GREAT BRITAIN.

THE REPORTED CHANGE OF MINISTRY.

The Morning Chronicle asserts that it is in possession of many anecdotes with reference to the Secret History of the present session of Parliament, which, for the present it withholds from its readers—but that there is one connected with the cushioning of Lord Lyndhurst's Equity Bill, which it cannot consent to suppress, even for a time.

It may tend to console the readers of the Morning Chronicle, under the disappointment which this delay in the publication of other anecdotes must, no doubt, occasion, if we enable them to judge of the credibility of that one anecdote, which is, no doubt, the most important, and the best authenticated of all those of which the Morning Chronicle is in possession.

The statement of the Morning Chronicle, with respect to the postponement of the Equity Bill, is to this effect:—That the Lord Chancellor was not consulted in regard to the postponement—that an estrangement and cessation of intercourse consequently took place between the Lord Chancellor and other personages who were concerned in the postponement—that great personal exertion on the part of some nameless but very intelligent individual was necessary, in order to re-establish any thing like cordiality.

Our answer to the whole of this shall be very brief, but very decisive:—

There is not one word of truth in any part of the statement.

Equally false are the reports which are daily and industriously circulated about the differences in the Cabinet, and the retirement of Members of the Government. Once for all, we caution our readers and the public against attaching the slightest credit to these reports. They are the artifices of a disappointed party, who now openly avow that, as all their efforts to injure or weaken the Government have signally failed, and have tended only the more clearly to prove its strength, their future policy will be confined to the propagation of false rumours, in the hope they may disturb the public mind by "the fear of change."—Courier June 16th.

His Majesty attended Ascot Heath Races on the 15th June, the Courier of the 16th says, that he was evidently in firm health and excellent spirits. His Majesty's mare Maria won a match against Lord Sefton's Souvenir, amidst the acclamations of the spectators.

The British Catholic Association.—This body has had a meeting in order to effect its formal dissolution, that the members might mingle in the mass of their fellow subjects with out those isolating distinctions which they think were forced upon them by the peculiarity of their case. So far this is well; and if any good is likely to be effected by the relief bill, it must operate in this way, and the Catholics must learn to think and act, in all public matters, not as Catholics, but as citizens. In Ireland, the progress to this state of things is not so rapid as might be wished. The old dissocializing feeling appears there to be more inveterate, and more reluctant to expand itself into new and unaccustomed courses. The English association has, however, set the Irish Catholics an example which may have some influence. We should have liked the proceeding better if on one point it had been more decided. To a motion of thanks to Mr. O'Connell Lord Stourton objected, and considerable warmth on both sides was excited. This motion was at last only carried by the mover consenting to put Mr. O'Connell's name into a general vote of thanks to those who, by their exertions, had forwarded the Catholic claim; and thus, perhaps the English Catholics have saved themselves from the imputation of being the partisans of the Irish agitator. It must be confessed, that the part which they had to perform had been, by circumstance, cast for them with some accompanying difficulties. They had committed themselves very much previously to the demagogues of Ireland, for the sake of keeping hold of their services in carrying the Catholic bill; and for their exertions in that particular respect, they seem to have been bound to thank them, and to mark Mr. O'Connell as the chief. On the other hand, the majority of the English Catholics have, probably, no sympathy with him and many others of his conductors, in their political sentiments, and especially in their radical and revolutionary appetencies. Two courses were before them—to thank Mr. O'Connell in particular, but to confine their thanks to one branch of his conduct, disclaiming all sanction of his opinions on other subjects; the other was that they have adopted, to generalize the vote of thanks, so as to leave it to be inferred that they were not to be identified with his views on other topics, any more than with those of many others included in the motion. The former would have been more satisfactory; but the latter is worth something.

This disavowal of Mr. O'Connell's opinions and projects by the more moderate portion of the Catholics was the rather imperative, because of that distinct avowal which he has made of his design to use his utmost efforts to effect the restoration of the elective franchise to the forty shillings freeholders; and still more, because in the late aggregate meeting in Dublin he almost as distinctly avowed his resolution to stir the question of a separate Parliament for Ireland, and the repeal of the Union, sentiments which were received with enthusiastic applause by that meeting. Now one argument of the opponents of the relief bill has always been that it would not satisfy, and therefore, that it would not pacify Ireland. To this objection it has been replied, by those of the Catholics who have been reckoned among the most respectable and the most moderate, that it would fully satisfy them. Now then, was the time to show this; to disavow those ulterior objects which the agitators avow, and the men who mischievously moot them, and attempt to call up again that excitement which we were told was to be for ever allayed. The British Association neglected to do this fully and explicitly. They showed some virtue on the occasion, but it was half fledged, and fell to the ground in its first attempts to fly. If they recover themselves well; and if the body of the respectable Catholics in England and in Ireland are really satisfied with the relief bill, we may expect something more decisive from them on these points; but if not, the prospect is not very flattering to the promoters of the bill, and the battle is still to fight, although the time is a little delayed.—Liverpool Courier 17th June.

