Tuberculosis Must Go Says City

By FERGUS CRONIN

With 99 known cases of tuberculosis active in Westmount, and possibly many more yet undiscovered, a campaign to wipe out this disease which caused some 5,000 deaths throughout Canada in 1945 will begin on Monday when all city employees will be X-rayed.

Dr. J. J. Day, city medical health officer, told The Examiner that this is but the first move, an effort to "clean house." Later on, he said, a diagnostic X-ray clinic to assist local doctors will be opened at Victoria Hall, sponsored by the city but operated by the Royal Edward Laurentian Hospital.

Tuberculosis is more prevalent in the City of Westmount than is commonly supposed, said Dr. Day. It has been estimated that in the district of Montreal there are 30,000 active cases, or about one per hundred population.

Rate High Here

"There is no reason to suppose," said Dr. Day, "that the rate is any lower in Westmount, which is in the very heart of Montreal. This means there must be about 250 residents here with tuberculosis—we know of only 99."

Next month, as the result of several requests from local stores, fruit handlers in this district will be examined for tuberculosis by the Anti-TB League. This is an important step in the right direction, said the city doctor, because there are about 1,200 people in local restaurants, groceries and butcher shops handling food that is sold to the public.

If one of these should have TB, his mere breathing on the food could transmit the disease to many customers.

Highly Contagious

Tuberculosis, said Dr. Day, is a highly contagious disease. Even

Servicemen Best Ambassadors General Believes

Addressing the Westmount Rotary Club in Victoria Hall at noon today, in his first public appearance since returning from Holland a month ago, Major General R. Holley Keefler, C.B.E., D.S.O., E.D., described in detail two battle operations, typical of Canadian troops' participation in the campaigns in Northwestern Europe, and pleaded that returned service men "be taken back into the family—the business as well as the domestic family—quickly and completely."

Having stressed the Canadian soldiers' fighting qualities as he knew them at first-hand while in France, as head of the Royal Canadian Artillery, 2nd Division, in Holland as temporary commander of the 2nd Division during the Scheldt operations, as commander of the 6th Infantry Brigade and while General Officer Commanding the 3rd Division just before crossing of the Rhine, General Keefler emphasized, too, that Canadian service men and women were "the best ambassadors our country will ever have. Boy Gets 3 Years For Carrying Gun

In the Recorder's Court session of January 2, two sentences were imposed, one to a 16-year-old boy, arrested for being in possession of a firearm, the other to a man of 34 for loitering.

The boy was arrested on December 29 when he was found on St. Catherine street carrying a revolver in a holster.

Albert Martin, of no given abode, arrested by Constable H. Carpenter for loitering, was sentenced by Deputy-Recorder A. E. Laverty to two months in prison or a fine of $40 plus $4.20 costs. He could not pay the fine.

Still Room For Veterans At College Prep Course

There is still room for recently discharged veterans in the College Preparatory Course for Veterans which opens on Monday, January 14, at the Claremont Division building of Sir George Williams College.

With renovations to the building now complete, officials of the college announce that a maximum of 800 new students can be enrolled, made possible by the sixteen available classrooms and the two-shift program.

An opening ceremony will be held on Monday in Victoria Hall, Westmount, the principal speaker will be W. R. Wees, National Director of Training, Department of Veterans' Affairs. Following the opening ceremony class groups will be organized and details of organization marked out. Classes will begin the following day in the College building, 500 Claremont Ave.

Two Shifts

Students on the first shift will begin their classes at 8.30 a.m., and continue to 1.45 p.m., with a twenty-minute break in the mid-morning. Afternoon classes will begin at 1.45 and carry through until 7.00 p.m., with a twenty-minute break during the afternoon. Each period will be forty-five minutes in length.

Open Schools Flaunt Flu

Although Westmount Catholic schools have delayed opening of classes until January 14 because of the threatened influenza epidemic, Dr. J. J. Day, City Medical Health Officer told The Examiner that it will not be necessary to close the Protestant schools, which opened January 3.

There is every indication, he said, that the prevalence of flu is decreasing.

The Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital, at press time, had not yet rescinded its orders barring additional outpatients and visitors to the outpatients' ward.

Fifteen other hospitals throughout Montreal have closed their doors altogether to visitors, including the nearby Homoeopathic,

Death Recalls 'Old Days' To Resident

The recent death of Brigadier Francis Logie Armstrong, O.B.E., a former District Officer Commanding M. D. No. 4, who was buried with full military honors in Mount Royal Cemetery December 27, has recalled to a Westmount resident of long-standing, pre-World War 1 days of the reserve army when Brigadier Armstrong was a lieutenant and General A. G. L. McNaughton was a captain in the same unit.

21st Bty. Formed 1909

David Roberts, 65 year-old proprietor of Roberts Provisions at 1259 Greene avenue, told The Examiner that he was a driver in the 21st Battery of Field Artillery when it was formed in Westmount in 1909, several of whose officers later became generals in either World War I or II. The Battery was commanded by Major W. O. H. Dodds, who has since died a general, and in addition to Generals McNaughton and Armstrong, had as lieutenant, Gerald Hanson, now lieutenant-colonel.

Among the senior N.C.O.'s of the battery were Sgt.-Major Fred Davis, a noted footballer who has also died, and Q.M.S. Elliott.

The 21st Battery, according to Mr. Roberts, went overseas when the war broke out in 1914, and although Major Dodds transferred over to the Grenadier Guards, "Captain" McNaughton and "Lieutenant" Hanson went into action with them.

Met in Old Arena

The Battery used to meet in the old arena at the corner of Wood avenue and St. Catherine street, until it burned down in 1910 and was replaced by the Forum.

One of the highlights in its early history was a trip to the 1910 Quebec Tercentenary celebrations in Quebec City, where the unit was inspected by the Duke of York, who later became King George V.

"I attended the first summer camp with the battery," said Mr. Roberts. "It was held in the old Westend Athletic Grounds, just where Royal meets Monkland avenue now."

Mr. Roberts, who has run his provision store at its present location for six years, but for 38 years around the corner at 4167 St. Catherine street, has six children and lives at 90 Columbia avenue.

He is always glad to hear from former associates of the 21st Battery.

Westmount Highlights

By GEORGE COCHRANE

From the wild and semi-inhabited region of Rouyn, Quebec, comes the following letter from Ross Cameron, ex-Westmounter, who's up in that locality as chief announcer on Rouyn's radio station CKRN.

Dear Columnist Cochrane:

The power of habit is a very remarkable thing. I have been a habitual reader of your scintillating paragraphing for some weeks. It was a pleasing surprise to come home to Westmount after a stretch of three years with the Navy and find that the wee home town had a columnist all its own—one of some intelligence too. (That's known as a pat on the back without knocking out the objective).

Now and again, I note, you stir yourself considerably to present some human interest—a few lines about local people who make news. I offer myself as some very good copy. Sorry, can't find a photo to go with the copy that would really show what an uncommonly handsome guy I am.

Upon release from the Navy, I decided to shelve the newspaper work I had done before the war and try my hand at radio. Both mediums, I carefully calculated, could do with my superior talents.

If you tuned in to CJAD the first three days it hit the air, you would have heard my dulcet tones carried out over the airwaves to delight all who listened in. It's the best announcing job ever turned in in Montreal radio history.

There was, however, a struggling radio station in the wilderness of Northern Quebec which needed a thorough tuning up. What it needed most was a radio announcer of note.

Well, here I am at CKRN and the station is saved. It's a bilingual post but I'm so good and so widely liked as a "mike" personality that they promoted me to Chief Announcer with the responsibility for building all sponsored programs.

It's a crying shame that the station is only powered to 250 watts—so many people are deprived of a striking radio voice, so much is lost to them in radio enjoyment.

Look, Cochrane, I hope I haven't sounded too conceited. I really don't like myself at all and I think that's God's truth.

Keep up the good work at "The Examiner", George, and maybe someday you'll get a chance to hit the top in the greater field called radio—some day. All you need, old boy, is what I have a tremendous lot of—TALENT.

Ross Cameron.

