Wears White Heather Spray When Wed Given Bride By A "Close Friend"

St. Andrew's United Church, Sudbury, was the scene of a pretty evening wedding recently when Kathleen May Gwyn Thomas, only daughter of Mrs. J. W. Thomas and the late Mr. Thomas, of Sudbury, became the bride of Clarence Harvey Cuthbertson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Cuthbertson, of Shawville. Rev. R. D. Horsburgh officiated with Rev. J. S. Roe assisting.

Entering the church with her uncle, Mr. J. H. Carey, of Minneapolis, Minn., the bride was lovely in a ballerina length gown made and worn previously by her mother. It was made of deep ivory hand woven French imported lace over deep ivory satin. The bodice of satin was of bolera design with a shirred vestee of net and short sleeves. The bouffant skirt was gathered at the waistline and featured panels of silk embroidery and a scalloped hemline. Her double fingertip veil, 3-strand coronet of hand-dipped orange blossoms and a pearl and amethyst necklace were also heirloom pieces previously worn by her mother, as were her silk elbow-length gloves. She carried a fan of nylon lace and tulle, encrusted with seed pearls. Gardenias and a spray of white heather given by a close friend, were fastened at the base.

Mrs. Sheila Smith, of New Liskeard, was matron-of-honor. She was charming in a ballerina length gown of wedgewood blue velveteen, styled with shirred fitted bodice, full skirt and featuring a shoulder-hugging cape.

Thelma Blaney, Sudbury and Eleanor Atkinson, of Toronto, were bridesmaids, wearing gowns of wheat gold velveteen, styled on similar lines to that of the matron-of-honor. All wore matching wedding-ring headdresses with pert nose veils and carried floral arrangements of double wedding-ring design with bronze and gold mums, golden Western wheat and blue bachelor buttons. Their satin shoes, as well as those of the bride, were tinted to match their dresses.

Shirley Nicholas, of Shawville, niece of the groom, was diminutive flower-girl, gowned in a floor-length wedgewood blue velveteen dress, styled on similar lines as the bridesmaids. Her headdress and flower arrangement were also similar.

Ronnie Barber, of Lively, Ont., nephew of the groom, was ring-bearer, dressed in grey flannel trousers and navy blazer. He carried a white satin and lace pillow for the double ring ceremony.

The groom's attendants were James Cuthbertson, of Shawville, best man, Jack Cooper, of Sudbury and Arthur Fenske, of Lively, as ushers.

Eric Hulatt played the wedding music. Joan Carey, of Campbell's Bay, cousin of the bride, sang O Perfect Love during the signing of the register. The church was decorated with baskets of multi-colored glads and potted ferns. The pews were marked with golden Western wheat tied with satin bows.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Copper

Shawville Stores Close Doors Tuesday During Service For Late Bill McKinley

Paying silent tribute to the memory of the late William McKinley, the entire business section of Shawville closed for two hours Tuesday afternoon for the funeral service from the McKinley home on King Street to St. Paul's Church of England and the Village Cemetery.

The sudden death of Mr. McKinley Saturday night came as a shock to the community. Only 49 years of age, Mr. McKinley had been in poor health for sometime but worked at the Community Refrigerator, which he owned with his brother John, up until a short time before his death. He left the Main Street store at midnight Saturday and was just getting out of his car near the Telephone Office when he suffered an attack and died.

The funeral service was under the direction of Pontiac A.F. & A.M. Lodge No. 40. About 50 members took part with Rt. Wor. Bro. Fergus A. McDiarmid participating in the service at the church and cemetery and John Taylor Ottawa, representing the Carleton Chapter No. 16, G.R.Q. The pallbearers were fellow Masons: Heman Elliott, Morley Hodgins, Lloyd Stevens, Dougal McCredie, Leslie Dale and John Taylor.

Born in Shawville on May 3, 1903, Mr. McKinley had lived here all his life except during the war years when he was a tank inspector at Montreal. Prior to that he had worked at the Peden Wilson garage.

Mr. McKinley was an Anglican and was an active member of the Shawville Curling Club which he joined last year.

He is survived by his widow, the former Sophia Hodgins and two daughters, Elizabeth, 7 and Mary 3 and one brother John.

Carolyn Draper Marries C. Knox

The living room of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Draper was decorated with autumn flowers for the marriage of their oldest daughter, Carolyn Evelyn, to Clarence Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Knox, McKee section.

Rev. H. G. Lester, of Shawville United Church, performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Miss Jean Judd.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Mrs. Keith Smith. Jim Knox, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride's gown was of lace over net with a bouffant skirt and a bodice of lace with transparent yoke and pointed lace sleeves. Her three-quarter length veil of tulle illusion trimmed with lace was held by a wreath of orange blossoms.

She carried a bouquet of red roses. Her only jewelry was three strands of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a luncheon was held for 45 guests at the bride's home. Later a reception was held at Pine Lodge.

The young couple left by motor for a wedding trip to the Western Provinces.