We did hope that we should have had none but accounts from Ireland of a gratifying and pacific nature—that we should have been able to have said to those who were most hostile to the Relief Bill, that it had softened, if not removed, party feelings and animosities—that it had put an end to religious differences, and instilled into Protestant and Papist a desire to live in future in harmony and concord. This was promised on the part of the Catholics, whose demeanour and bearing, after being emancipated, were to be so kind, and gentle, and constitutional, as to make the Protestants regret that the boon had been withheld so long. The claim has been conceded, the promise remains unfulfilled—and they who told us that in getting Emancipation they had obtained every thing, now declare they have obtained only a preliminary! A mental reservation was scouted as affronting to the sincerity and openness of the Catholics—they had nothing to ask for more. The door of the Constitution had been opened wide to them—they were not fettered by any demand of guarantees—every thing was granted with a large and liberal hand—and Ireland might in future be governed without the presence of a troop of horse. But now, it seems, that the Catholic Relief Bill has been only accepted as a preliminary—that it is viewed as a measure, the benefit of which has been destroyed by the Disfranchisement Bill. Yet, at the time that Bill was in progress it was distinctly understood that it was not opposed by the Catholics, because such opposition might affect the larger and more important measure of the Catholic Relief Bill. The Catholic Relief Bill is now part of the law of the land, & the agitators have already designated it as "a mask to cover a new species of slavery." And what are they to attempt now! Nothing less than a repeal of the Union, and the re-stitution of the Irish Parliament. The immediate formation of an Anti-Union society has been recommended, and agitation is again to be the order of the day.

But we would fain suggest a word or two of advice to the agitators, and a word or two of caution to the multitude, whom we would save from becoming the victims of demagogues. The game of agitation cannot be played with such safety as it could before the Relief and other Bills were passed. What was demanded has been granted. There can be no more concessions—associations for anti union can no longer be held; money can no longer be levied from the people under the denomination of rent. Every attempt to disturb the public must and will be put down at once. Let the people bear this well in mind.

His Majesty's Ministers indulge the belief that the measure of grace which the Parliament has granted will be followed by such a state of quiet, order, and submission to the laws, as will enable his Majesty's Government to direct its undivided attention to all the means by which the comfort and welfare of the Irish people can be promoted. But unless such a state of quiet, order, and submission, be established, no such means can be adopted.—Courier, 16th June

IRELAND.

STATE OF CRIME IN IRELAND.

There was distributed yesterday a statement of the number of persons committed for criminal offences in Ireland during the last seven years, with the number of convictions, acquittals, no bills, &c. and the sentences and executions. It is curious that the year 1828—the great year of agitation as it is called—stands distinguished as being the lowest in the commitments of the whole seven years. The number of commitments, however, even for 1828, is very great—14,689. The number of seven years is 112,658, averaging 16,119 a year. The convictions for the whole seven years are 62,512, somewhat less than one-half; but there is an evident improvement towards the last years—the convictions for 1828 being 9,262. A comparison between the crimes of two countries so differently circumstanced as Ireland and England, might be both curious and instructive. One distinction immediately suggests itself, the excessive number of crimes of violence. The commitments for murder during the seven years, amount to 2,500; for manslaughter, to 653. The convictions for murder are 429; for manslaughter 543. The acquittals for murder are 1,083; for manslaughter 1,54. The no bills and not prosecuted, for murder, are 1,078; for manslaughter, 56. The commitments for rape are 1,497; the convictions only 71. The no bills and no prosecutions for rape amount to the enormous number of 1,116; from which we may infer that the prosecution has effected in most cases a marriage. Some offences of frequent occurrence in England seem to be, on the other hand, unknown in Ireland. There is no proportion between the population and commitments of the different counties. Thus, for instance, the flourishing counties of Down, Antrim, and Derry, with a population of 793,303, have 961 commitments in 1828; while the county of Kerry, with a population of only 205,037, has 944; greatly beyond all the commitments of Scotland.

Sligo, with a population of 127,879, has 402; while Wicklow, with a population of 169,305, has only 103. Thus Connaught, the wildest part of Ireland, with a population of 856,380 has 1,696 commitments for 1828. Ducting Dublin County and City, with a population of 316,550, and 2,375 commitments, Connaught is considerably above the average of Ireland—including them, it has one eighth of the population and one eighth of the commitments. In Wales and the Highlands of Scotland, and the mountainous districts of the North of England and South of Scotland, there are hardly any commitments. There must be excessive distress in the county of Kerry, to account for no fewer than 3,983 commitments in seven years, out of a population of 205,000. But the commitments in a country like Ireland give a very faint idea of the state of disorder. In the county of Down, which approximates, perhaps, the most to an English county the commitments may bear a considerable proportion to the crimes; but in the less cultivated parts of the county, who dare to give his testimony in the most cases? It cannot be too often inculcated that security must precede accumulation and the embarkation of capital. There seems to be almost an impunity for certain crimes, and while this is the case there can be no security. Arson is one of the crimes which it is most necessary to put down, and out of 486 commitments there were only 60 convictions.—Abduction, another dreadful crime, is no better. Out of 361 commitments there are only 68 convictions.—Cattle stealing, too, seems to enjoy nearly impunity.—Morning Chron.

Parliamentary Paper.—The following is an account of the number of freemen in several corporate towns in Ireland, as far as can be ascertained:—Cashel, 25; Cork, 1,700; Kilkenny (not ascertained with precision, but the number is between 200 and 300); Limerick, 1,330; Londonderry, 650; Waterford, 1,508; borough of Athlone, 71; Carrickfergus, 893; Drogheda, 581; borough of Dundalk, 33; Enniskillen, 30; Kinsale, 66; borough of Portlinton, 15; town of Ross, 32; Sligo, 98; Tralee, 16; Wexford, 102; Youghal, 207.

