CHINESE SURROUND JAPANESE ARMIES

Hold Pincer-Like Grip On Mud-Bound Japanese Invaders

Chinese Advance Guards in Tientsin Region Encircle Japanese Troops Immobilized There by Torrential Rains—Japanese Land Heavy Reinforcements in Shanghai Under Lead of Suicide Detachments of "White Band of Death."

Offensive—Japanese troops and aircraft started offensive against hordes of Chinese regulars and irregulars at Shanghai. Thousands of little brown warriors landed near Woosung forts. Sea and land pincer conveyed the air. Japanese said they advanced about two miles in different spots, driving to flank Chinese forces from the north.

Shirodasukitai—Seventy Japanese of "Shirodasukitai," or white band of death, led Japanese landing forces. They wore white sashes; were prepared to die for the Emperor.

Nutcracker—Three Chinese divisions squeezed a military nutcracker some five hundred miles north of Shanghai in an attempt to smash 30,000 Japanese troops bogged down by rain thirty miles southwest of Peiping. One division feinted on front while other two pressed in from flanks to cut off all roads leading to Japanese supply bases.

QUARTER MILLION ARE ENGAGED IN CAMPAIGN

Tientsin, August 24.—Chinese advance guards swept around both flanks of the Japanese army southwest of Peiping today and struck simultaneously in an effort to pinch off the 30,000 Japanese troops immobilized there by torrential rains. Fighting, with at least 250,000 men engaged, was developing along a 150-mile front.

From a strong advance base at Choehow, thirty miles southwest of Peiping, the Chinese forces thrust three divisions against Japanese positions at Lianghsiang, five miles to the north.

One division made a show of force against the Japanese frontal positions while one sped past each flank and then struck. The Chinese left wing advanced as far as Mantou, low before it pivoted while the right wing penetrated to Kangchia, ten miles south of the Marco Polo bridge across the Yungting at Wanghsien.

This placed both arms of the pincer well in the rear of the main body of Japanese at Lianghsiang. It was almost impossible for reinforcements and supplies to reach the main force. Roads to Lianghsiang were choked with hundreds of Japanese trucks stuck in the mud and abandoned.

SUICIDE DETACHMENTS LEAD LANDING PARTIES

Shanghai, August 24.—Led by suicide detachments of the "White Band of Death," Japanese reinforcements were landed by the thousands at Woosung today for a concerted assault against the Chinese in Shanghai.

Flanked by their warships, the Japanese transports crept up to the Woosung wharves in the pitch darkness just before dawn. The Chinese positions were ominously silent until the first launch was lowered. Then, as though at a signal, the still blackness became a living inferno of flame and noise.

The small improvised armored launch bore seventy picked and self-named "Shirodasukitai," literally the "White Band of Death." The only color they wore was a white sash around their back and shoulders—the traditional garb of Japan's proud Samurai who enter combat prepared to die.

As the little boat with its suicide band touched the water, the almost solid wall of Chinese machine guns and artillery blazed at pointblank.

Renewed Attacks On British Merchantmen Bring Protest

British Naval Authorities Convinced that Aerial Bombing Yesterday of British Freighter Was Carried Out by Insurgent Planes—Two Loyalist Vessels Report Being Attacked by "Foreign Submarines."

London, Aug. 24.—British naval authorities today protested to Spanish insurgent authorities at Palma, Mallorca, against the aerial bombing yesterday near Corca of the British freighter Neomijula.

Protest against the attack, believed executed by insurgent planes, was made before receipt of a report from the commander of the British destroyer Hostile, which returned to Barcelona today after going to Port Venedes, France, to investigate the bombing of the vessel.

SUBMARINES ATTACKED SPANISH MERCHANTMEN

Castellon de la Plana, Spain, Aug. 24.—Two Spanish merchantmen escaped today from a torpedo attack by what the masters reported were "foreign submarines" in the Mediterranean about thirty miles north of Valencia.

They were the freighters Betis and Sebastian Martin. The Betis escaped similarly a week ago from an attack south of Valencia.

FRANCO PREDICTS FALL OF SANTANDER SHORTLY

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 24.—Continued advances by five converging columns of insurgent troops today made it "apparent," said General Franco, that "fighting in Santander Province is virtually ended."

SIX KILLED AS UNITED STATES PLANE CRASHES

Two Members of Crew of Naval Plane Escaped with Slight Injuries When Craft Struck Abandoned Whaling Ship and Fell into Water.

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 24.—Disaster struck a giant United States navy flying boat last night, killing six of eight men aboard a new $150,000 craft as it crashed into shallow San Diego Bay.

The dead were listed as: W. C. Dey, Jr., lieutenant junior grade; F. L. Wallace, lieutenant junior grade; W. M. Freshour, R. Fall, aviation chief machinist's mate; R. M. Purdy, radioman, second class, and H. K. Bryan, radioman, third class, naval aviation pilot.

Two survivors were J. W. Blackman, aviation ordnance man, second class, slightly hurt, and T. P. Dougherty, aviation machinist's mate, third class, who suffered shock and multiple lacerations.

As it swooped down for a landing after being in the air several hours, the seaplane struck the Narwhal, an abandoned whaling ship once used in filming "Moby Dick."

SOUND FARMING SUREST BASIS OF PROSPERITY

Quebec Minister of Agriculture Declares Agriculture Must Be Restored as the Foundation of Sane and Sound Economic System.

La Tuque, Que., Aug. 24.—Bona Dussault, Quebec's Agriculture Minister, last night urged a convention of the lumbermen's section of the Catholic Farmers' Union to remember that the Province's prosperity can only be founded on sound agriculture.

He heard a list of the lumbermen's requests from government authorities contained in twenty or more resolutions approved by six hundred delegates to the meeting and promised to recommend them to the Provincial Government.

But the Minister asked that the lumbermen remember also that Quebec authorities were swamped with requests from every class of industry.

The Government is doing its utmost to assist agriculture in Quebec because it realizes that industry is the foundation of a sane and sound

EXTEND CUT IN RESERVE BANK DISCOUNT RATE

Expected All Reserve Banks Will Follow Action of Central Institutions in Cutting Rates to Facilitate Trade.

Washington, August 24.—Federal Reserve Board officials hinted today that other Federal Reserve banks in the United States may follow those in Chicago, Atlanta and Minneapolis in whittling their discount rates.

Reserve institutions in the three cities have shaved the rates from two to one and a half per cent, to give member banks an unlimited supply of "cheap money" which can be loaned to the farmer, the business man and the industrialist.

In approving the reductions, the Reserve Board held fast to its "easy money" policy, designed to maintain a free flow of credit.

Informed authorities said there is a possibility that the New York Reserve Bank may cut its 1-1/2 per cent discount rate to one per cent, to bring rates on advances more nearly in line with those available in the money market.

SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION IN DEBT PLANNED

Washington, Aug. 24.—Officials said today the United States Treasury's third-quarter financing arrangements provide for a $350,000,000, cut September 15 in the public debt, now at an all-time high of over $87,000,000,000.

This curtailment, they said, will be effected by using third-quarter income tax receipts to retire bills issued in that amount last spring. The receipts are expected to total about $400,000,000.

The financing programme, announced by Wayne C. Taylor, assistant secretary, embodies the exchange of an undisclosed type of federal security for $817,000,000 of notes maturing September 15.

In addition, the treasury will sell three $50,000,000 discount bills in successive weeks. This $150,000,000 in bills will bring to $500,000,000 the total of such obligations issued in anticipation of fourth-quarter income tax receipts, due December 15.

A $50,000,000 issue in this series sold last night lifted the debt over $37,000,000,000. How much the debt went over that figure will be disclosed in official reports later this week.

Seven Men Charged With Kidnapping The Manager Of Cowansville Factory

Other Arrests May Be Made by Provincial Police Detectives in Connection with Abduction of Samuel Griss, Who Was Taken from Golf Links and Rushed to International Border—Griss Gives Account of Kidnapping and Ride to Frontier at Richford.

Cowansville, Que., August 24.—Seven silk mill workers will be arraigned in nearby Sweetsburg today before Judge J. H. Lemay, of Sherbrooke, on a charge of kidnapping Samuel Griss, their boss, and illegally transporting him out of the Province of Quebec.

The employees of Bruck Silk Mills' big Cowansville plant were lodged in jail last night to await their court appearance after being brought by police from Richford, Vermont, where immigration authorities had detained them on Sunday.

The men—Alfred Brouillard, twenty-one; Ulric Brouillard, thirty; Rene Denault, twenty-four; J. Henri Way, twenty-five; Rene Albert Decelles, twenty-two; Edgar Cote, twenty-two, and Adjutor Fleury, twenty—were placed in custody after immigration officials released Griss, who is general superintendent of the Cowansville silk mill, from their car at the Vermont town, near the international border.

Griss swore out a blanket warrant for the arrest of the seven on his return here from Richford, where he had been taken against his will in one of a group of automobiles whose drivers surprised him while he was on a golf course with his wife and two small children.

Provincial detectives in charge of H. Beaugard brought the mill workers from Richford and placed them in a large cell in Sweetsburg's eighty-year-old jail after the warrant for their arrest had been sworn out.

Before they were locked up, the seven young men were taken before an acting Justice of the Peace and remanded for arraignment without bail. The warrant called for the arrest of an eighth man but he had not yet been taken.

Others May Be Placed Under Arrest.

Detectives remained in town under orders but they did not know whether they would be called on to arrest thirty or more unidentified men also said to have had a part in the unofficial deportation.

The silk workers had planned to take Griss across the border after reading reports that employees of some other plants had done that to a boss with whom they did not see eye to eye, one immigration official said.

What move would be made to round up the rest of the gang believed involved in the abduction was kept secret by Crown authorities, but provincial police were taking precaution against further possible trouble. Provincial Police Chief Philippe Aube was reported from Montreal to be coming to Cowansville to supervise precautions against reported planned demonstrations; police patrols will be kept within call of the plant where fifteen employees were said by police to have been laid off pending complete inquiry into the kidnapping.

Extra care was exercised by officers when they went to Richford for their prisoners. Tips that trouble might arise when the accused were brought back were heeded by detectives, and cars parked near the international border were examined before the seven were brought from the United States detention shed.

On the return trip to Sweetsburg, one detective was sent alone ahead of the two cars carrying the prisoners. In his coupe the officer led the way along the narrow dusty roads that wind through the rolling hills into the county seat, but the trip might have been that of a tourist group. Only a few tennis players in front of the court house saw the prisoners arrive and even they paused only momentarily in their game, though everywhere in the downtown section they talked only of the "kidnapping."

There were five officers in the group that investigated the disappearance.

Doubt Ransom Cause Of Kidnapping Of Three-Month-Old Chicago Child

Fact that Parents Are in Moderate Circumstances Leads to Belief Infant Was Snatched by Childless Couple or Woman who Had Just Lost a Child.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Police officials pressed every available man into the search today for a three-month-old girl and the abductor who snatched her from a baby carriage in full view of hundreds of shoppers.

The child, Diane Carol, disappeared from the carriage outside a grocery while her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Lucas, twenty-two years old was making purchases yesterday.

Investigators expressed doubt the infant was taken for ransom. They said the parents were in moderate circumstances.

Police Sgt. Michael Ahern advanced the theory the girl was taken by a childless couple or by some mother who recently had lost a child.

Mrs. Lucas suggested another theory when she told police a former woman friend of her husband had tried to break up their romance before their marriage August 8, 1934. The woman was sought for questioning.

Mrs. Lucas said she had received no threats against the infant.

FRANCE SEEKS SOLUTION FOR RAIL PROBLEM

Chautemps Cabinet Reported Badly Divided Over Question of Reorganizing or Nationalizing the French Transport System.

Paris, Aug. 24.—Future of France's railroads rested today with a cabinet reported to be split between Finance Minister Georges Bonnet's scheme for reorganization and a Socialist plan for nationalization.

As Premier Chautemps' cabinet was called today to what might be the deciding session, political observers said Bonnet was racing against the expiration of the midday next Tuesday of the decree powers under which the Government could deal with the railroad question.

