W. G. Moxley Turns First Sod For Boys' Club Bldg.

Turning of the first sod for the construction of the building to house the Unity Boys' Club, Inc., took place Monday afternoon. W. G. Moxley, director and secretary of the Unity Boys' Club, performed the ceremony which took place on the eastern side of the site, on Greene Avenue below Dorchester St., and north of the CPR tracks, opposite Staynor Park. The property was donated to the club this year by the City of Westmount.

The event will be the realization of the major project towards which members of the Rotary Club of Westmount have worked heart and soul for the past four years.

In the early spring of 1944 it was brought to the attention of youth authorities in the City of Westmount that a community club for boys and girls in the south eastern section of Westmount was badly needed.

The Rotary Club of Westmount immediately set up an objective of collecting a $175,000 building fund, as necessary for the project. In the past four years they have set aside the major portion of the proceeds from their yearly carnivals for the construction of a building. This spring the Rotary Club of Westmount conducted a campaign amongst the citizens of Westmount, business firms and other interested individuals for funds to complete their objective. The success of this building fund campaign was such as to enable them to start construction this week.

Invited guests to the ceremony included Claude Richardson, K.C., president of Welfare Federation, Charles Young, executive director of Financial Federation, Malcolm Blakely, president of the Montreal Boys' Association and Clarence Wiley, executive director, Alan McCall, president of the Boys'

Hospital Drive Lags

Curtailment Possible In Charity Work

An emergency meeting of the Homoeopathic Hospital's Campaign Committee was held at a late hour one night this week, at the Hospital, 2100 Harlowe Avenue.

The special session was called to discuss the Homoeopathic's drive for funds which is lagging at the half-way mark, with less than half of the $84,000 minimum objective received to date.

J. M. McConnell, Jr., General Chairman of the appeal, reported that territorial chairmen and special canvassers are redoubling their efforts to meet the objective by September 23rd. "If the campaign fails," Mr. McConnell said, "the Hospital will possibly have to curtail part of its charity work in the community, and this it is extremely reticent to do, as the Homoeopathic has done such great work in its 55 year history. It has a fine reputation to uphold. The Homoeopathic Hospital's Campaign for Funds is everyone's personal obligation, and it is hoped Montrealers and suburban residents alike will rally to the Hospital's support in its hour of need."

Subscriptions Said Coming In Slowly

The Homoeopathic Hospital's budget for the treatment of non-paying patients has been strained to the limit.

Since the Hospital's foundation, 55 years ago, a patient has never been turned away without first receiving skilled medical attention, regardless of whether or not he could afford to pay. Many of these patients received benefits of major surgery, full hospitalization and competent nursing, absolutely free of charge.

The Homoeopathic Hospital's Campaign for $84,000 which is now under way, is to help buy surgical, medical, laboratory and x-ray equipment to help these citizens of Montreal who cannot afford medical attention.

Irish City Asks Help to Make Two Ton Cake

How would you like to contribute to the making of a two-ton Christmas cake?

Westmounters have been asked by the Lord Mayor of Belfast, Ireland, to send sugar, sultanas, almonds, eggs, butter and peel in any quantities to Belfast for just that purpose.

It seems that they are interested in building a war memorial over that way and when and if they can get hold of the right ingredients in sufficient amounts, they plan to bake the cake and then sell it piece by piece to help the fund along.

The Lord Mayor of Belfast has sent Westmount City Hall a letter asking local officials to publicize their undertaking and he promises that everyone who contributes will receive a picture of the completed "project."

Just address your packages to:

Northern Ireland War Memorial Building Fund, c/o Scribans-Kemp (Northern Ireland) Limited, Springfield Biscuit Factory, Belfast, Northern Ireland.

Municipal Art Group Will Be Formed in City

If you are a local Picasso or are interested in the fine art of painting and drawing, and only work at home, a group is being formed which will enable you to work with models and improve your technique.

There will be a meeting on September 20th at 8 p.m. in the Oak Room of Victoria Hall to draw up the plans for the coming season; any person interested is cordially invited to attend.

Many fine art groups are functioning both in the City of Montreal and in Toronto and some great strides are being made by people who only paint for their own pleasure.

Such well known personages as Esther Goldenberg, Westmount's own famous artist, will help out in an advisory capacity.

Telephone the Recreation Supervisors at FI. 6975 for further information.

In a report from the Hospital's President, Douglas Bremner, this paper learned that every donation received will be directed towards the purchase of the finest, most up-to-date, medical equipment to help ease the suffering of the poor and the needy. Mr. Bremner urged that every private citizen and business concern on the Island of Montreal rally to the support of this great cause.

"The Homoeopathic Hospital has always rendered a great service to the community," said Mr. Bremner. "It faces a deficit if this objective is not reached."

The Homoeopathic was one of the first institutions to join forces with the police call ambulance system. Since its inception in 1946, day and night emergency calls have risen at an alarming rate.

J. M. McConnell, Jr., General Chairman of the Homoeopathic Campaign, said that subscriptions were coming in slowly.

Four Hospitals To Join In X-Ray Course, Sept. 19

The official opening of the course for Radiological Technicians to be given by the Radiologists and Senior Technicians of the following associated hospitals of Montreal — The Children's Memorial Hospital, The Homoeopathic Hospital of Montreal, The Jewish General Hospital and St. Mary's Hospital — has been set for Monday, September 19, 1949. Although the full number of students, as originally planned, has been accepted there is still the possibility that three more students might be accepted through openings at the Children's Memorial Hospital, The Homoeopathic Hospital and The Jewish General Hospital.

This course which includes a two-year training of theoretical and practical instruction in radiographic and radiotherapeutic techniques as laid down by the Canadian Association of X-Ray Technicians and the Canadian Association of Radiologists will thus provide the training that would enable a student to be admitted to the examinations of the Canadian Association of X-Ray Technicians for the diploma of Registered Technician.

Rotarians' Dream Now Becoming Reality

W. G. Moxley, who has shown more interest in the Unity Boys' Club than perhaps any other one man, is seen above as he turned the first sod for the building which will house the club. Looking on are several members of the club who were playing on the field before the ceremony. At right in the background are members of the Rotary Club of Westmount who are sponsoring the project.

Taggers Will Compete For C. S. P. C. A. Cup

Mrs. J. C. Watterson, of Carleton avenue, Westmount, is seen above presenting a contest cup to Miss Elsa May, Chairman of the Canadian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals' Tag Day Committee. The C.S.P.C.A. Tag Day Contest Cup is to be competed for annually. The tagger who makes the best collection on September 21 will have his or her name inscribed on the trophy.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

YOUNG ADULT SECTION

The Music Appreciation Group held its first meeting of the season last Thursday night when Lorne Hunter presented a concert of recordings from Schubert, Wagner and Chopin. The Group will continue to operate by the members arranging their own concerts and next week's concert will be presented by Ann MacFeely.

Badminton Group — The Badminton Group will start play next Tuesday, September 20th, at 7.30 p.m. The nights for play during the coming season will be Tuesdays and Fridays from 7.30 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. The arrangements for shuttlecocks will be the same as last year. Mixed swim sessions are being arranged from 9.30 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. on these same evenings in order that members of the club can take advantage of the showers.

Bridge Club — The Bridge Club is experiencing a large increase in attendance. Members are requested to bring their own cards as there is only a limited number available at the Branch.

Last Tuesday the Young Adult Section went to the Snowdon Alleys to bowl. This event proved very popular, and it is hoped that a further session can be arranged before the leagues get under way. High scores for the evening were Margaret MacLean and Gordon Clarke, with the low score being taken by Ann MacFeely, this being her first attempt at bowling.

An advance word about the crafts which will be operating during the coming season is that a course in leathercraft will be starting on October 6th; wood-working facilities are now available and a woodworking class is being organised to start in October; and the photography dark room is available to members of the photography club at any time.

If you have any enquiry concerning the programme, please drop in to see the Programme Secretary, or call EL. 1106.

Senior School Boys — The senior school boys will hold their opening fall banquet on Wednesday, September 21. The group will gather at 6 p.m. The evening is being planned by the senior banquet committee, chaired by Mr. Fred Russell. Election of officers will be held, and plans will be laid for the coming year. Marcel Courtois of Kamp Kanawana fame, a pianist and former leader of Westmount Y.M.C.A., will be present to lead the sing-song. Incidentally, Marcel will be leading the senior boys' life-saving group this fall. After the meeting, George Presho, Westmount "Y" basketball coach, will show a short film entitled "Championship Basketball." Following this, the basketball season will open in the gym, where all the basketball enthusiasts are invited to limber up their shooting arms.

Photographers will be glad to know that Gordon Allen has volunteered to take the senior boys photography class this fall.

Teenage Group — On Saturday evening, September 24, the Westmount "Y" Teenage Club will hold their opening fall dance. All arrangements are under the direction of Martin Boyle, President of the Club. Music will be supplied by the Melody Makers Orchestra. The executive of the Club will be attending the teenage conference at Otoreke on the weekend of September 31.

