PARLIAMENTARY NOTES.

A Played-out Joke—Indiscriminate Charges.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

OTTAWA, May 21.

A joke is a joke, and a joke is a very good thing in its way, when it is not done to death. But the best joke becomes threadbare in time, and the mischief spirits on the Conservative side have got all they can get out of the brilliant witicism of yelling at Mr. McMillen whenever he votes. Mr. McMillen is a very meretricious exposé of any rogues he may discover, and does not hesitate to say what he thinks, as well as what he knows, and as he thinks some unpleasant thoughts at times the Conservative, and particularly those that don't like their relations with the Government too closely scanned, find their revenge in yelling at Mr. McMillen whenever he votes. It is not a sufficient excuse to plead that they are the stupid party, and, therefore, are easily satisfied. They are not so stupid as all that. In fact, some of them are amongst the brightest groups in Ottawa, and many of the others have shown anything but stupidity in the manner in which they have laid the Government under contribution. But it is not the cream of the Conservative party that yells at Mr. McMillen. It is rather those who show the most vigor in answering arguments by scraping their desks with their feet, those whom Mr. Mitchell last night described as "men who could only use their toes." There is another intensely funny joke discovered in yelling "Cuckoo," when Mr. Cook speaks or votes. Mr. Cook is a very unparagoned denouncer of Conservative ways, and sometimes is a little regardless of natural sensitiveness, though he is not to be wondered at, but when one sees a bald-headed youth of fifty winters scraping a desk and making insane noises, one is driven to the conclusion that his constituents' intentions have been mistaken and that he was intended for some other place. A similar joke is indulged in on the Liberal side at Dr. Fortin's expense. The only extenuating circumstance in this case is that Dr. Fortin seems to be rather gratified than otherwise with the attention. But, as Liberals do not like their own members being insulted, they would do well to avoid giving the other side any grounds of excuse. Perhaps there is some thoughtlessness in it all, and it may be as well to so understand it. It should not be forgotten that the public are witnesses of the proceedings of Parliament or hear of them through the press, and it is not logical to expect respect from them if the House itself behaves like a well, like anything you please.

The attempt on the Government side to create a scandal damaging to Mr. Cook is, from one point of view, very satisfactory. It shows that the Government realize the impropriety of underground dealings between governments and their supporters, and that they anticipate some expression of disapproval by the people when they have an opportunity of speaking. Some of the best men of the Conservative side agree in thinking that some more definite rule should be adopted on this question. It is not creditable to Parliament or the country that such charges as have recently been made against public men should continue to be trumpeted about the world, and the only way to prevent it is to punish those who by their action give occasion for the accusations to be made. Canadians do not want to be called "Transatlantic Greeks," and will not thank those who, being entrusted with power and privilege, expect to escape upon them. At the same time it is unwise and unfair to drag men into public gaze as culprits unless there is a fair assumption that they have done wrong. In the question of timber limits one or two have occupied this position who do not seem to have deserved it. At least they indignantly deny that they had any interest whatsoever in the cases mentioned. They would have been wiser to let their friends make the applications in their own name, but in some instances men have allowed themselves to suffer anonymity where they did not deserve it. To mention one, there is Mr. R. S. White whose name was published in this connection. He had as much right as any other Canadian to apply for a limit, or anything else the Government might have to dispose of, and at the same time the lumber business better than the journalistic profession—though it may be a strange taste—he, or any other journalist, not being a member of Parliament, cannot be called to account for following his inclinations.

BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

Mr. Rykert, chairman of the committee on public accounts, presented the report of the proceedings in the Inch Arran case. Sir Hector Langevin moved that when the House adjourned to-day it should stand adjourned until Tuesday, to which Mr. Davies made some objection, but the motion carried.

The House then went into committee to consider a certain proposed resolution making provision for grants of land to members of the irregular forces of the militia of Canada, who had been in the ranks of the New Brunswick volunteers who had been treated, and Mr. Curran brought forward the case of some volunteers in Montreal who had been called out, but who were not sent. Sir Adolphe Caron, who is commending the patriotism of those who volunteered, and whose services were not made use of, found himself obliged to draw the line somewhere, and he had drawn it at a certain point, which included the corps spoken of by Mr. Weldon and Mr. Curran. The Minister of Militia the case of a woman and two children whose husband had become insane during his service in the North-West and who were left destitute. Application for relief had been answered by General Middleton with the formula that there were "no funds for this purpose." Sir Adolphe Caron said the case should be investigated and if accurately stated would be favorably considered.

Mr. Gault made some remarks presuming on the same subject, but they were quite inaudible in the gallery.

The resolution was passed and Mr. White introduced a bill embodying it which was read a first time.

The House then went into committee on the bill to further amend the law relating to the North-West Territories. A discussion took place on the importance of the judges in the North-West. Some members of the North-West Council, Mr. Weldon cited English customs and laws and said that it was analogous to taking judges into the Cabinet in England—a done except in the case of a Lord Chancellor who was the head of the Lord's Bench, which was a judicial one as well.

