PM fails to clear vote air

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson Wednesday night appealed to 520 Liberals for continued support on behalf of national unity as he delivered a 30-minute speech that did nothing to dissipate the swirling speculation over a forthcoming election.

He didn't mention an election, even jokingly, but at one point he said: "If I am chosen."

Resources Minister Laing, who introduced the prime minister to the fund-raising dinner of the British Columbia Liberal Federation, said: "Our system, if it is to be successful, calls for a strong government with a majority."

Mr. Pearson delivered his speech after spending three days on a Vancouver Island farm with John Nichol, president of the Liberal Federation of Canada, and sources close to the prime minister said it was likely that a decision had been reached on whether to call a fall election.

Observers, including some of the province's members of Parliament, studied every word of Mr. Pearson's speech Wednesday night for a clue to a possible election. While there was some disagreement, a majority felt that the prospects of a fall vote increased.

Mr. Pearson painted a glowing picture of the province's economic future and itemized over $250,000,000 that the federal government spent in B.C. since the Liberals assumed office.

"In view of what we have done and what we plan to do, we might even be given a word of thanks," he said.

When the prime minister reached the portion of his speech dealing with national unity, he departed from his prepared text to say: "It will be a time in government not for hysterical dramatics, but for wise and well thought-out decisions."

Several paragraphs of his remarks on federal-provincial relations were almost identical to statements he made to the Quebec Liberals at a spring fund-raising dinner in Montreal.

"We must work together and go forward together. On both levels we have our responsibilities. The provincial governments have new and increasing ones within the constitution to provide for the welfare and the progress of their own people. They need the resources to discharge these responsibilities. The federal government understands this need."

Ex-soldier faces seven charges in bombing attempts on rails

MONTREAL (CP) — Gaston Collin, 33, of Montreal, was arraigned Wednesday on seven charges involving the placing of dynamite bombs on railway property.

Collin, who spent 12 years in the Canadian Army, was remanded in custody, without bail, for preliminary hearing Sept. 1. Police said he has lately been a member of Les Chevaliers de l'Indépendance, an organization which advocates an independent Quebec.

Collin was arrested Tuesday after an investigation into the discovery of dynamite on a CPR bridge Aug. 2 and into an explosion on CNR tracks the same day near St. Hyacinthe, 30 miles east of Montreal.

Two children who were crossing the CPR bridge between Montreal Island and neighboring Ile Jesus spotted a bomb which police said contained 39 sticks of dynamite. The bomb was set to go off several hours after it was found.

TRACK BLOWN UP
The same day, an explosion blew up a four-foot section of railway track on a heavily-travelled line that runs through St. Hyacinthe.

An engineer on a CNR train spotted the break in the track, increased speed, rather than trying to stop, and brought his train through without a derailment.

SIGNS MAGOG'S GOLDEN BOOK — Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker, Opposition leader and Mrs. Diefenbaker were guests of honor at Magog Wednesday, when the former Prime Minister added his name to that community's Golden Book.

Dief visits Magog

MAGOG — (Special) — Opposition leader John Diefenbaker and Mrs. Diefenbaker arrived at Magog Wednesday afternoon to be greeted by a large crowd of spectators, who welcomed the opportunity to meet the former prime minister of Canada.

Starting his Magog visit with signing of this community's golden book at Mayor Gerard Laurand's office, Mr. Diefenbaker and his party which included Heward Grafftey MP for Brome-Missisquoi County and Mrs. Grafftey; Rene Letourneau, former MP for St. Lawrence and Mrs. Letourneau, took an hour tour of the Dominion Textile Company's plant works. People waiting to meet the visitors and mill workers made efforts to shake the former prime minister's hand. Mr. Diefenbaker, in a number of instances stopped to chat with plant workers.

Climax to the Wednesday visit was a reception held at the Cabana Lodge, where regional supporters of Mr. Diefenbaker gathered for refreshments. An air of informality prevailed at the reception.

Following the reception, Mr. Diefenbaker and his party departed for Knowlton.

Earlier in the day Mr. Diefenbaker was a visitor to the Granby Zoo where he wound up in a face-to-face encounter with a cheetah.

The spotted wild cat rolled its eyes and licked its chops hungrily as the Progressive Conservative leader gingerly patted its head at arm's length. Someone suggested the ani-

Indignant Senator hits at redistribution plans

OTTAWA (CP) — An indignant senator, who had more than 30 years experience in the Commons before spending the past 10 years in the upper house, said Wednesday the new electoral maps drawn by 10 quasi-judicial commissions should be scrapped.

Senator Jean-Francois Pouliot said the new maps, particularly the one prepared for the native Quebec province, represent socialist bungling, wipe out historic landmarks and have no co-ordination.

He said in an interview that rather than write the proposed electoral MPs into law this winter, Parliament should throw aside the work of the redistribution commissions and revert to the old practice of having the maps prepared by a committee of MPs.

"It's disparaging to the members' knowledge of their own constituencies to turn the job over to these commissioners. It makes MPs out to be dunces. And the commissioners are, oh, so infallible—Jehovahs and Solomons rolled into one. Like the Queen, they can do no wrong."

WAS OLD SEAT

Chief points of complaint that raised the senator's ire were changes in the electoral map affecting his old Commons constituency of Temiscouata and neighboring ridings, and changes in the names of ridings in the Quebec City district.

The Quebec Commission headed by Mr. Justice Paul Langlois of the Superior Court drew the lines of the new constituency of Temiscouata, such a way that the old ridings principal community, Riviere-du-Loup, now falls in neighboring Kamouraska.

But what is worse, the new map drops historic Quebec names and substitutes others, senator Pouliot complained.

Gone are de la Naudiere, Madeleine de Vercheres' married name; Compton, the birthplace of Louis St. Laurent; Arthabaska, where the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier began his career; and both Wolfe and Montcalm.

New names on the map include Duvernay, the founder of the St. Jean Baptiste Societies, and Limoulin, the hamlet near St. Mal in Brittany where discoverer Jacques Cartier was born.

DON'T MENTION QUEBEC

And what the senator found even more upsetting, the new maps do not include the name of Quebec itself, anywhere. Gone are the old ridings of Quebec East, Quebec West, and Quebec South.

In their places are the names of Louis Hebert, the first Quebec farmer, and Langelier, a lieutenant-governor. Both have already been honored by having Quebec streets named after them.

What Senator Pouliot suggests is naming the three Quebec City ridings Abraham, Tresor and Sault-au-Matlot. Abraham would be named after Abraham Martin, a son-in-law of Louis Hebert from whom the Plains of Abraham got their name.

Tresor, the senator said piously, represents the cultural centre of Quebec City. La Rue Tresor now is occupied by art shops and sidewalk painters. And Sault-au-Matlot would be a good name for the Lower Town riding. It can be colloquially translated into English as Sailor's Leap.

Smash endurance record

Gemini in 6th day

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad smashed the world space endurance record held by the Soviet Union today—a major victory for the United States in the race for the moon.

The historic moment came at 9:06 a.m. EDT. The Soviet record for a single flight—broken by Gemini 5—was 119 hours, six minutes, set by cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky in June, 1963.

The Gemini 5 spacecraft hurtled on toward a new mark of eight days in orbit.

At 7:44 a.m. EDT the Gemini 5 had completed 74 orbits.

Before the day is out, the United States will have still another record. At 2:01 p.m. EDT, the U.S. astronaut corps will have logged more man hours in space than all the Soviet cosmonauts. Cooper and Conrad will have 124 hours in Gemini 5 at that point, putting the American total over the Soviet log of 507 hours, 16 minutes.

In the early morning, the Gemini 5 spacecraft flashed past the 2,000,000-mile mark—nearly two-thirds of the way home in its orbital ordeal.

TAKE ROUTINE PHOTOS

For the astronauts, there was a daily routine of picture-taking, observations and experiments—but the spacecraft clock set a record for them with every passing second.

They were given a go-ahead for a sixth day in space. The hours preceding the record-setting were mostly quiet as the astronauts slept on and off, and the spacecraft sped on toward the goal of 3,120,000 miles.

"Guess you know, you got about three hours to go yet before a big event," Gemini control said in the early hours before the record was broken.

"Is that what it is?" Conrad asked. "We didn't know exactly what time it was."

He asked for, and got, the exact time the record would be broken.

Gemini control suggested a way to celebrate the moment. "Do a couple of rolls and a loop."

"We haven't got the fuel," said Conrad.

Then the sleepy voice of Cooper chimed in. "That's all we can do is rolling and rolling and rolling."

WATER ACCUMULATES

There seemed to be some small concern on the ground about the build-up of water in the fuel cell system. The system which joins hydrogen and oxygen to harvest electrical current produces water as a by-product and it is stored in tanks.

The tanks are filling up. The tanks are filling up. The tanks are filling up.

Conrad was told that the "tightest constraint" from here out in the flight would be the storage space for the water.

"How's that for a surprise?" asked Gemini control.

