City refuses legal request for fire dispute documents

THE City of Westmount has refused to provide certain documents requested June 2 by lawyers acting in behalf of the WESTMOUNT EXAMINER reporter denied regular access to the fire department, it was learned yesterday.

A transcript of a tape recording of a telephone conversation also requested cannot be provided on the grounds that it was "routinely erased" June 1.

The basis of the request to the city for the documents was under the Cities and Towns Act and was made by the law firm of Phillips & Vineberg.

The response came from the city's attorneys, Bronstetter, Wilkie, Penhale, Donovan, Giroux & Charbonneau.

The letter of request was sent to the city clerk before the last council meeting on behalf of THE EXAMINER's reporter, Laureen Sweeney.

(Full texts of the two letters are page 5.)

Pateras report sought

Among documents requested were copies of minutes of certain council or general committee meetings, as well as a copy of a report made by Bruno Pateras, QC.

This was the report later revealed publicly by Mayor Donald

EXAMINER A WINNER

CANADIAN COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS ASSOCIATION
CNA
BETTER NEWSPAPERS COMPETITIONS

THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER is a prize winner this year in the national Better Newspapers Competitions of the Canadian Community Newspapers Association.

THE EXAMINER has placed second for best editorial pages among tabloid-size weeklies across the country in the 3,500 to 4,999 circulation category.

This is this newspaper's 10th major national award in recent years. Most recent previous prize was first place for best spot news photograph, in 1980.

First place in the present competition, based on 1982 performance, was won by the Drayton Valley, Alta., Western Review and third place went to another Alberta newspaper, the Stony Plain Reporter.

THE EXAMINER was the only Quebec weekly among this year's prize or blue-ribbon award winners, chosen from entries from the 500-plus newspapers coast to coast which are members of the association.

Presentations are to be made at the annual CCNA convention, taking place this year July 27-30 in Winnipeg.

Neighbor spots break-in attempt

Two men were spotted by a neighbor attempting to break into a house on Roslyn avenue last Thursday afternoon, police said.

Then the men apparently spotted the neighbor and made off in a hurry.

A window measuring eight by 12 inches was found broken in the front door, police said.

Eighth week: ban tighter

FIRE Chief Edward Martell Tuesday stepped up his news restrictions on THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER and chief reporter Laureen Sweeney by refusing to provide directly the weekly log of fire calls, which had continued to be supplied until now by the fire brigade through what is now eight weeks of his ban on in-person news coverage.

Readers will note that the tally of activities of their firemen and equipment is missing this week from its usual place on page three.

The previous week, when Mr. Martell was absent from the fire quarters, the city general manager, John McIver, declared the ban was department-wide and not, as originally stated, the personal decision of the fire chief not to see Mrs. Sweeney.

When Mrs. Sweeney made her usual visit to the Stanton street fire headquarters Tuesday morning, Mr. Martell told her that she would have to get the log from the secretary of the public safety office, which administers the municipal court in the MUC police station next door.

Mrs. Sweeney, with concurrence of her editor, advised Mr. Martell that this was a further unreasonable difficulty placed in the way of her news gathering and that she would not cover the department through another jurisdiction. Mr. Martell claimed that the fire brigade came under the safety office, for which the Security Unit, Director Sidney Ashford, is responsible.
Ashford, is responsible.

The log, "Where were they going?" instituted in 1968 by a former public safety director, E. C. Harper, and the then deputy chief of fire, T. Hovenden, has run continuously in THE EXAMINER for over 14 years.

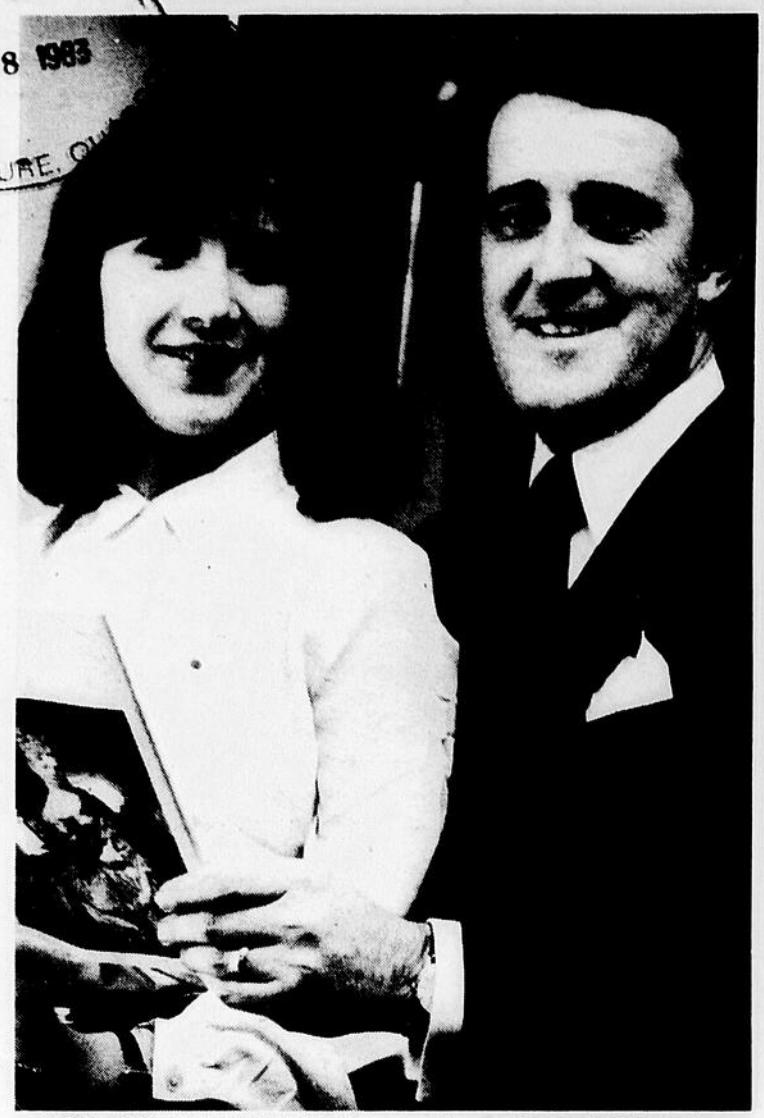
Meanwhile, other fire-related items in this issue of THE EXAMINER were gained from other sources.

Jewelry stolen during party

A gold chain and a gold bracelet valued at $1,034 were believed taken from a house on Summit crescent during a party overnight May 21-22, police said.

The jewelry loss was reported to police last Thursday.

There had been about 150 persons including help in the house at the time.



LOCAL RESIDENTS TO MOVE: The popular residents of 68 Belvedere road are expected to move away from this community before long. The man on the right quit as president of the Iron Ore Company of Canada recently and for the past several weeks has been travelling extensively across Canada, seeking a new job. He landed it last Saturday at a well-attended consultation in Ottawa with his new employers, who also looked at other hopefuls for the same post. The new position is understood to have something to do with the federal government, on whose payroll he expects to be shortly, and is said to have excellent prospects for advancement to the top. Mila and Brian Mulroney (he is formerly of Baie Comeau) have three children. They expect to move into a large, old house in an attractive area of Ottawa, now occupied by Mr. Mulroney's predecessor, a Mr. Clark, and family. While residents in Westmount, the Mulroneys have been very active in political and community affairs. They are shown above as chairmen of patrons for the St. Patrick's Ball in 1978. Below is 68 Belvedere road this week.

Ray Doucet scores easy win in ward 3

Ray Doucet, a journalist and N.D.G. resident, chalked up an easy victory in ward 3, which includes Westmount and a large portion of N.D.G., in the Montreal Catholic School Commission elections Monday. He captured 57.4 percent of the vote which was split five ways.

Mr. Doucet takes over as school commissioner from Hugh Quinlan, who did not seek a second term.

Joan Rothman, incumbent commissioner for ward 4 in the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, was acclaimed for a fourth term June 6. Westmount constitutes a large portion of that ward.

Ward 3 voters in the MCSC were a more concerned lot than the average MCSC voter. Of the 26,995 eligible voters in the ward, 4,687, or 17.9 percent, cast ballots. Boardwide, only 11.56 percent of voters turned out. They weren't as concerned, however, as PSBGM voters, 19.88 percent of whom voted throughout the board area.

In MCSC ward 3 Teresa Kennedy came a distant second with 1,235 votes. Third was Richard Godin with 465 votes, followed by William Siemienski with 210 and William Anjo with 87.

Opposes Laurin

Mr. Doucet told THE EXAMINER that he would have liked to have seen a voter turnout of 25 percent. He thinks the reason the turnout in ward three was higher than the average was that the voters "knew we were talking power politics."

He says that when he meets with the other commissioners he will state his unequivocal stand against the Laurin plan for school reorganization. This stand was part of the platform of his campaign.

Mr. Doucet was supported by the Mouvement Scolaire Confessionnel (MSC) which advocates the retention of denominational schools.

Mr. Doucet said he is more flexible in his stand than the MSC, but it supported him because he seemed like a strong candidate with a similar stand.

The new school commissioner says his first job will be to learn the workings of the commission.

Expensive to run

Mrs. Kennedy plans to try again in the next school election. She enjoyed the experience but told THE EXAMINER her only regret was that it was expensive to run a campaign.

She said she entered the race too late to make enough of an impact and then didn't have a large enough organization working for her.

"It wasn't that people didn't have confidence in my stand," she said, "but they wanted to vote for someone with a block behind them."

Ray Doucet

She was referring to Mr. Doucet's backing from the Mouvement Scolaire Confessionnel.

Mrs. Kennedy also believes that many persons are afraid of change at this time, so they voted for a candidate backed by a known organization.

DOCUMENTS...

MacCallum at the June 6 meeting of city council.

The report, he said, concerned an "investigation involving the fire chief" at a cost of $7,200.

Lawyers for Mrs. Sweeney told THE EXAMINER following the refusal of documents that "we have not as yet determined what recourses to take."

The following statement was made by Robert J. Abrams of Phillips & Vineberg:

"We have received a letter dated June 14 in reply to ours of June 2. The city has taken the position that article 91 of the Cities and Towns Act only entitles a person to obtain items forming part of the city archives.

"In the city's view, none of the documents requested except minutes of city council form part of such archives."

Position uncertain

He said it was not certain whether or not jurisprudence "would support that" position.

He also said the Pateras report had been denied on the basis that it was "privileged information" without specifying the nature of the privilege involved.

The requested tape concerned a telephone conversation between the fire chief, Edward Martell, and Mrs. Sweeney May 11.

It had been erased "as a routine matter," according to the city's reply.

The city's letter also referred to a paragraph in the Phillips & Vineberg letter which mentions a report in THE EXAMINER concerning the mayor's having denied the existence of the Pateras report.

The city letter says:

"In our view, neither the report of THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER nor the facts on which such a report is allegedly based substantiates the statement that the Mayor denied the existence of the report by Mr. Pateras. We presume that this paragraph in your said letter was not intended to state, imply or infer any impropriety or improper conduct and would caution against the dissemination or publication of any such material by your client or otherwise."

THE EXAMINER acknowledges that the mayor's comments on which the report of May 5 was based makes no mention of the Pateras report by name.

The exact question made in the council chamber to the mayor by Allen Nutik as reported in THE EXAMINER was as follows:

"What's going on there (the fire department)? Why does the press not have access to the fire department as in the past? I don't think it's a secret what I'm alluding to. There is a report."

To the mayor he then said, "Is there a report?"

"I don't know what report you are talking about," the mayor replied. "There are lots of reports."

Mr. Nutik asked again, "Is there a report influencing this situation?"

"There is no such report," stated the mayor.

"Has there been any report in the last six months or year?" Mr. Nutik pressed, to no response.

Mr. Nutik later followed up his questioning by letter, prompting the mayor's disclosure of the Pateras report at the subsequent council meeting June 6.

Library to close weekends

Westmount Public Library will be closed this weekend and will be closed on Saturdays and Sundays until after Labor Day, the library announced this week.

Reduced patronage during the hot summer months prompts the weekend closing. Hours during the week are unaffected. The library opens at 10:00 am every weekday morning and closes at 9:30 pm Monday to Thursday and at 6:00 pm on Fridays.

Youth arrested and tickets handed out in bike campaign

By LAUREEN SWEENEY

One youth was arrested Sunday shortly after he and two others allegedly stole three bicycles from a garage on Lansdowne avenue as police focus their attention on a stepped-up bicycle campaign.

A neighbor apparently saw the three suspects ride the bikes away.

The incident was quickly reported with the result that one youth and one of the bikes, a yellow CCM model, were spotted on Richelieu street by Constables Bissonnette and Laplante in the police ambulance.

The suspect was described as a 16-year-old boy living on St. Antoine street in Montreal.

The two others bicycles still were unrecovered in addition to seven others reported stolen here during the past week.

One police shift here last week handed out 27 tickets to cyclists in one day.

Bike seized

A bicycle was seized Friday night at 4905 Sherbrooke street when the man driving it could not provide proof of ownership. The vehicle was impounded until its owner, who was known to the rider, could provide proof. The bike had neither serial number nor licence.

The reverse of that incident took place Saturday noontime when a City of Westmount bicycle licence plate was found without its bike in front of 249 Melville avenue.

The remains of one bicycle were found at the rear of 4469 St. Catherine street, the St. Urbain BBQ, at 2:20 am Friday and turned over to police. The black frame had been stripped of wheels and pedals.

Two other found bikes were returned to owners, however, while three more remained unclaimed at local police station 23.

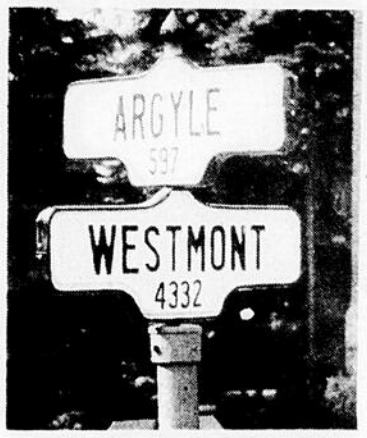
One was licensed in Pierrefonds and found at 4820 Sherbrooke street last Thursday. Another, recovered at 400 de Maisonneuve boulevard, was returned to its owner who lives on Elm avenue.