Mr. Mills supported this view, pointing out the judges as legislators were not easily subjected to criticism and opposition, and that in consequence, even if their judgments were afterwards perfectly just, they would be under suspicion. If it was unwise, as it would be, to admit judges to Parliament it is equally unadvisable to make them members of the Legislature of the North-West. These judges are to be judges of contested elections, and public confidence in their decisions would be impossible. The system of trying contested elections by legislators had been abandoned in Canada and it should not be reintroduced.

Mr. Cameron, of Huron, followed on the same contention. Originally, perhaps, in the sparsely settled country it was necessary, but the whole thing had changed. Our judges stood high in public estimation and he did not want them lowered. No one would suggest to make judges in Ontario and Quebec legislators and it would be equally in proper elsewhere.

The Minister of Justice said that when the legislatures of the old provinces were first instituted judges were put on the bench and so remained until they got constitutional government. In the bill he now proposed the Government would still appoint six members to the Council, but they would say nothing about the judges, leaving that question open, so that the Government might appoint judges to the Council or not as they thought, from time to time as advisable.

Mr. Mulock opposed this proposed system on the same grounds as those already mentioned.

Mr. Woodworth defended the position of judges remaining members of the North-West Legislature, on the ground that their services were required to draft the laws and prevent the crude and muddled legislation that had proceeded from that body. Mr. Davies said that these very laws had been framed by the judges, or under their supervision, who were members of the North-West Council. The difficulty could be got over by employing an efficient person to draft them. There were more serious considerations than this, and he explained the objections to the judges of the land being at the same time its leading politicians. Mr. Mulock spoke after Mr. Davies, giving a humorous history of Judge Travis' career in the North-West to illustrate the great ability of one judge, at least, there, but this was a little spoilt by the Minister of the Interior stating that Travis was not a member of the Council. Mr. Weldon said that the Minister of Justice should carry out his principle by putting the Bishops in the Council as well as the Judges, since that once was the custom.

The Minister of Justice said that the provisions of this act were only temporary. That in the course of a few years the Legislature of the North-West would become elective. He replied to the humorous remarks of Mr. Mulock and to Mr. Weldon's suggestion about the Bishops. The discussion was continued for some time, when the bill passed through the committee.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COMMITTEE.

OTTAWA, May 21.

This Committee was occupied this morning in investigating certain accounts between Mr. H. H. Cook and the Department of the Interior of some ten or twelve years back. From what I am told, and what I hear for myself, I take the meaning of this investigation to be a desire to try if something cannot be fixed on a prominent member of the Opposition to weigh in the balance against the recent revelations that have been made about the Government and some of its supporters.

There is some ground for this belief in the way the matter was set afoot. Mr. Taylor, a member from Leeds, moved that these accounts should be submitted to the Public Accounts Committee. Sir John asked that the motion be withdrawn, to which Mr. White, of Hastings, objected. The matter was, therefore, referred. It is possible that Mr. Taylor, of Leeds, was conversant with the facts of this case and that the Government had something to do with getting it up; a contrary supposition, however, is equally probable.

Mr. Taylor made no direct charge as Mr. Edgar had done in White's case, or as Mr. Blake had done in another; if he had known or had been informed of anything wrong he would probably have had moral courage enough to say so. However that is not material to the case except in so far as it may affect the value of the evidence which was given by the Government official who was summoned. This was a Mr. Plummer, the Commissioner of Indian Lands, the lands on which the timber had been cut. The facts appear to be that Mr. Cook had a license to cut timber and that having cut and disposed of a number of logs he claimed a rebate of fees from the department on the score of incorrect measurement, and could not find, on which Mr. Mulock, after examining him as to the duration of a nature of his search, moved that the proceedings be adjourned while Mr. Plummer made further search. Mr. Rykert (the chairman) however ruled that the extra from these documents would be taken as evidence, and a worthy warfare took place on this account. The other documents being accepted, the several payments, &c., were shown. The application for rebate was made, supported by affidavit of Mr. Cook, book keeper, and after some pressure by Mr. Davies, Mr. Plummer admitted that he had entire confidence in the integrity of this person's statements, and at that time there would have been no other way open to Mr. Cook to support his claim. At the same time a report of Mr. Plummer was ready, in which he said Mr. Cook was fairly entitled to the rebate if it could be shown to the Department that he was entitled to it. A great deal of angry discussion took place, but the above seem to be material facts. What struck me while listening to the examination was the determination of the witnesses to make admissions favorable to Mr. Cook, until, in answer to Mr. Somerville, of Brant, it was admitted that Mr. Plummer is the father of the Mr. Plummer whose candidature as a Government supporter in Algoma will be remembered, and that he had been up in Algoma electioneering for his son. If, as he said, Mr. Cook was fairly entitled to the rebate, he could show the Department that the measurement had been inaccurate. Mr. Cook cannot be blamed for claiming it. His book-keeper swore to the correctness of the claim, and Mr. Plummer admitted that he had entire confidence in this man's statements. The question therefore narrows down to this, was the Government justified in paying a claim after so great a lapse of time? Most people will think that it is a very unsafe thing to do, but at the same time they will recollect that Canadian Governments as a general rule are most snail-like in their progress towards settling the accounts of those who have claims against them. Sir Adolphe Caron's settlement of the North-West transport claims have been a noteworthy exception to this. Justice does not die though she may sleep, and probably the Minister of the Interior of that day reasoned that the lapse of time did not affect the justice of Mr. Cook's demand, so he paid him. This seems to me to be about the gist of the matter.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HERALD.]