For travelling the bride wore a navy suit with red accessories and corsage of red roses.

Pontiac Institutes Meet At Stark's

Stark's Corners Women's Institute was the hostess for the semi-annual convention of the Pontiac County Women's Institutes, last Wednesday, in the United Church at Stark's Corners with luncheon being served in the church hall.

The meeting, with the president, Mrs. Earl Findlay in the chair, opened with the repeating of the Club Women's Creed and Ode. Mrs. Harold Hodgins, secretary-treasurer, read the minutes of the last annual meeting, held in Shawville last spring, and these minutes were approved.

Several matters arising from the minutes were brought to the attention of the delegates, particularly the matter of scholarships presented by the Institute to Melvin Pool, presently attending Macdonald College, and Frances Kelly, of Vinton, the two scholars with the highest standing in their classes who are continuing their studies.

The president appointed a committee to bring in a report to the afternoon session on the articles to be exhibited by the various institutes at the fall fairs at Quyon and Shawville. The treasurer's report was read showing that the Pontiac County Women's Institute was financially in very good standing. Outlines of work were read by the convenors of Home Economics, Education, Citizenship and Publicity. The president stressed that each Institute should endeavor to send in a history of each branch to the secretary of the Provincial Institute at Macdonald College.

Miss Nora Corrigan, of Shawville, was the speaker for the morning and she gave a very interesting talk on clinic work in "B.C.G." in Pontiac County, and what they hoped to accomplish over the course of the next few years through vaccination, X-ray and tests for tuberculosi , particularly in the cases of new-born infants. From the questions which were put to Miss Corrigan after her talk, the women of Pontiac County seemed to be very much interested in the work being carried on by the clinic.

Greetings were brought to the convention by Mrs. R. W. Hodgins, of Shawville, and Mrs. W. J. Murray of Maryland, Honorary Presidents, and Miss A. C. Pritchard, of Wyman, Past President.

After a short sing-song, led by Mrs. Clive Smart, the meeting adjourned for luncheon, and continued in the afternoon, opening the session with the singing of O Canada, followed by the roll call. The speaker for the afternoon was Miss Cairine Wilson. Miss Wilson spoke on the work being done by the "Save the Children Fund", and told of the conditions in which thousands of children in Europe and Asia were living, conditions which she had actually seen on her recent trip overseas Miss Wilson asked that the Institutes continue their support of the work which they were trying to carry out, their chief aim being to raise the standard of child welfare.

Prior to Miss Wilson's talk, Mrs. R. W. Hodgins, presented to her two pictures which were to be delivered to her mother, the pictures having been taken at the time of the presentation by the people of Shawville of an ambulance during the war years. Miss Wilson was thanked by Miss Pritchard.

The committee appointed by the President, brought in a report of the articles to be exhibited at the Quyon and Shawville Fairs, and after some discussion about the various articles and methods of displaying the articles the report of the committee was accepted.

The Fort Coulonge Institute was appointed hostess for the annual meeting to be held next spring, and after a vote of thanks to the Stark's Corners Institute and the speakers by Mrs. Dalton Russell, the meeting adjourned with the singing of "The Queen".

Mary Isobel Tubman Weds Carmen Inglee

St. George's Anglican Church, Campbell's Bay, was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon, when Mary Isobel Tubman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Tubman, became the bride of Carman Joseph Inglee, only son of Mrs. Athol Inglee and the late Mr. Inglee, of Beechgrove. Rev. F. Lawlor, of Quyon, officiated at the ceremony.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with autumn flowers. Miss Jean Murphy was at the organ and the ushers were Earl Tubman, brother of the bride and Roy Wickens.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose for her wedding a floor-length gown of white satin nylon net bodice with piping of satin, with sweetheart neckline, halo head dress and she carried red roses and white mums with white streamers.

Mis Phyllis Tubman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She chose rose taffeta with lace and bertha collar, hat and gloves to match and carried a nosegay of pink roses and yellow and white mums with blue streamers.

Miss Claire Atkinson, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and she chose a pink nylon sheer taffeta with hat and gloves to match and carried a nosegay of pink roses, white and yellow mums, with blue streamers.

Little Miss Betty Tubman, niece of the bride, was flower girl looking very charming in blue nylon organdy with headdress to match. She also carried a nosegay of pink roses and white and yellow mums with pink streamers.

Misses Shirley May and Winona Moore rendered a solo, "I'll walk beside you." Mr. Hillis Hamilton, of Manitock, acted as bestman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, for 60 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Inglee left on a motor trip to Toronto, Hamilton travelling the bride chose a grey and points in the U.S.A. For wool dress with black accessories a muskrat jacket and wore a corsage of red roses. They will reside in Beechgrove.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett, Regina, great aunt and uncle of the bride. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Atkinson, Mrs. Thomas Tubman, Mr. Grenville Atkinson, Lorne Little and Mr. and Mrs. Low Saunders, all of Ottawa.

Born At Shawville Dies In B. C.

