C. W. HOUSTON APPOINTED SECRETARY-TREASURER OF CITY BY COUNCIL MONDAY

Will Succeed Arthur F. Bell Upon His Retirement Next Month — Joined Staff of Municipality in 1911 as Assistant Accountant — Served Overseas in First Great War — Long Experienced in Civic Administration

C. W. Houston was appointed secretary-treasurer of the City of Westmount, succeeding Arthur F. Bell, at a regular meeting of the City Council on Monday night. He takes over his new post next month.

Mr. Houston, now assistant secretary-treasurer, joined the staff of the municipality in 1911 as assistant accountant and was made assistant secretary-treasurer in 1913 when Mr. Bell was given the office of city treasurer. The key City Hall posts at that time were those of city treasurer and city clerk.

A. R. GRAFTON DIED YESTERDAY AT AGE OF 77

Prominent Churchman was Father of A. Ross Grafton, Local Business Man

Alfred R. Grafton, father of A. Ross Grafton, prominent Westmount business man, died at his residence, the Maxwell Apartments, Sherbrooke street, yesterday. He was 77 years of age.

Mr. Grafton, a prominent Montreal churchman, was First Lay Associate of Emmanuel Church. Actively associated with the church, he spent a great deal of his time visiting parishioners. He was made a Lay Associate in 1918 but was forced to give up his duties three years ago due to ill-health.

Mr. Grafton was elected Dean of Emmanuel Church in 1889 and was appointed to the post of church secretary in 1900.

Tribute to Mr. Grafton was paid by Rev. D. A. MacLennan at the annual meeting of the church in 1935 when the minister said: "Mr. Grafton never aspired to any kingly position, but he has so exemplified the kingly graces that we hold him in royal esteem. His sagacity, singleness of purpose, kindness and charity distinguish his long and significant ministry among us."

Born in 1863, the son of Francis E. Grafton, well known journalist and former editor of The Montreal Witness, Mr. Grafton spent the greater part of his life in Montreal but was married in Brooklyn, N.Y. He celebrated the 50th anniversary of his wedding in 1913.

Mr. Grafton joined Emmanuel Church in 1887. A keen student of homeopathy, he was a life governor of the Homeopathic Hospital. He was also active in the work of the Y.M.C.A., the Salvation Army, the Daily Vacation Bible Schools and many other organizations.

Besides his widow, formerly Gertrude Scott, he is survived by one son, A. Ross Grafton, and one sister, Mrs. A. F. Bishop, of Ottawa.

Drama Shield Again Won By Local Church Group

The Westmount Park United Church Drama Group successfully defended the drama shield it won last year on Tuesday night. The award is donated by a supporter of drama among the young people of the United Church.

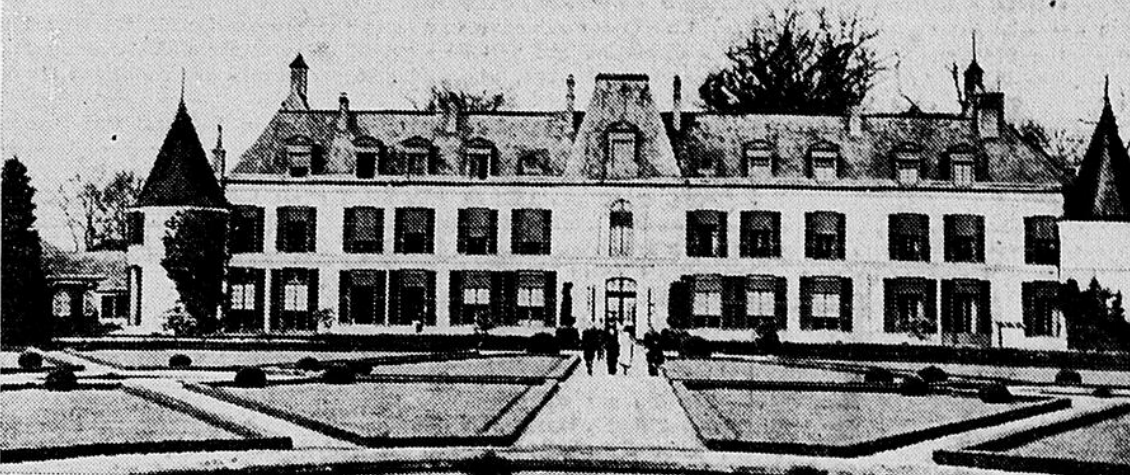

The performance which won the contest was entitled "The Boy Who Discovered the Spring," and was directed by Miss Margaret Murray. The outstanding members on the winning cast were Allan Cunningham, Miss Eleanor Lunn and Tom Seaman. Allan Cunningham received credit for the outstanding individual performance of the evening in his portrayal of the character of Skelly Diggs, an east-side New York waif.

Cote des Neiges Church and Wesley United furnished keen competition with their acting in "In A Glass Darkly" and "A Bargain's a Bargain" respectively.

Westmount Park Drama Group will present three one-act plays tonight and tomorrow night, among which will be included "The Boy Who Discovered the Spring."

The winning group will defend the Scrivens Trophy, in Ottawa, in the near future.

WOMEN TOILING ON "HOME FRONT"

Twenty-six American women volunteers are in active service on France's "home front." They are members of "The American Friends of France," headed by Anne Morgan (left, above), sister of the late J. P. Morgan. The group, aided by paid French workers, drives ambulances, provides food, clothing, shelter and medical service for civilians evacuated or otherwise affected by war's disruption of normal life. At right, above, Elizabeth Adams, of Providence, R.I., and Susan Hammond, of Boston, Mass., are seen carrying baskets of supplies. Below is the ancient Chateau de Blerancourt, one of the three headquarters of the American Friends of France.

Police Dance Was Marked Success

Over 400 persons, the majority of whom voiced their praise of the fine evening's entertainment, attended the annual dance sponsored by the Westmount Police and Firemen's A.A.A. in Victoria Hall last week.

The event, which was in aid of the Canadian Red Cross, was held under the patronage of Mayor Walter A. Merrill, K.C., who, in a brief address, complimented the departments on the success of the function and said that he noted with pleasure the large representation of members of neighboring police and fire forces.

A floor show was presented following the supper period by the Montreal Repertory Theatre "Tin Hats." Music was supplied by Al McGowan and his orchestra.

The committee in charge of arrangements has requested that the Examiner express its thanks to the many who co-operated in making the function a success.

The dance committee was as follows: Inspector Robert Byford, chairman; Sgt. Charles Baker, Fireman Wm. Willie, Fireman Robt. Hess, Cons. John Buntin and Cons. Kenneth Crone, secretary-treasurer.

REDUCE PROPERTY VALUE, LOWER HEALTH STANDARD, H. J. DORAN TELLS MEETING

Over Thousand Montreal Slum Dwellings Can't Be Closed Down Due to Shortage of New Houses — 5,000 More Low Cost Homes Needed, Club Told — Suitable Houses for Workers Held Important To Industry

Slum areas cost Montreal thousands of dollars each year by reducing the value of nearby buildings, lowering the standards of health and providing breeding places for vice and crime, H. J. Doran stated in addressing the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club in Victoria Hall yesterday.

There are at the present time over a thousand slum houses in Montreal that can't be closed down due to a shortage of new dwellings, the speaker said. Prior to 1930 approximately 7,000 new homes were erected annually but since that year, the rate has dropped to about 1,000 per annum. On the other hand, the population had increased by some 24,000 persons, Mr. Doran stated. If the housing situation is to be rectified it will necessitate the construction of about 5,000 low cost dwellings within the next 12 months, he told the gathering.

Montreal, the speaker said, faced an unusually difficult problem as regards housing in so far as the slum areas are in no particular section of the Island, but are widely scattered.

Occupiers of slum dwellings, the speaker said, must be classified into two groups: the low wage earner and the destitute. If the slum situation is to be permanently rectified these two groups must be widely separated, otherwise the former will gradually drift into the second category.

The low wage earner occupies a slum dwelling either because it is near to his place of work, or because he is unable to afford better quarters. If families in the low income group — $1,000 a year and less — live in homes in which the rent is beyond their means, they do without necessary food and clothing or fail to pay the landlord his due amount. In the former case, the health of the family suffers and in the latter, the landlord is unable to spend an adequate amount on the upkeep of his property which, as a result, goes into decay, eventually to become a slum dwelling.