New York, May 20th, 1896.

The summer season, theatrically speaking, is here, and many stars of the profession are in this vicinity, resting on their last past month's laurels.

MISS MINNIE MADDEN

has just finished a long and quite successful tour, and gives her experience naively, though she has been on the mimic stage since she was three years old. Not that this is so very long ago, for the young lady looks scarce out of her teens.

Miss Madden first attracted great attention in this city when that lady assumed the role of the heroine of "In Spite of All," Mr. Steel Mackaye's version of Sardou's "Agnes," at the New Lyceum theatre, last autumn. For several weeks, I've forgotten how many, the youthful and handsome actress interested and captivated the town. And had Mr. Mackaye succeeded in his arrangements I have no doubt, but that the world of Gotham would have seen how versatile is Miss Madden. The special charm of this actress is her originality added to her intrinsic histrionic ability.

In a conversation I had with her, Miss Madden told me that she was born in New Orleans, of English parents; her father was a theatrical manager, her mother an actress, and belonging to a large family, all of whom adopted the stage. The heiress of this histrionic knowledge is a blonde of the purest type, with the most golden of red-gold hair. Her features are regular, her expression of countenance pleasing in a high degree. She is of medium height, slender and graceful, and of genial and winning manners. The little lady will spend her summer at Larchmont, Westchester County, New York State, being about as long as she ever remains in a place, as it has never yet seen Miss Madden here. In speaking of the Dominion, she said she had been in the city twelve months in any spot since her birth, "restraint," said she, "is je suis Boiteuse." Montreal has not yet seen the captivating actress before the footlights, but it is her desire to appear at her best in Canada's metropolis. In speaking of the Dominion, she said she had been in the city twelve months in any spot since her birth, "restraint," said she, "is je suis Boiteuse." Montreal has not yet seen the captivating actress before the footlights, but it is her desire to appear at her best in Canada's metropolis.

MISS MARY ANDERSON

is again in our midst, and will remain until Saturday night at the Star theatre, thus ending a most prosperous season. The great actress is repeating her same repertoire with the same grand and, at the same time, passionate effect. The theatre has been crowded nightly, and in spite of the worn condition of the lady, she has the pluck to depict her arduous role with all the art—and it is much—at her experienced command. Miss Anderson is even more beautiful than ever; her note is a marvel of richness; she is without doubt the tragedy queen.

MISS LYDIA THOMPSON

is making us a fortnight's visit, and as the queen of burlesque is filling that role. It is years since "the fair one with the golden locks" was there, but to look at her one would scarce believe it. Time has dealt gently with our Lydia, merely adding to her many gifts. Of course, the same old plays are performed, and are listened to on account of the personality of the English actress, and in spite of themselves as it were. We all change, and what seemed delightful as a boy at the time, to our fathers, to our father long drawn out. Crowded houses greet Miss Thompson every night, and there is good reason to presume this will continue till the close.

MISS HELEN DAUVRAY

closes her season at the Lyceum on Saturday night, with the 200th performance of "One of Our Girls." This is a remarkable triumph for Miss Dauvray, and she deserves to be held up for admiration. The spirited actress had the odds against her at the start. She was new to the regular New York audiences, but she had faith in her own powers, in Mr. Bronson Howard's comedy, and in the talented company with which she surrounded herself. "One of Our Girls" was elaborately mounted. No accessory was omitted. Seven thousand dollars were paid down before the curtain rose the first night. Early—very early in the season, the dramatic venture paid for itself, and since then Miss Dauvray has made money. The seats for Saturday night are sold, and a pleasant and unique evening is anticipated. Mr. D. Frohman takes the Lyceum until next December, when Miss Dauvray is to produce another comedy by Mr. Bronson Howard.

