STATE-AIDED EMIGRATION.

CANADA AND THE OTHER COLONIES' POSITION IN THE MATTER.

(Via C.P.R. Telegraph.) TORONTO, Sept. 12.—The following special cable appears in this morning's Globe:—

PERSONAL.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Sir Charles Tupper sails by the "Nova Scotia," for Halifax, on Tuesday next. I believe his departure was originally fixed for October 6th, when Mr. Charleau returns. The Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, now in Switzerland, returns at the end of the month.

Sir Charles Young's death is just announced. He was vice-president of the Grand Trunk.

THE CROFTERS.

In accordance with the promise given the House of Commons Committee on State-aided Emigration, the Colonial Office has just sent despatches to the various colonies enquiring as to the opinions held on the subject, with special regard to the proposed joint guarantee by the Imperial and Colonial Governments on the capital publicly subscribed, as proposed by the Committee. It is believed here that the Canadian Government will not favor any such guarantee.

OTTAWA COUNTY ELECTION.

(Special to the Witness.) OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—The returns in the election in Ottawa County yesterday, so far as received, give as follows, but of course will not be complete for a few days:—

Table with columns for names and vote counts. Includes Cormier, Rochon, Aylmer, Egan Township, Wright, No. 2, East Templeton, etc.

THE SITUATION IN MANITOBA.

ARGUMENT ON THE INJUNCTION CASES—THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT ORGANS TALK OF A COMPROMISE—THE PROVINCE STILL VERY DETERMINED.

(Special to the Witness.) WINNIPEG, Sept. 14.—There is but little change in the railway situation. The argument in the Browning case is nearing a close.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15.—There is practically nothing new. The railway matter and financial question are still uncertain. Argument is being continued in the Browning case. One contention of the defence is that of informality in the proclamation of disallowance and that the courts cannot enjoin the Government.

NEWS.

AMERICAN.

E. W. Todd, of New York, proprietor of the big bucket shop known as the New York Stock Company, limited, was arrested on Wednesday afternoon on the charge of keeping a common gambling house.

The panic in oil in New York continued on Monday, and holders threw over large amounts all day regardless of price, and at the close the entire gain made in the boom last week was wiped out. Highest price, 69; opening, 68; lowest, 62; closing, 62 1/2; sales, 5,567,000 barrels.

THE DOOMED ANARCHISTS.

HOW THEY RECEIVED THE SUPREME COURT'S DECISION.

CHICAGO, September 14.—The first official information that reached this city of the decision in the Anarchist cases was a telegram from the Court Clerk at Ottawa, to the State Attorney's office here. Mr. Purcell, of the State Attorney's office, ran at once to the goal with the despatch. Following on his heels was a messenger carrying a telegram for August Spies that had been sent from Ottawa by an agent of the Anarchists.

NEW YORK REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

COL. GRANT NOMINATED FOR SECRETARY OF STATE.

STRUCTURE, N.Y., Sept. 14.—Colonel Fred D. Grant was nominated to-day to head the Republican State ticket. He is the candidate for Secretary of State. The Convention adopted the following as part of their platform:

CANADIAN.

THE CANADIAN CAPITAL.

OCEAN MAIL SERVICE. It is understood that representations having been made to the Post Office Department that the notice given with regard to the ocean mail service was not long enough to allow of the formation of certain new companies which proposed tendering for the service, the time for receiving tenders will be extended to some date in December not yet definitely fixed.

THE PRISON CONGRESS.

INTERESTING REMARKS—SUGGESTIONS BY MR. LITCH REGARDING WIFE BEATERS AND OTHER CRIMINALS.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—At this morning's session of the Prison Congress, addresses were delivered by the Hon. Z. R. Brockway, Elmira, and Mr. E. F. Smith, New York, on the indeterminate-sentence and conditional liberation, which both gentlemen strongly supported. A letter was read from Archbishop Lynch suggesting for the consideration of the Congress:

THE PRISON CONGRESS.

First.—Would it be well to have a penal delivery once, or even twice, a year to examine cases in view of shortening the sentences of prisoners, such as the case of the father of a family who committed crime in a moment of passion or drunkenness, but who had hitherto borne good character, and is likely to be reformed in a shorter time than his sentence called for.