Labor Discussed By CCF Clubs

The activities of trade unions and their resulting effects on mass employment will be discussed by Dr. Eugene Forsey, research director of the Canadian Congress of Labor, and Frank Scott, national chairman of the C.C.F., at an Open Forum to be held at Victoria Hall next Thursday evening, January 17, under the auspices of the West End C.C.F. Clubs.

Both speakers, because of their respective positions, are considered to be experts on their subject, "Unions and Full Employment," Dr. Forsey discussing the related problems of labor, wages and employment, and Mr. Scott the political factors involved.

Centre of Air Transport

Recalling, in part, his final order-of-the-day to his troops, General Keefler said that it had been intended to impress them, and now it was given to remind his listeners that "Canada is in a favorable position among the nations of the world. Geographically, it is a centre of air transportation. Tremendous advancements are being made in Canada's industrial prestige, due to the Canadian war effort and to the favorable impression created by her armed forces among the people of all countries where they had lived and fought and, may I add, so we won't forget, where some had died."

The two battle operations described by the General were: the Schelde operation to open the Port of Antwerp, chosen, said he, because it has been described as one of the most interesting to the public, and the crossing of the Rhine, clearing North Holland and the advance into N.W. Germany, chosen because although it was an exemplary campaign, it was overshadowed by the sweeping advances into Central Germany and "I believe Canadians would like to know more of what happened to some of their own troops," he said.

The speaker was introduced by Frank C. Whitaker, past president of the club and special representative of the Bell Telephone Company with which organization Major General Keefler resumed his civilian duties later this month. Appreciation to the speaker was voiced on the club's behalf by A. W. Callard, past president. President A. A. Boire was in the chair. Mrs. Keefler and Robert Taschereau, her father, were among the guests present.

High School guests of the club this week were Bill Roberts and Bert Grindley, from Westmount High School's XII Year.

INTER-PACK HOCKEY LEAGUE

Two teams from Westmount, 2nd Westmount Pack and Westmount Park Pack, are entered in the Montreal Inter-Pack Hockey League this year. The remaining five games will take place with the following teams:—Saturday, January 12, Rushbrooke at 2nd Westmount and Westmount Park at St. Lukes; Saturday, January 19, Westmount Park at Rushbrooke and 2nd Westmount at St. Lukes; Saturday, January 26, Rushbrooke at Westmount Park and St. Lukes at 2nd Westmount; Saturday, February 2, 2nd Westmount at Rushbrooke and St. Lukes at Westmount Park; Saturday, February 9, Westmount Park at 2nd Westmount.

Last year, only 2nd Westmount played in the league, and although they came close to capturing the league honours in their section, they were edged out by one point by the powerful Dixie outfit. Westmount Park is a new entry in the league this year and will play along with 2nd Westmount in Section No. IV.

TB Must Go

people in good health and in good condition can catch it if there is a lot of it around, because it is transmitted through the air.

The Province of Quebec has the highest death rate from TB of any province in Canada. In 1900 the death rate through the country was 200 per 100,000 population. Ontario has, through intensive efforts, reduced this rate to 26, but the rate in Quebec is still 80.

Of approximately 5,000 deaths from TB in Canada during 1945, about half occurred in Quebec alone.

The peculiar danger of tuberculosis, says Dr. Day, is the fact that it can exist for a considerable time without discovery, unless the victim submits to an X-ray examination. And if caught in its early stages, the chances of recovery are much greater.

Advanced Symptoms

Advanced symptoms are usually unmistakable: chronic cough, high fatigability, loss of weight, sweating at night, and spitting of blood.

Prevention rules are simple:

1—If you know of any active cases of TB, stay away from them.
2—Live healthily, with at least eight hours sleep a night and plenty of fresh air.
3—Follow a healthy diet: lots of fruit, vegetables, milk and meat.

The X-ray clinic to be set up shortly will, Dr. Day believes materially help to provide community X-ray facilities for doctors who wish to send their patients there. It will be open one day a week, and will serve residents of Westmount sent there either by their own doctor or by the Health Department.

Know Your Westmount

Biography And History --In Streets--

(Contributed by Westmount Historical Association)

Since the third instalment of this column, which appeared November 16, and related the history of Prince Albert Avenue, further research has uncovered some interesting data on the Prince Consort of England, after which the street was named.

No. 11—ALBERT, PRINCE CONSORT

Albert (Francis Charles Augustus Albert Emmanuel) (1819-1861), prince-consort of England, was born at Rosenau on the 26th of August, 1819. He was the second son of the hereditary Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha (belonging to the Ernestine or elder branch of the Royal family of Saxony) by his first wife, the Princess Louise of Saxe-Gotha-Altenburg (d.1831) from whom the duke was separated in 1824.

His father's sister married the Duke of Kent, and her daughter, afterwards Queen Victoria of England, Prince Albert's wife, was thus his first cousin. They were born in the same year.

Consistorialrath

Albert and his elder brother, Ernest, were close companions in youth and were educated under the care of Consistorialrath Florschütz, subsequently proceeding to the University of Bonn. There Prince Albert devoted himself especially to natural science, political economy and philosophy; he diligently cultivated music and painting, and excelled in gymnastic exercises, especially in fencing.

The idea of a marriage between him and his cousin Victoria had always been cherished by their uncle, King Leopold I. of Belgium, and in May 1836 the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and his two sons paid a visit to Kensington Palace, where Princess Victoria, as she then was, lived, for the purpose of making acquaintance for the first time.

The visit was by no means to the taste of King William IV, who disapproved of the match and favoured Prince Alexander of Orange. But Leopold's plan was known to Princess Victoria, and William's objections were fruitless.

Victoria Liked Albert

Princess Victoria, writing to her uncle Leopold (May 23, 1836), said that Albert was "extremely handsome"; and (June 7) thanked him for the "prospect of great happiness you have contributed to give me in the person of dear Albert. He possesses every quality that could be desired to render me perfectly happy."

No formal engagement was entered into, but the situation was privately understood as one which in time would naturally develop. After the queen came to the throne, her letters show her interest in Albert's being educated for the part he would have to play.

Prince Goes to Italy

In the winter of 1838-1839 the prince travelled in Italy, accompanied by Baron Stockmar, formerly Leopold's doctor and private secretary, and now the queen's confidential advisor. On the 10th of October 1839, he and Ernest went again to England to visit the queen, with the object of finally settling the marriage. Mutual inclination and affection at once brought about the desired result.

They became definitely engaged on the 15th of October, and on the 10th of February 1840, the marriage was celebrated at the chapel-royal, St. James'.

Prince's Position Difficult

The position in which the prince was placed by his marriage, while it was one of distinguished honour, was also one of considerable difficulty; and during his lifetime the tactful way in which he filled it was very inadequately appreciated. The public life of the prince-consort cannot be separated from that of the queen.

The prejudice against him, on account of what was regarded as undue influence in politics, was never fully dissipated till after his death. His co-operation with the queen in dealing with the political responsibilities which devolved upon the sovereign represented an amount of conscientious and self-sacrificing labour which cannot easily be exaggerated; and his wisdom in council could only be realized, outside a very small circle, when in later years the materials of the history of that time became accessible.

A Cultured Man

He was indeed a man of cultured and liberal ideas, well qualified to take the lead in many reforms which the England of that day sorely needed. He was specially interested in endeavours to secure the more perfect application of science and art to manufacturing industry.

The Great Exhibition of 1851 originated in a suggestion he made at a meeting of the Society of Arts, and owed the greater part of its success to his intelligent and unwearied efforts. He had to work for its realization against an extraordinary outburst of angry expostulations. Every stage in his project was combated.

In the House of Peers, Lord Brougham denied the right of the crown to hold the exhibition in Hyde Park; in the Commons, Colonel Sibthorp prophesied that England would be overrun with foreign rogues and revolutionists, who would subvert the morals of the people, filch their trade secrets from them, and destroy their faith and loyalty towards their religion and their sovereign.

Received Abusive Letters

Prince Albert was president of the exhibition commission, and every post brought him abusive letters, accusing him, as a foreigner, of being intent upon the corruption of England. He was not the man to be balked by talk of this kind, but quietly persevered.