The problem revolved around the Government's effort to gain a voice in the direction of the railroads whose state for years, Bonnet proposes a national corporation, permitting each railroad to retain autonomy but giving the state, through its minority interest, a voice in the management of all.

Political observers said Socialists, headed by former Premier Blum, saw an opportunity to realize their party's plan of railway nationalization—by giving the Government the controlling interest in such a corporation.

Unless Bonnet gets cabinet approval of his plan, the whole matter must be tossed into the lap of Parliament when it reconvenes in September, with the probability of a deadlock.

Socialists and Communists could block Bonnet's scheme in the Chamber of Deputies as well as in the Senate might thwart the Socialists.

The resulting stalemate, political observers believe, would force out the Chautemps Government. Railroad reorganization is one of the chief items of Bonnet's plan to balance the national budget.

Some observers were convinced that Blum and his followers were using railroad manoeuvre as a level to force Bonnet out or wreck the whole government, thus paving the way for the way for Blum to return to the power he lost in June.

Medical Authorities of London, Ont., Appeal to Graduate Nurses in Retirement to Register.

London, Ont., Aug. 24.—Medical authorities of London issued a call for graduate nurses to help combat the epidemic of infantile paralysis today as almost forty cases were in hospital for diagnosis.

Victoria Hospital has authorized purchase of an "iron lung" of respirator for treating the malady. Swimming pools were closed and theatre managers asked to prohibit children from entering their premises.

Miss Hilka M. Stewart, superintendent of nurses at Victoria Hospital, appealed to graduate nurses in retirement to register because of a shortage of help.

THE IMAGINARY CORNER PASSED BY PROSPERITY

Dominion Bureau of Statistics' Review Shows Greatest Measure of Prosperity in Canada this Year Since 1930.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—The first half of 1937 witnessed a greater measure of prosperity in Canada than any year since 1930, according to a review of business conditions by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The index of physical volume of business gained 12.1 per cent during the first six months compared with the corresponding period a year ago, and the index of industrial production was up 14.2 per cent.

An exceptionally progressive half-year was enjoyed by the mining industry due to the relatively high level in the prices of copper, lead and zinc and the heavy demand for metals in British and foreign markets.

Canada now holds first place in the production of nickel, third in copper and fourth in zinc. Gold shipments from the mines of Canada increased by 13 per cent, while silver shipments gained by 3.2 per cent.

Nickel exports showed an increase of 27 per cent in quantity, the total having been 112 million pounds against 88 million. Copper exports advanced three per cent, totalling 188 million pounds in the first six months of 1937, while lead production reached a new maximum with an increase of ten per cent.

Zinc exports amounting to 138 million pounds, recorded a decline of 5.5 per cent. The output of coal increased from 6,885,000 tons to 6,924,000.

The output of central electric stations which supply over ninety per cent of the electric power production of Canada amounted to 13.4 billion kilowatt hours, an increase of 10.5 per cent over the first six months of 1936.

Operations in the forestry group were greatly expanded, the production of 1,732,000 tons reaching a new high point in history. Timber scaled in British Columbia was about 1,276 million board feet, a gain of 1.7 per cent.

The export of planks and boards at 863 million feet was 19 per cent greater than in the preceding year.

The forest industry is one of the largest employers of labor, and working forces in logging, shoveling, saw-milling and paper industries recorded advances of 13 per cent and 12 per cent, respectively.

The index of manufacturing production based on thirty factors indicating the trend in the principal industries showed a gain of 13.6 per cent. The index of employment computed from returns received from plants having fifteen hands and over averaged 9.8 per cent greater.

The construction industry with awards of new business amounting to 110.4 million dollars experienced a gain of 42 per cent.

Total exports of merchandise from Canada during the first half of this year were nearly $2,000,000,000, an increase of twenty-four per cent. Imports amounting to $3,811,000,000, gained by twenty-nine per cent.

NEW SCHISM IS THREATENED IN SALVATIONISTS

Move Likely to Be Made to Depose General Evangeline Booth if She Fails to Respect Retirement Regulations Now in Force.

London, Aug. 24.—The Daily Herald reported today that leading officers of the Salvation Army, uneasy over the "salvage reluctance" of General Evangeline Booth, commander of the Army, to retire at the age of seventy-three, which she will reach next year, are threatening to depose her if she does not step out willingly.

The newspaper said the officers would summon the High Council of the Army into session to oust her as it did her brother, the late General Bramwell Booth, who was retired in 1929.

The regulation fixing seventy-three as the retirement age "for the time being" was established by General Edward J. Higgins, General Evangeline Booth's predecessor as commander.

General Booth will be seventy-three on Christmas Day, 1938. She is required to call a meeting of the High Council six months before that date for election of a successor.

Some Commissioners fear she may attempt to change the regulation, as is her power, for "she apparently feels she is strong enough and active enough to continue as chief," the Daily Herald said.

The general has final authority in the Army. If she should change the age limit, she would not be required to call the Council into session next year, but the rebellious Commissioners would attempt to remove her as "unfit for office" if she failed to carry out the spirit of the regulation, according to the newspaper.

In that event history would repeat itself, for General Bramwell Booth also was declared "unfit," the Herald said.

ELABORATE HIGHWAY SCHEME IS STUDIED

Net-Work of Privately Built Super-Highways in U.S. Would Be Designed Largely for Commercial Transportation.

Washington, Aug. 24.—A scheme to cover the United States with a net-work of privately built super-highways designed largely for the use of commercial transportation on a toll basis may receive the attention of Congress next session.

Chairman Lea (Democrat, California), of the House of Representatives Interstate Commerce committee, said he would appoint a special subcommittee to study the proposal soon after the session begins.

He said he had been informed "private capital" is interested in the project, which he described as a "grandiose-sounding scheme costing many billions, but one well worthy of consideration by Congress."

The plan to be investigated, Lea said, calls for a system of "broad straight highways, with a liberal number of lanes and no crossings." Ultimately the roads would connect all the principal population centres. They would be fenced, the only access being through conveniently-located toll gates.

The ultimate effect, Lea predicted, might be to force all commercial transportation by bus and truck off the public highways, thereby increasing the safety factor for passenger vehicles.

pearance of the mill superintendent. Working under Detective Beauregard were Detectives R. Bonhomme, J. Campbell, W. Robert and H. R. Beauregard.

"I had not the slightest idea there was any feeling against me," Mr. Griss declared at the New Ottawa Hotel. "When they got me in the car Henry Brouillard was at the wheel and drove the car for about four miles and then Ulric Brouillard, who is not an employee of the mills, took over the driving. When we got to the Canadian Customs at Richmond they kept me in the car and a score of the men went up to the Canadian Customs officer and talked to him. He was named Lebean, and he did absolutely nothing. He came over to the car and asked me where I was going, and I told him 'How do I know, they are taking me away by force, I have no say in this matter.'"

"And then he let the whole crew go, although eight cars with any formalities being complied with, far as I could see. He had no protest, but I heard him say, 'All right, you can go across' and away we went. When we got to the American Customs and Immigration Office about a hundred yards further down on United States territory, the officers there would not allow any of them in. They said they did not want to go in but wanted to unload me on American territory, that they were through with their job and had kicked me out of Canada. The immigration officers, however, would not let the crowd that were in the car with me go and held them, and the others all beat it back to Canada."

"I stayed at Richmond until the Quebec Provincial Police came for me early yesterday morning, and brought me back to the hotel on 5th street. Griss declared that there were a score of golfers on the course, scattered over the fairway but none of them came over to see what the trouble was about. They were interested spectators and did nothing, and it was no good trying to resist 40 men," he said.

"My wife followed the crowd to the club house and immediately phoned to Chief of Police J. F. Forter that I had been taken away by a gang in several cars, and from what I learned later he went off in search of them. He went to Danham, but found that the cars had not passed through there, as they had turned off towards Sutton, but the police chief called up Bedford and Chief Sisko telephoned to the United States immigration officers at Richmond who were on the watch for the cars and acted promptly when we reached there."

Claims He Never Heard A Hint of Resentment.

Mr. Griss has resided in Cowansville since he came up to take charge of the weaving department of the silk mills.

"The silk industry in Canada is not old enough to have trained men of my type and they had to get some of the United States of England who understood the work, and that is how I came to be here," he said.

Griss said he had never heard a hint of resentment at his presence. "You know there is general unrest in the textile industry all over Eastern Canada. We have never made any objection to our employees belonging to the National Catholic Syndicate of Textile Workers and there has been no talk of strike here," he remarked.

"Had the discharge of Joseph Brouillard anything to do with your kidnapping?"

"I presume it had something to do with it as three of his brothers were in the car that took me away. Joseph Brouillard was discharged on Saturday. He had a dispute with one of the sub-foremen and the foremen reported to me that he wanted to let him go, and I naturally had to support my foreman and he was let out."

STRONGER TONE AT NEW YORK ON LIGHT BUYING

Belief Market Oversold Causes Slight Upward Movement on Wall Street Markets Today.

New York, Aug. 24.—Thoughts that the stock market may have been oversold recently brought in a little buying support today after a moderate dip at the opening.

Many leaders cancelled early losses running to a point and some in the resistance area were up as much near the second hour.

Dealings continued slow with the ticker tape frequently at a standstill.

There was no great change in the overnight news picture and brokers said public participation was at a minimum.

Leaning forward were Bethlehem Steel, Republic, General Motors, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward international Harvester, Boeing, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Kennecott, Socony Vacuum, Great Northern, Radio and Chesapeake and Ohio.

About unchanged to down a point were Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, American Smelting, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Westinghouse, Southern Pacific, Loew's, Oliver Farm and Texas Corporation.

Business trends came in for further study by market analysts and opinions as to a brisk pickup this fall were somewhat mixed.

It was noted industrial and commercial failures for the week ended August 19, as summarized by Dun and Bradstreet, amounted to 159 against 153 the week before and 135 in the same 1936 period. The latest aggregate was the largest since the week of June 17.

Merchandise quarters reported that, while retail volumes in August are likely to show but slight gains over the same month last year, narrowing comparisons may be due to postponement of consumer purchases because of larger vacation travel.

GREATER UNITY IS URGED UPON ALL CANADIANS

Canon F. G. Scott Suggests Formation of "Dominion First National Party" to Defeat Existing Unrest in Canada.

Timmins, Ont., Aug. 24.—Canada owes first duty to the veterans who suffered injury in the Great War and to the descendants of those who died for their King and country, in the opinion of Hon. C. G. Power, Federal Pensions Minister. The cabinet minister also told the Ontario Command, Canadian Legion, at the opening of its convention yesterday that the second consideration of the Government must be for those who served and were now unable to earn a living owing to age or physical infirmity.

Provision must also be made, he said, for those yet capable of working but unable to find employment. The Government was actively engaged in attempting to find employment for more than 5,870 Canadian ex-servicemen—permanent jobs had already been found for 1,000. Mr. Power said his department was busy clearing pension appeal cases at the rate of two hundred a month. At present 12,000 in Canada draw veterans' allowances, he said. Declaring efforts were being made to eliminate "red tape" from pension cases, he called for co-operation from employed veterans to help find jobs for their former comrades.

Archdeacon F. G. Scott, war time chaplain from Quebec, urged a return to the spirit of comradeship experienced overseas. "Each member of the Canadian Legion," he said, "naturally believed that his division won the war, but through all this ran a thread so strong that it joined us together in one great unit. In industry today we do not see the spirit that existed during the days of the Great War. Why, the greatest ammunition I had over here was our spirit of comradeship. Why can't we have it today?"

Some day he would like to see established a party called the "Dominion First National Party," a group of men with the welfare of the Dominion at heart, capable of defeating the present unrest that seemed to be splitting the Dominion into "a patchwork of separate provinces" instead of binding them together in a united Canada.

Newspapers Are Pulse Of World's Heartbeat

Study of Old Newspapers to Learn About True Conditions Existing in Olden Days Advocated by J. Alex Edmison at Inter-City Rotary Meeting—Interesting Address Illustrated by Newspaper Clippings Dating Back to 1729.

Their attendance swelled by forty-seven guests from various parts of Quebec and Eastern United States, members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club held an inter-city meeting in the New Sherbrooke House at noon yesterday, with J. Alex Edmison, of Montreal, as guest speaker.