THE PRISON CONGRESS.

Second.—Should not men who habitually beat their wives be punished corporally by the lash for inflicting wounds on their innocent and forgiving wives?

THE PRISON CONGRESS.

Third.—Could there be any remedy suggested to prevent crime. It is suggested principally on the streets in New York. They were committed to the filthy lanes and miserable houses, often with bad fathers and mothers. The children have no place to play or amuse themselves except the streets, and children require amusement and fresh air as much as they do food. The streets, with bad companions, are their ruin. Lanes and filthy tenement houses are the nurseries of crime. Could there be any remedy suggested to compel landlords to keep their houses and surroundings in proper condition?

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

Warden Brush, of Sing Sing, rose to a question of privilege. A morning paper in an editorial made statements which, he said, were misleading and ought to be corrected. His explanation was as follows: "I did not state, and it is not true, that prisoners at Sing Sing can be supplied by wealthy outside friends with all they like from cigars to spring chickens, etc. Neither is it true that they may wear any dress they please. A prisoner can have a box of delicacies to eat only once in two months, and every prisoner at Sing Sing wore the prison stripes. Neither do they live in idleness, but every man, not excused by the physician, is compelled to do a hard day's work—how hard may be judged from the fact that Sing Sing turned into the State treasury a revenue, over all expenses, of $75,000.

BOSTON THE NEXT MEETING.

The Secretary announced that the Directors had fixed upon Boston as the next place of meeting, at a time not later than the month of June, 1888.

EVENING SESSION.

At to-night's session the points referred to in the letter from Archbishop Lynch were discussed, considerable attention being paid to wife beaters, several speakers agreeing that they should be whipped. Prof. Wayland, of Yale, then read a paper on "Incorrigible misdemeanants," in which he urged that such persons should be imprisoned for life, or until they show conclusive evidence of reformation. A discussion followed, but none of the speakers fully agreed with him, although expressing the opinion that harder sentences than those given at present should be inflicted. Mr. Smith, inspector of Quebec prisons, then read a paper on "How shall the law and prison administration more effectively protect society from crime?"

ROSSA A TRAITOR AND BRITISH SPY.

THE FENIAN BROTHERHOOD SAYS HE SOLD ITS SECRETS FOR A FEW DOLLARS.

The members of the Fenian Brotherhood, from which organization O'Donovan Rossa was recently expelled, are jubilant over the alleged discovery that Rossa frequently betrayed the Brotherhood for no other purpose than to put a few dollars in his own pocket. The basis of this accusation against Rossa is that last month he furnished information to a morning newspaper in this city concerning a secret and important meeting of the Brotherhood. The committee which was appointed to call on the city editor of the paper in question have each signed affidavits that the editor practically admitted to them that Rossa furnished the article in question.

PETERBOROUGH NEWS.

PORT HOPE WANTS MANUFACTURERS—SALVATION ARMY ANNIVERSARY—SCOTT ACT PROCEEDINGS—THE NICHOLL HOSPITAL.

PETERBOROUGH NEWS.

THE ONCE FLOURISHING town of Port Hope, having been victimized by the G.T.R. in removing their shops from there to Lindsay, has been casting about to see if other industries can be induced to locate in their picturesque town. In accordance with the principle of giving bonuses, lately devised by the Witness in the parable of the Pumpkinville Pie Plate Factory, the Mayor of Port Hope has made a very high offer to the Peterborough Lock Works to move to that unfortunate town, offering a bonus of $20,000, a two-acre lot, and exemption for twenty years. Considering that the works employ only about 60 hands, most of whom are boys, it is a very high bid and shows that manufactures are in demand in that unfortunate corporation.

PETERBOROUGH NEWS.

On the afternoon of the second was held the anniversary of the Salvation Army under the leadership of Commissioner Coombs. Mr. William Gooderham, of Toronto, being one of the speakers. The Commissioner, referring to the late dastardly and murderous attack on the Army in Quebec, stated that four of the miscreants had since died sudden and horrible deaths and that a fifth had been smitten with apoplexy in the act of throwing a missile at one of the soldiers. Some people received the statement with a grain of salt. If it is true it should be widely published as a warning to the populace of that chivalrous city. A stone weighing four pounds, one of the shots fired at the Army, was exhibited at the meeting.