The exhibition was opened by the queen on the 1st of May 1851, and was a colossal success; and the realized surplus of £150,000 went to establish and endow the South Kensington Museum (afterwards renamed "Victoria and Albert") and to purchase land in that neighbourhood.

Sponsored Many Movements

Similar institutions, on a smaller scale but with a kindred aim, always found in him warm advocacy and substantial support. It was chiefly at meetings in connection with these that he found occasion for the delivery of addresses characterized by profound thought and comprehensiveness of view, a collection of which was published in 1857.

One of the most favourable specimens of his powers as a speaker is the inaugural address which he delivered as president of

R.A.F. dove at the invaders. On the 26th of August, 1940, our camp on the Downs was bombed, but fortunately there were no casualties. A few days before, an R.M.R. had been killed in an air-raid at the Rft. Unit.

Heard Invasion Tried

During the first two weeks of September, the bombing became more severe, and the threat of invasion greater. We were told later that an Invasion Force had set out from France, but had been shot up, and forced to return to their harbours.

Whether this is so or not, I cannot say, but it was quite evident that the German air offensive was a prelude to a full-scale invasion. But on the 14th of September, that day when 185 German planes were shot down, the air offensive was checked and the danger of invasion lessened. I think everyone breathed easier, but no one relaxed his vigilance. The danger of invasion was still there, in fact, it remained for several more years, but became more remote as time went on.

I don't think it wrong to say that September 14 marks the first check to the forward move of Hitler's war machine. The Germans won many battles after that, but the machine as a whole seemed to move less smoothly from then on until finally it collapsed completely in May of this year.

Btn. Moves to Surrey

On the 17th of September, the Battalion moved to Sutton, Surrey, and remained there, with brief excursions to the coast and on schemes, for fifteen months. For the vast majority of the unit, Sutton brings back the pleasantest of memories of our stay in England. The citizens were most hospitable and kind, and appeared to be genuinely sorry when eventually we moved away.

A great many of the members of the unit married girls from Sutton or from the nearby suburbs of Cheam and Carshalton, and we all made numerous good friends. So close was our association with this town, that we were often referred to as the R.M.R. (Sutton's Own).

Long after the unit had left, one would be sure to find a dozen or so R.M.R.'s in Sutton on week-end all their leaves there, comends, as a great many of the men spend all their leaves there, coming back year after year.

Years Awaiting Action

I think now I shall pass over the next few years with just a brief mention of a few events. I do not mean that these years passed very quickly, quite the contrary, but one was very much like the last. As each autumn turned to winter, we assured ourselves that we would surely invade the continent in the spring. As spring

The Board of Assessors for the City of Westmount was re-appointed at Monday's council meeting. J. Collin Kemp was re-appointed chairman of the board, and Donald A. Baillie and Andrew S. Rutherford were re-appointed assessors.

Mr. Rutherford will take over from A. Turner Bone who acted in his place while the former was overseas during more than five years.

Joining up early in the war, Mr. Rutherford, in his capacity of Lieut.-Col., was in command of the 16th Field Company of the Royal Canadian Engineers when they went overseas. A. G. Anderson and Mrs. F. H. Mackay were re-elected by acclamation for a second period of three years to the Westmount School Board, it was announced at Wednesday's meeting. Nominated by the Westmount Municipal Association, they were acclaimed as no other nominations were received from the people of Westmount when nominations closed January 7.

Mr. Anderson, a graduate of McGill University, and chief engineer of the Eastern Area for the Bell Telephone Company, lives at 19 Thornhill Avenue.

Mrs. Mackay, a former teacher of the Montreal Protestant School Board and previously on the executive of the Roslyn Home and School Association, lives at 566 Roslyn Avenue. She has two children.

Mr. Anderson was also re-elected chairman of the board for a second one-year period, and J. C. Nelles was elected vice-chairman, succeeding C. S. LeMesurier, Dean of the McGill University Faculty of Law, who remains a member of the board.

Other members of the board, all of whom are elected by the people for periods of three years, are A. L. Phillips and B. L. Lockerby, both of whom represent the local board on the Central School Board, and R. R. Hutchison.

The only permanent member of the board is the secretary-treasurer, F. B. Whittet.

Biography

the British Association for the Advancement of Science when it met at Aberdeen in 1859. The education of his family and the management of his domestic affairs furnished the prince with another very important sphere of action, in which he employed himself with conscientious devotedness.

A Good Manager

The estates of the Duchy of Cornwall, the hereditary appanage of the Prince of Wales, were so greatly improved under his father's management that the rent-roll rose from £11,000 to £50,000 a year. Prince Albert, indeed had a peculiar talent for the management of landed estates. His model farm at Windsor was in every way worthy of the name; and the grounds at Balmoral and Osborne were laid out entirely in conformity with his designs.

As the prince became better known, public mistrust began to give way. In 1847, but only after a significantly keen contest with Earl Powis, he was elected chancellor of the University of Cambridge; and he was afterwards appointed master of the Trinity House.

In June 1857, the formal title of prince-consort was conferred upon him by letters patent, in order to settle certain difficulties as to precedence that had been raised at foreign courts.

Died at Height

But in the full career of his usefulness he was cut off. During the autumn of 1861, he was busy with the arrangements for the projected international exhibition, and it was just after returning from one of the meetings in connection with it that he was seized with his last illness. Beginning at the end of November with what appeared to be influenza but proved to be an attack of typhoid fever and congestion of the lungs, he died on the 14th of December.

The grief of the queen was overwhelming and the sympathy of the whole nation marked a revulsion of feeling about the prince himself which was not devoid of compunction for earlier want of appreciation. The magnificent mausoleum at Frogmore, in which his remains were finally deposited, was erected at the expense of the queen and the royal family; and many public monuments to "Albert the Good" were erected all over the country, the most notable being the Albert Hall (1867) and the Albert Memorial (1876) in London.

His name was also commemorated in the queen's institution of the Albert medal (1866) in reward for gallantry in saving life, and of the order of Victoria and Albert (1862).

The first civil administrators to enter the North-east, Hsu Cheng, chairman of the Liaoning provincial government and his party, arrived in Chinchow on December 8, receiving a tremendous ovation from the populace, who were overjoyed to see Central Government officials, after 14 years of Japanese rule and oppression.

became summer, we looked forward to invasion in the autumn.

The months passed by slowly, and always there was training, and more training. Something new to learn, something old to take a refresher on. However, just as everyone was getting particularly fed up, something funny would occur, and spirits would revive.

Recreation A Problem

The authorities were very sympathetic, and they realized that the average soldier was living a far from interesting life, and did what they could to provide the men with recreational facilities. The Auxiliary Services did wonders along these lines, particularly when we left Sutton for Petworth, where there were absolutely no civilian facilities at all.

The nearest pub. was four miles away, as was the only movie theatre. A canteen and movies put on by our Auxiliary Services Superintendent right in camp, did much to improve life in this rather quiet section of Sussex.

You might be interested to know that the greatest factor in the maintenance of morale, was the receiving of letters and cigarettes from home. Ninety-nine men out of a hundred, if faced with the choice of a meal or a letter, would take a letter every time. When mail was delayed or lost by enemy action, as it sometimes was, the news reacted to a noticeable degree on the men's spirits. Those of you who contributed to Cigarette Funds, or who wrote letters to men overseas, were contributing far more than you knew to the efficiency of your Army.

After we left Sutton, we moved to Petworth, a hatted camp on the estate of Lord Beaconsfield. The camp was in the process of construction and it was knee-deep in mud in January, 1942 when we were slated to take over. As there were only sufficient huts here for half of the Battalion, two companies moved to Selsey Bill on the coast, south of Chichester.

It was not until May, that the whole Battalion could be together in the camp, and it was only through the labors of the two companies there, that it was finished as soon as it was. While at Petworth, the Battalion assisted in training the Home Guards. Each platoon moved over to Home Guard Platoon area, and worked with them each evening, and Saturday and Sunday, for a period of three weeks.

At the conclusion of this period, it was felt that the period had been mutually beneficial.

THE TB CAMPAIGN

The determination on the part of the local Health Department to launch a concerted drive against tuberculosis in Westmount should enlist the enthusiasm and support of every resident in this community.

