School Assoc. Disagree With Commission Report

After consideration of a detailed report on findings and recommendations of the Province of Quebec Commission on School taxation, the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations are sending a letter to the Premier through A. M. Patience, 4583 Kingston Avenue, President, the text of which follows:

"Hon. Maurice Duplessis, K.C., Premier, Province of Quebec, Dear Sir, On March 23, 1945, we, the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations, were privileged to submit a brief to the 'Province of Quebec Commission' on matters pertaining to School taxation in the Province of Quebec. In accordance with your suggestion, this Federation has now completed a careful examination of the report which details the findings and recommendations of the investigating commission.

Although we are generally in accord with the report, we must definitely disagree with certain of the recommendations, and we are submitting our comments herewith for your consideration. The Commission, in its report recommends as follows: 'We believe the Government should, without delay, state clearly and definitely the duties of School Commissions and limit the contribution of property owners strictly to the cost of primary education, leaving to private initiative the opportunity to give intermediate, supplementary and high school teaching and to the state the power to collaborate in this work by appropriate means when necessary.'

We must admit that we are somewhat uncertain as to the interpretation of this recommendation. We assume, however, that 'primary education' embraces education to the 7th or 8th grades only; also, that the reference to 'private initiative' infers that the educational responsibility

Lighting Advances Made Only Recently

The lighting system existing at the end of the 19th Century was little better than what the Romans had developed, L. Van Duzer, light expert of the Westinghouse Company, told the Westmount Rotary Club yesterday when discussing the subject of fluorescent lighting. With his talk was a complementary picture showing the process of manufacturing fluorescent lights.

The speaker traced the history of lighting from 5000 B.C. to the present. The ancients used wooden fire torches until 1000 B.C. when the oil stove was introduced, he declared. The candle did not come until about 1800, after which were developed the gas flame, the coal oil lamp and the gas mantle apparatus.

'The illumination that our grandfathers had was not better than that of the Romans,' he reminded, 'but the next few years will bring about a revolution in methods of artificial lighting.'

Allie Boire presided.

Old Boys' Association Plan Reunion Wednesday

Col. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, will be the guest speaker of the evening when the 1946 reunion dinner of the Westmount Old Boys' Association gets underway at the Mount Royal Hotel next Wednesday at 6.30 p.m.

'If you haven't obtained a ticket for the eleventh annual reunion dinner, don't worry about it,' is the advice which C. Alex Phillips, president of the organization, is giving to all former Westmount High students who have not yet received their tickets for what has become one of the highlights of the year for many Westmount Old Boys.

Mr. Phillips suggests two courses of action for those who are worried because they have not yet acquired a dinner ticket.

'They can,' says Mr. Phillips, 'either mail a three-dollar cheque for the dinner and annual membership fee to: Westmount High Old Boys' Association, P.O. Box 232, Westmount, Quebec, immediately, or they can obtain a ticket at the door on Wednesday. We are renting the Mount Royal's largest room for the occasion and are prepared to handle a crowd of 1,800. There's room for everybody.'

Presentation Of First Aid Certificates

St. John Ambulance Association certificates in first aid were presented to members of the Auxiliary Mobile Police Force No. 1 at a dinner held last Thursday at Macy's Drug Stores Reg'd., Victoria and Sherbrooke branch. The instructor of the unit, who made the presentations, is Andrew C. Woodward.

Receiving the awards were J. A. Ellis, medallion; Harry Goodman, voucher; and John C. Smiley, R. W. Gibb, Royal Werry K.C., Allan Badien, Hermann Goodnecht, Richard Fair, Harry Richardson and Gordon Wright, all certificates.

Hobby Show Plans 10th Annual Event

This past week representatives and executives of the Westmount Boys and Girls Hobby Show met with Mr. Kinrade to work out further plans for the improvement of the display.

Letters announcing the coming show have been mailed to all teachers of Westmount Schools. The syllabus containing the list of judges, and classification for entries and prizes is presently in the hands of the printers.

Many of the 18 requested posters have been finished by several girls in the Hi Y Club while the remainder will be submitted by the end of the week, and distributed to the various schools.

So come on boys and girls! Submit your entries and take an active part in the tenth annual Westmount Hobby Show.

Beer Question Raised Again By Local Grocers

By VIC MORRIS, JR.

Will Westmount citizens at long last be able to enjoy long frosty glasses of beer in the sanctums of their own homes or will once again the City Council vote down the proposal?

Since the appeal by Westmount grocers that they be licensed to sell beer by the bottle was heard by the committee of the Westmount Municipal Association at its monthly meeting earlier this week, many citizens, including grocers, beer abstainers and also those who engage in the art of 'elbow lifting' have voiced their opinions concerning the proposed plan to have beer in Westmount groceries.

Beer Permits Sought Here

The Executive Committee of the Westmount Municipal Association at their monthly meeting received a delegation headed by B. Panet-Raymond, K.C., of the merchants of the City of Westmount, consisting of Mr. Henri Clement, Leopold Clement, Paul Decelles, P. A. Seers and Walter Chatfield, who presented the case of the grocers of Westmount asking permission to be licensed to sell beer by the bottle in their stores. The Ministerial Association of Westmount also submitted their views, the speakers being Rev. Canon Gilbert Oliver and Rev. J. A. Johnston. In view of the importance of this proposal to all citizens of Westmount, after giving serious consideration to both sides, it was decided to recommend to the City Council of the City of Westmount that the question should be referred to referendum.

Dr. J. McK. Wathen, health chairman, reported that Dr. J. J. Day, City Medical Health Officer, had announced that plans for a permanent diagnostic X-ray clinic at Victoria Hall had been completed. Sponsored by the City of Westmount the clinic will be operated as a unit of the Royal Edward Laurentian Hospital. Sole aim of the clinic is to safeguard the health of Westmount residents.

It was also recommended to the City Council approval of the opening of skating rinks at 1 p.m. Sundays.

Rehabilitation Chairman J. Eric Slessor reported over 200 letters recently written to returned men, but very few indeed requiring assistance of any nature.

Program Chairman Walter L. Downes discussed plans for the

C.C.F. Meeting Planned Tonight

Members of the Westmount C.C.F. Club are holding a meeting at the Victoria School, 1822 St. Luke St. (between St. Matthew and St. Mark St.) this evening at 8.15 p.m. The speaker will be Dr. Trevor Lloyd, head of the new Department of Geography at Dartmouth College, New Hampshire, and recently Canadian Council at Gothaab, Greenland. The subject of his address which will be illustrated by slides, will be 'Canada's North'.

Members are urged to bring friends, and anyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

The grocers' committee headed by L. Clement state that the City of Westmount will benefit largely from the licensing of the beverage, and also will the average citizen if he stops to take a broad-minded view of the picture.

Mr. Clement's views were strong and left little argument for those not in favor of the plan. He claims that many Westmount residents have drifted away from local groceries solely because they have been unable to purchase beer. And to obtain beer during the war years, the purchaser was forced to carry on regular grocery trade with the mercant handling the 'prized liquid.'

This, Mr. Clement states, was unfair to the Westmount grocer who pays taxes and generally helps out in any way to promote community affairs. He stressed that during the war when beer was at a premium and which at times was almost unobtainable unless you happened to know 'Joe,' Westmount citizens who purchased from surrounding Montreal stores, were guilty of depriving persons in those neighborhoods of their rightful quota. This practice only helped to make the

Welcome Given Lt. Eddie Goring

A very warm welcome was accorded Lieut. Eddie Goring who has now been discharged from the Navy and has resumed active duties with the 1st Westmount Company, where he will have complete charge of drill and physical training of section A, meetings on Friday nights. He went into action Friday and did a grand job, the boys responding with keen enthusiasm. He is endeavouring to train the Drill Squad for the Competition on March 15.

B.B. WEEK

The annual financial campaign is progressing very favourably and it is hoped the company shall surpass previous records. Thus far, Pte. Norm Clark takes the lead.

The band will shortly welcome back Lieut. Chas. King and will carry on in much greater strength, looking forward to its first outing as soon as warmer weather is here.

Handicrafts is most popular on Friday nights as well as Tuesdays and most enthusiasts are featuring cork-craft, making some very attractive novelties.

A new radio and wireless group is being formed to care for more advanced boys, enabling them to build sets and experiment with the equipment now in the Company's possession.

Westmount Highlights

By GEORGE COCHRANE

Arturo de Voronka, co-producer and co-director of the Purple and White Revue '46, was heard discussing what he modestly describes as "the best show that the burghers of the city of Westmount have ever seen," with John Clennel Dickens, ye autre producer and director.

The dialogue, if we remember correctly, went something like this:

Arturo: Say, Jake, what's coming off in the music department?"

Jake (heatedly): What's coming off in the music department? Why, you pigeon, the show is 50 per cent music.

Arturo: Chees, I know. But what about Chuck Leger's orchestra that is going to background the show very capably?