Suitable dwellings for workers at rents within their incomes are as important to industry as mills, factories or machinery, Mr. Doran declared.

The present situation can be remedied, he said, only by the elimination of slums and potential slums and the construction of low rent houses. A housing program, he concluded, would also play an important part in relieving unemployment.

The speaker was introduced by Leslie Perry and thanked by W. H. Thomson. The president, J. A. Delaunoy, occupied the chair.

WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1940

INDEMNITIES SHOULD BE RAISED

Although there would inevitably be some criticism of such an act, fair-minded electors will agree that the indemnities of members of parliament in Canada should be raised. The present scale of two thousand dollars per session at Quebec, and three thousand, six hundred dollars at Ottawa, was drawn up in stage-coach days when ten dollars a week was a good salary and a house in a better-class neighbourhood could be rented for eight to twelve dollars a month. With living costs what they are today, it is difficult to get a really first-class clerk for two thousand dollars a year, yet a member of parliament is expected to do the work of a well-paid executive for that figure, and with far heavier demands upon his finances for donations of various kinds than the average executive has to meet. Under the circumstances it is almost impossible for members to give their full time to the job—they have to maintain other professions and occupations to make ends meet, unless they are financially independent. Politics is without doubt the most important activity in which citizens engage, for upon the efficiency and success of a nation's politics all other activities depend in greater or lesser degree. In times of stress, especially, our members should be enabled to devote their full time to the job, free from financial worries.

MAKE IT SHORT

When Parliament meets next month, it would do well to cast an eye towards Nova Scotia. In the Legislature of that province, the budget debate concluded after only two speakers had been heard.

Canada is expecting a business-like session of Parliament this year. The people are not going to be patient with talking just for the sake of piling words on the record. A good place to begin an economy of words is in the budget debate.

If there be people who believe that there should be long-winded argument over a budget, for the protection of the people's pocket, ets, it should be pointed out to them that this debate has little relation to the budget itself. It is one of the two annual debates in which the members are free to talk of almost any subject under the sun, and ordinarily they take full advantage of their opportunities.

True, the budget is the financial statement on which the expenditures for the year are based. The effective criticism of it, however, takes place after the main debate is over, after the budget has been formally passed—usually in a futile and time-wasting division—and is before the Committee of Ways and Means, which is, of course, a Committee of the Whole House. It is there that the various items are examined and dealt with. It is in this stage that the only chance occurs actually to make any changes.

This year would be a good one in which to follow the style set by Nova Scotia. Budget debates should be worn shorter in periods of crisis.

PLANES VS. SHIPS

Sitting as an interested spectator, the United States is learning some valuable things about warfare and power of armament by watching the conflict in Europe. It has found out some profitable facts about airplane design and construction, and the Scandinavian sea campaign is furnishing it with reliable information on a vexed question.

How effective aircraft are against warships has been a problem ever since heavy bombers were developed. There have been aerial enthusiasts who have talked hysterically of "blowing navies out of the water" with aerial bombs. On the opposite side have been those who have jeered at the theory that airplanes could do any great damage to ironclad ships.

The question is not fully answered yet, but one or two significant facts seem to stand out. Light naval craft, such as destroyers, it appears, are susceptible to aerial attacks. They can be sunk by bombs from airplanes when direct hits are made on them, though it is still an enormously difficult task to strike so small a target from a fast-moving, high-flying plane.

The plain indication is that capital ships are at least safe from destruction by aircraft. They can be damaged to some extent, and by great good luck, a battle cruiser might actually be put out of action. Only by a miracle, however, could an aerial bomb sink such a ship. Planes simply cannot carry that kind of bombs.

Taken all in all, it is still a fairly safe conjecture that no navies are going to be blown out of the water by bombs from the skies.

BOOK REVIEW

BY HOWARD S. ROSS

"Science and Politics in the Ancient World"

By Benjamin Farrington
Professor of Classics
University College, Swansea
George Allen & Unwin Limited
London, England.

The political implications of the spread of science are of intense current interest. The same problem existed in an acute form in antiquity. Science found its way barred not only by popular superstition but by a governmental technique of controlling society through organized superstition.

The thought of many of the great writers of antiquity was profoundly affected by their attitude to this question. Philosophers like Plato, Aristotle and Cicero; historians like Polybius and Livy; poets like Pindar and Virgil; are seen in a new light when set against the background of this social struggle.

Professor Farrington has contributed something fresh to the understanding of ancient thought, and in particular to the understanding of the philosophy of Epicurus and of his Roman disciple, Lucretius. At the same time he writes with that easy charm of style which won his successful little book in the Home University Library, Science in Antiquity, so wide a circle of readers.

He makes an original and important contribution to his subject applying a thoroughly modern outlook to classical study. But the problems are closely analogous to those of today. This is by no means only a specialist's book.

There is quite an extensive bibliography and also a carefully prepared index.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Sidney Hillman president of Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America recently accepted an invitation from the American Hierarchy of the Catholic Church to serve on the Commission of American Citizenship established after an appeal by the late Pope Pius XI. The invitation was extended by Msgr. Joseph M. Corrigan, Rector of the Catholic University of America.

The Commission will serve in the preparation of a program of civic education and will be a "rallying point for right-thinking men irrespective of creed, who desire to perpetuate our American system of government."

The Amalgamated has many members in Montreal and Toronto and is considered by many students of labor problems to be one of the most progressive unions in the world, and its president an outstanding labor statesman. In a recent letter to him from President Roosevelt (who has great admiration for him) he was addressed "My dear Sidney."

"If you are old enough to remember men's shirts that buttoned in the back," observed The Kingston Whig-Standard, "you cannot doubt that the world is getting better." To which the Windsor Star rejoined, "Sure, but are the shirts?"

This is the time of year when Congress always has an economy wave. It is beautiful, but it is not a permanent.—The New Yorker.

A California employer recently warned that if strikers did not get better treatment "they might even organize."

French railway workers get holidays of at least 12 days, under a recent war-time decree.

The U. S. A. Dept. of Labor stated in its official journal that all the railways in the U. S. A. could have been scrapped and replaced five times by the idle men and idle machines of that country between 1930 and 1937.

Canadians make more use of the telephone than any other country. We make more telephone calls per person than even residents of the U. S. A.

The editor of the Daily Herald recently wrote: "We must this time dig to the roots of crime. We must, even in war time, get down to the job of planning a new international society."

"The war is being fought to destroy Chiang Kai-shek's anti-Japanese pro-communist regime, to restore peace in east Asia, to fulfill the great ideal of universal brotherhood, to realize general neighborliness, for joint defense against communism, for economic co-operation between Japan, China and Manchukuo and the establishing of a new order in east Asia, which has been the national policy of the Japanese empire since its foundation. That is the reason why the present war is called a holy war. It differs fundamentally from wars of conquest."—General Hata, war minister of Japan to the Diet.

7,553 cities, towns and villages of the U.S.A. own and operate their own water works.

My friend Charles H. Ingersoll who with the Ingersoll Watch "helped to make the dollar famous" recently wrote in his bright little journal The Modern Physicist as follows: "Last summer I was taken to one of the R.C.A. demonstrations and photographed a-la-movie, while I broadcasted. But when I asked if I was seen and heard in Chicago and Frisco, and what records were left, I was given zero as the answer. But now Mr. Sar-noff says he has found the missing link and that, whatever the sound and appearance will be, it will be handled via the network. In other words, the original idea of television is coming to fruition."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday May 5.

The Golden Text is from Proverbs 10:29. "The way of the Lord is strength to the upright; but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquity."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to the flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting." (Gal. 6: 7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "To cause suffering as the result of sin, is the means of destroying sin. Every supposed pleasure in sin will furnish more than its equivalent of pain, until belief in material life and sin is destroyed. To reach heaven, the harmony of being, we must understand the divine Principle of being." (Page 6).

"My son is a jack-of-all-trades—What shall I do with him?" "Buy him a drug store."

Insurance for Jobless Gains Ground in Canada

A measure of unemployment insurance, frequently debated and once written into the law of the land, only to be revoked because of constitutional limits on the Federal power, is believed almost certain to be incorporated in the statute books during the coming session of Parliament.

