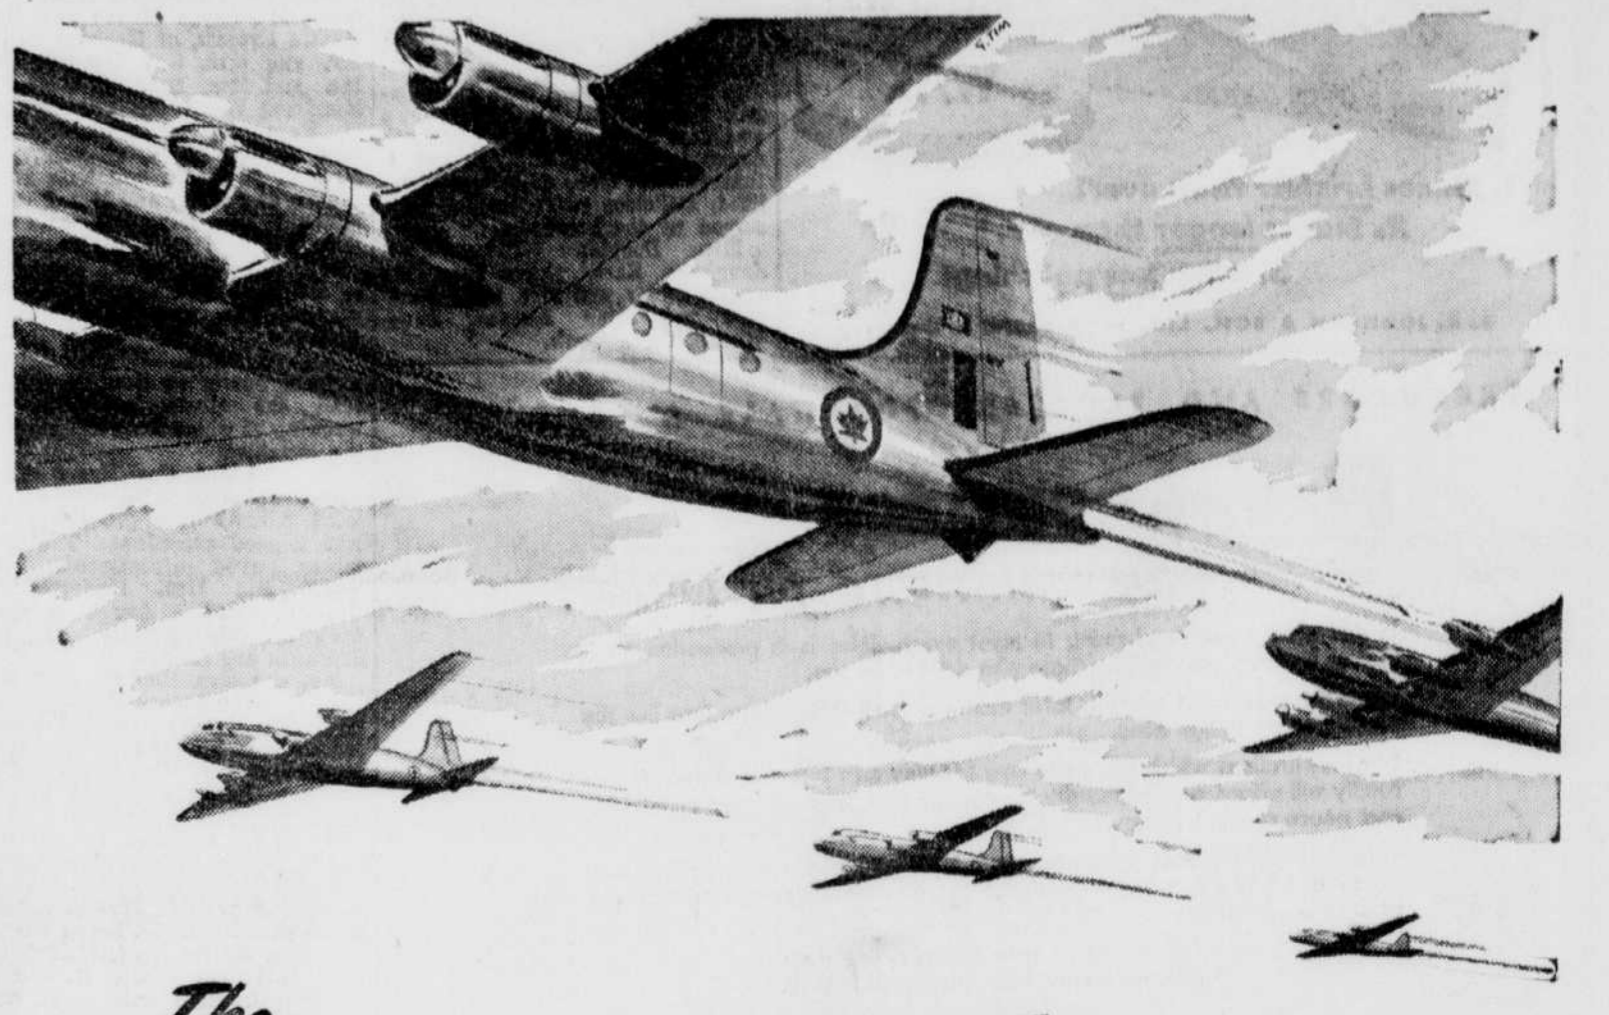

ated. The colour scheme was carried out in pink and white with bouquets and baskets of flowers centering the tables. Miss Smith in a few well chosen words thanked all her friends for their gifts and invited them to visit her in her new home. Mrs. Eva Hurd, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hurd accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson, of Cookshire, on a trip through the White Mountains. Messrs. Lloyd French, Francis Williams, Lyle Rand and James Bellam are spending a few days in Northern Ontario. Several from here attended the funeral of Mr. Roy Lake, at Cookshire. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Lake and family.

The proceeds amounted to $208. St. Matthias Guild held their annual bazaar in Canon Gustin Hall on Thursday, August 3.

Mrs. Carrie Carr and Miss May Kimpton sold aprons, knitted articles, and fancy work; Mrs. R. Peilste, home cooked food; Mrs. D. Halsall and Miss L. Bullock, candy; Mrs. Jean Dunn had charge of the fish pond; Miss Ivy Dunn sold the supper tickets; Misses Opal and Margaret Laraway and Evelyn Sheldon looked after the ice cream.

