CITY PREPARING FOR PEACE

Forms Committee To Draw Up Plans For Day Of Peace

The Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Westmount, although fully realizing that likely there will be long weeks or months of bitter fighting in Europe before Germany surrenders unconditionally, believe that upon the cessation of hostilities in Europe the occasion should be marked in an appropriate manner with a deep feeling of gratitude and thankfulness and a full realization that even with the hostilities in Europe terminated World War II. is by no means finished.

In furtherance of this feeling, the City Council invited representatives of all religious denominations in Westmount to join a committee to consider the matter and to make all necessary arrangements.

A strong committee has been formed of those who have agreed to act and it has now been decided to hold a civic service of general thanksgiving, dedication and commemoration at 3 p.m., upon the day hostilities in Europe cease. Weather permitting, it will be an open air service held in Westmount Park in the area near the corner of Western and Melville Avenues.

An Order of Service has been drawn up and approved. Members of the choirs of all churches in Westmount of all denominations are hereby invited to assemble in a group in front of the platform for the purpose of assisting in leading the singing during this service. The band of the Royal Montreal Regiment is being invited to be present.

A Solemn Occasion

All citizens of Westmount of every religious denomination are hereby invited by the City Council to assemble in Westmount Park in ample time to permit the service to commence at 3 p.m., on the day in question and the clergy attached to every place of worship in Westmount are hereby invited to occupy seats on the platform. The authorities of all of the churches in Westmount and all citizens interested are asked to make this service known in order that when the day arrives a very large and representative group of Westmount citizens will join in this way of marking the historical and solemn day.

The service referred to is not planned to take the place of services which will likely be held in all Westmount churches at other hours on that day but is arranged

Local Officers Get Promotion Overseas

Two Westmount men are included in the latest list of promotions in the army.

Ian Herbert Louison, of 4427 Dorchester street, has been raised from the rank of captain to that of major.

Former Lieutenant Henry J. R. Newman, of 3270 Cedar avenue, has been made a captain.

Those promotions in the Canadian Army overseas have been announced at National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa.

Send Thanks For Presents

Hearty thanks and appreciation for the gift of two electric irons and a selection of phonograph records sent to H.M.C.S. Westmount by the Westmount Business Association, are expressed in a letter recently received from Lieut. R. L. B. Hunter, of the warship.

The irons and records—some 50 of them—were sent to the ship as a Christmas present, along with the best wishes for a happy Yuletide, by the Association, and in acknowledging the receipt of the gifts, Lieutenant Hunter writes as follows.

"This is a very hurried letter but I have not had time to get it typed.

"We have just received the two parcels from your association, containing the two electric irons and all the records, and I want you to know that they had arrived, in case I could not write for a few days.

"The records are now in use and you cannot imagine how much the boys are enjoying them, they have not stopped a moment since they arrived. I doubt if I will be able to get any news for a while on the radio.

"The irons are greatly appreciated. I'll have to admit the wardrobe grabbed one of them, the other went to one of the other messes.

"On behalf of the ship's company, I wish to thank the Westmount Business Association for those splendid gifts and for your and Victory.

good wishes for Xmas, New Year

"Regret that this letter had to be written in such a hurry."

Yours truly,
(signed) R. L. B. Hunter, Lieut.,

STUDY GROUP MEETS

The West End Study Group of the League of Nations Society in Canada is holding its regular monthly meeting tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Trinity Memorial Hall. The Rev. Dr. F. W. Norwood of St. James United Church will be the speaker and Mrs. Lester Woodin will be soloist.

COMBINED OPERATIONS

Army, navy and air force co-operation won the battle of the birthday cake at Westmount Y.M.C.A. Saturday night. The candles didn't stand a chance when Leading Airwoman M. I. Hutchings, ably backed by Seaman D. Cormack and Pte. D. Kezar prepared to blow. The occasion marked the fifth anniversary of the Saturday night dances put on at the branch for service personnel. Well over 60,000 service men and women have attended the parties since 1939. The Y.M.C.A. today opens a drive of $130,000 in the Montreal area to support the regular work of the branches.

Complete Plans For Meet Of Municipal Association

The Annual Meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association will be held in Victoria Hall, Westmount, on Tuesday, Dec. 7, at 8.15 p.m.

It is expected that the occasion will be graced by the presence of His Worship Mayor Merrill and the members of the City Council. Moreover, in particular tribute to the part which the members of the Council have played in the development of the very fine municipal administration we enjoy, a special invitation has been extended to all ex-Mayors and ex-Councillors. At the close of our meeting a reception will be held to give all our members an opportunity to make or renew acquaintance with these gentlemen and with the other guests who have been invited, including the Chairman of the Protestant School Board, the Chairman of the Catholic School Board, the Chairman of the Library Trustees, the Presidents of the Westmount Municipal Association. Refreshments will be served, and a pleasant half-hour of social intercourse is anticipated.

The usual business will be carried out, with an agenda and financial statement for all members, so as to facilitate speedy transaction of business.

Reports from the Executive Committee will embrace the activities of Standing Committees and reports of Special Committees, including recommendations in respect of vacancies which will exist in the offices of Mayor, three Councillors, two School Commissioners and one Library Trustee; also the report of the Nominating Committee of the Association.

Mr. A. Gordon Anderson, member of the School Commissioners for the Municipality of the City of Westmount ("Protestant Board") having prepared a painstaking study of the suitability and needs of the Protestant School buildings in Westmount, has been invited to give the results in a paper to be delivered to the Meeting. This he will do, under the title "Present Plans for Future School Buildings", with chart illustrations. As this is a matter which directly interests three-quarters of Westmount taxpayers and indirectly concerns all, Mr. Anderson's presentation should prove most timely and important.

The Annual Meeting will be open to members only, but any citizen not presently a member, who qualifies by paying his or her dues for the year 1945 before the

Association Holds Successful Meet

A very successful party was given yesterday by the King's Westmount Home and School Association. The event, which was in honor of the rugby team which recently won the Elementary School championship, but which included every member of the school, started with movies at four thirty. A very fine supper of hot dogs, pop and cake was then thoroughly and noisily enjoyed by all. Many of the local merchants helped greatly with contributions toward the success of the event.

Captain R. H. Green Meets Local Boys

The 1st Westmount Company of the Boys' Brigade were delighted to have as their guest Reviewing Officer, Friday evening, Captain R. H. Green of the 137th London Company (England) who had been endeavouring to inspect the unit for a few weeks, however, due to unforeseen circumstances had been forced to postpone his visit each time. He was much impressed by the splendid inspection and performance of the boys through the various movements of squad drill, also their agility in Physical Training. He remarked that the steady flow of recruits being received by the 1st Company was like unto most of the British Brigade units at the present time, with a waning interest being manifest in cadet units, boys are more increasingly turning their attention toward the old established organizations which have so much to offer, and in particular The Boys' Brigade which has such a varied programme. In his remarks to the boys, Capt. Green told them how his own Company had been bombed out of existence during the blitz, leaving only three boys to carry on, the rest being accounted for as killed and missing. He said that in spite of these hardships the Brigade marched forth valiantly and during the past two years has steadily built up scores of new Companies in all parts of Britain, many being in badly bombed areas. He looked forward to carrying on with the 1st Company whenever he is in Montreal and Captain Richardson assured

Expresses Alarm At Modern Trend Of High Education

Fear was expressed by H. B. Parker, who has just been announced as emeritus principal of Westmount High School, that universities may become mere technical schools where young people will receive a training, but not an education.

This opinion was expressed by Mr. Parker in an address at the graduation exercises of the school held in Victoria Hall under the chairmanship of A. Lovell Phillips.

The convocation was featured by the presentation of certificates to 164 graduates of Grade 11 and nine graduates of the 12th grade. One of the graduating pupils, Miss Heidi Eartly, 15 years of age, ranked first in the province, while Donald Patterson, another pupil of grade 11, ranked second in the provincial lists.

When it was announced, during the ceremony, that Mr. Parker, who served on the Protestant Board of School Commissioners since joining the staff in 1910 had been made principal emeritus, the news was greeted with loud applause, and Dean C. S. Lemmesurier, vice-chairman of the Board presented Mr. Barker with a desk in appreciation of his long and devoted service in the interests of Westmount youth and education.

Dr. Fred J. Tees, who completed several years service on the board and one term as chairman last year, was presented with the gavel which he used in office as a token of his contribution to education.

Welcome to Principal

R. O. Bartlet was formally welcomed to the post of principal of the High School by Mr. Phillips; the valedictory address was delivered by Brian Macdonald; and the opening prayer was pronounced by Rev. Canon Gilbert Oliver.

Talking specifically to the students, Mr. Parker told them to maintain their rights.

"You have, not only a right, but at this time in particular a duty, to demand of the university an education, and when I say an education, I mean the cultivation of true and pure tastes; the choice and pursuit of worthy ideals; self-discipline; self-training; self-organization.

"Then, and then only," said Mr. Parker, "will you have a consciousness of responsible personality, character will assume a place superior to scholarship, and culture will become auxiliary to service.

Medals, prizes and honors were presented: Donald D. Patterson got the gold medal as dux of the boys side, and Heidi H. Eartly, the gold medal as dux of the girls' side. Presentation of the award of honor was made to James Spencer by Eric Bushell on behalf of the Westmount High Old Boys' Association.

The following prizes and awards were earned by the graduates:

Miss Eartly and Mr. Patterson both won McGill University entrance scholarships. Ralph N. Gey and Arthur Roskies were introduced as winners of Sidney J. Hodgson memorial scholarships. The Arthur Campbell university entrance award was won by Gordon Pollock. Nolan-Cornell I.O.D.E. awards were gained by Barbara Clements and Peggy-Ann Macfarlane. The Howard H. Mussell's Old Boys' memorial scholarship was won by Howard P. Chamberlain. Helen C. Waddell and Suzanna Lapointe won Westmount High School Alumnae Association scholarships.

Prizes Presented

The following prizes were presented: Prize presented by Major J. Aird Nesbitt for 10th grade drawing, girls, won by Ruth Messenger; prize presented by Major J. Aird Nesbitt for 11th grade drawing, boys, won by Robert Meadowcroft; prizes presented by the W.C.T.U. for excellence in poster work, won by: 1, Audrey Gerth; 2, Ruth Messenger; 3, Carol Donald; cup presented by the Menorah Club in memory of Howard H. Mussell for grade XI chemistry, won by Robert Moodle; prizes, the Mrs. John McKergow, for proficiency in English, ninth grade boys, won by John Bishop, David Wood, Robert McAllister, Roy Aikman, Thomas Kahn; prizes presented by the Westmount Women's Club for proficiency in English, ninth grade girls, won by Sheila Teff, Barbara Field, Patricia Workman; prize presented by the Fred Fisher, V.C., Chapter, I.O.D.E., for composition on "The Heart of the Empire," won by Lia Margulies.

St. John Ambulance Brigade Reports On Its Activities

A statement on its activities has been issued to the citizenry of Westmount by St. John Ambulance Brigade. Following is a summary.

The Westmount St. John Ambulance Division No. 178 was organized in September, 1942. The Charter was granted on December 1st, 1942.

A rigorous training program was instituted and duties were taken over by trained men almost immediately. By spring, 1943, the Division was able to place trained men at all public gatherings in Westmount, such as Rotary Carnival, Navy Cadet Parade, etc., as well as take part in C.P.C. practices and look after possible accidents on the ski-hills and skating rinks. The Westmount Division also sent men to Mount Royal during the skiing season, assisted in Victory Loan Parades, church picnics and many others.

Its members did 546 hours of voluntary duty, over and above the time needed for training and refresher courses.

A steadily growing Division was able to send more men on duty and during the first 6 months (January 1st to June 30th, 1944) 720 hours of public duty were performed. This enormous increase was in part due to the fact that the men, together with other divisions, were able to look after the welfare of the skiers in some Laurentian Mountain Skiing Centres.

Fortunately, only 33 cases of accidents needed attention by the First-Aid men during the above mentioned period.

The training program requires 2 hours every week, of which 1 hour is devoted to theoretical instruction and the other to practical work.

Theoretical instruction consists of anatomy and physiology of the human body, with which the first aider has to be thoroughly conversant, as well as lectures and demonstrations of signs and

Canon Scores The Desecration Of The Sabbath

Referring directly only to "a deplorable exhibition scheduled to take place tonight in one of our large public buildings," Reverend Canon G. Oliver, of St. Mathias Church, Westmount, when speaking at a service on Sunday morning, was generally understood to refer to the appearance of Frank Sinatra, at the Forum.

"Surely, the vested interests have time enough during six days in the week to make money, without encroaching on the Christian Sunday" said the Canon, who added: "Surely none but morons could be attracted to such an exhibition, and we, as Christian people should make some definite protest against this abuse of the Sabbath.

"We have been silent too long," said the preacher, "about the happenings in this city on the Sabbath. Are we never to make a stand?"

"In these days, when the lads overseas are shedding their blood in order to establish ideals that make life worth living", the Canon concluded, "we at home should surely maintain a reasonable and decent standard in our public life."

H. S. Ross Talks On Electricity

Electrical power and light was the topic of the address delivered last week to Montreal Westward Rotary Club by Howard S. Ross, K.C., who spoke on "Quebec Hydro and Some Other Hydros."

Mr. Ross spoke favorably of the expropriation of Montreal Light Heat and Power Consolidated by the Godbout Government during the past summer and cited the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, the Tennessee Valley Authority and developments at Tacoma, Washington. He criticized the policy that permitted power potentialities to remain unused in the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Ross was introduced by Alfred F. Ladouceur, in charge of the programme for the day and was thanked by W. J. Thistlethwaite. Harold F. Brewerton presided at the opening of the meeting but had to leave later for Ontario where his son, LAC Harold Brewerton, was due to undergo a serious operation. Duncan M. Jones, vice-president filled the vacancy and took charge of the closing stages of the meeting.

Prior to the address Mr. Jones made the first report on results achieved by the club's competition with the Victory House being erected in Montreal West as the prize.

MASONIC SERVICE

The officers and members of Zetland lodge No. 12, A.F. & A.M. which this year celebrates its 100th anniversary, will attend divine service in St. Matthew's church, Dufferin Road, Hampstead, on Sunday at 7.30 o'clock. Rev. G. E. Trueman, rector, will preach. Members and visitors will assemble in the church hall at 7.15 p.m. symptoms of sickness, etc., which will enable a trained person to diagnose any case which requires first-aid.

During practical work, the First-Aider will receive instruction and has to practice bandaging of all kinds of wounds, treating fractures, how to stop serious bleeding, how to handle and transport an injured person and any other problem that may arise.

The men must have the St. John Ambulance Association Certificate before they will be accepted as qualified members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade.

KNOW YOUR WESTMOUNT

QUESTION: How does Westmount go about the clearing of a heavy snowstorm?

In Westmount there are about sixty miles of sidewalks and thirty miles of streets to be kept clear or rather sidewalks whose length is from Montreal to St. Agathe and roads of a length of one half that distance.

These must be cleared so that traffic may circulate as freely as possible during the snowstorm as well as afterwards. Neither the depth of snow which will fall nor the length of time between storms can be foretold.

The city is divided into eleven sections each in charge of a sub-foreman and to each is allotted a number of men and a tractor with a plough. It is the duty of these force: to take care of only that one section throughout the winter — both sidewalks and roadways.

