Tories keep mum on Faribault's candidacy

Executives of the Sherbrooke County Conservative organization have been displaying keen interest but have been maintaining a deep silence on reports that Marcel Faribault, constitutional adviser to Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson, will accept the leadership of the party in this province and that he will seek election in Sherbrooke.

So far Mr. Faribault, who is president of the Sherbrooke Trust Company, has declined to give any indication of his intentions but Monday he announced that he would inform Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield of his plans at a private meeting in Montreal this afternoon.

Mr. Stanfield was expected to make a public announcement at a press conference later today.

While the local PC officials refused to make any comment on the possibility of Mr. Faribault running in Sherbrooke, he admitted that this may have been a factor in a request made earlier by Mr. Stanfield that the Sherbrooke convention, originally scheduled for May 5 be postponed indefinitely.

Several other Conservative conventions in Quebec were also postponed on instructions from Mr. Stanfield.

Although no explanations were offered as to why the conventions should be postponed, many observers believe the action resulted from talks when underway between Mr. Stanfield and Mr. Faribault.

The feeling is that one of the conditions which may have been laid down by Mr. Faribault as a preliminary to acceptance of the Opposition Leader's bid is that he be not encumbered by weak candidates who might have been selected had the conventions been held earlier.

Effects of his entry into the fight would be two-fold.

He would provide the Conservative party with a strong leader in this province, something it has lacked for years, and in turn would attract stronger candidates in the individual ridings.

Meanwhile, the number of potential candidates for the Sherbrooke County nomination has been reduced to two.

Last night, Ald. Romeo Quintal announced he was withdrawing from the race in favor of Dr. Alexandre Kindy, the second candidate for the nomination being Yves Comtois, local druggist.

Announcing his withdrawal, Ald. Quintal said he had complete confidence in Dr. Kindy and that his professional duties with the East Angus School Board prevented him from carrying on a campaign.

Just how the entry of Mr. Faribault in the race — if he had decided to seek the Sherbrooke race — would affect the convention is uncertain.

Many party supporters feel that if the Conservatives win the June 25 election, Mr. Faribault would become a senior cabinet minister.

This, they argue could be of inestimable benefit to the constituency, which has not been represented in the cabinet for nearly a century.

But others fear local pride might cause a rank-and-file revolt against the acceptance of a candidate from outside, even if he did have business connections here.

News in brief

Foreign policy

EDMONTON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau gave three indications Monday of the direction Canada's foreign policy may take under a Liberal government.

At a news conference he had proposals for recognition of China and economic support for South Vietnam.

Trudeauism

EDMONTON (CP) — The solemn atmosphere of an academic gathering was enough Monday to stop at least a mild attack of Trudeauism.

The attack occurred at a University of Alberta public forum, addressed later by UN Secretary-General U Thant.

Threaten

PARIS (Reuters) — French student leaders threatened today to continue agitating for university reform as France returned to normal after a 24-hour general strike to back student demands.

The warning followed a five-hour peaceful march through central Paris by an estimated 1,000,000 persons to protest alleged police brutality during student-clashes through-out last week.

Must win

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska Democrats vote today in a presidential primary which Senator Robert F. Kennedy said he must win to become the party's nominee for the White House.

Rival campaigner Eugene J. McCarthy, privately pessimistic about his prospects, said he will stay in the race whatever the outcome.

Labor split

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO is ready to suspend Walter Reuther's big United Auto Workers Union in a labor split that could spell trouble for the presidential bid of Hubert H. Humphrey.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, who founded the 14,000,000-member labor federation with Reuther 13 years ago, said Monday the UAW will be suspended if it doesn't pay back dues by Wednesday. This is an unlikely prospect in view of the vote by the 1,500,000-member UAW to stop monthly dues payments.

Dief will run

PRINCE ALBERT (CP) — John Diefenbaker always was good at keeping people guessing.

Many had been wondering since he lost the Progressive Conservative leadership last fall whether he would seek re-election.

He kept them guessing until Monday night, when his was the only name put forward at a nominating meeting in Prince Albert constituency.

Mr. Diefenbaker accepted the chance to contest the June 25 federal election in the riding he has represented since 1953.

May trim NATO effort

OTTAWA (CP) — Government officials are studying the possibility of at least a partial withdrawal of Canada's NATO forces from Europe, informants say.

No cabinet decision is likely before the late fall—the NATO ministers next meet in Brussels in December—and will not be made before consultation with Canada's allies, they add.

Likeliest course appears at the moment to be withdrawal of the 5,500-man infantry brigade, leaving the 4,500-man air division in West Germany. The brigade would still be committed to NATO in Europe but would be stationed in Canada. West Germany's armed forces number 450,000.

Defence Minister Cadieux has just returned here from a NATO defence ministers' meeting in Brussels last week where planned troop commitments for 1969-73 are adopted as a basis for preparation of plans by individual members of the alliance.

CADIEUX WON'T SAY — These provisional commitments were not disclosed. Mr. Cadieux has declined to announce any Canadian commitments beyond this year.

The NATO ministers said over-all military capability should not be reduced. But they said nothing about where troops should or should not be based.

The U.S. recently moved 34,000 troops from West Germany to the U.S., though leaving them earmarked for NATO duty in Europe. The 50,000-man British Army of the Rhine was recently cut by a 5,000-man brigade.

Britain will withdraw military forces from the Far East and the Persian Gulf by 1971 and has announced a 40-per-cent increase in troop commitments to NATO. These troops will remain in Britain, however.

Canada has committed two battalions to NATO's mobile force but they are stationed in this country. They exercise only occasionally in Europe.

Withdrawal of the Canadian brigade from Europe would help beef up sagging army strength at home.

The six infantry regiments are so short of men that the defence department wants to disband one of them—the Canadian Guards, established in 1953—or amalgamate it with another regiment, informants say.

A continuing brigade commitment in Europe would likely require maintenance of equipment and a small staff there as well as a bridgehead.

The bridgehead could be supplied by the air division which operates CF-104 nuclear strike bombers from three bases in southwest Germany.

No role for the CF-104 is seen beyond 1972 and the short-range CF-5 fighter-bomber is scheduled to be based in Canada only. In the meantime, the air division remains the fourth or fifth most formidable strike force in the world.

Say guards careless in escape

QUEBEC (CP) — Justice Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand said Monday a police report shows that the escape of three prisoners from a Drummondville, Que., court house April 30 was due to "carelessness and indifference" of eight guards.

Mr. Bertrand told the legislative assembly the eight provincial policemen involved will be called before a disciplinary committee to defend themselves. Penalties could include dismissal or suspension.

The escape led to the death of a Montreal policeman last Wednesday. Det-Sgt. Gilles Jean, buried Monday, was killed in an exchange of gunfire with one of the escapees—Yves Simard.

Simard subsequently committed suicide while police tried to nab him in an apartment building in the Montreal suburb of Rosemount. Claude Levasseur, who also had escaped, had given himself up earlier the same night, but the third man—Gaston Plante is still at large.

The trio escaped by sawing through bars of a court house cell where they were being held as witnesses for the trial of Jean-Jacques Gagnon, later acquitted of a murder charge.

Mr. Bertrand said an appeal will be launched in the case of Gagnon.

The trio's escape led to a Liberal-sponsored non-confidence motion in the government.

The Union Nationale government defeated the motion, but in the assembly Monday Liberal house leader Pierre Laporte and Opposition Leader Jean Lesage kept pressure on the justice minister, seeking a public inquiry into the escape.

Tories list election pledges

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The Conservative party unloaded a dozen major election pledges to the Atlantic provinces Monday, including a promise to examine the possibility of a tunnel between Newfoundland and the mainland.

Conservative Leader Stanfield and his party's Atlantic candidates proposed a brand new system of "growth" grants, four measures to help fisheries, improved transportation and help to set up educational television.

The concept of the Newfoundland-Labrador tunnel was the day's climactic stroke, delivered by Mr. Stanfield to a crowd of 1,000 at an evening rally here.

He said a Conservative government would allocate funds to "assess the value and feasibility" of constructing a tunnel across the Strait of Belle Isle.

Mr. Stanfield did not put a price tag on the study or the project. The text of his speech mentioned a tunnel or causeway link but the word "causeway" did not enter the speech as delivered.

Labrador's rapid development demanded a look at the proposal, he said.

Earlier in the day, Mr. Stanfield sat in on the final session of a policy conference attended by most of the 32 Conservative candidates contesting seats in the four Atlantic provinces.

The conference issued an eight-point manifesto for Atlantic development.

Their proposed new system of grants would be made to "growth - promoting services" such as education, supplementing revenues derived from limited provincial tax bases.

They would expand the area development agency, a federal program for slow-growth areas, and improve on the Liberal promise to buy up 10,000,000 pounds of surplus salt codfish in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.

The Liberals have said the fish will be bought at the end of the season. The Conservatives would buy it now to free storage space and prevent deterioration of stocks.

Market promotion for ground fish, better railways and highways in Newfoundland, a formula to launch educational TV in this region and harnessing of Bay of Fundy tides for power if feasible were other items of policy.

The conference reinforced Mr. Stanfield's earlier announcement of a policy to expand the functions and resources of the Atlantic Development Board—the cornerstone of Conservative plans to cure regional economic disparities.

At his rally, Mr. Stanfield said the Conservatives would also examine an air trans-shipment port at Gander, Nfld., and cure distortions in the fishing industry that have left some fishermen unemployed while other areas face shortages of trained personnel. Federal programs would give on-the-job training to develop skippers, mates and engineers.