The Westmount Hi-Y Club, under the very capable leadership of their president, Mr. Richard Swan, is looking forward to a very active season. The executive is proud to announce that their old friend, Mr. Shaffleberg, will be their advisor again this year. The Club is planning its first meeting towards the latter part of September.

The Junior Hi-Y Club is holding its opening meeting on Monday, September 10, at 4 p.m.

The Triangles are holding their opening meeting of the year on Tuesday, September 20.

Junior and Intermediate Boys — The junior and intermediate boys are holding their opening banquet of the year on Friday, September 30, at 5.45.

Scouts & Cubs

By REG. GROOME

The Annual Scouters' Conference for the province of Quebec will be held again this year at North Hatley, Que., over the Thanksgiving weekend, according to Scout Headquarters here. Ernie Mills, Commissioner for Training at Canadian Headquarters in Ottawa, will be one of the guest speakers and a very interesting programme has been lined up. Scouters are urged to get their reservations in early so that HQ can have an idea of how many people will be in attendance.

The first meeting of the new season for Montreal West Wolf Cub Pack will be held next Friday week, September 23rd, at 7 p.m., in the Elizabeth Bannantyne School. All Cubs, New Chums and Cubs who are going up to Scouts are asked to attend this meeting, when the Montreal West Scout Troop will be present for the "Going Up" Ceremony. No meeting can be held this week because the gymnasium floor is being repainted.

Trinity Memorial

Fifteen Trinity Cubs went on a hike last Saturday to Cote Vertu, the Boy Scout weekend camp, where everyone had a grand time. On arrival, lunch (or dinner, if you wish) was prepared and eaten, too... and a "coke" topped everything off beautifully, except in the case of one poor sixer (no coke, we understand). After some exploring around, the Cubs played baseball and returned home shortly afterwards. Those who attended were: Sixers Bob Turnbull, Teddy Roberts and John Ancrum; Seconds Richard Howard, Douglas Lindores and Jim Goddard; Cubs Gary Worsley, Tom Goddard, Jim Chidley, Barry Barth, Peter Lindsay, Brian Carson, Graham Martin, Ian Taylor and Buster Armstrong.

An all games meeting was held at Trinity Monday night, the first meeting of the season. Twenty-four Cubs were present and the following New Chums were welcomed: Jack Witcher, Teddy Gosse and Michael Warmington. Sixer Bob Turnbull led the opening Grand Howl, followed by a "uniform" inspection. Akela gave a short talk on attendance, uniforms, etc., followed by more games. The meeting ended in the usual manner, with Cub Silence, Lord's Prayer and the Grand Howl.

The Red Six won the competition for the evening and Sixer Bob Turnbull was presented with the pennant. A Going-Up Ceremony has been planned for Friday, September 23rd. The following service stars were presented: 3rd Year, John Ancrum and Teddy Roberts; 2nd year, Gordon Merritt, Michael Schell, Gordon Smith and Garth Stuart; 1st year, Brian Hutchinson, Ronald Leadbetter and Peter Lindsay.

CHANGING OF THE GUARD

The following interesting bit of literature has been culled from a recent weekly letter of the British Broadcasting Corporation:

Every morning at 10.30 ever since 1660 the mounting of the Sovereign's Guard has taken place in London. In 1939 the full dress uniforms were put away in favour of khaki battledress but this summer (1949) they have been restored and the Changing of the Guard now takes place in all its glory as before. When the King is in London the Guard is mounted at Buckingham Palace; when he is out of town it is mounted from the Colour Court of St. James' Palace, both perfect settings for the red coats and black bearskins of the Guard.

The Changing of the Guard is a unique and stirring ceremony that visitors to London are always anxious to see. Even in bad weather it nearly always draws a sprinkling of sightseers and in summer in the streets behind the Palace, dozens of motor coaches draw up and from them pour streams of eager tourists, each party with an omniscient guide to explain the significance and history of the Changing of the Guard. The crowd watching the historic ceremony often consists of a couple of thousand people, who press against the railings of the Palace courtyard, crowd the steps of the Victoria Memorial that faces it and stand along the kerb. Americans, Europeans, British subjects from every part of the Commonwealth as well as people from all over the United Kingdom are there, the most junior members of the crowd perched high on their fathers' shoulders.

As the new Guard, preceded by its regimental band, comes swinging into the courtyard, hundreds of cameras click into action. Pictures of the Guards marching with the precision for which they are famous, a precision which seems as though their legs are controlled by a master switch and could not possibly be motivated by separate men, are not the only ones taken. It is almost a matter of routine for visitors to stand at the side of a Palace policeman or an impassive guardsman outside his sentry box, whilst another member of the party takes a pictorial record of the occasion. Recently a small kilted Scots girl was persuaded to stand there, a stance she was loath to take up, for a red coated soldier wearing a huge bearskin and holding a fixed bayonet was a terrifying companion for a five-year-old and one she could not stomach without the physical as well as moral support of her mother.

The ceremony lasts half an hour and at its close the crowds melt away, each one of them unforgettablely impressed by the beauty and permanence of English tradition.

World Calendar, Now Before United Nations, Blasted By Local Minister

"The religious convictions of millions in matters of Sunday observance, Holy days, Sabbath observance, etc., stand to be shattered overnight by putting into effect the proposed World Calendar now on the agenda at the United Nations General Assembly," said Rev. O. J. Ritz in a weekend address at the Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Westmount.

"This highly financed scheme which stands ready to destroy the basic continuity of the week, which has never been broken, stands to affect the religious convictions of millions of Roman Catholics, Protestants and Jews alike," said the speaker.

The pastor charged that instead of bringing peace and harmony into a world already bowed down with dissension, World Calendar would bring even greater confusion by disrupting sacred affiliations. Said he, "Multitudes of men and women would be thrown out of work for conscientiously observing Sunday, which day would one year be celebrated on Friday, the next year on Thursday, and so on. Children of good conscience would automatically be denied the benefits of public school education. Churches would be rent into innumerable factions by dispute over the keeping of sacred days."

The speaker observed that one of the most valuable assets a nation can rely upon in both times of war, peace, poverty and prosperity, is that of the deep seated devotions, and religious convictions of its peoples. "In this hour of national and international intolerance, no nation or group of individuals within the nation can safely afford to trample upon the religious convictions of its citizens for any cause, much less for the purpose for facilitating business and commerce," he said.

Mr. Ritz charged that favorable legislation on World Calendar would abruptly curtail religious liberty of the masses for the sole purpose of accommodating a few selfish business interests in their endeavor to simplify accounting. "That the world should be called upon to surrender its religious convictions to the proponents of the World Calendar simply to facilitate business accountancy," he said, "is a breath-taking charge, without precedent in the annals of mankind. The very foundations of our Christian nation stand to be disrupted. No nation can prosper by promoting materialism at the expense of religious values," concluded the speaker.

Retail Chain Store Not Built By "Guess-Work"

Members of the Westmount Rotary Club were given a deep insight into the workings of a Retail Grocery store, when Harry Sufferin of Steinberg's, told them the work accomplished by the research workers of that company.

He pointed out that the location of any new store was not a matter of guess-work, but a science, which is given days of study and analysis before any plans or foundation is laid.

Molson's Brewery Hits An Important Milestone

Montreal-Molson agents from all over the Province of Quebec gathered here last Friday when a silver barrel was ceremoniously deposited in the Reception Hall of Molson's Brewery to commemorate the production of 1,000,000 barrels of ale in the past year. This is the first time in the history of the industry of Canada that a single brewery has attained the million-barrel mark in a 12-month period.

Addressing the gathering, W. H. Molson, president of the brewery, said:

"Today we reach an important milestone in Molson history. It has taken the brewery a long time to reach this milestone; to be exact, it has taken approximately 163½ years.

"Whatever visions John Molson, the founder, may have had concerning his own business and the future of Canada, he could not,

SILVER BARREL MARKS RECORD — The silver barrel shown above is displayed permanently in the Reception Hall of Molson's Brewery Ltd., on Notre Dame Street East, to commemorate the millionth barrel of ale brewed within one year. This is the first time in the history of Canadian brewing that a single brewery has produced a million barrels inside a 12-month period. Presiding at ceremonies held over the weekend was H. W. MOLSON, president of the firm, who is flanked (right) by W. H. HYDE, brewmaster, and (left) by EDGAR GENEST, sales manager.

of course, in 1786, have planned and built a large brewery. In those days the City of Montreal had a population of only 8,000 and there were only something like 163,000 in all of Canada. It would naturally have been folly for him to make large plans. In the first year he brewed and sold only a few barrels . . . most likely it was only a pilot operation . . . a test brew to try out his skill and equipment. But he progressed encouragingly, and by 1788 had reached an annual production of 258 barrels. Progress from then on was steady but unspectacular. In 1886, 100 years after John Molson commenced production, sales amounted to 17,944 barrels, but this was not the record year for that century. 1870 was the brewery's best year, for they sold 22,150 barrels in those 12 months.