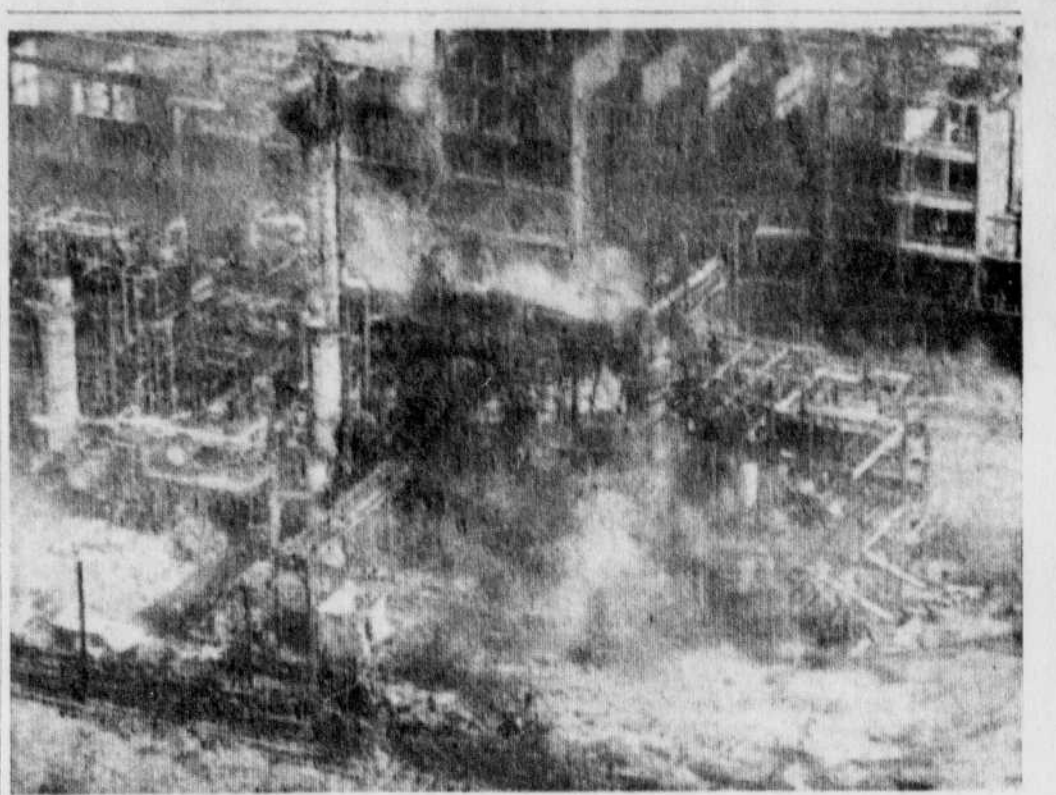

"Nothing surprises me after lift-off," Conrad replied.

Another minor concern was the hydrogen and oxygen supply remaining to keep the fuel cells going.

"It's kind of tight," said Gemini control, "but you got it there."

On the Gemini 5's 68th orbit Conrad reported a strange phenomenon—"one of the more spectacular sights of our flight."

It was just before sunset with the sun's rays streaming from behind the spacecraft, when either the hydrogen or oxygen tanks vented gas into the super-cold void of space.

British minister disgusted

Management, labor said childish

LONDON (CP) — A sort of midsummer madness which has struck British labor relations has provoked an angry cry from a cabinet minister with long-standing union connections.

"It is absolutely, totally mad and quite infuriating," said George Brown, economics minister, deputy Prime Minister Wilson and a member of the powerful Transport and General Workers Union.

"I don't presume to judge who is right or wrong. But grown-up management and grown-up trade union officials, whether lay or professional, who can't stop this happening are not grown-up enough to do their jobs."

The problems he was referring to Wednesday are a series of work stoppages, particularly in the crucial automobile industry, which have made thousands of workers idle.

The biggest involves British Motor Corp., where 20,000 men are off the job.

RESENT FOREMAN

The trouble at BMC began nine days ago when 400 men at a components plant in Wales stopped work because a foreman they regarded as "unqualified" was giving orders to trained machine operators.

The shortage of parts has forced the closure of other company plants throughout the United Kingdom.

Another strike at a Ford Motor Co. plant involves 300 men and threatens a number of jobs. The striking delivery drivers are protesting because a man convicted of dangerous driving was dismissed.

The strikes are only the latest in a series which is making 1965 one of the worst years in post-war Britain for labor disputes.

Figures released Wednesday by the labor ministry show a total of 2,183,000 working days were lost in the first seven months this year because of industrial action.

George Woodcock, general secretary of the Trades Union Congress, was moved by the situation to denounce the "early 20th century attitude" of some workers who assume that fellow workers on strike must have a valid reason.

"I am personally worried that not enough attention is given to the recurring situation where a few men put an enormous number of the last time. In all, her out of work," Woodcock 623,000 men have lost working added.

The auto and engineering industries showed the most trouble, accounting for almost half of the last time. In all, her out of work," Woodcock 623,000 men have lost working added.

Richmond County group organizes historical tour

RICHMOND — The Richmond County Historical Society organized a historical tour which took a group of about 50 members and friends through the town of Richmond, N.B., on August 14. The tour, held on August 14 took the travellers through the villages of Melbourne, Kingsbury, Greenlay, Brompton and Windsor, then back to Richmond.

Many interesting sites were visited, bringing back memories to many who settled in parts along the route. The society, under president Alex Booth of Windsor, welcomed everyone and explained the purpose of this tour.

The starting point was from St. Francis High School where some 16 cars joined the members on this historical cavalcade. A stop at Windsor, in St. Andrew's Church, was on the list and here, a short business meeting was held. The president paid tribute to Miss Alice Dresser, first president of the society, who died a short time ago. A minute of silence was observed in her memory.

The ladies of the United Church served refreshments prior to continuation of the tour. When the group neared Bromptonville, Christ Church, was opened by Guy Robinson for benefit of those attending. This Anglican church was built in 1872 and is situated a short distance from Brompton, on the Greenway road.

Those taking part in this Cavalcade, came from various points in the district, some from as far as Quebec City. Arrangements for the tour were made by S. M. Paige and Mrs. MacLennan of Windsor.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Howard Cushing of Newport, R. I., claims to be the living prototype of the man who sits East in all bridge articles and is continually defending unsuccessfully against his opponent's game and slam contracts. Sometimes Howard defends successfully as may be seen from this hand played recently in a rubber bridge game. Even though both sides had part scores Howard felt that his four small diamonds and general lack of high cards made an immediate overcall of North's diamond opening inadvisable. But after South responded one spade and North raised to two Howard decided to fly the flag and made a second round takeout double since he was prepared for both hearts and clubs.

Then after his partner bid three and four hearts Howard flew the flag once more and went on to five hearts. He felt that four spades would make easily and that five hearts would not be hurt severely. It wouldn't have been since West would have lost three diamonds and the ace of hearts for a 300 point setback. Of course, Howard did not have any great hope of setting five spades, but once in a while things work out well for East and West.

West studied his opening lead carefully and decided that a heart lead would do him no good and that Howard was marked with some strength in clubs. Hence West opened the seven of clubs.

Howard won with the ace and returned the suit. South rose with the queen in hope of a miracle but this was not a day for miracles and East and West showed a 50 point profit.

A—Bid five clubs. Your partner is making some sort of belated slam try and you might as well show that you really are void of clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION
What do you do?
Instead of bidding two hearts your partner bids two no-trump over your two-club bid. What do you do now?

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It seems inevitable now that Lisa Hughes, the star-crossed heroine of Our Private World, will soon be returning to safety and more suffering in As the World Turns.

When CBS' Dick van Dyke Show returns to the air for a new season Sept. 15, the network's cautious imitation of Peyton Place will be concluded something less than a hit.

But somehow, from the very beginning of Our Private World, one had a feeling that CBS didn't really think it was long for the night-time television world. In the first place, it was just a summer replacement.

Secondly, the principal character was spun off the long-playing daytime soap opera—and Lisa carefully kept the door open so she could slip back to the daytime fold.

However, the network programmers have not yet finished fooling around with sudsy formats on the 15 network offerings. Strange things are happening to CBS' night-time program, The Doctors and the Nurses, now on reruns.

City seeks new location for army's rifle range

Sherbrooke city council wants a new location for the East Ward Department of Defence shooting range - but the department won't move unless it is given a new spot.

East Ward Ald. Felix Thibault has urged that the range be removed from its present site on St. Francis Boulevard North near the city limits to allow residential development in that area.

The department, for its part, has said that it won't move unless the city could find it a new location.

Council authorized the city zoning office to seek one, possibly near the Ascot Corner airport.

Some East Ward property owners have protested over the range's location, saying that the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation has refused to grant loans for house-building near it.

The corporation holds that the range would pose a certain danger for nearby residents and thus has refused construction loans for the adjacent property, says city secretary Henri-Paul Emond.

If the city finds an alternative rifle range site on its land it may exchange it for the present East Ward site.

The range, an estimated 20 acres in size, has been at its present location for many years, city officials say.

Recently, however, housing construction has expanded into nearby lots.

Ald. Paul Gervais remarked, during discussion of the question at Monday night's council meeting, that the range is seldom used.

The range has been used since the late 19th century.

In recent years it has been used three times per week in summer by militia trainees and once every two weeks in spring and fall.

Presently the city has a sewer right-of-way across the property.

The location is considered a convenient one for military purposes. Local military units used to march from the city down to the river, cross it by boat and shoot at the range.

PUBLISH CATALOGUE OF ET HISTORY COLLECTION

Publication of the catalogue of the Eastern Townships Historical Collection in Bishop's John Bassett Memorial Library containing over 700 printed items covering the period from the earliest ET pioneering days to 1917 has been announced by librarian A. D. Banfill.

"We have been for the past several years assembling materials, both printed and manuscript, relating to the history of the region in which Bishop's University is situated, and the catalogue represents the fruits of our efforts so far," Mr. Banfill writes in a press release.

He adds that the library looks forward to building upon this beginning and to making the collection grow and become more and more comprehensive.

"It is hoped individuals and organizations who possess items on the subject of the early days of this area of the Province of Quebec may be encouraged to help in the project. It seems appropriate that the Library of Bishop's University, an institution the history of which is inextricably a part of that of the Eastern Townships, should be the depository of such materials, for the preservation of the records of the past and for the use and enjoyment of those with an interest in local history," Mr. Banfill writes.