WORKMEN HAD A NARROW ESCAPE IN MAGOG FIRE

Damage Estimated at $12,000 Caused Yesterday Afternoon in Blaze that Destroyed Magog Excelsior Pad Company Plant.

Magog, Aug. 24.—Twelve workmen narrowly escaped being trapped within the flaming structure when fire destroyed the Magog Excelsior Pad Company plant yesterday afternoon.

The two-story structure, located near the premises of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was badly damaged. Part of the roof and a portion of the floor collapsed. The padding and pressing machines and a 100-horse-power steam engine were also destroyed. Total loss was estimated today at $12,000.

The business, started six years ago, was operated by Omer Boisvert, Magog insurance agent. Mr. Boisvert said that no insurance was carried upon the building or the machinery because of the highly inflammable properties of the material manufactured. He has not yet decided whether to rebuild.

The disastrous blaze is believed to have started from fiction caused by strands of excelsior becoming entangled in a machine shaft. The flames spread rapidly and had gained considerable headway before the brigade under Chief Telephone Laviolette reached the scene. Firemen fought the blaze for three hours. One fireman, Donat Page, was slightly burned about the forehead.

He returned to his home after being given first aid treatment at a local doctor's office. None of the employees was injured, although they barely had time to rush out of the building before it became a mass of seething flames. Between thirty and forty tons of excelsior, pressed in bales, were hurled out of the plant as soon as the fire started.

"Furthermore," he declared heatedly, "I'm sick of European writers coming over here and sticking up their noses at Canada and the United States, and I deny that we have anything to learn from them except the horrors of war."

Mr. Edmison read from newspaper clippings on both sides of the conflict. He pointed out the Daily Eagle and one published in Vicksburg. The latter town was under siege at the time and the paper was printed on wall paper. Little reference to slavery was made in these editions, the speaker stated, but he showed the clippings on an article in the Daily Eagle which a nineteen-year-old girl and two children were sold for $1,450 cash in Louisiana in 1857, with a guarantee attached against all defects except running away.

Mr. Edmison also displayed three clippings from the Daily Eagle, which gave one each to President Samson and Rotarians Holtham and "Doc" Rich.

In the 1880's a Toronto publication titled Truth, now defunct, was greatly distressed over ladies playing tennis, while the Globe was worrying over the danger to pedestrians as a result of so many bicycles being used on the streets.

Concluding, the speaker advised the study of old newspapers if one would really like to know true conditions in olden days. He was thanked at the close of his interesting address by Rotarians James Sangster.

Following are the names of the visitors and the clubs to which the Rotarians belong:

Hull Club: H. Brunet, W. St. Cyr, Donat Pequin, F. Johnson, Lucien Prevost, Avila Labrie, A. V. Gale, Zenon Boucher, J. Bertrand, J. W. G. Graham, Montreal Club: A. M. Campbell, J. W. Guests other than Rotarians were A. Tache, Montreal; H. J. Cutler, Barre, Vt.; Bert Sigge, Cornwall, Ont.; Arthur Allen, Toronto; and Charles Cabana and P. Rheault, of Sherbrooke.

A NEW WAY TO GO TO TOWN Inevitably people these Quebec sons of the soil. Apparently lacking any other means of motive power, one resident of the hinterlands, determined to reach Sherbrooke at all costs, hitched his wagon not to a star but to a cow, and gained his objective, wagon and all, behind the patient plodding of Bossy.

Naturally puffing on a briar, the victor let his cow have pretty much her own way, and she ambled along King street east early last evening oblivious of the heavy traffic and paying absolutely no attention to the honking of impatient drivers.

JOHN MOORE HAD PLANNED HONEYMOON TRIP HOME

Constable John Stephen Moore, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who met death in a motorcycle accident near Camrose, Alta., on Sunday morning, was engaged to be married to a Calgary girl, Miss Margaret MacDonald, early in September and had planned to bring his bride home to Sherbrooke on a honeymoon trip.

The young police officer lost control of his machine at a railway crossing and was thrown violently onto the highway. Two automobiles collided endeavoring to avoid his prostrate body, and one of them swerved and hit him.

Constable Moore was rushed to Banff and died in a hospital three hours later.

FORMER SHERBROOKE RESIDENT DIED IN MONTREAL

The death occurred in Montreal yesterday of Edward John King, 3751 Mile Avenue, Notre Dame de Grace, a former resident of Sherbrooke.

Mr. King was born in England on June 5, 1867, the son of Major and Mrs. Alfred King and came to Canada when a young man, settling in Sherbrooke where he engaged in the leather business on Wellington street for many years.

He was an adherent of the Anglican Church and a member of Unity Lodge, I.O.G.F., Sherbrooke, and although of a quiet, retiring disposition made many friends during his stay here.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, three daughters, one son, a daughter-in-law and two grandsons. The funeral service will be held in Trinity Memorial Church tomorrow afternoon, with interment in Montreal Memorial Park.

MRS. JOHN DEMPSTER LAID TO REST

The funeral of an old resident of Sherbrooke, Mrs. John Dempster, took place this afternoon from Lord's Funeral Parlors. Rev. Mr. Graham, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Robert Robertson, nephew of the deceased.

A ladies' quartet, composed of Mrs. George Orston, Mrs. J. G. Rankouson, Mrs. Malcolm MacKay and Miss Helen Robertson, rendered two favorite hymns of the deceased, namely, "Unto the Hills," and "The Old Ragged Cross." Mr. Scorer acted as organist.

Interment took place at Elmwood cemetery. The bearers were Alec Johnston, George Pratt, Hubert Johnston, Terry Jackson and W. G. MacDougall.

The numerous beautiful floral tributes bore mute testimony to the affection and esteem in which the late Mrs. Dempster was held.

The deceased passed away on Sunday morning, August 22nd, in her seventy-first year. Her husband, John Dempster, predeceased her twenty years ago.

She was born in Alva, Scotland, the daughter of the late Janet Dow and Robert Robertson, and came to Sherbrooke with her husband and daughter, Janet, Mrs. P. D. Mathias, over forty years ago.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her daughter, Mrs. Mathias, two grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. George Dick, and brother, Charles Robertson, several nieces and nephews, her daughter's husband, P. D. Mathias, and two brothers and one sister in Scotland.

Mrs. Dempster was a devoted member of St. Andrew's Church, and

Governor's Ball Will Be A Brilliant Affair

Historical Masked Ball Will Take Place at Sherbrooke Arena Tonight, with Dr. F. H. Bradley and Miss Fredericka Bradley in the Roles of Lord and Lady Aylmer—Another Night Festival Planned for Next Saturday Night.

Plans for another night festival, on a larger scale than that staged last Saturday night, are being prepared by Sherbrooke Centenary officials, who are anxious to climax the jubilee fete in a colorful and unforgettable finale.

The "fete de nuit," originally planned for Sunday night, will take place on Saturday evening, and if one is to judge by the merrymaking that prevailed last week-end, Wellington and King streets will be lively places.

Leon Trepanier, Centenary organizer, explained today that sound amplifiers would be installed at different intervals along the brightly illuminated streets, with music supplied by station CHLT. A costume parade will be held, with three judges, whose identity will be withheld, appointed to select the most original and eccentric costumes. A beautiful trophy will be awarded for the first prize and medals to the next fifteen best costumes.

The Governor's Ball will be held at the Exhibition Arena this evening. Dr. F. H. Bradley has been asked to represent Lord Aylmer. He will be accompanied by his daughter, Miss Fredericka Bradley as Lady Aylmer.

The masked guests will begin to arrive at nine o'clock, according to the ceremonial announced by Mr. Trepanier today. Dr. Bradley and Miss Bradley, representing Lord and Lady Aylmer, will arrive at eleven o'clock, preceding a dinner and buffet. They will occupy seats of honor, flanked by two aides-de-camp, and the guests will unmask as they are introduced. Lord Aylmer will then announce the minut after the first dance has been held.

All girls wearing centenary costumes will be allowed as spectators free of charge. Another presentation of the historical pageant will take place on Thursday evening, and again on Saturday night, prior to the opening of the night festival. The Fairytale parade scheduled for Sunday afternoon has been cancelled to allow for the special pageant performance at which children will be admitted free. All performers are requested to turn out for the Sunday afternoon show, as it will be filmed by movie cameramen.

LENNOXVILLE

Miss Ruth Povey, whose marriage takes place shortly, was the guest of honor at a charming party given by the Girls' Auxiliary of St. George's Church last evening at the Rectory. "Bingo" was enjoyed during the evening, and later Miss Povey was presented with a half dozen beautiful crystal goblets, accompanied by the best wishes of her friends for her future happiness. The presentation was made by Venerable Archdeacon Albert Jones, and replied to most graciously by Miss Povey. Delicious refreshments, served by Mrs. Jones, assisted by the Misses Bernice Glass and Ruth Burt, brought the happy evening to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. M. Vaudry and children, Julia and Frederick, left yesterday on a ten days' motor trip to Cape Cod and Worcester, Mass. Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rowe include Mrs. Rowe's brother, Mr. T. R. Rowe, Mrs. Rowe and their little son, Tommy, of Kirkland Lake, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pick and Mr. Alfred Pick, M.A., of Westmount.

Prior to the marriage of Mrs. Earle Fearon, nee Evelyn Labonte, she was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. J. S. Fearon at her home on Moulton Hill. About seventy-five guests were present, and during the evening Miss Labonte was escorted by her brother, William Cote to a prettily decorated chair, where she was presented with an attractively decorated box containing the many beautiful and useful gifts of her friends, for which she thanked them in a most becoming manner. Dancing was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

NEW WRITING SPIDER APPEARS

Detroit, Aug. 24.—The "Renfrew" family of writing spiders has a new member. The newcomer is believed a brother of the famed "Renfrew" which appeared a year ago at the home of Mrs. Mamie Betts here.

Mrs. Betts found the new spider early this week. He had written in cryptic "X-9" on a web in the back yard. Yesterday he wrote "Mack," which Mrs. Betts immediately adopted as his name, just as his predecessor was named from the word he spelled out on his web.

WELSH PROTEST SLUR AGAINST THEIR COURAGE

Storm of Indignation Mounts Against Book "The Men I Killed" by Brigadier-General.

London, Aug. 24.—While Brigadier-General Frank Percy Crozier, author of the war book "The Men I Killed," lies critically ill in Walton-on-Thames Hospital, a storm of indignation was mounting today over allegations contained in the book concerning the courage of British soldiers during the Great War.

A demand for a public inquiry into the charges was voiced by Sir Charles Edwards, Labor member of Parliament for a Welsh constituency. In his book, Crozier declared: "My Welshmen took and held Bourslon Wood against endless counter attacks because they understood it is better to die at the hands of the enemy than be shot out of hand like rats by their own officers."

In a letter to War Minister Leslie Hove-Belisha, Sir Charles said he believed he was writing on behalf of the Welsh nation as a whole in demanding that the Government take immediate notice of what General Crozier had written. He suggested a full apology from the author to Welsh soldiers and the Welsh nation unless he were able to justify the allegations.

General Crozier, who is fifty-eight years old, entered hospital Saturday, suffering from an internal complaint. His condition today was described as low. He served as a captain in the Canadian Army from 1908 to 1912.

DELAY OPENING OF SCHOOLS IN DISEASE FIGHT

Ontario Officials Considering Further Drastic Action to Prevent Spread of Infantile Paralysis Which Has So Far Claimed Sixteen Lives.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Death toll in Ontario's infantile paralysis epidemic today stood at sixteen, while at Toronto and London, the two centres chiefly affected efforts to stamp out the scourge were redoubled. Since early June when the disease first appeared close to three hundred cases have been reported throughout the Province.

Toronto's public and separate schools will not open until September 7 rather than September 1, it was decided at an emergency meeting late yesterday. Under consideration was the suggestion that theatres and bathing places be closed.

Seven deaths have occurred since the outbreak in Ontario's capital. Twenty-four new cases were reported yesterday, bringing the total for the city proper since June 10 to 134. Child specialists planned to confer on the situation. An "iron lung" respirator is being purchased to treat victims.