PETERBOROUGH NEWS.

Government Inspector Cochrane has been accused of undue leniency in prosecuting the unlicensed victuallers, making it as easy for them as possible by piling several charges into one and bringing them in as firsts instead of seconds. The indefatigable and indomitable Inspector Kossiter still holds his own and keeps the law breakers in continual uneasiness. Last Saturday night of the hotels shut down on selling and less liquor was drunk than on any previous Saturday since the passing of the Act. To-day five veteran offenders were each charged with firsts and fined fifty dollars and costs. This is how Government Inspector Cochrane turns the Act. It is not probable that he will be removed for inefficiency.

PETERBOROUGH NEWS.

Weather still dry. To-day quite hot. The Nicholl Hospital, founded about two years ago by a philanthropic lady citizen, continues its career of usefulness. Twelve patients were treated during August. There were two deaths.

(Hattie Wise Address, in Standard.)

Bee stole into the library one evening in early spring, to have her usual "quiet think," in the Sleepy-Hollow chair on the rug before the fire-place.

"Why papa!" she cried, as she neared the lounge. "You here? I thought I was alone. What is the matter? You are not ill, are you?"

Papa laughed, but there was something wrong about the laugh. It sounded as if there was a sigh behind, and Bee's quick ear detected it at once.

"No, my dear," he replied, fondly patting the rosy cheek laid against his. "I'm not ill, only a trifle tired, and somewhat worried."

"Worried, papa? and what about? Tell me, I'm a capital hand to drive away worries."

"I know you are, dear; but I am afraid this worry is altogether too big for my girl for it surely is for me," and papa sighed again.

"Bee curled up on the rug by his side, and leaning her head against his hand, said coaxingly—"

"Well, tell me about it, anyway. Perhaps you and I together can scare it away."

Her father smiled in spite of himself. There was something so inspiring about Bee and her cheery voice. She always brought sunshine with her, and carried away gloom and sorrow.

"Why, Bee, you see," he began in explanation, "these striking times are beginning to affect business sadly. Our expenses are heavy, sales slow and light, and things are looking dark ahead of us. We are obliged to keep up, and especially to keep our goods in order, which requires good help, as the wares we deal in are delicate and require careful handling."

"I had hoped we could get along without any inside trouble, and perhaps weather it through, but to day our under-book-keeper and three of our best and most experienced clerks struck for higher wages. We are paying all we can afford to now, in fact more according to the business we are doing, and yet we cannot possibly get along without these men."

"Altogether it is a bad business, and I must confess, for the first time in my life, I see no way out of a difficulty. I should like to be able to tell these fellows to leave—the sooner the better. That's what ought to be done, but we are so dependent upon them that I cannot do as I want to, and as it would be right to do either. They know we can't trust our goods to new hands, so they take this base advantage of us."

Bee thought a moment, when her father stopped talking, and then said—

"What do these three clerks do?"

"They look after the fine-glass and table-ware; keep it clean and properly arranged, and show it to customers."

"And the under-book-keeper?"

"He assists Banks in his office-work."

"I couldn't think any of it was hard or heavy work," and Bee gazed down at her white hands.

"It isn't, only it is responsible work. We don't dare trust new, or careless persons with it."

"Yes, I see."

"But never mind, Bee, don't you worry about it," and papa stooped over to kiss the thoughtful face.

"We'll manage along some way, but I do hate to raise those fellows' wages when we are running behind now." And he sighed harder than ever.

Just then mamma came in, and leaving her to comfort and cheer her father, Bee crept quietly away and up to her own pretty room, where she put on her thinking cap, and, locking her door, so no one could disturb her, she nestled down in her low rocking-chair by the west window, and fell into a brown study. It was after midnight when she at last came out of it, and cautiously opening her door stole across the dark hall to an opposite door and rapped softly.