Among the stolen bicycles were:

- Two 1979 Raleigh bikes worth $150 each, one red and one blue, from Lansdowne Sunday;
- Two Raleigh bikes from a Roslyn avenue garage, one a $239 blue 10-speed model with Westmount licence, the other a 3-speed red model worth $145 Saturday-Sunday;
- One bicycle from St. Catherine street and Melville avenue Wednesday last week;
- A $350 white Raleigh model from the corridor of the building at 4060 St. Catherine where it was left unlocked Tuesday last week;
- A $25 red CCM in front of 722 Roslyn recently;
- A boy's 10-speed Velo Sport worth $180, taken from the garage of the apartment at 48 Academy road;
- A white 10-speed BMX left unlocked Monday last week at the side of a house on Lansdowne, worth $145.
- Among those found were:

A blue Rapido at the rear of 4626 Sherbrooke street, Westmount Public Library, Friday night;

- A 10-speed gold model at the rear of 223 Melville avenue Wednesday last week, and
- A bicycle at the rear of 4820 Sherbrooke last Thursday at 12:20 pm.



BILINGUAL SIGNS?: It seems that residents on the southeast corner of Westmount avenue and Argyle avenue must be considered to be Francophones while those across the street are Anglos. Maybe it's the other way around in reality, but that's how the street signs read. An EXAMINER reader called to ask where the "U" had gone in Westmount. The sign, believed to be a new one, now spells the name of our city "Westmont."

Barking dogs lead to charge against resident

Police report they have asked that a charge be laid in Westmount Municipal Court against a resident of Chesterfield avenue for disturbing of the peace by barking dogs.

The charge results from a complaint by a resident of Grey avenue relating to an incident Sunday, police said.

The local MUC men were informed that two dogs allegedly had been barking all day on a balcony on Chesterfield.

Police reported that they heard and sighted two dogs at 7:20 pm but that no one was found home at the time.

They returned at 8:55 pm and found two dogs barking and no one home.

At 10 pm, the dogs were inside, still barking, but there was no answer at the door.

We Say

The $7,200 ban

MOST frequently asked question of us, and undoubtedly of city officials, in the continuing ban on our chief reporter, Mrs. Laureen Sweeney, by Chief Edward Martell from the Westmount fire headquarters:

Why?

What is at the root of it? readers wonder.

A Westmount Municipal Association director, Mr. Richard Hancock, put the same query to us just prior to last week's city council meeting. He in turn later told council: "Even the editor of THE EXAMINER is not aware of the reasons."

Mayor D. C. MacCallum's retort was interesting, revealing and demonstrative of the communication gulf which has widened over this issue: "Yes he is," declared His Worship.

Of course, we are perfectly aware of the circumstances.

But not the reasons.

And we are not so certain that the mayor, the commissioner of public safety or even the fire chief know the reasons. They don't even know all the circumstances.

Some members of city council remain even more in the dark. Though they have been drawn unwillingly into arguments and even votes on the issue, more than one has even professed not to wish to know.

So much for informed solons taking decisions in the citizens' name.

* * *

TAKE for example the report which Mayor MacCallum finally admitted publicly was prepared following a city-commissioned, $7,200 investigation by Mr. Bruno Pateras, QC. Some aldermen have told us they had not even read it!

We are told that Mr. Martell, who Mr. MacCallum says was the subject of the inquiry, has not read it. Yet the same Mr. Martell subsequently banned Mrs. Sweeney.

Nor has Mrs. Sweeney been given the opportunity to read it, even though it ostensibly was the result, according to the mandate given by council to Mr. Pateras, of "complaints by a journalist regarding the fire department." Nonetheless, Mrs. Sweeney has been assured that the report contains "nothing you need be ashamed of."

Yet the same council, with Ald. Brian Gallery and Ald. David Carruthers dissenting, supports Mr. Martell in his ban on Mrs. Sweeney proceeding with her normal reporting duties at the fire brigade.

Natural justice has not ensued here.

It was suggested by the mayor and Ald. André Gervais, the commissioner in question, when the ban began that Mr. Martell should not be required to see Mrs. Sweeney simply because she complained. This is no reason.

City authorities chose to mount an expensive and inconclusive inquiry into what should have been a simple administrative matter. The ban looks like a dubious attempt to justify a bad management error and misjudgment of the public consequences of maintaining it.

(We have been told that council originally left the matter for a committee of three, Messrs. MacCallum, Gervais and John McIver, the city's general manager, to resolve.)

* * *

THE second most frequently asked question of us, and perhaps of city hall, is: How did the simple but serious matter of ever-tightening restrictions on a reporter develop, beyond containment by city management, into a full-scale cause célèbre involving all of city council, in closed-door general committee and private caucus, and now with the public in open council meeting?

We wonder if mayor and aldermen have asked themselves or, more pointedly, the general manager this question.

And how come the fire chief has been permitted to be and continues to be the sole arbiter of the issue? Is he to be shielded from any and all complaints and immune to all direction?

If there were a principle to be defended, one might see some reason.

The original complaint of unreasonable restriction was addressed in writing to the general manager two years ago. Nothing was done. Subsequent complaints were addressed to the commissioner. Nothing was done. Finally, another alderman who was interested reviewed the problems with Mrs. Sweeney and took the matter himself to the general manager. Still, no obvious direct action was taken.

Instead, the Pateras investigation was undertaken and, strangest of all, the eminent lawyer was instructed to report on only one narrow point, that of possible harassment of her as a woman: one which Mrs. Sweeney had specifically refused to press, as an unprovable and least relevant charge, when asked if she wished to do so by the general manager.

Of course the report was, by all accounts, inconclusive.

For this, $7,200?

For this Mrs. Sweeney is banned?

What kind of persons, from the mayor down, are these?

You Say

Question of principle at stake in fire issue

Sir: Although you have replied at length in an editorial two weeks ago to Mayor MacCallum's column in the same issue commenting on the continuing problems between your newspaper and the city fire department, I believe it is extremely important that the citizens of Westmount support your stand because there is a question of principle at stake which, if it is ignored, we shall later regret.

To make matters worse, the mayor has now publicly impugned the integrity and professionalism of not merely the newspaper but also its chief correspondent whose well-known talents and reputation are put in doubt by a process of innuendo and misrepresentation which is totally unworthy of the city's chief magistrate.

After reviewing carefully each issue of THE EXAMINER since the fire chief was permitted to ban Mrs. Sweeney from the fire hall, I cannot find any remarks by you, Sir, which can possibly be regarded as vituperative, as the mayor declares. You are, rather, to be congratulated on your restrained moderation when others seem to have lost their heads.

Moreover, the mayor makes several points which even he cannot be allowed to get away with. First, when he says that he can no longer refrain from commenting on your continuing allegations which fail to present the situation as it actually is (as if it were THE EXAMINER which is hiding the true state of affairs), he must know that his account of what has happened is no more than partially correct because he presents only part of the story.

Second, in a sentence which is deplorable by any standard, he states that your designated reporter has acted in such a way as to create a situation under which she is persona non grata in the fire station, inferring thereby that her behavior has been so unprofessional in the course of her work that she is no longer welcome on the premises. What is most curious about this statement is that the mayor dares to make this malevolent insinuation so soon after the fire chief has banished Mrs. Sweeney from his presence, when Mr. MacCallum knows perfectly well that the problems which concern THE EXAMINER and the fire department go back for at least two years.

Also, having tried in vain to obtain the answer at the last meeting of council, it would be interesting to know who declared your chief correspondent persona non grata. Presumably it was the fire chief, with the support of the mayor and general manager, once the council had decided to let the fire chief do as he pleased, but from my information it is all too clear that his attitude is singular to him because many members of the fire department, if given a fair opportunity, would express their support of Mrs. Sweeney in her predicament, as in fact a number have already done.

It appears, then, that the fire chief has been allowed to place his personal feelings over and above the traditional practice which should always prevail in the relationship between the press and senior municipal officials, especially in the City of Westmount.

In this whole sorry episode it is not good enough for the mayor to try to pass it off as a storm in a teacup which you, Sir, could resolve satisfactorily with a minimum of good will and common sense. To thus describe a situation in which city hall deemed it advisable to call on the services of an eminent lawyer to conduct an enquiry is less than honest, because if the mayor believes this to be a dainty tea party he is deluding himself. The present squall could easily become a typhoon which no amount of good will or common sense will be able to still.

What remains so disturbing is that the mayor seeks to place all the blame for what has occurred on Mrs. Sweeney and yourself. It is as if THE EXAMINER, in carrying out its fundamental journalistic role, has exposed a raw nerve which is painful to the city fathers, whether elected or appointed. Nonetheless, it is no less a person than Mr. MacCallum who has revealed, as he did at the last meeting of council, that the city had instituted an enquiry into certain matters relating to the fire department.

I do not question how the lawyer conducted his investigation, because that is his business, but I do believe that citizens, whose taxes have paid his fees, are entitled to know his terms of reference, his conclusions, and how the latter have been interpreted at city hall, because there are already sufficient grounds for thinking the City's administration has not dealt with the matter properly or fairly insofar as THE EXAMINER and your chief correspondent are concerned.

To ask a simple question of the mayor and his colleagues, is it not true, regardless of what may be in the lawyer's report, that total emphasis has been placed on only one issue, because in the judgment of city hall it is the only issue, while all the other issues, which are of far greater importance to THE EXAMINER and Mrs. Sweeney, have been ignored or glossed over.

In all the circumstances, even if there were no question of principle involved, it takes incredible gall to call on the editor of our excellent local newspaper to show a "minimum of good will and common sense" when it is these very qualities which all too often are so wretchedly lacking at city hall.

Despite my profound dismay at the mayor's self-serving explanation of this

The Lord said to Noah: "Where is the ark I commanded you to build?" And Noah said: "Verily, I had three carpenters off sick. The gopher wood supplier hath let me down — yea, even though gopher wood hath been on order for nigh on 12 months." And God said to Noah: "I want the ark finished before seven days and seven nights." Noah said: "It will be so."

And it was not so. The Lord said to Noah: "What seems to be the trouble this time?" Noah said: "My sub-contractor hath gone bankrupt. The pitch for the outside of the ark hath not arrived. The glazier departeth on holiday; yea, even though I offered him double time. Shem hath formed a pop group with his brothers Ham and Japheth. Lord, I am undone."

The Lord grew angry and said: "What about the animals, two of every sort. Where, for example, are the giraffes?" And Noah said: "They have been delivered to the wrong address, but should arrive on Friday." And the Lord said: "Where are the monkeys and the elephants and the zebras?" Noah said: "They are expected today."

The Lord said to Noah: "How about the unicorns?" Noah wrung his hands and wept: "O Lord, Lord, they are a discontinued line. Thou canst not get unicorns for love nor money. Thou knowest how it is."

And the Lord said: "Noah, my son, I know. Why else dost thou think I caused a flood?"

Congratulations, Brian

SPECTATOR sports abound in our North American culture — hockey, baseball, football, etc. But for me, nothing could be as riveting and exciting as last weekend's Tory leadership race from which Westmounter Brian Mulroney emerged the victor.

It was a great win brought about not only through the tireless efforts of Brian and Mila but also through the hard work of an army of workers, a number of whom live in this riding.

I was one of the many Canadians who followed with spellbound interest the marathon television coverage of the convention. For a short period of time, our attention shifted from global issues to the quest of a fellow Montrealer.

The House of Commons will soon be graced, for the first time in its history, with two Montrealers at the helm of the principal political parties. The prime minister recently stated that he was agreable to call a by-election as soon as the new Tory leader had decided on his seat. It is important for Mr. Mulroney to take his place as the leader of the opposition in the house as soon as possible.

A tribute must also be paid to the outgoing leader, Joe Clark, for his tremendous contribution to the nation, as well as the House of Commons. I have known Mr. Clark since my election in 1978, and he has always struck me as genuinely and forcefully committed to the future of this nation.

Congratulations to Brian and Mila and his supporters. I look forward to welcoming him to the House of Commons.

No recourse alarming

FOR weeks the Parti Québecois had been taunting their Liberal accusers to put their seats at risk, in accusing René Lévesque formally of having misled the National Assembly when he responded to a question regarding the out-of-court settlement of the James Bay camp debacle.

Last week, the eight Liberal members of the parliamentary commission investigating the affair did just that, to the premier's scatologically expressed indignation.

The decision by the Liberals followed over 100 hours of hearings, an intensive in-depth study of the evidence, and thorough canvassing of the parliamentary alternatives.

Fernand Lalonde and his colleagues are convinced that the premier knowingly misled the chamber about the extent of his office's involvement in the machinations leading to the settlement of a $31-million suit for less than the plaintiff's legal fees. The evidence they uncovered to this effect during the parliamentary hearings is impressive, despite the government's refusal to call two key witnesses.

General surprise

To everyone's surprise, however, speaker Richard Guay ruled after an extensive study of the evidence that the right to accuse a member of an untruth and in so doing to set in motion a rigorous, formal examination of the charge, does not in fact exist.

Richard Guay is doing a good job as speaker. The opposition in no way questions his analysis of the precedents, his ruling, or his neutrality. The fact remains that it is alarming to learn that no recourse exists when a member knowingly utters a falsehood in the National Assembly.

It all provides more grist for the mill of parliamentary reform. Some form of systematic examination of any claim to that effect must be entrenched in our regulations as rapidly as possible.

As for the particular issue in question, René Lévesque has announced that he no longer will answer questions on the subject. He also has threatened to sue Fernand Lalonde for the latter's allegation outside the Assembly that Lévesque misled the house.

Alas, we shouldn't hold our breath on this threat . . . more's the pity.

Attorneys seek report and other information

June 2, 1983

City Clerk
City of Westmount
Westmount City Hall
4333 Sherbrooke Street West
Westmount, Québec, H3Z 1E2

Dear Sir:

We have been consulted by Mrs. Laureen Sweeney, a reporter with THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER, in connection with certain difficulties she is encountering in exercising her profession as a result of an apparent decision by the Fire Chief of the Westmount Fire Brigade, Mr. Edouard Martel [sic], to limit access by Mrs. Sweeney to news sources at the Westmount Fire Brigade to telephone interviews with Mr. Martel himself.