Early in the day, Mr. Stanfield skipped by helicopter into five communities on the Avalon Peninsula to address small outdoor crowds. He told each group their economic problems would be in better hands if Canada puts a Conservative government headed by a Maritimer into office.

He said he could wave no "magic wand" to bring prosperity and he made no promises of any kind during a stop on Bell Island.

They were trained to sniff out 'Charlie' and zap him

Second Class Petty Officer J. R. Hosking: a year humping through mud and water after 'Charlie.' (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

The lean, blond-haired youth lounging on the chertfield in olive - drab jungle fatigues of a United States Navy Seal probably experienced life more fully in one year than most young Canadians his age will in a life time.

For 12 months, 21-year-old Second Class Petty Officer J. R. Hosking humped through South Vietnamese boondocks and rice paddies toting a 50 caliber machine gun that has a point blank range at 3,000 yards and can spew six inch cartridges up to 30 miles away.

Jim was one of six hard-muscled and youthful members of the Duck Team whose primary purpose was to seek out and 'zap' Charlie (the Viet Cong) at every opportunity.

The well-oiled team, named after the cartoon figure Donald Duck, was part of the US Navy Seals which gives support to ground forces.

The team was stationed at Nha Be, a 13000-man strong, combined forces base located 35 miles south - east of Saigon just on the fringe of the Mekong Delta.

Jim, who will marry Jane Sturtevant, a Sherbrooke girl, this Saturday is home on leave until June 2 when he will be re-assigned to the USS Hermitage LSD 34.

This is a repair ship presently stationed in Little Creek, Virginia and which will probably see service in the Mediterranean, Jim says.

He told of his combat experiences last night at his parents' home, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Hosking, 514 Short Street.

Jim was actually born in Dover, New Jersey, but lived in Sherbrooke ever since he was four-years-old. At 19, he volunteered to join the US Navy and also volunteered for a Vietnam tour.

In answer to the question why, he said: "Our family has a military background and I felt it was my duty to carry it on." Jim also had an uncle and cousin fighting in Vietnam. His uncle was killed shortly before Jim was shipped over. Jim was a model sailor during his training period at the US Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois. He graduated as Commander's Aide and was one of 17 men out of a total of 10,000 who graduated as an Honor Man.

Then in the inky - black of night May 2, 1967, Jim Hosking touched Vietnam soil at 3:30 a.m., his first taste of combat was just ahead.

For the next year the Duck team stealthily patrolled the Nha Be River or more frequently conducted night ambush and counter insurgency actions against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces after being air lifted in by helicopter gun ships.

"The days seemed to slip by but the nights seemed an eternity — anything could happen," he said.

For six months of the year it rained and for the other six months it was dry. You either slogged bone - tired and ankle-deep in mud during the dry season or you sloshed on search and destroy missions knee deep in water during the rainy season.

Each mission was usually of 24 hours duration perhaps conducted under a South Vietnamese moon or torrents of rain.

Once the Duck team slipped down the Nha BE River with 30 Vietnamese commandos on a landing craft. On shore they set up a horseshoe shaped ambush for 'Charlie' and waited.

Irony soon set in as the VC were close by but neither they nor the allies were aware of each other's presence. "They slipped into the mouth of the horseshoe with mortars and we didn't know they were there until they slammed a mortar down the tube and scared the living daylight out of us," Jim chuckled.

Cross-fire soon broke out between the two sides and the Vietnamese suffered 20 casual ties. A three-man VC mortar team was killed and Jim said they captured 30 rounds of 82 millimeter mortar shells.

He said one of the standard weapons of the VC is the Chinese - Communist rifle model 52 with a folding bayonet. It comes with a bolt action or semi-automatic and "is good and reliable."

When the question of fear in combat was brought up Jim replied, "any man who says he was not afraid in Vietnam is either drunk or a fool."

The young sailor gave the standard combat man's answer to death: If the shell has your name on it there's nothing you can do about it.

Jim described the Viet Cong as well - trained and deeply dedicated to their ideas. During the year of combat experience the Sherbrooke youth said the VC often got hopped up on batuetons or narcotics before a battle to ease their fear.

This hand also illustrates the point that 26 or 27 high card points won't always produce nine tricks. Give East the ace of hearts instead of the four spot and he would win the first heart and return the suit to set up four potential heart tricks for the defense. Then, even if South picked up the queen of diamonds, he would probably go down when the club finesse lost.

The set would not be certain. There would be a possible end play situation if South rose with his king of hearts and cashed all diamonds and the two top spades.

He was born at Piopolis, Megantic County, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Fournier who owned and operated the hotel in Beebe for many years. He is survived by his wife, the former Florence Richard, of Stanstead; a daughter, Louise (Mrs. Edward Gosselin of Derby Line); a son, Daniel, at home, three grandchildren, a brother, Alamzar, of Stanstead, and other relatives.

Pension commission has a hefty asset figure

The Pension Fund Commission of the City of Sherbrooke presented its annual report last night at Council for 1967 and it showed the fund's total assets to be $4,466,826.

This was an increase of $907,764 over the 1966 total assets of $3,559,062 in the fund which had 759 members at the end of 1967, 650 classified as active members and 109 pensioners.

The report was handed out last night to journalists and council members at the end of council's regular meeting, just before it began its weekly closed session.

In 1967, the report states, 50 city employees were admitted as members of the fund and nine members were retired on the plan.

The assets are divided into cash and investments in the fund's records.

The report showed the statistics compiled in a balance sheet by Olivier Routhier, Sherbrooke's secretary-treasurer, and audited by the accounting firm of Belanger, Saint-Jacques, Sirois, Comtois and Cie, Chartered Accountants.

In 1967, the city contributed $2,059,562 to the fund and the employees contributed $1,309,316 plus the pensioners' contribution of $47,974.

Council discusses cleaning of streets

Members of City Council met with members of the Housing Society on two separate occasions, once to discuss the cleaning of streets and the other time to discuss evaluation of finished houses which are vacant, and the reports of these two meetings were disclosed at council last night.

Members of the Housing Society sent a report to council stating that if a contractor's men damaged a city street while at work, the city's men should repair the street at the contractor's expense.

The report also said that if a contractor's men dirtied the street with pitch or some similar substance that sticks to tires, the contractor should see that the street is cleaned as well as possible and then he should call the public works department to send its men to complete the cleaning job.

Residents on Paton Street asked council to prohibit buses on Paton Street between Malouin and Beckett Streets but council refused the request, mainly on the grounds of a report sent by the bus company that a discontinuation of that route would not serve the public's interest.

The Protestant School Commission received the go-ahead last night from council to chain off the entire length of Victoria Street, with a chain 10 inches high and three feet inside the sidewalk.

The North Ward Alderman, Everett Nicol, posed no objection to the plan of the commission.

Council approved, in accordance with public works planned for 1968 a plan to build a storm sewer in the East Ward, 84 inches wide and 1,362 feet long, for a cost of $90,000.

It also decided to pay $66,203 for a sewer pipe in the city garbage dump which will be eight inches wide and 136 feet long, as well as $40,000 for another sewer pipe of 96 inches long by 900 feet wide from Four Pines Street to Wyatt Street.

Hydro-Quebec furnished the city with $172,951.52 worth of electricity from March 26 to April 25.

City decided to contribute $100 to Gaston Boule, the Sherbrooke black belt judo expert, who will represent Quebec in the Canadian championship judo competition in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan on May 18.

Mr. Boule had asked for a contribution to cover his transportation expenses which amount to $200.

Council allotted a grant of $300 for 1968 to the local Salvation Army.

The Canadian Ingersoll-Rand Co. Ltd. on Courcellette Street in Sherbrooke received Council's approval to build a ramp on Courcellette Street to allow the company's men and trucks access to its No. 8 Division. The ramp will eliminate 10 parking spaces.

City teens flock to blood clinic

A tousled and chestnut-haired little tot perched on his mother's knee coolly guzzling a bottle of orange pop yesterday afternoon during the opening of the Red Cross blood donor clinic.

Advance information on the Belvedere Street Armory 'gig' had labeled it a swingin' affair and although this pre-teeny bopper wasn't old enough to donate a pint of blood, he showed no sign of wanting to opt out.

It fact it was soon apparent many Sherbrooke teens know what the term civic spirit means as 200 youths had filled the armory a scant 45 minutes after the doors swung open at 1:30 p.m.

Watching the young people lining up to receive their blood type cards, Claude Genest, executive - president of the Sherbrooke Red Cross enthused, "this is terrific, I've never seen an opening such as this."

"You can see by the ages that the young people have understood the call."

Mr. Genest said if the number of young blood donors yesterday afternoon was any example then the accent on youth featured at this clinic "should be continued" next year.

The clinic was officially opened yesterday by four city high school students. They were Helen Ann Bogie, a Junior Red Cross member at Sherbrooke High School; Larry Hodge, a blood donor from Sherbrooke High; Claudette Hallee, Ecole Secondaire Leber; and Raymond Pigeon, student council president from Ecole St. Francois.

Nineteen-year-old Helen who grasped a yellow, type A blood card in her hand, flashed a bright grin and quipped "There's nothing to it," when asked how she felt about giving blood.

Helen is now a two-time blood donor veteran.

Larry, 18, was a potential blood donor freshman but a slight nose bleed put him 'hors de combat' before he could flop down on a fairly comfy cot to donate a pint.

