Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

June 11 to 18

Sunny and quite warm with high humidity, then cooling winds and scattered evening thundershowers. Cold drizzle in the mountains, clearing afternoons. Temperature range 55-80°F, and only 60 hours of sunshine this rainy week.

Hot humid days with morning fogs or heavy dews mid-week, then more thunder and hail. Tornado conditions possible along the Ottawa Valley, even for Montreal Island at this time. The summer will be warm but not quite as dry as last year.

Bright and warm for the weekend, but evenings cool with some wind. Dawn fishing good, fair in the evening.

Unity Boys' Club

Few vacancies remain in Camp Lewis quota

By MAURICE MARIASINE

With school days nearing completion for another season and holiday-time approaching, the boys at the Unity Boys' Club are starting to focus their attention on the great out-of-doors and this brings to mind a camping experience at Camp Lewis.

Camp Lewis, sponsored by the Montreal Boys' Association, a Red Feather Service, is situated near St. Adolphe de Howard, which lies between Ste. Agathe and Morin woodland in the centre of which is Lac Ste. Marie, on a chain of lakes eight miles long, affording plenty of open water for boating and over-night outings.

The camp proper is situated on a peninsula separating two lakes, and consists of 29 cabins for campers; Recreation Hall; Swimming Beach with a modern dock; Hospital; Four Staff Cabins for married program staff and a new Administration Building. The Administration Building is the heart of the camp and houses the kitchen, two dining rooms and living quarters for the housekeeping staff. The Camp also now has flush toilets, washrooms and showers.

The beach has a sandy bottom which slopes down gradually, thereby affording plenty of water frontage for safe water activities.

Boys are assigned to cabins which have the name of an animal, fish or fowl found in Canada. There are eight boys to a cabin and three cabins form a Tribe bearing an Indian name. Tribes are supervised by Tribe Director who lives in one of the cabins and has two Counsellors — one in each of the other two cabins.

Camp Lewis period dates are as follows:

From: June 30 to July 13; July 13 to July 26; July 26 to Aug. 9; Aug. 9 to Aug. 22.

Paul Moseley, chief registrar for Camp Lewis reports that practically all camp periods are already filled and few vacancies remain. This indicates a tremendous year for Camp Lewis. Medicals prior to each of the camp periods will be carried out at the Unity Boys' Club.

Meanwhile Crystal Cunningham, Girls' Work Supervisor of the Unity Boys' Club has this to say:

Last month most of the handicraft classes and group club activities culminated with the annual Hobby Show where the many and varied articles made during the year were on display. The efforts and time of the volunteer workers who taught the handicrafts were greatly appreciated; especially by the parents, some of whom had no idea their children were capable of producing the articles on display. Paintings, book covers, pillows, tooled copper pictures, puppets, embroidery and figurines were among the articles made this year in the Club's Craft Rooms. The Workshop presented lathework lamps, coffee tables, telephone stands and game boards. All these combined made a very interesting and colorful Hobby Show Exhibition at which the children proudly pointed out their articles; some saying "That's mine with the ribbon."

The leaders and participants of the group clubs do not have the satisfaction of seeing their year's work displayed on a table before them and their admiring friends but most have the satisfaction of knowing that they have learned something new, interesting and educational. The girls in the various dancing classes may walk or move with added grace because of their year's hard work practicing exercises and dance steps.

Some of the boys may have at last decided what they want to do when they finish school after attending a movie and lecture sponsored by one of our local industries. The worth of helpful guidance by volunteer workers in group clubs and handicraft classes cannot be measured. I wish to thank, on behalf of the many boys and girls who participated, the men and women responsible for the success of this past winter's programme.

SUMMER PROGRAMME

Plans for this year's summer programme have been completed and copies of the schedule can be obtained at the Club. The opening highlight is a trip to the Granby Zoo on Wednesday, June 29th. Learn to Swim lessons start in July at the YWCA. On Dorchester street. A limited number of boys and girls can participate but there are stitll vacancies that should be filled immediately. Registrations for the Learn to Swim Summer Project must be completed prior to June 15th.

Bi-weekly trips to St. Helen's Island are again on the program and this includes games, swimming, wading, fishing and hikes to the old fort and the museum. A chartered bus leaves Unity Headquarters every Monday and Friday morning at ten o'clock. Club members are reminded to bring a lunch, towel, bathing suit and twenty-five cents for transportation. Tours, hikes, crafts and sports are also scheduled. So be sure to pick up your copy tof Unity's Summer Program Schedule.

Crystal Cunningham.

SOCCER—BOOMING AT U.B.C.

Five soccer teams have been organized at the Unity Boys' Cub under the direction of Rupert Bowen and John Meister. The former is looking after a four-team house league and the latter is in charge of the senior boys team.

BASEBALL

Manny Barnoff and John McDonaugh of the Little League Indians report that after a slow start in League play, the team finally got into the win column defeating the first place Orioles 12-8.

TALENT CLUB

The final presentation of the current season will take place at the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital on Wednesday, June 22nd. The entire cast of the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade will entertain the patients in a two-hour Variety Show.

$34,130 is approved for Westmount Park

A total of $34,130 for large-scale improvements for Westmount Park was approved this week by Westmount City Council. Repairs, fencing, new play areas, sodding and removal of sick and damaged trees are planned. The proposed allocation was made to cover the following:

The walls of the kidney pond will be repaired and the bottom asphalted.

The access road, running between the greenhouse and library on one side, and tennis courts on the other, will be properly constructed and asphalted.

Fencing of this road will be relocated on the south side.

New play areas will be paved with asphalt.

Damaged and diseased trees, totalling 17, will be removed.

Certain areas will be seeded and, where necessary, sod will be put down.

New fencing, especially to the east of the tennis courts, parallel with the library, and at other locations.

Certain pathways will be reconstructed.

Mothers will be able, in future, to push their small children "up in the air so blue" without fear that they will slide off, in the newly-proposed belt-type, canvas safety swing seats.

Collisions, if any, should not produce injury. Young acrobats will have a chance to exhibit their prowess with senior gymnasium equipment and various types of climbing play apparatus. The sum of $4,125. allocated for this purpose was approved by Council. Other parks, it was noted, are under consideration for improvements.

$30,800 mooted

WAG will get new drainage, running track

Westmount Athletic Grounds will have a new running track, an underground drainage system, and will be regraded and resodded, the cost of which will be drawn from reserve funds. An allocation of $30,800 was approved by Council — $732.34 from WAG Renovation Reserve, $5,866.19 from WAG Clubhouse Renovation Reserve and $24,201.47 of the $28,400 profit on sale of part of the Athletic Grounds.

City manager Dawe assured Mayor Cushing and members that his aim is to have the work completed by the end of August, in time for school's opening.

An outlay of $3,500 will provide new catchbasins on Grosvenor at the south-east corner of Sherbrooke; on Metcalfe at the north-west corner of Melbourne; on Elm, south-east from the lane below Sherbrooke; and on Rosemount near Sherbrooke. These locations have hitherto been provided with insufficient drainage.

Westmount Library sets summer hours

Summer hours at the Westmount Public Library will begin June 18 and continue until after Labor Day. During that period, the Library will be closed all day Saturday, and will close on Wednesday at 6 p.m.

This year, and because of the joint Canadian-American Library Conference to be held in Montreal, the Library will close on two days: Tuesday, June 21, and Wednesday June 22, but will be open Monday, Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. till 9 p.m.

Last June, Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, visited Westmount. To recall this event, the library now has on display a number of photographs taken on that occasion. They will remain until the end of the month.

'Victory by Liberals would create greatest chaos imaginable,' Hayes

By MARK P. DANIELS

Murray W. Hayes, National Union candidate in Westmount-St. George, charged today Quebec will be faced with the "greatest chaos imaginable" if the Liberals take office June 22.

"The promises the Liberals have made are senseless," he declared in a message to his workers.

"Panicked by the constant growth of Quebec's economy under the administration of Premier Antonio Barrette and his predecessors, the Liberals have realized that the only thing they can hope for is the opposition.

"And so, knowing this, they have opened a Pandora's box of promises, hoping —not too strongly, but hoping nevertheless — that some people may be fooled.

"The people of Quebec will not be misled. They know good government when they see it. They know reckless politicking when they see it."

Mr. Hayes, vice-chairman of Montreal's policy-making city executive committee and long-time business adminstrator, said the choice Quebecers will have to make in the June 22 be an easy one."

On the one hand, he said, there is the National Union, "a party of unequalled accomplishments in provincial administration."

On the other hand, there is the Liberal party which, "doomed to defeat after defeat in the last 15 years, is now resorting to a flood of promises that no dyke could retain."

He said that as a city administrator, he had been able to observe what the National Union has accomplished.

He had also studied the program of the Liberal party closely.

"With the experience I have in the field of administration," he asserted, "I hope, not only for the people of Quebec but for the Liberals themselves, that their party will remain in opposition.

"For, should the Liberals take office, the province of Quebec will come face to face with the greatest chaos imaginable."

Discussing the Liberal party's promises, he asked:

"How can anyone be fooled? What did the Liberals ever accomplish in the provincial government? For scores of years they held power — and they did nothing.

"Under Liberal regimes, Quebec was condemned to being a backward cousin of the Canadian family.

"And, while they did nothing, they also plundered the provincial coffers. It is not only I who says this. The leader of the Liberal party itself admitted at a press conference only a few days ago that the Liberals were thrown out of office because they were corrupt."

He said the "so-called new team" of the Liberal party offered no guarantees whatsoever to the electorate.

"What can the people hope to expect from a group of defeated provincial candidates of the past and former federal members who were swept away at the polls by the people?"

He said he was running in the current campaign "because I feel it is a duty.

"Personally, I have nothing to gain nor to lose.

"I am offering to serve the public because there is a job to be done. I know the needs of Greater Montreal; I know how they can be fulfilled.

"When Premier Barrette personally asked me to be his candidate in Westmount-St. George, I could not refuse.

"To say no would have been to turn my back on the community."

NU is corrupt, worn out—Hyde

Richard Hyde, the official Liberal candidate in Westmount-St. George, asked for the active support of women voters at a recent meeting of the Liberal association. He said "it was a Liberal Government which had granted women the right to vote in 1944 and that it was part of the current Liberal platform to grant equal rights to the married woman of Quebec respecting their private property."

