VOL. 33 No 6
Juin 2014

PRÉSENTATION

INFORMATION DOCUMENTAIRE est un bulletin que le Service de l'accès à l'information et de la propriété intellectuelle met à votre disposition afin de souligner la documentation récente susceptible de vous intéresser dans les domaines sociosanitaires et d'en favoriser ainsi l'exploitation optimale.

La première partie vous présente les nouvelles acquisitions du Service de l'accès à l'information et de la propriété intellectuelle. Une courte notice bibliographique vous décrit les documents choisis. Vous retrouvez dans la deuxième partie les tables des matières des périodiques nouvellement reçus.

Si vous êtes un employé d'un milieu documentaire ou un membre du personnel du ministère de la Santé et des Services sociaux, de la Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec, du Commissaire à la santé et au bien-être ou du Bureau du coronar, vous pouvez effectuer une demande de prêt de documents ou d'articles de périodiques par le biais de la Bibliothèque virtuelle, par courriel ou par téléphone au 418-266-7007.

Toute reproduction des documents signalés dans le présent bulletin doit être conforme aux dispositions prévues à la Loi sur le droit d'auteur.

Pour être assuré de recevoir régulièrement INFORMATION DOCUMENTAIRE, il est très important de nous informer de tout changement d'adresse ou annulation d'abonnement.

- 14 Cannabis regulation: high time for change?
Cannabis is widely available despite its use and production being illegal in most countries. Rebecca Coombes looks at recent moves to regulate production and the potential effects on public health
- 17 The not so independent tobacco experts
The media don't always make clear the potential conflicts of interests of interviewees, writes Meg Carter. For example, panellists on a recent radio debate about plain packaging were not asked about their links to big tobacco

HEAD TO HEAD

- 18 Should smokers be advised to cut down as well as quit?
Paul Aveyard and Nicola Lindson-Hawley say that reducing smoking is a worthwhile step towards cessation, but Gerard Hastings and Marisa de Andrade argue that the lifelong nicotine replacement therapy being recommended in support may benefit industry more than public health

The long view, p 20

- 20 Taking a longer term view of cardiovascular risk: the causal exposure paradigm
Allan D Sniderman and colleagues argue that many people already have advanced arterial damage when they are identified to be at high risk of a cardiovascular event and that a better approach would be to prevent the damage by earlier intervention against the treatable causes of cardiovascular disease

FEATURES

- 15 Financial benefits of integration: a case of wishful thinking?
Billions are about to be spent on integrated care with the aim of enabling the NHS to do more with less in future. But, although there is evidence that patients benefit, Richard Vize finds it is far from clear that integrating care will ever save money

A good match, p 15

- 18 Is animal research sufficiently evidence based to be a cornerstone of biomedical research?
Public acceptance of the use of animals in biomedical research is conditional on it producing benefits for humans. Pandora Pound and Michael Bracken argue that the benefits remain unproved and may divert funds from research that is more relevant to doctors and their patients

MEDICAL KNOWLEDGE THAT MATTERS

647 Highlights

Editorial

Pour la version française de l'éditorial, veuillez consulter la page 685.

- 651 Measles vaccination: a shot of common sense. We need a national vaccination registry, as well as an overseeing body that will work with the National Advisory Committee on Immunization to address vaccine hesitancy.
G. Giddings

Commentary

- 653 Rising antipsychotic prescriptions for children and youth: cross-sectoral solutions for a multimodal problem. Off-label prescribing of such medications in Canadian children and youth has increased dramatically despite concerns regarding a lack of strong evidence for efficacy and serious adverse events.
N. Di Pietro, J. Illes; the Canadian Working Group on Antipsychotic Medications and Children
- 655 The ethics of how to manage incidental findings. Acting on findings discovered incidentally during clinical tests or imaging for research purposes can have beneficial or harmful consequences for patients.
C. Ellis, B.D. Thombs

News

- 657 Quebec doctors aim to fill marijuana knowledge gaps
B. Owens
- 659 Feds to create surveillance system for drug-resistant bugs
M. Kostron
- 660 Using military resources to fight disease
P.C. Webster

- 661 Uganda's anti-gay law worries doctors and researchers

M. Shuchman

- 662 Doctors urge disclosure of sickle cell trait
M. Shuchman

Research

Pour les versions françaises de ces résumés, veuillez consulter les pages 686–7.

