

Sorry, folks

Nobody's going to like this... a depression south of the Great Lakes will be pushing itself our way into the long weekend, bringing with it cloud, showers and thundershowers. Clearing is predicted for Monday, but sunny skies won't be back again until Tuesday. Temperatures will be warmer than those of last weekend, but will remain below normal. Winds will be light as well, except in the squalls, when they will gust to 40 kph.

Today, a residual band of humidity caused cloudy conditions throughout southwestern Quebec. These clouds will have dissipated by noon, making way for sunny conditions until sometime tomorrow. Weekend highs will be about 24, lows around 10.

No Record Monday

As if the weather wasn't enough, there will be no Record Monday. Neither will there be any mail service, and banks, municipal offices and courts will remain closed.

Happy 112th

The federal government isn't pumping as much money into Canada Day celebrations as in the past, but that hasn't deterred the old standards like Bury, Hatley and Knowlton, where the usual July 1 windings promise the best. Not only that, but July 1 fever has spread to other communities. The Record salutes Canada Day in the Townships.

Real Hébert describes what it takes to catch the muskellunge, which he calls the least well known sporting fish in Quebec. They are harder to find than trout and bass but when you catch one it can make up for the long wait; the biggest one on record in the province weighed 50 pounds.

Gas fears hurt U.S. July 4

NEW YORK (AP) — A Rhode Island supplier said sales for traditional clamcakes at the shore were off and a Maine town offered tourists free gasoline, as the spreading fuel crunch clouded travel plans for the weekend and July 4 U.S. Independence Day holiday.

A spot check by the Associated Press showed that weekend gasoline supplies were tight in 35 states, with the biggest pinch in the heavily populated cities in the East.

Seventy per cent of West Virginia's gasoline stations were expected to be closed Saturday and 95 per cent Sunday. In Portland, Ore., 93 per cent were expected to be closed Sunday.

The situation has "stabilized at disaster," said the Automobile Club of New York, where gasoline lines stretched up to four kilometres this week and prices ranged up to $1.60 a gallon. A U.S. gallon is five-sixths of a Canadian gallon.

PRICE HIGH

The Automobile Association of America said the average gasoline price across the U.S. was 94.3 cents a gallon.

In Orange, Calif., a dealer who has been having trouble getting adequate allocations said he will begin selling fuel for $5 a gallon Monday. Tony Grasso said he's aiming at drivers who hate lines.

In Miami, the gasoline crunch was blamed for the suicide of 60-year-old James Rogers, who ran a newspaper-delivery service. Rogers' wife said he was "extremely despondent over not being able to get gas to deliver his

CEQ backs determination

By JASPER MEYERS
SHERBROOKE — The 90,000 member Centrale de l'Enseignement du Quebec supports Quebec's right to self-determination, but the CEQ will not remain silent if the referendum debate touches directly on issues affecting conditions of work and life in Quebec, President Robert Gaulin said last night.

Speaking in an opening address to a special CEQ congress taking place at the Sherbrooke CEGEP, Gaulin recalled that at the June, 1978 CEQ Congress it was agreed that the CEQ would not take a position on the debate concerning the independence of Quebec without first making a thorough consultation of its members and arriving at a final decision through a special assembly.

The current three-day congress will be primarily concerned with formulating the CEQ's position on the referendum question.

Discussion on the local level has so far revealed that there is considerable opposition within the CEQ's membership to a CEQ executive recommendation that "supporting the struggle for Quebec's independence is inseparable from the struggle for a society in which workers have a defining role to play in the formulation of economic, social, cultural and political policies."

Gaulin recognized that within the membership there is still considerable resistance to the idea that the union should become directly involved in politics instead of being concerned primarily with the negotiation of collective agreements which further their interests.

Strikes, walkouts hit Bell, booze

By JASPER MEYERS and JAMES DUFF

SHERBROOKE — Moving this weekend? Hoping to install that new telephone? Or maybe you were hoping to run down to the local liquor outlet and grab a few bottles for a housewarming?

Forget it. Strikes by Bell technicians have brought all new-phone installations as well as telephone-circuit repairs, to a complete halt, and French and English-language news outlets in Sherbrooke, plagued by line trouble, are publishing late or going with skeleton newscasts.

An operator at the Bell Canada repair office in Sherbrooke said she and a supervisor were alone in handling literally hundreds of complaints, ranging from bad connections to lines brought down during thunderstorms, and access to Bell business offices was blocked by jeering, chanting pickets this morning.

The Bell Canada technicians called the 24 hour strike to protest a contract settlement which their union judged to be too lenient.

Daniel Allard, vice president of the company branch in Sherbrooke, says negotiations between Bell Canada and the union membership had broken off and that the union leadership had recommended that employees vote to reject the latest company offers.

Voting notices have been sent out to employees and they will have until July 6 in order to vote. The result of the secret ballot will be made known on July 8.

Employees want to be able to work more overtime, better base pay, alterations in the vacation structure, and the establishment of a committee to control safety regulations.

Meanwhile, Public Service Minister Denis de Belleval came to Montreal from Quebec yesterday in order to help the Quebec Liquor Corp publicize the signing of a new contract with one of its unions.

The only problem is that the union which signed represents warehouse workers and they weren't threatening to strike.

Strikes by 2,000 clerks, coupled with retaliatory lock-outs by management, have closed about half of the provincial agency's stores since early last week. Talks with the clerk's union are deadlocked.

Many of the affected stores are in the Montreal area where it is becoming a challenge to buy a bottle of liquor or imported beer. A total of 157 stores in the province are still closed.

The union which did sign Thursday represents 750 drivers and warehouse employees. Their contract gives them an 11 per cent wage increase in the first year of a three year contract retroactive to July 1, 1978.

...AS OPEC HIKES AVERAGE 18 PER CENT

GENEVA (Reuters) — The world's leading oil exporters on Sunday instituted a new pricing system that will raise the cost of oil by an average of almost 18 per cent — the largest increase in five years.

Oil ministers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) decided Thursday to set prices at a minimum of $18 to a ceiling of $23.50 a barrel.

The increases, which follow leapfrogging surcharges recently added by OPEC members, mean an aggregate price rise so far this year of about 50 per cent.

The price boosts were designed to bring some stability to the frantic price bidding for oil on world markets since the Iranian revolution this year curtailed that country's exports.

But it appeared that despite an attempt to stabilize prices, the 13 OPEC states are free to set their rates anywhere between the base price of $18 and the ceiling of $23.50.

The former minimum price was $14.55 for a 42-gallon barrel of Arabian light crude oil. This was in force since April 1.

Saudi Arabia, the largest OPEC producer, along with Qatar and the United Arab Emirates, said they will use the $18 base as their reference price.

Saudi officials told reporters they felt that an increase of more than $18 a barrel would risk bringing about a severe recession in industrial countries. Saudi Arabia has an estimated $60 billion invested abroad, mainly in the United States.

Iran said that the price of its crude oil will range between $21 and $22 a barrel. Kuwait has said it will use $20 as a base price.

It is expected that countries such as Nigeria, Lybia and Algeria, which produce the highest-quality oil among OPEC members, will post their prices at the $23.50 ceiling.

Industry sources estimated the price increases are likely to increase oil exporters revenues by almost $100 million a day — about $35 billion a year.

The Canadian government is planning to increase the price of domestic oil more rapidly than originally planned while at the same time minimizing the inflationary impact on the economy.

Energy Minister Ray Hnatyshyn said

Thursday the OPEC increase was disappointing but not surprising.

He said the government is studying ways to close the gap between the Canadian domestic price of oil — $13.75 a barrel Sunday — and the new world price.

The Canadian government now subsidizes the price of oil in Canada by paying oil companies the difference between the Canadian price and the world price of oil imported for use in Eastern Canada. The cost of this program is rising with the increased cost of imported oil.

What's the problem? See Page 3

Ola Sanford (nee Johnson) passed away at the B.M.P. Hospital, Cowansville, Que., on May 30, 1979, after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Sanford was born in Dunham, Que., on January 15, 1907. She was the fourth daughter of the late Oscar Johnson and his wife Ella Gibson.

On February 28, 1927, she was married to Leland Sanford, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Sanford of East Dunham, Que. Ola was for many years, a member of the Pinnacle Chapter No. 11 O.E.S., the Rebekah Lodge of Sutton, and a member of the Ladies' Guild of West Brome.

The funeral service took place at Trinity Anglican Church, Cowansville, on Saturday, June 2, with interment in All Saints' Church cemetery, Dunham.

EVELYN EMILY SHARP
of Sherbrooke

Mrs. Evelyn Sharp passed away at the Sherbrooke Hospital on Friday, June 1st, 1979, in her 77th year. She had been in failing health since 1975, but had been in hospital only one day before peacefully passing away.

She was born on August 11th, 1902, in Sherbrooke, youngest daughter of the late Joseph Allanson and his wife, the late Emily South.

She was united in marriage to Thomas Burt Sharp on July 11th, 1922, who predeceased her on January 20, 1975. She was predeceased by a sister, Violet Milnes and a brother, Joseph Allanson.

She is survived by her son Eric and daughter-in-law Joan (Chivers), St. Lambert, Que., daughter Edith and son-in-law Delbert Lane, Waterville, Que., daughter Patricia and son-in-law John Lynch, Tracy-Sorel, Que., daughter Priscilla and son-in-law Antoni Simard,

E.A. MONTGOMERY
of Verdun

Emerson Alexander Montgomery of Verdun, Que., formerly of South Durham, Que., passed away on May 26, 1979, at the Honore Mercier Hospital, St. Hyacinthe, following a car accident on Route 116 near Upton.

He was born on July 11th, 1888, at South Durham, son of the late James Alexander Montgomery and his wife Rebecca Mountain.