Mr. Hyde stated the deaths of Mr. Duplessis and Mr. Sauve "had produced a decapitated party and Mr. Barrette has failed entirely to provide any of forceful leadership.

"It was Mr. Duplessis himself who often stated a regime which has been fifteen years in office is worn-out and should be replaced," Mr. Hyde continued. "He could not" Mr. Hyde added, "have better described the present condition of the Union Nationale.

"While the Liberals and the press have described the last Session as 'The Session of Scandals,' Mr. Barrette has taken pains to try to convey the impression that it was 'The Session of Education."

"As far as education was concerned," he stated "a number of reforms were actually made, all of which had been demanded by the Liberals for eight or 10 years. The principle of statutory grants based on a predetermined formula was finally agreed to, after having been consistently refused by the Union Nationale for 10 years. Mr. Hyde said "great stress was laid upon the fact that a working arrangement had been reached by which the universities could receive grants provided for in federal legislation. They (the Union Nationale) do not mention, however, that this same solution could have been reached 10 years ago, and that the sum of $10,000,000 which was lost to the universities between 1952 and 1956 has not and will not be recovered by the universities," he added.

Speaking of the "numerous scandals within the Union Nationale," Mr. Hyde emphasized the fact that "every one of these cases had been exposed before the Legislature." He praised the Council votes $75,560 for civic improvements

Having allocated $72,555 for improvement to the Westmount Athletic Grounds and Westmount Park, Council passed motions providing $75,560 under its Capital Works Program, for the following:

New traffic signs, including piping, etc., where required—$3,300.

Corporation Yard improvements, including better storage facilities, improved material handling and improved facilities in organization of trade shops. The services of an architect or engineer will be necessary to establish a master plan, it was pointed out. These improvements will take place over a number of years—$10,000.

Extensions to primary circuits with installation of a lateral on one circuit. Cable installation on these will complete the City's stand-by service—$17,100.

The City's underground neutral network will be completed by further installation of cable—$21,100.

Danger of explosion will be eliminated by the installation of 24 submersible-type switches in manhole transformers. The present switches have, in the past, given off a spark when wet, causing an explosion by reason of ever-present gas. Two manholes will be enlarged—$6,350.

Meters for new installations and replacement of obsolete equipment —$12,910.

A two-year supply of wooden telephone poles—$4,800.

WE SAY

Our air pollution worst in America

ONE of the highest concentrations of smoke in its air of any city of North America has been recorded — yes, you guessed it — in Montreal's midtown.

Sampling during the winter and early spring at Burnside and Crescent streets showed an air pollution worse, even, than what is commonly accepted as America's smokiest place, Pittsburgh!

While not smack-dab in midtown Montreal, we in this area nonetheless breathe a good proportion of that air — what drifts in upon us to say nothing of what we soak up when we work, shop and play in that part of the metropolis.

Nothing is said about injurious gases except that these usually go hand in hand with smoke and dust.

The industries of the East End, including the oil refineries which have been blamed for some of the malodorous pollution of air all over the metropolitan area, are energetically studying their possible contributions to the problem.

But automobiles and even heating systems are suspected of doing their share of the damage and more than isolated action — indeed, concerted community action — is indeed to reduce this menace to our urban living.

BY THE WAY

WHEN every car has its telephone and its radio, there will be enough noise in a 10-mile traffic jam to cover a whole county, especially as a driver who has asked for a number "will be told by loudspeaker when his call is through." It will have to be a very loud speaker to be heard above the dance music, the cackling of studio audiences, and the thousands of telephone conversations in progress. In the case of accidents, will the plea "I was on the phone at the time" be allowed?

YOU SAY

Reader disappointed at teacher tactics

AN OPEN LETTER

Sir: Being a member of a professional association myself plus being a member of management, I've followed the presentation of your case vs. the Protestant School Board with great interest. My initial general sympathy gradually changed to keen disappointment at your amateurish and sloppy handling of what has been and, I imagine still is, a matter of concern to you. Any of us who have been or still are under the employ of someone, must realize that whether we agree or not, it is the man who pays the monthly stipend who has the final say. If we are to disagree and with good cause, it is in our best interest to best present our case.

Why, I ask, were the Home and School associations not asked to publicly state their views? If they were asked, why was your case not adequately presented to them so that their sympathy at least would be with you. In a letter from Mr. Boyd, Misses Hatfield and King to Mr. Miller of The Monitor you state "Possibly you and your readers . . . are not aware of the following facts . . . ." and you go on to state an instance or two. The fact that, for example you might receive $1,700 more annually for teaching in Sudbury or Cornwall or Fort William is scant compensation for upheaval of home and family and into an area you know little about. No, kind sir, there's more to it than that.

Please don't cloud any future negotiations with a "provisional" tag to your present acceptance. Why don't you release to the public that many teachers in your associations had broken ranks and had individually asked for contract renewals for 1960-61. At some of your own meetings, much time has been spent in "firing up" members who wanted to exercise their right to think for themselves. A single woman teacher who is sole supporter of an invalid mother for instance, can ill afford possible loss of income ill-timed bickering might cause.

I must add at this time my gratitude to the newspapers for their factual and unbiased treatment of this belabored affair. One aspect they have unsuspectingly uncovered is the lack of public sympathy with your case. I suggest you try to correct this to help you in future negotiations.

D. Fenwick.

(Ed. Note:—The above letter was sent to the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, The Federation of Protestant Women Teachers, The Protestant High School Women Teachers' Association and The Protestant Men Teachers' Association.)

Parliamentary wives busy themselves producing Canadian doll collection

By NAT BERNSTEIN

The somewhat tranquil exterior of the Ross Webster home, perched atop Cote St. Antoine road in Westmount, entirely belies the concentrated and often exacting activity taking place behind the closed doors.

Mrs. Ross Webster answered my ring with a wide, winning smile and "so you're the young man I'm going to bore to death."

I hoped not.

They had told me I was to do a story on dolls. And being so inclined, I looked forward to the interview. It turned out, however, the dolls I was to write about were not the dolls I'd thought about.

In fact, I met a scale-sized, well-mustachioed model of the Sieur de Maisonneuve and a well-clothed representative of that old MAAA. And a snowshoe.

Mrs. Webster told me these were her creations. There was another of Marguerite de Bourgeuys which had been dressed by the sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame in Westmount.

She disclosed the interest in dolls — and Canadian dolls for that matter — began at a tea party attended by a large group of parliamentary wives, about a year ago. Someone had pointed out that although there were many representative collections of European dolls, there were no Canadian.

And so 100 energetic parliamentary wives dedicated themselves to the building of a collection. The dolls would represent every province and certain periods in Canadian history. Each doll would also be accompanied by a short biography.

And so the technical work began.

Mrs. Webster explained she used materials to correspond as much as possible to the individual depicted. If necessary, dyes were used. Authough she attempts to adhere to the real thing, she tries to be original as well.

The chief difficulty in dressing the dolls is their small size, Mr. Webster explained. The doll of the Sieur de Maisonneuve had taken her 21 hours to complete. The doll-dressers must, she said, make their own patterns, and the intricacies of sewing the small clothing tend to make the job that more difficult. Ideas for the dolls are derived from the photo or written word in history books.

Interest in the doll collection is quite intense, Mrs. Webster said. "You get to the point where everything in the house has to be nailed down 'else it will be used in the doll-dressing."

Mrs. Webster added fictional characters from Canadian literature will also be depicted by the doll - dressing enthusiasts. The dolls, she contends will fascinate school children when they visit the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa.

To date the parliamentary wives have completed 39 dolls which are on display this week in Ottawa.

Annual Rotary Carnival opens at rink Tuesday

An exciting, colorful Carnival, organized by the Rotary Club of Westmount, will begin Tuesday evening, June 14, at the Westmount skating rink.

Record-breaking crowds are expected to attend the annual affair which will be open daily from 7:30 to 11 p.m. June 14 to 18 inclusive.

This year there will be 30 booths, featuring games of skill and chance, bingo, novelty booths, fish Pond and the diner. A 1960 Pontiac will be drawn for (tickets are available from Rotarians or at the carnival). Other prizes include lamps, blankets, hampers, French dolls and many more items.

Rotary Club president Frank E. L. Sharpe, principal of King's School, stated the carnival "is an amateur production. No professionals are engaged to assist us, and no concessions are given to anybody. It is operated by the 77 members of the club assisted by their wives and about 300 volunteer workers. We purchase all our own merchandise."

A Committee of five members is in charge of the Carnival: W. W. Allison, C. W. Wright, W. G. Moxley, W. F. Kenwood and W. F. Close.

All proceeds of the carnival will be turned over to community welfare, one of four "avenues of service" Rotarians are pledged to sustain. An important project in community service is already underway in Westmount. It is the establishment of Prospect residence for old folks, and two properties on Prospect street have been purchased by the club with this plan in mind.

Mr. Sharpe disclosed the residence, which will cost $85,000, is expected to be in operation sometime next fall.

Part of the money raised by the carnival will be allocated to scholarship funds, penitentiary service, youth service and the Golden Age Committee.

Two scholarships of $400 each are offered yearly to one boy from St. Leo's Academy and one boy from Westmount Senior High School. One student, boy or girl, is sent each year to Ottawa on "Adventures in Citizenship," and two high school boys are invited to each of 30 Rotary luncheon meetings to promote goodwill and amity. Youth Services also consist of safe driving and public speaking courses.

The Golden Age Committee arranges spring and summer bus trips for old people in homes in and around the community, and supplies first run films all year round. This film service has also been made available to the Montreal Children's Hospital.

At the Federal Training Centre, St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, the Rotary Club of Westmount provides a choir master who doubles as a show director for 36 weeks of the year, a service which has been in operation four years.

In the past, substantial assistance has been given by the club to Weredale Camp and Weredale House, Unity Boys Club, Girl Guides and Boy Scouts.

"Not a penny of the money raised by the Carnival is used for the Club itself," said Mr. Sharpe. Members are responsible at all times for paying their own way," he added.

Mr. Sharpe said that in his six years as a member of the Rotary Club, of Westmount, he has seen many "commendable sights or sites, of service," and he feels that the carnival is one of the most popular and well-supported events in Westmount.