But you can be sure that Larry will be back in the lineup before the clinic winds up this Thursday at 9:30 p.m.

The blood clinic has a groovy thing going this time around as every 10th donor can pick up steaming coffee and doughnuts for everyone after they've done their bit.

Youth musical groups are also expected to perform throughout the clinic's evening sessions.

Public relations secretary Miss Y. Tessier said today about 534 people had donated blood. The objective is 2,500 donors.

The Harmonie Montcalm band under the direction of Jacques Langevin oompahed for the enjoyment of the donors last night.

The Harmonie Junior de Sherbrooke, comprised of students from the Sherbrooke Seminary and St. Francis School will entertain at the clinic tonight and Thursday night.

Today is City Hall Day at the clinic and this is the fourth year in a row that civic employees have donated blood.

Wants interest in Lowney's

A Walter M. Lowney Co. Ltd., spokesman said yesterday Standard Brands Ltd., which made an offer for acquisition of controlling interest in Lowney's Friday, has agreed to extend its offer to all company shareholders.

The spokesman said Standard Brands Ltd., which hadn't been mentioned by name before, made known its decision to the Board of Directors of the chocolate-making firm yesterday.

The Lowney spokesman said Standard Brands will make an offer to all shareholders of Lowney Co. to purchase, up to all, but not less than 67 per cent of the outstanding shares of Lowney Co.

The price will be $68.22 per share.

She said the majority shareholders and all directors of Lowney's have accepted the offer. The Board has also unanimously agreed to recommend its acceptance to Lowney shareholders.

A formal offer is expected to be mailed to shareholders shortly, the spokesman said.

Pierre Bachand, vice-president and secretary treasurer, and Edmund Littler, chairman and president of Lowney, had insisted Standard Brands would have to agree to extend the offer to all company shareholders on the same terms and conditions made to them as a "condition of acceptance."

Accused has alibis

Preliminary hearing opened yesterday into arson charges against a 26-year-old Magog man who, according to his mother, has alibis for a number of unexplained fires in a farming area just outside the city limits of Magog.

Eves Corriveau is charged with purposely starting fire to a barn owned by Lawrence G. Taylor of R.R. 4, Magog.

The barn was levelled by fire Feb. 7, 1967, and approximately $25,000 in building, harvest and machinery was lost.

Presented into evidence yesterday was a declaration made by the accused at the time of his arrest.

Corriveau alleged that the declaration was forced upon him and denied it.

To open Depot St. public washrooms

Council decided last night to re-open the public rest rooms attached to the city's information bureau on Depot Street from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Alderman Hilaire Beliveau urged council members to open the lavatories because they benefit not only tourists but Sherbrooke citizens as well.

Mayor Armand Nadeau pointed out some people walk into nearby hotels and use the washrooms there.

A report was submitted to council by Louis - Philippe Demers, the director of the information bureau, and it stated the bureau personnel had received 30 complaints a day about the rest rooms being closed.

When tourists see the rest rooms are closed and locked, Mr. Demers said in his report they ask each other, "What kind of crazy city is this?"

He called the locked doors bad publicity for Sherbrooke.

Mr. Demers also brought attention to the fact that the information bureau had not been cleaned, inside or outside, since April 1.

Council decided to hire a man to maintain the bureau as well the public rest rooms.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH

More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping, or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Then sprinkle a little PASTEETH on your plates. PASTEETH holds dentures firmer and more comfortably. Makes eating easier. It's alkaline—doesn't sour. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feel. Helps check plate odor. Blood bank deserving of generous support

During the present week the citizens of Sherbrooke will have the privilege of participating in a semi-annual event which will test their willingness to perform a valuable service not only to the community but to the province at large.

The spring blood donor clinic sponsored by the Canadian Red Cross Society is now operating at the Belvedere street arroy and an appeal is being made to local residents to help maintain the central blood bank at a level which will permit it to meet the day-to-day needs of the hospitals and to maintain a slight surplus that can be drawn upon in case of emergency.

Importance of the blood bank cannot be over-rated.

It has been effective in saving the lives of hundreds of persons forced to undergo serious operations or injured in accidents.

Its services are provided without charge to the recipients, a not inconsiderable factor in cases where dozens of blood transfusions may be required.

Participation in the blood donor clinic is not the privilege of the favored few.

All residents within the prescribed age limits and in reasonable health can make their donations and they should co-operate in the maintenance of this essential service.

The fellow who never seems able to see the restaurant check is the same guy who can read YOUR paper on the bus two passengers away.

Bilingualism benefits

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba is a man who should know something about the advantages and problems created by bilingualism and biculturalism for his country is one in which two languages and two cultures have long been an accepted fact of life.

Thus when he declares that for this province to abandon bilingualism for nationalistic reasons is to succumb to "vain imaginings of a retrograde sentimentalism," he is speaking as a man who has first-hand knowledge of his subject.

He affirmed what most reasonably-thinking Canadians have long believed — that Quebec is much richer and stronger in the Canadian context than if it tried to go it alone.

As might be expected of a man who heads a state in which French is not only an official but a working language, he supports co-operation between French-speaking areas but believes that Quebec can achieve this objective without breaking from Canada.

Cultural duality, far from weakening Canada, gives it a two-fold dimension, which is also a two-fold opening on the world, the Tunisian President declared.

The words of Mr. Bourguiba are worthy of study by all Canadians and especially by those who have the idea that unilingualism is something to be desired.

Anyone who believes halves to be equal portions never considered the relative value some persons give to their partners in marriage.

Royal commission report

Britain to receive blueprint for reforming labor relations

By JOHN LeBLANC

LONDON (CP) — Barring late complications, Britain should be presented in June with an historic blueprint for reforming her archaic labor relations and—just possibly—shining up the industrial face she turns to the world.

It will come in the report of a royal commission on union management relations which has been creaking along for three years in the first independent inquiry in half a century into the chaotic field.

Because of the scope and tangle of the problem and apparent trouble reconciling views of the 12 commissioners, there has been one delay after another in getting out their findings. As late as mid-April they were reported scrapping over at least one key point.

The latest word now is that the commission will report just about in time for the 70th birthday June 13 of Lord Donovan, the appeal justice who is its chairman.

And none too soon. Industrial relations in Britain are a chronic headache to all concerned. The pain is sharpened now that Britain needs all the production efficiency she can muster to keep the pound from sinking further.

LAW UNDEVELOPED
At least part of her lack of streamlining in modern production stems from the surprising fact that, despite her legislative maturity and a series of Labor governments, Britain's union-management laws are remarkably undeveloped.

A hodge-podge of legislation and common law—the latter derived through miscellaneous court decisions—produces a patchwork of practices on the job. One of the anachronisms for 1968 is that neither rights nor responsibilities of unions are clearly defined.

George Woodcock, general secretary of the Trades Union Congress and a member of the commission, likes to say they're "outlaws." It's not quite that, but labor here lacks such common Canadian practices as union certification for bargaining and enforcement of collective contracts. Workers have minimal protection against dismissal.

Historically, the British government leans to laissez faire. It keeps a modest conciliation service that can be called on when trouble looms. But it is significant that the country's top trouble-shooter called in by the government on big jobs is Jack Scamp, personnel chief of an industrial firm who was knighted for his mediation work this year.

LOSES TOUCH
Add traditional management that often has not been dragged wholly into the 20th century, and it means clusters of strikes over issues that elsewhere would be settled contractually. The fact that leaders of some of the big unions—with the odd Labor-created peer among them—have lost touch with the rank-and-file also tends to create strike-inducing indiscipline.

Britain's untidy proliferation of 175 unions—with memberships ranging from 1,400,000 to less than 100—contributes to industrial disharmony. One of the big banes of industry is the "demarcation" dispute between two or more unions squabbling over a piece of work, with a sudden strike resulting. The wildcat strike, indeed, is the bugbear of production. The prize example of this came last fall when 20,000 stevedores paralysed the vast London docks for eight weeks in defiance of their union. The accompanying dent in the export drive was given some blame by Prime Minister Wilson for the devaluation crisis.

Between the wildcatting inclination and the British resistance to innovation, the country's output per worker needs severe jacking up, a point on which experts are generally agreed.

WORK 'HALF-TIME'
Lord Shawcross, a former Labor head of the trade department, expressed concern earlier this year at the way the economy operates at half-throttle because of "restrictive practices" by both unions and industry. The country is known abroad, he wrote, as "half-time Britain."

The Economist, weekly magazine of opinion, says Britain must realize quickly that its trade-union structure and its system of industrial relations are "the worst—in the sense of the most anti-productive—among the top industrial powers of the free world."

What the royal commission proposes to do about it is still a well-kept secret, though it has leaked out that one recommendation will be for encouragement of the growth of North American-style industrial unionism rather than the craft type which grew up with Britain.

There also is some optimism. Fruit breeders at the Horticultural Research Institute of Ontario at Vineland predict that within 10 years Ontario will have a thriving apricot and tangerine industry. New strains are being developed which can withstand Ontario's climate. There seems to be a market available for such home-grown products.

Southern Ontario and the Niagara Peninsula are particularly suited by nature to the growing of a wide range of fruits. We should take advantage of this, and not let nature down. The time will come, with Canada's growing population, when we can consume all the fruit we can grow.

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — Pressures for drastic changes in our foreign policy are growing.

