PLANS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF UNITED STATES CURRENCY

Submitted to President Roosevelt—There are Four Groups—A Central Bank of Issue—Central Organization of Banks.

EACH GROUP HAS STRONG SUPPORTERS

Washington, Nov. 24.—Details of many new projects for improving the currency are being submitted to President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou are receiving such attention as the exigencies of the financial situation permit.

Measures relating directly to the currency which are being discussed among bankers and incoming members of Congress may be roughly grouped under four heads—A central bank of issue; a central organization of the existing National Banks; the issue of additional circulation against various classes of bonds other than United States bonds; and the issue of circulation upon general assets with the security of a guaranty fund.

Those who favor a central bank point to the recent as the best evidence of the aid of which it could have afforded had it been in operation. Their view is that the National Banks would have been able to re-discount their paper at such an institution and obtain its notes to any amount necessary to relieve the currency strain.

The principle of the Fowler bill is in harmony with two other measures which attracted considerable attention a year ago—the bill of a special committee of the New York Chamber of Commerce, endorsed by the Chamber last November, and the plan of the special committee of the American Bankers' Association, endorsed at the annual convention of the Association at Atlantic City in September last.

New York, Nov. 24.—A special cable from London to The Times, says: "Another story reflecting the bitter struggle for existence of a section of the literary and artistic world here came to light to-day with the discovery in the Thames of the bodies of Alexander Good and his wife. Both were authors, and Mrs. Good was also a painter of rare talent.

WHEN HOUSE MEETS

Two Ministers will be Absent—Aylesworth May Quit Politics.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 23.—The fourth session of the tenth Parliament of Canada will open on Thursday, and, as it is fully anticipated that this will be the last session before a general election, it is being looked forward to by both political parties with much concern.

The session will be a busy one, and in accordance with the policy of previous sessions, the Government will introduce legislation for the betterment of the condition of the people generally. Probably the most important legislation will affect the Railway Commission, whose powers will be largely increased, and additions to the board made, indicating that this commission will occupy in the near future a more prominent place than ever in the administration of public utilities and corporations which deal directly with the people.

PLUM FOR EMMERSON ON I.C.R.

Moncton, N.B., Nov. 23.—It is rumored here to-day that H. R. Emmerson, former Minister of Railways, is to become manager of the I.C.R., and that D. Pottinger is to retire.

SECRET DETECTIVES

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 23.—A society known as the Social Questions Union was organized here last night for the purpose of assisting the Citizens' League in its crusade against wrongdoers.

GAYNOR-GREENE CASE TO THE FRONT

Washington, Nov. 23.—A petition for writ of certiorari in the famous case against Benjamin D. Greene and John F. Gaynor, in which they have been convicted of embezzling some $600,000 from the Government of the United States, was filed in the Supreme Court of the United States to-day.

LISBON UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Lisbon, Nov. 24.—The city of Lisbon is now practically under martial law. Detachments of police and municipal guards are constantly patrolling the streets, but no violent incidents have occurred.

The lives of some of its friends hurt religion more than the logic of its foes.

A NEW INVASION FROM THE SOUTH

Ominous Condition of Affairs at the Frontier

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED

Hundreds Will Spend Winter in Canadian Jails—Many Not Allowed Back to United States.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 23.—The statement made by prisoners in the police cells at London that Canada is to be invaded by an army of unemployed from the United States is proven true by conditions on this frontier at the present time. The invasion is in full course now. The discharge from employment of thousands of men by the railways and steel and iron-working concerns of the eastern States has flooded the country with men seeking for work.

Many of the unemployed men reach Canada without a dollar. The police and railway officials of the United States are eager to be rid of the penniless unemployed and assist them in every possible way to get across the border to seek it in Canada.

It is recognized that hundreds of them will spend the winter as vagrants in Canadian county jails, and their presence in the country is a grave menace to the peace and security of rural districts and small villages where police control is not strict.

BUBONIC PLAGUE

Fears of Infection by Rats from Vessels Reaching Vancouver from Seattle.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—The Government is taking every possible precaution to prevent the bubonic plague from getting a footing in the coast cities of British Columbia. Matters are in bad shape in San Francisco and Seattle.

THE ETCETERA LETTER?