Westmount High graduates largest class in history

The largest number of students in Westmount High School history to ever graduate from the school were told by retiring principal R. O. Bartlett school marks are still the best determining factor of the success a student will achieve.

At the high school graduation exercises held last Friday in St. Matthias Church Hall, Westmount, Mr. Bartlett, in his farewell address, congratulated the students on their fine results and browsed over the traditions which had been upheld by this year's graduating class.

"Students have now reached a milestone in their lives," he said. "Happy excitement, parental pride, carefree laughter, are shown here today after eleven years of school life. It is the close of an era in one's life, and the beginning of another, blending knowledge and maturity with good judgment to ensure a happy and useful life.

"For me," he continued, "graduation exercises this year signify an end to a school career after 37 years in the teaching profession and 16 years as principal of Westmount High. During this time I have congratulated over 2,000 graduates, who received certificates from this school.

"Many distinguished graduates," he stated, "laid the foundations of their careers within the walls of Westmount High School. Many students before you have successfully met the academic challenges similar to the ones given to you. They were taught by many of the same teachers, and it is no small honor for you to follow in their footsteps.

Successful careers, Mr. Bartlett told his audience, have always been the result of determination and perseverance. School marks are still the best way to determine the success a student will achieve. In the last few years we are proud to find that in the evaluation of Grade XI, Westmount High School stands by itself, second to none."

"During the last six years," he said, "23.5 per cent of the Grade XI students have obtained honorable standing, and 80 per cent received High School Leaving. In 1959 more than 100 entered university with 25 scholarship students among them. Westmount High School graduates have done exceedingly well, and many honors and awards have been given.

"There are," he said, "several contributing factors that bring about such success. First credit is due to the very capable teaching staff, who planned lessons, followed them up faithfully and well; and saw that things got done. Good teacher relationships is yet another factor. Tasks assigned are not always easy, and sometimes both student and teacher are disappointed with the results. But this all leads to a growing respect, admiration and responsibility.

Westmount High, he concluded, is fortunate in having so many teachers of this kind. Teachers consider it a great honor to be assigned to the staff of Westmount High, and many have devoted a lifetime to teaching students here. Their success is due to good students, who have met the challenges presented, who always exhibited a spirit of co-operation and made achievement possible."

Ronald Cohen, president of the Students' Council, presented to Westmount High School a portrait of Mr. Bartlett, painted by the well-known Canadian artist, Robin Watt. The presentation was made on behalf of the Students Council and Vox Ducum, the school annual.

Graduation certificates were announced by Miss Dykes and Mr. Lawley and were presented by Mr. Bartlett.

The girls' Award of Honor was presented to Beatrice Redpath by Mrs. C. E. Swift, on behalf of the Westmount High School Alumnae Association. John Guy Patrick Sheel received the boys' award of honor from R. E. Fisher on behalf of the Westmount High School Old Boys' Association.

Ronald Cohen, valedictorian, paid tribute to "excellent teachers and a truly warm-hearted principal," and added the challenge of the future would be much different from the one the students have thus far known.

'Get your bike back'

Ever notice the similarity between a poker hand and bicycles?

If you were to visit the Westmount Police Department you'd discover what we mean. And if you are one of those who bets high on a full house with nothing wild, you'd not be disappointed.

A brief, though convincing tour through the storage rooms in the Westmount station-house, brimming with bikes of all manner and description — several of them new — has impressed upon us that either bicycles, tricycles and what-have-you are dirt cheap; owners have too much money to care one way or the other, or they just don't care about their property.

If you are among the many whose bikes are missing or were reported stolen, drop by the station-house and ask if you could have a look at the bikes stored away there.

There is also the chance if you don't act quickly, you'll find the bikes have been turned over to the Provincial Public Curator who in turn sets them up for auction. If your bike hasn't been with the department for a year and a day,

Stone wall that 'went over' goes over in Council

Westmount City Council upheld the Architectural Commission's approval of a retaining wall over the 12-foot building line on Chesterfield avenue, erected by N. H. Rassenti. The purpose of the wall is to contain the earth fill at a reasonable slope and prevent washouts on Victoria avenue to the east and onto neighboring property on the south.

Councilman Drury wished to be assured that the wall in question was not of concrete and was told by Mayor Cushing that it is a stone wall. Mayor Cushing continued, "The only other treatment would have been a rock garden, which would have necessitated repairs. The owner built that wall in good faith — he didn't realize it was going over." A permit was granted to Mr. Rassenti.

Donald Hendry withdraws

Donald Hendry, independent candidate for Westmount-St. George, withdrew his bid to contest John Richard Hyde and Murray W. Hayes in the June 22 Provincial elections.

In a statement issued late Wednesday, Mr. Hendry said, "After thorough consideration of the political situation in my riding, I have come to the conclusion that were I to remain as a candidate the vote would be split so badly that Westmount-St. George would get, in effect, representation by compromise.

"It appears that the only way Montreal will get a fair deal in terms of representation in the legislative assembly and distribution of provincial government spending in the Montreal district is through the formation of a Montreal Party. Such a party could conceivably win all 17 ridings in the Montreal district, hold a balance of power in the legislature, and use this power to get Montreal its democratic share of representation and government spending.

"Both major parties have shown in the past that they were not willing to do much for the Montreal district. The rural riding control the legislature. To be politically practical both parties have catered to the rural vote."

'World in most dangerous stage' St. George's School students told

An apple-swiping boy who grew up to become Carleton University's fourth president, Arnold Davidson Dunton this week told the graduation class of St. George's School, Westmount, that they are moving in a perilous world, which is in "the most dangerous stage in the history of man.

"There is a fair chance that you and all of us will be blown off the face of the earth before too long," said Dr. Dunton. He offered the young graduates incentive, however. "It is also probably the most exciting time. Because of the increase in human knowledge, man, if he doesn't blow himself up, has a far better opportunity to make it a better world for himself, than his predecessors had," continued Mr. Dunton. Young people today have an exciting time because of their knowledge. Brain power, meaning power taken in the best sense, will show them not only how to unlock the secrets of nature, but how to handle themselves.

"We are going to need people who have gone particularly far in a particular branch of knowledge. I once knew all there was to know about physics—now I know only a little . . . the amount of knowledge in this study is probably doubling every ten years. We need well-trained scientists to keep abreast of the latest developments."

Students who are interested in the Social Sciences, he said, will learn how to work and teach others, live and govern themselves.

More than ever before, insights passed down from our forbears must be held tightly — past and present literature and art must be caused to flourish. Nourishment must be the heritage bequeathed to us.

Mr. Dunton, who was brought up in the St. George's School area, began his education at Montreal High School and Lower Canada College. He studied at Grenoble University, France (French Literature and History), McGill University; Trinity College, Cambridge (Economics), and the University of Munich (German and Economics). He also tutored for a year in Mexico. He has been a reporter, associate editor and editor, was general manager of the Wartime Information Board in Ottawa, in 1944 and has been chairman of the Board of Governors of the CBC. He was appointed vice-president of the Canadian Association for Adult Education in May, 1959.

He told St. George's School graduates to "think, use good judgement, examine critically, to examine for beauty and what's worthwhile," and advised them not to settle down in the suburbs without spending a number of years at university. "Place your bets on learning," he told them, "and stretch your bets to take another few years and realize you will have lots of time for settling down later."

The informal side of education includes "just reading books which happen to interest you — if you do become interested try to read a collection of one author." He reminded the students that "one needs to keep in touch with what's going on now."

A proper study of Canada's two distinct cultures can more properly be gained from outside, said Dr. Dunton, advising travel to other countries. "Go to other places—to study them, to see how they live, what they have to say." Canada, regarded by many of us as being a pedestrian sort of country, should be kept as a separate entity, he said, in regard to certain suggestions that have been made that Canada should become one with the United States. "Keep on learning," he told St. George's students.

A cheque for $2000 was presented by Ronald Blumer to Mr. John B. Frosst, Chairman, Board of Directors. This sum of money was raised by the students from their Carnival.

Miss Matthews, who told the audience of students and parents that she was "extra happy, extra proud and extra sentimental," told the graduating class to follow the path of excellence and look only for the best.

Westmount Wolf Cub Packs hold rally in skating rink

Inclement weather last Wednesday forced the Wolf Cub Packs of the Westmount District to hold their combined outdoor rally under the sheltering roof of the Westmount Skating Rink — and games that were to be played on grass were played with the same enthusiasm on the concrete flooring.

The packs represented the following churches: St. Andrew's, St. Leo's, St. Matthias, Calvary, Dominion Douglas, Stanley Presbyterian, and Westmount Park-Emmanuel. There were 152 noisy Wolf Cubs in attendance, and twice that many enthusiastic spectators.

The rally opened with a Grand Howl taken by Col. J. Eric Slessor, Westmount District Boy Scout Commissioner. Immediately afterwards, the presentation of a Medal of Merit was made to Akela (leader) F. C. Carey Foster of the St. Matthias pack, by Mr. Earle Moore, President of the Montreal Regional Council and an International Boy Scout Commissioner.

The Rally, being representative of a normal pack meeting, was made up of a jungle dance, a sing song, and many games, each game being handled by a different cubmaster. The game most enjoyed by both cubs and spectators was called "The Lady Goes to Market" relay race in which the cubs had o put on and take off women's clothing. The winning sixes were from St. Leo's and Dominion Douglas Packs.

The rally was closed by a sing song, and then the final Grand Howl — and as the cubs and spectators left the Arena, you could hear "OOMPAHS" everywhere as many of the spectators tried to remember how the cubs had sung "Ging Gang Gooley".

Other members of the official party, besides Col. J. Eric Slessor and Mr. Earle Moore, were S. Len Shannon, President of Westmount District Boy Scout Council, and Cyril Dendy, Executive Provincial Field Commissioner.

Wstmount District Packs intend to make the Rally an annual part of their combined pack program to keep Westmounters acquainted with Wolf Cub activities the year 'round.

