GOING TO THE LEVANT. Queenstown, September 7.—The U. S. cruiser Minneapolis sailed from this port for the Levant to-day.

LI HUNG CHANG'S TOUR.

HE IS NOW ON THE CANADIAN SIDE.

Will Do Toronto Exhibition this Afternoon, After Which He Leaves for China via the Canadian Pacific Route.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., September 7.—Li Hung Chang was up bright and early this morning, feeling well, though he passed a very restless night, the noise of the Falls disturbing him. On Saturday he finished his sight seeing in Washington, which the rain somewhat marred. Secretary Carlisle and Treasurer Morgan escorted the Viceregal party through the vaults, showing Li $150,000,000 in gold and silver coin, which did not seem to impress him, but when the bond-issue division was reached he manifested great interest and filled his guides with questions.

Li left just before 6 o'clock p.m. for here, and reached this place at 11.45 on Sunday morning. A crowd of 4000 people greeted him. He put up at the Cataract House. The great Celestial first, the sailing boat, 4 p.m., rain preventing an earlier start. He was met by the Viceroy watched them for a short time, his face bearing a curious expression. He turned to his interpreter and addressed him. The latter said: "His Excellency is very delighted and impressed with the power house of the Cataract Construction Company, where they saw the magnificent 5000-horse-power dynamo running the engine of the Niagara river. In the power house Li held out his cane to one of the rapidly revolving dynamo shafts, and a projectile and knocked out of his hand like a flash. He was startled, but said nothing.

This morning, for the first time, Li seemed to realize the danger which he ran in his visit to the rapidly revolving dynamo in the power house with a stick, the stick being knocked from his hand with terrific force. That he ran a big risk is obvious, but he appreciates. His interpreter says it was probably his curiosity that prompted him to do so.

This morning, instead of waiting for the special train as arranged, the Viceroy, accompanied by Sir John A. Macdonald, and his interpreter, took the Canadian side, where a trip through the Canadian park and Durbin street was made. Li was evidently more impressed with the view of the falls from the Canadian side than from the American side. He said it was magnificent and sublime. The remainder of his suite left on the special train at 10.05. Earl left for Toronto from the Canadian side about 10.45.

NORTH AMERICAN SOLD.

The Famous Review Again Changes Hands. New York, September 6.—The September number of the North American Review makes this announcement of a change in the ownership of the magazine. "Lloyd Bryce, having sold the Review, and retired from all connection with it, the September number is issued by the North American Review Publishing Company. The fact that those who are to be for the future charged with the conduct of the Review have been associated together in its management for a number of years forms a sufficient guarantee that the Review will follow closely the line of its former management, and the late Editor Thynne Rice and his associates in the Review have been acknowledged to occupy among the great periodicals of the world. David A. Monroe, who has been connected with the publication for the past several years, is the proprietor and treasurer of the new company."

The first number of the North American Review was published in Boston in 1847, and its first editor was William Tudor. Between 1815 and 1818 the magazine was edited successively by William H. Burleigh, Edward Everett and Jared Sparks. In 1817 it published William Colton Bryant's poem "Thanatopsis."

DR. GALLAGHER'S HEALTH.

Will Probably be Confined for a Period in a Sanatorium.

New York, Sept. 7.—Dr. Thomas Gallagher, the alleged Irish dynamiter, who was recently released from an English prison, and arrived in this country on Friday on the St. Paul, is at the Savoy Hotel. It was after ten o'clock when he was seen by a reporter on the St. Paul, who accompanied Dr. Gallagher to the Atlantic, spent the night near his patient.

excitement of the voyage, but his condition generally was much quieter than when he arrived at the hotel. Dr. A. McBride, who accompanied Dr. Gallagher to the Atlantic, spent the night near his patient. Dr. Gallagher has a suite of six rooms on the fourth floor. His sister, Mrs. Catherine Conolly, and his niece, Miss Agnes Conolly, occupy one of the rooms. Two trained nurses, who have been engaged also to watch over the man, whose mental affliction is attributed to the rigor of the British convict prison. Dr. Gallagher received his first call in the person of General Michael Kerwin, who met the St. Paul on Friday. General Kerwin remained with Dr. Gallagher about half an hour. When he came down stairs he said: "Dr. Gallagher expressed me as being completely mad, but there are times when I have gleams of intelligence. When I entered the room I was introduced as a near friend of the family. Dr. Gallagher stared at me fiercely and exclaimed: 'I don't know you! Then he burst into a fit of laughing, and putting his hands on my shoulders. Then he told me that General O'Beirne was coming round to take him for a walk in the Park. It was said that when he left this country for England he was a fine-looking, healthy man; but he has been in the hospital, and when he was arrested he had $5000, but now he has nothing left."

