Admiral Horthy Sees Disaster if Soviet's Spring Drive Successful

OPTIMISTIC, HOWEVER

Says Hungary Will Win Way by Patience—Inspires Confidence

BUDAPEST, Jan. 10.—(By Coningsby Dawson, written for the United News).—The expected spring drive of the Russians against Poland, will, if successful, threaten many states of central Europe with the disaster of Bolshevism, says Admiral Horthy, Governor of Hungary, the man who snatched his country from the terrors of anarchy and set up a representative government.

Hungary, however, will never try Bolshevism again, he says. It will on the contrary be civilization's bridgehead against organized sabotage, if it is enabled to work and not ravaged too long by starvation.

I gathered this view also from all classes everywhere I visited in this country. The outstanding evidence was that "one trial of Bolshevism was enough." It was interesting however, to obtain the direct view of Admiral Horthy, a patriot and man of the world, and my object in seeing him was to obtain a personal statement of how he proposed to reconstruct the fallen destinies of his country.

At his palace, which sits above the Danube on the heights of Budapest, magnificent etiquette is still maintained. We mounted the marble stairs encountering guards with clanking swords at every turn. At the top of the staircase we were challenged by Halbergiers in medieval uniforms. In the anteroom we were requested to remove our coats to prepare for an interview. Passing along the hall filled with priceless cloissone, we came to a doorway outside of which a soldier caparisoned as if to take a part in grand opera, was standing.

INSPIRES CONFIDENCE.

Behind the door a seaman as bluff and cheery as any British Admiral, was seated. At his breast was a rainbow flash of decorations. Here was the man upon whom at no distant date the peace of Europe may depend.

Admiral Horthy is a clean-shaven, square-faced man with the nose of a hawk, the kind of man who inspired trust and whom men can't fail to like immediately. My first question was how he accounted for Hungary's present forlorn condition. His answer, briefly, was this:

"Old Hungary was an economic entity. It had coal mines, wheat fields and factories and was a seagoing nation. Today it has no outlet to the sea, no mines and no money to buy coal with which to open its factories. Even its wheat fields have been handed over in part as a bribe to other nations. The wheat lands apportioned to Roumania were divided among the peasants who had no capital with which to work them. They were compelled to accept them with the threat that if they refused they would be conscripted into the army. The larger area of Hungarian tillage in Roumanian hands are lying idle.

"What is the remedy?" I asked.

THE REMEDY.

"Patience," replied the Admiral. "In a world constituted as it is to-day, justice cannot triumph, least of all economic injustice. My job at the present is to sit on the lid and prevent men who do not know that it will hurt from ramming their heads against a wall. Many are starving but it will not be forever. After the war there was a great lethargy. Nations who had won thought only of themselves. Now they are beginning to think on broader lines. Soon you will begin to inquire into causes and then you will revive the horror of mis-information of the Peace Conference. If you don't, there is always Bolshevism."

"Do you mean that Hungary would go Bolshevik again?" I asked.

"Never," he answered. "But the spring drive of the Russians suggests Poland will be overwhelmed. If that happens, many states of Central Europe will go Bolshevik and Hungary will be the only state that you will be able to trust. Poor Hungary, whom you have shorn of her possessions, will be your bridgehead against the tide of anarchy. Then we shall get our chance to prove that we are your friends.

"Justice can right Hungary's wrongs. We are a proud people. We don't want charity. We want opportunity to work, but our hands are tied. How can we work without coal? Our factories are closed. Our people are starving, it is not safe to let the people starve too long."

BANDITS RETURNED MONEY TO VETERAN

Unique Event at Elizabeth, N.J.—Rob Others of Several Hundreds

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 10.—New Jersey's crime wave broke out afresh today when five well dressed, well educated bandits, in an automobile, held up five motor cars and escaped with several hundred dollars after a pistol fight with the police of three towns, who rushed to the scene in automobiles.

After taking the money and possessions of one man, the bandits discovered he was a world war veteran who had lost both legs in battle. They apologized and returned his valuables.

"We are sorry to be engaged in this business," one of the highwaymen said, "but it is a case of necessity. However, we are not robbing crippled men and those who have served their country."

Victims reported the robberies at Cranford and police from several villages set out in automobiles. As they approached the scene the bandits jumped in their car and fled, pursued by the police. The bandits escaped.

Five Powers, Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States, were represented in the Council.

STEEL COMPANY TO OFFER GOODS TO THE RAILWAY

WAGE CUT 20 P.C.

Demand for Product Has Fallen Off—Reorganization in Sales Dept.

Transportation of Dominion Steel Company's products over the Canadian National Railways will commence again on Saturday next if a decision reached by the Directors of the Company after considerable deliberation and made public to-day, meets with the approval of the Canadian National Railways. The circumstances leading to the decision were explained to The Star this morning by an official in the head office of the Company.

This authority stated that when men employed in shunting in the Company's yard, went on strike on November 22, last, at seven hours' notice, grave inconvenience resulted. When it became definitely known, however, that the men would not return to work the company had little or no difficulty in securing men sufficient to do the work abandoned by the strikers. This condition of affairs continued until December 22 when the Canadian National Railways advised the Company that they had received one week's notice from the officials of the Railway Men's Union, that as from December 28 none of the products of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company nor of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company would be handled by C. N. R. employes.

THE RAILWAY'S STAND.

The Canadian National Railways, continued the informant, were naturally apprehensive that if the Company were to offer products for transportation the company's men would refuse to handle them and there would be a strike. In a desire to avoid any action which might precipitate a strike at any time and more particularly in the Christmas season when much hardship would undoubtedly ensue if transportation on the Eastern lines were tied up, and in the hope that an exchange of views between the C.N.R. and their employes might result in the withdrawal of the embargo order, the Company decided that for a time at any rate they would offer no business to the C. N. R.

In consequence of this decision the company's business suffered considerably; complaints from customers began to be received that materials purchased were not being delivered, and a general cancellation of orders appeared to be threatening.

Under these circumstances, partly to protect the company's own interests, and also to protect as far as possible the interests of those who are dependent on the company for employment, the directors resolved to revoke the decision to withhold business from the C.N.R. and in accordance with this resolution H. B. Smith, a director, and in the absence of Roy Wolvin in London, president of the company, served the C.N.R. with notice on Saturday last that on next Saturday, January 15, the Dominion Iron and Steel Company would offer freight to be transported over the lines in the usual manner.

THE COMPANY'S ATTITUDE.

It should be pointed out, claimed the official, that the employes whose action in striking for higher wages has been the direct cause of the present unsatisfactory situation, are not regarded by the company as railway men, but as ordinary employes of the Dominion Steel Company, from whom they draw their wages. They are, moreover, receiving higher wages than other men on the plant whose work is much more difficult and hazardous and by no means so agreeable.

Apart from the question of the justice of their demands, the company has been faced with the necessity of reducing wages, in order to meet American competition. This decision was made as the result of conferences between E. P. Merrill, general manager of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, who has been in the city the last few days, with H. B. Smith, acting president of the company. The cut will be 20 per cent.

DEMAND HAS FALLEN OFF.

In making this announcement Mr. Merrill explained that the demand for all steel products had been steadily declining during the past few months with the result that the company had been unable to secure sufficient orders to ensure the continued operation of the several departments of the plant. In addition to the falling off of the demand, the steel manufacturers of the United States had reduced prices to a point where competition in the domestic markets here was difficult unless substantial reductions in the cost of manufacture were made possible. With the proposed reduction in wages, Mr. Merrill stated, it was hoped that the company would be able to secure business that would enable the plant to keep employed a large proportion, if not all of those on the pay-roll at present.

25 WILL ACT FOR GOVERNMENT IN SELLING LIQUOR

Agents Will Get $4,000 Salary and Will Be Under Heavy Bond

LATEST RUMORS

Said Tax Will Be Put on All Stuff Going to Other Provinces

The Quebec Legislature opens tomorrow and while there are many things to be attended to, one of the main questions to be discussed will be the liquor situation.

Members of Montreal district were at the Government offices this morning on their way to Quebec, and according to most reliable information, the liquor law will be settled as follows:

Wholesalers are to remain in possession of their present privileges, the Government not deeming it right to deprive certain old-established houses of such privileges. Besides that, these houses are agents for some of the largest European firms and the Government could not very well interfere.

CONTROL RETAIL TRADE.

It is stated, however, that the Government has decided to take control of all the retail sale of liquor in the Province and, as licenses have to be given, according to the law, before the first of February, the bill empowering the Government to take hold of liquor sales will be presented as soon as the sessions opens, which means in two or three days. According to the most reliable information the Government will appoint twenty-five agents for the city of Montreal and other agents for the rest of the Province where the beer and wine laws exists. These agents will be paid as a rate of $4,000 a year, will be under the control of the Provincial Treasury and will be required to furnish a bond for $25,000.

Outside agents will be asked to provide a bond of $15,000, but will not be subject to the same restrictions or rulings as to hours of sale.

For failing to fulfil the terms of their mandate, imprisonment will be imposed for the first offence, and the bond will be confiscated.

$15,000,000 REVENUE.

It is roughly estimated that a revenue of between twelve and fifteen million dollars may be derived from the sale of liquor each year. The Province of British Columbia, which has decreased the sale of liquor under certain conditions, will have to import supplies from overseas and the Province of Quebec. This means that the Federal Government will exact from all importations the Inland Revenue duty. In this particular instance the Government of the Province of Quebec will not derive any profit; all goods in transit being subject to Federal duty only, but on all other importations from the Province of Quebec the Provincial Government will exact a stamp duty of twenty-five cents for every gallon.

INCREASE PERCENTAGE.

The Hon. Mr. Taschereau, in his speech at the Place Viger Hotel a month ago, stated that the percentage of wine and beer would be increased so as to allow the importation of first-class wines. This means that as soon as the law is passed French wines, including champagnes, may be imported into the Province of Quebec, legally.

The Hon. Senator Beaubien, who is now in Europe has assured the French Government that the importation of their wines would be allowed into Canada.

PUTS FINAL TOUCH TO ITS PROGRAM

QUEBEC, Jan. 10.—(By a Staff Correspondent.)—The final touches to the Government program were given at a meeting of the Cabinet this morning, in preparation for the opening of the Legislature tomorrow afternoon.

The benches of the Cabinet ministers in the Legislative Assembly have been rearranged, consequent on the Hon. L. A. Taschereau taking the seat held for so many years by Sir Lomer Gouin.

The Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture, will occupy the seat of honor at the right of the Prime Minister, and the Hon. Ant. Galipeault, Minister of Public Works, will move up to the front bench in Mr. Caron's seat, taking precedence as the former Speaker of the House over his two colleagues—the Hon. J. E. Perrault and the Hon. A. David.

WAIT NEWS ON LIQUOR.

The Hon. Walter Mitchell, Provincial Treasurer, on whom will fall the duty of introducing the liquor legislation that is so anxiously awaited by all classes of the population, retains his old seat on the left of the Prime Minister, and behind him will be the Hon. A. David, the Provincial Secretary, with the Hon. Mr. Perrault, on his right. The Hon. Nap. Seguin, Minister without portfolio, advances one row into the Cabinet ranks, and the Deputy Speaker, Adrien Beaudry, also comes forward a row, pending the time, as one of his colleagues remarked today, when he will be in the Cabinet itself.

The Speaker's chair, which will be occupied by the Hon. J. N. Francoeur, was placed in position this morning and is one of the most ornate pieces of furniture in the Assembly. Surmounted by the royal crown, the upper portion is a mass of carved maple leaves surrounding the arms of the Province, with the motto, "Je me souviens." In the back are carved panels signifying that it is the chair of the Speaker of the Quebec Assembly, with the date the Hon. Mr. Francoeur was appointed in 1919 and a blank space for the date to be inserted when he leaves that position for another.

The chair is the personal property of the Speaker and he takes it away one year after leaving the post, thus giving time for his successor to get another one.

MONTREAL ISLAND BILLS.

Eighty two private bills have so far been sent to Mr. [illegible] Fortier, the secretary of the private bills committee, and it is expected that before this committee gets to work the number will be well over a hundred. Last year created a record, there being no less than 153 private bills submitted to the Legislature.

Included in the bills listed to date are measures amending the charters of Montreal, Outremont, Verdun, St. Lambert, Montreal North, and Montreal East, a bill for the amalgamation of the Montreal General and Western Hospitals, and bills from both the Protestant and Catholic school commissions.

Lieutenant-Governor Sir Charles Fitzpatrick will formally open the session at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and as is usual on such occasion there will be a representative assembly of Church and State and of society generally to witness the function and hear the Speech from the Throne. Cardinal Begin, who was 81 years of age today, hopes to be present, but the Lord Bishop of Quebec and Mrs. Williams will be unable to attend, having left for Montreal. The Anglican Church, however, will be represented by Archdeacon Balfour and Dean Shreve, while the Chief Justice, Sir Francois Lemieux, will head an array of judges. Brig.-Gen. J. P. Landry, C.M.G., will be in command of the military escort, the aides de camp of the Lieutenant-Governor being Capt. Rene Landry, and Major J. Roy, M.C. Mayor Sampson and President J. T. Ross of the Board will represent the City and Board of Trade of the city and seats have been reserved by A. St. [illegible] gentleman [illegible] of the Black Rod for the wives of the Ministers, the Speaker of the Upper House and Mrs. Taschereau, members of the Federal houses of Parliament, the consuls of the different countries represented in the Province, and other distinguished visitors.

'PHONE OFFICIALS ASKED TO GIVE COMPLETE DETAILS

TECHNICAL EVIDENCE

Most of Witnesses Today Gave Expert Testimony on Prices Charged

OTTAWA, Jan. 10, (by Canadian Press.)—More evidence, much of it of a technical character, was submitted to the Board of Railway Commissioners by the Bell Telephone Company this morning, in support of its application for an increase in rates.

There was also cross-examination of witnesses put on the stand by the Company, with the object of demonstrating that prices charged the Bell Telephone Company by the Northern Electric Company are too high. In this connection counsel for opposing interests pressed for more details than is given in the statements submitted by the Northern Electric, more particularly as to the percentage of loading and labor expenses.

George H. Montgomery, counsel for the Northern Electric, put in a plea that the information as submitted was as complete as could reasonably be expected, particularly in view of the fact that the Northern Electric Company is not a party to the inquiry, and does not come under the jurisdiction of the Board.

Assistant Chief Commissioner McLean who is presiding over the hearing, after consulting with his colleagues declared that more specific information must be submitted. It was finally agreed that a consultation should be held by all parties concerned in order to arrive at an agreement as to the information that would be satisfactory to opponents of the application.

Several Bell Telephone Company officials whose evidence agreed to declaring that in all the dealings between the Bell Telephone Company and Northern Electric every possible effort was made to secure equipment at minimum costs.

Cross-examination of C. F. R. Jones, sales manager of telephone and electric supplies for the Northern Electric Company of Montreal, was taken up when the Bell Telephone rates inquiry was resumed.

A. C. McMaster, K.C., counsel for Toronto, sought information as to the policy pursued in connection with the purchase of supplies, and the "loading" system in vogue.

The basis of sales to the Bell Telephone Company the witness said, was cost, plus ten percent. Witness said it was not possible to estimate actual cost of cables, because contracts are based upon the market price of materials, on the day an order is placed.

To Commissioner Boyce Mr. Jones said he had no knowledge of any complaints as to excessive costs of production by the Bell Telephone Company which at any time led to inquiry or investigation.

Mr. G. H. Montgomery, K.C., on behalf of the Northern Electric Company made a statement to the effect that it would be practically impossible for the company to give more particulars as to costs. The Northern Electric Company, he said, was not a party to the inquiry, and was not under the jurisdiction of the Board.

Dr. S. J. McLean, Chairman asked if it was not so that the records of the company would show the detail of all transactions.

Mr. Montgomery maintained that the production of such detail would involve an immense amount of labor. The evidence when produced, he said, would not be such as to have any important bearing on the inquiry. Later on if there were any specific accusation that the Northern Electric is charging undue prices auditors could be sent to Montreal to look into the books.

Mr. Glyn Osler, K.C., counsel for the Bell Telephone Company, said there was nothing to indicate that the prices are not reasonable. As a matter of fact they were lower than prices prevailing in the competitive markets.

Dr. McLean, again stated that all that is really necessary to produce is all percentages as to loading and labor.

Mr. F. Chrysler, counsel for the Union of Municipalities, suggested that the difficulty might be overcome by working out a number of illustrative examples and it was finally agreed that the different parties interested should get together and come to an agreement as to what evidence would be necessary to satisfy all concerned.

W. H. Winter, general superintendent of plant for the Bell Telephone Company, the next witness, stated that contracts came before a committee composed of three officials of the Bell Telephone Company and two of the telephone department of the Northern Electric Co. This committee met monthly, or more often, to consider prices, and deal with contracts.

As general superintendent of plant, witness said, he did the best he could to get the lowest prices possible. He was not interested financially or otherwise in the Northern Electric Company.

SECRETARIAT OF LEAGUE REPORTS ON YEAR'S WORK

A BIG RECORD

International Court Conciliation, Famine and Typhus Relief Included

PARIS, Jan. 10.—(Associated Press)—The secretariat of the League of Nations today issued an official document entitled "The Work Accomplished by the League of Nations during the First Year of Its Existence, January 10, 1920 to January 10, 1921," enumerating the various questions settled or discussed by the League.

It mentions first the establishment of a permanent International Court of Justice; second, the work accomplished in the limitation of armaments and, third, the creation of an International Commission to study use of the blockade as an economic weapon. The three foregoing are mentioned as "measures destined to prevent war." Under the heading "efforts at political conciliation" the document refers to the question of the Aland Islands, upon which the League commission will report within three weeks.

As measures destined to remedy the economic crisis, the report says, the creation of an economic and financial organization in accordance with the conclusions of the Brussels Financial Conference and the organization of a Transit Commission were foremost in the League's work.

Concerning humanitarian measures, the report goes on, the League elaborated a series of projects including an appeal for funds to fight typhus, the acceptance of responsibilities for opium traffic control and also the white slave traffic, caused the United States, Brazil and Spain to accept mediation in Armenia, and effected the repatriation of more than a hundred thousand war prisoners.

Regarding execution of the Peace Treaty, the League points out the following missions accomplished:

1.—Administration of the Saar valley.

2.—Direction of the affairs of the free city of Danzig.

3.—Rejection of the German Government's conclusions and not asking another plebiscite in Eupen and Malmedy and the final awarding of the territories to Belgium.

4.—The establishment of a permanent mandate commission to administer the affairs of former German colonies.

5.—Acceptance of responsibility for the protection of minorities.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL RUMORS PREMATURE

Term of Duke of Devonshire Does Not Expire Until Next Fall

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—(From Our Own Correspondent).—The term of His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire as Governor-General will not expire until November, and discussion as to his successor is somewhat premature. Meanwhile, there are various suggestions and rumors, but none official. One is that the term of the present Governor-General might be extended, but this is a most unusual procedure though, in war time it was done in the case of the Duke of Connaught.

The Earl of Athlone has been persistently spoken of, and, in fact, before the war, had been selected, but latterly little has been heard of his name. Another is Lord Byng. Now comes from London the renewed suggestion that it may be Viscount Burnham. All that is known about it here is that when sounded by Lord Northcliffe on the question Lord Burnham was quoted as saying, "Nothing doing."

The Canadian Government in reality has nothing to do with the appointment, though under the newer conception of Imperial relations it is not doubted that before anyone is selected inquiry would be made as to his acceptability in this country.

The proposal that Canada should appoint her own Governor-General may be discussed when the constitutional conference is held, but as the position is essentially a link with the Mother Country, a Britisher is likely to continue in the post.

LORD BURNHAM AS GOVERNOR-GENERAL?

LONDON, Jan. 10.—According to The Daily News, Viscount Burnham will be offered the Governor-Generalship of Canada, "in recognition of his long and valuable services to the Government."

LIGHT RAILWAY PROGRAM.

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—(From Our Own Correspondent.)—A very sparse program of railway construction this year is contemplated by the Canadian National Railways owing to the existing financial conditions. It is stated here that no new lines are contemplated, but that about two hundred miles of branch lines which have been begun in Saskatchewan or Alberta mainly will be carried on to completion.

Greeks Claim Victory Over Turk Nationalists

ATHENS, Jan. 10.—(United Press.) — Greek forces, taking the initiative have defeated a large body of Turkish Nationalist troops at Brusa, according to reports from Smyrna today. The forces of Mustapha Kemal were reported in disorderly retreat, leaving the Greeks an open road to Brusa. Site of the tombs of many Ottoman Sultans.

FEARS FOR SAFETY OF BALLOONISTS

SNOWSTORM ON

Believed Travellers Will Be Further Delayed, Maybe Until Thursday

MATTICE, Ont., Jan. 10.—(By James R. Kelly, United Press Staff Correspondent. Copyright.)—Renewed fears for the safety of the three American balloonists returning to civilization from the shores of James Bay were felt here today.

They are several days overdue here on their dog-sled trip down the frozen Missinabi River. The fact that unusually mild weather has prevailed, softening the ice, gave rise to fears that the aeronauts—Lieuts. Hinton, Kloor and Farrell—may have met with an accident.

The Americans were understood to have left Moose Factory equipped with the fastest dogs in this region and with the best Indian guides. Of course they are not accustomed to travelling by snowshoes and may be making very slow progress. Theories that they had lost the trail and wandered into the woods were not accepted by the natives as they said the Indian guides accompanying them could not get lost.

Several times groups of the American correspondents who are assembled here to meet the returning fliers essayed to go out to meet them, but their efforts at snow-shoe walking only served to amuse the Indians and the Mattice town folk. They didn't get very far.

SEVERE SNOW STORM.

Mattice is in the grip of a snow storm this morning, and with the wind blowing from the west, oldtimers here indicate the storm may be severe. The trail down the Missanibi is bound to be affected, and the travelers will be hampered in their movements to a certain extent.

That the Americans are pushing ahead as fast as circumstances will permit is not doubted here, but some veterans of the trail contend that the ten miles daily will be good going for inexperienced men. If this average progress has not been bettered, then the naval officers will not be here for a few days, Thursday at the earliest.

Sam Sainsbury, of Toronto, an independent motion picture photographer, came in from the east with two assistants and ten dogs and this morning the party left for the trail. Mr. Sainsbury said he did not expect to have to travel more than 30 miles, but he did not get a half mile along the railway track when one of the runners of a sleigh caught in a twitch and was broken, necessitating a return to the station here.

AN OTTAWA DENIAL.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 10.—(By Canadian Press).—Official denial of the story that Sergt. L. MacLaughlin, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, had been instructed to demand an explanation from the American balloonists on their arrival at Mattice, as to why they had landed in Canada, was made by headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police here this morning.

It was stated by Commissioner Perry of the mounted police that no such instructions had been issued to Sergt. MacLaughlin. He had been sent up to Mattice with a number of telegrams for the men, some of which came from Washington. Another mounted policemen had been sent to Cochrane, also with messages. No action of the kind intimated in the newspaper story was contemplated by the mounted police, and nothing more than this would be done.

Huge Hauls Made By Crooks in Paris During Past Year

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Twenty-four million francs in cash and securities and ten million francs worth of goods and valuables, half of which were recovered by the police, were the total amount obtained in Paris through burglaries, thefts and swindles by criminals during 1920, according to official figures made public by police headquarters today.

The Ministry of Finance alone lost 3,220,000 francs through swindles and forgeries.

British Exports and Imports Show Decided Increase

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(By Canadian Press Cable)—British imports for 1920 were 1,936,000,000 pounds sterling, an increase of 310,500,000 over 1919.

Exports were over 1,500,000,000 for 1920, showing an increase of nearly 600,000,000 pounds sterling.

INTENSE SINN FEIN ACTIVITY NORTH AND WEST OF DUBLIN TODAY

Skirmishes With Crown Forces Over Line Twenty Miles in Length — Officers Attacked in Dublin — Hopes of Successful Negotiations Fades Again.

DUBLIN, January 10.—(By Chas. McCann, United Press Staff Correspondent).—Rebel activity, possibly reaching the importance of extensive skirmishes with Crown forces north and west of Dublin, was reported here to-day.

The fighting, according to vague reports which reached Dublin Castle, extended at intervals over an area of twenty miles. It was believed the Sinn Fein army may have planned the attacks in an effort to cut transportation lines comprising the Royal Canal and the Western Railways.

Wires were down, but acting on meagre early reports, Dublin Castle despatched reinforcements to various points. The troops in full accoutrements were rushed to the scene by rail and by lorry.

The attack was said to have begun with an ambush of Crown forces at Dunboyne, fifteen miles northwest of Dublin. Casualties there were not reported.

Almost simultaneously there were outbreaks at Lexlip, fifteen miles west of Dublin, along the Royal Canal and at Batterstown, fifteen miles north and east of Dublin. The two places are about twenty miles apart, with Dunboyne the centre of the operations.

A sensational attempt was made this morning to assassinate two officers who, with the wife of one of them, were riding in a touring car in the outskirts of Dublin. The car was riddled with bullets, but the driver speeded up and escaped with his passengers, only one of the occupants of the machine, one of the officers, being wounded.

The identity of those in the car was not disclosed, but the car ultimately went to Dublin Castle.

EIGHT MEN TURNED FUSILADE ON AUTOMOBILE FIRST ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE WOMAN

Two attempts were made on the car, the first at Charlemont bridge, a mile from the heart of the city. Eight men subjected the machine to a fusilade of revolver shots, after which one of the attacking party, according to the authorities, mounting the running board, twice fired point blank at the woman in the machine. The bullets passed through her clothing, but she was not wounded.

The officer who was wounded received his injuries in this attack. The car raced away, but shortly afterward was again attacked. A cart was driven across the road, and when the car slowed down a number of men who had laid an ambush for it, opened a hot fire. The car again escaped, however, and ultimately reached Dublin Castle, badly smashed by bullets.

Another report stated that the woman was not the wife of one of the officers in the car, but the widow of one of the victims of the November assassinations in Dublin, and that she was proceeding to the castle to identify a man arrested in connection with the murder of her husband. So far as is known, this alleged attempt to assassinate a woman was the first that had occurred during the Irish troubles.

DUBLIN TROOPS FRUSTRATED PLAN FOR ATTACK IN THE HEART OF THAT CITY

Military forces here frustrated a plan for a Sinn Fein attack in the heart of Dublin.

As reported at headquarters today, a body of Sinn Feiners, cut through the barbed wire barricade of a long stretch of road leading into the city, planning to ambush troops. Soldiers were rushed to the place and took a number of prisoners.

The incident was only one of a number of skirmishes during the week-end.

Raids were conducted in Cork. Among the prisoners taken were two young girls, one of them with a revolver hidden in her corset, the other with a pistol in her pocket. The soldiers made a careful search of residences of many suspected Sinn Feiners removing large quantities of documents, but making few arrests.

A tank was thrown into action at Dillon's Cross, County Cork.

It was used to batter down a stone wall which had concealed ambushers two weeks ago. Two buildings were burned as punishment for that ambush. Further "property punishment" was exacted at Camlough where a constable was killed last week. Two houses said to belong to Frank Aiken, a prominent Sinn Feiner, were burned. Most of the town's population fled before the soldiers arrived.

The holding of the American vessel Honolulu by military forces at Cork engrossed Sinn Fein and military authorities today. The Captain of the vessel protested when boarded by soldiers as she proceeded up the river Lee to Cork. The ship carried provisions for citizens of Cork.

CONFERENCES AT AN END.

LONDON, Jan. 10. — (Associated Press.) — Conferences between the Rev. Michael O'Flanagan, acting president of the Sinn Fein and Mr. Lloyd George, with a view to bringing about peace in Ireland, have been broken off and will not be resumed, says the Daily Mail. Before Father O'Flanagan returned to Ireland on Friday night, he had a long conversation with the Premier and the outcome is said to be described in official quarters as "not as satisfactory as could be hoped."

Peace negotiations have not altogether broken down, the newspaper adds, but Father O'Flanagan will not be a party to further exchanges.

HOPES HAVE DWINDLED.

LONDON, Jan. 10. — (By Percy Sarl, United News Staff Correspondent.) — Advance hints as to the nature of Eamon de Valera's statement, which is expected this week, have depressed the hopes of peace in Ireland which rose a few days ago, due to a combination of circumstances. Now it is predicted that DeValera will defy the Government, spurn its Home Rule program, and demand that any negotiations start from scratch, as though there was no Home Rule program even in contemplation. This, the Government would, of course, reject and the matter would be in no better shape than at present.

The Government wants the Irish Council instituted under the Home Rule Bill's provisions to submit its recommendations for further legislation. But whether the council will ever report to the British Government remains to be seen. Sinn Feiners say it would be good strategy for the Irish Republicans to participate in the elections, elect eighty per cent or more of the personnel of the Council, and then nullify the entire proceedings of the session by directing the Sinn Fein members to absent themselves from the deliberations of the body.

The Empire News, a weekly Manchester publication, prints a circumstantial story, rather vague throughout, of a Sinn Fein plot, to blow up the London Houses of Parliament with new, small, most highly explosive bombs to be fired into Parliament from a distance by an ingenious devise.

LORD DECIES A CANDIDATE.

DUBLIN, Jan. 10.—The first candidate publicly to offer himself for election to the Southern Irish Parliament is Lord Decies, who has written a letter for publication in the Irish newspapers in which he admits that the Home Rule Act is far from perfect, but says, "It represents a gift of self-government which is ours for the asking."

Expressing the belief that the Home Rule Act can be made still better, Lord Decies announces his purpose of asking some Southern Irish constituency to elect him a member of the Southern Parliament.

"They may refuse me," says Lord Decies, "but I shall feel that I have attempted something practical and done more for Ireland than those who, however sincere in their purpose, continue to quarrel indefinitely with an accomplished fact."

BOMBER SENTENCED.

BELFAST, Jan. 10.—Patrick O'Keefe, of Cork, who was found with a live bomb in his possession Saturday, was sentenced to 10 years' penal servitude.

SINN FEIN M. P. INTERNED.

Troops at Derry today surrounded the residence of Joseph O'Doherty, Sinn Fein member of Parliament, and arrested him. He will be interned. Two previous raids on his home were without result.

Raids on rate collectors, the latest form of Sinn Fein activity, are becoming increasingly common. Six are reported in the county of Wexford.

SIXTY WERE SENTENCED.

CAHIRGUILLAMORE, Ireland, Jan. 10.—Sixty Sinn Feiners charged with unlawful assembly have been sentenced to six months hard labor by a military court here. Twenty others were sentenced to three months on the same charge.

CROWN FORCE AMBUSHED.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Dublin says it is rumored that Crown forces have been ambushed at Dunboyne, county Meath, on the border of Dublin county. The despatch adds that the operations appear to have been extended over a wide area, from Leixlip, in the east through Celbridge, Maynook and Kilcock, at all of which places road bridges are reported to have been destroyed, to Batterstown, in the west.

There has been no official confirmation of the rumors, as all the wires in the districts concerned have been cut.

[illegible] a foreigner, who was [illegible] salvaging, was overcome by the dense smoke and died on the way to the hospital. At 10 o'clock the fire had not spread to any other buildings. 89 VARIETIES OF VEHICLES AT N.Y. AUTOMOBILE SHOW

LITTLE CHANGES

Betterments are Conservative, But Stream Lines More Pronounced

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—From Our Own Correspondent.) — Breaking all records for exhibits and attendance, the twenty-first National Automobile Show, under the auspices of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, opened in Grand Central Palace Saturday afternoon. New York apparently has again gone automobile mad. There are eighty-nine different makes of vehicles in the four floors of the Palace that are devoted to the show. This meant scores of cars set against a background of red and green, forming a most wonderful picture.

This year's show is easily the most comprehensive one that has ever been held anywhere in the world. Cars for every pocket book were apparently the aim of the management.

Perhaps only the expert can discover the changes in the cars shown this year, as compared with last. What betterments have been made are of a conservative character, radicalism having been discarded by motor car manufacturers years ago. Stream lines will be found more pronounced, they running in several instances from the radiator hood right back to the tonneau, but for the most part body designs are little changed, except as to their beauty. To the artistic eye the present display of motor cars has never been surpassed.