Great need seen for child mental retardation clinics

By VALENTINA RAHR

DR. ALAN ROSS, 653 Upper Belmont, chief surgeon at Montreal Children's Hospital, was interviewed yesterday on CBC Montreal Matinee, on the subject of mental retardation in children of all ages: "Severe cases of mental retardation in children can easily be detected," he stated. "Mild cases need specialized testing. At our clinic, we have a unique service which provides such testing. The clinic is provides a psychiatrist, a pediatrician, a social worker, and a psychologist. Here they try to determine the state of mental retardation in the child, and also help the parents to face the problem. Many children need several tests to assess the rate of deviation.

And then the slow, painstaking job of education follows, to help the child to adjust to this condition.

Here are cases from the almost normal, to the most extreme which require complete care for all the child's needs." In the six years since the clinic, which is unique in Canada, has been operating, one thing is outstanding — a great need exists for this type of service.

This type of work is carried on completely by donations, and occasional grants from the Montreal Protestant School Board of $250 per child. Recently a provincial grant of $50,000 was promise, may be the fund which can establish a much larger clinic in Montreal, with wider services. About three out of 10 children in Canada are mentally retarded," he concluded.

Last Sunday a tea party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Reusing, son of Mrs. H. F. Reusing, Grosvenor avenue, for members of the Canadian Authors Association, Montreal Branch. Present were: Ludwig Kos, Wilfrid Werry, Rev. Fred Wilkes, Mrs. Pollock Graham and daughter, Miss Calahan, Miss Una Wardleworth, Miss Alice Lighthall, Mrs. G. Campbell, Miss Helen Howes, Mrs. Murray, Miss Malca Friedman, Mrs. E. Dyckerman, Miss Betty Warshaw, Miss Mary B. Murdock, and Miss M. Crawley. Mrs. George Horrobin and Mrs. S. McGee helped with the refreshments.

SWEET CARGO FOR THE QUEEN: 10 bottled gallons of Quebec maple syrup were hoisted into the hold of Canadian Pacific's "Beaverdell" last Thursday morning. Mayor J. C. Cushing of Westmount (centre) was at shed 7 to see his city's gift to Queen Elizabeth go aboard. Here he is flanked on his right by Canadian Pacific general foreign freight agent James McPherson, and on his left by Capt. W. R. Thorburn of the Beaverdell. The Beaverdell sailed Sunday, and is due at London about June 16.

Maple Syrup gets shipped

Canadian Pacific's 10,000-ton cargo liner "Beaverdell" had a royal corner in her hold when she sailed from Montreal Sunday for England. Consigned to Buckingham Palace are two cartons of bottled Quebec maple syrup, gift of the City of Westmount, to Her Royal Highness Queen Elizabeth II.

Mayor J. C. Cushing of Westmount saw the syrup safely aboard the Beaverdell at harbor shed seven last Thursday morning, accompanied by Canadian Pacific general foreign freight agent James McPherson and Captain W. R. Thorburn, master of the ship.

Westmount gave Her Majesty a silver maple syrup jug engraved with the city coat-of-arms when she visited there on her tour in the spring of 1959. This treat for the palace breakfast table will help refill the vessel. All the syrup was distilled from the 1960 run of hard-maple sap, but some came from the sugar bush at Tamaracouta, a Boy Scout camp in the Laurentians, and some from the Morgan Arboretum, at McGill University's agricultural Macdonald College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

"The City of Westmount is honored to have the opportunity of sending Her Majesty a sample of this excellent Canadian product," His Worship remarked when his council learned the Master of the Royal Household had announced the Queen would accept the ten-gallon present.

The Beaverdell is expected to tie at her Thames berth June 16, after her St. Lawrence-North Atlantic crossing and a call at Antwerp.

Baha'i forum this Sunday

"Questions Often Asked About the Baha'i Faith" is the title of a discussion which will be conducted by Miss Pamela Hutchins of Montreal and Mrs. Betty Frost of St. Eustache-sur-le-lac Sunday, June 12, at the Montreal Centre of the Baha'i World Faith, 1548 Pine avenue west, at 8:15. The public is cordially invited to attend.

There will be an opportunity for the members of the audience to question the speakers regarding this faith which seeks to establish "the unity of religion and the oneness of mankind".

Dog Obedience School

Not only people get degrees

By VALENTINA RAHR

This is graduation time in Canada. All over the country students clutch their diplomas, and start looking for jobs, adventure, and a chance to prove the worth of their years of training. Among human beings, the achievement of a degree and its effects are all quite normal.

But there are other types of degrees that sometimes take almost as many years to achieve. These are awarded to worthy canines who earn them at dog training schools.

Dogs can be awarded several degrees, I am told. C.D. — Companion Dog; CDX — Companion Dog Excellent; U.D. — Utility Dog; T.D. — Tracking Dog. There are also classes in preliminary obedience for puppies which take about six weeks.

"At the obedience school, a dog gains confidence," stated Mrs. Alex Casgrain, whose Puppygarten classes take place every spring at St. Phillip's Church Hall, corner Sherbrooke street west and Connaught.

"He learns to make friends with other dogs without having to turn and run because of fear, while the aggressive dog acquires good manners, and learns to behave in the presence of other dogs.

"A dog will often perform tricks for his master in return for a favorite food or a sweet. But at the Obedience School they learn to obey in return for praise," she explained.

Owners come to the school once a week to learn what to teach the dog at home, in the most human way possible. If that is neglected, then a dog cannot keep up with the others in class. The first thing then, in the obedience school, is to teach the owner how to transfer knowledge to the dog.

Frisky, friendly, aggressive, timid — all types and sizes of dogs have gone through the dog obedience schools that Mrs. Casgrain founded in 1947. More than 2,000 dogs have graduated from her class. Courses generally take about ten weeks, and consist of 10 lessons.

The puppygarten course gives the owners a good start on how to teach puppies to come when called, and other commands. Basic obedience is the theme of the second course, which includes walking at heel, no pulling, following, staying when told, lying down on command, etc. These are the main exercises. The advanced obedience course consists in working off leash, jumping and retrieving, working in a group and singly.

Beyond these two courses dogs can go on to train for competition at obedience trials. Next comes obedience trial competitions, which consist of exercises already learned, but with much more precision.

"The bulk of people only want a reasonably well mannered dog. Those who want to go into trials with their dog become very in-

PLUMBING

At Your Service . . . With A Record of Achievement

The old saying has it that "There is no substitute for experience" and, in the plumbing and heating business, this is especially true for no one can do a job better than an expert. For this reason, we are listing here some of the oustanding projects that we have handled during our 46 years in business :

At the present time, we are nearing completion of a job of installing all plumbing and heating equipment in 63 houses for the Quebec Cartier Mining Company at Lake Barbel, a few miles from the town of Gagnon which was in the news recently when threatened by forest fires. This job is scheduled to be completed by August 1st.

Two years ago we did the same job for the Iron Ore Company of Canada in 200 houses at Knob Lake.

Recently we completed work on the installation of the plumbing and heating equipment in the mechanical building at the new BP refinery at Ville d'Anjou.

Also, we have just finished remodelling and modernizing all the bathroom facilities in the nurses' home at the Queen Mary Veterans Hospital.

And we are now busily engaged in installing new showers and toilets and a new heating system in the Montreal Badminton Club on Atwater Ave.

These achievements are not being listed here in a spirit of boastfulness but rather to show you that we are capable and experienced enough to handle your requirements, whether the job is large or small.

Marriage counsellor says

Sole stability in family life is instability itself

By MIRIAM ARMSTRONG

Marriage itself is the client when a husband and wife with problems step into a Marriage Counselling Centre, according to Mrs. Dorothy Freeman, associate professor at the McGill School of Social Work and consultant with the Red Feather Marriage Counselling Centre.

In an address to members of the Rotary Club of Westmount at the club's weekly luncheon-meeting, on "The Why and How of Marriage Counselling," Mrs. Freeman told Rotarians that in modern family life, father is not always in the driver's seat. Sometimes it's mother, and sometimes it's the children, she sai'.

"There is no clear-cut distinction in family roles," averred Mrs. Freeman, who says the impact of two world wars has left its mark on family life. "The family" she continued "is less of a clan-type with respected grandparents on hand and large families where brothers and sisters may care and share. Small families lack examples and contacts. Instead there is a high degree of mobility, as many married women have joined the growing female labor force in the business and professional world. Families average a move every four years. The only stable thing ahead" she contends, "would appear to be the very instability of family life today."

Of the firm opinion that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, Mrs. Freeman organized the first pre-marriage counselling course for engaged couples at McGill through the Extension Department last spring. Young people are exposed to group discussions, films and lectures on topics related to family life: money, relatives, sex, implications of parenthood, religion and friends. The course, called "Looking ahead to Marriage and Family Life," is open to the public and will be available in the fall.

If a marriage runs into trouble, the Marriage Counselling Centre of Montreal may be of use to the couple. "There is no weakness implicit in a request for help in solving marital problems," Mrs. Freeman stated, "it takes courage to admit to difficulties. A popular misconception of getting help with such problems is to talk it over with a friend. This is ineffective, because friends usually take sides, thereby adding fuel to the fire. Another popular fallacy is the belief that there is a quick and easy answer for problems within a marriage, but there is no such cure-all.

"A marriage counsellor does not take sides," she continued. "He or she tries instead to see the bones of contention from all angles and tries to enable the two people facing a crisis to see themselves objectively. Sometimes a couple will be referred for psychiatric aid if their difficulties are too acute for counselling. Fifty percent of the clients are self-referred; that is, made appointments on their own initiative, while the remainder are referred by ministers and lawyers."

A training course for professional marriage counsellors, the first to be offered by a Canadian University, was introduced by Mrs. Freeman three years ago at McGill University, and now has 17 trainees. To be eligible, a prospective trainee must have a Master's Degree in Social Work and three years of family counselling work. Techniques of interviews, how to diagnose, assess and treat family problems are subjects studied in the course.

In closing, Mrs. Freeman said, "We live in times of great change that will be more vastly accelerated. There is resilience and the capacity to adapt in people, the family is here to stay and will adapt itself in one form or another to the new order."

Mrs. Freeman's husband, Jack, encourages his wife in her career, and the Freemans have two daughters, 17 year old Carol, who is a graduate of McGill University first year Science, and Wendy, 14, a pupil at Northmount High School. Mrs. Freeman's home life and career do not conflict, perhaps because her hours and holidays coincide with the children's.