La Libre Parole this week gives an explanation of the Choquette-Etcetera letter, from which it appears that that notorious epistle was taken from the columns of Le Soleil and that the writer of the article in La Libre Parole, in commenting on it, disregarded the instructions to say that rumor attributed its authorship to Senator Choquette, and substituted his name for Citizen Etcetera without authority. La Libre Parole adds that if Senator Choquette is really the author, it congratulates him, we presume, on the fact that he has been dragged willy-nilly from the obscurity in which he sought to hide himself, and has been relieved of the necessity of furnishing his "Card." Our own opinion is that if the Senator is not the author he has good grounds for an action against the Parole for defamation of character, and, if he is, he is under no obligation to our confere for setting the public on his track. People that write spiteful anonymous attacks on gentlemen retiring from public life have generally at least, the grace to "blush to find it fame."

The explanation of La Libre Parole is scarcely convincing. If it copied the letter from Le Soleil, how is it that it did not say so, but, on the contrary, conveyed the impression that it had been sent to itself? And why, if it copied the letter, did it copy all but the signature. Owing to a misconception of instructions, it says, but that is a very lame excuse. The difference between saying that a man is reputed to be the author of a letter and signing his name at the bottom of it, is too great for such an explanation to be accepted.

There is a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde Etcetera Hyde appears in the columns of Le Soleil and then he is transmuted into Jekyll-Choquette in La Libre Parole, and now he is Etcetera Hyde again, with a growing suspicion on the part of the public of the identity of the two; and yet we are loth to believe a gentleman occupying the prominent position of Senator Choquette could descend to the ineffable meanness of anonymously attacking another gentleman merely because the latter was the subject of some complimentary remarks in The Chronicle with which the former was unable to agree. The anonymous traducer of other people is, by general consent, set down as a cad and a cur, who is beneath paying attention to, and we should be sorry to see Senator Choquette put himself in that category; at the same time, it is very difficult to believe that anyone would put another man's name to a communication without having received his authority to do so, however strong might be his grounds for believing his identification to be correct.

THE FISHER IN THE TOWNSHIPS.

The Hon. Sydney Fisher is a gentleman in whom the inventive bump is strongly developed. It was he who discovered that particular species of peaches that grow on stems, and patented a pair of scissors by which they might be snipped off without doing any damage to their bloom; it was he who conceived the idea of a glorified sort of tobacco that should bear fruit in the shape of ready-made plugs of honey dew cavendish, and so save the cost of manufacturing; it was he who taught wide-eye and open-mouthed farmers the proper way to expend a dollar and a quarter on the fattening up of chickens that would afterwards bring from sixty to seventy-five cents in the market; and it is strongly suspected that he is the gentleman who hatched fur-covered chickens out of eggs procured from a cold storage car, and thought he had discovered the means of lowering the prices of furs. We have not heard that these discoveries have been successful from a pecuniary point of view, and this may be the reason why he is just at present turning his attention to the stuffing of the population of the Eastern Townships with equally ingenious political theories, and has been patted on the back by the Toronto Globe which says:

"Hon. Sydney Fisher is engaged in a commendable task in reminding his constituents, and, through the Press, the people of the country, of some of the salient features of Conservative policy and the contrast it shows to that pursued by Liberal administration. At Mansonville he reminded them that the predecessors of the present Government had alienated thirty-one million acres of public lands to corporations during their incumbency of office, and only eight and a half million acres to settlers, while under Liberal rule only two million acres had been given to corporations and twenty millions to settlers. Thirty million acres had been granted by the Conservatives to railways alone, while not an acre had been granted to railways since 1896. Nor had this stopped railway building, for a thousand miles more of railway lines had been built in the past eleven years than during the whole period of Conservative rule."