While the heavy drain of the war on the public treasury may hamper any general program of social and economic reform where any substantial expense is entailed, the promise of the Government on unemployment insurance has been definite. It will be considered an important measure of post-war planning, and it is felt that, even though its operation may draw heavily on the Treasury, its value as a relief factor when men are being demobilized from wartime industries will more than offset the expense.

Public opinion in all provinces appears to be in favor of a measure of the kind, although there is some question as to whether all provincial governments will agree to the constitutional change which would offer the most satisfactory way of putting it into effect.

Act Passed in 1935

In June, 1935, during the R. B. Bennett Regime, an Employment and Social Insurance Act was passed. In the preamble to the bill, apparently to get around the difficulties presented by the jurisdiction of the provinces over "property and civil rights," it was pointed out that Canada was signatory to the Versailles Treaty under which signatories agreed "to secure and maintain fair and humane conditions of labor for men, women, and children."

It was further stated that the proposed measure was essential under "the peace, order, and good government" of the Dominion.

STORY OF THE DISCOVERY OF ASBESTOS TOLD

Attractive Booklet Gives Information on "Magic Mineral"

Known from ancient times as the "magic mineral," but possibly the least written about of all Canada's rich natural resources, asbestos now has an attractive and informative booklet all its own. Just published by Canadian Johns-Manville Company, operators of the largest asbestos mine in the world at Asbestos, P.Q., the new booklet, which is attractively designed and illustrated, is being widely distributed to the Canadian public.

Of interest to Canadians generally—old and young alike—this fascinating story of Canadian pioneering and industrial achievement is interwoven with many delightful romantic episodes of centuries past, when asbestos was regarded as having the magic power because it could withstand the ravages of fire.

It is a story that shows how Canada came to achieve the distinction of being the richest of all countries in asbestos, producing nearly 70 per cent of the world's supply. It reveals that even today geologists are at a loss to know exactly how these mysterious deposits took form, although they agree that the "story of asbestos" started millions of years ago.

Keeping pace with the actual mining and processing operations, research workers have steadily pressed on to discover new and more amazing uses for asbestos which is today utilized in the building of homes; for brake linings; firemen's suits; industrial insulations; water, flue and sewer pipes and many other purposes.

These facts and a wealth of other interesting facts are chronicled in this interesting booklet which also shows how the progressive town of Asbestos came into being as a result of the discovery of this rare mineral in that province.

The section of the book which takes the reader "inside" Canadian Johns-Manville at the town of Asbestos graphically records how a great institution has been built by adherence to policies which have placed employer-employee relations on a basis of mutual benefit, confidence and goodwill.

Complimentary copies of "The Story of Asbestos" may be obtained from Canadian Johns-Manville Co., Ltd., Toronto 6, Ontario.

government" duties of the Dominion Administration and also "for the purpose of maintaining on equitable terms interprovincial and international trade." The measure, however, was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Canada and by the court of last resort, the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London.

Since then, in face of an agitation for job insurance, the Minister of Justice, Ernest Lapointe, has tried to get an agreement from the nine provinces to the needed constitutional amendment. Six provinces have agreed, but Alberta, New Brunswick, and Quebec have held out. William Aberhart of Alberta, still at loggerheads with the Federal Government on the question of the constitutionality of some provincial laws, is expected to remain adamant. Quebec, usually sensitive on the question of provincial rights, may be willing now to alter its views. Maurice Duplessis, stalwart of provincial rights, is out of power and Adélard Godbout, friend of the Federal Government which helped to elect him, holds the reins. Although New Brunswick has no problem of direct unemployment relief, that isn't taken care of by the Province itself, the argument is in favor of a uniform style of insurance for the whole Dominion may carry weight. The prospect of a general agreement in any event seems brighter than for some time past.

Possible Solution
If Alberta remains obdurate, a bill could be passed in the Dominion Parliament and those provinces desiring it may pass "enabling" legislation. Ontario already has a measure of social insurance on its statute books which can serve as the enabling law. This bill, passed about two years ago never has been put into effect.

Terms of the proposed law are not known at this time. In the case of the legislation of 1935, employer and employee were to make equal contributions to the basic fund from which insurance benefits would be distributed and the Dominion Government was to appropriate an amount equal to one fifth of these combined contributions. It is believed that in the main the terms of the new statute will follow the same line as the one passed in 1935 as that bill was based on systems in vogue in other countries with amendments designed to meet special conditions obtaining in Canada.

Unemployment insurance will be one of several recommendations contained in the report of the Sirois Commission to be made public before or at the opening of the coming session. Of the three main volumes in which the report will appear, one will be given over entirely to various recommendations arising from the two to three year investigation of the economic, fiscal and political relationships of the Dominion and the provinces. It is believed there may be several suggestions advanced by the commission which might offer valuable leads in post-war planning.

On Sunday in Calvary church, Westmount, at 7.30 p.m. the service will be of unusual interest. Rev. Albert Peel, D. Litt., chairman of the Congregational Union of England and Wales will speak on the subject of "Britain at War." Dr. Peel has just completed a preaching and speaking tour throughout the United States and Canada. On every occasion he has spoken in a convincing and eloquent way to large and interested audiences.

At 11 a.m. the preacher will be Rev. Douglas Smith, B.A., B.D., of Brockville, Ont. The theme of the sermon will be "Waves and Tides." Of recent graduates from the United Church Theological College in Montreal, one of the most promising young men is Rev. Douglas Smith. This service will be followed at 12 noon by the Communion of the Lord's Supper.

MESSAGE FROM HIS MAJESTY IS RECEIVED

Monarch Extends Greeting To Sons of Men Who Served in Great War 1914-18

A message signed by His Majesty the King extending a welcome to the sons of those who served in the Great War 1914-18, now enlisted in the Army, has been received by a number of local residents.

One such message has come to Isaac Barden, 2206 Oxford avenue, whose son, Sign. Victor Barden, is serving with the 1st Canadian Corps of Signallers of the C.A.S.F. He joined the army last September.

Signaller Barden's father, Isaac Barden, served in the last Great War from 1914-17, when he was invalided home after being badly wounded at Vimy Ridge. Mr. Barden was one of the first C.N.R. engineers to enlist, with the 5th Field Artillery, Westmount Battery and he left for overseas with the first Canadian Contingent in August, 1914.

The message from the King follows: Buckingham Palace The General Officer Commanding 1st Canadian Division

On behalf of the people of this country, I extend the warmest welcome to the first contingent of the Canadian forces to reach these shores.

The British Army will be proud to have as comrades-in-arms the successors of those who came from Canada in the Great War and fought with heroism that has never been forgotten.

PRESIDENT OF TRAM COMPANY FAVORS CARS

The members of the Investigating Committee referred in the Annual Report resigned without making a report and a new Committee was appointed on February 26, 1940. The Chairman of this Committee is Honourable Elie Bauregard, K.C., and the other members are: Honourable C. J. Arcand, Alderman Eugene Bélanger, Mr. Honoré Girouard and Charles Gordon Wallace, R. H. Watt, president, reported at the annual meeting of the Montreal Tramways Co.

The Company during the year 1939 continued its policy of replacing trams by autobuses for operation in sparsely populated districts. Nothing has occurred during the year to modify the view which I expressed to the shareholders a year ago, namely, that trams will continue to be the most economical and satisfactory vehicle for public transportation in the densely populated districts of cities having a population comparable with that of Montreal. Public transportation companies operating in Chicago, Washington, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Toronto have evidenced their belief in the future value of this type of public conveyance and have purchased a large number of new trams during the year 1939. When deliveries have been completed, there will be in operation 12 cities of Canada and the United States more than 1,100 new streamlined trams. This represents an investment of approximately twenty million dollars.