James Richardson, 80, a well known pioneer rancher of the Vegreville district, died recently at Burnaby, B.C., according to word received here.

Born at Shawville, he came to Alberta, along with his brother, Silas A. Richardson, and their families in 1894 and homesteaded where he continued to farm until moving to Vancouver some 20 years ago. He suffered a stroke 10 years ago, from which he recovered and was in apparent good health until his sudden death. His brother, Silas, pre-deceased him in 1948.

Besides his widow, Mr. Richardson is survived by one son and four daughters of his first wife, Margaret Jane Jones, Milburn of Gibson's Landing, B.C.; Mrs. Ethel Kitto, Toronto; Mrs. Len Johnstone, Willingdon; and Mrs. R. Johnstone, Quesnel, B.C.

Funeral services were held at the Chapel of the Chimes, Vancouver, with Rev. E. W. Horton officiating.

Elect H. Routliffe Association Head

Howard Routliffe was elected president of the Bryson Athletic Association at the annual meeting held in the town hall.

Other officers are: Rheal Sicard, vice-president, Tom Mathers, secretary; Leonard Coyne, treasurer; Directors; J. C. Poisson, Glen Saunders, Frank Cahill, Emile Paquette, Amedee Poisson Jackie Poole, Francis Coyne, Jack Patterson, Andy Young.

Women's Auxiliary: Mrs. Fred Coyne, Mrs. Andy Young, Mrs. Glen Saunders, Mrs. Jack Patterson.

The treasurer's statement for 1952 showed receipts of $3,870 and expenditures, $3,640. The membership drive for 1953 netted 65 new members, leaving a satisfactory balance for next season's work.

The meeting named President H. Routliffe, A. Poisson, E. Paquette, F. Cahill, R. Sicard, A. Yuong, a committee to make any expenditure necessary to put the skating rink in condition for hockey, for the winter season.

President Howard Routliffe reported that Bryson will have a strong team entered in the Pontiac Hockey League.

Native Of Shawville Dies After Accident

A former resident of Shawville and a niece of Mrs. M. Langford, Mrs. Cecil J. Whitelaw died in Ottawa last Sunday of injuries received in an accident a week ago. The funeral was held Tuesday with interment in Beechwood Cemetery.

Good Old Pontiac Hockey Days!

By Eric (Ike) Belanger

We hear a lot of young hockey players today complain of the hardships they endure during the modern hockey season.

But let them look back to the 1927-39 era when hockey was at its best in Pontiac. When the great "has beens" such as the one and only Thomas Larmond, better known in Pontiac as the "Bird", would skate out on the ice in Shawville Arena and defy anyone to stop him scoring. Then he would look back to his own goal and see such hockey players as Charles Bolam, Eric Belanger, Clarence Heaphy, Jimmie Rennick, Gerald Belanger and the famous goal tender Tim Lawn backing him up. Why, there was nothing in Pontiac to stop the "Bird" from scoring!

When the "Bird" would wind around his own net and start down the ice with such a burst of speed and go through the entire Shawville Hockey team and place the puck behind Shawville's famous goalie, Hansom Hayes, all the spectators in the arena would bless themselves for they thought it was lightning. In those days you had to be a good hockey player, take your body checks and cross checks and stay on the ice for 60 minutes. The great line-up for the Shawville Club were Bill Gibson, who was always a very dangerous man around the nets but did a lot of loafing around them; Hard Pack Chamberlain—we always managed to stop him around the blue line; Hugh Proudfoot—well, the "Bird" took care of him at all times but was afraid of the short end of his hockey stick; Ritchie Dale—if Shawville was ahead in goals he would lose a lot of time tieing his boot laces and complaining to the referee about falling over someone; Red Dale—he would not come down the ice very often. He told me every time he went through that famous defense of Belanger and Lamond he thought he had gone through the wringer of a washing machine; Hubie Dale had a terrific shot but it always ended up in the rafters; Ebert Richardson was a marvelous stick handler, but he could stick handle all night in a wash tub.

"All this and Savings Bonds too!"

Hansom Hayes was rated the best goalie in Pontiac but to the "Bird" he was just a human sieve.

The hockey players today travel in cars or buses, but in the old days we had to travel by horses which left Campbell's Bay at 4.00 in the afternoon to go to Shawville. Most of the time it was an old team of horses, snow was four feet deep and we would upset five or six times in the big drifts of snow at 20 below zero and would land in Shawville around 8.00 p.m. to start playing hockey at 8.30 p.m. It would be the last period before we would get the frost out of us. Then when the game was over and we would be all wet with sweat we would jump into a sleigh and hit for Campbell's Bay. By the time we reached Radford our underwear would be frozen on your backs. Driving with an old team of horses you didn't know the minute they would drop dead. They went so slow you would have to plant a picket to see if you were moving or not. By the time you reached Bryson with those thin horses, and I do mean thin, we would have to nail a few clapboards on them to hold them together till we reached home.