It is encouraging to note that the examination of local fruit handlers to be undertaken next month comes as the result of requests from several stores. Tuberculosis is of such a virulent and lurking nature that efforts to eradicate it can only be successful if they come from the citizenship as well as the authorities.

It is rather frightening to realize that the prevalence of TB in Montreal, which, according to the medical health officer, Dr. Day, "we have no reason to believe is any less in Westmount," is as high as one per hundred of the population.

The death rate from TB has always been higher in Quebec than in any other province, and can only be reduced by the efforts of each community doing all it can to chase it from their own doorstep.

Let Westmount, "the garden suburb of Canada's Metropolis," show the way.

THE WORLD NEEDS THEM

On the walls of the Prime Minister's Office at Ottawa are the following words, embossed around three sides of the room: Moderation, Toleration, Conciliation. They were the oft-declared guiding principles of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Mr. King had them put on the walls of his office when the new Parliament Buildings were constructed.

In the days ahead this country will have need of those three qualities in her leaders. What they mean can best be illustrated by turning back the pages of history to a day in June, 1889, on the Plains of Abraham, near Quebec City. The occasion was the unveiling of a monument to Jacques Cartier and to the Jesuit missionary Brebeuf. There were two principal speakers, Mr. Mercier, premier of the Province and leader of the Quebec nationalists—and Mr. Laurier.

Those were critical times. Racial and religious feelings ran high. It was but four years since the execution of Louis Riel. An Ontario M.P., Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, was using inflammatory language about Quebec.

Mr. Mercier replied in kind at the meeting on the Plains of Abraham. "It is useless to imagine that we will ever cease to be French and Catholic," he said. "This monument declares that after a century of separation from our ancient mother we are still French. More than that, we will remain French." To make this reply to the fanatics of Ontario effective, he told the great throng, they must unite in defence of their rights.

It was in this atmosphere that Mr. Laurier was called upon to speak. Although it would have been easy to appeal to the prejudices of the crowd, such a course, it was soon apparent, was farthest from his mind. Mr. Laurier said:

"We are French-Canadians, but our country is not confined to the territory overshadowed by the citadel of Quebec; our country is Canada, it is the whole of what is covered by the British flag on the American continent. Our fellow-countrymen are not only those in whose veins runs the blood of France. They are all those, whatever their race or whatever their language, whom the fortune of war, the chances of fate, or their own choice have brought among us, and who acknowledge the sovereignty of the British Crown. As far as I am concerned, loudly do I proclaim it, those are my fellow countrymen. I am a Canadian."

... What I claim for us is an equal share of sun, justice, and liberty; that share we have, we have it in ample measure, and what we claim for ourselves we are anxious to grant to others. ... It is written that the sands of the sea are numbered. It is written that not a sparrow falls without the permission of an eternal Providence, eternally wise. Can we not believe that in that supreme battle fought here, on the Plains of Abraham, when the fate of arms turned against us, can we not believe that it entered into the decrees of Providence that the two races, up to that time enemies, should henceforth live in peace and harmony, and henceforth form one nation?"

It took courage and generosity to make that speech, but from the time of its deliverance the fires of prejudice in both provinces began to cool. Sir Wilfrid was the living embodiment of the principles he professed — moderation, toleration, conciliation ... principles of which the entire world has terrible need today.

C.C.F. ADDRESSES

According to a report in The Western Producer of Saskatoon, Dr. Carlyle King, president of the Saskatchewan section of the C.C.F., said in part at a public gathering at Saskatoon: "With the common people of the world lies the only hope of averting a third world war." Quoting H. G. Wells' definition of civilization as a struggle between education and civilization, he said: "We have been through a war that was the result of our joint ignorance and folly. We are now staggering home from catastrophe with a maniac's power for destruction in our trembling hands. We must make people realize that they must be citizens of the world and that only co-operative effort can save us from another war and keep civilization from slipping into the abyss."

Premier Douglas said in part: "Since the C.C.F. took office the revenue of our Province increased from eight to twelve million dollars and the public debt had been reduced by eight million dollars in one year and social services had been extended. We are spending a million and a half dollars more on roads this year than had ever been spent by any previous government of our province. Despite this the only tax increase had been the one cent levy on gasoline. The money was coming from the people who had it. Liquor profits had been increased about two million dollars without raising the price to the consumer. Manufacturers got less and hotel keepers paid more. They can well afford it, and they don't owe anything to our campaign funds. Within the next year it was hoped to have hospitalization for all on a per capita basis."

Referring to the moves for disallowance of provincial legislation, Mr. Douglas declared:

"They (Ottawa) are dealing with a government fresh from the people which is determined to carry out the people's will and no lobbying by the vested interests will stop us. If these gentlemen want to play rough they have started with the right people in the right place."

The Archbishop of York recently stated the Anglican doctrine as to divorce to be: Marriage is for life and the remarriage of divorced persons is never recognized by the church as a true marriage, the sole exception being that the innocent party in a divorce for adultery may remarry. He gave some statistics for England and Wales: 1858, 24 divorces; 1914, 600; 1945, waiting to be heard in London alone, 4000.

The Soviet Government, which considers music as serious a subject as farming or factory work, has made high-grade musical composition a paying proposition. Soviet composers today are counted not only among the wealthiest citizens of the Soviet Union. Prokofiev, like a cautious capitalist, says of his income: "It is plenty."

Except for a few dots on the map, the boundaries of China are established over more than 3,000,000 square miles—about the same area as the U.S.A. At least 300,000,000 Chinese speak a language which varies no more than the dialects of Vermont and Alabama.

That profit recognizes no boundary lines is again illustrated by the illegal exporting from G.B.

to European black markets of cigarettes, soap and coffee.

Light weight aluminum which has been going into the production of America's tremendous air power will soon find its way onto the roofs of U.S.A. barns. It is easy to apply, requires no paint and when attached with lead-head nails will last (it is claimed) indefinitely. The first cost is slightly higher than a steel roof but this is more than made up in longer life and cheaper upkeep.

Britain's giant drug company, Boots, which dominates the trade in pharmaceutical products, made profits last year, after paying all taxes, of nearly 2½ million dollars, the dividend on ordinary shares being 32½ per cent. The market value of the five shilling shares of the company is now about 57 shillings.

Before leaving for Potsdam, Premier Attlee told 393 newly-elected Labor members there would be no pussy-footing and that the battle will be a tough one. "Our honeymoon will be a short one and then make no mistake about it, the fighting will start. We now have the clearest mandate from the people and we are going straight ahead. We will not hesitate to change ministers who do not succeed at their jobs. We will not swerve from our contention that we need a new world order to prevent war."

Mr. Attlee was a conscientious objector in the First Great War but left his position as a lecturer in the London School of Economics to join the army. He was a major when the war ended. He served in Gallipoli, Mesopotamia and France in the infantry and tank corps.

Women With Ideas

BETTY SPEIRS

By HELEN B. SANDWELL

Do you remember the fairy story of the little girl who was asked whether she would rather be "beautiful or good," and who answered: "Oh, let me be beautiful and I'll be good." But sometimes it is harder to be good than beautiful — for you can't buy personal merit out of a box or a bottle. It is always interesting to hear the other woman's ideas (whether or not you agree with them) on how to find peace, faith and inspiration in religion, and as the Moral Re-Armament Group believe they have a pretty good understanding of how to restore the vital force of faith to the defeated and spiritually confused, we asked Betty Speirs (in private life, Mrs. Peter Miller) an MRA enthusiast, to tell us some of her ideas on this subject.

One thing that heartens her these post-war days is the widespread revival of interest in religion. "There is a definite trend towards good," she claims. "It is obvious even in places of amusement" and she related how recently in a local movie, a picture dealing simply and honestly with the sweetest and most unselfish aspects of human nature, received a prolonged and hearty applause even greater than that accorded the main feature. "And look at the different trend in advertising," she commented. "Take those 'Where's Joe?' advertisements. You'll notice that Joe is away fixing up a room for a veteran, tying up bundles of clothes or magazines or doing something equally useful. Advertising has been given most generously to Red Cross, Salvation Army, Canadian Legion and like worthy appeals, by advertisers great and small. There is a good spirit about, and people are trying to be helpful."