A graduate of McGill University, Dorothy Freeman lived in London, England for 10 years where she worked in the Department of Psychological Medicine at Guy's Hospital. She has also had experience in New York in Child Welfare and Family Guidance.

Resident awarded scholarship

Gilles Henault, 319 Grosvenor avenue, Westmount, is among 60 young artists to win a Canada Council scholarship it was announced this week.

Mr. Henault's scholarship will permit him to continue writing studies in Paris, France.

The Council announced scholarships to 60 young artists in what was described as the most severe competition in the history of the organization. About one candidate in five was successful as the Council considered 334 applications from painters, musicians, writers and other artists of exceptional promise.

"The rapid development in the arts in this country is reflected by a very marked increase in the number outstanding applications," reported Dr. A. W. Trueman, Director of the Canada Council. He went on to point out that since the revenue from the Endowment Fund was strictly limited the Council had been unable to grant as many awards to young artists as it would wish.

The most recent awards are part of a $1,225,000 scholarship program established to provide assistance to scholars and artists for further study or work in Canada or abroad. Grants are up to $2,000 depending on the project undertaken and the length of study required.

Concert by Goltman pupils

The annual Pianoforte Recital by pupils of Frances Goltman, Lic. Mus., First Medallist, McGill University, music columnist of the Monitor Publications, will be held in the concert auditorium of Victoria Hall, Wednesday, June 22 at 8:15 p.m.

A prominent figure in Montreal musical circles, Miss Goltman is founder-chairman of the "Piano Clinic". Speakers this past season included Ernest Hammond, music consultant; Sam Schecter, insurance broker and impressario and Henry Whiston, CBC producer in a panel and Gilbert Hill, pianist, organist, accompanist and Eve Corker, CBC commentator.

Miss Goltman recently addressed the Royal Mount Kiwanis Club, the Montreal Westward Rotary Club and The Quebec Music Teachers' Association. In April she was interviewed on television channel CJSS on "Maxine Presents."

More than 40 pupils will take part in the June 22 concert. Classics by Beethoven, Mozart, Godard, Englemann, Debussy, Rimsky-Korsakoff, Schumann and Rachmaninoff and modern compositions by Copeland, Ketterer, Maxwell Eckstein and Kabalevsky are on the attractive program of solos and duets.

CJAD Hi Teen Queen named

Heather Gaynor of St. John Fisher High School in Valois was crowned CJAD's Hi Teen Queen from among 35 of the Montreal and District's lovliest teenagers at the final ceremonies Saturday afternoon. Retiring Queen Judy Smythe of Macdonald High School did the honors.

Heather was presented with roses and a $100 Canada Savings Bond. During the course of her reign she will receive an additional $500.

Runners-up in the contest were young pretties from Saint Laurent, N.D.G., Westmount, Verdun and other areas on the Island.

Heather becomes official hostess of the Hi-Fi Club and will work with Mike Stephens on the regular Saturday afternoon broadcasts. Her first official appearance will be this Saturday afternoon when the show moves to Belmont Park for the summer season.

The new Teen Queen lives in Pointe Claire with her parents, Commander B. E. Gaynor, RCN and Mrs. Gaynor.

An innovation this year was the selection of a chairman who will coordinate a program of activities for the candidates who will continue to represent their schools throughout the 60-61 season. This honor was awarded to Miss Frances Schwartz of Baron Byng High School.

At 12:30 p.m. contestants lunched with the judges and then returned to CJAD for individual interviews during which points were awarded for character, intelligence and school standing, deportment and appearance, air personality and speech, and motivation.

The panel of judges included Mrs. Eve Trill of Morgan's, Mrs. Jennifer Lindsay of Eaton's, Miss Doris Clark, CJAD's Women's Editor, Miss Gerry Brown, CJAD's publicity director, Miss Paddy Springate — the station's first queen, now a TV starlet in Quebec, who with Tony Temple of the Montreal Star represented teenage opinion on the panel, and Paul Johns of Simpson's.

work of organization which had been carried on by the Honorable Jean Lesage in "providing facts, dates and figures to support every one of the Liberal charges."

On the question of the Natural Gas scandal, Mr. Hyde said "a fundamental principle of responsible government was involved. Ministers of the Crown bought shares in a private corporation at a time when they had confidential information concerning the terms and conditions under which such private corporation would obtain assets belonging to the people of Quebec. In other words," he continued, "they were placing their personal interests above their public duty as Ministers. When similar situations arose in Ontario and British Columbia the guilty Ministers were obliged to resign. In Quebec the Minister who held the largest number of shares in Quebec Natural Gas Corporation was named Prime Minister."

Mr. Hyde said 18 different Commissions "which have existed for the past eight or 10 years has resulted in some $2,000,000 being paid to political friends of the Union Nationale, and none of these Commissions had ever submitted a detailed report." He referred, in particular, to the Water Pollution Commission and the Commission to study Provincial road problems. "Both of these problems," he stated "had been tackled by the Province of Ontario and within two years, detailed reports were submitted which at the present time form the basis for energetic action to correct these problems in Ontario. In Quebec," he added, "absolutely nothing is done although both commissions have been set up and the members have drawn salaries for six years."

Mr. Hyde laid particular emphasis upon the "illegal and iniquitous system" by which the Union Nationale grant government contracts "without calling for competitive tenders as provided in the law. Over one billion dollars has been spent in this way by the Union Nationale Government," he said. "A glaring example of what this meant to Quebec is demonstrated by the Inter-provincial Bridge near Pembroke," Mr. Hyde stated. "The Quebec Government built and paid $1,385,322 for that part of the bridge on the Quebec side having a length of 633 feet. No competitive tenders were called," he said. "The Federal Government," he added, "built the remainder of the bridge consisting of 1,010 feet having the same width, and after calling for competitive tenders, this work was completed for $867,387. In other words, the Quebec Government paid more than double the value of its share."

Referring to a recent report in the press showing that one-half of the electors of Quebec are in Montreal area, Mr. Hyde stated, "these electors send less than 20 of the 95 members to the Quebec Legislature. This is a situation which the Union Nationale has consistently refused to consider for the past 15 years.

Mr. Hyde concluded on the note that "the Union Nationale is stricken with fear from top to bottom, beginning with Mr. Barrette himself, who after suggesting a contradictory meeting with Mr. Lesage, has proceeded in the manner of Mr. K. to try to sidestep such a meeting, claiming that he only wants to hold it in a certain place or to discuss certain specific items. Mr. Lesage has consistently maintained that such a discussion should include all matters of general interest to the province and should be broadcast over a province-wide television network. If such a meeting did take place it would certainly seal the fate of Mr. Barrette and complete the exposure of the Union Nationale."

mit her to work on a novel without financial obligation. She has won two Governor-General's awards for her novels "Earth and High Heaven" and "Swiss Sonata".

Mr. Cartier was awarded his scholarship permitting him to write the biography of the French-Canadian poet Saint Denys Garneau. A librarian at College Ste. Marie, Mr. Cartier will contribute his work as the first in a series of biographies of Canadian poets by university professors in Quebec, Montreal and Ottawa.

The scholarships, valued in range from $1,800 to $5,000 were in special category, 10 intended for scholars and artists of special promise or distinction in the arts, humanities and social sciences. These awards are made only in exceptional cases when it is felt that the application does not fall within the normal terms of reference laid out in the other nine classifications.

In addition 24 senior scholars were awarded short term grants. The awards, of a value from $300 to $1,200 depending on the nature and duration of the programme proposed, were made in a special subsidiary competition in Category 7.

Grants in this category are intended primarily to enable university professors to carry out research during the summer months. Special consideration is given to those candidates unable to make arrangements for such study in time to apply to the main competition early in the year.

Of the successful candidates, 14 indicated their intention of studying abroad. Subjects in which applicants wished to pursue their studies included music, language, literature, philosophy, geography, political science, history, economics and sociology.

Three outstanding artists in 'Great Artists Series'

Three of the outstanding artists in the concert world will be heard in Montreal in a newly-announced "Great Artists Series" of Sunday evening recitals that promise to highlight the 1960-61 musical season here.

The three artists chosen for the series are the world-renowned lieder singer, Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau, and the two brilliant Canadian recitalists, contralto Maureen Forrester and pianist Glenn Gould.

All three recitals, sponsored by Gesser & Mills Concerts, will take place at Her Majesty's Theatre, Mr. Fischer-Dieskau appearing on November 6, Miss Forrester on January 22, 1961, and Mr. Gould on April 9, 1961.

Mr. Fischer-Dieskau's beautiful baritone and flawless singing technique, combined with his rare intellectual and poetic sense of song, have earned him world-wide recognition as the greatest lieder singer of our age.

The West End's Maureen Forrester, who is now in Puerto Rico to sing at the Pablo Casals Festival, has been in great demand ever since her sensationally successful debut in New York's Town Hall a few years ago. Already regarded as one of the world's finest singers and a foremost interpreter of Mahler especially, she has consistently won the most glowing critical acclaim for her extraordinary voice and artistry, both in her solo recitals and in her frequent appearances with the leading orchestras of Europe and America.

Pianist Glenn Gould, who also has met with international fame within the past few years, has been called everything from an "eccentric virtuoso" to a "phenomenon", a "true genius" and "one of the very great pianists of our day", as well as one of the world's foremost interpreters of Bach and Beethoven.

Tickets for this unusual series of three concerts will be made available after September 1, but pre-season reservations for the entire series only may be made by writing to Great Artists Series, 2000 Crescent street, or telephoning VI. 5-3911.

Greater bilingualism needed is claim of Hugh MacLennan

Greater bilingualism may be the only means of saving Canada from cultural annexation by the United States, according to Montreal novelist Hugh MacLennan. And the way to develop it, he suggests, is through the bilingual teaching of all subjects in grade school, with instruction in the second language beginning in grade 1.

Mr. MacLennan lives at 1535 Summerhill avenue.

"The matter is so important to our national existence that the most radical plans should be considered for improving the situation," MacLennan writes in an article in the current Imperial Oil Review. "As things are going now, we English-Canadians are well on the way to being absorbed culturally while Quebec is in greater danger of cultural isolation that ever before."