Mrs. R. Jones, Mrs. L. Warner and the Misses Lois Cooke, Jean Alger, Gladys Smith, Marjorie Lenely, Shirley Cooke, Dawn Davidson, Eva and Dawn Huckins, served the many guests at the supper hours. Mrs. Laura McKee made the tea and coffee.

Mrs. S. Kimpton was in charge of the kitchen and was assisted by the following: Mrs. C. Smith, Miss Sharkey, Mrs. A. Dolloff, Mrs. E. Alger, Mrs. R. West, Mrs.

G. Huckins, and Miss Ernestine Sheldon.

Mrs. R. Cooke, Mrs. E. Webster, Mrs. L. Rider and friend looked after the salads.

A large number of guests were present from Lennoxville, Ayer's Cliff, Stanstead, Rock Island, Tomfofia, and Georgeville, as well as the local summer visitors and Mr. and Mrs. K. Murray and the boys, councillors and instructors from Camp Arrowhead. The proceeds amounted to $356.

The Guild officers wish to thank all those who helped make this pleasant event such an outstanding success.

HATLEY

PREPAREDNESS—

the watchword for to-day

In this uneasy world, planning to meet eventualities is a precaution worth taking, if not for yourself, for those who depend on you.

Pause a moment—it may be later than you think. There is no time like the present to get things done.

The preparations which you make now for your own future and that of your family will afford added security in years to come, and give you satisfaction and peace of mind to-day.

Your Investments, your Property, your Will—are they arranged to best advantage? We can be of assistance to you in considering these matters, at little or no expense.

Let us analyze your Estate, review your Investments and help you plan your Will.

DENISON'S MILLS

Rev. Mr. Beattie invited members of the Kingsley Mission churches to the picnic held by Kirkdale Holy Trinity Church, at the Kirkdale parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Denison and daughter and Miss Marjorie-Ann Denison attended from here. Sydenham Church was well represented and a very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed.

Friends of Mr. Oscar Philbrick will be sorry to hear that he has been ill at his home for some time, but is showing improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Findlay have been visitors at the Paterson home and their son, Harland, has been with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson, all summer, except for a day or so spent with his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Findlay, of St. Cyr.

Visitors at the Denison home have been Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hill and children, Diane and Allan, Shawinigan Falls; Mrs. Jean Hill, of Montreal; and Mr. Ronald Hollitt, of R.C.A.F., of Clinton, Ont.; for a week-end. Mr. and Mrs. John McNaughton, of Beloit; and Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Brown and daughter, of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Delman Rief, of Montreal, spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. G. Priest and their two sons, also of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hughes, of Longueuil, were at their cottage for two weeks and entertained guests from Quebec and Longueuil during their holidays.

Mr. Gerald Huckins, of Fitch Bay, and son, Lindsay, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carson and family, and other relatives.

Many from here enjoyed a day or more at Danville Falls. Mr. J. Denison and Mr. H. MacLeod were the only exhibitors and won a satisfactory number of prizes.

Mr. John Andrews spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cleveland and family, in Danville.

Mrs. Lawrence Armstrong and children were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Beard and family, at Brownleigh Place.

Mrs. Avery Denison visited her sister, Mrs. Barrett, and her mother, Mrs. Rachel Philbrick, and other relatives, in Danville, for a day.

Barbara BUYS AND WHYS A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, August 17th—The secret to appetizing hot-weather meals is to keep them light, gay and, of course, completely delicious. That's why JELL-O is such a midsummer favourite with me. There are so many refreshing salads—so many exciting desserts to be made from Jell-O's seven "locked-in" flavours. Easy in the making, too! And I'm particularly attracted to the very definite economy of Jell-O Jelly Powders. At a few cents a serving, I know of no more delicious dish to serve to family or friends.

A Bargain in Silverware, if ever I've seen one! Just think! You can get a set of famous Wallace Brothers Silver Plate for half price and less! In the beautiful "Laurentian" pattern... silver-plated on finest quality nickel silver with an extra deposit of silver at the point of greatest wear. All you do—simply save your LIBBY'S EVAPORATED MILK labels and get—6 teaspoons ($2 open stock value) for just $1 and 6 Libby's Evaporated Milk labels—OR—a 24-Piece Set of 6 teaspoons, 6 dessert spoons, 6 forks, 6 knives ($15 open stock value) for only $3 and 24 Libby's Evaporated Milk labels. (Labels from both large and small tins are acceptable for both offers.) So get in the happy habit of using Libby's Evaporated Milk in your cooking. Save the labels and send them to me with your money order—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

Look High... look low... look inside and out. You can't beat the new 1950 FRIGIDAIRE "Thrifty-30" ELECTRIC RANGE! It's in a class by itself! To begin with, this new Frigidaire "Thrifty-30" has a gas-oven that stretches clear across the range—cools more food on no more current. This range is 30-in. in every other way, too... except in kitchen space and size! Only 30 inches wide, fits perfectly in small kitchens. It's an amazing General Motors value that gives you features you'd only expect in much more costly ranges: new, faster-cooking 5-Speed Radiant Tube Units, new counter-balanced shell-type door, High-Speed, waist-high Broiler and other advantages. See it at your Frigidaire dealer's.

We're Getting into the Season... when hay fever miseries strike hardest! So, if you're looking for new, blessed relief from sniffles and sneezes and watery eyes—buy yourself a bottle of ANOHIST today! Anohist's antihistamine formula is distinctive—it's recommended for family use! Then, too, the Super-Economy Family-Size bottle of 36 Anohist tablets costs you only about 3c a tablet! Last winter families everywhere said goodbye to cold symptoms with Anohist. And now you can get relief from the miserable symptoms of hay fever or "summer colds" with the same quick, effective Anohist. Ask for the big, Super-Economy Family-Size bottle at your favourite drugstore!

Your Dreams Of Loveliness will come gloriously true... with the beauty magic of wonderful new WOODBURY DREAM STUFF! Seeing is believing how lovely this new make-up discovery can make you look! Dream Stuff is a tinted foundation and powder blend in one make-up. Fat it on with its puff—it goes on your skin like rich velvet—clings for hours and hours! It's not a drying cake—nor a greasy cream... no "powdery" look. Tuck it in your purse—it can't spill! In four dreamy shades—I particularly recommend "Tropic Dream" for a lovely Sun-tan complexion. Dream Stuff is just 65c.