Most of us will agree, for the churches are rising to the challenge of the opportunity, and women's and service clubs, missionary societies, youth movements, etc., are eagerly considering how to turn this potentially great force for good into the right channels.

For the past seven years, Betty Speirs claims, MRA philosophy "has brought her happiness that money cannot buy." Through application of its principles she believes industrial and political antagonisms can be wiped out, and that the individual can find an answer to life's problems, if, instead of worrying about them in a negative fashion, "he'll take time to try to find out what is God's plan for him." MRA, she thinks, in its sweep across the world, is playing a great part in laying the foundations of a permanent peace. She believes that God has a plan for the world, but that "we must be in harmony, and cut out the static of jealousy, suspicion, worry, resentment, selfishness and dishonesty, before we can hear that plan and act upon it." One definition of MRA is that it is a framework and a factor of international strategy built from ideas of honesty, purity, unselfishness, love, the guidance of God and belief in the possibility of changing human nature. MRA, according to Betty Speirs, in no way supplants the church, but supplements it. Its daily religious exercises with their insistence upon acknowledging and rooting out faults, burn away the indifference that may bedim the radiance of what Carlyle called "hallowed fire."

Betty wonders if the average English-speaking child in this city doesn't spend too much time learning mathematics and science and not enough on learning how to live in harmony with a strong faith in a higher power. Teachers, in her opinion, should be paid higher salaries than at present, and they should be chosen from the finest type of men and women who take a genuine pride in building good character into their pupils, as well as imbuing them with a love of learning.

AN IMITATION BUT IT'S GOOD

Here's a recipe for good "imitation" whipped cream.

Beat 2 egg whites until they are stiff. Add ¼ cup of powdered sugar while beating. Then add 1 cup of grated apple and ¼ cup of powdered sugar alternately, as the beating continues. Flavor with 1 teaspoon of fresh lemon juice. Chill and serve immediately.

Use as a topping for pumpkin or chocolate pie or for fruit salad.

A tourist speeding along a highway at 100 miles an hour was stopped by a patrolman. "Was I driving too fast?" asked the tourist, apologetically.

"Heck, no," replied the patrolman. "You were flying too low."

The Governors of the Montreal Anti-Tuberculosis League have not ceased to make known the urgent need for 1,500 beds which are required for tuberculous patients in the Montreal area.

Helen—"What are you knitting?"

Alice—"Something to cheer up the boys."

Helen—"Why, the war was over long ago."

Alice—"This is my bathing suit."

Nothing much in the way of new discs this week. Worth noting is the terrific job the Andrew Sisters do on "Put That Ring on My Finger," the tune recently popularized by Herman's Woodchoppers. Vic Schoen and his orchestra contribute an exceptionally good job of accompaniment. On reverse is "The Welcome Song," which surprisingly enough is in waltz tempo.

Once more we hear "Waitin' for the Train to Come In," this time by Johnny Long's crew, with vocal effort by Dick Robertson. MRT Presents "She Stoops To Conquer"

"She Stoops to Conquer," that rich and typically English comedy from the facile pen of the great Oliver Goldsmith, and generally conceded to be his masterpiece, moves into the Guy street play-house on Friday, January 18, and will continue thereafter for a week's run. The play, read by countless thousands, is so familiar as to scarcely need a review. Based on an amusing incident of the author's own school days, it deals with his wandering in search of adventure and with a guinea in his pocket, finally to ask his way of the village wag, one Cornelius Kelly, to the "town's best house of entertainment," and the amusingly complicated incidents that arose therefrom.

"She Stoops to Conquer" is full of fun, healthy genial and friendly, and based on the sincere, broad ground of character and humour. Without sentimentality or unkindness, Goldsmith brings his characters before us as living people, and makes us like them while we laugh at them. Mr. Hardcastle, an admirably drawn portrait of the best kind of county squire of the time, has the warmth and generosity of character we expect from a lover of old friends, old times, old manners, old books and old wine.

The comedy comes nearer in characterization and dialogue to that of Shakespeare, the spirit of Twelfth Night, than any other English play. With Sheridan's three great comedies, it ranks as the splendid exception to the unexpected failure of English drama, from the beginning of the 18th century to the present day. It is a revelation of his genius and his true character that, harassed and worn as he was, Goldsmith should have left us at the end of his life this "inexhaustible bequest of mirth."

Directed for MRT by Maude Aston, the cast features such well known performers at Whitfield Aston, Elsie Poole, Agnes McKillop, Randolph Hudson, Robert Watt, John Olsburgh, Avril Keiller, Kenneth Culley, Walter Wakefield, Vivian Hayes, Henry Ramer, Ronald Grant, Tim Whalen and Eric Donkin.

All Star Cast Of Top Comics In Roach Film

Hal Roach's hilarious screen comedy romance, "The Housekeeper's Daughter," filmed from the best-selling novel of the same name by Donald Henderson Clarke, has a return engagement at the Monkland United Theatre, playing until Friday night.

Joan Bennett, again appearing as a dark-tressed glamor girl, and Adolphe Menjou, appearing as the screwy newspaperman, head the imposing cast of "The Housekeeper's Daughter."

The new film, transferred to the screen from a scenario jointly written by Rian James and Gordon Douglas, was directed personally by Hal Roach, who also staged "Captain Fury." The supporting cast, reading like a blue book of Hollywood topnotchers, includes such prominent players as John Hubbard, William Gargan, George E. Stone, Peggy Wood, Donald Meek, Marc Lawrence, Lillian Bond and Victor Mature. In lesser roles are John Hyams, Leila McIntyre, Luis Alberni, Rosina Galli, Tom Dugan and Gene Morgan.

The story of "The Housekeeper's Daughter" concerns the mad

"A Bell For Adano" Stars Tierney, Hodiak And Bendix

Triumphantly reaching the screen as it reached the heart of the nation and the world, John Hersey's great and human Pulitzer prize-winning novel, "A Bell for Adano," is now playing at the York and Westmount United Theatres in 20th Century-Fox's magnificent filmization starring Gene Tierney, John Hodiak and William Bendix with a brilliant supporting cast.

With "A Bell for Adano," 20th Century-Fox, the studio which more than any other is recognized for its painstaking care and skill in transferring great literature into great screen entertainment, is being credited with another memorable success matching "The Song of Bernadette," "The Keys Of the Kingdom" and "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn."

Universally acclaimed as one of the finest stories to come out of the war, "A Bell for Adano" is the first post-war story to be made out of World War II. The unforgettable story of a man, a woman and a people, packed with a superb drama, glorious romance and matchless emotion, contains no war scenes whatsoever.

Instead, "A Bell for Adano" tells of Major Joppolo who came to the bomb-blasted village of Adano in Sicily and saw a people without laughter . . . a woman without hope, and of how he conquered their fears with his courage, and her heart with his arms. Overwhelming in the emotional er's Daughter" concerns the mad and merry antics of a group of amateur and professional sleuths who try to solve the mysterious murder of Gladys Fontaine, a Broadway play girl, in the swanky town house of the socially prominent Randall family. In this hilarious group, whose various members are working at cross purposes, are the beautiful and alluring housekeeper's daughter, the scion of the Randall family, two screwy newspapermen, a mob of zany gangsters and a psychopathic homicide. A smash climax is provided when Adolphe Menjou, as the crack news hound, solves the murder after he has terrorized a gang of underworld hoodlums in a burst of firecracker glory.

Joan Bennett, as the housekeeper's daughter, arouses the romantic interest of Robert Randall, when she runs away from the underworld to join her mother who is housekeeper for the wealthy family. Young Robert Randall, who hasn't joined his family for the summer, becomes a newspaperman and stumbles on the first clue in the baffling murder case while making the rounds of the night clubs with two seasoned news hounds, Adolphe Menjou and William Gargan.

"The Great John L. Is Romantic, Colorful Film

The romantic, colorful life of one of America's greatest figures makes its long awaited appearance on the screen when Bing Crosby's production, "The Great John L.," is now playing at the Seville United Theatre until Friday night.

The exciting new film stars Linda Darnell and Barbara Britton and introduces Greg McClure in the title role.