He predicts that Canada would attain a measure of self-confidence she now lacks—becoming a unique nation which the world would eye with respect—if as many as 25 per cent of English-speaking Canadians of the next generation were bilingual.

MacLennan describes his own shortcomings in the French language as "the severest educational handicap in my entire life". He regards it as a private poverty "for French is the most precise instrument of speech the world has known since the death of ancient Greek".

Hospital insurance is 'ray of hope' for Jewish General, president says

The provincial government's declaration that a hospital insurance plan will be set up shortly, offers for the first time, a "ray of hope" that Quebec hospitals might one day be able to balance their budgets. This was the declaration Monday of Philip Garfinkle, president of the Jewish General Hospital, in his report to the hospital's 26th annual meeting.

It was well-known, he said, that all hospitals are incurring large deficits because of inadequate payment for hospitalized indigents under the Quebec Public Charities Act and from substantial losses in the operation of out-patient departments.

"The declaration by the Provincial Government authorities that a plan for hospitalization insurance will be implemented at the earliest possible moment, is welcome news indeed. But, it is also hoped that the Inquiry Commission now studying the special problems of Quebec Hospitals, will give serious consideration to the inclusion of out-patient care in the formula of allowable costs."

Mr. Garfinkle added that the proposed plan of the government to liquidate hospital indebtedness as a preliminary to hospital insurance, was "most encouraging" because it indicated "a determination to preserve and foster the great voluntary system of hospitals, of which we in Quebec are justly proud".

According to honorary treasurer Samuel Steinberg, the upward spiraling of the hospital's deficits had been halted in the year just passed, although the annual loss was still "substantial". Operating expenses totaled $3,131,462 while revenue from patients' accounts reached $2,200,456.95. This, Mr. Steinberg noted, resulted in a gross operating loss of $931,010.37. However, income from such non-operating sources as allocations from Combined Jewish Appeal, Women's Auxiliary, special grants and contributions, totaled $459,045.09, leaving a net deficit of $471,965.28. The net figure was $120,114.61 less than the one recorded last year.

Analysis of the hospital's operations revealed that expenditures rose by more than $300,000. Increases in the cost of operation resulted from: a continuing rise in salaries and wages which account for 60 per cent of the entire budget; expansion of scientific and research programs, and from the added cost of caring for a 13 per cent increase in the patient load. Mr. Steinberg concluded that the accumulated deficits now totaled $2,000,000.

Reporting on the most active year in the hospital's 25-year history, executive director Samuel S. Cohen revealed that admissions increased by 594 to an all-time high of 8815.

Patient days also increased by 11,552 to a total of 93,218 days, while the average stay was 10.5 days. In the Obstetrics department, births numbered 1,514. This brings the total of consecutive births without a maternal death past the 26,500 mark.

The great contributor to deficits — the Out-Patient Department — recorded 80,000 visits, of which 38 per cent were treated entirely free, the balance having contributed only a fraction of the costs. An additional 11,132 patients were given emergency treatment.

Summing up these statistics, the executive director said a 20 per cent increase in activity at the hospital was reported in the first four months of 1960 — the period immediately following opening of all new areas and additional bed space.

On the subject of teaching hospitals, Mr. Cohen said he wished to dispel the widely-held notion that the only teaching hospitals were those affiliated with a university.

"Every good progressive hospital is a teaching hospital," he emphasized, using as illustrations some of the activities at the Jewish General. "We have a house staff of 34 internes and residents for whom we maintain an organized program of education and teaching . . . our department of Psychiatry was formally recognized by McGill as part of its graduate teaching program, and there are now six Fellows pursuing graduate studies here . . . The entire medical staff participates in daily conferences, rounds, symposia and seminars as part of their continuing education.

"The Jewish General is indeed a teaching hospital, and because teaching encourages and compels perfection of practice, the patient — the real reason for the hospital's existence — benefits from these activities."

In his presidential report, Mr. Garfinkle also referred to contemplated enlargements in such crowded areas as the Out-Patient Department, Emergency Department, Laboratories and Intern housing. "Because Governments may soon be playing an increasing role in hospital financing," he proferred, "we are naturally deferring immediate action until the situation is clarified."

On the Jewish Community Health Survey, which has sought for more than a year to develop a basis for integrating the medical programs of the hospital, the Jewish Hospital of Hope and the Montreal Hebrew Old People's Home, Mr. Garfinkle declared that the Jewish General would "continue to participate in discussions with other institutions so long as there remains any possibility of arriving at a reasonable basis for implementation of such a program".

Reports were also presented by Dr. I. Sedlezky, chairman of the Medical Board, and director of nursing Miss Joan M. Gilchrist. Dr. Sedlezky announced the establishment by the medical staff of a David L. Mendel Medical Assistance Fund, to be used in helping medical graduates further their education.

Miss Gilchrist deplored the insufficiency of funds in the Province to establish a good school for training nursing auxiliary personnel, especially since nursing today continues to specialize and to expand in scope and to create more and more shortages in its ranks.

Newly elected member to the Board of Trustees is Maurice Pollack, of Quebec City. Election of officers will be held at a future date.

Commercial swim pool favored by majority

By SHIRLEY FENTON

While City Councils ponder problems, including that very thorny matter of a municipal swimming pool, the Verdun Natatorium receives thousands of fretfut, sweaty, red-faced children and adults, caresses them with its limpid, if chlorinated, water, and releases them refreshed, angelically-disposed and, who will deny it ? stronger and healthier.

Of all exercise, swimming imposes the least strain and is the most beneficial.

A well-known physician in Toronto once lost one of his children through drowning. The child couldn't swim. The physician, in his grief, had a swimming pool and bath houses constructed, the High Park Mineral Baths. For a few cents, all the neighborhood children learned to swim.

Away from Mother's terrified admonitions, "That's deep enough" and "Be careful" a child follows his natural, fearless bent and learns to swim, in five minutes, or a week or a month. But he learns! A muscular life guard watches, gives him helpful hints.

Do the people of the West End want a commercial, pay-as-you-go swimming pool? A small group of isolationists say "No. SOMEDAY, PERHAPS, we might have a municipal pool, for ourselves alone." This 5% has the courage of its convictions, but off the record only. 15% would prefer that each community have its own commercial pool, but restricted to residents.

This might invoke cries of indignation from tax payers, from whose pockets the $150,000 proposed by Council, for a municipal pool, will come. Perhaps they could be issued with little buttons reading "TAXPAYER and "CHILD OF TAXPAYER," and admission could be garnered from everybody else.

15% say they wouldn't use such a pool themselves, but have no objection to anyone else cooling off at a small price.

65% are for the idea. Which adds up to the fact that 80% of West End people are in favor of having the opportunity to swim, in their own neighborhood, or close by, if they so desire. Entrepreneurs, businessmen, take note. Here are some quotes:

Mrs. L. Howard, 7356 Sherbrooke street W. "I think it would be a wonderful idea. They have one in Verdun, you know. I think it's very good — they call it the Natatorium. It's wonderfully supervised and really clean. I think it would be good for children and adults."

Mrs. F. S. Rothschild, 633 Murray Hill: "It's fine with me . . . it doesn't sound bad . . . "

Mrs. D. B., St. Antoine street W. "I'm for it. I'm presently going to the YWCA on Dorchester street every week. I'm taking swimming lessons — Is there a YW in Westmount? Would it be alright for someone who hasn't much money? Where is it?"

After receiving directions on the location of the Westmount Y, Mrs. D. B. said, of the proposed commercial tank, "It would be a good thing."

Mr. H. M. "As an old Westmounter, I wouldn't think too highly of it — Westmount people might think they could afford one for themselves, although, remember, they've invested a lot of money in a skating rink and it might be a bit too soon to contemplate a swimming pool. I wouldn't like to be quoted, however."

Mrs. T. Onassis, 7 Summit Circle: "I don't go to swimming pools but as long as it would be paid for I suppose there are a lot of people who would be happy to have it."

Mrs. G. M. Ritchie, 3458 Prud'homme: "We had occasion to go to the 400 Club in Verdun — there's a big pool there — I suppose it's commercially operated. We did pass the remark 'For goodness' sake, look at the crowd in the pool and all the people waiting to go in!' There was a line-up — it must have been half a block long, and not only young people. There must be a need. I don't suppose I would use such a pool, I haven't any children, but there are so few places for young people to go, especially on Sunday. It would be better for them than those — 'hangouts' — I think they call them."

Of course, Mrs. Ritchie, not every child who can't swim on a hot day goes to hangouts. Many of them have nice cool living-rooms with television sets, and frozen pop in plastic bags.

"It would be a good thing for the community," said John Rae, Director of Physical Activities at Westmount Y. It is difficult, he says, for Y's to program for children under the age of 9 years — sometimes small children need a longer instruction period. He would like to see more families taking advantage of the Y's non-member dollar swims. Anyone may swim, and take their children. We have learn-to-swim classes.

We had 200 children from 6 to 10, and last year we started a parent-child swim, for those from 4 to 6, which lasts a month. If this commercially operated tank were properly supervised, with qualified people guiding it, it would supply a need."

Not only people...

terested in it as a hobby," said Mrs. Casgrain. "Then more training is sought for their dogs. For instance, hunting dogs are trained completely different from city dogs. They are taken in fields and among trees. A dog show is a beauty contest only. An obedience trial is for degrees of training and intelligence."

Mrs. Casgrain became interested in dog obedience when she first heard Blanche Saunders, well known dog trainer, lecture at the S.P.C.A. in Montreal. She approached the S.P.C.A. and inquired about dog obedience schools. Mrs. Casgrain was told that they did not have one just then, but planned on having one soon. After some weeks, Mrs. Dunlop, the general manager of the S.P.C.A., suggested to Mrs. Casgrain that she take on the school herself. This sparked her interest.

In a short time she applied to the D.V.A. to see whether her three-and-a-half years with the Wrens entitled her to take a course in dog training.

Christian Science

The life-preserving power of spiritual understanding will be set forth at the services in all the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "God the Preserver of Man." Inspiring experiences of Abraham, Joseph, Moses, and Christ Jesus will be related in the Scriptural selections. Speaking of Abraham, a citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "This patriarch illustrated the purpose of Love to create trust in good, and showed the life-preserving power of spiritual understanding." The sermon text is from Ephesians: "By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God."