Soil of Ireland.—The following is the territorial surface of Ireland, according to a return made to Parliament. Arable land, garden, meadows, pastures, and marshes, 12,125,280 acres; uncultivated land, and bogs capable of improvement 4,300,000 acres; surface incapable of any kind of improvement, 2,416,664 acres.—Total, 19,441,944 acres.

FOREIGN.

THE RUSSIAN NAVY.—One of the most striking and gigantic buildings in St. Petersburg is the Admiralty. The principal front on the land side is considerably more than one-third of an English mile in length, and its wings, in depth, extend six hundred and seventy-two feet, down to the edge of the Neva, this noble river forming the fourth side of the quadrangle. Within the three sides (the Neva and two wings) a range of parallel buildings, which form the magazines, artificers' shops, mast and boat houses, offices, &c.; and in the area within these are four slips for building the largest, and two for a smaller class of ships of war. The whole of the outer range of buildings consists of grand suites of rooms, and long and beautifully ornamented galleries, filled with the natural history and curiosities collected in every part of the globe, and brought by the different navigators which Russia, of late years, has sent forth on discovery. In one room are assembled all the different nautical and mathematical instruments; in another all the models of ships of different nations and different eras; in another a complete library connected with every branch of the marine service.—Gravelle's Travels.

(From the Gazette de France.)

PARIS, June 17.—We had said that Admiral Heyden had, by an official declaration, confirmed the extension given to the blockade of the Dardanelles by Admiral Ricord; the Gulfs of Paros, Enos, Lagos, Cavale, and Contessa, had been prohibited to the merchants.

This resolution has excited consternation in the merchants of all Europe, and gave reason to fear a collision between England and Russia.

We have received a letter from Vienna which says—“The Austrian Government has received the news that the Emperor Nicholas has declared that it was his intention that his fleet should confine itself to the blockade of the Dardanelles. The couriers who are the bearers of the news left Warsaw on the 3d June.”

Marquis Maison embarked on board the Dido on the 30th May, intending to sail immediately to Malta, where he will complete his quarantine. It was reported at Navarino that he delayed his departure only to know the result of the meeting of the Greek Deputies. Colonel Fabvier has also embarked on board the Dido, from which it might be inferred that he will return to France with the Commander in Chief.

The Fleur de Lis frigate has conveyed to Napoli di Romania 80 non-commissioned Officers, selecting from the regiments which are in the Morea. These officers are to be employed as instructors in the Greek Infantry.

PARIS, June 16.—The Emperor of Brazil has nominated a Council of Regency for his daughter till the time of her majority. This Council is composed of the Marquis Palmella, the Marquis de Valence, and M. Guerreiro, Ancient Minister of Justice under the Cortes. The Queen of Portugal, Donna Maria da Gloria proceeds immediately to Terceira, with her Council, where she will remain till such time as circumstances enable her to enter her kingdom.

HALIFAX July 29.

The Honorable and Right Reverend Dr. Stewart, the Lord Bishop of Quebec, arrived on Monday last in the Kingfisher. His Lordship has been requested to preach in aid of the Halifax District Committee, of the Society for promoting Christian Knowledge, and has kindly engaged to occupy the pulpit of St. Paul's Church on Sunday morning next.

BERMUDA.—We have Bermuda Gazettes to the 14th ult. The Hon. Robert Kennedy, one of His Majesty's Council, and Secretary of the Province, has been sworn in as Acting Governor and Commander in Chief, during the absence of Sir Hilgrove Turner.

The Americans, who are always endeavouring to render their shipping superior to that of any other nation, have at present a new and, we think, an improved manner of building the fore, main, and mizen chains. It is well known to our readers that in English men of war and in merchant ships the dead-eyes, to which the shrouds are fastened, sometimes project as far as six feet from the ship's side, and consequently if the ship ran foul of any thing, the fore and main chains were sure to be instantly torn away. Such a thing happening at sea would occasion very great inconvenience, and might by probability, cause the loss of the vessel, as in a gale of wind the masts would lose all the solidity they acquire from the shrouds, &c. Now the Americans obviate the danger of the chains being carried away, by simply having, instead of the enormous piece of plank at the sides of English vessels, merely a piece about four or five inches wide, which, with the dead-eyes, about two inches wider, would make the whole distance of the chains from the ship's side not above seven or eight inches; and in running foul, provided the bow would go clear, the chains would be sure to do so.—Nova Scotia Royal Gazette.

QUEBEC:

THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1829.

The latest dates from ENGLAND, are to the 22d June, taken from a LIVERPOOL paper of that date, brought by the Bark Lee, Captain CANNON. There is nothing of more interest than was before known.

The motions of the RUSSIANS are so tardy, and the mystery so thick, in which the politics of the Belligerents are at present enveloped, that it is impossible to speak with any certainty respecting the affairs of the EAST. Lord ABERDEEN has declared in the HOUSE OF LORDS, that “it was impossible not to see that any great change

“in the situation of TURKEY would seriously affect the balance of power in EUROPE. Further than this, that the British Government was not indifferent to the preservation of that balance, His Lordship could not be prepared to say.”

LATEST NEWS.

The Courier of the 18th mentions that a letter had been received from Malta of the 23d April, which stated that Sir P. Malcolm sailed with his squadron on the 16th.

The same paper says, we are enabled confidently to state that the Government has received official notice that the Emperor of Russia has ordered the blockade of the Gulphs of Enos, Contessa, and Adramitti, as recently established by the Russian Admiral, to be raised; and that the operations of the blockading forces of his Imperial Majesty in the Mediterranean are to be limited to the Dardanelles, including the Gulph of Saros.