That is all very well; and if Hon. Mr. Fisher had made a thorough comparison between the two parties, Conservatives, at least, would have had no reason to criticize, but when he talked about the acres of public lands given to corporations, and those given to settlers, he omitted to state that the Conservative grants to corporations were for the purpose of opening up land for settlement, and that until that was done there were no settlers to give lands to. He omitted also to inform his hearers that while the eight million acres of the Conservatives were given to bona fide settlers, a large part of the Liberal grants went to political friends who were no settlers at all; for instance the grant of 365,920 acres of timber land to Mr. Burrows, a member of parliament and brother-in-law of Hon. Clifford Sifton, that of over 300,000 acres of irrigable land in Alberta to friendly politicians who went over to London and sold the franchise for $850,000, which they pocketed without having "done a thing" to the lands; and the still more glaring instance of the Blairmore site. Mr. Fisher should have distinguished between the quality of the Conservative settlers, and that of the "Liberal settlers," when he was about making the comparison. He will also find it very difficult to prove that "not an acre had been given to railways since 1896."

Mr. Fisher also explained to his hearers that the Conservative Government had increased the debt of the country during its seventeen years of life by some sixty-two million dollars, and the Liberal Government in eleven years had only added five millions to the national debt. Now, the Conservatives maintained that twenty seven millions was quite enough to take out of the country by taxation for governmental purposes, and limited the tax rate in such a way that it would not yield a larger sum. When the Liberals came into power they raised in 1897 $8,648,000 more in round numbers; in 1898, they increased this by half a million, and this again in 1899 by five and a half millions; this again in 1900, by three and a quarter millions, and so on steadily increasing every year till in 1907 the taxes amounted to sixty-six millions; in other words they raised some forty millions more in taxation than the Conservatives had done in the same period, taking their taxation at its highest point in 1896 as an average, and they added five millions to the national debt. At that rate of expenditure, and supposing they had not had the increased taxation, they would in seventeen years have added sixty-nine and a half millions to the national debt where the Conservatives added sixty-two millions and it must be remembered that we are speaking of the revenue from taxes and not the receipts from all sources. And what has Mr. Fisher, as representing the government in power at Ottawa to show for it? The Conservatives opened the Northwest, added the Pacific Province, built the Canadian Pacific, which to-day has first-class vessels on both oceans, and constitutes a true all-red route, constructed or enlarged the canals, extended the Intercolonial, repelled two foreign attacks, and provided by subsidy for a network of railways serving the people and rendering possible those other railways of which Mr. Fisher boasts, but towards whose establishment, according to his account, the Government contributed not an acre of land, and they did this by increasing the national debt, and not by increasing the burden of taxation on the earnings of the farmers and laboring men. But what have Mr. Fisher and his associates to show for the money they have spent? What great enterprise have they undertaken, what enduring work have they done? They have spent a million on a wharf in a meadow, a couple of millions on a useless canal, they have erected costly public buildings in villages, and gorgeous post offices in places where the revenues barely sufficed to pay the post master; they have raised $502,389,790 in taxation alone, and these are the sort of things they have to show for them, and an addition of five more millions to the national debt. The Conservatives have no reason to avoid comparisons when they are accurately made.

PRESS OPINIONS.

SOLICITORS MAY SUFFER. — It has always been regarded as a principle of law that if a dentist should pull the wrong tooth or a doctor make a similar mistake in an amputation the victim would have a right to recover pecuniary compensation, but the legal profession has been regarded as exempt from and above all such dangers. Whether their advice was good, bad, or indifferent, whether they got their client into trouble or out of trouble, they have been regarded as entitled to their inevitable fees. In fact it is an established and strictly enjoined principle that the solicitor must not have any pecuniary interest in the success or failure of his case, although he generally has. A bill of costs is made out with more enthusiasm after a win than after a loss. Justice Riddell has upset the complacent assurance of the profession by a decision which deprives solicitors of their pay for bad advice and for the mismanagement of clients' affairs. This breaks in rudely on the established notion that bad and good legal advice must be paid for at the same union rate, and that the costs are equally inevitable whether the multitude of services be well or poorly performed. The men who acted on the bad advice are forced to bear the costs in the action which they consequently lost. Even this does not pass without comment, for His Lordship remarked that they had good grounds for an action to recover this amount from their solicitors. Whatever advice a lawyer might give them in this regard, an experienced layman would probably counsel against making the attempt. His Lordship said that all trouble could have been avoided by procedure under rule 938 of the court, which has been in force for over sixty years. That is a long time, and the number is very high, a combination which makes the layman shudder at the number of rules now in operation.