ENGINES ATTRACT THRONG.

Engines attracted a lot of attention from the visitors. The four and six cylinder type as usual predominate, but the crowd was also interested in the eight and twelve types that are the motive power of the several higher-priced cars.

Charles Clifton, president of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce, opened the show. There were no formal ceremonies.

The accessories exhibits attracted thousands of visitors, also.

Cars are being exhibited here for the first time are the Dupont, Friend, Hanson, Hatfield, Lafayette, Lincoln, Lorraine, Noma and Piedmont.

RE-DESIGNING INTAKE MANIFOLDS.

The redesigning of the intake manifolds on automobile engines has been one of the most important developments of the year. By means of the improvements in the carbureter and manifold it is possible for cars weighing over 3,000 pounds to secure twenty miles and more to the gallon of gasoline. Older cars weighing no more, but not equipped with the new devices for handling present day fuel, are getting anywhere between seven and eleven miles per gallon, or only about fifty per cent of the efficiency of the new cars. These results are not only accomplished by the design of the intake manifold and the manner in which the exhaust heat is utilized for assisting in the vaporization of the fuel, but are also due to the fact that manufacturers are now using higher speed engines than ever before, and have solved a great many problems in the handling and distribution of the intake gases, so that the actual efficiency is even much higher.

Of all the exhibits none has attracted more attention because of novelty than that of the Nordyke and Marmon Company. Miniature cars are on display at the Marmon booth, each of them reproducing in the minutest detail a standard model of the Marmon line. Built to one quarter scale, these little cars overcome the drawback of the average booth in shows of recent years, namely that only two or three different models can be shown. The full Marman line is displayed in this way. Each model is exact to the last nut and bolt.

Many of the firms who will exhibit at the Montreal Motor Show now have their exhibits at the New York Show. Among the factory representatives and Montreal distributers who will be in New York next week are the following:

ODD ITEMS

SHE FORGOT THE MURDER.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 10.—A woman, giving the name of Lillian McGill, 29 years old, today called at police headquarters and told a story of killing a man several days ago, placing the body under the bed and forgetting about it until today, when she started to sweep her room.

Patrolmen visited the room, in a small hotel, and found the unclothed body of a man about 25 years old.

In a written statement, according to the police, the woman admitted killing the man. She said she only knew him as "Frank," and that he told her he was employed in a saloon. They quarreled, she said, and he struck her whereupon she took a revolver from a dresser drawer and shot him three times in the head.

She said she had been in a dazed condition for the past two days, and insisted that she forgot the tragedy entirely until today.

A CRAVING FOR WATER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Patrolman John Winner of Old Slip station was standing post yesterday. Suddenly a man dashed past him and ran to the fire box at the corner. He opened the box and pulled the alarm. The patrolman inquired as to the location of the fire. The man said:

"It is inside of me, officer. I drank some of this Washington street booze and I'm burning up. I want the fire department to run a hose down my throat and extinguish the flames."

At the station the man said he was Joseph Marone, 21 years old, of Wooster, O. He told the lieutenant that he had one drink and decided that the quickest way to get water was to call the fire department.

DR. J. BEATTIE CROZIER SUCCUMBS IN LONDON

Was Prominent Political Writer and Economist

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Announcement is made of the death of Dr. J. Beattie Crozier, noted political writer and economist.

Dr. John Beattie Crozier was a Canadian who had won his way by unaided merit to the highest ranks of Britain's intellectual aristocracy. He was born in Galt, Ont., April 23, 1840, the son of John Crozier and his wife, Agnes Beattie, both natives of Liddesdale, Roxburghshire, Scotland. He graduated in medicine from the University of Toronto in 1872 as a double medalist and went to England in the same year to begin his career. His books were produced by immense industry, in the hours spared from the practice of his profession. His monumental work, "History of Intellectual Development on the Lines of Modern Evolution," begun in 1897 and completed in 1904, won him official recognition in the form of a pension from the civil list, which enabled him to devote more time to his literary labors. The titles of his other works, "The Religion of the Future," "Civilization and Progress," "Lord Randolph Churchill: A Study of English Democracy," "My Inner Life," "The Wheel of Wealth," "First Principles of Investment," "Sociology as Applied to Practical Politics," and "Last Words on Great Issues," show the versatility of his interests and the range of his research.

In 1899 Dr. Crozier received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the University of Toronto in recognition of his distinguished work in literature.

Dr. Crozier in 1877 married Katherine Augusta Anderson. Mrs. Crozier died in 1918. Two daughters survive. An only son was killed in the war.

DISARMAMENT TO BE CONGRESSIONAL TOPIC

Lively Discussion Around Reduction of Sea Power Expected in United States

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The subject of disarmament is expected to be prominently in the minds of members of the United States Congress this week.

Impetus to the discussion revolving around the general subject of reduction of sea power undoubtedly will be given by committee meetings. The chief of these meetings, according to indications today, will be the session tomorrow of the House naval affairs committee at which Secretary Daniels has been asked to give available Government information as to the naval strength, present and projected of the principal Powers of the world. The Senate foreign relations committee also may consider disarmament as brought forward by pending resolutions proposing disarmament conferences.

LOAN SHARK HAS GREAT FAITH IN SUPREME DEITY

"He Puts Money Into Everything I Touch," Says W. H. Tapley

ANOTHER CASE

Victim Had to Secure Unusual Post to Get Free of His Clutches

W. H. Tapley alarmed by The Star's publicity and hoping to check it is threatening action for alleged libel. The Star will not be stopped in its public duty by any such methods and welcomes the action. Certain of Tapley's victims, it is understood, are preparing to proceed against him under the law against usury.

The paths of a high-powered loan shark are happily sometimes strewn with perplexities and exasperations. This is made evident by one of the most recent cases that has come to the attention of The Star.

The victim in this instance, as in a good many others, is well advanced in years; and in tracking him down, soon after his release from jail, W. H. Tapley ran into a snag of a most unusual and disturbing sort.

The victim had had a long experience with the money hunter, and up to recently he had been valued by the latter, as a milch cow of rare docility and productiveness. But at last conditions changed; the good natured borrower found a way of solving his difficulty that has proved distinctly peeving to the extortioner.

When seen by a representative of The Star this man looked the part of one who is "born game"—prodigal by nature but ready to take all the knocks of fortune and of fate with a cheerful grin and a ready trust in future luck. And his conversation bore out appearances; he spoke of his different deals with the loan shark as being extremely unpleasant but largely the result of his own folly in placing a simple trust in the man, and in failing to profit by the maxim, "Once bit, twice shy."

ALWAYS AT 120 P.C.

"My loans from Tapley were numerous and always at the 120 per cent. rate," he remarked. "I was well aware, on each occasion, that he was running a 'raw deal' on me but I never had the gumption to break away entirely.

"The trouble with me," he explained, after a pause, "was that I never knew how to save money; much less could I 'watch it grow'—except in the coffers of the money lender. Tapley knew my weakness and made capital out of it. When in work my pay was high, but when out of it I had nothing; and during these off periods I would go to Tapley for a $15 or $20 loan. Generally within a few months these loans would be paid up in full, capital and 120 per cent. interest. Tapley evidently took a great fancy for me—I was such a good spender—and once his admiration urged him on to the extreme of treating me to a drink, at a time when a drink was a drink.

"During all these years, strangely enough, I never felt any actual enmity towards the man. I knew he was driving a hard bargain; I knew that I should be spending my money in furnishing our home with many comforts that were lacking instead of losing it all in interest payments; but I did not realize the gravity of our situation in the way my wife did. That revelation was slow in coming; but it came.

MADE USUAL THREATS.

"Tapley was not long out of confinement before he paid me a visit and asked for a round sum in full payment of an outstanding loan. I refused and recalled to his mind the huge amount of easy money he had made out of me in the past and told him that I considered that any claims he might still have against me were balanced by certain favors I had done him during his term in jail. He went away threatening to attach my salary.

"The attachment was placed," the victim explained with a peculiar chuckle, "upon my salary at a large manufactory that had never heard of my name. Of course they quite mistook my place of employment, and when they did find out, I mean Tapley and his lawyer, they were far from pleased, as their hopes of seizing my wages were impossible to realize on. They discovered, in fact, that I now represented a foreign Government and was paid by cheque from overseas!"

At this fitting climax the wife came into the room and added her version of the long story.

REFUSED TO OPEN BOOKS.

She stated that her husband had always been fatally easy-going. She had frequently pleaded with him to shun Tapley entirely, but that up to recently her pleadings had been of no avail. During his occasional absences from the city she used to go to Tapley's office herself and ask to see their account in the ledger so that she might pay it in full, no matter how difficult it might be to raise the money. Tapley always refused on the grounds that it was her husband, not she, with whom he was dealing.

If she wanted to pay his interest charges for him he would accept and give the receipt for same—no more.

"It was useless to appeal to his humanity," she explained. "He met you with a gracious smile and a manner that seemed almost chivalrous; but he kept you in the net."

"On one such occasion," she recalled, "after I had requested rather firmly to be allowed to make a settlement in full, he told me that he [illegible] my personality perhaps he meant the 'Irish' in me—but that he could not oblige me.

"I became rather desperate, and perhaps somewhat heated, and asked him, 'Don't you think there is a God?'"

"I'm sure of it," he replied in his suave manner. "He puts money into everything I touch."

PUT FIST THROUGH TRAM CAR DOOR; DEATH FOLLOWED

Passenger Became Angered When Car Was Turned Into Barns

DEATH AN ACCIDENT

Romeo Mongeau the Victim—Evidence Heard at Inquest Today

The death of Romeo Mongeau, who put his fist through the glass in a tram car Saturday night, was attributed to an accident by Coroner McMahon this morning at the conclusion of the inquest, after the conductor and motorman and two other employes of Montreal Tramways' Company had given their evidence.

Conductor E. Taupier said that at 2nd avenue, Maisonneuve, he told the passengers to transfer, as the car was going to the barns. Mongeau declared that he would not get off, as he wanted to be taken to the next corner. The conductor repeated that the tram was not going farther, to which Mongeau retorted with a threat to "smash his face," adding many abusive terms.

"Mongeau finally got off," said the conductor, "and I closed the automatic doors. After alighting, he walked to the sidewalk, took off his coat and came back to the car, inviting me to come down and fight. I paid no further attention to him, but rang to the motorman to proceed. Then Mongeau shoved his fist through the glass in the door, and turning around, disappeared on the run."

FOUND HIM DYING.

Jas. Belvalle, the motorman, while he did not see much of the proceedings, heard Mongeau use improper language towards the conductor, and afterwards heard the crash of breaking glass, and saw Mongeau running from the car.

C. Desjardins, a motorman of one of the track sweepers which was nearby, said that he noticed a man lying on the track on Notre Dame street, between 1st and 2nd avenues, at about 12.30 the same night. He recognized him as Mongeau, a neighbor of his. Two men were trying to help him, and he noticed that Mongeau's wrist was wrapped in a cravat, and that he was bleeding profusely. When he asked him what was the matter, Mongeau complained of being very weak and did not want to be moved. Desjardins and V. Laurin, who also worked on the sweeper, called an automobile and had him taken to his home, 320 Lepailleur street.

A. Mongeau, father of the deceased, testified that his son was brought home suffering from a cut on his wrist. A doctor was called, and in a short time he was taken to Notre Dame Hospital where he died at noon Sunday. The son would not tell anything beyond that he had shoved his arm through a tram car window.

When all the evidence had been heard, Coroner McMahon rendered a verdict of accidental death, without calling a jury.

DIED OF BURNS

Mrs. H. Blanchard Attempted to Clean Hot Stove

A verdict of accidental death was returned by Coroner McMahon this morning upon Mrs. H. Blanchard, of 962 Pie IX Boulevard, who died of burns sustained while cleaning the kitchen stove, Saturday morning. According to evidence rendered before the Coroner, the deceased was cleaning the range with a liquid preparation, despite the fact that the directions read that the cleanser was not to be used on a hot stove.

As she was leaning over the stove her clothing caught fire and she screamed loudly for help.

Mrs. Blanchanf was at once removed to the Montreal General Hospital where she died yesterday morning.

MONEY SET ASIDE FOR REPAIRING STREETS HAS TO BE USED TO REMOVE SNOW

In view of the reduction of the reserve fund in the 1921 budget to $306,000 by the City Council on December 30 last, the Administrative Commission has found it necessary to take certain sums originally voted for other purposes, to cover the anticipated costs of snow removal, there being no funds now available for this purpose from the reserve fund. To this end a resolution has been passed appropriating for the purpose of snow removal, $70,000 allowed for paving repairs; $15,000 allotted to sidewalk repairs; $7,500 allotted to levelling of unpaved streets; $7,500 set aside for repairs to temporary pavements; $15,000 for street oiling; $21,262.48 allowed for macadam repairs and $100,000 set aside for the purchase of electric energy, making a total of $236,262.48.

Charges against the reserve fund which can be foreseen amount to $305,000, as follows: probable judgments and costs in lost lawsuits, $45,000; levelling charges to which the city is committed for five-year period, $50,000; technical school $40,000; extra days to be paid to contagious disease hospitals, $40,000; lawyers' expenses, $4,000; insurance of firemen, $6,000; McGill, $10,000; Laval, $10,000; innundations, $12,000; experts' fees, $2,000; charter expenses, $40,000; referendum, $50,000.

There is thus nothing left for snow removal, and other casual expenses which are usually taken from the reserve fund, and it has, therefore, become necessary to find the money necessary for snow removal from other sources. The Commission has voted a first sum of $30,000, for the removal of snow, to be charged to the credits taken as above mentioned.

BAIL FOR SILLS FIXED AT $3,000

Charged with Attempted Murder of J. J. Carey, Former Chum

Charged with the attempted murder of J. J. Carey, a former chum, Nicholas Sills, alias Smith was arraigned before Judge Cusson this morning. Sills was extradited from Boston, Mass., at the request of Assistant Chief of Detectives Cowan, and was brought to Montreal Saturday by Detectives Tierney and Forget. Enquete will be held Friday.

Appearing in court today Sills was officially accused of having shot Carey, on the night in question. Peter Bercovitch, K.C., appearing for the defence, asked for bail. Judge Cusson set the amount at $2,000. Assistant Chief of Detectives Cowan, immediately made a protest to Judge Cusson, that this amount was not sufficient. He told the judge that Sills, Carey and two other companions had come to Montreal last summer, and were all living under assumed names. He said the accused already had a police record although only 22 years of age, and that great expense had been incurred in bringing him back to Montreal. The extradition proceedings had been fought in the courts of Boston, and while these proceedings were in progress, despatches from that city stated that the extradition commissioner in Boston set the amount of bail for the temporary release of Sills at $15,000. After listening to the Assistant Chief, Judge Cusson raised the bail $1,000, making the total amount $3,000.

The crime for which Sills was brought back to Montreal occurred on the night of October 11-12. Following an argument in a house on Cadieux street near St. Catherine it is alleged Sills left the house, followed a few seconds later by Carey. According to inmates of the house, in another minute or so a shot was heard and Carey was found lying in an unconscious condition on the sidewalk, with three bullet wounds in his abdomen. He was rushed to the Montreal General Hospital, where it was found he had suffered the loss of so much blood, that transfusion was necessary. An orderly in the hospital furnished the blood, and it is claimed by the doctors this timely operation was the only thing that saved the life of the victim.

Following the shooting, Detectives Tierney and Forget started a search for Sills. It was found he had left the city, but was arrested at Lynn, Mass., his home, the following day.

Mr. Bercovitch, this morning intimated to Judge Cusson that his line of defence will be that the shooting was an act of self-defence.

ENTERED HOUSE.

Max Rotzeiz reported to the detective department yesterday that between the hours of 7 and 12 o'clock Saturday night, thieves gained entrance to his residence by the use of a false key and stole goods valued at $1,100. ELECT ALDERMEN BY ACCLAMATION

Outremont Will Have No Municipal Contest This Year

The three retiring aldermen of the City Council of Outremont were this morning re-elected by acclamation and there will, in consequence, be no contestation of these seats this year. The three re-elected are: Alderman Louis Edgar Gauthier, representing the South Ward of the city; Alderman Robert Cooke, representing the West Ward of the city; and Alderman Gilbert O. Messier, representing the North Ward of the city. No nominations were handed in at the Outremont City Hall for contestants to these seats.

It was not until the offices of the City Council on St. Catherine's road closed for nominations at ten o'clock this morning that the result of the annual election of aldermen was known. So far there have been no arrangements made for a special meeting of the City Council to announce the results.

The city of Outremont each year holds an election for three seats in the council. One member from each ward is obliged to resign his seat each year, but he may stand for re-election. The resignations are carried out in rotation. As there are three members for each ward this gives each a term of three years in office under ordinary circumstances.

There will not be an election for Mayor of Outremont until the three-year term of the present holder of the office is completed.

STRONG ARM SQUAD MAKES NIGHT RAID

Aliens Will Be Deported, Others to Face Charges

TO WIDEN NET

Col. Gaudet Announces Institution of Vigorous Campaign

The strong arm squad of the Montreal Police Department was at work again Saturday night raiding pool rooms, clubs, all night lunch rooms and other places where men congregate, in search of men and women who could not give a satisfactory account of themselves. The net result of this raid was that 10 men who were arrested by city detectives, being citizens of other countries, and unable to give a satisfactory account of themselves, were handed over to the immigration authorities. The police squads of plain clothes men rounded up fifteen men, residents of Canada, but who could not account for their movements. They were all charged with loitering by night.

Chief of Police Pierre Belanger and Chief of Detectives Lepage, are cooperating with their departments in an effort to rid the city of those who have no business here. They state that it is no use for strangers to come to Montreal at the present time in search of employment. Both feel that the citizens of Montreal are the ones who should benefit by any employment offered, and make it clear that anyone coming here and found loitering will likely find themselves in the Police Court with a vagrancy charge against them.

These raids for the past few days have only been carried out in the parts of the city where it has been the habit of criminals and loafers to gather, but it is known that within the next few days raids will be made simultaneously in all sections of the city with the view of cleaning up the city.

A FLYING SQUADRON.

The vigorous campaign recently instituted by the police, Col. Gaudet announced this morning was with a view to cleaning up the undesirables whose presence in Montreal adds to the danger of the city streets. For this purpose a flying squadron has been operating for several nights now, with results which Col. Gaudet feels justified in describing as satisfactory.

The method followed is to stop and question any suspicious looking characters found hanging around street corners during the night, and where they are unable to give a satisfactory account of themselves, to conduct them to the nearest police station for further investigation. In the case of foreigners of an undesirable character they are handed over to the immigration authorities for deportation.

Col. Gaudet adds that the system of punch cards recently introduced for the control of constables on duty during the night is working very well, and he has one or two other slight changes in view which he hopes will further add to the efficiency of the police force.

has, since his return from London two weeks ago, been giving attention to a reorganization of the Sales Department. The plan involves, among other things the promotion of R. W. McKeen from the position of Assistant General Sales Agent at Sydney to that of Assistant General Sales Agent at Montreal. Mr. McKeen has had twenty years service with the Dominion Iron and Steel Company at Sydney, sixteen of which have been in the Sales Department. He is, by reason of his long experience and training especially well qualified for the larger responsibilities and his promotion will be welcomed by the trade generally. He has already entered upon his new duties.

Another change announced by Mr. Elkin, is the promotion of Gordon M. Johnston from Sales Manager of the plant of James Pender, Ltd., St. John, N.B., to the position made vacant by the recent death of R. B. Coulson at the Head Office, Montreal. Mr. Johnston will direct the sale of all the Company's wire products. Before joining the Pender plant he was Secretary of the Maritime Nail Company and on the outbreak of the war he enlisted and was in service in France. He too has entered upon his new duties.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

A verdict of accidental death was rendered by Coroner McMahon at the inquest this morning into the death of Joseph Meunier, who died shortly before noon on Saturday, of injuries sustained in a fall from a hand car on the Grand Trunk Railway.

With the return to normal conditions the Metropolitan Board is now making plans to extend the influence of the association and has appointed Major Beaton its chief executive officer for the city-wide work. Major Beaton will be assisted by two associate secretaries, J. O. Lough and John Bradford. Mr. Lough will now give his whole time to financial administration, while Mr. Bradford will become responsible for the promotion of the association's fourfold program.

HUDSON BAY CO. GIVES TO McGILL

Sir Arthur Currie Receives $20,000 Cheque for University

A cheque for $20,000 from the Hudson Bay Company, a contribution to the McGill Centennial Endowment Fund, reached the university this morning, accompanied by a letter to Sir Arthur Currie from A. M. Irvine, general agent of the company. The letter in part reads as follows: "I am directed to inform you that the Governor and Committee of the Hudson Bay Company have authorized a special subscription in the sum of $20,000 toward the McGill College Centennial Endowment Campaign Fund.

"In compliance therewith I now beg to hand you this company's cheque for the amount stated above and to convey to you on behalf of this company sincere wishes for the continued success of McGill in the great field in which its most valuable work is being carried on.

"I am directed to add that the apparent delay in sending our subscription is due to the matter having been taken up with the head office in London by mail."

Sir Arthur Currie has replied to the letter expressing the gratitude of the university for the generous donation and referring to the many valuable gifts for which McGill is indebted to Lord Strathcona, a former governor of the Hudson Bay Company. He expressed a hope that McGill would, in the future as in the past, carry on her work successfully and fully justify the trust which her many friends have placed in her.

The telegram, which is signed by C. D. McNeil, Dominion secretary-treasurer of the G.W.V.A., reads: "Provision now made for direct Federal relief unemployed disabled men."

It does not mention what is to be done by the Federal authorities towards assisting those out of employment who are not prevented by disability.

Today has seen the steady stream of men at employment offices and offices of registration increase in volume, and at noon there had been over 200 registered. The offices of the Unemployed Ex-Service Men's Association at 294 St. James street is now handling by far the greater number of these men.

This morning over one hundred registered there and jobs had been found for some 30 of these. Until financial or other substantial aid can be obtained, officials of this organization claim that there is little chance of any really helpful work being done to relieve the situation. They allege that when the offices opened this morning they were obliged to crowd as many men into it as possible in order that they might warm themselves. Many of these had roamed the streets all night through lack of funds with which to purchase a bed, they said, and some were without food.

"What is the city going to do for us now that we have registered?" is the cry on all hands at those points where the unemployed have congregated during the past few days in large numbers. The city has already done something towards relief, but news of this had not reached the majority by noon today.

FOOD VOUCHERS GRANTED.

New orders have been issued to the police stations with regard to granting food vouchers to needy applicants. These vouchers must now be presented at the Provincial Employment Bureau and countersigned by Dr. Boucher, otherwise they will not be valid. This, it was pointed out on Saturday, might instil hardship over the weekend when Dr. Boucher was not available.

On Saturday 246 applicants were received, some of which could not be registered for lack of funds.

No money has yet been voted to the Committee, Commissioner Verille points out, but with the aid of the charitable organizations, he hopes that they will be able to pull through.

At various police stations this morning it was reported that there have been fewer applicants than usual, but that, at all stations except one, where forms for this purpose have not yet been received, the men are being registered as fast as they apply, and then dispatched to No. 10, St. James street for reference to Dr. Boucher.

The hope is expressed amongst ex-service men and others in the city that the civic authorities will come to some arrangement by which the Unemployed Ex-Service Men's Association will be permitted to handle the whole question of ex-service unemployment in the city, the authorities reimbursing the association for the work it carries out.

Employers and others are appealed to by this organization for help. Now that the Government at Ottawa has declared its intention of taking care of the physically unfit amongst these, it is thought that the work of the association can be successfully carried on with the public's support.

They Like a Change Too!

If any fish likes a change of scenery it is a Mackerel. DETROIT'S STREET RY. WAR DEVELOPS

LAYS CROSSING

Maroooned D.U. Official Over Night While Work Accomplished

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 10.—(Star Special)—The building program of the Municipal Street Railway Commission which now has under construction a few miles of line near the northerly city limits, was given an entirely new angle Saturday when a big squad of laborers, guarded by two hundred police officers, ripped up a section of Detroit United track at Mack and St. Jean avenues and then crossed the company's lines with a city-owned diamond and the necessary trackage.

The crossing was made before daylight, while E. J. Burdick, assistant general manager of the Detroit United was held a prisoner on Belle-Isle. Mr. Burdick was rushed over to the island late Saturday night by police officers who kept him marooned there by raising the draw-bridge. The bridge was lowered at 7 o'clock yesterday morning when the "Prisoner" made his way back to the city just in time to see the workmen on their way home from the Mack avenue "job."

The result of the treatment accorded Mr. Burdick will be an action against the city of Detroit for improper arrest, as well as the institution of contempt proceedings against those city officials responsible for the construction of the tracks at St. Jean and Mack avenues.

At the moment he was seized and hustled away, the Detroit United official was engaged in serving a restraining order issued by the circuit court against the city enjoining it from interfering with the Street Railway Company's tracks in any way.

Mr. Burdick last evening stated that when he protested to the officers at being taken away he was informed that they had "Orders" to do what they were doing. After reaching Belle-Isle, Burdick was searched at the police station there and everything of value taken from him, he said, except his glasses. He was informed that he was held for disturbing the peace. Even the telephone at the Island was disconnected so that he could not call up his family to inform them as to his plight, Mr. Burdick said.

The plan to outwit the Detroit United Company was apparently a well thought out one. The laborers who were to do the job were locked up late Saturday night at the yards of the department of public works, until the time came for them to go to work, when they were rushed to the scene in motor trucks and accompanied by patrol wagons carrying more than two hundred police officiers

FAMOUS FEUDIST IS BURIED IN W. VA.

One-Time Confederate Officer—Sons Reconciled at Funeral

LOGAN, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Yesterday, Captain Anderson ("Devil Anse") Hatfield, the most famous feudist in the mountains, and one-time Confederate officer, was buried beside his two sons. He died Friday. The funeral was attended by eleven surviving children.

The funeral throughout was characterised by a series of dramatic occurrences which those present considered fittingly consistent with the burial of "Devil Anse." Before the march to the cemetery began, the hands of two of the dead man's sons, long estranged brothers, were clasped over the coffin. These were "Cap" Hatfield, the father's namesake and feud lieutenant, and Dr. E. R. Hatfield, of Charleston.

As the procession moved, the restoration of good will between the brothers formed the chief subject of discussion, and at the grave before the body was lowered, "Cap" Hatfield addressed "Uncle Dyke" Garrett, an old preacher and friend of the family, and told him that he had "made his peace with God" and was ready to be baptized" whenever the minister would say the word.

ANARCHIST MOVEMENT SPREADS IN BOLIVIA

Political Situation Grave Owing to Failure to Establish State Gov't

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 10 — (Star Cable. Chicago Tribune. Copyright)—Meagre reports reaching Argentina from Bolivia due to the rigid censorship which has been put into effect, indicate that the Republic is verging on a state of anarchy owing to failure of the revolutionary party to establish a stable Government.

The situation is made more acute by the fact that the revolutionary party, which seized the Government last July, is now split into two factions entirely hostile to each other over the breaking up of the national convention which was designed to reform the constitution and to provide for the election of a President.

The Republican or Revolutionary party represents but a small minority in Bolivian politics, but it controlled the national convention by refusing to seat members of the Liberal, Radical and Socialist parties which comprise the majority.

MENNONITES DUE IN MISSISSIPPI TODAY

Advance Contingent from Canada to Start Community Settlement

YELLOW PINE, Ala., Jan. 10. — The advance guard of the colony of Mennonites from Canada, who recently announced their intention of migrating from Canada to the States of Mississippi and Alabama, will arrive here today. The advance contingent is composed of men only and will build hotels and community houses to take care of the other members of the colony pending settlement of the lands acquired.

The Mississippi department of the American Legion recently protested to the State Department against permitting the Mennonites to enter the United States on the grounds that they were "pacifists" during the war, but the State Department officials pointed out that the individuals of the sect could not be barred on any such grounds.

BOLSHEVIK DANGER THREATENS EUROP

Once Carpathians Passe Would Have Central Europe at Mercy

PLAN SPRING DRIVE

Hungary- Polish-Rumanian and Balkan Alliance Urged to Combat Russians

BERLIN, January 10. — (Star Cable. Tribune. Copyright.)—Hungary and Poland, as well as the Ukraine, Rumania., and the Balkan States, are alarmed by Bolshevik preparations to renew the war on all fronts this spring. Hungary is especially fearful, because it realizes the Russians will seek revenge for treatment, accorded the Communists after Dictator Bela Kun's fall.

To counteract the Bolsheviks' plan, Count Apponyi, Chief of the Hungarian peace delegation, proposes an alliance of Hungary, Poland and Rumania, according to an interview a representative of the Chicago Tribune's Berlin office had with him. "Bolshevik danger threatens all Europe, now as never before," said Count Apponyi. "An understanding between the Russian border countries is necessary to check the Bolshevik hordes, which are gathering. With the approach of spring the danger is imminent.

"Were Hungary the keeper of the Carpathian mountain passes, Europe could sleep safely, but as things are we look to the future with the darkest apprehension. I do not believe Czecho-Slovaks can hold off the Russians alone. When the Russians cross the Carpathians they have Central Europe at their mercy. Austria, whose Socialist parties are favorably inclined to Radicalism, will not check them, and none can foretell what will happen in Germany.

These serious considerations are based on reliable reports of actual danger. Defense against the coming Bolshevist military activities should be Europe's great occupation today. I propose a Polish, Hungarian, Roumanian coalition and, perhaps, also a military convention with Czecho-Slovakia, to safeguard the Carpathians.

Diplomatic and military circles, especially military circles in Budapest, are sure Russia means to attack Poland and Rumania first, then turn against Hungary. Bela Kun, former Hungarian dictator, has arrived at Kowno, where he already is organizing a Red army to fight Hungary, and establish himself in Budapest again."

Apponyi discussed the political situation, declaring the Trianon treaty unbearable and destined to break down because it doesn't solve any East European problems, but, on the contrary, has created new problems.

HEAVY FIGHTING ON FRANCO-TURKISH FRONT

French Preparing for Counter Drive at Aintab

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 10.—The Turks are reported to have made several attacks in an attempt to regain Aintab and the French are said to be withdrawing to stronger positions preparatory to a counter attack. Meanwhile heavy fighting is in progress.

A Constantinople dispatch of December 10 said the French had obtained a foothold in Aintab.

The Bolsheviki, it is reported, have decided not to take any hostile action against Georgia as they are able to carry on their foreign trade through Batum. They also consider that they indirectly control Georgia, as that country is absolutely dependent upon Batum for oil and this economic weapon is deemed adequate to protect Bolshevik interests.

$28,000,000 ISSUE FOR SUSPENSION BRIDGE

Detroit-Windsor Project to Be Financed by Joint Interests

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 10.—(Star Special).—A $28,000,000 bond issue, the cost of proposed Detroit-Windsor suspension bridge, will be offered shortly in this city.

A plan which places the burden of financing on the shoulders of American capital is to be considered by directors of the Canadian Transit Company at its next meeting.

The bridge is to be built jointly by Canadian and American interests. The Canadian Transit Company has already been organized and has asked for incorporation at Ottawa.

A bill providing for incorporation of the American Transit Company is now before Congress and permission to offer the bond issue will soon be asked of the Michigan Securities Commission.

PREDICTS VICTORY FOR GEN. SMUTS

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A special correspondent of the Sunday Observer, writing on the approaching elections in South Africa, points out that fully 100,000 electors, mostly from the urban districts, abstained from voting in the elections last March and says that if the issue is clearly defined before the country and especially to the many not hitherto party men, he is convinced there will be such a rally to General Smuts as will carry him to victory and South Africa to an immediately prosperous future.

SAYS NO NATION WILL ENJOY SEA SUPREMACY

Lord Rothermere Submits Startling Contention in Controversy

LONDON, Jan. 10. — Viscount Rothermere, former Secretary of State for the Air Forces, in an article today in the Sunday Pictorial under the caption "The Folly of the Big Battleship" submits a startling contention directly challenging the traditional policy of the British navy. The doctrine he propounds is that it is no longer possible for any nation to possess command of the sea.

