Sea Cadets March To Westmount Pk. For Inspection

Nine hundred young sea cadets made a fine showing on Monday night when they marched past Commander M.R. Campbell, R.C. N.V.R., commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Donnacona, at Westmount Park, in one of the largest sea cadet parades ever held here.

The cadets paraded from their Closse street headquarters to the park, headed by their respective ship bands and formed up by divisions. During the inspection and march past, Commander Campbell was accompanied by William Ewing, president of the Navy League.

Principal officers on parade, in addition to the ship's C.O.'s were Lieut. D. Patterson, executive officer; Lieut. George Bird, training officer; Lieut. E. N. Noseworthy, band leader of Victory I; Lieut. R.J. Kaysey, executive officer; Lieut. D. Armitage, training officer; and Thomas W. Ansell, band leader of Victoria II.

Rotary Club Asks For Games For Boys' Club

The Rotary Club of Westmount is appealing to the citizens for equipment to be used in a boy's club. Such equipment as ping-pong tables and accessories, checkers and other games would be very acceptable.

Any person wishing to donate such material should communicate with any member of the Rotary Club or call E.J. Anderson at Flitzroy 1929.

Sgt. Pilot J. Trow Killed In Crash

Word has been received here that Sergeant Pilot James E. Trow, R.C.A.F., 32, was killed accidentally at Point au Pic, on Tuesday in a crash.

Sgt. Pilot Trow, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Trow, of 645 Belmont Avenue, and whose wife, the former Theodora Patricia Hunt, of Winnipeg, lives at 3520 McTavish Street, was educated at Lower Canada College. He enlisted at Lachine in October, 1942, and trained at the University of Montreal, Toronto, and Pendleton, and received his wings at Hagersville, Ont., on March 10, 1943.

Mathewson Finds Public Ill Served

Emphasis on the need of adult education on political and economic matters as well as the provision of more formal training for young people, a plea for better understanding between French and English speaking Canadians and a short digression on freedom of the press were the highlights of the address by Hon. J. A. Mathewson, M.L.A. for Notre Dame de Grace and Provincial Treasurer in the Quebec Government at a supper meeting of the Notre Dame de Grace Business Men's Association held in Westmount Y.M.C.A. on Monday night. Mr. Mathews resides at 3057 Trafalgar Ave.

In answer to a question at the close of his address Mr. Mathewson made a spirited defence of the government's action in expropriating Montreal Light, Heat and Power, and raised the lid on financial legerdemain since the formation of the concern at the beginning of the century.

Capitalization of the company, the Minister said, was 16 million dollars at its incorporation. This included the price paid for the properties of the other companies it took over and with a generous recompense for the work accomplished in effecting the merger. This capitalization rose to 18 million dollars in 1916. A year later, at a time when the issue of the Great War was hanging in the balance the capitalization took a sudden jump to 63 million dollars without the addition of a dollar of new investment. This, Mr. Mathewson cited as one of the reasons why Montreal, headquarters of the Power Company had to pay higher rates than any other city in Canada, higher than Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, Sherbrooke or Quebec.

Mr. Mathewson also referred to distributions and splits which disbursed to shareholders a sum equal to the original 16 million dollar investment.

Ken Lyall Speaks At Camp Roslyn Annual Meeting

The fifth annual "get acquainted" meeting of Camp Roslyn was held on Friday, May 19, at the Westmount "Y" on Sherbrooke street. During the evening Kenneth E. Lyall, Servicemen's candidate of Westmount-St. George in the coming Provincial election gave a short talk to the boys on "Teamwork". After a singing and a quiz period, movies were shown.

Amongst those present were Byron Berry, McLane Holmes, David and Peter Wiggs, Hugh Burke, Bobby Forrest, Freddy Gutelius, Woody and Carl Pierce, Fraser Lindsay, Bruce Drysdale, John Waterson, Hugh Montgomery, John Lyall, jr., Ian Campbell, James and John Brierly and David Hart.

Seated at the head table were Dr. John Patrick, Murray McFarlane, Ken Lyall, Bob Beale, Pat Rigby and Bob Perry.

It was rather irritating to have our safe stolen from this office but to add further to the annoyance the burglars allowed the safe to fall on a newly-planted bed of flowers, killing several perennials just planted. It was quite apparent that the thieves did not appreciate flowers. But that was Tuesday morning and we will have some new flowers in by the week-end.

Prof. A. R. George To Be Speaker At Rotary Lunch

Westmount Rotary will meet on Wednesday next, when the speaker for the occasion will be Professor A. Robert George.

Chester W. McBride, president, attended the Westward Rotary Day Luncheon last Thursday, held at the Montreal West Town Hall.

An invitation has been received here, from the Rotary Club of Enfield, England, extending a warm invitation to any of the Westmount members, relatives or friends in the Armed Forces who may be situated in their district to attend any of their weekly luncheons. Due to the fact of ration conditions in England at this time, this is considered most generous of the Enfield Club to offer to share their hospitality.

PISTOL-PACKIN' PUP

Lassie, a pup bought by Chicago police captain Louis Capparelli as a pet for his daughter, was kept in the police station to be house-broken. She liked the place so much she refused later to live at home, walks beats with the cops, and, as pictured above, proudly packs a rod and shield to prove she's no child's pet, but mascot to 200 burly cops.

The Consumer Branch, WPTB, now has 14,000 members throughout the Dominion watching prices and rendering other services.

(BOOKS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS) THE HIDDEN VALLEY

(By Laura Benet)

Imagining that his soldier-father found him a hindrance because of his inability to take care of himself in the open, Seth Beatty purposely fell behind his scouting party and let his horse carry him to the Hidden Valley. Here, he was startled by the sudden appearance of an Indian boy. This was Ahwahnee, sent by his chieftain father to live by his own skill and prowess and so gain full admission to his tribe. How these two boys, so unlike, became fast friends, foraging, exploring, fighting and adventuring—especially in the dangerous quest for the Bear Rock—makes fascinating reading.

SABINA

(By Elizabeth Howard)

When Sabina set out for Detroit aboard the Forest Queen, she had no idea what lay ahead of her among her unknown relatives. She was not even sure if she would be welcome at the end of her journey. How she fitted herself into the surroundings that were awaiting her form the thread of the story.

SUBCHASER JIM

(By Joseph Berger)

Jim Ellis, skipper of the crack Gloucester schooner, Vasco da Gama, has joined the Navy as an intelligence officer with orders to combine fishing with observation of submarine activity off the New England coast. Many are the activities Jim engages in and the sturdy schooner becomes as great a danger to lurking U-boats as a swift destroyer.

THE WINGED GIRL OF KNOSSOS

(By Erick Berry)

Here is an exciting tale of ancient Crete. It was an age of colour, of drama and of danger. Inas, the lithe, blue-eyed tomboy daughter of the famous Daidolos, is her father's companion in his experiments with the flying gliders. But jealousy causes director of "l'Ecole Canadienne". It is proposed for next year to have a series of lectures under the general title of "Careers for our Children," which will help the parents to find out the numerous outlets open to their children.

Inas and her father to flee to far-distant Sicell. This is a swiftly-moving tale of high adventure, and like the others already mentioned, may be borrowed from the Westmount Library.

The Mothers' Club of the Association was more active than ever and organized several social entertainments for both parents and children; school visits, bridge parties and dances. As in past years, the Association has offered prizes to deserving students of Saint-Paul's and Saint-Léo's Academies. The Sports' Committee of the Association has raised funds to buy equipment required in both schools to promote games and sports.