Jake: Well, Art, that music is going to be really something. We're going to have an 18-piece union band and it's going to be good. Even better than last year's collection of musicians, which, you will admit, old boy, were pretty good.

Art: Bah, don't mention last year's show. The Purple and White Revue '46 is going to be the grandest spectacle in the history of high school entertainment.

Jake: Yeah! Well, let's tell George about it. He should know about that.

And so they did.

TOTEM POLL

The much-heralded debate on the evils and virtues of co-education came off at the Boys' and Girls' Hi-Y Club joint supper meeting at Westmount Y last Friday evening. The resolution, That co-education is more beneficial than segregated schooling, was successfully upheld by Jeanne "with the dark brown hair" Van Patter and Everett George Cochrane, despite the very valiant efforts of Kaz Nishio and Ann Griffith, who did a bang-up job on the negative side.

Endeavouring to find out what the rest of Westmount High's intelligent clientele thought about the question, the Totem Poll this week asked, "Are you in favor of co-education?"

The answer was a deafening yes. For 85 per cent of the pupils queried are in favor of mixing boys and girls in the classroom. By grades the percentage of yes answers was as follows:

Grade 10 boys: 75.
Grade 10 girls: 75.
Grade 11 boys: 75.
Grade 11 girls: 100.
Grade 12: 100.

Quite a poll, this Totem Poll.

ITEMS

We are at this stage in a very agitated state of mind. Last week-end we typed out half a page of items. Now that half-page of items has disappeared. Crrrrr... 15 New Taxis Open For Local Business

The Western Taxi Association, a new taxi service located at 373 Victoria avenue, announced yesterday that it was ready to start business.

W. D. Patterson, president of the firm announced that 75 per cent of all drivers are owners of their taxis and are returned overseas service men.

All cabs will have meters installed for the protection of customers. A 24 hour telephone service will be maintained and cars will answer calls from West End residents returning from any sections of Montreal.

Although difficulties through the inability to secure W.P.T.B. priority slips for new cars, has hindered the veterans in getting their company off to a good start, approximately 15 taxis are expected to be available. More cabs will be added to the fleet as new cars become obtainable and it is hoped by members of the company to bring the total number to 25 taxis.

W. H. Watt, president of Four Hundred Taxis Limited, also located on Victoria avenue, has spent the past four days in Ottawa in an effort to obtain needed priority slips to purchase taxis for his planned fleet of 26 cabs.

It is interesting to note that the taxis service in Westmount has improved 50 per cent since the announcement of the two new companies.

Westmount Y.M.C.A.

BOYS' DIVISION

At the time of writing (Tuesday), we are looking forward to a free movie for the "Y" members. Why? Well, for one thing, we said if 20 members (renewals and new) signed up in one month, a free show would be given to the membership, and to date 14 have been signed up this month. With only 6 to go and four of those already sought out, there is every prospect of getting the quota of 20 for February.

Sleigh-Ride

There were 46 who went out on the Prep sleighing party last Friday. That was a grand gang and a grand night. Not too cold, plenty of snow and everybody in high spirits. When the gang returned, Mrs. C. S. Smith and Mrs. Bedford were there waiting for us with weiners and hot cocoa. Everybody had so many dogs that they are still barking about it.

Friday Night Dance

The teenagers had one of the best evenings they have had so far. Everybody danced and everybody had a wonderful time. This week a splash party has been planned.

You can't begin too soon to prepare your entry for the Hobby Show, so decide right now what your entry will be, doll it up and have it ready. The Hobby Show dates are April 3, 4, 5 and 6. We'll be seeing you there.

Scouts & Cubs

By Reg. Groome

The Annual Patrol Leaders' Banquet was held last Saturday evening in the Mount Royal Hotel and voted a grand success by all who attended. Two boys from Westmount Area helped provide entertainment. They were D. Watson of the Royal St. Lawrence Junior Sea Scouts and G. Ronney of the Royal St. Lawrence Senior Sea Scouts. The chief speaker of the evening was Major-General A. E. Walford, C.B., C.B.E., M.M., E.D., former Adjutant General of the Canadian Army. General Walford told the boys never to give up Scouting and was thunderously applauded. All in all, the Banquet was one of the most enjoyed in many a year.

They were P.L.'s Tom Alexander and John Jensen of Calvary Troop and Scouts John Dinsmore and Arthur Eberwein of 2nd Westmount Troop.

2nd Westmount Loses

2nd Westmount Pack lost out in a hard fought semi-final sudden-death game in the Inter-Pack Hockey League to Dixie by a score of 3-1. The locals took a 1-0 lead in the first period on an unassisted goal by John Swain. They held the lead until the half-way mark of the 2nd period when Haywood of Dixie tied the count and came back shortly after to put the Lakeshore boys ahead 2-1.

In the third period, Westmount fought gamely but couldn't get through the Dixie defence and Haywood came through to sink his third counter performing the hat trick and completing the

Vets Set Pace In "Time" Work

"Mark Time" with Altro and Lavoie, watchmakers, month-old organization formed by five veterans, each with over 15 years experience in the trade. These vets, with premises at 678 Cathcart Street, in a joint rehabilitation effort, are out to give Montreal citizens relief from suffering seemingly interminable periods without timepieces while undergoing repair.

"Your watch called for, repaired, and delivered within one week," is their promise they intend to live up to, leading the way to pre-war efficiency and setting the pace for others to follow in the matter of prompt service and satisfactory work.

All worked for the same company before the war, it was stated by Edward Altro, airforce vet with five years overseas to his credit. It was natural to discuss their common rehabilitation together, deciding they would rather work for themselves. They are out for action and have both experience, ability and equipment to handle all repair jobs from grandfather clocks with chimes to the tiniest ticker obtainable.

Omegans To See Invasion Film

This Sunday evening will be an exceptional one for all who enjoy films. The picture "True Glory" will be shown to Alpha Omegans as the program arranged by Group A, with leaders Walte Mingie, Ian Faser, Jane Bird and Carol Horsburgh, in charge. This picture depicts the story of the invasion of Europe and gives the true-to-life effect on the fields of battle.

Alpha Omegans enjoyed an informative Sunday night last week when they had as speaker, Douglas Walkington, Canadian Industries Limited. Mr. Walkington, whose topic was "This Chemical Age", disclosed fascinating facts regarding today's "miracle" products of plastic, chemically treated materials, nylons, synthetic rubbers and sponges, new paints and paint products, non-shrinkable woollen goods and waterproofed silks as well as the new insecticides D.D.T.

Mr. Walkington ably illustrated his talk with an array of products which dazzled the eye, and gained interest of all. Group Leaders Christine Jockel, Eleanor Spearman, Hugh Harkness and Iain Scott were in charge of the program. Miss Eileen Ellis was the guest soloist and gave a fine rendition of "Finlandia" and, as an encore, "Voices of Spring". Refreshments were served by the social conveners.

BUSINESS WELCOMES THEATRE

Business men in the Eastern Business Section of Westmount are elated with the future business outlook in that area of Westmount now that the prospect of the erection of a Motion Picture Theatre project is being seriously considered for that district.

The attraction of a large number of people passing through the district, going to and from a Theatre, night and day, should prove a real incentive for new and improved shopping facilities. Shop keepers will have more equal opportunities for trade—a condition which has long been desired in that shopping centre.

Judging from the numerous requests for store premises in that section of late it is felt that, with the erection and operation of the new Theatre, a very complete shopping centre will soon follow to better and more adequately serve the Westmount shoppers.

The Business Association of Westmount has strongly advocated the policy of more freedom of enterprise for retailers and opportunities equal, at least, to other business communities in surrounding municipalities.

"DEFENCE OF DEMOCRACY"

The public is being bombarded these days by appeals to support all kinds of organizations, notably ones of political character calling themselves "leagues" or "societies" of "organizations" for the defence of democracy, "the protection of liberty" and so forth and so on. Most of these organizations are of membership, of little or no influence, with an axe to grind, and liable to be considerable of a nuisance to the bigger organizations in whose care the real defence of our liberties in this country rests. The most effective defenders of democracy in Canada are the men and women who are working at the job—the members of our three national political parties. Democracy is safe in their hands, and it would be considerably more to the country's benefit if the self-styled small-scale "defenders" united with one or other of the political parties and exercised their influence where it would do some good. As they operate at present, they are continually embarrassing the authorities by advocating measures carrying a popular appeal, but which are too far advanced to be practical and for which those in authority don't want to take the responsibility, but for which, nevertheless, they have to bear the criticism if they refuse to act.

THE HAPPIEST MOMENTS

In his book, "The Importance of Living," Lin Cufang enumerates thirty-three happy moments which two seventeenth century Chinese were able to recall one rainy day. The thirty-second was "to have just finished repaying all one's debts."