At an early age he started work for the Grand Trunk Railway in South Durham, operating a steam shovel, and also as an engineer

ARMY IN WORLD WAR II
A member of the Cookshire Legion Branch, and a staunch supporter of the Quebec Farmers' Association.

Whenever there was a community project or need, Reggie could always be counted on to help. The floral tributes and donations to the Heart Fund and the Cancer Society were numerous, and bore evidence of the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

He is survived by his wife, Florence, a son, Bernard, of Cookshire, a daughter, Marion, Mrs. Dockeray and husband, Garth, 7 grandchildren, a sister, Lucy, several nieces and nephews, and many loyal friends.

The Rev. R.S. Jervis-Read conducted the funeral service in St. Peter's Anglican Church. The combined choirs of St. Peter's Church and of Trinity United Church led in the singing of Mr. Hodge's favorite hymn, "Just As I Am", with Mrs. Heatherington as organist. "Peace, Perfect Peace" was sung as a recessional.

THE COMMITTEE SERVICE was held in the Cookshire Cemetery by the Rev. R.S. Jervis-Read, with the Legion members holding their service at the graveside.

The bearers were Messrs. Malcolm Fraser, Gilbert Ross, Arthur Learned, Jean Hivert, John Rivett and John Gill.

INTERMENT TOOK PLACE in Mount Royal Cemetery, Montreal.

He leaves to mourn, his brother Edison Montgomery, sister Hildred Stove, sisters-in-law Elsie Montgomery and Helen Montgomery, nieces Gweneth, Mrs. Canon John Fralick, Verna, Mrs. Dr. Art Johnston, Marion, Mrs. Thomas Coddington and Dorothy Erma, Mrs. Richard Black.

He was predeceased by three brothers, Earnest in infancy in 1886, Edwin in 1963 and Grover in 1967.

Card of Thanks

MacMORINE - I wish to thank all my friends and relatives who visited me, sent cards and gifts while I was a patient at the Sherbrooke Hospital. Special thanks to Drs. Paulette, Dougan and Marosi, nurses and staff on 4th floor; to those who sent in food, to my family, to the Nadeau family, the U.C.W. for flowers and Rebekah Lodge Olive Branch No. 9 for the flowers and sunshine basket. Thanks to our daughter, Marilyn, who came home to care for me. Your many kindnesses will always be remembered.

MURIEL MacMORINE

SANFORD - We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our relatives, friends and neighbours for their kindness following the death of our dear wife and mother, Ola Sanford. Special thanks to Rev. Davidson, Rev. Peacock and Rev. Paterson, and also Dr. Barakett, the bearers and the All Saints' Ladies Guild of Dunham who served a delightful lunch after the funeral. Your kindness will never be forgotten.

LELAND SANFORD & FAMILY

SHARP - The family of the late Mrs. Evelyn Sharp would like to express our sincere and personal thanks to all who sent flowers, masses, cards, donations, visited and Elkas Funeral Home and attended the funeral at the time of the death of our dear mother. A special thanks to Ruth Alto, Steve Elkas, Hilda Bergeron, Lorna Lynch, Rev. Harold Brazel and Bishop Russel Brown.

DAVIS - In loving memory of a dear husband and father who was suddenly taken away June 30, 1976.

They say time heals all heartaches. But we find that it is not so. Yet memories bring sweetness, yes. And strength and comfort, too.

We treasure the hours we spent together. And the love you gave us, the way you cared. Memory is as dear to us today as in the hours he passed away.

Time takes away the edge of grief. But memory turns back every leaf. Lovingly remembered by GLADYS (wife) LAURA (daughter)

JUDGE, Roger - In loving memory of our dear son and brother, who was taken from us one year ago on July 1. Your death was sudden. The shock severe. To part with one we loved so dear. No length of time will take away. The thoughts we have of you from day to day. The parting left a vacant place. No one else can fill. They say time heals all heartaches. But we find that it is not so. For we still have the same sorrow. We had a year ago. Beside your grave we often stand. And try so hard to understand. At times we may look happy. And sort of carefree, too. We fail to show the loneliness we always have for you. If fears could build a stairway. And heartaches make a lane. We could walk straight to Heaven. And bring you home again. Always loved and sadly missed.

MOM & DAD BROTHERS & SISTER & SISTER-IN-LAW

MacLEOD - In loving memory of our dear son, Marvin Ebenzer MacLeod, who passed away June 26, 1963. To your place of rest I travel. And flowers placed with care. But no one knows the heartache. As I turn and leave you there. Loved always, MOMMY, DADDY & GEORGE

the townships in focus

The fate of a Lennoxville pedestrian is not a happy one, as this gent illustrates in the midst of a life-and-death game of bumper-dodging...

...while a short distance from Town Hall, these lads take their lives in their hands to cross Queen Street on crosswalk markings which would be enough to bring traffic screeching to a halt anywhere but in Quebec.

Despite traffic increase No pedestrian respite seen

LENNOXVILLE (FJM) — Continuing repairs to Belvidere St. and disruptions to Sherbrooke traffic flow caused by construction there have stepped up the flow of traffic along already-congested Queen Street to an even heavier flow.

But while motorists and their cars may fume and boil, the situation is even worse for Lennoxville's pedestrians, and according to town clerk Jules Gervais, there's nothing the town can do that will make life any safer for those risking a dash across Queen Street.

According to Gervais, Queen Street — which becomes Highway 143 outside town — is a provincial highway and Town Council has no power to install extra lights, pedestrian crossings or bicycle lanes, as some citizens concerned with safety in the downtown area have suggested.

Gervais admitted alterations to the flow of traffic could come about if the Town Council so recommended to the provincial Ministry of Transport, but he said Lennoxville doesn't plan to make any such recommendations.

Instead, said Gervais, council has opted for the construction of a bypass around town, a decision for the location of which is expected in the near future.

He suggested that the bypass will most likely start at the Huntingville turn off Route 143 and end up near the University of Sherbrooke. Previous suggestions for a bypass which would pass close to Bishop's University and B.C.S. have been rejected due to public opposition.

West Brome cleanup crew scrambles

WEST BROME — Workmen hadn't finished cleaning up from last week's ramming and derailment of a CP Rail freight train when a dumptruck crested the hill overlooking the same level crossing and barreled down on it Wednesday.

Workmen, police and onlookers scrambled for safety as the truck crashed through barricades at the West Brome crossing and came to rest on the other side.

Brome Lake police Constable Richard Burcombe saw the truck, apparently out of control, coming down the hill, shoved some onlookers into a nearby ditch and jumped in after them.

"It was a duplicate of last week's accident," the shaken officer said.

Last Thursday, an out-of-control truck plowed into a tractor trailer waiting for the freight train to clear the crossing. The driver of the lead truck, Guy Gagne, was killed, while the driver of the second, Richard Barrette, suffered minor injuries.

About 118,000 gallons of ethyl hexanol, an alcohol-based chemical, spilled into the South Yamaska River from a tank car ruptured in the accident.

The Quebec government released a report Wednesday that indicated the water supply of Cowansville was not contaminated by the spill.

"Despite the spectacular nature of the accident and the fact that hundreds of fish died, the health of the population is in no way threatened," the report said. "The citizens of Cowansville can drink their water with no fear."

Townships DREE grants announced

Elmer MacKay, federal minister of Regional Economic Expansion, has announced that 12 manufacturing firms in the Quebec region have accepted incentive offers totalling $1,317,300 for industrial projects expected to create 182 jobs and generate investments of about $6.5 million.

Townships companies which accepted incentives are as follows:

Les Emballages Cascades Inc. of Victoriaville has accepted an incentive offer of $159,000 to expand its box factory. This project is expected to create 10 jobs and generate investments of about $839,000.

Les Distributions Quimpex Ltd. has accepted an incentive offer of $117,500 to set up a snowmobile parts factory in Drummondville. This project is expected to create 29 jobs and generate investments of about $500,000.

Frank's Piping Co. Ltd. of Bromptonville has accepted an incentive offer of $77,800 to expand its industrial boiler factory. This project is expected to create 18 jobs and generate investments of about $446,000.

Clotures Neige Sherbrooke Ltd. has accepted an incentive offer of $54,600 to set up a snow fence factory in Lennoxville. This project is expected to create 16 jobs and generate investments of about $125,000.

C-E ponders next move

By JASPER MEYERS
SHERBROOKE — The contract offer rejected by unionized employees at Combustion Engineering Superheater in Sherbrooke on Wednesday involved an average wage increase of 27 per cent over a three year period, bringing the average hourly rate up from $6.70 to $8.58, company spokesman Gordon Dalgard said in a telephone interview yesterday.

Dalgard said he was not in a position to comment on what the company's response to the rejection of the contract would be and that they would have to wait until the FTQ articulates the basis for their rejection of the package.

Describing the rejected offer as the result of an attempt to be completely "up front" with the union, Dalgard said the company had worked very hard on the contract proposal.

After surveying the current market and drawing up a mandate on which to base their offer, the company discussed the rejected contract with union representatives prior to the vote on Wednesday to see whether there was sufficient ground for agreement to be reached.

Dalgard said he believed the offer was refused due to dissatisfaction with a wage protection clause in the third year of the contract.

William Boychuk, chief negotiator for the FTQ members at Combustion Engineering, could not be reached for comment.

Union members at Combustion Engineering Superheater in Sherbrooke rejected the company offer by a vote of 233 to 137 — a margin of 63 per cent.

The employees are members of the International Union of Machinists and Aeronautical Workers, local 1530 of the FTQ.

The company offer sought to replace the current contract, which expires on June 30. A union spokesman said employees want to have allowances made for cost-of-living increases over a three-year period.

Union employees were not at work Wednesday and instead took part in a general meeting to discuss the company offer.