The following table shows the percentage of passengers carried in 1939 by each of the types of public conveyances mentioned, in cities of 500,000 population in Canada and the United States:

Tramcars	74.4%
Autobuses	23.5%
Trolley buses	2.1%

On page 6 of the Annual Report, you will note that for the year 1939 the Company paid in taxes and snow removal $1,119,928.76. In 1938, the corresponding amount was $808,549.24. The increase for 1939 was $311,379.52 or 38.5%. Notwithstanding greatly increased costs in operation, there has been no change in the Company's rates of fare since 1920. In cities of the United States of over 100,000 population the average rate of fare now in force is 29% higher than in Montreal. The Company's trolley buses have been in operation for a period of three years and have proved to be satisfactory units. No further purchases of this type of vehicle have been made, as the Company wishes to continue its experiment for a longer period before deciding to establish new trolley bus lines.

For the first three months of 1940, the gross earnings of the Company show an increase of 5.87% over the corresponding period of 1939. If industrial activity is maintained, it would seem reasonable to hope that increases will continue for the remainder of the year.

TREASURER'S REPORT AT THE HOMOEOPATHIC

S. B. Hammond, Hon. Treasurer, Submitted Balance Sheet and Statement

To the President and Board of Governors. The Homoeopathic Hospital of Montreal.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

On behalf of the Board of Management, I have the honour to present the Balance Sheet and Statement of Income and Expenditures for the year 1939.

The Balance Sheet shows that during the year there was expended on capital account, $162,781.39, as follows:

Hospital improvements	$ 37,290.98
Nurses' residence	107,597.55
Interns' residence	17,892.56
and equipment	17,892.56
Total	$162,781.39

The total cost of property and equipment is shown at $683,123.39.

Current liabilities, including bank loans, accounts payable and interest accrued on bonds as at December 31st, last, amounted to $159,682.12.

Our endowment fund was increased during the year by a bequest of $10,000.00 from our late Honorary President, Sir Charles W. Lindsay, and now amounts to $25,799.00.

During the year 1939, collections on account of subscriptions received in the last campaign amounted to $58,330.52. Outstanding pledges before providing for any reserved, amounted to $111,987.03.

Patients' revenues amounted to $123,130.86, as compared with $133,240.67 in the previous year, while operating expenses amounted to $767,205.02, as compared with $155,874.73 in 1938. Other miscellaneous expenses were $9,496.02, thus creating an operating deficit of $53,570.18. Included in the accounts for 1938 was a special grant of $15,000 from the Province of Quebec, which, however, was not forthcoming in 1939. The details of miscellaneous revenue and expenses are shown on the accompanying statements, which have been duly certified by your auditors.

Respectfully submitted,
S. B. HAMMOND,
Hon. Treasurer.

London No Place For A Tourist, Says Local Man

London is no place for a tourist at the present time according to a well known local resident, who has just returned from England. To all outward appearances the residents of this historic city are calm and collected, but the feeling of war is obvious.

While here are still many things to be seen in the city, buildings that are alive with tradition and history are all sandbagged. Art galleries, museums, Westminster Abbey and the Tower of London, once great mecca for tourists are all heavily guarded to avoid sabotage. Tombs of famous men and women are not easily recognized; famous and elaborate statues have been put safely away, and stained glass windows are no longer in evidence.

London's famous parks are now an endless line of trenches and anti-aircraft shelters with balloon barrages floating overhead. All public buildings are posted with full instructions and the location of the nearest air-raid shelter. With war preparations still going on for future attacks, the people of London still remain calm, a true characteristic of Englishmen. Children are not seen playing in the streets now, for they have, in most cases, evacuated. Public schools have been closed for many months. Conditions in England are not unlike those prevailing in Montreal. The residents are aware to the war, but they do not allow it to interfere, any more than is possible, with their everyday life.

Shipping conditions have not been altered any, to all outward appearances. Persons sailing from London are notified by the steamship company where they will sail from, and when to be there. They are not told the name of the boat on which they will sail, and do not find this out until they are aboard, many of the passengers having to find out for themselves, by the usual life preservers.

Black outs in London remain the same, although the city is not as dark as it was at the outbreak of the war, for automobiles are now allowed to have a little light on one side. The headlights are both covered, but a slit is made in one, allowing sufficient amount of light to be seen by approaching cars, in order to avoid unnecessary accidents.

Americans Help Allies In Scandinavian Crisis

While strengthening American neutrality by extending the combat zone closed to American shipping, the United States Government recently showed its sympathy for the Allied cause by speeding the sale to Britain and France of large numbers of the latest American fighting craft.

At the same time the Government has placed in effect an unprecedented executive order prohibiting the use or removal of any Danish or Norwegian wealth in this country without a special license from the Treasury Department. This action is interpreted as forestalling any German attempt to force the Norwegian or Danish Governments to put their wealth here at Berlin's disposal, since even formal orders from these two Governments regarding the disposition of their wealth here will not be complied with while German domination lasts.

The decision to speed the export of fighting planes to the Allies was attributed in high War Department circles to the new situation created by the German invasion of Scandinavia and demand which it will place upon Allied aircraft.

Latest Models Available
One report asserts that three of the Air Corps' latest models, not yet delivered in mass to this country's fighting forces, will be available for immediate export to the Allies. One report, still unconfirmed, says that the spectacular Bell P-39 pursuit ship, known as the Bell Airacobra, is among the models to be released.

Observers here see no major obstacles in the way of immediate and heavy exports of fighting craft to the Allies, since the Senate and House Military Affairs Committees have given their approval to the Government's present aviation policy which is based upon building up plant capacity here through heavy shipments to the Allies.

The provisions of the Executive order called upon all holders of Danish or Norwegian wealth in the United States to register this in detail with the Treasury Department within 10 days through the nation's Federal Reserve Banks.

Secretary Morgenthau at a press conference following the job at 2347 Grand Boulevard, complained of not feeling well and died almost instantly.

CAMPAIGN FOR CLEAN UP WILL BE EMPHASIZED

Raymond Caron Appointed General Chairman - Adopt Slogan 'The Tourists Are Coming'

Raymond Caron, well known local barrister and solicitor, it was announced yesterday by the City Improvement League, has been appointed general chairman of the annual Clean Up-Paint Up Campaign for 1940. The official week for the campaign this year will be from Saturday May 18th to Saturday, May 25th.

Realizing the importance of the tremendous possibilities offered by the tourist trade this year and of the effect impressions will make on these tourists for future years the Clean Up Campaign will be slanted at this appeal... the official slogan is "The Tourists Are Coming."

Tentative plans call for the campaign to get officially under way on Friday, May 3, when His Worship Mayor Houde will make a proclamation at a meeting of the heads of the Civic Departments and the officials of the City Improvement League. While no details of this year's drive are yet available other than, of course, that it will concentrate on making the city more attractive for tourists, it is stated that two important and extremely interesting innovations will be introduced into the campaign for the first time.

The importance of these campaigns is so well understood that they have taken on nation-wide significance. In recent years, under the general chairmanship of Royal Cluxton, Montreal has been a leader in this respect. Mr. Cluxton continues his activity as Chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee. General publicity is under the chairmanship of Messrs. W. G. Power and W. M. Mills of Lord & Thomas of Canada Limited, advertising agency. Radio and service clubs publicity is being organized by a Committee from the Montreal Junior Board of Trade under the chairmanship of H. J. De Luca.

MRS. C. H. P. MOORE

A well known clubwoman in this district, Mrs. C. H. P. Moore has lived in the West End of Montreal for more than 25 years. She lived in Montreal West before the street car service was inaugurated and later lived in Hampstead and Notre Dame de Grace and is at the present time a resident of the City of Westmount.

Immediate past president of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club, Mrs. Moore has always taken an active interest in all women's works of the community.

At the outbreak of the war, Mrs. Moore was president of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club, when she was approached by the Canadian Red Cross Society to organize a branch in this vicinity. Elected president of the branch when it was organized, she was re-elected head of this hundred workers, who are non-members.

Mrs. Moore received her education in the Montreal West public school, from where she graduated to the Westmount Academy. She is a graduate of the Children's Memorial hospital, where she was in charge of the operating room for six months, following the completion of her course. She later group at the annual meeting held recently. Under the direction of Mrs. Moore, this branch has turned out a maximum amount of work and boasts of over 2,000 members, in addition to several went to New York City, nursing on private cases. After six months in United States, she returned to Montreal to become the bride of Dr. C. H. P. Moore, well-known Westmount dentist.