In recalling twelve of our happy moments we find ourselves putting down such things as:

- Lying late abed on a cold day.
- Getting out of a pair of tight shoes.
- Getting into a tub of hot water after twelve hours of driving dusty soads.
- Embracing children after a long absence.
- Unexpectedly, in a lonesome moment, meeting an equally lonesome friend.
- Receiving word that the court has dismissed an embarrassing legal claim.
- Receiving a handwritten letter expressing affection.
- Plunging into cool water on a hot day.
- Getting rid of an itch by scratching.

HOW MEN CONVERSE

Men today use almost 3,500 languages and dialects.

There are 800 separate modes of speech in Africa, 130 in India, 87 in the Philippine Islands, 46 in Europe, and "42 languages are heard on the streets of Jerusalem."

The growth of the English language is remarkable. A hundred years ago we were told that it was spoken by 20,000,000 people. Today it is the language of 250,000,000, and with 60,000,000 who are able to use it sufficiently for business purposes some believe that English "bids fair to become the universal speech."

United Kingdom, waiting to be developed. The surveys for state use of these resources have been completed and, with cheap electricity and a surplus of power left for export, officials say a new golden age for a long-neglected part of the British Isles is in prospect.

Ottawa City power users got free electric lighting for the month of October from the publicly owned Hydro Electric and the privately owned Ottawa Light, Heat and Power. The October bills were sent out marked "paid" as a dividend, officials announced.

Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, said there is no shortage of wool. The problem is to get it converted into cloth and then get the cloth made into wearing apparel. Cotton is in short supply, some two billion yards being the world cotton short figure. The difficulty of textile manufacturers is increased he said, by a reluctance by the workers to return to the unsatisfactory work in the mills after having enjoyed better conditions in other industries.

He offered Government help but only on condition that wages and working conditions are improved and at the same time improved its operating efficiency.

The operators began at once to carry out the wishes of the Government.

The four-month investigation of co-ops in relation to present tax legislation is now in recess. Three members of the commission, including the chairman, have gone to London, G.B., and two to Washington, D.C., to gather further data. When they return, counsel for the various co-op organizations will present their final pleas. When the Commission will prepare its report to be presented to the Government.

Whatever the outcome, co-operative doctrine and institutions have had the greatest airing in Canadian history.

CLARKE AVENUE

Clarke Avenue is one of the best-known streets in Westmount. It runs from opposite 4292 St. Catherine Street, West, north to north of the Boulevard, ending in the circle called Clarke Place.

The name of the Clarke family, with which Clarke Avenue is indelibly associated, is so rich in historical connotations for the citizens of Westmount, and, for that matter, for the people of the whole Dominion, that no drastic condensation of available material will be attempted. Rather, in order to give the reader the benefit of the interesting accounts that are to be found, this treatment of Clarke Avenue will extend over several instalments.

The two principal and inter-related sources to be drawn upon are the standard and semi-classic work of the eminent American author Washington Irving, "Astoria", published in 1836, and "Old Montreal: John Clarke: His Adventures, Friends and Family" published by Miss Adele Clarke of Westmount in 1906. Lengthy quotations will be presented from each.

Miss Adele Clarke's volume contains a preface written in 1906 by Dr. W. D. Lighthall, distinguished Canadian litterateur and historian, whom the Westmount Historical Association endeavours to honor as its Honorary President. The date is to be borne in mind, as some of the conditions then mentioned as existing have now passed into history. Dr. Lighthall says of Miss Clarke's work:—

"The ensuing monograph will be found of considerable interest to those who take pleasure in reading of the early fur traders or of the past three generations of Montrealers. To them the name of Clarke is familiar. Washington Irving refers to John Clarke in 'Astoria', where he connects him with the story of the famous Silver Cup, and attaches some blame to him for a certain alleged imprudence of disposition in treating with Indians. But it must be remembered that Irving wrote without personal knowledge, and the material in possession of Mr. Clarke's family vindicates him completely. He seems to have been a very energetic, courageous and capable leader.

While the French Government possessed Canada, it maintained a large control over the fur trade of the Great Lakes and the West. The Compagnie des Indes Occidentales, having its headquarters in the Chateau de Ramezay, and the surrounding buildings, was the great fur organization of the latter years of the French regime. The British Hudson's Bay Company confined itself to the regions within reach of its posts on and about the Bay. But no sooner had the dominion of France passed than independent fur traders from the British Colonies began to establish themselves in the former French headquarters of Montreal, and to push their interest along the lines of French endeavor by way of the Great Lakes and the plains beyond. These British traders had previously exploited, principally, the Iroquois and Ohio country. The headquarters of those who came here had mostly been at Albany and Schenectady, and some of them had already had considerable dealings with the French traders. One of the very first to take advantage of the conquest of Canada was Alexander Henry, the elder, who came to Montreal with General Amherst in 1760 and immediately obtained the permission of General Gage, the British Governor of Montreal, to take up this very work. It was he who initiated John Jacob Astor into the trade, as the latter initiated John Clarke.

Although Henry was of English extraction, the causes which early directed Highland regiments and Highland Loyalists from Northern New York into Canada soon gave the trade a distinctly Highland character, and the strong race pushed its commerce to the most daring limits. Simon Fraser crossed the Rockies to the Pacific; Alexander Mackenzie discovered and explored the vast river which bears his name; wealth poured into Montreal, and in 1783, the leaders, Frobisher, Simon McTavish, Mackenzie, and others, united in the powerful partnership known as the North West Company, which pushed the Hudson's Bay Company hard, and finally settled the rivalry by combining with it. Fort William at the head of Lake Superior, was their central meeting-place with the chief factors of their posts. Lachine was the principal storing place for their furs; but the princes of the Company had their homes and offices in Montreal, then a small walled town, and their country-seats all around on the slopes of Mount Royal. Alexander Henry and his nephew, Bethune, lived in the substantial stone house, now somewhat altered and known as 14 St. Urbain street, then out of the city. Frobisher built Beaver Hall, a long, wooded cottage, where the Unitarian Church stands on Beaver Hall Hill. James McGill had his country seat, 'Burnside', on what became McGill College Avenue at the present site of the synagogue; Simon McTavish, the wealthiest, built his great mansion, 'the Haunted House', high up, where the Matthew Gault property stands, at the head of McTavish street; on Simpson street was Sir Alexander Mackenzie's place; and so on.

Are Discussed

SIGNIFICANT PROPOSAL

On his return from the Potsdam conference President Truman made a proposal in a radio cast for free and unrestricted navigation on the inland waterways of Europe which border two or more states. The demand was regarded as a milestone in United States foreign policy, indicating an important factor in the coming peace settlement.

The significance of the United States proposal that "regulations for such navigation be provided by international authorities" is three-fold.

1. It extends the sphere of interests of the overseas nations into the heart of Europe and prevents an exclusively continental orientation.

2. It favors the development of an international administration through permanent collaboration of the European countries with their friends and customers overseas.

3. It calls for joint utilization and development of Europe's natural international thoroughfares which in the coming years will have to carry a much larger share of traffic than before the war.

4. If consequently applied, it will prevent the major European countries from using their national transport systems as an instrument of economic expansion at the expense of their neighbors, and give the new international authorities control of about one-quarter of the continent's surface traffic, including movements of such vital raw materials as coal and ore which are shipped almost exclusively in barges.

The new secretary for Scotland, Joseph Westwood, is planning for a higher standard of living in the Scottish Highlands and hydro electric development which will bring jobs for all.

"We're practical here and we don't think all the changes we hope for are coming overnight," said an official in an interview with a Canadian Press writer.

"But we don't want Canadians or anyone else to think that we are content with only a romantic past and fine scenery for the Highlands. There are to be great changes, and they are coming fast."

The State now is the biggest landlord in Scotland, owning about 1,250,000 acres, much of it in the 5,000,000 acres of arable land small farmers sent their land from the state, from eight to 10 acres for each croft, with a community "out-run" on which sheep may graze. Government experts advise community undertakings and drainage, stock improvements, fencing, plowing, bracken cutting and tractor operations are assisted.

But the croft never has been looked on as self-sufficient and the hope of officials is that small industry will be brought to the Highlands, which possess 85 per cent of all the water power in the

Faithful Work Is Recorded By Park Unit

The Red Cross Group of Westmount Park United Church held its annual meeting on February 13, in Webster Hall. Reports covering the six years of work were read. The Rev. George Geth, minister of the church spoke to the ladies, paying tribute not only to them but to the whole Red Cross, saying that it was probably the most "selfless" organization in the whole world.

Miss Jean Webster, president of the group, was hostess to a delightful tea at the close of the meeting.

Imposing Totals

The reports showed that with an average attendance of twenty-three, over 4,000 articles of sewing were completed. These were for hospital and civilian uses. Blankets, afghans, housewives, etc., were made and donated to the Red Cross, as well as fifty quilts.

Nine hundred and ninety-three pounds of wool were knitted into 2,852 articles.

In the last two and a half years of war 156,000 surgical dressings were made.