Some important diplomatic documents were received in London the morning of the 18th, by the Flanders Mail, relative to the Protocol of March, 1829, and the proposition to be made by the French and British Ambassadors on their arrival at Constantinople respecting Greece.—The new state proposed, it appears, is to comprise, on the Continent all the Territory south of a line to be drawn from the Gulph of Volo to the Gulph of Ambracia or Arta (the Snus Ambracius of the ancients.) Negropont and the Cyclades are also form part of the new Territory, which will thus be powerful and extensive. An annual tribute is to be paid to the Porte, which is to have nominal supremacy. The Government is to be monarchical and hereditary in the family raised to the Supreme Power.—The first Christian Prince is to be chosen by the three Powers, but he is not to be a member of the reigning families of Russia, France, or Great Britain.

The battle of Pravadi, is said to have been to the advantage of the Turks. Advices from the frontiers of Servia, to the 29th May, mention that though the Grand Vizier, after the battle, retreated to Chomla, he was about to march with 40,000 men to Silistria to release that fortress, which is reported to have 16,000 inhabitants, and a garrison of 12,000 men. Hussein Pacha, who commanded at Rudschuk had received orders to join part of his troops, and the garrison of Tourtoukai, and also to march towards Silistria, in order to cover the Grand Vizier's flank on the attack. The Russians are said to have 25,000 men before Silistria. The Congreve rockets which have been used with so much success in all armies in which they have been employed, have now been introduced by an Englishman to the Turks, who expect that they will prove very serviceable against the cavalry in the broken and unequal ground of the Balkan. The Pacha of Belgrade, who is charged to watch over Servia, takes energetic measures to prevent any disorder; he has intimated to the Servian Chiefs that he shall hold them responsible for any troubles that may arise. It is reported that some Servians carry on a great correspondence with the Russian commanders, and give them detailed information of the state of the country.

An application was made to the Court of King's Bench, on the 19th, by the Attorney General, on behalf of the Lord High Chancellor of England for “a rule to shew cause, why a criminal information should not be filed against the printer, publisher, and proprietor, of the Morning Journal,” for a libel on his Lordship.—The nature of the offence is not stated.

The Courier of the 19th says—we understand that Lord Castlereagh (son of the Marquess of Londonderry) is to succeed Lord Brecknock, who retires on account of ill health, as one of the Lords of the Admiralty. Lord Castlereagh is said to be a young nobleman of great promise.

The Cambridge University election has terminated in the success of Mr. Cavendish by a majority of 147 votes, over Mr. Banks.

The London Times of the 20th, states, as evidence that the British Ministry can overpower the “puny insolence” of Don Miguel, whenever it is deemed expedient and legal to interfere, that the Foreign Secretary has insisted on and procured from Miguel's Government, the annulment of the sentence of Mr. Noble, and permission to return to his occupations at Oporto, without fear of African exile.

Advices from Lisbon are to the 6th June, and from Oporto to the 31st May. At Oporto it was believed that other persons would be brought to trial; and both there and at Lisbon fresh executions were expected.

A dreadful affray took place on Carrick-on-Suir, on the 8th June, in consequence of a dispute between detachments of the 65th and 76th regiments, about O'Connell and religion. The townspeople joined in the affray.—The 76th being worsted, fired, and killed two men and one woman. The Rev. Standish Grady, a magistrate, who was riding into the town full speed, to check the riot, on turning a street, came in contact with a mounted policeman. Both horses fell; Mr. Grady's back was broken, and he died shortly afterwards.

There was no doubt Mr. O'Connell would be elected to a seat in Parliament.

A letter from Rome, May 30, says—“The almost daily recurring shocks of earthquake have filled the inhabitants of Monte Albano with consternation. It was reported that an eruption of the Monte Cavo, between the lake of Nemi and that of Castel Gandolfo, was to be apprehended if between two old craters which form these lakes a new one should be formed, Albano, Aricia, Genzano and Nemi would be in danger of destruction. The government has sent some eminent naturalists to the spot to examine into the matter, who have not yet returned. It is said that the water in the two lakes has suddenly fallen fifteen feet, and that the trees in the forest wither and begin to smoke in various places; all which are symptoms of an approaching eruption.”

The Mercantile Courier of Cadiz publishes an official notice to warn merchant ships to sail with precaution, because the Moors are fitting out six corsairs at Oran.

LIVERPOOL, June 20.

State of Trade in Manchester.—There has been no material alteration in the state of the cotton trade during the last fortnight. The demand for low yarns, particularly water twist for exportation, continues good, and the prices steady; but we have not heard of any advance being obtained. There is also a demand for low printing cloth, and other articles for foreign markets; but the country trade is as inactive and as unprofitable as we remember ever to have seen it.—Herald.

State of Trade in Yorkshire.—The manufactures of Yorkshire still continue depressed. The woollen cloth trade is heavy, and the demand unequal to the supply.—The worsted stuff, the linen, and the fancy trades, are also depressed, and amongst the wholesale and retail dealers, in every branch of business, loud complaints are made, not so much of the want of the circulating medium, as the want of returns to draw money into profitable circulation from the masses into which it at present stagnates. As much cloth is made and sold as usual, but it does not produce, either to workmen or the manufacturers, as much profit as formerly, while the taxes remain undiminished and food, particularly bread, is considerably higher at present than it was last year. A good harvest would, doubtless, very much improve all the great interests of the country, manufacturing, agricultural, and financial, while a bad one would produce a pressure almost insupportable.—Leeds Mercury.