"The Great John L." is a record of the life of America's foremost prizefighter, John L. Sullivan. But more than a history of the "Boston Strong Boy" it is a gay, exciting film, picturing the glittering time in which he lived.

The great John is enacted by Greg McClure, a Crosby discovery who makes his motion picture debut with the part. McClure, a 6 footer topping the 185 pound mark has been acclaimed as a "natural" for the portrayal. It might be said that muscle for muscle McClure matches the Sullivan physique.

Two beautiful ladies, Linda Darnell and Barbara Britton, enact the women in Sullivan's lusty life. Miss Darnell is the sultry, exciting singer-actress, Anne Livingston who loved and married Sullivan. Miss Britton is seen as Kathy, the fighter's childhood sweetheart.

Crosby's production has backed the stars with a good workmanlike supporting cast which projects all the warm nostalgic humor of the film. The cast includes Otto Kruger, Wallace Ford, George Mathews, Robert Barratt, Jim Kerrigan, Joel Friedkin and Lee Sullivan.

Frank Tuttle, one of Hollywood's outstanding craftsmen, directed the film. The screenplay was written by James Edward Grant.

Purple And White Tie M.H.S. 3-3

Come From Behind To Split Points

BY GEORGE COCHRANE

Battling from behind to erase a two-goal lead which Montreal High had established in the first two periods, Westmount High's number one puck team managed to divide the laurels with the Blue and White at the Forum Tuesday afternoon by holding the University street crew to a 3-3 draw.

The game was the night-cap of the first Senior A hockey doubleheader of 1946 which saw Montreal West edge Strathcona 3-2 in the opener.

The blue shirts went into an early lead when a character named Smith put the puck behind Freddie Jones just one minute after the opening whistle and 50 seconds after that again found a hole in Frederick's defensive armour to make the count 2-0.

It looked as though Tommy Manastersky and his boys, who enjoyed a distinct weight advantage in the game, were on their way to a slaughter but the Westmounters settled down to business and the remainder of the opening canto was scoreless.

At the 6:26 mark of the middle session Roy Hellyer, who played a bang-up game for the Purple and White, got Westmount's first goal of the year when he picked up a pass from Johnny Piers and drove a low, hard shot past Norm Sauve.

The Montrealers went back to the attack and were two up once again when Billy Munro set up Binsley and the latter flipped the disc into the locals' cage.

ONE FOR ERROL

Things looked bad at this junctture for Coach Don McRae's boys but William Jack Errol notched the locals' second goal two minutes before the end of the second canto.

After one minute and 40 seconds of play in the third period, Harold Wilbur Young tallied his first Senior A goal (it's his first season in the "big time") to tie things up at 3-3. Montreal's Tommy Manastersky was in the cooler for tripping at the time.

Action was fast and furious for the remainder of the tussle but both sides failed to capitalize on their scoring chances.

Westmount's Roy Hellyer had tough luck on two occasions. Once he was in the clear and fired the puck wide of the Montreal cage and another time he floated in close on Sauve only to have the little Frenchman take his rifle-like shot on the chest.

B GAME POSTPONED

Westmount's Senior B pucksters were scheduled to begin their season's activities on Wednesday of this week with Verdun High but the game was called off and is now scheduled to be played at the Forum at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The United States steel industry consumed 45,600,000 tons of scrap during 1941.

Mild Weather Washes Out Pee Wee Tilts

The mild weather washed out all games scheduled in the four pee wee sections of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League last week. A large number of games are down for play this week.

Two Prince Albert group games will be played at the Western rink tomorrow morning, at ten o'clock the Royals and Flyers will clash while at 10.45 a.m. the Sailors and Hurricanes will play.

In the afternoon a single counter in the Staynor group is slated for the Queen's rink at two o'clock with the Aces and Corvettes battling it out.

A twin bill is scheduled for the Roslyn rink on Wednesday afternoon in the King George division, in one game Victorias will meet Grosvenors and in the other tilt the Belmonts will clash with the Boulevards.

A couple of games will also be played in the Western division at the St. Leo's rink.

Putters Hold Monday Meet

The Westmount Putters Social Club renewed their activities last Monday night at Victoria Hall. The group did not meet during the holiday period but are now back in action.

Chairman James Cameron has announced that this Monday's meeting will be another one of the "refreshments" evenings. These are held once every month and are particularly popular as the evening's social activities are rounded off by the serving of refreshments.

The group is still looking for new members and all persons who used the putting greens in Westmount and King George Parks are tendered a cordial welcome. All the members are getting ready for a busy season on the greens and the mild weather in vogue last week had many of them cleaning off their putters and getting the kinks out of their arms.

In an effort to sharpen up their eyes, the group are going to try out darts one of these nights. It is also hoped to obtain some putting discs for indoor play so that members may get in some early season practice.

Intermediate Games Cancelled Here

Mild weather forced the cancellation of the opening games in the intermediate section of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League. President Artie Mann, however, has four games lined up for this week. On Tuesday night the twin bill at Westmount Park will see the Legion "Reds" take on Bert Dalzell's Royals in the initial contest while the Legion "Blues" and the Golden Eagles will do battle in the nightcap.

In Thursday's doubleheader Golden Eagles will meet Royals in the first game and the two Legion outfits will clash in the curfew fixture.

Red Raiders Top Lew Davies' Cagers 32-26

Westmount High's Senior A cagers will be out to redeem themselves next Wednesday afternoon when they play hosts to the reputedly powerful Montreal High quintet. The locals ended up on the short end of a 32-26 score when they made their season debut against West Hill in their own gym on Wednesday of this week.

Outfought until the dying moments of the encounter and frequently outplayed, Coach Lew Davies' boys still could have won the tussle if a bit of luck had come their way. Time and again their shots hit the centre of the basket and bounced out or else rolled around the rim and then fell out, seldom in.

The Red Raiders pulled the wraps off a big team—and one with plenty of substitutes of Senior A calibre. That's one thing that the Purple and White outfit lacked on Wednesday. Six men, Wolf Siemers, Pete Trueland, Bud Cochrane, John Field, Jim Henderson and Don Grant, played almost the entire game with the starting forward line of Trueland, Cochrane and Siemers coming in for particularly heavy duty.

The Cote St. Antoine Road aggregation leapt into a 2-0 lead shortly after the opening whistle when Cochrane put the leather through the hoop from close in but the visitors soon got that one back and play saw-sawed back and forth for the remainder of the quarter. At quarter time the Red and Grey led 6-5.

With Ken Roberts doing most of the sharp-shooting, the Gregg men increased their lead in the second stanza. The half time score was 14-10.

LOCALS TIRE

The Westmounters tired noticeably in the second half and the West Hillians took advantage of all the breaks that came their way to build up a big lead.

In the dying moments of the game the locals shook the lead from out of their feet and really came to life. For a while it looked as if they were on their way to a victory, and, if the game had lasted a couple of minutes longer, they might have snatched the two points. But the Davies' men started to play basketball too late and the end of the game saw the visitors ahead by six points—32-26.

Four players accounted for all of the losers' points. They were flashy Wolf Siemers and centre Bud Cochrane, who, incidentally, began his fourth consecutive year as captain of a Westmount High senior cage entry on Wednesday, with eight apiece, and guards Jim Henderson and John Field with five each.

High scorer of the game was West Hill's Ken Roberts who accounted for ten of his team's points. Close on his heels was Flumerfelt with seven.

LINE-UPS

Westmount: MacLeod, Trueland, Henderson (5), Siemers (8), Field (5), Blair, Fotheringham, Armstrong, Macfarlane, Cochrane (8), Grant.

West Hill: Raza (2), Egan, Flumerfelt (7), Rollo (4), Roberts (10), Lorimer (4), Burk, Wilson, Sambinelli (1), Edwards (4).

Referee: Joe Richman.

SIDELIGHTS

Ramon Orr and his new briar scenting the air with sweet aroma. . . . Hardworking Johnnie Roland looking for some assistants to help him with his student manager assignment of looking after the equipment problems of nine hockey teams. . . .

Mr. Cyril Durocher strolling along Sherbrooke street west with his pretty young daughter. . .