Ever since Prime Minister Trudeau outlined his intention to de-emphasize NATO, various "peace" organizations and individuals have stepped up their clamor for Canada's withdrawal from the Atlantic alliance. The latest group to voice this attitude is the left-wing of the trade union movement whose spokesmen at the CLC conference in Toronto this week demanded abandonment of the alliance.

The argument most often used by the anti-NATO people (who usually also advocate closer ties with the Communist-ruled countries) is that the Soviet threat, which led to the formation of the alliance 19 years ago, no longer exists.

New support

I don't want to repeat my own recent analysis of this delusion, but I cannot pass up an opportunity for strengthening what I wrote about NATO with the views of University of Toronto Professor Richard Gregor expressed in a lecture on Soviet foreign policy at a seminar of the Canada Emergency Measures Organization. (The text of Prof. Gregor's paper appears in EMO's national digest publication.)

Noting the growing demand for a basic re-orientation of Western policies toward the Soviet Union, and the argument that "profound and significant changes have occurred in Soviet foreign policy which in turn rendered obsolete the policy of the Western alliance," Prof. Gregor says:

"Unfortunately, this assumption of change in Soviet foreign policy has not been accompanied by evidence. It seems more likely that the assumption was brought about by wishful thinking, by fatigue with years of the same thing, perhaps by sheer boredom of it all, and last but not least by a misunderstanding of Soviet policy."

"To be sure, since Stalin's death changes have occurred on the Soviet domestic scene. However, these changes have been those of personalities and of style rather than of institutions."

"This important distinction has been ignored and, it is further assumed that since foreign policy is but an extension of domestic policy, it must follow that the former has changed as well. The Western world has been undergoing such phases with astonishing regularity for the past 50 years."

Prof. Gregor then traces the Bolshevik combination of "peaceful co-existence" and promotion of revolutions that baffles so many people in the West right back to Lenin and goes on to say:

"After dealing with the perfection of the 'peaceful co-existence' stratagem by Lenin's successors and with the consequences of the Sino-Soviet split ('We are faced with two potential dangers instead of one') Prof. Gregor says:

"The main preoccupation of the Soviets... remains with the West. Here, on the whole, the policies of breaking the 'united capitalist front' have met with a lack of success. The fact that the Western alliance has developed few cracks is not due to Soviet policies as much to the fantasies of a French general, and a few others, who are giving the Soviets something which they have tried in vain to accomplish for the last 20 years..."

"It cannot be emphasized strongly enough and often enough, that the present relatively stable state of affairs was brought about by the unity of the West and by the (American) nuclear deterrent. This is acknowledged by the Soviets themselves by emphasizing that the socialist revolution must be brought about without precipitating a nuclear war..."

United front

"So far we have checked successfully the Soviet expansionist drive by presenting a firm and united front to them. We shall succeed in the future if, for the time being, we continue that policy."

"If we deviate from the united policy by assuming that significant changes (in Soviet Aims) have already taken place, by helping in the distinction of the Western alliance, we shall be courting disaster by encouraging adventurism and miscalculation in Soviet policy with their concomitant dangers of a world holocaust."

To impose sentence for Knowlton breakins

SWEETSBURG WARD — (Staff) — Judge Gerard Normandin will impose sentence Friday on Norman Piche, 24, of Knowlton and Burton Macey, 19, of Sutton and Knowlton. The duo pleaded guilty to two charges of breaking and entering in the Knowlton area when they appeared in Bedford District Court, May 10.

A third accused, Wayne Carter, 20, East Hill, was not allowed to plead to the charges at the request of Crown Prosecutor Claude Noiseux. Mr. Noiseux told the bench that Carter had been in a serious accident several years ago, and that although the Crown was certain that he was competent to register a plea, he wished to ascertain Carter's degree of consent after a medical examination.

A fourth individual, a juvenile, was brought before the Social Welfare Court, Monday, Warren Carter, a twin of Wayne, was released following questioning by Knowlton and Quebec Provincial Police officers. Additional charges against the four accused are expected to be laid prior to sentencing.

Piche and Macey pleaded guilty to one charge of breaking and entering at the home of Justice G. Miller Hyde, Knowlton, April 4, when approximately $500 worth of personal effects were stolen and at the home of Lucien Pepin, on or about March 1, when a record player and records, valued at $200 were taken.

Defence Counsel Alain Guay, who tried to have Piche's bail continued until sentencing, saw his motion quashed. Judge Normandin said that he could not allow bail to anyone who had pleaded guilty to an offence.

Proceeds from the rummage sale and nearly new sale were satisfactory.

Harry Costello, introduced by the president, showed many interesting pictures of his expedition to the Canadian North in 1966. Frobisher Bay, Resolute Bay and Devon Island were among the remote points visited. Mr. Costello narrated many of the pictures. At the conclusion, he was thanked by Mrs. H. S. Beane.

Buffet refreshments were served from an attractively arranged table, centered with a bouquet of daffodils, flanked by tall candles.

Mrs. P. Gaudine of the Centenary Church group and Mrs. Carroll Smith, of Stanstead South, did the honors in pouring.

punishable by 14 years imprisonment. Piche joined Carter and Macey in cells until Friday.

Judge Normandin handed Robert McKell and Herbert Sharman two year suspended sentences, remarking that their earlier plea of guilty to a charge of car theft seemed to be one of "joy riding." Judge Normandin and Crown Prosecutor Noiseux concurred that they had lived up to the terms imposed on them following their plea, and that the QPP had given a favorable report on their conduct.

Lawyer Jacques Meunier, who defended the accused suggested the sentence.

Arthur Forget, Knowlton, who had been found guilty of a charge of assault on his wife, April 2, was handed a suspended sentence valid for two years by Judge Normandin after determining that the couple were not living in the same dwelling.

Crown Prosecutor Claude Noiseux said that Stan Hardacker, Knowlton, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving in Knowlton, May 4. He was fined $75 and costs or 30 days and prohibited to drive in Canada for one year. The plea was registered in Chambers.

DUNHAM — The Cowansville Young Farmers Club, met April 24 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Harvey. Approximately twenty-five members attended.

This particular group is made up of upwards of forty-five members from surrounding towns including, St. Armand, East Farnham, Adamsville, Pike River, Dunham, Frelighsburg, Stanbridge East, Bedford and Clarenceville. The age limit for joining is twelve to twenty-five.

Several topics were discussed. One was the possibility of forming a Federation of the Brome, Waterloo and Cowansville groups. Also discussed was sending junior members to a training camp. The three boys chosen from the Cowansville area were Hans Steingruber, Keith Jenne and David Gagnon.

Another suggestion was having young members conduct some of the meetings, under the supervision of the officers in order to hold their interest as well as teach them to conduct a meeting properly.

Card parties arranged occasionally during the year by the group are one of the main sources of finances, as is a government grant, though there are other activities to help interest the young people.

South Durham

Mrs. Malcolm Coote was among the guests who attended the dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Johnston, Kingsbury, following the christening of Stacey Mae, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lancaster of Richmond.

What do you want to know about the Javelin?

The facts? The features? The price?

Read on...we tell all.

Javelin is part of the new wave at American Motors. It's the 4-passenger running-mate to the new 2-seater AMX. Both were designed by the same group—a young group with bright ideas. Ideas like long hoods and chopped rear decks... sculptured side panels... flow through ventilation without the noisy "no-drafts"... suspensions that keep you glued to the road on a double S-bend... power that gives you the edge when you need it... and styling that's with it.

To go with those goodies, Javelin's got the kind of power you like. At the top, the brand new AMX engine... the 390 V8 that'll turn 0 to 60 in 6.2 seconds; the one Craig Breedlove used in the AMX to set 106 new speed and endurance records. If you don't intend to go dragging on the weekends, settle for the 343 V8. It's no slouch either... or the 290 V8... or the very gutsy 232 Six.

Javelin sports a list of options and accessories that's as

Designs instruments

TORONTO (CP) — Music teacher Margaret Galloway is helping to build an export trade for Canada with specially designed musical instruments for children.

Miss Galloway, who teaches music at the University of Toronto Institute of Child Study, and her brother, Tony, an engineer, design six-string instruments for children and last year won a Canada Design Award. Since 1962 the Galloways have turned out 1,500 instruments.

The choral dulcimer, two types of zither, a nordic lyre and a bowed psaltery are assembled in Tony Galloway's suburban Agincourt home. Orders for the instruments have been received from the United States, African and South American countries, France and Britain.

Miss Galloway, who came to Canada from England in 1962 after lecturing in music at Bristol University, has been interested in music since she was given a tin whistle when she was seven.

USSR divorces jump eighty per cent

MOSCOW (AP) — After continuing for a long time at a steady rate, Soviet divorces jumped 80 per cent in the first full year of a new law making them easier to get.

Statistics for 1966, the latest available, show a divorce rate of 2.8 for every 1,000 persons in the U.S.S.R., up from 1.6 the year before.

Other figures show that one Soviet couple was divorced in 1966 for every three that got married. The year before it was less than one in five.

Western analysts say an unusual factor in 1966 was the rush of couples taking advantage of a December, 1965, law. A previous law had made proceedings costly and complicated.

However, unsolved social problems that break up families could continue to keep the divorce courts busy in future years.

A Soviet youth newspaper last December reported a disturbing rise in divorces in a rural area northwest of Moscow.

It blamed them on a "loss of feelings" under pressures of modern life, failure by young people to see the difference between sex and love, and husbands' refusal to help share family chores with their hard-pressed wives.