Western Ontario recorded another death overnight, that of Lloyd Lavery, thirteen-year-old, at Moorefield in Kitchener district. Retired graduate nurses were asked to register for service in London to help stem the epidemic.

Throughout the province went a general appeal to persons who had recovered from the scourge to give their blood for serum to treat current sufferers.

Mayors of Eastern Townships' municipalities affected by the province-wide strike in the Dominion Textile Company had received invitations today from Mayor F. X. Bouchard, of St. Gregoire, near Quebec City, to attend a conference designed to break the deadlock that has existed between company officials and the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers since August 2nd.

Workmen affected in Sherbrooke number 1,000, in Magog, 1,500 and in Drummondville, 500. In addition to the textile dispute, employees of the Acton Vale Silk Mill have been on strike for over two weeks in a demand for higher wages and better working conditions, and a walkout has also been declared in the Drummondville Helleite Rubber Company.

A survey throughout the Eastern Townships indicated that conditions remained peaceful this morning. G. Blair Gordon, managing director of the Dominion Textile Company, stated in Montreal yesterday that he had been informed that the Drummondville municipal council planned a secret ballot to find what proportion of the men and women affected by the strike desired to return to work. Mayor Pelletier, of Drummondville, stated today that the plebiscite had been called off after a conference with officials of the National Catholic Syndicate. It was feared, the Mayor said, that the outcome of the ballot might cause an outbreak of violence.

It could not be learned from Mayor Emile Rioux, of Sherbrooke, this morning whether he had accepted the invitation to the projected mayoral parley.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—A conference of the heads of the four municipalities affected by the twenty-two day old strike of 10,000 Quebec textile workers, may be held to attempt settlement of the deadlocked dispute.

Mayor F. X. Bouchard, of St. Gregoire, six miles below Quebec city and location of one of the Dominion Textile Company's nine plants in the province, strike-bound since August 2nd, and the employees were called out by the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers, proposed the conference yesterday.

He invited the mayors of Drummondville, Sherbrooke and Valleyfield to meet him and discuss steps to break the deadlock, existing almost since the start of the dispute, and prevent possible economic repercussions from the long idleness of the workmen.

At Montreal where the textile company has four plants normally employing more than 4,000 of the strikers, present steps, by company officials, were taken to end the walkout.

Since late last week Dominion Textile in published notices has assured all men willing to return to work of full protection. Yesterday from its offices came the announcement that three of the units were under operation on a production basis.

A handful of men were admitted to each of the three plants for the first time since the start of the strike last Wednesday, and the gates of the fourth were thrown open a day later.

More workers are entering the mills every day, officials said yesterday, and more than six hundred are on duty at present. Only the Hochelaga in the East End is not actually operating.

William Tremblay, Quebec's Labor Minister, whose early efforts at arbitrating in the dispute failed on widely-separated company and union proposals, said yesterday that "whatever happens suitable wages will be paid in all industries after September 1."

"We will have legislation which will compel employers to pay adequate salaries and wages to their workers," he added. Quebec's Fair Wage Act becomes effective September 1.

CARES.

The little cares that fretted me,
I lost them yesterday
Among the fields above the sea,
Among the winds at play;
Among the lowing of the herds,
The rustling of the trees,
Among the singing of the birds,
The humming of the bees.
The foolish fears of what may happen,
I cast them all away
Among the clover-scented grass,
Among the new-mown hay;
Among the husking of the corn
Where drowsy poppies nod,
Where ill thoughts die and good are born,
Out in the fields with God.

Leave Well Enough Alone.

The era of attempting to control agricultural production has passed in Canada, but the idea still persists in the United States, and Secretary Wallace and the Department of Agriculture are faced with an over-abundant cotton crop with unsatisfactory prices. Last time, under somewhat similar circumstances, the price of cotton was supported by the Government but the Supreme Court held the federal act under which restrictions were enforced was ultra vires.

As a consequence of the artificial high prices, South America and other countries plunged into cotton production and it is to be suggested this is one of the reasons for the over-supply now. After a year or so more of government interference that condition would become chronic and the United States would be forced to abandon the export of cotton, which has been the most lucrative business of the South. Incidentally, it was the United States cotton restriction policy that turned Japanese eyes to North China, a potential source of Japan's heavy cotton demands.

Surely there are activities less harmful that might engage the attention of the Government agricultural experts. For instance, has the question of whether a cow's underjaw turns to the right or to the left when she is chewing her cud, which was worrying the Washington experts a few weeks ago been definitely determined?

If it has, there still is the problem before the New Jersey experts at Trenton, a problem which might be regarded as of federal importance. The question was raised by a sixteen-year-old farm girl. Does a pig's tail curl to the right or to the left? After several weeks of exhaustive research, experts are divided in opinion as to the prevailing direction, although they are unanimous in finding that a drooping tail is an abomination and never would win a blue ribbon.

Truce Rejected.

The Japanese High Command has thrown back to the British Government the proposal that both Jap and Chinese withdraw from the embattled zone around Shanghai and leave their nationals to the protection of the United States, France and Great Britain. It means that the Japs will continue the war with their demands that the Chinese get far removed from Shanghai and stay there.

It is of vital interest to British interests that a truce be arranged. As one writer puts it, British business interests in China outnumber American interests by about ten to one. And, with Japan taking more and more ground in China, the British are watching anxiously. They are also hoping that the United States will co-operate in any moves made by London.

Great Britain does not want to have to show any display of force in the Far East, for the obvious reason that she cannot afford to fight one battle there and keep prepared for another battle in Europe.

The United States is interested in the advances of Japan, because the Americans have always believed that sooner or later there would be a showdown for supremacy in the Pacific. That feeling is especially keen on the Pacific Coast where the Japanese bogey-man can always raise a scare.

Japan feels she can still go a long way in her aggression before either Britain or the States, or both, will make any definite move to check the advances.

In truth, neither great power seeks war, but it might prove disastrous for Japan if such joint pressure were exerted by the U.S.A. and Great Britain.

Prices On The Rise.

In the third week of July the wholesale prices of 567 commodities provided the highest index recorded in Canada since June of 1930; an index of 87.7 per cent. compared with an average of 100 in 1926 which is taken as the basic year. This new post-depression peak was not quite maintained to the month's end, but it is a reminder that wholesale prices have been increasing for some time, and that during the past year this increase has outstripped the general rise in the cost of living. The following comparison of indices is of interest:

	July 1936	June 1937	July 1937
Wholesale Index:	1986	1937	1937
567 commodities	74.3	84.6	87.5
Foods, beverages and tobacco	73.3	80.2	84.2
Retail Index:
Food, fuel, rent, clothing, sundries	80.4	82.7	83.0
Foods alone	72.6	76.4	77.2

The cost-of-living index was at its lowest in 1933, when the year's average was 77.3. It has risen annually, but slowly, to the present July index of 83; that is, 83 cents buys what a dollar would buy eleven years ago. The wholesale index has risen from 74.3 to 87.5 in a single year. It would seem likely that this will now be reflected in a further increase in retail prices.

EDITOR'S NOTE-BOOK

Thirty enthusiastic Directors of the Stanstead County Agricultural Society were present at the last meeting in Ayer's Cliff. With so many other attractions scheduled in the Eastern Townships this summer they long since adopted the sensible course of redoubling their efforts, with the result that this year Ayer's Cliff Fair is assured of a larger measure of success than ever before. Co-operation and enthusiasm always win through. We don't intend to miss seeing this year's Ayer's Cliff Fair, August 26th, 27th, 28th.

Thousands of spectators again lined the streets of Sherbrooke last week-end for another spectacular Centennial street procession. Those people who feared interest in the city's Centennial celebration might lag must now admit they were wrong.

That is true cultivation which gives us sympathy with every form of human life, and enables us to work more successfully for its advancement. Refinement that carries us away from our fellow-men is not God's refinement.

The Cookshire Fair opened in all its splendor yesterday. If you did not visit this fair on the opening day you still have today and tomorrow to see what a real modern country fair is like.

A constant governance of our speech, according to duty and reason, is a high instance and a special argument of a thoroughly sincere and solid goodness.

Premier Aberhart would make quite an attraction if he appeared at any of the county fairs.

HAVE FAITH!

Be wise!
Use well the present day.
Clear purpose and resolve
Will always find a way.
Be brave!
High courage knows no fear.
The good you do today,
Brings conquest ever near.
Be true!
Don't swerve or idly shrink.

PRESS COMMENTS

STIFLED PRESS WOULD MEAN DARKNESS

(Hamilton Spectator)
The newspaper war which seems to be developing is of profound significance. If it is carried on to the point at which several countries, or even Germany alone, are devoid of foreign correspondents within their boundaries, then will spell the end of what we call intelligent statesmanship. The chancelleries of Europe will be cloaked in mystery; the decisions of Europe's statesmen will be unknown to the ordinary man and woman as were the decisions of feudal lords to the swineherds of the Middle Ages.

In fact this possibility brings to attention once again the fact that the whole ideology of the post-war dictatorships is driving us back and ever back into those dark and troubled times which preceded the Renaissance.

The press is challenged; its freedom threatened. And this does not concern merely one area, nor even a scattered collection of areas. It means that the press, for the first time since it became an international medium for the carrying of news and the interchange of ideas, faces an international challenge.

What happens even internally, in Germany, in Italy, in Austria, in France, in the British Empire, in the United States, may effect vitally the course of history. A revolution may be brewing in Germany; a coup d'etat, involving a complete change in Germany's foreign policy, may actually take place, in this queer silenced world without foreign correspondents, and the ordinary person will know nothing about it.

Imagine a world in which Premier Pierre Laval of France—pro-fascist, pro-Italian and anti-socialist—could be replaced by socialistic Leon Blum without the man in the street being apprised of the fact, or at least of the circumstances surrounding that change!

Imagine a world in which nobody except German officials could comment upon Germany's internal affairs!

Imagine a world from which a country could hide the existence of a famine or a plague, in order to preserve its precious prestige!

It would be a world of darkness. Rumors would spread; rumors would travel from mouth to mouth, and would soon lose any connection they ever had with truth. Dictators would become more impregnate than ever, and great masses of humanity more subservient than ever!

A world with an internationally stifled press would be a world of barbarism and misery, of fear and distrust.

RED FOR ROMANCE.

(London Sunday Times)
So romance itself is to be organized. In San Francisco, when a great fair is held, the pavements are to be red, which, besides making women "appear younger and more beautiful," will make men "appear more romantic and induce them to spend more freely." There is a catalyst in this without this which echoes with horrid exactitude an Oscar Wilde cynicism: "Romance should never begin with sentiment. It should begin with science and end with a settlement." It would be a frightening prospect if this California experiment were proved a success. For a terrible weapon would be delivered into the hands of women. Not only would drawing rooms and boudoirs be transformed but, outside the home, the very face of England might be flamboyantly rouged. And if Red is captured for Romance, what will the Comintern do?

BUSINESS IS BETTER.

(Canadian Business)
Canada's "inquiry" business activity makes cheerful reading. Despite serious western drought and an increased number of labor disputes, a new recovery peak was reached in the first six months of 1937. Outside of the drought areas in the prairie, crop prospects are good and the higher agricultural prices will bolster farm income.

The summer let-down has been far less than anticipated. In fact, preliminary official figures show that more summer business is being done than at any time since 1929. Collections are better. Rising production in minerals including oils, in water power, newsprint and a larger tourist income are giving buoyancy to this situation that is weighted by a poor wheat crop.

THE MOST TALKED ABOUT MAN.

(Bowmanville Statesman)
The most talked about man in Ontario is San Francisco, when a great fair is held, the pavements are to be red, which, besides making women "appear younger and more beautiful," will make men "appear more romantic and induce them to spend more freely." DARING STYLES IN FEMINE ATTIRE.