"Come in," called a deep, musical voice, and Bee obeyed the summons and entered a large, beautifully-appointed room, where two young women were slowly and sleepily preparing to retire, after an evening spent at a brilliant reception. The taller of the two greeted Bee with a smile, as she stood wrapped in a wine-colored dressing gown, her dark brown hair hanging about her shoulders, and the brush in her uplifted hand, while her sister sat lazily toasting her daintily-slipped feet at the open fire, looking bewitching even at that time of night in her becoming pink robe.

"Alice, are you and May too tired to talk?" said Bee returning her oldest sister's smile.

"Of course not. Are girls ever too tired to talk?" and Alice laughed musically.

"Tell away, Bee, that's a dear," drawled May. "I know by your looks that you've something interesting to relate."

"What's up?" cried a new voice, and a tall, lily-faced girl came from an inner room, a gold pen held lightly in her right hand and her pale blue tea-gown trailing gracefully after her.

"You still awake?" said Alice, in surprise. The new-comer rubbed her forehead with her disengaged hand, and replied sleepily: "Yes, I got interested in my writing, and couldn't stop. Did you have a good time at the fandango?" and she curled herself up on the rug with a little shiver, and rested her head against May's knee.

"Just as usual," replied May, with a yawn. "I'm getting dreadfully tired of this kind of a life, though."

"So am I," cried Alice. "I feel as if I didn't amount to anything, and I am so sick of this everlasting dress, dress, dress, and parties, lunches, dinners, operas, etc., that I am ready to go to the ends of the world to get away from it."

"If you want a different kind of life, I am ready to offer you one," said Bee, soberly, from her perch on the foot of the bed.

"You?" and all three turned to look in amazement at their youngest sister, and the pet and the baby of the family.

"You don't need to be so terribly surprised," she replied, with a little pout. "I can have thoughts and plans as well as the rest of you, if I can't 'sing divinely,' 'paint exquisitely,' or write 'heart-melting stories.'"

"Of course you can," cried Alice warmly. "And I can see that you are brimful of thoughts and plans this very minute. So proceed to unburden yourself lest they prove too much for you."

"Your audience is waiting," said May, clasping her slender hands above her dark head, while, Ida, the sister in blue, only smiled up in Bee's flushed face.

"Well, if Alice will put down her hair-brush, and settle herself in an audience manner, said Bee, laughingly, "I'll proceed with my lecture, unfold my plans, and air my thoughts."

Alice obediently laid aside her ivory-handled brush, and joined the group on the rug. And Bee began in her sweet, earnest voice, while her wistful brown eyes watched the faces of her beautiful sisters, as they looked up at her on her lofty seat above them.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

HOMESICK.

Foolish books tend to make fools of their readers, a truth well illustrated by the following picture, which we commend to boys who are beginning to hanker after lives of adventure. Experience is a hard schoolmaster, and it is advisable to get such lessons, as far as possible, at second-hand.

"By others' faults wise men correct their own." A little fellow, not over twelve years old, was sitting behind a box at the Omaha depot the other morning, crying softly and looking very dirty and forlorn.

"What's the matter?" we asked. "Haint nothin' the matter," he said defiantly, sitting up straight, hastily brushing away his tears, and pushing back his jacket a little so as to display the handle of an old revolver in his pocket. Then he looked off across the river at the strange buildings, and lost his bravery, and buried his head again and sobbed through his tears:

"O mister, I've been a-runnin' away, an' I want to go home!"

"What made you run away?"

"I thought it would be nice, but it haint, no, it haint," and he rested his face in his hands, and looked the picture of woe. "Dick Dagger hed a heap o' fun, but I haint had a bit."

"Who was Dick Dagger?"

"Didn't you ever hear o' him? He was the boy-scout of the Rockies, an' I wanted to be like him. There haint Indians what'll hurt a feller round here, is there?"

"No."

"I wouldn't shoot 'em if there was. Dick shot 'em, but I don't want to. I want to get back home, but mebbe I never will," and once more his tears flowed.

"Where did you live?"

"Oh, I lived down at Marion, in Illinois, and it just about killed me riding in that old freight-car; and I hurt my knee, an' I'm cold, and haint had no breakfast nor supper, neither. I wish I'd never heard of Dick—I don't see how he got along so well—and if I ever get home again, and see my—my—my—ma—but the thought of his mother was too much for him."

