BACKGROUND

Deadline: Wednesday, May 25, 2005
There was a time when artistic activities in school were in a special category reserved for the more gifted students.

Since the introduction of the Arts curriculum in 1981, the publication of the Arpin report in 1991 and the adoption of a cultural policy by the government of Québec in 1992, much has changed. The arts as now taught in many of Québec's schools are a reflection of the importance granted not only to the quality but also to the cultural dimension of arts education.

In recent years, educators and school authorities have taken an interest in the role of the arts and culture in education. The resulting experimentation with new approaches and the planning of common, specific policies and actions involving teachers, arts specialists, professional artists and school authorities have led to numerous innovative joint projects. These projects demonstrate that, by dint of imagination and teamwork, it is possible to ensure the development, the improvement and even the emancipation of arts and cultural education in the schools.

The Essor Awards Contest recognizes and encourages the efforts and teamwork of educators and school authorities, and highlights the quality and excellence of the actions of all those who believe that arts and cultural education should be offered in school, and who have developed an educational project to promote arts and cultural education in their institutions.

Since 1996, the Essor Awards Contest has highlighted the achievements of those people who often work behind the scenes, and rewarded educational institutions by awarding more and more prizes each year, thanks to the generosity of an ever-increasing number of partners and sponsors.

More recently, the educational policy statement Québec Schools on Course, the 1997 agreement on education and culture, and the Québec Education Program, first published in 2000, have clearly identified the basic ways in which the arts and culture contribute to the education of young people. The Québec Education Program presents arts education as one of the five essential fields of learning and integrates culture across the curriculum. Reinforced by the observations made with respect to the schools' interest and participation, the Essor Awards Contest will pursue the same objectives with unprecedented vigour and once again challenge Québec's schools to enhance the emphasis they place on arts and cultural education in 2005.

Dynamic PARTNERSHIP

As demonstrated by most of the projects submitted each year, any activity or project is the result of close collaboration among various partners. The Essor Awards Contest is itself an example of partnership, as are the exciting projects carried out in the schools.

The Ministère de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport produces the promotional materials for the contest, coordinates the distribution of regional prizes and organizes the Essor provincial gala in collaboration with its partners.

Once again this year, the Ministère will partially fund the amounts awarded as the first and second prizes in each region. In addition to increasing the amount awarded as second prize at the provincial level, it will award the Isabelle Aubin Prize for the third time.

Who are the partners and sponsors of the ESSOR AWARDS CONTEST?

PARTNERS

The Ministère de la Culture et des Communications (MCC) supports the Ministère de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport in encouraging schools to use the resources available in the cultural community and building synergy between schools and municipal authorities.

More specifically, the MCC will partially fund the amount awarded to projects that win the second prize in each region and will award a cash prize to the winner of the Culture-Education Special Prize.

SPONSORS

Hydro-Québec will partially fund, for the tenth consecutive year, the cash prizes awarded to projects that win an Essor regional first prize and the Essor provincial first prize.

A TWO-STEP PROJECT EVALUATION AND SELECTION PROCESS

Decisions made by the Ministère de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport following recommendations from the selection committee are final.

FIRST STEP SELECTION OF REGIONAL WINNERS

The regional selection committee is composed of members from the various regions of Québec and representing government departments, the cultural community, associations and schools. Its role consists in evaluating the nominations and in selecting two winning projects from among the projects entered in each region.

The selection committee will be made up of the following individuals:

- a representative from each of the four associations of arts teachers
- a representative from the Association québécoise des comités culturels scolaires
- a representative from the Québec Federation of Parent Committees
- a representative from the cultural community
- an arts education consultant
- a representative from Québec associations of school principals
- a representative from the regional offices of the Ministère de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport
- a representative from the MCC regional offices

SECOND STEP SELECTION OF PROVINCIAL WINNERS

During the period in which regional prizes are awarded, projects will be pre-evaluated by individuals mandated by the Ministère de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport. These people will meet with project leaders to obtain information required during the sessions held to evaluate projects for provincial prizes. These sessions will take place several days before the 2005 Essor provincial gala.

The membership of the provincial prizes selection committee is almost the same as that of the regional prize selection committee. On the provincial prizes selection committee, however:

- there will be one representative from the Ministère de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport
- there will be one representative from the Ministère de la Culture et des Communications
- there will be one Télé-Québec representative

The selection committee will choose the winners of the provincial first and second prizes and the special provincial prizes (Isabelle Aubin, Culture-Éducation, Télé-Québec and Arts and Cultural Education).