"You will quickly realize from this set of figures that the brewery, while doing very well, was not setting the St. Lawrence on fire. It was with the turn of the century that we began going places, and we have hardly paused for breath in 49 years.

"The cards of invitation which

Church Young People Open Season Wednesday

Trinity Memorial Senior Anglican Young People's Association announces the opening night of the 1949-50 season will be on Wednesday at 8 p.m., an event which will be purely social and will be at the Church Hall on Shérbrooke Street West at Marlowe Avenue. All young people 18 years of age and over will be welcome.

you received called this occasion our Millionth Barrel Party, and that is what it is. Today is the precise day on which we will have sold a million barrels since the first day of October last year. In other words, in eleven months and nine days we have made this record. It is a record of which the Directors are very proud, and I am sure that everybody in this room shares this pride with us. This is the first time in the history of the Canadian brewing industry that a single brewery has brewed and sold one million barrels within a twelve-month period. You are the people who have done this job, and it is right and proper that you should be here to celebrate with us.

"Obviously this record means that we are achieving other records as well. We have more people on our payroll today than ever before in our history, and the people that are here are working at higher rates of pay and drawing larger bonuses than ever before in our history. This all makes us happy, because a success such as we have achieved can only come as the result of group effort, and it follows that everybody should be rewarded according to the part which he has played."

Walter Legge of Granby Leader-Mail Writes "30"

Prominent citizen of the Eastern Townships, Editor and Publisher of the Granby, Que., Leader-Mail, Walter Legge, 58, died on Monday night at the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital the cause being a duodenal ulcer condition from which he had suffered extremely during the past week, being admitted to the hospital last week.

Born in Montreal in 1891, son of the late George and Sara Jean Legge, in his early youth he was educated at Granby where the family moved and later he attended business college in Montreal. He married the former Blanche Rean Sarroll of London, England.

For 20 years he was employed in several capacities by the Dominion Rubber Company and was at one time manager of the Granby plant. He later joined a brokerage firm and also was associated with United Maple Products of Granby. On the death of his father in 1932 he took over management and editorship of the Granby Leader-Mail, his father's weekly newspaper and, without previous newspaper experience, made the Leader-Mail an outstanding paper in the weekly field in Canada, continuing as publisher and editor until he died on Monday. President of the Ontario-Quebec Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association in 1936, Mr. Legge also served as Dominion President for 1941-42.

The C.W.N.A., in annual convention at Jasper Park Lodge, receiving news of his death, through Roy Bean, newly elected President, expressed deepest sympathy and stated the news shocked the convention. Messages were sent surviving members of the family in Granby saying how keenly the loss was felt.

Mr. Legge threw his whole singular ability into the weekly he operated and into Association welfare and during the war, in 1942, went to England as a member of a "Bomber Press Group" to write articles on the scene overseas which were published in most Canadian weeklies. He lectured before various clubs on his return on conditions as he found them in England.

Mr. Legge was a member of numerous clubs including the Granby Kiwanis Club of which he was a past president, the Granby Curling Club, the Granby Community Concert Association, the Mount Stephen Club of Montreal. At one time he served as secretary treasurer of Granby Horticultural Society and also of the Granby Board of Trade.

He was a member of the St. George Anglican Church, Granby, and for 17 years was its organist and choir director.

Mr. Legge is survived by his widow, a son, Donald C. Legge, both of Granby; two daughters, Mrs. J. A. Freeman (Helen), of Pointe Clapton and Miss Carroll Legge, nurse in training at the Montreal General Hospital.

The funeral service will be held in St. George's Church, Granby, at 2 p.m., Friday, Archdeacon M. Lidstone of St. George's Anglican Church will officiate, and burial will be at Pinewood Cemetery, Granby.

for a large retail chain store, the speaker said that numerous interviews are conducted and that questions asked by the interviewers include: how close they live to the store, if the customer comes to the store alone or escorted, how often they come to the store, and numerous others, all of which the speaker said completes a type of picture for the prospective location.

He pointed out that 40 percent of the buying done in self service stores was on impulse, and said that the men of his department keep a watchful eye on the population trends and the settling of new communities.

Throughout, Mr. Sufferin readily maintained that the opening of a store was a science, and that the work of a market researcher was a type of profession. He admitted that many people failed to realize the careful planning which is done before retail stores are built, but said that the job of research is gaining in importance every year.

"But that is not the only type of research work we do," the speaker said, pointing out that they have conducted wage surveys, delivery truck arrangements, communication systems, and many other important behind the scene jobs of the grocery store business. "Retailers", he said in closing, "are learning to act on the facts presented to them by departments such as ours".

He was introduced by Bill Tawse, and thanked by William Empey.

Fred Roast was made a member of the Westmount Rotary Club during the meeting Wednesday. Past District Governor, C. T. Medler read the charter, with Vice-President F. Kenwood presenting the new member with his pin.

WHO ARE DANGEROUS DRIVERS?

"Canada's $50,000,000 accident toll could be sharply reduced if driving inspectors were more interested in the family history of license seekers than in their ability to parallel park . . ."

Here's a startling fact found by Canadian psychologists — you drive as you live! Your driving reveals your character. Twenty-five per cent of all Canada's car drivers are "accident-prone" because they have the personality traits of the mal-adjusted.

Children's Theatre Opens Its Seventeenth Season

The Montreal Children's Theatre, today recognized as Canada's finest school of drama and radio, specializing in work with young people, opens its seventeenth season. Under the capable direction of Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, it has developed into an educational establishment of distinct value, offering a course which helps young people to over-come self consciousness, and to acquire a clear enunciation, good diction and poise.

The Montreal Children's Theatre has produced many tangible proofs of the value of its training. Those who have witnessed their stage productions and listened to their radio performances over CFCF will realize what a very valuable work can be accomplished in the training of children in various forms of dramatic art.

Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, the directors of the school, have recently returned from New York, where they were privileged by being invited as the Canadian Delegates to the Children's Theatre Convention which took place for a week at the Belmont Plaza Hotel under the auspices of the American National Theatre and Academy.

This year's programme, for which pupils may now register for both the north end and west end studios, will include productions of four full-length plays, — the first of which will be Red Riding Hood, which has been specially adapted into a modernized version of this ever favorite story. The Children's Theatre is the first to present Red Riding Hood in Montreal, and the performance takes place at Victoria Hall on Saturday afternoon November 5th.

Registration for the school is taking place now, for the north and west end studios.

In the men's section, Geo. Cairns was the top man when he carded an 81; next to Cairns came C. Regan and H. Smith with 83, T. Mahaffy and P. R. Minto 85 and P. Warner 86.

MASS HOUSING NO UTOPIA

Life magazine surveyed the housing industry and the conclusion was that people are so opinionated in what they want in a self-owned house that mass production on a national basis is almost impossible of realization, writes William Feather.

This writer has had no experience in adjusting himself to a mass-produced house, but he does know something about living in a standardized, space-saving apartment, built to accommodate a hundred and fifty families.

For the construction of this building the Federal Housing Administration underwrote approximately a million dollars, the builders put up half a million, and the prospective tenants put up another half million ($700 per room) for which they received negotiable preferred stock, paying six percent interest, and subject to amortization.

The building was erected at a time when large dwellings were saleable at the best prices available in many years. Middle-aged couples whose children had married and left them were eager to dispose of their big houses and settle in what at first seemed cramped quarters in the new building, in which rubbish and garbage went out the same door through which guests entered. There were no windows in kitchen or bathroom.

The adjustment was not easy for some, but it seems to have been made by all. Housekeeping has been greatly simplified. Prolonged absence merely involves locking the door. The only utility bill the tenant pays is for telephone.

Our point is that prospective homeowners will have to take less than they would like if they expect to buy and pay for a new house in the next few years.

THE PASSING OF WALTER LEGGE

News of the death of Walter Legge was received with a great sense of loss by the many local residents who knew him. A friendly, good-natured man, with a keen sense of humour, coupled with a thorough knowledge of newspaper work, he was as typical of the Canadian weekly journalist as anyone in the profession. As editor and publisher of the Granby Leader-Mail, he was known from coast to coast, and several times honoured with high office by his colleagues in the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. He was elected president of the Ontario-Quebec division in 1936, and made Dominion president in 1941 and 1942. He was actively interested in church work, and in service and community work in his native Granby, and won national recognition for a series of articles he wrote after a visit to war-time Britain as member of the "Bomber Press Group" in 1942. Both the profession of journalism and the community to which he developed so much of his ability and energy will regret his passing, as will the multitude of friends he made wherever he went.

So What?