The end of the school term

By
The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

SCHOOL CLOSES at the time of the Church's year when we have special prayers for the Ministry of the Church.

School is closing and before all the pupils get away I should like to ask them some questions. I am sure they won't answer but perhaps their parents will.

The first question is: Are you satisfied with the past year? Did you really work? If you did you got some satisfaction from the effort even if the result was not quite what you wanted. Success sometimes eludes us even when we work. But if you loafed through the year do you really feel any satisfaction about it now? Do you feel as smart about the loafing—about getting away with it—as you did at the time? Or when you look for a job do you wish you had a little more to commend you?

The second question is: What do you intend to do in the next school term—more of the same, or something a little better? I do not suggest that you do much school work in the summer, and I am sure you won't. Summer is intended to fill the lungs with fresh air and the blood vessels with good, red blood. Also there is no law against reading a few good, stirring books.

The third question is a little tougher: What do you intend to do with it all, including those muscles and that well-stocked brain; in fact, with the whole of you? You have certain bents. One of you loves machinery. I hope he will not land in a law office; he would be much happier and more useful as head of a factory. Another loves to bury his nose in a book; he picks up information as a magnet picks up iron filings; he is the first boy to arrive at a fire and he can hardly wait to put it on paper. You know where he should arrive—he will be editor of The Monitor some day. You all have your likes: consider how you can direct your schooling in the direction of those likes, not narrowly but with a broad base to your education. You will be doctors, lawyers, merchants, mechanics, financiers, but for every one of them school must be taken seriously. Otherwise you will have some nasty gaps to fill in.

There is one profession of which we naturally think at this time of the year. Four times in the year we have special days of prayer for the Ministry of the Church, and this is one of the times. I commend to you the Ministry as a profession to be considered alongside of the doctor and lawyer and machinist. It is not as well paid a profession, but it is a most satisfying one. Of course, like St. Paul, "I magnify mine office". I think there is no profession like it. If you are one of those undecided boys not knowing whether to study for law or medicine, finance or machinery, it may be that there is this other profession calling you that you have not seriously considered.

St. Philip's Church to honor priest on 60th anniversary of ordination

The 60th anniversary of the ordination of Rev. Canon James Willis, DD, who lives at 6815 Terrebonne avenue, honorary assistant priest of St. Philip's Church, Montreal West, will be observed on Sunday morning, when a thanksgiving service for his ministry will be held at 9.30.

Unfortunately Canon Willis will himself be unable to attend. However the service which he selected and his favorite hymns will be piped into his home so that he may be able to hear them.

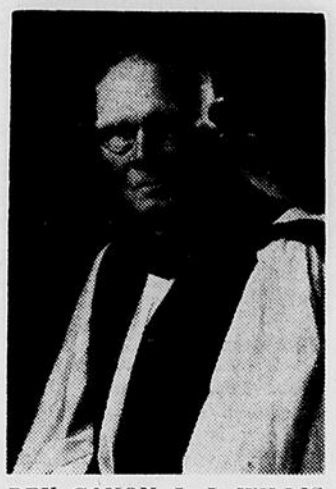
The full recital choir will sing Merbecke's setting of the Holy Communion and special hymns chosen by Canon Willis will be sung. Venerable Archdeacon J. F. Morris, who will represent the Bishop of Montreal, will deliver a short address, and Rev. Canon F. L. Whitley will also be in the sanctuary.

Parishioners from St. Jude's Church, Montreal, and from the parish of Hudson and Como, where Canon Willis was rector, will attend the service with the mayor and aldermen of Montreal West.

The offering will be devoted to the Canon Willis Fund, established several years ago, for awards to choir boys.

Rev. Canon Willis was ordained in 1900 and went to Montebello and Papineauville and served there until appointed to Stanbridge East and Rector of St. James Church, the little Cathedral-like Church of the Eastern Townships.

From Stanbridge East he was called to St. Cyprian's Church, Maisonneuve, becoming Priest in charge where he had worked as layman and organist from St. George's Church, Montreal. Then came the work of Bishop's Missionary for five years. During this time he did the spade work, the founding and strengthening of the following Missions, St. Aidan's, Ville Emard; and St. Columba, Notre Dame de Grace; St. Augustine, Rosemount (now St. Luke's); St. Matthew's in the Mission of Snowdon; St. Hilda's, St. Cuthbert's, St. Margaret's, St. Paul's, Greenfield Park; and St. Saviour's, Montreal South.



REV CANON J. J. WILLIS

In this work he was following in the footsteps of the Rev. F. A. Pratt who from St. Philip's, Montreal West, became the father of Church Extension as he founded St. Matthew's and St. Columba's and the Church of the Good Shepherd, and whose memorial is the Chapel of the Good Shepherd in Trinity Memorial Church.

From this work, which carried Willis all over the Island of Montreal, he was appointed to St. Jude's where he did a great work, abily assisted by Guy Bruce.

After many years his labors caught up with him; he had to go to hospital, undergo an operation, and was told to go easier! St. James, Hudson, and St. Mary, Como, being vacant at this time he was appointed to the country Parish of Vaudreuil. In 1949, he retired, as the Parish was growing and he could not keep up with the Winter driving. So, moving to Montreal, he became Honorary Assistant Priest at St. Philip's Church, Montreal West.

Miss Joan Elizabeth Aubut weds Gerald Bernard Long

The marriage of Joan Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Aubut, of Hampstead, to Mr. Gerald Bernard Long, son of the late James Long, and of Mrs. Long, took place recently in St. Malachy's Church, Hampstead, the Rev. Peter McGlynn officiating. Mrs. M. Cadrin played the wedding music, and Miss Helen Farrell sang during the service. White gladioli and spring flowers arranged with greenery were used to decorate.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a gown of Chinese blue poult de soie, fashioned with a fitted bodice having a Sabrina neckline, sleeves ending in points over the hands, and a bouffant skirt caught at the back into a bustle extending into a cathedral train. Her fingertip-length veil of blue tulle illusion was held by a jewelled coronet, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white tea roses, lily of the valley and stephanotis.

They wore white picture hats, and carried cascade bouquets of blue and white pompons.

Mr. Gilbert Long acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Lawrence Aubut, brother of the bride, and Mr. Lorne Brown.

Mrs. Aubut, mother of the bride, was in an ensemble of beige and green printed silk, and wore a mohair hat in shades of beige and white, green accessories, and a corsage bouquet of orange delight roses.

Mrs. Long, the bridegroom's mother, was gowned in salmon pink lace. She wore a white hat, black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at the Mount Royal Hotel, where blue and white pompons and gladioli were used as decorations.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Long left for New York and Cape Cod, the bride travelling in an ensemble of black and white printed silk, and wearing a white boucle hat, trimmed with red motifs, black patent leather accessories, and a corsage bouquet of feathered carnations.

'The Early Bird Show' for Christmas shoppers

The chairman and members of the Board of Hospitality Corner are now busily making plans for a new venture, "The Early Bird Show", an early autumn preview of their offerings for Christmas gift-seekers. The unusual and distinctive specialties of the Montreal General Hospital Shop will be featured, as well as Christmas items such as decorations, wrappings and cards. In Livingstone Hall, these will be displayed in appropriate settings, to give the viewer a visual treat at the same time as offering practical and luxurious suggestions for Christmas giving. The branches of the auxiliary are in the throes of designing samples of their work, so that the customers may order the items of their choice. The object of this show is not only to demonstrate the wares with sufficient space and effective backgrounds, but it will indicate, at a date early enough for re-ordering, the items having the greatest popular appeal.

It is hoped that this event, to be held on October 12, will prove to be a popular one, and a profitable one. Hospitality Corner has been, for many years, the chief money-raising project of the Women's Auxiliary of the Montreal General Hospital, and from its humble start as a Travelling Wagon in the old Western Division, it has been a boon to both patients and staff. After the first year's operation, the Gift Shop, as it was then called, turned over nearly $3,000 to the auxiliary. This amount was doubled in four years, and four years later the sum of $24,000 was handed to the president of the auxiliary by the chairmen of Hospitality Corner, as it is now known. This money is used at the discretion of the auxiliary, acting with the advice of the Hospital Administration, for research, medical equipment, bursaries, etc., as and where they are most urgently required by the Hospital.

At the beginning, the Shop was manned by volunteers and one paid worker. The volume of business is such now that there are three permanent staff, as well as three kitchen helpers, and the number of volunteers has increased accordingly.

When the new hospital building on Cedar avenue was completed in 1955, Hospitality Corner acquired a large room on the main floor, ideally situated not far from the main entrance. Here the gifts are displayed in glass-fronted cabinets; and small tables, as well as stools at the Bar, serve the Snack Bar customers. The stock is a combination of the efforts of volunteer buyers who scour the wholesale markets, and the contributions of the various sewing and knitting branches of the auxiliary. The branches also provide jams and jellies, as well as a constant flow of homemade cookies for the Coffee Shop.

Two Travelling Wagons are on the go continually, bringing the Shop's wares to the bedside of the patients, and the stock in the Corner is so varied that a visitor to the Hospital can find a gift suitable for any type of patient.

Committee meetings of all the heads of the various departments, sewing, display, buying, packaging, etc. keep the members in touch with all the latest developments in Hospitality Corner. This results in close co-operation and efficiency, and thus in greater service to the Hospital.

As everyone knows there are bargins to be found all the time in the varied stock, but a sale makes a visit to the shop doubly rewarding There are many fine pieces of china and silver to be found, along with chairs, tables, cribs, beds and even a sofa bed.

The Nearly New Shop which is at 2025 Victoria street just above Eaton's Parking lot will be open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. It is staffed by volunteers of the Women's Auxiliaries of The Royal Victoria Hospital and Montreal Children's Hospital, and all proceeds go to furthering the Social Service work in the two hospitals.

Where Beauty Walks

The Summer wind, that stirs the pines,
The silver stars, that swim the sky,
The magic music of the spheres,
Announce, that Beauty passes by.

Though groping on, with little faith,
I see God's hand in bloom of rose,
Where darkness dwelt, a glory dawns,
Beauty, her queenly presence shows.