Why Not Send the Kiddies Now for their medical and dental check-ups? Then, if treatment is needed, it can probably be all cleared up before school opens. Remember, you can follow this wise plan even if you're short of ready cash. First, if treatment is necessary, get an estimate of the cost. Then talk it over with your husband—and go with him to see your BANK OF MONTREAL Manager. If you're in a position to repay out of regular income, you'll find the money you need at the BoM. A Personal Loan costs only 27 cents a month in interest per $100 borrowed, when repaid in 12 monthly instalments. Yes, it costs much less in the long run to have your medical and dental work done in good time.

So Delicious On A Warm August Day... this favourite fruit salad of mine! Try it!... I know you'll enjoy it! Use the freshest fruit—pears to make your dressing with HEINZ WHITE VINEGAR. (All of the Heinz Vinegars—White—Malt and Cider are salad-dressing "musts". I've found! They're aged and mellowed in wood 'til they're flavoured-perfect!) This Fluffy Fruit Salad Dressing made with Heinz White Vinegar will bring out the very best in your fruit salads!... Combine, blending thoroughly after each addition, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1 1/2 tsp. flour, 1 egg yolk, 1/2 cup pineapple juice, 1/2 cup orange juice and 2 tsp. Heinz White Vinegar. Cook, stirring constantly, until very thick. Cool. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white.

Feet Get Tired from a long shopping tour? Of course they do—particularly on a warm summer day—and I'm sure you give them the rest they deserve the minute you get home! But what about your eyes? They work even harder, with never a let-up—and yet they rarely "complain"! Nevertheless—they do get tired... that's why I always keep a bottle of MURNE handy! Just 2 drops of Murne in each eye, and instantly they feel refreshed and rested. Murne's 7 ingredients blend perfectly with the natural eye fluids, soothing delicate eye tissues gently and tenderly.

There's No Substitute for that zesty, tangy real lemon flavour—just as there's no substitute for the deliciousness of SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS! They're the finest, juiciest lemons to be had! So next time you make a lemon pie—lemon cake—icing or cookies—next time you want luscious lemon flavour in a salad or a fruit or vegetable juice—be sure you have a good supply of Sunkist California Lemons on hand! Yes, there's a treasure of "California acid" in store for you at your grocer's... all the plump, juicy California lemons you want for your cooking!

May Mean Doctor's Bills For You... During these late summer months, every fly you see threatens your family with disease. These filthy pests leave germs on everything they touch... helping to transmit over 20 different diseases including polio, typhoid and dysentery. That's why it's only common sense to kill as many of these dangerous pests as possible. And the best way I know of doing so is to spray insect-killing FLY-TOX throughout the house! In its new, improved form FLY-TOX lasts longer and kills quicker than ever before. So don't accept substitutes. Ask for FLY-TOX by name... in any one of three convenient sizes!

Smoke Famous PALL MALL VIRGINIA CIGARETTES... and note the difference!... EXTRA MILD... PREVENT FIRES... PLAIN END or CORK TIP

Men's Singles Down To Quarter Finals In Canadian Tennis Event

Quebec, Aug. 17.—(P)—The men's singles in the Canadian Tennis Championships came down to the quarter-finals today with the international representation narrowed but still balanced against the remaining Canadians.

What promises to be a rousing match brings together Dick Mouldous, of New Orleans, and Robert Abdesselam, of France, ranked No. 2 in his own country.

All other divisions are ready for semi-final play—women's singles and doubles and the men's doubles.

Canada lost two of her Davis Cup players in the men's singles yesterday—Lorne Main, of Vancouver, and George Robinson, of Montreal—but Henri Rochon and Brendan Macken, of Montreal, were very much in the show along with Jean Marois and Jean-Paul Turgeon, of Quebec.

Quarter-finals of the women's singles left Pat Macken, of Montreal, as the sole Canadian survivor.

De la Halle, a tall, rangy left-hander, was far from comfortable in his match with George Robinson but came through with a 7-5, 6-4 win.

The spectators murmured sympathetically when Lorne Main bowed to Bill Tully, of Bronxville, N.Y., the 1948 Canadian champion.

Henri Rochon kept ahead of Alain Lemyse, of France, all the way and never appeared in danger

Goodloe Has Figure To Display Gaudy Garb, So Mr. Five By Five Puts On Show In U. S. Amateur

Minneapolis—(NEA)—A total of 210 skilled shotmakers will compete in the United States Amateur Championship at the Minneapolis Golf Club, Aug. 21-26, but a piano-legged southerner again is expected to attract most of the attention.

Billy Goodloe

Billy Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., was successfully in the Atlanta sectional qualifier with 72-71-143, good but not exceptional.

Goodloe's golfing talents resemble the permanent supports of a drydock, but with vastly more appeal. He looks something like Tony Galento, especially when he has a face full of cigar, and belts the ball like the one-time Orange, N. J., heavyweight threw a left hook.

There's one story in particular that the home folks like to repeat down going to the 17th hole in an Atlanta invitation tournament.

Mr. Clark is a patient in the B.M.P. Hospital, in Sweetsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Mason and family attended the Field Day at the Lennoxville Experimental Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moore were calling on old neighbours near Brome Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burns accompanied by Robert, Margaret and Malehom Burns were tea guests at the Mason home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shufelt and family, of East Farnham, Mrs. W. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Mason and family, accompanied by Miss E. G. Ellison, spent a day at Calls Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Bushy, of Montreal, were week-end guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Jessie Bureau.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Hooper accompanied Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Strange and grandsons, Master Ronald Allen, and Master Peter Goodhue, to Sutton on Saturday evening, August 12, where they attended the wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Perkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Perkins, which was held in the Town Hall.

Mrs. R. Dustin and Mrs. C. Longway attended a tea in aid of the church, at Mrs. G. Moynan's, in East Farnham.