Intensely interested in the well-being of young girls, Mrs. Moore has long been connected with the Girl Guide movement in Montreal. She was formerly District Commissioner for Snowdon and is at the present time divisional secretary. She is also a member of the League for Women's Rights and is on the committee of the Occupational Therapy Centre. She is the mother of two children, a boy and a girl. The family attend Dominion Douglas Church.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

A Tasty Meal Easy to Make

Lamb Pie Makes Perfect Dish For Spring Luncheon

Call the neighbors in for a spring luncheon party. Keep the menu simple but interesting. All work and no fun makes a dull hostess.

LAMB PIE

(Serves four to six)
One and one-half pounds lamb shoulder, 4 tablespoons flour, 2

A Well-Balanced Menu

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit juice, poached eggs on toast, wholewheat toast, jelly, coffee, milk.

SPRING LUNCHEON PARTY: Lamb pie, curly lettuce salad, honey dressing, wholewheat rolls, pear halves, coconut drops, tea, milk.

DINNER: Corned beef hash, green peas, creamed carrots, hard rolls, rhubarb Betty, coffee, milk.

medium onions, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 cups water, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 cup carrots, diced; 1 cup celery, diced; 1 cup baby lima beans.

Wipe meat with a damp cloth to be sure it is clean, then cut into 1-inch cubes. Dredge in flour. Add chopped onions in melted butter in a 2-quart heat-resistant glass saucepan. Add water, salt, carrots, celery and lima beans cook very slowly over direct heat for about an hour or until meat and vegetables are tender. Place in six 8-ounce heat-resistant glass-deep pie dishes.

Pastry

Two cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup lard or other shortening, 6 to 8 tablespoons ice water. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut in shortening until the size of lima beans. Add

Wrist-Length Cardigans Designed for Long Torso

The spring sweater story is longer and more colorful than usual. Fresh off the knitting needles come the wrist-length cardigan jackets designed to give you that long torso. Knit them of jumbo thick yarn to make a long story short, perhaps in an interesting lattice stitch or in a nubby rib.

If you prefer fine yarn, work it in a new herringbone pattern that has the texture of imported tweed. But wait—don't use up all your yarn yet. You'll have to save enough for patch pockets. Put two along the hem line and if you've enough material add two breast pockets. The sweater story has a passion for pockets. They'll be as useful as caddies on a golf course for carrying extra balls, score cards, pencils and other impedimenta. And they'll afford you a place to hide hands that always seem to dangle in those awkward moments, says Margaret Taylor in the New York Sun.

Imagination Helps When Planning Meals

A little imagination, plus a little effort, can make luncheon a pleasant meal full of culinary interest, rather than a succession of sad and any-old-thing, day after day.

Scrambled Egg Special and Vegetable Sandwiches are good to look at and good to taste. For the sandwiches use one-half cup each shredded carrot, shredded cabbage and shredded celery, and three tablespoons chopped water-cress or parsley. Moisten with mayonnaise, season with salt and pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Spread on buttered slices of white bread, cover with buttered slices of whole wheat bread, and cut diagonally. For the scrambled egg dish, take seven stuffed olives (sliced), two tablespoons each chopped onion and chopped green pepper, two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, one-fourth teaspoon salt, six eggs, six tablespoons cream and three tablespoons butter. Melt butter in a skillet and brown very slightly the sliced olives, onion and green pepper. Be sure the latter are chopped very fine. Add the eggs and cream, then the sauce and the seasonings. Stir all together and cool over low heat, stirring and lifting frequently until the mixture coagulates. Four servings.

If it is to be meat for luncheon, here's a good recipe. Hamburger Shamrocks is a new way to serve hamburger. Recipe is for one pound hamburger, one egg, one-fourth cup soft bread crumbs, one-fourth teaspoon each poultry seasoning and pepper, three-fourths teaspoon salt and three green peppers. Beat the egg, add crumbs, poultry seasoning, salt and pepper. Add meat. Cut eight rings, one-half inch thick from "Oh." Its daring décolletage has the green peppers. Pat hamburger mixture into the rings. Broil seven minutes on one side and six minutes on the other. Delicious!

For a tasty luncheon sandwich, mince sardines with broiled bacon and green peppers. Mix with mayonnaise. Spread on Boston brown bread. Top with sliced stuffed olives. Sprinkle with paprika. Salmon with Sour Cream is a good dish, easy to prepare and packed with nourishment. Use one No. 2 can salmon, one cup thick sour cream and one-fourth teaspoon paprika. Break the fish into large pieces and put in buttered casserole, after removing any bits of skin and bone. Bake with cream in moderate oven for 45 minutes. Serve hot on toast with a garnish of lemon slices, parsley, tomato and paprika. If the pantry shelf holds some jars of pickles and preserves, cold

Full-Skirted Evening Gowns Seen in Variety of Fabrics

As much as flowers are a part of many spring hats, so are the gray veils worn with them.

Face veils of pink mesh are very flattering. Some of these are draped in the new "muzzle" fashion. White sailor hats are shown with yards of navy-blue veiling to float in bows or streamers in a softening cloud. There are smart beige hats with brown veils. Thin silk jersey is draped around some hats and hangs all-like down the back.

It is possible to choose a veil from the many bolts of lovely meshes in colors to suit your hat, flatter your complexion and add that ethereal note so charming for spring.

Fabric futures are exciting for spring 1940!

Full-skirted evening fashions call for soft fabrics that will gather easily and without bulk. It is not surprising therefore to find designers looking for them not only in silks but in cotton and in mixtures of these fibres.

In cottons, the crease-resisting and shrinkage-controlled qualities are important factors in both sports and street clothes and in evening wear. Gingham, muslin, striped and plain hams, muslin, striped and plain chambrays and seersuckers lend themselves to smart tailoring for daytime. After sundown, clothes include such loveliness as shirtwaist dinner dresses of organdie and formal gowns of white pique with matching or red-and-blue jacket.

Many Plaids

Plaids—big plaids, little plaids, authentic Scotch plaids, and fan-

cifully colored plaids—in rayon taffeta are singled out as the spring successors to the highly colored broad stripes of the winter season.

Woolens have gone "smoothie" on us this year. Except for the bengaline type with the cross-cording that looks like pique, spring woolens have discarded their winter time nubbinness and appear smooth and sleek in keeping with the trend toward gentility in fashion manners.

Wool jersey is also making a command appearance this season. Not since 1918 has there been as great a demand for this popular fabric as there is now for suits and tailored dresses. Various weaves and weights in jersey companion fabrics make for interesting suit ensembles. For instance, jersey with a slightly matty surface is seen in both diagonal and herringbone weaves. A new reversible jersey shows the broadcloth side for the jacket and the jersey side for the skirt.

Knitted Tweeds

Knitted tweeds in small, two-tone, herringbone weaves are given a fourstar rating for spring spectator sportswear.

The evening will open with the children's offering "There are Fairies" which is conceded by on-lookers at the dress rehearsals to be the finest of the "Fairies" presentations yet offered by the Betty Speirs organization.

Everyone will enjoy the setting which includes a huge wishing well with a runaway extending from the front of the stage to the very edge of the well and on which the most unexpected things happen.

Another feature will be "Come unto me" . . . a sacred presentation starring the senior soloists including Jean Barnes, Audrey Jones, Hazel Fitzgerald, Jean Fitzgerald, and Nancy Telfer. Supporting this classic will be Mrs. Andrew Webster singing "Ave Maria" with Arthur Davidson, celebrated young Montreal virtuoso who will play the violin obligato with James B. Speirs at the grand organ.

Such well known soloists as Nancy Telfer, Jean Barnes, Em Orlick, Barbara Pettit, will be seen in their own specialties while Dorothy Fitzgerald and Eleanor Thomson will star in the ballroom scene.

The boys, who scored such a hit last year as the "Mounties," will be seen in "Tallyho" an old English hunting scene in which they will be joined by the lovely June Sidaway as Lady Fallowfield. In the scene "Cabaret," Peter Miller will personally appear in the exhibition waltz of his own composition which he presented last month at the Park Central Hotel, New York City, to the Dance Educators of America.

Supporting Mr. Miller will be six couples including Lillias Swinden, Simone Desroches, Max and Inez Heyberd, Evelyn Madigan, Peter Ewart, Lawrence Henderson and James Hogarth. In the feature number Mr. Miller will have as his partner Molly Usher-Jones, dancer and teacher.