Not mine content, but striving forth
For higher hills, on which to see
The breathless beauty of the world,
The tides that touch Eternity.

Jewish Junior Welfare League elects Mrs. Isadore Sedlezky

League members today have more difficulties leaving their homes to participate in volunteer activity than in years past, Mrs. Victor C. Goldbloom, retiring president, told the Jewish Junior Welfare League at its annual meeting held recently at the Windsor Hotel.

Problems of suburban living, parking difficulties, obtaining baby sitters and the vastness of the city "are all deterrent factors," Mrs. Goldbloom noted. "Despite these obstacles, however, we have more young women wanting to learn about their community and wishing to make a contribution to its growth."

A monthly study group on community affairs was inaugurated during the year, the report stated. Speakers included representatives of the Canadian Mental Health Association, the Girls' Cottage School and the counselling department of Baron de Hirsch Institute. A day conference in January on the "Unwanted Child" was sponsored jointly by the League and the Child Welfare Bureau of the Baron de Hirsch Institute.

The drama workshop's production of the play "Present Pleasure" continued the theme of the conference, and was presented 20 times with the co-operation of various welfare agencies.

The league's year was highlighted by a visit in October by Mrs. George Mosely, founding president, who came from England to participate in the bi-centenary celebration of the Jews in Canada.

More than 1,000 gifts were collected in December as participation in the Canadian Mental Health, Quebec division, campaign for gifts for forgotten mental patients, the report noted. In April the league participated in the Fourth Annual Women's Community Conference and won first prize for exhibits.

Mrs. Peter Issenman, reporting for the Placement-Projects Committee, noted that the committee's responsibility was to supervise the placement of each volunteer in a project of her choice, to evaluate existing league projects and investigate new ones.

Forty-eight provisional members completed compulsory orientation lectures throughout the year to achieve active status. Fifty-five first and second year active members and 60 senior active members served as volunteers. Eight of these members will receive merit pins for giving 150 hours or more of outstanding service to their respective projects.

VARIOUS PROJECTS

Projects include discussion groups at the Verdun Protestant Hospital, telephoning for the Canadian Red Cross, clinics at the Herbert Reddy Memorial, Royal Victoria, and Jewish General Hospitals, and the Herzl Health Centre.

League volunteers helped staff the Fraser-Hickson and Snowdon Libraries, and tutored New Canadians through the Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training. They also acted as group leaders and assisted in nursery schools at the Neighborhood Day Care School, and Nursery, Snowdon and Davis YM-YWHA, St. Laurent "Y" extension program, St. Laurent Neighborhood Association and YWCA, Lakeshore Branch.

Other volunteers assisted with hospital play therapy groups, emotionally disturbed children, and cerebral palsy groups. Magazines were distributed to shut-ins, institutions and hospitals. Educational toys, games and puppets were sent to the Negro Community Centre, Neighborhood House, Herzl Day Care School and St. Andrew's Youth Centre.

Home projects included knitted layettes and educational scrapbooks for children.

Proceeds from the league's only money-making project, the annual souvenir Program Book amounted to $10,603, Mrs. Joseph Pomerantz noted in the treasurer's report. Contributions made included: $1,000 for scholarships to the McGill School of Social Work and two bursaries; $500 to the Verdun Protestant Hospital; $500 to the Montreal Council of Social Agencies, recreation for the handicapped; $325 to the Reddy Memorial Hospital; $210 to World Refugee Year; $200 to the Montreal Girls' Association; $200 to the Education of Hearing Handicapped Children; and $50 to Neighborhood House Day Care School.

Present league membership stands at: 243 active members, 59 sustaining members, and 63 provisional members.

Mrs. W. Shepherd is the chairman for this event. In the case of rain, the social will be held in the auditorium of the nurses' residence.

Henry, Canada Packers, Toronto; Miss Elizabeth Kirby, General Foods, Toronto; Miss Laura Pepper, Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture; and Miss Corinne Trerice, Bakery Food Foundation, Toronto.

OUTDOOR LIFE has a place in every man's life, no matter how poor nor how rich. For instance, boating has grown by leaps and bounds since the last war. On shore you marvel at a look of a water craft cutting a mean wave as it moves up river. How many times have you spent happy hours in just an old row boat. Now, with those modern improvements, we place an outboard motor on the rear of that old tub maybe just a small horsepower, but it's your kind of outdoor life. Last Saturday, at Port Lewis, about 10 miles west of Valleyfield, along with other guests we had a looksee at this water hobby. Outboards from five to 75 HP. Crafts small and large, and all supplied by Lake St. Francis Marine Limited. Along with all this, there was the Lake St. Francis Rod and Gun Club, like the 19th hole is to a golfer.

Dallas Grant, retired paperman and a resident of South Lancaster (Scotty Bowman's summer place), who is the head man of the new marine outfit, gave the boys and their wives a grand day. Ross Wilson, with the Rod and Gun and Bob Hendershott, well known in the skeet shooting circles, went out of their way to make it a grand taste of outdoor life.

* * *

Besides travelling in several types of crafts, powered by 40 and 75 HP motors, the thrill of the day was the Turbo-driven motor boat that moves along at a smooth 50 miles per hour. Turns on a dime with a shower of water that wets everything in the boat. Hendershott was having a grand time from the time the craft went into the water. No prop, and we may say no rudder. Water being pumped or sucked in, is pushed out at 750 lbs thrust, which drives the craft.

* * *

But, a 80 HP outboard motor can outrun the turbo craft. All this was part of the opening of the new marine outfit. Grant and his associates will cater to the marine lover with full service, from soups to nuts. The outfit will have everything that a boat owner needs, small or large. Just about one mile from the channel, along the new seaway. If you have rich tastes for water life, St. Francis Marine can supply, and even for the poor old water lover, with 16 or 18 foot boat, he has full facilities at his finger tips. This should prove a big boom to the business of boating.

THE PADDLERS

From the reports, Cartierville Boating club are the club to beat again in the East and maybe when the Dominion rolls around, they will be top choice for the National tile which they have two years straight. Grand Trunk are making some progress, slow as it might be, but the youngsters are getting interested. At Lachine, they will have to rebuild, for they lack seniors. The reports are they are having a tough time to make a senior war canoe, and they must have that before they have a junior.

* * *

Chateauguay boys will put out the welcome mat for the paddlers come a week Saturday when they open the Eastern Division meets. Two nights are planned the next week for Olympic trials at Otterburn and at Ottawa, June 25 the trials will take place for the Rome Games in August.

* * *

Three Rivers are a busy club, for their meet, set for a Sunday, will be on CBF-TV. Otterburn will not be far behind despite their being one of the smaller clubs. They will host the Eastern Division trials late in July. Times are hard for the paddlers, but somehow the officials work night and day to keep the game alive.

Bill Sykes got away his Verdun Juvenile Fastball league away last week. With three teams from Verdun and one from Cote des Neiges, coached by QAHA minor man, Mickey MacDonal! a good season in the forecast . . . Little League Baseball is blooming all over the island of Montreal and it would seem that softball is the game of the past. You can't help but admire the men behind these teams and leagues but when you watch those pint-size batters get up to the plate, you know the reason.

Baillie makes Olympic team

Three Montreal weightlifters, one of whom is a native of Westmount were chosen to represent Canada at the Olympic games in Rome this summer.

Each lifted more than the Olympic standard at the Canadian Championships and Olympic Trials.

Named to the team which will be coached by weightlifting chairman G. B. Thomson of Winnipeg were heavyweights Dave Baillie of Westmount and Bill Swaluk and light-heavyweight Mike Lipari.

Featherweight Jules Sylvain of Quebec City will be the team's substitute if one of the three Montrealers cannot make the trip to Rome.

Thirty-three contenders from five provinces participated in the meet. British Columbia had two entries, Alberta one, Manitoba one, Ontario seven and Quebec 22.

Baillie, the heaviest participant at 274 pounds, won the heavyweight championship with a combined lift of 970 pounds, 60 above the Olympic standard.

He previously represented Canada in the Olympic Games in 1952 and 1956 and in the British Empire Games in 1954 and 1958.

St. Leo's pee wee softballers triumph 9-8 over Willingdon

By PETER RASSENTI and RAY MEYNARD

St. Leo's Pee Wee softball club, showing vast improvement over their early season form, rallied for a 9-8 win over Willingdon school at Westmount Park.

The visitors were five runs up when the young Saints came to bat at the bottom of the second and after loading the bases Neil Capper came through with the big blow that put his team back in the game with a base clearing drive to right field for a home run.

Andre Camilli pitched a fine game in spite of the fact was a little too generous with walks that kept him in trouble most of the time but some fine infield support for Jules Desjardins and Dougie Muncey cut off a few promising rallies.

Bob Brault, Academy's left fielder made the fielding gem of the game when he went deep to his left to snare a hard drive that almost took dimutive Bob to outer space.

St. Leo's have enjoyed a fine season after anything but a good start. Their first two games was a comedy of errors but once the boys began to tighten up and show some competitive drive developed into a first class softball aggregation.

TENNIS

Connie Nucci showing the class that earned him the Junior Athlete honors this year, added another triumph to his sports repretoire when he won the senior high school tennis title in the recently held tournament. He met some tough opposition, particularly from Phil Taylor, who extended him all the way.

Marie Pouliotte survived St. Paul's Academy tennis series to be Queen of the courts at the Cote St. Antoine site of learning. The pretty young miss with a tantalizing serve was just too good for the opposition and should be heard from later in the top brackets of the game.

Indians win first LL tilt

Unity's Little League Baseball team, Indians, last year's American "B" Pennant winners, after a shaky start this season losing 12-5 to the White Sox and 10-3 to the first place Orioles, finally got into the win column defeating Orioles 12-8.

Pitcher Dalton Barnoff who started the game got into trouble early in the first inning allowing three runs but then settled down to good pitching until the beginning of the sixth when he was removed for Bernard Campeau, the regular catcher. Campeau also had a field day at bat hitting a double and single in three times at the plate.

Mietek Raddoman led the team in the hitting department with two singles and a walk in four trips to the plate.

Young Campeau who relieved starting pitcher Dalton Barnoff in the sixth, struck out the side to preserve the win for teammate Barnoff. The Indians are handled by Manny Barnoff and John McDonaugh.