X

By Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor,
Rector of Trinity Memorial Church

We might suppose that there was nothing more for the believer than the power and the assurance that we spoke of last week. But there is no limit to what God has to offer us. "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard..." Our faith has taken us into the presence of Christ, just as Christ Himself said to those whom He healed; "Thy faith hath made thee whole." We have been given power, but how are we going to use it?

Religion and the power associated with it have been used to strange ends. Very few of the religions which have grown up in the world have had much moral content. Men have used the power associated with them for their own selfish purposes.

Just before our Lord departed from His disciples, after they had experienced His Resurrection life, their minds were still set on earthly things when they asked Him: "Lord wilt thou at this time restore the Kingdom to Israel?" So He left them in His human form; He was received up into Heaven; and He taught them by His action that we have here no continuing city, but we seek one that is above." They went through the experience of Pentecost and bore witness to their Master that "God had exalted Him." Presently St. Paul laid the emphasis at the same point, but applied it to his Colossian Christians: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God."

There are two things involved: The first is Christ's departure, so that His disciples should not see Him again and have their minds set on an earthly kingdom; the second is the position that He accepts as a matter of right — He sits at the right hand of God. His is the place of highest honour and power in the universe — He shares the throne of God.

Both facts have a bearing on our everyday lives. The first emphasizes the double nature of our citizenship.

We have here no continuing city; yet we are members of an earthly community and owe our loyalty to it: we render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's. St. Paul was proud of his Roman citizenship, and enjoined loyalty to the State and the Emperor, though the State was pagan and the Emperor was a most evil man. St. Peter put the honour of the King in the same set of imperatives as the fear of God; Christianity deals with very earthly things, in fact, with all the things that concern the life of man and even those that concern the world that God has created, as we have tried to show in these sermons. It was Archbishop William Temple who said that Christianity was the most materialistic religion in the world.

But when that is said it still remains true that "we have here no continuing city," that the civilization which we enjoy will pass away as other civilizations have done in the past; that this city of which we are a part will some day be as derelict as Babylon. But the Church of the Living God will continue in this world, as the heart and soul of such civilizations as will follow this present one. It will also continue in the world to come, not for one age, but everlastingly; for we seek a city that is to come, whose builder and maker is God.

This may seem a queer idea to put in at this point; we are entering on a new school year, training a new generation of citizens — for what? There are just two kinds of education — the one that trains us for this world only, and the one that trains us for this world and also for the world to come — the schooling that recognizes our double citizenship.

The second fact that our Lord and Master shares the throne of the universe takes us back into the atmosphere of the Old Testament. It is expressed in the Psalms and in the prophets: "The Lord reigneth, let the earth rejoice; the Lord reigneth, let the people tremble;" "behold the Lord God will come with strong hand, and His arm shall rule for Him;" "All nations before Him are as nothing." We learn of the absolute sovereignty of God. He is Lord of the material universe for He made it, He sustains it, He will bring it to an end. He is Lord of the nations: not only did He bring up Israel from Egypt; He also brought the Philistines from Caphtor and the Syrians from Kir.

Or, put into our own terms, He brought Jacques Cartier and Champlain and their associates from France and Wolfe and Murray and Carleton from England and set them here to make one nation: "The Lord reigneth."

Christian Science

"Healing" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 114:7. "Tremble, thou earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible:—

"And it came to pass, when he was in a certain city, behold a man full of leprosy; who seeing Jesus fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him." (Luke 5: 12 and 13)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science & Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"The Principle and proof of Christianity are discerned by spiritual sense. They are set forth in Jesus' demonstrations, which show — by his healing the sick, casting out evils, and destroying death, "the last enemy that shall be destroyed,—his disregard of matter and its so-called laws. It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator."  "His Counsel Will Guide You."
 This will be the Title of the Morning Sermon in Westmount Baptist Church. Life itself is an Art but the greatest Art in life is the Art of being sincerely, winsomely, attractively Christian. Westmount Pulpit, during the Fall, is seeking to teach this Fine Art of Christian Living.
 At the Evening Service Dr. J.
 A. Johnston's Theme will be "Taken By Surprise". The New Testament has in it a great number of surprised people. Many of those who came into touch with Christ were surprised by His method of approach to them. As a matter of fact the Christian life is full of surprises. "You will be surprised if this wonderful thing happens to you".

 tation. The Upper School, from a.m. New pupils are welcomed.

 The Christian Fellowship Hour takes place on Wednesday Evening at 8 o'clock and is under the direction of the Minister. It is in this fine atmosphere of fellowship,

Bible Study and inspiring discussion that many find inspiration,

Women Of Israel Take Active Part In Country's Development

The women have played, and are playing, a great role in the development of the land of Israel, agriculturally, industrially, socially and in the world of art and culture. Mrs. Lillian Kert Cornfeld, of Tel-Aviv, Israel, told her audience on Monday afternoon when she addressed a joint meeting of all West-end Chapters of Hadassah at the Shaare Zion Community Hall, 5375 Cote St. Luc Road. Mrs. Cornfeld is a former Montrealer and a very large gathering was present to hear her describe the progress of Israel in recent months.

Referring to art in Israel, Mrs. Cornfeld noted that five concurrent art shows are on display in Tel-Aviv daily, much of the work on display being by women artists.

Culture takes a prominent place in the work of all institutions, and communal settlements and schools, said the speaker.

In Social Service women play the leading role, and they have sponsored many hostels and cultural activities for the immigrant women. Among the activities sponsored by the Hadassah and the Pioneer Women are agricultural training schools for women and others for children. Hadassim is a special project, a children's model agricultural village, where youngsters do all the work and at the same time study. Specially talented children are given scope in music, drama and the dance.

In the theatrical world women are very prominent, and many attend schools of ballet and study other types of dancing. The Palestine Orchestra which, Mrs. Cornfeld said, gives 20 concerts every month, contains many women artists.

With eleven daily newspapers, many weekly and monthly periodicals, lectures, and an average of a book and a half published daily, Hebrew has been definitely established as the cultural language of the country.

Although incoming immigrants were greater than the existing population, many of them arriving from countries with a somewhat primitive culture, the Palestinian culture was so firmly entrenched that, the speaker assured her audience, the level of all would be raised and there would be no swamping of the existence of art. Regarding the Arab population, Mrs. Cornfeld stated that Arabians in Israel would automatically be included in a free and compulsory educational system.

Mrs. M. Bernfeld, cultural chairman of the Shaar Hashomayim Chapter of Hadassah, introduced the speaker, and the President of the Shaar Zion Chapter thanked Mrs. Cornfeld.

Joan's CHATTER

Lunch Box Tips

To make this suggestion plural I'll leave to you for sandwich fillings, small scalloped dishes, salads, cookies, etc., I merely want to mention a few things about the thermos. First of all, I address, especially all those setting forth in the business world for the first time. (The older folks have made this discovery.) Be sure the thermos is filled with a wonderful, steamy aroma that comes from good COFFEE — the kind that instantly makes you sit up and take notice, that gladdens you to the marrow—and that definitely is BOKAR, with the vigorous, winey flavour; also, one word about the care of your thermos. Always wash and rinse it well, leaving it exposed to the air. A teaspoon of baking soda added to water and let stand, before airing, will freshen it. A baby's bottle brush is exactly right help, too. And that, folks, takes care of the thermos — except that you just might prefer one of A & P's other excellent brands, RED CIRCLE, rich and full bodied, or the mild and mellow 8 O'CLOCK, freshly ground at your neighbourhood Store.

Refresh the house by putting a few drops of oil of lavender in a container, then pouring hot water into it.

Button! Button! Do You Need a Button?

You certainly will if you are swinging along with the mode. All the best shops are showing dresses and even coats with multitudes of buttons this year. Study your fashion sheets. Isn't it quaint? I wonder what did it? There are costumes with diagonal closings front and others back and buttoned. On inquiry, I find that DRESSMAKERS SERVICE LTD., 2186 St. Catherine Street with a Branch — carrying a duplicate stock — at 5628 Sherbrooke Street West, near Oxford Avenue, supply a great many of these buttons to the exclusive couturiers, the factories and to your next-door neighbour for her home sewing. NO ORDER IS TOO BIG NOR TOO SMALL FOR THEIR CAREFUL ATTENTION. I went to DRESSMAKERS SERVICE LTD.—the one opposite the Forum—to learn a bit about buttons and was amazed at the immense stock they carry—not only buttons but the array of zippers, fine and coarse for every use, and, what's more, there are additional supplies in the large anteroom. Following around the shop I noticed tape measures, pins, pads, needles, seam bindings, etc. At the back, in the large anteroom, I saw the machines for making buttons, also for making buckles of every description. This place is a perfect heaven for any sewer—everything from thread to a pleating service. Did you know they even make button-holes and buttons and buckles with your material, of course? Just think of one thing any dressmaker might want and you will find it at DRESSMAKERS SERVICE LTD. They also handle a huge mail order. There is a complete line of trimmings, hemstitching, picot edging, monogramming, initialing; also they are the only firm in Canada carrying a complete line of Originator Patterns. They used to be on Guy Street, so if you have been looking for them — rejoice, for here they are.