As the collection grows, the Library plans to produce supplements to the Catalogue to keep it up-to-date and to include manuscript materials.

The library will receive orders for the Catalogue at $2.00 a copy.

Youth won battle to save child

REVERE, Mass. (AP) — James Manganiello, 19, battled wind and tide in a half-hour swim to rescue Charles Jackson, 7, after a lifeguard in a leaky boat and three other swimmers failed to reach the boy adrift at sea in a toy plastic dinghy.

"I was never in trouble and I just took my time," Manganiello said after the rescue, "but when I reached Charlie he seemed more worried that he'd been a bad boy than that he might have drowned."

The youngster's grandmother, Mrs. Charles S. Sova, said when she noticed Charlie drifting she tried to swim after him but became exhausted.

Lifeguard Andrew Bisignani jumped in a lifeboat but discovered vandals had broken eight seams in the bottom and it began leaking fast.

Two men tried unsuccessfully to swim out to the boy. Then James, a second-year pre-medical student at Boston University, took over.

He put on rubber fins and reached the boy about a quarter-mile off shore. He said he calmed Charlie, turned him around and pushed him slowly back to shore.

Mass arrests as cops raid party

EAST HAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Past the glow of the Japanese lanterns on the sloping lawn of an old farmhouse, 40 policemen waited in the shadows while inside 300 youths whooped it up in a goody-toy-toy summer bash.

At 1:30 a.m. the cops crashed the party.

Some girls screamed and a few giggled. Police said the party was "hell-bent for booze, dope, sex and disorderly conduct."

Earlier, police raided a hotel in nearby Riverhead and charged five persons with supplying narcotics to the party at the fashionable resort area near the end of Long Island.

Drama, opera to close JMC season Saturday

MOUNT ORFORD — JMC will present the fifty-third and final public event of the summer season on Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Over 80 boys and girls under 30 have been attending the third three-week summer session at the Mount Orford JMC camp which is devoted to drama, the visual arts and music.

Saturday's event will include a mime creation by Hubert Fielden entitled "Adam and Eve." Mr. and Mrs. Fielden have been presenting classes in corporal expression at the JMC camp; the leading roles will be interpreted by Pascal Gelinas and Josee Lafleur.

Besides Mr. Hebert the Drama faculty has included Albert Millaire, Jean Valcourt, Jacques Pelletier and Claude Pierrehumbert.

An innovation this summer has been the organization of a special class in French opera with the noted Canadian tenor Raoul Jobin and French pianist Jean Laforge who is Chorus Master of the Paris Opera.

The singers who have been rehearsing with Messrs. Jobin and Laforge will present excerpts from some of the most popular French operas: Faust, The Pearl Fishers, Thais, Lakme and Romeo et Juliette. The singers, who will appear in costumes, are:

Gaston Germain, Leonard Bilodeau, Rosaire Simard, Andre Lizotte, France Dion, Louise Gosselin and Annie Tallard.

Before and after the concert and during intermission the public is invited to view an exhibition of works by the students in the visual arts classes.

The faculty members are: Robert Wolfe (painting), Marcel Arel and Roland Castonguay (photography), Yves Trudeau and Jean-Pierre Boivin (sculpture), Roland Pichette (engraving), Leonard Garneau (interior decorating), Dean Mullavy (ceramics) and Louis Perrier (enamel on copper). History of Art classes have been presented by Andre Jasmin and Yves Robillard.

Besides the French opera classes the music students are divided into two categories: the recorder, with Nicole Milot, from Paris and the piano with Victor Bouchard.

Guests of honour at the closing event of the 1965 JMC season at Mount Orford will include: The Hon. Maurice Lamontagne, Secretary of State; Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal; Jacques Gauthier, Associate Commissioner, Canadian Centennial Comm.; Gerard Lamarche, Director, Place des Arts, Montreal.

Liquor charges are heard

Three persons appeared in the Sherbrooke Court of Sessions yesterday morning on a variety of liquor offence charges.

Leo-Paul Blouin, of Sherbrooke, a hotel owner, was sentenced to a fine of $1200 when he pleaded guilty by writing to two charges of selling liquor after hours. He was fined $100 and court costs on each charge.

Jean-Claude Gagnon pleaded guilty to a charge of selling on Sunday without meals. The incident took place May 1. He was sentenced to a fine of $100 and costs.

Raymond Pelletier, of St. Fortunat, a restaurant owner, pleaded not guilty to selling liquor in a manner other than that specified by his permit. Trial was set for September 1.

Guy St. Germain pleaded guilty to five charges involving the false declaration of applications for unemployment insurance. He was sentenced to a fine of $25 and costs on each of the first four counts and $50 on the fifth. Petition against Magograts to be heard on Sept. 1

A petition was lodged in Superior Court yesterday by Andre Ashby of R.R. 2, Magog for the closing of the city's dump, which he says is breeding rates which are devastating his farm.

A hearing for the reading of the petition is set for Wednesday, September 1.

Lawyers for the defense requested permission to plead by writing thus creating a postponement of the case until next week, allowing them time to study the case, said Gerald Desmarais, lawyer for Ashby.

Smoke resulting from the burning of garbage on the dump site, Ashby complains, makes his home uninhabitable. His farm is located about a quarter of a mile from the dump.

Rights to the dump are held by Fernand and Gaetan Bessette. The rights were transferred to their names on April 1, 1965 by an order of Council.

The contract with the city specifies that the Bessette firm is to pick up, transport and dispose of all garbage in Magog.

The rats, some of which are said to weigh at least one pound, have been creating quite a disturbance in Magog and nearby areas of late. The first report received was on May 18. The rodents have been seen, according to Desmarais, and others as far as three miles from the dump. One report said they were infesting Wright's beach area and another the Mount Orford road.

Mr. Ashby says the rats come in waves to his property and are infesting his home, cellar and farm buildings causing considerable damage.

Also, the smell of rotting food, dead animals and burning garbage wafted to his property by the wind is making his home almost uninhabitable, he said.

The arrest of the suspects was made by Chief Steve Bron-

Sixty students apply for Grade 12 classes

Sixty students have applied for admission to the co-educational English-language twelfth grade for Protestant and Catholic pupils which will be sponsored this year by the Catholic school system in Sherbrooke.

But the Catholic school commission locally has not yet officially decided whether to form two classes and admit all applicants who passed Grade Eleven, or to form just one class and possibly have to reject some of the students.

Pierre Laurence, registrar for the grade, said that he had received the impression from Daniel Frechette, regional director of studies for the Catholic system, that just one class was likely at this time. The chief reason for favoring this decision is that it is expected that "perhaps 10 to 15 students will withdraw their applications before classes start."

Normally, a number of applicants for Grade Twelve each year withdraw before enrollment because they have been accepted by a university, or for other personal reasons, said Mr. Laurence.

However, if all 60 or near to 60 are still applicants at the time of enrollment, said the official, it is possible that all will be accepted and formed into two classes.

If only one class is formed, then some students may have to be rejected, following study of their complete grade eleven and high school leaving examination records.

It is yet uncertain what the maximum number of pupils for a single class will be, said Mr. Laurence.

Forty-four are from Sherbrooke, seven from Lennoxville, two from Magog, and one each from Bishop's College School, Valleyfield, Pointe Claire, St. Laurent, Granby, Bury, and Ontario.

"Many of the later applicants said that they decided to apply after reading the article describing the grade in last Friday's Record," noted the registrar.

Frankness paid off on water supply

Installation of the final stage of the Lake Memphremagog and the possibility that high quality water may be flowing out of the taps in Sherbrooke homes within the next two or three weeks will be welcomed by local householders many of whom have been waiting for twenty years or even more for a replacement for the present supply which leaves much to be desired — especially during the summer months.

Final approval for the construction of the pipeline came with surprising speed which sometimes rather startled the proponents of an improved water supply for Sherbrooke.

After repeated rejection by the ratepayers of projects for the installation of a filtration plant, the by-law authorizing the completion of the pipeline at a cost approximating $3,500,000 was approved without a formal vote of the ratepayers so slight was the opposition.

One possible reason for the about-face on the part of the proprietors was that they believed the pipe line was a better solution to the water problem than a filtration plant would be.

Another factor may have been the decision of the Council to meet the carrying charges on the loan through a direct levy on all families rather than by increasing the load on the proprietors alone.

But most important was the attitude of the mayor and aldermen.

Whereas in previous referendums, the supposed unity of Council members in favor of the by-laws was only superficial. Frequently certain aldermen while giving lip service to the area were conducting an active undercover campaign to defeat the project in question.

When the 1964 by-law was presented, however, each member of the Council gave it his active support, even supporters of the filtration plant idea making it clear they were more interested in promoting an improved water supply for the citizens than in pressing for a particular method.

Frankness on the financing problems also paid off.

The citizens were told frankly that they would be expected to pay for the improved service by increased levies, the probable cost being laid down in advance, rather than being promised that somehow or another the debt service charges could be pulled out of clear air.

Once they had definite figures before them, the ratepayers lost much of the mistrust that contributed to the rejection of earlier schemes.

A writer on child behavior says that many boys just don't like to fight. Maybe that accounts for some confirmed bachelors.

Parental responsibility for child

A warning to parents that they are still basically responsible for the actions of their children and cannot place this duty on the shoulders of someone else is contained in a judgment of the Ontario Court of Appeals recently which reversed a provincial Supreme Court award to a girl who was seriously burned in her neighbor's backyard.

The original award granted $12,500 to the girl and $8,635 to the father for medical costs after the father maintained that an unattended fire left burning in an incinerator in the neighbor's yard was responsible for his daughter's burns.