Over four hundred members and guests were present at the notable showing of spring fashions which marked Members' Day at the Westmount Women's Club on Friday afternoon in Victoria Hall. Mrs. E. M. Briggs, the president, opened the meeting and then handed over the proceedings to Mrs. J. Gordon Birnie, convener of the event, who introduced Mrs. Liette Mickles, commentator for the Holt, Renfrew Co. Ltd., which staged the showing. Buddie Payne, at the console, furnished delightful music to which the models

Local Talent

In addition to the eight Holt Renfrew models, children of club members modelled school and party wear, and Mrs. J. Gordon Birnie, along with her daughter, Mrs. A. Grimes-Graeme, and her granddaughter, tiny Dianne Grimes-Graeme, put spirit and charm into a three generations group which won the heartiest applause of the afternoon. The Westmount children aforementioned were Margaret Smith, Heather Birnie and Eileen Hogan, and they also did a grand job as little mannequins.

The opening number, which focussed attention on the new three-quarter length top coat, was a symphony in grey, the coat with its heavy cuffs of smoky fox being worn over a dressmaker suit, a rose-trimmed grey hat to match topping off the ensemble. The clever manipulation of pin-stripes in a softly tailored suit showed how the new season figure contours could be emphasised in this material; and the battle dress look was exemplified in an Eisenhower jacket in red worn over a black skirt. The new 1946 shortie coat was shown with a flared skirt, a leather belt pulling in the material to a trim waist effect; and a Holt Renfrew special, a shortie box coat in Burgundy over a seafoam blue dress roused applause also.

Balloon Sleeved Bolero

Fetchingly different this season is the bolero suit with wide balloon sleeves. Worn with a turtle neck blouse it accented roundness and a tiny waist. Highlights of the new fashions—the drooped shoulder line, the saddle shoulder; the belt elbow-length, short balloon, push-up, and modified dolman sleeves; the high round, bateau and keyhole necklines; peplums and semi-bustles were all in evidence.

The new suits in soft lovely tones were the last word in elegant simplicity, and the "after five" frocks flaunted alluring touches of embroidered organdie cap sleeves on contrasting materials.

Grace and Beauty

Grecian and directoire modes featured the evening dresses which relied upon beauty of line, instead of decoration, for their beauty. One gown which received special attention was on Grecian lines, and had the sleeves slashed from shoulder to waist, caught into a band thickly encrusted with sequins. A formal gown for the younger set was shown in turquoise taffeta with off-the-shoulder bodice, fitted waist, and very full skirt with hidden side panniers.

All the Holt Renfrew furs shown were models of New York's Maximilian, one of the handsomest being a cape stole of Canadian mink. A silver blue squirrel jacket with its melon sleeves, was seductive, and the new slit Mandarin cuffs were noted on another jacket.

The hats were charming, from the little bonnets to the more formal straws laden with flowers. Floral bands reaching below the ear on one side, were also in evidence.

Mrs. E. M. Briggs expressed the thanks of the club to the Holt Renfrew Company Ltd., to Buddie Payne, to the convener, Mrs. Birnie and to the models.

Tea was served in the Banquet Hall under the convener'ship of Mrs. Herbert C. Holland and her committee, Mrs. R. M. Stott, Mrs. R. H. Anderson, Mrs. O. E. Armstrong, Mrs. C. H. Armstrong, Mrs. C. H. Mandor, Mrs. C. Langston, Mrs. C. A. Borrie, Mrs. A. A. McNiece, Mrs. D. A. McNiece, Mrs. D. A. Whittaker, Mrs. J. J. Cormack, Mrs. Lorne Stinson, Mrs. E. K. Decatur, Mrs. T. A. Blanchard, Miss A. Riel and Miss Florence Ewing. Table decorations were carried out in white and pink.

CP LEGION 96 HEARS NORMAN MACKINTOSH

The Ladies' Auxiliary Canadian Pacific (Que. 96) Branch of the Canadian Legion held the monthly meeting at the club rooms on Thursday evening. The president, Mrs. A. Lyle, conducted an initiation, when the following ladies were enrolled: Mrs. F. Brunelle, Miss Alison M. Huntlye, Mrs. M. Jasper, Miss J. Johnson, Mrs. M. McChristie, Miss M. D. O'Neill, Mrs. L. Ryan, Mrs. L. Walters.

The auxiliary had as guest speaker, Mr. Norman Mackintosh, of the Canadian Pacific Public Relations Department, recently arrived from England, where he spent several years as press representative. Mr. Mackintosh chose as his subject, "Better Halves in the Blitz", and paid tribute to the courage and resourcefulness of the women of Britain.

Special mention was made of the Canteen Services, where "Blitz or no Blitz", many a "Better Half", British born or Canadian, did her bit for the boys on leave.

Rugs And Quilts Illustrate Lecture By Mrs. G. R. MacLeod

The Maritime Women's Club of Montreal, Inc. heard a talk from a past president, Mrs. George R. MacLeod, on "The History and Romance of the Hooked Rug and the Quilt", at the meeting held in Tudor Hall on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. MacLeod pointed out that the earliest history of rug making was wrapped in mystery, but it was generally accepted that it was developed by seamen as they waited for wind and tide, and soon spread to the home. In New England hooked rugs reached the height of their popularity in the Civil War period, and spread to the Maritimes and to Newfound-

Ascension Sodality Welcomes Home Service Personnel

Approximately fifty couples attended the "Welcome Home" party for the boys in the Services given by the Young Ladies' Sodality of Ascension Parish in the Club Room of Victoria Hall on Friday night.

Miss Joyce Clark, Prefect of the Sodality and Miss Patricia Mulcair, general convener, received the guests.

Miss Marguerite Fryer and Mr. Ian MacKinnon, were winners of the "spot" dance, and Miss Carroll McDonald and Lieutenant Gordon Gillies won the "elimination" dance. The girls were presented with corsages of red roses and the boys with cigarettes.

The following committee assisted the general convener—Miss Patricia Barrett in charge of entertainment; Miss Gerry Brown in charge of refreshments, and the Misses Carol Melvin, Helen Kierans, Barbara Mulcair and Margaret Sharp.

Mr. Peter McGregor provided the music.

In Canada the art was primarily Maritime, but has now spread from coast to coast, with all nationalities contributing something of their tradition.

The speaker paid tribute to the Canadian Handicrafts Guild for having sponsored the art, and thus helping to make many people in the rural districts self supporting.

Mrs. W. T. Shields, contralto, sang, accompanied by Miss Bertha Rogers at the piano.

RED CROSS PLANS MEMBERSHIP APPEAL

During this month of March, the Divisions and Branches of the Canadian Red Cross Society will be approaching local citizens on a membership appeal.

Mr. Norman C. Urquhart, chairman of the Society's National Executive, appeals to all Canadians to stand solidly behind their Red Cross so that it can continue its work of mercy in a world where the end of war has not brought an end to suffering.

To us in the Province of Quebec, who are among the more fortunate of the earth, the end of the war has brought back a great many of these luxuries which we found difficult to do without—you can once again drive your car at leisure, the much-heralded nylon stockings, all important to the women-folks, re-appear; long evening dresses again grace festive occasions, but have you stopped to think of the countless millions in war-ravaged countries for whom the coming of peace has only meant a continued struggle against death from starvation, from cold, from disease?

It is your privilege to help these hungry, destitute, grief-stricken people to the limit of your ability. You can help them through your Red Cross.

Hints On Fashions

Aqua Rayon gabardine, beautifully but simply tailored, adds up to a charming frock for the Junior Miss. Details include a wide tuck that describes a wide yoke that terminates in a dropped shoulder line. The round, high neckline is slit to the yoke, and the sleeves are below elbow length. The front of the skirt is gathered softly, and the back is gored. A touch of glitter is offered by the self belt detailed with nail-head-studded leather section.

HOME EDUCATION

Tots Have Feelings, Too!

LOUISE PRICE BELL

"What a pity it is that Patty has such straight hair and Bobby such a wealth of curls!" Mary said to be as we were having tea together. She said it while the children were still in the room—not after they had left, which was but a few minutes later.

I have heard such remarks on several occasions and wondered why so many persons—otherwise intelligent—seem not to know that children are just as sensitive as are adults. One would hardly say to a man and his wife, "What a pity that your hair is straight, Patty, and your husband's is curly,"—at least, one wouldn't unless he knew them very well indeed and was sure they wouldn't mind.

More than once, I have found ten-year-old Patty trying to curl her hair, and it's not uncommon for Bobby to bewail the fact that his hair is curly. Yet I doubt very much if either of these children would ever have given the subject a moment's consideration had they not heard these thoughtless comments.