Looking back at it all it sure was fun and as the MLA Eddy Lawn told me "if we had not been good Liberals we would never have lived to tell the tale."

BOY SCOUTS

The Shawville Group Committee held their Annual Meeting Thursday, October 16 in the High School. It was very well attended by both the Scout Executive and the parents of the boys belonging to the different Units with a total of 37 present. The chairman, Jack Tolhurst, after welcoming the members, gave a brief outline of what had been done during the year and presented the report of the secretary treasurer who was unable to be present. This was accepted on motion of Clare Jacques and Rev. H. G. Lester. Substantial contributions had been made by the work of the boys through Apple Day and collection of waste paper along with special donations by the Lions Club and Shawville Council. The thanks of the Committee were extended to these organizations for their assistance.

* * *

The Scouter in charge of each Unit, Miss Lenore Howard, Cubmaster, Dr. R. M. Armitage, Scoutmaster, Don MacIntosh, Rover Scout Leader and Mrs. McDougall on behalf of the Mothers' Auxiliary, each outlined in detail their work during the past year. This has been very extensive and steady advancement has been made in Scouting in one way and another. It is expected that there will be a contingent to the 2nd Canadian Jamboree in Ottawa next summer. Mr. MacIntosh mentioned the "Good Turn" of Trevor O'Brien and the 2nd Ottawa Crew who came to Shawville and invested 11 of his Rover Scouts which now will enable this Crew to carry on by themselves. The Mothers' Auxiliary will be having another St. John First Aid Course next January through the kindness of Drs. C.F.C. Powles and Frank Cowley and it is hoped that there will be a good membership in this class, particularly from the Rovers and the Scouts. The District Commissioner was asked to address the meeting, which he did, paying special tribute to the Scouters who are giving up so much of their time to Scouting and taking the Wood Badge courses in order to qualify themselves and each Unit was in good hands. He especially commended The Equity which had printed the Scout News column weekly and given free advertising to all Scout activities in both Shawville and the District; Mr. Black and the Hull-Montreal Express who had taken care of the transportation of the waste paper to Ottawa free of charge and the Scout Mothers' Auxiliary for their wonderful co-operation with the different Units in Shawville. He urged that each mother of all Cubs, Scouts and Rovers make it a point of becoming a member of this organization and help them in their work.

* * *

The District President addressed the meeting speaking on Scouting as a whole and particularly mentioned the fact that the local H. Q. was in the office of J. M. Argue who has always been a real friend of Scouting. On motion of Clare Jacques and Cliff Garrison a letter of thanks was to be sent by the Group Committee to Mr. Argue in this connection. The Rev. H. G. Lester was asked to say a few words and mentioned a few of his experiences in Scouting, particularly out west where he had been Scoutmaster of a Troop in which it was necessary to speak both English and French and where he had two Parish Priests on his Group Committee showing the universality of Scouting. He also had been A.S.M. of the Troop in Warkworth before coming here. He will be active in Scouting in Shawville where he will be an Assistant Rover Leader in the 1st Shawville Crew.

The Chairman turned over the Chair to the District Commissioner for the election of the officers for the ensuing year and these were as follows:

Hon. Chairman, Mayor Emerson Cotie; chairman, Jack Tolhurst; vice chairman, Leslie Dale and Rev. H. G. Lester; secretary treasurer, Seldon Langford.

Chairman of the following Committees to form the Executive with the above officers:

Examining Board, Clare Jacques; Badge, C.N. Woodley; Finance, J. M. Argue; Camp, Cliff Garrison; Membership, Harry McCleary; Training, L. H. Moore; Housing, W.L. de la Ronde, Lee Hodgins, Morley Hodgins; Transportation, Clarence Dean, Lindsay Dale, Morley Wilson, Asa Smart, Ed. Pettapiece; District Representatives, Cliff Garrison and Jack Tolhurst.

Nitwit Nimrods

Hunters Bag Each Other, Shoot Bull

By BRUCE WEST
(Globe & Mail, Toronto)

This is the time of year when the frost is not on the pumpkin, but the farmer and his family and all of his livestock are on the lam.

It is a time when, by comparison, even the uproar along the Normandy beachhead could be compared to a volleyball game between two classes of Miss Ramsbottom's finishing school for genteel young ladies.

In other words, it's the time of the year when the noble hunter ventures into the country in search of game.

Already the accident reports are coming in—Mrs. Jones is nicked right in the barn, while milking a cow. Mr. Smith is recovering from severe case of birdshot dandruff, picked up when one of his mates mistook the back of his head for a fleeing pheasant. Mr. Harbustle's prize cow was dropped dead in her tracks when a nimrod took her for a bull moose.

And so it goes. Small wonder that our rural citizens take fearfully to the root cellars until the shooting is over.

It's high time a rigid quota was placed on the number of humans and domestic animals that may be bagged by any one hunter during any one season. It's getting so that the count in victims of this kind is beginning to outnumber the game that is dropped each fall.