Shortages of public services such as laundries and nurseries are listed by Pravda as a main reason for family strains leading to divorce. Most housewives have outside jobs to supplement their husbands' incomes.

An experiment in the cities of Vilnius and Minsk requires couples to wait six months from the date they apply for marriage papers until the date of their state-run wedding ceremony.

Previously it was two weeks. Detailed results have not been reported, but one newspaper said 146 couples in Vilnius decided during the waiting period not to get married.

New field opened for women

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Dr. Margery O'Brien, 24, and Dr. Dale Adourian, 23, are proving that there is a wide new field open to women—as practising vets.

Two of only four girls among the 78 students who graduated from the Ontario Veterinary College in 1967, they opened a practice in Kitchener and now are working 12 to 14 hours a day. They're fortunate if they can have alternate weekends off.

While their practice in small animals has grown rapidly, it is taking them longer to get larger animals for treatment. They have, however, looked after a mare that foaled and performed post-mortems at local stockyards.

Polly's Pointers®

Old Shirt Safety Device Against Grease Burns

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Hot grease splashes can really hurt, and treating them certainly slows down dinner preparations. I keep one of my husband's old long-sleeved shirts in the kitchen and put it on when I am frying bacon, chicken or anything that might splash hot grease. I have saved not only my hands and arms but grease spots on my clothes. Most aprons are so inadequate. Also I dust my hands with flour before starting to fry chicken. This keeps the almost inevitable splatters from burning through.—ELEANOR

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I would like to know how to remove the film left in the bottom of aluminum utensils that are constantly used for boiling water. Mine have a deposit almost like metal that has accumulated and I am afraid to use my favorite pot. We are now in Texas but have lived elsewhere before and never had this reaction.—HAZEL

DEAR POLLY—Start your seedlings by using egg shell halves filled with loam and then placed back in the empty egg carton. It is so easy to move about without disturbing them. Seedlings can later be planted in the ground in the shells, which will give way and decompose into useful fertilizer for the plant.—MRS. B. P.

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Marge who wanted to know how to remove wax from her lamb's wool waxing pad. Pour a small amount of liquid detergent on it, pour very hot water over that and rub with your hands until the wax dissolves. Rinse with clear warm water. A few drops of fabric softener with the final rinse will help soften it, too. I do this directly under the faucet and it takes only a short time.—MRS. D. L.

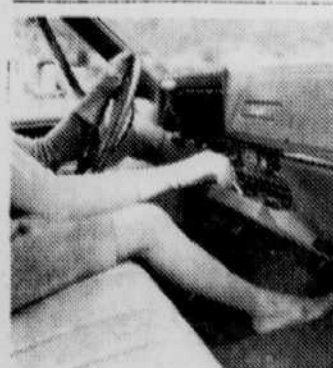

DEAR GIRLS—This procedure should be followed after each use of the lamb's wool applicator. Often when the wax is allowed to harden it is impossible to remove satisfactorily and certainly is no good for applying more wax. Shake well after the thorough rinsing and always stand resting on the handle with the pad up.—POLLY

Physics, not her cup of tea

OTTAWA (CP) — A desire to help her country's war effort led Marion Kellogg to specialize in mathematics and physics in 1942.

But physics wasn't her cup of tea, and today she's one of the top personnel consultants in North America.

Miss Kellogg, manager of individual development methods service for General Electric of New York, was in Ottawa recently to address the spring meeting of the Public Personnel Association.

"I wasn't a very good physicist, and I realized just how bad I was when I started at General Electric in 1944," she said. "The competition was just terrific."

"I think men have a distinct advantage in this field. From the time they are born they look at machines and learn to fix things. They really have a physical picture of what is going on."

In 1953 Miss Kellogg became manager of employee relations in the flight propulsion laboratory department, and during this period she tried to hire women for technical jobs.

SLIM RESPONSE
"We decided to place advertisements across the United States for female engineers, physicists, chemists — anything technical."

"We usually get about 1,000 replies when we advertise for engineers alone, but in this instance we only got six, and three of these were from women's organizations congratulating us on our broad-minded employment policy."

General Electric has a large number of women employees, but they are primarily employed in the factories or in secretarial and clerical fields.

"In the old days the best way for a girl to get ahead in a company was to start with typing and shorthand, but today this is just about impossible."

"Technical advances require much more trained personnel. You can't just work up any more."

"A woman who wants a career should find a field where there is a need for trained personnel."

Amorous ghost drives widow from home

PRETORIA (Reuters) — An amorous ghost is driving an attractive 39-year-old South African widow from her home here.

Anna de la Rovera said she fears she will go out of her mind if she has to stay any longer in the house she has occupied since November. The ghost, she said, turns aggressive when its attentions are refused.

Mrs. de la Rovera said the troubled started when she moved into the house with her three small children and found such sinister signs as crosses on the doors and a piece of pork on a nail in the main bedroom.

"From the first night I knew there was a ghost in the house," she said.

But the apparition first manifested itself two months ago, when she returned home to find a man dressed in grey sitting on the front porch.

When she asked him what he wanted, the man "stood up and simply walked into the house through the closed front door."

He followed up this feat by stalking into her bedroom at night on several occasions and pulling the blankets from her.

"He keeps on making amorous advances to me," the widow complained.

In desperation, she took the case to the Pretoria city council's housing department, and officials there promised they would help her to find another home.

sonnel and prepare herself for that field."

CANADIANS DIFFER

This year Miss Kellogg has travelled to GE plants and offices in Montreal, Toronto, Peterborough and Oshawa regularly, advising managers how to make the best use of their employees.

"I find when I'm dealing with U.S. managers that about 50 per cent will pick up and use my ideas. Canadian managers are different."

"Here, 75 to 100 per cent will use my suggestions. I think this indicates there is very little discrimination against women in this country."

Miss Kellogg has two books to her credit, both published by the American Management Association. Her third will be published in July.

She also enjoys the theatre and baseball.

Babies deaths cause renewed demands to halt careless over-use of antibiotic drugs

LONDON (CP) — The death of 14 babies in a hospital from stomach infections which had built up immunity to antibiotics has provoked renewed demands for action to halt careless over-use of such drugs.

The infants died in an epidemic of gastro-enteritis during November and December in Middlesbrough, northeast England. The stomach and bowel infections were fatal despite use of antibiotics that normally check the illness quickly.

More recently, a similar outbreak at Great Ormond Street Hospital for Sick Children in London prompted authorities to ban admission of infants under six months old for fear of infection. The London hospital recorded no fatalities and lifted the ban at the end of February.

Laboratory tests on strains of bacteria from Middlesbrough showed the organisms, known as Escherichia coli, had acquired resistance to eight types of antibiotic. The resistance was transferable among bacteria.

Dr. E. S. Anderson, London bacteriologist who conducted the tests, blamed indiscriminate use of antibiotics both in humans and for farm livestock. He said it is high time public authorities heeded warnings given by doctors for several years.

WARNINGS IGNORED
"The increasing emergence of disease-causing strains of intestinal bacteria, carrying transferable resistance factors is the result of uncritical use of antibiotics over a long period in human and animal medicine," Dr. Anderson says in his report.

The British Medical Journal took up the cudgels in its main editorial.

The medical publication notes that almost three years ago Dr. Anderson discovered that a strain of Salmonella typhimurium with a acquired drug resistance had caused about 1,200 animal infections, mainly in calves, and 500 in man.

Anderson then called for "a re-examination of the whole question of the use of antibiotics and other drugs in the rearing of livestock." As he said in a letter to the journal, "I cannot understand why this suggestion . . . has been resisted."

The medical journal says the number of bacteria which can acquire such transferable resistance is limited.

SPELL OUT DANGER
Nevertheless, it warns that spread of resistance among intestinal bacteria could neutralize medicine's main weapon against typhoid nrvr 8vthe antibiotic chloramphenicol—and make several other known infectious organisms dangerous to newborn infants or adults weakened by other disease.

The publication supports demands for a public inquiry into the use of antibiotics in animals and men.

Officially, British farmers are restricted to using defined quantities of two types of antibiotics in growth-promoting feed for poultry and pigs.

However, doctors suspect antibiotic feed supplements are being used illegally for calves and that permitted quantities are being exceeded. Experts believe drug-resisance developed in livestock organisms can be transferred to normally-harmless intestinal bacteria in humans and then passed on to virulent bacteria.

A family quarrel ends up in court

Two youths who were arrested Sunday following an argument between six members of a Sherbrooke family and four East Angus youths yesterday pleaded guilty in Sessions Court to charges of carrying an offensive weapon with the intent to maim and to possession of a sawed-off rifle.

Richard Pratte, 20, and Jean Guy Charland, 22, were both involved in a scuffle with Honorius Gosselin and five other members of his family.

Both were given suspended sentences and ordered to post $500 bonds to keep the peace for two years.

When asked what they were doing with the guns, Pratte answered they were used when the accused went fishing.

Both a .35 calibre revolver and the sawed-off rifle were confiscated.

Jean Claude Beaudoin, 31, of Montreal pleaded not guilty upon arraignment to charge of attempted breaking and entering and to possession of burglary tools.

The accused opted for a speedy trial.

Bail was set at $1000 and $2,050 property.

The incident happened May 12 in Sherbrooke.

Guy Lachance, 22, of Sherbrooke was acquitted yesterday of a charge of hit and run by Judge Benoit Turmel.

On Sept. 9, 1967 an accident occurred on Route 5, just past Derby Line.