It was with perceptible pleasure that Dr. Gallagher threw from him the garments that he had received upon leaving for Ireland. He had the new clothes brought to him. Dr. Gallagher insisted upon paying for them himself, and checked for $200. However, it is believed that the money he had in his pocket was given to him by the doctor. There was an exciting incident when the steamship St. Paul approached her dock. Dr. Gallagher was very violent, and gestulating wildly, with an impression on his lips. Mrs. Conolly, who has been in the country, has actually insisted upon defraying them himself, and, therefore, a certain sum of money has been given into his keeping.

Mr. Fisher intended visiting a number of the autumn fairs in the Province, before the close of the season. LESE MAJESTE IN CAIRO. Cairo, September 7.—(Special.)—Two Egyptian editors, charged with insulting Queen Victoria, have been sentenced to undergo the maximum penalty of 18 months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $20.

GAUDAUR WINS!

The Championship of the World Comes to Canada.

DEFEATS STANBURY IN SINGLE SCULL CONTEST.

Despite the Efforts of the Australian to Make a Foul.

London, September 7.—The single scull race for the championship of the world, between "Jake" Gaudaur, of Canada, and James Stanbury, of Australia, was rowed over the championship course, from Putney to Mortlake, four miles to-day, and was won by Gaudaur.

James H. Stanbury held the championship by recently defeating "Wag" Harding. The race was witnessed by large crowds of people, who lined the river banks. The start was made at 1.45 p.m. Gaudaur was first to catch the water and soon had a good lead, which he gradually increased by passing the Hamersmith bridge, when he was nearly twenty lengths ahead, and quite that distance in the lead at the finish.

The water was smooth and the tide strong, rowing was easy for the Canadian. Stanbury won the toss for position, and took the Surrey side of the river. There were a number of false starts before the boats got away. Gaudaur being the chief offender in preventing a good start, Gaudaur was the first to get away finally, but fifty yards from the start, Stanbury, who was pulling steadily, crept up and gradually passed Gaudaur. Stanbury passed Gaudaur the crowds along the river bank became greatly excited and cheered themselves hoarse. Gaudaur rowed desperately, and stuck to his opponent closely. Both men at this stage of the race were pulling grandly. Stanbury rowed nineteen strokes in the first half minute, and thirty-seven in the next minute, while Gaudaur pulled eighteen strokes in the first half minute and thirty-four in the next minute. The Canadian was now in the lead, and the Australian was at a length at the Thames Rowing Club's house at half an hour.

At this point, however, Gaudaur did some very effective work, gradually catching up with the Australian, with whom he was on even terms at the top of Middlesex Embankment. Gaudaur was now going on well, and at the Searby Brook he had pulled away from his opponent and led by a quarter of a length, and was the same distance in the lead at the Craven Ship's. Both men had by this time dropped their sculls to thirty to the minute. Gaudaur was rowing with more power in his stroke and was a clear length in advance at Craven's. Continuing to row very fast, the Canadian increased his lead, and got away from the Australian so rapidly that at Harrod's Wharf he led by a length and a half. At this point Gaudaur took Stanbury's water, whereupon the Australian started vigorously, obviously trying for a foul. This move and the result of it were the cause of Stanbury losing somewhat thereby, for when he reached his own water, he was leading by rather less than a length. When they shot Hamersmith Bridge, which they reached in eight minutes and fifty seconds, Gaudaur again went over board Stanbury's water and the Australian repeated his attempt to foul his opponent, this time with more success than before. Stanbury put on a furious spurt and managed to foul the Canadian, just off the Lead Mills, but after this, he was never in the race. Seemingly he was satisfied that he was beaten, he held up from the moment he fouled his opponent, and did not appear at any time thereafter to exert himself much. Gaudaur kept on with his powerful stroke going away from Stanbury easily, and increased his lead every moment. Indeed from the Lead Mills to the finish it was a procession, Gaudaur reaching the winning post about 200 yards ahead of the Australian champion. Gaudaur's time was twenty-three minutes and one second, and Stanbury's twenty-three minutes and forty-six seconds.