(Sarnia Canadian-Observer)
The mayor of Fort Erie, Ont., voices a mild protest against the street garb of some girls there who persist in parading the shopping districts in very skimpy shorts or in bathing suits.
The incident typifies the contest that is being waged between the authorities and women who have adopted meagre dress and are determined to win.
It is evident that the vogue for shorts is becoming more aggressive. A few years ago women made a timid approach by wearing them on the tennis courts. Now they are invading the golf courses but they are not regarded as suitable for the average course because of the presence of shrubs, poison ivy and other obstacles capable of causing injury to the skin. On city streets now it is not an infrequent occurrence for women to appear in shorts in the business area or anywhere else. In fact, all over the world, abbreviated attire for men and women is gaining in popularity. Shorts have made greater headway among men in the British Isles and in Continental Europe than they have on this side of the Atlantic and it is likely that if that mode of dress justifies itself from a health standpoint, it will be adopted more widely still. It is advocated as being beneficial in that it permits more air and sunlight to reach the body. Many of its advocates assert that human beings have been notoriously over-clothed, especially in the summer season and

PROFESSION OF JOURNALISM

(Le Canada, Montreal)
Journalism has its miseries, but it also has its glories. It brings dangers, and it has its victims. Obviously the war correspondent is in a particularly dangerous position, but the simple file reporter, too, sometimes risks his life, and besides the physical courage needed for some great feats of reporting, there is the moral courage that those who have a cause to defend must possess.
How many newspapermen have preferred prison to abandoning a struggle which they believed just? It is the victims of their professional duty who make the greatness of journalism.

INDUSTRIAL DECENTRALIZATION

(L'Evenement, Quebec)
It is plain that the decentralization of industry is working the wrong way in our Province. More and more it is being realized that the dispersion of plants among our rural centres does not profit either puts on to the sidewalk workers who the country or the city.

The plant that leaves the city increases the army of unemployed. It moves to the country and there it attracts the sons of farmers and leads to desertion of the land. That is false policy.

The properly worked-out decentralization is that which takes the workers, simultaneously with the plant, away from the city. Thus we can hope to bring back the equilibrium between the population of the cities and of the country which is suffering from a great deficiency.

LAUGH A LITTLE BIT.

Here's a motto, just your fit—
Laugh a little bit.
When you think you've trouble hit,
Laugh a little bit.
Look misfortune in the face,
Brave the hoodlum's rude grimace;
Ten to one 'twill yield its place,
If you have the wit and grit.
Just to laugh a little bit.
Keep your face with sunshine lit,
Laugh a little bit.
All the shadows off will flit,
If you have the grit and wit.
Just to laugh a little bit.
Cherish this as sacred writ—
Laugh a little bit.
Keep it with you, sample it,
Laugh a little bit.
Little ills will sure betide you,
Fortune may not sit beside you,
Men may mock and fame deride you,
But you'll mind them not a whit
If you laugh a little bit.

MARRIAGES

LOCKWOOD—McNEIL
Richmond, August 24.—The wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, August 24, at four o'clock in St. Anne's Anglican Church, Richmond, of Dorothy May McNeill to Harold Lockwood, Rev. H. O. N. Belford, rector of the church, officiating. Pink and white gladioli and white candles were used to decorate the chancel and altar. Mr. Wright W. Gibson, of Sherbrooke, played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Kenneth McNeill, wore a suit of brown shark skin wool with hat and shoes to match, and carried a bouquet of Johann Hill roses.

Mrs. Stephen Olney, as matron-of-honor, wore a gown of Coronation blue, with small turban hat, and carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas. The groom was supported by Mr. Stephen Olney, as best man.

After the ceremony, the bridal couple left by motor for a trip to Niagara Falls and the New England States. On their return, they will reside in Drummondville.

Those from out-of-town attending the wedding were Mrs. George Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Woods, Mr. Marvin Lockwood, Mrs. Lucie McNeill, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McNeill, Miss Eva McNeill, Mrs. E. W. S. Gibson, Mrs. Charlotte Parmelee, Miss Doris Parmelee, of Danville, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lockwood, of Asbestos, Mrs. Flossie Crandell, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Wright Gibson, Miss Alice Stevens, Messrs. Herbert Gibson and Kenneth Burbank, of Sherbrooke, and Mr. Rush Davignon, of Quebec City.

FEARON—LABONTE
Sand Hill, Aug. 24.—A quiet but pretty wedding took place at St. Luke's Church, Sand Hill, on August 17th, Rev. A. J. Oakley officiating, when Evelyn Doris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David LaBonte, became the bride of Mr. Earl Fearon, son of the late Mr. S. Fearon and Mrs. Fearon, Moulton Hill.

The bride, who was unattended, entered the church on the arm of her father, and wore a dainty gown of white sheer with a bridal veil. She carried a bouquet of pale pink sweet peas and maiden-hair fern.

The Wedding March was played by Miss Anita LaBonte, of East Angus, cousin of the bride. The church was very prettily decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride.

After the ceremony, the guests went to the home of the bride's parents, where a delicious buffet luncheon was served to about twenty-five friends and relatives. The wedding cake, a part of which was the bride's mother's wedding cake, centered the bridal table.

Later, the bride and groom left for a short honeymoon, the groom wearing a suit of navy blue with cord and a gold and blue satin blouse with blue accessories. On their return they will reside in Lennoxville.

JOHNSTON—OSGOOD
Cookshire, Aug. 24.—A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday, August 14th, in St. Peter's Church, Cookshire, when Alta Grace, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Osgood, was married to Jack Wayne Johnston, son of Dr. Alfred Johnston, and the late Mrs. Johnston. Rev. Tulk performed the marriage ceremony and Miss Margaret Kirby was the organist. The church was beautifully decorated with gladioli and phlox in tall standards, the guest pews being marked with white gladioli and pink sweet peas, tied with tulle ribbon.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Maude Montgomery, her cousin, as maid-of-honor, and Miss Carol Johnston, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. Mr. Walter Stewart acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Teryl Johnston and Mr. Gerald Osgood.

The bride looked lovely in white crepe-back mull fabric, simply fashioned. A long train fell from a tightly buttoned jacket, with Peter Pan collar and Directorate sleeves buttoned from the elbows. Her veil of tulle illusion fell over the face from a dainty coronet of lilacs-of-the-valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, sweet peas and pale blue forget-me-nots.

The attendants were gowned alike in "lyric" blue net redingotes over taffeta, the redingotes being fastened with large bows of Albatross Beauty blanchin velvet, to match their sandals. They wore pleated haloes of blue net, with shoulder veils, and carried American Beauty roses and blue larkspur.

The bride's mother wore midnight blue lace, with large hat of matching blue velvet. Blue lace mitts and a corsage of pink roses completed her ensemble.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which the bridal couple left on a motor trip through the Eastern States, and seaside resorts. Going away the bride wore a dark blue-grey tailored suit, with three-quarter length coat trimmed with lapels of platinum baby fox, over a white satin blouse. The accessories were navy blue, and she wore a corsage of white roses and sweet peas.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will take up residence in the Hillcrest Apartments, Prudhomme avenue, Notre Dame de Grace.

BEAUGANT—PARE
Lake Megantic, August 24.—The marriage of Simonee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludger Pare, of Courcelles, to Mr. Armand Beaugant, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Eliear Beaugant, of Gould, took place on Saturday morning, July 31st, at five thirty o'clock, at St. Agnes' Church, Lake Megantic.

The bride wore a gown of blue georgette fashioned on simple lines, with hat, shoes and accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of roses and ferns.

The bride and groom were un-

BOY LEARNS TO SAVE IF HE GETS ALLOWANCE

Whenever Tommy asked for an allowance, the answer was always, "We can't afford it." The last time he brought up the subject, however, this answer failed to satisfy. He argued, "Johnny, Bill and Joseph have an allowance. Why can't I?" "Maybe their parents can afford it," mother explained, "we can't."

"I don't know about that," Tommy returned with a pout. "If they can afford it, we can afford it." "That will do!" father warned. "Who's running this family, anyway?"

This outburst silenced the boy. He became thoughtful as mother looked relieved; she did not like a scene. And dad's expression boasted, "That the way to handle him."

But Tommy was hardly convinced. After a reasonable pause, he addressed father again. "Dad, Mrs. Corby doesn't see why you can't afford an allowance. She says Mr. Corby gets the same salary as you and they have an extra mouth to feed over there. And Johnny—"

"That's right, take all the neighbors into your confidence. Tell them everything that goes on here," dad said sarcastically and literal-minded Tommy did not grasp what was implied.

Just then a younger brother arrived with a request for two cents. Dad dipped mechanically into a pocket and handed David two cents. All the while he kept his eyes on Tommy, who was getting ready to speak again.

"Mrs. Corby says if you figured all the pennies and nickels we get in a week," Tommy babbled innocently, "you'd be surprised at the amount."

And so would many more parents who believe they cannot afford to give allowances to their children.

A child's allowance should be based on his needs, and should increase with a child's growing needs. It may include, in time, money for clothes even.

Beauty Tips

Question—"I have regular features except that my lips are full and my chin is slightly receding. The curve between my chin and lips is very deep. How should I wear my hair? What shade of lipstick should I use?"

—Janie.
Avoid vivid shades of lipstick. Use a soft pink or a soft dusky red, wearing a suit of navy blue with cord and a gold and blue satin blouse with blue accessories. On their return they will reside in Lennoxville.

The latest novelty to reach this country from Paris is a kerchief glove which has around the wrist an angled lipstick and accent the upper lip slightly. Too much color on the lower lip would make it look too heavy and call attention to your receding chin. Use a lighter shade of powder on your chin and the lower part of your face. Avoid blanching at the back of your neck, but do have some soft back curls or a roll and wear your hair brushed smoothly off your face.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's grandfather, Mr. Pierre Pare, of Lake Megantic. About twenty-five guests were present, among them being the groom's father and his three sisters, Mrs. Wilfred Sampson and Mr. Sampson, Mrs. Wilfred Lisee and Mr. Lisee and Miss Irene Beaudoin.

On their return home on Tuesday evening, August 3rd, a reception was given them by the groom's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eliear Beaudoin, at their home, and to about one hundred and twenty-five guests.

At the reception, the bride wore a yellow figured crepe floor-length dress with trimmings of brown silk and a flower decoration with streamers of ribbon and lilies-of-the-valley.

The numerous useful wedding gifts comprised an array of glassware, china, silverware and linen.

Following the supper, dancing was enjoyed for a few hours to music furnished by three violinists, Messrs. Roland and Leo Racine, and John Fortier.

The out-of-town guests present at the reception were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ludger Pare, Mrs. Damien Gosselin, Mrs. Ernest Duquette, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Fortin, Miss Huguette Pare, of Courcelles, Mr. Pierre Pare, the bride's grandfather, Misses Bernande and Gemma Para, Yolande Duchesneau, Alfred Filion and Mr. Bertrand Filion of Lake Megantic, Mr. Joseph Roberson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sampson, of Cookshire, Mr. and Mrs. Lisee and their three daughters, of Norwich, Conn., Miss Irene Beaudoin, of Magog, Mr. and Mrs. Ulderic Lisee, Mr. and Mrs. Allaire Lisee, Mr. and Mrs. Francois Turgeon and their son, Edgar Turgeon, Messrs. Yvonne Racine and Simonee Dion, Messrs. Hector and Ernest Lisee, Roland and Leo Racine, Herman, Raoul and Lucien Lisee, and John Fortier, of Fontainebleau.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaudoin will reside at Red Mountain.

A blanket cover is a good investment.

EACH TO HER OWN STYLE

You'd hardly think that both of these carefree society women were pictured not only at the same time, but the same place. Looking as modern as her generation, Elena Villa, left, approaches Bailey's Beach at Newport, R.I., clad in chic white sports dress with quilted percale bolero in scarlet with white pin dots and matching sash. Her sandals are of striped canvas. What a contrast wealthy Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs makes in ankle length peasant frock reminiscent of the past generation. It is a variation of the full skirted, slim waisted dirndl. Note the tiny lace collar and buttons down the front.

POOR MARKS WORRY PARENTS UNDULY

It is natural for parents to wish their children to make high grades in school. Many a mother today is secretly hoping that William's reports will be better this year than they were last year. But father is the one who raises a rumpus when he notices the "D" in grammar, or the failure in arithmetic.

The experienced teacher will tell you that parents worry far more about poor marks than the school itself, although she is anxious to keep her records up and the entire school is jealous of its reputation.

When school starts, it might be better for William and all concerned if parents would consider a few points about lessons in general.