The City is also divided into nine sections or plough routes for the purpose of clearing snow from the roadways and seven trucks equipped with snow ploughs are employed in this work.

Let us then suppose that a heavy storm is falling and has reached a depth of about four inches and showing signs of continuing.

A simple command is given to the drivers of the tractors—"All out the sidewalk tractors"—each driver takes his tractor with plough to a predetermined point in his section and goes over the sidewalks in a predetermined course as taught him in the fall before any snow had fallen.

These routes have been designed with a view to getting pedestrians to public conveyances as easily and quickly as possible and laid out in such a manner that no movement of the vehicles is wasted by retracing already ploughed sidewalks. When the driver has reached the end of his section if he sees that the storm has not stopped or is heavy enough to warrant it, he returns to the original starting point and goes over the route again.

During bad storms he must keep at it for in all snow removal the problem is to keep the snow which has fallen to a depth which can be handled and to never let it get out of hand and become so deep that the machinery cannot get through.

The clearing of snow from the roadways follows a similar procedure. The simple command "All out the road ploughs" sends each plough to a predetermined point to follow a predetermined route without lost motion and to going over the route if found necessary to keep the storm at a controllable level.

The plough routes have been laid out with great care having in mind that public transportation, main fire department routes and cross town streets which carry the greater part of the vehicular traffic are given first consideration.

As an example — when the seven ploughs start to fight a storm it will be noticed that three of them start working in echelon formation to clear, St. Catherine Street, Dorchester Street, The Glen Road, Victoria Avenue, Greene Avenue, Sherbrooke Street and Atwater Avenue, while at the same time three other ploughs working in the same formation clear, The Boulevard, Westmount Avenue, Cote St. Antoine Road, Claremont Avenue and a part of Lansdowne Avenue. Working in this manner the main arteries are opened as early as possible.

The ploughs then separate and each goes to its own other allotted section. Each street in a section has been considered in relation to the whole.

Those who care for the streets wish us to appeal to the public to do as little parking as possible during a storm as the whole operation is considerably slowed up by parked automobiles and the level of service lowered.

At a later date we shall tell of the other operations carried out.

Enlightened Parents' Help Answer to Delinquency

R. W. Stoeckel, teacher of classical subjects at Daniel O'Connell School gave a talk to the King's Home and School Association at its meeting last Thursday, on Human Nature Environment and Juvenile Delinquency. He divided the child's development into three categories—spiritual, mental and physical—and he cleverly outlined how the mind is the instrument through which God could work in the life of the child since without this guiding hand he could not resist impulses which are beyond his control.

The speaker believed that every child when born was given a gift which Mr. Stoeckel described as the "Grace of God" and this gift was present in the individual all through life. When the child's mind was developed along spiritual lines it was able to interpret the Will of God in its actions and thus direct the will in a rational way, but when the mind did not develop this spiritual gift it was not able to control the will and delinquent thinking was the result. Mr. Stoeckel explained that the gift of Grace of God was not anything supernatural, that God expressed His will to us through teachers, parents, friends, home, school and church, also in nature. He stated further that "while the church and school played a great part in molding the character of the child the greater responsibility was the parents to whom the child's life was entrusted." Further, Mr. Stoeckel said "since the parent had been given the right to govern the child and expect obedience in the laws he laid down for the child, the child also had rights. Wherever there were laws there were rights to balance. The child's rights were to be properly fed and clothed, the best possible education and good environment to grow up in but too often the parent exercised only the first part of this bargain and fell down where the child's rights are concerned with the result the child felt a sense of injustice and the proper relationship between parent and child could not exist." The speaker stressed at this point the necessity of parents being fair and just in all dealings with the young mind.

Mr. Stoeckel did not place too much weight on heredity but said he saw environment as being the important factor, that everything

Women To Return To Civil Life Without Trouble

Women and young girls who have joined the C.W.A.C. will return to their former life, and resume their regular occupations and obligations, step right back into civilian life, without any serious trouble, in spite of what some people believe to the contrary, said Col. Mary Dover, special assistant in charge of C.W.A.C. recruiting, and formerly director commanding Ste. Anne de Bellevue Advanced Training Centre, in the course of an address she delivered at the weekly luncheon of the Westmount Rotary Club.

Col. Dover was the guest speaker at the meeting which had been arranged as Ladies' Day at the Club.

She outlined the ideals of service, the responsibility of duty and work accomplished by the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

She expressed the opinion that many civilians did not know or fully realize just what the C.W.A.C. is, what job of work its members had undertaken, and how they are fulfilling it, by undertaking the non-combatant jobs to release men for active service.

She stated there were about 13,000 women in the service, and outlined the system of training those women followed. She explained the tremendous importance of discipline and the teaching of military law.

Carefully Selected

She outlined the steps a prospective applicant goes through until she is accepted as a full-fledged member of the organization, after a careful study as to discover where she will best fit in and her special qualifications.

Col. Dover explained how the recruit was examined to find out why she wished to enlist or why she would rather stay out of the service.

Recruits, or potential recruits, were carefully informed as to what they could expect and what their obligations would be if they joined.

The speaker referred briefly to her experience overseas where she had served for some time. She had, as many others had before her, discovered a feeling of dissatisfaction at being kept away from the actual fighting, until invasion finally gave them the opportunity they had longed for.

Explained System

She explained at some length the system of education the women and girls followed when they joined up. She described the many opportunities they had of learning all kinds of "trades and occupations," mentioning a long

CSM. J. Young Is Awarded M.M.

CSM John P. Young, son of J. Young, of 773 Fifth Avenue, Verdun, was awarded the Military Medal for "distinguished conduct" during the Fontenay Le Marmon battle, according to a letter received by his father.

Enclosed was an official letter from Brig. R. H. Keefer, acting commander of the 2nd Division, in which he states the award was granted by Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery and that the award had been gazetted. The enclosed citation said that CSM. Young had gone forward under heavy enemy fire to a point only 100 yards from the enemy's position and had, for two hours, kept his commander informed of the German fire and movements, thereby making possible the holding of a vital position. The citation stated that his "fearless bearing and determination were an asset to his men" and that he displayed "great courage and leadership."

Son of a veteran of the First Great War, CSM. Young is a graduate of Westmount schools and was employed by the Imperial Tobacco Co., before going overseas. He was a member of the Black Watch in peacetime. His wife and child reside in Fort Erie, Ont.

Faith For The Times Campaign

A campaign which is described as not a time of emotional excitement or a stunt intended to be a mere incident, but an opportunity to hear a thoughtful and gifted speaker; to learn what a Christian believes; to think about problems of conduct; to explore questions concerning business, education and sex relationships; to discover whether religion is necessary for the construction of a new social order; to find help for personal life that so many are needing, starts in St. Matthias Church Westmount on December 3, to conclude on the 10th of the same month, and all are invited to attend, even those who are possibly aloof from the church.

The order and time of the services are given in another column of this page.

Veterans' Leader To Give Address

Frank Smith, of Hamilton, Ontario, Dominion Commander of the 2nd World War Veterans Association will speak at the first meeting of this group in Montreal on Friday, December 1st at 8.30 p.m. in the Windsor Hotel.

During his talk Frank Smith will present an outline of the Association and the work that it has done since it was formed 18 months ago as a veterans' organization for ex-servicemen of this war. Future plans for the Montreal Branch will be discussed and formulated at the meeting and a provisional board of directors will be elected to govern for a period of three months.

The 2nd World War Veterans' Association has its headquarters in Hamilton and has a membership of over 1,400 in several branches located in Toronto and Hamilton. All veterans of this war in the Montreal area are invited to attend the meeting.

as a means of permitting Westmount citizens of all religious beliefs to gather together in a spirit of unity and thankfulness.

It is desired by all who are co-operating in this effort that the marking of this event within the City of Westmount not only in connection with this service but throughout the entire day will be carried out in a dignified, serious and really appropriate manner in full realization that very many of the sons and relatives of Westmount's citizens have laid down their lives in the cause of freedom and that even on that day and for a long time after it many Westmount citizens actually will be continuing the fight for world freedom and that many more of them may lay down their lives before the war with Japan also has been won. It is hoped that all citizens of Westmount will appreciate how appropriate it will be to recognize the day as a very solemn occasion.

Good Hope For Success Of Y.M.C.A. Financial Drive

Officials of the Y.M.C.A. financial campaign for $130,000 have expressed confidence that the objective would be met before the closing date of November 30th. While no actual up-to-date figures were available canvassers in most territories reported that good progress had been achieved and that receipts to date were at least equal to those at the same stage of the drive last year.

Officials at the Westmount branch reported that canvassers in the district were being urged to fill in their cards as rapidly as possible in order that final figures will be at least equal to those at the close of last year's campaign. In the meantime campaign officials urged citizens who desired to contribute to send their subscriptions direct to the Westmount Y.M.C.A. as it was impossible for a thorough canvass to be made with the limited number of workers available.

One of the most popular features of Westmount "Y" this year is the Hi-Y activity. The Hi-Y Clubs, Y.M.C.A. sponsored organizations within the high schools give the young people plenty of practice for executive activity in the post-war world. By holding offices within their own clubs they obtain experience in public speaking and planning activities such as dances, lectures and entertainments. As heads of program, decorating and household committees they learn how to finance and organize, how to express opinions on everything from politics to Frank Sinatra.

Place in School Life

The Hi-Y hold an important place in the school life, although it has no connection with regular school activities. A school advisor and a "Y" advisor are available to help with difficult problems but in general members take pride in assuming responsibility and carrying through their own plans.

They arrange for speakers on Behaviour and personality, vocations, racial differences, war and peace, post-war plans, clothes, deportment, boy and girl relationships; as well as politics, the ballet, art, theatre and radio, after which there is a question period and general discussion.

Present plans of the Westmount Boys' Hi-Y Club include a four-weeks' study of politics when representatives of the Liberal, Conservative and Union Nationale parties will be asked to speak on their respective platforms. They are also sending a mimeographed news letter to Westmount High School boys on active service.

The Westmount Girls' Hi-Y Club is at present organizing parties for groups of underprivileged children at Christmas, practising Christmas carols to sing at hospitals and convalescent homes and packing Christmas boxes.

It is anticipated that the efforts of the Y.M.C.A. in the rehabilitation of ex-servicemen will place an additional burden on its facilities during the coming year. Already well over 100 free memberships have been presented to demobilized men and with the increased tempo of demobilization more and more men will be added to this list.

"We don't attempt to duplicate what the government is doing," a "Y" official explained. "In our rehabilitation plan we strive to provide the human element which is so often lacking in mechanical regulations. Here in the branches we try to help ex-servicemen to find friends, wise counsel and understanding in making the adjustment to civilian life."

Vulgarity in Entertainment

Two Church of England Canons, Rev. Gilbert Oliver and Rev. W. H. Davison, to their great honor, are on record in protest against the nauseating emotionalism and blatant fanfare which attended the visit to this city of that very mediocre vocalist Mr. Frank Sinatra.

Montreal music critics simply refused to take seriously this apotheosis of the moron, this hero of silly swooning women at a time when a whole world is dying and a new creation aborning. The best that one critic could say was that Mr. Sinatra's voice was not objectionable—which recalls Mr. Hector Charlesworth's damming with faint praise in placing what Canon Naylor, writing in The Monitor, disrespectfully calls "The Voice" on a pedestal as being the one solitary instance of singing in tune to be found in our current crop of crooners.

Bad as this "concert" was it might have been worse. True the hall was filled to capacity leaving "standing room only." But fortunately for Montreal's reputation for at least partial restraint there was no storming of police lines by thousands of frenetic bobbysockers eager to catch a glimpse at the sickly man of their dreams whose exemption from military service on the grounds of physical unfitness makes him a curious and inappropriate preference for such a time as this. Not without reason did Canon Davison refer to him as the "unhappy young man".

What is the explanation of this obviously unhealthy attraction? It does not lie in unusual gift of song for in any of the larger churches of Montreal may be found several much better soloists than Mr. Sinatra can ever hope to be. It does not lie in the merit of his offerings for these are almost invariably commonplace both as to words and music. It does not lie in the appeal of romance to youth for Mr. Sinatra is about as romantic as are Messrs Abbott and Costello or Ed Wynn. The answer seems to be merely the power of artful publicity working on imaginations and taste that have been completely debilitated by years of listening to husky voices of young men bawling like sick calves, under the impression that they were dispensing music.

In his sermon on Sunday morning Canon Oliver used some words that ought to be repeated daily during this war until they are burned into the consciousness of our citizenry. They were these:

"In these days when the lads overseas are shedding their blood in order to establish ideals that make life worth living, we at home should surely maintain a reasonable and decent standard in our public life."

Come to think of it, is it possible to conceive of the mother of a soldier son fighting in Italy or the sweetheart of an airman in "operations over Berlin" swooning at even the flattest Sinatra note? (It seems that the occasional slip off key is highly productive of uncontrolled ecstasy.)

Although Sinatra, physically at least, is literally a passing phenomenon so far as Montreal is concerned, there are other and more deadly forms of pseudo-entertainment that stay with us, or at least spend very long visits in our midst. While "The Voice" is condemned by all competent psychiatrists as a deleterious influence on young emotions and immature mentalities, there is nothing morally objectionable in his programmes save as insofar as they dispose callow youth to a state of mind which may easily slip into sexual excesses. On the other hand, almost nightly there is dispensed in Montreal entertainment of a type which cannot but break down the barriers of reserve in youth, nay, is deliberately calculated to achieve that end. At no time since 1918 have so many of our young people—young women, this time as well as men—been away from home, freed of accustomed restraints, often home-sick and bewildered at the vagaries of a new and temporary kind of life they have accepted in response to the sternest of all calls to duty and sacrifice they have ever known. In what position are these young service men and women to draw upon their moral reserves when they find themselves assailed on every hand by influences that mock every precept of personal purity and high standards of conduct they have heard in home and church since childhood? It is a case for the exercise of personal responsibility by every adult who has the welfare of our youth and our country at heart, but when did the purveyors of commercial filth on stage or platform ever admit any personal responsibility for others? Some months ago this publication received and published a protest against an entertainment which brought that splendid young singer and winsome creature, Miss Jean Dickenson, on the same platform with comedians whose idea of humor centred on bodily functions, marital infidelity and male and female underwear. The writer of the letter professed to be unable to detect any variations between the applause that greeted Miss Dickenson's magnificent singing and that which rewarded the offences against good taste and decency which proceeded from the mouths accustomed to performance in the smoke-filled haze of night clubs in an atmosphere of profanity, nudity and intoxication. Most of us would like to know something more than is vouchsafed to us of the credentials and qualifications of the type of "critic" who goes into superlatives over that sort of trash. All over this country earnest-minded men and women, concerned over the kind of society that shall prevail in Canada at least after this war are ungrudgingly devoting scanty leisure to make things better, morally and materially, for those whose country it will be after we have passed on. The wrong kind of entertainment is as effective an agent in the undoing of that work as the most malicious antagonism of enemies within or without could possibly be.