As we understand the situation, Chief Martel's decision denies Mrs. Sweeney free access to Fire Brigade personnel, precludes her interviewing officers directly, requires that all news and information be obtained by Mrs. Sweeney directly from Chief Martel and only by telephone.

We understand that by decision of the General Committee of Council of the City of Westmount on April 18, 1983, Chief Martel was required to make all departmental news available to THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER, but left to him to determine the method of dissemination and that on April 19, 1983, Chief Martel told Mrs. Sweeney at the end of a normal interview of his decision to restrict the reporting to telephone contact.

Apparently the origins of Mrs. Sweeney's problems with the Fire Brigade go back some time.

We understand that on or about December 6, 1982, the Council of the City of Westmount or the General Committee thereof took the unusual step of mandating Me Bruno Pateras, Q.C. to conduct an investigation into "complaints by a journalist (Mrs. Sweeney) regarding the Fire Department".

Mr. Pateras has confirmed to this office that this indeed was the case. He also confirmed that an investigation was held by him and a report was duly submitted to the City administration on a date which we understand to be on or about February 1, 1983.

We were surprised to read in THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER of May 5, 1983 that the Mayor of the City of Westmount is quoted as having denied the existence of the aforesaid report, but we assume this to have been an error or oversight since the existence thereof was confirmed to us by its author.

We further understand that after study of Me Pateras' report by a sub-committee of Council, certain recommendations were made to and approved by the Council of the City of Westmount or the General Committee thereof on or about February 7, 1983.

Finally, we understand that on May 11, 1983 a telephone conversation took place between Chief Martel and Mrs. Sweeney which was recorded and in which certain aspects of Mrs. Sweeney's professional relationship with the Fire Brigade and Chief Martel were discussed.

In order that we may be able to advise Mrs. Sweeney as to her legal position with respect to the matters referred to above, we wish to obtain, pursuant to the provisions of article 91 of the Cities and Towns Act of the Province of Quebec, the following documents:

1. Minutes of the proceedings of the Council of the City of Westmount and/or the General Committee or any other committee of the Council of the City of Westmount, during the course of which the mandate to Me Bruno Pateras, Q.C. was conferred including the text of the decision or resolution conferring such mandate. As indicated we believe the relevant decision or resolution was adopted on or about December 6, 1982.

2. Copy of the report submitted by Me Pateras following the completion of his mandate. As indicated we believe the submission to have taken place on or about February 1, 1983.

3. Copy of the recommendations of the committee or the subcommittee of the Council of the City of Westmount which were submitted to the Council of the City of Westmount or a committee of Council on or about February 7, 1983 and a copy of the minutes of proceedings of the Council of the City of Westmount or the committee thereof which approved or otherwise dealt with the aforesaid recommendations and/or the report of Me Pateras.

4. Copy of the minutes of proceedings of the Council of the City of Westmount and/or the General Committee thereof which decided that Chief Martel would be required to make available all departmental news to THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER, but left to him to determine the method of dissemination including the text of the decision or resolution adopted in that behalf. As indicated we believe the decision or resolution to have been adopted on or about April 19, 1983.

5. A written transcript of the recording of the telephone conversation that took place on May 11, 1983 between Chief Martel and Mrs. Sweeney.

In connection with the latter item, we are given to understand that recordings of telephone communications with the Fire Brigade of the City of Westmount are retained for a period of at least 30 days and we hereby call upon you to retain and not to erase or destroy the subject recording of May 11, 1983 beyond such period so that it may be preserved against the eventuality that it may be pertinent as evidence or otherwise in the determination of Mrs. Sweeney's position.

We understand that a fee is payable for copies of documentation of the above nature and we understand these fees are based on the number of pages. If you will advise us as to the fees payable in connection with the above request and the basis for determination, we will be pleased to forward the appropriate amount to you.

Should you have any questions in relation to the above, please do not hesitate to telephone or write to the undersigned and we look forward to your early advice as to when the requested documents will be made available.

Should it be more convenient we shall be pleased to send a representative of our office at your offices to pick up the documents.

Thanking you in advance for your cooperation, we remain.

"Fear that the Far East conflict might spread to other nations — if it lasts long enough — and thus result in another Great War, as expressed by Dr. A. J. Brace, a veteran YMCA official with 25 years in China, at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club. Dr. Brace did not mince his words in explaining the gravity of the situation in the Far East and singled out Great Britain as a heavy shipper of raw materials to the Chinese government, thus adding 'fuel to the flames.' He warned the Rotarians that 'clear thinking is needed by the various governments' and declared that China is 'not curling up' as anticipated by the invaders."

Hon. Gilbert Layton, retiring president of the Western Area Scout organization, and honorary chairman of the Peanut Day committee, expressed himself as pleased with the results of the collection in the west end, it being the highest total receipts so far."

"Contractors, engineers and architects of the Artificial Ice Rink were hosted by city officials and aldermen at a reception on the site of the soon to be completed structure. The last major task in the construction, the pouring of the rink slab, is scheduled to start Thursday and to continue, uninterrupted, for some 22 hours. The party was guided through the building by the men who had actually designed and built it. Particularly impressive were the dressing room accommodations. There are six changing rooms accommodating a total of more than 300 persons. The ice surface is the largest in Canada."

"A newsletter from the Westmount Protestant School Commissions says the subject of the CEGEPs has aroused much interest in the community, as it is one of the more important changes to come out of the Parent Report recommendations. In the Parent Report a new 'institute' is described, an intermediary between high school and the university, and a prerequisite for university entrance. In March 1967 the Department of Education drew together 56 English representatives from industry, business and education to form an organizing committee for an English language CEGEP. A proposed college, to be called Dawson College, is now supposed to open in the fall of 1969."

"The last two residents will be transferred from Weredale Boys' Home, 6 Weredale Park, by the end of this month, ending an era at the large institutional building, though some co-educational detention units will remain for the time being. The building is scheduled to become a 'day treatment centre' starting next fall, welcoming boys and girls who are living in group homes or their own homes but who need special attention and education. One floor will be changed into offices for the Weredale and Summerhill Homes divisions of the Youth Horizons program. The department of social affairs decided not to sell Weredale House last year."

PROFILE

An animated moviemaker

By JOAN CAPRÉOL

BRITISH-born Michael Mills is an international filmmaker who has been nominated twice for an Oscar and has received many other awards at film festivals in different countries.

Mr. Mills has been working out of his attractive studio at 4492 St. Catherine street west for the past three years. It's the largest production studio for animated television commercials in Canada with a full-time staff of 12.

"It's the only one in Montreal pulling in regular work from Toronto and New York," says Mr. Mills. "I'm an anomaly, I guess. Television commercials are my bread and butter and this enables me to keep an active, viable studio."

Mr. Mills is a personable, blue-eyed man of 41. He is six-foot-one and has a charming forthright manner. He came to Canada in 1966, having been invited by the National Film Board for which he worked for nine years before forming his own company. He became a Canadian citizen in 1973.

Oscar nominees

The two animated short films nominated for an Oscar by the American Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences were History of the World in Three Minutes Flat in 1981 and Evolution in 1972.

Using vignettes from the past, and animators' artistic licence, History of the World adopts the perspective of "The Creator" to present a humorous account of history.

The film has a twist, however. Michael Mills explains that "The Creator turns out to be the big movie animator. He has seven days to create the world and blows six days. With only one day left, he doesn't like what he's done so he starts all over again — that's the way with all free-lance animated moviemakers."

Aside from the Oscar nomination, History of the World received several other honors and awards. It was the recipient of the first prize in its category (films less than three minutes) at the Ottawa '80 International Festival of Animation, and the prestigious Golden Bear award at the Berlin International Film Festival in 1981. In the same year it was nominated for a Genie by the Canadian Academy of Cinema and won a Blue Ribbon at the American Film Festival.

History of the World was selected as the outstanding film of the year at the London Film Festival in 1981. Michael Mills attended a cocktail party at the time with Prince Charles and Lady Diana. "I talked with them both," he says. "I thought Lady Di was great, incredibly beautiful but very young."

Theatrical short

Evolution was a 12-minute animated theatrical short originally designed for children which, besides the nomination for an Oscar, won many awards in France, England, United States, Ireland, Spain, Australia, Italy, Poland, Argentina, Scotland, Iran and Japan.

"I like making children's films, not soppy ones but fun ones," says Mr. Mills. "They offer a lot of opportunity for fun. It is a wide, untapped market.

"I am presently negotiating for a one-hour TV special using a children's story and am also working on a feature film for children."

Mr. Mills scripted, directed and co-produced a half-hour TV special, The Happy Prince by Oscar Wilde, for Reader's Digest in New York. It was selected to represent both the United States and Canada at the 1976 Cannes Festival.

As producer, director and animator Mr. Mills has made more than 400 television commercials to date for major sponsors which also have received many awards. Fifty percent of his work comes from Ontario and a lot from New York. Some are made exclusively for Quebec, but most for other parts of Canada.

The other day he ran off for THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER TV commercials on cereal, anti-perspirant, motor oil, vitamins, natural gas, face tissues, pizza, tomato soup, chicken sticks, Ontario milk — made with 1,500 watercolor drawings (now at the Venice Festival) — and the "Yellow Pages" which won the first prize this year for art and animation at the U.S. Commercial Festival in Chicago.

Secret to success

The secret of Mr. Mills' success is good graphics and music.

Splash, a 12-minute, delightful, theatrical short done for Ontario water authorities, is a children's film designed to stop them from fighting in the back of the cinema. "Kids love it because of its pace," says Mr. Mills. "Most films move too slowly for children."

"The difference between an animated commercial and a live action commercial is that the animated commercial offers complete freedom of the visual," he says. "In live action there is the procedure of cutting, cross fades and dissolves from scene to scene. In animation that's not necessary as the element of time and situation can be rolled into one scene. We only put on the screen what we wish to show. I personally think that animation communicates more directly."

Mr. Mills was born in London. His parents — Edward Mills, a retired printing machine operator, and Violet Mills — live in England. His brother, David, works as a camera operator for Mr. Mills.

Won scholarship

At 13 Michael Mills won an arts scholarship to the High Wycombe Technical College. He left school at 16 and worked for nine months in a paper mill before getting a job in the film business in 1958. For four years he worked in an animation studio and by the age of 18 he was directing TV commercials for various markets — England, Italy, Germany and West Africa — for which he won many awards. He also directed special effects for the feature films Kiss of the Vampire and Lancelot and Guinevere.

From 1964 to 1966 he worked for the Halas and Batchelor animation studio. While there he directed the Lone Ranger television series produced for the U.S. market. In 1966 he came to Canada at the invitation of the National Film Board.

Mr. Mills is married to Sally Vane who also is English and a Canadian citizen.

The Millses, who live in Pointe Claire, have twin girls, Vanessa and Katy, 11, who attend Cedar Park School, and a son, Christopher, 5¾.

For recreation Mr. Mills skis, plays golf and makes model airplanes.

saga, I refuse to believe that a rapprochement between THE EXAMINER and Mrs. Sweeney on the one hand, and the fire department on the other, cannot be found, as I said at the council meeting on June 6. A positive solution will require more than a little good will and common sense because some people's pride will be affected. But no one should be afraid to admit that mistakes have been made and that differences in personalities have clouded the central issue, to the detriment of Westmount and its image. It takes guts to make such an admission, and this, I fear, may well be the essential attribute which is missing in our present local leadership.

In this day and age, it is inconceivable that no one can be found among us puny adults to solve the problem. However, failure to do so may rapidly result in an explosive denouement which will immediately touch all those who are now privy to the as yet undisclosed details of what has become a Machiavellian and disreputable affair, when it will be too late to hide the smoking gun whose handle so many people are, even now, determined not to relinquish.

In your said letter you indicate your wish to obtain "pursuant to the provisions of article 91 of the Cities and Towns Act of the Province of Quebec" the documents listed therein. We have reviewed the said list of documents and would point out to you that, with the exception of the minutes of the meetings of the Council of the City of Westmount, none of the said documents form part of the Archives and, accordingly, the said article 91 of the Cities and Towns Act does not have application thereto. Further, with respect to the "copy of the report submitted by Me Pateras", we are sure that you are aware that any communication in this regard between Mr. Pateras and the City of Westmount, including, without limitation, the report in question, is privileged information.

In addition, we note in your said letter (page 2 thereof, the fourth full paragraph) that reference is made to a report in THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER of a denial by the Mayor of Westmount of the existence of the report by Mr. Bruno Pateras, Q.C., specifically. In our view, neither the report of THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER nor the facts on which such report is allegedly based substantiates the statement that the Mayor denied the existence of the report by Mr. Pateras. We presume that this paragraph in your said letter was not intended to state, imply or infer any impropriety or improper conduct and would caution against the dissemination or publication of any such material by your client or otherwise.

Although our client is under no obligation to provide your client with any additional information, we have been instructed to advise you that the recording of the conversation between your client and Chief Martel [sic] on May 11, 1983 was erased on June 1, 1983, two days before receipt of your said letter of June 2, 1983 by our client. This was done as a routine matter.

Should you require copies of any of the minutes of the meetings of the Westmount City Council, please do not hesitate to advise the undersigned and arrangements will be made for the same to be delivered to you upon payment of the appropriate fee.

Yours very truly,

Mulroney pleases local PCs

St. Henri - Westmount Progressive Conservatives expressed contentment with the election of Brian Mulroney to the party's national leadership upon their return from the Ottawa convention this week.

"Now we have a Westmounter, a Montrealer and a Quebecer — in that order — who's going to be the next prime minister of Canada," said Bernard Finestone, president of the local PC association.

Mr. Finestone attended the convention as a delegate from this constituency, and was accompanied by Joan Winser, Richard Holden and Stephen Leopold. Steve Lucas and John Leopold attended as youth delegates.

Ald. Brian Gallery, a delegate by virtue of his work for the PC Canada Fund, served as custodian of the Mulroney box on the convention floor. He lost his voice and eight pounds during the 12 hours he spent making sure the right people were seen in the Mulroney camp.

"It was a fantastic convention," Ald. Gallery said, stating that "spirit and good fellowship prevailed." Mr. Mulroney's win is a "victory for Canada," Ald. Gallery said. "He'll end up being a great prime minister."