Always Something New.

First of all, they are invariably hard. It is the very nature of lessons to be hard for the child of any grade, whether it be the ABC's of No. One, or the bank discount of No. Ten. Each day is a new mountain to climb and entirely new ideas to master. School cannot be compared fairly with any other job in the world. Mothers do their daily work as they have done it before, and fathers go about their business on pretty much the same track too. Children are, on the contrary, endeavoring to absorb and remember ideas constantly foreign to them.

If teachers are patient, and they are, then parents should be patient also. Children often get discouraged and confused if they think the standards held up to them to meet are beyond them. We should remember that education is never complete, or perfect. The man doesn't live who is completely educated, or ever will be. Education means to get as much as you can according to your ability and to retain what memory permits.

Few Learn Readily.

No two children are alike in their powers. It happens that the majority absorb knowledge in the selected subjects for study without too much effort, but a large minority get only a certain portion, and a great number fail entirely in one or two things.

And so, if William is working reasonably hard this year, and still does not meet his parents' standards, it would be better not to scold about poor marks and hold certain threats over his head, but to try to help him. Once he knows that the effort he is making is understood and appreciated, he may think more clearly, be more confident and surprise everybody.

Spices Give Piquancy To Early Apple Dishes

Every cook is tempted by the baskets of red and green apples that are being sold at roadside stands everywhere. These early apples, though inexpensive, are not so well liked because of a certain insipid flatness.

If you use some imagination, however, and add other flavors to bring out the natural tang of the fruit, you can make apple dishes that are just as delicious as those you get from the more flavorsome fruit later in the season. Try the following recipes that call for a small amount of spice to supplement the mild fragrance of the fruit.

The autumn scheme of decorations was carried out in the place cards, and the favors were tiny nosegays of late summer flowers. Miss Cress and her guests later enjoyed the centennial celebrations.

Profiles For Today

ROSS SULLIVAN PLOTS TO REVIVE TAMMANY
Ever since William Mooney helped to found the Tammany Society or Columbian Order of York, about 1786, the Kellys, the Murphys, the Sullivans and others with rich Irish names have been largely and definitely identified with "the Hall."

There were plenty of Sullivans—"Big Tim," for example, an open-handed, forthright man beloved by the East Side Jews and Italians for his neighborhood chowders and clamkakes.

There was "Little Tim," running cheek-by-jowl after the style of the "Big Feller," and there was "Big Florrie," 6 ft. 2, with fists like cannonballs, leader of "De Bloody Eight" assembly district.

Those Sullivans are gone. But after the recent death of Grand Sachem James J. Dooling, Tammany elected another Sullivan as leader. They chose Christopher D., younger brother of Florrie and of the detective, "Flat-Nose Dinny."

Christy, unlike his heroic and spectacular brothers, is a mild-mannered person, shy, taciturn almost of nature. He is tall, as his brothers were, but he grew up a pale-faced boy and at 67 is a gray-haired, slender, kindly man, favoring his mother, perhaps, who was a Killarney girl and raised fourteen children. Christy's father was a gold-beater who turned later to making gold pens.

Born on the East Side, Christy attended parochial school and then was a printer's apprentice. Later he took up real estate. During his lifetime his balliwick has changed in character, as the large number of Italian residents grew in political power. Eventually he had to share the rule of his district with Albert Marinelli, Italian leader.

Christy served as State Senator and then went to Congress, where his voice has seldom been heard. His wife, Nell Donahue, died thirty years ago, leaving him six children. He did not marry again.

"The Hall" recently has been sickly, torn with strife and conscious of waning power. Chiefains wonder if Christy and "the man behind him," Marinelli, can put it together again.

Mr. Alexander Galt returned yesterday afternoon to Montreal after spending several days in Sherbrooke attending the Centenary celebrations in honor of his father, the late Sir A. T. Galt. During his stay Mr. Galt was a guest of Mrs. Andrea Paton Robinson at "Rockmount," which was formerly his father's home.

Mrs. L. R. Boisvert received at the tea hour yesterday afternoon at her country home on Little Lake Magog, the numerous guests from Sherbrooke enjoying her delightful hospitality in this quiet spot where their hosts spend most of her leisure hours during the summer months. A profusion of seasonal flowers were placed about the attractive rooms. Mrs. Boisvert choosing autumn tinted gladioli in an exquisite Longwy enamel vase on a matching cover for her artistically arranged tea table, at which the honors were done by Mrs. Michael Stenson and Mrs. R. Duberger.

That this old world of ours is after all only a "small place" was once again proven on the tennis courts in Guernsey recently, when by a strange coincidence two players, both interested in Sherbrooke, accidentally discovered this fact in the course of conversation. The men were Mr. Hugh Smith and Col. Sherbrooke, the former a son of Mrs.

ENGAGEMENT OF EGYPTIAN KING ANNOUNCED
Cairo, Aug. 24.—The engagement of Egypt's young King Farouk to Mile. Sasi Naaz, sixteen-year-old daughter of Youssef Bey Zulfikar, councillor of the Alexandria Mixed Courts of Appeal, was officially announced yesterday.

Her mother, Madame Honeim Zulfikar, is lady-in-waiting to the Queen Mother.

Noel Brooks, whom he has often visited here at "Mountfield," and the latter a great grandson of Sir John C. Sherbrooke from whom the city derives its name. Mr. Smith relates that the Colonel was intensely interested in Sherbrooke, having just received an invitation from His Worship Mayor Rioux to attend the Centenary. Mr. Smith loaned Col. Sherbrooke a copy of the "Record's" Centenary number and the descendant of Sir John expressed the wish that he might receive further information about the Canadian City named for his ancestor.

COLOR IN FALL

An early September fashion show will feature fall tree colors which Paris catwalks have reported. Greens, golds, russets and deep reds will be headlined. A green velvet model with triangular gold slide fastener is called "Weeping Willow." A casual town costume in light gold wool is "Norway Maple." And a subtle fall combination, deep wine and bright blue, will fashion another suit, "Blue Spruce."

NAIL POLISH IN FIVE SHADES
Nail polish for fall wear includes five shades based on different tones of the skin. Mauve, yellow, ivory, beige and blood tones are discernible to the artist's practiced eye. Each of the polishes will accentuate one or more of these tones, thus blending with the tones of the hand.

ATTRACTIONS AT THE LOCAL THEATRES

At The Granada

Thrills, laughs, drama and romance mingle in a literal cross-section of racing life in "Sarotoga," which opens at the Granada Theatre tomorrow with Clark Gable and Jean Harlow in the chief roles.

"Sarotoga" tells the story of the daughter of a rich horse owner and a bookmaker, her father's friend, whom she hates and fights, then loves. Intrigues over "ringing" bets, plot and counterplot behind the scenes in the paddock, and finally, the sensational racing climax worked out on a new dramatic twist keep the picture packed with action.

Against this action the romantic story is developed.

Una Merkel and Frank Morgan appear as a new and very hilarious comedy team. Walter Pidgeon plays a fine part, and Cliff Edwards adds laughs and a song.

Location sequences filmed at racetracks and the great stock farm are among spectacular details of the story.

The added attraction is "Under Cover of Night," a detective story featuring Edmund Lowe.

At The Premier

Based upon the story "Tightwad" by Paul Gallico, "Wild Money," which opens at the Premier tomorrow, is a racy comedy about a man who wanted to be a reporter and spent lavishly of other people's money to realize his ambition.

The picture stars Edward Everett Horton, Lynne Overman, Lucien Littlefield, Benny Baker and Porter Hall, with Louise Campbell as the heroine.

The story is concerned mainly with the fortunes of Horton, "bulldog of the treasury" for a newspaper, who is in love with Miss Campbell. So is Overman, the paper's star reporter. Miss Campbell is inclined to favor Overman, and Horton takes a broken heart away with him on a vacation to a lake resort.

Then there's a kidnapping at the resort and Horton finds himself in command of the situation as far as the newspapers are concerned. The way in which he "sews up" his "scoop" finds the kidnapped man and wins Miss Campbell, all in one fell swoop, makes of "Wild Money" one of the funniest pictures to reach the screen this season.

The other feature on this programme is "California Straight Ahead," featuring John Wayne and Louise Latimer.

N.Y. were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Murray.

Mrs. Reginald Buzzell and children, Betty, Billy and David, are spending several days at the home of Mrs. Buzzell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Start.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Lawrence and daughters, Gwynette and Scottina, of Bury, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Coleman.

Miss Jessie MacLeod is spending an indefinite time in Montreal.

BOOK PROVIDES MARKET SURVEY FOR DOMINION

What Canadians Produce, Earn and Buy Told in Vivid Charts and Symbols.

The Canadian people, what they do, produce, earn and buy, and in a certain place. One of the panels flew open and disclosed the door of an iron safe. Captain Lovett unlocked the door of the safe. Over his shoulder, for he was on his knees, Nancy could see that except for a shallow row of wooden drawers and compartments, the interior was piled high with little bulging sacks of leather. He handed her two of them.

"Pass these on to the man in the canoe," he said, "as I count them."

For their size the sacks were immensely heavy, and Nancy did not have to be told that they were packed with gold pieces. The face of Danelo, who was standing up in the dug-out, appeared in the opening of the port. It was a hideous dark, unkept, sweating face but frightened rather than frightening.

"Give me quick," he said, "like go away."

Into the filthy, nail-bitten extended hand of the Portuguese Nancy passed the first sack of gold, and then the next and the next as her husband passed them to her. But it was slow business because Danelo could not simply drop the gold into the bottom of his boat. He had to bend down and stow it quietly.

"That's the last," said Captain Lovett, and while he closed the door on a greatly diminished haul, Nancy not only relayed the last installment of the price missed Danelo for his negro but her husband's words as well.

"That's the last," she said. Danelo did not even pretend, as he ordinarily would have done, that she had been short-changed. He clutched the last sack of gold and withdrew his hand.

"Close the port," whispered Captain Lovett.

But even as she began to push against it she heard from without a muffled cry, a thump as of something heavy falling and a long drawn sound of water surging and sucking.

SLAVE SHIP

GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

Illustrated by GORDON GRANT

The story of the 20th Century-Fox Picture starring Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Captain Jim Lovett, of the slave ship Albatross, marries a beautiful Southern girl, Nancy Marlow, after a whirlwind courtship in the year 1854. Keeping from her the secret of his trade, he orders his mate, Thompson, to fire the crew, flog the ship, and get ready for a legitimate trading voyage to Jamaica.

With his bride aboard and the Albatross at sea, Lovett discovers that Thompson and the crew had tricked him. They take over the ship, tell Lovett they are returning to Africa for another cargo of slaves, and refuse to let him leave the ship at a way port.

He is forced to confess to Nancy, and she, in horror, turns from him. Alone, he faces a mutinous crew. Helplessly outnumbered, Lovett agrees to aid his mutineers in getting their slave cargo, secretly determined to thwart them at first opportunity. When the slaves reach the slave port, he goes ashore with the mutineers. They leave him there, planning to get away without paying for the slaves. But he escapes the mutineers by breaking in on her. Suddenly she hears a knock on the bulkhead of the cabin.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

THE TAPPING WAS NOT upon the walls of the cabin, of the ceiling or the floor. Her eyes flew to the port hole and it was upon this that the percussive sounds were being produced. This port was not the usual bulge of thick glass, but a rectangle by which a man might have squeezed his way into the cabin or out of it. The brass frame with its pane of heavy glass swung inward, but it was impossible to open it more than an inch or two and hold it there against any pressure from without. Her pistols handy, Nancy unscrewed the hinged port bolts and opened it an inch.

"Are you all right, Nancy?" It was Captain Lovett's voice.

She had then nothing to fear. She pulled the port wide and not without strain and struggle, her husband entered through the aperture. His business in the cabin was apparently too urgent for further speech. He literally dove under the table, fumbled about for some time and emerged presently with a steel key of curious workmanship in his hand. He pressed

The book thoroughly analyzes the Canadian market, drawing information from the most authoritative sources, of which a comprehensive bibliography is given for those who wish to pursue a more complete study of the Canadian market. It takes the Canadian market to pieces, if you will, and puts it together again offering concrete suggestions as to how sales and merchandising campaigns can be planned to produce the best results.