The Need For Nursery Schools

By MARGARET DOW

Margaret Dow has led several local discussions on Parent Education and has been on the Willingdon Home and School Executive for two or three years.

Is Nursery School necessary? Many parents probably feel that school for the pre-school child is a dispensable luxury not needed for the full development of their child. Provided that all conditions prevail in his home and environment to ensure his rounded growth, this may be true. But in modern times and modern cities, this is indeed a large provision.

It is said that the child learns more rapidly in the first six years of life than at any other time. Can we then give the child what he needs, during this period, to allow him to grow socially, emotionally and physically to the greatest degree? Can we give him the essentials? Let us look at some of them.

Space

That outdoor and indoor space is at a premium in the city is an understatement. Look at the vanishing fields and vacant lots. They are replaced by lawns and gardens, lovely to look at but obviously not designed for the vigor of children's play. Parks and playgrounds are not always conveniently situated, nor even planned for 2, 3 and 4 year olds. Smaller housing units for smaller families rarely include play space for the child.

A good Nursery School will provide plenty of outdoor space for all types of outdoor play and adequate indoor space for free play, music and dancing, together with rest-room and bathroom, the latter preferably scaled to small size for the children.

Companionship In Own Age Group

Shared play with children not very much older and not very much younger is, of course, one of the most essential provisions. Small families do not afford the child that inter-play with his fellows, so necessary for social growth. The street does not always lend itself to companionship either, when safety, property, and adult feelings must be considered.

In this shared play the child learns that other peoples' wishes are also real; that if there are leaders there must also be followers. With other children he can freely work out his fantasies, carry out his dramatic games, make and do things with others, in a world of childhood that no adult can re-enter. This is concrete experience of social relationship and tolerance within the bounds of a child's world, unhampered by adults and tempered with as little supervision as possible. No Nur-ery School worthy of the name neglects this most important feature. Furthermore, it is carried on in an atmosphere conducive to this kind of play with materials at hand to suit all the child's needs. A feeling of security and sympathy between the child and the teacher forms, of course, the requisite background for the child's free expression.

Freedom To Play Creatively, Vigorously

What a large territory that covers! Can it be done at home? This freedom is, of course, once again, subject to those conditions mentioned above — safety, property, etc. But into it comes new elements. The fear of ridicule from older age groups can stifle this type of play almost out of existence. The endless "Don't's", the use of such terms as "bad" and "dirty", springing from so many adult shames and fears, tend to warp a child's play. The necessary noise, the banging, shouting, are not possible in the modern community. Nursery Schools provide a proper outlet for the energy, with healthy direction.

Supervision Based On Understanding

Is it possible in ordinary street play for a child to receive that kindly direction based on understanding, not only of the individual, but of the normal behaviour of these age groups? Too often too much or too little is expected of the child. A Nursery School teacher must be well qualified to understand the development of the individual while helping him to adjust to the group. She can draw out the shy and timid, and help the aggressive to co-operate. This requires specialized training. Play materials of all kinds, de-

Red Cross Announces Home Nursing Courses Will Begin Shortly

The Montreal Red Cross has announced that its fall-and-winter course in Home Nursing will start soon, and that young women may apply by afternoon interview next week, for enrolment at the Society's quarters, 2035 Guy street.

The courses aim to teach women the elements of nursing, in order that they can undertake voluntary nursing in their homes under professional guidance, and thus help in many cases to relieve the strain on hospitals and professional nurses. English-language and French-language classes are held separately.

The first of these courses was held in 1947. Last year's classes qualified 150 Montreal business women and wives in home nursing.

signed to meet all his interests, his mental and physical needs, are beyond the means of most parents. Jungle gyms, large blocks for building, waggon, see-saws, swings, slides, sand for vigorous outdoor play, are important in helping a child to learn control of his body. Housekeeping equipment, books, clay, paint, music indoors, all encourages children to work creatively with the materials of his everyday world, act out his fears and hates and grow socially and emotionally through his shared experiences with other children.

It must always be remembered that a Nursery School, however good, is merely an adjunct to, and not a substitute for the home. The warm home atmosphere always remains the basic necessity. If you are considering Nursery School for your child, the teacher will welcome, and need your help. As he shares with other children, so you will share with other parents in learning about your child. You and the teacher together can help the child emerge from his own small world into the larger one waiting him.

In the past, the world of furniture has seen an "Oak Age" — it has seen the "Age of Walnut" and the "Golden Age" when mahogany took over. Now it is experiencing what might easily be called the "natural age", when woods in great variety are being handled in an assortment of neutral finishes focusing on the natural grain and texture that spell "beauty" for a piece of wood.

Let's Eat

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

The other evening in a railroad station restaurant where I happened to be dining, there was a young couple seated at the table next to mine who were discussing the problems of repaying social obligations.

"I realized that one should not accept hospitality without being prepared to return it," she said.

"I agree with that," he said. "But I don't think those wealthy people who entertained us when we were West should have expected us to entertain them on the same scale."

"It took two whole weeks of our food money," she added ruefully.

"What did you advise this young couple?" inquired the chef.

"I kept a discreet silence," I announced. "They were intelligent and I was sure they would learn to avoid further problems of the same kind."

"Then, madame, you think they should avoid accepting dinner invitations from their wealthy friends?"

Nice Compliment

"Oh, no; a gracious acceptance is a compliment to a host and hostess. But when the times come to repay the social obligation, it should be without pretence, and on a scale within their means. Charm and graciousness, combined with sincerity, simple foods, good cooking and pleasant service, can produce a delightful meal."

Main Course

"The main course might be a fine casserole of lamb or beef with fall vegetables and a fluffy potato border," I suggested.

"Your famous American biscuits or corn sticks would be good with this, madame, and give the hostess a chance to put in her personal baking touch."

There may be a selection of 6 kinds. They should be arranged in matching dishes and attractively garnished with parsley, radish roses, olives or pickles, celery curls or cress. Fill the dishes generously.

Casserole of Lamb or Beef With Fall Vegetables

Order 2 lamb shanks with the bones removed, or buy 1½ lbs. round or chuck steak. Cut the lamb crosswise in slices, or if beef steak is used cut in half-sized portions. Brown the meat on both sides in 2 tbsps. fat. Dust with ¼ tsp. powdered thyme, 1 tsp. salt and ½ tsp. pepper. Arrange in a layer in the bottom of a very large casserole. Over this arrange a 1" layer of tender summer squash or zucchini cut in ½" slices and a dozen peeled button onions. Dust with a little salt and pepper. Over this arrange a layer ½" thick of green lima beans, dust over a little

WRONG WAY: Tell it for the laughs you are sure to get.

RIGHT WAY: Don't, if it is likely to cause the person embarrassment.

Paris Designers Hoist Hemlines; Most Fashion Changes Are Slight

Paris — The last word in fashions from Paris has skirts going back up. From the gradually climbing hemline of last year, Parisian designers have hoisted skirts as high as 15 inches from the floor.

But this and other changes are not so sweeping that women will have to throw away their wardrobes and start from scratch, as some did when the New Look first burst on the fashion scene. Generally, the 1949 fall collections are an evolution, rather than a revolution.

The basic silhouette is slim, slender and supple. Shoulders are normal, although less sloped, and there is a distinct tendency to effects giving width. The bosom is still stressed, but the waistline no longer is strangled and hips are unaccentuated.

For daytime wear, the full, swinging skirt has virtually disappeared. In its place is the skirt that is coiled, wrapped and molded around the figure.

Here is what some of the designers have brought out:

Jacques Fath—The designer of Rita Hayworth's wedding trousseau has built his entire collection around the sheath silhouette, FASHION INTERMISSION is featured by an ice-cream vendor in the garden of a Paris designer's salon. The buyers and fashion writers pause for some refreshment before going back to view more of the new styles.

even in models where width is introduced. He has gone all out for buttons, claiming he has counted more than 4000 in his creations.

The straight lines of his simple chemise dresses are broken up by pockets, peplums and bows. Cocktail suits feature black or the new "near-black" colors. These have jackets, usually hip-length, which show unusual collar treatments. Fath has also played with scarfs and stoles on many dresses, as well as coats.

In evening gowns, his outstanding creations are built around the new version of the ultra-wide pleated tulle gown placed on a stiffened "cone" underskirt. Another favorite theme is the dress with a slender, sheath-like front buttoning over at the back onto a full pleated godet panel.

Molyneux—Most unusual effect here was a jewelled ankle bracelet, worn by the mannequins with late afternoon and the shorter-than-ankle-length evening dresses. Afternoon and town ensembles were completed by small fur collarettes and huge muffs. Shoes had astrakhan or ocelot trim and ankle-straps. Hats were brimless and worn at an accentuated angle.