LONDON, June 22d.

A discussion of some interest took place in the House of Lords, on the production of papers previously moved for, relative to the affairs of Portugal. The Marquess of Clanricarde said, in opening the discussion, that he had heard with horror that instructions had been given to the Ambassador in Brazil to bring about the marriage of the young Queen of Portugal with the usurper of her throne, and the murderer of her faithful subjects. The Earl of Aberdeen said, in reply, that the British government would make no proposal of this sort but with the full consent of the young queen's father—that the union had been destined to take place from the very birth of the princess, by the consent of her father and grandfather—that it was not a British proposal, and if the father of Donna Maria refused his consent, the British government would have nothing to do with it. The Duke of Wellington, on the same point, said that the government certainly felt anxious to reconcile the difference between the contending branches of the House of Braganza, and they saw no other chance of effecting that except by compromising the right of possession, as admitted by the whole of Europe, and the rights of succession to the throne of Portugal. They, however, should not urge this arrangement, if any objection were made by the father of the queen.

The last accounts from England, state that the weather continued favorable for the coming harvest.

We are glad that the Editor of the Montreal Herald has felt so severely the general impression against his conduct to Archdeacon STRACHAN, that he has delivered himself of an elaborate but weak vindication, in reply to the Kingston Chronicle and ourselves.

In his desire to vindicate himself we see some symptoms of future amendment. His attack on the contemporary of Dr. STRACHAN, who discharges his duties in this Province was produced by the statement of the following fact, which we give in the words of the Montreal Gazette.

"We deem it but justice to the Venerable Archdeacon Strachan, to state, that to that Reverend gentleman the Province is greatly indebted for Mr. Gill College, as to his suggestions on this subject, his friend and relative the late Mr. McGill, lent a ready and willing ear, and was induced to frame the bequest, which is now about to be employed according to the intentions of its donor. To that gentleman, we understand, is also due the very liberal arrangement which was announced by the Principal with regard to the total absence of any tests for the admission of Professors or Students."

Such is the liberality at which the Montreal Herald thought proper to sneer. From this specimen, we are inclined to believe, that if he has not yet molested the head of our Church Establishment in this Province, it was not for lack of will, but lack of matter for molestation:—

Manet immortale odium, et non sanabile vulnus.

The Transport Neva, Lieut. Adams, R. N. agent, arrived yesterday with detachments. The following officers were on board, viz: Major GRIERSON, Ensign PINDER 15th Regiment, Captain WINGFIELD, Ensign HEALEY, 66th.—Lieut. naut BLOOD, 68th.—Ensigns BERESFORD and AUSTEN, Assistant Surgeon FERGUSON, 71st.—Captain FORBES, 79th.—Mrs. Major GRIERSON and family have also arrived in the Neva.

The public are cautioned against counterfeit sixpences, which are passed upon unsuspecting persons, particularly Emigrants. They are merely cut out of tin, and therefore very badly executed. It is only against strangers that the deception may succeed.

The John Porter is expected to sail to-morrow morning for Dublin, on her third voyage.

JOHN D'ESTIMAUVILLE, Esquire, was on Saturday last elected ROAD TREASURER, in the room of Mr. BAILLARGE' resigned from old age.

Mr. DE CAMP opened his second summer campaign on Monday evening. He has procured for the QUEBEC public a treat they have long been anxious for, namely, a good Corps de Ballet; and we most sincerely hope he may find his efforts to please meet with corresponding patronage on the part of the public. It may be safely said, that out of LONDON or PARIS more excellent artists could not well be found. Mesdemoiselles RAVENOT and D'ESTELLE are all symmetry, grace and archness, while the little VIRGINIA delights us with her juvenile execution of the most difficult steps. M. BENOIX is an admirable danseur, light, graceful, and correct. M. FELTMAN is the Buff dancer, and excels particularly in the Italian extravaganzas of Polichinello, in which he equals the celebrated MAZURER, so popular on the French and English stages. The Ballets have been extremely well got up, and were received with the most marked approbation and applause.

Last evening the Tragedy of Douglas was performed in a very creditable manner, in order to introduce Mr. SHADGETT to the QUEBEC public. It would be premature to pronounce on this gentleman's histrionic talent from one exhibition; but he seems to possess several good points, which riper experience will afterwards teach him to use with effect and advantage. Lady Randolph was correctly and feelingly played by Mrs. HATCH, who was frequently loudly applauded. After the tragedy a Poetical Address containing some happy allusions to the Races, was spoken by Mr. ESSEDER, in the character of a jockey. It was written by a gentleman of this city, very friendly to the nine.

The Parisian dancers perform this evening, and but once more.

THE RACES.

The QUEBEC SUBSCRIPTION RACES for 1829 commenced on Tuesday last the 11th inst. The weather was fine, and notwithstanding the very heavy rain of the two preceding days, the Course was in the finest order. Every endeavor had been made by the Stewards to preserve regularity, and to conduct the business throughout in a correct and sportsmanlike manner. We are sure that we speak the sense of the subscribers and the public, when we bear testimony to the indefatigable exertions of these gentlemen.