Mr. Finestone was a member of Mr. Mulroney's national campaign committee, responsible for hospitality in five different hotel suites. All the St. Henri - Westmount delegates worked on the convention floor to gather support for Mr. Mulroney, according to Mr. Finestone.

Three local women win gold medals in engineering at McGill graduation

Margaret Furst

Caroline Firstbrook

Diana Durnford

Three Westmount students were among four women who won the four engineering gold medals at the McGill University graduation ceremonies last week.

Margaret Furst, 20, a resident of Kitchener avenue, won the Charles Michael Morssen gold medal for exceptional engineering promise while Caroline Firstbrook, 22, and a resident of Lansdowne avenue, was awarded the Ernest Brown medal for highest ability throughout the undergraduate course. Diana Durnford of Lexington avenue won the Arthur Surveyer gold medal for exceptional engineering promise.

Miss Furst, who specialized in electrical engineering, will be going to the University of California at Berkeley for a master's and PhD program in systems and control theory. This is a mathematical and theoretical field of engineering.

She plans an academic career after her studies.

Miss Furst also graduated with great distinction in electrical engineering, honors program, and was named a University Scholar.

Miss Firstbrook is now working for a communications firm in Boston. She plans further studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. She also specialized in electrical engineering.

She graduated with great distinction and is also a University Scholar.

Diana Durnford graduated with great distinction in mechanical engineering, received the McGill Alumnae Society prize and is a University Scholar. She is currently working for Nesbitt Thompson in corporate finance.

She will be travelling in Turkey during August and will attend Sloane School of Business Administration of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the fall. She chose that school because of its smaller size and its technical base.

Miss Durnford doesn't foresee a career in engineering but would like to stay in corporate finance. She says the combination of engineering and business degrees is becoming fairly common.

Sarah Oliver is awarded Pearson prize

Miss Edgar's and Miss Cramp's School is pleased to announce that Sarah Jean Oliver, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Oliver, 365 Redfern avenue, has been awarded the Lester B. Pearson Scholarship. Sarah will attend the Lester B. Pearson College of the Pacific in Victoria. She is one of four students selected from the province of Quebec.

Places are offered on a competitive basis at these international coeducational, residential colleges for two years of education beyond the equivalent of eleven years of North American schooling.

The college has its philosophical base in the question asked by Lester B. Pearson in his Nobel Peace Prize Lecture in 1957 when he said, "How can there be peace without people understanding each other, and how can this be if they don't know each other?" Thus the reason for such an international school.

If you are not ready to subscribe to THE EXAMINER, it can be purchased at a dozen shops around Westmount.

Coffee van gets break

Someone forced open the side door of a delivery vehicle Tuesday last week taking $430 in cash. The mini-van belonged to a coffee distributing company, police said.

The vehicle, a beige 1981 Dodge, had been left for 15 minutes at 11:30 am at Dorchester boulevard and Atwater avenue during a delivery.

The driver then made another stop when he noticed the money, contained in a dispenser, was missing.

Unpaid warrants detain motorist

A motorist from Cedar Valley, Ont., was stopped in Westmount Friday night and found to owe $341.90 in unpaid traffic warrants, mostly from Magog and Sherbrooke.

Police said the 21-year-old man was arrested at Clarke avenue and St. Catherine street at 10:15 pm.

He apparently was unable to pay the fines and was sent downtown for detention.

Trumped

A trumpet was reported stolen from a lecture room in the armory at the Royal Montreal Regiment recently, according to police. It belonged to a Thornhill avenue resident and was valued at $300.

Paintings gone

Two painting reproductions disappeared recently from an office at 4999 St. Catherine street, police said. They were valued at $200 each. There were no signs of forced entry.

Piggery summer begins

Last weekend may have been our first taste of summer weather and the season is not officially under way until Tuesday but summer can be declared open after the Piggery Theatre's fund-raising dinner-dance at the theatre Saturday. The Piggery, located in North Hatley, is an integral part of a Montreal or Eastern Townships summer and failure to see at least one of the three productions is tantamount, for some, to two months of rain. The dinner-dance begins at 6:30 pm with a buffet featuring food from all the well-known inns around Lake Massawippi. The Robinson Fowler Band will provide the music for dancing. The cost is $15 per person or $25 per couple. The first Piggery production is the mystery thriller Ladies in Retirement which opens June 30. On June 23-25, the Staff and Students' Play Company of Massey-Vanier Regional High School will be presenting Albert Cusson's My Three Angels. It will be directed by Eugene Jousse.

Solos from New York

Ellen Webb, a dancer from New York City, will be performing Friday and Saturday , 8:30 pm, at Tangente Danse Actuelle, 307 St. Catherine street w. She is an experimental dancer.

Musical theatre for teens

The First Act Theatre Studio is offering summer classes in musical theatre for teens. Participants will explore all facets of musical theatre while working to produce West Side Story. They will present the musical at the end of the summer to family and friends. For more information and to register call 483-4555.

School's in for summer

The Arts-Sutton Summer School is now enrolling students for its sessions July 18-22 and Aug. 8-12. Music, painting, puppetry and sculpture are on the program this year. Former Westmount artist Ghitta Caiserman-Roth will be giving a course on composition and Westmounter Friedhelm Lach will be giving a course titled "Transformations of Perceptions into Color and Its Expression." Denis Hapi will give a sculpture course and William Stevens will give music workshops. A course on construction and manipulation of theatrical puppets will be given by Felix Mirbt. There will be lectures on art restoration and the relationship between astronomy and art. For more information call Eve Gossage at 538-3809 in Sutton.

Going into detail

An exhibition titled "Détails d'architecture" opens at Le Centre Urbain of Heritage Montreal, 406 Notre Dame street east, Tuesday evening and runs till Sept. 23. The show features 80 works by photographers and artists of the detail and artwork found in the interior and exterior architecture of Quebec. The works are for sale and all proceeds go to Le Centre Urbain to promote its work in urban conservation.

Exhibits about town

The animal and human sculptural forms of Heath and the etchings of Ettie Prazoff are at La Magie de l'Art, 1235 Guy street, until July 15. ... Artist Susan Jephcott will be showing her recent works at the Hôtel Château Versailles, 1659 Sherbrooke street west, from Wednesday until July 20. ... An exhibition a little bit out of town — the National Gallery in Ottawa is showing a Maurice Cullen retrospective from Friday until July 31. ... The Centre City Craft Shop, 3553 St. Urbain street, is holding an open house to show and sell the work of its students today from noon until 8:30 pm. ... "Confrontation '83" is the title of an exhibition of sculptures by 80 Quebec artists at the Pavilion of Exhibitions, formerly the French Pavilion, at Man and His World from Tuesday until Aug. 29.

J. DesRochers gets fellowship

Jacques DesRochers, social studies department head at St. George's School of Montreal, has received a Bard Fellowship to attend the summer institute for high school teachers at The Bard College Center in Annandale-on-Hudson, New York, from July 4-29.

The fellowship was made possible by a grant from the National Endowment for Humanities to the summer institute for high school teachers.

Mr. DesRochers will study Teaching the Social Sciences: The Roots of Economics, Psychology, and Sociology in History and Philosophy. He has been teaching at St. George's School for the past ten years and as department head has been involved with the creation of a bilingual program. The school teaches all of their social sciences in both languages.

The Montreal Expos will be at La Ronde Saturday, noon to 2:30 pm, signing autographs and handing out souvenirs. Youppi will be there, too. Starting Monday La Ronde will be open Mon.-Sat., noon to 2:30 am, and Sun., noon to 1:30 am.

Maintain that bike

The Snowdon Y and El Pedalo bike shop will be holding a bicycle fitness and maintenance clinic every Wednesday through June, noon to 2 pm and 7-9 pm. It will be held at the Y, 5500 Westbury avenue.

Golem concert

Diana Marcovitz, billed as a satirist in song and monologue, will take the stage at the Golem, 3460 Stanley street, Saturday, 9 pm. Originally from Montreal, Ms. Marcovitz made it big in New York and has returned to Montreal.

Pianist performs

Sharon Watanabe, a pianist, will give a concert tonight, 8 o'clock, in Pollack Hall, 555 Sherbrooke street west. She will perform works by Brahms, Schumann, Debussy and Ginastera.

Keys found

A set of keys in a black case were found Sunday night in front of 4010 St. Catherine street, police said.

Deep diver hits bottom

A 14-year-old Westmount boy dove into the city pool Sunday afternoon hitting his head on the bottom.

He was considered to be a "walking wounded" case and was taken to the Montreal Children's Hospital by the fire department's first responder unit.

The victim lived on Parkman Place. The mishap took place about 3 pm.

Gala ball this Friday at Victoria Hall

A gala formal ball with the theme "Montreal Nights and Memories" will be held at Victoria Hall on Friday at 8 pm.

Organizer is Robert Babin, 28, who teaches social and ballroom dancing at the Westmount Y and Marie Côté's Centre de la Danse, 223A Melville avenue. He expects approximately 500 to attend.

Four other teachers from the Westmount Y — Nancy Morette, Brigitte Desy, Jennifer Lawrence and Leslie Chartier — will be among the dancers.

Robert Babin in one number will dance with his partner Martine Riopel. He will also sing Tropicana to the music of La Cucaracha, Down by Rockhead's Paradise to the music Down by the Riverside and an ode to Billie Holiday to the music of Gloomy Sunday.

There will be a grand prize for winners of the mambo contest.

Robert has choreographed the third act which will include a number patterned after the Ziegfield Follies, an ode to Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers dancing the rhumba, Les Girls doing the cha-cha. The finale will be Robert performing a tap dance to Putting on the Ritz.

For further information and tickets call 487-9131.

Locks damaged

Two locks to an architect's office at 4467 St. Catherine street were reported damaged Friday after an attempt was made to force them open, police said. Damage amounted to $5.

Cash stolen in classroom

A teacher at the Shaar Hashomayim school told police someone removed $22 from her purse while she left a classroom briefly Wednesday last week.

A man aged about 20 or 25 years old was seen in the area and was considered a suspect, police said.

The incident took place about 2:20 pm.

Stop signs are installed for safety

Three new stop signs were approved for Westmount intersections at the June statutory meeting of city council Monday last week.

Traffic in both directions on Mount Pleasant avenue now will stop at Holton avenue, where two signs have been installed.

"For youngsters crossing Mount Pleasant, it was quite dangerous," Ald. André Gervais told the meeting.

Another stop sign has been installed on the northeast side of the intersection in the lane south of Dorchester boulevard between Columbia and Greene avenues, where a fence makes visibility poor, according to Ald. Gervais.

Ald. David Carruthers, who lives near the corner where the third sign was installed said, "It might be better to install mirrors — metal mirrors — polished brass, perhaps."

Ald. Gervais suggested he take the matter up with the traffic committee.

Acupuncture with lasers is reality, Rotary told

Doctors in stone-age China probably would be surprised as much as members of the Rotary Club of Westmount were to learn that acupuncture has become a laser technology in the 1980s.

Anita Vanderheyden, a Belgian doctor who studied acupuncture in China, described the practice and its gradual emergence in Western medicine for Rotarians at their regular weekly luncheon meeting in Victoria Hall last Wednesday.

Dr. Vanderheyden was introduced to the membership by her husband, Dirk Vanderheyden, who joined the club earlier this year.

Energy in the body flows in 14 meridians, Dr. Vanderheyden said. More than 1,000 points at precise locations along these meridians can be stimulated, causing the nervous system to release natural analgesics with a morphine-like effect.

The points are "not imaginary," Dr. Vanderheyden said, but are proven to to have higher bioelectric potential and less resistance than surrounding tissue. Each superficial point is related to areas within the body.

Using sharp needles, approximately 0.26 millimetres in diameter, acupuncturists do not pierce nervous tissue but stimulate it. In the treatment of addictions, a small needle can be implanted at a point and left for a long period of time.

Acupuncture, in its earliest form, was performed with blunt stone instruments. Later, bone and bamboo needles were used to pierce the skin at certain points to relieve pain and cure disease, Dr. Vanderheyden said.

The use of bronze, silver and gold needles in the 16th to 11th centuries B.C. made little change in the treatment's effect, Dr. Vanderheyden said. She compared it to eating with sterling silver rather than stainless steel cutlery.

Acupuncture was banned in

Dr. Anita Vanderheyden

China after the 14th century, and later revived. Mao Zedong actively promoted the practice, Dr. Vanderheyden said, establishing acupuncture clinics and research institutes.

In the West, acupuncture also is being studied. In American research centres, electrical charges and lasers have been used to enhance the treatment's effect. For "thoroughly diagnosed chronic disorders," Dr. Vanderheyden said, "acupuncture should be a therapy of choice practiced by a person with a thorough medical background."

Orvar Eeg-Oloffson, a Swedish doctor who visits the club regularly, thanked Dr. Vanderheyden for speaking on behalf of Rotarians. In Sweden, too, acupuncture is studied and he found it had particular application to neurological disorders.

The meeting was chaired by Rotary vice-president Haagen Kierulf and attended by Rotarians visiting from Israel, Sweden, England, Tennessee, Montreal and Montreal West.

Rotary has sister in Taiwan

The Rotary Club of Westmount was united as a sister club with the Rotary Club of Taipei, China (Taiwan) at the Rotary International convention in Toronto early in June, Coos de Vries reported to the club's meeting Wednesday last week in Victoria Hall.

Mr. de Vries, chairman of the Westmount Rotary's international service committee, said an agreement had been signed by both club presidents and district governors at the Royal York Hotel.

Rotarians from Taipei marked the occasion by presenting the Westmounters with lapel pins, a printed edition of the Rotary's four-way test and a trophy.

By becoming sister clubs, Westmount and Taipei Rotarians have undertaken "to provide humanitarian service, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations, help foster goodwill, peace and understanding in the world, ever putting into practice Rotary's eternal motto of 'Service Above Self'."

Youth Horizons to hold annual information meet

Members of the community are invited to attend the sixth annual information meeting of the Youth Horizons Reception Centre. The meeting will take place on Wednesday, June 22, at 7:30 pm in the auditorium at 6 Weredale Park in Westmount.

The purpose of the meeting is to report on the activities and programs provided by the Reception Centre which is responsible for giving treatment and care to more than 500 troubled children each year. Clients served range in age from 2 to 18, are primarily English-speaking and from Montreal and the surrounding region.