"My, but you are getting to be a tall girl! If you keep on you'll be the tallest girl in town," I overheard a woman say to an awkward, overgrown, but very sweet adolescent. I was distressed, for I happened to know that the girl was very conscious of her height. She wore low-heeled shoes to appear shorter, and tried in every way to minimize the very thing this woman had so inconsiderately pointed out to a whole roomful of people. Yet that same woman, who was extremely stout, would have been grossly insulted had someone made a much less pointed remark about her weight.

"Do unto others" is trite, perhaps, but it is an unerring rule for acceptable conduct. If we always think before we speak or act, we shall prevent many heart aches among children. They often keep little hurts to themselves and brood over them. A little girl with a dark skin was tauntingly accused of being part Indian, and she brooded over this for months before her mother discovered what was troubling her. The teen-age girl who, of course, had been only teasing, naturally had no idea how deep a hurt it would cause, and, perhaps she may be excused because she was young. But no grown man or woman can be excused for making remarks to or of a child that are so personal they cause the child to blush, become shy, or grow silent and brooding.

Too many of us treat children as if they were babies—had not developed intelligence or sensibilities. In this we are altogether wrong. A normal child is so sensitive that even a chance word or trivial incident may affect his or her entire life. Let us remember this the next time there is an inclination to make some casual observation about the appearance of a child.

As parents and teachers particularly, we should keep this in mind. Are we apt to let some remark about the "large feet" or "ungainly legs" or "poor complexion" of one of the children slip out? The results of such a slip might prove most unfortunate.

Sweet Little Elmer Gets A New Home

Elmer, eight-month-old deodorized skunk who wears red nail polish and likes to be sprayed with perfume, found a new home recently—and 499 would-be owners were disappointed.

Left with the Chicago Animal Welfare League by Sergeant Earl W. Cummins of Chicago, because Sergeant Cummins could no longer care for him, Elmer was adopted by the family of E. K. Hays, of suburban Barrington, who lost their pet skunk, Flower, three months ago.

Mrs. Grace Petkus, investigator for the Welfare League, said 500 requests had been made for Elmer, one from Pasadena, Calif. The League had ruled that Elmer could go only to a former skunk owner.

"Captain Eddie" Hailed As Great Entertainment

Blazing with thrills of a story production, is the life story of Eddie Rickenbacker.

"Captain Eddie" is so crammed with the romance and excitement of America's most colorful era, and enacted by one of the finest casts ever assembled, "Captain Eddie" came to the screen of the Seville United Theatre yesterday, to establish itself as one of the most outstanding hits of the year.

Starring Fred MacMurray in the title role with a brilliant supporting cast headed by Lynn Bari, Charles Bickford, Thomas Mitchell, Lloyd Nolan and James Gleason, the 20th Century-Fox motion picture, a Eureka Pictures production, is the life story of Eddie Rickenbacker. "Captain Eddie" is so crammed with solid entertainment from start to finish, so all-absorbing in its dazzling kaleidoscope of drama, daring, comedy, pathos and romance, that it is difficult to single out any one portion or aspect of it for special commendation. Director Lloyd Bacon, Producer Winfield Sheehan and his associate, Christy Walsh, as well as script-writer John Tucker Battle made an engrossing whole of the story that packs the adventures and thrills of a hundred life-times into one.

"MINISTRY OF FEAR"

MUSICAL COMEDY IN TECHNICOLOR! Frank Sinatra, Kathryn Grayson and Gene Kelly are the stars of "Anchors Aweigh," in TECHNICOLOR, which opens Saturday at the Monkland United Theatre playing until Tuesday night.

Joan Leslie And Robert Hutton Starred In Film

Love, the magic word that has sent hearts spinning down through the years, is back in town, healthily refurbished and running on all cylinders at the York United Theatre, where Warner Bros.' latest and brightest comedy-romance, "Too Young to Know," is playing. Starring those popular young stars, Joan Leslie and Robert Hutton, and featuring a supporting cast of talented performers that includes Dolores Moran, Harry Davenport and Rosemary DeCamp, the film recounts "an eventful romance between a boy and a girl who were "Too Young to Know" the obligations attendant upon the marriage vows—and too much in love to care.

Against a background of familiar American suburban surroundings, "Too Young to Know" spins a genial tale of warmth and humor beginning with the gay courtship of Sally Sawyer (played by Joan Leslie) and Ira Enright (played by Robert Hutton), two lovely and loving youngsters who dance to a merry tune, with no more serious thought than having a good time. They like being with each other; they like the way they laugh together and hold hands in movies. Marriage should be all that and more. So they gamble with the future, elope, and play their happiness across the board.

Ira's mother and father (played by Rosemary DeCamp and Arthur Shields) welcome Sally into the family with the mature understanding of modern intelligent parents and the young Enrights settle down to being married.

At least, they attempt to settle down. But there are Sally's friends—giddy, theatre-struck kids whose ideas run to mock affection for each other, clothes, midnight parties and that world of show people they idolize. There's Sally herself—vivacious, pretty. Sally, who tries so hard to further her own theatrical ambitions even in those hours that belong to her husband; and Ira, hurt because early months of marriage must be shared by a houseful of vain career-seekers, taking every misunderstanding to heart. A constant source of anger to the young husband is Sally's frequent house guest, Patsy, a flashy, attractive blonde (played by Dolores Moran) whose constant visits leave their mark on Sally. Childishly, Ira and Sally drift from squabble to quarrel, until, finally with rashness and self-pity, Ira asks for a divorce.

In the following years, wisdom, sadly lacking for so long, puts in a belated appearance, and through the efforts of a kindly judge (Harry Davenport), they finally are shown the way to happiness and the fulfillment of their love.

Bob Hope Is Rookie Who Gets His Cookie

When Paramount's comedy version of conscription's lighter side, "Caught in the Draft," opened at the Monkland United Theatre last night, it sounded more like an audience contest to see who could laugh the loudest. For Bob Hope is the dizziest, busiest rookie in the whole Army. It's hard to imagine anything funnier than the fresh army gags that come out of the mouth of Hope.

Co-starring with the ever-popular radio and screen comic is another great favorite, Dorothy Lamour. Starting off with a bang when the gun-shy Bob discovers that a pistol he uses is really loaded and won't stop shooting, the gags keep coming faster and faster without a stop, and so does the audience laugh. Lynne Overman and Lddie Bracken do their bit along with Bob—three musketeer rookies who change "squads right" to squads riot.

Hope plays the part of a movie actor who lands in the Army through a practical joke which backfired on himself. He's in love with Dotty, the colonel's daughter, who won't say "yes" until he proves himself a hero. Lynne Overman, Bob's show business agent, is in the Army to protect his 10 percent. The third defense doughboy is Bob's latest stooge, Eddie Bracken, who makes everything in khaki go wacky.

They take a crack at every job in the camp from parachute jumping, driving a tank, peeling potatoes, and softening up the hard-boiled "sarge" to improving the manual of arms. They take part in some war games that top anything the old Keystone comedy cops ever did for laughs. In the end, Hope turns his stooge's military tactics from disaster to laughter and wins himself a hero's fame.

Catchy new tunes sneak in and out of the rib-tickling situations. You'll get your money's worth of mirth when you see America's number one rookie get his cookie in "Caught in the Draft."

More farm residents are accidentally killed in their homes than any other place.

"All Stars" Plan Sixth Season Of Entertainment

Opening their sixth season as pioneer troop entertainers in M.D. 4 and elsewhere in Eastern Canada, the Canadian Legion "All Stars," many of them from this community and directed by Gladys Layton are employing a wealth of overseas experience gained during five months past in England, Holland, Belgium and Germany, to recreate a better-than-ever production that will be seen by active service men and women at Quebec, Valcartier and Kingston during March. In addition, the "All Stars" will continue as regulars on the local camp show circuit.

The cast now includes the famne), novelist and commentator, gives up a job in Hollywood to come to Miami, Florida, to be near her husband, Max, (Alexander Knox), who has left his editor's job to enlist and find out at first hand what the men are thinking about the post-war world.

By leaving his newspaper Max has incurred the wrath of the publisher, Robert Gow (Charles Coburn), who is continually phoning Polly to try and get Max to help him out by writing for the paper, since it was he, Max, who was the mainstay in projecting a strong editorial policy.

Keeping Gow from talking to Max and upsetting him is just one of the humorous problems which Polly faces. She is anything but adept in the housekeeping line, particularly when it comes to cooking. However, she does her stubborn and gay best to keep worry from Max and thus help him win his commission, which is triply hard for him as he is 39 years old.

How Polly herself is finally forced to write editorials for Gow under Max's by-line, how he wins his commission and how she finally takes his job on the newspaper, all make for great fun and enchanting film-fare under the expert hands of the stars. Irene Dunne has ever been more brilliant in her comedy nor more beautiful in her looks.

Charles Coburn, of course, gives one of his magnificent interpretations of a crotchety ancient. But the comedy surprise of the piece is Alexander Knox, who up to this time has been recognized by such romantic roles as Woodrow Wilson. His comedy ranks with the best offered by the other two.