Let those who batten on dirt sneer all they may and invoke "modernity" and "broad-mindedness" to their heart's content, the plain unpalatable fact remains that pandering to the animal that is in all of us has brought low many a magnificent nation or society and we deceive ourselves if we think we alone may be an exception. Immorality, sanctioned by religion played no small part in the annihilation of the tiny Greek republics to whom otherwise we owe so much. It was no inconsiderable factor in the downfall of the mighty Roman Empire. No sooner had the Romans subdued the Greeks than their strong character began to relax. The conquered people were too effeminate to strike back but they took a far more terrible revenge by infecting the ruling race with the vices which had sapped the virility of Sparta and Athens. In our own day, we have seen the nation which represented the zenith of modern civilization go down before a treacherous foe with hardly a blow struck in defence. He is blind indeed who sees no connection between the reputation of France for the refinements of vice and the sudden and terrible debacle which buried the Third Republic in its ruins.

Obituary

E. E. GOODCHILD

Edward Ernest Goodchild, a well-known local newspaper man, and a philatelist of wide repute, was taken to his last rest in Mount Royal Cemetery today, the funeral service which was held at the Jos. C. Wray and Sons funeral parlor, was largely attended by relatives and friends.

The late Mr. Goodchild, who resided at 4250 Marcell Avenue, died in the Homoeopathic Hospital, after a brief illness.

Born and educated in London, England, he worked for some time on several newspapers in the Old Country, including the London Times.

He came to Canada in 1912, taking up residence in Montreal, but returned to his native country with the Canadian troops in 1914 and served throughout the Great War.

On his return to Canada he continued in his journalistic career serving on the Montreal Star, the Jewish Eagle and the Monitor Publishing Company, and devoted a great deal of his time to the study of the internal economy of newspapers.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Edythe Woods.

meeting, will be most welcome. Indeed, members are urged to bring non-members to the meeting with the object of having them become members and enjoy the proceedings.

Members will recall that at the "Welcome to New Members" meeting held last March, members of the Council dealt with the greater part of the queries that had been sent in, also that in July a copy of the Annual Report of the City was sent to each member; further, the Executive through the Publicity Committee, has endeavored to answer other questions by furnishing for the columns of the Westmount Examiner the series "Know Your Westmount" a copy of which is preserved in the Westmount Public Library and is available for consultation.

A Service Honour Roll is now erected on the entrance walls of Victoria Hall. This Roll was accepted by the City in a brief ceremony on October 5, 1944. If there are any citizens on service whose names are not included in the Roll, it is hoped that the next-kin will send notification to the Superintendent of Victoria Hall. Forms are available in the entrance.

The speaker was introduced by R. Gregor-Pearse and thanked by Mrs. Swan.

During the course of the evening the president of the association, Mrs. E. T. H. Seeley, presented to Mr. Lessard, Principal of the King's School, on behalf of the association, a cheque for $50, to be used for new sport equipment.

him of a very warm welcome to the staff of the Company. He will conduct the Bible Class this coming Sunday.

The brass band has been steadily showing progress and looks forward to participating in several performances during the Christmas holidays. Pte. Louis Wright is now rapidly improving his technique in cornet playing and it is hoped will become leading soloist very shortly. The Bugle and Drum corps is also making great strides under Sgt. Maj. Harry Barbour, who has recently been lending a hand.

The following recruits were welcomed this past Friday:—Rykert Balfe, Kenneth Clayson, Geo. Cunningham, Gordon Lawton, Austin Griffiths and Gordon McGillivray. They will be posted to the special training squad under Lance Cpl. Al. Robinson.

Sales of automotive replacement parts after the war are expected to exceed seven hundred million dollars a year. That would exceed by 75 per cent the average replacement parts business for the years between 1933 and 1940.

Christmas Shopping Rush Under Way; Stores Jammed

Buckle on your shin-pads, girls, and be sure to take an artificial respiration kit with you if you're planning to go shopping, because the Christmas rush is in full swing. Already the aisles of downtown stores are reasonably well jammed by citizens hurrying along with the haggard but determined look of people who have a list to get through, and who are going to buy what's on the counter before someone else gets there first.

Salespeople who are veterans of many a Christmas season say they've never seen the rush begin as far ahead of Dec. 24 deadline as this and they're inclined to wonder if people aren't at last beginning to take the stores' advice about doing your Christmas shopping early. They think, too, that in wartime people feel more sure of getting what they want if they start off ahead of normal schedule.

"I'm in a daze, I've been racing so fast all day," sighed one girl yesterday as she superintended the sale of a red kid compact built like a drawstring pouch, and looked apprehensively at the gathering crowd waiting their turn to ask for sparkling clips or perky little ear-rings.

In every department, it's the same. "An hour ago, we had a line of people two deep around the pyjama counter," said a men's-wear department head. "The weather has something to do with it. On a dull day like today, we have mobs of people in here, buying ski jackets and parkas; but bright days are still fairly quiet."

Salespeople inevitably remark on the money people have to spend on presents. "The girl who would ask to see the $5.95 purses a few years ago doesn't want to see anything under $10 or $15 now," said one assistant. "War workers come in here in their slacks and pull out a real wad of bills," said another. "Not just $1 bills either... Everyone has money to spend and all they're worried about is getting what they want."

And anyone mooching around the stacked counters can see that, at the moment at least, there are plenty of attractive things to spend money on. There are, for instance, fur-lined suede gloves and fine-woven Lansea scarfs from Britain; leather compacts and cigarette cases; big, shiny plastic jobs for the kind of big, good-looking purses you can see in every shop. For men, there are ski things, silver lighters, gold or leather cuff-links, the usual zippered leather cases stocked with brushes, and the usual "Christmas ties" that women love to buy their husbands.

A present for the house could be anything from Minton service plates at $50 a dozen to brightly-painted wooden trays for considerably less. In the cheap-and-useful brackets are velveteen-covered coat-hangers, and soap-chip containers of wood, shaped like watering cans.

But you thought you'd give your husband a leather suitcase, did you? Or perhaps a silver flask? You were thinking of a handsome nightie or a cashmere sweater for your mother? Just try and find them—if you can get near enough to the counter to do it.

Women To

list of those accomplishments. Col. Dover thought the service was a splendid place for women. While she realized that the war was progressing most satisfactorily, she warned her hearers that it would not be over until the last shot had been fired and until the enemy had been utterly defeated and crushed.

She appealed for more and more recruits, explaining that more women were still needed in the service.

Of basic training, the speaker said it is the initial entry into army life where the recruit learns the fundamentals of military law, gets her first drill, physical training, etc. "It is also during the period of basic training when each individual comes into contact with a cross-cut of Canadian society, that she learns to understand how to live a community life respecting another's ideals, another's background and another's possessions."

Col. Dover was introduced by Rotarian Jack Colton, who said no doubt the club would be deeply interested in the address delivered by Col. Dover. Although she was born in Calgary, she had been educated in Montreal. She was widely travelled, having made four trips around the world with her husband who was now serving with His Majesty's forces somewhere in Ceylon.

Expresses Thanks

The thanks of the club were expressed by Rotarian R. H. Dean. It was only proper, that since it was Ladies' Day there should be a toast to the ladies, and this was ably carried out by Rotarian A. C. McGiverin, who asked the ladies present to kindly accept the expressions of their husbands, members of

Four Schools Tied In Debating Tests

Results of the first debates in the local High Schools debating league find the three West End schools tied for league leadership with Outremont's Strathcona Academy.

First debates of the season were held on Friday afternoon, with West Hill, Strathcona, Lower Canada College and Montreal West High Schools sponsoring two teams apiece to uphold both sides of a debate entitled: "Resolved, that motion pictures are of more benefit to youth than modern magazines."

The other two teams in the club, offered when they came in in the wee small hours of the morning, and claimed they had been "visiting a sick friend" or had been attending a prolonged evening meeting of the club.

Frank Vanderstraten and Jef Craig provided the musical entertainment. Mr. Vanderstraten sang four solos while Mr. Craig presided at the piano.

Hugh P. Iilsley, partner in the firm of Archibald and Iilsley, architects, was duly elected a fully qualified member of Westmount Rotary.

The chair was occupied by president A. W. Callard, and those who occupied seats at the head table included: vice-president A. A. Boire, Mrs. A. W. Callard, Wurtle Rankin, Jack Colton, Col. Mary Dover, president A. W. Callard, Mrs. A. A. Boire, Lieut. Morin, Mrs. C. W. McBride, Col. Walter H. Scott, in charge of recruiting in Military district No. 4, and R. G. Burgoyne.

league, Westmount and Verdun High will clash this afternoon at the south-end school and in Westmount.

West Hill debaters fought to a draw with Strathcona Friday, winning at the Outremont school and dropping the decision by a close margin at home. Winning debaters for West Hill were Hugh Hamilton and Marjorie Overton, while Alice Wiggens, erg and Bob Wild lost to Vivian Epstein and Sidney Feldman at West Hill.

Lower Canada College debaters win at home but Robert Nish and Barry Saper failed to come through, losing to Anne Hood and Graham Edward in the debate in Montreal West.

Robert Nish, president, announced Tuesday that a special meeting of the executive will be held on Monday afternoon at Lower Canada College to determine the topic and place of the next debates.

DO YOU CARRY A CANE?

A curious family business survives in a tiny shop on West 23rd Street in New York, writes William Feather. The proprietor is the third generation that makes canes and swaggersticks. Many prominent persons have been customers there. At present the demand for canes is increasing. Thousands of canes leave the place yearly. Incidentally, Roosevelt and Churchill use canes.

The material most popular is fir from the British Isles. Bamboo and snakewood are next. Also used are briarwood and lingwider. The last, imported from South America, is extremely hard. It is the material from which police nightsticks are made; it rings if struck on the sidewalk—or someone's skull.

Undoubtedly new materials like plastics and alloys will be tried for canes in the post-war era, as will ingenious trick canes equipped with flashlights, knife blades, or cartridges. The instinct to carry a stick of some kind goes back to the caveman who liked a club handy for general utility.

HEALTH LEAGUE MEETING

The Health League of Canada, the annual meeting of which is being held at the Windsor Hotel here today and tomorrow, has reached the quarter-century mark in its educational service to the Canadian people.

At its formation at the request of the federal government in 1919, the organization was known as the Canadian Council for Combating Venereal Diseases. In 1922 the name was changed to the Canadian Social Hygiene Council, and in 1935 the present name—Health League of Canada—was adopted. The organization by that time had departed from its original narrow program and had developed a broad one of health conservation.

The original organization was formed at the request of the Dominion Government as an educational adjunct to the health departments, and since then its sole object has been the spreading of knowledge respecting the prevention of communicable diseases.

The question of the health of industrial workers will occupy a large part in the discussions at the two-day meeting. The League has been working in co-operation with industry for many years in promoting good health habits among workers. Among the industrial and other business leaders who will attend are G. A. S. Nairn, president of Lever Brothers, Toronto; Dr. Graham Rose of National Breweries; Dr. F. J. Tourangeau of the Quebec Ministry of Health and Social Welfare; Fr. E. Bouvier of the University of Montreal; H. M. Sparks, Industrial Relations Manager, Northern Electric Company, Limited; Dr. P. J. Guenette, Defence Industries, Limited; Edouard Simard, Vice-President, Sorel Industries; George Walsh, Director of Personnel, Canadian Car and Foundry Co., Ltd.; Dr. J. A. Bildfell, Medical Director, Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd.; T. Prezeau, Labour Representative, and others.

Host organization to this 25th Annual Meeting of the League is the Quebec Division of the Health League of Canada, headed by Dr. J. C. Meakins, dean of the Faculty of Medicine, McGill University, and Dr. Albert LeSage. Among the speakers at the public meetings will be George A. S. Nairn, Hon. Albini Paquet, Quebec Minister of Health and Social Welfare, and Dr. Martha Eliot, Associate Chief of the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labour, Washington, D.C.

FOUR APPEALS TO PATRIOTISM

Montrealers, having oversubscribed their Victory Loan quota, are now asked to contribute generously to several worthy causes whose appeals are being presented to them. The Navy League of Canada is asking for donations of money, books, clothing, magazines, and other articles that will make the arduous tasks of our seamen easier and their life more comfortable. The Montreal Anti-Tuberculosis League is seeking to raise $150,000 through its annual Christmas Seal campaign. The Young Men's Christian Association seeks $130,000 for its war services. And the Salvation Army asks $100,000 in its Red Shield Home Front Appeal.

Some of us might be inclined to complain at the numerous appeals being made to our generosity, to complain that we are already doing enough through payment of heavy taxes and the purchase of bonds and war savings certificates. To these, let us put these questions: Would you change places with the people these appeals are designed to help? Would you hand them your burdens in exchange for theirs?

Local residents have never failed in response to appeals such as these. We know this district will do more than its share in helping all of them to pass their objectives.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Europe, according to news despatches, is dividing into two great spheres of influence, Russian and British, is shown by the announcement that a British-French-Dutch-Belgian military and political alliance is expected to be formed during negotiations in London this month. Marshal Smuts asked the small nations of Western Europe to tie themselves in some organic way to the British Empire in order to help Great Britain to balance Russia.

Apparently Mr. Churchill did not accomplish all he had hoped for on his last visit to Moscow, and no doubt knows better than anyone else, the importance of Britain preserving something approaching a balance of power in Europe—as* nearly as possible along the lines suggested by Marshal Smuts. Frederick Kuh, reporting from London on the coming negotiations stated: "The Four prospective partners in the West European entente are anxious to avoid any move that Moscow might view with suspicion."

General de Gaulle recently stated that the policy of the new French government is to prevent "concentration of interests which in England and America are called trusts." He said the government will gradually take over complete control of their country's economy and that French industry will be kept in the hands of the French. He, it is said, has never admitted that his ideology is influenced by Moscow. As is well known, there was a strong leftist body of opinion in France just before the war and the spirit of Leon Blum is still potent. If the country does swing left and evidently it will, such a far reaching step will have a great influence upon French relations with other countries during the next few years.

The most recent social security scheme announced in Britain—in a government White Paper—has a provision that affects one of the most distinctive British traditions—primogeniture. Under the new security scheme there are (as in Canada) to be "children's allowances" (we call them "Family Allowances") but there will not be an allowance for the first-born child. Under the feudal law the first-born male was the "winner-take-all," and still is sole heir of entailed estates.

For Americans as for the French, who got rid of surviving relics of entail in their respective revolutions, the question seems somewhat remote. But the even partial "declassing" of the first born under the British scheme may not be a purely academic question for the U.S.A. if they also trail totalitarian schemes for increasing births by bounties.

George Selwyn, 1719-1791, famous English wit and politician was Registrar of the Court of Chancery in Barbados—a place he never visited. He was Surveyor of British Crown—without surveying anything. He was a member of Parliament for 26 years and slept through every meeting during the entire time.

New Waterford near Sydney, N.S., was new when I was young but is now considered to be a long established Dominion Coal & Steel Co. mining town. It has always shown its patriotism. On November 1 it was leading the whole of Canada on the basis of towns of 10,000 population and over in sales in the Seventh Victory Loan. In November 1 it reported sales amounting to $520,000, this being 148.6 of its objective.

Stories of how the French people worked for their liberation were told Saturday by two Toronto fliers just returned from France, where they were forced down in enemy-occupied territory and later liberated by advancing Allied forces.

F. Victor McCreight said the "members of the French Maquis and resistance groups are the most fearless people I have ever met." FO. S. H. Irvine who literally slept under the noses of the Nazis said: "I owe my life to the Maquis."

Reports from Ottawa state that Canada will build up for the Pacific campaign up to the strength of a corps, which means two or three divisions.

We have an army in France and a corps in Italy. Another corps in Australia will be equivalent to putting two complete Canadian corps in the various world fronts. In the last war we had a corps in action and felt justifiably proud of our contribution.