This decision gives one more incentive to the legal profession to give good advice. At the Woodbine when the innocent returns to the preciously well-informed gentleman and asks a refund of the money he was induced to put up on the horse that lost he gets only an audible smile. But the principle established by Justice Riddell will make it entirely different when going to law. The lawyer who gives bad advice will not be allowed to keep his winnings. The most striking feature of Mr. Justice Riddell's decision is that it leaves intact the estate of a deceased person after extensive legal proceedings. That no one will get costs out of it is simply marvelous, but this one comes from an entirely unexpected quarter.—Toronto Globe.

STEAMER NANCY LEE

Forced Aground in the Saguenay by Ice, but Floats Off Again.

Chicoutimi, Nov. 21—The steamer Nancy Lee, Captain Murthie, of Liverpool, arrived here on the 17th inst., with a part cargo of cement, after discharging which she was to take a full load of pulp from the Chicoutimi Pulp Co. For the past few days great difficulties have been experienced in getting the loaded barges from Chicoutimi to the loading place, Pointe des Roches, nine miles lower down the Saguenay, owing to the large amount of ice which the recent cold weather has frozen in the river. Yesterday things came to a climax, and although the barges were loaded at Chicoutimi, the shippers found it impossible for their tug to take them down to the steamer, owing to the amount of floating ice, the river being blocked from bank to bank. During the night the current caused this ice to move against the steamer, lying at anchor in the bay at Pointe des Roches, and either broke her mooring chains or dragged her anchors, the result being that she grounded at St. Fulgence. Fortunately those on board were able to float her off with the rising tide, and she left the Chicoutimi branch of the Saguenay river this morning at 10.30. No word having been received from the captain or others on board it is as yet unknown as to whether she sustained damage or not. The unfortunate part of the business is that the steamer has only taken on board 1,600 tons of cargo, about half her capacity, but even if she had not grounded the probabilities are that she could not have been completed owing to the state of the ice.

STEAMER MONTCALEM.

The latest report from the damaged steamer Montcalm is to the effect that she left Point Maurier at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to meet the steamer Lord Strathcona, which was on her way to assist the injured vessel. The weather was then fine, with a light westerly wind. It is thought the Montcalm must be making considerable water, or she would have started earlier for this port. She is expected to arrive here next Wednesday, if the weather remains moderately fine.

RAILS FOR GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

Steamer Memnon, Captain Purdon, from Sydney, with nearly 5,000 tons of steel rails for the Great Northern Railway, arrived in port on Saturday afternoon, and moored in the Louise Dock. These rails are to be used in bringing the line into this city.

PILOT FINED.

Montreal, Nov. 23—A fine of $75 was imposed on Pilot Ludovic Bouille in the Wreck Commissioners' Court, by Commander Spain, for his liability in the grounding of the steamship Montreal in Lake St. Peter some weeks ago. The court exonerated the master and officers from all blame, but found that the pilot was guilty of a gross error in judgment in attempting to cross Lake St. Peter under the existing circumstances, and especially for attempting to pass north of Lightship No. 2. The fact of the pilot's eighteen and a half years of experience was, Commander Spain declared, taken into consideration in imposing the fine as above, which is to be paid in three instalments of $25 each.

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON.

Montreal, Nov. 24—One of the most successful seasons on the St. Lawrence route has just been completed yesterday, when the few remaining steamers sailed for Europe. Among the most important ones to sail were the Sicilian, of the Allan line; the Lake Erie, of the Canadian Pacific, and the Jacana, of the Thomson line. According to the figures issued by the various shipping offices, the amount of passengers and freight carried this season exceeds that of any previous season. The Allan line, which has just finished its passenger season by the departure of the Sicilian, has had one of the most successful seasons since the mail line was established in 1854. Mr. George Hannah, the passenger manager of the line, yesterday issued the following figures, which show an increase of about 14,291 passengers on all its lines. The number of passengers carried by the Allan line since May 1, 1907, up to the present time is 3,276 saloon, 19,088 second-class, and 35,580 third-class passengers westward, and 2,134 saloon, 5,267 second-class, and 9,151 third-class passengers eastward, making a total of 74,496 passengers, against that of last year, which was 3,177 saloon, 15,534 second-class, and 29,181 third-class passengers westward, and 2,159 saloon, 3,911 second-class, and 6,244 third-class passengers eastward. The total of 1906 is 160,205 passengers. The increase in the number of passengers carried in 1907 over that of 1906 is 14,291, or about 25 per cent., thus making one in the history of the Allan line, since up to the present 1906 was so considered. Of course this year is not yet completed, but the above figures give a fair idea of what the figures will be. Another feature of the year is that the number of passengers going east has as greatly increased as the rest, since in 1906 it was 12,313, and this year the number is 16,552.