Molyneux placed stress on the "flower line," using it effectively in both afternoon and evening models. The skirt of one evening gown was worked entirely in oversized tulip petals.

Piguet—Here has launched the "Minaret" and the "Spindle" lines. The former features stiffened basques over a sheath skirt, while the latter gives a silhouette widened through the shoulders and narrowing at the hem.

Piguet's "shutter" necklines, which open to disclose intriguing decolettes, are new, and he exploits them in his cocktail and evening dresses. The backs are either bloused or have wings sprouting at acute angles.

Schiaparelli—The theme of this collection was "Stop and Go." Skirts for daytime models were definitely shorter and more slender, with the waistline built up. Jackets, too, were shorter, and fitted with single or double collars.

Among the accessory notions Schiaparelli featured were long, narrow muffs in ocelot or beaver; ostrich feathers covering the full skirt of a short evening dress; a deep-pointed black bearskin shawl which could also do duty as a travelling rug; oversized single diamond ear-ring shaped like a flower; and enormous paper-weight buttons.

Home Education Telephone Nickels

My friend, Edith Rice, with whom I was visiting, opened the side door just as her nine-year-old son, Albert, arrived almost breathless.

"Mom," he began, "I'm going with Ralph and Norris to pick apples for Mr. Snow. I'll be back by six".

"All right, Albert," she replied.

The boy still lingered, glancing hesitatingly in my direction. Then he went close up to his mother and said, "I've spent my nickels."

"Your phone nickels?"

"Yes, my phone nickels."

His mother reached for her purse, took out two nickels, handed them to him, and said in a friendly tone, "You shall tell me about it tonight, Albert."

The boy looked relieved, thanked her, and with a hasty "Good-by," was gone.

"What are phone nickels?" I asked Edith.

"Nickels with which to telephone home," my friend answered, smiling. "At one of our parents' meetings, a mother complained that she never could know at what time her seventeen-year-old son would return when he went out in the evening with other young people. He would promise to be home at a definite time but often arrived hours later. This mother asked for advice, and after the matter had been carefully discussed one member of the group remarked that adolescent problems would be less difficult if boys and girls learned, when young, to have proper consideration for all the other members of the family — especially their parents.

"Albert was almost eight then, and I began at once to make him feel an affectionate responsibility to his father and to me. I did not stir up his emotions but talked to him in a companionable manner. I remarked that we were a small family and ought always to know each other's whereabouts. I told him that when I expected to be away from home, at the time he would arrive from school, I would leave a note for him on the table. I said, too, that at all times I would like to know where I might find him. Since then, I have kept a nickle tacked loosely in two pockets of each of his suits. These — he understands — are to be used only for home telephone calls, and when one is used he must have it replaced as soon as possible. Usually, they remain undisturbed for weeks at a time; he knows he must not use them when he can contact me directly."

I was quite interested, and I expressed my appreciation. Then, that evening, I was seated on the piazza, knitting, when the following conversation floated out to me from an open window:

"Mom, I want you to know how I spent the phone nickels."

"Yes, Albert."

"Well, some of the fellows were going to buy ice-cream cones, and I heard Jack Holt say, 'Oh, Al never has any money.' It made me pretty mad. So, although I did not really want the ice cream, I went in with the boys and bought some. It was foolish, I know, and I had to use my phone nickels to pay for it. But I've earned fifty cents picking apples, and here is your ten cents. Now it is all right — isn't it, Mom?"

"That's something I'd like to have you think about, Albert. You know what a principle is, don't you?"

"I ought to, Mom. You've explained it often enough, but—"

"I'm afraid you have disregarded a principle. Were the nickels you—"

"No, only for telephoning; but spent your nickels?"

"I merely borrowed them."

"No one can borrow unless someone lends. One can take; but if a man takes what does not belong to him, people call it by an ugly name."

"Oh, Mom! But I am paying this back."

"Something might have prevented you from earning that money. Suppose you were the treasurer

Fashion Hints

Novelty notions add charm, allure and versatility to the new fashions. Here is a simple daytime dress of brown wool crepe that gets the glamour treatment via a removable white ribbed silk vestee, and matching gloves. Six covered buttons with gold rims decorate the bodice. The sleeves are bracelet length. The skirt is moderately flared and has cuffed pockets.

Banana, Cottage Cheese Good Salad Companions

Bananas and cottage cheese are good salad partners too. It's the crisp salad green they are bedded on which offer the texture contrast here. This is the type salad you can make up in singleton when you're dining alone or feature for luncheon guests with equal ease. A tart French dressing, a dash of paprika on the cottage cheese, a garnish of parsley, and a stuffed olive slice lend the finishing touches to this attractive, nourishing salad.

Peel banana and cut lengthwise into halves. Place halves, cut sides up, side by side, in center of salad plate. Place scoop of cheese at each end between the banana halves.

Brush to remove surface spots from fabric shoes. Use spot removers on garbardines, but not on elasticized fabrics. Directions given with the product should be carefully followed, since dry cleaning fluids if used too generously may loose the adhesives used in shoe construction.

of the Junior Baseball Nine; could you 'borrow'—even for a moment—from the money in your keeping?"

"No—no, I couldn't do that."

"The same principle governs both cases, Albert."

"Yes, I see. Now, what must I do?"

"Give me the nickels; then, forget the incident but remember the lesson."

"I shan't want to do that again, Mom,—really I shan't."

The voices died away, and I was left to my own thoughts.

That famous Caucasian dish, "Schaschlyk" — it has a dozen different spellings, but all mean the same marinated meat on skewers — a specialty of an amateur chef friend of mine who spent several years in the Near East. He makes the real thing, like his Caucasian hosts, and it has now become a special feature of his Sunday lunches. His recipe insists on lamb for the meat — the youngest obtainable. To serve four, he buys one and a half pounds of lamb steak. SCHASCHLYK: Pour into a saucepan a cup of vinegar and about a cup and a third of water, add some sprigs of rosemary and a couple of bay leaves, and a teaspoon and a half each of salt and sugar. Bring to a boil, then simmer for five minutes, then let cool.

Trinity Players In Rehearsal for 1st Production

Trinity Players, who are nearing the half-century mark, as each consecutive season finds them in rehearsal for a new play, will offer for their first production of 1949-50 "The Young and the Fair", a play in three acts by N. Richard Nash.

"The Young and the Fair" opened in New York in November 1948 and enjoyed a very successful run on Broadway — it is currently playing in London and has been most enthusiastically received.

Mr. Nash is a young playwright who has directed the Haverford College Theatre and the Bryn Mawr College Theatre and won the Maxwell Anderson Award with his play "Parting at Insdorf", which was published in the Best One-Act Plays of the year.

"The Young and the Fair" is laid in a fashionable Junior College for young women, with a large cast of 21 — no men required.

Trinity Players will present the Montreal Premiere of this play on the evenings of Oct. 26th-29th, in Trinity Memorial Hall.

Good Queen Bess Liked Gloves Gay With Gems

Gloves were plain or embroidered until the time of the Tudor Queen Elizabeth who introduced the fashion of jewelling them. Her gloves were sewn with real pearls, diamonds, rubies, or emeralds. They were heavily perfumed, too.

Although gloves have been used from earliest time by men, and since the 13th century by women, they were sloppy and ill-fitting until the 19th century. A Frenchman, Xavier Jouvin, changed that and is responsible for the well-fitting gloves of today. He studied the hand and classified 32 different sizes of hands and five types, each type dividing into two classes. So, altogether, he enumerated 320 different sizes of human hands and shapes and, to this day, glove sizes are based on the classifications of Xavier Jouvin.

"Separates" Give Wardrobe Variety

Separates long ago won their laurels as wardrobe backbones and one group that is completely sold on this is the teenager.

A recent survey of her favorite fashions discloses that she and her junior sisters would like to own these separates — 5 skirts; 6 blouses and 5 sweaters. Of course, dresses, shoes and other accessories as well as lingerie, including costume jewelry round out the list.

While most every chick cannot afford a "wardrobe" in a season, nor in a year even after baby sitting and hoarding to fill the piggy bank — she likes to plan wisely and in time own a basic group that will help see her through high school. If she plans college, purchases in her senior year can get her college wardrobe off to a good start too.

When selecting a blouse, fabric is all important and the wise chick will look for tags that tell her how to keep it looking new. Washable rayons and cottons are favorites for their upkeep is almost nil — just a matter of soap and water and some time ironing while a hair-setting is drying or she listens to a new record album.

More about baking fat: when you cut rounds of dough from Parker House rolls brush with melted butter before you fold the pieces in half and place on the pan to bake.