THE CANADIAN CLUB

formed about a year ago, and occupying one floor in a house in Washington square, has grown so rapidly that it requires a whole house in which to disport itself. The building in Twenty-ninth street recently vacated by the St. Nicholas Club has been leased, and is being fitted in order for the sons of the Dominion. There are about 350 members, all Canadians, staunch and true, many of them being men, and numbering from the Crown Minister down. Erasmus Wiman is president; Sir Roderick Cameron, T. W. Griffith, G. M. Fairchild, Jr., and John Paton are vice-presidents. Since the removal up forty new members have been elected. Among them are Walter Watson, of the Bank of Montreal; Thomas Edison, the electrician; James Beatty, Q.C., M.P.; W. E. Howland, Mayor of Toronto; Sir John Macdonald, John Beverly Robinson, Donald A. Smith and Sir Adolphe Caron.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Weddings continue, and consequent receptions are daily recorded, and the early part of June will also see some grand nuptial affairs. The wedding at the Roman Catholic Cathedral on Wednesday last was a pretty affair in which Hilda Mars, second daughter of Sir Sydney Waterlow, formerly Lord Mayor of London, was united to Alfred Bernard Ford, once of London. Mr. Ford now lives in California, and the bride and her family came from England to meet him in this city. Sir Sydney Waterlow was the guest of Mr. Charles Crocker, of 4 West Fifty-eighth street, where a wedding breakfast was served. The bride was attired in white satin and long tulle veil. The bridesmaids, her sister and Miss Crocker, also wore white dresses. At the wedding in Brooklyn of Miss Bruismall and William Van Sinderen the bride was dressed in white satin, tulle veil, orange blossoms and diamonds. The bridesmaids wore white robes, made short, and carried La France roses. After the church service there was a grand reception at the bride's father's home on Columbia Heights.

On dit that Miss Chamberlain, who is in this city and visiting Mrs. Paron Stevens at the Victoria Hotel, intended going upon the stage. This rumor, however, has been flatly contradicted by the parents of the young lady.

During a couple of evening last week, and in the basement of St. Ann's Episcopal Church (Dr. Galland's) Mrs. James Brown Potter has been again earning money for charity by assuming her usual graceful and pain-aking manner, leading roles in the amateur theatricals. One of the pieces, "The Finger of Fate," was written for Mrs. Potter for Mr. Edward F. Coward. The author is to be complimented on his dramatic skill in writing.

MARCHE AUX FLEURS ET AUX LEGUMES.

As the name indicates will consist of a sale of flowers and vegetables, and the "charming" market-woman in attendance will be arrayed in pretty peasant costume, and all for sweet charity's sake. This entertainment in aid of the New York Foundling Asylum will be given at Delmonico's next Tuesday afternoon and evening by the ladies of Mrs. Delmonico's sewing class. The managers of the entertainment include Mrs. Paul Thelard, Mrs. E. D. Harris, Mrs. Jules Reynal, and Miss Binesse. The tables will be taken charge of by several ladies among the most distinguished in the Catholic Church. The tickets can be obtained of the managers. This is regarded as a fashionable affair, and from the fact of tickets, a large Union Hotel in the minutes for 5 cents, and save $3 Carriage Hire. 600 Elegant Rooms, $1 and upwards per night. European Plan. Elevators, Restaurant, Cafe, Lunch and Wine Rooms supplied with the best. Prices moderate. Families can buy better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other strictly first-class hotel in the city. Guests' baggage delivered to and from Grand Central Depot free.

Although the thermometer scarcely indicates a late spring temperature, yet the time for making up summer fabrics is at hand, and duly requires consideration. And for those who delight in displaying and semi-transparent fabrics, rarely have they been so highly favored as they will be during the coming summer.

Thin, gauzy materials, mull, muslin, pineapple muslin, organdy, mousseline de soie and batiste dress goods, possessing a wealth of charming possibilities, are presented in almost endless variety, and as the style for making them is somewhat conventionalized the task of preparing any number of pretty summer dresses is not in any sense a formidable one. The beauty of a dress often depends more upon the style and taste of the designer than upon the material itself, and while thin cotton fabrics are always pretty and becoming if they are fresh and clean, they may be as tasteful and stylish as the artistic talents and constructive skills of the needle-woman can make them.

The special novelty in cotton goods is a revival in finer quality of what used to be called PINE-APPLE MUSLIN.

It is quite thin and sheer, with the meshes fairly open, and is not unlike very fine lace, except that it is a trifle more evenly woven. It is important in plain goods and also in embroidered dainties of four and one-half yards long and twenty-five to fifty inches deep, and with narrow edging of from three to five inches to match.

These goods come in every ground with a faint Japanese-looking figure in blue, pink and grey. Others have garnet and cardinal grounds with angular characters in black, mandarin yellow, several shades of brown, and olive, and with irregular patterns in cross-stitch effects that are very odd and pretty. Plain goods, with all of these figured materials, and many of them are put up in boxes.

Very simple designs are selected for making, and as many of these dresses are made up with the spring sewing they do differ materially from last season's styles.