"Shell didn't tell you gasoline and alcohol don't mix," Judge Gerard Normandin told Andre Lassonde. Lassonde replied in the negative. The Farnham resident who is employed as a service station attendant in L'Ange-Gardien, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving when he had consumed .180 mgs. of alcohol and was attempting to obtain a restricted drivers license to allow him to continue to commute to work.

He was fined $180 and costs, in default 30 days. Judge Normandin ordered the issuance of a restricted license.

Tom Poulton, of Brome, pleaded guilty to a similar offence when he had consumed 200 mgs. of alcohol. He was fined $200 and costs, in default 30 days.

Ann Cheryl Laforest, of Lacolle, pleaded guilty to the same count when she had consumed .100 mgs. of alcohol. She was fined $100 and costs, in default 30 days.

Sylvain Plamondon, St. Pie de Bagot, pleaded guilty to a similar charge when he had consumed 150 mgs. of alcohol. He was fined $150 and costs, in default 30 days.

Maurice Moreau, of Bedford, and Daniel Andre St. Denis, of Dunham, pleaded guilty to counts of impaired driving when they had consumed .160 mgs. of alcohol. They were each fined $160 and costs, in

KEITH SPICER COMMENTS:

Gerald Godin: Village-fool guise conceals convictions

MONTREAL — With his black curly hair, basset-hound eyes and uneasy tie, Gerald Godin looks more like a poet or painter than the member for Mercier in Quebec's National Assembly.

He is, of course, a poet, painter and MNA. He is also a fine journalist, one of premier Rene Levesque's most likeable missionaries to English Canada and — by his own description — a lifelong "village fool" whose harmless disguise allows him to speak painful truths.

Some months ago Mr. Godin spoke on TV about a theme which, more than once, had brought us together as friendly platform adversaries: the nature of political courage.

In this week when political courage is sandwiched between the rival holidays of Quebec and Canada, Mr. Godin's open-mindedness seems worth recalling. For after deploring that not a single English-Canadian leader of any stature had dared to say a sympathetic word about Quebec's independence, he went on to raise a fascinating premise: perhaps there might be some equivalent courage for independentists.

Mr. Godin showed his own courage in 1977 when he risked excommunication from the Parti Quebecois by suggesting a better language deal for English-Canadian children under Bill 101. Since hearing him last, I've come to think the courage (or cowardice) of English-speaking federalists may owe something to the courage (or cowardice) of the pequistes.

Herewith, a checklist of potential PQ heroism likely to smoke out at least a solid half dozen Anglo sympathizers:

- stop treating honest questions or criticism as implacable hostility; for years, and even now to a great extent, the PQ has been peddling a pig-in-a-poke, a slogan of sovereignty-association whose economic content alone could harm (or help?) our children's happiness profoundly.
- Respect for the pequistes' own seriousness demands that this formula receive intense scrutiny.

When Mr. Levesque waves off specific queries about major industries as "quibbling," when he and other ministers condemn tough but fair critics as enemies (even long-time PQ journalists), sympathy, even dialogue, tends to wither.

- abandon triumphalism: granted, the heady wine of nationalism stirs zealous certainties. But perhaps good tactics (not to say good taste) call for a little modesty. Would-be Anglo sympathizers are apt to tire of the "inexorable river of history" as a substitute for reasoned argument. They find French Quebecois swaggering just as unlovely as the pequistes found that of yesteryears's Westmounters.
- They will finally think that obsessive repetition of the psycho-therapeutic word "normal" betrays (in find old Freudian style) a fear that not everything the PQ does is normal.

- simmer down the cynicism: true, not everything Ottawa (or the rest of Canada) does with regard to Quebec is "normal" either, or even pure. Both sides have become caught up in a pre-referendum game in which honesty seems an easy victim.
- But there are in "English Canada" (even in Westmount) virtues which the pequistes cannot see, perhaps because their faith could not bear to face them: an ancient democratic impulse, a passion for the individuals freedoms, a rich literary, scientific and economic culture.
- Showing the Anglos that pequistes respected all this — and dared to tell their children of it — might efface decades of the cheap mockery (bordering on racism) which so many PQ apologists still pass off as historical commentary.
- treat Quebecers with dignity: on nearly every issue not linked to its raison d'etre of independence, the PQ has governed Quebec with a brilliance, compassion and integrity unmatched by any government in Canada. On the key issue of independence, pequistes leaders show a contempt for their people's judgement reminiscent of General de Gaulle, who thought fairytale France was "great" but that Frenchmen were "sheep".

Cooking up a secret 102-question opinion survey at taxpayers' expense to underpin a manipulative referendum campaign degrades an otherwise fine record — and makes the Anglo sympathizer wonder if he too is being taken for a ride.

- face the music, and soon: perhaps the most 'discouraging' habit of the PQ is to postpone endlessly the day of reckoning on its constitutional theory, indeed to persist in camouflaging its goal of secession.
- Last week Mr. Levesque backed off an early referendum once again — even though the notion of independence has been furiously promoted by a strategically placed Quebec elite for at least 13 years, far more in some sectors.

Assuming the vote is indeed called next spring, it seems incandescently clear that the PQ government will not dare ask a straight honest question about "independence" — the latest in a long list of code-words to be banished when surveys showed (as they still do) that Quebecers overwhelmingly wanted to stay, somehow, within Canada.

Curiously enough, many likely Anglo sympathizers would respect the PQ far more if its leaders could find again the courage their earlier convictions gave them to call a state a state.

Ah yes, one last test for PQ heroism. Make maverick Gerald Godin a cabinet minister. Curly-headed, and perhaps a little cunning in his innocence, he symbolizes much of what is decent, sympathetic — and courageous — about his whole party.

Oh, Canada?

Yesterday afternoon, we sat down at the old Underwood to hammer out a few words about Canada Day. They didn't come easily.

Truth to tell, we plumbed the depths of our soul and found it wanting in Canada Day sentiments. This made us very sad. Our first refuge was the telephone. We called the history department at Bishop's to put Canada's 112th birthday into an historical perspective. Nobody was home; they've closed for the summer.

We called various luminaries, famous people with words for every occasion. We won't identify them because their usual flow of verbiage was strangely silent when we asked them what Canada Day meant to them. Mind you, we weren't asking for a prepared statement. All we wanted were words that transcended the righteous drivel and slick PR releases that, like greeting cards, are priced according to their originality.

Is the Quebecois assessment of Canada correct? Is this nation just a flag, a government and a bunch of press releases from an American-based PR firm? Does it have a spirit and is that spirit alive?

That's what we should all be spending the weekend trying to find out. The people of Bury, of Stanstead, of Hatley and of Knowlton are hosting Canada Day festivities where the rest of us may seek what we're looking for. Some of us may even find it there.

But like those speechless speechmakers, the rest of us are lacking something. If being a Canadian means anything at all, it's our job to locate it.

Good luck. Stay alive, folks, and you, too, this nation of ours.

JAMES DUFF

Real negligence

The death of a Lennoxville cyclist in hospital over the weekend was a senseless, needless reiteration of something that we have known for far too long.

When will the town of Lennoxville — or the city of Sherbrooke, for that matter, come to its senses and install bicycle and pedestrian paths? What about an obligatory crosswalk stop in front of Town Hall? For a town this size and with the juvenile population of Lennoxville, you'd expect it to take better care of its citizens.

Too expensive to put in bike lanes, cross walks and extra streetlights? We don't see why, when communities like Brossard and Westmount can manage. In scores of U.S. municipalities, rights-of-way for cyclists and pedestrians are mandatory in all new developments, and in some, they have to be separated from automobile traffic. The result is a series of paths that can be used for jogging, strolling, cycling, even cross-country skiing. They can be lighted at night. Since most of them pass close by people's back yards, there's plenty of opportunity for Block Parent organizations to offer the same security they do now.

Too far-fetched and impractical for Lennoxville or other Townships communities? Lennoxville has plenty of natural ravines and other areas which would be perfect for biking and pedestrian pathways. All it would require is initiative and hard work.

We can't afford to lose our young people like that.

Letters

Editor:

At the plenary session of the "Galt Symposium" on Saturday evening, June 16th, one could not be otherwise than impressed with the sincerity of purpose shown by those who were involved in the several workshops. The organizing, planning and co-ordinating that enabled these groups to present their findings to the audience in printed form for use during the evening session deserves high praise.

Your editorial of a few days prior to the session, explaining what was underway, was in fact the only notice of the event that came to my attention. I am certain however, that I must have overlooked other notices relating to it.

One item did give me cause to wonder if perhaps a bit of honest temper was missing, maybe intentionally, in the printed handouts. Here I refer specifically to Workshop No. 4: "WHO IS A QUEBECOIS?" The definition given by the workshop was: "EVERYONE LIVING LEGALLY IN THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC IS A QUEBECOIS."

It is my opinion that quite naturally such is the case but surely a Quebecois or Quebecer is above all a Canadian. There has been no change in the law of our country taking away my Canadian Citizenship, which is a status in which I take pride. The province of Quebec is my birthplace and my Canadian passport is current and valid.

May I respectfully suggest that the definition would be more complete and thought-provoking if written: "EVERYONE LIVING LEGALLY IN THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC IS A QUEBECOIS CANADIAN CITIZEN."

This would mean that we are all first class citizens, just like people living legally in any Canadian province, territory, district or possession.

ERNEST C. McCALLUM, SAWYERVILLE

Swallowing his line

Editor:

Your article in the June 21st issue, "Anglophone group urges yes vote", was a surprise to me, surprised because you fell for Henry Milner's line. How come Henry Milner is a top man in that group. Henry Milner is not an anglophone or francophone. Henry Milner is from Polish Jewish parents. He had a visa to be in Canada, and his visa expired some time ago.

Milner claims 200 members. Call him at Laval University in Quebec and ask him for the list of names of the members. Trace them and find out how many are fakes like him, posing as anglophones. Ask Milner what nationality his father was and what nationality his mother is. If he tells you anglophone, tell him O.K. you will ask the RCMP to check it.