Lord Rothermere wholly condemns British participation in big battleship rivalry with the United States and Japan, because "they obviously are building against each other and not against us." He urges that Great Britain cannot afford to spend any money on naval construction at present. Furthermore Lord Rothermere declares "if the United States and Japan persist in pursuing antiquated forms of warfare, that is no proof that the capital ship will survive," and concludes that no nation henceforth will enjoy naval supremacy. "That's a nasty pill, but we must swallow it," Lord Rothermere says.

CHINA TO APOLOGIZE

TOKIO, Jan. 10.—Japan and China, according to newspaper reports, have concluded an agreement closing the incident at Nikolaievsk, Siberia, last spring, when a Chinese warship fired on Japanese subjects during the fighting with Russian partisans during which several hundred Japanese were reported to have been killed.

The Chinese government and also the officers of the warship the newspaper say, will apologize and China will pay 30,000 yen as compensation to the families of the Japanese killed.

"Men of large affairs," he said. "Do not know where they stand under these taxes and the result is going to be that institutions like Technology will not receive the large gifts that have been the rule."

SHOW HARMONY ON GREEK LOAN ISSUE

Britain and Italy to Again Protest Requisitioning Action

PARIS, Jan. 10.—The French Minister in Athens has telegraphed the Foreign Office saying that he and the Ministers of Great Britain and Italy would visit the Greek Premier and again protest against the Greek Government's requisitioning of the second half of the Allied loan of 400,000,000 drachmas. The Foreign Office says the purpose of the second protest is to show that there is complete accord among the Allies in the matter and to refute reports of lack of harmony.

Officials here say that a revision of the Treaty of Sevres is not necessary to bring the Greeks to time—that the Allies will merely have to decide on the method of the application of the Treaty. The desire of the French for peace in the Near East, it was pointed out, may make it advisable to apply the treaty liberally in favor of the Turks, thereby rendering unnecessary the maintenance of troops on the Serbian and other fronts, so that it will not matter if Greece has to withdraw her own troops through lack of funds.

NOVA SCOTIA STEEL PLANT IS CLOSED

Eastern Car Works Also—Lack of Sydney Ingots the Cause

TRENTON, N.S., Jan. 10. — Work at the Nova Scotia steel plant here and at the Eastern Car Works practically finished Saturday, nearly all the men in both establishments being paid off. The action of the management caused no surprise, the men being prepared for the cessation of work any day for the past three weeks.

The big blooming mill at Scotia has been silent for over twenty days.

Two pit spike machines and some machines in the nut and bolt department will alone resume work today, and a few men will be around the machine shop. Neither ingots nor stock of any sort arrived from Sydney, and the management has had no choice but to close down.

Seventy-five members of the head office staff received notices that their services would not be required after January 31, and whether they actually go or not will depend on the happenings of the next three weeks.

IS PROUD FATHER OF 34 CHILDREN

RALEIGH, N.C., Jan. 10.—Since wide publicity was given to the fact that Reuben Bland, of Robersonville, Beaufort county, was the proud father of 34 children, he and Mrs. Bland have been deluged with letters from persons all over the United States and Canada.

The letters are from both women and men. A man in Ohio wrote: "I read the story about your large family aloud to my wife. 'There's a man who ought to be given a medal,' I told her. 'There's a man who ought to be hanged,' she retorted."

A writer in Oregon sent this:

"Reuben, Reuben, I am thinking
You are quite a nifty man.
To your health I am drinking,
You have done what few men can."

From Navarre, Ohio, Mr. Bland received this:

"I'm the father of eight children and I have an awful time keeping them in food and clothing. I've worried a lot, but since reading about your big family, I realize that I'm a lucky guy."

PETERBORO FIGHT EXPECTED LIVELY

Five Candidates Now in the Field—Premier to Speak Tonight

HAIG'S INVITATION

G.W.V.A. Secretary Gets Cable Urging Canada at Cape Town Congress

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — At a meeting of Liberals of West Peterboro here Saturday night it was decided to call a convention for Friday next to nominate a Liberal candidate to contest the Federal seat in West Peterboro vacated some time ago by J. H. Burnham, a former Government supporter, who resigned on the ground that the Meighen Government had no mandate from the country to carry on. Not only Liberals, but representatives of the U. F. O., Labor and other interests attended the Saturday night meeting here. G. N. Gordon, a prominent lawyer of this city, had been urged to run as a Liberal candidate, but had declined the proffered honor up to Saturday night. The Liberals were insistent upon his allowing his name to go before the party convention next Friday night, and it is understood that Mr. Gordon has consented to do so. With Mr. Gordon in the field there will be five candidates, as follows: J. H. Burnham, ex-M. P., Independent Old-Time Conservative; James Corbett Campbell, United Farmers of Ontario; R. Denne, National Liberal and Conservative (Government); Thomas McMurray, Labor; G. N. Gordon, Liberal. A lively contest is anticipated. The first gun will be fired by Right Honorable Arthur Meighen, Premier of Canada, on Monday night, in the interests of Mr. Denne's candidature. The Premier will be accompanied by Honorable Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Militia, who also will address the electorate here Monday night.

MARSHAL HAIG'S INVITATION.

A cablegram from Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig was received here on Saturday by W. E. Turley, provincial secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, as follows: "Earnestly hope Canada will be represented at the Empire Conference, Cape Town, February 23." Secretary Turley stated that the cablegram had reference to a conference of Veterans of the British Empire, which had first been suggested by the Canadian G. W. V. A. a year or more ago, and which suggestion had been adopted by the Veteran organization of Australia, South Africa and the British Isles. General Sir Arthur Currie had been asked by the G. W. V. A. to represent it, but in view of his duties as principal of McGill University, Montreal, it was thought he could not attend the conference and someone else would have to be chosen.

MURDER FOLLOWS DRUNKEN BRAWL

As a result of a drunken brawl amongst Russians in a house in rear of 141 Centre avenue, Toronto, about one o'clock yesterday morning, Steve Poplink, who lived at 162 Chestnut street, is dead; his wife Mary is in the General Hospital with a fractured leg from a bullet, and a neighbor of the Poplinks, William Ostopovitch, is in the General Hospital with a surface wound in his head. A Russian who is unknown to the police is said to have done all the shooting. He disappeared immediately afterwards.

According to the police story, Poplink and his assailant had quarrelled in the Chestnut street house, and the latter shot and killed him. Ostopovitch interefered with a view to saving his neighbor, and was shot because of his interference. Then the wife of Poplink appeared on the scene, and as the murderer was evidently bent upon getting away without an outcry being raised, he shot the woman.

TORONTO MAN NOT SEEN FOR WEEKS

TORONTO, Jan. 10. — John B. Cooke, a clerk in the Department of Lands and Forests here for over twenty years, who was a witness before the Riddell-Latchford Commission in the inquiry into timber returns in Northern Ontario, and who was to have been superannuated at the beginning of this year, left his home here on November 4 and has not since been seen or heard from by his friends. It is said that Mr. Cooke had bbeen suffering from a nervous breakdown, and the strain of attending the timber inquiry was too much for him.

SOLDIERS ELIGIBLE FOR MEDICAL AID

Provision of Order Entitling Unemployed Veterans to Benefits

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (By Canadian Press.)—Returned soldiers who are unable to find employment and who are in need of medical or surgical treatment, will be entitled to receive the same at the clinics operated by the Department of Soliders Civil Re-establishment until March 31. Provision for this is made in an order-in-council which has been given approval.

Under the terms of the order, free medical and surgical treatment is granted for former C.E.F. members needing this treatment at the clinics operated by the department, or cases where attendance at a clinic is impossible, at the man's own home, subject to the following conditions:

(a) That this service be limited to former members of the forces who are certified by one of the bureaus of the Employment Service of Canada to be unemployed, such certification to be directed to the unit medical director of the department.

(b) That the department shall not be required to provide in-patient treatment and shall not do so unless there is ample available accommodation, the use of which will not handicap hospitalization of those for whom such accommodation is being held.

(c) That former members of the forces granted treatment as indicated shall not be entitled to receive any allowances unless the disability be due to service.

The passing of such a regulation was recently urged in a telegram from the British Columbia branch of the G.W.V.A. on the receipt of which the matter was taken up with the D.S.C.R. by C. G. MacNeil, Dominion Secretary of the G.W.V.A.

PAPER INDUSTRY IS STABILIZING AGENT

FOREST PROBLEMS

Hon. Gideon Robertson and Hon. Beniah Bowman Express Views

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Jan. 10. — Hon. Beniah Bowman, Minister of Mines for Ontario, and Hon. Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor for the Dominion, were among the speakers at the fifth annual banquet given by President G. H. Mead, of the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company, here Saturday night. About 250 employes were present. The guests included Mayor Farquhar, Judge F. Stone, T. E. Simpson, M.P., and J. B. Cunningham, M.P.P.

Hon. Mr. Bowman spoke of the great problems of administering the forests of the province. He said that many firms were asking the Government to sell the timber areas of northern Ontario. The Government, he said, wished to see the existing industries kept going, as towns had been built as a result of the establishment of these industries and were dependent upon them for their continued prosperity. He mentioned Abitibi, Metagami and Kapuskasing in this connection. The Minister said that other large mills, including one at Fort William, were asking for the sale of timber to them. "We have not room for many more large mills," he added, "and we will soon be faced with the problem of supplying material for those already in existence." The Government, Mr. Bowman said, has been conversing with men who knew the industry, and had been led to believe that its duty was to take care of the industries already established.

Hon. Gideon Robertson, speaking of the Spanish River Co's bi-industries, said the product of the "Soo" mills for one day would provide newsprint sufficient to serve five million people with their daily newspaper. He said the paper industry was doing more at the present time to stabilize the exchange situation than any other industry.

President Mead stated that the present production of the company's mills at Sault Ste. Marie, Espanola and Sturgeon Falls was 625 tons of newsprint, 500 tons of groundwood, 230 tons of sulphite and 40 tons of board daily. This, he said, represented 20 p. c. of Canada's production and 8 p.c. of the production of the American continent.

SKILL AND STAMINA PUT CANADIENS IN THE SCORING COLUMN LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

CANADIENS 5.
OTTAWAS 4.

Canadiens won their first victory. It was a pleasant surprise, for while they showed throughout the match that they had limbered up, got pretty well into their old stride, and thawed out the "pep" which seemed to have been frozen within them since last season, close followers of the game realized that they had their work cut out, and that a good deal would depend upon whether the Ottawas or the Canadiens had more stamina for the last minutes of the match.

The Canadiens had, and after two nip-and-tuck, see-saw-like periods, it was that margin of stamina, that enabled them after getting again one goal ahead of the visitors to keep the latter at bay till the end for something like a quarter of an hour in the third period.

OTTAWA JADED.

And at that, without any desire to belittle their efforts, Canadiens were lucky to run up against Ottawa, when the latter were bound to suffer a slight slump after the great efforts which succeeded in their obtaining the enviable position they now hold in the standing.

Had the visitors been less jaded, it is doubtful if Canadiens would be in the winning column yet; but Saturday's victory will stimulate them greatly and they ought to be getting better and better all the time, and make many a mouthful before the season ends of the presumptious youngsters who have been selected to bolster up the other three teams, and who while full of life and vigor and desire to win, have to contend with the strategy and calculation of the Vets, who are not to be found on the Canadiens alone.

OTHER VETERANS.

A glance over the roster of the Ottawas, for instance will recognize Gerrard, Nighbor, Darragh, Graham and Benedict as names that were familiar in professional hockey, many years back.

As a sample of the clever utilization of opportunities as employed by the Vets, may be quoted the incident in the third period, when Berlinquette scored a goal which Referee Cooper Smeaton, very efficient and strict throughout the match, disallowed on a point of offside.

There was a great hullabaloo. The crowd nearly went into a fit and howled and cat-called and abused Cooper Smeaton and called him names, and demanded his removal and made the building shake with its anger, while Cooper stood calmly looking on, pointing his finger at the spot where he wanted the puck refaced.

"NEWSY" IN THE BREACH

Here was "Newsy" Lalonde's opportunity and he played up to it in grand style.

Berlinquette had been stroking Smeaton's back trying to wheedle him to reverse his decision, but no such milk-and-water tactics for "Newsy." Superb indignation, cold disdain, and dramatic pantomimic rage were the arguments he used. Never was he so eloquent on the ice.

He called the attention of the entire four thousand who were present with a dramatic sweep of the arm, like a lawyer defending a murderer would call the attention of the jury to the infamous injustice being done to men who were defending the sporting honor of the French-Canadian race, and then amidst frantic acclamation of approval and support, while men shook their fist at Smeaton and women waved their handkerchiefs at the noble captain of the French-Canadian team, he majestically skated away to the entrance to the dressing room.

FOOLED THEM ALL

Most of those present thought he intended to go off the ice and take his team with him.

He had even the referee guessing for a few seconds, and Smeaton abandoned his rigid pose and skated after him.

What "Newsy" in reality was doing was changing his stick, by way of camouflage, and gaining a breathing spell for his team, that was much needed.

Having gained his purpose by mere delay in discussing the situation with Smeaton, he returned to the fray.

It was a sublime sample of that mental hockey warfare which has brought Canadiens with Newsy leading so often to the head of the list.

As said before the match throughout was nip-and-tuck, with Benedict saving Ottawa many a time, by his remarkable contortions. He and Vezina, as goalkeepers are as far apart in the matter of tactics, as the North and South pole.

WONDERFUL CONTORTIONIST.

Vezina, apparently indolent, in reality the most alert of net-protectors in the world, defends his trust with the least possible expense of movement and exertion.

Benedict is all movement. No matter how poor the showing of the Ottawas may be, as long as they have Benedict, they will be a drawing card, as a contortionist, and an unintentional hockey clown, he is the limit. He improves every season, he has new tricks, and new ways of falling, and pretending to fall, and recovering himself, every year. He has the best knockabout commedians of the vaudeville stage beaten to a frazzle, and what is more he most of all the time gets away with the puck.

The only thing he did not do on Saturday was to stand on his head, and he could have done that no doubt if he thought there had been a necessity for it.

NEARLY BROKE NECK.

How he escapes serious injuries is a mystery. Lett Graham tried to do it, and nearly broke his neck in the third period.

He turned a complete somersault, a thing that does not happen very often in hockey, and hurt himself badly. There was no one near him at the time, and the only possible explanation is that he leaned too far forward on his skates and the impetus carried him through.

The match was fast at times, but as a rule only in the first half of each period, after that it slowed down, and both sides were pretty well tuckered out when it was over.

The ice was grand at the start, later on it became dull and sticky, but the Arena management gave both players and spectators the best they had. If they would only raise their scoreboard to the level of the top of the railing surrounding the reserved seats at that end or prevent spectators from standing up in front of it they would enhance the evening entertainment for the spectators.

SIGNALS IGNORED.

The match was not brilliant, and lacked teamplay on both sides, though there were some fine individual efforts. Many a time Newsy Lalonde's signals were ignored, and the puck as he passed it stolen by the opposition.

It was not a rough match, thanks to Cooper Smeaton, but there were some accidents besides the one to Graham. In the very beginning Nighbor had his knee hurt by an accidental blow on the part of Pitre.

He was able to return to the fray however, but Bruce had his thigh cut by a skate and the doctor who attended him forbade him to play again. Berlinguette also injured his knee and so badly that he will not be able to play again till the end of the week. It was a good entertainment. If it lacked science it was fast enough at times to suit the experts; noisy and stirring enough to please those who come principally for the excitement, and well attended enough to put the owner of the local team and the owners of the Arena in good humor.

The summary tells how the goals were scored, and while there were no outstanding stars, all played well.

SKI RACING WAS STARTED BY THE FRENCH-CAN. CL'B

The local ski-racing season was inaugurated last Saturday afternoon when the Mount Royal Ski Club staged their opening event over a course, approximately three miles, across the northeast part of Mount Royal. A large crowd of spectators was on hand to witness the start and finish of the cross-country run at the corner of Mount Royal and Park avenues. The race was open to members of the "Tri-color" Club, and was in the nature of a "green" competition, being only eligible for those who had not won a prize in previous years.

After the movies had taken some views of the runners and officials, Starter Champlain Provencher sent the contestants on their way. The weather conditions were ideal and the runners had little complaint to make about the course, although at the finish the skiers had to display some skill in negotiating the somewhat tricky state of the ground, due to a large number of holes, which accounted for a few spills. However, taking everything into consideration the runners, many of whom were taking part in their first race, gave a good exhibition of the art of ski-ing.

A. G. Bisgard, a newcomer to the French-Canadians, came in the winner, going over the course in 18 minutes flat. Andrew Beaubien gave the winner a close run for the honors, finishing but ten seconds behind. Percy Walker came in third, doing the distance in 18 minutes and 15 seconds.

The first nine runners, with their time, finished in the following order: A. G. Bisgard, 18m.; A. Beaubien, 18m. 10s.; P. Walker, 18m. 15s.; M. Brown, 20m. 15s.; W. McGowan, 20m. 20s.; L. McKechenneay, 21m. 25s.; J. Ouimet, 22m. 5s.; C. Beaubien, 24m.; C. Dumfries, 24m. 30s.

Officials: Starter, Champlain Provencher; judges, Stephen St. Pierre, Albert Laberge, R. R. Morton, G. H. Oliver and Norman Moffat; clerks of the course, Paul Morton, Raoul Gareau, Ronald Cowan and Harry Goodbody; timekeeper and scorer, Henry Heckman.

HARVARD DEFEATED KING'S.

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—Harvard's hockey team won easily from King's College, of Windsor, N.S., 9 to 1, in the opening game of the Crimson's season Saturday night.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 10.—There is a strong possibility that Victoria may have a professional lacrosse team in the Pacific Coast Lacrosse League next season. A party of mainland promoters are expected in this city early next week to talk over the matter.

STARS AND STRIPES BARRED IN THE U.S. BOXING RINGS.

BOSTON, Jan. 10. — The wearing of the United States flag by boxers appearing in bouts in this State is prohibited in a ruling by the State Boxing Commission. The ruling was made at the request of the American Legion. The Commission also requested that boxers refrain from making religious signs in the ring.

CITY LEAGUE TEAMS STRONG FOR TONIGHT

M.A.A.A. plays Westmount, while St. Ann's meet Victorias in two scheduled games in the City League tonight at the Arena. All of the teams have strong line-ups, and, as the games tonight are the third to be played, with only four more to follow, it is important to each one that they should come out on top if they wish to remain in the running.

Westmount expects to take the first fall out of the M.A.A.A. squad. Overconfidence because they had won the first game so easily was largely responsible for the defeat of the West Enders at the hands of Shamrocks, and they expect to stage a strong comeback this evening. Mallison is quite a valuable addition to the team and it is expected that one or two more good men may be added to the line-up.

Victorias suffered by getting away to a very bad start and losing two games. They have undoubtedly one of the best teams in the league, and will be well up in the standing at the end of the season. They expect to start filling up the win side of the score column this evening. In Seguin, St. Ann's have one of the best net tenders in the league and he will not let any team put easy shots past him. There are some very good men in front of him, too, and a good game is promised. A loss to either team this evening means that they are almost hopelessly out of the running.

The standing of the league at present is:

	Played	Won	Lost
M.A.A.A.	2	2	0
Nationals	2	2	0
Loyola	2	1	1
McGill	2	1	1
Shamrocks	2	1	1
Westmount	2	1	1
St. Ann's	2	0	2
Victorias	2	0	2

The score was, Lanarks 95; Canadians, 57. Johnson, of Manitoba, and Semple of Nova Scotia, were the only Canadian winners. Airth, Waddell, Douglas and Payne lost by one-sided scores.

Today's matches will be against twelve rinks from Glasgow province. The schedule arranged provides for almost continuous curling until February 5, when the Canadians will form sight-seeing parties. All games are to be played on Edinburgh and Manchester artificial rinks. Manchester dates are January 24 to 27. Five test matches for the six rinks are scheduled January 20, and 29 and February 3 and 5 at Edinburgh, and January 27 at Manchester.

No games are scheduled for Glasgow, as the rink building, requisitioned during the war is still in the hands of military authorities.

SNOWSHOERS' PROGRAM FOR WINTER CARNIVAL

The local section of the Canadian Snowshoe Union, which is to take a prominent part in the program of the Winter Carnival to be held here the end of this month and the first week in February, has arranged the list of events which those entering for the ancient winter sport will compete in.

The snowshoe program is one which, it is expected, will be popular and the committee in charge look for a good list of entries to be on hand when the carnival takes place. Already several experts on the shoes have intimated that they will be on deck and there is no doubt that there are also many who though they have said nothing are nevertheless contemplating entering in the events.

A meeting will be held tonight of all the snowshoe clubs at the National A. A. A. club house on Cherrier street to elaborate on the program of the snowshoe section for the week of winter sports.

SOCCER GOSSIP

BY CRAIG CAMPBELL

The First Division banquet, held on Saturday evening, was in every way a success. The occasion was not one of championship or cup celebrations, but to honor the retiring president, Jack Sheels, and present him with a gold watch, a gift from the league. Vice-President Joe Scott (Canadian Vickers) took the chair, with the guest of honor on his right. About eighty sat down, every senior club being represented. Speeches were of short length, and to the point. In making the presentation to the retiring president, Joe Scott paid him many compliments, declaring that the seniors had never been better served, and all felt it was a pleasure to work under him. Mr. Sheels, he said, had kept remarkably good time in the league, possibly without a watch, but he would now hand him a gold timepiece, to go one better in his new sphere as a board member.

In repling to the toast and handsome present, Jack Sheels said he parted from his confreres with regret. He thanked them for the great support given him during his term of office, and found that possible opponents at the start became his firm friends at the finish. He would value the present and ever remember their kindness. Others that spoke were Ed. Fesmer (secretary), G. Stroud (Highlanders), "Baldy" Lee (Locos) and Tom Watson (War Vets). The two latter gentlemen assured the diners that though their clubs had been relegated to the Second Division by the inexorable decree of fate, their best endeavors would be to return in 1922 to senior ranks. A very entertaining program was run off, the headliner being Joe Beauchamp, who "boxed the compass" in dialect stories with an ease that would have turned a vaudeville artist green with envy, his items including Cockney, Scotch, Irish and French-Canadian. He reduced his hearers to tears, the kind that made men hold their sides. Yes, little Joe (he only weighs 200 lbs.) is some entertainer. Other artists were the inimitable Bert Mason, George Newlove, J. S. Prendergast, Jimmy Barr, George Taylor and Alan Crawford. A great night, indeed, and if the elections prove kind, Jack Sheels will be a P.Q.F.A. board member next Saturday.

Herbert Walton has now his list of officers for the St. Paul Town Football Club, elected at the annual meeting on Saturday afternoon. Last season's receipts amounted to $1,000, and the Saints have in hand a balance of $39. The ground on Hadley street has again been secured, and extensive improvements are in contemplation. St. Paul's new officers are: President, Herbert Walton; vice-president, J. Knight; secretary-treasurer, J. Barlow; club manager, J. Hoskins; committee, J. Gannon, W. Greenwood, J. Strike, A. Taylor, A. Grimes, H. Swenson, W. Savage, R. Queenan and G. Atkinson.

Soccer followers will be pleased to hear that James Phillip, president of the Printers' F. C. and vice-president Third Division, is now well on the way to complete recovery, following a dangerous attack of pneumonia. Mr. Phillip is also a nominee for the new P.Q.F.A. board.

The Printers' F. C. has just issued a neat folder with the financial statement of the club, also a brief outline of their players and report of activities during 1920.

Locos' annual meeting held on Saturday afternoon was a well-attended and enthusiastic affair, settling all rumors that this club is going under. The treasurer's statement showed a balance of $35, which was considered highly satisfactory, as gates last season were on the small side. New officers were elected, and the full slate is: President, Geo. Neilson; vice-president, W. J. Fraser; secretary-treasurer, Tom Pollock (re-elected); committee, J. Stewart, J. Hewick, G. Lally, G. Gale, W. Glass, R. Lang, T. Lindsay, J. Pratt and J. McGinn.

Discuss Control of Boxing in U.S. Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. — (United Press.) — Delegates appointed by the Governors of seventeen States gathered here today for a three-day conference with the International Sporting Club that may result in the organization in a National Board of Boxing Control.

In addition to carrying out a program calling for limitation of prices and purses and standardization of rules and regulations to force champions to defend their titles twice a year, the meeting may seek to make the board international in scope by inviting Canada and European countries to join.

F. W. MOLSON BUILDING YACHT FOR ROYAL ST. LAWRENCE CUP

First New "B" Class Yacht Being Built at Dorval by Syndicate, Headed by Him—G. H. Duggan's "Zohra" and by V. Whitehead's "Red Patch" to be Completely Re-Fitted; Hollow Spars to be Used

F. W. Molson is the first member of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club to order a new yacht to take part next summer in the trial races, which will be held to select the first defenders of the new International Yachting Cup in the race with the White Bear Yacht Club of St. Paul.

Mr. Molson, who has always taken a keen interest in yachting, is heading a syndicate which is building a "B" Class yacht at Dorval on which the work is already well advanced.

The champion boat of last season, Mr. Duggan's "Zohra," is being completely overhauled and refitted, as is also Mr. Whitehead's "Red Patch," which carried off several cups and prizes in her first season's racing last year.

These two yachts are being fitted with new suits of sails and hollow spars to bring them up to the standard required in boats which are to enter trial races to select the competitors in an international race of the importance of the one which is to take place next summer on Lake St. Louis. The races are to be sailed under the Inland Lake Yacht Association Rules, which allow the use of hollow spars, which have not been used on these waters for some years, but which save considerable weight aloft.

The bilge-boards used by "Zohra" and "Red Patch" last year will be replaced by new ones as the rules of the Inland Lake Yacht Association call for a much lighter board, the combined weight of the two being limited to 250 lbs.

It is expected that the example of Mr. Duggan and Mr. Whitehead will be followed by the owners of other "B" Class yachts which took part in the racing last summer and thus put the whole class on as equal a footing as possible for next season's racing.

SCHNEIDER'S DEBUT AT MONUMENT TONIGHT

Tonight's the night when Bert Schneider takes his plunge into professionalism. It isn't every night that an ex-Olympic champion takes a pace forward out of the ranks of the amateurs and joins the army of pro-glove wielders. It doesn't happen often in any place and certainly Montreal is only a very small portion of the world.

That is why so much interest is being manifested in the boxing program at the Monument National tonight. Montreal has seen some distinguished figures among the ring fighters in the past, but why should not she feel more warmly towards one of her own sons than an outsider even if the latter is a more prominent exponent of the manly art? And why should not Bert be among the best of them? Time will tell and in the meantime it is going to help him a lot if he knows that the people in his own home town are going to back him up.

In Jerry Cole, the Philadelphia boxer, he does not meet any champion, but Cole has had plenty of experience in fighting and he ought to keep the local lad busy and give him a good chance to show what he has in the line of speed and punch.

If Eddie Ricard shows up anything like he did in his last fight here, the semi-final ought to be a brisk fight as well. Fans who have followed the ring encounters locally know of Johnny McLoughlin and this is the man who will meet Jean Dubuc's protege.

The preliminaries will include bouts between Willie Herman and Gus Levigne, Eugene Demers and Kid Marshall, Battling Terry and Young Russell.

JUBILEE DRAW SENDS CURLERS TO EIGHT RINKS

Owing to the ruling that all Victoria Jubilee Trophy games must be staged on neutral ice, tonight is visiting night at eight of the nine city curling rinks. Curlers of every club and well known plate glass skips also will be touring the clubs this evening to see the fancied skips of their own club and watch how they fare in the initial clash.

To see the stars of the game in action spectators will have to journey to Outremont and St. Lawrence as well as the more central rinks. FINE SOCCER SERVICE; SALVATION BAND AIDED

Six hundred soccermen attended the service yesterday afternoon arranged by the Rev. J. Linton, of the Point St. Charles Baptist Church. Quite 300 met at the Grand Trunk mess rooms, and when formed into line and headed by the band of the Salvation Army, marched to the church. Here they were joined by others from the Verdun and Point St. Charles district. Every soccerman of local note was present, including President Neil Hepburn, of the P.Q.F.A., and board members, Jack Sheels, W. Savage, W. Hamer, Captain Coleborne, D. S. Campbell, W. Topp, R. J. Gillespie, Rob Hewitt, and Secretary Josh Wilson.

The church was packed to the doors at the opening of the service, which was inspiring. The pastor, Mr. Linton, a soccer player, who has represented Toronto against Montreal, preached the sermon, taking his text from the New Testament these words, "The Game of Life." He took his congregation through the various phases of "the game" as should be played by men, men who wished to be men in the truest sense. Ancient Greece crowned them with laurel wreaths; so would they be crowned, who played the game of life in the manner that appealed to the sense of honor and the best feeling of religion. It was not creed that made men, merely their actions towards their fellows.

The Rev. John Linton could almost be called the "Little Minister," as he is small in stature, but his heart and words were big enough to go right home to the men before him, some, not great church-goers perhaps, yet they truly felt the influence of his sermon. The preacher told of the work the late Tom Watson had done for Toronto soccer, and said the collection would be for the "Tom Watson Memorial Fund." Appropriate hymns were sung, assisted by a special quartette.

All left the church feeling that they had attended something to be remembered.

The collection exceeded the amount obtained in a similar service held in Toronto a few months ago.

M.K.A. TO HOLD SMOKER NEXT WEEK

The Montreal Kennel Association are again on the warpath, after having cleared up their Christmas show, which, by the way, lived up to expectations, and proved to be one of the best they ever held. All prize money and specials have been paid out, but if by any chance anyone has been overlooked, drop a note to the secretary and same will be immediately looked into, as one of the M. K. A.'s strong points is keeping faith both with the public and exhibitors.

The association's financial year is now drawing to a close, and through careful management has proved the most successful in the club's history. From a doggy point of view they have raised what was once thought to be a "tough guy's game" to be one in which a large proportion of exhibitors are ladies, where the highest in the land compete on equal terms with the humblest, where duke and duchess vie in friendly rivalry with the poor Pingman who shares his dinner can with his pal; in fact they have put Montreal as a dog town "on the map," and what is more, they have put it there to stay.

As a fitting climax to a successful year the club is giving a smoking concert (with all the trimmings) gratis to its members on Tuesday evening, 18th inst. This will be a feast of harmony and a flow of soul, best of talent, best of smokes, best sandwiches, and no speeches. "Oh, min, I'm tellin' ye (as oor freen' Harry wid say), it's gaun tae be a braw nicht." This is also the last date on which nominations for office bearers for the ensuing year can be made. The election of same takes place at the club's headquarters on Tuesday evening, Feb. 1, and all members that are, or wish to be, will have to be in good standing to enable them to have a vote that night.

The old officials and executive have worked so hard and harmoniously in the past year that there are no great upsets expected, but "One never knows, does one?" and there is always room for improvement, so be on hand boys, it's your club, put in the best men without fear or favor, and you'll get the best results.

Don't forget, the Montreal Kennel Association set sail this year in stormy weather. Through careful pilotage it has weathered the gale, and is now in "safety harbor." Keep it there, and make it one of Monteral's most progressive clubs and one with which it is an honor to be associated.

Hockey League Started at the Boys' Farm

The Inter-Cottage Hockey League at the Boys' Farm has got well started and promises some interesting developments before the season closes. The game on Saturday was between Lewis Cottage and the Main Building, and provided lots of excitement all the time.

The Lewis boys who "sewed up" the Birks aggregation last Saturday, expected to find the Main Building fairly easy picking—they forgot, however, that "Pops" crowd had been training hard all week on the stone pile and found their opponents in fine condition. For the last ten minutes the score stood three all, but before full time, Morel, who played fine hockey, slipped a fast one into Pops' net.

Next Saturday Birks meet the Main. Dad McInnes, who has been training his aggregation on hard tack and corned beef, is sure his boys will steal second place in the league, but "Ras", who plays cover for Pop and comes from Missouri, says they will have to prove it.