"I don't want to hunt Indians, or bears, or nothin', nor rescue no maidens, an' I'm tired of that old thing!" and he pulled a rusty revolver out of his pocket that hadn't been fired for ten years, and threw it across the track. "Please, mister, get me something to eat, an' I'll work all day for you," and he looked up pitifully, and straightened his little cap on his curly head.

We took him along, and he ate three or four meals in one, but even after that he didn't say a word about exterminating the Indians. The next day a grave-looking father arrived, looking for a very homesick boy, and they went back together. So the Government lost another scout, but an anxious mother got back a boy who will never run away again.—Youth's Companion.

RESCUED AT THE BRINK.

THE STORY OF A POOR WOMAN. I called upon a poor woman who was very sick. She had not left her bed for weeks. Her friends said she was dying of consumption; indeed, she was so low it seemed that it would be but a very short time until she would pass away. I looked around on her little children and resolved if possible to cure her, but how to do it was the question.

I was well used to the different forms of consumption and knew her trouble all came from the "head" and that her lungs were being destroyed by breathing the poisonous secretions into them. I came home praying that I would get what was wanted to cure her—and I got it in a strange way. A little boy came into the room where I was and wanted me to look at a star on a piece of paper. It proved to be an advertisement of Nasal Balm. I ordered it at once and it proved to be just what I wanted as to-day the woman's head is all right. She is able to do her own work and is getting strong very fast. This remarkable change was effected by one bottle of Nasal Balm. Enclose 50 cents for another bottle which is for a young lady here who has had catarrh for a long time. Please send at once and I will try and make it worth known in this place. It is a pleasure for me to work for the suffering and praise the medicine that deserves it.

The Daily Witness.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1887.

Justice is to be meted out to the Chicago Anarchists who in a riot murdered some policemen. The energy and promptness with which the riot was ended and these men were arrested and put on trial have effectively quieted the Anarchists and the other combinations of ruffians in the United States.

It is NOT LIKELY that any insurmountable financial obstacle to the construction of the Red River Valley Railway will be encountered. All the capital necessary—less than a million—can be got almost anywhere.

YACHT RACING.

The America cup races are sailed over three courses—the New York Yacht Club course, an offshore course twenty miles to windward or leeward and return from the Sandy Hook lightship, and a triangular course to seaward of the same lightship.

has been improved by the result of experience, while both the "Volunteer" and the "Thistle" are new.

THE OTTAWA ELECTION.

In spite of the extraordinary series of victories won by the Nationalists in this Province, both in the Provincial and the Dominion elections, but especially in the former, the result of the election in Ottawa County yesterday is an astonishing one—even, perhaps, to the Quebec administration itself.

CITY ITEMS.

The captain of the "Siberian" brought out a supply of the best warming heater from Scotch hills. Mr. Kennedy, the Harbor Engineer, after inspection, hopes that before the present season is closed, the 27 1/2 foot channel between here and Quebec will be an accomplished fact.

THE SHERBROOKE SHOW.

THE DISASTROUS FIRE—THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL AND HIS INTERRUPTER.

(From Our Own Reporter.) SHERBROOKE, Sept. 14.

To-day has been the big day of the fair, as anticipated. The returns at the gates show an attendance of over ten thousand, which for a local fair is remarkably large.

SHOWN OF ITS GLORY IN THE HORSE SECTION by the fire. Mr. N. T. Dussault, of this city, who had only last month imported several Ayshire mares, lost two of the finest.

Turning to brighter topics,—this opening day has been a triumph for the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association. It is not too much to say that no more brilliant or imposing scene has ever been witnessed in Southern Quebec than the ceremonial of this afternoon at the Exhibition grounds.

A spacious carpet platform had been erected fronting the grand stand for Lord and Lady Lansdowne and the ladies and gentlemen invited to meet them.

The band headed the procession, followed by a troop of cavalry; the Governor-General's carriage, containing Lord and Lady Lansdowne, came next, and then succeeded a long line of carriages containing most of the leading residents of the city and vicinity.