The Dominion line is another one which shows a large increase in the number of passengers carried this season over that of 1906. The number of passengers westward for 1907 was 723 saloon, 7,345 second-class, and 24,737 third-class, while the figures of 1906 are 626 saloon, 5,503 second-class, and 19,606 third-class passengers. The increase, therefore, for the present season over that of last year is 107 saloon, 1,762 second-class and 5,131 third-class passengers. The increase of passengers eastward is 69 saloon, 366 second-class and 881 third-class. When the new vessels, the Albany and Alberta, are ready next season for the St. Lawrence, Mr. Macfarlane confidently expects that even a better showing will be made.

GOOD WORDS FOR THE MODERN MEN

scrappers and Scrapping of the Olden Time

Interesting Talk by a Chatty Correspondent.

The seductive topic of boxing incites a highly gossipy correspondent to write to us with such vivacity as is permitted by his native style of composition (which partakes of what the learned call the periphrastic and ambagatory, and the masses the circumlocutory). The Quebec Chronicle (he remarks) printed on Wednesday last an interview of Robert Edgren with a Gotham sport, which appeared the other day in the New York World. The ever-alluring subject of scrapping is always provocative of chat in any lover of the noble art, and therefore you will doubtless permit me to express (with all respect) my disagreement with certain notions expounded by the veteran scrapper who is interviewed. With his main position I entirely concur, but I am altogether at variance with him when he publishes the dictum that "the old Greeks had the right idea of boxing."

True enough the statues of Greek pugilists represent their originals as standing straight with their chests thrown out, looking like they could lick a whole flock of the hollow-chested, hump-shouldered, four-flushing cigarette fiends that call themselves fighters now. (I quote verbatim the words of the Gotham sport in question). But his sweeping verdict, I am sure, was delivered hastily, and without the needful preliminary enquiry which this very interesting topic really deserves. Several years ago, I took the trouble to read up the subject for my own special edification. The result of my researches convinced me that the ancient Greeks (such as competed at the famous Olympic games) did not understand athletics at all so well as do the English and Americans of nowadays. As for pugilism (which I am discussing in particular) it cannot be said that it was properly understood by the Greeks; and I venture to say that if (by some miracle) an old Greek scrapper could rise from his grave for sporting purposes, he would fall an easy prey to ANY fairly smart amateur of modern boxing.

A single word as to Greek training might suffice to prove the strength of my argument. For a period of ten months the unhappy scrapper was stuffed by his trainer with most enormous quantities of meat, very often raw. Hence it is not surprising to hear that on the eve of battle a man was usually sleepy, and indeed in a semi-somnolent condition. But let us turn our attention to the fight itself, the ultimate test of the quality of old Greek boxing. The "cestus" (or glove) was loaded with lead, and the competitors either hammered each other on the top of the head, or essayed to land heavy swings on the ear. Of clean straight hitting (such as we now recognize as boxing) there will not be found a trace. Now (supposing the miracle that I have just imagined to occur) it is clear that the Ancient Greek professional would be outed in the first round by the tolerably smart Modern Amateur, who would only have the trouble of sailing straight in with the left, and the expense of paying for the funeral.