Chairman of the meeting is Howard Martin, director-general of Youth Horizons, Coby Ingham, president of the board of directors, will present a summary report of the year's activities.

A question period will be held and senior staff will be available at the close of the meeting to answer questions regarding the services provided.

The occasion will also be used to pay special tribute to community lay leadership and volunteers who have worked on behalf of the children of Youth Horizons to help improve the quality of their lives.

Three by-laws said approved by electorate

Pete Patenaude, city clerk, reported to the June statutory meeting of city council Monday last week that the three zoning and development by-laws adopted by council in April were deemed to have been approved by the electorate since no demand was made for a vote on them.

Registers were made available to electors May 11 and 12 for the purpose of recording objections to the by-laws. Two of the by-laws required 500 signatures to put the legislation to a vote. The third required 240 signatures on the register.

The deemed approval of the three by-laws, which regulate building lines, subdivision of property and zoning, was announced in the council chamber the evening of May 12, Mr. Patenaude reported.

Montreal given boost at Selwyn by Paterson

By LAUREEN SWEENEY

"Don't give up on Montreal."

That was the advice given to 38 graduating students from Selwyn House School last week by Alex Paterson, chairman of Alliance Québec.

"Get out and learn about the world, but come back to Montreal and take another look," he challenged them.

Mr. Paterson, a graduate of Selwyn House, told them they had read a lot about high taxes and language problems, but that he foresaw a good future here for those who were bilingual.

Montreal, he said, was fast becoming a centre for high technology.

"We're going to have the experts in Montreal," he said, particularly in the field of robotics, biological technology, pulp and paper and the marine industry.

He also told the graduates to help people less fortunate than themselves, not to fear taking calculated risks and to be "honest, open, friendly and to fight for the principle to the bitter end."

Mr. Paterson hoped they would do "something unique and extra for this province. Patriotism was not dead, it's one of the great values.

Talk well of province

"We've been through tough times in Quebec," he said, but called on the boys to talk well of the province and to be "ambassadors for the future."

The speaker was thanked by Douglas Robertson, past chairman of the board, who called the speech "worthy of the source."

Mr. Paterson, he said, was a man who "does not compromise on principle, builds bridges ... and speaks well of his province."

Graduating certificates were presented to the following:

Geoffrey Adams, Thomas Antony, Fenton Aylmer, Kim Balles, Robert Bernier, Bruce Brydon, Jonathan Burnham, Rex Chung, Steven Clark, Derek Eaton, Jonathan Elkin, Martin Essig, Glen Freedman, Alberto Gatti, Vytas Gruodis, Seiji Gutierrez, David Ham, Thomas Hood, Mark Jany, John Kardos, John Kelly, Probal Lala, Guy MacLaren, Thomas MacFarlane, Geoffrey Moore, Murdo Murchison, Stephen Penner, James Philips, Christian Robertson, Sean Scensor, Karim Shariff, James Soutar, Michael Stevenson, Edwin Taguchi, Beckett Thomsen, Nicholas Tingley, Philippe Ventura and Nicholas Von Moltke.

Special prize winners in the elementary school were:

Peter Bevan, Ali Dibadj, Jacques Khalip, David Bartos, Charles Matouk, Robbie Johnston, Blake Ferger, Benjamin Duffield, Reza Dibadj, Lucas Carsley, Ronald Simpson, Kevin O'Brien, Michael Bruneau, Salem Bouhairie, Nicholas Ducic, Ross Vineberg and Paul Boubli.

Special prize winners in the senior school were:

Christopher Clark, Prasun Lala, Michael Zenaitis, David Jones, Christopher Naudie, Christopher Pratley, Ferhaan Ahmad, Eric Bunge, Derek Eaton, Denis Stevens, Mark Jany, Robert Mason, Thomas Hood, Probal Lala, Eduardo Neuenschwander, Dimitri Kydoniefs, Nicholas Tingley, Alexander Kuilman, Victor Whitehead, James Soutar, Patrick Jobal and Thomas MacFarlane.

Locked out

Public safety officers went to the aid of woman living on Lexington avenue who was locked out of her house Wednesday last week. The officers were able to find a door not properly secured and assisted her into the house at 2:20 pm, officials report.

Local residents organize 'Pique-nique' for dancers

By JOAN CAPRÉOL

Several Westmounters are involved in the "Pique-nique Artistique" fund-raising event for the Eddy Toussaint dance company which will take place at the Canadian Pavilion at Man and His World on Sunday, June 19, at 5 pm.

Picnic baskets donated by the Haitian Consul will be served as the company dances at the gala benefit.

Margaret Lefebvre, 400 Kensington avenue, designed the picnic and created a wonderful caviar tartlet as an entrée. "The basket will contain skewers of chicken brochette, crabmeat bouche, a strawberry tart and white wine," said Ms. Lefebvre.

"Toussaint is one of the most stimulating ballet companies to watch. It combines contemporary style with classical training."

Victor Melnikoff, 2 Westmount Square, who is on the board of directors of the ballet and its legal counsel, said: "This is the first time this company is being exposed in a major event to the anglophone community. Our successful exposure to anglophone audiences to date has been in other cities outside Montreal such as Washington, Calgary and Edmonton."

'Great party'

Pierrette Sévigny McConomy, 400 Kensington avenue, said: "I am looking forward to the event. I think it will be a great party. It is a fabulous company."

Other Westmounters on the committee are Cornelia Molson, Denise Grossman Caplan and Pen Bridgman.

Opening night will feature an original choreography "Cantates" created by Eddy Toussaint. "Clowns et les Autres" will also be performed and appropriately to Pique-nique Artistique's color scheme of lilac-blue and daffodil-yellow, "Rose Latulipe" will also be danced.

The dance company will perform at the Canadian Pavilion, now known as Théâtre des Iles, every Wednesday through Sunday (except Aug. 1-10) until the closing of Terre des Hommes.

Hudson woman hurt in collision

A woman from Hudson, Que., was injured at 3:15 am Friday after her car apparently ran into the rear of another at Côte St. Antoine road and Victoria avenue, police said.

The accident involved two cars, both heading south on Victoria.

The woman's car, a brown 1978 Pontiac, received about $500 damage to the front after it collided with a blue Chevrolet stopped at the red light, police said.

The extent of the victim's injuries was not known. She was 40 years old.

Cassette taken

A $450 cassette was reported stolen sometime between June 6 and 11 from a house on Springfield avenue, police said.

Plays and legends at Greene festival

By JOAN CAPRÉOL

A legend will be recounted in Middle English by Pauline Bentham during the Greene avenue medieval festival scheduled for Saturday, June 18. Middle English when spoken is quite easy to understand.

Ms. Bentham is taking a master's degree in music at McGill University and has had much experience in musical and theatrical productions. She was co-producer of the Palm Sunday Passion plays at the Newman Centre.

"The 14th century epic Ms. Bentham will recount takes place at King Arthur's court while he and his knights of the Round Table are celebrating Yuletide," says Brian Brice, artistic director of the festival. "The stranger is a knight completely clad in green who offers a challenge to whomever is the most honorable of Arthur's knights.

"Sir Gawain accepts the challenge and beheads the stranger, who then picks up his severed head and tells Gawain to meet him at the green chapel the following Yuletide for a return match."

How Gawain faces his ordeal and almost proves himself to be an honorable knight will be told by Ms. Bentham.

François Bisaillon will be presenting, with his travelling marionette theatre, "Aladdin and His Magic Lantern." His puppets are handmade and children of all ages will certainly be enthralled.

Two plays

Two plays are also to be presented at the festival. The first is Robin and Marian by Adam de la Halle and has been called the first musical comedy. The story concerns the legendary Robin Hood, but this time the real hero is Marian who counters the attacks of the cavalier as only a woman can.

Patrick Maloney plays Robin; Christine Frenette, Marion; and Chevalier, Pierre Turcotte.

The second play, Johan Johan, Tyb, His Wife, and Sir John the Priest is by John Heywood. This little domestic comedy was written at the tail end of the Middle Ages. It is the story of a henpecked husband who finds it difficult to cope with his wife's comings and goings.

If Robin and Marian has been called the first musical comedy, perhaps Johan Johan could be called the first soap opera. The Middle Ages may conjure up for most people a feeling of "once upon a time" but the realities of the period are very much "here and now."

Ari Snyder will play Johan Johan; Aïs Synder, Tyb and Sam Stone, Sir Johan.

Thirty-two merchants are participating fully in the festival and several others are involved on an associated level.

One thousand posters — 500 for the Greene avenue and Westmount Square area, and 500 for Montreal — have been distributed.

Tom Miller, the green-haired clown, is now putting dimes instead of nickels in the parking meters.

The City has erected 12 large banners and 36 small ones for the festival.

Tom von Eicken, chairman of Greene Action, says: "The old times are coming back to Greene avenue both in style and service."

He says the next event for Greene avenue is an antique car show scheduled for the tentative date of Sunday, July 15.

Promotion program

Greene Action is working on a combined promotion program for the 10 restaurants in the area.

"Although the Thursday morning (9 to 10) meetings are well attended at the Old Post Office, we definitely welcome new ideas and additional participation," says Mr. Von Eicken.

Rita Stafford of Coffee Gourmet says: "There is a hustle and bustle on the street and people are smiling again and anxious for the new Métro store to open in Westmount Square.

"I think the festival will be very colorful and most entertaining. It will appeal to everyone from nine to 90."

The Staffords are opening a store in Toronto on June 24. Known as The Gourmet Centre, it is located in the new harbor development right on Lake Ontario. The Staffords' son and daughter, Brian and Donna, will be in charge for the summer.

The Staffords have a third shop in Dollard des Ormeaux.

In other Greene avenue news, CKGM has leased part of the Avenue theatre parking lot on the southwest corner of de Maisonneuve and Greene. Jeweller Lou Goldberg has leased the old car wash section as a parking lot.

GREENE HAIR FOR FAIR: Green-headed Tom Miller will be plugging the parking meters with dimes for the Greene avenue festival this weekend.

30 graduate as Firefighters

By LAUREEN SWEENEY

Mayor Donald MacCallum told the 17th annual graduation ceremonies of the city's Junior Firefighters course he was beginning to think the "only really effective" events in Westmount were those "involving kids."

"I'm going to suggest that the only persons running for election in November be those under 16," he quipped.

His Worship earned much applause and went on to congratulate this year's 30 graduates, all local residents between the ages of 11 and 14.

The graduation exercises took place Wednesday evening last week in fire station No. 1 on Stanton street.

'Good habits'

Lieutenant-Inspector Barry Coates described the program saying it gave "the young good habits regarding fire."

Miranda Duffy, one of the four graduates earning 100 percent in the course, told the gathering of parents, friends and officials that she believed the course was "an excellent learning experience for us all."

Lt. Coates said he couldn't have said it as well and Mayor MacCallum added "not nearly as effectively."

But it was another graduate, Joshua Gillespie, who brought the house down when he provided his tongue-in-cheek version of an average junior firefighters' class.

Students taking the course this year came from The Study, Selwyn House, Miss Edgar's and Miss Cramp's and Roslyn schools.

100 percent

Those attaining 100 percent were Chris Bruneau, Valerie Burman, Pamela Darragh and Miranda Duffy.

In addition to those mentioned, plaques and certificates also were presented to the following girls and boys by Mayor MacCallum and Alderman André Gervais, commissioner of public safety:

Julie Beddall, Anna Berlyn, Robert Briscoe, Lynn Bushell, Christian Campeau, Kathleen Doheny, Giulia Galeotti, Joshua Gillespie, Carla Guttmann, Anne Heenan, Peter Higgins, Andrew Hill, Samantha Hoare, Richard Hull, Elise Johnston, Marc Le Moine, David Moroz, Ravi Nayar, Katherine Price, Neil Riddell, Alexandra Rochester, Richie Schwartz, Annabel Soutar, Graeme Welsford, Shauna Wilkie and David Winn.

Corporal Eric Booth of the Black Watch Pipe and Drum Band played the pipes the start of the evening.

Jewels worth $8,400 stolen

Jewelry worth $8,400 was reported taken from an apartment at 220 Olivier avenue sometime Saturday, police said.

The front door was found open at 4:30 pm after the victim had been out for the afternoon.

Nothing had been disturbed, she told police. Closer checking, however, showed that the jewelry had been taken from a bureau drawer.

The missing items included an antique chain with diamond worth $5,000 as well as a pearl necklace worth $3,000 and a $400 watch.

'No parking' means just that

Don't park where the signs say not to. That was the message learned the hard way last Thursday by a motorist whose car was towed away to the city pound.

The car had been left in the diagonal parking area on the west side of Melville avenue among a row of "no parking" placards put out for work crews.

Police said the vehicle was obstructing street work and had to be towed away at 9:20 am.

Another institution leaves Quebec

The residents of Bruce avenue paid tribute to one of their own on Friday. Kathy MacCulloch of 41 Bruce avenue was honored at a farewell party at the home of Ross and Susan Reid. Almost all the residents of Bruce as well as some from neighboring streets attended.

Kathy is very special to the street's citizens and will be very much missed when she leaves for Halifax this coming Sunday. The first to greet new families, she made them feel at home immediately. The Annual Street Sale and Dominion Day Party were her brainchild and enjoyed by all. Although a prime mover of Bruce avenue events, she was never a dictator, preferring instead to involve others in organizing events, thus developing true community spirit, neighbors point out.

Judging by the turnout at Friday's affair, community spirit and affection for Kathy are both in abundance on Bruce. After the crowd stuffed themselves on plentiful food and drink, Kathy was presented with gifts and a card signed by over 60 persons. The highlight of the presentation, indicating the depth of feeling for Kathy, was a poem read by its composer. It reads:

To Kathy
By Margot Kyle

Montreal's loss is a Halifax gain
Bruce Ave will never be the same
Without Kathy

She steeps her stoop with a friendly face
41 is always a gathering place
Where will we all get together again
Without Kathy

And Canada Day has gone by the way
With no one to drag us along by "le nez"
Without Kathy

What will the cats of the neighborhood do
They'll find themselves missing more than just you
They'll miss Pandy, Dorch and Finny, too
Without Kathy

In person or tape ever manning her phone
Always there for you when you feel alone
Now who will keep the street a home
Without Kathy

We envy those on that Maritime street
Who will now enjoy the company sweet
Of Kathy.