Henry Milner came here from Europe on a visa and does not have Canadian citizenship papers, and some people are giving him publicity as an anglophone group, when he should be deported.

Just what is Henry Milner's point in coming here being hired at Laval and then able to trick papers into passing him off as an anglophone?

Several weeks ago Rene Levesque mentioned that this group of "anglophones" were all for his government, but of course he failed to mention that many are not anglophones.

Writing to say...

Editor:

I am writing to thank the citizens of your city for their expressions of concern and to let them know that we in Winnipeg are dry and comfortable. The flooding of the Red River that devastated much of North Dakota and a great part of Southern Manitoba fortunately passed us by due to the Red River Diversion Floodway. Winnipeg was not only dry but acted as a refuge to many who were flooded to the South of us.

In past years whenever the Red River flooded in a serious way, we needed and received a great deal of help, but now that the City is protected by the floodway, we're fine and fortunately don't require any assistance.

We are grateful for the interest and human concern expressed by so many.

Henry the K, Rocky and the Shah: Iranian Triangle

WASHINGTON — Some fascinating documents, including a secret message from Henry Kissinger to the shah of Iran, have turned up in Washington. They were left behind by the shah's urbane ambassador, Ardeshir Zahedi, after he vacated the Iranian embassy.

The documents add some new jigsaw pieces to the great Iranian puzzle. They indicate that Kissinger, after leaving government, continued to advise the shah; that Kissinger recommended the return to prison of the dissidents whom President Carter had encouraged the shah to release and that Kissinger worked behind the scenes with the Rockefeller brothers, Nelson and David, to assist the shah.

These startling allegations add to the puzzle that we have been piecing together from top-secret documents and exhaustive interviews. In past columns, we have established that the Rockefeller brothers had close financial ties to the shah and that he had ordered his subordinates to channel Iranian oil funds through their Chase Manhattan Bank.

Significantly, Kissinger began his international career as a foreign policy director for the Rockefeller Brothers Fund. He is now back with the Rockefellers, at least nominally, as a consultant to the Chase Manhattan Bank.

There is also suppressed, secret documentation that the shah was the driving force behind the astronomical 500 per cent leap in oil prices and that Saudi Arabia had offered to block the price rise in 1974 if the Nixon administration would intervene with the shah. But Kissinger had stubbornly opposed any interference with the shah, who was left free to continue agitating for higher prices.

This persuaded the other oil-selling nations that the United States secretly supported the shah's drive for the moon. Soon the oil billions began pouring into the shah's coffers — much of it by way of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

Banking sources in New York City, Paris and Geneva have told us that the shah escaped with a staggering $25 billion, which he still controls through a maze of corporate fronts and bank accounts.

In two interviews, Kissinger angrily denied the insinuation that his attitude toward the shah was influenced in any way by the Rockefellers' financial dealings. His present services for the bank, he insisted, are strictly advisory. He also denied evidence that he has continued to advise and assist the shah.

But among the documents that the shah's ambassador left behind in the Iranian embassy were copies of cables he had sent to the shah. One of them, classified top-secret and dated Nov. 5, 1978, contains reactions to the shah's decision to install a military government.

Translated from the Persian, the cable, written by Zahedi, begins with this salutation: "I kiss your feet thousands and thousands of times and beg you to allow me to report to His Imperial Majesty the following..."

Among other tidbits, Zahedi reported: "I talked to Kissinger at 6:30. He said he was glad to hear about the shah's decisions and congratulations. He also said: 'You have to stay strong against all these critics. I believe that you have to get the prisoners you released earlier and put them in jail again. Your work will be easier if you put them in jail.'"

There was also a message from Nelson Rockefeller: "I would like to convey to your majesty my warmest congratulations and respect for the courageous, wise and statesmanlike decision which you have taken. By this decision you have saved not only the West but also Japan."

Kissinger told us that he made no such statement to Zahedi; in fact, that he was out of town at the time. Kissinger said it was not uncommon for ambassadors to concoct false, flattering reports. It was also possible, he suggested, for the shah's enemies to have fabricated the cable after they took over the embassy.

Iranian sources told us that Kissinger, after his departure from government, kept in constant touch with Zahedi and visited the embassy once or twice a week. This, too, was denied by Kissinger who said he saw Zahedi socially only "five or six times."

We have obtained signed receipts which indicate the shah's ambassador at least kept the Kissingers supplied with expensive Iranian caviar. On Feb. 8, 1978, they received a case of Persian vodka with their caviar. The receipts also show mysterious packages and envelopes going to Kissinger. He accepted a small Persian rug, for example, worth thousands of dollars.

We have also established that Kissinger and David Rockefeller, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, made it their business to find a sanctuary for the deposed shah. Our sources say that Rockefeller arranged the shah's temporary refuge in Nassau and that Kissinger intervened with President Lopez Portillo to get the shah admitted to Mexico.

Meanwhile, both Kissinger and Rockefeller tried in vain to obtain permanent residence for the shah in the United States. Rockefeller also sent Robert Armao, a former member of the late Nelson Rockefeller's vice presidential staff, to Nassau to co-ordinate the shah's operation.

This curious shah-Rockefeller-Kissinger connection appears to be at the center of the great Iranian puzzle.

Thousands welcome Queen Mother at Gathering

HALIFAX (CP) — The official opening of the 1979 International Gathering of the Clans highlighted the last full day of activities during the visit of the Queen Mother to Halifax.

Today, she leaves for Toronto, where the main event of her stay will be her attendance at the 120th running of the Queen's Plate on Saturday.

Thursday's opening of the clans gathering was a gala scene at the Metro Centre. Military and civilian pipe bands, Gaelic singers and Scottish dancers combined with personnel from Maritime Command for the Nova Scotia Tattoo.

The Queen Mother, wearing a pink gown encrusted with jewels and a sash of the plaid of her clan — the House of Lyon — was seated at one end of the hall on a high dais.

Premier John Buchanan, federal Regional Economic Expansion Minister Elmer MacKay, and Gathering chairman Gordon Archibald, all had a few words of welcome for both the Queen Mother and the gathered Scots before the event began.

Earlier in the day, the Queen Mother visited patients at Camp Hill hospital here, many of whom served in the two world wars.

In his opening remarks, Buchanan spoke of the close ties Nova Scotians have with the monarchy, and said those ties had strengthened over the years since the Highland settlers came here aboard the Hector in the mid-1700s.

PIPES SING OUT

The actual opening was highlighted by the 1979 Nova Scotia Tattoo, a presentation of Maritime Command of the Canadian Armed Forces. The skirl of bagpipes, the roll of drums and Scottish dancing, combined with military music and competitions.

The Queen Mother was seated on a high stage at one end of the arena between MacKay and Buchanan, and seemed to enjoy the festivities, smiling and leaning over from time-to-time to talk to one or the other.

She left the arena after the first part of the program, accompanied by the dignitaries and closely guarded by RCMP security personnel.

But before she left, she heard the melodies of such classics as Gardens of Skye and Hills of Alva played by the massed pipe and drum bands and to Mo Dhachaidh and Puirt a beul sung by the Gaelic Choir from Antigonish, N.S.

The Tattoo and opening were the last public events of the Queen Mother's visit here and represented the end of a busy day for the royal visitor.

Earlier, she visited patients and members of the Canadian legion at Camp Hill hospital, unfurled a flag at Province House marking the International Year of the Child and dedicated a statue of Sir Winston Churchill at a library.

The pace, which would be considered strenuous for a public figure of any age, did not seem to affect the Queen Mother, who often took time to chat with some of the thousands of spectators that crowded every event she attended.

The Queen Mother's willingness to chat, usually by asking short questions of the spectators, sometimes threw off schedules, and the timetable setbacks set officials scurrying to make up.

News Briefs

Civil service down - but salaries up

OTTAWA (CP) — There were 578,378 persons employed by the federal government and its enterprises in March and the gross payroll in the first three months of this year was $2.6 billion, Statistics Canada reported Thursday.

The number of public servants was down 5,189 from the total on the public payroll in March, 1978, but the salaries were up 9.4 per cent or $285 million from the first quarter of 1978.

Bedard won't probe police racism

QUEBEC (CP) — Justice Minister Marc-Andre Bedard said Thursday he won't immediately investigate charges that Montreal police physically abused members of the city's black community last week.

A spokesman for Bedard said the minister has instead asked Henri-Paul Vignola, director of Montreal's police force, to submit his report of the incident to the government.

Governors impressed by James Bay

JAMES BAY, Que. (CP) — Three New England governors, accompanied by Quebec Economic Development Minister Bernard Landry, said they were impressed after a visit to part of the massive James Bay hydroelectric development site Thursday.

The governors — Richard Snelling of Vermont, Hugh Gallen of New Hampshire and Joseph Brennan of Maine — flew in to tour the La Grande 3 dam and powerhouse construction site about 1,000 kilometres north of Montreal.

Ease off on Pratte, Lalonde warns

MONTREAL (CP) — Former federal justice minister Marc Lalonde said Thursday it was "despicable" of Transport Minister Don Mazankowski to announce publicly that he is looking into pension and severance pay given Mr. Justice Yves Pratte when he resigned as chairman of Air Canada four years ago.

Lalonde's comment, made in an interview, came on the heels of Pratte's announcement that he is resigning for health reasons from the Supreme Court of Canada, to which he was appointed almost two years ago.

Richard receives Premier's Prize

MONTREAL (CP) — Zachary Richard, a Quebec-based Cajun singer from Louisiana, has won the coveted Prize of the Prime Minister of France for the best French singer outside that country.

Richard, the fourth consecutive Quebec-based artist to win the prize, will accept the award late next month in France from the prime minister, Raymond Barre. Richard has only recently returned from celebrations in the Maritime provinces marking the 375th anniversary of the founding of Acadia.