Under these propitious circumstances, we are truly sorry to say, the sport was but indifferent, during the two first days. Various reasons combined to cause disappointment, none of which are in any way attributable to the stewards, but to accidents which govern the sports of the field, as they do other human operations. It may be, that some want of spirit is chargeable on the owners of horses, generally, and it really deserves consideration, whether these Races will not die a natural death, unless a greater degree of sporting character is evinced next year. Should it be so, it will not arise from any want of public subscriptions, they having been this year liberal beyond former example; but from a shyness on the part of proprietors, which it seems difficult to account for on sporting principles.

The First Race, from which great sport was anticipated, and by which the greatest interest was excited, came off as follows:—

THE MERCHANTS PURSE, Of Fifty Sovereigns.

Entrance £10 h. f. from Marchmont fence, and twice round the course. Heats 2 miles and $\frac{1}{2}$.

Mr. Gibb's b. h. Filho , 6 years old, tartan and yellow, blk. cap.	1 1
Mr. Kauntz's ch. h. Sir Walter , aged, scarlet and yellow cap.	2 2
Captain Gage's brn. g. Cricketer , (late Snap,) aged, green and blk. cap.	3 dr.

Went easy by Filho.
The unexpected failure in Sir Walter's running annihilated all interest in this Race; and unless we are deceived, must have caused a melancholy opening of pocket books on the part of our MONTREAL visitors. Notwithstanding the triumph of the QUEBEC horse, which bids fair to keep the lead in these Provinces, we cannot help regretting the defeat of our old friend Sir Walter. As a Sire, he ought, certainly, to be considered of the same standing was before; for where is there a knowing man on the turf, who would expect an aged horse, used for the stud during so many seasons, to keep his running against a fresh, and rising horse?

Non eadem est aetas, non mens.

Mr. KAUNTZ, knowing all this, brought down his horse to run over a strange course, in the most sporting manner; and too much praise cannot be given to that gentleman, although the experiment, on this occasion, was unsuccessful.

THE TRIAL STAKES Of Ten Dollars each.

To which the Stewards added 80 dollars—for all horses that had never won Stake, Purse or Sweepstakes, one mile heats.

Mr. Russell's ch. g. Half Pay , 5 yrs. old, Est. 12lb. blue and red cap.	1 1
Mr. Kauntz's b. c. Prospect , by Sir Walter, 4 yrs. old, 7st. 12lb. scarlet and yellow cap.	2 3
Mr. Kerr's g. g. Doctor , aged 9st. 7lb. pink and blue cap.	3 2
Mr. Sharpe's b. c. Sportsman , by Sir Walter, 4 yrs. old, 7st. 12lb. sky blue and red cap.	4 4
Mr. Stansfield's b. m. Lilly , 5 yrs. 8st. 12lb. tartan and yellow, black cap.

A good race between Half Pay and Doctor.
Lilly ran on the wrong side of the post and was distanced.
This was on the whole a clever and sporting race, particularly between Half Pay and Doctor, who looked after his patient very closely in the second heat. Had the Doctor got well away, however, on starting for the first heat, the result of the race might have been a still farther reduction to Half Pay.

QUEBEC PLATE Of seventy Dollars.

Two mile heats, weight for age. Entrance 10 dols.
Mr. Dewson's g. m. Lady of the Lake, 6 years old, 8 st. 10 lbs. sky blue. 1
Mr. Sharpe's br. m. Countess, 6 years old, by Cock of the Rock, out of Shelah, 8st. 10 lbs. blue and red cap. dis.
Mr. Snaith's b. h. Waterloo, 6 yrs. old, 8 st. 10lb. dis.
Countess bolted the first time round, and Waterloo bolted the second time round. Both distanced.

Of the QUEBEC PLATE we need only say, as appears above, that it was all one way, the Bank of ENGLAND to a China orange. A right good mare had to run away from two bolters; and the owner of the grey mare pocketed the Quebec Plate accordingly.

SECOND DAY.

The Sweepstakes, of Fifty Dollars, came to nothing—Mr. GIBB's, Filho, receiving half forfeit from Mr. STANSFIELD's, Matilda, and Mr. DEWSON's, Lady of the Lake. The sports of the day was in consequence limited to a Handicap Plate of Sixty Dollars, and the Claret Stakes, for both of which started Mr. KERR's Doctor. In the Handicap, he had to contend with Mr. SHARPE's Sportsman, and in the Claret Stakes, with the Countess, owned by the same.

Handicap Plate, of Sixty Dollars, entrance Ten Dollars, Weights Handicapped by Stewards. One mile heats. Mr. SHARPE's br. Sportsman, by Sir Walter, 4 years old, 7st. 12. 1 2
Mr. KERR's gr. horse, Doctor, aged, 10st. 1 2

THE CLARET STAKES.

Of ten Dollars each, h ft. for all horses carrying 9st. 7lb. each—to which the Stewards will add 30 dollars—The winner to be sold for £50 if claimed within half an hour after the race—heats one mile.

Mr. Kerr's g. g. Doctor , aged, pink and blk. cap.	1 1
Mr. Sharpe's brn. m. Countess , 6 yrs. old, by Cock of the Rock out of Shelah —blue and red cap.	2 2
Mr. Stansfield's b. m. Lilly , 5 yrs. old, tartan and yellow, blk. cap.	dr. —

In these two races, it will be seen with pleasure, that the sporting proprietor of Doctor made all the running in four successive heats. In the first race, he was much overweighted, but had his rider not made so free with his horse, but trusted to his speed and known bottom, notwithstanding the immense weight he carried, the result might have been very different.

As it was, he made a splendid race of it. Nothing daunted by his defeat in the Handicap, the Doctor commenced practice again, with a fresh customer, in the Claret Stakes, which he won easy in two heats, finishing the day's sport.