Joseph Sayers did not deliver a campaign speech or make any promises or hand out any cigars or kiss any babies and was not at that time in the State, but was elected Governor of Texas in 1898 by a huge majority.

The word "Ballot" comes from the French word "Ballotte" meaning "Little Ball".

Calvary Church

The services in Calvary United Church, Westmount, on Sunday next, will be conducted by the minister, the Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., D.D. The church school, in all departments, will meet at 10 a.m.

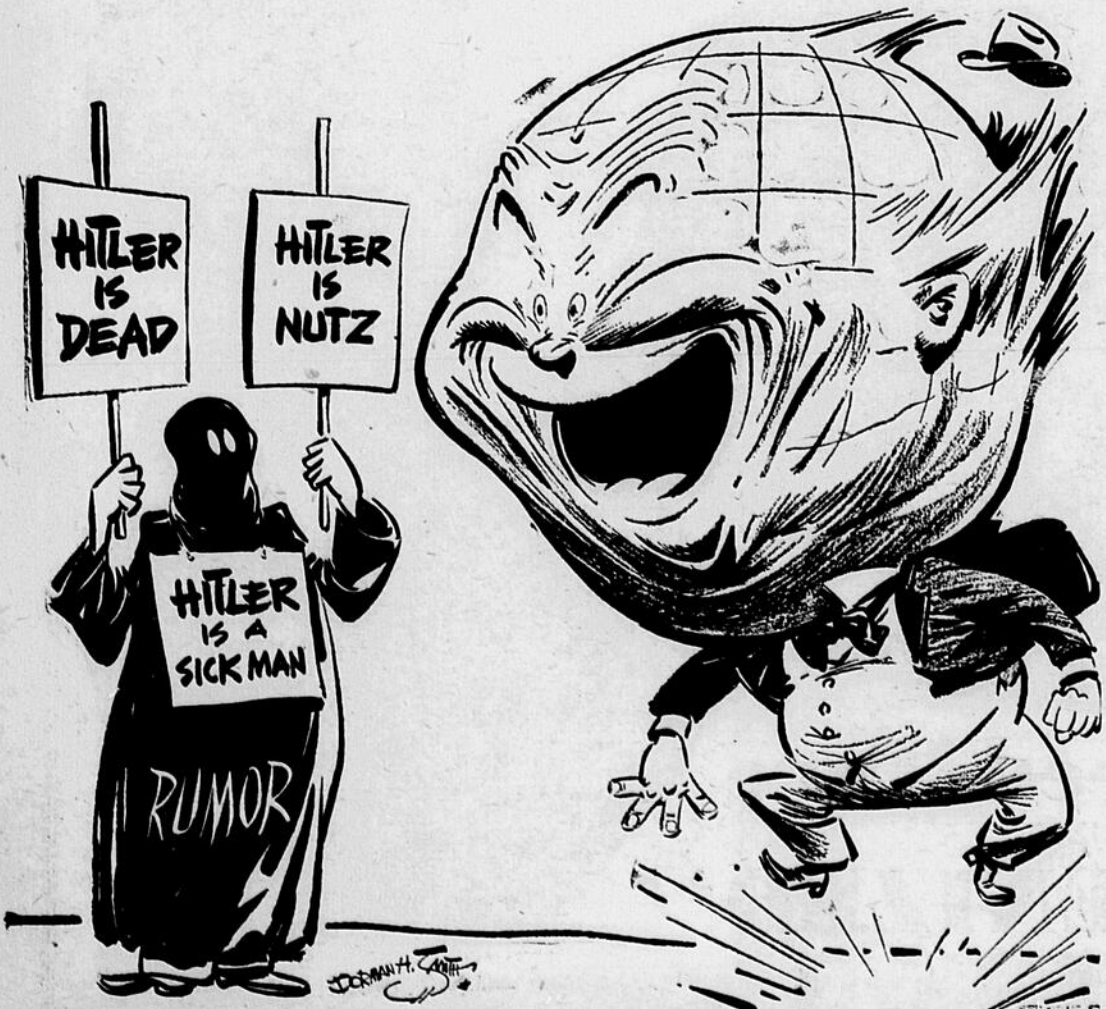

At the morning worship at 11 a.m., Dr. Jones will preach on the theme, "He tried to run away from God and Duty."

The evening service at 7.30 p.m. will be illustrated with beautifully colored slides depicting interesting incidents in the life and work of John and Charles Wesley. Hymns written by these great evangelical leaders will also be sung. The work of the Wesleys which finally spread around the world has a large place in the Methodist Church in Canada now in the present United Church of Canada, and the whole of Christendom shares in the heritage of these gifted and consecrated servants of God.

The Young People's Union will meet on Monday at 8.15 p.m. in the Macaulay Hall. Mr. Sam. Russell, citizenship convener, will lead a discussion on "Health in the Community." All young people are heartily invited to share in this programme.

The Red Cross Group will meet on Tuesday from 10.30 a.m. to 4 p.m. for this week only, and will revert to the regular Thursday meetings next week.

The annual Bazaar will be held under the auspices of the Women's Association, on Thursday afternoon and evening, November 30th. "A grand nicht tae git together". The bazaar will be open from 3 to 10 p.m. Supper will be served at 6.15 p.m.

Westmount Baptist

On Sunday morning the congregation of "Westmount" will hear a thrilling story of recent events in India from Rev. Eric Quirk who has just returned from ten years of service in the land of Extreme Wealth and Extreme Poverty. Mr. Quirk is a most vital and able speaker, and has a message that will warm and challenge all hearts.

At the evening service Dr. Johnston will conclude what has been a most interesting series of sermons, entitled: Simons—Not So Simple. Sunday evening's address will be on "Simon—the Big Fisherman." What are the real facts about Peter? Did Christ appoint him Pope? Was he infallible or are there lights and shadows in his life that brings him close and consequently extremely helpful to ourselves? A singing Fellowship will follow the evening service.

"Westmount" Choir will present the first of the season's Recitals of Sacred Music on Sunday evening, December 3rd. This will follow the evening service at 8.45. An excellent programme is being arranged under the direction of Mr. Hibbert Troop, Organist and Choirmaster.

"Westmount" is also making intensive preparations for the Christmas and New Year services. A baptismal service will take place on Sunday evening, Dec. 3rd. The Annual Candle-lit Service will be held on Christmas Sunday, December 24th. This also will be a Baptismal Service.

Church of The Advent

A farewell reception for the Rev. Clifford Andrews and Mrs. Andrews will be held directly after evensong next Sunday, in the Church of the Advent Parish Hall. All members of the congregation and their friends are cordially invited to be present. Father Andrews has been assistant priest for the past fourteen months, and is leaving to become resident incumbent of Poltmore and Glen Almond.

In the evening Leonard Griffith will preach on "John Mark, a Quitter".

The Young People's Union will meet after the evening service and all young people will be welcome.

On Monday at 2 p.m. the Sewing Circle will hold its regular meeting. New members will be welcome at any meeting.

Red Cross Unit meets every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The help any woman willing to spend even an hour or two in this valuable service is willing to give, will be gratefully received.

Preparatory service and reception of members will be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m. Dr. Lloyd Smith will preach on "Living from Great Depths."

Monday Is Last Day To Register Kiddies For Big Xmas Party

November 27th is the last day to register for the big Christmas Party being given by the Montreal Soldiers' Wives' League, at the Forum, on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, December 19th and 20th.

If you have in your family a man or woman on active service in the navy, army or air force, your children, twelve years or younger, are expected, but application must be made at once to the Women's Auxiliary of the unit to which your service man or service woman belongs. Give his or her name and identification number. If he is a merchant seaman, apply to the Merchant Navy Services, Sun Life Bldg., and name his shipping company. If his unit has no Auxiliary in the city, apply — giving all information — to the Christmas Party Committee, Room 1021, 1414 Drummond Street. Tickets will be mailed December 5th.

Rummage Sales

Under the auspices of Electa Chapter No. 12, O.E.S., a rummage sale will be held on Saturday afternoon, at 1 o'clock in St. Luke's United Church Hall, 3480 Decarie Boulevard.

$1,100 INVESTED BY N.D.G. CLUB IN SEVENTH LOAN

The Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club held the monthly business meeting in Victoria Hall on Friday afternoon. Mrs. George G. Wakeman, the president, was in the chair.

It was reported by Mrs. F. W. Bishop, treasurer, that $1100.00 had been invested by the club in the 7th Victory Loan.

Mrs. D. K. Gowans, chairman of the war services committee, reported the following donations voted by her committee: $50. to the Christmas party for the men at Ste. Anne's Military Hospital, and $25. extra marked for cigarettes; $20. for cigarettes, etc., as part of the annual Christmas gift to the men of the club's adopted ship, M.M.S. Liscomb; $25. to the Queen's Canadian Fund Children's Christmas Appeal and $25. to the British Minesweepers' Auxiliary. Mrs. Gowans also stated that war savings stamps amounting to $25. had been sold since the last business meeting of the club, and that $305. had been realized from the benefit performance given by the Dixie Minstrels Association of Drummondville, Que., on behalf of war services, which was sponsored by the war services committee of the club.

Mrs. N. Seath, Third vice-president, reported that the Red Cross Group had completed 25 articles of sewing, 19 pieces of knitting and 2,000 surgical dressings. The response to the appeal for workers in this group had been gratifying but a great many more workers are still wanted as clothing and knitted garments are needed in great quantities.

Mrs. J. W. Perks, chairman of the civics committee, reported that the response to the appeal for used books for the Boys' and Girls' Library of Notre Dame de Grace had resulted in 400 books being turned in.

The club placed itself on record as supporting a suggestion recently made by Mr. J. M. C. Duckworth of the Community Council to the effect that a public library be established in Notre Dame de Grace as a lasting tribute and memorial for those of the community who have given their lives in the war.

At the close of the meeting Mr. R. B. Jackson, Chief Traffic Officer of the R.A.F. Transport at Dorval, gave a very interesting lecture on the ancient city of Angkor Thim in French Indo-China. While living in Bangkok, Siam, the speaker made a trip to the ruins of Angkor Thom and the pictures shown were personally taken by him.

Mrs. Geo. G. Wakeman introduced the speaker and he was thanked by Mrs. J. H. Stokes, chairman of the education committee.

Berlin has a monument to the horses which served during World War I.

And So It Goes . . .

By Betty Bruce

People who poke their noses into other people's business usually deserve all they get. But when one sees a little china horse sitting on the middle bar of a basement window, tossing his gallant mane and ready to give a whinny and kick up his heels at any moment, how can one help wondering about it?

And after all, this isn't actually poking into the business of the basement family. We are only wondering very politely about them. Are there many of them, or only one? Are they young or old? Is there a baby or a little child there? The horse is no clumsy piece of work. Its lines are clean and full of action and mischief—a fairly expensive little thing by the look of it.

Many people put small swans, dogs, horses, etc., on window shelves as ornaments. But if the little horse is put there to be so enjoyed, why should the full folds of a lace curtain be drawn behind it, thus cutting it off from the view of anyone in the room? My own opinion is that somebody, a bit lonesome these days in that basement room, missing a laughing face which used to peek from behind the curtain in welcome at lunch and supper time, has set the frisky little horse on the window bar to take the chill off home-coming. A convenient beam of light from a lamp-post strikes the china charger at night, and very nobly does he fulfill his mission—if his mission is to be a cheerer-upper. Of course he may have been set close to the glass because the family cat kept knocking him over. Or maybe he was set there to act as a sort of signal. And, of course, it is always possible that he was set there just to intrigue nosey parkers (like me) who wonder about things that are none of their business!

Why do you suppose some folks who know better are careless about standing at attention during the singing of the national anthem? Doesn't it mean anything to them? God Save the King is associated with proud and solemn moments in our history and our own personal lives. Doesn't any of this, the kinship of the British fighting families all over the world, touch them at all? The National Anthem isn't something to be sung during these days especially, as an empty ritual. Yet, to many people, it must be just that, for within the last few weeks, in my own personal experience, one chairman of a club stood with her hands crossed on her purse, one speaker stood with his hands clasped in front of him and one lady at a play fiddled about with her expensive silver fox furs and then fixed her veil on her hat throughout the entire singing of the national anthem. Small disturbances were caused by less than this in public places during the last war, overseas.

Mrs. T. W. D. sends in a helpful little hint about preserving the fresh look of small chrysanthemums in vases. When the flowers begin to look a trifle tired because of their foliage drying and curling, she advises stripping them off entirely and adding a few sprays of asparagus fern. The result is to make the chrysanthemums look fresh and pretty again.

ART THEATRE AIMS SUBJECT OF TALK TO SUBDIVISION

A meeting of the Westmount Subdivision of the C.W.L. was held last Friday afternoon in St. Leo's School Hall.

Mrs. Edmund Foster, the president, conducted the business portion of the meeting, when several matters of importance were announced, after which the chair was taken over by Mrs. Wm. Boyd, convener of the day.

Mrs. Boyd introduced the guest speaker, Miss Joy Thompson, director of the new Canadian Art Theatre, who outlined the aims and ambitions of this new group in an effort to create an all-Canadian theatre in plays, playwrights, actors, actresses, technique, direction and staging. So far we in Canada have had to depend on the United States and Great Britain, remarked the speaker, but she felt confident that a new Canadian form should and would be developed, though "it would be a matter of slow growth." Miss Thompson announced that the Canadian Art Theatre was offering a scholarship to all dramatic groups in Montreal showing promise; one person from each group being chosen to compete.

Mrs. G. V. Roney thanked the speaker on behalf of the subdivision, after which a one-act play was presented by a dramatic group under the direction of Mrs. Marion Fisher. The play was "Sparkin'" — those taking part being Frances MacDonald, Eunice Patterson, Kathleen Glennon and Eric Lange.

A free drawing on an oil painting, donated by Mrs. Wm. Boyd, then took place and was won by Mrs. P. T. Golden.

Tea was served by Mrs. J. C. Lovett and her hospitality committee.

GUIDE

84TH COMPANY (Dominion Douglas)

Brown Owl, Mrs. Andrew McKellar; Tawny Owl, Miss Myrtle Moore; Captain, Miss Mary Moxon; Lieut., Miss John Laffoley.

The first ceremony of the current season took place on Oct. 25, when five Brownies flew up to the Guide Company with the aid of their Wings. The Brownies who flew across the imaginary river in the meeting hall, and who were each received by a Guide Patrol Leader, greeted by the Captain, and then conducted to a place in the horse-shoe, were: Harriet Abbot-Smith, Daphne Athison, Janet Fry, Liane Norkett and Diana Smith. Previous to flying across the river, the Brownies piked a service star out of the blue-print Big Dipper, and after the ceremony, Brown Owl, Mrs. Andrew MacKellar and the remaining Brownies gave a Grand Howl.

On Nov. 15, the first enrolment of the season was held when Mrs. W. J. Hyde, District Commissioner, enrolled eleven Guides. The recruits who joined were: Atchison, Judy Cliff, Anne the great sisterhood were: Daphne Corbett, Barbar Corbett, Joan Deachman, Lesley Lee, Liane Norkett, Joan Robb, Barbar Robertson, Frances Sumner and Margaret Tucker. A number of parents and friends were in attendance on the sidelines, watching the ceremony and subsequent games. The meeting ended with an informal talk to the campfire circle by Mrs. Hyde, on the Oriental proverb: "Four things come not back; The spoken word; The sped arrow; Time past; The neglected opportunity," with illustrations of how these are all embodied in the Guide Law.