The screenplay and direction were furnished by that great team of Sidney Buchanan and Charles Vidor, remembered for their magnificent "A Song to Remember."

C.A.T. To Produce "He Who Gets Slapped"

The Theatre Guild first introduced Leonid Andreyev's "He Who Gets Slapped" to the American public in 1922. Ordinarily somewhat wary of unusual foreign plays, the Guild felt encouraged by their success a season back with Molnar's "Lilliom." The decision to produce "He" proved a wise one—it ran for almost a year in New York and was subsequently listed in the "Year Book of the Drama in America" as an outstanding play.

Canadian Art Theatre will stage "He Who Gets Slapped" at Victoria Hall on March 19, 20, 21 and 22. Direction is by Joy Thomson, who has also designed the settings.

Colourful and interesting, the play is a tragi-comedy extracted from the lives of the performers in a continental circus. A picturesque feature of the production are the clowns and acrobats who perform to the accompaniment of tempestuous music.

The cast of 40 is made up of guest artists, C.A.T. members, students from the School of Theatre Arts and the Children's Workshop.

Baron Byng Cagers Top Locals

Trounce WHS Here Wednesday

By GEORGE COCHRANE

Westmount High's Senior A cage entry is nearing the end of the 1946 trail. Coach Lew Davies' lads played their last home game of the season Wednesday afternoon and were soundly trounced 43-23 by the league-leading Baron Byng squad.

The Purple and White hoopers have only two games left to play. A week from today, Friday, March 8, the local larrigans journey to Catholic High to take on the powerful Catholic section leading quintet and, on the following Tuesday, March 12, the Cote St. Antoine road aggregation will wind up its schedule at Montreal High.

Westmount opened the scoring in Wednesday's one-sided tilt but their two-point lead was short-lived. The Byngsters went to work and piled up 13 points before the first-quarter whistle sounded while in the same period the Davies men added only four points to their total to make the quartertime score 13-6.

But that first quarter was a lot closer than a mere glance at the scoreboard would indicate. The WHS'ers were having a lot of tough luck in close under the basket while the Byngsters found the Westmount zone defence a tough nut to crack and were frequently forced to take long shots from outside the zone. The only trouble was that a large percentage of those long heaves were good for two points.

In the second quarter the visitors were able to outscore their hosts by only one point, 9-8. That made the half-time score 22-14 in favour of Baron Byng.

The local larrigans fell apart at the seams, and just about every place else, during the second half. The Gold and Blue speeded up the game and the Westmounters, using few substitutes, began to tire.

There was more than a little rough play in the last stages of the second quarter and spasmodically throughout the rest of the tussle. Baron Byng's towering, tank-shaped six-foot six hefty Frank Gillman, was one of the chief causes. The big fellow displayed an annoying habit of bear-hugging while wrestling for the ball. Westmount's big John Macfarlane became almost embroiled in a boxing match with one of the visitors just before the half-time whistle blew.

ENDMAN STARS

Max Endman, black-haired Byng guard, led the scoring parade with an impressive 15 points. It was Endman who was sinking most of the winners' long shots from outside the Westmounters' tight, fast-shifting zone defence. Next in line were Bloom, with eight, Gossack, with seven, and Skibinsky with six.

Westmount's three top scorers were Johnny Field, John Macfarlane and Bud Cochrane. Each sank six points. The only other Westmount scorers were Jimmy Henderson, with three, and Wolf Siemers, with two. Siemers is still having trouble with the ankle he injured two weeks ago in the West Hill game that the locals lost 20-18.

BOYS VS. GIRLS?

Challenges have been flying back and forth between the girls' and boys' basketball teams of Westmount High. The gals, who won their league championship without too much difficulty this year, think they can trounce the males providing the exhibition game is played under girls' rules. The boys think they can knock the stuffing (metaphorically speaking, of course out of the Westmount (23): Cochrane is used.

R.M.R.'s Seek Trophy Winners

The Royal Montreal Regiment has been busy uncovering bowling alleys and readying volley ball courts in the interest of encouraging sport in Canada's peacetime Army. These bowling alleys have been covered in and used for storage space during the war but are now practically ready for play.

It was during this uncovering that a box of cups and medals came to light. These were won for boxing, bayonet fighting and tug-o-war in 1939, but before they could be presented, the men had moved on overseas. Today, the Regiment has the addresses of a number of these men, but others, so far, they have not been able to trace, and would appreciate hearing where they could find the men to present them with their trophies.

The unlocated winners include: —Pte. R. Bedard, Pte. M. Courcy, Pte. F. Raymond, Sjt. R. Cavaluzzi, Pte. H. Murdoch.

The other winners are: —S.Q.M.S. A. T. Moodie, Sjt. S. Nestruck, Pte. H. G. White, Cpl. A. S. Thomas, Sjt. M. D. Colson, Sjt. J. W. Moodie, S/Sjt. W. J. Stiebel, Capt. G. Murdoch.

Leave us first of all consider the Protestant section. Who's going to cop the laurels won't be decided until the final scheduled game of the season between Montreal West and Westmount. That is supposed to come off at Lachine Arena this afternoon. And yet, if Montreal High won their game against the powerful Catholic High sextet yesterday (we don't know whether or not they did because this is written on Wednesday morning) they have clinched first place in the Protestant section.

As things stood before yesterday's game, the Montrealeers were leading Westmount by one point, 10 to 9. Each team had one game to play. We think that the Westmounters will end up at the top of the heap. They should be able to top the Montreal West sextet who have not won a league game since they downed Strathcona 3-2 in their Senior A debut. On the other hand, Catholic High had to win over Montreal to keep their championship hopes alive.

Before yesterday's game, (if you'll pardon the repetition of that phrase), Loyola led Catholic High in the Catholic section standings 14 points to 13. But CHS had two games to play, Loyola only one. Provided Brother Paul's boys did hurdle MHS yesterday they now have to beat Loyola at the Forum tomorrow afternoon if they are to enter the City Championship playdowns.

Montreal High Ends WHS's Puck Championship Hopes

Westmount High's power-laden Senior A hockey team saw their City Championship hopes vanish into nothingness at the Forum Wednesday afternoon when Montreal High pulled off the upset of the season by eking out a 3-2 win over Catholic High. The victory clinched first place in the Protestant section standings for the University street crew. They finish the season with 12 points.

This is being written before yesterday's Montreal West-Westmount tilt at Lachine Arena. The locals were picked to take that one. If they did, they wind up with 11 points, one point behind the Blue and White team that they tied 3-3 in their season opener.

The flaw in the ointment is that Westmount tied three games while Montreal split the points in only two contests. Both teams were defeated by Loyola.

It's a sad ending for Coach Don McRae's smart team. They started off the season with high hopes and, had not overconfidence and a few bad breaks come their way they would now be straddled

St. Leo's Greys Win Westmount Pee Wee Title

Louis St. James' Greys from St. Leo's Academy won the Westmount Municipal Hockey League's pee wee title on Tuesday afternoon when they downed the Boulevards from Roslyn School by a 6-3 count. This was the second game of a total goals to count series, the Greys won the first tilt 4-1, giving them the round by a 10-4 score.

The Greys won the championship of the Western section while the Boulevards were the titlists in the King George section. In the semi-final playdowns, the Boulevards eliminated the Corvettes, champions of the Staynor division, 7-3 on a two game total goals to count series. The Boulevards won both encounters, the first 3-2 at the Roslyn rink and the second 4-1 at Westmount Park.

Last year the league championship was won by the Reds from St. Leo's Academy with the Grosvenors from Roslyn School being the other finalist.

Brian Gallery and Tommie Grant scored two goals apiece when the Greys downed Boulevards 4-1 in the first game of the final series at the St. Leo's rink. Gallery also drew an assist on one of Grant's goals. The losers only score came from the stick of Johnnie Swaine.

In the second game of the series at the Roslyn rink, the Greys won out 6-3. Tommie Grant sent his team into a 2-0 lead at the half-way mark on a pair of close shots. The Boulevards tied the count up at 2-all when Dave McDougall and Tony Mathew tallied soon after the midway mark but the Greys rallied and showed their class to run in four more goals. Grant scored his third goal of the game

ST. LEO'S SPORTS

by DICK GRIFFIN

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS

Senior B: Loyola's downtrodden Senior B entry were again administered a coat of white wash by our seniors and for the third time on the schedule found themselves on the short end of a 6 to 0 score to St. Leo's. Again it was Jimmy McCarthy who rallied his team to victory by playing a smashing two-way game at center and also notching two goals. George Bourbonniere also shone on the offensive with three goals but his backchecking efforts left a lot of room for improvement. Langly Desjardins replaced Dave O'Meara in the nets and the chunky Desjardins up from the juniors for the game turned in a sparkling performance between the pipes. O'Meara was absent through illness.