The party drew to a close around 2 am but, true to tradition, continued with quiet conversation on Kathy's front stoop. The discussion at one point centred on Bruce avenue's fortune in having two of the few remaining antique light standards in Westmount.

Near dawn, as the last diehard party-goers made their way home, it was noted that although another light had gone out on Bruce it would remain forever bright in their hearts.

Black dog safe

A black dog was returned home safely last Thursday evening after the animal was found at the rear of 26 Shorncliffe avenue, police said. The animal had an SPCA tag and was restored to its owner by 7 pm, 90 minutes after being handed over to police.

Exciting new writing courses launched at Atwater library

The First Canadian Romance Novel Lovers Conference held at the Atwater Library on June 1 and 2 successfully launched a new season of events at the Atwater.

As a follow-up to the conference, a special one-day workshop for aspiring romance writers will be held on Saturday, June 18, from 9 am to 4 pm in room 3. Dr. Ruth Kanin, noted lecturer, therapist and McGill Continuing Education teacher will direct the workshop in conjunction with Janet Adams. Registration is at the Atwater Library. For more information, please phone Heather or Nora at the library, or call 482-6566 or 287-9643.

An exciting new course is now being formed which is directed at senior citizens who would like to record their life stories. The series of five two-hour sessions is titled "Memories from the Attic." Dr. Kanin will be directing the course which will be offered on Wednesday afternoons from 2 pm to 4 pm.

Tentative starting date is June 29; the definitive date will depend on enrolment. A class of 20 is envisioned as the minimum of registrants necessary to offer the course.

Restoration

Now that the auditorium restoration program, stage 1, has been completed, those clubs and associations in the area that need a place to meet are invited to visit the library and view the facilities. Rates and availability dates may be discussed with Heather or Nora.

Additional writing classes are being considered, if registration (minimum 10) warrants their being offered: Writing Craft 1, for beginning writers, Writing Craft II, for advanced writers or those with works-in-progress, and Advanced Autobiography Writing. All of these will be taught by Dr. Kanin.

Schedule for Writing Classes

Romance Writers Workshop — Saturday, June 18, 9 am - 4 pm; Advanced Autobiographical Writing — Tuesday evenings, 6 pm - 8 pm (6 sessions, $60, June 28 - August 2; Writing Craft I — Tuesday afternoons, 2 pm - 4 pm (4 sessions, $40, June 28 - July 19); Writing Craft II — Wednesday evenings, 6 pm - 8 pm (6 sessions, $60, June 29 - August 3); Memories from the Attic — Wednesday afternoons, 2 pm - 4 pm (5 sessions, $25, June 29 - July 26). For additional information call 287-9643 or 482-6566.

Registration for all classes is at the Atwater Library, 1200 Atwater.

Arts festival plans made

By JOAN CAPRÉOL

Organizers are planning their strategy for the Arts Westmount festival which takes place from September 21 to 24.

The literary committee will be using the impressive Lodge Room of Victoria Hall for four events.

Poetry readings are being organized by Michael Harris; prose readings are being arranged by Terry Rigelhof, who has a new book out, The Education of J.J. Pass; an antiquarian book dealers' panel by Wilfrid de Freitas; and a journalists' panel by Henry Aubin, author of City for Sale (Les Vrais Propriétaires).

Book displays, paper-making and bookbinding demonstrations are planned and Diana McNeill is making a map showing new and antiquarian bookstores in Westmount.

For further information call co-chairmen Judy Mappin and Judy Knight at 932-5093 and 484-4401 respectively.

• • •

The art committee is taking two rooms in Victoria Hall. One room will contain paintings on canvas; the other, works on paper — either prints or watercolors.

The vernissage is being held on Tuesday evening, September 20.

Invitations to participate have been sent out to Westmount artists.

Chairman Ann McCall can be reached at 931-6096 and Patricia Pickel, who is taking care of the responses, at 933-7241.

Funeral for Reginald Dean, former local alderman

Funeral services were held Friday at Westmount Baptist Church for Reginald Harmon Dean, a former Westmount alderman and long-time resident of the city. Committal was at Mount Royal Cemetery.

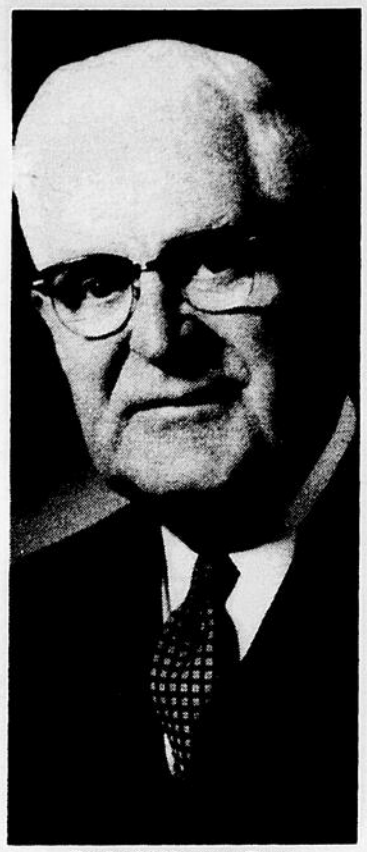
Mr. Dean, who died Monday last week at 87 years of age, was well known for his activities in military, professional, religious and charitable fields.

He was born in Saint John, N.B., on July 12, 1896, the son of John E. Dean and Annie Buchanan. He joined the Baptist church in New Brunswick, and was welcomed to the congregation in Westmount in 1920.

In 1923, he married Mabel Locke and the couple had two daughters. The family lived at different times on Mount Stephen avenue, Grosvenor avenue and for many years on Upper Lansdowne avenue.

Two daughters

Helen Locke Turta, who works with the Baptist Church, survives her father, as does her sister, Anne Buchanan Turcot. Mrs. Turta has one son, Dean, and Mrs. Turcot has five children and three grandchildren.



Reginald Harmon Dean

Mr. Dean also is survived by his second wife, Jessie MacArthur Hunter, whom he married in 1970.

Distinguished service with the 26th Battalion and Grenadier Guards in the First and Second World wars led to Mr. Dean attaining the rank of colonel.

Mr. Dean was best known professionally for his years of service with the investment house of Nesbitt-Thomson. As Westmount alderman from 1949 to 1952, Mr. Dean was responsible for the city's police and fire departments.

Various offices

He was actively associated with the founding of the St. Lambert Baptist Church, reopened the St. Henri Baptist Church in 1951, held various offices in the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec and was active on the board of trustees of Westmount Baptist Church.

Mr. Dean was a president of the Friendly Home and Camp, served on the board of Welcome Hall Mission, participated in the Shawbridge Boys' Farm project and worked to settle immigrants following the Second World War.

He also was a member of the Mount Royal Cemetery board and an honorary life member of the board of directors of the Canadian Bible Society.

Mr. Dean most recently lived in a residence in St. Lambert and had lived for some time on Sherbrooke street in Montreal after leaving Westmount.

Lucy Bronfman, widow of Allan, buried Monday

Lucy Bronfman, wife of the late Allan Bronfman, was interred Monday in the Shaar Hashomayim Congregation Cemetery on Mount Royal boulevard.

Mrs. Bronfman, who died Friday after a long period of ill health, lived in Westmount for many years and was active in the numerous philanthropic works undertaken by her late husband.

She was born Lucy Bilsky, daughter of Moses and Pauline Bilsky, in Ottawa. She married Allan Bronfman there in 1922 and came with him to Montreal in 1924 when he joined his three older brothers in the distillery and wine business.

Mr. Bronfman founded the Jewish General Hospital and during their nearly 60 years of marriage, he and Mrs. Bronfman continued their service to it, as they did to a variety of institutions and organizations in both Canada and Israel.

The family mansion at 9 Belvedere road was destroyed by fire in February 1977 and they lived at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel until moving to Westmount Square.

Mrs. Bronfman was widowed in March 1980 and lived most recently in a residence for senior citizens in the Town of Mount Royal.

The Bronfmans had two sons, Edward and Peter, and one daughter, the late Mona Sheckman. Mrs. Sheckman, in turn, had one daughter, Zoë, and one granddaughter, Meadowrose.

Peter Bronfman's children are Linda, Bruce and Brenda. Edward Bronfman has three sons, Paul, David and Brian.

MUSIC FOR ST. ANDREW'S: The fund for the revoicing of the organ at St. Andrew's United Church is being swelled by numerous donations. A cheque for $100 recently was presented to the fund by the St. Andrew's Scouting Group Committee which operates the Boy Scout groups sponsored by the church. From left are: Rev. Bob Hussey; Margaret de Castro, organist; Donald Rutherford, a former chairman of the group committee; Sandy Chisholm, a Rover; Laureen Sweeney, chairman of the group committee, and Geoffrey McCarthy, a Venturer. The presentation was made at the annual meeting of the group committee, the only one in Westmount to operate all Scouting groups of Beavers, Cubs, Scouts, Venturers and Rovers.

Three United churches unite for outdoor service in park

Traditionally, each June the three United Churches located in Westmount — St. Andrew's, Dominion-Douglas and Westmount Park — join together for an outdoor church service in the lagoon area of Westmount Park.

This year, the service will be held on Sunday, June 19, at 11 am in the park, adjacent to Westmount Park Church. In the event of inclement weather, the service will be held in Westmount Park Church.

Leadership for the service will be offered by Miss Catherine Anderson and Mrs. Beatrice Fielding of Dominion-Douglas, Mr. Eber Carruthers and Rev. J. E. Munson of Westmount Park, and Mrs. Susan Nordberg and Rev. Robert Hussey of St. Andrew's Church. Rev. Hussey will deliver the sermon.

Music at this service will be of interest to many. A brass quartet will provide processional, offertory and recessional music. The three choirs of the United churches directed by St. Andrew's organist and choirmaster, Mrs. Margaret de Castro, will give anthems by Tye, "O Come ye Servants of the Lord" and " O Sing Ye to the Lord" by Pitoni.

Coffee Hour will be held in the Webster Hall of Westmount Park Church. Members of the community are most welcome to attend this annual event.

As in the past, the three United churches in Westmount will combine their regular Sunday morning services during the summer months. The schedule this year is as follows:

St. Andrew's Church - June 26, July 3, 10 and 17.

Westmount Park Church - July 24, 31, August 7.

Dominion-Douglas Church - Aug. 14, 21, 28.

The three churches resume services in their own locations on Sunday, September 4th.

Baptist picnic this Sunday

The church family of Westmount Baptist Church are looking forward to participating in an old fashioned picnic and camp meeting Sunday, June 19. The congregation will participate in a Father's Day Service at 11:00 am, when Dr. Ellis will preach on the topic: "There is a River." The sermon relates to the story of the strong captain of Syria, Naaman, and how he was healed of leprosy through faith and obedience.

Then the congregation will go to Côteau du Lac, with lunches, to share a meal and participate in an old fashioned camp meeting with lively singing and preaching by a Southern Baptist pastor from Starkville, Mississippi. An ice-cream social will follow.

Mrs. Jean Dixon, chairman of the Christian Education Committee, urges everyone to participate and to come to the morning service suitably dressed for the picnic and with their lunches. Cars will leave directly from the church. All are welcome.

For further information call the church office at 937-1009.

TMR plans to celebrate June 23 and 30

The Town of Mount Royal is planning what it believes will be one of the most exciting festivities in the Montreal area to celebrate La Fête Nationale, next Thursday, June 23, and Canada Day, Thursday, June 30.

(The City of Westmount has no officially planned festivities related to the two holidays. However, its enormously successful Family Day in Westmount Park took place Saturday, May 28; merchants in the Sherbrooke-Victoria area held their annual fête last Saturday and Greene avenue area businesses are following suit this Saturday.)

The June 23 celebration will feature La Fête au Village in the area next to the town recreation centre on Roosevelt avenue with more than a score of boutiques with ceramics, ice cream, popcorn, soft drinks, hundreds of balloons, a barnyard of animals, log-cutting and hula hoop contests, baked goods, square dancing with an orchestra, hay rides, and finally a giant bonfire and sing-song.

Canada Day festivities will open with a mammoth parade, starting on Churchill road, next to the town hall on Roosevelt avenue. There'll be bands, MUC police horses, fire trucks, clowns, antique cars, decorated bikes, ethnic dancers, a "gold car", and colorful floats.

The parade will be followed by a "best dressed dog" contest, a basketball contest, a magic show, the Alley Cats rock band, the Old Timers' band in the Town Mall, and the grand finale — the annual spectacular fireworks display.

The celebrations are being organized by a citizens' committee, headed by the chairman, Councillor Victor T. Podd, with the cooperation of the town council and municipal employees.

Rector to conduct St. Matthias' tour

At the 10:30 Choral Eucharist on Sunday, June 19, the rector will conduct a guided tour of the church building, explaining its symbolism, furnishings, ornaments and their meaning and relation to the worship of the church.

Ven. Dr. Doidge is to conduct his last service at St. Matthias' Church on Sunday morning, June 26, at 10:30 o'clock before leaving on retirement.

The rector and his wife were honored at a well-attended congregational reception and dinner at the church last evening.

John Raymond receives BBA

Westmounter John Raymond recently received a bachelor of business administration degree in management and marketing at Northwood Institute's 24th annual commencement ceremonies in Midland, Michigan.

The 1983 graduating class was addressed by Reed T. Draper, president of Fashion Square Chevrolet, Saginaw, Michigan.

Stressing the productive and inherent worth of the American free enterprise system, Northwood Institute is dedicated to furthering the interrelationship of business and the arts in the interest of maintaining and developing the quality of life through individual knowledge and appreciation.

Cynthia Rhea is Vassar grad

Cynthia A. Rhea, the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence D. Rhea, 3033 Sherbrooke street west, received a Bachelor of Arts degree along with 575 other seniors at Vassar College's 119th commencement held on Sunday, May 22.

Vassar, a private liberal arts college, was founded in 1861 as a women's college and became coeducational in 1969. Men now represent 42 percent of the student body of 2,250.