Following is a brief history of the new champion: The most striking features of Gaudaur's sculling career have been his four records. Since 1885 he has held the world's best single scull record for three miles. At White Bear Lake, on June 28, he rowed in 19:54; at Pullman, Ill., on May 30, 1887, in 19:32; at Duluth, on July 25, 1890, in 19:31, and at Austin, Texas, on June 10, in 19:06. His other records are for a mile, from June 12, 1886, to July 23, 1887, and came within an ace of winning the championship of the world on Beach on September 18, 1886.

JACOB GAUDAUR.

able) was born on the Athlery side of the Narrows, the strait which unites Lakes Couchiching and Simcoe, on April 4, 1858, and is just three years Hanlan's junior. When the champion was very young his parents moved to the Ottawa side of the strait, and there the family homestead now stands. Gaudaur never took kindly to a trade, and from his earliest years had a strong fancy for aquatic sports. He won lots of races. Gaudaur's first year in the scull was in 1879, when he rowed at Prescott, London, and Sarnia in exhibition races. His first shell race was with McKay and Riley dated August 1, 1881. He won a race from Ross, Hooper, Ten Eyck and Riley on July 1 at Ottawa. That made him known to Pullman, Ill., on June 23, 1883. Gaudaur was beaten by Teemer in the consolation race in 19:14. At Lake Minnetonka, on August 4, he finished behind Hanlan, Lee, Hooper and Hamm. In 1884, at Boston, July 4, he won the three-mile single scull in 21:50 and the working boat event in 22:30. On October 26 Gaudaur 5 sec. in three miles rowed at Boston with Teemer, and on November 2 the Orillon won a 20:24 at Crave Coeur Lake, Mo. The ups and downs of the Canadian sculler continued in 1885. He won the three-mile single sculls race at Boston on July 4 in 20:30, and on the same day, won at Boston with partner, captured the double sculls. On May 25 he rowed second to Teemer at New Or-

MONTREAL MINING EXCHANGE.

A Project to Supplement it by a Permanent Exhibition.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—(Special.)—A deputation, including the presidents of the Ville Marie and Jacques Cartier Banks, are here to urge upon Mr. Laurier the importance of aiding in the establishment of a Permanent Mining Institute in Montreal. Mr. A. Leferred, M.P.E. of Montreal, who is the chief promoter of the scheme, has issued a circular setting forth the objects of the enterprise. After pointing out the importance of mining development as a factor in the economic progress of the Dominion and settlement, he says: "In order to accomplish this object, it is proposed to establish a permanent exhibition of minerals from all the mines in Canada. In connection with it will be published the assays, the description of each mine, and the nature of the outputs, the maps and plans, showing situation of each mine, the distances from railways, and water communication, etc.; weekly reports whenever obtainable will also be published.

THE SEALS ARE SCARCE.

Report of the Supt. of the North American Commercial Company. San Francisco, Cal., September 7.—The steamship Homer has arrived from the Queenalaska, having on board the 30,000 sealskins allotted by the Government to the North-western Commercial Company for the present season. Among the passengers was J. Stanley Brown, superintendent of the North American Commercial Co. Mr. Brown said: "The catch of the sealing fleet this season proves to be light. It is doubtful if it will average 400 skins a vessel. Sealers report seals scarcer than ever before, and there is no prospect of a better season. The fact that the herds have about disappeared. "Capt. Hooper, in charge of the Behring Sea, is conducting an efficient supervision over the sealing grounds to prevent depletions. Thus far six seizures have been made by the North-western Commercial Company (British), James S. Swan and J. A. Gray (American), and the Alimko, Vava and Beatrice (Canadian). "The Behring Sea mixed commission of Americans, Canadians and British, under the leadership of President Jordan, of Stanford University, arrived at the Pribylofsky on July 6. The work of the commission has been thorough, and the results are likely to be the most satisfactory of any work thus far done in the way of investigating the present condition of seal life, and to make recommendations or suggest conditions in the protective regulations now in force.

LOCOMOTIVE BATTLE.

Singular Fight Between the Rutland and Central Vermont Railways. Burlington, Vt., September 7.—As the result of a controversy between the Rutland Railway and the Central Vermont, two engines, one of each representing the respective roads, engaged in a tug of war here over a car loaded with machinery from the repair shops of the Rutland road. The Central Vermont engine finally won, because some one slipped the coupling of the other locomotive, and the Central Vermont, with their load, were taken to St. Albans. The Central Vermont road, as lessee of the Rutland road, has under consideration a plan for the removal of the repair shops which have long been located here to St. Albans. The idea is opposed by the Rutland manage-

BRYAN'S TALK UPHOLDS THE CAUSE OF FREE SILVER.