Mrs. C. Clark visited Mr. Clark, at the Sweetsburg Hospital, and found him much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Ingalls and daughter, Louise, of Vancouver, B.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Battley, of Knowlton, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moore, Callers at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. John Gough and Mrs. Ella Laduke, of Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stevenson and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spencer, at Knowlton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stevenson and family enjoyed a trip to Burlington, Vt., crossing on the ferry to Port Kent, N.Y., and returning by the way of Hemmingford, where they called on friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Stewart and sons, Billy and Bobby, have returned to their home in Montreal, after spending their holidays at the home of Mrs. Stewart's mother, Mrs. Williams and family.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Davidson and family were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eager and Mr. Howard Eager, of Kinross Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Learmonth, Messrs. Alvin Wright and Everett Learmonth, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright and Bobby and Ann Wright, and Mr. W. G. Wright.

Guests at the home of Mrs. W. Porter and family were Mr. and Mrs. Neil Stewart and Mrs. Stewart Sr., of Lake Megantic.

Mrs. Alvin Leavitt, and grandson, of Montreal, Misses Evelyn and Velma Cook were tea guests of Mrs. Gordon Learmonth.

Week-end guests at the home of Mrs. W. Porter and family were Mrs. John Forbes and son, Billy, of Cornwall, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Morrison, of Thetford Mines; Mr. George Currie, of Preston, Ont.; and Mrs. W. Bulard and daughter, Merillia, of Adderley.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Stewart and sons, Billy and Bobby, of Montreal, Mrs. William Porter, and George Currie spent a day in Quebec.

Mr. Edward Wright has gone to Ontario where he will spend some time.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright and family were Mr. and Mrs. C. Stewart and sons, of Montreal, Mrs. W. Porter, Miss Irene Porter and Messrs. Billy and

Jim Konstanty Is National's Most Valuable; Slick Deals Helped Put Whiz Kids Across For Phillies

New York—(NEA)—Casimer James Konstanty of the amazing Phillies is so far the most valuable player in the National League this season that it isn't a contest.

But the baseball writers seem to have sort of a law against naming a relief pitcher.

Carl Hubbell twice was the National's MVP. Dizzy Dean, Buckly Walters and Mort Cooper were voted the award. Lefty Grove and Spud Chandler bounced down in front in the American League and Hal Newhouser twice grabbed the duke.

Starting pitchers, yes, but never a trouble shooter.

When Joe Page of the Yankees so richly rated the AL plaque in 1947 and again last fall, the scribes turned to first Joe DiMaggio and then Ted Williams.

There was such a squawk about the latter's selection that President Chester L. Smith of the Baseball Writers' Association wisely changed the time of balloting. The customers shouted for Phil Rizzuto and Page, so finally a fireman at least got some recognition in the MVP line.

Big Jim Konstanty did it for the 51st time against the Giants at Shibe Park the other night. It was the third straight game that the bespectacled Syracuse alumnus was called upon to put out the blaze, his fifth outing in six days.

The Philadelphia Nationals won a one-run game for the 20th time, which is as good a way of winning pennants as has been discovered.

Konstanty was credited with this one, giving the large right-hander a record of nine and four. Up until that evening he had saved 19 games, which makes him a 28-game winner already in Eddie Sawyer's book.

Jim Konstanty now does it from force of habit.

Slick deals and old pros like Konstanty are helping to put the Whiz Kids across.

Andy Seminick developed into a whale of a catcher and home run hitter.

The Phillies got Eddie Waitkus and Hank Borowy in an inexplicable transaction with the Cubs, notorious for fumbling in swaps.

There must have been money, for all in the way of talent that Bob Carpenter gave up were the aged Dutch Leonard and Walt Dubiel. Waitkus, one of the superior glovemakers at first base, gives the Whiz Kids in the infield a reassuring target.

When the Cardinals were sorely in need of a shortstop just before in 1948 season started, the Phillies got Dick Sisler for Ralph LaPointe, now with Toronto, and $20,000. The Phillies had sustained power when Manager Sawyer stuck the son of the immortal George Harold in left field.

Emil Verban went to the Cubs on waivers, Aug. 3, 1948, when Chicago desperately required a second baseman. In return, the Phillies got Russ Meyer the same way at the season's end Meyer has as much stuff as any pitcher in the business.

Ken Johnson, who recently won the odd game of the series shutting out the Cardinals with two hits, came from the Red Birds for outfielder Johnny Blatnik.

The Whiz Kids aren't handicapped by the front office.

Charley Coe Heads New School Taking Over On U. S. Amateur's Golden Jubilee On August 21-26

Now that George S. May has run out of "world" championships at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter, perhaps we can get in a few words edgewise for a real tournament—the 50th edition of the United States Amateur.

The old standbys will be at the Minneapolis Golf Club, Aug. 21-26, of course, but, generally speaking, a new school, headed by the defending champion, tall Charley Coe, is taking over on the Amateur's Golden Jubilee.

The Minneapolis course—6,655 yards long, par 71—is no Merion, Pebble Beach or Oakmont, but a genuine championship test nevertheless.

Those who saw the 26-year-old Coe en route to and mowing down Rufus King of Wichita Falls, Tex., 11 and 10, in last year's 36-hole final at the Oak Hill Country Club, Rochester, N.Y., branded him a wonderful hitter of the ball.

The Oklahoma City insurance man crashed the national picture only the year previous when he went to the semi-finals of the Amateur in Memphis.

Handsome Harvey Ward, Jr., had Coe three down and five to play in last summer's round of eight. The North Carolina undergraduate with the sound game is one of the more flamboyant simon-pures, the darling of the bobby soxers.

Giving the production another shot of showmanship is Billy Goodloe, of Valdosta, Ga., sub. Two other Amateurs have thrilled to Dynamite Goodloe's presence, but it took this year's British Amateur to bring him front and centre. Golf's Mr. Five by Five's crew cut and vivid shirts and caps set staid Britain back on its walking sticks. He's the Amateur's Jimmy Demaret.

William C. Campbell, Jr., a semi-finalist a year ago, is definitely a threat. Bill Campbell, Princeton man, a resident of Huntington and a West Virginia legislator, won this year's North and South, gave a creditable account of himself in the British Amateur.

Los Angeles' MacGregor Hunter, North Texas State College's Billy Maxwell, Seattle's Gene Lintler and Spokane's Al Mengler are fresh faces who are highly promising and hotter than the Phillies. Hunter is the son of Willie Hunter, who came to this country in the early 1920s after winning the British Amateur. Young Hunter is squeezing in the Amateur before entering the armed forces.