- 665 Use of labour induction and risk of cesarean delivery: a systematic review and meta-analysis. Women whose labour is induced may be less likely than those managed expectantly to have a cesarean delivery.
E. Mishanina, E. Rogozinska, T. Thatthi, R. Uddin-Khan, K.S. Khan, C. Meads

Synopses

- 674 Reduction of radial-head subluxation in children by triage nurses in the emergency department: a cluster-randomized controlled trial. Nurses may be able to reduce radial-head subluxation for children.
A. Dixon, C. Clarkin, N. Barrowman, R. Correll, M.H. Osmond, A.C. Plint
- 675 Child abuse and mental disorders in Canada. Prevention of child abuse could lead to reductions in the prevalence of mental disorders, suicidal ideation and suicide attempts.
T.O. Afifi, H.L. MacMillan, M. Boyle, T. Taillieu, K. Cheung, J. Sareen

677 Research in CMAJ Open

Highlights

Physician reimbursement and bone mineral density testing

Geographic and facility-level variation in the use of peritoneal dialysis in Canada: a cohort study

Review

- 678 Approach to the patient with atypical diabetes. Atypical diabetes is increasingly recognized but is often poorly defined and may masquerade as type 1 or type 2 diabetes.
D.W. Steenkamp, S.M. Alexanian, E. Sternthal

Practice

Decisions

- 688 Vulvar pruritus in a postmenopausal woman. A woman treated herself for yeast vaginitis without improvement.
E. Caro-Bruce, G. Flaxman

Cases

- 690 Cyproterone acetate–ethinyl estradiol use in a 23-year-old woman with stroke. After being prescribed Diane-35, a healthy fitness instructor lost the ability to speak.
J. Kromm, T. Jeerakathil

Five things to know ...

- 694 Anaphylaxis in the acute care setting. Antihistamines and corticosteroids have limited usefulness in the management of anaphylaxis.
V.E. Cook, E.S. Chan

Clinical images

- 695 Amyloid imaging in atypical dementia. A 55-year-old man presented with a nine-year history of profound behavioural changes, including socially inappropriate behaviour, disinhibition and impairment in executive skills.
R. Laforce Jr., G.D. Rabinovici

Cardiac Output-Guided Hemodynamic Therapy, Surgical Outcomes 2181

In a multicenter randomized trial that enrolled 734 high-risk patients undergoing major gastrointestinal surgery, Pearse and colleagues compared a cardiac output-guided hemodynamic therapy algorithm to direct perioperative intravenous fluid and inotrope infusion with usual care. The authors found no difference in a composite outcome of 30-day moderate or major complications and mortality between the 2 treatment groups. In an Editorial, Bennett-Guerrero discusses hemodynamic goal-directed therapy in high-risk surgical patients.

Kidney Function After Coronary Artery Bypass Graft Surgery 2191

In an analysis of data from 2932 patients who had been randomly assigned to undergo coronary artery bypass graft surgery with cardiopulmonary bypass (on-pump) or using a beating-heart technique (off-pump), Garg and colleagues assessed the risk of acute kidney injury within 30 days of the surgery. The authors report that compared with the on-pump procedure, off-pump coronary artery bypass graft surgery was associated with a reduced risk of postoperative acute kidney injury but no difference in loss of kidney function at 1 year.

Azithromycin, Adverse Events in Older Patients With Pneumonia 2199

Practice guidelines recommend combination therapy including macrolide drugs such as azithromycin as first-line therapy for patients hospitalized with community-acquired pneumonia. However, recent data suggest that azithromycin may be associated with increased risk of cardiovascular events. In a retrospective cohort study that included 73 690 patients aged 65 years or older hospitalized with pneumonia, Mortensen and colleagues found that a treatment regimen that included azithromycin was associated with a lower risk of 90-day mortality and a small increased risk of myocardial infarction.