He Will Again Return to the East and Will Speak in New York—Arguments Uttered on the Stump During His Trip.

Chicago, September 7.—William J. Bryan treated here on Sunday and today will talk at the labor picnic in Sharpshooters' Park and start for Lincoln, his home, Monday night.

The official announcement is made on behalf of Mr. Bryan to the effect that arrangements have been made for a second visit to New York.

Now, the first question to be considered is: What is a dollar? We hear people talking about honest money. What do they mean by honest money?

When you find men who tell you that they want a dollar of the highest purchasing power, you can be sure that they have a person who believes in the principle of monetary science.

Let me illustrate: Suppose that all the world should join in a gold standard, and then suppose the next day all nations should get together and decide to have a silver standard.

There are principles which underlie the money question, principles which you must understand before you can enter into a discussion of legislation.

REAL ESTATE WAS QUIET IN AUGUST, BUT BUSINESS WAS GOOD COMPARED WITH JULY.

Several Transfers Were Recorded at Nominal Figures--The Total Sales Were Not so Large as Last Year.

Business in real estate in the month of August just past has been quite as quiet as in the same month last year, the total sales for the city proper and for the city and suburbs being considerably lower; but as compared with last month, there is an increase in value, though fewer transactions are recorded. The total sales for the city are as follows:

July, 1896	85 sales	$288,223 42
August, 1896	88	282,169 32
July, 1895	88	366,361 91
August, 1895	88	366,361 91
July, 1896	126	$23,230 67
August, 1896	126	48,000 00
July, 1895	126	48,000 00
August, 1895	126	48,000 00

It is only fair to note, says Property, that several transfers have been recorded at nominal figures, and that several lots have been sold at Sheriff's sale at very low prices. A considerable number of vacant lots have been sold, but principally in the eastern wards. St. Anne and St. Jean Baptiste Wards show a considerable increase in value, while the West, St. Louis and Hochelaga Wards have declined considerably. St. James, St. Lawrence, St. Denis and St. Gabriel show about the same figures as last month. In the suburbs, Westmount shows a considerable decrease from last year, but an increase from last month. The Annex has more than double last month's value, and a small increase over the same month last year. St. Henri is about $15,000 less than last month and about $10,000 below last year. The value in St. Cuneo is swelled by the transfer of the whole school. There are three sales of $20,000 and over in value, namely the Queen's Hotel, sold by the Sheriff, the property of the late Mr. G. W. Clarke, sold to the late Mr. G. W. Clarke, and a block on Fulham and St. Catherine for $37,500.

The sale of the property on Notre Dame street (St. Antoine Ward) reported at $1,000 per foot, the same being re-sold at $1,000 per foot, and of land on Laval avenue (St. Louis Ward) at $1,000 per foot, and of land on Dorchester street (St. Lawrence Ward) at $1,000 per foot.

The same continues numerous at about the same figures, the usual rates being 5 to 10 to 15 for first mortgages.

THE FASHIONS. English serge is holding out its claims as a strong rival to the mohairs and brilliantines, so widely popular this summer past, and already, both here and abroad, some extremely attractive and stylish costumes have been made of the darker shades of serge of superfine quality.

White and black combinations in millinery for dressy wear will be very popular. Black velvet, black and white laces, aggregates, ostrich tips, black velvet ribbon overlaid with white lace in various designs, and white satin-trimmed ribbons, black velvet loops lined with white satin, and tiny evening touches of soft velvet white French felt garter-bands, and white velvet poppies with black hearts.

The season's new faced collars are exceedingly fine in texture, light in weight, and some in shades of green, blue, russet, dahlia, opal gray, fawn, brown, unnumbered, and in one or two beautiful dyes in heliotrope. Stylish and serviceable costumes of mohair, alpaca and silky combed, have been made in a variety of styles, and some in flat ribbons, less coarse than those popular last spring, although these heavier fabrics are still in great vogue abroad.

The hardy Scotch tweeds will have a favored place among the season's popular textures. The materials will be much used for cycling, tennis, and travelling costumes.

A charming model for an evening toilet is of canary-colored silk belted over a pink and yellow tulle bodice with a pink and yellow tulle skirt. On the front is a bolero jacket of point de Venise lace, with a crush collar and girle of pale yellow satin held by buttons of pink pearls intermixed with tiny French brilliants, between the front of the bolero shows a full blouse of the shot satin, veiled with pale yellow tulle and finished with pink pearl passementerie.