In another part of our publication will be found the bill of fare for tomorrow, Third Day. There is enough to satisfy the most fastidious, and in common with all the lovers of racing, we anticipate a rich treat. We perceive the Doctor is in for a good thing tomorrow, and we heartily wish him success.

To our great surprise and regret, we perceived that the warning of the Stewards respecting bringing dogs to the course had little effect on the two first days. We trust more attention will be paid to it tomorrow. The crowd was immense on both days, and we observed a vast number of respectable strangers on the course.

The Frigate Hussar, with Admiral Sir CHARLES OGLE's Flag is reported as near at hand.

Mr. VAUGHAN, British Envoy Extraordinary at Washington is expected on Saturday, on a visit to His Excellency Sir JAMES KEMPT.

When we went to Press no steam-boat from MONTREAL had arrived.

Wm. Lampston, convicted of having since the 1st July last neglected and refused to keep the street in front and around his building in the Lower Town free from rubbish; fined 10s. and costs.

A public dinner was given on Monday, the 3d instant, at Malhot's Hotel by the officers of the 1st Battalion Quebec Militia to Lieut. Col. F. X. Perrault, their Commanding Officer. The officers of the Department of the Adjutant General of Militia and Col. Perrault, Senr. formerly commanding the Battalion to which his son has succeeded, were also present. The dinner consisted of every delicacy, and was served in a style which did great credit to Mr. Malhot, about forty sat down, and the evening was passed in the greatest conviviality, several excellent songs were sung by different gentlemen of the company and a number of loyal toasts were given. The party did not separate till an early hour on the following morning. Mer.

A man calling himself Watkins, alias Jacob Johnson, is in custody on a charge of forgery committed on a mercantile house in this city, effected by altering the words "seven pounds" in a check on the Montreal bank, to seventy pounds. He is suspected of being connected with a gang who have perpetrated forgeries to a large amount in Philadelphia.—1b.

By the Act (Cap. 30) which continues and amends the acts providing for the WATCH, and for LIGHTING the cities of Quebec and Montreal it is enacted.

That persons arrested during the night for a breach of the peace shall be taken to the Watch house and not elsewhere, and in all such cases where any person so taken shall offer two householders in the sum of £30 each to any Justice of the Peace, or to the Foreman, or Deputy Foreman of the Watch, they are to receive the same for his or her appearance at the office of the Clerks of the Peace the following morning, and on giving such bail shall be liberated.—It is also enacted that no Watchman shall go armed with any deadly weapon, but merely with a staff or the ordinary Constables staff.

The provisions of the Act passed in the last Session of the Provincial Parliament to increase the number of Assessors for the Cities of Quebec and Montreal, repeals so much of the Act 36th of the late King, as relates to the number of Assessors and the mode selecting the same, and enacts, "That the Grand Jury shall place on the list from which the Assessors for the year are to be selected, shall be, and the same is hereby suspended."

"That the Grand Jury for the Districts of Quebec and Montreal shall, annually, in the manner by the said Act appointed, make and present to the Court a list of twenty persons qualified to be Assessors for the Cities of Quebec and Montreal, and that the said Court shall annually appoint twelve of the persons named thereon to be Assessors to serve for one year, according to the provisions of the aforesaid Act. Provided always, that for the present year only, the powers given by law to the Court of Quarter Sessions, and to the Grand Jury at the said Court, with regard to the appointment of the said Assessors may be exercised at the Session of the Court of Quarter Sessions to be holden in the month of April next."

"That that it shall be lawful for the Assessors, so to be appointed, to make such division among themselves of the work to be done, in making the assessment, as they shall find most convenient. Provided that no portion of such assessment shall be deemed to have been sufficiently made, unless the same shall have been made by at least three of the said Assessors, and that in all cases where three of them, and no more, may have proceeded to make such assessment, and a difference of opinion, and have certified and signed the estimate, as required by the aforesaid Act."

QUEBEC :

JEUDI, 13 AOUT, 1829.

Nous sommes encore dans la triste nécessité de désappointer la curiosité de nos lecteurs, n'ayant encore reçu de nouvelles de dattes plus récentes que celles déjà communiquées au public par la voie des papiers Provinciaux. Il est pourtant de notre devoir de montrer au moins notre bonne volonté et pour ce faire, nous allons donner quelques extraits du "Courier des Etats-Unis," papier qui, à l'ultraisme près de ses principes bien calculés pour le méridien du pays où il voit le jour, ne laisse pas que d'être intéressant par la diversité des matières dont il traite. Ce papier à la date du 1er. du courant, nous annonce que
"Les opérations du siège de Silistrie ont déjà commencé et que la première parallèle a été terminée sans avoir éprouvé d'interruptions considérables de la part de la Garison Turque, laquelle a été repoussée dans une sortie qu'elle avait tentée.

On écrit de Constantinople en date du 11 Mai, qu'il y est arrivé un Ambassadeur Persan pour conclure avec le Sultan une ligne offensive contre la Russie. On mande aussi que la disette commence de nouveau à se faire sentir dans cette Capitale. La flotte Turque forte de six Vaisseaux de ligne, huit Frégates et Corvettes et autant de Bricks et Goelettes, s'était mise en mer, mais ayant rencontré la flotte Russe, elle a cru plus prudent de rentrer dans le port, de sorte que le Bosphore et les Dardanelles se trouvent également bloqués par la flotte Russe.