Five Presentations Slated

Red Feather Revue show-girls (l. to r.) Dorothy Cameron, Lisette Meriot, and Betty Evans, are shown with the show's producer John Pratt, well-known Montreal stage artist, famed for his "You'll Get Used To It," from "Meet the Navy," going over one of the intricate routines of the Revue, which is slated for five local presentations, the first at the Queen Mary Road Veterans' Hospital, Thursday, Sept. 15. The Revue, an annual free show to bring the campaign of Welfare Federation of Montreal to the attention of the public, will include vocalists, comedians and special numbers in addition to an attractive chorus. On Monday, September 19, the Red Feather Revue will be presented in the West Hill High School; Wednesday, Sept. 21, in Montreal West; Friday, Sept. 23, in the Hampstead High School; and Wednesday, Sept. 28, in Victoria Hall, Westmount. Everyone is invited to the performance in his neighborhood, but children must be accompanied by parents. Curtain time for each presentation of the Red Feather Revue is 8.15.

George Gahan's Record Rendez-Vous

Well, of course, the biggest news of the week, from the musical standpoint, is that Norman Granz's Jazz at the Philharmonic group plays the Verdun Aud. on the 28th of this month. Among the famous jazz musicians who will be seen during the course of the evening will be Flip Phillips, Hank Jones, Lester Young, plus many others equally as well known. One of the main attractions, however, will be Ella Fitzgerald, who will appear as vocalist throughout the evening.

The popularity of this group has been well established during the past several years, and their popularity was forever assured after the issue of their first record album, ("How High the Moon" and "Oh, Lady Be Good"), which became an overnight sensation. Since then they have issued several more albums, and all have been best sellers. Their latest featuring Illanios Jaquet and Flip Phillips, is steadily becoming the best seller of the lot. The name of that particular jam session is "Mordido".

Tonight will see the final performance of "The Barber of Seville" a Canadian Concerts and Artists presentation which is being held at His Majesty's Theatre. The first of the two performances of this opera was held last night and was very well acclaimed.

The Astor Cafe has come up with a very worthy idea. All day last Tuesday, they held a "Help Fight Polio Day", and donated 50 percent of all returns to the Legion Polio Fund. Benefit performers donated part of their valuable time, and among those to be seen through the day were: Theresa Daly, famous radio star, Bob O'Neile (areal comedian), The Hal Clayton Quartet, and many, many more. The whole show was very capably MC'd by Frank Monroe.

A shining door-knocker makes a good first impression. Add a drop or two of ammonia to your polish, and, to protect your door, cut out a square of cardboard to fit over your knocker so that the surrounding paintwork is not rubbed away.

For a delicate onion flavor, use only a drop or two of onion juice. Just cut unpeeled onion in half and squeeze on a lemon reamer.

AT THE WESTMOUNT

Gary Cooper as a Texas Ranger battles side by side with the gallant Mounties in Cecil B. DeMille's stirring drama "North West Mounted Police," which starts Sunday at the Westmount Theatre.

"Family Honeymoon" And "3 Godfathers" at the Monkland

Teamed for the seventh time in their careers, the memorable duo of "The Egg and I" come through with another record-breaking success in "Family Honeymoon." The new comedy, an all-time movie laugh champion if there ever was one, opens Saturday at the Monkland Theatre. It is presented by Universal-International.

The basic idea of this hilarious screenplay is simple. Miss Colbert, seen as a college-town widow with three children, marries MacMurray, who portrays a botany and horticulture professor. On the day of their wedding, the spinster baby sitter who was to have custody of the children during the honeymoon breaks her leg. Nobody wants to take care of the little imps so the newlyweds have to take them along to Grand Canyon on a family honeymoon which, as MacMurray observes rather dryly, "is better than no honeymoon at all."

A honeymoon with a personnel of five is bound to be full of fireworks and in this case they start exploding at the film's outset, when the two small boys desert the train and are the objects of a hectic cross-country pursuit which winds up with the honeymooning couple sharing the beds and board of a farm couple who have six children of their own.

Stepfather MacMurray finally blows up at the intolerable antics of his newly-acquired brood and gives one of the kids an old-fashioned posterior paddling. The mistake leads to a general misunderstanding with his bride, who thinks he is philandering with an old sweetheart and that his disciplining of the children is only to cover up. Out of this seemingly hopeless tangle always emerges a climax which will always be remembered as the most comical happy ending ever contrived for a motion picture.

Much of the film is backgrounded by the Grand Canyon, which is beautifully photographed. But first and last, the picture is a consistent, heartwarming, effervescent series of chuckless, guffaws and plain old belly laughs.

Gerald (Gerry) L. Chernoff, well known to Quebec motion picture exhibitors, took over the reins as Montreal manager for Twentieth Century-Fox on Monday. A graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology and philosophy, Gerry, who is very popular in Film Row on Monkland avenue, N.D.G., is regarded as one of the most promising younger executives in the Canadian film industry.

It's entertainment for the whole family. John Beck and Z. Wayne Griffin co-produced from a screenplay by Dane Lussier, based on the novel by Homer Croy. Claude Binyon directed, William Daniels photographed and the featured cast includes Rita Johnson, Hattie McDaniel and Chill Wills. The three clever children in the cast are Gigi Perreau, sensation of "Enchantment," Peter Miles and Jimmy Hunt. Added Feature "3 Godfathers" with John Wayne.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

Pictured here are Gerard "The Team" Lecavalier, the always calm, always cool, always collected — and always effective — moundsman of Ascension's pennant winning 1949 Snowdon Senior Fastball League aggregation, and Morris Steinberg, general manager of the Steinberg's Fastball Club. Morris is seen at Macdonald Park Sunday presenting Lecavalier, who was this year for the second consecutive season voted the Snowdon League's most valuable player, the Steinberg Trophy. Lecav, over the full season's route, tossed Ascension to a total of 20 regular schedule and playoff wins.

Steinberg's Oust Ascension From Snowdon Playdowns

Crippled by the absence of Doug Heron, their heavy hitting outfielder who was ill in Toronto with stomach trouble, and of Leon Peloquin, their crackerjack third baseman and a much feared man with a mace, Ascension proved easy game for Steinberg's up at Macdonald Park last Saturday afternoon, going down 7-1 in the seventh and deciding game of the two clubs' hard fought semi-final Snowdon Senior Fastball League series.

The win gave the Steinbergers the series four games to three and sent them into the finals against Columbus.

It was for Steinberg's a magnificent comeback. The grocers had dropped the first two games of the series to the smooth playing Westmounters and seemed well on the road to elimination.

But then Gerard "The Team" Lecavalier, Ascension's number one hurler and the Snowdon circuit's most valuable player for the second consecutive season, left town for his holidays.

Steinberg's took advantage of his absence to win the next two games and tie up the series at two games apiece. Ascension then went ahead one game as Emmett Jones hurled magnificent ball.

But on Labour Day Steinberg's came from behind to win a 12-inning tilt that again knotted the series and on Saturday, despite the presence of Lecavalier, they racked up a highly impressive win.

Saindon in Form

Pain Saindon, the Steinbergers' young righthander and winner of the league's 1949 rookie award, was the big gun in the grocers' decisive win. The Three Rivers puckster held the Ascensionites to two hits, both of them coming in the seventh, and walked only one while fanning 11.

Lecav went all the way for Kevin Kennedy's popular Krew but it was, for the lad who hurled the Ascensionites to 18 victories in the course of the regular schedule, an off day. He was nicked for a total of 13 hits — which is about twice the number the imperturbable Gerard usually gives out.

The course of things to come was evident in the top half of the first inning when the Steinbergers collected three runs on three hits, one error and a passed ball.

From that blow the Westmounters never seemed to recover. They held the grocers scoreless until the seventh when the Snyder

Locals Out To Win Second Straight Championship

By BOB LUNNY

The Westmount Warriors, 1948 Junior Q.R.F.U. Champions will open their 1949 grid season when they play Rosemount Sunday at Rosemount in the curtain raiser of the Junior Schedule. Coach Bruce Johnson has built up a formidable squad this year and has high hopes of winning his second consecutive championship. The Rosemount grounds are situated at 6th Ave. and Beauvoir. Starting time is 2.15.

For the benefit of local fans, there will be two buses leaving the Westmount Junior High grounds at two o'clock. At present the ends and backfield show plenty of speed and initiative.

Whites Battle To 0-0 Draw

Grant Gills Westmount Whites Pee Wee soccer team started out the season with a tie against the smart Verdun team. The Whites were bigger than Verdun but could not match them in skill. The game ended in a 0-0 draw. Doug Patterson had the best opportunity to score when he broke into the clear but his shot missed the net. Wayne Hibberd, R. Smith and D. Christensen were best for Westmount, while the three Campbell boys, B. Menarey and J. Miller handled the ball smartly for Verdun.

On Wednesday night the Whites travelled to Ville St. Pierre for the first away game of the season. The fast St. Pierre team were just too smart for Westmount and handed them a 3-0 setback. Louis Bedard was the big gun for the St. Pierre team banging in two goals. George Nimigeau notched the other St. Pierre marker. Robert Hayes and Eddie May played stand-out ball for the Ville team. Wayne Hibberd, G. Dixon and R. Smith were the best for Westmount.