The lovely two-tone tulle on pink and yellow will be highly favored for handkerchiefs, blouses, or cut in flat ribbons, both in heavy silks, brocades, satin and in the beautiful dahlia and phoenix textures.

Out of ten costumes imported for hand-some wear that were recently opened to view, seven were made with a bolero jacket or else simulating one by the arrangement of fabrics and trimmings on the bodice front. C. D. F.

PREMIER FLYNN ON FINANCES. Compares the Province's Standing Now With 1891.

HIS STATEMENT OF POLICY FOR QUEBEC. Hon. Mr. Marchand Presents the Liberal Side.

(Special to the Star.) Quebec, September 7.—Messrs. Flynn, Quebec's Premier, and Marchand, Opposition leader, opened the local campaign on Saturday. The former spoke at St. Jean Port Joli; the latter at St. Clare.

The outlook for the Flynn meeting was anything but promising, and it was feared that the members of the Local Cabinet would find it impossible to go there from town in such weather, to address the electors of the County of Lebel. But Hon. Mr. Flynn and his colleagues had promised to attend and they braved the elements, and notwithstanding a continuous drizzling rain, the Prime Minister accompanied by Hon. T. C. Chapais, arrived at St. Jean shortly after three o'clock. It was intended at first to hold the meeting in the open air, but this was impossible, owing to the weather, and the Ministers had to address the electors in the crowded hall of the Hotel de la Ville.

Mr. Flynn began by thanking the parishioners for their kind words, taking occasion to remark that his last trip to the province was on his honeymoon, in 1875. He was delighted to be able to inaugurate his campaign in this parish and hoped that the County of Lebel would next election return a candidate who would support the Conservative party.

He then turned there not to excite hatred, but to ask them to unite and work together for the good cause. Consistent with the principles of the party, he may ask the question, 'Why is the Premier holding this meeting?' We are not just now engaged in a campaign, and he will yet be some time before we have general elections.

The reason that this meeting is held today is because the Liberal Government, which is responsible to Parliament, and has to render account to the electors, has not provided a voice. If we have not the confidence of the electors we would have no right to be in the Government, and we would never try to represent them if we had not their confidence. A distinction must be made between the Government and the Opposition, and we would never try to represent them if we had not their confidence.

Since December 21, 1891, the Conservative party has been in power. On that date the Premier, Hon. Mr. Boucherville, called upon to form a Government, which means to exercise authority in the name of the Queen. He referred to her Ministers really govern, and they have to govern for no one's individual interest, but for the good of the people, the good, the fundamental principle being that of the greatest good for the greatest number. How are Ministers to do this?

If you judge a man by one trait in his character you do wrong, as you should judge a Government by its whole character, its good as well as its bad acts, and judge thereby. It is also true of the Government, and in every one, and the best men are those who have acted the best and done the most good.

Let us first consider the De Boucherville Government. It promised to restore the financial equilibrium, and if this promise had been kept, the Province would have been in a better position than it is now. If we are not ready to accept your verdict, the question which should first be considered is the condition of the Province on December 21, 1891. It was suffering from what newspapers called the 'Marchand' deficit, and the Province was in a state of financial ruin.

Now the question is: How do the figures compare under both the Liberal and Conservative Administrations? In considering ordinary expenses, we should leave out of the question the Railway, and temporary loans repaid. Money coming from loans are not included under ordinary revenue. I will take the years 1891 and 1896, under the Liberal Government, and make a comparison with 1896 under Conservative rule. Ordinary expenses: 1891, $4,100,000; 1896, $4,400,000. Total: 1891, $1,300,000; 1896, $1,300,000. Savings in 1896 over 1891, $1,300,000.

for instance, in the Crown Lands Department in connection with the different sources of revenue under its control, and also by taking advantage of the revenue purposes of the many important resources possessed by the Province, such as the hunting and fishing privileges, the woods and forests, mines and minerals, etc., the total annual receipts can be so increased as to give the Government the necessary means to aid in a better course, as I propose to do, education, colonization and agriculture.

THE TAXES. The tax on transfers of real estate can be abolished at certain sessions of the Legislature. We do lose sight of the question already raised at various intervals, and the Government is endeavoring to obtain a fairer assignment to the provinces of the revenue procured under the British North America Act, and to secure that the provinces have not their legitimate share of the revenue derived from the people, but that the state of things which existed in the minds of the fathers of Confederation is now completely changed.