AN ADDRESS OF WELCOME

was presented to Lord and Lady Lansdowne by Mr. Ives, on behalf of the Association. The address extended the Vice-Royal visitors a hearty welcome on their first visit to the Townships, and returned thanks to Lord Lansdowne for consent to open the third annual exhibition of the association.

Lord Lansdowne, in the course of an apt and happy reply, said—"Ladies and gentlemen: In the first place let me thank you very heartily for your kind thought in inviting me to open your exhibition. Under ordinary circumstances I should like to continue to speak upon such pleasant topics, but I cannot without first expressing my deep regret at the unfortunate calamity which befell the exhibition last night.

Heavy cheers were given for the Queen, and also for Lord and Lady Lansdowne. The latter drove back to the city with Mrs. Hall. The Marquis was conducted over the Exhibition by Mr. Ives. Mr. Hall, M.P., informs me that the Governor-General and suite would take a in the morning. The "Lady of the Lake" has been chartered to take the party on board, and they will proceed to Stanstead, where they will be met by Mr. C. G. Colby, M.P., the Municipal Council, and the Stanstead Cavalry.

A BOSTON CRANK

MAKES A DISTURBANCE DURING THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S SPEECH, AND GETS SAT UPON.

(From our own Reporter.)

SHERBROOKE, Sept. 14.—While ten thousand people were listening to Lord Lansdowne's opening address, this afternoon, quite a tumult was caused by an Irishman standing on the grand stand within a few feet of Lord and Lady Lansdowne. When the Governor was speaking about emigrants the disturber made his presence known by shouting "Pauper emigration!"

THE ANCIENT CAPITAL

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

QUEBEC, Sept. 14.

A COMPLETE MYTH.

The sensational story, published by a Montreal paper, about a row between the British and French men-of-war's men here, and about the former not having been allowed by their Admiral in consequence to take part in the tug-of-war during the exhibition sports, last week, with the addition about the Governor-General sending the English blue-jackets $25 as a salutation and a recognition of their superior prowess, has the merit of being very ingenious; but the trouble about it is that it is purely mythical.

NOTES.

Diphtheria is said to be still very prevalent in certain parts of the city. Premier Mercier and Secretary Gagnon returned to Quebec for the funeral of the late Mr. Jean Langlier, which took place to-day and was very largely attended.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

S. CARSELY'S white cotton underwear for ladies and children is considered the best value in the market. DRESSING seamstresses are kept constantly employed making ladies white cotton underwear for S. Carseley's firm.

CHATEAUGUAY.

THE COUNTY EXHIBITION.

A SERIOUS BLOT ON THE MANAGEMENT—A GOOD EXHIBITION NEVERTHELESS—THE LIST OF PRIZE WINNERS.

The twenty first annual exhibition under the auspices of the Chateauguay County Agricultural Society was held at Ste. Martine on Tuesday. The officers for the present year are: Jos. Hebert, president; James Cottingham, vice-president; Besile Vanier, secretary-treasurer; and F. X. Roy, Robt. Maw, Louis Mercille, David Baxter, Andre Robert, Honore Legault and Chas. Dupras, directors. The Society spared no pains to make this a first-class show, and their efforts were crowned with success.

The weather was very fine, a clear day, with just enough breeze to make it comfortable for man and beast. The grounds were open at 7 a.m., and from that time till now people from the surrounding country flocked in till the gate receipts indicated an attendance of over sixteen hundred.

Again this year we are compelled to denounce the gambling which was practised on the very exhibition grounds. It is a disgrace that in a county such as Chateauguay those in charge of this annual show should deliberately permit as many of these gambling hells as pay the fee of five dollars to ply openly their nefarious business. Let us hope that the directors will another year follow the example of the sister County of Huntingdon, and exclude such demons even from the streets of the county town.

Apart from this one very objectionable feature the fair was in all respects equal to any of previous years, and in several classes the exhibits were even better. Over $500 was given in prizes, and the full prize list below will in itself give sufficient indication of the character of the show; but a few items are worthy of special notice.

The horses, on the whole, were a fair display, but the brood mares in particular showed special excellence. In cattle, Mr. James Cottingham's Ayrshires kept up his good reputation as a man of great enterprise in the improvement of his stock. Sheep were a good exhibit, especially those of Messrs. Cowan and Baxter, who both carried off a great many prizes at the Provincial exhibition at Quebec.