Leo, our building superintendent, laying down the law to a couple of 'teen age fire bugs for foolishly starting a fire in a vacant desk parked in the blue room. . .

George 'Offside' Mulligan spending a whole afternoon fumbling around with his most treasured possession, this year's hockey rule book. . . Terry O'Brien putting on a good imitation of burly Mike McMahon as he bows over all Pee Wee opposition on the Reds' defence.

Gerald Berry and Lorne Foy of the Juniors escorting a couple of misses to the Seville theatre and trying to make up their minds whether to go in or not. . . Guy Vidricaire sipping a milkshake and informing everyone within hearing distance not to forget to visit Quebec City if they get an opportunity. . . Terry Rogers, former all-around Academy athlete and a perfect personification of the spirit of St. Leo's, was around the other day for a skate on the school rink.

A few of our Junior hockey team no doubt are genuine athletes on the ice but there is something phoney about their activities off the ice as they conduct themselves along the lines of a small time big shot.

Red Norris is back again after spending a few days up in the Laurentians and is all aglow with the northern hospitality. . .

Our Senior B boys are continuing their winning ways and last weekend scored a double victory over Loyola's Senior B entry. The scores were 3 to 1 and 8 to 3. Moe Strachan was the individual scoring hero of the series, notching five goals in the two games. Dave Manning is also rounding into form and scored a picture goal in the first game that should rate him a good cigar.

The Juniors again edged out Loyola Juniors by the score of 1 to 0 with Lorne Fay slamming in the only goal of the game, which was played at Loyola Stadium. McGee were the guests of the Juniors Saturday morning at Lachine Arena and put up a good battle only to lose out 2 to 1. Lang Desjardins and Mickey Bourassa were the standouts for the home club.

The Westmount Bantam B League got underway last Friday and our Academites made a good start, coming up with a 12 to 0 over a weak Roslyn team. John Foy and Jimmy Cotter led the scoring parade with four goals each. Tom Brennan, recuperating from a back injury before he reports back to Boston Olympics, has been giving us a hand in handling the whistle at our Saturday morning games at Lachine Arena. Tommy is the lad who set a new scoring record in the American Amateur Hockey League last season and is also a former academy athlete of distinction.

Louis St. James has his Grey's team out in front in the Pee Wee League and is confident that they will remain there. He feels the worst that can happen them is to finish anything short of four games ahead of Vince Heney's second place Reds.

Tiny Hudson has been very secretive this week and there is very little news about his St. Leo's Orphan's Midget team. He reports that he has signed Jack Walsh

'Y' Juvenile Cagers Down Baptists 51-23

The juvenile cagers took the Westmount Baptist team "into camp" last Saturday afternoon in the "Y" House League when they defeated them by a score of 51 to 23 to assure themselves of first place in the league standing.

The Baptist players led by the scoring of C. Witman with five field goals in the first half, gave the juveniles real competition. At half time the score was 22 to 10 for the juveniles. During the second half the juvenile players showed their real form and skill and won the game.

The other scheduled league games were postponed due to sickness among the players.

and Jack should do all right with the Orphans.

The official opening of the Senior B League will take place this Saturday at Lachine Arena with Our Gang taking on Loyola. Loyola has four ex-St. Leo boys on its team in the persons of Johnnie Drury, Albert Simard, John O'Meara and Dave Bussiere. Johnnie Drury looks like a comer for the Collegians.

YMCA Juvenile Cagers Defeat St. Aloysius

When Westmount "Y" Juveniles defeated St. Aloysius last Thursday by the score of 50 to 11 they gained undisputed first place in the juvenile section of the Montreal Basketball League. The Westmount cagers have won all four of their games in the league.

The game with St. Aloysius was never very closely contested with the Westmount boys leading by the score of 26 to 9 at half time and gaining an additional lead of 22 points over their opponents in the second half.

Outstanding scorer of the game was Bob Putman of the Westmount squad with 11 field goals for a total of 22 points. His closest competitor was Jack Dudley with 10 points.

Westmount Juveniles will meet St. Willibrord tonight. This promises to be a closely contested game. A win for the Westmount Juveniles over St. Willibrord will assure them of a place in the M.B.L. playoff.

Unity Juveniles Down Tornados

Hank Henson's Unity team made an impressive debut in the juvenile section of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League last Thursday when they downed Tornados at the Staynor rink by a score of 7-1. At Westmount Park on the same night, Dougie Alexander's Golden Eagles, champions of the loop for the past few years, turned in a disappointing game as they were held to a 2-all draw by a fighting Monarch team.

These were the only two games played last week as the mild weather set in and postponed Monday night's twin bill at Westmount Park.

Ronnie Brambell led the Unity team scorers when they downed Tornados by tallying two goals. Other scorers were Fred Dejean, Earle MacDonald, Jack Gardner, Jim McCarthy and one of the Jack Martins. Hard-working Rene Chatelois saved Tornados from a shutout.

Goals by Harold Young and Maurice Strachan kept the Golden Eagles on even terms with the Monarchs. The Monarchs counters were scored by Bob Burris and Donald Wadsworth.

One juvenile game is slated to be played tonight at the Staynor rink with Monarchs visiting Richard Lord's Tornados. A twin bill will be staged at Westmount Park on Monday night, Unity and Golden Eagles will meet in the first game while Tornados and Monarchs will clash in the nightcap. On Wednesday night Monarchs and Golden Eagles will meet again at Westmount Park.

BUSES

Expected in 1945

NOT YET DELIVERED

During the War all buses were allotted by the Federal Transit Controller.

In January, 1945, forty 36-passenger buses were allocated to this Company.

We expected that they would be delivered to us in November last, but delivery has not yet been made.

On December 26th, 1945, we received the following telegram from the manufacturers:

"Re telegram greatly regret our inability to make delivery as expected stop Shortages in many essential commodities common to all makers of buses as a result of strikes has made it impossible to complete your valued order stop Unfortunately at this date we can give you no definite assurance as to date of delivery as it depends entirely on the time at which we can receive delivery of the necessary parts stop We assure you that immediately these are received your order will be rushed forward to you."

We sincerely regret the delay in the delivery of these buses as they would have greatly helped us to supply the demands of our still increasing number of passengers.

We assure our passengers we will do our utmost to obtain early delivery and in the meantime we will use our best efforts to provide service with our present fleet of 362 buses.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT HOLIDAY PROGRAM

The holidays have gone by and almost everyone had a wonderful time. I say almost because quite a number had the flu and that is no fun at all. Bob Beal was in and out of the building adding cheer whenever he appeared. Everybody likes Bob and looks forward to his appearance.

MOVIES

Our show goes on each Saturday afternoon at 1.30. Still necessary to come early to get a seat. Tomorrow's show will be "Pinto Bandit."

PENNY CARNIVAL

The Penny Carnival, the second edition, was held with great success on Friday, December 28, afternoon and evening. All the work and preparation made by the boys was amply repaid in fun and satisfaction. Besides merely putting on a show, the boys had a very worthwhile objective — to use the profits in support of the Y.M.C.A. World Service. Here it is good to recall that in August the first Carnival made it possible for the boys to donate $20 to the World Service Fund. This time they were able to donate $23 to this very important fund.

The Junior Leaders took charge of the booths: Team 1, Bob Gough; booths, soft drinks, Spin Wheel, Mouse Race, Penny Pitch, Crown and Anchor. Team 2, Tom Parrott; booths, Darts, Large Bean Bags, Small Bean Bags, Weight Guessing. Team 3, Ian Smith; booths, Basketball Throw, Baseball Pitch, Locks. Team 4, Peter Swift and Terry Seaman; booths, Movies, Nail Drive, Ring Board. Team 5, Tom Sparrow and Ron George; booths, Shooting Gallery, Photography.

Movies, Peter Swift, John and Angus Dorrance, Rifle range, Billy Nixon, Barry Martin, Michael McLearn, John Smith, Nail Drive, Norman Bedford, Photography, Don Scott, Ring Board, Paul Arnold, Morley Swan, Weight Guessing, John Renaud, Bryon Watson, Baseball Pitch, Gilbert Young.