Prophylactic ICDs, Survival in Patients With LVEF of 30%-35% 2209

To assess survival associated with prophylactic placement of implantable cardioverter-defibrillators (ICDs) in patients with heart failure and a left ventricular ejection fraction between 30% and 35%, Al-Khatib and colleagues analyzed data from 408 patients in the National Cardiovascular Data Registry ICD registry and 408 patients (ICD-eligible but not treated) in the Get With the Guidelines-Heart Failure database. The authors report better survival at 3 years among patients who received a prophylactic ICD than among comparable patients not treated with an ICD.

Resistant Hypertension 2216

Resistant hypertension—uncontrolled hypertension despite optimal doses of 3 or more antihypertensive agents—is increasingly common. Based on a review of 36 relevant studies, Vongpatanasin discusses the diagnosis of resistant hypertension, lifestyle modifications to lower blood pressure, secondary causes of treatment-resistant hypertension, and the efficacy of pharmacological and nonpharmacological treatments.

Prophylactic Antibiotic Therapy in COPD 2225

It is unclear whether prophylactic antibiotics are associated with lower rates of exacerbation of chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD). Among the findings was a clinically significant reduction in exacerbations associated with continuous macrolide antibiotic prophylaxis.

Hydrolyzed Infant Formula and β -Cell Autoimmunity

Early exposure to complex dietary proteins may increase the risk of autoimmunity to pancreatic β cells in children at genetic risk of type 1 diabetes. In a study of 2159 at-risk infants who were randomly assigned to receive conventional formula or an extensively hydrolyzed casein-based formula, Knip and colleagues found that compared with conventional formula, the hydrolyzed formula did not decrease the incidence of diabetes-associated autoantibodies during a median follow-up of 7 years.

Intensification of Metformin Treatment and Adverse Events

2288

The preferred second-line treatment after metformin failure is not clear. In a retrospective cohort study that involved 14 616 patients initially treated with metformin and who subsequently added insulin ($n = 2436$) or a sulfonylurea ($n = 12180$; propensity score-matched with the patients adding insulin), Roumie and colleagues found that compared with sulfonylurea, treatment intensification with insulin was associated with an increased risk of a composite of myocardial infarction, stroke, and death. In an Editorial, Safford discusses comparative effectiveness research and diabetes treatment.

Bariatric Surgery and Long-term Remission of Diabetes

2297

In an analysis of data from the Swedish Obese Subjects study—a prospective, matched observational cohort study—Sjöström and colleagues examined long-term diabetes remission and diabetes complication rates among 343 of 2010 patients who had undergone bariatric surgery and 260 of 2037 control (usual care) patients who had type 2 diabetes at enrollment. The authors report that during a median follow-up of 10 years, bariatric surgery was associated with more frequent diabetes remission and fewer diabetes complications than usual care.

Selumetinib vs Chemotherapy and Survival in Uveal Melanoma 2397

Uveal melanoma is characterized by gene mutations that activate the mitogen-activated protein kinase (MAPK) pathway. TNF- α Antagonists and Cancer Risk in Patients With IBD 2406

Tumor necrosis factor α (TNF- α) antagonists are effective in the treatment of inflammatory bowel disease (IBD); however, there is concern that treatment-induced immunosuppression may increase the risk of cancer. Exercise for Depression

2432

Exercise is sometimes considered an adjunct or substitute for pharmacological or psychological treatment of depression. In this JAMA Clinical Evidence Synopsis, Cooney and colleagues summarize a Cochrane review of 39 randomized trials of exercise as a treatment for depression. However, analysis of 6 high-quality studies (464 participants) suggested the benefit of exercise is small.

HSCT vs Cyclophosphamide in Severe Systemic Sclerosis 2490

Systemic sclerosis is an autoimmune connective tissue disease associated with vasculopathy and skin and internal organ fibrosis. In a multicenter randomized trial that involved 156 patients with early diffuse cutaneous systemic sclerosis, van Laar and colleagues found that compared with monthly intravenous pulsed cyclophosphamide, autologous hematopoietic stem cell transplant (HSCT) was associated with increased treatment-related mortality in the first year after treatment but higher rates of long-term event-free survival. In an Editorial, Khanna and colleagues discuss HSCT in the treatment of severe systemic sclerosis.