Furry damage

Ten dollars' damage was reported Monday last week to two locks on the grill of a furrier's store on Sherbrooke street near Prince Albert avenue, police said.

Strange case of missing $200

A woman student living at 200 Kensington avenue told police $200 in U.S. currency was missing from a purse left in her apartment Sunday, she discovered after she returned home from the Grand Prix race.

The purse had contained $1,345 U.S. when she last counted the money at 2 pm.

When she returned home at 10:30 pm, she again counted the money and noticed the $200 missing.

Her roommate was in the apartment during her absence, deepening the mystery, she told police.

$400 stolen from paper bag

Four hundred dollars was reported missing from an office in the Old Post Office Monday last week, police report.

The cash had been left in a brown paper bag on top of a desk.

The theft had taken place the previous week but was not reported until the return of the establishment's owner, police said.

Nothing taken

Nothing was taken during a break and entry at a house on Stayner street Tuesday last week, police said. Someone apparently broke a kitchen window, visited the dining room and moved a camera and turntable. The incident took place between 6 and 8 pm.

Civic broken

The rear window of a Honda Civic was broken Monday last week when it was parked in a driveway at 10 Ramezay road, according to police. Damage amounted to $250.

City to buy transformers from three companies

City council last Monday authorized the purchase of 29 distribution transformers from three different companies at a cost of $35,468 during its statutory meeting for June.

Alex de F. Heron, Westmount director of power and communications, told council the transformers were being purchased in anticipation of load growth on the city's power system.

The call for tenders, to which six companies responded, was divided into eight parts. The suppliers all did not make complete submissions.

Les Transformateurs Ferranti-Packard Ltée submitted the lowest of four bids to supply 167 kVa single phase transformer on a pad mount in the amount of $3,360. The highest bid for the item was $4,092.

The same company also won the bidding for the supply of three 167 kVa single phase transformers with its bid of $5,226. The five other companies bid in amounts ranging from $6,438 to $7,437.

Five sections

Moloney Electric Corporation will supply the transformers noted in five sections of the call for tenders which include eight 100 kVa single phase transformers for $9,208, seven 75 kVa - 120/240 volt single phase transformers for $6,951, seven 50 kVa - 120/240 volt single phase transformers for $5,481, one 75 kVa - 600 volt single phase transformer for $1,103 and one 50 kVa - 600 volt single phase transformer for $869.

In each of the five sections, Moloney's bid was the lowest submitted.

The remaining section of the tender, for the supply of one 150 kVa three-phase distribution transformer, was won by Reliance Power Equipment Ltd. whose bid of $3,270 undercut the others.

Other firms who made bids on one or more of the tender sections include McGraw Edison Ltd. (power systems division), Federal Pioneer Ltd. and Wesco (Westinghouse Canada Ltd.).

Fire put out in kitchen drawer

A small fire in a kitchen drawer Sunday evening caused an estimated $250 in damage, although the direct cause of the fire was unknown.

Firefighters under Captain René Morin were called to the apartment building at 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard, apartment 133 east, about 6 pm for the small fire in the kitchen.

The fire in a drawer next to the stove was put out with an extinguisher.

The resident told officials she had been cooking food in the oven as well as on top of the stove. After a time, she noticed some smoke in the kitchen, but not a lot. She checked the stove and everything appeared normal.

She then found the dishcloths on fire and called the doorman who sounded the alarm.

The fire was quickly extinguished and firemen returned to the station at 6:37 pm.

Police and Public Security Unit officials assisted at the scene.

Parked Renault bursts into flame

An estimated $1,000 damage was caused to a car Friday morning after it caught fire in the lane at the rear of Honda City, 4010 St. Catherine street, police report.

The fire broke out in a blue 1976 Renault about 10:15 am after it had been left there by an 18-year-old St. Laurent driver.

A mechanic from the Honda City garage told the driver the car was on fire. An extinguisher was used to kill the blaze. Firemen were not called to the scene.

Ville Marie gets new roof and paint job

The roof and interior of the Youth Protection building owned by the Ville Marie Social Service Centre at 4515 St. Catherine street west is being renovated to the tune of $49,641. The building houses the resource development unit.

Frank Walker, director general of Ville Marie, told THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER that the expenditure had been approved by the Regional Council.

"Any sum over $500 must be approved by the Council," says Mr. Walker. "This expenditure does not take a penny out of our operating budget.

"This building has been run down for a long time and needs a new roof and painting badly."

Spray paint artists' works are arresting

Four Montreal youths aged 11 and 12 years old were arrested Wednesday last week after they were spotted spraying paint on stop signs and posts on Lansdowne avenue.

Police said a woman driving an Oldsmobile saw the boys about 4 pm.

The incident also was reported by the Public Security Unit who said one of their patrols was alerted to the incident by a citizen.

The patrol then spotted the boys and flagged down a police car.

Grey and green paint had been sprayed on a mail box at the southwest corner of Lansdowne and Westmount avenue as well as on a stop sign at the northwest corner of Lansdowne and Côte St. Antoine road.

A lamp post also was sprayed in front of 571 Lansdowne.

Police said two of the youths lived in N.D.G. and two came from St. Henri.

Hundreds shuttle up to lookout

The Westmount lookout was described as being "packed solid" with cars Wednesday afternoon as hundreds of persons made their way to the summit to catch a view of the space shuttle atop its Boeing 747 mother plane.

A Public Security Unit patrol at the lookout reported that the crowds stood six deep at the observation deck.

The jam was noticed at 3:46 pm and did not clear away until an hour later.

Cars were parked right down Belvedere road, officials said.

City roller runs loose on Roslyn

A city worker was taken to hospital Tuesday afternoon when the roller he was driving went out of control and hit two parked cars in front of 574 Roslyn avenue, police said.

The 31-year-old man, a resident of St. Hubert, Que., later was released from the Reddy Memorial Hospital where he had been taken by Urgences Santé.

The accident took place about 3:30 pm when the Westmount roller came down the street and mounted the sidewalk. The victim jumped off the vehicle before it came to a stop against the second parked car.

One of the cars involved was a red 1983 Subaru owned by a person living on Côte des Neiges road. The other was a maroon 1981 BMW owned by a Roslyn avenue resident.

Damage to all vehicles was believed to be over $500.

Police, fire and Public Security Unit personnel were on the scene.

Unclaimed cars to be scrapped

Three unclaimed automobiles in the possession of the City of Westmount will be sold for scrap after city council approved their disposal at its June statutory meeting last week.

A black 1973 Oldsmobile, a grey 1974 Dodge and a grey 1973 Pontiac were recovered by police and their owners failed to claim them.

The means of disposal was not discussed at the meeting, but the city's usual practice is to receive competitive bids from scrap dealers.

Armed robbery in Plaza

Two men believed armed with a revolver took about $1,000 from three cashiers at the Quebec Liquor Commission outlet in Alexis Nihon Plaza last Thursday.

The robbery took place at 4:40 pm at the store located just outside the Westmount border.

Power dept. aids Tele-check

The Westmount light and power department is distributing with its current electricity bills a card promoting "Tele-check," a New Horizons program of Contactivity Centre Inc., as a service to senior citizens who live alone.

"Tele-check" was the subject of a front-page article in THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER of April 28, which provided further details. The telephone number of the service is 937-4273.

Tot fountain damage found

Someone broke the fountain in the tot lot at Westmount Park last week, according to the Public Security Unit. The damage was discovered by a patrol at 5:45 am.

A bench in King George Park also was found broken at 1:30 am last Thursday. Someone apparently had pulled off one of the seat slats.

Ketchup demon strikes

There's always something new among the weekly complaints to Westmount police. Last week it was the ketchup.

Not that anyone was having trouble shaking the remains of the sauce out of the bottle. Quite the reverse, in fact.

The problem went like this.

The complainant, a woman living in St. Leonard, drove to work in Westmount Tuesday morning last week and parked her car at the rear of 4930 Sherbrooke street west about 8 am.

When she returned at 6 pm to the car, a grey and blue Plymouth Horizon, she found someone had pickled the gas tank with ketchup.

Police said the sauce was visible around the opening of the tank, but there was no mention of any damage.

How did she get the ketchup out of the gas tank? The police report didn't say. How would you?

Cyclists hurt in collisions with two cars

Two cyclists were slightly injured when involved in accidents with cars in two separate incidents during the past week, police said. There were two similar reports the previous week.

A nine-year-old girl was taken to hospital Wednesday afternoon last week after riding her bike out of the St. Leo's school yard, colliding with a car travelling south on Kitchener avenue.

Police said the victim, who lives on Prince Albert avenue, went out of the yard between two parked cars.

She was taken to the Montreal Children's Hospital by her mother and suffered very minor injuries, according to police.

The car, a brown 1975 Chevrolet, was driven by a Hampstead woman.

The other accident resulted in a 26-year-old man colliding Monday last week with a car at the intersection of Gladstone avenue and St. Catherine street.

The car had been proceeding north on Gladstone and apparently was attempting to turn west onto St. Catherine.

The bicycle was travelling along St. Catherine and was considered to be a write-off after the impact.

Pocket picked of $1,600

A Westmount man told police Monday last week that $1,600 disappeared from his pocket sometime between May 30-31.

The man, a resident of Oakland avenue, reported he had cashed a cheque for that amount at a bank, put it in his pocket and gone home.

When he went to get the money the next day, it was missing.

More awareness of disabled now, says Paterson

There has been a greater awareness of all areas concerning disability around the world since the declaration of the International Year for Disabled Persons by the UN in 1981, Alex Paterson, QC, the president of the Mackay Center, reported at the center's annual meeting June 14.

"In fact, the United Nations has recently declared the 1980s a decade for 'Progress in the Area of Physical Disability'," he said. At the same time, he said, in many parts of the world disability is a result of armed conflicts and wars, which means the number of people touched by disability is dramatically increasing and the need for programs for these people is urgent.

Mr. Paterson, a Westmount resident, announced that the Mackay Center, in collaboration with McGill University, has been awarded a grant of $160,000 to carry out a survey of deaf children across Canada. The project will be under the supervision of the center's executive director, Dr. J. C. MacDougall, and should lead to concrete programs for all Canadian deaf children, Mr. Paterson said.

He said one of the greatest unmet needs of the center at the moment is the vocational placement of graduates since there continues to be a large number of students at the center who find no appropriate training or placement.

At the same time, Mr. Paterson reported that the Mackay School for the Deaf has produced some outstanding students such as Linda Doucet, who has fulfilled all the requirements for Secondary III Business Certificate and will be attending George Brown College, a post-secondary institution in Ontario.

Two cars, a Jeep and motorcycle reported stolen

Two cars, one Jeep and a motorcycle were reported stolen from Westmount streets during the past week, police report.

An $8,000 Pontiac Firebird disappeared from the rear of 4400 St. Catherine street Wednesday afternoon last week. The blue and white car belonged to a Brossard woman who discovered that the car was missing after work.

The Jeep, a $6,000 1979 model, had been parked Monday last week near 4481 Montrose avenue at 10 am. It was gone at noon. The maroon and brown vehicle usually was driven by a resident of the street.

A blue 1978 Ford also was reported missing the same morning after that car had been parked overnight in front of 225 Kensington avenue. It was valued at $2,000.

A $4,000 Suzuki motorcycle was reported stolen the next day, Tuesday, after it had been left with the handlebars locked at the rear of 4000 de Maisonneuve boulevard.

Police said its owner, a Montreal resident, had left the motorcycle unattended for 20 minutes to go to McDonald's restaurant across the street on St. Catherine.

The theft took place between 8:20 and 8:40 pm.

Gas flushed

Firefighters were called to flush down leaking gasoline from a car at 699 Aberdeen avenue Thursday morning last week. The car was parked and the incident was considered minor. Public safety officers assisted at the scene.

McGill science dean Orvig awarded Patterson medal

McGill University's science dean, Svenn Orvig, 420 Metcalfe avenue, referred to by federal environment minister John Roberts as "one of Canada's foremost experts in the field of arctic meteorology," has been awarded this year's Patterson Medal, the country's highest meteorological honor, reports the McGill Reporter.

Svenn Orvig

Dr. Orvig received the award, presented by the Atmospheric Research Directorate of Environment Canada, at the annual meeting of the Canadian meteorological and Oceanographic Society in Banff, Alberta.

McGill faculty members have won the medal three times since it was inaugurated in 1946 — Dr. Stewart Marshall in 1961, Dr. Walter Hitschfeld in 1977 and Dr. Orvig this year.

In announcing the award Mr. Roberts said that "Dr. Orvig's outstanding contribution to our knowledge and understanding of the climate of polar regions alone makes him a most worthy recipient of the Patterson Medal.

"Throughout his career he has also had a major influence on the character and scientific standards of professional meteorology and climate research in Canada through his research, his writings, his teaching and his work on scientific editorial boards. Dr. Orvig, who is also professor of meteorology, has continued his work as researcher and educator despite ever increasing administrative responsibilities."

Papers lost

Car papers were reported lost Tuesday last week near 79 Rosemount crescent, police said.

Concordia holds convocations

Concordia University will graduate more than 2,550 students — a slight increase from last year — at the Spring Convocations now under way until June 22. The university will grant honorary doctor of law degrees to peace activist James M. Ham, well-known Quebec civil servant Roch Bolduc, former director of L'École des Hautes études commerciales Pierre Laurin, and Pratt & Whitney head Elvie L. Smith at the convocations.

Westmounters W. Earle McLaughlin, the university chancellor, and John W. O'Brien, rector and vice chancellor, will present the degrees and address tne assembly. All the convocations are being held in the Loyola campus arena, 7141 Sherbrooke street west.

'New student' a little richer

A 14-year-old boy who went to Toujours Ensemble to register for a camp last Thursday morning was believed to have removed a total of $175 from the purses of two employees, police said.

The suspect, described as a "new student," had been left alone with access to the handbags about 10:30 am, the victims reported.

Oxford-Cambridge Society to gather

Members of the Oxford and Cambridge Society of Montreal will be gathering for a garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Jonas on The Boulevard on Sunday at 4 pm.

The group is a social society comprising persons who have attended either Oxford or Cambridge universities. They get together several times a year for dinner or a cocktail party. It has been in existence for over 50 years.

The approximately 400 members receive a newsletter once a year.