In the analysis of media coverage and the text which accompanies the charts on this subject "The Canadian Market" presents conclusively the efficiency of the Canadian daily newspapers in reaching the Canadian public with any sales message. More than two and one-quarter million Canadians newspapers are bought every day.

"The Canadian Market" is another link in the chain which the Canadian daily newspapers have welded in the service of every individual and every industry. It is fully in keeping with the service ideals which have actuated the daily newspaper, each in its own community, for more than a century.

LONE NORTHERN COAL MINE HAS ARCTIC MARKET

British Columbia Man Developed Seams in New Northwest and Gives Comfort to Faraway Posts within the Arctic Circle.

Fort Norman, N.W.T., Aug. 24.—Tail, weather-beaten Leonard Vibbard, one-time trapper and prospector, spend his days and nights carrying coals to Fort Norman and Aklavik to warm the homes of those who spend their winters in the Arctic twilight.

He owns the only coal mine in the Northwest Territories.

Vibbard, forty-six year old jack of many trades, drifted into the territories from his Prince George, B.C. home and worked his way eastward along the fur and gold route. He was handling freight for Dominion Explorers when he heard about the great coal seams around Fort Norman, left his job and staked claims about eight miles above the Fort.

Gradually he developed his little mine, employing from three to five men to pick the black fuel from the open seam, until he built up a business that carries annually 500 tons of lignite into the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Hudson's Bay Company and mission establishments as far north as Aklavik, on the delta of the Mackenzie River.

Lignite sells at Fort Norman in sacks for $15 a ton but the freight costs double the price at Aklavik, a jump-off point for the western Arctic.

Vibbard's coal comes from an exposure of a seam varying in depth from fifteen to thirty feet. The deposit forms a great basin about thirty miles in diameter and numerous other outcrops are found in the region, including one two miles southward that has been a fire at least since Alexander Mackenzie saw it on his way down the river to the Arctic in 1789.

Vibbard thinks too little attention is paid to the natural resources of the Northwest Territories. He admits costs of water haulage are too high to make shipment outside profitable, but believes the coal, not only his but other deposits including some of anthracite, might be used more widely to add to the comfort of the north's increasing permanent population.

It is of interest also from the merchandising point of view that the balance of population has been gradually shifting from the rural to urban centres. The population charts reveal that whereas nearly 55 per cent. of the people lived in the rural districts in 1911 by 1936 approximately 54 per cent. of the population was to be found in the urban centres.

The book draws an interesting comparison of the volume of British and foreign investments in Canada, showing the amount of money invested in Canadian government securities, railways and general industrial enterprises.

Though it is generally known that other countries have invested huge sums of money in Canada, more than seven billion dollars, in fact, how many people knew that Canadians have invested two billion dollars abroad?

Canadian production is dealt with extensively because of its great importance on national wealth and prosperity. Two charts are devoted to show the value of production over an 11-year period. The record of primary and secondary production is graphically described. Here again a popular belief is dissipated. The charts reveal that the lowest ebb in the depression period was not reached in 1932, as is generally believed, but in 1933. The charts reveal that from 1933 to 1936 production in all industries was increasing rapidly.

Anyone examining "The Canadian Market" cannot but be impressed by the need to think regionally in considering sales campaigns in Canada. All comparative charts in the book emphasize the wide differences existing between most of the economic zones, differences in population, in the type of homes which they live in, in occupational groups and in buying power.

Other features of national life portrayed by the 55 double-page charts and more than 60 pages of text are the distribution of gainfully employed, the tenure and size of households, the volume of retail trade, the education of Canamenhly heavy, and Nancy did not have to be told that they were packed with gold pieces. The face of Danelo, who was standing up in the dug-out, appeared in the opening of the port. It was a hideous dark, unkept, sweating face but frightened rather than frightening.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

While the slave dealer's dark face peered through the cabin porthole, Lovett counted out the money to Nancy, who in turn passed it on.

"Give me quick," he said, "like go away."

Into the filthy, nail-bitten extended hand of the Portuguese Nancy passed the first sack of gold, and then the next and the next as her husband passed them to her. But it was slow business because Danelo could not simply drop the gold into the bottom of his boat. He had to bend down and stow it quietly.

"That's the last," said Captain Lovett, and while he closed the door on a greatly diminished haul, Nancy not only relayed the last installment of the price missed Danelo for his negro but her husband's words as well.

"That's the last," she said. Danelo did not even pretend, as he ordinarily would have done, that she had been short-changed. He clutched the last sack of gold and withdrew his hand.

"Close the port," whispered Captain Lovett.

But even as she began to push against it she heard from without a muffled cry, a thump as of something heavy falling and a long drawn sound of water surging and sucking.

In his haste and his terror of what would happen if he were discovered by Thompson, Danelo had made a mis-step, fallen, hit his head heavily against the gunwale of the Nancy's moment of bewilderment passed.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

AVOIDS DANGEROUS FINESSE

"Bad" Play Would Have Worked, but Declarer Takes Safer Way to Make Small Slam Contract

By Wm. E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League.

South's problem would have been entirely solved had he decided to make a very bad play, namely to finesse against the queen of trumps in the East hand. The bad play would have worked and then seven could have been made.

However, if it failed East would cash the setting trick immediately. When the dummy went down it was at once apparent that the slam was a laydown, if the spade queen dropped on two leads. This was the chance for which South naturally and correctly played.

However, it did not drop, and South now had to give up all hopes of seven and look for a way to make six. The only way to lay an establishing club in dummy on which his losing heart could be discarded. To do this both East and West must have at least two clubs.

The ace and king of clubs were cashed, and then a small club led from dummy. East discarded a diamond and South ruffed. Dummy was re-entered with the diamond queen and another club led, East discarding again, South ruffing.

The nine of clubs was now established. The dummy was entered with the ace of diamonds and the nine of clubs led. Whatever East played, South discarded his losing heart, thereby making his contract.

Had East played his trump on either the third or fourth club leads, South, of course, would have dropped his losing heart.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful, testifying to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends.

MRS. STANLEY J. SUTTON, SHERBROOKE. The death occurred on August 1st of Anna Rosina Obeig, beloved wife of Stanley J. Sutton, at the home of her son, Percy, 38A Esplanade avenue, Sutton, who was in her 85th year, died after a lingering illness. She was tenderly cared for by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Percy Sutton.

Mrs. Sutton came to Canada at the age of seventeen, and settled in Waterville. She married Mr. Sutton at Newport, Vt., on April 25th, 1906. The funeral service was held August 3rd, conducted by the Rev. A. J. Milligan, pastor of the Baptist Church, of which the deceased was a devoted and faithful member.

Prayers were said at the home, prior to the church service, and the pastor, in a few comforting remarks to the bereaved family, spoke of the fine Christian character of the late Mrs. Sutton and her great devotion to her home, her family and her church. Interment took place at the Elmwood Cemetery.

RE-UNION HELD BY FAMILY AT LAKE MEGANTIC

First Time in Twenty-One Years Family of Mrs. H. Rider Have All Been Together.

Lake Megantic, Aug. 24.—"Berry Brow Farm," Ditchfield, was the scene of a happy event recently, when the family of Mrs. H. Rider held a re-union. This unique occasion was the first time in twenty-one years that all Mrs. Rider's children, seven sons and four daughters had been together. Mr. Rider, who passed away in 1923, was the only missing member.

The happy mother of this large family was presented with a bouquet of flowers and the affectionate good wishes of her children. During the afternoon, many "snaps" of the family were taken, and hopes expressed that "Berry Brow Farm" would see many more happy re-unions.

ADVOCATES FORMING MINISTRY OF MARINE

"Unless a Ministry of Marine Is Instituted without Delay, Britain Will Be in a Bad Way," According to Lieut.-Commander E. C. Talbot-Booth.

London, August 24.—Establishment of a Ministry of Marine is advocated by Paymaster-Lieut.-Commander E. C. Talbot-Booth in a forthcoming book "Merchant Ships, 1937."

Declaring there were 1,000 fewer British merchant vessels afloat today than in 1914 and the average size of ships was greater, he said "in times of national emergency it is numbers that count, not size, and even with our greater numbers during the war we were brought to within a few weeks of starvation."

He said the Empire link across the Pacific was almost broken. Japanese and United States ships were driving British ships from the seas and lifting cargoes under British noses. State assistance and subsidies might be pernicious in principle but when rivals were using them Great Britain must make up similar weapons.

"Unless a Ministry of Marine is instituted without delay, Britain will be in a bad way," he concluded. "If it were necessary to control British shipping in time of war, it is equally necessary to control it in times of peace or economic war, and there need be no fear of unjust interference with the legitimate trading aspirations of individual companies."

LOCALS CHALKED UP ANOTHER WIN OVER PANTHERS

Rallies in Last Two Innings Enabled Sherbrooke to Romp Off with Eight to Three Victory Last Evening—Amedee Roy Poled Out a Three-Bagger.

Sherbrooke defeated the Montreal Black Panthers by eight to three in seven and a half innings of Provincial League baseball on the home diamond last evening, but it wasn't until the final score indicated that the local lads knew they had been in a ball game.

Held to a one-run lead in the first five frames, the locals pushed two runs around the bases in each of the sixth and seventh innings to take the decision. Art Duplessis drove in the sixth-frame pair with a single after Bill Moxe and Amedee Roy had hit safely, and Leo Ploski the final two when he connected for a two-bagger with Johnny Crowley and Tommy Thompson on base by virtue of walks.

Dogged by the jinx that has pursued them all season, the Panthers, who at times show lots of brains, were victims of two unucky breaks. With two out in the fourth inning, Bob Cohen limited a high fly to centre-fielder "Wilky" Wilkinson. The latter snagged the ball with little difficulty and promptly tossed it to the ground. The umpire, however, ruled it was not a fair catch and Cohen was then walked and Amedee Roy brought both base runners in with a driving triple, putting the homesters one to the good.

Again in the sixth the Montreal squad ran into some tough luck. Paul Ryan, running for Moxe after the latter had singled, tried to go to third base on Roy's single, but although he slid squarely into the ball nestling in third baseman Cleveland's glove, he was called safe. A heated argument followed, but Ryan stayed on third and proceeded Roy across the plate when Duplessis hit safely.

Manager Tom Hammond replaced "Ace" Lee on the bench for Sherbrooke in the fifth frame, after Lee had allowed seven hits, and held the ebony entries harmless for the remainder of the game. Robinson, starting Panther hurler, went out in favor of Fleming in the fifth, and Cleveland took over the pitching duties in the seventh. Between them they allowed the homesters seven hits.

The tilt was a nip and tuck affair in the first five innings, with both squads showing smart baseball. Bob Cohen nut Sherbrooke one up in the first when he singled after Ploski had walked. In the second, but the Panthers moved out in front in the second with two markers on angles by Cleveland, Birch and Bacon.

Amedee Roy's three-base blow in the fourth made the scoreboard read three to two for Sherbrooke, and the victors came back with a second, the fifth to knot the count. Frankie Kitch made it four to three for the locals in their half of the fifth when he went to second on Cleveland's wild throw to the initial sack and scored on Ploski's initial fly. The locals then proceeded to run up four more before darkness halted the game after Panthers' turn at bat in the eighth.

Tonight at six o'clock Sherbrooke will receive a visit from the long-leading Sorel squad.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Sherbrooke... 100 212 2x-8 7 0 Panthers... 020 010 00-3 7 3 Batteries: Lee, Hammond and Thompson; Robinson, Fleming, Cleveland and Birch.

STRAIGHT SETS DECIDED MEN'S SINGLES' PLAY

Mac Dunsmore, Bill Shink and Majella Charest Successful in Last Evening's Matches in Annual Tennis Championship Tourney.

All last evening's matches in the annual competition to decide the men's singles tennis champion of Sherbrooke were straight sets. Mac Dunsmore defeated Claude Bertrand 6-4, 6-4 on the St. Patrick's Academy courts, while at the Country Club Bill Shink topped A. W. Bishop 6-1, 6-3, and on the Boisvert courts Majella Charest emerged victorious over Marcel Gregoire by 6-4, 6-4.