As is usual at Betty Speirs recitals will be of the utmost as sensation the scenic and lighting it has always been the policy of this school that a colorful background is appreciated by the audience and the artists.

Montgomery In Screen's Most Unusual Drama

Described as the most unusual picture of the year, "The Earl of Chicago" now playing at the York United Theatre until Friday is the dramatic story of Silky Kilmount, Chicago gangster who becomes an English Earl by inheritance, the picture stars Robert Montgomery in the most challenging role of his career, an adventure in characterization.

New Dramatic Idea
That there is something new and different in movie plots is evidenced by the twists this story takes. Silky is the typical gangster, illiterate but calculating, shrewd, cold and cruel, who operates a streamlined liquor business, strictly "legitimate" and "government", but using the gangster salesmanship methods of prohibition days. Greed for what he believes is a $10,000,000 inheritance takes Silky to England.

Bewildered by a situation he can't understand, Silky is forced to depend on his lawyer and pal, Doc Ramsey, played by Edward Arnold. When Doc "rats" on him, Silky murders him and is tried by his peers in the House of Lords, a famous murder trial shown on the screen for the first time.

A Powerful Role
Silky gives Montgomery a powerful role from a dramatic standpoint, but also humorous in its unusual, surprising and spectacular situations. Richard Thorpe, who directed Montgomery in "Night Must Fall", directed the picture, with a supporting cast of 153 players, featuring Reginald Owen, Edmund Gwenn, E. E. Clive, Ronald Sinclair, Norma Varden, Halliwell Hobbes, Ian Wulf, Peter Godfrey and Billy Bevan. Victor Saville, producer of "The Citadel" and "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," produced "The Earl of Chicago" as his first American picture.

ST. STEPHEN'S PLAYERS WILL PRESENT REVUE

To be Given in Parish Hall
On May 8, 9 and 10 —
Fine Cast

St. Stephen's Players will present their eighth Annual Revue in the Parish Hall, Westdale Park, Westmount, on May 8, 9, and 10, under the direction of Harold G. Gillingham, Choir director and tenor soloist of St. Stephen's Church.

The first Revue was produced by the young people of St. Stephen's in the spring of 1933 and each year has seen wonderful progress in the development of their talents. For three years Max Ford, now serving overseas with the Y.M.C.A. was director and last year Jack Ward, well known in the McGill Red and White Revue, was in charge. The performances have always been well received by the public.

This 1940 Revue promises to be one of the best—and opens with a One Act Play entitled

RECORD-BREAKER AT SNOWDON

Margaret Lockwood in a scene from "A Girl Must Live," which is enjoying a record attendance at the Snowdon United Theatre, now playing its fifth week.

This sparkling, romantic comedy from the British studios, is the first picture to run such an extended time in a neighborhood theatre in Montreal.

THREE-WAY ROMANCE

To Appear in Betty Speirs Recital Sat. May 11

A few of the little fairies who will take part in the Show are Mary Entwistle, Maureen McCann, Joan Regale, Emily Ann Robertson, Raymonde Grant, Dundi Weintraub, Sonia Weintraub, Elaine Albert, Joyce Shiller, Patricia Parham, Corrine Lyman, Anne Wellsford.

Many "Firsts" Feature
New Judge Hardy Film

There were more "firsts" in the latest Hardy picture, "Judge Hardy and Son," now playing at the Monkland United Theatre, than in any of the preceding stories of M-G-M's typical American family.

In the current picture it was the first time Lewis Stone wore a light grey suit instead of his conventional blue serge.

First time Mickey Rooney gave the Judge a "man-to-man" talk.

First time Ann Rutherford wore make-up to cover her California sun tan.

First time "Ma" Hardy (Fay Holden) remains in bed for the greater part of the picture.

First time the main plot takes place right in the Carvel home—no swank hotel, no ranch, no schoolhouse.

First time Cecilia Parker and Mickey realize that brothers and sisters can love one another as well as fight much to the joy of Aunt Milly (Sarah Haden).

First time Maria Ouspenskaya, renowned dramatic actress, joins the Carvel neighbors.

First time Andy Hardy (Mickey) earns money through his own efforts.

First time Mickey plays a screen scene with his real-life father, Joe Yule.

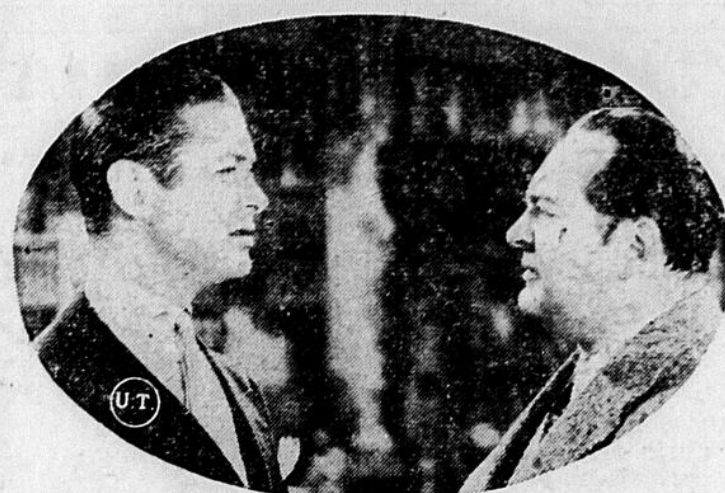

"Judge Hardy and Son" sees Mickey engage in detective work to aid his father with a legal case. It involves him with three pretty girls, gets him in trouble with his sweetheart, and also gives him the opportunity to play hero when he ferries Cecilia Parker across a raging flood to reach the bedside of their sick mother.

George B. Seitz, who has piloted all the Hardy pictures save one, directed.

"Sight Seeing De Luxe," produced by kind permission of The Dramatists Play Service Inc. of New York. Then will follow "The March of Crime" in five acts written and arranged by Harold G. Gillingham.

Woman At Her Best In Love Scene Says Grant

Millions of feminine moviegoer will disagree, but Cary Grant insists that he is not a master of the fine art of making love to a woman—either before a camera or in a dimly-lit drawing room.

"It's just as tough to find the right approach before the camera as in the drawing room," Grant admitted, after pondering the pros and cons of a question which has perplexed the mind of man for several centuries.

With a love scene in the offing, an actress becomes merely a woman," he continued. "Different leading ladies are different problems and making love, even if it is make-believe, continues to be strictly a feminine field."

Grant always gets his women on the screen, in sharp contrast to Ralph Bellamy, who has an unenviable record for wooing but never wedding. The star battles Bellamy for the heart and hand of Rosalind Russell in Howard Hawks' latest Columbia romantic comedy drama, "His Girl Friday", now at the Westmount United Theatre.

Playing Until Saturday
"You might as well throw the script out a window when woman's whims are concerned," he explained. "Courtship is a woman's province and she is just as much its mistress on a studio sound stage as in a moon-flooded conservatory."

THEATRE GIVES FINE DISPLAY AT CLOSING

On Saturday afternoon a fine performance was given by the Children's Theatre in Victoria Hall when four one-act plays were presented, each so different and so well played that it would be difficult to select any one as the best. The Children's Gateway, The Witch's Cave, The Selfish Princess and Actress Wanted (the latter by a Montreal author, Miriam Stein) held the attention of a large and very enthusiastic audience.

With almost 100 children in the cast it would be impossible to give individual criticism, but it must be said that each and every pupil ranging from the tiny tots to the seniors displayed their acting ability, excellent diction and poise and showed the results of splendid training.

At the conclusion of the performance cups were awarded to the recent drama festival winners, and medals to the girls who received the most votes for the best performance in "The Youth of Queen Victoria."

Miss Davis outlined some of the work carried on by the school and mentioned that many of the pupils of the Children's Theatre had received professional engagements during the past season with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the Associated Screen News.

The studios of the Children's Theatre re-open next September. Miss Davis is leaving shortly for New York to gather new material for stage and radio productions.