Mr. Flynn culminated the formal policy of the Administration by reading as follows: 'The formation of a new Government is the last of the new Administration of which I have the honor to be the chief. I had intended to make known publicly the principles by which we were proposed to be guided in the administration of public affairs in this province. Owing, however, to the fact that the Dominion elections were absorbing public attention, I deemed it advisable to wait until the time was more propitious for the expression of their full attention to Provincial matters. I now avail myself of this opportunity to make the following statement. It is needless to say that constitutional rules and customs, the true traditions of Government and all existing institutions shall be preserved intact as a sacred trust in our hands. In other words, I mean that our provincial administration shall be conducted on the principles of order, stability and justice. Education being the greatest benefit a Government can bestow upon a people, I propose to aid this good cause to a greater extent than in the past. I admit that a greater amount of revenue must be encouraged in every session of the Legislature, and that our school system and educational establishments are faulty or defective. On the contrary, it is needless to say that we will find any country which offers greater advantages, especially as regards superior education, than the Province of Quebec, but what we mean to do is to have the Government contribute to a greater extent to the education of the people by supplying the ways and means necessary to give the greatest development to the cause of education in the province.

AGRICULTURE AND COLONIZATION. The agricultural policy already inaugurated under the previous administration and which has been productive of the most beneficial results, will continue to be the object of our special attention. Colonization, which has in the past enlisted the sympathy of all right-minded men and all who are interested in having our population enjoy the immense advantages arising from the occupancy and culture of the soil, will receive more energetic and generous encouragement. This will be done by the Government obtaining the best results, especially by promoting the development of those parts of the country where the needs are greatest, and where public interest requires that these settlers' efforts be seconded by the beneficent aid of the Government. The development of many resources in the forest, mine and fisheries will also receive adequate attention. The Government will continue to do its best to secure the best results, especially by promoting the development of those parts of the country where the needs are greatest, and where public interest requires that these settlers' efforts be seconded by the beneficent aid of the Government.

THE CIVIL SERVICE. The Civil Service, which is such a powerful factor in the good government of a country must be carefully considered with the view of introducing the necessary reforms which circumstances may permit us to introduce. It here touch a point of a very delicate nature, and one which requires the most careful consideration, and which could not be abolished summarily, and the Government will do its best to secure the best results, especially by promoting the development of those parts of the country where the needs are greatest, and where public interest requires that these settlers' efforts be seconded by the beneficent aid of the Government.

THE RAILWAY POLICY. The railway policy, no doubt, has often been criticized in the past, but which, it must be admitted, has never been carried out in a more judicious manner than it is now. The Province of Quebec has a very considerable development in its railway system, and it is necessary to do nothing which would prove injurious to public credit. The Government will do its best to secure the best results, especially by promoting the development of those parts of the country where the needs are greatest, and where public interest requires that these settlers' efforts be seconded by the beneficent aid of the Government.

REJECTED REVISED EDITION. Winnipeg, Man., September 7.—On Saturday the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada spent the day discussing the adoption in a church of a revised edition of the Scriptures. LABOR DAY PROCESSION Not So Large As In Former Years.

Day was observed in the usual manner here to-day. The Government and municipal buildings, together with banks, business houses and mercantile exchange, were closed. The allied trades associations had a joint parade at noon, and marched to Concordia Park to listen to speeches and witness athletic games.

Chicago, Ill., September 7.—Labor Day was generally kept as a holiday in Chicago. The celebration was the biggest of the kind ever seen here. William W. Aldrich, Governor of Illinois, was President, with the star attraction. More than forty thousand men participated in the parade this morning.

Boston, Mass., September 7.—Labor Day was celebrated to-day somewhat more generally than usual. New York, September 7.—Labor Day was generally observed here. All the municipal buildings were closed, and business was more generally suspended than on the occurrence of the day in the preceding years.

Quebec, September 7.—To-day being Labor Day, public buildings are closed everywhere. The day has been made a federal and provincial holiday. A mammoth excursion to Grand Meron, on the line of the Great Northern Railway, took place to-day.

STOCK EXCHANGE CLOSED. Owing to the celebration of Labor Day and the general suspension of business throughout the city, the banks and many of the larger mercantile houses closed their doors to-day. The Montreal Stock Exchange held no sessions, and the Board of Trade was well high deserted.