Strikes hit Quebec Police Force

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec provincial police headquarters was one of the targets for rotating strikes by provincial civil servants Thursday, as file clerks and secretaries took the day off to protest government contract offers.

Civil servants were also off the job at the Montreal and Quebec City courthouses for the second day. Government messengers in both cities walked off the job and a strike by datacentre employees at four government departments continued.

Vancouver dailies back

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver woke up to its long-lost Province this morning and the Sun was scheduled to rise again later in the day.

After almost eight months' absence, the city's two major daily newspapers are back.

One out of 400 a millionaire

NEW YORK (AP) — One of every 400 Americans is a millionaire and the number is increasing, says a report by U.S. Trust Co. of New York.

About 520,000 Americans are millionaires, compared with last year's 450,000, says the report, which gives approximate figures developed through the use of a computer model.

Dief recovering from bronchitis

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — Former prime minister John Diefenbaker was in good condition in Victoria Union Hospital Thursday, recovering from a mild case of bronchitis.

The 83-year-old Progressive Conservative MP for Prince Albert was taken to hospital Wednesday.

Canada Dry recalls big bottles

TORONTO (CP) — Following a request by the federal minister of consumer affairs, Canada Dry Ltd. has agreed to recall all 1.5-litre bottles containing its products, the company said Thursday.

In a statement, the company said that without the large bottle, which can explode if tipped over, it will be difficult for the company to meet the demand for its products. The company called on provincial environment ministries to relax regulations and allow the sale of non-returnable bottles.

Twisters wreck Iowa towns

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Tornadoes raged through at least four north-central Iowa towns Thursday night, killing three persons and causing an undetermined number of injuries. The National Guard was called in to evacuate two towns after anhydrous ammonia tanks exploded.

The twisters wrecked buildings, knocked out power and telephones and felled trees.

Embattled Somoza vows to stay

MANAGUA (CP) — The U.S. ambassador met with Anastasio Somoza, a government source reported Thursday and there was speculation he asked the president to resign. But in a newspaper interview Somoza reaffirmed his determination to stay on.

Rebels trying to overthrow Somoza pulled out of the poor neighborhoods in Managua they had held for two weeks, allowing the National Guard to move in and claim virtual control of all the Nicaraguan capital for the first time in 19 days.

Montana launches diesel appeal

CALGARY (CP) — Montana Gov. Thomas Judge has made another plea for emergency diesel fuel supplies from Alberta, but it is unlikely that Canadian help could arrive in time for his state.

Montana urgently needs five million to six million gallons of diesel fuel to keep farm machinery trucks and essential public services rolling and to head off an imminent closure of its forestry, coal and manufacturing industries, the governor said in an interview Thursday.

CEQ

But he said it is necessary for the CEQ to locate the referendum debate on its own terms in order to make sure that the solutions to the present political uncertainty are not arrived at in a way which does away with their concerns.

"The CEQ must intervene if debate touched the issues of the financing of education, adult education, the retraining of labour, labour laws, employment policies, minimum wage, maternity leave and unemployment insurance", said Gaulin.

Roland Michener honored

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Roland Michener, Canada's governor-general from 1967 to 1974, was honored Thursday with the 1979 Freedom Festival award for outstanding contribution to the cause of freedom, peace and international co-operation.

Michener, 79, said he was surprised by his selection for the award because he expected to be more anonymous after being out of office for six years.

Shah 'marked for death'

TEHRAN (AP) — The leader of the Iranian revolutionary regime's campaign to assassinate the exiled shah of Iran vowed Thursday that the regime "will use every means to exterminate him" even though there have been setbacks.

Meanwhile, a Tehran newspaper claimed that Iran's 79-year-old revolutionary leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, is himself the target of two assassination teams. One was said to be part of a "master plan" drawn up with U.S. assistance. The other, linked to an alleged report from Iraq, was said to be already in Iran.

Postal crisis hits Britain

LONDON (CP) — If you're waiting for a letter from your maiden aunt in Ipswich, have patience — the British Post Office is in a snarl.

There are 20 million letters held up in sorting offices all over Britain. In all the national newspapers there are advertisements advising that "customers, especially in London, are asked to post only essential mail during this period of difficulty."

He said the boost of 21.5 per cent to an average price of $20.90 a barrel would "lead to worldwide inflation, less growth, more unemployment and endanger the stability of the economic system."

The declaration allows for "slight adjustments" in quotas for special needs generated by growth.

The summit states, in an effort to place on an abstract level but will touch on concrete issues which affect us directly."

Gaulin's speech was preceded by an unannounced address by CNTU President Norbert Rodrigue who reiterated the decision of his union not to take sides on the independence question.

Rodrigue said the CNTU agrees Quebec is "an oppressed nation and therefore has a right to decide its future", but emphasized that as labour unions the CNTU and CEQ have an initial duty to their members.

"Though we must fight against national oppression, we must not be taken for a ride by any capitalist interests, Quebec style or otherwise", Rodrigue said.

Rodrigue appealed for the maintenance of democracy and unity within the unions regardless of the political debate going on around them.

"We need to stick together in mutual respect even when we don't agree over specific issues and not let a referendum debate or other government maneuvers divide working people", Rodrigue said.

Supreme Court overturns dope conviction

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada has overturned a Quebec Court of Appeals decision convicting Raymond Cloutier of Sherbrooke, Que., on a charge of importing marijuana.

The court, in a 7-3 decision Thursday, upheld Cloutier's acquittal by the original trial jury.

Cloutier was charged with importing 20 pounds of marijuana in the bottom of a trunk and rejected an argument that linked Cloutier's possession of marijuana-smoking articles with the alleged importation of the drug.

This presumably would focus public attention on any oil producers that bid up spot prices.

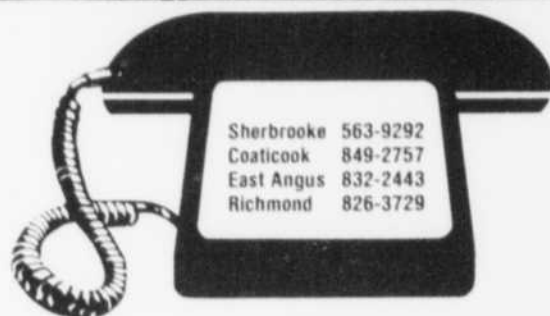

"We will likewise seek to achieve better information on the profit situation of oil companies and on the use of the funds available to these companies."

Other summit positions:

—A pledge to spur coal use, production and trade.

—Recognition of a need to expand alternative energy sources and to cooperate in developing new energy technologies.

LOCAL NEGOTIATIONS IN THE PROTESTANT SCHOOL SYSTEM

In February the Government passed an Order-in-Council defining nine items to be negotiated between the local School Boards and the Teachers' Union. The Eastern Townships Association of Teachers, the Union representing the teachers who are employed by the three Protestant School Boards in this area, deposited its demands on these items on May 21, 1979. The School Boards responded with a complete offer on June 4, 1979. Local negotiations form a part of the total bargaining process towards a new Collective Agreement.

Other items, including salary and working conditions, are currently being negotiated Provincially between the representatives of the Employees (the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers) and the Employer Group (the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards and the Government).

Kay's Kitchen Korner by Kay Taylor

This makes a nice emergency type of dessert for a special occasion — when time is of the essence. I try to keep a sponge cake in the freezer (on the ready).

COMPANY CAKE
1 small tube cake (chiffon, sponge or angel)
6 tablespoons medium-dry sherry, rum or orange liqueur

1 (3³/₄ oz.) package whip-type vanilla or lemon dessert mix
1/2 cup cold milk
1/3 cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 Flake coconut

Split the cake into three layers. Sprinkle each layer with 2 tablespoons sherry. Prepare whip-type dessert according to directions, using milk and orange juice in place of milk and water. Stir in orange rind. Chill in the freezer for 10 minutes, then spread the layers with the whip and put together. Frost with remaining whip and dredge with flake coconut. Chill until needed. Garnish with a few fresh berries or mandarin oranges. Serves 8.

40th wedding anniversary

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Horace Whitehead on the occasion of their 40th Wedding Anniversary on July 1st.

Vacation Bible School begins

Hey, Mom! There's nothing to do. This problem will be solved for elementary school children in Sherbrooke who take part in the Vacation Bible School program.

Held in the First Baptist Church and supported by a number of area congregations, the fun-filled, two-week program will take place each morning from 9:00 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. All boys and girls are invited. There is no charge. Donations of cookies or cold drinks will be welcome.

Crafts and projects will be shown at the parents' night, Thursday, July 12.

The program begins Monday, July 2 and continues through July 13.

Leadership will be given by the staff of the Canadian Sunday School Mission of Ayer's Cliff.

Theta Rho Girls meet

KNOWLTON — The Vice-President Barbara Talbot opened the meeting in the place of the President, with the attendance of eight members. The chaplain, Holly Brunton, said the opening prayer and all joined in with the Lord's Prayer.

Correspondence was read and answered. They had one bill for stamps, which was voted to be paid.

On the 1st of July, the girls will be having a fishing tent and candy will be sold at the Lions' Club Day.

On the 8th of July the girls will be rolling papers at the Vice-President's residence in South Stukely, to raise money for the club. They are planning a walk-a-thon in the near future, also a rummage sale in October.

The next meeting will be held in Knowlton on the 21st of July at 1:30. Hope all the members will be there!

Ann Landers says....

Worries about that first kiss

Dear Ann: I'd like to say a word to the girl whose boyfriend laid a sloppy, wet goodnight kiss on her. She signed her letter "Turned Off." Maybe this letter will help her as well as other young girls. They need to understand a few basic things about life, and maybe I can help.