BRIEF Y.M.C.A. NEWS

J. A. Gagnon is continuing the series of weekly meetings of members of the Y.M.C.A. in connection with French conversation. For many years Mr. Gagnon and his family have been primary movers in the Bonne Entente plan interpreting the English ways and customs to French families, and the French ways and customs to English folk. His family assists in the French conversation classes at the Y.M.C.A. Practical methods of teaching French are used such as using newspapers illustrating daily routine.

Alloy Advances

Wartime progress in the technique of producing alloy steel aircraft forgings has resulted both in the production of improved forgings and considerable savings in materials. Close co-operation between designers and forgers should facilitate economical postwar quantities of forged parts.

AIRBORNE BLOOD

Whole blood is now flown to Europe to supplement the use of plasma. Procurement is limited to New York and Washington blood donor centers, but other centers may be added as the needs arise.

Clark Gable fulfilled his first studio assignment for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer since his return from the Army when he spent the entire day of October 25 being photographed at his Encino, Calif., ranch by studio photographers to take care of the many requests for pictures that have piled up during the past two years.

For a decade prior to 1941, emphasis was placed on rebuilding and modernizing highways in the U.S., rather than on extending the size of the system.

MISSION FIELD TRAINING IS STERN XAVIER GUILD HEARS

Some phases of the education of a young man as a missionary were discussed by Honorary Brigadier Monsignor R. C. Mc Gillivray, D.P., M.C., E.D., principal Catholic Chaplain of the Canadian army, speaking before the Xavier Apostolate Guild Tuesday in Congress Hall.

The speaker stressed particularly the stern discipline enforced and the many discomforts to be endured which would eventually help fit the young student for the type of life he would have to live in primitive countries to which his work might take him.

He told how the students lived in groups of twelve. These groups were changed frequently so that the men had the experience of learning to live with others.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. J. A. Clement and thanked by Mrs. Edgar Reynolds. The moderator, Father Edward Brown, S.J., spoke briefly. Miss Anna Malenfant sang, accompanied by Miss Doris Killam.

Essay Group Interested In Children's Library

Further donations of books for the Notre Dame de Grace Library for boys and girls were solicited at a recent meeting of the Essay Group of the Canadian Authors' Association; and a resume of what had already been accomplished in the matter of making book contributions was given by Miss Roberta Beattie. The group met at the Themis Club. Dorothy Sproule presided.

Congratulations were extended by the chairman to Grace Campbell, Mrs. Consiglio, Mrs. Hedges and Mrs. Donald on recent artistic and literary achievements.

Miss Grace Lamb spoke on Poetry in Gardens.

Miss Edna Sclater was hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. Willis Jones.

Group Poppy Sales Reported to Exceed One Thousand Dollars

The monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary C.P.R. Branch No. 96, Canadian Legion was held in the Club Rooms last Thursday evening. The president, Mrs. Lyle, being in the chair opened the meeting with the regular service and welcomed Mrs. S. Sheriff, president, and Mrs. H. Lefebvre, first vice president, respectively, of the Provincial Command Ladies Auxiliaries. Mrs. Sheriff, then took charge of the initiation when four new members were enrolled.

Committee reports showed considerable activity the most outstanding being that of the Poppy Sale given by Mrs. W. L. Payne who stated that over a thousand dollars had been realized by the group and she wished to thank everyone who had assisted at the booth in Simpson's Store and in Windsor Station.

Another report of particular interest was that of the Hospital Committee given by Mrs. N. H. Chalmers who stated that 52 patients had been visited at the Royal Victoria Hospital and that a cable had been sent to England advising the parents of a young seaman that their son was progressing favourably after an emergency operation.

An item which excited keen interest was the Welcome Room in Windsor Station: This room will be open to Service People daily from 7.45 a.m., to 11.45 p.m., and auxiliary members from C.P.R. Branch No. 96 and C.P.R. Branch No. 16 with Mrs. S. Sheriff as house-mother and Mrs. A. Legault as chairman have volunteered to be on duty at all times.

Plans were completed for a dance to be held in the Club Rooms on Saturday evening the 9th, of December and the ladies were reminded that tickets could be obtained from the members of the Senior Branch.

The meeting closed with a parade drill in charge of Sgt. J. C. Stelfox.

Mrs. J. O. Asselin Looks After Big Family at Home And Abroad

The talents and fine organizing ability of Mrs. J. O. Asselin, M.B.E., president of the Canadian Prisoners of War Relatives' Association, are recognized and honored this week in an article headed "Council Personalities" which appears in the current number of "The Co-ordinator", the official bulletin of the Montreal War Services Co-ordinating Council.

"In 1943, in the King's Birthday Honour List, Mme. J. O. Asselin was awarded the M.B.E." says the article, "for her outstanding work on behalf of Prisoners of War. The Association of which she is President includes twenty-two branches across Canada with headquarters in Montreal. Working in close co-operation with the Red Cross, the C.P.O.W.R.A. sends personal parcels as permitted by enemy governments, finances parcels for needy next of kin, sends games, books, sports equipment, garden seeds, chocolate, emergency toilet kits to be issued to new prisoners in transit camps, etc.

"In addition, the C.P.O.W.R.A. makes representations to the Government on the needs of prisoners and is a powerful morale-builder amongst the next of kin. News, letters and information are exchanged through the News Sheet (edited by Hazel Wanklyn).

"When the U.S.A. entered the war, their Prisoners of War Relatives' Association was modeled after the Canadian organization and Mme. Asselin was invited to assist in organizing it.

"The interesting part is that this most vital and valuable national war service was born in Mme. Asselin's drawing room back in 1941, shortly after she received word that her son, then P.O., now Fit-Lieut. Edmond Asselin, first reported missing, was a prisoner in Germany. In her efforts to ease the lot of her son and other Canadian boys in like plight, Mme. Asselin obtained from the Government a list of 55 names of next of kin of Prisoners of War in Montreal. Then she sat down and wrote letters in English and French, suggesting that they might pool their efforts to help their prisoners. Result: The Association was promptly organized, registered, officered and functioning, and has grown in usefulness ever since.

"Mme. Asselin, the former Beatrice Tobin of Bromptonville, did not bring the background of a "clubwoman" to the big job which has absorbed her for the past three years — (she receives from 60 to 80 letters a day from next of kin apart from anything else). In fact, she had had no executive experience whatever, unless, as she modestly suggests, you count bringing up eight children, including five boys—(there is a second son in training in the Air Force)—and three girls, the youngest aged four!

"She is the wife of J. O. Asselin, Chairman of the Executive of the City of Montreal, is a talented artist, though she has not put brush to palette since the war, and looks like an elder sister of her large family."

Riotous Comedy At The Westmount

Robert Young, little Margaret O'Brien and Charles Laughton in a scene from the riotous comedy, "The Canterville Ghost," which will be at the Westmount commencing on Sunday for three days until Tuesday.

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

One of the knottiest and most interesting film assignments of the year was handed to William Daniels, veteran M-G-M cameraman, when he was told to get ready for the production of "The Canterville Ghost," starring Charles Laughton, Margaret O'Brien and Robert Young, at the Westmount Theatre this Sunday for three days.

This is an adaptation of Oscar Wilde's ingenious and amusing fantasy of the same name dealing with the haunting of a mysterious old English castle, Daniels, rated one of Hollywood's ace cameramen ever since he began directing the early Greta Garbo pictures, decided to utilize whatever trick photography was necessary, but to couple it with as complete a feeling of realism as possible.

As the venerable ghost in the new photoplay, Charles Laughton is required to walk through solid walls to dematerialize himself, even to take off his own head and carry it around. All such flaunting of the normal laws of physics required considerable resourcefulness and inventive genius.

Daniels and Irving Reis, a special effects creator, spent many weeks in working out the details, which must necessarily remain a "trade secret." Outside of these sequences, however, the picture was handled by Director Jules Dassin, the young director who scored hits last year with "Young Ideals" and "Reunion in France." The mixing of realism with trick photography placed the accent on comedy rather than mere imaginative photography or macabre atmosphere.

Laughton's principal acting associates in "The Canterville Ghost" are Young and seven-year-old Margaret who made triumphant appearances in "Journey for Margaret" and "Lost Angel." The cast also includes William Gargan, Reginald Owen, "Rags" Ragland and Una O'Connor.

The characterization of the title role in the new movie is perhaps the most unusual one in Laughton's career. The distinguished British-born stage and screen star has played a wide variety of roles in his screen career, ranging from butlers, beachcombers and bankers to such famed parts as those of Captain Bligh in "Mutiny on the Bounty," and the title part in "Ruggles of Red Gap." In no previous role, however, had he been required to trade in his somewhat substantial corpulent frame for the vestments of an ethereal visitor.

Mystery Stories Topic of Address To Dickens Club

Who Dun It? An insight into this absorbing question will be given by Fred C. Newman, hon. secretary of the St. James Literary Society, at the Dickens Fellowship meeting in Victoria Hall, Westmount, on Tuesday evening, when he will give an address on "Mystery and Detective Stories."

Dickens himself may be called one of the pioneers of the modern mystery novel, for in "Bleak House," one of his outstanding characters is Mr. Bucket the detective, who solves the mystery of Lady Dedlock's flight, and uncovers the true murderer of Mr. Tulkinghorn.

The vocalist at Tuesday's meeting of the Fellowship is Doreen Allton, soprano, who will be accompanied by Phyllis Rowell.

Phoebe Erskine, MacKellar is responsible for the playlet, "Jelly-laby Jumbles," with which the programme will conclude, and which will be presented by an all-girl cast consisting of Peggy Donn, Carol Walsh, Audrey Carter and Jean Margaret Struthers.

R. H. Mainer, president, will be in the chair.

Both mildew and black spot on roses may be controlled by dusting the flowers with sulphur or spraying with Bordeaux mixture.

BIOGRAPHY SERIES NO. 49

Today, November 23, is the sixty-eighth birthday of a great modern Spanish composer, Manuel de Falla, who was born at Cadiz in 1876. Many musicians do not live to see their works become world famous but de Falla has had recognition for many years although, as is the usual case, his own country was not the first to give credit to his talent.

Manuel de Falla studied composition with Felipe Pedrell, famous Spanish musicologist and piano under Trago at the Madrid Conservatory. The Academia de Bellas Artes gave him first prize for his opera "La Vida Breve" which he composed in 1905 but it was not performed until 1913 and then at Nice, France. Discouraged with the attitude of his countrymen, de Falla went to Paris in 1907 and earning his livelihood as a teacher, he met Dukas, Ravel and Debussy. These three great French composers lifted his spirits and he regained confidence in himself. Returning to Granada in 1914, he produced his "Nights in the Gardens of Spain" for piano and orchestra. World renown came to him in 1919 when the Russian Ballet performed his "Three Cornered Hat" in London.

The "Ritual Fire Dance" which is such a popular number came from another ballet, composed in 1915, "El Amor Brujo". Who hasn't heard this delightful piece which Jose Iturbi played with his sister Amparo in a film recently. (Two Gals and a Sailor). It is typically Spanish as are most of de Falla's works, which are based on the folklore of his country.

De Falla has conducted his own composition many times but he prefers to teach and compose. Among his other well-known works are Four Spanish Pieces for Piano (1917-18), Seven Spanish Popular Songs (1914) a puppet opera, "El Retablo de Maese Pedro" (1919), "Psyche" for voice and "Homenaje" in memory of Debussy. May Manuel de Falla enjoy many more birthdays.

At The Snowdon

The name Frank Capra on a film guarantees excellent entertainment, as does the name "Sterling" on silver, signify that there is nothing any better. Capra, before entering the U.S. Army (where he is now a Major in the Photographic Division) was known as the most consistent "box-office-director" in all of Hollywood, for upwards of ten years. Year after year, Capra-directed pictures have been huge successes. First he directed "Lady For A Day" that projected the late May Robson to success. Then he directed "It Happened One Night" that catapulted a then unknown actor, Clark Gable, to success. And with that great comedy, Claudette Colbert also went for a ride on the success-wagon, where she still is. Next came the Academy Award winning, "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town," starring Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur, and they haven't done too badly since then, either.

Following Mr. Deeds came "Broadway Bill" with Myrna Loy and the late Walter Connelly. Then Frank Capra suddenly switched from his highly successful comedies to just-as-successful drama with his great production of James Hilton's "Lost Horizon" which starred Ronald Colman. A year later Capra returned to his first-love, producing the side-splitting "You Can't Take It With You," with Jean Arthur, James Stewart, Edward Arnold and Lionel Barrymore. Shortly after Capra clicked again with "Mr. Smith Goes To Washington" again starring Jean Arthur and James

R.T. to Play 'Junior Miss'

The holiday season opens in Montreal December 8th, when the curtain rises on the MRT's presentation of Junior Miss, a three-act comedy adapted for the stage by Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Fields and based on the stories by Sally Benson.

The Graves are a typical city family in moderate circumstances, and this play, about an incident in their lives, is full of amusing and delightful characterization. Harry and Grace Graves have two children—Lois and particularly Judy, who at 13 has, besides her confidante Fuffy, a burning desire to grow up to the glamorous age of her sister Lois, who is 16.

Somehow an idea (based on a movie once seen) popped into Judy's head that her father must be in love with his boss's daughter. In confidence with Fuffy it is decided that it is Judy's duty to bring the "old man" back home to roost.

In addition to keeping the happy home together, Judy takes it upon herself to save her Uncle Willis, whom she has never seen until his unexpected arrival at her home on Christmas Eve.

Because Uncle Willis' name must never be mentioned in the presence of her mother, and because there was another movie based on the same situation, Judy decides that Uncle Willis has been spending his unmentionable time in one of the country's best penitentiaries.

How all this works out must remain a secret until the curtain goes up at the Guy Street Playhouse on the night of December 8th.

MRT have a distinguished cast lined up for the holiday production. Lillian Niderost, who was recently seen in the role of the opera singer in the first presentation of the season And So To Bed, will play a return engagement in the part of Grace Graves. Gordon Jones, well known MRT player will be seen as Harry Graves. Other talented actors and actresses include Gwen Ford, Adelaide Smith, Harold Kelley, Ralph Zimmer, Joan Humphreys, Audrey Jay, Sheldon Allan, John Cameron, Earl Pennington, Joseph Carmer, Joan Ciceri, Merrill Feurbach, Jacques LeBlanc, Paul Brennan and others complete the cast.

Stewart and then, before enlisting in the Army, directed the serio-comic "Meet John Doe" which starred, again, Gary Cooper, this time with Barbara Stanwyck and Edward Arnold. With the possible exception of his "It Happened One Night," Capra's most successful hit was, and is, "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town," starring Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur. After many requests were received by the management of the Snowdon theatre for a "repeat" showing of Mr. Deeds Goes To Town, a new print has arrived in Montreal, from New York, and it will start a special engagement at the Snowdon theatre this coming Saturday afternoon.

Whitfield Aston To Give Recital

Some of Charles Dickens' unforgettable characters will be enacted by Whitfield Aston, one of Montreal's foremost interpreters of Dickens, in a dramatic and humorous recital, sponsored by St. Luke's United Church Halfway Club, and to be held in the church hall, Decarie Blvd., on Wednesday, at 8.30 p.m.