CANADIENS NEED BROADBENT FOR WEDNESDAY NEXT

With Berliguette laid up with a bad knee, Canadiens will be in pretty bad shape for next Wednesday's match in Ottawa unless Broadbent comes to the scratch.

Managing Director George Kennedy says Broadbent excused himself for not turning up last Saturday by stating that his employer absolutely could not do without him over the week-end. He promises to turn up on Wednesday in Ottawa however. Mr. Kennedy is also dickering with a new youngster.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 10.—A special despatch from Montreal to the Journal reads:

President Calder of the National Hockey League, George Kennedy, owner of Canadiens and T. P. Gorman, secretary of the Ottawa Club, figured in a stormy session in a local hotel here on Saturday night, over the case of Sprague Cleghorn. The Ottawa secretary informed the president of Cleghorn's refusal to go to Toronto and asked that the defence man be allowed to return to his club. George Kennedy, who was present, would not hear of it and threatened to take his team out of the league. He further added that the owners of both the Hamilton and Toronto clubs would back him to the limit and stated unless Ottawa would drop the case altogether they will find themselves out of the league altogether.

President Frank Calder laughs at this. He says he informally received a delegation of Ottawa players headed by Gerrard asking if Cleghorn could not be allowed to remain in Ottawa and George Kennedy overhearing the talk made some caustic remark, which however was merely a reflex of the tensenes of everybody's nerves after the gruelling match just finished and did not mean anything. Cleghorn he says has to go to Toronto or stay out of the game.

Tommy Gorman writes in The Ottawa Citizen:

"Though the Ottawas were brilliant in spots and they had almost as much of the play as the Habitants, it was evident that the strain of three hard games within a week had told on them."

He also asks: "Is hockey strenuous," and answers as follows:

The Ottawa-Canadian game at Montreal on Saturday night seems to have been anything but a pink tea affair. Below this casualty list reported yesterday by Manager Green, of the Ottawas:

George Boucher, swollen wrist.

Bert Corbeau is said to have finished the game with a bad gash over his right eye, the result of an accidental jab from Jack Darragh, while Berlinquette had to be carried off the ice after Boucher had thrown him into the boards.

Incidentally referee Cooper Smeaton who seems to have had a strenuous night with officers of both clubs, found time to trim up a spectator who abused him, and George Boucher challenged two thousand Canadien backers to come down to the penalty bench and avenge Berlinquette. It seems to have been a memorable night at the Mount Royal Arena.

TORONTO	2

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—(Star Special).—Six thousand wild-eyed hockey fans went wild with delight at the Arena Saturday night when with ten seconds left to play "Babe" Dye put the puck behind Lockhart and tied St. Patricks with Hamilton; but the enthusiasm was short lived because four minutes of overtime saw Couture beat the St. Pat's defence single-handed and score the goal that gave Hamilton a 3 to 2 victory over the local pro's.

The crowd were disappointed over the result but not over the game, for excitement it could not be surpassed. It was a peppy contest with St. Pat's doing most of the rough stuff. They beat Hamilton in Hamilton by mixing things. They tried the same tactics Saturday night but they failed. The result moves Hamilton into second place. Had St. Pat's won it would have given them a splendid chance for the first series honors.

Everything was pleasing from a Toronto end but the score. There was an impression that the bad beating suffered by St. Pat's at the hands of Ottawa had soured the fans on pro' hockey here. Every seat was occupied and standing room was at a premium. That defeat will not hurt the future attendances either. The fans were given their moneys worth. Both teams suffered with penalties but St. Pat's more so because two majors made them play a man short. Matte started as a sub for Hamilton owing to injuries received in the Ottawa game he was only used when really necessary. Carpenter was not in uniform owing to injuries. Plesch was the other sub so that Hamilton was really handicapped. Forbes was in goal for St. Pat's and the little fellow played a great game. All three that beat him were from right in on top and he had no chance. Half a dozen times he came out and stopped the puck-carrier after the latter had beaten the St. Pat defence.

On actual shots on goal St. Pat's should have won. It was really the wonderful work of Lockhart in goal that saved Hamilton. He was easily as many again as Forbes to handle. His defence was good and he played good hockey. The forwards played good and worked in fine style. Prodgers was particularly good both on the defensive and offensive. The crowd liked the work of Carey and though checked by Noble the little fellow was given repeated cheers. Malone, at centre was tricky as usual and always dangerous but he needs to get into much better condition.

St. Pat's are not as good as they should be. The defence is weak, Cameron and Randall do not work together. They were repeatedly fooled by Hamilton's forwards. One or even two good defence men are needed. Stewart the Nova Scotia defence man did not arrive having missed his train in Montreal. He came in yesterday morning. It is hoped he lives up to advance notices because if he has anything of any account he will be a great help. Dye was the best of the forwards. He scored both the goals and was always dangerous. Denneny also played good hockey. Wilson went in spots especially the last period but his slashing tactics are not popular. Noble was off his game offensively though he made a good job of checking Carey. St. Pat's gave Hamilton a rough passage but were handed plenty of receipts. Matte had to be carried off but returned game. There was no score in the first period but the Hamilton's scored twice in the second session. Midway through the third period Dye notched the first for St. Pat's, then the locals placed every man on the attack for the tieing goal. The minutes ticked off with the crowd all ready to leave when Dye lifted one by Lockhart.

It took just four minutes for the awkward Coutre to skate around Cameron and Randall and ooze the rubber by Forbes. The old time inter city rivalry was in force and the Hamilton contingent of supporters had a merry evening.

The teams:

St. Patricks	Position	Hamilton
Forbes	Goal	Lockhart
Cameron	Defence	Couture
Randall	Defence	Prodgers
Wilson	centre	Malone
Dye	R. Wing	Carey
Noble	L. Wing	McCarthy
Roach	Subs.	Matte
Denneny,	Subs.	Plesch
Smyliee	Subs.
Mitchell	Subs.

Referee: Lou Marsh.

Opportunities for All at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10.—With fair weather and a speedy track, the program at the Fair Grounds attracted a large crowd of racing enthusiasts Saturday, and a good card of seven events served to furnish all sorts of opportunities. The chief event from the monetary end was the fifth race on the program, the Rex Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, at a mile and a sixteenth. Parader, the favorite, came in next to last, while General Haig, running in his best form, drew out in the last sixteenth to win.

The Johnny Powers' Memorial Handicap, fourth race on the program, was the particular event in which the followers of favorites had their inning, for Eddie Rickenbacker, carrying top weight, and cleverly ridden by J. W. Murphy, was first of the ten starters to finish.

Artificial Ice Rink for Kitchener, Ont.

KITCHENER, Jan. 10.—At an important meting of the provisional directors of the Twin City Arena Company, Saturday, it was decided to take immediate steps to conduct a campaign for subscriptions to erect an arena and artificial ice plant for the two towns. An effort will be made to raise the sum of $200,000 in sums ranging from $50 to $2,000. The charter will be applied for at once, and the prospectus issued. Preparations are being made to conduct the campaign during the first week in February.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

THE WOMAN CHILD.

Look at that smile; it just makes people love 'er—
    Gosh! but she sure is one wonderful kid.
Talk! Stick around when she yells for her dinner—
Rotten, I guess, when she's just a beginner;
    This is her birthday; she's seven months old!

Fond of her mother? Well, so's every baby.
    But look at her balancing there on my knee.
Look at the smile that she hands me, and maybe
    You will decide she is fonder of me!
When about midnight she starts in to riot
    With colic or something—like all babies do—
I am the guy that can make her keep quiet
    By taking her up for an hour or two.

Who does she look like—say, some how or other
    Before she arrived I was strong on the hope
That she would grow up as the split of her mother,
    And yet I ain't sorry I had the wrong dope.
That's more than a person can say of her father.
    And yet she's the image of me—just the same.

I got to step out and go after the dollars;
She'll need pretty clothes, an' swell shoes an' fur collars
    An' all that a girl ought to have pretty quick.
It's goin' to take money, I tell you, to dress her.
    But when she's dolled up she will sure be a joy.
"A boy is less trouble!" you ARE a bum guesser!
    Say, what made you think that I wanted a boy?

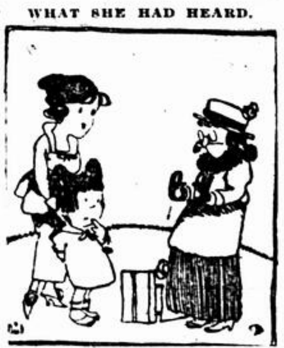
THE PASSING HOUR

WHAT SHE HAD HEARD.



Mother—Now, Lucy, give auntie nice hand—and then what do you say when auntie is going home?

Little Lucy (shy and embarrassed)—At last!

An English commercial traveller, a thrifty fellow, got married and, deciding to kill two birds with one stone, took his wife over the districts he "worked" for her honeymoon trip.

On the way he couldn't help boasting to her of how well he was known on the road.

"Why," he ended up one brilliant oration on his popularity, "at the Bean and Barnacle, at Little Mitch, they not only always reserve a place for me, but, knowing how I like honey, they invariably put a plate of it on my table, even when it is not on the bill of fare."

Arrived at the Bean and Barnacle, the commercial traveller discovered to his chagrin that for some inexplicable reason his honey had been forgotten.

"Waiter," he said, crossly, "where is my honey?"

"She left last week, sir," said the waiter.

The storm was increasing in violence and some of the deck fittings had already been swept overboard when the captain decided to send up a signal of distress. But hardly had the rocket burst over the ship when a self-important passenger stepped on to the bridge.

"Captain," he said, "I'd be the last man on earth to cast a damper on any man, but it seems to me that this is no time for letting off fireworks."

The steeplejack was repairing a shaft high above the city street. An errand boy saw him and ran to bring his friends. Presently others gathered till there was quite a crowd. They waited half an hour, then they waited an hour. The steeplejack worked on unconcernedly. Then the first boy to arrive took the sense of the meeting, so to speak, as he turned to go. "He ain't goin' to fall," he said.

LUNCHEONS AND BONSPIELS ENTERTAINED CURLERS AT ALL RINKS, SATURDAY

Luncheons at the three senior curling clubs and trophy competitions on all city and suburban rinks were the features of Saturday's curling. Play was general and strenuous both afternoon and evening. The bonspeil sequence of play at several rinks in sudden death games brought out many of the untried combinations which will fight for Victoria Jubilee Trophy honors this evening against the pick of veteran curlers.

Montreal took no chance with respect to the historic trophy which they hold, namely the Quebec Challenge Cup. This is the senior trophy of curling in Eastern Canada and has been held by the senior curling club of America for over one season against all comers.

After the long drawn out battle for the cup, a spoon bonspeil with short snappy games came in as a pleasing contrast and after whirlwind rounds H. B. Mussen skipped his rink to victory against the fine veteran G. P. Walker.

Perth curlers were the challengers Saturday and had to meet Montreal's two strongest curling combinations, namely Willie Brown with F. N. Southam at third and W. W. Walker with George Darling at third. The leads and seconds were also on the original Montreal team which captured the cup. The game in a five or six ends soon allayed all doubts as to the result. Both Brown and Walker drew steadily away from the challengers with a flock of 2 and 3 counts.

At the regular Saturday luncheon held prior to the game, Sir Edward Morrison, K.C.M.G., of Ottawa, was the guest of honor with W. O. H. Dodds, president of the club, in the chair. Perth curlers were also specially invited to attend, being old and true friends of Montreal. Montreal skips were the first to state that the visiting curlers labored under a severe handicap, not having had curling ice this year.

NOTABLE AT THISTLE.

The Hon. Smeaton White presided at the popular Thistle luncheon Saturday at which the guest of honor was Sir David Watson. The curling attraction which followed was provided by a Cassils Trophy duel which resulted in the trophy changing hands after a very close game and narrow score.

The holders, skipped by A. Scott Ives, lost out to the challengers skipped by T. B. Reith. Two dangerous contenders for trophy honors qualified for the challenge later, in Jas. Edward and J. I. Rankin. All of the Thistle skips who played Saturday, it will be noticed, are skipping rinks in the opening rounds of the Victoria Jubilee Trophy play tonight.

CALEDONIA LUNCHEON.

The luncheon at Caledonia Curling Club Saturday resulted in a heavy attendance, having now become a very popular feature of the club's curling activities. The usual sudden death bonspeil in which Caledonia has specialized in recent years, followed. There were some big scores tallied on individual ends and one game where the score board was manipulated by one rink only. Dr. Condon was high winner of the fray and captured the trophies for his rink.

Outremont had the well-known Norton Shield up for play Saturday but it was in safe hands, the veteran R. C. Binning skipping decisive victory over the challengers. St. Andrews curlers also played off many games which resulted in many old rivals meeting for the first time of the season, especially J. G. Stewart and Ald. Rubenstein.

H. L. PATON WON.

Bonspeil play featured at St. Lawrence and in three rounds A. S. Laing emerged winner over many strong combinations which will be seen on the ice later for Jubilee Trophy honors.

Saturday's rinks and scores:

The strong Heather rinks had an ideal Saturday at Westmount, H. L. Paton, one of last year's youngest champions skipping his way once more into trophy honors. There was the Saturday night supper in the clubhouse which was largely attended. Both Paton and the runner-up in Saturday's play at Heather are skipping rinks in the Jubilee.

THE QUEBEC BONSPIEL CURLING SCHEDULE

QUEBEC, Jan. 10.—(Star Special).—Keen interest is centred in the approaching bonspiel in celebration of the centenary of the Quebec Curling Club, the biggest sporting event that has ever been held in Eastern Canada. Preparations are still in progress, a feature of which is the evident desire of every member to carry out the proposed plans to a successful issue.

The bonspiel has a two-fold purpose, first, the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the club's existence, second, to create a keener interest in curling. Hitherto in Eastern Canada annual competitions have been confined to representatives of one rink only, which curtailed the aspirations of the younger element amongst the fraternity. To overcome this disability, the committee in charge decided to have all possible events open.

NOVA SCOTIA JOINS IN.

Already numerous inquiries have been received from curling clubs, including Halifax, N.S., St. John, Moncton and Compbellton, N.B. Nearer home assurances have been given of a large number of entries from Sherbrooke, Granby, Ormstown, Montreal, Lachine, Shawinigan Falls, and Three Rivers, whilst the following Ontario clubs will also take part: Ottawa, Renfrew and other clubs. Inquiries as to the bonspiel have also been received from several points in the United States.

The program consists of eight events, for which eleven sheets of ice have been or are being prepared and if the entries warrant it, the total sheets can be increased to fifteen.

The iron competitions consist of the "Centenary Cup," presented by the Timber & Lumber merchants of this city; the "Chateau Cup" presented in 1915 by the proprietors of the Chateau Frontenac; the "Senator cup," presented in 1916 by the "B. Houle Co. Ltd., of this city.

The entries for three competitions are unlimited and are open events. "The Quebec challenge cup" was presented in 1874 by the Quebec Curling Club, and is considered the "blue ribbon trophy" of curling in Canada. It was last played for in Quebec in 1907. This event is open to two rinks only from any iron playing club. Consolation competitions will be played open to rinks that have been defeated in the first draws of the open events.

Three other handsome prizes will also be awarded to the curlers making the highest score.

Entries for this event shall not be made later than the evening of the day of the bonspiel.

Brig. General W. O. H. Dobbs, C.M.G., D.S.C., president of the Montreal Curling Club, has signified his intention to come to Quebec and supervise the various draws. Mr. Louis Rubenstein, who is well-known as one of the best supporters of amateur sport in Montreal, has accepted the invitation to act as one of the umpires. He was a frequent visitor to Quebec in days gone by in the interests of sport, and is sure to receive a hearty welcome from his many old sporting friends in the Ancient Capital.

Good Turnout to Mont. Ski Club Run

The first real get-together run of the present winter season was held by the Montreal Ski Club yesterday and a large number of members of the club, some one hundred members, both old and new, started out from the Mount Royal Club house under the leadership of President Douglas, Secretary Wendt, and several of the leading skiers of the club, for an exciting cross-mountain hike. The run was held under ideal weather conditions, it seldom being the good fortune of outdoor pleasure-seekers to have snow, atmosphere and scenery so completely in accord for a pleasurable time as was the case yesterday.

It was announced by President Douglas on the return to the club house for luncheon, where some seventy members were seated, that the membership of the club is now well over the five hundred mark, this total being made up of senior, junior, and lady associated members. In the latter case, the number of active lady members is a most pleasing feature of the season and yesterday over a dozen charming lady skiers attended the luncheon.

The regular mid-weekly evening will be held at the club house on Wednesday evening, and a large attendance of both sexes is looked for. These Wednesday evening gatherings are quite informal, but provide members with an excellent time. Later in the evening after a ski-run, a dance is held.

Next week the club will hold its first trip to the Laurentian headquarters, at Cochand's, St. Margaret's Station, next Saturday and Sunday.

A large number of senior and lady members are expected up, so that those who desire to go should notify H. P. Douglas, 10 Cathcart street, Up. 2076, and accommodation will be reserved.

Ski-ers to Be Treated More Liberally on Cars

Great consternation reigned in the ranks of the ski-jumpers and snowshoe enthusiasts when it was rumored on Saturday morning that the Montreal Tramways Company proposed putting a stop to them carrying their outfits in the street cars. However, in the afternoon no objection was held when the Guy street cars were boared by hundreds, carrying shoes and skis. It was later learned that on representations being made to the Tramways Company, it was agreed that no notice would be taken if the sportspeople were more careful and threatened neither the lives of passengers or the integrity of the windows in the cars.

Some time ago The Star published a warning from H. P. Douglas, president of the Montreal Ski Club, warning skiers of the need for greater care in carrying their skis on the Montreal street cars. He pointed out that junior members especially should exert the greatest care in this respect if the Tramways company were to continue the privileges now extended by them to local skiers.

Martin, of the Colborne street branch of the Dominion Express Tenpin League, rolled the highest score in the weekly games played on Saturday night. Martin made 526 for his three strings with a high single game of 195. Good average scores were rolled in the other games.

G.T.-RIVERSIDE GUN CLUB SHOOT

Twenty-eight shooters competed in the five events staged by the above club at their weekly shoot on Saturday afternoon. The weather was ideal and there was a large crowd of spectators present. Many of the old time shooters took part, including Jas. Kenyon, Vet. Hadley, C. L. Osborne, Bruce Murdoch, A. Boa, S. Boa, J. R. Payan, S. G. Brodie and W. G. McIntyre. The scores were not high, Bruce Murdoch being high man, closely followed by C. L. Osborne. Two possibles were made, the silver spoons being won by S. G. Brodie, J. R. Payan and G. Ramsden (after a shoot off with J. R. Payan).

The committee extends a hearty invitation to all lovers of the sport to be present at their shoots, held every Saturday afternoon, rain or shine.

They will sail for America Jan. 26, by way of the Orient, playing exhibition games in Manila, Hong Kong and Tokio, reaching home about the middle of March.

The annual meeting of the Beaconsfield Golf Club will be held at the Windsor Hotel on the evening of Wednesday, January 26. At the meeting the general routine business will be gone through, including a review of last season's activities, a discussion of plans for the coming golf year, as well as the election of the officers of the club for the season of 1921.

Dear Sirs,—

May I take this brief means of conveying to you my many thanks for the most wonderful Chickering Concert Grand which you have placed at my disposal for my recital at His Majesty's Theatre on Sunday night?

It is a moment in every artist's life when he plays the piano that expresses and gives him the most satisfaction, and in the Chickering it more than meets the demands which an artist is called upon these days to bring forth.

Again thanking you for your many favors,

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) PHILLIP GORDON

CUBAN SITUATION REGARDED SERIOUS

Two Claimants for Presidency and Revolutionary Talk Causing Tension

CROWDER ON JOB

Zayas and Gomez Both Claim Election—Latter Would Fight

HAVANA, Jan. 10.—(Star Cable, Chicago Tribune. Copyright).—With talk of revolution and fear of American intervention pervading public and private discussion in this city, General Enoch Crowder, U.S.A., aboard the battleship Minnesota, is striving to save Cuba from disaster. As the General has only begun his labors toward straightening out the political, financial, and economic muddle which has produced the most serious national crisis in the history of the Cuban Republic, and as he is up against a tough job and a lot of volcanic Latin factionalism, any prediction of the outcome of his work would be hazardous.

President Wilson's emissary arrives on Thursday, called on President Menocal, and then returned to his battleship, where he has remained ever since, receiving chiefs of factions and listening to their versions of the trouble of the Island.

Saturday he received Dr. Alfredo Zayas, former Liberal, but now the Conservative leader, who claims to have been elected President on Nov. 1 last. Yesterday he received former President Jose Miguel Gomez, the Liberal party leader, who likewise claims to have been elected President. Today Gen. Crowder expects to get down to business in conference with President Menocal.

Nobody knows who was elected President, for the Menocal Government, which supported Zayas, is in no hurry to count the votes, and even if the result were ascertained, it would be clouded with charges of fraud which have thrown the issue into the courts and made it possible there will be no President when Menocal retires May 20 next.

In this event the Secretary of State becomes temporary President. Also in that event, asserts the Liberals, there will be a revolution, for Gomez will consider himself justified in taking by force what he believes himself cheated of at the polls. Gomez started the ill-fated revolution in 1917, which was snuffed out by the American marines.

When the Judge Advocate-General of the American army gets to passing on what took place at the polls it will be a case of Crowder on Crowder, for it was Crowder who came down here a year ago at the more or less voluntary request of the Menocal Government and devised what was heralded by the Wilson Administration as a model election law for our sister republic. It was going to wipe out and prevent all election corruption and irregularity.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF LATE COL. M'LEOD

Representative Gathering from Two Countries Pay Final Tribute

FREDERICTON, N.B., Jan. 10.—(Star Special.) — The funeral of the late Col. Harry F. McLeod, M.P., took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence on Charlotte street, and paid a popular final tribute to the late representative of York and Sunbury counties in Parliament.

More than two thousand people crowded the house and stood in the street nearby while funeral service was being conducted by Lieutenant-Colonel the Rev. Dr. J. P. MacDonald, C.B.W., who came here from Wolfville, N.S., where he is now stationed, and when the cortege moved away from the house there were more than 1,000 men walking in the procession, which passed along streets literally lined with people.

Included in the great throng were people from almost every parish of the two counties which Col. McLeod represented in Parliament, many of whom drove many miles over drifted roads, as a result of Saturday's storm, while a special train was run over the C.N.R., under arrangements made by the Liberal-Conservative Club of Stanley, to bring people from Stanley and along Nashwaak Valley. It was the largest and most representative funeral ever seen in Fredericton, political friends and foes, as well as all the classes and creeds, being present to pay their last respects to one who was universally popular.

It was a Masonic funeral, being under the auspices of Hiram Lodge, No. 6 F. and A.M., and at the grave the Masonic ritual was followed by that of the Orange Order, of which the deceased was a past grand master. In addition to the Masonic delegation, members of Graham Lodge L.O.L. marched in procession wearing regalia. There was a party of overseas military officers in khaki, including Col. Montgomery Campbell, O.B.E., who attended as official representative of Brigadier-General MacDonnell; General Officer Commanding New Brunswick District; and other delegations represented the Barristers' Society of Fredericton, the Fredericton Curling Club, the Knights of Pythias, and the Great War Veterans' Association.

THE JUROR.

"I see a man was excused from a jury because he frankly said he didn't have sense enough to serve."

"His frankness was, perhaps, commendable, but I'll wager both sides were sorry to lose him."

TIMELY RESCUE OF EUPHRATE'S CREW

Picked Up in Mid-Ocean—Captain Tells Story

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. — Captain George Dawe and the crew of the 45-ton Canadian trawler Euphrates, which they abandoned January 3, after a five days' fight with heavy seas, arrived here yesterday on the steamship Galileo, from Antwerp.

The Euphrates, which sailed from Belle Isle, Newfoundland, for St. Johns, December 27, sunk after her crew had been taken off by men from the Galileo.

The Euphrates, Captain Dawe said, was within two miles of St. Johns on December 28, when a sudden shift of the wind to the northeast caught his light craft and drove it out to sea. The small amount of bunker coal carried was soon exhausted, and in order to keep afloat every piece of available wood was torn from the vessel and used to keep the fires under the boilers going, the last resort being the vessel's cargo boom and derrick.

After the losing battle with high seas, the Galileo was sighted. Responding to the signal of distress from the Euphrates, the Galileo manoeuvred so as to make a sheltering Lee for the small craft, and a boat was launched by means of which the crew of the distressed vessel was able to launch a lifeboat and make their way to the Galileo.

SECOND D'ISRAELI

Precedent Created by Reading's Appointment Unique in History

LONDON, January 10. (By Canadian Press Cable).—An extraordinary precedent is created by the vacation by Lord Reading of the Lord Chief Justiceship, to become Viceroy of India.

A writer in the Sunday Observer, the leading Sunday paper, believes the sequel will make his career comparable with that of D'Israeli. The notion that Moslems or Hindus prefer Christians and reject Jews is described as a crude error.

Lord Reading's appointment as viceroy of India will become effective April 1. Royal approval to the appointment has been given.

Capital is the Labor of the Past.
Labor is the Capital of the Future.
Capital and Labor pulling together, create the prosperity of the Present.

CANADA IN FRONT.

CANADA'S exceptional condition in financial, social and industrial life is remarked with enthusiasm by Hon. N. W. Rowell, former President of the Privy Council, on his return from an extended tour of foreign countries, when he enjoyed unusual opportunities for observation. Mr. Rowell is in a position to speak with authority upon Canada's relative position amongst the nations.

On this testimony, which is in accord with that of many other competent observers, Canada is one of the pillars on which the world is now depending for economic stability. Because of Canada's resources and her well-ordered recovery from war conditions, the Dominion stands in the forefront of leadership back to settled world peace.

THE WORLD'S DISEASE.

STIMULATION of unrest is the official foreign policy of the Soviet leaders of Russia. The latest Moscow proclamation declares "that it is absolutely indispensable to keep the Bourgeois enemy busy with internal trouble in order that they cannot injure Soviet Russia."

What is Lenin's proposal? Briefly stated, it is that the masses go on a hunger strike and perish by the ten thousand. Grave doubt may be felt, to say the least, that Soviet Russia, on its showing to date, is worth the sacrifice.

The facts of the present conditions in world trade declare that this generation, at any rate, cannot have bread and Bolshevism. The countries are suffering deadly privation according to the degree of unrest with which they are afflicted. Peace and order, in Europe especially, are a necessity of life, for only upon such a solid foundation can sufficient credit be raised to secure food for impoverished peoples abroad and to keep business lively here.

It follows that the Soviet monster's announced intention is to pile crisis on calamity with an incredible disregard for human life worthy of Bolshevism's utter disassociation from moral or spiritual stability. His aim is not to save Soviet Russia from outside aggression—for Lenin knows the world is not prepared economically for any such policy—but rather to undermine law and order everywhere and thus make ready the soil for the seed of his Soviet. The ground is to be ploughed and fertilized with the agony of innocents, whose lives could be saved by the common exercise of humanitarian good-will amongst the nations.

Lenin's latest threat brands the Bolsheviki as the germs of the disease from which the world is suffering now. Business uncertainty, unemployment and hunger are the first fruits of this callous crusade.

CHILDREN AND STREET ACCIDENTS.

ACCORDING to New York statistics, an average of twenty-three children a month are killed in the streets.

Commenting on this, the American City declares: "One of the principal causes of these accidents is lack of playgrounds. Children cannot be killed on the streets unless they are on the streets to be killed. Obviously the craving for play will drive the little ones into the thoroughfares; what is needed is convenient play centres."

Dearth of playgrounds is also a regrettable feature in Montreal. Accidents to children are numerous because of this. Playing on the street is also harmful to the morals of children. On this phase the Judge of the Juvenile Court recently said: "It is noticeable that the number of cases for offences coming from wards where there are parks and playgrounds is much smaller than from parts of the city not well supplied with such conveniences. . . . It belongs to the community to supply playgrounds."

In the most congested parts of the city there are scarcely any playgrounds; as a result of such conditions children seek the streets for recreation with results that are often disastrous.

Undoubtedly the acquiring of recreation places in congested districts is beset with many difficulties — chiefly financial. Usually such quarters are grouped around industrial sections, where land values are high. The fact is before us, however, that other large cities are successfully overcoming these selfsame difficulties. It has been found that when houses were bought up, and sites turned into playgrounds, the value of lands fronting the playgrounds rapidly increased in value. As precautions had been taken to purchase a larger area than was actually needed, the residue was sold at prices which practically liquidated the cost of the playgrounds. In the sale of the lands it was always stipulated that good houses must be erected on them—thus, in addition to securing playgrounds, the slum area was reduced.

The finances at the disposal of the Administrative Commission are undoubtedly limited, but there may be ways of acquiring these breathing places without very burdensome outlay, and it is this phase which should receive careful attention.

The well-being of our boys and girls must be the first consideration.

THE LEAGUE'S FIRST BIRTHDAY.

THE review of the first year's activities of the League of Nations issued today by the Secretariat is a record of achievement of sound constructive value that will be gratifying to those who have upheld the cause of the League in the face of ridicule and opposition.

The preamble of the Covenant sums up the aims and ideals of the League in these simple words: "To promote international co-operation and to achieve international peace and security." The League, therefore, cannot be a field for rivalry among the nations. Under the old system of individual diplomacy a nation which desired to achieve some particular abject could do so either by force, actual or threatened, if it were a stronger power, or by favor and agreement if it were weaker, often at the expense of a third power. The underlying principle of the League of Nations is that each State is entitled and enabled to present its claims as a right and not to ask for their satisfaction as a favor.

The establishment of an International Court of Justice, which the report places in the forefront of its achievements, was founded in order to simplify the machinery for the presentation and the securing of such claims. Allied with this plan were the efforts directed towards the limitation of armaments and the creation of an International Commission to study the use of the blockade as an economic weapon.

Moreover the League can point to concrete efforts to solve some of the great social problems of the day. The League has accepted responsibility for the control of the opium traffic and the white slave traffic, and is taking the lead in the fight against famine and typhus in Central Europe.

Disposition of the Aland Islands, settlement of the Danzig question, direct intervention in the dispute between Poland and Lithuania, and the award in the Eupen and Melmedy plebiscites are clearly defined proofs of the intentions and the influence of the League. It is not too much to claim for the League that for every question submitted for which a temporary palliative has been found, ten questions have dissolved before reaching a crucial stage of danger, because of the influence which the combined nations of the world have been able to exert.

Meanwhile America remains the one great nation of the world which is still outside the League of its own volition. The arguments with regard to their entry have changed during the last few months, but the element of politics still prevails. If the Americans enter the League, it used to be argued, they will become mixed up in European affairs and driven to maintain a large army and navy. Today because America has not entered the League Mr. Daniels argues that she stands alone and must be prepared to defend her interests against any combination.

The question that has not been satisfactorily answered is who forms the combination against which Mr. Daniels proposes to arm? It seems hardly likely that he proposes to build against the combined navies of the Old World and Japan. Indeed the very threat or promise to build against any European navy or combination of navies is in itself a contradiction of the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine, which was the main argument for the rejection of the League, inasmuch as it implies entanglement in European affairs.

The arguments which Mr. Daniels uses are not so much for a big American navy, but for entering into closer understanding with possible rivals, which might pave the way for reduction, and not increase of armaments. That is the ideal of the League of Nations revealed in every line of the report which celebrates its first birthday, and this spirit of the League has not yet found audible expression in official America.

BEATRICE LAPALME.

WITH the death of Beatrice LaPalme there disappears from the world of Canadian musical art one who had done much to give it a more definite and lofty position. Madame LaPalme not only made a name for herself upon the stage, but, what was of much more importance to her native country, she had accomplished much in the short span of her life toward establishing the best traditions of a great art in the rising generation of singers. Her name will be remembered perhaps better as a teacher than as a singer, in many ways the nobler vocation. Canada is a young country, as yet of necessity devoted largely to material things. We have produced too few artists of the first rank, and even fewer men and women who devoted themselves to the education of others in things artistic. Madame LaPalme's death is a loss to Canada.