Messrs. D. & M. Lang, of Ormstown, exhibited a threshing mill of very superior finish. Mr. A. Robertson, carpenter and builder, exhibited sashes, doors and mouldings of good and tasteful workmanship. Mr. James Sangster was awarded the first prize for cheese, as in the past, but subsequently it was discovered that he had exhibited only one cheese instead of two as the regulations required. This was simply a mistake on the part of the exhibitor, but it led to his being placed second on the list.

MODERN KNIGHT.

How His Woes were Banished, and How He Regained His Lady's Smiles.

Sadly bedight A modern knight, Thro' sunshine and thro' raining Travelled along, Singing a song Of household ills complaining. His bread was bad, His wife was sad, And all things helter-skelter; And at the most All he could boast Was just a roof for shelter.

And as his strength Failed him at length, There came a prosperous peasant:—"Peasant," quoth he, "What can it be That makes you look so pleasant?"

The man replied: "Get up and ride To town without repining! Buy 'Gilt Edge' Soap." If you would hope To have things bright and shining."

He went and bought The thing he sought, And now he lives in clover; Once more his wife Sweetens his life And treats him as her lover.

"The poet refers to 'Strachan's Gilt Edge Soap,' the best and most economical to be had. The wise housekeeper insists on using no other.

MARLBOROUGH ON THE BRITISH CRISIS. BOSTON, Sept. 15.—The Duke of Marlborough talked freely with a reporter last evening about the political crisis in his own country, and regarding Lord Salisbury's course said: "I believe that though disorder could not have been wholly averted and acts of harshness on the part of landlords would in individual instances have caused difficulty, the Government might well have left the question of Ireland to sleep for a while and turned their attention to a universal and constructive programme of English reform."

FRANCE STARTLED BY A MANIFESTO FROM THE COMTE DE PARIS. HE PLEADS HIS CAUSE WITH ENERGY AND BLOQUENCE—A SIGNIFICANT EXAMPLE OF MONARCHIAL ORGANIZATION. NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Herald's Paris despatch says: One of the most important manifestoes that ever appeared in Europe was posted during the night in the principal towns throughout France.

THE PROLOGUE. Grave dangers have been succeeded by an apparent calm and for this credit is due chiefly to the monarchists of the Chamber. They have indeed understood that their position would be determined by their numbers.

THE REPUBLICAN WISHES AND FOUND WANTING. It is exactly what they have most patriotically done in a recent and memorable affair, for this they deserve the thanks of the Conservative portion of France.

PLAIDING FOR THE MONARCHY. The country must be shown that the principal historical tradition, with its marvellous pliancy, can adapt itself to modern institutions; that it would bring to the Government of our Democratic Society that weight which is wanting under the Republican rule.

REPUBLICAN PARLIAMENTARIANISM DISFOUNDERED. Disgusted with Republican parliamentarianism the country will require a strong Government, because it knows very well that even the true parliamentary regime, such as existed under the monarchy, and shed so much lustre from 1815 to 1848, is not compatible with an Assembly elected by universal suffrage.

DESTRUCTION DOOMED. If these protests be legitimate they shall be the first exponents of it and the support of the other assembly will not fail them. But a caprice of the Chamber of Deputies shall not be able to retard unexpectedly to paralyze public life and national policy.

FRANCE AMONG THE POWERS. We shall have to improve peacefully our situation with Europe, to make ourselves respected and sought after by our neighbors. The minister who shall take part in this great enterprise could not carry it out to realization if they feared that they should see their efforts interrupted by a mere parliamentary incident.

Under the protection of a monarchical Government, France will be able to recover by peace and labor her former prosperity. Thanks to the confidence inspired by the solidity of her institutions, she will have the necessary authority to treat with foreign powers and simultaneously with them reduce the military expenses which are ruining old Europe to the profit of other parts of the world.

THE ARMY. The monarchy will place the nation's military transactions under shelter from the fluctuations of politics by giving to the army an unshakable and irremovable head.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS. The stability of the Government will permit it to apply itself with effect to the study of the problems which affect the condition of our laboring people in city and country, and to aid in the amelioration of their lives and to alay suffering, instead of exciting one against the other the various classes which are co-operating to produce national prosperity.