When I was 16, I was terribly shy, but more of a man physically than a boy. I was awfully crazy about a certain girl and I had been dying to kiss her for three months before I finally got up enough nerve to try. It was a beautiful moonlit night and I was driving her home from a party. When I walked to the door, I lingered a while making small talk.

Finally I said good night. She turned her face up and closed her eyes. I read this as the invitation I'd been waiting for. When I bent down for my first romantic kiss, my nose hit her nose, my front tooth bumped her lip and I bit her.

Thank the good Lord she had a wonderful sense of humor. She also knew I was embarrassed to death. The dear girl started to laugh and so did I. At that moment I was so grateful for her compassion and understanding that she endeared herself to me forever. Eight years later we were married.

When I read the letter in your column from the girl who complained because the guy's first kiss was like amateur night, I knew I had to write in defense of every shy, awkward Romeo in the world. — Constant Reader

Dear Reader: What a heartwarmer! And now if anyone else has a first-kiss story with a moral, let's have it.

Bridal shower

STANSTEAD (DB) — A bridal shower was held in the green room of the Stanstead Legion on Saturday afternoon, June 23, for Debbie Keeler of Stanstead.

Debbie had been called to the Legion under pretense of making arrangements for her wedding reception, and was very surprised on arriving at the top of the stairs to be met by her future sister-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Belanger, who pinned a kitchen gadget corsage on her blouse.

She was escorted to a yellow and green decorated chair between her mother Mrs. Charles Keeler and her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Lyndon Warner, who assisted Debbie in opening her many useful and lovely gifts. Also seated at the table were Mrs. Norman Chamberlain Sr., her maternal grandmother and Mrs. Annie Keeler, her paternal grandmother and Mrs. Elma Smith, maternal grandmother of the prospective groom. Each of these ladies wore red and white tea rose corsages tied with a white ribbon, which were made by Mrs. Ellie Hartley of Rock Island.

As the gifts were being passed around and admired, Debbie's sister Miss Pamela Keeler, made a chapeau of the bows and ribbons, which the bride-elect wore, as she thanked everyone for coming and for the many beautiful gifts. She also thanked the hostesses for her shower.

As each guest entered the hall she was asked to guess the number of kernels of corn in a jar. Mrs. Lyndon Warner was the lucky winner.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Raymond Belanger, Mrs. Maitland Warner, Mrs. David Drew, Miss Connie Hartley and Mrs. Ellie Hartley.

A beautiful shower cake, in the shape of two hearts, frosted in pink and white, made, decorated and given by Mrs. Claude Robinson, aunt of the prospective groom, was placed on the head table, where Debbie cut and shared it with her guests. Many pictures were taken during the afternoon.

As the guests left, they wished Debbie much happiness in the future.

The Scarab-Seal

Gem of Ancient Civilizations

The study of carved gems is a fascinating one, and it has endless possibilities for the jeweler who really wants to know more about them. All gems have an ancient lineage, but the art of carving gems originated long before the art of faceting them. Excavations have revealed that the first carved gems were made about 4000 B.C. Those were cylinders and seals that were used principally for affixing "signatures" to contracts and for messages and tokens of identity.

In the Nile Valley, the cylinder was supplanted by the scarab-seal. The rise of the symbolism of the sacred beetle, about 2500 B.C., made the scarab cherished as a powerful amulet. It was the symbol of the god "Khepera", the Creator. This symbol was so sacred that, for a period of about two thousand years, every person of the population of seven million Egyptians had one or more of these gems. It is no wonder that some of these ancient gems are still available to collectors today.

That popular inscribed amulet-seal of deep religious significance spread to Syria and Phoenicia, and thence by the trade routes to the Greeks and Etruscans as the basic gem form until about the 4th century B.C.

On the broad oval base was engraved the symbols, names or figures for the impression. A common inscription was the name of the pharaoh, who was considered a god. Many bore the full name, titles, occupation of the owner of the seal. Some merely had symbolic decorative motifs. An interesting human interest type of inscription is found in the so-called "wish scarabs", with such inscription as "May thy name be established, mayest thou have a son" and "May Amen protect thee and give thee strength."

We have presently on display in our store window such a scarab amulet-seal, mounted in a 14 kt. gold swivel ring so that the hieroglyphs carved on the base of the scarab can be used as a seal.

The story of early civilizations is told in their carved and engraved gems and in their pottery.

Yesteryears

By MARJORIE GOODFELLOW

This week we are casting our minds back to two topics of yesteryear, spurred on by related current events: the problems of purchasing "spiritous liquors" and the celebration of Canada's birthday on July 1.

The labor difficulties being experienced by the Quebec Liquor Board and its employees are placing some barriers in the way of public desire to purchase the products sold in the Board's outlets, but these are minimal in comparison to the possible effects of the Temperance Act of 1864 in a community of the late 19th century. A perusal of the minute book of the Municipality of the Township of Brompton gives some insight into the controversy over the decision to permit or to forbid the sale of alcoholic beverages, a decision which rested with the voters of the community. The first mention of the problem appears on August 20, 1863 when it was moved by D. Rankin, seconded by M. Ross and carried "that the Mayor be authorized to prosecute all such parties as are known to sell spiritous liquor without licence within this municipality".

While individuals may have been fined as a result of this resolution, the municipality's government was not without mercy as may be seen in the minutes of the January 4, 1864 meeting of Council when it was moved by W. Beattie, seconded by M. Ross, and carried "that the portion of the fines inflicted on ... Barrie for selling liquor without licence accruing to the Council be remitted".

In the next few years, there seemed to be few difficulties. It is recorded that Clement Perrault and E. Tetu were granted certificates for tavern licences in 1868 and 1869 respectively. In April, 1870, evidence of a change in attitude appeared when the Secretary-Treasurer was asked to notify one H. Jackman "to stop the sale of spiritous liquors", followed in a few days by the petition "the sale of Intoxicating Liquors" be stopped.

The petition was not granted but it was not without effect. Subsequently, there was considerable discussion over the granting of a current tavern licence to E. Tetu of Brompton Falls, but he received one in 1870 and 1871. In 1873 and 1874, no such licences were granted. On March 1, 1875, Council decided to test public reaction by granting a tavern licence to Charles Goulet who had been applying, without success, since 1873. Citizen response was swift. At the June 7, 1875 meeting, Council refunded the ten dollars paid by Charles Goulet for his licence after officially and formally receiving the following notice:

"The undersigned qualified Municipal Electors of the Municipality of Brompton hereby require that a poll be taken in terms of the Temperance Act of 1864 to determine whether or not the qualified Municipal Electors of the said Municipality will adopt under authority and for enforcement of the said Act the following By-Law which we hereby propose for their adoption to wit - The sale of intoxicating liquors and the issuing of licences therefore, is by the present By-Law prohibited within the Municipality of Brompton under authority and for enforcement of the Temperance Act of 1864."

Witness our hands this sixth day of March in the year of our Lord, One-thousand-eight-hundred and seventy-five.

Accordingly, John Chillas, the Secretary-Treasurer, scheduled "a Public meeting of the Qualified Voters of the Municipality of Brompton upon Monday the Twelfth day of April at ten o'clock forenoon at the Addison School House to take into consideration the above By-Law and to approve or disapprove of the same in the manner prescribed by Law".

The poll took place and the minutes record that the Secretary-Treasurer was paid ten dollars for his trouble in holding the poll. However, the minutes do not reveal the result of the vote. It is assumed that those who requested the adoption of the by-law prohibiting the sale of liquor lost, because no such by-law appears in the minute book, where they are recorded and numbered consecutively. However, the minutes are equally silent on subsequent issuing of certificates for tavern licences. Contemporary newspaper accounts would clarify the matter. Does anyone have copies of the Richmond Guardian for that period?

With the July 1 holiday weekend coming up, we invite readers to send in reminiscences about this celebration over the years. The Brompton minute book contains only one mention of the subject between 1855 and 1892: On June 1, 1885, a resolution was passed by Council granting the sum of $20.00 towards the Dominion Day celebrations at nearby Windsor Mills.

Smaller gatherings were popular in the 1930s. The accompanying photographs record a July 1, 1935, outing by the Brompton Road Young People's Association when members of that group climbed Mount Orford. There were no trails in those days. The young people made their way through the brush, following the course of a creek so as not to become lost. The climbers became very muddy on their way to the summit. No doubt the lunch which they took with them was welcome refreshment following their exertions.

Send accounts of your memories or answers to last week's puzzle to: Heritage, 2520 Roy St., Sherbrooke, Que., J1H 5L6.

Some members of the Brompton Road Young People's Association gathered around the pole at the top of Mount Orford on July 1, 1935.

Hunting, Fishing and Conservation

Although the muskellunge must have been well known to our ancestors, since they gave its name to a county, a municipality, a river and a lake, it is probably the least well known of all sporting fish in the province. Without a doubt the muskellunge is the most impressive fresh water fish in Quebec and there are enough stories about catching them that I think it is worth devoting a column to it.

For several years the ministry of Tourism, Fish and Game has been introducing the muskellunge to lakes in the Laurentians and the Eastern Townships. The results have varied considerably and we can only hope that the ministry will continue this policy since there are a small number of anglers who find muskellunge fishing a tremendous challenge and pleasure.

Over and above a good knowledge of the habits of this dynamic and mysterious fish, one also needs a remarkable patience in order to be successful. While trout and bass fishermen usually return from their excursions with their baskets full, those who seek muskellunge often enough return empty handed, hoping that their dignity will not suffer too much as a result.

Going out to fish muskellunge is a little like going out to hunt wild game, because it offers the same kind of challenge. The real muskellunge fisherman does not let himself become discouraged and feels lucky if during the course of one season, perhaps after several attempts, he manages to catch a few or only one of them.

The real muskellunge fisherman is not interested in going after a species which will assure success and he is not interested only in very large fish. That is why I say that the real muskellunge fisherman must have tremendous patience, because he has a desire to catch a trophy fish or to catch none at all.