Whitfield Aston has been associated with the Dickens' Fellowship for many years, in an acted leading roles in many of the presentations of the Montreal Repertory Theatre.

The concert will feature Mr. Aston enacting several of Dickens' most famous characters. The balance of the programme will consist of vocal and instrumental selections.

Taxes were levied on windows for a long period in England.

NEWS OF THE THEATRE WORLD

At York Theatre

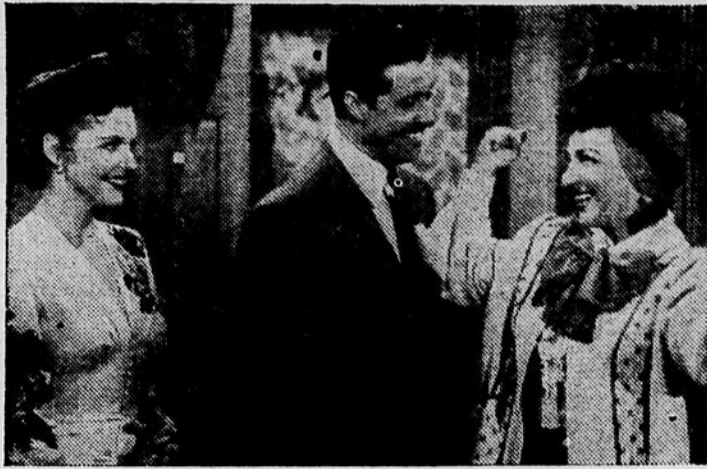

Carmen Miranda's influence on American women's fashions is, even at this early date, legendary.

She originated the Bahia turban and created the rage for wedgies and platform soles. She popularized the dollar-size earrings, and under her influence conservative ladies went in for bizarre jewelry.

So 20th Century-Fox's announcement that La Miranda sports a new personality in their lavish Technicolor musical, "Greenwich Village," sends a good portion of the feminine world into a frenzy of anticipation.

In past pictures Carmen has worn wooden chopping bowls, banana palms, mixed fruit salads, Christmas toys and fruit compotes on her head. She's been hung with more gee-gaws than Dr. Livingstone took into darkest Africa. So a new screen personality might mean that Carmen would draw something less than a Baldwin locomotive for a headpiece by way of change.

On the basis of her new screen wardrobe, it's safe to prophesy that American women will be as unostentatious as an 8th Army barrage.

For in "Greenwich Village," which opens at the York Theatre this weekend, Carmen plays Princess Querida. She's surrounded by Don Ameche, William Bendix, Vivian Blaine and others. But Miranda's part is as nutty as a fruitcake. The Princess keeps getting her genealogy mixed up. She's Irish, Russian, Turkish, Egyptian and even a rooster in her various phases.

To do the part justice, Designer Yvonne Wood has robbed the solar spectrum, the barnyard, old cosy corners and covers of cigarette boxes.

As a Russian, Carmen's simple peasant smock is needled by black patent leather boots with five-inch platform soles. And gold dragons with emerald eyes will crawl across this year's bedjackets if the girls insist on copying Miranda. Her Turkish mood easily forecasts the fez as taking the place of the half-hat and the humorous hats of past seasons. But this is a fez with a difference—the tassel reaches to the knees. And Carmen, in her Egyptian incarnation, is clad entirely in milk-white spangles and a headpiece somewhat like the Washington monument.

With each Miranda picture the feminine audience has stared, sighed rapturously, murmured: "What will Carmen do next?"

They really mean. "What will we do next?" This gives them some faint idea.

A type of sunfish has been discovered that lays as many as 300,000,000 eggs in one season.

"It shouldn't happen to Lassie!" moan the wise-crackers at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer when things aren't going just right.

Dean Murphy, M-G-M comedian, is a full-time farmer in his spare time. He owns a 385 acre farm in Wisconsin, 220 acres of which are in soy beans.

Judy Garland doesn't know whether the Japs have "zoot suits" or not, but she knows they do have a "beat-fleet!"

One of the most interested visitors to the set of Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's "Without Love" this week was Taffy, one of Lucille Ball's pet cocker spaniels. Instead of watching Spencer Tracy, Katharine Hepburn and Miss Ball at work, however, the dog spent her time visiting Rommie, a cairn terrier appearing in the picture.

Margaret O'Brien and Jimmy Durante are "engaged." The seven-year-old M-G-M actress lost her ring, set with a chip diamond, which had been given her on her last birthday. Jimmy learned of it while they were working together in "Music for Millions." This week he presented her with a new ring—with a large sparkler.

"I'm mortified," says clown Durante. "I told her I'd wait until she grew up so she could be my girl, and what happens? She still calls me 'Uncle Jimmy!'"

HAMILTON WILDCATS FAVORITES

Judging by the quality of play in the H.M.C.S. Donnacona - H.M.C.S. Ste. Hyacinthe Combines game here last Saturday, against Toronto Navy Bulldogs, your chronicler is of the opinion the local Tars will be lucky to make a game of it with the Hamilton Wildcats in the Grey Cup play-down at Hamilton on Saturday.

Particularly in the early stages of last Saturday's game, the local boys looked bad, handing the Toronto Tars an edge on a platter the visitors never relinquished. Annis Stukus kicked off, and on the first play of the game, a fumble gave Toronto the ball. Two plays later Stukus shot a forward to Egan for a touch, and added another point by a placement convert.

Another miscalculation by the locals gave Toronto a major score in the second half of the game at a time it looked as if the locals might tie the game up. With the ball around the Toronto twenty, a forward pass meant for a touchdown was thrown into the arms of Toronto's Ed Laing out in the clear and Laing ran all the way down the other end of the field for a try which Stukus again converted.

Slips like that will be just as fatal against Wildcats as against Toronto.

Big Annis Stukus, one of Canada's outstanding players, was a sports writer on the Toronto Star before enlisting. He is one of a family of three football-playing brothers. Bill is generally conceded to be the best of the three, but Annis and Frank are no slouches at the rough and tumble game. Their parents are from Lithuania.

We are of the opinion that the team of the year would have been H.M.C.S. Stadacona, of Halifax, had they been able to keep the players originally on their roster and been permitted to participate in the play-downs. In addition to the excellent team they showed here two weeks ago, they had Royal Copland and Bobby Schnurr in line at the beginning of the season, as well as a number of other stars since transferred.

West Hill to Meet Glebe

Local fans will have one more opportunity to see a good football game this season when West Hill entertains Glebe here. Judging from reports on the first game of the series at Ottawa last week, the game was an open, free-scoring contest that delighted the fans.

The schoolboys have given the fans a fine standard of play all season. The new rules have met with almost unanimous approval. The only reservations we have heard have been in respect to the fourth down. There has been considerable criticism of the fourth down because it has eliminated much kicking, and already the boys have given evidence that they do not know the value of a kicking game with the wind at their backs.

Brilliant Kicking Duels

Old-time fans will recall the brilliant duels in which such toe artists as Doug Garrett, Chicken McKelvey, Hugh Jacques, Warren Snyder, George Laing, Flynn Flanagan, Joe Tubman, Pep Leadley, and others participated. These players were equally proficient in catching a sixty-yard spiral in the wind as they were in booting one, and some of the duels were pretty to see. By and large Canadian players have it all over the U.S. kickers in punting, because the Canadian game has always rewarded a team with a good punter with points. It is a feature we should not lose.

From Larry Souter's Scrapbook, 1917

"The passing of the Wanderers Hockey Club from the game recalls the fact that the red hoops, in addition to many other distinctions, held the championship for producing "brother" athletes.

"In their very first season, back in 1904-05, the Wanderers had two noted brothers on their squad — Bert and Billy Strachan. One was a forward, the other a defence player, and a third brother, James Strachan, was president of the club.

"Later, the Wanderers had the two Patrick brothers, both of whom are still in the game, brother Frank being the president of the Pacific Coast League, and Lester manager of the Seattle team.

"Another famous pair of brothers were Hod and Bruce Stuart. Hod was and is considered the greatest player who ever donned skates. Both played with Wanderers at one time or another.

"In later days the Wanderers had the Cleghorn brothers, Sprague and Odie, on their line-up."

Panthers Win Championship

The Panthers won the championship of the Pee Wee Section in the Westmount Municipal Six Man Rugby League when they handed Argos a 15-0 shut-out in the second game of their best of three series. The Panthers had taken the first game by a count of 13-6.

Mike Barnard was the high scorer for the Panthers in the second game of the series, Barnard notched up seven points. Others to score for the champions were Fred Hofman with five points, Ernie Meyers with two and Vince Roberts with one.

The line-ups of the teams were as follows:
Panthers—Mike Barnard, Bob Forrest, Fred Hofman, Ernest Meyers, Jack McOrmond, Vince Roberts, Billy McCoubrey and John Gillingham.

Argos—Phil Martin, Neville Martin, Ted Budzen, Don Tinning, Hugh McDonald, Marty Kay and Ross Murray.

Sixteen Teams Are Represented

Sixteen teams were represented at the organization meeting of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League held on Monday evening at Victoria Hall. After the meeting had been concluded the set-up was along the following lines, six juvenile teams, four midget "A" teams, one midget "B" team and four bantam teams.

The appearance of six juvenile entries is particularly promising as it has been some years since more than four entries have entered the league. The six entries were Dougie Alexander's Golden Eagles, present champions, Bill Cameron's Monarchs, Major Ross' Claremont Barracks, Frank Creaghan's Falcons, Norman Moffatt's Weredale House and Beau Thurston's Unity Club. Two other prospective juvenile entries were at the meeting but decided against entering teams after the meeting got underway.

The three midget "A" teams are two from the Golden Eagles and Richard Lord's Tornados. The midget "B" club was Andy McGillis' St. Leo's team.

The quartet of bantam clubs were Bob Beal's Golden Eagles, Ross Gillingham's Panthers, Andy McGillis' St. Leo's team, last year's champions and Richard Lord's Hawks.

It is expected that at least two more midget "B" teams will enter the league before the schedule starts and two or three more bantam teams are also expected to be in the fold by that time.

The next meeting of the league will take place on Monday, December 4th at Victoria Hall when the teams who have turned in their application forms will receive their cards.

Any teams wishing to enter the various sections of the league are asked to contact recreation supervisor Jim McCormick immediately for their application forms.

Most of the discussion at Monday's meeting concerned the residence rule in effect last year and the barring of any club from entering two teams in any one section of the league. The residence rule was rescinded for this year while the motion re a club entering two teams in a section was defeated.

The work on the erection of the rinks has already begun in the parks and everything should be ready in good time this year so that the season will be able to get underway as soon as the cold weather comes around. A new feature on the hockey rinks at Western and Staynor this year will be the players' boxes and a penalty box. This is something that has been needed for some time as the players and timekeepers have had very little protection from the cold and as a consequence, most of the in-between periods have been spent in the dressing rooms.

Hockey League Needs Referees

The Westmount Municipal Hockey League needs referees for the coming season and any prospective arbiters are asked to get in touch with Jim McCormick, the recreation supervisor, at the office in the greenhouse or by phoning him at FI. 1929.

All the referees on the island will meet this Monday night, November 27 at the Queen's Hotel, when referee-in-chief Alfie Connelly and his assistant, Art Prince, will go over the rules with them and clear up most of the ticklish points in the book.

Local officials are asked to make an appearance at this meeting if they wish to be registered with the Q.A.H.A.

The home of John and Priscilla Alden still stands in Duxbury, Mass. Near it is a monument to Capt. Miles Standish.

Unity Club News

The Club could still do with some volunteer help, it is sponsored by the Westmount Rotary Club and is open to all boys up to eighteen years of age, regardless of race or creed. All programmes are arranged by competent supervisors but some volunteer help, as mentioned above, would be a great boon for the boys. Persons wishing to help out should get in touch with Mr. W. Moxley, chairman of the boys' work committee, PLateau 8851 for further information.

The membership list is soaring, 15 new members were enrolled last week.

Thirty-five boys participated in the "Swimming Night" at Westmount Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday. Albert Regenstreif, assistant swimming instructor at the Y.M.H.A., has arranged a programme for the boys whereby they may try out for a Royal Life Saving Society certificate. Marrie Bruker, director of physical education at the Y.M.H.A. and a Life Member of the Royal Life Saving Society, has promised to drop in one of these nights and see how the boys are shaping up.

The boys who missed "Gym Night" at Queen's school last Thursday, have been kicking themselves ever since. Glen Wood, the new gym director, put the boys through their paces, with somersaults, handstands and other gymnastic stunts. The evening wound up with a basketball practice. Under Glen Wood, the "Gym Night" should prove one of the most popular events of the week.

Twelve boys have registered with the Stamp Club and ten with the Model Aeroplane Club, both these activities are held on Friday nights.

Saturday night is "Boys' Night", when a committee of members take over the running of the Club. Last Saturday the committee was conspicuous by its absence. The committee is helped out on Saturday nights by boxing coach A. Burke-Seltzer and supervisor Alex Ross.

Ping-pong, checkers and various group games are played every evening at the club.

It seems that the Club has at least two boxers who show great promise, Coach A. Burke-Seltzer is already talking of a golden gloves champion from his group. Thirty boys turned up for last week's instruction period.

The following is the programme for next week: Tuesday—Swimming at Westmount Y, 8.30 p.m.; Wednesday—Floor-hockey at Club

Championship For The Midgets

Dave Binmore's Eagles won the championship of the midget section in the Westmount Municipal Six Man Rugby League last week when they downed Pete Fullerton's Tigers in two straight games. The Eagles won the first game of a best of three series by a score of 11-0 and the second, 32-17.

In the first game the teams played a scoreless first half but touchdowns by Dave Barnard and Andy Blair in the latter half of the game gave the win to the Eagles. Barnard notched his try on an intercepted pass while Blair accepted a forward pass from Barnard for his major score. The eleventh point was a successful convert by Barnard.

The second game of the series was a wide open affair with no less than nine touchdowns being registered. The Eagles ran up a 17-2 lead in the first half but were held on even terms in the second half of the game when each team scored 15 points.

Dave Binmore and Hugh Gorman led the winners scoring parade with 11 and 10 points respectively while Dave Barnard and Andy Blair notched five each and Bob Putnam added the remaining singleton.

Dave Wells was the best for the Tigers with seven points, while Mike Tucker and Derek Hannaford accounted for five each.

The line-ups of the teams were as follows:

Eagles: Dave Binmore, Dave Barnard, Hugh Gorman, Crawford Johnson, Andy Blair, Dave Ross and Bob Putnam.

Tigers: Mike Tucker, Pete Fullerton, Pete Clarke, Robin Upton, Dave Wells, Derek Hannaford and Dave Wilks.

WESTMOUNT HIGH LIGHTS

By GEORGE COCHRANE

There was a rare, riotous and mirthful time in the auditorium of the junior high last night when Westmount High's own amateur show, ably emceed by Messrs. Ian Roberts and Don Fisher, better known as the Gruesome Twosome, of 1944 Purple and White Revue fame, held sway for about three hours.

From the time the curtain went up at eight o'clock until it rang down on the "10ba Revue" three hours later, things were running zany but smoothly under the guiding hands of the gruesome ones, who did all the organizing work connected with the show.

The ten cent admission rate proved popular and there was a good crowd of W.H.S.ers on hand. The audience was seated downstairs while up in the balcony the 48 contestants held sway. The fire escape saw heavy duty last night although no flames were in evidence, because the amateurs had instructions to climb down it before their number. A bit of conditioning, y'know.