LOW LININGS FOR WAISTS, some extremely low, are among the caprices of the present season, and the entire absence of sleeve linings. A mere shoulder-strap, is all that this fashion will allow.

The most approved of these dresses will be made so that they can be worn over any material, and covers a sleeveless dress, the double material should be the thinnest used if it is likely to be utilized for out-door wear.

GUIMPE DRESSES will be worn by ladies who are slender or not too stout. These have the yoke and sleeves set in, and not separate as children's dresses of this sort. Full guimpes of very thin material are made over thick linings. Many round waists will be worn, and sashes will be exceedingly popular. They are imported with many of the new cotton dresses, and, in addition, sashes of silk, crêpe, and chiffon are being imported. The latter especially in fancy colors with white dresses.

WHITE WAISTS AND COLORED SKIRTS promise to be quite general this coming season. The adoption of this style will enable many ladies to be much more comfortable by means of their waists where thin skirts are impracticable. White blouses and corsets in white provided with white or ornate yellings skirts, bagues of white figured or armure woven goods, like vesting, will be worn both for street and home dresses. A vest of tan-colored linen duck is set in a white blouse and fastened with gilt buttons. Some military sashes and cords in white are provided to be used on basques of this kind, and an especially pronounced effect is produced by gilt braid on white basques intended for street wear.

Pineapple muslins are made up with a single blouse pattern, or paired, and a skirt and waist of the same material; or there may be drapery looped up by buttons and button holes, or loops of tape sewed on the wrong side of the material. Many very full, round skirts will be worn gathered into belts, and full waists with yokes, or full from the shoulders back and front, with a dart in each front and side form seams in the back. In these cases a firm waist lining is required as the goods, though quite strong, has not sufficient body to stand any amount of strain without good support. Round waists must be accompanied by a belt and sash, the latter to be very full and long. The sash, to be strictly fashionable, should not be less than four yards long, and for a tall lady four and one-half. Each end should extend within a fourth of a yard of the bottom of the dress, and each of the loops should be nearly, or quite, half a yard long. As the looping and knot take up a certain amount of length, this must be allowed for in the estimate as requiring not less than a quarter of a yard.

THE APPROVED SASH MATERIAL will be such goods as sural, crêpe de soie, and well as wide and narrow ribbons. When made from any sort of piece goods this should be from twelve to eighteen inches wide. If of silk they may be hemmed or feather-stitched at the edges, or, if a full breadth is used, which in ordinary sural quite frequently the case, the goods without a white edge should be chosen, and it will need no finish beside its own selvage. The ends may be fringed and knotted, or pinked, or the entire sash may be pinked all around. For every day wear, sashes may be made of goods like the dress, and either hemmed or have an edging of embroidery set all around them.

QUANTITIES OF LIGHT LACE for mull, and pine-apple muslins, especially plain Valenciennes, and long jabots, guirles and flouncings.

Lace promises unwonted popularity, and will be used in every grade, color, quality and material. Specially novel are entire dresses of rather fine meshed colored net lace, made with shirred waists and sleeves, and tucked skirts or simple draperies, and ornamented with a profusion of ribbons.

EGYPTIAN AND ORIENTAL LACE. Flouncings are being used over dressing material in the market. Fine cotton goods, silk and fine wool fabrics are trimmed with these laces. Perfectly plain skirts, with a single plaited ruff at the foot will be covered all around by plaited lace flouncings, and very full polka-dot overdresses, and quite high will be worn over them. This outer garment must also be made of lace to be artistic. A skirt of sural, with plaited flounce of Egyptian lace and polka-dot of Egyptian net is among the novel ones. Medium length, of 27 East 14th street, to whom I am obliged for many hints, and to Miss Finley, head of the fashion department, declare that all the popular laces, including flat Valenciennes, may be used in some way. Till next week.

Another Victory at Gettysburg.

Gettysburg, Pa., Nov. 20, 1895. Two years ago, I became a confirmed invalid. My friends thought I was far gone with consumption. I grew worse under the treatment of physicians, and at last resolved to try Warner's safe cure. In two weeks, I was like a new creature. In four weeks, I was able to assume my household duties. At this writing, perfectly well. I believe Warner's safe cure will cure 99-100 of all suffering people, so I convince all suffering people of its merits.—MRS. E. WOLF, Wife of Rev. Theodore Wolf, L.L.D., Editor Lutheran Quarterly.

A Severe Trial. Those who endure the torturing pangs of neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, and similar painful complaints are severely tried, but there is a speedy relief in Hays' Yellow Oil, as thousands who have used it joyfully testify. It banishes pain and lameness quickly.

One Dollar Against Five Hundred. Isaac Brown, of Bothwell, Ont., was afflicted with chronic humor in the blood. He says one dollar bottle of Blood Purifier was worth more than $500.00 paid for other medicines. It is a reliable blood purifier.