It seems unfortunate then that about two-thirds of the muskellunge caught each year are landed by people who are in fact fishing for other species such as walleye, pike and bass. This has been true in my own experience; all the muskellunge I have ever caught have been hooked when I was after something else.

Many people tend to confuse the muskellunge with the Great Northern Pike. They belong to the same family, but can be distinguished by the number of pores underneath their lower jaws; the muskellunge usually has between 11 and 20, while the pike has five to 10 on each side.

One could say that the muskellunge has similar habits to the Great Northern. It is solitary, watchful, has a tremendous appetite, strong, fast and can reach a considerable size. The world record for a muskellunge recorded by Field and Stream Magazine is 69 pounds, 15 ounces, caught in 1957. The largest muskellunge ever caught in Quebec weighed 50 pounds and was six feet long, it was caught near Montreal in Lac St. Louis.

The muskellunge can be caught with a casting rod but trawling tends to get more consistent results. Since it is more combative than the pike, I recommend that you use very strong equipment when you fish for muskellunge and use large lures — namely, devons, rebels, rapalas and swim wiz, the latter being the most effective.

Although the muskellunge season starts in the middle of June, the best time to catch them is during the month of August.

In the Townships we find muskellunge in Little Lake

Magog, Lac St. Georges de Windsor, William's Lake and Joseph Lake. They are also found in certain parts of the Yamaska River and the Chaudiere River.

I want to take this opportunity to wish muskellunge fishermen good luck for the coming season.

Hints about stamps

This week I'll really cut my column short as, having read the "Letters to the Editor" I note that one, Mr. R. St. Louis, does not like the fact that I do not get all my facts straight and that I should stick simply to items on stamps.

I have written for the Sherbrooke Record for years without any complaints coming to my attention — in fact, I have had several phone calls since this item appeared on Wednesday, June 20, asking me to keep this column unchanged. In fact I think that if you want this column written differently from the way I write it, then you also should write to the editor.

Maybe Mr. St. Louis would like the honour of putting something together 52 weeks a year and not make any errors. Some people I know are perfect, but I don't happen to be one. Really I don't know much about stamps apart from the fact that, for over 50 years now, I have had a great enjoyment out of collecting stamps. Oh yes, I was a collector long before I became a very small dealer. I didn't ask the Record for the honor — they asked me. If you think, for the good of the hobby, I should simply print or reprint "Press Releases" and once in a while put in a picture of what the next stamps will look like, let myself or the editor know.

It certainly is a lot of work to get these cuts for the paper from around the world and — remember this — I do not get paid for my time. It is simply done to try to keep collectors and others informed of little personal items. Our Mr. St. Louis never to my knowledge attends shows in the U.S.A. or stamp club meetings in, say, Knowlton or Lennoxville. Why doesn't he try to help the hobby instead of finding fault with a person who does not claim to be an expert like himself? Enough said.

The set of stamps that Great Britain released on "Horse Racing" have not as yet arrived, but a couple of sets of the Post Cards showing the four different stamps have arrived and would make a nice addition to anyone's collection. Stamps will surely be here next week.

Like all stamps that Canada or any other country issues, some don't think much of the latest in the miniature sheet of the flag stamp. I for one think it great and it does show you just what each province's flag looks like and shows you the name of the province. When the flowers came out some years ago, they failed to show what province the flower was from.

This week Canada Post has announced three New Issues that will be coming along shortly. I will try to give you in black and white what these stamps look like.

First, on July 3, there will be a 17-cent stamp to commemorate the Canoe-Kayak World Championships to be held in Jonquiere and Desbiens, Quebec. From June 30 till July 8, there will be 25 million of these stamps released. I could go into more detail, but you might not appreciate it.

On August 16, Canada will honor the World Championship of Women's Field Hockey. The championships will take place in Vancouver from August 16 to 30. There will be 25,500,000 of these issued.

M.M. Woodman

On the same day, August 16, Canada will add another stamp to the flower series. This time it will be a 15-cent value and will be continuous printing, that is to say, no one knows just how many will be printed before Ottawa changes the flower design for something different.

The President of the Knowlton Stamp and Coin Club phoned me and, as I have told you before, the club will hold meetings all summer long, no breaks, but for the July meeting only the date has to be changed from the first Monday night at 8 p.m. in the Legion Home, Knowlton to the second Monday night. Remember, this is for the month of July only. Please try to attend and show the Club you really appreciate what they are trying to do for stamp and coin collecting.

Remember the Ayer's Cliff Flea Market is every second Sunday from 10 a.m. till 4 p.m. There are at least two coin dealers and one stamp dealer there and you may just find something you need for your collection. The next one will be July 8 and every two weeks afterwards all summer long. It makes a nice change to drive around and see what else the other dealers have to offer.

Please, if you have any suggestions, give them to me that I may try to please and help any of you who want to be helped. If I don't know the answer I will try to find it for you.

St. Luke's Church Women

WATERLOO — On Wednesday evening, June 20, the monthly meeting of St. Luke's Church Women's was held at the home of Miss E. Hanna and Mrs. A. Hanna with an attendance of nineteen members and two visitors, Mrs. Hilda Wilson and Mrs. Mary Sicard. Mrs. Dorothy Copping was co-hostess with Mrs. Hanna. Mrs. R. Streeter presided and called on Mrs. Tucker to open the meeting when she read, "The Parable of the Dead Sea" followed by the Guild Prayer. Minutes of the May meeting were read and approved. Three thank-you notes were also read. In the absence of the Treasurer, the financial report was read by Mrs. R. Lawrence, and showed a very satisfactory amount on hand. One bill was presented and will be paid. At this time, the receipts of the last day of the rummage sale were reported, and totalled a very encouraging figure. After discussing a few items of business, it was moved and seconded that a cheque for $1700.00 be given to the Church Corporation. It had been previously decided that at this meeting, the drawing for the electric lamp would take place. Mrs. Tucker drew the ticket which bore the name of Clarence Allen of Foster. A drawing among those present was then held. An African Violet, given by Miss Hanna, was won by Ola Streeter, while the Mystery package given by Mrs. Newman was won by Doris Wilson. For entertainment, Mrs. Hanna had invited Mrs. Mary Sicard to show slides on Peru, which had been taken by her son, James. These were most colorful and enjoyed by all. Following this, refreshments were served by the hostesses. At this time the President presented a going-away gift to Mrs. Tucker, also a prettily decorated cake made by Mrs. Streeter and decorated by Mrs. Lawrence. This was shared by all. The place of the September meeting will be decided later.

Your Birthday
June 30, 1979

This coming year you're likely to experience a more exciting social life than you have for quite some time. Partake of fun activities where you can meet and mingle with new people.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In order for you to manage others effectively today, you must first set the proper example. Assistants will mirror your behavior to the letter. Your new Astro-Graph Letter tells you what lies ahead for you for the year following your birthday. Get yours by mailing $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Forego temptations to take speculative risks today, even though they may look good on the surface. Gambles could backfire unless you analyze all the aspects.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Things that you can do quickly today you will be able to do quite well. Your skill may wane, however, in matters requiring great patience.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Opportunities for personal gain could be diluted today if you view things too skeptically. Don't let negative thoughts defeat you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Keep dealings with friends today on a purely social level. It's best that you don't become involved in their financial affairs, nor they in yours.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Luck may intervene today in helping you accomplish something you'd be unable to do on your own. The way it develops could be quite surprising.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be very frank and open today with your friends. Lay all your cards on the table. Give them no cause to think you are hiding something.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In joint ventures today, be very careful not to allow an outsider become involved. This person could throw a monkey wrench into the operation.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your judgment is quite keen today, but for some strange reason you may harbor unnecessary doubts regarding your decisions. Don't overanalyze needlessly.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Move while the industrious mood is upon you today or else you may put off doing essential chores. Your indifference grows the longer you procrastinate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Under no circumstances should you compromise your high standards today, even though you may be tempted to do so.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Regarding changes you're contemplating, it's best that you do not seek too many outside opinions.

Sunday, July 1
Your Birthday
July 1, 1979

Changes you have been hoping for become realities this coming year. Part of the reason will be because you have a stronger financial outlook.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) As a go-between today, you're likely to have no peers. You know how to put things together so that everyone benefits, including yourself. Learn more about yourself by sending for your new Astro-Graph Letter which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is a good day for you to sell persons who could be helpful to your present plans on your ideas. Point up the ways in which they could benefit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Give situations that mean something to you materially top priority today. This is the area where you will be the luckiest.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have leadership qualities today, so make it a point not to hide your light under a bushel. Be a take-charge type.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though you may not be fully aware of it today, developments behind the scenes are working in your favor. Shortly, the results will come to light.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) No one really likes to ask favors but should you find it necessary to do so, this is a good day for it. Friends are anxious to help you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're at your best today in challenging situations, so don't hesitate to meet things head-on. When the going gets tough, you get going.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) When you're around persons you feel could add to your storehouse of knowledge, do more listening than talking today. It could be a real education.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Should someone in whom you have faith approach you with a business proposition today, give this person your full attention. It might be a real winner.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your willingness to cooperate is your greatest asset today. Because you are a good team player, benefits will come to you through those with whom you associate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have the ability today to utilize your skills and talents in extremely productive profitable ways, both for yourself and others. Use them wisely.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be too surprised today if you're given more than your usual share of compliments. Others materially. Try to salt a little way.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Look for hidden ways, such as fixing up something, you thought worthless or obsolete, to help ease the strain on the family budget. Things will work out well. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The day may start out a little slowly, but by afternoon the momentum picks up considerably. It should be anything but dull.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You won't have to be overly aggressive to satisfy your material appetite today. Lady Luck is backing you up all the way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't turn down any invitations just because you wake up grumpy. Your mood will do an about face, making you playful and gregarious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

There is inner strength concealed in your makeup today. You'll bring it to the surface if it's needed to reinforce any lucky breaks coming your way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You are exceptionally fortunate when dealing with large groups or organizations today. Don't hold back any of your ideas or plans.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Give others a chance to wake up before you solicit their aid — then they'll pitch in and you'll have all the cooperation and help you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't try to do everything yourself today. Working in tandem makes things go easier and doubles your creativity and productivity.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your greatest gains today come from an interest shared with someone who has the same desires as you do. Together you're a winning combination.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) After some revisions are made to solve early minor problems, the day works out beautifully. You'll have fun with special friends.