The news that D'Annunzio's store of gold at Fiume was stolen is contradicted by the report that he will start a newspaper.

An Ontario man has resigned after serving forty-five years as a ticket agent. Lost his punch?

THE WORLD'S PRESS

Spiting Their Own Faces.

Boston Globe: The Southern planters, talking of cutting the cotton crop one-half, to raise the price of the cotton they sell above the cost of production, may think better of it before the planting season comes. It is a serious question whether the reduction of the crop would make them better off, and certainly it would be an injury to everybody else.

For Less Slang.

Detroit News: The week of January 9-16 represents in the Better Speech campaign the culmination of work that has been going on for some time in our schools. In this preliminary work, while faulty grammar was still considered an enemy alien, the main emphasis was to furnish the pupil with inducement for self-expression, to show that to speak well means to speak sincerely, and that effectiveness is increased with correctness of speech.

The Fight Against Drugs.

Syracuse Journal: A tremendously big fight, covering a great part of the country, is being successfully waged against the drug evil. More progress has been made since experts, after practical operation of clinics, reached the conclusion that addicts as a rule could not be reached by the policy which recognized them exclusively as diseased or mental defects, to be treated medically or punished. The surest means of reclaiming the unfortunates who have lost the power of their own will is through the intelligent, systematic exertion of the will of moral men and women in their behalf.

Buy Freely Now.

Cincinnati Times-Star: If patriotism called for meager purchases eight or ten months ago, it calls for greater liberality to-day. The "buyers' strike" has done its work. While it has lowered the cost of living, it has also closed many factories and put many men out of work. Prices must go to a sane basis. Some of them are there now. Others are about to arrive. When a proper price level has been established, the American people—who for all the pessimism of the times are not "broke" by a long shot—should start buying again in order that the economic machinery of the country may be kept in motion and prosperity on a reasonable basis be restored.

Wheat Growing in Britain.

London Daily Chronicle: Though the cultivation of wheat was stimulated during the war, and showed an increased acreage of over 40 per cent in 1918, it has since fallen back almost to the pre-war level. On the other hand, oats, barley, turnips and green crops have shown steady improvement, the explanation being that wheat has been controlled and the other crops have not. Farmers naturally have cultivated crops which were expected to bring the higher prices. The Agriculture Bill, however, will stimulate the production of wheat, and the world tendency of other foodstuffs to fall in price will remove the special attractions of crops which have competed with wheat.

Eccentricities of Dress.

Johannesburg Times: All Pretoria and quite a lot of Johannesburg — especially the really swanky part of it—has been busy during the week hauling out its glad rags of anteprandial variety. Top hats that have not seen the light since father made a fool of himself over mother were taken out of dark recesses and carefully ironed until the nap looks a little less like a ploughed field. Morning coats and the sartorial abortion which in the United States is known as a "Prince Albert" were carefully unwrapped in order that the meth-holes might be inked over. Parktown so reeked of naphthaline that the moths in Vrededorp simply laid down and died. There ought really to be an Advisor on Dress for such occasions. Had there been one this time Prince Arthur might have been spared the horrible apparition of a man in a frock coat, a brown bowler hat, yellow Oxford shoes, and a tartan ready-made bow tie.

A Budget That Never Was Born.

London Morning Post: The rumor that Mr. Winston Churchill may be the next Chancellor of the Exchequer lets loose a flood of interesting reminiscences. Mr. Churchill is forty-six; his father, Lord Randolph Churchill, was only thirty-seven when he got a grip on the national purse, and began what his son has described as nothing less than a complete reconstruction of the revenue. Hardly a single tax was to be left untouched. Tea duty was to drop to fourpence; fourpence was to be knocked off the tobacco tax; the income tax was to be lowered from eightpence to fivepence. Death duties and house duties were to be regraded and increased. "All these changes," says Mr. Winston Churchill in the biography of his father, "were not a mere meddlesome and vexatious shifting of burdens from one shoulder to the other. They were each and all essential parts in a vast financial revolution." Before Christmas Lord Randolph Churchill had resigned office, and the Churchill budget never was born.

Telephone Charges.

Manchester Guardian: Of course any resistance that is possible will be made by the bodies representing industry and commerce, and it is pretty widely accepted that if the telephones were run as the best businesses are run they would pay their way without further exactions. Unhappily what we have to pay for is not the way that public departments ought to be run, but the way that they are run. And, as any actual deficit on the telephone has to come out of the taxes, our resistance is only a renewal of the general struggle to make somebody else pay, instead of ourselves, what must be paid anyhow. There are other aspects of this telephone calamity, but the first thing to have clear in one's mind is that it is simply a fresh piece of exploration of the extensive fact that the war has left us a poor nation and not the delightfully rich one as which we have been masquerading since November, 1918.

Federal Devolution.

Westminster Gazette: When Mr. Lloyd George said last week that the Government could not move, in the matter of Federal Devolution, in advance of public opinion, he consigned the scheme very nearly to the Greek Kalends. Public opinion is profoundly uninterested in the matter, which is really one of legislative and administrative convenience. But the Prime Minister rightly pointed out that the great difficulty is England, with its vast preponderance of population. Some Scotchmen may desire devolution on national grounds. No Englishman has any yearnings for the resurrection of the Heptarchy. We believe that the Speaker's Conference came almost at once to the conclusion that there were great practical difficulties in the way of splitting up England. Yet, as Mr. Lloyd George pointed out, unless that is done the scheme will be lopsided and the English Parliament a strong competitor with the Imperial Parliament. There is a lot of thinking still to be done before Devolution reaches the practical stage.

The Secret.

Footsore and weary, I sought in life's maze,
Sought for the clue in its desolate ways;
Love came advancing
Tenderly glancing,
Vision entrancing—
Sweetheart, 'twas you.

Footsteps drew near soft as petals that fall,
Sweeter than honey I heard a voice call;
Love came and found me,
Bent down and bound me,
Kissed me and crowned me—
Sweetheart, 'twas you.

ALIEN LABOR.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—The unemployment about which we hear so much might be considerably lessened among our own people at least, if the contracts financed with Canadian money would have a clause providing that no alien labor is to be employed. It is interesting to note that the Department of Public Works have this Clause in all contracts.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—With reference to your editorial "Our Century Comes of Age," of the 31st December, is it not a fact that the Twentieth Century began on the 1st of January 1901?

When a person comes of age they must complete their twenty-first year, but the duration of the Twentieth Centry up to the 1st January, 1921, was only twenty years.

A SLEEPING CAR WAIL

I am a mild man
VERY MILD,
But, I'm being cured;
F-A-S-T.
I came from Toronto to this town
By night express.
I rose at seven
To shave and wash
The sleepy bugs from out my eyes and to the place yclept
Smoke Room
I found my way.
Once there I left all hope behind
For behold 'twas occupied
Yea, fully occupied
By three young men whose Gladstone-Portmanteau and Impedimenta
Filled the room, and on the seats three
Other gaffers sat
Serenely smoking-pipes and things—
O callous, thoughtless selfish men—
Is there a "think" within you—
Ye baggage friends
A toilet case would quite suffice—
And, ye more gross
than merely fiends,
Why not yield that sacred space
At such an hour
To that most sacred quest of cleanliness
And when next you travel think of this mild protest of
A MODEST MAN.

RENTS AND WAGES.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I submit you these few lines, the facts of which were not only amusing to myself, but may possibly be interesting to some of your readers. About a month ago the collector called for the rental, which of course was laid aside ready for payment. During this visit he decided to complete some minor details of work which had remained in an unfinished condition since last fall, 1919. Whilst tripping gaily from first one room to the other in the execution of his duties, I remarked how industrious he appeared to be, at which the old gent quite voluntarily ventured on a very interesting topic of conversation, and realising that good listeners profited greater than poor talkers, my wife and I paid strict attention. Lamenting the exorbitant prices of building materials, the high cost and scarcity of labor, this gentleman put up a most pitiful story. From that aspect of the scene, he went on to relate about the downward trend of prices of commodities in general, (paying particular stress on sugar), assuring me also most emphatically that by next spring we would be able to procure the best suit of clothes in the city of Montreal for the nominal outlay of twenty-five dollars.

My wife and I inhaled freely of this anaesthetic, and were well under its influence, but the dose administered was insufficient to produce the desired effect. The locality where I reside is purely industrial, it being common knowledge that some of these large firms have reduced their staffs considerably, which action the worthy gentleman intimated was possibly an endeavor on the part of the employers to reduce wages, which quite naturally would have to come down also. After listening very attentively, at this juncture, my wife, I suppose, thinking the conversation was altogether too one-sided, chirped in by saying, "Well, speaking so assuredly as you have done, it will be perfectly reasonable to expect a considerable reduction in our rental by next spring," at which the collector brought the conversation to an abrupt end by retorting with extreme surprise, "Oh, no, Madam, rents will come down after wages have come down." However, Mr. Editor, I sincerely hope there will be more truth than poetry in this worthy gent's statement and doubtless there will be others of your readers who will share my hopes, for while the unemployment role to date numbers possibly upwards of 20,000 individuals, safely estimating the greater number of whom have got to pay rent, I myself can only report a five cent reduction per hour involving a nine dollar per month decrease off my wages.

ANXIOUS.

SHOOT TO KILL

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—At the present time the police force of both this city and New York are exceedingly busy in coping with the crime wave which is manifest to a lamentable degree. This city alone, appears infested with crooks, who, from recent happenings, stop at nothing to gain their objective. What is the cause of this open challenge to the law, also the remedy? I would be greatly obliged if you would allow me to make a suggestion re the remedy. The cause, or one of them (there are many), is the unemployment question. Feeling, as I do, unqualified to answer that part of the subject, we will pass it over. Why should a man or woman, walking home at night, be at the mercy of another man, because one is armed and the other is not? To allow everyone, indiscriminately, to carry arms, I do not suggest, but I do believe every one should be allowed to take the law in their own hands, in an emergency of that kind. Even the police of this city, are forbidden to do so. We must remember that drastic diseases require drastic remedies. If a policeman in making, or attempting to make, an arrest, is forced to use his gun, and shoots his man fatally, then he has to go through a general cross-examination to prove that he only desired to bring his prisoner to the ground, and not kill him. Why should this be? The police are to restore order, and if a citizen is held up, it is the policeman's duty, or should be, to stop the bandit at any cost, even his life. But the officer's hand is tied insomuch that at the moment of shooting he must make sure to hit below the heart and in the legs. Now, looking at it sensibly, does not that seem out of all reason, and incidentally aiding the bandit to escape? Taking it psychologically it is unreasonable to suppose a person, even one as cool-headed as a policeman, would have the presence of mind to aim at one spot. The circumstances prevent that. What is the result then? We find that the officer invariably misses his man, owing to the above reason, and the intended bullet fired to effect an arrest, imbeds itself harmlessly in some near object, either a tree or a fence. In the meanwhile, our friend, the gunman is possibly carrying out or attempting to carry out another "coup de grace." Let the police be given orders to aim at any part of the man's body, to kill if necessary. I feel sure more arrests will be made, and if not that, the Morgue will be so much the busier. Almost the same thing applies in the case of the citizen being attacked, only with the exception of the use of firearms. Give him the right to use "any weapon nearest" to ward off his assailant, if he is unable to do so with his fists, and I believe we will see a lessening of crime. Give the police and the citizen full power to get the upper hand, and in the case of some of the bandits, a great many mere boys, they will be too fearful to repeat it.

FRENCH-CANADIAN VIEWS

MR. ROWELL AT GENEVA.

La Revue Belgique-Canada: The Hon. N. Rowell, one of the Canadian representatives at Geneva, made a speech with reference to a report which had just been presented by M. Hanotaux in the course of which he uttered some remarks which caused lively interest among the delegates of the League of Nations, and a certain uneasiness in the breasts of many friends of Canada, France and Belgium. Referring to the origin of the war he said: "It is impossible to forget that it was European diplomacy and European ambitions that bathed the world in blood." In this way Mr. Rowell showed his disapproval of France and England and their Allies, accusing them of the same brutality as Germany and Austria. M. Hanotaux protested vigorously against such a declaration which was contrary to fact and to history and he reminded Mr. Rowell that predaceous empires originated and let loose the terrible war and the Allies defended liberty and civilization. M. Rowell explained that his words had not exactly translated his thoughts and that he only wished to say that Europe did not know how it could avoid the war. Evidently this is quite a different matter but the explanation cannot entirely efface the bad impression which he created. At a banquet offered a few days ago at Paris to the Hon. Charles Beaubien, Canadian senator M. Raphael Georges Levy, a member of the Institute and a French Senator took the opportunity to re-echo the protests of M. Hanotaux and to quote some home truths and some pages of history to Mr. Rowell. Let us hope that Mr. Rowell will be more careful of his words in the future so that they do not wander too far from his thoughts. For with two or three incidents like that at Geneva the moral credit which Canada enjoys today would soon be destroyed among the Allies.

FEELS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Did you never take stock of all the things in your life that feel good?

The earth is full of things that caress us. Do you stupidly take them for granted? Do you spend time tormenting your soul over some one or two troubles that afflict you, and forget the myriad little things that try to cheer you?

Suppose we go over the list a bit. It is a long list, interminable, but we can note a few.

What are all the dumb things trying to say to us? Can we be wretched in spite of their multitudinous whispers?

For instance.

There is the feel of wood. Have you never laid your hand on the shaggy bark of a tree? And has it never come to you that there is a kind and rugged soul in that tree trying to give you a message?

And the feel of a smooth willow twig.

And of your lead pencil or your pen.

And a book, is there not comfort in just grasping a well-made volume?

Cloths. The feel of velvet, gentle, soft and luxurious. Of silk, like the slight impression of sunshine on water. Of wool, strong, protective, assuring. Of linen, elegant, rich, distinguished. Of cotton, human, democratic, subtle. And of lace, brocade, tassels, fringes, and cords.

The feel of wheat in the bin. Of flour, of meal, of all grains.

Of water, its caress when you swim. The million finger tips of rain. The delicious dance of drops on your body in the shower bath. Water on your face, when hot and tired. On thirsty lips.

The feel of brushes, of thick coats, of fine lingerie, of rich napkins, of chair arms.

Of the hair brush upon your scalp.

The sharp kiss of zero air on your face upon a winter's day.

The voluptuous caress of shade in August.

Of grass, when you run barefoot. Of hands, with love in them. Of lips.

Of glass, something cool and clean and clear.

Of the goblet rim at your lips.

Of the cane's crook in your hand, of the sword's handle, and of knife and fork at table.

Of the cat's back when you stroke it, and of the dog's cold muzzle in your hand.

Of heads of timothy, of moss upon stone, and of coins in the pocket.

Of young mustaches, girls' braids, and the taut ropes of sails.

Of rings, bottle necks, book marks, and paper knives.

Of a baked potato, a ripe persimmon, a sheaf of wheat, a horse's rump, a cow's teat in milking, of alcohol evaporating upon the skin, of a warm radiator when one is chilled, of a hot water bottle in a cold bed, of typewriter keys at the finger tips, and of comfortable shell spectacles that go behind the ears.

But, as the parson says, we must close. Perhaps, after all,

"The time has come, the walrus said,
To talk of other things,
Of shoes and ships and sealing-wax,
Of cabbages and kings."

RICHARD CHATTERTON, V. C.

By RUBY AYRES

SYNOPSIS

Richard Chatterton is engaged to Sonia Markham, the present owner of his ancestral home, Burvale, which he has been obliged to sell through extravagance. Because he has shown no eagerness to enlist, Sonia tells him that she cannot marry him. Calling at the rooms of his friend, Montague, he takes a message for the latter from Sonia, who thinks she is speaking with Montague, when she tells him that she has broken her engagement and ready to marry him. Montague, who is slightly crippled, is not accepted for the war. Unknown to Sonia, Chatterton enlists, and as Montague is driving Sonia to the home of a friend, Sonia sees a uniformed soldier in a taxi who resembles Chatterton. That evening, she receives from Chatterton the letters she had written him. She scribbles a note to Montague to come to see her at once. On his way to visit Sonia, Montague meets Chatterton in uniform. Chatterton leaves for the front. He is wounded. Returning home to recover he is seen in company of a war nurse by Sonia who does not notice that he is in uniform. Montague brings gossip that adds to Sonia's jealousy of the nurse. Sonia promises to marry Montague in a fortnight.

Young Courtenay sprang to his feet; all his good resolutions of a moment since had flown to the four winds; he was scarlet with rage; his fists were clenched.

"That's an infernal lie," he said fiercely—"and you know it. Chatterton was invalided home from the front three weeks ago. . . ." A moment of dramatic silence followed the passionate words; all eyes were centered on the boy's hot, furious face.

Old Jardine had half risen to his feet; Lady Merriam had dropped her wineglass, and the wine was trickling gaily over the cloth, but she was too excited to notice or care.

Montague, momentarily sobered by the shock of what he had inadvertently brought upon himself, was trying to laugh it off.

Sonia shivered away from him; she turned her eyes to old Jardine's face.

"Is it—is it true?" she asked.

The old man answered almost testily.

"Of course it is . . . of course it is . . . he got a shrapnel wound in the shoulder, but he's nearly well again now. . . ." He turned to Courtenay angrily. "It's a pity you can't keep your temper under better control, young man. . . ."

Secretly he was delighted that the secret was out at last, but he did not care for the manner of its revelation.

Lady Merriam rushed into the breach.

"I thought everyone knew that dear Richard had enlisted," she said sweetly. "He has been walking about London in khaki for some time. . . . You knew, Francis, surely?" she appealed to Montague.

He began to bluster some reply.

"I thought everyone knew . . . I—er . . . ." His eyes fell before Sonia's clear gaze.

Young Courtenay sat down again. He was very red in the face still beneath old Jardine's rebuke, but there was an air of delighted victory about him.

The dinner came to a rapid end; it was Sonia who deliberately changed the conversation; she was by far the most composed of them all; only when it was ended, and Courtenay rose to open the door for the ladies, she looked up at him with a little quivering smile. He caught at her hand with boyish impulse. . . .

"Sonia . . . I'm—I'm frightfully sorry. . . ." The words were almost a whisper, but she heard them; she returned the pressure of his fingers.

"It's all right," she said.

There was a small drawing-room leading from the private room where they had dined. As soon as the dividing doors had closed between them the little newly-wed wife burst out tactlessly:

"How perfectly lovely about Mr. Chatterton having enlisted! I had no idea—had you, Sonia? We all thought he was rather inclined to show the white feather."

"The world is full of fools," she remarked rather vaguely.

Sonia was kneeling on the rug, holding her hands to the fire. It was a warm evening, but she shivered.

She felt as if she were moving in a dream.

Mrs. Newly-wed came over to where she knelt.

She did not quite understand the situation, but she was vaguely conscious that there was something behind it all from which she was being excluded.

"So you're really to be married," she said with a little giggle. "I'm so glad. . . . you know I used to be a little bit in love with Francis myself at one time."

Sonia looked up at her. There was a sort of far-away expression in her eyes; she seemed to drag herself back from a great distance before she answered:

"Did you? . . . oh, yes. . . ."

She hardly knew what she was saying. Lady Merriam came to her rescue by asking for some music. Mrs. Newly-wed had no more voice than a sparrow, but she believed she had. She rose with alacrity and went over to the piano.

She had struggled through a couple of stupid songs about partings and broken hearts before the men joined them.

Montague went at once to Sonia. He was pale and anxious; he had endured tortures during the last fifteen minutes. He bent over her agitatedly.

"Are you angry with me? . . . If you only knew, how sorry I am. I don't know what drove me to make such a fool of myself . . . ."

She answered him gravely—even with a little smile.

"I am not angry. Why should I be?"

He sat down beside her with a sigh of relief.

Young Courtenay was standing with his back to the fireplace, staring straight before him beneath fiercely-frowning brows. Lady Merriam touched his foot gently with her pointed slipper.

"For goodness sake, sit down, you look like an avenging angel or something. . . ." She spoke in an undertone; when he obediently took the chair next to her, she went on.

"You quite spoilt my little dinner-party, but I'll forgive you; I even think I rather love you for it."

He did not answer; he felt self-conscious and rather unhappy. In spite of old Jardine's efforts the evening dragged horribly; Lady Merriam gave a sigh of relief when the Newly-weds rose to go.

"Must you really?—so sorry."

But she was smiling broadly when she came back to where old Jardine stood.

"What am I to do? Go, or stay?" he asked.

Sonia was playing a Chopin sonata; conversation was quite possible under cover of the music.

"What do you suppose she'll do?" old Jardine asked. "She took it very quietly, I thought. I wish I knew what is at the back of her mind."

"She may tell me, when you and Francis have gone. . . ."

But Sonia made no confidence; asked no questions. She kissed Lady Merriam good night and went off to her own room as soon as the men had left; she sat down by the fire and leaned her face in her hands.

She sat quite still for a long time without moving; she felt very tired; mentally tired—as if she had reached the end of thought, and could go no farther.

But before her always was the figure of Richard Chatterton.

She had thought him a coward, and now he had been out to the front, and come back wounded, and she had not known. . . .

It seemed so strange; and yet—somehow it hardly mattered.

She was to marry another man, and he . . . she thought of the pretty nurse with whom she had seen him in Regent Street.

No doubt it was due to her care and skill that he was now "nearly well" as old Jardine had said.

No doubt in the end he would marry her; a nurse so often marries a patient . . . she thought of it dully.

It seemed to matter so little.

She did not understand that as yet her heart and brain were dulled with shock and bitter jealousy. She wished she had seen Richard in uniform; she wished she had seen him—just once! . . . She began to cry softly; she felt somehow like a child that has been unfairly cheated out of some pleasure.

Richard had belonged to her first; it was not fair that now she was to have no share of pride in him; that he cared nothing for her approval.

She fell asleep in the big chair, where she sat without undressing, and sleeping, she dreamed about Richard Chatterton—dreamt that she saw him lying helpless and wounded somewhere; dreamt that she tried to get to him—tried to call to him, but her mouth was dry and there was always something that held her back—something that gripped her arms, and from which she could not break free..

"Sonia. . . . Sonia. . . ." Surely that was his voice calling to her. She struggled again—fiercely. . . . and then she woke; woke to find Lady Merriam bending over her.

"Heavens! what a fright you've given me!" her ladyship exclaimed almost tearfully. "I thought you were dead until you began to struggle. . . . were you dreaming?"

Sonia sat up; her face was damp with perspiration and she was trembling.

"Oh, I had such a horrid dream!" she said, shivering, and then stopped. How could she tell Lady Merriam that she had been dreaming of Richard Chatterton?

She tried to laugh it off. The fire was out, and she was cold in her thin evening frock.

Sunshine filled the room. She caught a glimpse of her own white reflection in the mirror opposite.

"I must have fallen asleep in the chair—how silly!"

She was awake now, and the first fear of what she had dreamed was slipping away.

Chatterton was in London and alive and well; it was just a too vivid imagination that had prompted her dream.

But its memory clung to her all the morning; try as she would she could not quite forget it; she longed to ask Lady Merriam about Richard. She spent a wretched morning; when lunch was over she put on her hat and went out.

She had hardly gone a dozen steps from the hotel when she met old Jardine; he was going to call on Lady Merriam, he told her; he seemed ill at ease and anxious to get away from her.

Impulse drove her to speak of last night.

"Why didn't you tell me that Mr. Chatterton had enlisted?—You said he had gone to America. . . ." She tried to speak unconcernedly.

Old Jardine got red in the face.

"It was Chatterton's own wish; he forbade me to tell you. It was only by the merest chance I discovered it myself—he did it all so modestly; he's only a private, you know. . . . none of your tin-pot commissions for him. . . ."

"You might have told me. I should have been interested."

She looked away from him as she spoke, though her voice was quite calm.

Old Jardine rubbed his chin. He was at a loss what to say next. Sonia made a little movement as if to go on, then stopped.

"It's very absurd of everyone to think that his name must not be mentioned in front of me," she said with a little high-pitched laugh.

"Oh—er—yes, exactly!" Old Jardine felt wretched.

There was something painful to him in this girl's apparent callousness when he remembered the expression of Chatterton's eyes when her name was mentioned.

"Well, well!" he said with an attempt to speak lightly. "It's all for the best, no doubt. He'll be going back to the front soon; that arm of his is nearly well. . . ." He broke off awkwardly; there seemed nothing else to be said.

Sonia walked away with her head held high.

She wished her wedding was sooner, that she might show them all how little she cared.

When presently she crossed the road to the square where Nelson's Column stands proudly against the sky a knot of men in khaki were standing on the path talking and laughing together. She glanced at them and quickly turned away again; always now she would be afraid that every uniformed man she met might be Richard; she thought she would die if she really came face to face with him. She hurried on.

She did not know where to go, or how to spend the afternoon.

A motor-omnibus had drawn up at the side of the road to let some passengers alight. She went towards it.

It was a fine afternoon; she would get on top and let it take her somewhere—anywhere—just to kill time; she went towards the step. . . .

"Passengers off first, please," roared the conductor, barring her way.

Sonia drew back nervously. Some people were coming down the steps from the top of the omnibus; a young girl with an ultra-smart hat and a pigtail; a boy with a bundle of papers under his arm. . . . She watched them disinterestedly.

They were followed by a man in khaki. She could just see his legs and heavy service boots as he hesitated a moment on the steps to turn and assist someone behind him—someone—a girl in nurse's uniform· someone. . . . Sonia caught her breath hard; her eyes flew to the man as he stepped on to the path beside her—so close that his khaki jacket brushed her arm; so close that she almost cried out as she saw his face, and recognized Richard Chatterton.

And so the thing she had most dreaded had come to pass, and she was face to face with him once again.

He saw her, and he broke off jaggedly in something he was saying to the girl at his side, and for a moment stared at Sonia with blank eyes.

Then a wave of color crept up into his face, which receded as quickly as it had come, leaving him deadly pale; his hand went mechanically to the salute. . . .

"Hurry up, there—hurry up, please. . . ."

She stepped on to the omnibus, and the next minute she was whirled away.

She dared not look back; the blood was drumming in her ears; she had forgotten that she had meant to go to the top of the omnibus. The inside was crowded, and she stood there mechanically holding to a strap till a lad from the corner seat rose and asked her to take his place.

She sat down with a horrible feeling of weakness, for the moment she felt stunned and dead. Then pain woke again in her heart; she began to be conscious of a chance that had gone forever; she realized now that there had been an appeal in Richard's eyes. She rose to her feet—she would go back—she would speak to him. . . . she must—she must!

The memory of that vivid dream was back upon her; supposing it came true and she never saw him again. . .

With a violent effort she controlled herself; the omnibus was grinding its way up the Haymarket; she would never find Richard even were she to go back; he would have gone long ago, mingled with the thousands of other khaki-clad figures in the London streets.

For the moment she forgot that he had not been alone. She remembered the fact now with a sudden pang. This was the second time she had seen him with that other girl. . . .

The conductor came for the fare; she gave him a shilling.

"Where to, miss?"

She answered vaguely.

"Anywhere—I don't know—a two-penny fare."

He looked at her curiously. He counted the change carefully into her outstretched hand and told her how far she could go for the fare.

She thanked him absently; she hardly heard what he said; her whole being seemed straining back to the spot where she had left Richard Chatterton.

He had looked so splendid in his uniform! In that one brief glance every detail of his face and person had been stamped afresh on the heart that had tried for so long resolutely to shut him out.

He had tanned a little. He was thinner; he wore his hair much shorter . . . She recounted these little details to herself almost unconsciously. She had always liked his hair rather long. Many times he had laughed at her and inquired if she wished him to be mistaken for a poet.

She sat with her hands tightly clasped in her lap. Was there anything that hurt more in all the world than memories, she asked herself drearily. They came crowding back upon her now so thickly, allowing her no time to breathe.

Richard—Richard—Richard . . . a thousand-and-one little pictures of their brief engagement passed before her eyes. The first time he had kissed her—and the last . . . She had never before blamed herself for their parting; but today something in the way Richard had looked at her in that moment—something in the way his face had whitened . . . she moved restlessly in her seat. . . .

Oh, if one could only go back! If one could only have things over again or not at all!

Useless wishes all of them now, when Richard walked with the pretty nurse, and she was engaged to Montague.

The conductor came to the door and spoke to her.

"Are you going on, miss? . . ."

"Yes—no . . ." She got down hastily, and stood for a moment irresolute.

Why should she lash herself to pain and remorse? He cared nothing for her; he had forgotten her; already he had turned elsewhere for amusement. . . .

She walked on quickly. Pain, like a live thing, seemed to stalk sullenly beside her.

She turned into a shop, and ordered some tea. Her head was aching badly. It was a relief to get away for a moment from the noise of the streets. But she was not left long in peace; a string band at the far end of the room struck up the song that all London was whistling . . .

Sonia knew the words. They ran through her head in time to the music.

Silly, sentimental words; and yet there was something in their doggerel pathos with which her heart seemed in sympathy.

She felt the tears smarting to her eyes; hundreds of brave fellows who had marched out of London to this same tune, with smiling faces and hearts that beat high with hope, would never come back again; hundreds of them had found lonely graves in a strange land. . . .

Supposing some day she heard that Richard were one of them!

She tried not to think of it; she tried to hold before her eyes the fact that he was nothing to her—that the past was dead—wiped out and done with; that she was soon to be the wife of another man. . . . The memory of Montague steadied her, she remembered, too, that she and Lady Merriam were going back to Burvale that night; she rose with a sort of panic, paid for her tea, and took a taxi back to the hotel.

She realized that she had been out three hours; it seemed incredible. What would Lady Merriam be thinking? Sonia went to her at once.

But Lady Merriam did not seem seriously disturbed. She was reading a French novel.

Sonia stood in the doorway.

"Aren't you ready? I thought we were going back to Burvale this evening. . . . I—I quite forgot; I'm sorry. . . ."

"Oh, you needn't apologize, my dear; as you were so late I sent a wire to tell them we were not coming. We can go just as well on Monday, and it's very comfortable here. Where have you been?"

"I went in an omnibus," said Sonia vaguely.

She could not believe that three hours had really elapsed since she left the hotel; she sat down, drawing off her gloves. . . .

"I have such a dreadful headache." She spoke almost childishly; she had a longing for someone to "mother" her. Lady Merriam laid down her book.

"Why not go and lie down till dinner-time? . . . There's some sal-volatile in my room. . . ."

"Francis said he would be here at seven—he was to go to Euston with us."

MARGARET CURRIE'S MAIL

All correspondence in this department should be addressed to Margaret Currie.

All communications must have name and address signed, and must be written on only one side of the paper.

Please address legal and other questions to Editor, Notes and Queries, and not to this department. Medical questions are to be submitted to Dr. Huber, care of The Star, and if a private reply is required a self-addressed and stamped envelope must be enclosed.

Theatrical and motion picture questions should be addressed to the Dramatic Editor

EVENING DRESS.

Will you please tell me if it is proper for girls to wear evening dresses at an informal dance when the gentlemen they are going with just wear ordinary office suits. Some of the ladies appeared in plain silk dresses and thought they were out of place.

EVA.

Ans.: If the men were in business clothes, girls should have worn afternoon frocks.

MAN'S CARD.

Will you please tell me what is the proper size of a man's visiting card? I was told a couple of years ago that the enclosed sample was the proper size—new style—but have never seen any this size used by others.

DOUBTFUL.

Ans.—The card you enclose is a lady's size. Man's size is about 1½ inches by three inches.

MILITIA.

I am a constant reader of your valuable column, and find that I, like the rest, have come to you for help. Here is my predicament: I am not very strong nor am I physically fit. I am twenty-one years old. (1) Now I would like to know if I join some of the militia units stationed in Montreal such as my brother belongs to, would it be of any benefit to me? (2) My brother belongs to the Victoria Rifles of Canada. Do you think that is a very good regiment? I hope you are able to publish this in your valuable page as I wish to see what some of the boys of these regiments have to say.

WISHING TO BE A SOLDIER.

Ans. (1) Yes, I think it would do you good. (2) Yes, it is a good regiment.

MASTER.