Mason Rudolph, 16, becomes the first golfer in history to play in three national golf tournaments the same year. The Cairksville, Tenn., high school lad was one of the youngest ever to take a whack at the U.S. Open, bagged the Junior Amateur.

The Old Guard will be in there punching, too. Willie Turnesa attempting to make it a triple, Dick Chapman a double, Ray Billows has thrice been the runner-up. Frank Stranahan has never reached the semi-finals.

More than 1,000 entered. There are 210 in the championship proper.

Having qualified elsewhere, the shotmakers go smack into 18-hole sudden-death match-play rounds. There are eight contests of 10 rounds, the last two 36 holes. It poses quite a physical problem, too, the maximum limit being 180 holes in six days.

The Amateur is a real toughie.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT (For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 17.—(P)—Eddie Stanky's effort to rattle Andy Seminick, the Phillies' catcher, by waving his arms from the infield while Andy was batting elicited a fine point in baseball ethics from a member of the Brooklyn club, who prefers to remain anonymous.

"Eddie was in the wrong," he said. "President Frick was absolutely right in turning down the Giants' protest on the game they lost to the Phils. And I say that despite the fact it would have helped us (the Dodgers) in the pennant race if he had thrown the game out."

"Sure, there's nothing in the rule book that says an infielder can't wave his arms to distract a batter. But there isn't anything either that says you can't take a mirror out there and shine it in the hitter's eyes. They'd need a rule book as big as a phone directory to cover every fool thing you could think up to annoy a hitter."

"That Seminick's a rough guy, all right. He's really rough. The Giants had a right to be sore at him the way he was cutting them down on the bases. He's a mean customer when he starts running out there. We know, believe me. But the way Stanky tried to get even with him, that wasn't right."

Dodge Delinms From what the boys are saying today, there appear to be a number of reasons for the decline of Brooklyn fortunes in the National League.

Manager Burt Shotton has made too many mistakes in the heat of battle, being consistently out-thought by more alert rivals; some of the players do not like each other; President Branch Rickey has insisted on carrying too much dead wood in the form of rookies who are not yet ready to help carry the load.

All of which may be true. But the thought occurs that, when the final reckoning is made and the league champs are not in the World Series again, there are those who will mention to Rickey the players he let get away last winter.

Take Sam Jethroe, the fleet Negro centerfielder Boston Braves bought from Montreal Royals, the Dodgers' top Triple-A farm.

Or take Chico Carrasquel, the sensational young shortstop with Chicago White Sox. Or Presenting Ward, the Chicago Cubs' promising first sacker, or Irv Noren, a .300 hitter in Washington's outfield.

GOODIE GOLFING

Goodloe's golfing talents resemble the permanent supports of a drydock, but with vastly more appeal. He looks something like Tony Galento, especially when he has a face full of cigar, and belts the ball like the one-time Orange, N. J., heavyweight threw a left hook.

In comparison, he makes gay Jimmy Demaret of the professionals appear on the somber side.

The rotund Goodloe is somewhat of a legend in Georgia.

There's one story in particular that the home folks like to repeat down going to the 17th hole in an Atlanta invitation tournament.

Granby Kiwanians Visit At The Children's Camp On Missisquoi Bay

Granby, Aug. 17. — Granby Kiwanis Club accepted an invitation of the officers and directors of the Colonie de Vacances de Granby, to visit the Children's Camp on Missisquoi Bay, last Wednesday.

There were 80 boys, ranging from six to twelve years, in camp at present, and 75 girls had been in attendance there the week before.

The director is Abbe Andrien Lariviere, and he has a staff of monitors, nurses, and other workers. The dining room and kitchen are in charge of Mr. and Mrs. L'Abbe.

It is easy to understand why the children thrive so well for the meals are wholesome and delicious, one boy boasted that he had gained seven pounds in two weeks. The camp is beautifully situated on the shore of Missisquoi Bay. The buildings are attractive and well kept, and the whole atmosphere of the place is cheerful.

Among those attending this meeting were Mr. Cabana, Bishop of Uganda, Africa; Dr. P. A. Leduc, alderman of the City of Granby, presided at the supper, and the speakers were Mr. Cabana, John Low-Beer, president of the Kiwanis Club, of Granby; Aime Lorrain, editor of "La Voix de l'Est." Soyme Cabana, president of "La Federation des Oeuvres de Charite de Granby," Abbe Adrien Lariviere, Albea Messier, president of the Colonie de Vacances; Bernard Leclerc, vice-president and J. A. Comeau, director. After all had partaken of the delicious supper, a sing-song was enjoyed around the huge bon-fire, to which John Low-Beer, president of the Kiwanis Club, set a match. It was announced at this meeting that the Provincial Government had given a grant of $2,000 to this camp, also that the Kiwanis Club had voted $750 for milk for the present season.

WELFARE BENEFITS INCREASED
It was announced this week by Mr. A. Grossman, vice-president of the Stark Bros. Ribbon Corp. of Canada Limited, that substantial additions had been made in the sickness and accident welfare program for the employees of Stark Bros. Ribbon Corp. of Canada.

Over six years ago a Group Life and Sickness Plan for employees, through the Sun Life Assurance Co., and the Zurich Insurance Co., was taken out, and provided a very popular move. These benefits are a protection in modern medical practice, and will be extended to sickness and accident coverage and will pay for hospital and surgical treatment for women and children of the employees.

The new plan became effective on July 28, and almost every employee has applied for the new benefits thus showing the cordial relationship between the employees and the management.

Close Games Featured Opening Tilts Of Industrial Softball Playdowns; Series Continue Monday

Play-offs of the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League got underway last night at the Parade Grounds with Bruck Mills, Machinery and Regiment taking a one-game lead over Superheater, Railroaders and Fairbanks respectively.

Playing one of their best games of the season the Bruck Mills team surprised more than Superheater by the brand of ball they served up last night, and also gave notice that they were going to be a genuine threat in the playoffs.

Bruck jumped into a three-run lead in their half of the first inning, on two walks and three hits. Superheater got one of these back in their half of the first and brilliant defensive play by the Superheater outfielders kept Bruck from going farther ahead. Bissone's snaring of anything that came his way in left field, was on the remarkable side.