Junior: Our Juniors closed out their schedule last Saturday at Lachine Arena by battling the McGee club to a 2 to 2 draw. Mickey Bourassa and Morey Barre were the best of the Saints, with the diminutive Bourassa slipping both goals behind the Double Blues' net custodian. The Juniors done alright by themselves throughout the schedule and if some of their key men had not emigrated to other schools before the start of the season they would have been able to ice a far better balanced squad.

Pee Wee Hockey: In the first game of a two-game total goals series for the Westmount Pee Wee Championship, St. Leo's Greys defeated Roslyn School's Boulevards 4 to 1 on the Academy rink. Brian Gallery and Tommie Grant were the best for Louis St. James little Saints. The Saints downed the Roslynites again Tuesday to win the series.

Boxing: Interest in the boxing class is on the upswing which is a sure sign Spring can not be far away. Johnnie Wright and Hughie Peckham are two of our leather pushers that are beginning to show excellent form in the art of self defence.

Skiing: The dates for the Annual Championships in skiing have been released with the first event the cross-country slated for Sunday morning at 10.00 a.m., March 3, at Cote des Neige. Competition in jumping will be held at 2.30 p.m. the same afternoon.

On Sunday, March 10th, the competition will move over to St. Sauveur for the Downhill and Slalom races. St. Leo's juniors and seniors will be represented in both these meets and should make a strong bid particularly for the Junior crown. St. Leo's have won the Junior Interscholastic ski honors in 1944 and 1945 and need only to repeat this year to become permanent holders of the trophy.

Academy Jottings

All St. Leo's winning hockey teams carry the 100% St. Leo product label which is a tribute to the solidity of the hockey program among the youngsters. Not only does a little school like St. Leo's develop its own players but a lot of their recent developments can be found dotting the lineups of some of the bigger schools against which we compete.

Purple And White Cagers Best MHS In Exhibition Tilt

Westmount High's never-say-die band of cagers pulled off something in the nature of a major upset at Sir Arthur Currie gymnasium last Saturday night when they bested Montreal High, who were tied for the Senior A Protestant section leadership with Baron Byng at the time, 34-26 in an exhibition tilt that served as a preface to the McGill-Queen's intercollegiate battle. All in all, it was a big night for Coach Lew Davies. For not only did his Purple and White squad emerge victorious but his Redmen had little trouble in setting the Kingstonites down 36-20.

The Cote St. Antoine Road boys were, however, using one ineligible player for the match. That was the flashy Kaz Nishio, who led the scoring parade by sinking 10 points and who set up a large number of the plays that resulted in two-pointers for the Davies men. Kaz is just a few months over the Senior A age limit.

Saturday night's tussle started off at a slow pace with both teams confused at first owing to the vastness of the strange floor. But the locals took an early lead and were never headed. At quarter time the scoreboard read 6-3 in favor of the WHS'ers.

The second canto saw the purple-sweatered aggregation extend their margin to eight points, to lead when the half time whistle blew by a score of 15-7. The local larrigans had little difficulty breaking through the University street lads' zone defence from the second quarter on and their own fast-shifting zone held pretty well throughout the tussle.

The Purple and Whites had the best of the play in the third quarter but in the final stanza the losers, paced by Bernbridge and Moe Schneiderman, put several quick baskets through the hoop to bring them within hailing distance of the winners' total.

LINEUPS

Westmount (34): Field, 7; Siemers, 6; Cocbrane, 1; MacLeod; Trueland, 5; Henderson, 1; Macfarlane, 4; Grant; Nishio, 10; Fotheringham; Lank.

Montreal (26): Schneiderman, 5; Bernbridge, 9; Pate, 0; Yamashita, 2; Vigilos, 3; Quigley; McLeod, 3; Moore, 4.

all their good eggs in one basket and after sizzin up their two senior hockey teams, it's evident that the Senior B squad did not fare out second best when the school's leading hockey talent was distributed between their A and B clubs. Roy Chesley, the school's number one coach, is the pilot of their Senior B. If our Seniors come out on top of the Senior B Interscholastic League they will in all likelihood draw the Chesley's Red Raiders in the series between the two leagues.

Two of the school's hardest working athletes are Langly Desjardins and Vaughan Quinn. Langly looks after the goalkeeping of the Juniors and Midget B and also acts in capacity of sub goalie for the Senior B and between the three assignments is kept a very busy young man. Vaughan is the Academites' regular netminder but also doubles up by filling the vacant net for the Bnatam A and Junior practises.

Frank Cliffe, husky defence stalwart of our Senior team, is rated by many as the tops among the defencemen in the Senior B company. This is Frank's last year at St. Leo's. He expects to continue his studies at Catholic High which should be good news for Brother Paul.

It's the casual stroll across our streets that boosts the casualty lists.

Royals And Golden Eagles Tied In Intermediate Race

The Golden Eagles and Royals are tied at one game apiece in the final series to decide the intermediate championship in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League. The third game in Artie Mann's classy loop was scheduled for Wednesday, February 27, just a little later than this paper's deadline.

The Royals copped the first game of the series by a 5-4 count but the Golden Eagles came back to win the second game 7-5. The Golden Eagles came first in the league standing while the Royals were the runners-up, one game in arrears.

In the semi-final series the Royals eliminated the Legion 13-10 on the two games total goals to count series. The Royals won both of the tilts, the first one by an 8-5 count and the second 6-5.

The games in the final series were played on successive evenings, on Monday, February 25, the Royals won out 2-1. The winners grabbed a one goal lead in the first period when Emmett Millen clinaxed a passing play with Ian Hellyer and Bert Dalzell. The Golden Eagles tied the count in the middle stanza when Logue MacDonald drove home Ted Armstrong's pass. The winning counter came in the third period with Morrison tallying the goal unassisted.

The second game of the series was a free scoring affair with the Golden Eagles taking a 7-5 decision. Frankie Read led the winners in scoring with three tallies while Noel Romney got two more. The other goals for the Golden Eagles were tallied by Logue MacDonald and Billy Col's.

Harold Young got three of the Royals' goals while Ken Strachan and Desse Browne chipped in with one apiece.

Buddy Read, Ted Armstrong, Adrian Lunny and Logue MacDonald all drew assists for the Golden Eagles while Harold Young, Bucky Knott, Desse Brown, Bert Dalzell and Ian Hell-yer all had a hand in the goals scored by the losers.

A two goal attack by Eddie McCrory and Jack Coleman paced the Royals to their 6-5 decision over the Legion in the last game of the semi-final series. Other scorers for the winners were Desse Browne and Ken Strachan. Assists were credited to Emmett Millen, two and McCrory, one.

Donnie Mann was almost a one-man team for the Legion as the lanky defenceman banged in four goals and assisted in the fifth. Allan Boldue scored the Legion's final goal while Art Lorimer, Lee and Ozzie Dalzell drew assists.

PUTTERS CLUB

The Westmount Putters' Social Club will hold another weekly meeting this Monday night at Victoria Hall. As usual social games and cards will fill in the evening. The group is still on the lookout for new members and all turning out will be welcomed by Chairman Jim Cameron and his executive.

Plans are being made for the group's next "refreshment night," scheduled for March 25.

MINOR LEAGUE HOCKEY IS FAST

In Cleveland, Ohio, last week, your chronicler had an opportunity of viewing an American Hockey League match between Cleveland Barons and Hershey Bears, and of inspecting the plant where the Barons play, in company with Joe Gideon, Will Franklin, Charlie McGrath, Perry Preising, 'Sol' Solomon, and Karl Durschlag.

Joe Gideon, Executive Director of the Arena, showed us the premises with as much pride as he takes in the team itself. After a very enjoyable dinner downtown as guests of Will Franklin, also interested in the Barons, our party motored out to the Arena.

Rink is Below Street Level

The first surprise was the discovery that half the big rink is built below street level. It was explained to us that this was done to cut the cost of construction, but it is also of considerable advantage in handling the crowds. Entering at street level, you come into the Arena about half way up its thirty rows of seats. There are some nine thousand seats, seven thousand of which are sold to season ticket holders.

Rink surface is 184 feet by 84 feet, somewhat smaller than the Forum here. This, however, is the only advantage the Montreal rink enjoys in comparison. The Cleveland playing area is lit by 65 high power lights, under reflectors, which give really brilliant lighting on the ice surface. This, in addition to other lighting throughout the rink.

At either end, high above the ice surface, are glass enclosures, one of which is the press box.

This is really something. The scribes can sit there sans overcoat, in a well-heated atmosphere, and, if they so desire, can help themselves to refreshments at a well-stocked ice-box.

Big Organ Provides Music

At the opposite end of the building, the other enclosure is used by the radio broadcasters and the organist. The rink is equipped with a mammoth pipe organ which plays before the game and between periods. The keyboard, or console, is enclosed in glass next to the radio broadcasters.

Previous to the game the lights fade out and a huge Stars and Stripes is lowered from the rafters. Spotlights are focused on it while the organ plays The Star Spangled Banner. Quite an effective touch of showmanship.