Jacques Monette, the victim of a hit and run accident, testified he was returning home from a drive-in movie when his car was struck.

He said he got out of his car and found a piece of chrome on the road which he immediately took to the Stanstead QPP headquarters.

The piece of chrome was then traced to the accused's car.

Representing the accused, Defence lawyer Raynald Frechette told Judge Turmel that in all the proof presented by Crown Prosecutor Andre Langlais no attempt was made to identify Lachance as being the driver of the car when the accident occurred.

Judge Turmel agreed saying that in civil court cases the car would be used as sufficient proof to warrant payment of a claim but in criminal court identification of the driver is needed.

QUEBEC SCENE:

Teacher settlement is near

MONTREAL (CP) — Marcel Masse, minister without portfolio in charge of current negotiations between the Quebec government and its civil servants, said Monday recent progress in contract talks with the province's 70,000 teachers should bring about a settlement by June 1.

Mr. Masse, formerly a minister without portfolio attached to the education department, was speaking at a news conference called to outline what has been accomplished to date in negotiations by the provincial government and the Quebec Protestant and Catholic school commissions with three teacher associations.

Three contentious issues have been working conditions, teacher classification and means by which they could have a say in decision-making, particularly in regard to course content.

Bird watcher's notes

By J. GRAHAM PATRIQUIN

The St. F.M. Bird Club field trip manager, Dorothy Wallace, is also a scientist. Much of the news in these notes comes, this time, from her notebook and accurate memory, and is gratefully acknowledged. When you can't make the field, the next best is to scan the considered findings of a master — or mistress — of the craft.

Winnowing Snipe, shy Rusty Blackbird, woody White-throat and that maestro of the woodwinds, Hermit Thrush, welcomed 19 first nighters at the Gravel Pit, the College Woods and the Massawippi Flats. Recorded were 24 species.

Members and friends, 21 in all, represented most every part of our membership area at a daytime visit to Lake Massawippi Fish and Game Conservation Farm. Harry Eno was host, and his birds showed well. Forty-seven species went into the checklists. The Field Sparrow was possibly the Big One for this good outing. Pauline and Bus McLennahan brought along enthusiastic newcomers, the Planadians, of Windsor, who have fed a resident Cardinal for the last two winters. Jeanie Birch, Coaticook; the Byron Browns, Stanstead; Secretary Nickle, Magog; and Mrs. Steeves, Montreal, gave the outing more geographical breadth than usual.

Katevale end of Lake Magog was good for 19 people and 24 species in the second evening foray. Your notemaker was late for the rendez-vous, but enjoyed a leisurely study of a cruising, diving Ring-necked Duck that practically ignored the bank of fishermen and women flaying the water with lures and earthworms. The Field Trip manager noted the unwanted sleek appearance of the female Redwings along the marsh, and pointed to the Horned Grebe, the Osprey and the Bittern as the prize rewards of waterside watching.

The Lowthers, Drs. Ruth and Jim, have been generous in report and direction all winter and spring. Dr. Ruth practically tamed a flock of Crossbills during the snowseason, and gets belated thanks for the telling. Dr. Jim's coloring project returned unpredictable dividends but none more interesting than Mrs. Fred Fox's complimentary remarks on a streakily daubed Robin. It turned out to be a naturally discolored, partial albino, apparently nesting with a perfectly normal mate — bird integration, if you will! Dr. Jim saw, only the other day, a Meadowlark whose song was that of a Western — hitherto reported only as far east as Kingston, Ontario.

'Notice the lingering Evening Grosbeaks? They come in on our feeder every morning, and clean out the fresh Sunflower seeds before the 7 a.m. news. Insatiable panhandlers, they give a good show for their breakfast.

The Warbler invasion should begin its infiltration any day now. A bountiful month, this one of May.

No Treatment Required For Most Endometriosis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—Please explain these terms: adenomyosis and endometriosis of the myometrium.

A—Adenomyosis is a benign invasion by the endometrial cells lining the inside of the uterus into the muscular tissues of that organ, accompanied by a thickening of the muscular layer. This is also called internal endometriosis or endometriosis of the myometrium. External endometriosis is an extension of endometrial cells into the pelvic cavity, here they may cover loops of intestine or the urinary bladder.

Q—How is endometriosis diagnosed? What causes it? How prevalent is it? Is it malignant? How can it be cured?

A—Endometriosis is suspected when the severity of menstrual cramps coupled with menstrual irregularity gradually increases. The uterus becomes enlarged and just preceding a menstrual period it is tender to pressure over the pelvis.

The cause is not known. The condition has always existed but it was not recognized until recent years. Its prevalence appears to be increasing chiefly because more doctors now consider the possibility of its presence than did in earlier times.

Although this is a type of tumor it is not malignant. The treatment must be individualized. In many victims the condition is so mild no treatment is required. In some, female hormones give relief. In the severer cases an operation to remove the tumors in the pelvic cavity is necessary. This is usually followed by a course of treatment with hormones for two or three years. If this does not effect a cure, or if the uterine musculature is involved, complete removal of the uterus and tubes may be necessary.

Q—While visiting in the north I had a severe attack of arthritis. A local doctor prescribed Butazolidine. When I returned home the drugstore would not refill the prescription. What are the harmful effects of this drug?

A—Since phenylbutazone (Butazolidine) is a prescription drug no pharmacist can dispense it without a new prescription. Although this is a powerful antirheumatic drug, it should be taken only under medical supervision. This includes a complete blood count before starting the drug and a recheck of the blood count every week or 10 days thereafter. The toxic effects include anemia, skin rash, fever and hepatitis.

THE LAMPLIGHTER RETIRES

PRESSURE AND TENSION finally caught up with Hector "Toe" Blake and after an illustrious 36 year career with the Montreal Canadiens he finally decided to call it quits. Knowing Toe it certainly was hard for him to retire as he loved the game and enjoyed every bit of it.

HE STATED WHEN he was in Sherbrooke last winter that he thought it would be his last season as coach but at the time no one figured he was serious but it seems he meant what he said. "I'd like to coach for 100 years but I can't take it any more. Maybe I can't live without hockey, but for my health's sake I have to try it," said Blake.

BLAKE WAS A GREAT left winger on the famous "Punch Line" with Elmer Lach and Rocket Richard. He coached the same way he played, all out all the time.

HE HAS LEFT behind a terrific record as coach and one which may never be equalled. Some of the best tributes came from Blake's players and this is something. Toe was known as cracking the whip all the time, for him it was hard work. He had great desire, he hated to lose.

BLAKE, WHEN HE made his announcement over TV had a hard job in keeping back the tears and one can well understand his position especially after 36 years in the sport. It must have been tough.

IT WAS A GREAT SERIES and the Blues almost stole the thunder with their brilliant playing. They never quit and gave the Habs a tough time. It was figured by everyone that the Canadiens would run away from them but it turned out a different story.

ANYWAY NOW President David Molson and Manager Sam Pollock will have to take some time to study applications for Blake's replacement. It seems Toe told them a few months ago it was going to be his last season.

NO MATTER WHAT one thinks, Toe did a wonderful job and in our mind he played a big part in Canadiens' famous string of Stanley Cup victories. He may have had the players but to mould them into a team is a big effort and Toe did just that. Congratulations Toe for a wonderful job.

LACROSSE OPENED Sunday with a bang and Drummondville Athletics proved they will be tough in the Poliquin circuit once again. They knocked off the All-Stars in the annual classic at the Sports Palace.

THE SEASON will officially get underway next Sunday and some good games should be witnessed. Coach Roger Despard of the Olympics seems to have formed a good club and Sherbrooke should be battling it out for honors once again.

THE RACING SEASON swung into high gear Sunday and a good crowd turned out for the opening card. As was previously announced there would be racing Wednesday things have changed a little.

LACK OF PAPERS for the horses has caused the track to cancel the Wednesday card. There are plenty of horses but the CTA doesn't allow them to start without their papers hence the reason for the postponement.

SUNDAY'S CARD was a good one and the drivers gave a good account of themselves for their initial appearance. The times were very good with only one off a little.

IT IS A SHAME there will be no racing Wednesday but it is hoped that sufficient papers will be back from Toronto by the weekend. Some of the owners waited a little late before sending in their renewals and hence the reason for the delay.

COACH NICK TESTA had close to 30 players on hand Sunday for the Alouettes' first workout which speaks well for the team. Several new players from South America are on hand and from the look of things the Als should have a fair club.

MANAGER AINSLIE with Jean - Paul Thibault, vice-president, have been working hard trying to secure good players and it seems their efforts may be repaid. It is a little early to say much but after a week or so things should shape up fairly well.

JEAN PERRAULT is going to hold a water skiing school this summer at Jacques Cartier Park. The course will comprise ten lessons and will cost the sum of $10. Youngsters must be over seven years of age to be eligible. The limit has been fixed at 300 so if you are interested register immediately by calling 569-7471 local 293.

LENNOXVILLE GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB staged their official opening last Saturday and a good crowd was on hand. The course at Milby wintered very well and the members should be in for a good season.

DUKE DOUCET, JR., got the Belvedere Golf Club off to a good start. He is the new pro there and is looking forward to a great year.