In reversing the original judgment, the Appeals Court in a decision written by Mr. Justice Walter Schroeder said that to uphold the award would be to "shift parental responsibility to owners of private property who have not culpably failed in the due exercise of their rights as owners or occupiers."

Carrying the father's contention to its logical conclusion would require an owner to make his property childproof, the judge added.

Justice Schroeder sympathized with the girl for her suffering and injuries but he stressed she was trespassing on private property, even if the fact she was only four years old made her oblivious of her misdemeanor.

Parents have the responsibility of seeing that their children keep out of trouble, especially that they do not wander into danger zones.

Even the most careful of parents have found out that this is sometimes difficult, but the responsibility remains with them and neighbors should not be held at fault when children wander onto their property and get hurt.

Other papers say:

Canadians can increase foreign aid

(Toronto Globe-Mail)

Prime Minister Lester Pearson has sustained rather a sharp defeat, and in that area where he is generally believed to offer his best performances — diplomacy, having got himself into difficulties by being ambiguous about the kind of aid — military or otherwise — that President Lyndon Johnson had asked Canada to contribute in South Vietnam, he has compounded these difficulties by inviting, and getting, a flat no from the President to a request that he be permitted to publish the relevant correspondence.

This might not have been so humiliating had not Mr. Pearson indicated last week that he was hopeful that Washington would shortly agree to the disclosures. His hopes have been publicly dashed. Mr. Johnson would not agree to publication of his July 26 letter, he would not agree to publication of the pertinent paragraphs, he would not agree to a press statement summarizing the correspondence.

Mr. Johnson's disinclination to remove Mr. Pearson from the hook of his own contriving can be understood. He may fully appreciate that Canada ought not to send military aid to Vietnam because to do so would be to disqualify this country as a member of the International Control Commission in Vietnam or as a possible mediator in future peace negotiations. But he is surely entitled to feel that Canada could increase rather more rapidly and generously its other aid to Vietnam and Southeast Asia generally.

Both Mr. Pearson and External Affairs Minister Paul Martin have stated that Canada supports United States objectives in South Vietnam, understanding these objectives to be: no success for aggression in that country, a ceasefire, negotiations at any place or time that are directed toward an equitable settlement, and massive economic aid to bring viability to that part of the world.

If Canada means what its two spokesmen say, then it should be giving expression to their words with considerably more aid of a non-military nature than it now offers.

Canadian civil aid to South Vietnam jumped from $400,000 in 1963-64 to $1,200,000 in 1964-65. It is still very small potatoes. So is the aid that we give to other South East Asian countries, indeed to underdeveloped countries anywhere. And the need could scarcely be greater.

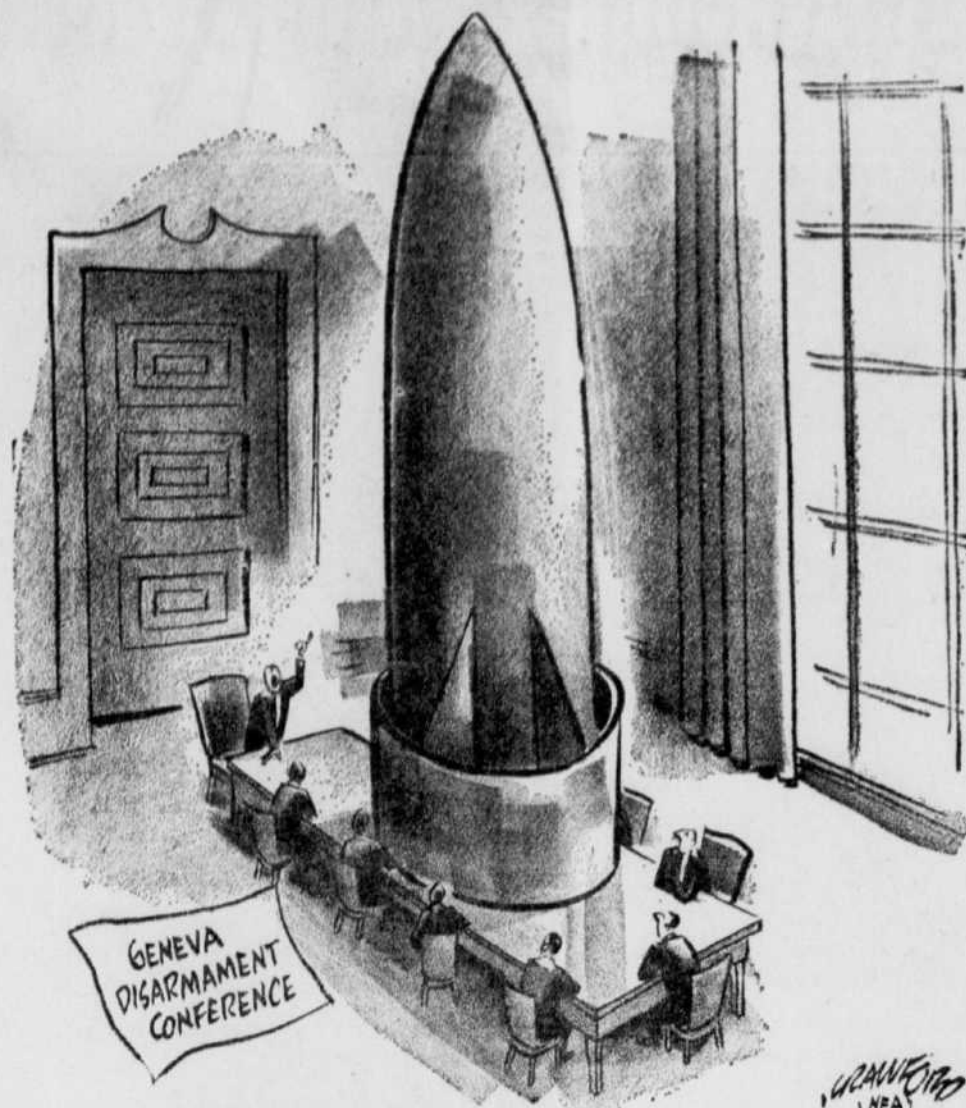

Malaysia, because of its internal rending with the departure from the Federation of Singapore and the external threat of Indonesia, is not only in chronic need of assistance but in special need of the sort of kindly and practical help that would demonstrate that it has other friends than overburdened Britain. We have given Malaysia some intelligent help; but not nearly enough. We have helped India and Pakistan and other nations in need. But never enough.

Mr. Martin, in one of the most ingenious statements ever to come from an experienced politician, admitted this in June, when he gave it as his personal opinion that Canada's foreign aid contributions of $200 million would be doubled to $400 million, and then added, "Don't quote me as saying that we will or that we should increase our external aid. That would be my opinion if I had an opinion, but as a member of the Government I don't have any opinion."

Even $400 million would fall $50 million short of approximating the ideal contribution toward which all the nations ought to be moving — 1 per cent of the Gross National Product; and even 2 per cent would tighten Canadian belts very little. To the extent of our small ability we have a duty not only to relieve want and enable the have-not countries to become self-sufficient, but to establish a friendly presence in these countries that can be used to preserve peace.

Nuclear weapons proliferation feared within next 15 years

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Worried government nuclear scientists believe that in the 1970s peaceful nuclear power reactors scattered around will be turning out enough to produce hundreds of small atomic bombs and warheads.

In the normal course of economic development, these scientists point out, reactors will be located in dozens of countries — big and small, many of which do not now have a nuclear capability.

Typical nuclear power plants—aimed at turning out electricity for industry and homes—will produce plutonium as a by-product. And with plutonium, it is relatively "easy" to turn out crude nuclear weapons.

The plutonium weapons which many countries could conceivably produce in the next decade would be very small—poppets compared to the hydrogen giants in U.S. and Russian arsenals. At most, they'd probably be the size of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki atomic bombs.

But scientists are not comforted by this: Small bombs used as small countries would use them (against each other, say) could they fear, trigger a full-scale nuclear war.

If the plutonium produced in these electrical power plants is not put under some sort of international control, a considerable number of countries could thus be slowly turning out their own nuclear weapons by 1980.

Inevitably, one or more of these nations will end up under the control of a dictator with an "I've-got-nothing-to-lose" attitude. Or the bombs with missiles and planes to deliver them could get into the hands of a rebel group wanting to achieve some reckless objective.

These are the nerve-wracking possibilities frequently discussed afterhours at the Department of State, the Pentagon and the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Yet paradoxically, both State Department and the Agency for International Development men say the United States must push for widespread nuclear power development to meet the world's sky-rocketing power needs in the decades ahead.

Diplomats here believe a lusty peaceful push is in the U.S. interest since nuclear especially those in which coal power development is necessary to raise standards of living in the developing nations, and water resources are scarce.

Every nuclear power reactor the United States sells abroad is covered by an agreement with the receiving country whereby the use of the plutonium produced is carefully supervised. But this supervision doesn't apply to all reactors sold in the world market. The French and the Canadians, for example, don't enforce the same rules.

As more countries begin marketing reactors, the natural pressures will be for more reactors to be sold without restrictions. Policing the plutonium output is an added expense to be paid by the purchaser and a country eager to sell its reactors may well cut costs by eliminating supervision.

State Department officials would like to see a multilateral treaty which would require purchasers of atomic power plants to agree to international inspection and supervision of their use of by-product plutonium.

Present cautious feelers indicate that the Soviet Union might be interested. Some American diplomats think they've found in nuclear proliferation a problem that worries the Russians as much as it does the United States.

Nevertheless, U.S. officials realize that not every country would sign such a treaty. They think that Red China, for one, would not.