Residents of this district are warned that unscrupulous persons, posing as benevolent helpers of indigent and sick nurses, are endeavouring to cash in on the kind hearted people who listen to their seemingly well-authenticated tales. This latest racket is worked by a woman calling herself Miss Baker or Miss Johnston, but according to reports of subscribers, more than one person may be involved.

last year. Also surviving are two sons, Victor Elliot Dawson, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Owen Dawson, of Montreal, founder of the Griffintown Boys Club, who has been associated with the Boys' Farm and Training School, Shawbridge, for 34 years. Four grandchildren also survive, James and Phillipa Dawson, children of the late Capt. Heber Dawson, and Edward and Mary Dawson, Los Angeles.

Born at Pictou, N.S., on May 2, 1854, Dr. Dawson was the son of Sir William Dawson, who was principal of McGill University from 1855 to 1893. He received his early education at Montreal High School. At the time of his death he was the oldest living graduate—and at McGill University, which he entered in 1870 and from which he graduated in 1873 as B.A., winning the gold medal in geology and natural science. Two years later he graduated in engineering as Bachelor of Applied Science. He then entered the Ecole de Ponts et Chaussées, the Paris school for French Government engineers, to which foreign students were admitted after examination. There he took the three years course comprising all branches of civil engineering and graduated in 1890 with the diploma of special merit.

During his career Dr. Dawson won the Watt Gold Medal of the Institute of Civil Engineering, London, Eng., of which he was a member, and two prizes for research in tide levels and currents from the Academy of Sciences, Paris. He was made a laureate of the latter body, a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada and was a member of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

Jean Brodeur discussing business history of Montreal states that the original "Smith Brothers" started their cough drop business in this city but found out early in their career that they could ply their goods better across the border so moved to the United States.

Local Boys' Brigade Highly Commended At Battalion Review

The 1st Westmount Company were highly praised at the Battalion Review and Display which took place Saturday at the Black Watch Armoury. On this particular occasion, the four trophies won out of seven competitions entered, were awarded. The Ambulance Shield, Squad Drill Cup, Junior and Senior Swimming Trophies, shall be in the 1st Company's hands until the next challenge, and right proud they are to hold them. The Kings Colour, presented to the company winning the most competitions will not be presented until the Fall Church Parade owing to the fact that there remains one more competition to be completed, the result of which might bring about a tie.

During the Review and Display, the Band of the 1st Company took an active part in the Tattoo and their First Aid teams also put on a very effective demonstration followed by platoon drill.

Sunday was a big day in the life of the 1st Company being the annual Spring Church Parade, this year taking place at Livingstone Presbyterian Church. The Battalion assembled at Park Avenue Station and paraded to the church following a brief route march. During the service, Corp. Bob Eastwood, Ptes. Pte Baily and Alan Robinson rendered a voluntary with cornets and euphoneum. Immediately following the service, boys of the 1st Company were invited to dinner and tea with boys and officers of the 4th Company, that they might fellowship together and attend a special service in the evening at St. Alban's Anglican Church. There has always been a very close tie between both companies and this occasion offered great opportunity to the boys to really know the lads of the 4th Company. For the evening parade the band of the 1st Company was in complete charge and led a route march to and from Church.

This evening, the 1st Company will play an active role in the display being given at a Youth Rally in the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Sunday School Assn. The Brass band will render several selections and Squad Drill as well as First Aid will be demonstrated.

Captain Richardson visited camp during the week and reports that preparations have been made to handle a record number of campers this session. Several additional boats have been added, making the thrill of water sports all the more fascinating and an extension to the dining hall will care for the increased number of campers.

Many War Jobs For Boy Scouts

Boy Scouts in Great Britain have been given a new war job. They are to be official guides in the new emergency water supply scheme. In the event of the dislocation of water services, the supplies will be distributed from large tank trucks. The Scouts will act as guides to the truck drivers. In all, Scouts of Great Britain have carried out more than 200 types of war service.

Canada consumed last year 50 per cent more citrus fruits than in any normal pre-war year.

Solar Club Founder Topic Of Speech by Donald Budge

A meeting of unusual interest was held by the Solar Club of Montreal on Thursday evening of last week in the A. R. Griffith Memorial Hall of the Homoeopathic Hospital. Two outstanding features of the evening's program were an address by Donald Budge on the life of the late Dr. A. R. Griffith, founder of the Solar Club, and a performance by Sergeant Thomas Auburn of the Canadian Army, a well-known local magician.

In speaking of some of the more important events in the life of the late Dr. A. R. Griffith, who died on the 2nd September, 1936, Don Budge said: In 1894 he was one of the small group who founded the Homoeopathic Hospital of Montreal, and from that time on the promotion, improvement, and enlargement of the hospital was his great ambition and life work. He was Medical Superintendent and Physician in Chief of the hospital for 36 years. Without detracting in any way from the unselfish devotion and devoted work which many others have given to this hospital, it was without doubt largely due to his personal efforts and tireless energy that this fine hospital is here today, serving the needs of the community. The late Dr. Griffith's "Hobby" was to influence boys and young men to become better and more useful citizens, and it was his courage and vision of what could be done by men of good will working together towards an ideal which led to the founding of the Solar Club, which he organized in October 1934 for the following purposes:

1. To assist the work of the Homoeopathic Hospital.
2. To provide opportunity for the development of the members in responsible citizenship.
3. To promote friendship and fellowship.

The members of the Solar Club were very much intrigued and mystified by the performance of Thomas Auburn, local Army magician, and expressed their appreciation of his skill with rounds of applause following each act.

Edmund Collard occupied the chair and announced that no further meetings would be held until the latter part of September.

PLAN TO REPAY KINDNESS

ORIGINATED by the parents of thousands of British children who were evacuated to Canada and the United States, the Kinsmen Trust in Old London has evolved a concrete way of expressing its gratitude. The Trust, with donated funds now totaling more than $67,000, will provide facilities after the war for educating in England children from Canada, the other Dominions and the United States, in the hope of promoting a better understanding between all English-speaking peoples. A long list of scholarships has been formed by the Trust, headed by Lady Louis Mountbatten, wife of the Allied commander in South East Asia, who has donated a scholarship at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. Art Schools and business firms have added offers to the list, which includes the name of George Arliss, the venerable actor, who has endowed a scholarship in dramatics. Among famous schools contributing is Rodean, one of England's most noted, from which groups of girls were evacuated to Ottawa. The debt to Canadian and United States foster parents, a Trust spokesman said, was not only one of friendship but also financial. For years it has not been possible to send out of Britain the money needed to finance British children who were evacuated in the early days of the war. Children's parents associated with large industries have arranged for youths to be brought here and given a full year's training at the expense of the companies.

THINK OF MR. AMYOT

(From the North Bay Nugget)

"ARE YOU among the fortunate ones who have had a chat with the maimed Sergeant Rolly Amyot since he returned home from the wars?"

Amyot left North Bay sturdy in body and in mind, a fine young athlete, personable and extremely well liked by everybody who had the good fortune to know him. He was well equipped to live a full and happy life. That was three years ago. Today he is back in North Bay and he has no right arm. He is lame and must use a cane. He has a hole as big as a hockey puck in his chest, another hole equally as large in his side, and one of his knees is badly battered. Pieces of shrapnel are still lodged in various parts of his body. He has a gnawing pain which never leaves him for a second. And he faces two major operations within the next six months.