Every season some one comes out with a simple set of rules. Such as, for instance, never peer down the barrel of a loaded rifle. Or never fire at something until you're sure what you're shooting at. Or never drag a loaded gun through a fence with the trigger cocked and the safety off.

And every season the hospital wards fill up with victims of just such careless acts.

A spot of shooting, as we used to say while tramping around Lord Frothington's estate near Upper-Tooting-on-the-Tyne, is a wonderful thing.

It gets a man—or a woman, for that matter—out into the great outdoors, which is good. But the healthy aspects of the sport disappear when the users of firearms start popping them off at anything and everything.

A .22-calibre bullet, for instance, is dangerous at a mile. This is an extremely important thing to remember if you happen to be taking pot shots at a tin can against a peaceful rural background of several farmhouses and a few tillers of the soil out in their fields.

The bullet that misses the can—or even hits it—is not going to drop obligingly right on the other side of the fence post. It's going to go whining through the air for some time, packing a lethal wallop.

And when you pull the trigger on something heavier, like a deer rifle, you're firing a slug that can split a small tree. Woe betide the person who happens to be in your line of fire, even if he's separated from you by quite a stretch of underbush.

When it comes to ducking bullets fired in the underbush, deer seem to be better at it than humans.

And, of course, while we're on the subject, those fellows who keep getting a head full of shot might avoid it if they wore red caps or even a piece of red cloth on their noggins. Although, even at that, they might be mistaken by some hunter for Great Scarlet-topped Woodpeckers.

In the ancient days, men had to stalk and kill game for their food. It is said that this instinct still remains, even in the city-dweller. But in the days of yore, there was more room to move around in this part of the country.

In these crowded modern times, a man might be better off to stay at home, and shoot something less dangerous—like billiards, for instance.

Whoops! I Beg Your Pardon! Puppy In Can Is A Skunk

A strange experience with what appeared to be a little fluffy puppy is related by Hubert Pettapiece of Kazabazua, brother of Shawville's Ed Pettapiece, of the Pontiac House.

Driving his truck on a lonely back road about four miles west of Venosta, Hubert, a lover of animals and nature study, was surprised by the strange antics of a small animal with a bushy tail and a tin can pushed well over its head and trotting in a circle on the road.

Hubert stopped his car, walked up close to the thing and to his surprise was forced to step lively away for fear of being sprayed by a fetid liquid—it was Mr. Skunk. The animal must have become dizzy from going round and round and finally staggered off the road into the bush.

Hubert decided to get back into his truck and head for home, and the following morning whilst motoring back to his bush lot discovered that the skunk had found its way back on the road about the same place and that some less curious truck driver had passed over it leaving it stiff and stark. So, Hubert stopped his truck and picked up the odorless skunk and brought it home.

Hubert says he is going to have it stuffed and mounted and put on exhibit in his hotel where he can often call to memory that he caught one skunk that stuck its nose in other people's. . .cans.

Sports announcer Clem McCarthy talked so rapidly that many listeners complained about being unable to understand his blow-by-blow accounts of prize fights. The climax came the night Maxie Baer leaned over the ropes in the third round and shouted down into the press row: "Hey, Clem! Slow down. I can't keep up with you!" —The Reader's Digest

When Joseph Jefferson, the noted actor, was past 70, he suddenly acquired a strong excitement for gardening. One day a friend asked him the reason for his new-found enthusiasm.

"The saddest thing in old age," Jefferson replied, "is the absence of expectation. Now a garden is all expectation—and you get a lot of things you don't expect, too."

More Than 500 At "Open House"

Open house was observed at Pontiac Community Hospital Wednesday afternoon when 500 residents of the county gathered at the hospital building.

Many groups of a dozen each were escorted through the hospital by nurses and doctors, making a tour of investigation of every part of it from penthouse to kitchen.

After the tours, a meeting was held in the lower corridors with the president of the hospital board, Wyman MacKechnie, in the chair. Addresses were given by Dr. A. F. Fokes, who reviewed the history of the hospital; Rev. R. G. Elliott, of the Anglican Church, and Ray Johnston, MLA, who said the hospital being the only one from Hull to Noranda on the north side of the Ottawa river, was of great value to the district; and that the Quebec Government was greatly interested in the work it is doing.

Out of town guests included:

Dr. and Mrs. Norman Guiou, Ottawa; Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Hudson, Quyon; Dr. and Mrs. D. H. MacKenzie and Dr. and Mrs. John Bradshaw, accompanied by the latter's mother, Mrs. Cavendish, Campbell's Bay; Dr. H. R. ## In Memoriam

Cole—In loving memory of a dear father, Joe Cole, who departed from this life October 23, 1950.
It's lonesome at home without you, Dad.
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same with us
Since you have passed away.
If we had all the world to give,
We'd give it, yes, and more.
To hear your voice, and see your smile,
And greet you at the door.
We cannot bring the old days back,
Your voice we cannot hear,
But we have treasured memories,
Of the one we loved so dear.
— Daughter Margaret x

Cole—In loving memory of my dear father, Joseph Cole, who passed away October 23, 1950.
The dearest father the world could hold
A cheery smile, a heart of gold;
Those who knew him all well know
How much we lost two years ago.
—Willie and Hattie x

Promotion Service At St. Andrew's

St. Andrew's United Church Sunday School, Campbell's Bay, held their promotion service last Friday.