This would mean, of course, that Red China or any other nuclear country that refused to sign could still sell reactors freely to any other non-signatories.

This worries some officials, but others are more optimistic. The fact that the treaty banning nuclear testing in the atmosphere and space was signed by so many countries leads the optimists to predict that few nations would refuse to agree to international controls.

As one official puts it, "this method for plutonium control won't solve the nuclear proliferation problem, but it would help whittle the problem down a little."

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — The Parliamentary Press Gallery, a venerable institution as old as Confederation, is being bifurcated.

When Parliament resumes there will be two press galleries in operation.

One will be where the Gallery has always been, third floor rear of the Centre Block, a few steps from the Senate chamber, and 50 yards from the Commons chamber.

The other will be in Norlite Building in downtown Ottawa, 500 yards from the Centre Block.

About half the hundred-odd press correspondents who cover Parliament will thus be cocooned in quarters that, albeit commodious, are so removed from the main theatre of political operations, the Commons chamber, that reporters will be handicapped in their coverage of Parliament.

Mr. Speaker Macnaughton maintains that splitting the Gallery is necessary because there is not enough room in the Parliament Buildings to provide adequate working space for all correspondents assigned to Parliament. With all due respect to Mr. Speaker, many of us just don't believe this. We believe existing space could be reallocated and utilized more advantageously. We believe that when there is a will, there's a way. But Mr. Speaker, who is Parliament's chief housekeeper, has lacked the will.

This may seem like an internal problem, inconsequential against the mosaic of vastly important decisions and actions by cabinet and Commons. However, the press correspondents are the eyes and ears of the voters and taxpayers. Our government and MPs are constitutionally responsible to the people — but without the press to keep the people informed, how conscious of their responsibility would they be?

In a democracy, which is a state of government by the consent of the governed, the governed must be kept aware of what their governors are doing for them, to them, and in their name. Only a free and uncensored press can provide this vital service.

Politicians, on the other hand, find the press a mixed blessing. They woo it for favorable notice, and fear it for its dedication to reporting the facts as it finds them without concern for the feelings of politicians or the fortunes of political parties. It is not that by-and-large our politicians are crooked, but they do have many partisan and governmental secrets, publication of which would at least be embarrassing and at worst disastrous to operations planned or afoot.

There are more members of the Press Gallery than there are senators. Matters of moment that totally escape their notice are not many compared with the number they report. No MP knows all the correspondents, and the man at the next table in the Parliamentary Restaurant, or riding in the elevator, or sitting in the Commons barber shop when an incoherent word is dropped may be a press man.

There are cabinet ministers and MPs who would like to sequester the press, get the correspondents out of their hair. These politicians are no doubt honest, every one of them, albeit concealment is a poor witness for honest intentions.

For more than a year Mr. Speaker Macnaughton sought to sequester the entire Press Gallery in the Norlite Building. We fought that, and in the compromise settlement half will go and half will stay. I will stay.

The archers of the English army won the battle of Crecy 619 years ago today — in 1346 — defeating by their superior speed and tactics a French army four times larger than the raiders. The success of this campaign, the second of the Hundred Years' War brought England the French port of Calais, which it was to hold for more than 200 years. However the English never varied their marauding tactics and, within a generation, all their conquests except Calais and a strip of Gascony coastline were gone.

$1,500,000,000 Johnson project

Lab may be manned by NASA astronauts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. military may reclaim some of its astronauts from the civilian space program to fly its own manned orbiting laboratory (MOL) spacecraft.

That is one of the possibilities of the $1,500,000,000 project which President Johnson has directed the defence department to put into full development.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has been at pains to de-emphasize the fact that the larger part of its stable of astronauts are men who still hold commissions in the armed forces.

At a press briefing Wednesday by defence officials, reporters asked if NASA astronauts might be used on some of the five flights of two-man crews to be conducted under the military's MOL program. An official replied this was "conceivable," adding that a number of the NASA astronauts are "professional military people."

The Johnson administration is wary about talking too much of the military aspects of the new space program.

Johnson, in announcing he had ordered Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara to go forward with the MOL project, insisted that the "American dream for outer space is a dream of peace and a dream of friendly co-operation among all nations of the earth."

HONOR UN PACT
He said, too, that the U.S. intends to live up to the United Nations agreement not to orbit weapons of mass destruction.

In this, he had the immediate backing of defence department military scientists. Looking at the question from a purely tactical military viewpoint, some experts contend that mass destruction could be dealt out better with existing weapons systems.

Ballistic missiles, owned by both the United States and the Soviet Union, can hit any point on earth with megaton warheads and with precision. There is no reason to believe nuclear weapons launched from expensive and comparatively vulnerable orbiting vehicles could do any better.

The aim of the MOL program, in which crews will fly about 30 days, is to find out what military man might be able to do in space that can't be done by the robot mechanisms of unmanned space vehicles. Experiments will include observations of earth and space objects.

The first unmanned test flights are scheduled to begin late next year or early 1967 and the first of five scheduled test flights in 1968.

Anglican-United church union rests largely on present synod

VANCOUVER (CP)—A great burden of decision on the course to be taken toward union of the Anglican and United churches in Canada rests on the Anglican general synod which opened here Wednesday.

Synod delegates will be asked to express approval of the Principles of Union, drawn up this year by committees of both churches after 22 years of discussion during which union was only a vague hope.

If the synod adopts the principles, it commits the Anglican Church of Canada to begin planning with the United Church of Canada the steps they must take to join as one.

However, many years may intervene before the still unnamed new church becomes a fact.

Today's debate will mark the first official chance of the Anglican parishioner to speak through his lay delegate on the proposals. The church's clergy are believed strongly in favor. The layman's view, and the strength of the reservations he may have, are less well known.

In the opening sessions of the synod, the merger was described as something that prompts both a sense of urgency to hasten desirable work and a sense of caution to ensure that members of both churches are not alienated.

"MUST BE REAL"
"The unity that is achieved must be real and deep," said Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, primate of all Canada.

"I hope that I am ready for God to lead us forward as swiftly as he will . . . but we certainly do not want a pace that forces some to be laggards and others drop-outs."

The churches together may take the basic steps by 1970, he said.

The principles are the unanimous product of work by two "committees of ten." They set down common beliefs in what Dr. John Gwynne-Timothy, the only lay member of the Anglican ten, described Wednesday as "one of the great statements of the Christian faith made since the Reformation."

Dr. Gwynne-Timothy, a history professor at the University of Western Ontario, said the core of the agreement on the principles — hurdling the toughest problem between the churches — is the act of unification of ministries.

The Anglican Church has retained since the Reformation the threefold ministry of bishops, presbyters and deacons. The United Church lies in the tradition of reformed churches that affirmed parity of ministers and gave the bishops' functions to church officers.

HEEDS TRADITION
In the Principles of Union, the United Church recognizes the episcopal tradition of the Anglican Church. The principles state that in the new church "there shall be bishops, presbyters and deacons."

The committees, anxious that neither church should repudiate the past ministry of the other, set out an act of unification in which both ministries would be laid before God "without question so that He may overcome what is inadequate" and "offer, through prayer and the traditional laying on of hands, authority to be ministers of the united church."

This act, taking up a precedent set by church unions in Ceylon, North India, Pakistan, Nigeria and Ghana, would keep the door open to eventual union with the Orthodox and Roman Catholic churches.

The principles still need the approval of the United Church's general council, and they will go all the way to the parish and congregational levels for thorough discussion.

"This is not a process which can be forced by high-pressure methods," Archbishop Clark said Wednesday in his charge to the synod. "For there are communities where there are old misunderstandings and persistent isolations."

Canadian wins 2nd Earhart fellowship

CALGARY (CP) — The first Canadian woman to be awarded a $2,500 Amelia Earhart fellowship has now been given a second.

Donna Carr of Calgary received a fellowship in 1963 and used it to work toward a master's degree at the University of Toronto Institute for Aerospace Studies.

Now 25, she has been awarded her second fellowship and leaves for London in mid-September to join a research group studying the physics and chemistry of absorption at the Imperial College of Science and Technology.

The fellowships are awarded annually by Zonta International, a women's service organization of which Miss Earhart was a member.

They are given in honor of the noted American flyer who disappeared in 1937 during a flight across the Pacific.

The money is used for advanced study in aeronautical sciences.

Carroll-Parker marriage

The marriage of Marlene Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Parker, Sherbrooke, to John Hall Carroll, of Montreal, son of Mrs. W. J. Sutherland and the late Lt. John M. Carroll, of Weston, Conn., took place at 11 a.m. on August 7 at St. Patrick's Church, Sherbrooke. Msgr. Rosario Moisan officiated at the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mr. John Codere. The church was decorated with baskets of white and red gladioli which were also used in the home.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length Empire line gown of imported French chiffon with a Grecian train. The bodice was fashioned with a high neckline and long sleeves. She wore a single strand of pearls as her only jewellery and carried a cascade bouquet of miniature white carnations.

Miss Lorraine Parker, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a floor length, slightly A-line Empire style dress of emerald green silk organza. The bodice featured a scoop neckline and short sleeves. Her headpiece was a pink velvet bow and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. David Pollock, of North Hatley, acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Chris Demisch, Glenwood, P.E.I.; Hall Masterson, Lennoxville; Pierre Bertrand, Montreal; Douglas Bruce, Westmount, and Chuck Coleman, North Hatley.

Mrs. Parker, the bride's mother, chose a three piece silk tulle dress of Paris original, in oyster shade with matching accessories. Her corsage was of baby orchids.

The groom's mother, Mrs. W. J. Sutherland, wore a dress of emerald green silk, bone colored accessories and a corsage of baby orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at St. George's Club, the bride's table being centered with a three tier wedding cake, candelabra and baskets of snapdragons.

The bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride travelling in an olive green three piece suit of imported shettycloth, turquoise straw hat and black patent accessories. Her corsage was of yellow Sweetheart roses.

Guests were from Weston and Nanticoke, Conn.; Lakewood, Calif.; Akron, Ohio; Burlington, Vt.; Rochester, N.Y.; Glenwood, P.E.I.; Eastview, Brockville and Weston, Ont.; Montreal, Lennoxville, North Hatley and Quebec City.

Personals

Convener of the weekly tea and bridge at the Lennoxville Golf Club on Saturday, August 28, will be Mrs. LaDue Norwood. Other hostesses are Miss Phyllis Elliott, Mrs. C. Abdallah, Mrs. Gerald Giroux and Miss Kathleen Atto.

The Misses Carol and Joyce Grigsby returned by jet on Saturday, August 21, after a four months' tour in 11 European countries.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bain, of Birchton, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lefebvre, Queen Street, Lennoxville.

Engagements

The engagement is announced of Linda Jane, youngest daughter of Mrs. Kenneth Millmore of Sutton, and the late Mr. Millmore, to Mr. Winston F. Laroque, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover M. Laroque, of Glen Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Webb, of Stanstead, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Faye, to Mr. Roland Roy, son of Mrs. Andrea Roy, of Stanstead, and the late Mr. Roy. The wedding is arranged to take place on September 25, at Sacred Heart of Jesus Church, Stanstead.

Today's recipe

LOBSTER ROLL

2 cups cooked lobster meat
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

2 cups mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons minced green onion

2/3 cup finely chopped celery
1 teaspoon chopped fresh dill

OR ½ teaspoon dill seed
2 drops Tabasco sauce
sesame burger buns,
OR 8 junior sesame burger buns,
buttered and toasted
lettuce.

Dice lobster meat into bite-sized pieces. Combine oil, vinegar, salt and pepper. Mix well. Stir in mayonnaise, chili sauce, onion, celery, dill, and Tabasco. Add lobster. Mix gently to blend. Slit the buns, spread with a little butter and heat shortly before serving. Fill rolls with the lobster mixture. Garnish each sandwich with lettuce leaves. Make 4 servings.

LAMB 'N' VEGETABLE SKILLET STEW

4 loin or shoulder lamb chops
½ teaspoon salt
3 medium potatoes
4 medium carrots
¼ lb. (1 cup) fresh snap beans
2 teaspoons instant onion flakes

1½ cups water
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ cup water

Rub lamb chops on each side with the ½ teaspoon salt. Rub a little of the lamb fat over bottom of a 9 or 10-inch skillet. Add lamb chops and brown on all sides. Peel potatoes and carrots, cut them into 8 pieces each and add. Remove tips from beans, cut into 1-inch pieces and add with the onion flakes which are soaked in the 1½ cups water and 2 teaspoons salt, along with the water. Blend flour with black pepper and the ½ cup water and add. Cook. Yield: 4 servings.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian William Rennie.

Rennie-Kimmis wedding

A pretty summer wedding took place in Plymouth United Church at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 14, when Carol Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest V. Kimmis, Sherbrooke, became the bride of Ian William, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Rennie, of Lower Woodlands. Rev. M. W. Williams officiated at the ceremony. The wedding music was played by the organist, Mr. John Evans. Standards of white and pink gladioli decorated the church, with white and pink carnations in the windows and white satin bows marking the guest pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a full length gown of white Swiss embroidered cotton, with soft pleats at the waistline and a short train. Her shoulder length veil was held by a headpiece of white organza roses and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Miss Geri Sutton, of Ormstown, as maid of honor, wore a sleeveless A-line dress of white cotton lace over light pink arnel, with a matching bow in her hair. She carried a bouquet of deep pink carnations.

Miss Joan Rennie, sister of the groom, and Miss Shirley Kimmis, sister of the bride, as bridesmaids, were dressed identically as the maid of honor, but in deep pink, they wore matching bows in their hair and carried bouquets of light pink carnations.

Mr. Norman Rennie acted as best man for his brother and the ushers were Messrs. James Aubut and Robert Haydon.

Mrs. Kimmis, mother of the bride, was in a pink silk knit dress with matching jacket, navy blue velvet hat with matching accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Rennie, wore a turquoise crepe dress with matching jacket and hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of deep pink carnations.

A reception, following the ceremony, was held on the lawn at Ripplecove Inn, Ayer's Cliff. Pink and white carnations were used in decorating the bride's table and the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Ed. Waller, of Dundas, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Rennie left on a honeymoon to the North-east.

McConnachie, McCallum

DORVAL — Rev. John Issacs officiated at the ceremony in St. Andrew's (Anglican) Church, Dorval, on August 7, when Sarah Ann McCallum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas McCallum, of Dorval, and Mr. James Robert McConnachie, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McConnachie, of Sherbrooke, Que., exchanged vows.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was in a white Swiss crepe gown with Alencon lace trim to the bodice, hem, and chapel train. Her long veil of tulle illusion was held by a cluster of lace and she carried a bouquet of feathered gladioli and white heather tied with tартan ribbon.

Mrs. Allan Jared, as matron of honor, and Miss Elaine McConnachie, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, were in floor length gowns of pale blue shantung with printed blue and yellow chiffon flower headpieces. They carried yellow shasta daisies and blue cornflowers.

Mr. Alan White acted as best man for Mr. McConnachie, and the ushers were Messrs. Allan Macfarlane and John O'Hanley.

The bride's mother wore cocoa chiffon with a matching hat and a corsage of green orchids. The groom's mother was in dusty pink shantung with matching hat and a corsage of mauve orchids.

Following a reception at the Grand Salon of the Hilton Hotel, the bride and groom left for the East coast, the bride travelling in a Louis Feraud suit, with a navy tulle hat and a corsage of feathered gladioli and heather.

Those Timeless Classics

There's a place in every wardrobe for such classics as the Chanel-type suit. These never seem to go out of style and, if Woodlands, Hatley, Waterville, East Angus, Ohio, New Jersey, and Connecticut.

Do you put out the Facelle Royale only when company comes?

Some people do. They know Royale is the softest, most luxurious bathroom tissue you can buy. * But when you think about it, Royale is a very practical little luxury: gentleness that's appreciated by all the family... extra strength not only because it's 2-ply but because each layer is actually thicker, and it's made by Facelle. * So, doesn't it make sense to use Royale all the time? Every day, more and more people think so. Royale... a very practical luxury!

Mission Circle holds meeting at North Hatley

NORTH HATLEY — The meeting of the Ladies' Mission Circle of the North Hatley Baptist Church was held at the home of the "residence" Mrs. Orin Gardner, on August 17.

During the business meeting a busy fall program was outlined. In September the Circle will go to Coatook for an evening meeting, at which time Rev. John Gilmour, principal of Feller College will be the guest speaker. In October the Circle plans to have a special missionary rally with a guest speaker.

Birthday money and mite boxes were turned in. At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Gardner served refreshments.

GENERAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. George Cheal, and daughters Linda and Barbara, have returned home from a camping trip vacation to Eagle's Point, N.Y. On their trip they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hoskins, Laceyville, Penn. They went to Niagara Falls, and visited Mr. and Mrs. Allan Cooper, Toronto. They toured Fort Henry, N.Y., and on their return trip were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Tetreault, Prescott, Ont. Mrs. Tetreault, the former Peggy Taylor, of North Hatley, was a school girl friend of Mrs. Cheal's. Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Cheal were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Davis, Waterloo, Que., and Mr. Homer Whitehead of South Stukely.

Rev. O. L. Davidson and Mrs. Davidson, Lake Simcoe, Ont., were in town recently and called on Miss Hazel Cinnamon. Mr. Davidson was a former minister of the Sherbrooke and North Hatley Baptist Churches.

mal would make a good candidate in the next federal election and Mr. Diefenbaker quipped: "I could use one but he looks too spotted."

The Opposition leader also patted a baby elephant and watched the polar bears, lions and tigers being fed.

Earlier he stopped at the city hall Granby and at Drummondville where he spoke briefly on national unity.

At Drummondville he noted that Mayor Marcel Marier had been in office 10 years and remarked: "I was never mayor. I hear you have been mayor for 10 years. I want to know how you stay in power that long."

At Granby city hall Mayor Paul O. Trepanier remarked, in welcoming the Progressive Conservative leader, that separatism is unacceptable in these times.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in reply: "I am, before all, a Canadian and this means recognition of the fact that the association of the two great cultures is the basis of Confederation."

SHERBROOKE COURTS

next week when the police constable, who appeared to testify in the case could not read his own handwriting. The new date of September 1 was set.

Norman Davies was sentenced to a fine of $20 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of also driving with one headlight and stoplight and with no licence in the rear.

Luc-Guy Patrie of Cookshire was sentenced to a fine of $30 and costs when he pleaded guilty to driving with one headlight and without papers.

Victor Hebert, 38, of St. Edwidge was sentenced to a fine of $10 and costs following his hearing on a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign, at an intersection of St. Edwidge's main street.

A girl who last week ran away from a protection home in Quebec City was arrested Tuesday night in a Deauville hotel following an anonymous telephone call to police.

Judge Roger Bouchard adjourned her hearing until next week.

GRANBY

The enlargement of the Montrose Worsted Mills Inc., 201 St. Antoine North, Granby, has begun and will cost an estimated $25,000. The work is being done by the Marquis Construction Company, Limited. Mr. L. E. Moussey said that the front of the building will be on St. Andrew Street and will measure 127 feet long, 54 feet wide at one end and 30 feet wide at the other. This means that the new construction will total 5,300 square feet of floor space. The addition will be used for extra warehouse space. Mr. Moussey stated that it is hoped that the building will be completed in the early fall.