A lot of us are going around with a chip on our shoulder these days, and if there is one person in the whole of this city who one might think should really be "mad at the world" in general, it is Rolly Amyot. But he happens to be the least "mad at the world" of any person we know. Rolly Amyot may be broken in body, but he very definitely is not broken in spirit. This writer had the privilege of chatting with Amyot the other day, and it was the most refreshing experience we have had in a long, long time. We were astounded to find him fairly bubbling over with cheerfulness, good humor and hope. He never once stopped laughing and joking. He never once showed the merest trace of despondency or vindictiveness. With almost unbelievable glee did he tell us of the "fun" he was having in learning how to shave with his left hand, to write with his left hand, to dress with his left hand. (His only complaint was that he was going to "miss" his right arm when embracing his Scottish bride!)

If we think of Mr. Amyot when the Victory Loan salesman asks us how much we are going to buy in the Sixth Victory Loan campaign, we'll likely decide on a larger amount with cheerfulness.

UNLIMITED RESOURCES

A CURIOUS, but persistent, fallacy turns up again in a statement by the Archbishop of Canterbury. In discussing wealth and commercial goods, he states that the more one person possesses, the less there remains for the others. His idea is that each man's success represents corresponding failure in his neighbours. This implies that the amount of goods in the world is limited, and cannot be increased.

The mistaken logic is obvious. So long as there is wealth in the earth unmined or untitled, and so long as there is rushing water unharnessed or human imagination, initiative, and inventive genius available; so long as we can devise means of speeding up the circulation of goods, money, and services, there will be growing wealth to be shared. There is practically no limit to the resources of the world and its people.

DEFINITION

THIS COMES indirectly from an administrator of one of the many departments of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, but is perhaps not to be regarded as official. Asked at a meeting of his trade group to define his functions, he summarized them in the following sentence:

An Administrator is one who develops ordered chaos out of utter confusion."

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

District Chaplain of the 1st Military District of the Canadian Army F.M.D. C.A., Lt.-Colonel Charles A. Nicholl, has made an appeal to his own denomination of the Presbyterian Church in Canada to provide for the Padres who will be returning to the work of the regular ministry either before or after the end of the war. He asks "Will our returning chaplains have to follow the custom which has obtained in our church for years and have to preach for a call and thus enter into competition with our younger ministers who were eligible for active service and who for some reason or other remained at home? Or will our chaplains have to accept an appointment by our Home Mission Board and be content with the augmented or ordained mission charge? It seems to me that some policy will need to be adopted by our church whereby our ministers who have given faithful service in the three branches—viz: Navy, Army and Air Force, should at least have the first opportunity to secure a hearing in any of our self-supporting congregations." In a note in the Presbyterian Record publishing this appeal, the secretary of the Chaplaincy Committee stated that this committee is giving serious attention to the problem.

The United Church of Canada is celebrating the fact that it has, after just over three years of campaigning completely underwritten the debt of $1,700,000 with which it started the year 1941. While this sum was being raised, members of the United Church also increased their giving to the Missionary Maintenance Fund by over $100,000 a year, gave $57,000 to the bombed churches of Great Britain and, more recently, contributed $110,000 to the China and India Famine Relief Funds. Every part of the church responded to the appeal and fifty-six Presbyteries exceeded their allocations.

The Editor of the United Church Observer stated in a recent issue "Since the outbreak of the war the principle by which chaplains are appointed to the Army has been that one Roman Catholic chaplain should be appointed for every five hundred Roman Catholic soldiers and that there should be one Protestant chaplain for every one thousand Protestant soldiers and a similar proportional base exists in the Air Force." The Editor also stated that this proportion does not obtain in any other country.

J. H. Schlarman, Roman Catholic Bishop of Peoria, president of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference has just returned from a 5000-mile trip to Mexico. The Bishop wrote in the "New World" published in Chicago that the two needs of Mexico are education of the people and ownership of the soil by those who cultivate it. Of President Cardena's distribution of land, he wrote: "The so-called deed which grants them the use of twenty, thirty or forty acres has some small print on the reverse side setting forth how they lose the use of it. One reason is that participation in subversive activities under the Revolutionary Party Government in Mexico—that means if you do not go with the Party." The Bishop charges that "thousands of miles of irrigation ditches have been ruined or silted; soil that was once very productive is exhausted, eroded, neglected. Agricultural production has decreased 70 per cent since 1913. Mexico is a warning example of one-party government."

Australian feminists, crusading for equal rights in industry as well as politics, addressed to their Premier Hon. John Curtin the following appeal: "Our Prime Minister, which art in Canberra, democracy be thy aim. May liberty come and equality be won for women as well as for men.

"Give us this day equal status, and forgive us our accident of sex, as we forgive those conventions which discriminate against us.

"Lead us not back to inferiority and deliver us from exploitation, for thine is the party, the power and policy.

"Give us equality, for ever and ever.

"A Woman."

Sir John Anderson, Chancellor of the Exchequer, presented a budget for the coming year totaling $23,748,000,000. Taxes will cover 52% of this without any rise. In 1943, he said, the cost of living rose 28% and an increase of 35% is anticipated for 1944. Without subsidies the increase would be far greater, he stated. He added: Britain will emerge from the war impoverished, with most overseas investments liquidated, and no longer a creditor nation. Hence the importance of regaining export markets. Britain's national income last year was $32,688,000,000.

Because it showed pictures of American Negro soldiers enjoying the friendly hospitality of British people in a London social club, one issue of the London Picture Post was placed under ban by the South African Government.

How contracts are negotiated in the U.S.A. to cut down excess profits: the chairman of the War Department's Price Adjustment Board stated that "In reaching a conclusion we allow an adequate margin of profit, plus a margin of generosity, plus a margin for good measure."

QUERY TO CANDIDATE

To the Editor, of the Examiner—

Sir:

I noticed a recent announcement that Kenneth E. Lyall, a returned veteran, is to stand for Westmount-St. George in the Provincial elections. I would like to know, just to what extend the experience he gained in the Armed Forces would benefit Mr. Lyall or any one else as a member of the Legislature?

Furthermore, what legislation would Mr. Lyall be interested in, solely War Measures?

Perhaps Mr. Lyall himself or some of your readers could enlighten me.

Curiosity.

Food for Thought

The people . . . must decide whether they wish to prepare for every individual the fullest degree of personal freedom that is compatible with the general welfare, or to accept regimentation of conduct and the authority of the state in all matters, as the only system by which adequate production and just distribution can be attained . . . It is the question they must think out for themselves, or by indifference allow themselves to be shorn of all personal freedom.

Change of Water Often Cause Of Dry Complexion

ANN SAVAGE: Tests water.

Many of the women who have travelled from one section of the country to another to take defense jobs or visit their husbands at Army camps, are finding that for the first time in their lives they are having complexion trouble.

"In most cases it may be due to nothing more than a change in water," says film player Ann Savage.

"The solution is simple," she insists. "Whenever I go on location to make a picture, and find that my skin is beginning to feel tight and a bit rough, I have a test made of the water. If it contains minerals which will deprive my skin of its normal supply of oil, I either use a softened, distilled water to bath in, or if that isn't available, a switch to an extra rich soap."

E. McLaren, Mrs. J. Hutchinson, Miss K. McLennon, Mrs. R. Christie, Mrs. E. Davies, Mrs. R. G. Gilbride, Mrs. J. W. MacKay, and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Strang.

RE-MAKE CLINICS EXHIBIT WORK AT SIMPSON'S

Showing some of the work of the 2450 members of the eight centres of the Re-Make Clinics of Montreal, and marking their first anniversary, a booth is being sponsored every day this week on the fourth floor of the Robt. Simpson Co., in the fabric department from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. except Wednesday.