Marier on the mound for Bruck had his only weak inning in the fourth, when a home run by Deslonges and two other hits gave Superheater three runs for a one-run lead. Superheater added to this by scoring again in the fifth. Coming to bat in the first of the seventh two runs behind, Bruck Mills tied the score at five-all. With two men away and one man aboard Marier got hold of one of Les Bessant's pitches and lined a drive into deep center field that was good for a home run. St. Louis was the hero of the game when he clouted a homer which proved to be the winning run. Superheater was held scoreless in their half of the eighth.

Umpires Moon Mullin and Lew Griffin officiated in this game.

The Machinery - Railroaders' clash was a close one all the way through with the issue always in doubt. Machinery had a little edge on hitting power, connecting for 10 hits off Smith, while the Railmen could only get six hits from Pepin, the Machinery hurler.

Machinery tallied all their runs in the first four innings. Railroaders got five in their four innings. Runs were hard to get after that, both teams being unable to tally again in the remaining innings.

Ruel hit a homer for the Railroaders. The umpires were Atto and Parsons.

In the consolation series between Regiment and Fairbanks the game was awarded to Regiment as Fairbanks were unable to field a full team.

Local Football Team Trains Tonight

Twenty-four football players turned out for the Sherbrooke Athletics' first practice. The A's play in the Q.R.F.U. Senior "B" League.

This evening another P.T. drill will be held at the Parade Grounds. Next week the first heavy drills of the season will get under way.

Any experienced player or anyone wanting to learn to play the game should drop in at the Parade Grounds this evening.

It is expected that the team will import three or four players to strengthen the squad.

After the first turnout was any indication of the interest then this season should be a success.

Ray Brown Turns In Fine Job As Locals Are Edged Out By St. Johns; Shapiro Draws Nod Against Saints

Sherbrooke Athletics, although they outhit the Braves of St. Johns last night, dropped a 5-2 decision to Steve Mizerak's squad for the second consecutive time, but managed to maintain their two-game lead over the rest of the league.

The victory moved the Braves into a three-way tie for second place in the standing as St. Hyacinthe dropped 3-1 13-inning decision to Farnham and Stan Beard's Cubs of Drummondville went down to a 6-3 defeat at the hands of Granby. Farnham, St. Hyacinthe and St. Johns are slated for second spot two games off the pace.

This evening Jim Kirke and his fast-stepping Saints will tangle with the locals at the Park avenue stadium at 8:00. Manager Gladu will send his ace hurler, Lou Shapiro, to the mound in an effort to stop the locals' losing streak and set down the heavy-hitting St. Hyacinthe team.

In St. Johns last night, the locals' dusky hurler, turned in a fine exhibition, although he lost the decision. He gave up six hits and issued four bases on balls but had the game under control at all times. Failure to hit in the clutch was by his mates was the main reason for the setback as the A's left six men stranded on the bases.

Nick Malfara led the hitting for the locals with a circuit clout and a single while Paul Martin notched two bingles. Managers "drove out a double while Manager Gladu and Normie Dussault accounted for the balance of the locals' hits.

In the other games slated for tonight Farnham will pay a visit to Drummondville and St. Johns and Granby will get together. All tilts are important ones at this stage in the close battle for higher spots in the standing.

Sherbrooke will be faced with a tough opponent in the Saints and they must come through with a win if they wish to remain ahead of the pack. Jud. Kirke's team has been rolling along at a fast clip during the past few weeks and are determined to reach the top spot in Albert Molin's league.

Close Matches Witnessed in Third Day Of Dominion Of Canada Rifle Shoot; Lieut. Boa Wins Trophy

Connaught Rifle Ranges, South March, Ont., Aug. 17.—(P)—A 25-year-old officer cadet in the 48th Highlanders Regiment yesterday won the Macdonald Challenge shield — a hotly-contested match — at the 82nd annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot.

Lieut. Gilmour R. Boa, a member of a noted family of rifle experts, posted a score of 122 of a possible 150 under clearing skies and a hot sun that followed an early morning rain.

W.O. I.E.E. Wright of Montreal and C.W. Thomas of Edmonton — two veteran marksmen — had scores of 121.

Another match that carried high interest during the third day of shooting was the Canada Match, shot from 600, 500 and 300 yards. An eight-man Canadian rifle team compiled a score of 1,147 of a possible 1,200 to go ahead of teams from the United States and England.

Representatives from Hamilton, Ont., virtually swept the board in other team and individual competitions.

The Royal Hamilton Light Infantry captured the Kirkpatrick Cup with a score of 1,131. It is presented to the highest aggregate scorers in the Tilton, Connaught, Bankers' and MacDougall matches and it is the second consecutive year that the Hamilton team has taken top honors.

Cadet C. James of Hamilton, won the Viscount Wakefield Cadet Aggregate with a score of 239 — top scorer in the Tyro Tilton, Connaught and MacDougall competitions.

Right behind him was Cadet Lieut. N.R. Nicol of Port Credit, Ont., with 235; Cadet L. McComb, Winnipeg, 235; Cadet H. C. Gunter, Saint John, N.B., 234; and Cadet G. Ouellette, Windsor, Ont., 233.

The Hamilton Central Collegiate Cadet Corps made it almost a perfect day for Hamilton when they captured the United Empire Trophy — carding an aggregate score of 927 in the Tyro, MacDougall and Bankers' matches.

Good Time was listed at 3 to 1, along with the trainer Joe O'Brien entry of Indian Land and Direct Wyo. Indian Land and Direct Wyo. are owned by William Erving. O'Brien, the crack New Glasgow, N.S., reinsman, will drive Indian Land.

Pacers Make Bid For Yonkers Derby Tonight

Yonkers, N.Y., Aug. 17.—(AP)—A new leader in the money-earning department of the pacing world may be produced tonight when a dozen sidewheelers tackle the $25,000 Yonkers Derby at Yonkers Raceway.

Good Time, the little four-year-old bay scoter owned by Bill Cane of Goshen, N.Y., holds the record with winnings of $129,000.

But opposing him will be Jerry The First, from the Burdick and Cobb stable, Washington Court House, Ohio. Jerry The First has earned $124,000, and by winning the Derby over the 1 1/2-mile route can add about $12,000 to his bankroll.