Game Wide Open

The game itself was wide open, faster than any big league game we've seen here in a long time. These minor leaguers don't body check as much, don't crowd the area where the puck happens to be, but devote their energies to skating. The game was a nip-and-tuck affair, tied several times but finally was won by Cleveland 8 to 6. The crowd was in a constant uproar.

One gets the impression that the boys aren't encouraged to rough it up. With fewer players than an N.H.L. team, and a more arduous schedule, injuries in the American League would be felt more than in the N.H.L. So the boys play hockey.

Rules Please the Public

Talking rules to Joe Gideon, and expressing the opinion that the present code made for scrambling, batting and shinny, we found that he agreed, with some reservations, but said that "as long as the public likes it they will have what they want." They pay the shot. As far as Joe is concerned, they can paint a few more lines and circles on the ice, and make every player do a figure eight before starting a rush if it will bring in the customers.

Like Montreal, Cleveland is nuts about hockey. And Clevelanders are as hospitable as they are enthusiastic.

William Jack "Errol" McKissock, the Purple and White's star centreman, was the big factor in the locals' first shutout win of the season. The wavy-haired speedster broke loose for two neat goals. Other Westmount markers

Golden Eagles And Unity Eliminated

Unity and Golden Eagles, champions of the juvenile and midget "A" sections in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League respectively, bowed out in the second round of the Q.A.H.A. minor playdowns. Two N.D.G. clubs knocked the local teams out of the running. The N.D.G. Park Royals eliminated Hank Henson's Unity team by a score of 4-1 while the N.D.G. Park midgets defeated Buddy Read's Golden Eagles 5-2.

Although Jim McCarthy scored the first goal of the game for Unity in the juvenile playoff, the N.D.G. club outscored the Westmounters from then on. The winners bowed out to the Snowdon champions the next night, thus the Snowdon club will carry the West zone's hopes in the city finals.

The Golden Eagles got off on the wrong foot against the N.D.G. midgets and were four goals behind before they made their presence felt. Hebert LaFontaine and Cammie McFadden counted the goals for the Golden Eagles while Johnnie Waterston was credited with an assist. As in the case of the juveniles, the Snowdon champions eliminated N.D.G. the following night and will represent the West zone in the city playdowns.

Trounce WHS

(Continued from Page 12) ported as having no objection to the tussle provided that the two teams' mentors, Mr. Davies and Miss Moore, give their okay. According to Harriet Brown, ye capitaine of the gals' squad, Miss Moore has given her consent.

But Mr. Davies says no and has suggested instead on exhibition game between the men teachers and the girls' aggregation.

were notched by Jeff Messenger and Ronny Baxter.

Fred Jones, the bespectacled netminder, had only eight shots to block in chalking up his first goose egg of the 1946 season while O'Reilly, down at the other end of the rink, had 23 shots fired in his direction.

After a scoreless first period, Messenger broke the scoring ice at the 2:08 mark of the second frame and the McRae men proceeded to put the game on the proverbial ice on goals by McKissock and Baxter. Errol notched his second counter after one minute and ten seconds of play in the last period.

St. Andrew's Top Baptists 31-21 In Y League

One of the best games to date in the "Y" league took place last Saturday when the tail-end St. Andrews cage crew turned out in quantity for one of the few times this season and downed the vastly improved Baptist team 31-21.

The St. Andrews five got off to a fast lead on baskets by Keith and Mulligan but Syd Simpson's boys came back to level it at six all by the end of the first quarter. In the second canto the Baptists turned on the heat led by J. Whitman, but they just couldn't get control of the back-boards from Henderson and Scott on the St. Andrews rearguard, and at the half it was St. Andrews 16-12.

In the second half the Sherbrooke street boys faded badly after a torrid third quarter, and the St. Andrews team pulled steadily away in the last ten minutes.

The balance of the St. Andrews team was shown in the even division of scoring honours as Scott, Henderson, Mulligan, Keith, Morris and Fraser collected a basket each for twelve points. Tom Earle added another four to the Cote Road total and Jeffrey racked up the remaining fifteen.

J. Whitman led the Baptists with 8 followed by Syd Simpson with 6, L. Whitman with 4 and Horrius with 3.

Dale Carnegie Hits Jackpot For Friends

By Veronica Kane

Dale Carnegie, world famous Lecturer and Author of the best seller of our time "How to Win Friends and Influence People," influenced more people and won more friends after addressing a capacity audience at the Mount Royal Hotel Friday evening.

His theme was "The Way to Success." This distinguished white-haired gentleman had his audience enthralled with his pleasant anecdotes and pointed witticism. The former Missouri farm boy is today advisor to millions of people, including presidents, politicians, screen celebrities and the ordinary man of the street. All look to this genial man to solve their problems, to aid them in getting the most out of life, to keep them cheerful under any circumstances.

According to Mr. Carnegie, "You are bound to succeed if you believe in your work, if you are enthusiastic and greet every new dawn with a smile."

His last words of advice were directed to the fair sex. "Ladies, you must not only know how to win your man, but how to hold him too. Encourage him, take an interest in his work and hobbies, and be a good listener."

Mr. Carnegie is a walking example of the mode of living he prescribes, courtesy, friendliness, kindness and understanding. His magnetic personality charms everyone with whom he comes in contact. His air of confidence and deep sincerity has brought him thousands of followers and admirers.

Fact Stranger Than Fiction

If this story was seen at your nearby cinema it would be scoffed at as some of Hollywood's fabulous coincidences. However, it happened in Ottawa to a young veteran who had been vainly tramping from door to door looking for a haven for his wife and two children.

Each night after work he tried a different section of the city canvassing all houses. It was disheartening work and in most cases when he revealed that he had two children, it was always the same answer, "Sorry, but we don't take children."

Then, as if Fate had stepped in, he came to an apartment house in which the landlord said he was in luck as a family was moving out within a week. The apartment was something he had dreamed about, four rooms, a bathroom, an electric range and frigidaire. To top the miracle, the landlord had no objection to children, he had three of them himself.

The bargain was just about sealed when the telephone rang. The landlord's wife answered, listened, and then let out a shriek. "Arthur, it's the telegraph company and there's a message from Sam saying he's getting married and he'll be back on the next trip of the Queen Elizabeth."

The landlord was elated, "It's my only boy," he said. Then after a thoughtful pause, "I'm sorry, but you'll appreciate that now I'll have to keep the apartment for my boy."

ity of the Province and Municipal Governments should not extend beyond these grades. If this interpretation is correct, this section of the report appears to emphasize a line of demarcation between elementary and secondary education, in general, lower the educational objectives for this Province.

With such a recommendation we must strongly disagree. It is our definite conviction that, (a) adequate secondary education (grade 8-12) must be guaranteed by the state and (b) technical and supplementary education should be recognized as a necessary and desirable adjunct to formal education.

In our opinion, then, it is most undesirable that "intermediate, supplementary, and high school teaching" should be left to non-responsible and undefined private initiative, and that such a proposal represents a retrograde step in the educational progress of the Province. While we agree that all children "are not suited for the maximum of education," we strongly support the belief that every child should be guaranteed, by the state, the type and extent of education from which he is capable of profiting. Furthermore, state responsibility must not be restricted to the age limit specified in the Compulsory Education Act, but at least part-time education should be made available by the state to all children up to the age of eighteen.

We are heartily in accord with the recommendations suggesting that educational financial assistance should be provided by the state. While admittedly some supervision should be maintained by the state insofar as expenditures are concerned, we would like to emphasize the undesirability of instituting controls which would serve to reduce the effectiveness and authority of local School Boards. Local autonomy must be maintained if our educational system is to operate effectively and efficiently."

School Associations.

Beer Question

shortage more acute, said Mr. Clement.

Many residents who in the past have been seen ducking behind trees and hedges while attempting to smuggle a few bottles of the precious brew into the house during the dead of the night, would have no need to continue this practice if the delivery trucks were allowed to deliver the bottles neatly camouflaged in a box of groceries.

Westmount grocery stores deserve to be patronized for they help to maintain the City through payment of taxes and if it means that the stores will have to sell beer to keep their customers buying in the district, then beer should be allowed to be sold here.

Some grocers have admitted that they have been forced to buy beer at exorbitant prices from outsiders and send it along with grocery orders as a means to satisfy customers. Although this practice is not legal the grocers contend that it was their only means of holding trade.

Another point brought out by the grocers' committee was that many veterans of Westmount who have recently returned from foreign service have requested the "cherished ale" at local stores and in not being able to purchase it there, go to the City of Montreal taverns where they can secure it. It is quite certain that most parents would rather have their children consume liquor in their own homes rather than in some dark, not-too-healthy club.

The grocers want to sell beer in the bottle and not in the glass, states Mr. Clement. There will be no grills, bars, night clubs or "dives" to distract the youth of the community.