La Prairie dans le dit District, habitant, et John Dier du même lieu habitants, Défendeurs. Une terre sise et située à l'Acote de l'Ange Gardien en la susdite Paroisse de la Prairie et dans la censive de la dite Baronie de Longueuil, du contenu de deux arpens de front sur trente arpens de profondeur, bornée par devant à la ligne de division entre la dite Baronie et la Seigneurie de la Prairie, dans la profondeur par le grand chemin de Roi de la côte noire, d'un côté par Alexis Biraillon et d'autre côté par Alexis Biraillon, avec maison, grange et autres batises y dessus érigées. — Sera vendue à la porte de l'Eglise de la Paroisse de la Prairie de la Madelaine susdite, le SEPT de SEPTEMBRE prochain à DIX heures du matin. ATTENDU que à une séance du comité des chemins tenue le 5 Juin 1829, il fut résolu que vu qu'il est nécessaire pour la commodité et la sûreté des Rues et trottoirs, que, autant que faire se peut, toutes les réparations se fassent d'une manière uniforme, au lieu de l'être de la manière irrégulière actuellement pratiquée sans autorité par les personnes qui les entreprennent de leur propre gré, Avis soit en conséquence donné, que, à l'avenir, nuls travaux de ce genre ne seront faits que de manière prescrite par les Magistrats, attendu qu'on a déterminé à mettre strictement en force la loi et les règlements de police pourvus à cet égard.

Et attendu en outre qu'à une séance du Comité des chemins tenue le 10 de Juillet courant, sur l'objet de l'avis qui doit être publié par l'ordre du 5 Juin dernier, requérant l'uniformité dans toutes réparations et façon des trottoirs, il a été ordonné qu'à l'avenir nulles réparations ne se feront aux trottoirs en autre manière que tel qu'il sera prescrit par ce Comité, par la Cour des Sessions générales du quartier, par les séances générales des premiers lundis de chaque mois ou par les Magistrats dans toute autre Assemblée ou Session compétente. Et le comité recommande de que cet ordre soit publié par la voie d'affiches, immédiatement après le 19 du mois de Juillet, courant.

CANTINE DE CAZERNE,

BUREAU DE L'ORDONNANCE,

Québec, le 29 Juillet, 1829.

AVIS est par le présent donné, que la Cantine dans la Cazerne ci-dessus mentionnée est à louer aux conditions suivantes, pour un an, à dater du 30 Septembre prochain, jusqu'au 29 Septembre 1830.

On n'acceptera qu'une personne d'un caractère irréprochable qui devra s'engager à ne tenir qu'une seule Cantine, à y résider et à la conduire en personne; et on exigera deux sûretés pour le paiement régulier de la rente et de toutes les sommes qui pourront être dues à l'égard de la Cantine, ainsi que pour la due exécution des diverses conditions stipulées dans le Bail.

La personne dont la proposition sera acceptée ainsi que ses sûretés, devront exécuter strictement les conventions contenues dans le contrat de bail, desquels on pourra prendre connaissance en s'adressant à ce Bureau ou au Maître des Cazernes à son Bureau, Rue des Jardins.

Il faut insérer dans les propositions les noms de baptême, professions et résidences des deux personnes respectables qui souscriront au bail conjointement avec le preneur comme ses sûretés, et le preneur payera pour le contrat; le Bureau de l'Ordonnance ne s'engagera nullement à procurer une licence.

On recevra à ce Bureau des propositions cachetées adressées aux Officiers respectifs de l'Ordonnance, portant au dos "offres pour Cantine," le ou avant onze heures du matin du Lundi, 21 Septembre prochain, et toutes propositions reçues après la dite heure seront mises de côté.

Toutes personnes faisant des propositions pour des Cantines, doivent faire attention qu'elles seront tenues à l'exécution rigoureuse des conventions exprimées dans leurs baux et au paiement complet de leurs rentes, sans aucune remise ou réductions autres que celles contenues dans les dits baux.

La forme des propositions doit être comme suit:

"Par le présent j'offre pour la Cantine des Cazernes à pour un an, la rente de quinze livres pour l'année pour la maison comme résidence et en outre la somme de par mois pour chaque dix Bas-Officiers et Soldats qui pourront occuper les Cazernes durant cette période, le tout Argent Sterling ou en Piastres, à raison de 4s. 4d. la pièce, et je propose Mr. de et Mr. de comme mes cautions.

La rente de la Cantine comme domicile ou demeure doit être proposée à la somme portée en ligne vis-à-vis d'elle, ainsi donc les offres ne seront relatives qu'à la somme offerte pour chaque dizaine d'hommes occupant la Cazerne. Ce nombre sera constaté par les retours du Maître des Cazernes du 1e. de chaque mois; et il ne sera tenu aucun compte d'aucun changement en faveur du ou contraire au tenancier qui aura pu avoir lieu durant le mois dans l'occupation des Cazernes. Il ne sera jamais chargé moins de dix hommes contre le tenancier, ni aucune fraction de ce nombre n'entrera dans le calcul: ainsi si la Cazerne était occupée par 148 hommes le premier du mois on n'en comptera que 140 pour tout le mois. Les candidats sont encore prévenus de ne pas introduire dans leurs offres aucune fraction de sols (pence) parce qu'il n'y sera pas fait attention; et que leurs offres ne seront pas prises en considération, à moins qu'elles ne soient strictement conformes au modèle ci-dessus.

Rente comme domicile.