In conjunction with "Mrs. Consumer" week, which is being celebrated from May 22 to 27, the booth will call attention to the valuable part women have played in the war effort by saving 12,000 yards of clothing material in the first year of their activity, and applications will be accepted from women wishing to take part in the new set of spring classes just being organized.

Miss Elizabeth Garrisere is supervisor of the centres that are sponsored by the Consumer Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board; and as well as showing completed articles, pictures will also be on display illustrating "before" and "after" models.

Professional male dress designers give voluntary service in the evenings, and expert non-professional sewers give voluntary advice, and help the women at the day-time classes held every day except Saturday.

Already 4,000 articles, ranging from children's clothing to women's suits, have been com-

17th Duke of York's Next-of-Kin Engage In Many Activities

At the next-of-kin meeting held last week by the Ladies' Association of the 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars in the Allan Shatford Hall a silver collection brought in $36.50 for the Prisoners of War emergency kits in response to an appeal by the president, Mrs. Ward Pittfield.

An interesting letter from the Commanding Officer giving news of the regiment overseas was read, and the president added that the Colonel endorsed the appeal already made for knitted gloves. She also announced that Mrs. T. C. Lewis had been appointed convener of the hospital visiting committee. A most enjoyable entertainment was presented by a group of the Women's Volunteer Reserve Corps under the direction of Capt. Bobbie Rice. The "Bring and Buy Sale" held by the Association on Saturday May 20 was most successful, through the generosity of all who contributed and assisted. Prizes were presented during the afternoon and a further contribution made to the Prisoners of War kits.

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

Take somebody with you when you go to see "The Lodger"!

20th Century-Fox's picturization of Mrs. Marie Belloc Lowndes' best-selling study of Jack the Ripper opened at the Westmount United Theatre yesterday and it can be unequivocally—flattering—stated that it is the tensest, most suspenseful shocker that ever wracked the wrought-up nerves of a movie audience. From its beginning, in the shadow of London's White-chapel district, it is an adventure in movie-going that will remain indelibly in your memory.

Merle Oberon, George Sanders and Laird Cregar are starred in the film, with a brilliant cast including Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Sara Allgood, Aubrey Mather, Queenie Leonard, Doris Lloyd, David Clyde and Helena Pickard.

John Brahm, who directed the film, has created a mood that is born in terror and reaches a wild crescendo of thrills in the startling climax. Robert Bassler, the producer, contributes an outstanding example of craftsmanship. Barre Lyndon's screen play skillfully captures the full force and imagination of Mrs. Lowndes' novel.

London, at the time of Jack the Ripper, was a city saturated in fear. The Ripper had killed several women in such a manner as to leave no doubt that all the crimes were the work of one individual.

Into the Burton home, at the height of the panic, comes "The Lodger" to apply for a room. His character is strange; his manner mysterious; his habits peculiar.

Niece of the Burtons is lovely Merle Oberon, in the role of the reigning queen of the London musical comedy stage. She is repelled, yet fascinated, by "The Lodger." Inevitably, Jack the Ripper marks her for his own. Scotland Yard is helpless, the people are terror-stricken—but the girl is unaware of the fate that hangs over her head. The spectator, however, clearly sees the inevitable attack, and the suspense becomes almost unbearable as the film, step by step, reaches its excitement-packed climax.

Complimenting the atmosphere of the story is romance and Miss Oberon in several entrancing numbers.

"The Lodger," in sum, is another outstanding entertainment from the studio that produced such a steady succession of triumphs, 20th Century-Fox.

At York Theatre

The glorious story that was written in the smoke of the battle that gave America its first taste of victory, emerged last night as a thrilling, never-to-be-forgotten screen experience with the showing of 20th Century-Fox's picturization of Richard Tregaskis' "Guadalcanal Diary" at the York United Theatre.

Here indeed is the picture we've all been waiting for. For "Guadalcanal Diary" is the first great human picture of this year—the story of the U.S. Marines on Guadalcanal, thumbing their noses at desperate odds... wise-cracking to the crack of snipers' bullets... yes, and dreaming of dames amidst the terrors of jungle warfare. It is a throat-choking epic of victory told in a heart-thrilling story of "just guys" America will always remember.

20th Century-Fox has faithfully followed in line and detail Tregaskis' sensational best-seller. It has entrusted the portrayal of its characters to an outstanding cast headed by Preston Foster, Lloyd Nolan, William Bendix, Richard Conte and Anthony Quinn, and including Richard Jaeckel, Roy Roberts, Minor Watson, Ralph Byrd, Lionel Stander, Reed Hadley and John Archer. With his inspired direction of the stirring film, Lewis Seiler has cut a new niche for himself among Hollywood's directors, while Bryan Foy has given the film a lavish production.

In outline, "Guadalcanal Diary" is the saga of the campaign against the Japs' strongholds at Guadalcanal and Tulagi that marked the first land offensive in the war against the Japs. But most of all, it is the story of the men behind the guns—heroes all, and all great guys!

You'll meet them all in this picture as great as America's heart, in all their rich profusion. Father Donnelly, All-American

The film, based on Eve Curie's best-selling biography of her famous mother, begins with Marie's student days at Paris and tells of her courtship and subsequent marriage to the brilliant young physicist, Pierre Curie.

While working in Pierre's laboratory, a fellow scientist shows them a remarkable phenomenon which cannot be explained. The mysterious substance fascinates Marie and she determines to isolate it. Soon Pierre realizes the magnitude of her work and joins her. Working against the elements, sickness and despair, they persist in their endeavours. Their labors finally are rewarded with the discovery of a new element—radium, the great healer which they make available to mankind at no profit to themselves.

Greer Garson has never given a finer performance than in her portrayal of the greatest woman scientist of our times and Walter Pidgeon does an excellent job of enacting the lovable, absent-minded professor. Albert Basserman contributes an outstanding performance as the distinguished scientist who brings the Curies together and becomes Marie's staunch bulwark in later years. Due to the extreme length of "Madame Curie," it will be presented at the Snowdon Theatre as a single bill, with carefully selected short-subjects to complete the program.

"One Night of Rhythm" Splendid Diversion

Most dance school recitals are marked by certain well-defined limitations; the difficulty of injecting adequate variety into a full dance program and the fact that all the pupils, regardless of ability, want to appear in that program. There are, however, certain established exceptions and the annual Dance Revue presented by Hilda Galt has become recognized as an outstanding one.

The Eighth Annual presentation entitled "One Night of Rhythm" took place Thursday, at Victoria Hall and played to a most enthusiastic audience.

The success of the show was due undoubtedly to Hilda Galt's distinctive skill in training both classes and individuals and to the clever showmanship and sound artistry.

Rich costumes, combining smartness and originality and the effective utilization of colorful miniature sets lends to the production numbers a genuine musical comedy atmosphere. Interwoven with the younger performers of the school is the expert work of the older pupils. Further enriched by the two well trained and very attractive chorus lines from Miss Galt's own Troop Show and from the Sun Life Revue whose dancing is also under her supervision.

The younger pupils of the school appeared in "Kiddies On Parade" which started with Barbara Davidson as the "Mama Hen" and Linda May Snider, Joan La Billois, Sheila Aronoff, Maureen Thomas, Heather Bulst and Dawn Wiltsie as the "Baby Chicks"; little Barbara Miller in toe solo "Si Petite" followed by four "Snappy Tappers" Jackeline Adams, Carol Burling, Patricia Thomas and Dorothy Ginsburg; a very smart song and tap routine by Ann Elizabeth Woodcock and Betty Hendry; "Baby Tricks" by Elaine Sherwin, Eleanor Fogul, Marian Bloom, Reicha Barza, Monique Dufresne, Carol Hall, Jill Everest, Sheila Shacter, Judith Lauria and Sandra Cummings; two truly little "Dainty Darlings"

AT THE YORK SATURDAY!