On Saturday morning the Alouettes play Westmount Whites and the Westmount Stars meet Verdun, in Westmount Park.

Intermediate Sudden Death Final Saturday

A sudden death final game will be played for the Intermediate League softball championship at N.D.G. Park at 3.30 p.m. Saturday.

Westmount's highly rated Ascension crew will face Oxford Park for the title, both teams having won two games so far in the playoffs.

The Oxford team, who captured second place in the league's pennant race this year, eliminated St. Augustine's in the semi-finals, while Ascension, the pennant winners, were able to nose out Robitaille in their semi-final series.

Following this, Oxford gained credit for the first two games, with Ascension winning the next two to even the count.

Horsemanship Club Show September 25

The Horsemanship Club Horse Show and Hunter Trials will be held at Kilowen Farm, St. Mary Road, St. Annes de Bellevue, on Sunday, September 25, starting at 10.00 a.m. Mrs. F. H. Dillingham is acting as chairman of the show.

Entries closed September 10.

The various eligible to compete are as follows: Junior, Conformation, and Working. Other classes include owners up — working hunter, Canadian Bred Hunter for the O'Connell Trophy, Currier Cup, Pair of Hunters, Open Jumping and F.E.I. Jumping.

starting ends will be Ian McGee and Dave Binmore. The backfield will be made up of George St. Jack Lunny, John Chase, Lawson with George Tobias in the quarter. Jack Walsh will be likely starter at snap. The mid and insides have yet to be named. The Westmounters first home game will be played here on Saturday afternoon.

DEADLINE FLASHES

The main topic of conversation around town is "Can Westmount win the Junior Q.R.F.U. Championship again this year?" indeed, is a tough question to answer. To give my honest opinion the Westmounters will have to a lot to catch N.D.G. But they do it? Practice makes perfect and that is the only way. The local will have many supporters this coming season... D. O'Meara is now at Quebec being ready for the coming season... George "the kid" Taylor back at college after a sensational year with Ascension Junior. George is looking forward to being over the big seven. His competitors will be Moe Barre, Harry Wolfe, Ed. Dorohoy is back in town. Ed played with Dallas Texans last year. Brian Tiffin Seattle with a ten gallon hat. Dickie "the shark" Quinlan makes news... Cliff Gill promising a nice player... Bernie Gatto back from the east coast. Derek H. naford back from the West. Connie Donat, Johnny and Mond are going to miss a lot of nickles this coming winter... local character in Westmount finally triumphed over the equine (horses) at Blue Bonnets to the tune of $110. His initials are L.... I wonder who. He spent quarter of it on friends at a party. "Are races fixed?" answer next week... A few lads from town are working for the General Railway Signal Co. at Cote St. Louis. Their foremen, Buck and Char are popular with the pick and shovel boys. Rumors are circulating that Pete Lennon will be backed up by the "Big Seven" some kind of a contest in the States. Sorry to hear that Keenan A. C. has folded. Will the boys do? Tom Brennan off to Halifax soon. Harold Young has a tryout with Springfield. Lorne McDonald still a 24 hour man at the billiard house... The dances start this week... Westmount Senior High having 'back to school Hop' tonight. Cliff Baldwin still going strong. Royals will never reach the final in the International League. Your correspondent giving you a few bets at 5-1 that Les Alouettes don't win the Grey Cup. Sure thing... Also 5-2 that Yankees win the American Pennant. ## SPORTIVELY SPEAKING

By George Cochrane

STEW AND NEW DEPT.

Stew and New have arrived at that stage of literary growth where they no longer feel able to endorse the products of their brains (the unkind remarks, please) to the ministrations of the Canadian postal folk. The gals now deliver their missives, both massive and minute, in person.

Their latest endeavour complains, that their last week's plea for girls interested in playing softball to write them, resulted in not a single letter. Which is considerable.

And then the gals revert to Arthur the Fan's favourite theme that the umpires, with the honorable exception of Patrick Oss, formed a union with the sole purpose of ejecting Robitaille Motors from the league playdowns.

Next week, girls, how about another poem?

GRID PICTURE

The chill fall breezes which have been sweeping through this sprawling metropolis these pleasant September days make football a topical subject of discussion.

Les Alouettes, who it would appear are destined to be slow starters every year, seem to have jumped into the Grey Cup contest that Montreal followers of the autumn pastime began to envision as soon as they heard that flinging Frank Filchok, the man with the golden arm, was headed this way.

The Als, despite the cautious statements of Lachrymose Lewis, their seldom gay mentor, should take Joe Krol and the Argonauts rather handily in Toronto this Saturday. For it still looks as though this is going to be another year for Ottawa and Montreal, two hotbeds of football at the present time, to battle it out for the Big Four title — and the Grey Cup which will likely go to the survivor of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union's 1949 battles.

On the McGill front the picture is not so rosy. McGill has in Vic Obeck, one of the best grid mentors in Canada. But no coach is better than his material and the hard striving Victor — for the present at any rate — just hasn't got the human material out of which championship teams are made.

Steinberg's . . .

erupted for another three runs to jump into a six-run lead.

It wasn't until the last half of the seventh that the Ascension larrigans were able to find a chink in Saindon's hurling armour. Then it was that, with one out, Noel Romney slammed a line double to centre and clean-up hitter followed up with a single to account for the 1949 pennant winners' sole run of the ball game.

Steinberg's added another to their total in the eighth when the brothers Callaghan, Gordie and Don, connected for consecutive doubles.

Batting Stars

In a batting way the heaviest gun in Steinberg's artillery arsenal was Maurice Racette, a real play-off competitor, who connected for four hits in five trips to the plate. Gord Callaghan had three for four while Gerry Snyder had two for four, including the only circuit clout of the game.

Play had to be stopped twice early in the contest to allow Dave Harvie, Ascension's gritty young catcher, time to recover from the effects of foul balls which clipped him in exactly the same spot, just above the right kneecap. But Dave stayed in the game and won for himself a big hand from the large crowd of fastball enthusiasts on hand for the series finale.

cavalier and Harvie.

Fish Derby This Sunday

The first Annual Fish Derby of the Lake of Two Mountains Anglers Association will be held Sunday, from 10.00 a.m. to 7.00 p.m. Starting points are: Hudson Yacht Club; Como Inn and Bridge Cabins, Dorion. Tickets at $1.00 each are now on sale by Association members and at The Music Box, Hudson Heights; Tony's Barber Shop, Hudson; Como Post Office and Paul's Service Station, Dorion. Members of other anglers associations are eligible to compete.

Prizes will be awarded for: Highest weight of eligible fish taken by one contestant; largest and second largest bass, dore, and perch with a minimum weight of 10 ounces for perch and for the largest single fish or any eligible species. There will also be awards for the highest total weight of catch by contestants operating in each of the three sections, listed as Dorion, Como and Hudson. Eligible fish are maskinoge, northern and welleyed pike (dore,) bass and perch.

A large turnout of Montreal district fishermen is expected and to take care of visitors, arrangements will be made to have a limited number of boats for rental at the starting points.

Navy Gridders Play at L.C.C. Tomorrow 2.30

Westmounters anxious to see as much top notch football as they possibly can this autumn might be interested in jaunting out to Lower Canada College tomorrow afternoon to see the Navy intermediate squad play their first home game of the season against Sherbrooke.

The Navy lads, who tied the power-laden Lakeshore Flyers last week-end in their schedule opener, are out to break into the win column tomorrow and co-coaches Mac Parsons and Roy Chesley say that their charges are raring to go.

It was announced last night at a press party held in the Navy club's headquarters at H.M.C.S. Donnacona on Mountain street, that the sailor boys would have their own band and their mascot, shaggy goat, on hand to usher in the season in great style.

Special stands are being erected to provide parking space for the fans' posteriors and there is plenty of room for cars on Royal avenue. Game time is 2:30.

HARWOOD TROPHY EVENT TO GROVEHILL

The Province of Quebec Golf Association's Four Ball championship for the Harwood trophy was scheduled to be played at Summerlea this coming Friday, Saturday and Sunday, but the Grovehill Golf Club, when hearing of the fire, graciously accepted to hold the event at their course.

Pat Hurst Tops Bowlers

The City of Westmount Bowling League opened its season this year at the Wilson Alleys on Tuesday evening. The keglers are bowling the first two weeks of the schedule to determine their averages before drawing up the teams.

Everyone got off to a good start on the new alleys with close competition from all sides. Pat Hurst claimed high honours when he took the ladies high single with 115 and totaled 337 for high triple, then finished out the evening being tabbed with the first "99" counter of the season, followed by Clarence Nicholls.

Ross Shepard clipped the men's high single with 154 and a high triple counting 372.