TAURUS (April 20-May 10) Lack of communication may at first give you a few headaches today. Later, however, with everyone pitching in you'll accomplish what you set out to do.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There is a strong possibility you'll spend the day with some old pals you may not have seen for awhile. It might even be a chance encounter.

Rangers come out on top in wild melee with Angels

It was another of those knockdown, drag-out battles between Texas Rangers and California Angels.

The pitchers were knocking down the batters and the batters were dragging themselves back up and hitting the ball.

After plenty of hits by the batters and some near-misses by the pitchers, the Rangers wound up on the long end of a wild 14-4 decision Thursday night in the game between two of the American League West leaders.

"It was just one of those nights," said California's Jim Barr, who was roughed up by the Texas hitters in the first inning and left after getting only one out.

The Rangers bolted to a 12-0 lead in the first two innings, belting 16 hits off three hapless California pitchers. That apparently got the Angels angry; in the third inning the Rangers' Pat Putnam was hit by a Steve Eddy pitch.

The next inning, California's Dan Ford was brushed back by Ranger starter Ferguson Jenkins. "I HAD ORDERS"

"I had orders to knock him down, to hit him," said Jenkins. "We have to protect our hitters; they are the guys who do the job for us and so we have to protect them."

Noted Barr:

"These things (brush-back pitches) happen and they're going to happen as long as baseball is played. It will always happen."

Things were a bit less boisterous in other American League games, as Kansas City Royals edged Oakland A's 7-6; Cleveland Indians beat Baltimore Orioles 6-3; New York Yankees stopped Toronto Blue Jays 5-3 in 10 innings; Detroit Tigers whipped Boston Red Sox 6-3; Chicago White Sox beat Seattle Mariners 2-1 and Milwaukee Brewers topped the Minnesota Twins 6-5 in 10 innings.

Billy Sample knocked in four runs for the Rangers while Bump Wills and Dave Roberts smashed four hits apiece. Jenkins gave up only five hits to the slumping Angels, who lost their seventh straight game.

"I tried to tell myself the score was 1-0 and pitch accordingly," said Jenkins. "I felt great the first six innings, and the last three I felt done on both sides."

Royals 7 A's 6

Al Cowens' RBI single capped a two-run ninth to lead Kansas City over Oakland. Jamie Quirk led off the inning with a single off Dave Heaverlo and went to second on Willie Wilson's sacrifice bunt. After George Brett was walked intentionally, Amos Otis singled home the tying run and sent Brett to third before Cowens delivered the game-winning hit. Al Hrabosky was the winner in relief.

Indians 6 Orioles 3

Ron Hassey drove in three runs and Rick Wise and Sid Monge combined on a five-hitter as Cleveland ended a 10-game losing streak. Hassey singled home a run during a two-run second inning and had a two-run double in the fourth, doubling his 1979 RBI total for 14 previous games. Wise allowed all five Oriole hits, including Lee May's 12th homer, before needing Monge's last-out relief help.

Brewers 6 Twins 5

Ben Oglivie's tie-breaking homer in the 10th powered Milwaukee over Minnesota. The blast by Oglivie, who drilled two home runs Wednesday night, came off Mike Marshall, 9-7, with two out and overshadowed a comeback rally by the Twins, who had tied the game with two runs in the ninth. Bill Castro picked up the victory in relief.

Turcotte honored

TORONTO (CP) — Ron Turcotte, former jockey of Secretariat who won the United States Triple Crown of thoroughbred racing in 1973, was honored Thursday night as the Canadian horse-racing man of the year.

Turcotte, 37-year-old native of Grand Falls, N.B., was paralysed from the waist down last July in a spill at Belmont Park in New York.

He received the award at the fourth annual Sovereign Awards dinner to honor the stars of Canadian racing in 1978.

Jean Romanet, general secretary of the Federation Nationale de Societe de Courses de France, was given a special award for outstanding contribution to international racing.

Two tied for LPGA lead

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Debbie Austin collected two birdies on the front nine and added four more on the back nine Thursday to finish with a three-under-par 69 and a share of the first-round lead with Barbara Barrow Thursday in a $150,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

Austin boomed her drives and hit 16 greens, which were softened by a severe overnight thunderstorm.

Barrow, 24, matched two birdies and two bogeys as she started her round on the back nine and then ran in three long birdie putts on the front for her best round as a professional.

Seventeen golfers were bunched within two strokes of each other in the 72-hole event, which carries a first prize of $22,500.

McCumber leads Memphis Open

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Pat McGowan sank a 55-foot putt on the 15th hole Thursday to tie early leader Mark McCumber at five-under-par 67 for a share of the first-round lead in the $300,000 Memphis Open golf tournament.

McCumber, a 28-year-old Floridian who won the Doral Open three months ago, hung up five birdies over the par 72, 7,249-yard Colonial Country Club course during the morning round.

Just behind McCumber were Gary Koch and Tom Jenkins, both at 68, and 1974 Memphis champion Gary Player, Mike McCullough, Victor Regalado, Wally Armstrong, Brad Bryant and J. C. Snead — all at 69.

McCumber's lead seemed secure for the day as McCullough went to five-under on No. 16, then had a double bogey on the 17th before finishing with a 69.

Dejected Vilas out of Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Guillermo Vilas beamed with triumph as he lifted the Wimbledon men's singles trophy high above his head — on movie screens all over the world. But there won't be a real-life repeat this year.

Vilas, who beats actor and sometimes tennis pro Dean Paul Martin in the movie Players, bowed out of the 1979 championship Thursday, beaten in four sets by an acrobatic 19-year-old American ranked just 41st in his own country. Vilas was the seventh of 16 seeds to fall in what is fast becoming the most open Wimbledon in years.

Tim Wilkison of Shelby, N.C., beat the sixth-seeded Vilas 5-7, 6-2, 6-1, 7-6 to earn a third-round meeting with Tom Okker.

There were fears today that top-seeded Bjorn Borg, bidding for his fourth successive Wimbledon title, might be forced to withdraw. The Swede, scheduled to play big-serving American Hank Pfister this afternoon, is suffering from a thigh injury and spent Thursday in intensive treatment.

FINISHES WET, STAINED

Wilkison ended his match against Vilas with his shirt sweat-soaked and covered by grass stains, but the American teen-ager, watched by his mother and father, had little time to reflect on his big win before he hustled to partner John Sadri in a first-round men's doubles match.

"All my best results have been on grass," Wilkison said later. "I'm always trying to rush things, but when it got to the tie-breaker in the fourth, I just told myself to take my time and relax."

Vilas, who has won every major tournament except Wimbledon, was bitterly disappointed at his loss to the agile Wilkison.

"I think he played quite well, but I helped him a lot," said the Argentine star. "I was really thinking about winning Wimbledon this year. It is the only big one I haven't won. But I am not dead yet."

No. 13 Manuel Orantes of Spain also fell, losing to little-known Frenchman Gilles Moretton 7-6, 3-6, 7-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Third-seeded Jimmy Connors lost the first set of his second-round match against 37-year-old Marty Riessen, but went on to win 6-7, 6-3, 7-6, 6-0.

CONNORS IN HIDING

Connors, elusive all week, again refused to meet reporters, but Riessen did not give Connors much chance of beating Borg or second-seeded John McEnroe. And about giant-killer Wilkison, Riessen said:

"I have only played him once, but I have practised with him a few times. He will be tough for anyone and I think he is going to have a great future in tennis."

Eighth-seeded Paraguayan Victor Pecci beat veteran Australian Phil Dent 6-4, 7-6, 6-3.

In the women's singles, top seeds Martina Navratilova and Chris Evert Lloyd had a day off, but fourth-seeded Tracy Austin, who had a first-round bye, dropped the first set before coming back to beat South African Brigitte Cuypers 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

"That was just the sort of match I needed," said Austin, a 16-year-old from Rolling Hills, Calif., who has won 20 of her last 21 singles matches. "I just need a couple more matches to get my concentration back."

Marjorie Blackwood of Ottawa lost to Dianne Fromholtz of Australia 6-2, 6-3.

Only two of the women's seeds failed to survive the

CREIGHTON TO COACH BRUINS?

BOSTON (AP) — Fred Creighton, fired in the spring after helping build Atlanta Flames into a National Hockey League playoff contender for four years, appears to be the Boston Bruins' No. 1 choice as head coach.

Bruins general manager Harry Sinden, considered by most Boston players — of off-the-record conversations — as the logical one to assume the coaching duties from the now-departed Don Cherry, insisted Thursday night that no decision has been reached.

However, Sinden did indicate in a telephone interview that Creighton is the Bruins' top choice.

"We talked with Creighton and others involved today, but nobody has been offered the job," Sinden said. "We have not offered a contract to anyone yet."

Sinden, who coached the Bruins to the Stanley Cup championship in 1970, quit for private business and then returned to the front-office position. He appeared to hedge on published reports originating in Toronto that Creighton will be offered the Boston coaching job next week.

However, he reiterated with a laughing "no way" when confronted with rumors he would return to the bench as coach.

Don Cherry, who led the Bruins to four Adams Division titles in five years, quit in a policy dispute with Sinden, leaving a $60,000-a-year post to take over the lowly Colorado Rockies for more than $100,000.