Walter Pidgeon and Greer Garson in a scene from the film "Madame Curie," which opens at the York United Theatre on Saturday playing until Tuesday night.

Lorna Bulford and Carol Burling, a very bright song and tap routine "Irish Rhythm" by Maureen O'Reilly; "Military Miss" by Heather McIntosh, and the lively Mexican hand clapping routine "Chiapanecas" by Barbara Miller, Shirley Olsen, Betty Hendry, Lenora Chesmer, Miriam Wilkinson, Sally Brayley, Edna Bannerman and Ann Gregory, these young ladies also thrilled the audience with their "Pistol Packing Rhythm" an outstanding tap routine which ended with a most difficult lariat, and Shirley Porteous was very beautiful as the good fairy.

The excellent solo presentation of young Terry Goodwin was one of the favourites of the evening. His singing, whistling, baton twirling and tap work place him in a class with the best professional artists; in this same category is the beautiful Dorothy Reed, who excels in acrobatics, tap and a most exquisite toe number "Dove of Peace"; the spectacular acrobatics of young Bernice Brown were truly wonderful, as was the tap of Shirley Elkin and Marilyn Cumming and tiny baby Jackeline Adams.

The Sun Life Girls' smart precision in "Top Hat Rhythm" and "Sun Life Precision" and the Galt Girls in "Persian Swing" and "Picture Number" were all excellent; most thrilling was the "Hawaiian Paradise", which combined the both Troop Show lines in a most pleasing way. The Sun Life girls are: Evelyn Bamford, Margaret Webster, Marguerite Chailot, Eileen Kyle, Kay Ward, Adele Paquin, Daisy Miller, June Wallace, Sheila Galbraith and Eileen Mahoney. The Galt Girls are: Gladys Lemieux, Geraldine Reinblatt, Shirley Elkin, Pauline Donald, Peggy Shotton, Jessie Richardson, Frances Whalen, Patsy Davidson, Doris McHardy and Dorothy Jarvis. One spectacle which calls for special mention was "A Tribute to China" in which seven Chinese girls, in exquisite silk costumes, presented an Oriental dance which was characterized by atmosphere, admirable control of rhythm and grace. These Chinese girls, part of the Hilda Galt Troop Show, are Margaret Yuen, Dorothy Yuen, Laura Yuen, Betty Woo, Ruby Wong, Mabel Wong and Nellie Wong.

"The Gay Rancheros" was a very lively scene in which young Teddy Traynor and his young lady, Ann Gregory, presented some very fine song and tap routines, as did "Cowboy Rhythm" by Patricia Cohen, Barbara Walker, Constance Howe, Beverley Howe, Robyn MacKay and Monica Bulford; "Ranch Hands" by Paula MacParland, Shirley Goldman, Grace Ross and Valerie Brennan; "Sparky-the-Plug," a jaunty nag with plenty of rhythm—and the "Country Girls, and the City Slickers" by Carmen Cardoza, Ruth Margo, Ann-Marie Zbinden and Joyce Pollett as the girls, and Audrey Edmundson, Rona Gameroff, Barbara Thomas and Miriam Goldin as the boys. "Moonlight Ballet" was a most thrilling episode featuring very fine ballet work from the young and advanced pupils of the school. "Invitation to the Dance" by Sally Brayley; "Petites Ballerines" by Ann Gregory, Sally Brayley, Barbara Miller, Edna Bannerman, Betty Hendry, Miriam Wilkinson, Lenora Chesmer and Shirley Olsen; "Dance Charmante" by lovely Mary Wildig, "Pizzicato Polka" by Audrey Edmundson, Carmen Cardoza, Joyce Pollett, Ruth Margo, Ann-Marie Zbinden, Rona Gameroff and Miriam Goldin. "Pas de Deux" by Eunice and Shirley Porteous; "Valse" by Barbara Walker, Robyn McKay, Constance Howe, Beverley Howe and Patricia Cohen; "Petit Pas de Deux" by Betty Hendry and Ann Woodcock; "Corps de Ballet", by Eunice Porteous, Audrey Edmundson, Joyce Pollett, Shirley Porteous, Constance Baker, Mary Wildig and Barbara Davidson; "La Ballerina" featured the very charming Constance Baker.

Special credit must be given to the very fine solo work of Barbara Davidson in Tap and Toe Tap; Mary Wildig, "The Riveters" Elsa Pesner, Elissa Richstone and Sheila Seigler; little Edna Bannerman who showed her versatility in Toe, Toe-Tap and Tap routines, and Maureen O'Reilly in her tap routines; a very clever performer whose stage personality is most pleasing is Ann Gregory; Ruth Lowie, who played a violin solo before going into her dance; little Teddy Traynor, a real "Little Admiral"; Lillian Thompson and Edith Wong were fine in Tap Solo "Chinese Doll"; the smart team work of the Porteous sisters.

The long but very entertaining programme was brought to an end by a most stirring military finale featuring "The Dove of Peace" by Dorothy Reid; "On Guard" by the Sun Life Ensemble; "Uncle Sam" by Terry Goodwin; "To the Colors" by the Galt Girls. The audience was really thrilled by the glorious voice of Jane Lee, who was heard in "The Lord's Prayer". Marion Vaillancourt Tilley and Harold Morris did an excellent job at the twin pianos. The music was carefully selected and beautifully played. Credit also goes to the assisting pianists, Ozzie Goldman, Vera Wilkes and Tommy Simpson.

Dishpan Routine

How's your dish washing assembly line? Here's how the routine should go for minimum efforts and maximum results.

1. Wash cooking utensils as they are used.
2. Tidy the kitchen before serving the meal, if possible.
3. Soak last minute utensils during meal.
4. Have lots of hot water ready.
5. Wash pots and pans that have been left.
6. In clean sudsy water do glass, silver and china, in that order, rinse, and set in dish drainer... only silverware need be dried.
7. Cover dishes with clean cloth.

During the terrible famine in the state of Bengal in India, a group of Boy Scouts from a neighbouring state ran a food kitchen, feeding from 300 to 600 people daily. An 11 year old Wolf Cub took on the job of feeding the babies.

Doughnuts Provide Cupboards
When the Scouts and Cubs of the 32nd Ottawa Group wanted cupboards for themselves and the Girl Guides and Brownies, they went out and sold 1,145 dozen doughnuts which gave them the needed cash and a bit to spare.

Art Mann's Dodgers Take M. T. Garage Team Into Camp

Art Mann's Dodgers, senior champions of the Westmount Municipal Softball League last year, started off this season just where they left off last September when they took the M. T. Garage team into camp 12-0 on Monday evening at Westmount Park. This was the Dodgers first scheduled game of the season but the hurling effort of Allen Dyke was of mid-season calibre.

Four other games were played during the week with the No. 3 Command registering their second straight win by swamping the No. 12 Equipment Depot 21-1, the Wireless School edged out Longue Pointe Ordnance Depot 4-3, the Navy outslugged the No. 11 A.I.D. to win out 23-11 while the Equipment Depot won the first game of the season at the Westmount Barracks where they downed the No. 4 Ordnance outfit 11-5.

Paced by the four hit hurling of Allen Dyke, the local Dodgers had very little difficulty in downing the M. T. Garage team on Monday night. A newcomer, Ross Planche, led the winners at bat with three hits, one of them a home-run in the seventh frame with one aboard.