Prizes were awarded to the boys in charge of the booth that had the most business in the afternoon and the booth that had the most business at night. The afternoon award went to Gilbert Young, who had charge of the Baseball Pitch. The evening award went to Alfred Clark, who had charge of the Small Bean Bag booth. Another prize was awarded Fred Russell for the best managed booth, the Lock booth.

One final word: The grown-ups who came had every bit as much fun as the boys and girls. Everybody, workers and visitors, had a grand time.

WORLD SERVICE FUND

The Boys' Department of Westmount Y.M.C.A. set out to raise $50 towards this fund for the year ending December 31, 1945. They have done so well that that amount has been doubled.

Donated by: 1945 Vacation Club, $20; December Penny Carnival, $22.75; sale of Christmas cards, $23.25; Jamboree—Boys Hi-Y, $26; Boys' Hi-Y Club, $10; Grand total, $102.

BRIEFS

Following a holiday season when members spent many enjoyable hours at the holiday feast tables, celebrating a year of victory and rejoicing at New Year's celebrations (when not escaping from the 'flu), our Health Club activities at Westmount are receiving more attention than ever. Perhaps it was the relaxation over the holidays, or the additional weight added as a result of several festive banquets, but whatever the reason, we are happy to welcome back all old members, and many new ones, with the opening up of our Health Club this week.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB

Handball is still the most important game with club members. A Round Robin tournament is planned for the third week in January. Now is the time to get into condition for the tournament. A calisthenic period of health promoting exercises led by George Barker, the physical director, is held at 5.40 p.m. during every club session. Miss Davidson supplies the musical accompaniment.

VOLLEYBALL

The Business Men's Volleyball Club meeting on Tuesday last enjoyed a session with many good games. If you cannot make the five o'clock Health Club meetings, plan to attend the evening Health Club sessions at 8.30 p.m. every Tuesday.

YOUNG MEN'S GYM

Health Club sessions for young men started the winter session with an enthusiastic group of members. Classes are held Tuesday and Friday evenings at 7 p.m. The physical director leads the classes, which consist of calisthenics, gymnastics and games. A young men's basketball team from this club, playing in the House Basketball League, is standing in second place. Most of the members are returned fellows, so you will be welcomed to this group.

BOXING

We are happy to announce that Mr. Bert Light will be coaching the Boxing Club during the winter season. Bert is well known among Westmount members and in boxing circles in Montreal and Canada. Bantam Section Gets Underway Last Friday Eve

The "A" and "B" divisions of the bantam section in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League got underway last Friday night. In the sole "A" game played, Panthers upset Golden Eagles 4-2. The "B" games resulted in a win for the Academics and a split decision for the Red Hawks and Royals: The St. Leo's Academics swamped Roslyn 12-0 while Red Hawks and Royals battled to a 1-all tie.

Dave Ross' Panthers displayed a smart second half effort to down Golden Eagles 4-2. Behind 2-1 at the halfway mark the winners staged a comeback to win going away. Carl Burton and Bob Forrest split the scoring honours for the winners with Forrest getting assists on Burton's goals as well. Farrell Hyde and David Cox scored for the losers.

Ian MacLeay's first half goal gave the Red Hawks an early lead but a second half counter by Dave Mackie evened things up as the Red Hawks and Royals played their 1-all draw.

Five goals by Jim Cotter paced Academics to their 12-0 win over the Roslyns. Other scorers were Hughie MacDonald and John O'Reilly, two each, with Herbie Gullfoyle, J. Gray and Tommie Rogers adding one apiece.

Eight more bantam games are slated for tonight and tomorrow afternoon. In the "A" games, Panthers will visit Staynor to play Tornados tonight while Golden Eagles and St. Leo's will meet at Westmount Park. Both of tomorrow's games will be at Westmount Park, Tornados and St. Leo's will clash at 2 o'clock with Panthers meeting Golden Eagles one hour later.

Roslyn News

By Kent Clegg and Richard Freedman

Room 18 has collected $4 in the month of December for the Red Cross. They are also resuming public speaking this week. This feature was carried on every week before the holidays and will probably carry on until the end of the school year.

In Room 16 one of the highest amounts of money for passing around the Red Cross box alone was raised. A total of $25 has been received up to now.

Room 21 received the most money by far for the Junior Red Cross calendars. They sold 100 more calendars, that is, $10 worth more than any other class in the school.

The total amount of money from the Red Cross calendars was $217 or 2,170 calendars sold by the school.

There are five MacDonald students visiting the school for practice in teaching, namely, Miss N. Teff, Miss C. Asner, Miss M. Pratt, Miss M. Swaine and Miss S. Lapointe.

Teacher's Poems Tickle Omegas

The Alpha Omega Society of St. Andrew's United Church, Westmount, successfully brought in the year 1946 last Sunday evening when they heard Parker Waring, of Westmount Senior High School, who for 45 minutes presented his extensive collection of poetry, both serious and hilarious.

Among the poems were many of Mr. Waring's own compositions, including, "The Origin of Woman," "Burping the Baby," "Socks" and "I Love You." He was introduced by Walter Mingle and thanked by Tommy Earle. The meeting closed with refreshments served by the social conveners.

This Sunday the meeting will take the form of a discussion on the popular topic "Should We Allow Fraternities?" Group B with Margaret Turner Bone, Joan Savage, Tom Pavlasek and Alan Brown are in charge of the evening. The young people will divide into two groups to discuss this all-important subject and much argument and debating is expected. All young people are very cordially invited to attend.

All members are asked to keep in mind the forthcoming meeting when we are to hear Mr. Terrence O'Dell, of radio fame. This meet-

Only Two Midget Tilts Last Week

Only two midget games in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League were played last week. Golden Eagles swamped Tornados 10-0 in an "A" division tilt while Monarchs downed Argos 8-2 in a "B" encounter.

The forward line of Bob Lunny, Al Losito and Mickey Bourassa impressed as they rung up a total of 17 points in the Golden Eagles-Tornados game. Lunny led the scorers with 5 goals while Losito, Bourassa, Herbert Lafontaine, Jack Gill and Johnny Waterson got one apiece.

The Monarchs came from behind to crush Argos 8-2. The losers scored the first goal of the game but weakened in the second and third periods. Bob Gough notched three goals to lead the winners while Pete Clarke kicked in with two more. Single goals were tallied by Bruce Thomson, Norman Lupovich and Keith Laidley. The losers' goals were scored by D. Hardy and Robin Upton. Paul Almond, one of the best players on the ice, picked up an assist for the Argos.

An interlocking game is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at Westmount Park with Golden Eagles of the "A" division clashing with Monarchs from the "B" group. A doubleheader is slated for Westmount Park on Monday night, in the first game, a "B" fixture, Argos and Monarchs will battle it out while Tornados and Golden Eagles will play in the second half of the twin bill. Two more games will be played on Wednesday night, at Westmount Park the St. Leo's Orphans will meet the Argos at 7 o'clock. Down at the Staynor rink, Golden Eagles and Tornados will clash in another "A" division tilt.

ing has been planned as a highlight event to which large numbers are expected. Further details will be given later.

Lawn Bowler Quits C.N.R.

Nearly half a century of railway service is the record set up by John Jesse, 2337 Grand Blvd., ex-tax investigator for the C.N.R., who retired recently.

Mr. Jesse has been a member of the Westmount Lawn Bowling Club for 18 years. In 1939, he won the Quebec Lawn Bowling Association doubles championship in partnership with the well-known international bowler and curler, William Brown. The following year, with another partner, he became doubles champion of the Province again.

Born in Dublin, Ireland, Mr. Jesse was educated in public schools and business college and, after he came to Canada, took an arts course at Queen's University, Kingston. His first job, in 1896, was with the Irish Railway Clearing House, where he remained until 1912, when he came to Canada and entered the auditor of freight receipts office of the Grand Trunk Railway as a clerk.

In 1921 he moved to Toronto in the same office of the Canadian Northern Railway and when it became part of the Canadian National Railways System in 1923 he returned to Montreal. When the office for the planning of the new Montreal Terminal Development was set up in 1929, he became associated with it. Mr. Jesse was appointed tax investigator in 1934.