These old rivals have met several times, with Jerry The First winning a 1 1/2-mile test at Roosevelt Raceway last month. Later both were beaten in the $50,000 Nassau two-mile pace by Scottish Pence. The latter, however, isn't entered tonight.

Jerry The First and Hodgen, owned by Mrs. M. Kinsley, are favored in the early odds at 2 to 1.

Don Doe Heads List For E.T. Golf Event

Large Field Expected To Compete For Golfing Crown; Three Trophies At Stake In Week-End Tournament

Don Doe, the smooth-swinging shot maker from Granby, will be on hand Saturday to defend his Eastern Townships Amateur golf crown, stated Bart Holtham, secretary-treasurer of the E.T. Golf Association, this morning.

Granby's ace golfer will have plenty of stiff opposition this weekend at the Country Club lay-out when he will be gunning for his fifth title, his third consecutive. Doe won his first crown in 1941 with repeats in '43, '48 and '49. In 1948 and '49 the Granby club-swingers registered the same amount of strokes for the 54-hole competition, 220. In '48 Roland Braul' was the runner-up with 223, three off of the pace, while last year Gerry Huot, the rangy shot-maker from the Dufferin Heights Club, copped the runner-up's position with 237.

Doe is at present enjoying his best season of golf and has just recently returned from Saskatoon where he took part in the Canadian Amateur playoffs. He was a member of the Quebec Willingdon Cup team and reached the quarter-finals in the Amateur before being out to Bill Mahwinney, the now 1950 Canadian champion, and is favored to cop the E.T. crown for the third consecutive time.

The field will get underway Saturday with eighteen holes and on Sunday thirty-six will be played with the low gross winner taking the title, and the Skinner trophy, emblematic of the crown.

The Seagram trophy will also be at stake and this goes to the player who posts the lowest net score of the afternoon. Last year Don Doe won it with a net 68.

Sherbrooke Record Trophy At Stake

The Sherbrooke Record trophy will be in play for the best team score. This is awarded annually to the four-man squad which posts the low gross total for Saturday afternoon. Granby Golf Club has won this trophy for the past five years and will be making another strong bid to retain the trophy.

A field of 104 contestants took part in the tournament last year and Bart Holtham is looking forward to another large entry for this week-end.

E.T. Senior Event On Sunday

On Sunday afternoon golfers over the fifty-year mark will battle it out for the E.T. Senior title and the Jean-Paul Bevan trophy. Last year Bart Holtham copped the title when he posted a gross of 88 to lead a field of twenty-three veterans.

The list of starting times and foursomes will be published in tomorrow's edition.

120 Golfers To Compete For Ontario Open Title

Toronto, Aug. 17.—(P)—Some 120 shotmakers will compete today in the hunt for $2,000 and the Ontario Open Golf Championship. But despite the star-studded entry list, part's been as safe as a church in practice rounds.

Golfers from all across Canada and the United States began arriving Tuesday to test the par-72 St. George's layout.

The field will be cut to 60 after today's 18 holes. The qualified will shoot 36 holes in the finals Friday.

Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va., and Gordon Brydson of Toronto Mississauga, a former Ontario Open winner, each carded 68's in practice rounds yesterday. Stan Leonard of Vancouver shot a 69.

A surprise post entry into the tournament was Bill Ezimicki of Winnipeg, right-wing stalwart of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League. He has been brushing up his game in the U.S. all summer.

Speed Races Slated For Waterloo Sunday

Waterloo, Aug. 17.—A motorcycle meet sponsored by the Verdun Motorcycle Club will be held at the local Fair Grounds on Sunday and some of the outstanding riders of the country will be on hand to compete for the top prizes.

As an added feature on the program the sponsors have arranged a special 10-mile stock car race between Fernand Beaumont of Waterloo and Maurice Charron of St. Hyacinthe for a $100 purse.

The Verdun Club expects a large field to be on hand for the bike events and some of the top riders of United States and Canada have signified their intentions of taking part in the races.

Speed artists are also expected from York Province of Ontario, as well as several outstanding riders of Montreal. In case of rain the meet will be postponed to the following Sunday.

Kid Gavilan Dealt Johnny Greco's Comeback Plans A Severe Blow When He Kayoed Him In Sixth Round

Montreal, Aug. 17.—(P)—Cuba's Kid Gavilan established himself as a leading contender for Sugar Ray Robinson's welterweight crown here last night when he dropped Jolting Johnny Greco for a sixth-round knockout in a scheduled 10-round main bout at the Montreal Baseball Stadium.

Greco at 150 held a 2 1/2-pound advantage over the dusky Cuban from Havana.

A crowd of 9,177 poured $33,653 into the gross gate which Promoter Raoul Godbout described as "disappointing."

Greco, Canadian welterweight champion, was leading by a wide margin before he was sent to the canvas at the 2:21-minute mark of the sixth. Gavilan caught him with a sweeping bolo punch and followed up quickly with a right-hand cross to the chin. Greco lay flat on his stomach for the full count. He was hurt and had to be helped from the ring by his handlers.

Before the blow was landed, The Canadian Press score card had Greco winning three of the first five rounds, one even and Gavilan taking the first.

The fight marked the second appearance of Gavilan here. Last spring, he pounded out a 10-round decision over Laurent Dauthuille of France.

In a fast-moving, 16-round semi-final, Armand Savoie, 134, and Jean Richard, 135, both of Montreal, battled to a draw. The decision received a long boing from the crowd, most of whom were in favor of giving the decision to Savoie on the strength of his dumping Richard in the second and third rounds.

Eddie Zastre, 165, of Montreal and Winnipeg earned an unanimous 10-round decision over Marcel Armenteros, 159, of Cuba. Zastre had too much power for Armenteros and in the late stages of the fight had him helplessly against the ropes.

Joe DiMaggio Returns To Lineup Tomorrow

Washington, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees said he plans to return Joe DiMaggio to the starting lineup tomorrow night in Philadelphia against the Athletics.

"If Joe gets hot and gives me about 38 runs batted in two weeks we could win the pennant," Stengel added last night. "Or course, a little pitching would help, too."

The 35-year-old Yankee slugger was benched last Friday for the first time in his career. Previously he had been out of the World Champions' lineup due to injuries but never for light hitting.

"Joe was playing with a bad shoulder and a bad knee," Casey declared. "He needed rest and I think he realizes it. I asked him how he felt yesterday and he said 'I'm still tired.'"