Joey Richman's Wireless School took a close one from the Longue Pointe Ordnance Depot with pitcher Spezial's three base hit in the last inning giving his team a 4-3 verdict. Ernie Munday banged out four straight hits for the army team but to no avail.

Home-runs by Weiner and Mike

Jotkus featured a ten run sixth inning when the No. 3 Command club beat the Equipment Depot 21-1. George Scully hurled three hit ball for the winners and had a shut out till the last inning when the losers pushed over their lone run.

The Navy had too much power for No. 11 A.I.D. banging out four home-runs with Gastell, Laycoe, Kirbyson and Smith obliging. Neither team impressed very much but the Navy hit too hard for the airmen.

The No. 12 Equipment Depot had two big early innings, the first and second, when they tallied ten times, and this was enough to give them their 11-5 victory over the No. 4 Ordnance team at the Westmount Barracks.

The teams will get down to business this week with eight games on the bill. On Monday May 29th the Wireless School meets No. 3 Command and the Dodgers take on the No. 11 A.I.D. team at Westmount Park while Longue Pointe Ordnance Depot visit No. 4 Ordnance at the Barracks. On Wednesday night May 31st one of the choice games of the season takes place with the Dodgers meeting George Scully's No. 3 Command at Westmount Park along with the M. T. Garage-Navy game. At the Barracks, the No. 4 Ordnance team meets the Provost Corps. On Thursday June 1st the Navy will meet the Equipment Depot and the Provost Corps takes on No. 11 A.I.D., both games to be played at Westmount Park.

Trinity Troop Defeats Inter Softball 10-6

The Trinity troop just about clinched the title in the Inter-troop section of the Westmount Municipal Softball League when they defeated the 1st Westmount outfit 10-6 on Tuesday night. This win left the Trinity team unbeaten in five starts and as they have but two games remaining they would either have to lose to both Calvary and St. Matthias to be eliminated or lose to either one of the teams to end up a first place tie with St. Leo's.

The standing now shows Trinity, St. Leo's and 1st Westmount with five wins apiece but St. Leo's have dropped one game while 1st Westmount have been on the losing end of two.

Trinity will meet Calvary in the first of the two crucial games tonight at Westmount Park and then take on St. Matthias at a later date.

The standing of the section is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Pts.
Trinity .....	5	0	10
St. Leo's .....	5	1	10
1st Westmount ..	5	2	10
Calvary .....	3	3	6
St. Matthias ....	3	3	6
Sea Scouts .....	1	4	2
St. Andrew's .....	0	5	0
2nd Westmount ..	0	5	0

ST. LEO'S SPORTS

By BILLY HAROLD

By Billy Harold

St. Leo's Sport Social turned out to be the finest affair of this nature that the students of the school ever had the privilege of enjoying. To pick out one event as the feature of the evening would be difficult and the entire program was run off with clock-like precision by Milton Orr the Academy's all round ace athlete who acted in the capacity of master of ceremonies. A few highlights of the evening were: the dedication to St. Leo's former athletes on active service which realized a tidy sum to send cigarettes to these boys overseas. The remembrance of St. Leo's boys on active service who have paid the supreme sacrifice and the impressive presentations to the three parents with a beautiful framed verse of 'High Flight' in humble appreciation of the great sacrifice of their sons who have offered their lives for their country. The unveiling by Father McDonagh of the Honor Roll dedicated to the St. Leo's Athletes from 1937 to 1944. The special awards to Jack Shannon, Bill Shannon, Milton Orr, Jack Martin and Johnnie Rogers for outstanding athletic achievements. A presentation by Jack Shannon on behalf of the parents and boys to coach Andy McGillis. Father McDonagh, P. P., Brother George and Mrs. Melvin were also on the receiving end of appropriate gifts from the boys for their generous support all year of all the school's athletic endeavors.

Although it is now over a week since we received the report that Sgt. John O'Connell, R.C.A.F., is missing, we are still hopeful that Johnnie, one of the most brilliant and popular athletes that ever laced a football cleat

Betty Hutton has 33 different kinds of hair-dos while portraying Texas Guinan in Paramount's "Incendiary Blonde."

Fair Catch

Women bag all fish caught in Neal's Creek, North Carolina, not because they're superior anglers but due to state barring men from trout stream. Men miss good fishing in more ways than one.

on, will yet weather the storm and show up and continue to be the inspiration of all the boys in the school who were privileged to know him.

'Baz O'Meara, Sports Editor of the Montreal Daily Star, gave a brief but stirring address at our Sports Social that was well received by the large throng that gathered in the Oak Room of Victoria Hall.

Yve Hudon, Griffin Marshall and George Mulligan who rendered valuable service as student managers during the past hockey season were not forgotten by the gang as they received suitable gifts for their untiring efforts in looking after the teams.

Bob Bulger, R.C.A.F., stationed at Kingston, tried his best to get in town in time for the Social and even went so far as to offer a pint of blood to the Red Cross in return for an earlier leave but not even that worked, so never mind, Bob, we appreciate that old spirit and thanks a million for your telegram of greeting to your old gang.

With the approach of the final exams there will be very little doing on the sports calendar for the remaining of this term with the athletes confining their interests mainly to their studies and in the little spare time they will have, probably will turn to softball and the tossing around a football but not serious enough to make any news of particular interest so yours truly will take leave until the Autumn leaves begin to tumble and that old pigskin is heard zooming through the crisp September air and remember, fellows, when the quarterback barks team back we want you all out there ready to dig in and carry that old St. Leo football tradition in the fighting fashion it has been accustomed to.

SPORTS EQUIPMENT

This sports equipment is now being used and is a means of great enjoyment to the members of the armed forces using it.

Lord's Tornados Sets Pace In Bantam Softball

Richard Lord's Tornados continue to set the pace in the bantam section of the Westmount Municipal Softball League, the Tornados chalked up two more wins last week without suffering a reverse and head the pack of six teams by one full game.

The Royals, Eagles and Bombers are in full pursuit and are bunched closely behind the league leader.

The Tornados copped their first win over the Bombers by a score of 21-7 but had a much tougher time downing the Dodgers, the score being 11-5.

The Royals also notched a pair of wins during the week of play and Brian Tiffin's team is now in second place. The Royals drubbed the Red Wings 25.5 and then won the closest game of the week, a 13-12 decision over the Eagles in eight innings. The Royals were forced to make a sensational comeback in order to turn back the Eagles. The Eagles had 9-3 lead in the third inning of the game but a five run rally in the fifth frame and three more in the seventh tied the game up at 12-12 at the end of regulation time. The Royal's tallied the winning counter in their half of the first extra inning and then turned back the Eagles in their turn at bat.

The Eagles also won a close one when they eked out an 8-7 decision over the Dodgers with Dave Barnard's home-run in the last half of the seventh frame turning a sure loss into a victory for the Eagles. The Dodgers had held the lead throughout the major part of the game but Barnard's long hit to centre field sent them down to defeat.

The following games are to be played this week:

This afternoon: Eagles vs. Red Wings.

Saturday, May 27: Red Wings vs. Tornados; Bombers vs. Eagles; Dodgers vs. Royals.

Wednesday, May 31: Royals vs. Bombers; Tornados vs. Eagles.

WARTIME BASEBALL

The amazing early-season pitching in both the major leagues has given the fans something to talk about. Last week, every game in the Boston-Cincinnati National League series resulted in a shut-out. Every day seems to bring to light another phenomenal mound performance. What is the reason? Why should the pitching be so good in this season of wartime baseball when all the clubs are supposed to be little better than good minor league teams?