World news flashes

MONTREAL (CP) — Rene LeBlanc, 69, well-known lawyer and senior Crown prosecutor of the Montreal municipal court, died Wednesday.

Born in Napierville, Que., he was educated at College Ste. Marie here and the University of Montreal. He was called to the bar in 1921 and practised privately until 1946.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Corporate profits in the U.S. zoomed to an all-time high in the second quarter of the year, surpassing the record heights reached in the first quarter and in 1964.

Preliminary data submitted by President Johnson's council of economic advisers to a congressional economic committee show pre-tax profits running at the rate of $73,800,000,000 in the second quarter. The corresponding figure for the first quarter was $73,100,000,000 — $700,000,000 less.

Last year's best quarter was the fourth. In that October-December period the pre-tax corporate profit rate was $65,900,000,000.

TORONTO (CP) — Space antennas designed and built in Canada will be used on the United States Apollo spacecraft on its moonward flight, as well as on future Gemini flights, a spokesman for de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. said here Wednesday.

Dr. Philip Lapp, director of technical operations for the company's applied research division, said Gemini 5 uses three of the antennas his firm developed and built.

The antenna—the longest to have been used in space when extended its full 150-foot—was originally designed by George W. Klein of the National Research Council.

DURBAN (AP) — Harold Strachan, ex-political prisoner who gave a Johannesburg newspaper details of alleged brutality and torture in South African prisons, appeared in court Wednesday on charges of perjury and publishing false information about prison conditions.

The case was adjourned to Sept. 3.

Strachan, former fighter pilot and university art lecturer, is the third of the Johannesburg Rand Daily Mail's informants on prison conditions to have been charged following publication by the newspaper of a series of prison articles.

A Negro, Filisberto Taimo, is in custody and earlier this month ex-jail guard Gysbert van Schaikwyk was sentenced in Johannesburg to three years for perjury.

MEXICO CITY (Reuters) — Cuba has categorically refused to take part in talks on Latin American denuclearization "while the only nuclear power in the hemisphere maintains bases there and sustains an aggressive policy toward the Republic of Cuba."

This was Cuba's reply, as expressed Wednesday by its ambassador to Mexico, Joaquin Hernandez Armas, to an invitation to attend a meeting here of a preparatory commission to establish a nuclear-free zone.

Cuba, which rejects membership because of the presence of America's Guantanamo naval base on Cuba, and the Dominican Republic are the only two of the 20 Latin American states not represented at the conference.

THE MARKET TODAY

(Green Shields Ltd.)

The Board of Transport Commissioners has approved the price of $57 per share set by directors of British Columbia Telephone Co. for additional ordinary shares to be offered through rights to present shareholders. As announced earlier, shareholders of record August 31-65 will have the right to subscribe to additional shares on the basis of one new share for each eight shares held. The offering involves a total of $287,700 shares and proceeds of the issued (approximately) $164 million if fully subscribed will be used by the company to meet capital requirements for the balance of 1965.

Net income of Central Ontario Fund Ltd. of $15,214 (23c per Class A and B share) for the year ended May 31-66 compares with $10,834 for the prior year. Total assets were $732,445 at May 31-65 up from $456,376 a year earlier. Market value of investments was $706,754 against cost of $475,650.

The quarterly dividend of 10c per common share of Powel Corp. of Canada Ltd. payable Sept. 30-65 to shareholders of record Sept. 3 is an increase from the 9c quarterly rate in effect since last September and compares with 7 1/2c paid quarterly from December 1963 to June 1964, and 6 1/4c per present share was the first following the 10-for-1 split.

Construction and development necessary to bring Waden Bay copper property of Anglo-Rouyn Mines Ltd. into production is proceeding on schedule. The mine is expected to start production in December and contracts for marketing have been signed. Expenditures on construction, etc., since November 1964 total $1,119,000. Demand loans at June 30-65 were $700,000 and Rio Algom Mines Ltd. had provided $329,000 through advances.

In Memoriam

LITTLE — In loving memory of our dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Little, Dad, who left us three years ago today, August 26, 1962, mother who left us so suddenly February 8, 1963. We cannot bring the old days back. When we were all together, But secret tears and loving thoughts. Will be with us forever. Someday when life's journey is over, We'll follow the path you trod, And join you back at the moment, Over the beautiful hills of God. Always remembered by, THE FAMILY.

REYNOLDS — In loving memory of my dear daughter, Margaret, who passed away on August 26, 1960. The time has come again dear, To try and let you know, How very much I miss you, Since God said that you must go, I hope that you are happy, As you kneel at our Saviour's feet, And now that Dad has joined you, Your heaven must be complete. Lovingly remembered by, MRS. BYRON J. REYNOLDS, (mother), Beebe.

SMITH — In loving memory of a dear husband, Henry, who passed away August 26, 1961. Each time I look at your picture, You seem to smile and say, Don't cry I am only sleeping, We'll meet again some day. Always remembered by, JESSIE (his loving wife).

Card of Thanks

Derby Lions to hold 4th annual Horse Show on Labor Day weekend

DERBY LINE — The Derby Lions Club will sponsor its 4th annual Labor Day Horse Show on Monday, September 6, on Baxter Park in Derby Line. Rudolph Racine of Derby Line will be the show manager, assisted by Kermit Smith and John Barker of Derby as co-chairmen.

The ring announcer will be Robert Kerr of Newport. Mr. and Mrs. Tracey Howe of Montpelier will be the judges. Mrs. Louise Gallup and Earl Davidson, both of Newport, will be secretary and ringmaster, respectively, for the show.

Mr. Davidson will be assisted by Alphonse Roy, veteran horseman of Derby. Chub Briggs of Newport has consented to be the steward and S. Milo Houghton will be in charge of registrations.

There will be twenty-three classes of competition including, for the first time, three jumping classes. A record number of entries is expected for this, one of the largest shows of its kind in Vermont.

The first class of the show will start at 9:00 a.m. At 12:00 noon there will be a parade on the Derby Line main street featuring horses, ponies, bicycles, old cars, and the Derby Academy band.

During the day there will be refreshments served on the grounds. Also included will be many games and pony rides.

Rough Riders will be missing two regulars tonight against Alouettes, share of second at stake for Als

MONTREAL (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders, battling to catch first-place Hamilton Tiger-Cats, may be forced to go without two regulars when they meet Montreal Alouettes here in tonight's only scheduled Eastern Football Conference game.

The Montrealers in turn, will be out to grab a piece of second spot, now in sole possession of the Roughies.

John O'Quinn, Rough Riders' general manager, said in Montreal Wednesday night that half-back Ron Stewart has a virus infection and may miss tonight's game.

O'Quinn said centre Mike Blum also is a doubtful starter with a hip injury picked up in the Riders' 27-1 loss to Hamilton Saturday night.

In addition, quarterback Russ Jackson is not running with 100 per cent efficiency.

"With Jackson it's a combination of injuries he has picked up since the season started. They've been just enough to slow him down on his rollouts," ALS SEEK REVEGE.

Tonight's game will afford the

Cliff Pennington to play with Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Blades of the Western Hockey League Wednesday announced the acquisition of Cliff Pennington, 25, a centre, from Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League.

Pennington divided the 1963-64 seasons between San Francisco Seals and Quebec Aces. He was inactive last year, coaching a schoolboy team in Montreal.

The Blades open training Sept. 20 at Saskatoon.

Beavers get grant from government

QUEBEC — (Staff) — Quebec Provincial Government, under the urging of Labor Minister Carrier Fortin (MPP-Sherbrooke), granted a special donation to the Sherbrooke Beavers Hockey Club, to defray the expenses of the 1965 Allan Cup winners while on tour.

Prime Minister Lesage, after consultation with Labor Minister Fortin, requested the special donation from the government because the Beavers are not only representing Canada while in Europe, but also Quebec, as they are champions.

The Sherbrooke Beavers leave for Europe December 24.

Boys' League finals tonight

NORTH HATLEY — (Staff) — Finals of the North Hatley Boys' Baseball League gets underway this evening here, in a best-of-three series that will see the winner of the 1965 league trophy.

Red Sox and Yankees will be bidding for the annual honors, after battling in the semi-finals to the limit and even carried to extra innings.

The Red Sox stopped the Giants 8-4 last night, while the Yankees had earlier disposed of the Pirates.

Second game of the series will likely be played over the weekend.

Quebec Juniors down Havana in exhibition ball

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Junior All-Stars downed the Cuban national junior baseball team of Havana 10-9 Wednesday night in the second of a series of exhibition games being played in the province.

The visiting Cuban team also lost by one run Monday night when it played its first game against Montreal District All-Stars. The score was 1-0.

Quebec's game Wednesday night was led by Andre Lauzon who batted a home run, a double and a single.

The winning pitcher was Denis Tressider who struck out the Cuban side in the ninth. Orlando Coello led Cuba's team with a home run, a single and three walks. Cuba's losing pitcher in relief was Herberto Duro.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
Batting — Tony Perez, Reds hit a three-run pinch homer in the ninth inning lifting Cincinnati to a 7-4 victory over Milwaukee Braves and moving the Reds within 1½ games of the National League lead.

Elimination faces the Alouettes tonight after 4-3 loss in tenth

Sherbrooke Alouettes may well have played their last 1965 Provincial Baseball League game in their own stadium.

Elimination confronts the local club this evening in Granby, after dropping a close 4-3 tilt last night here in the sixth game of the semi-finals, which gives the Cardinals, 1965 title winners, a 4-2 edge in the best-of-nine series.