Trailing by 4-1 in the opening set of his match with Bertrand, Mac Dunsmore flashed a brilliant form of tennis in overcoming his opponent's threat and taking the set by 6-4, and then going on to win the match in the following encounter.

Shink's drives were too hot for Bishop, and although the latter tried gamely, he was unable to cope with the masterful playing of his rival. Noted in local tennis circles for his steady brand of tennis, Charest lived up to his reputation in topping Gregoire. Although pushed hard by his competitor, Charest's persistence and coolness under fire brought him the victory.

STRAFACI AND DOERING LEAD U.S. AMATEURS

Shot Sub-Par 71's in Amateur Play—Somerville, Black and Thompson, Canada's Hopes, Remain Well in the Running.

Portland, Ore., August 24.—It's just a question of par or no play, and Arthur L. Doering, Jr., of Chicago, and Frank Strafaci, of Brooklyn, are the only ones so far who have whipped that apparent qualifying mark for the United States amateur golf tournament.

Doering and Strafaci set a wicked pace with 71's, one under par, yesterday in first day qualifying rounds that apparently eliminated twenty-one from competition for the sixty-four match play spots.

Right behind them over the rain-soaked Alderwood Country Club course were five sharpshooters with 72's—Eddie Hogan, of Portland; Ray Billows, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.; Harry Givan, of Seattle, Walker Cup player last year; Robert Babish, of Rochester, Minn., and Roger Kelly, of Los Angeles.

The starting field numbered 171. The Canadian contingent of three remained well in the running, with Joe Thompson, of New York, but originally of Hamilton, Ont., turning in the lowest figure with a 73. C. R. "Sandy" Somerville, Canadian champion, of London, Ont., a notoriously slow starter, finished with 77, the same count carded by Ken Black of Vancouver.

Johnny Fischer, of Cincinnati, defending champion, picked on too many trees and traps. He wound up in a tie with sixteen others at 76. Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, the outstanding favorite, and 1933 open champion, carded a 77.

SPORT FLASHES

Nobody is worrying much about Max Schmeling's latest plight. He brought it on himself. Before he met Braddock last June, Joe Louis wrote Max that if he won he would make his first title defence against Schmeling and split sixty per cent of the set gate with him. Nothing could be fairer than that. Well, Mike Jacobs said he bombarded Max with cablegrams and trans-Atlantic telephone calls but didn't get a rise out of him. No dice, in other words. Come back next June, Mr. Schmeling. One good run-around deserves another.

New York, Aug. 24.—The smallest turnout of visiting scribes at an important heavyweight bout since Braddock beat Baer will see Louis and Farr.

Looks like the weather man isn't going to give Mike Jacobs much of a break Thursday night.

SALES TRIMMED TODAY FOR KING GEORGE CUP RACE. Newport, R.I., Aug. 24.—King George V presented the cup for which three America's Cup yachts trimmed their sails today.

The competitors were Harold S. Vanderbilt's Ranger, his recent third successive defender of an even more famous trophy, the America's Cup; Rainbow, now owned and sailed by Chandler Hovey, but formerly Vanderbilt's 1934 defender; Gerard B. Lambert's Yankee, three times runner-up in the chase for defence nomination, and Istalena, R. N. Lanier's "M" boat, small in comparison with the "big 3" sloops.

The cup boats must allow Istalena a rather wide time allowance, which should not make them too contemptuous of their little rival, for she formerly won the King's Cup.

Conditions for competition for the King's Cup bar the two visiting Brits, T. O. M. Sopwith's recently defeated second challenger for the America's Cup, and his first Endeavour, unsuccessful in 1934.

on St. Pat's courts Bill Shink meets Bob Dunsmore, while at the Country Club half an hour later the winner of tonight's A. Hibbard-Y. Boisvert match will exchange shots with A. W. Reid. At 6:30 tomorrow evening on the Boisvert courts the winner of tonight's match between Johnny Hibbard and G. Cote will clash with the winner of the L. Goyette-Y. Cote contest.

LOUIS AND FARR GO INTO FINAL TRAINING LICKS

Mike Jacobs Beats Ballyhoo Drums to Arouse Indifferent Public for World Championship Bout Thursday Night—Small Gate Expected.

New York, August 24.—Amid the noisy but so far ineffective beating of the ballyhoo drums, sleek, brown-skinned Joe Louis and rugged Tommy Farr today get in their final training licks for Joe's first defence of the world heavyweight championship.

Louis, whose preparations have gone along like well-oiled clockwork, is scheduled for his last six rounds of sparring at Pompton Lakes, N.J. Farr, in keeping with the electric atmosphere which has pervaded his Long Branch, N.J., headquarters, has announced his intention of going the equivalent of fifteen rounds in the ring to make up for a rained-out session yesterday.

They'll both take it easy tomorrow and come to New York on Thursday morning in time to weigh in and fight a while before they clash for fifteen rounds or less in the Yankee Stadium on Thursday night.

Partly because it is the second title bout in a year that has seen the important heavyweights in the ring a good many times, and partly because no one has conceded the British Empire champion any sort of a chance, the public has shown little interest. Unless ticket sales take a sudden jump in the next two days the gate is not likely to go much higher than $200,000, of which Farr has been reported to have been guaranteed $80,000.

Predictor Mike Jacobs, still hopefully predicting a $300,000 gate, took steps to remedy this situation yesterday by announcing firmly that Max Schmeling would not be seen in the ring with the winner this year.

While he gave the lateness of the season as the main reason, it appeared that the fact Schmeling, conqueror of the Brown Bomber, was on hand and ready to fight in September or October, was causing some of the customers to hold off.

The press agents probably have taken worst beatings than either of the principals so far. There's been nothing eventful enough to make good copy at the Louis camp—Joe hasn't even looked as bad in training as he did before he lifted the crown from Jimmy Braddock.

And the news from Spring Lake hasn't been the kind to make the fans believe they would see a real fight. Farr's big and well-populated camp has been about as peaceful and quiet as Shanghai. Tonyraddy Tommy has been made at somebody almost ever since he landed and he's been surrounded by an equally peevish group of British sports writers who have had a grand time putting him on the griddle. It wasn't until Farr really let himself go the other day and tried to take a poke at Max Baer that the fans began to think he might have something.

Tommy is a rough strong young man. He had to be a fairly capable fighter to win the British Empire crown although he hasn't convinced a lot of the home folks yet. He came up the hard way, fighting since he was a youngster, and he has absorbed a lot of ring wisdom. Also he has superb confidence in himself.

RAN INTO TRAIN—CHARGED WITH NEGLIGENT DRIVING

Edmonton, Aug. 24.—Luke Majeau, twenty-nine years old, Villeveau farmer, escaped with bruises, and his two small children, a boy and girl aged four and five respectively, were unscathed when the automobile he was driving crashed into a moving Canadian National Railway freight train at a level crossing near here Saturday.

Majeau was summoned on a charge of negligent driving and will appear in police court.

BOMBER AT TARGET PRACTICE

JACKSON DICK WON TENNIS AT NORTH HATLEY

Defeated D. Dunnell 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 to Take Singles Title, and then Teamed with John Bassett to Gain Doubles Final.

Jackson Dick, of Atlanta, Ga., yesterday realized his ambition of winning the North Hatley men's singles tennis championship. Dick defeated D. Dunnell in straight sets by scores of 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

In the first set Dunnell led Dick by 5-0, and seemed to have it in hand. But Dick, runner-up in 1935 and 1936, was not to be denied. He suddenly flashed the form which had blasted Don Gordon, 1935 champion, off the court in the semi-finals to capture seven straight games and take the set 7-5. In the last two sets Dick was everywhere. His drives and overhead were faultless, and he passed Dunnell at the net time and time again, although the latter played fine tennis to prove that his victories over Rembert and Bassett were well deserved.

Dick, by his victory yesterday, ended successfully a three-year quest for the title which he lost to Don Gordon in 1935 and John Bassett in 1936.

Yesterday afternoon Jackson Dick and John Bassett, Jr., runners-up in the men's doubles in 1936, advanced to the final again this year with a straight set victory over Don Gordon and Arthur Nelson. The score was 6-2, 6-0, 6-4. The visitors teamed very well and were never headed. In the mixed doubles Miss "Twinkle" de Rosset and Sam Rembert, last year's champions, were beaten in a thrilling semi-final match by Miss Claire Thompson and Don Gordon, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3. Rambert, who was suffering from a slight indisposition, was not at his best, and after the first set. It was, however, a fine match throughout, and the final today between Don Gordon and Miss Claire Thompson against Jackson Dick and Miss Fredricka Bradley should prove an excellent contest.

CRUCIAL CUBS-GIANTS SERIES STARTS TODAY

Chicago Will Face Meal-Ticket Carl Hubbell in Initial Clash—George Selkirk Returns to Yankee Line-up.

The Giants may have their backs to the wall but at least it's their own wall.

And that's something even though New York's second-string candidates for a five-cent World Series are the iron-clad invincibles in their home Polo Grounds that the sure-fire Yankees are in their ball yard just across the Harlem River.

The Giants have lost more than twice as many home games—twenty-two to ten—as has the Ruppert riot squad. Even so their record there is better than on the road.

The short targets in right and left field familiar to Mel Ott and Co. may stand the Terrymen in good stead as, today, they face an eleven-game stand against the west.

Charley Grimm's Bruins go into the opening game, against meal-ticket Carl Hubbell, still holding that four-game lead with which they left Chicago a week ago. A strong finish against the Reds after a poor start against the Pirates kept their margin safe. The weather man chipped in with rain that washed the Giants out of double-headers with the Phillies two days in a row.

The Giants' had three of their front-line performers on the doubtful list—rowdy Dick Bartell, their pepper-pot shortstop; "Slick" Castleman, who has to pitch in a harness if at all, and Sam Leslie, the slugging first baseman.

The Yanks, swinging into the west for the last time and stacking up against the White Sox, are in much better shape to see up once and for all that American League bunting.

For virtually the first time this season, Manager Joe McCarthy had all five of his outfielders on hand. The latest to leave the list of injured and ailing is George Selkirk.

Selkirk ranks with the leaders on his seventeen homers—a mark topped only by three of his teammates, Joe DiMaggio, Lou Gehrig and Bill Dickey, and seven other American League sluggers.

Besides the Giants and Phils, the Dodgers and Bees, were rained out yesterday. Today Brooklyn meet the Cards in a double-header, while the Bees face the Pirates and the Phils meet the Reds. Detroit, seeking to clinch runner-up honors, faces the Athletics. Boston was at Cleveland and the Senators at St. Louis.

NEWARK TUCKED PENNANT AWAY YESTERDAY

Gentlemen, we give you the Newark Bears, International League champions for 1937 and by any standards that make sense one of the great minor league teams of baseball history.

The Bears backed comfortably into the pennant last night when the Montreal Royals split a double-header with the Baltimore Orioles. Perhaps the news they were in was too much for them to stand for. The Bears staggered through nine innings to lose to the Buffalo Bisons

With the pennant won, several records are just ahead of the amazing collection of players which is the toast of the Yankee farm system. Top margin for an International League pennant winning team is twenty games set by the Baltimore Orioles of 1921 over Rochester. Newark can snap that mark and also aim for the minor league record of twenty-eight hung up by St. Paul of the American Association in 1921.

If the Bears continue at their present clip they will win about 110 games for the season and finish with a percentage of .721, tops for a pennant winner in the league since 1903. They can also set a modern International League percentage record if they beat the amazing mark of .736 hung up by—of all people—the Jersey City Skeeters of 1903.

The pennant is Newark's fifth. The Bears first won in 1913. They didn't win again until 1932, but they kept it up in 1933 and 1934.

The Bears' showing last night was a sorry one. Steve Sundra, the Bears' starter, was wild and was ganged in the third for four runs and four more in the fifth.

The Royals, after beating the Flock by five to two in the opener behind Rip Poll's four-hit pitching, fell before Bill Lohman's relief hurling and a three-run homer by George "Pooch" Puccielli in the first inning, six to four.

Toronto Maple Leafs nosed out the Jersey City Giants, 5-4, by five to four, and Rochester nipped Syracuse by three to two.