1. — Kindly inform me what day January 16th, 1906 fell on? 2.—What is the birthstone for July? 3.—Which is the correct way to address letters and envelopes to boys between 14-18 years of age? 4.—Could you suggest some suitable Christmas gifts to mother, sister and young boy friends.?

DOROTHY.

Ans.—1.—Tuesday. 2.—Ruby. 3.—From the age of fourteen to sixteen address as "Master"; from seventeen address as "Mr." 4.—Mother—blouse, handkerchiefs, gloves, perfume bottles, scent spray, smelling salts, silk scarf, boudoir slippers, kimono, boudoir cap, silver photo frame. Sister — Gloves, handkerchiefs, silk stockings, powder box, handbag, beads, brooch. Boy—tie, gloves, handkerchiefs, cigarette case, cigarette holder, pipe, tobacco pouch, fountain pen, perpetual calendar, book, framed picture, pocket diary.

BLEACHED HER HAIR.

Could you possibly find space on your most valuable page for this letter, trusting at the same time you will give me some advice over the following: I have known a very nice gentleman friend for about four years. During that time I have learned to look upon him as my all. Business prevents us from meeting very often, but recently he came to see me. I was, of course, delighted to see him but to my great astonishment he began to criticize me about my hair, said I did not look myself, also a few more things which I thought exceedingly unkind of him and it ended up by my telling him I did not care. I must admit I had bleached my hair which to my idea was very becoming for although quite a young woman my hair was turning gray and made me look older by years than I really am. Did I do wrong in telling him I did not care or was he wrong in passing rude remarks to me? Please tell me as I want so much to apologize to my dear friend if I am in the wrong. I should like to tell you how much I love your page and find so many things you write about such a help, thanking you in advance.

J.D.W.

Ans.: It was very foolish to have bleached your hair. On the other hand it did not seem very polite of your friend to speak as he did. If you feel the necessity for an apology on your part, you should make it immediately.

THE "COME HITHER" LOOK.

I noticed in your beloved column the other day, a letter headed "Rude North End." Now, I would just like to say that whoever wrote that letter must be some hopeless. The idea of saying that you cannot walk along the street without some fellow speaking to or looking at you. I suppose you, "persecuted," have never looked at a fellow, and in passing have never given them the glad eye. Let me tell you, no fellow will follow any girl, no matter who or what she is, if she walks straight ahead and ignores him. It is when she gives him that "Come to Mammy" look that results follow and also the backward "Shimmy" that some Janes are so expert at. I may as well state here that I am a young girl myself, and one of the so much-discussed "hot-heads," so I am not speaking against my own sex, but some girls would really give anybody the whooping-cough measles. They do the light fantastic down Park avenue, giving that eye-stabber "Come hither" look to any fellow they meet and then they pretend to be surprised if that fellow turns and follows them, naturally looking for a good time, as he thinks they are. It is only human nature after all. And the North-end boys are all right, I'll tell the world. Of course, there are always some of the certain class who are somewhat too funny for other people, but as a whole I don't think you could go anywhere in the whole of Canada and find a nicer, more gentlemanly, sporty and generally speaking, regular bunch of fellows than the boys in our North-end. I hope you will publish this and I would like to get hold of "Persecuted" and tell her what I think. I know myself, and a large crowd of girl friends were discussing the subject and we are all of the same opinion. Also re. The Most Hon. Rev. Dr. Stratton, on the subject of dancing. It is a general opinion around our burg that Dr. Stratton has never been in a respectable dance hall when a respectable dance was going on, to witness respectable dancing. Take our school dances and others, and I would like to see what anybody would find there to kick about. Of course, one can always go to the many places where dancing is distorted, but it is only natural for a person speaking against anything to choose to visit and use for examples the worst places they can find. I think there always have been and always will be some people who will make the worst of anything they possibly can. I am not defending cheek-to-cheek dancing or shimmying, as I detest them both, but ordinary sensible dancing, and even a little jazz for the fun of it is not anything to be kicked about. Yours to a charcoal cinder.

JOSEPHINE.

MORE ABOUT BOYS.

A few nights ago we noticed, on your page, a series of Don'ts For Girls. It was signed One Who Knows Girls. We are inclined to think that this young gentleman (?) knows very little about girls, and that he may learn a little of the modern girl's feelings, so we are going to ask you to be kind enough to print a few Don'ts for Boys.

Dont flirt. It can't always be did.

Don't ask to kiss every girl good-night, that you take home. It usually disgusts the girl.

Don't wear clothes beyond your means. It isn't the clothes that make the Gentleman.

Don't give up your girl friend for any girl that happens along. Remember that new friends are sometimes like Silver, but old friends are always like Gold.

Don't smoke in the office.

Don't congregate on the street corners and pass remarks about the ladies that pass.

Don't become suddenly engrossed in your newspaper when you see an elderly lady getting on the car.

Don't dance improperly.

Don't expect your lady friend to keep up a running conversation all the way home. She may be tired. Exert yourself a little.

Don't bore a girl with too much of your society.

Don't be over-jealous of your girl friend. Remember she is not your's till she is married to you.

Don't be too certain of your chances. It is a lady's privilege to refuse.

Don't hang round a girl all evening and then suddenly disappear when it is time to see her home.

Don't be Mushy.

Don't be conceited.

And last but not least, Don't give advice to girls. You probably need to receive some from them.

TWO WHO KNOW BOYS.

HE STOPPED.

I am a girl twenty-four years of age and am very lonesome. About six months ago I met a boy friend and have been going with him ever since. Practically every night he came to see me and phoned me every day, up to the last three or four days. He has dropped off completely and I am puzzled to know what the trouble is. I have tried to get him on phone and left my number (which he knows) to have him call me, have also written him a letter, but he has taken no notice of either. When going with this fellow I found him a gentleman in every respect and he always said it was against his principle to do a mean trick to a girl. At the present time he is out of work, has not been working for near two months and he once told me he did not like to be coming to see me when he could not take me around as he would like to, but I did not mind that at all as I did not go with him for the good time he could give me. I was perfectly willing to stay at home or go for a walk which I always enjoyed especially with him as I love him dearly. Since this break-up I have taken it so much to heart that I can neither eat nor sleep. Can you advise me something to do to get over it? I have no girl friend as I work in an office with just two men and have not been in the city long enough to make many acquaintances. I may say I have also ordered a Christmas present for this boy. It is too late to cancel it and his initials are on it. What should I do with it? Now I intended sending it to him with no signature to it. Do you think it wise? Your advice in this matter will be appreciated.

A LONESOME GIRL.

Ans.—(1) He probably thinks it is only fair to you to stop taking up your time when he is so badly off. I'm afraid there is nothing you can do but wait. Try to occupy your mind with work, reading, the movies, or whatever you most enjoy. (2) If you still wish to send it to him, that would be a good way to do it.

OLD FASHIONED TWENTY.

I read to-night (Nov. 30th) with a great deal of interest your very true article titled "Why?" I venture to say you are one girl in ten who has the pluck to put your thoughts into writing. I don't for a minute mean that the other nine girls think with you—in fact, I am of the opinion that the other nine girls are in favor of the kissing. Speaking for myself and without throwing any bouquets, I am, what you in your article term, one of the different men.

Would you believe that most girls think a fellow is "slow" if he doesn't kiss them on, or very shortly after their first acquaintance? More than once I have had this remark said about me—"He's awfully slow, he took me out the other night and didn't even hold my hand." So, as I said before, your views on the subject are the views of about ten per cent of the girls of now-a-days.

On the other hand, have you ever really and conscientiously thought why most men do it. Has it ever occurred to you that the men are testing the girls—though not a fair test, I admit, it is certainly a good one—if a girl will let you kiss her, it is most probable she will let the others do the same. Most men, I know it is the case with me, don't want to marry a girl who has been kissed by most of the male population—as you say, just a mere kiss can turn friendship and perhaps love into hatred and disgust.

However, your article was well worth reading, and I hope a few of the masculine population will take it to heart.

I guess, after all, we are fifty-fifty. I hope you will air your views again soon, I should be interested to read whatever you have to say.

OLD FASHIONED TWENTY.

It is the first time I have written to you, although I generally read your page, because I think it is a good thing for us boys, as it gives us an idea what a girl's tastes are, and also for the girls in regard to boys.

In answer to "Old Fashioned Twenty's" letter, I wish to say that I agree with her, and my reason for agreeing with her is that I have sisters of my own and I would not like to have every fellow that takes them out kissing them. Do not think that I am a sissy or an innocent guy for I am far from being one, for I have done the same thing once as "Old Fashioned Twenty" was talking about and have felt sorry for doing it many a time, and wished that I could have had that night back again.

I wish also to give the girls a little advice and that is, do not let a fellow get intimate with you, keep him going and if he tries to get fresh give him a good calling down, and he will respect you more.

I often hear girls say the fellows don't take us girls out, but take out the "sporty" girls. Now that is true to a great extent, but is it not better for a girl to be able to hold her head high and say no fellow has anything on me, whereas the other poor girl is pointed out and laughed at by the fellows.

Now boys, keep this in your head when you are tempted to get "mushy." Always respect the sex of your mother and you will find that it works wonderfully.

THE HISTORY OF YOUR NAME

(By Philip Francis Nowlan.)

FAULKNER

RACIAL ORIGIN—Anglo-Norman.

SOURCE—An occupation.

An appreciation of the origin of this family name, for the variations of it are but variations in spelling requires something more than the mere information that it comes from a word meaning a keeper of falcons.

The falcon is only a bird, but he played a mighty important part in the social life of the Middle Ages, not only in England, but all over the Continent. He was, in fact, the centre around which most social amusement centered. The falcon was the medieval equivalent of the shotgun. He was trained to chase and bring down the wild birds. Hunting with the falcon was the principle sport of the Norman nobility, and the men who could train falcons held a high place in the Norman feudal organization.

Until the reign of King John it was not lawful for any but those of the highest rank to keep falcons, and a well-trained bird was literally worth more than his weight in gold, and stood chief even among royal gifts. By a law of Edward III any one who found a stray falcon and did not take it at once to the sheriff of the county was liable to two years' imprisonment.

The name, of course, was at first descriptive of the bearer's occupation, and it appears in virtually all of the above spellings, preceded by the article "le" ("the").

Tomorrow—Howard.

LIQUID DIET.

No patient hears with pleasure the doctor's order for liquid diet. Yet most patients hear it, for with fever, liquid diet is the rule. Just because most people dislike liquid diet, calling it disrespectfully, "slops," special care should be given to its preparation and serving.

The list of possibilities is not long; meat broths and extracts, cream soups, egg-nogs, chocolate or cocoa, gruels, malted milk and plain milk, very nearly cover it. Every care should be taken then to make liquid food appetizing to a patient. Soups, nicely made and flavored, the salt scanted just a little, and the pepper omitted, served in pretty bouillon cups, hot, and just the right amount at a time, can please the most exacting.

Beef tea should be used for a stimulant, beef extract for nourishment; and it should be remembered that beef extract must not be heated above 160 F., else the albumen will be coagulated, and its chief nutritive value injured. Cream soups are made from strained vegetable waters, bound with flour and butter. Other fats than butter should not be used for the sick, and cream soups are not given while the fever is high.

Egg-nogs consist of raw eggs, thoroughly beaten and strained into cold milk, flavored and sweetened slightly. For the very ill, the yolk is omitted. Chocolate is richer and less digestible than cocoa. Both should be boiled at least a minute, prepared with half or more of milk, well-beaten and strained. Milk should be served cold or hot, never boiled, never lukewarm. Gruel is the jelly-like liquid obtained from well-cooked salted and strained cereals. It should be strained through cloth and served hot.

ADVICE TO GIRLS.

"For a happy home life, marry a lawyer."

"For why?"

"After arguing all day in court he's willing to rest his jaw."—Ex.

She impressed upon all her friends how much she loved fine literature. To Mr. Author, whose name she would fain take, she told the story of her literary devotion with emphasis. "Then," he exclaimed one day, "you must worship Sir Walter Scott—his 'Lady of the Lake,' most wondrous of books of a great author."

"I do, I do," she cried ecstatically.

"And Scott's 'Marmion' and 'Peveril of the Peak'? he inquired. "Yes, yes," she averred joyfully.

"'Scott's Emulsion,' to?" he further inquired. "That," she cried, "is the best of the lot."

LITTLE BEDTIME STORIES

BILLY BUNNY
BY DAVID CORY

Billy Bunny's worst enemy was Daddy Fox, who lived in a hole in the wooded hill-side not very far from the Old Briar Patch.

Now Daddy Fox had two small sons named Slyboots and Bushytail, for whom he had to provide things to eat. And as they had very big appetites, it kept Daddy Fox pretty busy.

One night on coming home without anything for supper, he said to Mrs. Fox:

"My dear, I'm sorry I have nothing for you." At this Slyboots and Bushytail set up a howl of disappointment.

"Softly! Softly!" cried Daddy Fox, "the farmers will hear you" Slyboots and Bushytail at once stopped crying; for they knew how angry the farmers were with their father for stealing chickens and geese.

"As I was saying," continued Daddy Fox, "I'm sorry I've nothing for supper tonight. I came very near bringing home a nice fat little rabbit, but just as I was going to spring upon him, another rabbit thumped upon the ground, which is the way rabbits have to tell one another that danger is near, and he popped into his hole in the Old Briar Patch.

"It must have been Billy Bunny!" shouted both little foxes in the same breath.

"I don't know, I'm sure," said Daddy Fox. "All I saw was his little cotton tail as he jumped into his burrow. But what I would like to know is, what have you done with that goose I brought home only yesterday?"

"It's all gone," said Mrs. Daddy Fox. "Slyboots and Bushytail were out on the hill all the morning, and came home very hungry.

"I had a narrow escape, my dear," went on Daddy Fox.

"Tell us about it," said Mrs. Fox.

"Oh, Daddy, how did you get away?" asked Slyboots and Bushytail.

"If it hadn't grown dark, I never would have," replied Daddy Fox. "Just think, my bushy tail might have been cut off and hung up as a trophy in one of the hunter's houses."

"Oh, don't, Daddy!" whimpered Slyboots and Bushytail. "We'd rather lose our supper than lose our Daddy Fox!

The next story is going to be about a nutcracker. But I'm not going to tell you what kind of a nut cracker—except that it has a big bushy tail!

HEALTH TALKS.

By JOHN B. HUBER, A.M., M.D.

THE AIR WE BREATHE.

A plentitude of pure air is essential to right living, from the cradle to the last respiration. For weeks we may live without food, days without drink; but no more than a minute or two without oxygen, the essential ingredient of air.

This life-maintaining gas, when combined with other substances, makes heat; and that is why the sentient body is generally warmer than the atmosphere. All animal and vegetable life depend on oxygen. Under the sun's benignant influence, plants give out this gas which, thus freed, is respired by animal life. Our blood capillaries carry it to our organs, to our uttermost tissues and cells; and thus do we receive power and warmth and health—in fact, life itself. The Almighty breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and man became a living soul.

Every room in the home, therefore, —living and sleeping rooms alike — should be thoroughly ventilated. Air motion, its coolness, purity, freshness, with a moderate degree of humidity, are the essentials.

A gentle draft should always be aimed for; nature generally arranges for the right cross-currents outdoors. And we could have them naturally in our houses if we but allowed her freedom of action by opening wide our windows all the time in temperate weather, and some of the time at least in very inclement weather. A strong draft is deleterious to the health of most of us, cave dwellers as we are; those inured to drafts suffer no harm from them.

A famous physician, who had achieved his cure from the tuberculosis he had suffered, while visiting a college where he was to give a lecture, sat in his shirtsleeves before an open window on a very cold night, welcoming the blasts, until one by one his entertainers, abjuring their host duties, left him in ultimate and magnificent isolation.

Moderate coolness of the air is most desirable. Air in motion is cooler than stagnant; at any rate, it seems so. Pure air is as dust, smoke and germ free as possible. Fresh air is changed air; air that is constantly rebreathed soon becomes poisonous. And indoor air, by the way, is not necessarily pure because it is cold. In the winter time house air is likely to be unduly dry. A moderate amount of moisture is salutary and may be attained, to some extent, at least, by heating water in large pans or in open vessels.

To have rooms constantly supplied with fresh air there should be an arrangement by which oxygen from outdoors is supplied all the time. A current from room to room will not suffice. Stoves, certainly in bedrooms, are pernicious, being ravenous of oxygen and often emitting gases which result from imperfect combustion.

All inquiries addressed to Dr. Huber in care of the "Health Talks" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

FASHIONS FOR TODAY.

Black and white combinations are always striking and effective and generally becoming. When such fabrics as black velvet and soft, white satin, sheer Georgette or chiffon are blended the result is practically sure to be satisfactory, whether the frock is designed for a grown-up or more youthful member of the family.

The sketch offers a suggestion for a little "best dress" for a girl of eight to twelve years, and the frock to be made of black velvet or velveteen, preferably with blouse either of chiffon, Georgette or a very soft satin. This dress may be a skirt and jacket affair, or it may be in one piece, the skirt fastening at the side front, and the girdle of self fabric concealing the joining of skirt and bloused bodice or jacket. Of course, the underneath blouse of white should be detachable so that it may be cleaned more frequently than the frock proper will require.

A blouse of colored material, say vivid red, blue or pale, soft gray, or one of batiste or all-over embroidery, may also accompany such a frock.

The hat is a modified poke and the outfit will be distinctly chic if the hat is made to match the frock both in color and material.

For street wear for early spring, the design shown in the sketch may be employed for a little frock of checked woll fabric or of shepherd's plaid taffeta, the blouse to be of bright silk or Georgette. Plaids and checks will be in high favor for the coming spring, especially for members of the younger set, and, according to present indications, the smaller checks will take precedence over wide, vivid plaids.

Children's styles really change but little from season to season and the most that any mother can hope to get from a study of designs is a variety of ideas so that minor changes may be made, thus avoiding monotony in the juvenile wardrobe. But these ideas are well worth searching for. The foundation of good taste in dress is laid in childhood.

31 NEW CHAPTERS OF I.O.D.E. FORMED

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—At a meeting of the national executive of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire here on Saturday, Mrs. Stewart, national organizing secretary, reported that thirty-one new chapters had been formed since the annual meeting last May.

Mrs. McDougald, Montreal, stated that the problem as to the children of some indigent Russians in Montreal was a serious one. The Russians were members of the Orthodox Greek Catholic Church Mrs. McDougald said, but owing to an extraordinary system of school taxation no provision was made for public school education for these children.

Mrs. John Arnoldi, who presided, and Mrs. Graham Thompson were presented with life membership in the order.

Use Cocoanut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

DEAD GAVE PROUD PLACE TO CANADA

General Currie Pays Tribute to Fallen at Tablet Unveiling

"They ran away from dishonor, but on the battlefield their feet stood fast," quoted General Sir Arthur Currie at the St. Andrews Church, Lachine, yesterday at the unveiling of a tablet to the memory of those who fell and to honor those who also served in the late war from among the members of the congregation. The tablet is a handsome one of bronze, divided into three panels, the centre containing the names of those who made the supreme sacrifice and the lateral panels the names of those who volunteered.

The service was conducted by Rev. George MacKinnon, pastor. It was arranged with special reference to the ceremony which was to be solemnized at it, the pastor taking as his text, "I am the Good Shepherd and the Good Shepherd lays down his life for His flock." Mr. MacKinnon, at the conclusion of his sermon, introduced Sir Arthur Currie to his congregation.

In unveiling the tablet, General Currie drew on Pericles' address to the Athenians as most suitable to the occasion. Continuing he said that they were in the House of God and at the Christmas season and to him it seemed singularly appropriate that they should join in erecting a tablet such as they had. These men, he declared, had given to Canada a prouder place among the nations of the world.

By her countrymen's sacrifice Canada had acquired traditions and inspiration to her people to lift themselves to a higher place than that of mere material gain or personal achievement. Peace had come, he declared, with security to Christianity and honor to the Empire. "Would that one could say," the speaker continued, "that by their willingness to die selfishness has been removed from the world. Let there be peace among individuals. Let the friction and animosity among classes die down. Let the peace be between nations." General Currie spoke of watching a march of veterans in Paris, in which the customary French reverence for the dead was shown. He declared that those looking on felt that the souls of the dead were watching. So he felt sure that on that day the souls of fifty thousand Canadian dead were looking into their hearts. "God grant," he concluded, "that nothing mean, unworthy or selfish be found there."

THE HONOR ROLL.

The honor roll contained the names of those who died, as follows: Robert Bain, David Harvey, Samuel Herd, John A. E. Hughes, Russell C. James, Ernest A. James, Matthew W., M. Lochhead, Neil McCallum, George McFarlane, John McNab, William Nell, George J. Nisbet, John Pearce, Robert Robertson, John Tabrett, James Walker.

The names of those who served are as follows: Alexander Adam, Robert Bickerdike, Jr.; William R. Brunning, George G. Clarke, John R. Campbell, Alex. M. Campbell, Percy Campbell, Lorne Campbell, James P. Dawes, R. Mackenzie Davies, William R. Duncan, James G. Duncan, James Duncan, John St. Fraser, Sidney Fraser, Robert Hibbard, Richard Hibbard, Andrew A. Hunter, Harry Kelley, Neil Kelley, Robert A. Kerr, Allan McCallum, A. Dowell, George A. McKivett, Claire MacLaurin, John McLennan, John J. McMillan, Robert MacNicol, John McFarlane, Stanley M. Mercier, George Mill, John C. Mill, Thomas Milne, John W. Morrison, William P. Murray, Hugh J. R. Nisbet, Thomas L. Nisbet, William Nisbet, Jr.; Thomas M. Park, Gordon H. Rathwell, Robert Rhind, Robert M. Robertson, Fred. Robinson, Edmund G. A. Smart, Gerald S. Smart, James Smart, Peter J. Dear Sirs,—

May I take this brief means of conveying to you my many thanks for the most wonderful Chickering Concert Grand which you have placed at my disposal for my recital at His Majesty's Theatre on Sunday night? It is a moment in every artist's life when he plays the piano that expresses and gives him the most satisfaction, and in the Chickering it more than meets the demands which an artist is called upon these days to bring forth.

Again thanking you for your many favors,

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) PHILLIP GORDON.

HERVEY INSTITUTE TO HAVE NEW HOME

Part of Albani Estate at Chambly Has Been Purchased

The present quarters of the Hervey Institute will be abandoned this fall, it was announced at the Christmas Tree celebration on Saturday afternoon, and the home will acquire the former Albani estate in Chambly Basin at the return of the children from their summer outing. This announcement was made by the president of the Board, Mrs. J. A. Henderson, who stated that the building, which is situated at the corner of Claremont and Windsor avenues, has been sold and the Albani Villa, the present residence of R. H. Bartholmew, had been purchased for $30,000. As the present location netted $100,000, the Home is incidentally in a stronger financial position.

The children will be housed in cottages, fifteen in each, and as there are six acres attached to the site, plenty of room will be secured. The institute had occupied the present building for seventeen years.

The celebration on Saturday was the source of much enjoyment to the children, who received generous gifts from the tree, distributed by Mr. Frank Norman. Recitations and a musical entertainment brought the afternoon to a close.

Tea and coffee were dispensed by Mrs. John Leslie and Mrs. Arthur Campbell and others present included: Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Walter Dodds, Mrs. William Roger, Mrs. William Hall, Lady Johnston, Miss Nina Douglas, Mrs. Donald Macnaughton, Mrs. William Rutherford, Mrs. R. H. Bartholmew, and the Misses Bartholmew, Chambly; Mrs. W. B. Blaikie, Mrs. Ormiston Roy, Mrs. Robert Fraser, Mrs. W. B. McNally, Mrs. R. S. Coltart, Mrs. George Fisk, Mrs. J. Parks, Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. H. A. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Radden, George Elliot, Mrs. E. Lochead, Mrs. D. Davidson, Miss E. Hue and Mrs. W. Shepherd.

PRAYER-WEEK ENDS

Rev. Dr. W. D. Reid Gives Concluding Address to Massed Churches

The conclusion in Montreal of the World's Week of Prayer was marked by a mass meeting in the American Presbyterian Church on Saturday, when an address was given by Rev. Dr. W. D. Reid, pastor of the Stanley Presbyterian Church, Westmount. This was the last of a series of prayer meetings held in protestant churches during the week in Montreal. The Rev. M. F. McCutcheon presided, Canon A. P. Shatford, Rev. Dr. S. P. Rose and Rev. George Adam assisting in the service. A solo was rendered by J. Ritchie Bell.

CHURCHES IN JAPAN

Dr. S. D. Chown Says Forward Movement Going on There

The Christian Church in Japan was engaged in a great forward movement, said Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist Church, during a sermon in St. James' Church last night. Dr. Chown has just returned from a tour of inspection in the Orient.

Christian influence in Japan was far greater than might be expected from the numerical strength of the Christian Church, he said. Native Christians were showing the greatest enthusiasm. In one brief financial campaign they had succeeded in raising 650,000 yen, their objective having been 600,000 yen. Dr. Chown urged the need for assistance in men and money to carry on the work of evangelization in Japan.

THEN IT HAPPENED.

"You wonder if I could what?" asked the wise guy.

"Why, if you saw a beggar on crutches, I wonder if you could say that he has a lame excuse for begging?" replied the cheerful idiot.—Brooklyn Eagle.

ONCE again—following a custom established several years ago—it is our pleasure to review the progress of the year just passed—and to publicly acknowledge the privilege accorded us of adding, during the year, the names of a number of National Advertisers to the Smith, Denne & Moore list of clients.

We are proud to serve such representative Canadian, British, and United States firms, and promise them the same conscientious and thorough service that has earned the appreciation of other clients who believe in advertising as a selling force, and who desire to obtain the utmost from their advertising expenditure.

All Advertising Agency service is growing in volume and quality, and in the value of its usefulness to its clients—but we like to think that the Smith, Denne & Moore list of clients continues to increase as the demand for the Smith, Denne & Moore type of service grows.

These are the firms who during 1920 decided to entrust their Canadian advertising to S. D. & M.

STRANGE DEATH OF TORONTO WOMEN

Attorney-General May Direct Probe Into Mysterious Case

BLOOD TREATMENT

Died Shortly After Injection of a Neodiarsenol Solution

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—"I have not been advised of the facts of the cases, but I will go into the circumstances," said Attorney-General Raney this morning when asked if an inquest would be obtained into the circumstances surrounding the mysterious death of Miss Monica Kenney and Mrs. Bond, the two young women who collapsed and died within a few minutes after receiving a blood treatment in the office of Dr. J. H. McConnell, 1653 Dundas street, west.

"Will you obtain the chief coroner to hold an inquest?" Mr. Raney was asked.

"I cannot say until I have gone into the facts."

"Has the chief coroner, Dr. A. J. Johnson, communicated with you yet about these cases?"

"Not yet. It is a matter that will have to be looked into.

Two women died within a few minutes of each other after having received the treatment. Miss Kenney who was 22 years of age, received the treatment first. She appeared to be all right and left the doctor's, but collapsed on the sidewalk a few yards from Dr. McConnell's office. A policeman carried her to W. H. Andrews' drug store, nearby, where she died. Mrs. Bond was treated a few minutes after Miss Kenney and she showed signs of collapse almost immediately She died in the doctor's office in a few minutes. Both women had previously received the treatment and had not shown any unfavorable results from it.

INJECT SOLUTION.

The special blood treatment in question consisted of an injection of a solution containing a drug known as "neodiarsenol," which is put up and sold by a local drug company. It is said that the two fatalities were the result of acid in the blood serum.

The two women were treated with the serum by Dr. McConnell, assisted by Dr. Percy Faed, 1087 Bathurst street, who is said to be an expert in the preparation of this treatment.

In a statement issued, Dr. McConnell declared that both women had received similar blood treatments before and were showing improvement.

"This treatment is made in Toronto," says the statement. "It is recognized by the medical profession as an excellent remedy and has been used many times by me. This happened so suddenly that I cannot understand it. I had a dozen patients waiting in my office when it happened."

Dr. A. Jukes Johnson, in an interview, said several cases of a similar nature had come under his notice at a local military hospital. He had written the Government urging prevention of the sale of this Canadian-made serum. Both Dr. McConnell and Dr. Faed had told him, Dr. Johnson said, that they had taken every precaution against a fatal termination when administering the serum.

Dr. Johnson has some of the serum in his possession and will probably have an analysis made to prevent any more occurrances of the kind.

IS USED IN MONTREAL.

"Neodiarsenol," which caused the death of the two women at Toronto, is a well known preparation and in common use in Montreal. It is put up by the Synthetic Drug Company, of Toronto, and from what several of the hospitals and private practitioners said, has always been found beneficial.

"The drug is a Canadian preparation of what is commonly known as '606.' " Major Haywood, Superintendent of the General Hospital stated to The Star. "Another name for it is Salvarsan. We have used a great deal of it and have never experienced any trouble. It comes in the shape of a powder. This has to be mixed with a saline solution and then neutralized. It is then injected into a vein."

Dr. Haywood could express no opinion as to what had gone wrong to cause two such sudden deaths as those reported from Toronto.

CORK LORD MAYOR ACCLAIMED IN N.Y.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(From Our Own Correspondent.) — Daniel J. O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, whose deportation is being considered by the United States State Department, arived here yesterday. Fifty policemen had to rescue O'Callaghan from some 2,000 frenzied Sinn Feiners who met him at the Pennsylvania Station. The crowd followed him to the Hotel Wolcott, where he made a short speech. O'Callaghan came from Newport News.

O'Callaghan was asked:—

"Do you think Ireland will accept Home Rule?"

"No," he answered. "Ireland will not accept Home Rule. Although I have no reason to know what will happen, it is quite possible for the British Empire to enforce Home Rule. But the people don't want it. That is evident. If England decides to enforce it on them it may change conditions, but not for long. The struggle for freedom will continue."

"Would the people oppose with force this enforcement of Home Rule?"

"That would depend on how England would act. So far as I am in a position to judge," he continued, "two things must come out of this struggle, acceptance by Britain of the question involved in the established Irish Republic, namely complete freedom, or continuation of the present reign of terror. Irish Republicans, and they represent the great bulk of the people, will never accept Home Rule. England's attempt to enforce it cannot help but stiffen Republican contempt for her tyranny. The people will refuse this kind of government even to the point of complete annihilation."

He denied there was any division of opinion in Dail Eireann respecting the basis of peace, declaring, "all are united in thought and action under their leader, President de Valera."

In all the Catholic churches in New York diocese yesterday was read an appeal by Archbiship Hayes for help for the starving, desolated victims of reprisals in Ireland.

The latter urged a generous response to the "cry and the wail of innocent victims who are homeless, starving, suffering in Ireland, to the doleful appearance that comes from blackened ruins that were yesterday happy Irish homes; from charred walls that yesterday were busy Irish looms, from barren fields, from desecrated churches and deserted convent halls." But the clergy were cautioned against discussing the political affairs of Ireland in connection with it. The appeal, the Archbishop said, was purely "to aid those in dire need," and he urged it should in no way interfere with the campaign of Mr. Hoover for the starving and stricken children of Central Europe.

The funds collected will be sent to the Irish Bishops for distribution.

Carpentier Still Says He May Meet Moran

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 10.—Georges Carpentier, champion heavyweight of Europe, in an interview in the Telegraaf regarding his coming fight with Jack Dempsey, expressed optimism over the outcome. He said it would be a hard fight, but that the result was not for him to predict.

He had nothing to offer regarding definite arrangements as to where the fight is to be held.

"Whether I retire from the boxing game depends upon the result of the match with Dempsey," Carpentier said. "If I am beaten I will retire; if not I probably shall go on fighting for some time."

In an exhibition match Saturday night with the Belgian boxer Lenaers, Carpentier astonished the Dutch sportsmen by his cleverness. "He is even better than we expected," said one of them. "He can land five blows where another man lands one."

Carpentier said he might meet Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, before his fight with Dempsey.

SHIPPING NEWS

C.P.O.S. TAKING LINERS OFF RUN

Empress of France Going Into Drydock — Two Other Liners in

C.G.M.M. CRUISE

Government Line Opens Passenger Trade to West Indies

Although shipping will be quiet in liner movements during the present week, important shipping movements are reported from the other side. The liner Empress of France, having just completed her voyage to Liverpool, will go into drydock for a thorough overhaul and does not leave Liverpool again until March 11.