Perhaps the answer can be found in that very fact—that the two big leagues are full of inferior baseball players. What is an inferior ball player? An inferior player is one who can't hit. The bush leagues are full of great fielders who, in normal times, would spend the rest of their careers in the minors because they never have been able to hit good curve-ball twirling. Today, with most of the hitting stars in the armed services, many of these good fielders, but poor hitters, are up in the big time.

Before the start of the present season, many ball fans thought that the weak hitting would be balanced by equally weak pitching. But it hasn't turned out that way. Pitching hasn't been weakened to anything like the extent that batting has been weakened. Most of the really good hurlers are still around, and they are having easy pickings with the inferior players facing them at the plate. Today, one run is being prized as much as ten or twelve were three years ago.

Some of the writers, who predicted this state of affairs before the season started, became gloomy in commenting upon the chances of baseball finishing out the war. The handicaps were too great, they pointed out. Too few good players left. Too few hits and runs. The fans wouldn't like it. Only the students of the game, the boys who like pitchers' battles and who like to call the shots, would be satisfied.

But inferior players or good players it seems to matter not, for the fans have been turning out in great numbers this season, so far. So long as it looks like a baseball game, they seem to like it. Baseball provides an excellent type of relaxation and entertainment for war workers. After eight hours in a noisy, dusty factory, six days a week, it is a real holiday to sit out in the sun, with a hot dog in one hand, and a soft drink in the other, and watch the boys perform. Perhaps the inside baseball isn't so much in evidence as before the war. Perhaps the batters are being outwitted regularly by the pitchers. But it's still a ball game, and it makes the fans forget the worries of the war for a brief spell. The club owners have recognized this and are beginning to play morning games for the benefit of swing shift workers, and are getting good attendances.

When war is over, and the boys return to the game, many fans look forward to the excellence of play that prevailed up to 1941. But it is probable that many of the star players, who have gone through three or four years of war, will never regain their top form. Take a few years out of the life of any athlete, even under the best of living conditions, and he is put back to a point where in many respects he has to start all over again. And he starts at an older age when his reflexes and his wits aren't as quick. Take the same athlete and put him through three years of modern warfare and it is doubtful if he ever can regain his pre-war excellence.

And when you consider that many of the players who are leaving the game on the down-hill side of their prime will be old men, athletically speaking, in two or three years' time, you have to conclude that many of them are out for good.

It's the youngsters you see breaking in now, the boys who are too young for military service, who will be the stars in after-the-war baseball. They will crowd out the veterans and the inferior players and won't relinquish their hold when the war is over and the stars take the come-back trail. A new generation of baseball players is breaking-in and they're here to stay.

Indians Turn To Agriculture

Contrary to popular opinion, Canada's Indians are not a vanishing or degenerating race. The Indian population is nearing the 120,000 mark at the rate of about one per cent a year and with the assistance and guidance of Federal officials are improving both physically and economically. It is estimated by the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources that approximately 60,000 Indians depend for a livelihood in whole or in part, on farming; 50,000 are engaged in the time-honoured pursuits of hunting, fishing, and trapping, and the remainder might be described as laborers or industrial workers.

Various measures have been taken to improve the conditions among all three groups. Probably the most marked progress has been made among the Indians who depend in varying extent on agriculture for their livelihood. Indian welfare officials have found that Indians, under careful supervision, can and have become successful and progressive agriculturists, and in many cases have been known to take an intense interest in the care and utilization of their land and stock.

There is practically no branch of farming which the Indians have not entered. On reserves in the Prairie Provinces, grain growing and beef cattle raising have been markedly successful. All kinds of root and other vegetables have been raised with success, and dairying and poultry raising are common to most reserves across the Dominion. The younger Indians, particularly the graduates of residential schools, have shown a particular interest in what might be termed mechanized farming. They appear to have recognized the advantages of tractors and other motor-driven farm equipment and in recent years the demand for such equipment has been increasing.

Ladies' Softball On Tuesday Night

The ladies' section of the Westmount Municipal Softball League will get underway this Tuesday night when two games will be played at Westmount Park. The RCAF No. 1 Wireless School (W.D.) last year's champions, will meet the CWAC No. 33 Company in one game while the Westmount team will take on the CWAC's from Longue Pointe Ordinance Depot in the other tilt.

The other teams in the league are the RCAF entries from Lachine and St. Hubert, the CWAC No. 11 Company and the Navy WRENS. The Navy team will not start their season until the middle of June as they have not had time to get their team in shape but after that date they will be in the contention.

Some sort of opening ceremonies are planned for Tuesday night but nothing definite has been decided upon as yet. If any pre-game functions are performed they will get underway around six forty-five with the games getting started for seven o'clock.

The Westmount team played an exhibition game last Tuesday with the Longue Pointe Ordinance Depot team and were on the receiving end of a 16-12 defeat but showed promise of better things. An eight run rally in the fourth frame that was featured by two home-runs hit by Gertrude Munro, one of them with bases loaded, gave the local team a two-run lead at one time but they failed to hold it in the closing innings.

Games scheduled for the first week of play are as follows:

Tuesday, May 30: West, Park Wireless vs. CWAC No. 33; Westmount vs. LPOD.

Wednesday, May 31, at Lachine:

LPOD vs Lachine.
Thursday, June 1, at St. Hubert: CWAC No. 11 vs. St. Hubert.

KNOW YOUR WESTMOUNT

Q. — Has the ruined tower overlooking Trafalgar Ave. any historical significance?

A. — In some ways, definitely yes. The name of the street above-mentioned provides the clue, as the following excerpt from an article in the McGill News of June 1938 by Miss Martha L. Brown of Westmount will indicate. First, however, it should be stated that the tower is some 200 feet in a south-easterly direction from Trafalgar Circle, which itself runs east from the upper part of Belvedere Road. The tower is not in Westmount, but close to the boundary, in Montreal. Unfortunately, it is in a very sad state of deterioration. Miss Brown's account is here given:

"Built by a Mr. Gillespie in 1805 to commemorate the Victory of Trafalgar, this Tower was erected on property then owned by John Ogilvy which, from that time, was called the 'Trafalgar Property'. The Tower was Gothic in form, with a crenulated roof on which was placed a small cannon, and for some years, the cannon was fired on October 21, the anniversary of the Battle.

The Tower was believed to be haunted, and Westmounters of that day who sometimes visited it (because a fine view could be had of the surrounding country from this vantage point) told weird tales of hearing approaching footsteps, but the sounds were attributed to the volcanic nature of the rock, which produced an echo.

Two volumes of 'Canadians', edited by W.J. White, M.A., President of the Society for Historical Studies, and published by the Gazette Printing Company in 1889-1890, are now kept under lock and key in the Redpath Library and one of these volumes records a legend of the Tower, told by M. Georges de Boucherville, Avocat, in his book 'Le Repertoire National ou Recueil de Litterature Nationales Canadienne' written in 1835. He tells of the murder of two lovers, by the lady's rejected suitor, in this wise:

A young man told a friend about a little grey Tower, peering from the summit of the Mountain, far up Cote des Neiges beyond the Priests' Farm, but warned him that, if he wanted to visit it, he would have to pass through rough valleys and sombre thickets. The young sportsman, filled with curiosity, set off one fine morning with his gun and reached the Tower just as a sudden thunderstorm broke. He took refuge there, and being weary from his climb, threw himself on the floor and slept. When he felt a cold hand pass over his face, he awoke trembling, and seeing blood stains on the floor, fled, regardless of the storm, and wandered about till he reached a hut at the back of the Mountain where a fierce-looking man stood sharpening a blood-stained axe. After some conversation the strange man swore his visitor to secrecy and told him the story of a handsome young man, who fell in love with a beautiful girl called Leocadie, whom he courted for three months not knowing that she was engaged to an absent lover. When he heard of the engagement he vowed vengeance, and one Sunday, when Leocadie and her fiance, who had returned, to the city, were about to enter the Tower, the rejected suitor, who had been hiding there, rushed out, stabbed Leocadie and strangled her fiance.