On the second floor, rooms 12 and 18 were being used as girls' and boys' dressing rooms.

To name all the stars of this production would take far too much space but to fail to mention the work of such stalwarts as Don Harvie and his ever-present piano, the strictly on the beam musical trio of John Pepper, Bain Macerskill and Irvine Koven, who returned for an encore in the second half of the show, and the unforgettable antics of the Twosome, would be nothing short of sinful.

The Purple and White Revue directors will certainly be committing hari-kari if they overlook the mass of A1 talent that paraded on the junior high stage last night.

HI-Y

There's some news with a capital N on the Hi-Y front this week. For on Monday, December 11, the first issue of "The Monthly," a publication which will be issued about the middle of each month by the boys' Hi-Y club, assisted by the fair ladies of Inger Jorgensen's organization, will hit the stands.

Preparations for the paper have been made all this week and most of the staff have already been chosen. Your aging chronicler bears the title of editor and others in the fold are: sports: John Oliver; inquiring reporter: Bud Emo; society doings, Robert Grant and Jerry Wright; editorials: William Macdonald; news editor: Leonard Beaton; Humor: Bud Emo; circulation and business manager: Peter Oliver; advertising manager: William Macdonald; distribution: Peter Oliver and James Parsons; publicity: Jim Henderson and Sue Haire.

More additions to the staff will be made in the next couple of days and orders for the paper, which will be selling for a nickel a copy will be taken starting December 4.

At the last meeting of the students' council the boys' Hi-Y club asked and received permission to publish a school newspaper but at last Thursday's Hi-Y meeting the boys talked it over and decided that they would prefer to publish their own newspaper, containing news and features of interest to Westmount Highers, to whom the circulation will be directed.

Also deserving capital letters is the announcement that Derek Ramsay and John Earle are undertaking, as a boys' Hi-Y club project, to teach the male youngsters of Westmount how to swim.

When the boys and girls Hi-Y clubs meet for the second joint meeting of the year at the Y tonight they will be entertained by R. Leclair, one of the best sleight-of-hand artists in this locality.

But that won't be the only attraction, for Inger Jorgensen and her aides have lined up a very attractive program for their guests' benefit.

Through the kindness and energy of Virginia Birk, who took over the secretaryship of the females' club when Deborah Pierce left for Ottawa way back in the early fall, we have a complete list of the girls' doings and hopes.

Heading it is the revelation that their annual Sadie Hawkins dance will be held in the high school gym on the night of December 15. Sheila Taylor is the girl in charge and she has a stellar list of aides. Among them: Pat McGoun, Sheila Boland, Molly Laurin, Joan Macaulay, and Patty Pearce.

The girls are pretty certain that Normie Hampton's band will be supplying the noise and they promise that the refreshments will be of the best.

The girls' activities to date have included the visiting of the "Letitia", a hospital ship, an inspection of the Guaranteed Pure Milk Company's plant, tagging on Poppy Day and for the Navy League, and selling ice cream at recess on Wednesdays for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The gals hope to give four parties for groups of underprivileged children about Christmas time and they would also like to go carol singing to convalescent homes, hospitals, etc.

At present the Jorgensen-directed girls are angling for permission to visit a glass factory.

Speakers the girls have heard to date include Captain Max Ford, who spoke on "Teaching," and Miss McMann, from the Westmount Library, who talked about the ballet.

Which constitutes a pretty busy program.

Students Council

Westmount High's Students' Council was scheduled to meet again at noon today to discuss the sale of war savings stamps in the school and other important items.

Sam Freedman and yours truly will probably be the two Westmount delegates who will attend a conference of student council executives at Lennoxville on December 1. The local delegates will be leaving by train one week from today.

VOX DUCUM

The bigwigs, and the little ones, of Westmount High's annual met after school on Wednesday to fill vacant posts. The energetic J. Lawrence Hutchison, editor-in-chief and usually a very capable agent, forgot to tell us of the latest additions to his staff but it is probable that Sue Haire took over the job of publicity.

HOCKEY

It was drill number one for Westmount High's puck hopefuls at Lachine arena last Saturday and at the end of the one-hour session, which was pretty poorly attended, it was evident that Westmount will be right in the running.

Good news for the pucksters is that Dave Harvie, fast flying centre who captained last year's second-place aggregation, will be back in school in one week's time. Dave, better known as Chink, is one of the 4,200 lads discharged from the R.C.A.F. and he'll be entering the portals of 12M about December 1.

Other luminaries on the hockey team include hefty Eric Swaine, who will be carrying the burden of the defence work with Kyle Prescott this year, and speedy Bill

Y Boys' Division

Saturday saw the organization of the Prep Class into four divisions: the Flying Tigers with James Field as Captain—the Spitfires with John Smith as Captain—the Dragons with Bob Stanwyck as Captain—the Gremlins with Doug Johnson as Captain.

Points are to be awarded to the teams in this fashion:—1 for attendance, 5 for gym clothes, 10 for a new member, 20 for an old member brought back, 4 for first place on games, 3 for second, 2 for third, 1 for fourth.

In December, when the grand total is collected, the high score team will be given a special award at a dinner to be held December 15th.

You may be sure the boys are keen and its going to be close counting when it gets to the final check.

Flying Tigers: James Field, Doug Griffith, Allan Evans, Russell Balfour, Duane Seerey, Russell Haines.

Spitfires: John Smith, Bill Nixon, Bob Sherlock, Jim Pickford, Michael McLearn.

Dragons: Bob Stanwyck, Jon Powell, Clifford Bowles, Michael Biggar, Ken Barlow.

Gremlins: Doug Johnson, Len Arnold, George Hugginson, Paul Arnold, Billy Price, Billy Ley.

The "Y" Movie Club got under way Saturday afternoon. Not as Coles, one-third of last year's starting line of Peirson, Harvie and Coles.

Who's going to be between the pipes is still an unanswered question. Bill Macdonald, who goaled for the Senior B team which finished strongly last season, Mike "Triple Threat" McBean and Ray Binmore all have hopes but coach G.P. Smith hasn't made any statement about their merits yet.

Herald cory Al Parsley beat us to the press with this story but I think that Westmounters will be many as we would like to see, but as it becomes better known it is expected to be one of the most popular Clubs on the programme. This Saturday, Club members will see "Top Man" a musical comedy and a cartoon—both feature pictures.

Evening Boys: The Evening Boys have played two basketball games lately—one against Southwestern Y.M.C.A. in which our boys were trimmed, and a game against Central Y.M.C.A. with a 33-32 score in our favour. There are more games to be played. Doug Alexander does a good job of coaching.

Swimming: Wentworth Young finished his 5 Star Card in swimming. There are 10 boys who are planning on qualifying for the Life Saving Crest this Winter. Most of them are quite good swimmers and will quickly gain place.

Swin Meet: The City-wide Swim Meet held at N.D.G. "Y" saw six of our youngsters as participants. Davis Smith, Bob Sherlock, John Smith, Ron Law, Billy Nixon and Ian Smith, will each receive a crest for their part in scoring points for Westmount "Y".

The Westmount "Y" Business Girls' Gym Class has elected the following Executive Committee for the ensuing year — Thelma Dawson, Hilda Caldecoat, Helen Scarlett, Helen Yaunish and Marion Brown.

Thelma Dawson and Marion Brown will also represent the Business Girls on the Branch Membership Committee.

Westmount Y.M.C.A. Division in Y.M.C.A. Campaign start out to raise $4225.00 of the City-Wide objective of $130,000.00.

Seven teams have been organized and fifty workers are now on the job.

Tuesday night at the Westmount "Y" is known as Volleyball night. The game this year has taken on an international aspect, with players from England, Wales, Scotland, Australia, New Zealand, Trinidad, the U.S.A. and Canada.

"FUNNY HOW YOU forget things," muses Joe E. Brown, the comedian, reporting on his visit to Alaska to entertain "the boys" — and how they loved having him! "And funnier, the ones you remember." For instance, he says (in "Your Kids and Mine" — heart-warming account of his visits to all the battle fronts), "at Fairbanks, where the whole population came out to meet us, I remember a boy in uniform hovering on the fringe of the crowd. I kept seeing him come up to speak to me and then wandering off again, losing his nerve."

"WHEN I GOT in my overheated little hotel room my telephone was ringing, and there he was on the wire, a soft-speaking American lad. 'I don't want to bother you, Mr. Brown,' he said. 'You're not bothering me, son. What can I do for you?' 'Well, I was in the crowd out at the field.' 'I noticed you. You're the boy in the corporal stripes, aren't you?'"

"HE GULPED, still trying to get up his courage to ask me his favor. 'I was wondering, Mr. Brown. I happened to notice . . . well, the fact is . . . ' 'Get on with it, son,' I said patiently as I could. 'If it's Betty Grable's picture you want 'Heck no,' he said. 'It's that Seattle newspaper you've got in your overcoat pocket. Could I have it when you've finished with it? I'd be the biggest man on Ladd Field if I had that paper.'"

JOSEPH STALIN has been married twice, but little is known about either woman except that his second wife was small and dark and was said to be a Georgian "with the olive complexion and vivacity of that race," to quote James Brown, noted foreign correspondent (in "Russia Fights" — vivid picture of Russia at war.) Quite by accident, Brown discovered the grave of the second Mrs. Stalin in the churchyard of an old Moscow church into which he had wandered. "The graveyard had not been cared for; tall grass and weeds were everywhere, and a few stones were tipped over," he says.

"I CONTINUED inspecting the gravestones and was surprised to see a plot that had been well cared for; the stone was a plain marble pillar about six feet high. The grass was cut, and there were fresh flowers at the base of the pillar. I read the inscription and realized that this was the grave of Stalin's second wife. It was an interesting discovery: it was new to me, but I later found that several members of the American colony in Moscow knew of its existence and had gone to see it. No one had been able to learn anything of its history, but it was generally believed that Stalin's wife had been a religious woman and had requested to be buried in a church cemetery.

"I HAVE SAID that Stalin was not a sentimentalist, yet here was evidence of a soft trait in the character of the man who was absolute lord over one hundred and eighty million people. The known evidence would indicate that Stalin has given devotion to only two people, his second wife and Lenin. There is much to show the love he bore for Lenin, but only the Moscow grave gives any clue to his feeling toward his wife. Yet that gesture remains more eloquent than anything he may have done during her life. The simplicity of the marble shaft, the fresh flowers, and the church cemetery tell the story."

interested enough to read it again. It's about G.P.'s unique hockey coaching technique.

The veteran coach has printed at the beginning of each season a number of six by nine cards. On these are about 20 details which apply to all puck-chasers and a few which may apply just to defencemen or goalies.

In pre-season practices G.P. asks some hockey expert, such as Dick Irvin, to sit on the sidelines, armed with a card, and watch some player. Then he goes down the card answering such questions as, "Is he mesmerized by the puck?", "Is he weak turning left?" and so on.

Mr. Smith has his system registered now and is selling the cards at a cost which barely covers the production costs. Paul Haynes, Wilf Cude, Jimmy Ward, and Toe Blake (with whom we spent a week-end back in early September), are among those who have helped G.P. put his coaching theories into practice.

Judging by the number of hockey championships Westmount has won with G.P. doing the coaching, we'd say that the system should be adopted by all schools.

BASKETBALL

With George Smith sharing coaching duties with yours truly, Westmount's school basketballers held their third drill of the current season Wednesday and the play of Pete Seimers, only in tenth year but a basketball veteran, was outstanding. The shifty fellow should have little difficulty in making the "A" aggregation this year.

Jack Dudley has also been showing good form in practices and it is probable that he'll be on the starting five. Others who have been starry in work-outs and Inter-class games are carrot-topped Hugh Cameron and Ray Blinmore, one of the best guards in the Senior B loop last year and the best guard, if not the best basketballer in the school today.

The basketball schedule gets underway right after Christmas. Which isn't so many weeks away.

ITEMS

There'll be a city-wide HI-Y rally at the local Y on December 8. Only girls to be admitted are executives. . . John "Junior" Pepper, chairman of the Friday night party committee which is organizing the weekly affairs that get underway in the school gym tonight, promises that the get-togethers will be the best things that Westmount has ever seen. . . There'll probably be no admission tonight. . . The girls' Menorah clubs of Westmount and West Hill are hoping that their Sadie Hawkins dance, which comes off in the Shaar tomorrow night, is a success. . . And so to bed.

Law Protects Butterflies

Monarch butterflies migrate in great swarms each autumn to spend the winter hanging in trees of Pacific Grove, Calif., and an ordinance of the town makes it a punishable offense to molest the insects.

The KIDS

ARE CERTAINLY

TOUGH ON SHOES!

1,300,000 MORE PAIRS OF CHILDREN'S SHOES LAST YEAR

In the last twelve months Canadian manufacturers made for Canadian children about 25% more shoes than in 1939—a fine job—done by the organization and direction of production by this Board's Footwear Administration and the co-operation of manufacturers. And this was accomplished while they were making more essential type shoes for war workers, who wear out their shoes faster than they do in their normal employment.

about the things you buy in wartime

Now you see it

THE DISAPPEARING ACT OF RUBBER-SOLE SHOES

In normal times most young Canadians got at least one pair of rubber soled, canvas-top shoes a year. But natural rubber supplies fell into enemy hands, and the manufacture of rubber footwear was drastically curtailed. We're now using reclaimed and synthetic rubber in these shoes—there have been more of them this year and there will be more next year. Leather-soled shoes have had to be used in place of this rubber-soled footwear but shoes made of leather need more care than running shoes. When they don't get it they wear out more quickly; when they get wet they must be dried slowly, away from direct heat—and they should be greased also. It's not always a case of poor quality; it's poor care.

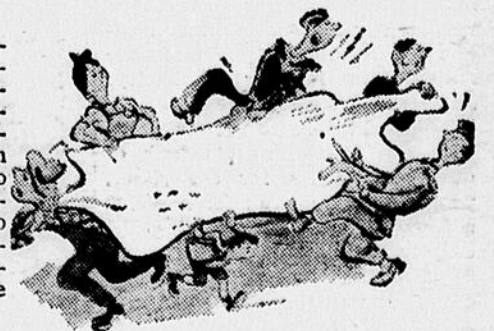

Now you don't!

LEATHER GOES TO WAR

You've got to have good strong leather for children's shoes, but the soldiers are taking most of ours for their boots. For these leathers, a substantial portion of the hides came from South America and other countries. War cut down these imports and there have been difficulties in getting enough of these and our own hides tanned into leather due to shortage of workers. The production of high grade leather shoes has, however, been maintained at the highest level consistent with the labour and materials available. While shoe factories have been working overtime, factory capacity for civilian shoes cannot be expanded in wartime and it's not possible to change plants from the manufacture of one type of shoe to another,—for instance, from women's to children's. The processes, the machines and the lasts are different.

TURNING HIDES INTO SHOES

There are very large war uses of leather—for instance, in footwear. A soldier requires four pairs of shoes in the first year of his service and about three pairs per year thereafter. But, what is more important, he needs to have his shoes re-soled four or five times a year. His shoes are of the highest quality leathers obtainable, leaving the other grades of leather for civilian use. Airmen need leather for jackets and mitts. War factories need leather for belting and farmers need leather for harness. Leather—the best leathers—has gone to war.