Grant Elliott, superintendent, opened the program with the worship and gave an address of welcome to the parents and friends who gathered for their first promotion service. He thanked the teachers and officers for the support given and Rev. and Mrs. Renshaw for their interest and help.

The program was then handed over to Mr. Renshaw who announced the Cradle Roll Department review by Mrs. Lloyd Elliott. Each class and teacher was responsible for a portion of the program. The beginners gave a flannel-o-graph lesson demonstrated by their teacher Mrs. Bert Smith, assisted by Melba Cole.

The Primary Class had a demonstration of an object lesson by their teacher Superintendent Elliott.

A doctor in Berkeley, California, is making a name for himself by his success in reducing overweight women. Asked his secret, he replied, "I get a head start on a case, that's all. On the patient's first call I spend only a few minutes with her, just long enough to weigh her and instruct her to keep a complete written record of every bite she eats during the two weeks until her second appointment. And he smiled, "by the end of those two weeks most patients have already lost about ten pounds!"

A Short Story

Faith In Himself

By Spence Dill

Dave Fender developed artistic inclinations at an early age.

Friends and relatives predicted big things for Dave. All urged him to develop his talent, to attend higher schools of art than Ridgeview, his hometown, could offer.

Dave didn't need their urging: their compliments meant little to him. For his was the soul of the artist.

He spent three years at an art school. Then he abandoned his teachers and struck out for himself, because he felt that he'd gone beyond them.

His only teachers now were the works of the masters. His field was portrait painting. He haunted museums and homes where were hung the works of Titian, Reubens, Rembrandt and others. He hired himself a loft and worked tirelessly, happily. He spent five years working and exhibiting his work. He sold but little.

More years passed, but less rather than a greater number of Dave's portraits found buyers. There was now no fame at all. He was living in poverty. Gradually there penetrated through the deep absorption, the eagerness, the devotion to his work a question: Why wasn't his work recognized as great? It was great. He knew it. What better judge than himself? Who were such men as Jud Armstrong, Philip Hodgson, Heywood Baker, acknowledged critics of art but themselves possessed of no artistic ability, to pronounce it inferior?

Before, he had paid no heed to the opinions of these men; now, gradually, it occurred to him that their decisions were what the world accepted as final and authoritative.

And so Dave set out to show the world that critics were wrong but the world laughed at him, the critics were smugly amused.

And then abruptly Dave Fender achieved fame in a different and surprising manner. One day while roaming through a house in the old section of the city he came across a painting. Dusting it off, his heart began to pound. Two hours later, a half a dozen friends had congregated in his studio and were staring in delighted wonder at a portrait that was undoubtedly an original work of Titian.

The world of art was set into a frenzy. Critics, connoisseurs, buyers, collectors, came from everywhere.

Dave was offered staggering sums for the portrait. But he shook his head. The portrait had cost him $1.50. It was worth to him more than money could buy. Titian was his favorite; his model.

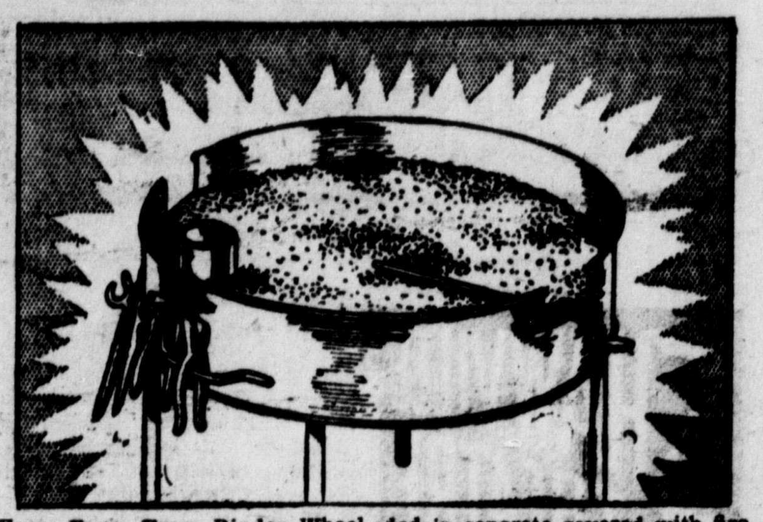

But the collectors were persistent. When Critics Armstrong, Hodgson and Baker pronounced Dave's possession the greatest work Titian had ever produced, offered its owner a half a million dollars!

And then, with the whole world waiting for Dave's answer, marveling at and admiring the work of the great artist, along came Mario Bacchelli, Italy's foremost art critic, yea, the world's foremost art critic, a lover and authority on the work of Tiziano Vecellio (Titian).