NEW ALOUETTES — Nick Testa, centre, playing-coach of the Sherbrooke Alouettes Baseball Club is seen with some of his new players. The team opened their pre-season training at the local ball park Sunday afternoon and a total of 30

Hall wins Smythe Trophy Habs receive

MONTREAL (CP) — Glenn Hall, St. Louis Blues' goaltender who played brilliantly throughout the Stanley Cup playoffs, Monday was named winner of the Conn Smythe Trophy as "the most valuable player to his team in the entire playoffs."

The 36-year-old veteran, who called it quits after tending the nets for Chicago last season and had to be coaxed away from his farm near Edmonton, got the nod for the trophy from a poll conducted by the National Hockey League's board of governors.

In addition to getting his name inscribed on the four-year-old trophy, Hall receives a bonus of $1,500.

He was beaten for 45 goals during St. Louis' 18 playoff games, including eight overtime contests, for an average of 2.47 goals per game.

Hall paced his team through the quarter-finals against Western Division champion Philadelphia Flyers, and again in the semi-finals against Minnesota North Stars when the Blues took the seventh game in overtime.

In the finals against the Canadiens, Hall forced the Stanley Cup champions to squeeze out all their wins by one-goal margins in four straight games.

The playoffs were his 12th since he broke into the Detroit Red Wings organization in the 1955-56 season. He went to Chicago Black Hawks in 1957 and remained until last June when he was picked up by St. Louis.

the league's expansion draft. Hall was the second goaltender on a losing club to win the award. Roger Crozier, in the nets for Detroit, was the first.

The trophy was presented to civic reception, parade is held

MONTREAL (CP) — Montrealers estimated by police at between 600,000 and 1,000,000 turned out for a 20-mile cavalcade through downtown streets Monday night to pay tribute to this year's Stanley Cup champions—the Canadiens.

Thousands were lined 10 deep as the motorcade took three hours to travel from Montreal Forum to east-end Lafontaine Park.

Thousands of others were on hand at the park to greet the players.

A civic reception atop Mount Royal followed the parade.

More than 300 invited guests were on hand for the banquet at which Mayor Jean Drapeau presented the players and team officials with visas for themselves and families for this year's Man and His World exhibition opening Friday on the site of Expo 67.

Mayor Drapeau said the hockey club had once again acted as goodwill ambassadors for the city.

The mayor paid special tribute to Toe Blake, who announced his retirement following Saturday's 3-2 win over St. Louis Blues.

The Canadiens swept the Blues from cup competition in four straight games.

Team helped me win trophy-Hall

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Glenn Hall is a valuable hockey player who thinks longingly of "a little patch of ground" near Edmonton.

"When you're a farmer you can miss a trip with the plow and nobody will get too excited," Hall said Monday night after learning he had won the Conn Smythe Trophy.

The award goes to the most valuable player in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs.

"Now in this game when the puck slips behind you into the net, people get excited," said the 36-year-old goalie.

earned him the trophy and $1,500.

PRaises TEAM-MATES Hall praised his team-mates and said they won the trophy for him.

"I was more relaxed this year," said Hall. "I don't know why exactly. In Chicago, they said win. In St. Louis, they said play well."

"I don't mean to say anything bad about Chicago, but this is a fine hockey team."

"The Eastern Division teams liked to think they were a lot better than we were," Hall added. "I'm not saying we were any better than the other two clubs Montreal beat in the playoffs, but we were no worse."

Peter Fuller and Lou Cavalaris leave after testifying on case

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Owner Peter Fuller and trainer Lou Cavalaris have left, but the hearing in the disqualification of Dancer's Image as Kentucky Derby winner continues today at Churchill Downs.

"We'll be back Wednesday morning," Fuller said Monday as he prepared to board a plane for Baltimore after testifying in the first day of the stewards' hearing. The owner and trainer said they were asked by the stewards to attend a session Wednesday, perhaps to offer more testimony.

Today, however, the two were to supervise a workout for Dancer's Image, now in training for the Preakness this Saturday.

At the first day of the hearing, which lasted 11½ hours, eight or more witnesses offered testimony. However, no one divulged what transpired at the closed session.

The hearing is intended to determine who is to blame for the appearance of phenylbutazone, a pain-killing drug, in the colt's system after the running of the Derby May 4.

Cavalaris' reputation is at stake and he could be suspended from handling Fuller's string. In addition, Fuller says he won't run Dancer's Image in the Preakness if Cavalaris.

Flyers eke out 4-3 overtime win over Estevan to lead 3-1

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Most goaltenders have a weakness and Niagara Falls Flyers discovered Monday night that a low shot was the only way to beat Ken Brown.

Even with those instructions, the Flyers needed 63 shots to post a 4-3 overtime victory over Estevan Bruins and take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup final.

"We knew we had to shoot low to beat him because he has a fabulous catching hand," said defenceman Rick Ley of the Flyers.

"But even then we kept shooting high and he can't be beaten that way."

The Flyers outshot the Bruins 18-7 in a scoreless first period, and held a 2-1 edge after outshooting Estevan 39-11 during the first 40 minutes.

BEAT BROWN TWICE

Garry Swain beat the 18-year-old Edmonton native twice — once with a shot along the ice and again by tapping a loose puck across the crease.

Team-mate Ross Webley also scored on a low drive and Tom Webster got the winner in the second overtime period by tapping a loose puck into the open side of the net.

Gregg Sheppard, Ron Garwasiuk and Gerry Dionne scored for Estevan.

Neither club was able to score in the first 10-minute overtime period, but Webster connected at 12:56 of the second — a sudden-death period of 20 minutes duration.

General manager Scotty Munro of Estevan said it wasn't "the Niagara Falls club that beat us."

"The referees (Jim McAuley of Montreal) killed my team with cheap penalties,"

DREW 30 MINUTES

Estevan took 30 minutes in penalties compared to 14 by Niagara Falls. The Bruins received 14 minutes in the first period.

"And my top players were exhausted then," Munro said.

Coach Ernie McLean of Estevan said Jim Harrison, Dale Hoganson, Dan Schock and Sheppard "played about 17 minutes each in the first period to kill off the penalties."

The Flyers gave Brown all the credit for the close match.

"The score would have gone out of sight if he didn't have so much heart," said Don Tannahill.

Brown played for Moose Jaw of the Western Canada Junior Hockey League during the season, and was picked up by Estevan of the same league for the trip east.

The Bruins were successful in keeping series' point leader Steve Atkinson from getting on the scoreboard. Atkinson, who had four goals and four assists after three games, said:

POLIS STAYED CLOSE

"No. 9 was close to me all night. I don't think he was shadowing me, but he stuck around waiting for me to make a move."

Gregg Polis wears No. 9 for Estevan.

Atkinson said he was tired throughout the game.

"They all are," said general manager Hap Emms of the Flyers.

He said some of the players would skate today "but there's no real practice."

The standout performers for the Flyers were Swain, Tannahill and Ley, who played almost 60-minute hockey.

"It wasn't really as bad as it appeared," Ley said. "When you are back there on defence, you can pace yourself because you don't have to break away every time you get the puck."

The standouts for Estevan were Hoganson, Garwasiuk, Schock and Sheppard.

The fifth game of the series for Canada's junior hockey championship is scheduled for 8 p.m. EDT here Wednesday night with the sixth and seventh games, if necessary, here Friday and Saturday.

A crowd of 2,726 were on hand for Monday's game.

Cards edge Pirates 1-0 in close battle, Cubs whip Dodgers 5-1

If Pittsburgh Pirates ever get Jim Bunning a few runs they'll be dangerous but if St. Louis Cardinals get anybody a few more runs they'll be unstoppable.

The Cardinals widened their National League lead to four games Monday night by nipping Bunning and the Pirates 1-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Nelson Briles.

St. Louis has scored just 12 runs in its last six starts and won four of them.

The Pirates have scored 11 runs in splitting their last six games. Bunning is 3-3 on the season, with a pair of 1-0 losses in the last two weeks. The 36-year-old right-hander, acquired by Pittsburgh in a winter trade, lost five 1-0 decisions with Philadelphia Phillies last year.

In other National League night games—the only other action in the majors—Chicago Cubs whipped Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 and Atlanta Braves shaded Philadelphia 4-2.

Curt Flood's double and Roger Maris' run-scoring single in the first inning gave Briles all the support he needed in gaining his fifth victory against two losses.

Briles, tagged for a single by Bill Mazeroski and a double by Willie Stargell in the first inning, pitched out of the jam and then shackled the Pirates, whose team batting average dipped to .226.

After giving up the first-inning run, Bunning allowed only one more St. Louis runner to reach second base until the eighth, when he left for a pinch hitter.

Ernie Banks cracked a two-run homer for the Cubs, who spotted Los Angeles a 1-0 first-inning lead before moving ahead to stay in the fourth on singles by Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams plus a sacrifice fly by Ron Santo.

Santo singled home another run in the sixth before Banks unloaded his fifth 1968 homer—the 44th of his career.

Southpaw Ken Holtzman was the winner with eighth-inning relief help from former Dodger Phil Regan. Ken Boyer, making his Dodger debut, drove in the only run off Holtzman with the first of his two singles.

Knuckleballer Phil Niekro stopped Philadelphia on three hits and keyed the Braves' deciding two-run rally in the ninth with a bunt single. Reliever Dick Farrell walked pinch hitter Tito Francona with the bases jammed, forcing in the tie-breaking run, and Hank Aaron provided insurance with a sacrifice fly.

Aaron's younger brother, Tommy, got the Braves off to an early lead with a two-run homer but the Phils tied it in the fourth on a two-run single by Johnny Briggs.