The C.P.O.S. liner Scandinavian is also reported in drydock today at Antwerp and does not sail out of that port until January 25. The Scotian went into drydock Dec. 29 and her next sailing date is not yet announced.

The last of the week-end liners to leave St. John, N.B. is the C.P.O.S. Sicilian leaving today for Southampton and Antwerp. She is preceded by the Pretorian which left Saturday night for Glasgow.

Sir George and Lady Foster and other notables were on board the C.P.O.S. liner Empress of Britain when she arrived in port late Friday night at St. John, N.B. The oil burner is now the only first class boat on the run, during the laying up of the Empress of France. Arriving on Friday night were Sir G. McL. Brown, Col. J. S. Dennis, C.M.G., the Hon. N. W. Rowell and Sir Keith Williams Price.

MONTREALERS LEAVE.

The Star learned today that the following well-known Montrealers have booked passage for England on the Empress of Britain leaving next Friday; Col. G. S. Cantley, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bruce, Mrs. J. H. Brownlee and Miss Edna Brownlee, Arthur Carveth, T. H. Carveth, W. Thirlvell, H. Dale, W. B. Scott, G. Sanders, H. Herschman, Mr. Forrell and Dr. Forrell.

WEST INDIAN CRUISE.

The expected return of normal business activity after the New Year's Day holiday is now beginning to materialise. Interest in the winter holiday cruises to the West Indies is becoming very noticeable. In this conection the C.G.M.M. headquarters announced the official sailing date of the Canadian Fisher, as January 25 and of the Canadian Forester, February 15.

Each of the new boats is at present outfitting at Halifax and when ready will have accommodation for thirty passengers. It is the first definite entry of the C.G.M.M. into the passenger traffic and indications point to the success of this type of passenger freight vessels.

Inquiries for bookings on the Canadian Fisher have been quite brisk both in the Maritime provinces and in Quebec. It is anticipated that with the increase in trade between Canada and the West Indies there will be a corresponding tide of passengers to and fro between the two countries.

The proposed sailing date of the Canadian Fisher, which was built at Three Rivers, was first given as January 13, and that of the Canadian Forester as February 3. Apart from the winter cruise to the West Indies both these ships are to maintain a regular service between Halifax and the West Indies. They will be open to book passengers every voyage.

GIRL WAS PRISONER IN BROOKLYN HOUSE

HELD TWO WEEKS

Threw Magazine to Policeman Who Soon Effected a Rescue

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(From Our Own Correspondent).—After being held a prisoner for two weeks in a Brooklyn lodging house to which she had been taken by a man, according to her testimony, Mrs. Ruth Gift, 17 years old, of Chambersburg, Pa., was rescued yesterday by Policeman Harry Nelson.

The girl's escape, as reported, was spectacular. For days, she told Magistrate Folwell in the Gates Avenue Court, she had been unable to notify any person of her predicament. Then she wrote a note, placed it inside a magazine, and when Patrolman Nelson passed her prison house she tossed the magazine from a window. It fell at Nelson's feet, and after reading the plea for help he dashed into the building and broke down the door to the room in which Mrs. Gift was held.

After the rescue Nelson awaited the arrival of the man responsible for the young woman's detention. He arrested Robert Cerasia, of Passaic, N. J. In court another man was pointed out by the girl as one of her abductors and he also was taken into custody. He is Joseph Bacchio. Each of the prisoners was held in $1,500 bail.

Mrs. Gift said in court that she was married to Michael Salomnia on November 22 last at Passaic, N. J. Cerasia was best man at the wedding. The couple went to Chambersburg, Pa., to pass the holidays with the bride's parents, she said, and did not return until the day after Christmas. On December 30, Salomnia left home to look for work, it was said, and within an hour Ceresia called. He told the bride her husband was in a New York hospital the victim of an accident, and wanted to see her.

The testimony was that Cerasia took her in a taxi-cab to a house in Jefferson street, Brooklyn, and locked her in a room on the second floor. She insisted upon using the name of Mrs. Ruth Gift in spite of her marriage to Salomnia, and will be detained pending an investigation.

FAMILY EXPENSES IN U.S. DECREASE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10, (Associated Press.)—Expenditures of the average family in the United States for rent, fuel, and light not only resisted but ran counter during the last six months of 1920 to the general tendency toward a lower level in prices, it was shown today in figures compiled by the Department of Labor's bureau of labor statistics.

The figures made public cover expenditures by average families in eight large cities. The average cost of living in these cities at the beginning of the new year was 99.2 per cent over the average cost in 1914, while at the end of last June it was 115.1 per cent. Using the 1914 costs as a base, the percentage increased cost of the various items making up the average family budget in the eight cities as follows in June and December:

Wood, June, 111.9; December 75.6; clothing, June 191.3 December 159.5; housing, June 41.6; December 49.5; fuel and light, June 57.6; December 79.0; furniture and furnishings. June 191.8; December 181.9.

FEW RESTRICTIONS FOR HOUSING LOAN

Committee Adopts Suggestions Regarding Proposed $20,000,000 Loan

REGISTRATION

Would Include Individual Owners of Lots Who Wish to Build

Practical suggestions for a few regulations as possible were adopted this morning at the sub housing committee of the Civic Improvement League, the idea which was kept strong to the fore being to get the Provincial Government to lend the $20,000,000 desired and to subject the loan to the fewest possible restrictions. Fred Wright, editor of the Municipal Journal, presided at the meeting held at the Board of Trade. A suggestion by John Quinlan that bureaus be formed for registering at once the names of owners of lots who would apply for loans was adopted unanimously, the idea being that this list would very much strengthen their application to the Government.

The suggestions which were approved will be submitted to the Civic Improvement League at an early general meeting, which it was understood had been called for January 15.

The committee suggested that under a provincial scheme the aggregate amount to be loaned shall not exceed 20,000,000 and the amount of loan to any one municipality shall be in proportion to the population and the needs of the municipality.

2. That the loans made shall be for a period of not over 31 years and the rate of interest not over 5 per cent. per annum, payable monthly—after the first six months, and that a sinking fund sufficient to retire each loan at maturity be made a mondition.

3. That any municipality or company or individual borrower shall have the right to pay off the whole or any part of the principal of the loan at any time during the term.

4. That any loan made under the Act shall not be deemed a part of debt of the municipality in which the loan is made.

5. That money under the Act may be advanced for building houses and tenements on sites acquired or owned by:

(a) A municipality.

(b) Housing societies, associations or companies.

(c) Individual owners of lots for the purpose of erecting houses or tenements, on such lot or lots.

6. That the maximum loan on any one building shall not exceed 75 per cent.

7. That the maximum loan on any one building or tenement shall be $6,000.

8. That all buildings erected under the Act shall be in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the municipalities or Government.

"A loan of $20,000,000," said Fred Wright, editor of the Canadian Municipal Journal, and one of the committee, "will provide about 5,000 dwellings — less than one-third of the houses required — so that there is no danger of the loan not being taken up provided the terms are fair. As an investment such a loan would be the best the province ever made, for not only would it get direct returns, with an assurance of the principle being paid back, but the loosening up of such a sum for house building would immediately start a building of homes that would not stop until every family in the province was decently and comfortably housed. Then may the Province of Quebec be proud of its home life, and true prosperity will follow, for then the people will be content."

There were present: Fred Wright, in the chair; Mayor [illegible], Gustav Francq; J. Quinlan, A. [illegible], John McNaughton of the Tenants' League, C. Smart, Harry Bragg, K. Stinson, Ald. A. Lanouette, Ald. C. Allard, J. H. Whittaker, W. J. King.

LICENSED VENDOR UP FOR ENQUETE

A. G. Pigeon Charged with Defrauding Government of $2,000

QUESTION OF STAMPS

Defense Lawyer Argues Buyer Responsible for Attaching Them

A. G. Pigeon, licensed vendor, St. Lawrence boulevard, appeared for enquete this morning charged with having defrauded the Province of Quebec of $2,000 by failing to place the necessary stamps on bottles of liquor sold to customers. Witnesses from a number of wholesale liquor houses who had supplied Piegon with his goods testified to the amounts purchased from their firms during the period Piegon was accused of defrauding the government, namely from June 1, 1920, to October 23, 1920.

A representative of Boivin, Wilson Company stated that he had purchased $193,096.97 worth of various brands of liquor. Hudon, Hebert's and Company's representative said his firm sold Pigeon $107,000 worth of wines and whiskey. Chaput Fils, under similar dates had sold him $16,125 worth. A representative of F. X. St. Charles and Company gave evidence that his firm had no transactions with him during the dates mentioned.

N. Goodowsky said that while he was an employe of Pigeon he did exactly as other employes. He alleged that in some cases where customers had come to purchase liquor and did not have enough money to pay for the stamps they were not put on. His evidence had direct bearing on a certain Scotch which was sold for $2.50 per bottle.

Napoleon Giroux, a foreman, stated that perhaps some liquor might have been sold without the stamps, but that it was not to the knowledge of the proprietor, who had given instruction that every bottle must have the proper stamps on it.

Peter Bercovitch, K. C., for the defence, argued that it was not necessary for Pigeon to put stamps on the bottles. He claimed that a vendor was merely a custodian of the stamps and had them for sale to customers, who were supposed to put them on the bottles themselves. If the customers had neglected to purchase the stamps and were found carrying liquor on the streets without the necessary stamps showing it had been legally purchased from a government vendor they were responsible and not the vendor.

Judge Cusson took Mr. Bercovitch's argument under consideration and adjourned the hearing until Friday next at 4 o'clock. Pierre Leduc appeared for the prosecution and Messrs. Bercovitch and Gravel for the defence.

McGILL SERVICE FOR LATE PRINCIPAL

Dr. John MacNaughton Unable to Deliver Commemoration Address

Arrangements have been completed for the holding of the special university service in memory of Sir William Peterson, former principal of McGill, in the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday next, January 16. The members of convocation and of the various faculties of McGill, wearing their university robes, will assemble in the session room in the basement of the church at 2.45, taking their places later in the special reserved seats. A section of the church will be reserved for the student body and the remainder will be open to the public.

The university authorities have learned with regret that Dr. John MacNaughton, a personal friend of Sir William and for a number of years one of his associates at McGill, will be unable to deliver the address at this service. Steps are being taken to secure another speaker who, through long association with the former principal in his work, will be fitted to voice the feelings of all connected with the university in expressing the loss which it has sustained in the death of Sir William Peterson.

MEMORIAL WINDOW TO SGT. P. S. CLARK

Gallant Soldier Remained by Machine-Gun When Crew Killed

COMRADES PRESENT

Window in St. Andrew's, Westmount, Given by I.O.D.E. Chapter

A memorial window in honor of Sergt. Paul Somerville Clark, B.A., who lost his life in action with the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles at the third battle of Ypres, was unveiled yesterday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Westmount, by two of his overseas comrades, Capt. Wm. Nicholson, and Lieut. Gordon Cuttle. The dedication was pronounced by Dr. J. A. Nicholson.

The window is a splendid work of art. Allegorical figures in the centre are accompanied by a torch on the left recalling "In Flanders Field" and on the right by the cross sword of the Crusade. The window was presented by the lodge of the I.O.D.E. which bears the deceased soldier's name, assisted by fifty members of the congregation of St. Andrew's church.

Dr. Nicholson, in delivering the memorial address, recounted how Sergt. Clark, when the whole of his machine-gun crew had been put out of action, worked the gun single handed, and with the object of making the strongest fight possible, moved it into a very exposed position, where death was practically a certainty. He kept his gun in action until the enemy's bullets swept him into eternity. "He was buried to the music of bursting shells and his grave was the trench in which he fell. No man knows his place of rest. But what matters it? He died a hero's death, and his soul goes marching on."

The formal unveiling then took place, and Dr. Nicholson read the inscription, setting forth that the window had been presented by the Paul S. Clark Chapter, I.O.D.E., and friends.

After the unveiling ceremony, Rev. Dr. Clark with visible emotion ascended the pulpit and expressed his appreciation of the kindness of his friends and parishioners, touching briefly on the bravery of his departed son.

MISSIONARY WORK IN DIFFICULTIES

Senator L. C. Webster and W. H. Goodwin Give Addresses on Japan

The difficulties which confront evangelization work in Japan owing to lack of funds and adequate equipment were impressed upon the congregation of Douglas Methodist Church last night in the course of addresses delivered by Senator Lorne C. Webster and W. H. Goodwin. Mr. Goodwin and Senator Webster have recently returned from a visit to Japan, during which they attended the International Sunday School Convention, which was held in Tokio.

Mr. Goodwin's lecture was illustrated with lantern slides, one of which showed the destruction by fire of the building in which the convention was held. An appeal for funds and for greater interest in the evangelization of Japan was made by both speakers.

The needs of education and of the Canadian Academy in Tokio were particularly stressed by Mr. Goodwin. The care and education of the children was at present a pressing problem.

Missionary work in Japan must either cease or must be carried on with much greater vigor, Senators Webster maintained. The financial investment already made on behalf of the work, the extent of the property held, and the organization involved made such a decision necessary.

FIRE AT STOCKYARDS.

Quick work by the men of the Mill street fire station under the command of Captain Brownrigg put a stop to what might have proved a serious outbreak in the Montreal Stockyards at 10.27 on Sunday morning. The fire originated in the hay which is stored in the cattle sheds. One stream was used and the fire was out within fifteen minutes.

POLITICAL ECONOMY CLUB

Owing to the illness of J. C. Farthing, the meeting of the Political Economy Club of McGill University, which was to have been held this evening, has been postponed.

The first of a series of four skating parties will be given by the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. on the men's rink on Wednesday evening.

WEEK-END FATALITIES.

One woman died of burns sustained while cleaning the kitchen stove, another dropped dead in church, and a third lies in the Notre Dame Hospital in a critical condition, suffering from the effects of drinking coal oil, in fatalities which occurred over the week-end.

DODGE

Make Dodge your shop standard.

Dodge power transmission equipment is in fact the mechanical standard of most industrial plants.

This universal acceptance is due to the fact that Dodge products are built for universal factory service.

When we tell you that Dodge mechanical equipment costs less to install than electrical systems which contemplate a motor for each machine, we include the cost of installation as well as the equipment itself.

When we say that Dodge equipment costs less to operate, we include the monthly power bill, the oil bill, the supervision charge, and the "waiting time" necessary for electrical replacements.

When we say that the re-use value of any Dodge product is high, we emphasize the fact that a Dodge product is bought for universal line shaft service and not as a specially designed adjunct to a particular machine.

Bear in mind always, that segregation by departments, groups, or machines is equally possible in Dodge installations by use of friction clutches and cut-off couplings.

The proper way to utilize hydro-electric power is to group machines doing similar work and motor-drive the line shaft that operates that particular unit.

In this way you provide for a reliable simplicity in your shop equipment that will insure maximum production at a minimun upkeep expense.

Decide, now in favor of a mechanical power distribution system and be sure that the pulleys, hangers, bearings, clutches, collars, couplings, etc. are entirely "Dodge."

UTILITY STOCKS WERE FEATURES IN LOCAL LIST

A further development of strength in the public utility section of the local stock market was the feature of this morning's trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange, the session being characterized by a sharp advance in Montreal Power, followed by further strength in Shawinigan. On Saturday, Tram Power, in the unlisted department, had a sharp advance, and the whole action of the three issues is connected with a deal which is now said to be nearing completion, which will affect all three companies.

Montreal Power, which closed on Saturday at 82¼, opened active this morning at 82½, at which price several large blocks, representing over 2,000 shares in all, changed hands, and which seemed to clear up the current floating supply at that level. On a continuation of demand the price advanced sharply until the peak at 86 was reached, following which the stock closed firmly at 85¼. This is a net advance of an even three points.

Shawinigan was not so active in the early stages, being firm at 105 bid. Later, however, the demand set in and the first sale occurred at 106, to be followed by further appreciation in price to 107½, at which level the stock closed. This is a net advance of 1½ points.

This activity in the so-called "power group" of local securities is viewed with some satisfaction, as both issues are highly regarded here marketwise, and are considered in the investment more than in the speculative class.

In the rest of the market, the tone was inclined to softness, and some net losses as a result of the morning's trading was recorded. The paper stocks were steady to slightly down. Brompton ruled at 54½ to 52½ to 54, down ¼, while Abitibi was up 1 at 55. Laurentide ruled at 93½ to 93, down ½, and Spanish River was 88 to 87¼ to ½, down ¾, and the preferred 92, unchanged.

National Breweries, which started out fairly steady at 53, later conceded a fraction to 52¼ to ½, down 1. Atlantic Sugar sold at 25¾, down ⅜; Brazilian 34½, down ⅛; Cement 59, unchanged; Dom. Steel 45½ to ¾, up ¼; Detroit 89, unchanged; Mont. Telegraph 110; Lyall 50, up 1; Quebec Ry. 23 to 23⅜, up ⅝; Steamships 47½ to ¼, down ¼; Steel of Canada 60 to 59¾, down 1¾; Car pref., 87, down ¼; Asbestos pref. 90, unchanged, and Abitibi pref., 87.

Dominion Canners was a feature, although suffering from some pressure, the price being forced down from recent higher levels. It sold this morning at 37½ to 37, down 2¾ points, after being offered down somewhat from the earlier quotations.

SPECTACULAR RALLY IN STERLING RATE TO $3.70

The strength of sterling exchange in New York this morning was the outstanding feature in international financial developments to be noted today. For some time past it has been noted that an improvement in the sterling exchange rate, as well as those of other countries, was imminent and rates have been hardening perceptibly.

Today sterling exchange opened at $3.65 3-4 for demand, but it was not long before strength carried the level far above this and by 1.15 p.m., the rate had risen to $3.70 3-4 for demand and $3.71 1-2 for cables, or a net improvement from the opening of 5 cents. At times the market verged on the spectacular.

French exchange was also better, opening at 5.96 for demand and rising to 6.02 1-2 for demand and 6.01 1-2 for cheques shortly after 1 p.m. Italian lire also advanced sharply, rising from 3.46 to 3.52. Swiss exchange hardened from 13.25 to 13.40, while Spanish pesetas rose from 15.48 to 15.55. The German mark bettered from 1.39 to 1.41.

The general improvement in the foreign exchange market in New York is taken as being the result of a gradual bettering of the foreign situation, especially in Europe, for some time past, and the gradual settling back to a condition more closely approaching normal times than upon any occasion since the beginning of the world war.

REGULAR DIVIDEND ON MONTREAL TRAMWAYS

The board of directors of the Montreal Tramways Company met at the head office here this morning and declared the regular quarterly dividend on the capital stock for the three months ended December 31, last. This completes the payments for the 1920 calendar year. The disbursement of 2½ per cent. for the three months is payable on February 1, next, to shareholders of record at 4 p.m. on January 20.

The board also went through a number of routine matters, but nothing was announced apart from the dividend action. The company still owes one payment on account of dividend arrears, and it is expected that the 2½ per cent. will be taken care of in the near future, thus wiping out the balance owing to shareholders on back account.

INCIPIENT BEAR PANIC DEVELOPS IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—What had the appearances of an incipient bear panic developed in Wall Street today under the leadership of a remarkable rally in Crucible Steel which jumped over 10 points from 87 at the opening to 97½ after 1 p.m. For a time it seemed as though the bears were able to mould the market to their own desires, prices of the leading feature in which there exists the largest short interest easing off perceptibly. It was a notable fact, however, that a number of the leading speculative stocks such as Crucible were loaning at a premium which indicated pressing demand for borrowing purposes.

Among the other features which showed sharp changes were: Gen. Asphalt, 55¼ to 56½ to 52½ to 56¾; A. I. C., 42½ to 47¼; A. G. W., 64½ to 61½ to 67; Baldwin, 88⅞ to 87⅛ to 92½ to 91½; Beth. Steel B., 56⅝ to 58½; Corn Prods., 69 to 66¼ to 69⅝; Chandler, 69 to 68 to 70; Int. Paper, 53 to 56⅝; Lackawanna, 52½ to to 56; Mex. Pete., 154⅞ to 151⅛ to 159; Pan American, 73 to 72⅛ to 77¼; Republic, 65⅝ to 63 to 67¾; Studebaker, 50¾ to 49⅝ to 51⅛.

Other features of the list were: C. P. R., 117 to 118⅜ to ½; Scotia, 34⅞; U.S. Steel, 82⅛ to 83; Am. Wool, 67 to 65¾ to 68⅝; Texas Oil, 43 to 44⅞; Am. Smelting, 37½ to 38⅝ to 37½; Anaconda, 37⅝ to ¼ to 38¼; Ches. & Ohio, 59¾ to 61; Northern Pac., 83 to 82½ to 84⅝; Reading, 83⅛ to 82¾ to 83⅛; Royal Dutch, 66 to 65¼ to 66½; Retail Stores, 55⅝ to 54¾ to 56¼; Rubber, 67⅞ to 65⅞ to 68½; Southern Pac., 98⅞ to 99⅛. Money was easier at 6 per cent.

Selling of popular issues was promptly resumed at the opening of today's stock market, last Saturday's sharp reversal making further headway within the first half hour. Atlantic Gulf fell almost 6 points to the new low record of 61½, Sears-Roebuck lost 3 points, Mexican Petroleum 2½, Royal Dutch 2⅝, and Baldwin Locomotive 1⅝.

Opening prices included U. S. Steel 82¾ off ½; Amn. Woollens 67 off ⅜; Anaconda 37½, off ½; U. S. Rubber 67¾, off ¼; Baldwin 88¼, off ⅛; Crucible 87, off ⅜; Central Leather 39⅜, off ⅝; Panama Amn. 73, off ¼; Studebaker, 50¾, up ⅛; Mexican Pet. 154, off ½; Sinclair, 24½, up ¼; B and O. 35½, off ⅝; Utah Copper, 53⅝, off ¼; Midvale, 31½, off ⅛; Beth B., 56⅝, off ⅝; Union Pac. 120, off ½; Atl. Gulf, 64, off 3⅛; Sou. Pac. 98⅞, off ⅛.

Shorts encountered little opposition in the early dealings, their operations effecting further extensive depreciations in shippings, steels, equipments, oils and coppers. Motor specialties, leathers, textiles and unclassified shares also reacted sharply. Atlantic Gulf pfd. fell 2 points, Crucible 2, Republic 2¼, Vanadium and Bethlehem 1, and Mexican Petroleum and Royal Dutch 3. Anaconda, Inspiration and American Smelting dropped 1 to 2 points, U. S. Rubber 3, Stromberg 3½, and Studebaker and Chandler 1½. Sears-Roebuck extended its loss to 4 points and General Asphalt and International Paper forfeited much of Saturday's gains.

Crucible and Mexican Petroleum led a rally toward noon and Express Company shares rose 3 to 4 points.

British exchange was strong, demand bills selling at $3.67, the highest quotation since last summer on prospects of a refunding of Anglo-American loans.

The slump was stopped partially by 11 o'clock and the general list recovered about half its early losses. The recovery was led by General Asphalt and International Paper. The first ran up to a new at 56 and the latter went above 54.

Notes on 'change

The Government is carefully considering the deficit of German railways, which is estimated at 15,000,000,000 marks yearly. The Government is already elaborating a scheme of reorganization, aiming at doubling present tariffs. This increase would raise passenger rates to ninefold pre-war levels and goods rates fully twelvefold.

Because of the increased tonnage in meat and dairy products both ways between Australia and Pacific Coast ports the Shipping Board has agreed to equip with refrigeration one of the steamers in the service of the General Steamship Corporation of Seattle. While the first equipment is to be by way of experiment and to feel out the possibilities, it is well understood in Seattle that this new business will add tremendously to the trade of the port as fell as all other Pacific Coast ports. The Shipping Board planned installing refrigerator space on the West Camargo, which is now in port, but sufficient material and facilities were not available, and in all probability the first ship to be equipped will be the West Holbrook, due in Seattle the middle of January.

Elimination of strikes and labor disputes in the building industry of Canada through the use of standardized wage agreements and contracts is contemplated in a plan to be considered by the Association of Canadian Building and Construction Industries at its annual session in Winnipeg, beginning January 19.

Under the plan wages would be standardized by sections throughout the Dominion and a standard contract form would be used by all contractors and sub-contractors, the committee preparing it announced today.

ALEXANDER SMITH.

Topics of the Street

Montreal Power was the only really active stock on the local stock exchange this morning and transactions in this issue, which rose three points during the morning, represented nearly 50 per cent. of the total business done in the period. Total business on the whole market was only slightly greater than on Saturday, there being 8,212 shares as compared with 7,503 shares on Saturday.

The active list this morning, besides Power, in which 3,548 shares changed hands, showed the following number of shares traded in. Quebec Ry. 550 shares; Shawinigan 378; Laurentide 245; Dom. Steel 211; Spanish River pref. 110; Lyall 165; Car pref. 145; Steel of Can. 115; Spanish River 110, and Steamships 105.

It is a good while since the Street has been treated to a Power merger story, and it came like a whiff of old times to get the old reliable into the gossip again in that connection.

So far the only reliable indications that something "is doing" have been the activity in the shares of companies concerned. These are, of course, Power, and Tram Power, the former in the regular market and the latter in the unlisted section.

So far as previous efforts to bring about a deal in the same connection, it is stated that obstacles were encountered which proved an effective block. The gossip now is that this has been given legislative treatment which has taken out its sting and that there is nothing now to prevent the two sides getting together and making a deal if they can come to mutually satisfactory terms.

It is presumed that people who have been large buyers of both Power and Tram Power have confidence that something will come out of the present negotiations; otherwise they would not have undertaken such heavy commitments in the two issues.

A notable feature in the advance in Power stock today was that it carried it to a level to yield less than 6 per cent, or in other words, placing it in the rank of being a more desirable investment as to interest yield than Victory bonds.

It may be stated, however, that whatever differences of opinion there may exist in the street regarding other speculative issues and their prospects the Street all seems to like Power on account of its progressive record in growth o fboth earnings and dividends as well as the confidence it inspires of a continuance of that record in years to come.

It was with a fair amount of satisfaction that the Street viewed the showing of the Dominion Bridge Company, Limited, in the annual report for the fiscal year ended October 31, last, reviewed in these columns on Saturday. The statement showed that the company earned its common dividend by a goodly margin, earnings being equal to 14.84 per cent as compared with 20.66 per cent in the preceding year. The drop in earnings in the year was quite in line with conditions now prevailing in industry, but generally, the report was a constructive one.

A strong liquid position was shown in the balance sheet, net working capital having increased in the year from $3,867,406 to $5,137,955, while cash was higher being up from $192,253 to $391,451. There was also the elimination of bank loans which were $336,000 a year ago, and a mortgage which was $84,442 a year ago, from the report.

In the year there were some properties disposed of which had the effect of decreasing the net property value shown in the report, as well as contributing to the lower showing of total assets. At the end of the year net property and plant was valued at $4,115,863 as compared with $4,461,326 in the preceding year, and total assets were $12,848,950 as against $12,956,326 in the preceding twelve months.

Profits	$1,125,892	$1,640,531
Net earnings	964,530	1,343,305

POWER MERGER AGAIN MOOTED STREET THINKS

The transfer of a good sized block of Montreal Light Heat and Power shares totaling close to 2,000, in the local stock market today, from McDougall and Cowans to Johnson and Ward at 82½, following which the price rose sharply to 86, was associated with reports current in the Street that negotiations are in progress between the Power Company and Tramways interests for the acquisition of the Power and lighting end of the Tramway and Power business.

Following sharply on the heels of a sudden outburst of activity on Saturday in Tramways and Power shares in the unlisted section of the Montreal Stock Exchange this development aroused much interest.

Rumors have been current for some days that something in the nature of a deal was in progress but there was no tangible evidence such as the market looks for in action on the part of any of the stocks concerned until Saturday and today.

Tramways and Power was strong again today and touched 15 in the early trading as against 11¾ last Friday before the movement started.

The proposal that it would be to the mutual advantage of all concerned to have the power and lighting business of the Montreal Tramways and Power Company transferred to the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company has been heard of in the Street once or twice before. Market movements such as were witnessed today occurred before and nothing came of it.

While it was generally believed in the Street that negotiations are pending it is not believed that anything conclusive has been done. Johnson and Ward are understood to have been acting for wealthy clients who must have some knowledge of what is going on. Their purchases are stated to have cleaned up the floating supply of the shares which accounted for the bidding up of the stock so readily the large blocks had been taken over. The same firm is understood to have been active buyers of Tram Power in the unlisted market.

The acquisition of the Tram and Power lighting interests would involve the purchase of the Canadian Light and Power hydraulic plant at St. Timothee which is bonded for $6,500,000. These bonds are now selling at the exceptionally low price of 55 or thereabouts although the company has paid the interest regularly since the date of the issue in 1909. This company sells power to the Montreal Tramways Company and it is presumed that if the plant is sold the Tramways Company will make a favorable contract for its power from that company. The Montreal Public Service Corporation which has been the light distributing company of the Tram and Power interests since 1913, would, it is understood, go into the deal along with some minor power interests.

With the disposition of its power and lighting interests the Montreal Tramways would be the only interest left to the holding company and under existing conditions, could, it is believed, be run to better advantage without its power appendages.

OPTIMISTIC ON OUTLOOK

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—A. J. Pattison Jr. and Company say: "The buying and public interest both in the listed and unlisted market in the past week is the best we have seen in many months. It appears to be steadily increasing and has already reached considerable proportions. It is now apparent that the people throughout the country with money have at last realized the extraordinary opportunity of securing high-class bonds and stocks at ridiculously low prices to return what must be regarded a tremendous rate of interest and are going to it for fair. We are very optimistic on the future and look for higher prices all along the line."

WANGANUI WOOL SALE

LONDON, Jan. 10. (Special Star Cable.)—At the weel sale at Wanganui, New Zealand, on Saturday, 5,300 bales were offered and 1900 sold. Good competition was noted, with prices about on a par with those which ruled at the Napier sale on January 3.

Opinions from Wall Street

Post & Flagg—Market is likely to continue more or less irregular for few days pending some outstanding factor development which will give it impetus one way or other.

Pynchon & Co. wire Craig, Luther & Irvine:—It will not do to expect too much. Governor Harding qualified his recent optimistic utterances to effect that we would have to feel our way along slowly, that inventories in many lines are still unliquidated. Evidently brakes will be kept on for while yet.

Paine, Webber & Co. wire Bryant, Isard & Co.: Advise taking advantage of rallies to take profits. Time is not right yet for sustained advance, and there is no buying power under market. Commercial situation needs much housecleaning.

Logan & Bryan—Feel rather inclined to advise moderate purchases of standard stocks, rails, and industrials at favorable opportunities.

Laidlaw & Co.—Uninterrupted rise can hardly be expected, but long range outlook is fundamentally better and accumulation of good stocks on any pronounced dips would seem sound policy.

Hayden, Stone & Co.:—Every day that goes by increases assurance that main liquidation in stocks has spent force, but great upswing at this time is neither probable nor desirable.

J. S. Bache & Co.:—It is fair to presume that adverse circumstances have been pretty thoroughly discounted in security market.

LESS STEEL ORDERS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19. — The monthly tonnage report of the United States Steel Corporation, made public here today, showed 8,148,122 tons of unfilled orders on hand on December 31. This is a decrease from last month's unfilled orders, which totalled 9,321,481 tons.

This is the largest decrease reported in any month since the reaction began in August last, and reduced unfilled orders of the corporation to the smallest total since November, 1919, when unfilled orders aggregated 7,128,330.

WHEAT PRICES SCORE DECLINE BUT RALLY

The following noon grain letter was received from Chicago by E. C. Morris, manager for Logan & Bryan, at their Board of Trade branch office:

Wheat—Light trade, with scattered selling forcing a lower range of prices at the start. On the decline there was buying by a prominent export house, and by a leading elevator interest. Later the market showed a heavy undertone, with volume of business not large. It was reported that the British Commission was still out of the market, and that there was a lull in the export demand from other governments. At the same time Italy was said to have made arrangements for a supply of wheat until next harvest, and increased premiums were offered for rye. Argentine prices showed further advance, and there was a general disposition to await the decision of the Argentine Government in regard to the super-tax. Kansas City had big receipts, but it was said that half of them were for export account and were being immediately rebilled for the gulf.