Cover image: Illustration of the first public demonstration of the electrocardiograph (ECG), by AD Waller at the Royal Society in 1887. Waller (1856–1922), a British physiologist, showed that the small voltages associated with heartbeat could be detected. With two of the dog's legs in bowls of salt water to improve the electrical contact, the voltages in its heart caused a deflection in the line on the mirror galvanometer (at lower left). Despite unfounded concerns among the audience that the dog would suffer an electric shock, the experiment was a success. The ECG was brought into clinical use by Willem Einthoven in 1903.

P.-j. Lu, A. O'Halloran, H. Ding, W.W. Williams, C.B. Bridges and E.D. Kennedy
- 3205 Vaccination with a Streptococcus pneumoniae trivalent recombinant PcpA, PhtD and PlyD1 protein vaccine candidate protects against lethal pneumonia in an infant murine model
D. Verhoeven, Q. Xu and M.E. Pichichero
- 3211 Anti-diphtheria immunity in Nigerian mothers and their newborns
H. Cummings, A.E. Sadoh, O. Oviawe and W.E. Sadoh
- 3216 A new adjuvanted nanoparticle-based H1N1 influenza vaccine induced antigen-specific local mucosal and systemic immune responses after administration into the lung
V. Neuhaus, J.A. Chichester, T. Ebensen, K. Schwarz, C.E. Hartman, Y. Shoji, C.A. Guzmán, V. Yusibov, K. Sewald and A. Braun
- 3223 A pan inhibitor of DASH family enzymes induces immunogenic modulation and sensitizes murine and human carcinoma cells to antigen-specific cytotoxic T lymphocyte killing: implications for combination therapy with cancer vaccines
R.N. Donahue, B.B. Duncan, T.J. Fry, B. Jones, W.W. Bachovchin, C.P. Kiritsy, J.H. Lai, W. Wu, P. Zhao, Y. Liu, K.-Y. Tsang and J.W. Hodge
- 3232 Antibody avidity measurements in recipients of Cervarix® vaccine following a two-dose schedule or a three-dose schedule
M. Boxus, L. Lockman, M. Fochesato, C. Lorin, F. Thomas and S.L. Giannini
- 3237 Two-dose strategies for human papillomavirus vaccination: How well do they need to protect?
M. Jit, Y.H. Choi, J.-F. Laprise, M.-C. Boily, M. Drolet and M. Brisson
- 3243 Effectiveness of a novel immunogenic nanoparticle platform for Toxoplasma peptide vaccine in HLA transgenic mice
K. El Bissati, Y. Zhou, D. Dasgupta, D. Cobb, J.P. Dubey, P. Burkhard, D.E. Lanar and R. McLeod
- 3249 Chemically induced Salmonella enteritidis ghosts as a novel vaccine candidate against virulent challenge in a rat model
N. Vinod, S. Oh, S. Kim, C.W. Choi, S.C. Kim and C.H. Jung
- 3256 Comparative analysis of immunization schedules using a novel adenovirus-based immunotherapeutic targeting hepatitis B in naïve and tolerant mouse models
H. Boukheba, C. Dubois, V. Koerper, A. Evlachev, Y. Schlesinger, T. Menguy, N. Silvestre, P. Riedl, G. Inchauspé and P. Martin
- 3264 Sendai virus-based RSV vaccine protects against RSV challenge in an in vivo maternal antibody model
B.G. Jones, R.E. Sealy, S.L. Surman, A. Portner, C.J. Russell, K.S. Slobod, P.R. Dormitzer, J. DeVincenzo and J.L. Hurwitz
- 3274 In vivo immunogenicity of Tax(11–19) epitope in HLA-A2/DTR transgenic mice: Implication for dendritic cell-based anti-HTLV-1 vaccine
D. Sagar, S. Masih, T. Schell, S. Jacobson, J.D. Comber, R. Philip, B. Wigdahl, P. Jain and Z.K. Khan

- 3285 Peptide-pulsed dendritic cells induce the hepatitis C viral epitope-specific responses of naïve human T cells
S. Mishra, P.T. Losikoff, A.A. Self, F. Terry, M.T. Ardito, R. Tassone, W.D. Martin, A.S. De Groot and S.H. Gregory