There is a constant stream of travel to the North-West. Every train bears a number of families and their household effects to different stations in the Canadian Pacific. The East is populating the West in Canada as in the United States.—[Chatham, N. B., World.]

PROSPECTUS.

Province of Ontario. FORTY-YEAR ANNUITIES.

The undersigned will receive tenders for the purchase of term annuities, running for a period of forty years, issued by the Province of Ontario under authority of an act of the Provincial Parliament (47 Vic. cap. 3). The annuities will be in the form of certificates, signed by the Provincial Treasurer, and payable to the order of the holder, at the office of the Provincial Treasurer, in Toronto, of sums of $100 or larger sums, on the 30th day of June and 30th day of December, each year, for forty years from 30th day of June next, the first half yearly certificates being payable on the 30th day of December next.

The total amount of annuities to be issued in 1896, and for which tenders are asked, is $2,300,000, but tenders will be received for any part of the same not less than $200,000 annually.

Tenders will be required to state the capital sum which will be paid for the annuities offered or such portions as may be tendered.

Tenders will be received up to the 15th day of June next. Notification of allotments will be given to tenderers on or before 19th June, and payment of the annuities will be made thereafter. Tenders for the whole amount offered, if paid, will be made on the 15th day of June next, and the annuities will be payable in Great Britain in sterling.

Any highest or any tender not necessarily accepted, unless otherwise satisfactory.

A. M. ROSS, Provincial Treasurer. Provincial Treasurer's Office, Toronto, April 19th, 1896.

NOTE.—Illustrations of calculation on interest basis: At the rate of 4 per cent, per annum (or in strictness 2 per cent, half yearly) a payment of $100,000 will represent an annuity of $100 for 40 years, payable half-yearly, while the actual yearly payment for 40 years would be a fraction above 5 per cent, on the principal sum.

SKIN DISEASES

Are of two kinds: firstly, those which are only skin deep (which are not now to be considered); secondly, those which are caused by a bad state of the blood, and which attack various parts of the body in different ways. For instance, in the form of Scrofula, sometimes in the form of Dantrif which will get rid of the skin disease, and in the form of Scrofula (Swelling), which if unchecked becomes very unsightly wounds. In the AMPHIPS, and the inside of the ELZBY, by an inflamed Roughness of the skin, which is very painful when washed. In the HANDS, by deep cracks or fissures, which, if healed for a few days, speedily open again, or by horny-looking patches. In the EYES, by Itch, Scaly and inflamed Swellings, or by wounds more or less deep. And on the BODY, in Red Scaly Patches, which as often as rubbed off, form again, or in the discharge of a thin watery fluid, or a very disagreeable nature. In all these cases the treatment must be twofold. An Ointment is required to relieve itching, and Medicine must be taken to change the state of the blood, and render it pure.

Both these requirements are supplied by Dr. Roberts' Celebrated Medicines, The OINTMENT called "THE POOR MAN'S FRIEND," And the PILLS called PILULE ANTI-SCROPHULES OR ALTERNATIVE PILLS.

These Two Medicines have now stood the test of 100 years' trial, having been introduced to the public in the latter part of the last century.

They may be obtained of all Chemists, or of the Proprietors, BEACH & BARNICOTT, BRISTOL, DORSET. Price 1s 1d, 2s 9d, 11s and 22s each. Postage extra. July 5 1y 257

Another Letter from Mr. Hurlbert.
No. 3.

To the Editor of THE HERALD.

I have shown what vast territories Canada has been forced to give up by the weakness of England yielding to the insubstantial and unjust demands of the Republic. The magnificent inheritance, won by the pluck of English sailors and soldiers, has been sacrificed through the misguided policy of English diplomacy, engendered by effeminacy and incapacity. The whole of the North American continent, north of Mexico, would probably to-day have been British territory, swarming, if not with loyal British subjects, at least with a people in amity with England, had not the great offices of state been filled by the mere shadows of a once brave and heroic race, who were foremost in council and war. The leaders and statesmen of the Empire have proved themselves the degenerate offspring of a heroic ancestry. The landmarks of their imbecility are found on every foot of the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and now there being no more land belonging to the Dominion which these amiable statesmen (?) can with any decency give away, they are ready to yield the seas on our coasts to purchase peace without honor. What a contrast to this is presented by England's acts in India, in China, in Mexico and recently in Borneo. The complaints of British traders who have been harassed by large and costly armaments and kingdoms conquered at the demand of a few shopkeepers or contractors. But where Canada and her rights to territory are concerned, the sense of national honor in British rulers is dead.