Bacchelli came to Dave Fender's studio. He viewed the portrait, while crowds of news reporters, collectors and American critics awaited eagerly.

"This," he said, is a great work. A superior work. A work that can probably be equalled by no living painter today. But—" He shook his heat sadly, "I regret, my young friend, that it is not a product of the master Tiziano Vecellio. Of this I am sure.

And Dave Fender smiled thinly and nodded. "You're right. I never said it was Titian's work. I merely stated that it resembled him. It was our American critics —Messrs. Armstrong, Baker and Hodgson—who pronounced it the work of the master. No, it isn't Titian's. It's mine."

Bargains At Sale Can Often Be Had

Bargains are to be had at sales, and it does pay to watch for them, a department store manager says in an article in the November Reader's Digest.

"Sales in retail stores have three objectives," the article explains. "To clear out stocks that threaten to become obsolete; to stimulate business during an off-season lull; to draw people into the store."

The variety of sales is limited only by the imagination of promotion experts and merchandising managers. A quick deal with a manufacturer of women's wear who wants to keep his skilled help employed in a lull makes possible a pre-season sale of high fashion goods. When nationally advertised goods move slowly, merchandise managers sometimes remove the labels and clear them away at a sale. Cancellation of an order may leave a manufacturer with distress lot on his hands which a shrewd store buyer can buy and offer at reduced prices.

"Irregulars" are often genuine opportunities to save, says the Reader's Digest article. Sometimes the irregularity is so insignificant that it will never be noticed, such as a single pulled thread, or a bit of shopwear. Sometimes so-called irregulars have no defect at all. The merchandise manager simply labels them irregular for the purpose of the sale.

Potatoes are a versatile food, but few people have neard of them served stewed! Melt 4 tablespoons of butter into a skillet, add 6 potatoes, peeled and sliced, then 1½ cups milk and salt and pepper to taste. Cook, covered, slowly, until potatoes are tender.

Sliced orange garnish makes good eating with limb. Sprinkle them with brown sugar, dot with butter and dust lightly with curry powder and broil.

When next you make cream puffs or eclairs, add some finely sieved banana to the vanilla cream filling. This gives you a novel flavor treat.

Sweeten you next batch of applesauce with maple sugar or syrup and serve with cornmeal griddle cakes. You'll like strips of bacon to go along with these.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Cranberry Ribbon Loaf
(Serves 8)

- 1 1-pound can whole cranberry sauce
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ½ pint heavy cream, whipped
- ¼ cup confectioners' sugar
- ⅔ cup chopped nuts
- ½ cup crushed, drained pineapple.

Combine cranberry sauce and lemon juice. Pour into refrigerator tray. Blend together remaining ingredients and place this over cranberry sauce. Freeze until firm. Serve in slices as salad or dessert.

Chocolate and orange are unusual but welcome team mates. For your next chocolate cake, chocolate-frosted, grate some orange rind on top and listen to the call for second helpings.

In place of parsley as a garnish, use the parsley in the food prepared and see how much zest it adds to simpl dishes. Chop it fine for hamburgers, salad dressings or biscuits.

Shrimp a la king can be prepared the same way as you do the famous chicken dish of the same name. Serve on a bed of well-seasoned peas, or, if desired, on a bed of rice mixed with peas.

Lime frosting on a white cake does wonders in color and taste appeal. Use a package of cream cheese (3 ounces), 2½ cups confectioners' sugar and 1 tablespoon lime juice. If you like, add 2 teaspoons grated lime rind and mix until smooth.

Grandsons Carry Mrs. J. Hill To Rest

A resident of the Campbell's Bay area since 1912, Mrs. Joseph Hill died last Friday morning after a long illness.

Born at Leslie, January 6, 1874, she was the former Ann Reid, daughter of the late Thomas Reid and Eliza Stevens. She was married in 1895 and they lived at Thorne until moving to the Campbell's Bay district.

She leaves to mourn her husband; four sons, Gordon and Charles, Ottawa; Russell, Barrie and Harry, Oakville, Ont.; and four daughters, Mrs. Everett Laughren (Margaret) Shawville, Mrs. William Smith (Grace) of Campbell's Bay, Mrs. Marshall Knife (May) Oshawa and Pearl at home; 20 grand children and 10 great grandchildren.

The funeral was Sunday afternoon from her late residence to the Holiness Movement Church, where the service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. Gould.

Mrs. Asa Smith and Miss Margart Smith sang a duet, "The lights of Home" with Miss Carrie Smith at the organ. Hymns included "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Abide with me". Interment was in the United cemetery. Pallbearers were six of her grandsons, Marshall, Erwin and Chester Laughren, Beverley and Alvin Hill and Beverley Palmer.

Imports of fancy cheese into the United Kingdom during the second half of 1952 are to be restricted to a value of 12.3 million dollars.

Cliff Club. Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Cuthbertson received the many guests with the bridal party.