This evening at Laval Stadium, Claude Paquette and John Elias will be battling it out against their opposing teams, and another performance by Elias, as offered in their past meetings, means a heavy curtain on the bright lights of the Als.

Freddie Wise, pitching last night for the local club, tired in the tenth inning, immediately after Sherbrooke had tied the game in a ninth inning spurge, left the mound for George Birth, who couldn't hold the series of mishaps on the part of Granby.

The winning run came on a sacrifice foul fly by John Testa, as Oleschuck, Bedard and Thorne had earlier walked. Hurtubise, playing first base, moved toward the stands to catch the high pop foul, and upon snaring the ball, held it. Oleschuck, on third at the time, immediately made a dash for the plate, and gave Granby their fourth run, and win in the series.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter, 19, Kansas City's bonus baby, posted his first major league shutout Wednesday night as he pitched the Athletics to a 5-4 victory over Detroit Tigers.

With Luke Lamboley popping out to left field, Fern Dube grounded to short, and remained on first base on a wild throw by Oleschuck for the attempted out. Kim's Hurtubise followed with a walk, leaving Freddie Wise to lead the bases on a scratch single.

Gilles Robichaud, hard-working centerfielder for the Als, labelled his tag for his own defensive position, and drove Dube and Pratte across the plate to tie the ball game.

Granby had earlier managed three runs in the fourth and an error, while Sherbrooke had previously notched their fifth on a total of three hits first in the eighth on Claude St. Vincent's timely single, with two out.

Best for the Alouettes include St. Vincent and Robichaud accounting for the earned Sherbrooke runs on two and one single respectively while Luke Lamboley, Andy Pratte and

Ten days ago he took New York Yankees with a 4-1 four-hitter. Adding his six - hitter against the Tigers gave him a 5-4 record with the last-place Athletics.

Meanwhile, at the top of the standings, Minnesota Twins increased their league lead to 7½ games by edging the Yankees 5-4 while Baltimore Orioles tripped the second - place Chicago White Sox 2-1.

Elsewhere, Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from Los Angeles Angels 6-3 and 8-2 and Boston Red Sox wallowed Washington Senators 8-3.

Hunter got the only run he actually needed against the Tigers when Bert Campaneris tripped in the first inning and scored on an infield out. Wayne Causey and pen Harrison each drove in two runs for Kansas City while John Blanchard accounted for the other with a homer.

MICKEY OPENS DOOR
Yankee outfielder Mickey Mantle opened the door for a decisive three-run Twins' rally in the seventh inning when he dropped Jerry Kindall's drive to left centre to open the inning. One out later, Zoilo Versalles drew a walk. Rich Rollins then cracked a 2-2 tie with a triple and scored the final run on Earl Battey's double.

The Orioles broke a 1-1 tie in the third inning, scoring an unearned run when Louis Aparicio singled and raced all the way around when Ken Berry fumbled Boog Powell's single to right centre.

Defensively, Jean-Pierre Gauthier and Gilles Robichaud were standouts, covering their territories exceptionally well and very tightly.

TONIGHT: RESULT UNKNOWN
With this evening's game in Granby a decisive one, Sherbrooke must show their worth in pulling out of an underdog position. A definite attempt was made in last night's game, and another may be in store.

However, with the result unknown, opinion has it that the Sherbrooke Alouettes may hang up their bats, balls and gloves. Their series has been a home affair, and Granby has broken the barrier by taking a decision at the Sherbrooke Municipal Stadium.

High on the list of starting favorites Saturday, are defending champion Adrien Bigras, of Ste. Dorothee, and the current top pro on the Quebec playing circuit, Jack Bissegger, of Val Morin.

Both Bissegger and Bigras had been closely sharing the honors on the 1965 Quebec pro circuit until his recent hot playing streak moved the popular Val Morin professional into a commanding lead.

Bigras, who has held the Quebec pro crown for the past two years, can expect strong opposition from Bissegger in his attempt to make it three in a row. Other favorites to capture the prestige 1965 O'Keefe pro title

Will Sherbrooke Raceway's record of 2:04 2/5 topple? This question will be answered Sunday afternoon when six of the best pacers in Canada will descend from major racing centres across the country to compete in a leg of the Canadian Juvenile Circuit Stake at the Sherbrooke Fair Grounds.

The above mark was set in 1960 by Mac Wil as part of the Juvenile Stake held at the local oval. If the weather holds up and a sunny, warm afternoon is in the offing, there is a strong possibility that Mac Wil's record will fall by the wayside.

Golden Blend, owned by the Del Rosa Farm of Montreal and driven by his veteran trainer and Philippe Dussault, is rated as the two-year-old to set a new record. This diminutive son of Adios Clia, recently won a leg of the Stake in Trois Rivieres in 2:02 which is quite remarkable for a two-year-old.

Angela Noel's Meadow Bud, son of Direct Rhythm, who has a 2:06 win to his credit this season, is listed as the toughest opposition for the top favorite, Golden Blend. Meadow Bud will be handled by Benoit Cote.

Also entered are Roland Laviere and Son's Shadydale Hymn, who is expected to set the early pace in the event. Leo Pelletier's Armbr. Granite, Rough Neck, to be driven by Hampton Hoover, and Lincoln Adios, a roan son of Champ Adios, who will be driven by young Jean-Guy Brosseau, are expected to battle it out for top money.

Rain halts Giants' rally in 10th, game called, Mets upset Dodgers, Reds close in with win over Braves

It rained all over Herman Franks Wednesday and stalled his San Francisco Giants when they appeared ready to step past Milwaukee Braves into second place in the National League behind Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Giants were leading Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 with one out in the bottom of the 10th inning and the Forbes Field scoreboard already showed that Los Angeles had lost 7-5 to New York Mets and that Milwaukee had gone down 7-4 to Cincinnati Reds.

But then the rain started and after waiting 46 minutes for the storm to abate, the officials called the game with the score reverting to the end of the last completed inning — the ninth — leaving the game a 3-3 tie.

That left the Giants in third place, a full game back of Los Angeles and one half game behind the Braves while the fourth place Reds closed within 1½ games of the lead. Only 10 per cent of the points separate the first four teams.

Billy O'Dell, beaten by Tommy Harper's two-out, two-run homer in the ninth Tuesday night, came in relief of Dan Osinski with the score tied 4-4.

Pinch-hitter Tony Perez, who sat out the Tuesday game with a bad leg, immediately smacked a three-run homer to sew up the game.

75 pros tee off Saturday in 1965 O'Keefe Quebec Professional Medal play championship at St. Hyacinthe

Seventy-five professional golfers, members of the Quebec division of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association, will tee off Saturday in the first day of the 1965 O'Keefe Quebec Professional Medal Play Championship, at St. Hyacinthe Golf Club, according to the draw released today by Andre Gagnier, of Cedarbrook, Captain of the Quebec CPGA.

The Quebec pros will be shooting for the 1965 provincial professional title and $4,000 in total prize money, to be awarded on the basis of total scores turned in for the 36 holes of the two day championship match.

High on the list of starting favorites Saturday, are defending champion Adrien Bigras, of Ste. Dorothee, and the current top pro on the Quebec playing circuit, Jack Bissegger, of Val Morin.

Both Bissegger and Bigras had been closely sharing the honors on the 1965 Quebec pro circuit until his recent hot playing streak moved the popular Val Morin professional into a commanding lead.

Bigras, who has held the Quebec pro crown for the past two years, can expect strong opposition from Bissegger in his attempt to make it three in a row. Other favorites to capture the prestige 1965 O'Keefe pro title

The Dodgers dropped their second straight to the Mets as Joe Christopher whacked three hits, including a two-run homer, and Gordon Richardson pitched 6 2/3 innings of four-hit relief.

Houston Astros edged Philadelphia Phillies 7-6 and Chicago Cubs topped St. Louis Cardinals 6-3 in other league games.

Frank Robinson homered for the Reds, who scored two runs on Milwaukee mental lapses. Denis Menke, who made three errors, bobbled a bases-loaded grounder in the seventh and then belatedly ran to second for an attempted force although Frank Bolling was standing on the base, waiting for a throw.

In the sixth, pitcher Denny Lemaster fumbled Sammy Ellis' bases-loaded bunt a few steps from the home plate, but instead of tagging the plate, or throwing to first, held onto the ball as the run scored.

Joe Gaines' pinch double delivered the tying run and Lee Maye's sacrifice fly brought home the winner as Houston rallied for two in the ninth to beat the fifth place Phillies, Rich Allen homered for the losers.

Dick Ellsworth snapped a personal five-game losing streak but needed ninth inning help from relief workhorse Ted Abernathy for Chicago's victory over the Cardinals. Ernie Banks hit his 20th homer for the Cubs.

include Boucherville's Jean Guy Periard, Norm Hunt, of Mt. Bruno, and Gerry Proulx, of St. Eustache, as well as Quebec CPGA Captain Andre Gagnier, all of whom have been doing well on this year's local circuit.

Both Hunt and Proulx are former Quebec pro champions, Proulx in 1958 and Hunt in 1962. The 1958 and 1962 championship matches were both held on the same St. Hyacinthe course being used for the 1965 competition.

FORD'S NEW BRONCO

First of the 1966 models to be introduced this fall is Ford's new Bronco, a sports-utility vehicle. With standard two- and four-wheel drive, the Bronco is designed to operate on or off the highway. It is equally at home on rugged mountain terrain, or on a run to the shopping centre. The Bronco comes in three body styles - a sporty roadster (top), a short-roof sports utility model (centre), and a roomy wagon (bottom).

The new Bronco will be in Ford dealer showrooms in September.