The Americans complain that while they admit our commercial vessels into their ports, we do not permit their fishing craft to enter ours for commercial purposes, which they know full well the Treaty of 1818 does not allow. In their charge of want of generosity and reciprocity by Canada, when we are strictly holding to our treaty rights, they conveniently ignore their own acts. Their vessels pass freely through all our grand canals on the same conditions as our own, but they will not allow even a Canadian large laden cutter one of our canals called canals. We applied to the Washington Government for this privilege but were referred to the New York authorities, and New York referred us back to Washington, informing us that they would willingly admit our boats to our canals, but the Central Government would let them—a dignified act for a great Christian nation to deny us the privileges they enjoy in our waters and then prevaricate about it. In 1870 they refused to pass even the stores of the Wolsey expedition through their own canal at Saint-Sauveur, while they were using all our canals from Montreal into Lake Erie and our other canals in the interior.

England has been trying for a century to secure the good will of the United States; for this she has made most sacrificial concessions to her own detriment. What is the result? The Republic has been the enemy of England, but never her ally, nor even in amity with her. When England and France sent an expedition to Mexico in 1861-2, to enforce the claims of their subjects, England withdrew on satisfaction. When given by Mexico, but France trampled the vanquished Moore doctrine under her feet, conquered that Republic and established a monarchy. Subsequently Napoleon proposed to the English Government to break the blockade of the Southern ports and secure the independence of that confederation. England declined to join in this. France has been treated with respect by the United States, because she treated with contempt their threats; all the bitterness has been shown towards England.

The complaints growing out of the Confederate cruisers' depredations exhibit similar phases of bluster by the Republic, weakness by England and dignified action by France. When the Alabama (the 290 in Laif's docks at Birkenhead) was being built for whom no one in England knew, (for Japan, it was reported), the American Minister applied to Lord John Russell, the English Foreign Secretary, to have her seized. The answer was, "give me sufficient data for the act." This the American Minister could not do. "Then seize her yourself," was Lord John's reply. In the American Minister would not do. In the meantime the "290" left port, and took her armor on, or off a Spanish port. After the war a demand was made on England for damages, both real and imaginary, and American shipping Lord John Russell refused to recognize the claim, but Gladstone paid $15,000,000 to secure, as he imagined, the good will of the Republic. On a similar demand being made on France for admitting a Confederate cruiser to her ports for repairs, the French refused to recognize the claim. Still France is treated with respect, but a thousand acts show the feelings cherished by the Republic towards England. The British Government refused to press our claims for damages for the Fenian raids, but forced us to pay for the outrageous demands of American fishermen in the Cape and Long Point Bay cases, where we were strictly acting in our own right, and foreign fishermen were the culprits.

The incidents cited are, no doubt, samples of what we are to expect in any case of similar character coming before the British Government. The statement of Mr. Gladstone's under Secretary of State, and the editorial of the London Times, which, no doubt, expresses the opinions of the commercial classes of England, show us that we are to expect no change in the uniform and degrading policy of unconditional surrender, which has marked England's diplomacy for a century on the American continent; but by which we have lost one-half of our inheritance, and now encroachments are to be made upon our seas and harbors even.

The Canadians are more loyal to the British throne than the English themselves, but patriotism is due first to our own country, and if our rights are to be sacrificed by a race of Lilliputians who have abandoned the convictions and traditions of English statesmen, Canada will be forced to seek alliances, offensive and defensive, with European States whose public law have manliness enough to not betray a foreigner, and seeks approval from a foreign rowdy element rather than her own loyal subjects.

The outcome of all this will be, at all events, that Canada will be a voice in all treaties and disputes affecting her interests, and that her Parliament must sanction them. To allow even our own relations to be settled without our concurrence makes slaves of us.

Yours, 6th May, 1888.

His Outspoken Opinion.

The very marked testimonials from College Professors, respectable Physicians, and other gentlemen of intelligence and character to the value for Warner's SAFE CURE, published in the editorial columns of our best newspapers, have greatly surprised and greatly added that I found myself the victim of a serious kidney trouble I should use this preparation. The truth is, the medical profession stands dazed and helpless in the presence of more than one kidney malady, while the remedy is not infrequently, and with very rare exceptions, hardly leaves room to doubt that Mr. H. H. Warner has fallen upon one of those happy discoveries which occasionally bring help of our suffering humanity.

As both teams are very evenly matched the game will be well worth seeing, and should attract a large crowd. Play commences at three o'clock.

MONDAY'S RACES.—On Monday next the races of the Montreal Riding School will take place at Lepine Park at 1 o'clock. As will be seen by the list of entries in another column good sport may be anticipated, and from the success which attended their efforts last season it is certain that some good races will be seen.

STEINWAY AND CHICKERING PIANOS.—A splendid assortment of these unrivalled pianos at Messrs. A. & S. Nordheimers, 211 St. James street. Also, the famous Haines and Gabel Pianos, of New York. A GOOD INSTITUTION.—By referring to our advertising columns will be found the announcement of the "Montreal Sanitary and Plumbing Association," who, for $10 annually, make inspection of premises and do all needed repairs. This Association has done good work in Philadelphia and other cities, and will doubtless commend itself to all interested in perfect plumbing arrangements.