Corn—Locals pressed the selling side early and forced cheaper prices. Commission houses bought on the break. The volume of business was not large. Receipts were estimated at 825 cars; cash market started 1 to 1½c lower. A New York message said Germany is in the market for 2,000,000 bushels, which will be taken as soon as credits can be arranged.

FIGHT OVER SETTLING OF RATES AT CLIMAX

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(Special to The Star.)—A despatch from Portland, Ore., says that the fight between Seattle and San Francisco operators of Shipping Board steamers over rate settling came to a head on Saturday, when four charters were closed for carriers of more than 1,500,000 bu. of wheat. R. M. Semmels, director in charge of operations at Seattle, and H. P. Ebey, director in charge of operations in the district embracing all territory south of the Columbia River, will leave for Washington, D.C., to meet in conference with Shipping Board heads in order to decide on a rate policy.

Seattle operators have contended for a $15 rate to compete with foreign bottoms. San Francisco operators have held out for $18, but agreed to compromise at $16. North Pacific operators declined to compromise.

In the meantime a sudden burst of business in the grain movement, which has been dormant for a month, occurred.

TRADE AND EXCHANGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — Better trade conditions between the United States and South America and the Far East cannot be expected until low rates of exchange and labor conditions in foreign countries have been improved, according to a summary of world business made public today by the Department of Commerce. Australia was represented to be awaiting lower prices before buying much in the United States markets, and banks there were said to have raised money prices. This, together with the low rate of the pound exchange has brought about a virtual stagnation of the market, it was said.

WHAT SHALL I BUY?

On only a few occasions in the history of the Stock Exchange were standard securities obtainable at such attractive prices as during the recent decline.

While some securities have scored considerable recoveries many of the standard bonds and stocks are still available at bargain prices.

Owing to the great change in business conditions during the last six months more care than usual is required in the choice of investment.

As an aid to those who are in doubt as to what to buy we have issued a

ON LOOK OUT NOW FOR POLICY MEN

Gambling Game, Thought to Have Been Stamped Out, is Revived

They are after the Policy men.

The powers that control the game which was thought to have been stamped out of Montreal some twelve or fifteen years ago, have found that it has grown to such dimensions again under new management, that it has become a positive menace to the city, and steps are being taken to have it put out of business once more.

Somewhere between fifty and a hundred established agencies are flourishing in various business streets in the city, and thousands of dollars are bet every week, as a rule by the poorest classes, (although well-to-do people are just as interested in playing the game), bets being taken from five cents up to two dollars.

The game is played by putting numbers from one to seventy-eight into a bag and drawing out twelve of them. Those who play it bet on combinations of from three to six numbers coming out of the bag.

Two drawings are held daily, and it is said that owing to the rumors to the effect that the business may be stopped at any time, the drawings this week-end were held at the residence of the head of the close corporation that controls the lottery.

A conference, it is said, was held as to what should be done, when the first inkling reached those at the head of the game, that they might be disturbed, and the question of shutting down came up, but it was finally decided to keep the business going for the present, as the victims were plentiful and apparently well supplied with coin. The chief resides on St. Denis street near Mount Royal avenue.

The drawings are held wherever convenient, as there is little needed but the black bag with the numbers and the books from the various agents showing the combinations bet upon and the amounts bet. Those who are making an effort to put a stop to the lottery, claim that these drawings are not even on the square, notwithstanding the overwhelming odds that exist against the person who invests his money of winning anything, and that if the results of the drawing show that some people are entitled to too much money, other numbers are substituted.

The city is divided into two districts, Eastern and Western.

The reports of the Western Districts are made somewhere on Chaboillez square, the reports from the East end somewhere on Place Viger square. The chiefs to whom those reports are made, together with the supreme chief, hold the drawings with sometimes one or more sub-chiefs attending.

It is stated that the man at the head of the policy game has been called upon to stop operations, by people whose employes have been victimized and beggared through indulging in the pastime, but refused point plank to allow anyone to interfere in the matter, and that the campaign which has been started against him and his associates is the result.

Policy slips can be purchased or bets made in tobacco shops, barber shops, restaurants and pool rooms, and after every drawing a slip about five inches long and two inches wide is supplied to the investors purporting to show what numbers have been drawn.

If a certain district shows a decrease in the matter of investment, a small "killing" is allowed to be made there, that is, some investor in that district is allowed to win fifty dollars or so, according to those who are trying to stop the game, so as to stimulate the betting.

N. Y. Exchange is Rising

Instead of declining, N.Y. exchange is on the rise. Moreover, indications are that the premium on the New York dollar—high or low—is here to stay, not a temporary thing.

Benefit by the Exchange Premium

We can offer bonds yielding over 8% (7% plus N.Y. exchange premium), with a bonus of Common Stock affording a share in surplus profits. These profits are acquired in N.Y. funds (the product being marketed in U.S.)—so here again the investor benefits from the exchange through the increased surplus for Common Stock dividends.

SUMMARY

PROPERTIES: The Winnipeg Electric Railway Company does a power, lighting and gas business, and operates the entire Street Railway System of the City of Winnipeg, consisting of 120 miles. It has a hydro-electric development of 38,000 H.P. capacity and an auxiliary steam plant of 13,000 H.P. In addition the Company controls a large undeveloped water power capable of 170,000 H.P. development capacity. The franchises of the Company, we consider, are very satisfactory.

ASSETS: The properties of the Company (exclusive of the value of the large undeveloped water power) were valued by the Public Utilities Commission of Manitoba at $24,369,431. This replacement value is equivalent to over $450 per share for the preferred stock or about $100 per share for the common stock.

EARNINGS: Average annual net earnings for the three pre-war years ending December 31st, 1914 (which would have been available for dividends on the present issue of Preferred Stock) were $1,148,198

Average annual net earnings for the three years ending December 31st, 1919, under very adverse and war conditions (which would have been available for dividends on the present issue of Preferred Stock) were $498,857
Preferred Stock dividend $210,000

Estimated net earnings for current fiscal year based on actual figures for first eight months are $630,000

The Public Utilities Commission authorized the Company to increase its street railway fares to 7c. cash or four tickets for 25c., and to increase the price of gas to $1.75 per 1000 feet as from September 1st, 1920, and made the following statement in connection therewith —"To insure continuance of a satisfactory service the rate must be such as will be attractive to investors. In my judgment 8% is the proper rate to fix."

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of this issue will be used to retire notes and bank loans. With these paid off it is expected that the Company will be in a position to recommence payment of dividends on its common stock within a reasonable time.

ANNEXATION TO MONTREAL VETOED

CANDIDATES SPEAK

No Opponent Appears to Enter Contest with Mayor McLagan

The prospect of annexation to Montreal, as a possible alternative to the proposed Metropolitan Commission, was fully discussed at a meeting of Westmount Municipal Association on Saturday evening in the Mechanics' Institute Hall. Annexation was universally condemned, but opinion was somewhat divided as to whether it would be better to accept the Metropolitan Commission, with possibly certain amendments, rather than risk something worse happening later if this were defeated; or whether it was more advisable to ignore the possibility of annexation, and refuse to discuss either this or any other form of practical co-operation with the City of Montreal. The final majority of the meeting however, was of the opinion that the wiser course would be to try to amend the Metropolitan Commission idea somewhat, rather than risk having something worse forced upon them.

FIGHT TO THE END.

Incidentally, the meeting gave an opportunity to all the candidates for municipal honors to set forth their views on current questions and generally make their position clear to the electorate. There was still no sign of an opponent for Mayor McLagan. In his letter replying to the invitation extended him by the association to continue the mayoral office, he expressed the opinion that it was better to face the possibility of annexation being forced upon Westmount. While he was prepared to fight such a consummation to the bitter end, he thought that some co-operative system should be organized which would enable the municipalities to work together in matters of common interest while leaving local administration in the hands of the local authorities.

On addressing the gathering, Mayor McLagan added that if his views, as expressed in his letter above mentioned, were thought dangerous, he would welcome a contest, so that the opinions of the community might be fully expressed on the subject.

CANDIDATES EXPLAIN.

Pemberton Smith, the president of the association, invited all the candidates for election to explain themselves. Ald. Brown, accepting this invitation, explained that he had no program, and never had one, beyond dealing honestly and sincerely with every question as it arose.

Dr. Rondeau drew attention to his past record at the parks and fire and police departments. He was against annexation. Ald. Rutherford counselled calm and foresight in respect of the Metropolitan Commission. He believed the proposition was a carefully considered one, and if Westmount took up the attitude that they would have one thing and one thing only, they might finish up by getting the wrong thing. They should oppose annexation, but when some of the lesser municipalities were in difficulties and needed assistance, they must be willing to help these municipalities to some extent. The amount of deficiency borne by these small municipalities would not have a serious effect on Westmount. The per capita amount would be trifling.

The new candidates for aldermanship, who then took the floor, united in praising the old administration, and insisted that it would be no mistake to re-elect the former aldermen.

George Hogg was opposed to any idea being given currency that Westmount was partisan to the Metropolitan Commission scheme. A. D. Thornton feared the danger of annexation, and suggested that it should be carefully watched.

J. Copping advocated business methods in municipal government. He did not favor any scheme whereby Westmount should pay other people's debts. Archie Robertson confined himself to a general undertaking to do his best for the electors if chosen.

Richard Hemsley thought the matter so important that decisive action should be postponed as long as possible in order to give time to study every clause of the proposed bill. D. S. Kerr severely criticized the sinking fund clauses of the scheme.

F. W. Evans thought it was a question of exchanging a debt of six and a half million with seventeen million valuation, for partnership in a debt of 150 million and 800 million of valuation. If the bill were beaten at Quebec something worse might happen.

Rumanians Performed Liturgical Play at Christmas Service

Eight stalwart Rumanians dressed in the gorgeous costumes of the East took part in a short liturgical play, the Adoration of the Magi, which was the special feature of the Christmas service held in the Rumanian Greek Orthodox Church, Rachel street east, yesterday morning. The service commenced at eight o'clock and continued over four hours, the most spectacular part of the ceremony commencing with the introduction of the three wise men, who followed the star borne by one of the players dressed as an angel.

The Magi were led before King Herod, who sat enthroned at the rear of the Church guarded by two attendants dressed in green and holding gleaming battle axes, while the military atmosphere was heightened by the long swords of the Magi, which they drew from their sheaths at intervals and brought together in salute. Another player dressed in the costume of a shepherd accompanied the strangers.

At the conclusion of the play Holy Communion was celebrated, the Pastor, Rev. Gida, officiating.

MME. A. AUBRY PASSES AWAY.

The death of Madame Alphonse Aubry, nee Olivine Rochon, occurred at her residence, 1040 Rachel St. East, last evening. She was 69 years of age, and was the wife of Alphonse Aubry, vice president of the firm of A. Aubry and Fils, Limited. Her husband, one son, J. B. A. Aubry, three sisters and three brothers survive. The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, corner Rachel and Papineau.

MUCH CONTRAST IN SUNDAY MUSIC

Elfish Little Artist With Guards' Band—Dramatic Opera Soprano

The holiday lull in concerts was broken yesterday with two programs, one in the afternoon, the other in the evening, and both in His Majesty's Theatre. The afternoon concert was given by the Grenadier Guards Band, and the evening entertainment by Miss Claudia Muzio, dramatic soprano from the Metropolitan Opera. Between the two performances there was plenty of contrast, for the Guards starred Miss Mona Gondre, of the Odeon Theatre, Paris, in 18th century songs, mostly humorous and sung in costume after the manner of Yvette Guilbert, while Miss Muzio's singing was chiefly large and sombre.

The Guards program set forth: Suite de Ballet, from "Hamlet," a Persian dance from "Khovalstchina," Moussorgsky, the "Rouet d'Omphale," a Gavotte by Rameau, and the overture to "Tannhauser," the last-named being scored for band by a Canadian musician, Dr. J. N. Boisvert. There were also the usual encores. Mr. Gagnier let the Band play one of these, the "Wee Macgregor," without him; and very capably his musicians did it, too, showing how firm is the foundation that their work rests upon. Incidentally, this idea of leaving the men, temporarily, to themselves, is one that Hans Richter used to be fond of carrying out at his orchestral concerts. The Band was at its best in the "Hamlet" music, in the Moussorgsky number and, of course, in the encore pieces which Mr. Gagnier does to perfection. It was least at home in the Saint-Saens symphonic poem, where the strings were greatly missed. Mr. Gagnier was in a particularly happy mood, communicating his enthusiasm as readily to the audience as to his musicians; and apparently enjoying every minute of the concert. He had a right to take pleasure in it, it was a concert to delight the heart of any conductor.

GAY LITTLE ARTIST.

In the art of Miss Gondre, a winsome little lady, there was incarnate the spirit of French gayety. When she struck the note of pathos, as she did in "Le mort du roi Renaud," she did it surely, sharply and with a master touch; but for the most part, her songs were bright, mischievous, bubbling over with fun and an elfish mimicry. She produced and kept this atmosphere by a thousand and one little turns and twists of the imagination, by envanescent inflections of the voice, by delicate grimaces, by broad or subtle gestures as the moment demanded and by taking the audience immediately into her confidence. Her "Joli tambour," the marching song "En passant par la Lorraine," and the "excessively tragic" history of the old woman and her pig will not soon fade from memory.

The accompaniments to half-spoken, half chanted songs of this kind are the hardest kind of accompaniments in the world to play; but Flora MacDonald Wills played them for Miss Gondre with an alertness and a sympathy that were obviously pleasing to the solo artist.

DRAMATIC VOICE.

The evening concert moved deliberately, soberly, with an air of importance and business-like determination. The splendor of Miss Muzio's voice, a voluminous voice that she handles with reserve and skill, was well exhibited in her first song, "Ritorna vincitor," and shone, undiminished in subsequent opera songs, "Vissi d' arte," Mimi's "Addio," and "D'amor sull'ali rosee," from "Trovatore." Miss Muzio was at a disadvantage in her program, as the music of concert songs she had planned to sing went astray on the trip, and she was, in consequence, obliged to fall back upon such stock numbers as were easily obtainable at the eleventh hour. That she would sing concert songs well was to be guessed from the restraint she showed in her opera excerpts, and from the neatness which marked her reading of the "Cuckoo" trifle. Yet, through it all, it was impossible to forget that Miss Muzio was singing. Never was one taken out of himself. There were the facts of the concert; there was no getting away from them.

Philip Gordon played piano solos, the 12th Rhapsody, the Campanella, Brahms Rhapsody in B minor, Chopin's Scherzo in B flat minor and F sharp Nocturne, and Ravel's "Jeux d'eau," in a clear, manly, studious style, but without any sudden inspiration. Vito Carnevali played Miss Muzio's accompaniments with the air of one knowing the music so thoroughly that he could have played them back to front, with his eyes shut, in the dark, and the result was that he gave the singer just the confident but unobtrusive help that was wanted.

The concert was arranged by Miss Evelyn Boyce, and the Army and Navy Veterans benefitted therefrom.

MME. LA PALME HAS PASSED AWAY

Gifted Canadian Prima Donna Began Career as Violinist

WON MUSIC PRIZE

Gained Strathcona Scholarship—Made Debut at Covent Garden

In the passing of Beatrice La Palme, who died at her home in Westmount on Saturday after a long illness, there is removed from the local music world a personality that had helped to keep Canadian musicians favorably known abroad, and an artist whose perseverance and singleness of purpose, coupled with marked natural gifts, had made her career one for the rising generation to study with profit.

Mme. La Palme was born at St. Hilaire, 43 years ago. Her musical education began at the Hochelaga Convent under her aunt, Sister Mary Etienne, herself the possessor of a beautiful voice and a fine musician. In the course of events the young student progressed so well that, some twenty years ago, she won the Strathcona Scholarship for violin playing and went to London. There, after gaining an all-round experience at the Royal College, an experience that was of inestimable benefit to her in later years, it was discovered that she had a voice. Then she laid aside her violin as a primary interest and devoted her attention to principally to singing.

CONVENT GARDEN DEBUT.

It was while she was still a pupil at the Royal College that Miss La Palme was plunged, unexpectedly into prominence in one of the most famous opera houses in the world—Covent Garden. A command performance of "Boheme" was to be given for royalty, with Melba, Bonci and Scotti in the cast. Almost at the eleventh hour Fritzi Scheff, billed to sing Musetta fell ill and the management found it exceedingly difficult to replace her. But someone connected with the theatre had met Miss La Palme at a friend's house, and asked her if she could undertake to fill the gap. Miss La Palme was not familiar with the role, but she pluckily undertook to learn it, and saved the day.

This faculty of quickly absorbing new music was a distinguishing feature of Mme. La Palme's career. "Very good mental exercise, but rather fatiguing," she admitted good - naturedly once, after she had mastered a trying role in but a few day's time. And this musicianship, this surprising ability to sing almost any role asked of her, and in any one of four languages, made her invaluable in stock and travelling opera companies, in which, both in England and America, she achieved success.

MONTREAL SUCCESS.

Mme. La Palme's success at home, following her appearances early in Great Britain and France began with concerts given in the Monument National and Windsor Hall, when the critical were delighted with the variety and interest of her programs, no less than with the musical insight displayed in her rendering of them. An engagement with the Montreal Opera Company followed, Mme. La Palme singing Micaela, Mimi, Juliet, Rosina, Marguerite, etc., and never failing to be otherwise than a true musician. All through her career, she placed her music before everything, only allowing herself such pleasures, society and recreation as would not interfere with the pursuit of her art. If ever there was a sincere and studious artist, one whose diligence was something for every student to copy, that artist was Beatrice La Palme.

Previous to her return to Canada at the time the Montreal Opera Company was in full swing, Miss La Palme had married Salvatore Issaurel, a tenor singer of especial culture. And from the time of her return home, they made Montreal their headquarters, living and teaching here, but making frequent excursions into the United States on professional errands. Their home life was exceptionally happy and those persons who enjoyed their friendship esteemed it a privilege.—P. K.

In London during the great plague of 1665 smoking not only was encouraged among the children, but it was actually enforced under severe penalties.

Actors are Looking For Work in New York by Thousands

NEW YORK, Jan 10.—(Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent).—Over five thousand actors and actresses in New York City today are looking for work. The Actors' Equity and Actors' Fidelity associations admit it. One of the reasons is that seventy-five road shows have flopped since the season began. Matters are not improved by the fact that the motion picture studios of Long Island and New Jersey are displaying the "No Help Wanted" sign. In fairness to the managers it must be stated that in a number of cases where companies have been stranded hundreds of miles from home, there has been no crooked work; no vanishing with box office receipts. It costs from one-third to fifty per cent. more to transport companies by rail than it did before the war. That is the cause for many failures. Other players have gone under because, while exceedingly popular in New York, they were of purely local interest and failed to entertain provincial audiences.

A great proportion of road failures, however, have been due to irresponsible managers who found it easy to finance their projects in war days when the public paid whatever it was asked to see any sort of entertainment, and who now find it impossible to get the necessary cash to keep their mediocre or downright rotten productions going. Another cause for failures is that in many instances inferior casts have been sent out with plays that were not "actor proof." Pieces that made a hit in New York because they featured distinguished actors or actresses were sorry fare when acted by "hams." And out-of-town audiences cannot be fooled so easily as New York producers imagine they can be.

In the month of December six well-known companies went on the rocks. Most of their members were "rescued" and brought home by the Actors' Equity Association. "The Little Whopper" company stranded in San Francisco. The "Frivolities of 1920" closed in Kansas City. Sixty members of the Frivolities company were left penniless. The "Royal English Opera Company" stranded in Boston. Its failure was due to the enormous guarantee demanded by the owners of the Boston Opera House, which took $3,500 of the first week's receipts, leaving $500 to be divided among the company. One girl from this show, weak and destitute, arrived at the Actors' Equity headquarters and asked for help. She had not eaten for two days.

The week before Christmas "The Flaming Cross Company" failed in Baltimore after playing one week. The actors received no salary and were in distress. The bill incurred by the Actors' Equity Association for the month of December in rescuing members of stranded companies totalled over $2,500.

For two or three weeks the writer attended rehearsals of a musical show which gave great promise. It opened out of town, played two weeks, then went to the storehouse. The company is seeking work after working for weeks with little money. Another company assembled at the Pennsylvania railroad station to journey out of town for an opening. As they were boarding the train word was received the the financial backers had quit. The company disbanded then and there. They are all broke and looking for new jobs.

A letter I received from an actor friend said: "We are at ———, a thousand miles from Broadway, and have been told that unless we accept half-salary the show will close down and we'll have to pay our own way back to New York."

In the vaudeville field similar conditions apply. The supply of acts exceeds the demand. The New York booking offices are thronged with actors seeking time.

Meet these stagefolk on the street. They are a lesson in optimism. They must dress well; appearance counts when they apply for a job. They have wives and youngsters to feed and clothe. And day after day they climb the booking office stairs hopeful and smiling and descend them still smiling if not so hopeful.

And still stenographers and shop clerks, housewives and soda-fountain tenders, who don't know an entrance from an exit, want to "go on the stage" because they "just know they can act."

Maud Adams Will Return to Stage, It is Now Certain

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(Special to The Star From Our Own Correspondent.)—Miss Maud Adams, who has not appeared on the stage since ill-health caused her to abadon her tour in "A Kiss For Cinderella" in 1919, will return to the stage next autumn under the management of A. L. Erlanger and Charles B. Dillingham. The definite announcement, made this week, sets at rest various rumors that have been afloat for some time, one of which was that Miss Adams had retired from the stage.

Messrs. Erlanger and Dillingham announce that Miss Adams is in excellent health, and that they have in hand several plays for her. No date has been set for the first performance. It is, however, practically settled that Miss Adams' regular productions will be made each autumn and that she will be seen in a program of Shakespearian plays and other classics each spring.

Becman Will Play "La Francaise" at Orpheum Thursday

On Thursday night this week, after the ordinary performance of the Orpheum Players, Mr. Edgar Becman, and a specially organized company of French artists will present Brieux's "La Française." The performance will begin at 11.30 p.m. M. Jacques Varennes will appear with M. Becman. Mme. Jeanne Meaubourg will contribute a special vocal programme.

For this event every effort is being made to ensure a notable assembly. Many of the leaders among the French Canadian supporters of the drama have already taken boxes, and there are not wanting indications that the evening will prove a society gathering.

"La Française" is a remarkable drama in which Brieux endeavors to show another side of the character of the drama of the women of France from that which is generally portrayed on the French stage.

ROYAL AMERICAN FLAG GIVEN TO TRINITY

Emblem of Colonial Days—Sent to New York Church

NEW YORK, Jan. 10, (by Associated Press.)—Symbolic of the cordial relations existing between the United States and Great Britain, the regimental colors of the Royal American Infantry were returned to the Trinity Church Corporation at special services held here yesterday at Governor's Island. The colors were presented by Major General H. K. Bethel, British Military Attache at Washington representing the British Ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes, to Dr. William T. Manning, Rector of Trinity Church. The historic flag, which dates from 1756, will hang with the colors of the First U. S. Infantry, the oldest service flag of the United States, in the chapel of St. Cornelius-the-Centurion, on Governor's Island.

Major General Robert Lee Bullard, commander of the Second Corps area; the Marquis Carisbrooks, a cousin of King George; Brig.-General Cornelius Vanderbilt and representatives of many patriotic societies attended the presentation.

The regiment was established by an order dated March 4, 1756, which stipulated that it would consist of four battalions, aggregating 4,400 men. The ranks were strictly confined to Americans, the personnel being recruited from Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Maryland. The officers were either British, Scotch, or Swiss.

When the regiment ceased to exist, the colors passed to certain British families and finally to Lord Grenfell, who forwarded the flag to the British Ambassador for presentation to Trinity Church.

The colors are blue, with a white border, displaying a crown, the regimental insignia appearing on a blue field.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 10.—Cardinal Gibbons' condition was so favorable this morning that he will be permitted to sit up again today, it was stated at the archiepiscopal residence. Yesterday he spent about two hours propped up with pillows in a wheel chair.

ASK MODIFICATION OF BILL OF LADING

Dominion Marine Ass'n Holds Annual Business Meeting Here

About one hundred and forty members and guests of the Dominion Marine Association gathered together in the Windsor Hotel on Saturday night for the banquet following their annual business meeting.

A conference was held between shipowners and a group of members of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in regard to certain changes to an amended bill of lading after the adoption of a new bill of lading by the United States Association, in which the principal alteration is the placing of certain responsibilities upon the shippers in regard to shovelling charges. Committees were appointed consisting of representatives of each group to discuss the drafting of a new form of bill, which will be further considered at a meeting of the Lake Carriers Association to be held in Detroit on January 18. It is understood, however, that the proposed draft bill will include the new modification to which the shippers object.

The annual report of the Association shows a membership of 26 steamship or barge companies, representing a steam tonnage of 155,340 and a barge tonnage of 33,921. In the report overtures were made to the Government asking relief from the inspection tax, and in whole or in part from the hospital tax, also the exemption of United States ships from the hospital tax in the Province of Quebec.

The report also included a memoranda on public works in the form of canals and the lighting of inland waters, with official correspondence on various matters.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The retiring president, A. E. Mathews, of Toronto, was unable to attend the sessions on account of illness. A. A. Wright, of Toronto, was appointed his successor, and H. W. Cowan and Senator Lorne C. Webster, of Montreal, were elected first and second vice presidents respectively. The following were elected members of the executive: W. E. Burke, T. R. Enderby, L. L. Henderson, Montreal; W. J. McCormack, Sault Ste. Marie; George J. Madden, Montreal; Col. George P. Murphy, C.M.G., Ottawa; E. W. Oliver, Toronto; W. H. Smith, Montreal; John F. Sowards, Kingston; J. F. M. Stewart, Toronto; John Waller, Yvon Dupre, Montreal; A. E. Mathews, Toronto; Francis King, Kingston, standing counsel.

Others present included: Col. W. I. Gear, Alex. Johnson of Ottawa, Capt. Temers, Capt. Scott Worten of Cleveland, and Capt. E. Quackenbosch, late of the U.S. Shipping Board.

During the evening a demonstration of wireless telephony was given under the direction of A. H. Morse of the Marconi Company, whereby a violinist playing on William street was heard over the phone. There was an excellent entertainment program under the direction of J. F. Pierce and community singing under the leadership of James Rice.

The function was presided over by A. A. Wright of Toronto. W. Livingstone of the United States Shipping Board responded to the toast of the United States Lake Carriers Association.

VERBAL AGREEMENT IS NOT BINDING

Silence does not imply consent, said the Court of Appeal in a judgment confirming a ruling of Mr. Justice Duclos, in the Superior Court in the case of Grace Company, Limited against C. E. Perras, for $25,449 05. Perras is doing business under the name of the Adanac Leather Company and the company alleged he had failed in supplying it with 450 dozen sides of leather contracted for

The whole issue was whether an alleged verbal agreement, when not confirmed in writing, was to be considered as binding in law.

Mr. Justice Duclos in the Superior Court had said it was not. The Court of Appeal was of the opinion that this ruling should be confirmed, and Mr. Justice Flynn, in delivering the judgment of the Court of Appeal said that on the whole and apart from slight differences in the verbal testimony as adduced in the Superior Court, justice had been done in the inferior court, and the appeal should be dismissed, with costs.

GERMANS PLANNED TO SMUGGLE ARMS TO IRELAND IN 1915

'White Paper' Issued Shows Active Connection with Sein Feiners

CASEMENT MISSION

Bernstorff Relayed Message of Proposed Easter Uprising

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Correspondence which passed between the German embassy at Washington and the Foreign Office at Berlin, in which the names of a number of Irish-Americans are mentioned to show active connection between leaders of the Sinn Fein and the German government during the war, was issued by the Government Saturday in the form of a "White Paper."

After the arrival of Sir Roger Casement in Berlin, in 1914, he sent messages through the Foreign Office in Berlin and the German embassy at Washington, according to these documents, to Judge Cohalan, John Devoy and others, regarding his mission to Germany. This, it is declared, finally led Count Von Bernstorff, then German ambassador to the United States, to send to the Foreign Office in February, 1916, a despatch "surreptitiously attached to a message concerning the Lusitania" saying that Devoy had informed him of the rising to begin in Ireland Easter Sunday and asking that arms be sent to Limerick Good Friday or Easter Saturday. This was followed by correspondence arranging details of the assistance the Germans were to give.

The "White Paper" makes reference to pamphlets on the subjects of Ireland and Germany, freedom of the seas and others, in the publication of which Kuno Meyer, then professor of Celtic languages at Liverpool and Sir Roger Casement collaborated, and which were widely circulated in Germany and the United States in 1911-12.

Sir Roger, who was in the United States at the outbreak of the war, proceeded to Germany in 1914, maintaining communication with Devoy, who, the paper says, remained as chief agent in the United States in the communications between Germany and the Sinn Fein.

Then follow textually some fifty communications marked for transmission by telegraph, by post and by hand, from the beginning of September, 1914, to the end of November, 1918, most of them from the German embassy at Washington to the Foreign Office at Berlin. Others were communications from the Berlin Foreign Office to the German embassy at Madrid, and from Nauen to Mexico. Some of these were marked "Most secret."

The paper concludes with appendices setting forth a memorandum on the organization of the Irish army, found in the possession of Eamonn de Valera when he was arrested which is said to have been in his own handwriting, and a brief statement on Ireland's case before the "Powers to be assembled in a peace conference."

WOULD LAND GERMAN TROOPS.

A Berlin Foreign Office message dated August 17 (1915?) informed the German ambassador at Madrid that "an agent will shortly arrive from Buenos Aires. You should at once communicate his wishes and support him in every way. He is instructed, after establishing communications, that the first steps to take would be to organize the smuggling of arms, etc., from South America and the United States into Ireland. An undertaking of this nature must not be made from Spain. In the second place the question arises of sending arms from Germany by the Moewe or a submarine, in event of its being possible to fix the place and time for landing them in good time. There is no question whatever of landing German troops in Ireland."

Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, then under-secretary for foreign affairs, informed the German embassy at Washington on November 3, 1914, that "Casement has arrived. His proposals are being carefully gone into."

"They are ignorant here of the purpose of my coming to Germany. Here everything is favorable; the authorities are helping warmly. Send messenger who has been fully informed verbally to Ireland immediately. He should be a native American citizen; otherwise his arrest is likely."

On December 14 the "White paper" indicates the German embassy at Washington sent the following message to Sir Roger:

"There have been purchased for India 11,000 rifles and 4,000,000 cartridges. Devoy doesn't think it possible to slip them to Ireland. I am trying to buy rifles for Turkey in South America."

Other corespondence contained in the paper says that the Rev. J. T. Nicholson, of Philadelphia, "is ready to start for Germany" and that Joseph McGarrity, of Philadelphia; J. P. Keating, of Chicago, and Jeremiah O'Leary, of New York, "can give particulars regarding persons suitable for carrying out sabotage in the United States and Canada."

EX-GOVERNOR WARNS OF GRAVE INDIA UNREST

Sir Michael O'Dwyer Says Time for Toying with Sedition Passed

LONDON, Jan. 10.— Sir Michael O'Dwyer, until recently governor of the important Punjab province of India, in an article in the Globe concerning the unrest in India, which has taken the form of Government boycotts, strikes and seditious utterances, declares:

"This much at least can be stated with certainty—that the present extremist movement is heading straight for the disorganization of trade and commerce, for the ruin of every British interest and for anarchy and rebellion."

Sir Michael asserts that "the time for toying with sedition in this vast empire has long since passed," and that if Britain would retain India the law must rigorously and impartially be enforced, irrespective of persons, caste or class.

"All those who are heading the revolutionary conspiracy, Gandhi the Ali brothers and Sagpat Rai, and others equally notorious and equally hostile to British rule—should be dealt with under the law before it is too late," Sir Michael says.