Y.M.C.A. BASEBALL LOOPS OPEN SCHEDULES SATURDAY

BIG SHOW FOR THE FORUM MAY 4 TO 11 WILL AID THE WORK FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

For seven days beginning Saturday May 4 the Forum will be turned over to the Shriners who are sponsoring the Hamid and Morton Trained Wild Animal shows combined with sensational Circus acts, and also featuring Clyde Beatty known the world over as the greatest wild beast trainer of all times.

More than 300 performers will take part in the gigantic entertainment that Bob Morton part owner of the show will bring to Montreal this season. Among its features will be Ernie Wiswell and his funny Ford.

A jolopy in appearance, but actually a marvel of mechanical gadgets is Ernie Wiswell's famous Funny Ford, which will provide plenty of laughs for the youngsters and for grown-ups as well. It will be one of the most amusing presentations ever fashioned from a "tin lizzie."

Without a driver showing the Ford chases Ernie, in his character of clown, all over the Forum. It stops and starts, goes forward and into reverse in a manner that would put most accomplished robots to shame.

Ernie and his pretty lady partner present their comedy riot in a studied and entertaining fashion. Their routine has been designed for laughs alone and there isn't a second throughout their presentation when they fail to manufacture at least one rib-tickler.

This will be one of the 50 or more acts which the Hamid and Morton show will present. Two performances will be given daily at 2.30 and 8.30.

As announced previously this season the Hamid-Morton Shows will exhibit under the auspices of the Montreal Shriners, for the benefit of the Shriners Crippled Children's Hospital, and every ticket sold will mean help for this institution which in the past has done such good for crippled and underprivileged children of this city.

BELMONT PARK WILL HOLD ITS PREVIEW

Belmont Park will once again hold its annual preview showing for two days, Saturday and Sunday, May 11 and 12, during which time patrons of this famous outdoor amusement centre, the only one of its kind in the city, will be able to see for themselves the high standard of amusement this Park will offer them during the Summer Season. The Park will then be closed to the public for a period of five days and will re-open officially for the season on Saturday, May 18.

The Netherlands Indies Government is sponsoring the establishment of new industries.

Tennis Owes Growth to Dwight Davis Who Donated Cup Which Became A Much Sought Prize

International tennis and sportsmanship received its biggest impetus from Dwight F. Davis, right, who donated the famous cup which bears his name.

Dwight Fillis Davis did more for tennis than any other individual, but sometimes wonders if it is worth it.

In 1900, when Davis was only 21 and still at Harvard, he donated the cup bearing his name for the purpose of promoting international competition and good will.

Hullabaloo over The Americas Cup races gave him the notion.

The growth of Davis' idea from a competitive standpoint was astounding. In 1900, only two nations, the United States and England, competed for the Davis Cup. As many as 28 have since been added to the list.

Unfortunately, international good will failed to keep pace with the growth of the game. It was not until 1924 that Davis' idea was put into effect. One of those rare men of wealth who from their youth have devoted most of their time to public affairs, Dwight F. Davis, a striking figure of a man at 61, has never lost interest in the game he played so well since it was a contest of base line drives.

ABUSES IN GAME

He did a grand job of building—as president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, among other things—but, a dyed-in-the-wool amateur of the old school, he has said he is not sure he would do it over again knowing results would be no better in connection with player abuses... taking expense money in excess, chiefly through duplication, and otherwise giving the simon-pure version a black eye.

Such prominent court artists as Gene Mako, Davis Cup doubles partner of Don Budge, and Wayne Sabin recently were suspended.

Dwight Davis not only gave the in prize money and his standing at the head of the parade apparently is secure because Meyer, who won three races and $69,000, has announced his retirement from the speed game.

Shaw finished fourth in 1927, second in 1933, 1935 and 1938; seventh in 1936, and first in 1937 and 1939.

Meyer was first in 1928, 1933 and 1936; second in 1929, and fourth in 1930 and 1937. Last year he seemed on the road to his fourth victory until two accidents in the last 100 miles put him out of the race at 492 miles.

Meyer has driven farther on the Indianapolis track than any other driver—5,249 miles. Tony Gulotta of Detroit is second with 4,880 miles, Cliff Bergere of Hollywood, Cal., third with 4,745 and Shaw fourth with 4,171.

If Meyer stands by his retirement pledge, Shaw will be the only driver in this year's race among the first 10 money winners.

Trailing Shaw and Meyer are Tommy Milton of Detroit, two-time winner, $49,600; Harry Hartz of Los Angeles, never a winner but second three times and fourth twice, $37,000; the late Jimmy Murphy of Los Angeles, 1922 winner, $33,500; Fred Frame of Los Angeles, 1932 victor, $23,000; Ralph de Palma of New York, winner in 1915, $21,400; the late Bill Cummings of Indianapolis, 1934 winner, $30,200.

Sandlotters Get Major Sport Ranking

The national championship semi-pro tournament at Wichita, Kansas, takes its place as one of the major sports events of the nation.

In the past three years 311,000 persons have passed through the turnstiles.

Davis Cup, but helped to successfully defend it at first... against England. Twenty years later, just to prove that tennis is an old man's game, too, he came back with Holcombe Ward, his partner when he was at his peak and current president of the U.S.L.T.A., to win the national veterans' doubles at the end of a set that went 18-16.

He played first rate tournament tennis until he was 45.

WON COLLEGIATE TITLES

Davis visited Japan years ago. He observed an occasional grass court on which young men in kimonos chased a flabby rubber ball. A few years later, the kimonos and the flabby rubber ball were gone. Japan contended for the Davis Cup.

Davis is one of those athletes who had everything... brain as well as brawn. He always has been a doer.

Of a St. Louis department store family, he was graduated from Harvard with an A. B. degree in the class of 1900. He won the intercollegiate singles and doubles titles as a junior... was national doubles champion in 1898, 1899 and 1900.

As early as 1903, he became chairman of a commission to promote better living conditions in the crowded tenements of the foreign quarter of St. Louis. He established community centres... built public playgrounds, free bath houses, bandstands and lecture rooms.

As park commissioner, he gave St. Louis, an unexcelled system and its great zoo.

CITED FOR HEROISM

Lieutenant-Colonel Davis was twice cited for extraordinary heroism in action and given the Distinguished Service Cross during the World War.

SCOUT GROUP PRESENTS FINE VARIETY SHOW

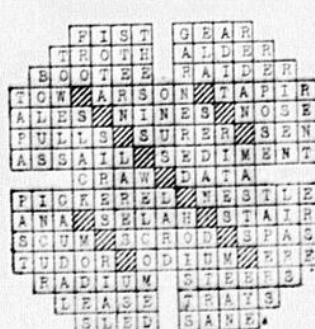

On Monday evening the St. Leo's Scout Group, presented an entertaining variety show. The costumes were appropriate, as also were the unusual effects—such as the "Arabian Knights in Swingtime" act, where six or seven jitterbugging dancing girls came out from a vase.

Thirteen acts were presented, which included a shadow play, a radio broadcast, which had the audience in stitches with the bit entitled "The March of Time" and other items.

The Mellerdrummar must not be overlooked, the scenery with aid of a flicker proved most convincing—the acting was really clever.

Much credit should go to Evan McCormick, Scoutmaster and Rover Leader for the wonderful way in which he directed the show.

CROSSWORD SOLUTION

ENTRIES FOR MEET CLOSE ON SATURDAY

Contestants deadline is set for tomorrow. Entries for the Inter "Y" Swimming Meet to be held on Saturday May 11, will close this coming Saturday, officials of the meet announced here yesterday. Any Westmount "Y" swimmers who want to enter this annual event at Central Branch must be careful to get their entry forms to Mr. C. F. Cadden, secretary of the Swimming Club at Central "Y", 1441 Drummond Street, not later than 10 p.m. of May 4.

This year's Inter "Y" Swimming meet should bring forth some of the finest talent in a long time, as all branches have been pushing their aquatic schedule harder than before. To meet this challenge to Westmount's laurels, a stout squad of swimmers must enter the field for this branch and it is hoped that all those who have not yet come forward for the event will make use of the remaining two days to enter.

The necessary forms for entering the meet are available at the Westmount branch and can be had by applying to either J. Hugh Noble or Vic Soucisse.

Semi Pros Are Signing For The Big Leagues

Players of the sandlots of America are signing contracts to participate in baseball just like they do in the major professional leagues.