THE SAULT AU RECOLLET ASSAULT CASE.—The man Bayard, accused of murderous assault on his wife at Sault-au-Recollet on Thursday morning, was arraigned before the Police Magistrate yesterday. The prisoner admitted having beaten his wife with an iron rod, but said he did not intend to kill her. He was remanded to jail for the present to await the result of the unfortunate woman's injuries. It was stated last evening that Mrs. Bayard was not expected to live through the night.

THOSE WHO WERE UNABLE to procure tickets for Mr. Archer's performance on the new organ in the Dominion Square Church will be glad to hear arrangements have been made with Mr. Archer to give a grand organ recital this afternoon at 3 o'clock, on the same organ. During the interval, Mr. Alfred Trevor, English tenor, will sing "In Native Words" from Hayden's Creation. Admission, 25 cents; all parts of the church. Doors open at 2.30 o'clock.

THE DEAF AND BLIND.—On Thursday last the pupils of the Mackay Institution for Protestant Deaf Mutes and the Blind were examined in the various branches of their school work by the Rev. Drs. Norman, MacVicar and Stevenson. The pupils acquitted themselves creditably, and the examiners expressed themselves as being well satisfied with their attainments. On June 5th, at 3 p.m., an exhibition of the work of the pupils in the trades departments, as well as the school work, will take place, to which the public are cordially invited.

CALLLED OUT FOR INSPECTION.—An alarm from box 18 at 10.42 o'clock yesterday morning called out the central division of the fire brigade to Victoria Square for the purpose of inspection. This was done for the benefit of Ald. McGillivray, chairman of the Winnipeg Fire Committee, who was present on the Square with Ald. Stevenson, the Chief and Sub-Chiefs of the Brigade and several prominent citizens. Nos. 1 and 5 reels only took two minutes after the alarm was sounded to have water playing on the Square. Then the Skinner ladder was run up and manned, after which the division returned to their stations.

DYNAMITE FISHERS.—Henri Courtemanche, Frederic Courtemanche, Louis Guimet, Noel Breux and T. Lusignan, all Justices of the Peace for the district of Montreal, were accused in the Police Court, yesterday, of destroying fish by dynamite on the 20th and 22nd of April. The prosecution was brought by the Fish and Game Club. Alderman Prefontaine conducted the defence. All the accused pleaded guilty and Judge Desnoyers sentenced each to a fine of $10 and costs, or twenty days imprisonment, at the same time expressing his surprise that gentlemen in their position should be guilty of such an offence against the game protection laws.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—Pleasure-

seekers on the Queen's Birthday will not, it is to be hoped, forget that the Art Gallery on Phillips Square will be open at half the usual entrance fee. For the very small sum of five cents the pleasure-seeker can have the privilege of seeing the finest collection of pictures and other works of art in the Dominion of Canada. Here are the means of pure and elevating enjoyment at the very doors of the Art Gallery open to all. The doors of the Art Gallery will be open from ten o'clock in the morning until six in the evening. The directors of this institution have done well to reduce the admission fee for that day one-half. This is enlightened liberality which ought to meet with hearty response from the public. It is in striking contrast to the narrow-minded greed of the ferry boat company which doubled the price of an other innocent enjoyment.

LAVAL HOUSE, BORD A PLOUFFE.

We are requested to state that guests for this house going out on the 5.30 train this afternoon should notify the conductor to let them off at Bord a Plouffe Crossing, north of the Back river bridge. Buses from the hotel will meet passengers there.

At yesterday's meeting of the Civic Health Board there were present Aldermen Gray, chairman, and Aldermen Beauvois, Hamelin, Mount and White.

Several reports were read and disposed of, after which a report from the medical health officer in re the inspection of meat was read, recommending the establishment of a special depot where the meat would be examined, and that found fit for food would be stamped. It was resolved to defer the consideration of the said report.

A Pleading Duty.

"I feel it my duty to say," writes John Borton, of Desert, P.Q., "that Burdock Blood Bitters cured my wife of liver complaint, from which she had been a chronic sufferer. Her distressing, painful symptoms soon gave way and I can highly recommend the medicine to all suffering as she did."

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

ALONG THE WHARVES.

No steamships arrived in port from sea yesterday.

The R. & O. N. Company steamer Montclair, left Cantin's dry dock at four o'clock last evening and passed down the Canal. On approaching No. 1 lock, some up-bound barges got in the way and a combination of collisions was only avoided by the Montclair going astern until the barges which were jammed could be got out of the way. BROOKTON, N.Y., Oct. 23, 1885.—I had a severe trouble with my bladder. Consulted a number of first-class physicians, without benefit. After using half a bottle of Warner's safe and reliable, and I would gladly have paid any physician $100 could he have done what that small quantity did. Now I am thoroughly cured. Would like to proclaim its value from the top of the White Mountains, with a voice strong enough for the whole world to hear. E. D.