When he had finished this strange tale, the man took a locket from his pocket and showed a lock of the girl's hair on one side, and on the reverse side, the picture of Joseph, the fiance, who had given the locket to her when they became engaged!

Mr. Albert Furniss, who bought the property in 1836, was shown two empty graves 150 feet below the site of the Tower, and was told by a local raconteur that they were the graves of the murdered lovers, but, as it had been proposed at one time to use the land as a cemetery, they were probably only test pits, dug to see if the ground would be suitable for that purpose. The new owner removed the cannon, remodelled the Tower and changed the shape of the roof. The buildings on his estate were all designed by the English architect, Frank Wills, who also designed Christ Church Cathedral. His own house, and the fine carriage house which was altered to make a private residence, still stand, bearing the numbers 3015 and 3021 Trafalgar Avenue. This property changed hands frequently, and at one time was owned by Miss Williams, but the name 'Trafalgar' is preserved in Trafalgar Avenue, Trafalgar Apartments, and in The Trafalgar School for Girls."

Declaring that "the essential value of the Atlantic Charter lies in its emphasis on the common needs of all men, whether victor or vanquished," the Meeting for Sufferings of the Religious Society of Friends recently issued a statement expressing regret over those passages in the speeches of the Prime Minister and the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs which seemed "to imply a departure from the spirit of the Charter."

Frances Goltman To Hold Concert

The Eleventh Annual Piano-forte Recital by students of the prominent teacher, Miss Frances Goltman, Lic. Mus., and First Medallist of McGill University, will be held in Tudor Hall of James A. Ogilvy's Limited on Tuesday evening, June 6th.

Miss Goltman, whose interesting and educational column, "Musical Sharps, Flats and Naturals" has been a regular feature of this paper for many years, needs no introduction to our readers. It is the only music column of its kind in Montreal. As usual Miss Goltman is arranging a diversified programme containing classical music of every type, including compositions by Beethoven, Heller, Brahms, Mendelssohn, Bach, Horvath, Debussy, Grieg, and Liszt. Many works by contemporary musicians will also be heard.

Three young students will render a pianoforte trio by Krogmann brother Colonel William Nicholson, D.S.O., who died last July.

Reverend George Dewey conducted the service and interment took place in Mount Royal Cemetery.

and as in every concert ever presented by this successful teacher, all the pupils taking part will perform from memory.

IN COMMAND

"So you have married the queen of your heart?"

"Yes and today she made the first speech from the throne."

A visiting specialist was taken to the cubicle of a mental case who thought he was a king.

"I know I am a king," the man explained. "Satan told me so."

At which a furious voice sounded from the next cubicle:

"I told you nothing of the kind!"

Daughter, (sighing): "John doesn't love me anymore."

Mother: "How do you know?"

Daughter: "When he brings me home at night now he always chooses the shortest way."

Mike: "It's a fine kid ye have there. A magnificent head and noble features. Say, could ye lend me a couple of dollars?"

Pat: "I could not. 'Tis my wife's child by her first husband."

To be free means to be the best you can be free, not just politically or economically, but free from slavery to things and attitudes.

ALL ARE WELCOME

There's ROOM FOR EVERYBODY...

PRODUCTION MEN—keeping in constant touch with sources of raw materials, suppliers of parts, government and military authorities.

THE ARMED FORCES—with responsibility for training and supply, for troop movements, for operations on land, air and ocean battlefronts.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS—in touch with every phase of our production and military program—with foreign governments—with national and international war agencies.

YOU—depending on your telephone for quick, essential communication at work and at home.

But telephone lines can carry this wartime load only if we all use existing facilities sparingly, and keep our calls just as short and business-like as we can.

Additional equipment is severely limited by material shortages; co-operation must take the place of construction if essential calls are to go through promptly.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspapers of Canada

By J. R. KIDD

Art displays in the army and air force! Such news in all probability would have shocked the famous three soldiers of Kipling's tales, and filled them with consternation. But modern men-at-arms take art exhibitions in their stride and their enthusiasm for such shows is a good indication that those responsible for them will plan more as time goes on.

Ottawa has seen an Army Art Display and the R.C.A.F. opened their show in the National Gallery late last month. Like any other opening the proceedings were very formal but neither the first night crowd nor the exhibits were quite like the usual exhibition. Art patrons were there in large numbers but so were many servicemen who had never before attended such a show, curious to see what it was about. The pictures hung resembled closely their description in the guide: "The pictures in the exhibition are 'short stories' based on life on and off the station." Familiar with such scenes already, the airmen and women received added enjoyment in seeing these canvasses, cartoons, water colours and line work. Their judgment on the merits of the work was spontaneous although it sometimes differed noticeably from that of the judges or the connoisseurs who are present at every such show. But enjoyment was none the less keen.

This is an important event, much more significant than just another art exhibition. It is an indication that a long cherished hope of most artists is at last being realized. In the midst of a scourging war, when so much of beauty is being destroyed, works of art are being found and enjoyed by thousands of young people for the first time in their experience. Art before has been to them something beyond their life, something created perhaps by a so-called "master" back in the middle ages. In Canada, to an ever increasing degree, art is being enjoyed by the ordinary citizen, in the services and out.

And not only enjoyed! There is much work of fine quality in this exhibition. Yet there are few names among the artists that are well known even to those who frequent spring exhibitions. It is evident that a great many Canadians are beginning to work creatively for the first time. In Italy, many an infantryman has a sketch box, and may have in his pocket one of a series of art pamphlets sent to him by the Legion and the Y.M.C.A. At both lonely outposts and busy head-quarter centres, a good deal of sketching, many cartoons and some colour work is being done every day. For this particular exhibition more than 700 entries came in from which 127 were selected to be hung in the exhibition. All ranks from air-marshal to air-craftsman were represented. This was true as well of the army show which preceded.

One of the impressions gained by a visit to this show is that for an air-minded nation like Canada, there may be some new themes and motifs for pictures. the north wilds since have too much dominated our paintings. In this exhibition, we see that the airplane has provided a new point of view for our landscapes, and the plane silhouettes in the sky, the work of the craftsmen and parachute packers, in newly designed and fantastic roomed hangars; these are refreshing new subjects for our artists.

Some imaginative work by a Rockliffe air-craftsman, done with all the seeming madness but exquisite craftsmanship of a Dali, drew most comment. The grand prize of the show went to a young sergeant for a splendidly composed study of a winter runway at Rockliffe. The artist is looking past the pilot through cockpit windows, out at the peace towers of Parliament justing from the horizon. One of the high points of opening night was when this artist was given a promotion and taken on the official war artists staff for the R.C.A.F. But prize winner or not, each work had its own charm and interest and each gave promise for the future.

Art for all the people. This objective is a step closer to realization.

"Mighty Bulwark"

The attitude of Russia and her achievements in the present war have increased our interest in this great country and have forced us to admit not only her immense progress in the past few years but also her sense of fairness and justice. She has been and is a mighty bulwark against the forces of Nazism and we would be in a much different position today but for her efforts in the present war.