Under the national player system, adopted by the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress, boys in every part of the nation are being signed to contracts, which require that they play for the sandlot club specified in agreement for one-year period unless released.

Under these terms a player under the national system of semi-pro contracts cannot change team within one year after date unless released by sponsor. Penalty provides that player is ousted for two years from competing in the national semi-pro baseball program.

The team that signs outlaw players is barred indefinitely and any club that plays an "outlaw" club also is to be on the blacklist.

Dwight F. Davis' peace plan was the friendly game of tennis. It was as good a plan as any, for none of them have worked.

Fifteen Enroll In 'Y' Swim Groups

Fifteen boys and girls have already enrolled in the annual semi-private learn-to-swim classes at the local Y.M.C.A., conducted for youngsters between the ages of seven and ten years. The classes will be held twice weekly, with improved groups for more advanced swimmers.

CAPTAIN R. F. SCOTT

During the past few weeks, Scouts John Brunt, George Kirk and John Chatterton have been accepted as Squires of the crew and have been presented with their hat badges.

Crew are anticipating another hike in the near future, meanwhile announcement is given that an outdoor meeting will be held on the night of May 14th.

This coming Tuesday the crew is planning a special instruction period on the art of splicing.

Meanwhile crew's camping date is set at June 23rd to July 13th at Lost River, in conjunction with the 1st Westmount troop.

NEW GADGET FOR FOOTBALL TRAINING

And now it's science that plays a part in spring football practice. Coach Charley Bachman, of Michigan State College, is able to determine the blocking power of his linemen through a weighted dummy suspended from a large pneumatic piston.

As a lineman prepares to lunge at the dummy, the coach is at the controls—two gauges and a handle. A twist of the handle builds up the air pressure on one gauge while the other registers the counter efforts of the lineman.

Formation of League Has Been Completed—Active Season is Predicted

Prep, Junior and Intermediate Y.M.C.A. baseball teams swing into action at Westmount Park on Saturday when the season's initial loop fixtures are scheduled to get under way. All games will be played there.

The Prep league will be comprised of four squads, Rough Riders, Thunderbolts, King's and Roslyn while the junior loop will consist of Royals, Flyers and two teams as yet unnamed. In the intermediate set up there will be Seals, Penguins, Taxis and Eagles.

During the past week players on the various squads have been practicing steadily on the park diamonds which are now pretty well in shape for serious play. It is yet to early to make any prediction on the quality of the teams, but what indications there are point to the fact that the players are fairly evenly matched. This assumption is based, primarily, on the stamina they displayed on hockey and basketball squads during the past winter.

Hugh Noble, physical director of the local branch, is confident that the forthcoming season will be a particularly active one as an exceptionally large number of boys have sought positions on the various teams.

To be happy! To be healthy! To be able to work and play and laugh—to eat and drink moderately. Truly, this is the joy of living! What other drink adds so much to the joy of living?

EASTERN AFTERNOON

Anna May Wong, Moviedom's gift to China, was born on the wrong side of Hollywood's railroad tracks but lives today in an enchanting, rambling house overlooking the blue Pacific. Saturday afternoon we joined the actress at tea.

Anna May's guests included Dr. Lin Yutang, celebrated Chinese philosopher and writer, the local Chinese consul, and a young Cantonese authoress, Kuo Gin-Chiu, whose latest book, "Peach Paths," is rapidly becoming a best-seller. Within an hour we learned more of China and its people than three college professors had managed to cram down our throat in four years.

Did you know that China gave the world four important inventions—firecrackers, gunpowder, printing and the compass? The Chinese compass points south, instead of north. Chinese women never wear hats, and are generally named after flowers—Peach, Plum, Orchid, Chrysanthemum, Cherry Blossom. Girls of 11 use lipstick and are enthusiastic jitterbugs, while most Chinese ladies play a bang-up game of golf when they're not busy fighting the Japs.

You can buy Canadian cigarettes for five cents a pack in China, and cars cost less there than here. Robert Taylor is the nation's screen favorite; and there is no name more common in China than Lee-Chin, which, translated, means—Smith.

A most entrancing people, these Chinese. And a most gracious hostess, Anna May Wong. We wish her a speedy and successful return to the screen.

SHAVINGS

Shirley Temple celebrated her eleventh birthday this week by severing relations with 20th Century-Fox and naming Frank Oratt her personal manager. Shirley's current film, "Young People," will probably be her last at 20th Century. "Tom Brown's School Days," starring Freddie Bartholomew, will have its world premier in Ottawa, with proceeds going to the Canadian Legion. The film is still before the cameras at RKO with Robert Stevenson—the young Britisher who made "Nine Days a Queen"—as director . . . Capitalizing on Germany's Norwegian coup, Columbia Pictures has bought an original story, "Blitzkrieg," for immediate production . . .

BORN THIS WEEK

Yesterday morning we bled yourself out to a district projection chamber and chewed gum while Paramount, Universal and Columbia screened their latest gems.

By far the best contribution was Columbia's "The Doctor Takes a Wife," a hilariously charming and utterly impossible farce starring Loretta Young and Ray Milland. This is the tale of a bachelor-girl-turned-author and a young medical professor who find it necessary to pose as married and share an apartment for several weeks. The funniest film of 1940, it is a perfectly delightful bit of celluloid entertainment. By all means see "The Doctor Takes a Wife."

Not so successful were the other two pictures. Paramount's "Typhoon" offers Dorothy Lamour and Robert Preston in abbreviated clothing but not much else. Done in Technicolor, the film boasts fine photography and trick camera effects, but its plot is beyond even fantasy. Miss Lamour has never looked lovelier, and her one song, "Palms of Paradise," is a certain hit. Lynn Overman's dry humour and the amazing storm and fire sequences raise "Typhoon" above average. Mark it down as a pleasant breeze.

Universal's offering was the Big Crosby-Gloria Jean production, "If I Had My Way." This is one of Crosby's lesser efforts, but his young co-star displays genuine talent and a refreshing personality. El Brendel is boring as a second male lead.

FINALE

Raymond Massey is expected to sign this week to play opposite Bette Davis in "The Letter," her next for Warner Brothers . . . Lloyd C. Douglas, who wrote "Magnificent Obsession" while minister at St. James United Church in Montreal, was hired by Metro yesterday to write original screen stories for the Hardy Family and Dr. Kildare. Such is the destiny of genius! . . . Orson Welles may return to the air for Henry Ford et fils next autumn . . . So goes the news from Hollywood. Adios . . .

Vanishing Indians Irk Census Takers

The census takers and the Papago Indians in Arizona are in a stalemate.

The Indians, according to Indian Bureau officials, have good-naturedly, but firmly, decided the census questions are none of the Government's business.

Meetings have been held to explain the law through interpreters, but when the possibility of arrests for continued refusal to answer questions was mentioned, one replied: "The Government talks big, but does nothing."

Most of the census work on Indian reservations is handled through the Indian Service. Officials said they had instructed field representatives to confer with census officials and the United States Attorney to determine what to do next.

THE BUSINESS ASSOCIATION of WESTMOUNT WELCOMES NEWCOMERS TO THE CITY

During the past week, several hundreds of families have taken up their residence here in Westmount; to these newcomers, the members of the Business Association listed in this advertisement, extend cordial greetings.

These new residents will find Westmount the ideal place in which to live. As a residential city, Westmount is without equal anywhere in eastern Canada. Spacious parks and playgrounds, a well-stocked library, railway facilities, transportation to and from all parts of the island, efficient police and fire forces, are just a few of the features that make this locality desirable.

But perhaps the fact that will appeal most forcibly to newcomers is this: — every conceivable commodity needed for the maintenance of the home — and, yes, a business too — can be purchased right here in Westmount. Local business dealers can supply practically every needed article at prices that compare favourably with those quoted elsewhere. Courtesy, service and quality merchandise are highlights of your local merchants' policy.

The Business Association of Westmount represents a sincere effort on the part of local business men and women to be worthy of increased patronage from Westmount residents. The Association is a non-profit group, operated solely for the benefit of the community in general, and to promote better business conditions within the limits of the City of Westmount. Newcomers, as well as established residents, will find that it pays to "Shop in Westmount First."