COMFORT FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE. At the same time the modest and retiring servants of the State who have attained to their positions by their work will not be menaced because they took them under the republic.

CLERICAL VISITORS. (Special to the Witness.) WINNIPEG, Sept. 15.—The Bishop of Three Rivers and a large party of clergy arrived this morning and will attend the consecration of St. Boniface Church Sunday next.

It was wonderful what that little bottle did for me," writes Arthur Alchin, of Hantsville, Muskoka, who suffered from Dyspepsia.

TEMPERANCE WOMEN AT WORK.

MISS PHELPS ASKED TO LECTURE HERE—A UNIVERSAL DAY OF PRAYER—ADVICE TO WOMEN WHO HAVE VOTES.

There was a good attendance at the first business meeting of the W. C. T. U., for the season. The ladies decided to invite the Quebec Provincial Union, which meets at Cowansville on the 28th and two following days, to hold its next annual convention in Montreal.

The President stated that at the formation of the Dominion Union nearly three years ago an invitation had been given to hold its first annual meeting in Montreal. At that time the Provincial Unions had not been ready for co-operation, and there had been no meeting; but now that the World's Union had been formed it was necessary to come into line.

The Treasurer's quarterly report (1st May to 1st September) was as follows:—Receipts: Membership, $85.35; hon. membership, $8.50; life membership, $20; general donations, $26.50; special do., $5; collections, $14.65; collection for autograph quilt, $1.55; three instalments of subscribed capital, Coffee House stock (in liquidation), $30; balance from former account, $1.62; total, $261.97.

The report of the Superintendent of Scientific Institutions in public schools was read, and great regret was expressed that the subject of temperance was entirely omitted in the curriculum for the session of 1887-'88. The President spoke of the new legislation with regard to women voting in municipal affairs, and hoped that the ladies who were qualified would be prepared to take action and vote wisely and well.

THE opening exercises of the forty-ninth session of the Congregational College were held last evening in the well filled College Hall, when the Rev. W. M. Barbour, D.D., was installed as Principal in succession to Dr. Stevenson.

The Rev. Prof. Cornish occupied the chair, and the new pastor of Emmanuel Church, Mr. Marling, offered up the installation prayer.

The new Principal, in his inaugural address, dwelt upon the spirituality, catholicity and simplicity of the Congregational Church according to the New Testament. The ministers who were to instruct the rising generation, should not be oblivious of the past from which their church had sprung. The present time should be carefully studied, as a change had taken place in the world—but not entirely for the better.

In assuming his duties, Dr. Barbour said he committed himself to God's care, and under His guidance he hoped to labor with all his heart and to bring these under his charge nearer to their Father in heaven.

The Rev. Dr. Jackson, of Kingston, one of the professors, welcomed the new Principal in the name of the College, and after a few words in reply, short addresses were delivered by Sir William Dawson, the Revs. Prof. Strangier, Principal Douglas and F. H. Marling, all welcoming Dr. Barbour to our midst.

Dr. Barbour delivers his first lecture to the students on Friday.

EXCITEMENT IN IRELAND. THE IMPRISONMENT OF O'BRIEN CREATES GREAT FEELING—FOREBODINGS REGARDING THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Government evidently intend to pursue their policy toward offenders of the Crimes Act to the bitter end and at all hazards. From the words Mr. Balfour let fall the other night it becomes evident that the leaders of the Irish can expect no relief from the troubles forced upon them by their enemies except in their own fortitude and strength, or else in an uprising of the people in their behalf.

It is rumored that Mr. Gladstone, Mr. John Morley, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Earl Spencer and Lord Aberdeen intend to shortly invade Ireland in the cause of the new crusade and thus cement for ever the friendship between the Radicals of both countries.

A TREACHEROUS OPERATOR. LONDON, Sept. 15.—A telegraph operator, named Wilkes, connected with the London main office, was arraigned at the Bow street police station, yesterday, charged with holding back messages about the races, thus giving his pals outside information, by means of which they beat the bookmakers. He was remanded until Tuesday.