Mrs. Thomas wore a turquoise crepe dress featuring a square neckline, long sleeves and folds on the skirt draping to the back. Her costume was complimented with black accessories and corsage of talisman roses.

Mrs. Cuthbertson was attired in a teal blue crepe dress with high round neckline, long sleeves and side drape. She wore black accessories, white gloves and corsage of talisman roses.

The two main serving tables were attractive with lace cloths, tall silver candlebra and fruit and floral centrepieces of three shades of grapes, Western wheat and bronze and gold mums. The bride's table was decorated with a hand-crocheted lace cloth and three-tiered wedding cake set in a frothing of tulle and decorated with grapes, Western wheat and shaded mums.

Mrs. W. J. Stewart and Miss Mabel McKeever were dining-room hostesses for the occasion. Those pouring were Mrs. Eric Carey, of Ottawa, Mrs. Allen Carey, of Campbell's Bay, Mrs. Heman Elliott, of Shawville, all aunts of the bride, Mrs. M. R. Atkinson, Mrs. M. Cressey, both of Sudbury, Mrs. G. McPhail and Mrs. G. Passi, both of Frood Village and Mrs. G. Suckow, of Copper Cliff. Those serving were Mrs. G. Piirainen, Mrs. H. Jewitt, of Simcoe, Mrs. J. Thom, Miss Phyllis Winters, Miss Barbara MacKenzie, Miss Gloria Calandra, Miss Janet Rivington, Miss Florence Husson, Miss Joyce Johnston, Mrs. W. Job, Miss Ruth Suckow and Mrs. J. Lee. The guest book was looked after by Mrs. D. Isard. Mr. Delmar Suckow provided a pleasant musical background during the reception.

Following the reception, the young couple left by car for a honeymoon trip to Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec City and Gaspe. For travelling, the bride wore a grey worsted suit, matching hat with burgundy trim, burgundy shoes and bag and corsage of gardenias. She carried a grey fur jacket.

Near the end of their trip, they were honored at a dinner and reception at Pine Lodge, Norway Bay, given by the parents of the groom.

Out-of-town guest included: Mr. J. H. Carey, of Minneapolis, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Eric Carey and sons Ronald and Bob, of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Carey, son Glen and daughter Joan, of Campbell's Bay, Mrs. Heman Elliott and daughter Anna, Shawville, Mr. and Mrs. P. The new executive discussed plans for the commemoration of Armistice Day, November 11.

Minister And Wife Feted On Anniversary

The congregation of Campbell's Bay United Church charge, assembled in the church hall, Campbell's Bay to celebrate the silver wedding anniversary of their minister and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. John Renshaw.

The occasion proved to be a complete surprise to the couple. The people entered the hall which was arrayed with baskets of candlemas daisies, asters and petunias.

After a sing song enjoyed by the audience the Y. P. president, Grant Elliott, escorted two of the young people Jean Murphy and Reta Robinson to decorated chairs in the centre, where the minister and his wife had been placed, where they pinned a corsage of pink carnations on Mrs. Renshaw and a white buttonaire on the minister.

Mrs. Clarence Wall, Bryson, read the following message of congratulations:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Renshaw: On this, the 25th anniversary of your wedding, we have gathered to celebrate with you this important event in your life. In these days when couples separate over trivial things, it is interesting to se marriages lasting 25, 50 and more years. We can congratulate you on passing this quarter of century together. We know that life for you both has been a highly serviceable one in the communities and pastorages where you have served and while you have been with us, because of your principles and ideals, the lives of your people have been brighter. You have served us faithfully and we want to say that we love you both and you have made many friends.

"We hope you will be long spared to give council and guidance. May we say to you—many happy years of life filled with God's gracious presence in our prayer for you and your family."

Following the address, Mrs. George Smith presented a chest of "Evening Star" community plate silverware, Mrs. Lawrence Hodgins presented a 14kt gold convex green wristwatch to the minister.

The couple expressed appreciation of the kind thoughts and gifts received and pledged themselves to serve their congregation.

A lunch was served by the ladies of Campbell's Bay W. A. arranged by the president, Mrs. Lloyd Elliott and the convenor, Mrs. M. R. Henderson. A guest book presented by the congregation was signed by all present.

A feature of the event was a three-storied wedding cake made by Mrs. William Moorehead and Mrs. E. Murphy.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Roland Elliott and Mrs. Cliff Olmstead.

After singing the Doxology, an enjoyable evening came to a close.

Hold Shower

A cup and saucer shower was held at the home of Miss Evelyn Howard, Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Margaret Clarke, one of this month's brides. Miss Gwenyth Armstrong played the wedding march. After the bride-elect was presented with a corsage by the hostess, Mrs. Lloyd Stewart read a short address and Misses Roberta Dagg and Betty Smart presented Margaret with a beautifully decorated basket of gifts. The bride-to-be thanked her friends and a delightful lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Stewart and Mrs. Keith Brownlee.

Considerable difficulty is usually experienced in harvesting reed canary grass seed. Is shatters very rapidly when ripe.