Scotstown W.I. holds meeting

SCOTSTOWN — The May meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the school on April 29, one week early, owing to several members planning to be out of town on the regular meeting night.

Mrs. Bea Atkin was appointed delegate to the County Annual at Canterbury on May 25. Several articles were brought in for the Save the Children bazaar and the Christmas stockings were given out to be filled. Used stamps were brought in to be sent to the Leprosy Mission in Toronto.

Mrs. W. A. Ladd reported that some collectors had handed in the money they had collected for the Red Cross.

Three members offered to make candy for members out of town for the candy sale at the Variety Night in Bury on May 10.

Plans were made for raising money for the transportation for the members' trip in June.

Mrs. Philip Boy read an article on Asbestos and Mrs. Helen Hall sold the plants that came in. Members, not bringing plants, each gave a donation of twenty-five cents.

Members were reminded to have their articles in by June 3 for display at the Macdonald College Convention.

The meeting adjourned and the cast of the skit held a dress rehearsal.

Mrs. Burns MacDonald and Mrs. Helen Hall served refreshments.

Miscellaneous shower held for May bride-elect

TOMIFOBIA — Mrs. Boyd Gilbert and Mrs. David Beasley were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous bridal shower on April 26, held at the former's home in honor of Miss Frances Embury, a May bride-to-be.

The honored guest was blindfolded and taken for a ride by Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Beasley and found herself at Mrs. Gilbert's home, where she was greeted by 35 relatives and friends.

She was given a novelty corsage by Mrs. Beasley and escorted to a decorated chair. She was seated with her mother, Mrs. Wm. Embury, her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Robert Leith and her grandmother, Mrs. Elbert Embury, who were given floral corsages by Mrs. Gilbert.

The rooms were decorated with yellow and green balloons and with streamers of the same color, extending from the chair back to the corners of the table to the ceiling, where they were centered with two balloons, which when broken by Mrs. Gilbert, showered the bride-to-be with confetti.

The many gifts were placed on a table before the bride-elect, who was assisted in opening them by her mother and Mrs. Leith.

Mrs. Leith made a hat of the house and ribbons, which Miss Embury wore during the remainder of the evening.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by the Misses Judy and Brenda Hatch, Debra Hucksins and Cathy Gilbert.

A shower cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Beasley, was cut by Mrs. Gilbert and served by the bride-to-be.

Guests attending were from Lennoxville, North Hatley, Waterville, Stanstead, Rock Island, and Tomifobia.

Post-nuptial shower held for Beebe lady

BEEBE — Mrs. Jules Bertrand, the former Ruby Wilson, was honored at a post-nuptial shower, in the council room on April 27. Approximately 40 relatives and friends attended.

On entering, the guest of honor was presented with a floral corsage, and escorted to a chair by a table well-laden with many attractively wrapped packages. She was assisted in opening the gifts by her mother, Mrs. William Wilson and Mrs. Robin Bertrand, step-daughter-in-law, who were also presented with floral corsages.

A guessing game was conducted, as well as an action game, both of which were hilarious. The lucky winners were awarded prizes.

The hall was trimmed with pink and aqua streamers, white bells and pink bows.

Refreshments were served with the guest of honor passing the beautifully decorated cake.

Hostesses were Mrs. Morris Bullock, Mrs. Millard Mosher, Mrs. Provencher, Mrs. I. Stone. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Mosher's and Mrs. Stone's daughters.

Guests attending were from Derby, Vt., Derby Line, Vt., Stanstead, Rock Island, Granville, Griffin, Marlinton and Beebe.

Annual Diocesan convention held by Catholic Women's League

RICHMOND — The 42nd annual Diocesan convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, of the Archdiocese of Sherbrooke, was held in Melbourne at the Golf Clubhouse, on May 4, with St. Patrick's Council as hostess.

Immediately after registering, guests, delegates and members of other parish councils were served coffee and muffins by the hostess group. Registration was in charge of Mrs. W. Parkes and Mrs. Herby Crook.

Mrs. Ross Alexander, president of St. Patrick's Council, welcomed the members. Mrs. Eugene Clark, Diocesan president, opened the meeting with the League prayer, and a Scripture reading by Miss Yvette Campbell. Members who were absent, due to illness, were remembered in prayer.

The theme of the convention, chosen by the director, Msgr. J. R. Moisan, was Year of Peace and Hope, Year of Prayer.

All reports from parish council presidents and diocesan conveners were mimeographed and copies were distributed to all members, the work being in charge of Miss Marion McCormick.

CIVIC RECEPTION

After an interesting morning session, a civic reception was tendered by the Town Council of Richmond, represented by Arnold Healy, pro-mayor, who extended greetings to the delegates and asked all to sign the Golden Book.

At 12:30 luncheon was served in the Club hall, catered by the United Church Women. Seated at the head table were: Mrs. Eugene Clark, Msgr. Moisan, Mrs. Ross Alexander, Miss Marion McCormick, Mrs. E. J. Wolfe, Wm. F. Steele and Mrs. Steele, Arnold Healy, Miss Yvette Campbell and Patrick Asselin, MP.

Mrs. Maura McKenna introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Steele, who spoke on Ireland, which he had visited in 1967. He is at present organizing a group who will tour Ireland in July next. Msgr. Moisan also addressed the assembly briefly and Mrs. E. J. Wolfe gave the general appreciation.

YEAR'S HIGHLIGHTS

Sessions resumed with the presentation of the highlights of the year's activities. Mrs. B. W. Murray, convener of spiritual, reported two spiritual bouquets were prepared, 31 masses were said for deceased members and relatives of members, Our Lady of Good Counsel was honored by a Mass on her feast day, by all councils.

Three councils provide flowers for the altar on special feast days. New vestments were donated by two councils, 47 hours were devoted to the care of the Sanctuary and linens. Five councils reported members attending inter-faith services on several occasions, particularly during Church Unity Week.

One day of recollection was organized by Diocesan Council and one council sponsored a three-day retreat. Literature and 26 pounds of cancelled stamps were sent to missions, also a donation of $22.50. One council contributed to the purchase of New Testaments for a class of students making their Communion.

The membership has decreased, due in part to the disbanding of one parish council, and now numbers 244 active members and 38 honorary members. Five of seven Life Members were present at convention: Mrs. F. E. S. Shelley, Mrs. E. J. Wolfe, Mrs. Ross Alexander, Mrs. A. Buzzell and Miss Arlene Hand.

ACTIVE IN EDUCATION

Mrs. T. Donovan, convener of education, showed that members had been active in this field. All councils contributed to the support and education of an Asian orphan and plans are underway for the adoption of another orphan soon. The total donation to the National Scholarship Fund was $90.57; $430 was spent in parishes for local scholarships, prizes and religious books.

One council sponsors a library, as well as a subscription to Sign and Catholic Digest. The total amount spent for education was $1,259.

The proceeds were to be used in building a playground for children.

Social Welfare convener, Mrs.

D. Halchak, reported 287 pounds of clothing sent to Indian Missions; $10 was sent to Stella Maris. Magazines were sent to the Catholic Sailors Club. Much new and good used clothing was distributed locally. One council pledged $100 for a home for senior citizens; 70 baskets of food and treats were distributed at Christmas; 1,000 hours of volunteer work was spent by one convener and her assistant in welfare work.

A Christmas party was organized for the patients at the Youville Hospital. Carols were sung by the Girl Guides and gifts were distributed. One council distributed 15 gifts to elderly inmates in Homes at Christmas and made 50 visits to sick in hospital and in homes.

The afternoon parties were organized by one council for senior citizens, with 50 attending. Five members acted as hostesses and provided refreshments. These events were so successful, that council plans to continue holding them monthly.

Convener of legislation, Miss P. Tuite, reported that three councils discussed the WUCOW reports appearing in League Magazine. One council asked for and received copies of Bills C 187 and C 95, that is the Act re Divorce and Amendment to Criminal Code.

About television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's awards show, in which the Emmys will be passed out, comes along next Sunday night. This has not been one of television's golden years. By and large, the regular fare, the series, have been predictable, grade B stuff. There has been a feast of old movies and a famine of quality drama.

This viewer, confronted with almost 250 nominees, would find it difficult to pick a favorite program or performer in most of the 47 categories.

Certainly much of the season's excitement was stimulated, first, by The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour, and, later, by Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In. Both shows have several nominations and certainly deserve recognition if only for bringing some spice, daring and often a point of view into an entertainment area that had been slipping into a bland and perfunctory rut.

BRING BACK DRAMA

CBS Playhouse made a stab at bringing back meaningful, original drama, and had some success with two efforts, Do Not Go Gentle into that Good Night and Dear Friends.

ABC's adaptations of some old movies with new stars didn't come off well, but A Case of Label, with Van Heflin re-creating his stage role, provided a fine evening of television.

Among the variety specials, one recalls with affection Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass, on CBS, a most imaginative show, and Frank Sinatra's NBC special with Ella Fitzgerald. Raymond Burr probably deserves some award for managing, within a few months, to blur his well-established image as Perry Mason by developing a completely different and equally convincing character named Ironside—so convincing a lot of fans believe Burr is really paralyzed and in a wheel chair.

PBL on the educational network tried hard if not always successfully, in the current affairs area. ABC's The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich was a painstaking and well-researched three-part series, and its Africa, a marathon program that taxed the viewer's stamina, was certainly an ambitious piece of public service.

That does not add up to much of a list when one considers the thousands of hours of programming that went on the air.