The Doctor's Column

By Dr. J. B. Warren

Sleep Is the Same As Food

If you take an extra hour of sleep or rest, you lose about an ounce or two only of weight, whereas if you are up and about for this extra hour you may lose as much as four or six ounces of weight. Thus extra rest adds weight to the underweight.

To the overweight, because he stores fat readily an extra hour much longer time to store fat at will give his or her system that this increased rate.

Through its Standards and its Supply Divisions, the Board watches the production of civilian goods to ensure that everything possible is done to provide the necessary quantities and to maintain the quality. The limitations imposed by the shortage of labour and materials, however, mean that you can't get all you want in wartime.

Movies Are Upheld In Debate in L.C.C.

Moving pictures exercise more beneficial influence upon modern youth than do magazines.

This thesis was successfully upheld by two Lower Canada College students in a debate with representatives of Montreal West High League.

School held in L.C.C. on Friday. The occasion marked the re-opening for the season of the Inter-High School Debating League.

Maintaining the affirmative were Kenneth Hague and John Young of Lower Canada College. The case for the negative was presented by Brenda Maude and Oliver Stephens of Montreal West High School.

Lorne Webster of Lower Canada College was chairman. The judges were Reginald Cuffe, residence secretary of Central Y.M.C.A., W. H. Spearman, executive secretary of Westmount Y.M.C.A. and W. S. Edgar of The Monitor. All three are residents of Notre Dame de Grace; R. A. Speirs, assistant headmaster of Lower Canada College was an interested listener to the debate which was held in the library.

The case of the affirmative was that films depict actual scenes of present-day events, reproducing sights and sounds in a manner impossible to the magazines, that in general much of the best material in the printed pages is eventually depicted in moving films and that the attention of the youth of today was captivated by the film in a greater degree than by the magazine; that Hollywood strives for meticulous historical accuracy in matters of historical detail and that the influence of screen dialogue upon daily speech makes for better English.

The negative countered with the charge that the movies depict a world of unreality, that their influence is of the passing moment with no opportunity for review as an aid to receptiveness that education is far from being the primary purpose of the film and that its attraction for youth had been grossly overrated by the affirmative. Direct issue was taken with the assertion that colloquial speech had an ally in the flickers. Miss Maude cited some instances of movie dialogue which appeared to confirm her challenge.

Reporting for the judges Mr. Edgar said that the decision in favor of the affirmative was unanimous and in a brief address enumerated the strong and weak points of the two sides. He specially commended the rebuttal by Kenneth Hague which wound up the debate. Lorne Webster, on behalf of the audience, thanked the judges and participants.

Huge Postwar Program Seen

Road construction in Canada in the 10-year period after the war is expected to involve expenditure in excess of a billion dollars, mostly provided by revenue to the Provinces from motor users without any increase in the present taxation, R. A. Stapells, president, told the Canadian Automobile Association at its annual meeting.

Mr. Stapells stressed the importance of the motor car in the life of the Dominion, and said it seemed almost incredible that, despite wartime restrictions on motoring, almost as many motor cars are in use today as before the war. This had been made possible largely by the restrictions themselves, which had tended to conservation of motor vehicles by limiting their use largely to essential purposes. "Most of us," he said, "can thank the vexatious but essential wartime regulations for what cars we now have."

Talk On Value of Reading Given Rosedale Association

Miss Gwendolyn McEwan, head of the Children's Department at Westmount Public Library was the speaker at the recent general meeting of the Rosedale Home and School Association.

Miss McEwan gave an interesting talk on the value of an interest in reading in education and in later life. She compared the ideas gleaned from good books to seeds dropped into the child's mind which sprang up and enriched and beautified his whole life.

The speaker had with her the jackets of about one-hundred recommended books for children of every age and gave interesting sidelights on the contents and appropriateness of each. The talk was of particular interest to parents at this time as it contained valuable hints as to books for Christmas gifts as well as those which would be suitable for the school and class-room libraries.

A cordial invitation was extended by Miss McEwan to parents and teachers to visit the Westmount Library to see its collection of children's books and also to take advantage of the expert advice of the librarians in selecting books.

Sky Hook

A device known as a "sky hook" drops supplies of food, medicine, and mail from cargo planes to military personnel in isolated spots. It is better for this use than a parachute since in ordinary winds it will land almost directly beneath the point of release.

Allied Ship Hit By Downed Bomber

Convincing description of the attack on H.M.A.S. Australia by a Japanese bomber whose pilot had previously been killed, is given by Alexander Howard Ross Cann, Netherlands Government Information Bureau camera man and nephew of Howard S. Ross, K.C., editor of The Forum in this publication, in a cabled message from Sydney, New South Wales.

The attack caused 73 casualties and damage on the Australia which was part of the naval force covering the American and Australian landing on the Philippines. Cann was the first war correspondent to return to Australia from the Philippines after the successful landing operations.

"It was not a 'suicide attack,'" said Cann, "that pilot already was a dead duck. The plane struck the upper deck near the bridge, killing 19 and injuring 54 of the crew. It was a two-engined bomber," Cann said. "We watched him coming in low to duck through a terrific barrage. Then he was hit and out of control, with smoke pouring out. He bounced into the bridge and skidded into the sea. The bridge went up in flames. It was a miracle any man on it remained alive."

Mr. Cann is the oldest of four sons of Mr. Ross's deceased and only sister. Two other nephews are with the American forces, one being attached to a bomber command in Italy. Cann's father, H. V. Cann of New York City and New Jersey, was for many years in the employment of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Montreal, Ottawa and other parts of Ontario.

Hours Extended For Recruiting

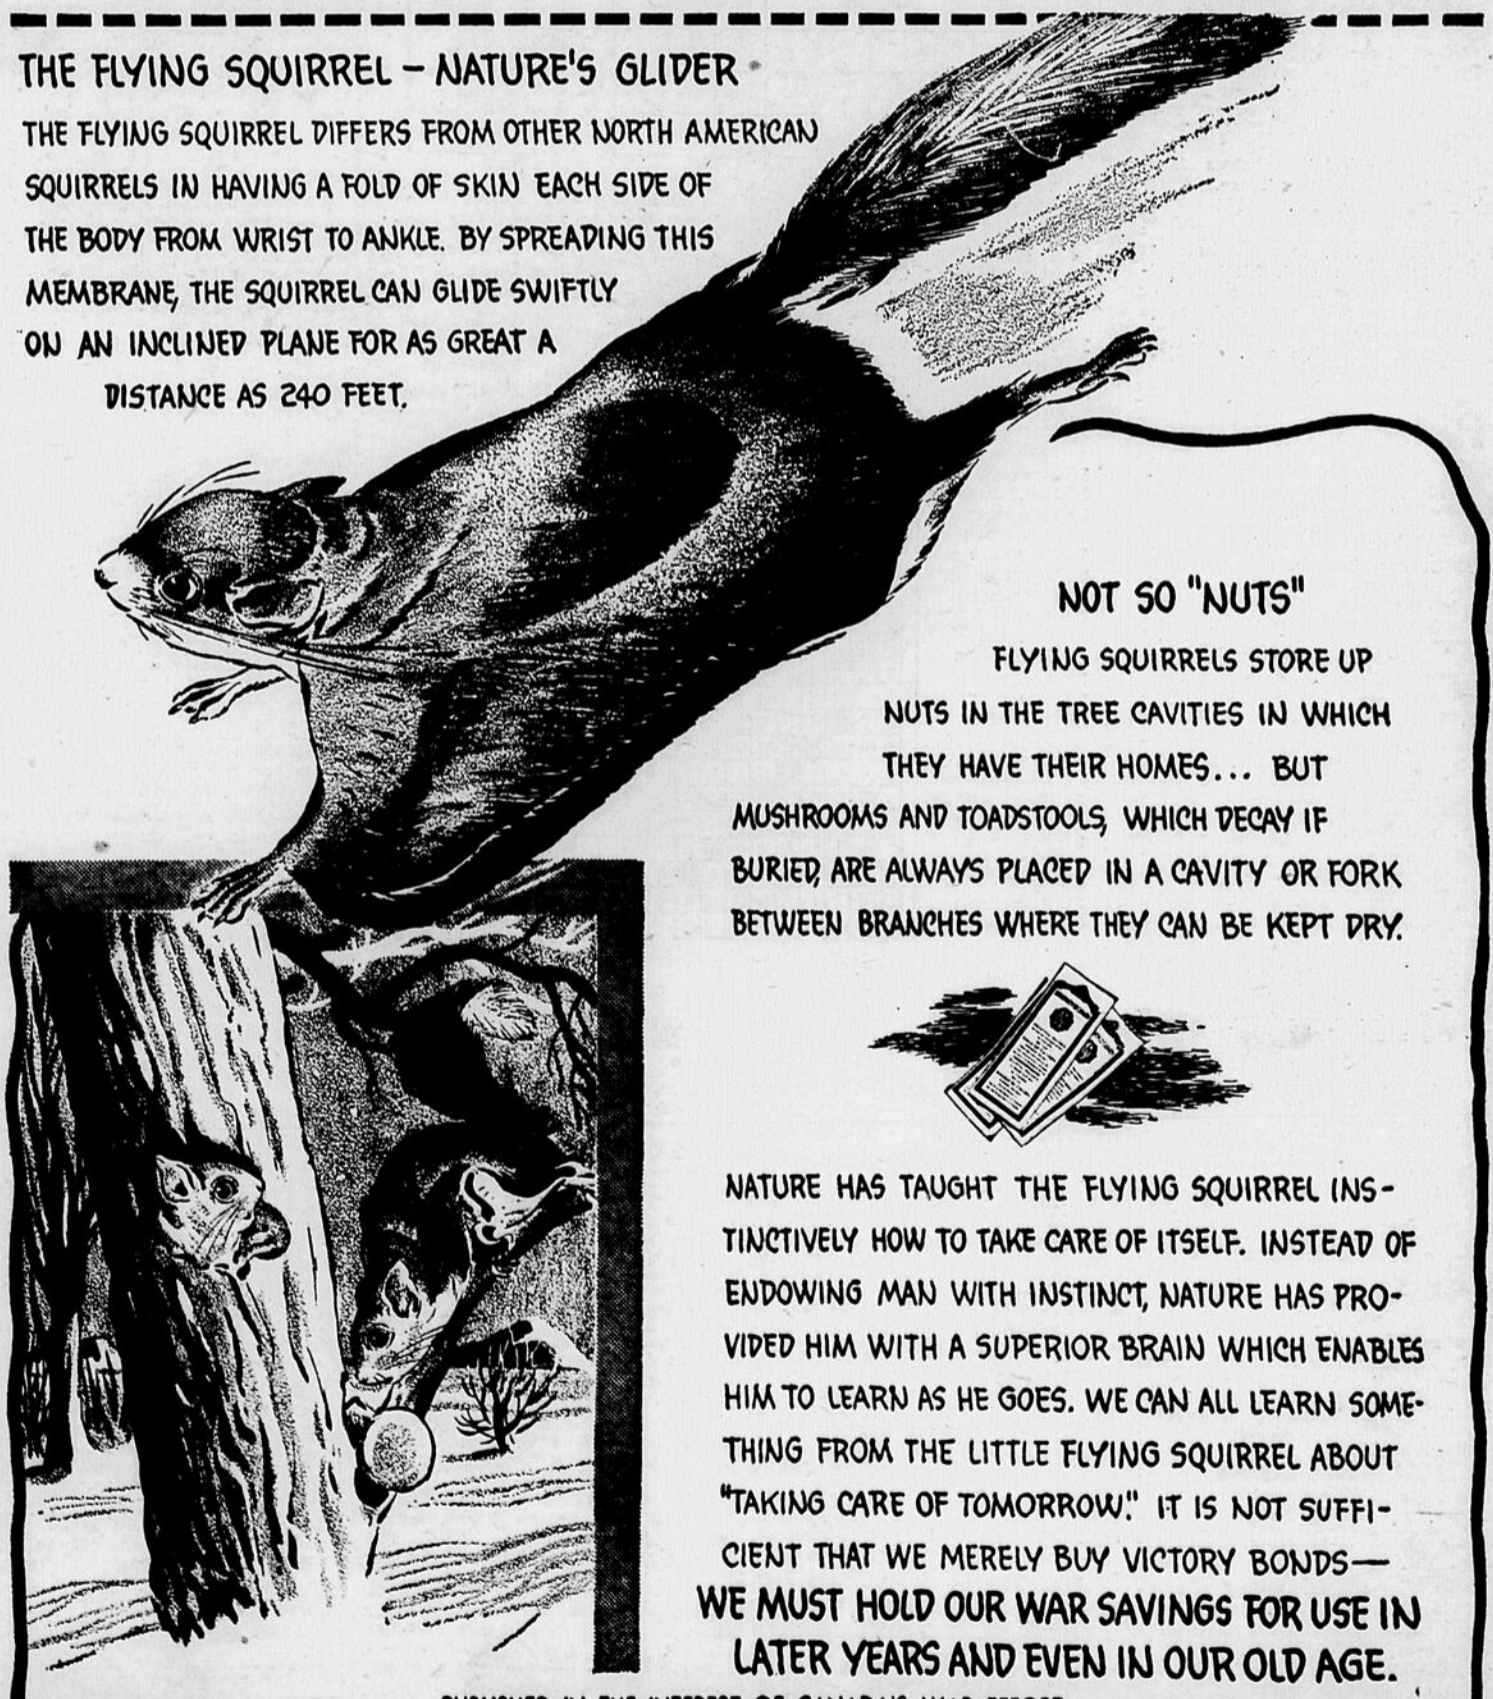

The District Recruiting Officer, Military District No. 4 has announced that in view of the present demand for reinforcements for overseas service, the Active Army Recruiting Office at 1118 Beaver Hall Hill, and all other sub-stations located at Sherbrooke, Three Rivers, St. Hyacinthe, St. Jerome, Val D'Or and La Tuque will be open every night until 10 o'clock and all day on Sundays.

THE FLYING SQUIRREL DIFFERS FROM OTHER NORTH AMERICAN SQUIRRELS IN HAVING A FOLD OF SKIN EACH SIDE OF THE BODY FROM WRIST TO ANKLE. BY SPREADING THIS MEMBRANE, THE SQUIRREL CAN GLIDE SWIFTLY ON AN INCLINED PLANE FOR AS GREAT A DISTANCE AS 240 FEET.

NOT SO "NUTS"

FLYING SQUIRRELS STORE UP NUTS IN THE TREE CAVITIES IN WHICH THEY HAVE THEIR HOMES... BUT MUSHROOMS AND TOADSTOOLS, WHICH DECAY IF BURIED, ARE ALWAYS PLACED IN A CAVITY OR FORK BETWEEN BRANCHES WHERE THEY CAN BE KEPT DRY.

NATURE HAS TAUGHT THE FLYING SQUIRREL INSTINCTIVELY HOW TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF. INSTEAD OF ENDOWING MAN WITH INSTINCT, NATURE HAS PROVIDED HIM WITH A SUPERIOR BRAIN WHICH ENABLES HIM TO LEARN AS HE GOES. WE CAN ALL LEARN SOMETHING FROM THE LITTLE FLYING SQUIRREL ABOUT "TAKING CARE OF TOMORROW." IT IS NOT SUFFICIENT THAT WE MERELY BUY VICTORY BONDS—WE MUST HOLD OUR WAR SAVINGS FOR USE IN LATER YEARS AND EVEN IN OUR OLD AGE.