Whether Joe realizes he needed the rest remains a secret. He said he had his share of "aches and pains" when he was taken out, but he never passed judgment on the move. All he would say yesterday when asked about his enforced rest is: "I'm ready to go anytime and I'll be happy to get back in there."

Robert Bedard Reaches Semi-Finals In Townships Tennis Championships

Robert Bedard reached the semi-finals of the men singles in the Eastern Townships tennis championships last night, defeating Amedee Gaudreault 6-2, 6-1.

In the men's doubles, Majella Charest and Yvon Boisvert reached the semi-final round with a 6-3, 6-2 win over Claude and Jean Nil Donaldson.

Mrs. William Whittier and G. Smiley of Magog remained in play in the mixed doubles, defeating Marguerite Poulin and Lionel Lalliberte 6-3, 6-1.

Tonight's matches follow: 8:30 p.m.: Roger Joy and Dr. Johnny Hibbard vs. Norman Breaud and Robert Bedard, quarter-final.

7:30 p.m.: Gertrude Julien, Victoriaville, vs. Raymond Laporte, semi-final; Normand Rainville, Granby, vs. Paul Mailhot, quarter-final.

8:30 p.m.: Carmen Morin and Bill Joncas vs. Mrs. Simone Latendresse and Majella Charest, quarter-final; Pierre Lambert and Jean Roy, Victoriaville vs. J. M. Cote and Yvon Cote, quarter-final.

Tomorrow's matches: 6:30 p.m.—Jean Levesque and Andre Trottier vs. winners of Lambert-Roy and Cote-Cote match, semi-final.

7:30 p.m.: Gertrude Julien and Pierre Lambert, Victoriaville vs. Marian McFarlan and Hillary Watt, Windsor Mills.

8 p.m.: Gisèle Emond vs. Ruth Rice, Windsor Mills, quarter-final.

8:30 p.m.: Miss M. Lapierre and Jean Roy, Victoriaville vs. M. Tangy and Jean Levesque, quarter-final.

9 p.m.: Mrs. William Whittier and G. Smiley, Magog vs. Raymond Laporte and Normand Breaud, quarter-final.

Vancouver Swimmers Appear Headed For Sweep Of Canadian Swimming Championships; Miss Strong Stars

Montreal, Aug. 17.—(P)—Vancouver swimmers, led by smooth-stroking Inge Strong who has already retained two of her titles, today appeared headed for a major slice of the Canadian Swimming Championship honors.

Miss Strong last night captured for a second straight year the senior women's 150-yard backstroke championship. To top this performance, she was back in the Verdun open-air swimming pool minutes later to lead her Vancouver Swimming Club mates in retaining their senior women's 400-yard free style relay championship.

Montreal and Toronto swimmers and divers also figured yesterday in championship events. Montreal Y.M.C.A. captured the junior women's 440-yard free style relay.

In the diving events, Evelyn Buchanan of Toronto captured the Canadian women's diving title, and Leo Vigeant, veteran Montreal diver, won the men's diving championship.

Meanwhile a flock of qualifying heats were run-off in the senior men's and women's 440-yard free-style, the junior men's and women's 100-yard back-stroke, the senior and junior men's 100-yard free-style; the 200-yard senior men's breaststroke and the 100-yard women's breaststroke.

Finals in these events will be held today with five finalists in each class selected on the basis of the five best times registered in qualifying heats.

After trailing for five laps in the 150-yard backstroke event, Miss Strong moved ahead of Joyce Court of Montreal in the last lap to win by a couple of strokes in 2:01.7.

Miss Strong's partners in winning the senior women's 440-yard relay were Kay McNamee, Patti Whiteside and Dorothy Cook.

The Montreal foursome of Beverley Kne, Gladys Priestly, Beth Whittall and Eleanor Lacombe had it pretty easy in the junior women's 400-yard relay. Ferguson, Ont., came second ahead of Toronto Lakeshore, third.

Vancouver's Gerry McNamee and Ron Crane were battling it out in the 100-yard junior men's free style. Gerry had the best time in preliminary heats — 58.2 seconds — while Ron followed 5 seconds later.

Wynian King of Toronto was the pick of the lot in the senior women's 440-yard free-style, but was expected to have some strong competition from Kay McNamee, also of Vancouver.

In the 100-yard junior women's backstroke, Shirley Jones of Hamilton, Ont., appeared the strongest contender while Dorothy Cook of Vancouver was the best among those who qualified in the junior women's breaststroke event.

Kent Peterson Sets Hot Pace For Syracuse

Kent Peterson, 24-year-old left-hander with Syracuse Chiefs, is shaping up as one of the best pitchers in the International League.

He went to the Chiefs in May from the parent Cincinnati Reds, and dropped his first five decisions. But starting June 28 Peterson has been going great guns. He now has won eight of his last 10 decisions.

Peterson turned in his eighth victory last night as he pitched the Chiefs to a 4-3 victory over the league-leading Rochester Red Wings in the second game of a doubleheader.

The Chiefs supported Peterson's eight-hit pitching with a 10-hit attack. Fletcher Robbe hit a double, triple and single.

Ortiz banged a two-run homer and Ed Mierkowiec one with the bases empty to account for all Rochester's runs in the first game.

Baltimore Orioles moved back into second place by two percentage points over Montreal Royals by splitting with Toronto Maple Leafs while the Royals lost to the Jersey City Giants.

Baltimore beat the Leafs 6-4 in the opener with home runs by Butch Woyt and Ed Pellagrini the deciding factors.

Lou Poeschel turned back the Orioles 6-1 on five hits in the second game.

Date For Louis-Charles Bout To Be Set Today

New York, Aug. 17.—(P)—Boxing powers were scheduled to meet today to close the Sept. 27 heavyweight title fight at Yankee Stadium between Joe Louis and Ezzard Charles, N.B.A. champion.

The challenger — in this case, the comebacking Louis — was expected to sign for more than the champion. It's never happened before in heavyweight annals.

The Brown Bomber, who retired a year ago after holding the heavyweight crown for more than a decade, is asking for 40 per cent of the gate. That would leave Charles about 20 per cent.

Norwalk, Conn. — Jimmy Rooney, 128, Bridgeport, Conn., out-pouted Jose Apponte Torres, 126, New York. (8).