Any persons who attended either of the two universities are invited to call George Marshall, 931-5313, if they'd like to join. It's not too late to enjoy the strawberries and sparkling wine this Sunday.

Real dogfight for top spot as PeeWee season nears end

The Westmount softball league is winding down to a close as teams are finishing up the season under much better conditions than when they began.

The inclement weather has finally given way to the bright June sun, enabling the kids to make up for the many missed games due to rain.

First of all, in Atom, the Chiefs hold a four-point bulge over the second place Angels, with only two games remaining.

The Chiefs are being led by the fine pitching of Adam Ray, along with timely hitting and solid defence by the entire team, with a great deal of credit going to coach Alexander Watt.

In PeeWee, there is a real dogfight for top spot, as the Cubs, Expos, and Dodgers are separated only by two points. Doing a fine job for the Dodgers is young David Winn at first base, as is the rest of the entire Dodger team. It looks as if these three fine teams will go right down to the wire.

By GARY ROUSE

The Expos are getting fine play from defensive standout Kenneth Hung, their talented young short stop, while the Cubs are displaying a well-balanced team effort as they remain one point out in front of the Expos to lead the division.

The Cards have wrapped up the Bantam league with still one more regular scheduled game to be played, as they lead both the Pirates and the Royals by four points.

The Senior men's softball league is now in full swing and will continue so throughout most of the summer months. Games are played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 6:45 pm and are quite entertaining.

So if you're a softball fan of any sort you are most welcome to come out and enjoy the games.

The Mini-World Cup of Soccer is entering its last Saturday of play before it breaks for the summer and resumes again in early September. Again, spectators are most welcome.

Senior team beats top soccer club

Westmount's senior soccer team scored a surprising upset in the Suburban League's premier division last week and a second victory Sunday has boosted the club from seventh to fifth in league standings.

Before defeating top-of-the-league Eurocan "A" 1-0 last Wednesday, Westmount found itself in the second-to-last position of the eight-team premier division.

A 3-0 win Sunday over Sabra added two more points to Westmount's point standing, allowing it to claim the league's fifth spot.

Yesterday, Westmount again was to meet Eurocan "A" in Greenfield Park, hoping to wrench a second victory from the division's first-ranking team. Wednesday next week, Westmount plays the Rams in Laval.

Westmount's "B" team holds a strong fifth position in the Suburban League's second division with five division points and its fourth game at hand. Verdun, in first place, has eight points and the next three teams each have six after playing five games.

Westmount "B" was to meet International in Westmount Park yesterday and next Wednesday, the team will play Atlas. The game kicks off in Westmount Park at 6:30 pm.

Westmount Rugby Club loses 19-18 to rivals

The Montreal Wanderers' first XV claimed a narrow 19-18 victory over the rival Westmount Rugby Club on Saturday afternoon in the first local derby of the season on the field at Villa Maria.

Westmount failed on a conversion attempt in the final minute of the game, relinquishing the win to the Wanderers. The Westmount club uses Villa Maria as a home field while the Wanderers play home games in Westmount Park.

Two tries were scored for the Wanderers by Drew Cooper, one by Robbie Aguayo, a penalty and a conversion by Bill Coleman and another conversion by Ian MacIntosh.

Westmount tries were scored by John Cozens, Peter Gelinas and Shannon Grover. Dave Forbes rounded out the Westmount scoring with two penalty kicks.

The Wanderers' second XV played an intra-squad game after the Montreal Barbarians' first XV withdrew from a proposed match. The second XV will meet the McGill Grads' in a second division league match this Saturday at 2 pm in Westmount Park.

Wanderers, in the first division, will play against the Town of Mount Royal first XV on Saturday, also in Westmount Park, with a 3:30 pm kickoff.

The Westmount Rugby Club travels to Ste. Anne de Bellevue Saturday for a first division match against the Ste. Anne's team. The game begins at 3 pm at Macdonald College.

Rick Pattee's 78 tops golf tourney

Rick Pattee clinched the Westmount recreation department's 24th annual golf tournament Friday with a score of 78 on the course at the Shawbridge Golf Club.

Mr. Pattee, one of the volunteer coaches in the department's hockey program, was one of 33 golfers on the course and one of 42 who later dined at the club to mark the end of the recreation department's year.

Volunteer coaches, timekeepers and referees are invited to the annual event in recognition of the time and effort they make for the city's recreation programs.

WPS school year to be 183 days of 282 minutes

Students at Westmount Park School will spend 183 days of 282 minutes each in classes next year according to the calendar and schedule proposed by Richard Jack, school principal.

Mr. Jack discussed the subject with parents at the meeting of the school committee Tuesday night, but cautioned that teachers would have to approve the calendar and schedule before they could be implemented.

School would begin for students on Aug. 31, which would be a full day, Mr. Jack said. Teachers would commence Aug. 29, allowing them two days to prepare for the return of students to the school.

The early return would give two full weeks of Christmas vacation. School would close the afternoon of Dec. 23 not to reopen until the morning of Jan. 9.

Ten other holidays are scattered through the calendar, as are 12 professional days fixed by the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal and five other professional days set by the school. Mr. Jack noted that in selecting the five movable professional days for the proposed calendar, three were chosen to coincide with those at Westmount High School.

The school day, which must become six minutes longer next year to conform to provincial government decrees, will begin five minutes earlier and end one minute later if the tentative schedule is approved.

Classes will begin at 8:10 am and end at 2:12 pm. The schedule means teachers will be able to supervise children disembarking from school buses, which are due to arrive between 8:00 and 8:10 am.

Meeting says no to school dance for grade six

Grade six students at Westmount Park School won't be celebrating their graduation with a school dance, it was decided at the meeting of the school committee Tuesday night.

Mr. Jack, the school principal, was presented with a petition at the meeting signed by 35 of the 44 grade six students asking for a dance to commemorate their passing from the school.

The students will be honored during an awards ceremony at the school next week, Mr. Jack noted. Further recognition of the "natural progression" from grade six to grade seven would be inappropriate, he thought.

A dance at the school would pose several security problems, Mr. Jack said. Those who wished to mark the end of the school year might better organize some private celebrations, he suggested.

Continuing, Mr. Jack said grade six students had several memorable experiences during the year, including trips to Ottawa and Upper Canada Village.

Parents at the meeting supported Mr. Jack's decision.

WPS defers flat-rate plan to raise funds

The Westmount Park School committee Tuesday night deferred a decision on fundraising to its next meeting in September because it had received insufficient response to a questionnaire on the subject sent to parents by the school.

The questionnaire asked for parents' reaction to a proposed activity fee of not more than $25 to be levied at the beginning of the year or in instalments during the year.

Paid by all students, with a discount for families with more than one student in the school, the fee would cover the school's music program, field trips and other extras not covered by school budgets.

The committee's sometimes onerous task of fundraising through bake sales, bingos, collections at concerts and the recent spice sale would be eliminated.

After-school activities would not be covered by the fee, and students would continue to pay for judo, gymnastics, art and other activities.

Of the 46 responses to the questionnaire received, 25 supported the imposition of the fee. Members of the school committee were generally in favor of the flat rate scheme, but hesitated to implement it without greater support from parents.

Quebec selects three Wanderers

David Pascal, David Stevenson and Chas Ruiz de la Orden, members of the Montreal Wanderers Rugby club, have been selected to play for the Quebec Junior Provincial XV against the Ottawa Juniors on June 28th at the Claude Robillard Centre in Montreal.

Robbie Aguayo, also of the Wanderers, will be in attendance as an alternate.

The game begins at 5 pm, and is a curtain-raiser for the international rugby match between Eastern Canada and Italy which begins at 6:30 pm.

Tickets, which are valid for both matches, are available from all Wanderers at a cost of $6 for adults and $4 for students. For more information call Bill Balfour at his office, 937-7479, or at home during the evening, 933-1587.

Lawn bowling for beginners

The parks and recreation department is offering a beginners' lawn bowling course for adult Westmounters commencing tomorrow at 7 pm.

Anyone who has been intrigued by the white-clad bowlers next to city hall on Sherbrooke street and is interested in taking up the sport should register at the department office in the artificial ice arena.

Those already registered should wear flat shoes before meeting at the lawn bowling club tomorrow evening. White clothing is not essential.

For more information, call the recreation department at 935-8531.

Quebec Seniors to play France

The Montreal Wanderers Rugby Club will be represented by three players and an alternate on the Quebec Senior Provincial XV which meets a team from Begles, France, on Tuesday at 6:30 pm at the Town of Mount Royal recreation centre.

Mark Richardson, Rick Melia and Drew Cooper will play for Quebec, while Malcolm Cox will attend as an alternate. Selections were made during a training camp at Ste. Julie over the weekend.

Begles is one of the top first division clubs in France and lost in the semi-final of this year's French Cup. Admission to the match is free.

'Old fixture' was detector

Firefighters were called to 4998 de Maisonneuve boulevard Tuesday about 12:30 pm when a heat detector activated the alarm system.

The alarm was believed to have gone off when a person in apartment 1601 mistook the heat detector for an old light fixture no longer wanted.

When the wires were disconnected, the alarm sounded.

Firemen were told on arrival that the problem was on the 6th floor. It was checked out, but the incident later was traced to the 16th floor.

Côte St. Luc firefighters, who responded to the code 2 building under the automatic mutual aid dispatching system, were returned to their station shortly after arrival.

The Public Security Unit assisted in traffic control and police arrived to check on the problem.

Lost wedding

A man's wedding ring was reported lost Saturday morning at Victoria avenue and Somerville avenue during the street festival. The ring belonged to a resident of Park Place and was inscribed inside with a date.

Thousands enjoy Vic festival

Examiner
36 · Thursday, June 16, 1983

By JOAN CAPRÉOL

THE first lovely, warm, summer day brought forth thousands of families to enjoy the sixth annual Westmount festival at Victoria and Sherbrooke last Saturday.

A spirit of camaraderie prevailed as friends and neighbors greeted each other on the crowded, balloon-festooned streets.

People in large groups gathered around to applaud performing musicians.

Children grasped their balloons tightly. They chalked fantastic pictures on the pavement on Somerville avenue, part of which was closed to traffic for the day. Many of their small faces wore makeup applied at different shops.

There seemed to be an abundance of babies in strollers or riding their parents' shoulders to get a good view of the show.

Said Ruth Shine, of the Bead Emporium, coordinator of the show with Gerard and Gail Fellerath, of Folklore I: "Once again we have been blessed with good weather. It is more of a success than ever before. There are more people and the merchants all have made a tremendous effort to do something special."

This youngster thought his chalk container would make a much better hat. Other children used the chalk to draw on Somerville avenue.

In Mrs. Shine's store Kate Fellerath, 7, and Marike Dufresne, 7, made friendship pins with beads to give out to visiting children.

Said Mrs. Fellerath: "Everybody thinks the festival is wonderful. We have been seeing lots of new faces." She served Mexican snacks — tortilla chips with three different dips.

Graham Lorimer, of Bouquet de Ballons, and his helpers started blowing up 1,500 balloons for merchants' decorations at 5 am. A belly dancer was a traffic stopper in front of his store and he sent a fetching French maid, who usually delivers birthday cakes, to circulate on the streets.

Susan and Bill Evans, of W3, who were seated at a table on their patch of lawn, were holding a raffle, the winner of which would be entitled to a day's rafting for two, including lunch.

At photographer Olive Palmer's studio, the String Alongs, a group of country fiddlers — three men and two girls — played Old Joe Clark, a topical number for the Progressive Conservative leadership convention day.

The handsome Mexican mariachi quartet was a great drawing card for the festival. Outside the Visual Arts Centre, popular Chris Rawlings was heard singing "Glory, glory, dinosaury, their ghosts are everywhere."

Venezuelan waltz

Harpist Sybil Angelica and guitarist Carlos Umberto played a waltz from Venezuela. The harpist said she had performed in many street festivals all over Montreal and at this one the public was most responsive, warm and friendly.

Bagpiper Ken MacKenzie was there for the Scots and was approved by Sally Hooff, vice-president of Arts Westmount.

Ron Enrose and his band pepped up onlookers with jazz in front of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

Artist Doreen Lindsay remarked that the musicians were dispersed in different areas so one could wander from one group to the next.

Mark Mader, 12, son of Hanna Due Mogensen, pleased the crowds with his magic tricks. In front of Sheeba's an older magician enchanted people with his card tricks.

Christiane Vignola, a student of the Montreal Mime School, dressed as a clown, performed in the window of Pom' Canelle.

Westmount Stationery gave out a total of 3,500 balloons during the day.

Sol Antecol, of Fran's, treated his guests to cookies and sandwiches. He was seen giving candies to Jonathan Frankel, 10.

La Galerie gave customers a slice of their delicious carrot cake.

Many children examined the recycled toys at the Bunyip.

Champagne sherbet

At Belle Cuisine, Janice Gill, cook, author and radio personality, made champagne and strawberry sherbet, frozen gazpacho, and chocolate ice cream. Rafeesa Mahomed, 7, with her face made up, watched fascinated.

At Boutique Sarah, Madeleine and Andrée Pouliot, daughters of the designer, wore Indian clothes. Madeleine was dressed in an embroidered-mirror skirt and vest. Andrée was in dupatta, kurta and churidars. Maryse Ayotte wore a sari; Leila Kovacevic, a tunic, churidars and an embroidered vest. They served Indian spiced tea to many visitors.

Gloria da Silva, owner of Gloria Prêt à Porter, welcomed women to her new attractive boutique with its hi-tech white and black decor.

Artist Eudice Garmaise, strolling around, commented that the festival was very friendly but wished Victoria avenue had been blocked off so that friends could chat more easily.

Alice Dodge, 5, wandered home with her father, Andy, clutching in her small hands a balloon, beads and free cookies from Cantor's.

Summed up Westmounter Inga Lawson: "The festival was great; the weather fantastic."

Pick a card, any card. "Brian the Wiz" entertained outside Sheeba.

The mariachi Azteca de Pedro Barreto is always one of the most popular attractions of the street festival.

Donna and Susan Parisella showed off some of the antique clothes from their own collections at Le Temps Perdu.

Detector set off

Firefighters were called to a house on Edgehill road Tuesday last week at 10:20 am when a smoke detector was activated. It apparently was set off when two persons were smoking under it.