Yet, even if boxing were but in its infancy in Greece, Greece was the cradle-land of the art, and (by the oddest of routes) it travelled to England, comparatively recently, by way of (I guess!)—Russia! Sounds funny, doesn't it? Yet it is a fact. Such civilization as Russia possessed (prior to the time of her arbitrary seizure of the Black Sea) had been much derived from the Greek colonies planted of old in the Crimea, and on the littoral of the Black Sea. It was as a consequence of this that, in the Middle Ages, boxing in the Greek style was quite the national sport of Russia. Next, about 1700, Peter the Great made his celebrated European tour. We all know how he and his suite used to booze gallons of hot brandy with plenty of pepper and no water, and how these festive spirits, in their playful pranks, entirely ruined the game of their honest host, the celebrated John Evelyn, at Deptford, London, England. Now it would seem that these merry gentlemen were the real introducers of pugilism into England. We talk of boxing as "the good old English style" of settling a difference of opinion. Yet, as a matter of fact, it is a comparatively modern, and moreover an imported mode of battle. Long after Shakespeare's time, the usual appeal was to the knife (at least among the "lower orders"). The national sport was sword-fighting. It is not until after Czar Peter's visit to England that we see the sport of sword-fighting (dropped suddenly out of vogue, and instantly replaced by the weapons of nature.

The father of English boxing was brave old John Broughton, who was born in 1704. He ran an establishment for the tuition and exhibition of boxing in Tottenham Court Road, London, England; and he was the first Englishman to hold the proud title of "Champion of England." He it was who first drew up a regulated system of combat with the "dukes," reduced to written rules. They bear date, August 18th, 1743. For eighteen years he occupied the honored position of champion, and he had the good sense to save money wherewith to live happily when he was old. He died on January 8th, 1785, aged eighty years, and was buried in Lambeth Churchyard, opposite the Houses of Parliament, in London. "Peace be to his ashes," all professionals and amateurs will say.

REPORTED ABDUCTION

Montreal, Nov. 24—The Montreal police are trying to locate a young girl, who it is claimed was abducted several days ago from Lindsay, Ont. The girl, who belonged to Montreal, had been adopted by a family named Marion, and it is claimed that her own mother took her away from them.

CONVENT SCHOOL BURNED

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 24—The convent school, the chief Roman Catholic school in this city, was completely gutted by fire this evening. It is used on Sundays as a Sunday school for the children of St. Michael's Church and this afternoon the classes met as usual. When they left at four o'clock things were apparently all right, but shortly before six fire broke out and completely defied the efforts of the firemen. In about two hours the building was completely gutted. The loss will be between $20,000 and $25,000 with an insurance of $7,500. It is reported that the fire started from the furnaces, but the authorities say the furnace was first class. The school while controlled by the separate school trustees, was in charge of the Sisters of Loretta Convent.

DEAD IN A WRETCHED CABIN

St. Thomas, Ont., Nov. 23—An old recluse, Edwin Geen, aged about 80 years, was found dead in a miserable hut by his neighbors about four miles from Aylmer last night. Deceased was an Englishman, and lived on his farm of nearly 100 acres, but was practically without a friend in the world. He had been married twice and has a daughter living near Vienna and a son in British Columbia, who tried to change their father's way of living, but without avail. The hut in which the old man lived and died was strewn with rags, decayed vegetables and filth. Neighbors visited the old man on Tuesday night and brought him food. That was the last seen of him alive.

THE CUBAN CENSUS

First Step Taken Towards the Termination of American Intervention.

Havana, Nov. 24—With the completion of the enumeration of the population of Cuba there has been accomplished the first step in the direction of the termination of the American intervention and the re-establishment of the Cuban republic. While officially described as a census, this enumeration was actually an enforced registration of voters. The determination of the population of the island being of scant importance compared to that of registering all persons entitled to the electoral franchise, in order to insure the purity of the election of the next Cuban President. No pains have been spared to accomplish this, but pending the difficult task of tabulation the results probably will not be known for some weeks.

An estimate by one of the most accomplished statisticians in the service of the provisional government places the population of the island at two millions, of which about 400,000 are foreigners not entitled to the franchise. According to the registration for the election of 1904, there were in the province of Pinar Del Rio 42,937 voters, in Havana 81,300, in Matanzas 29,043, in Santa Clara 84,309, in Calaguey 14,079, and in Oriente 49,925, making a total of 381,593. It is improbable that the present census will show any marked difference in these figures. The indications are that there has been no great change in the political complexion of the provinces with the possible exception of Pinar Del Rio, where the influence of Pinar Guerra, the military leader of the last uprising, is very great.

To even speculate on the outcome of the next election is futile owing to the confusion consequent on the discussions in the Liberal party and the undefined attitude of the Conservatives. A year ago there is no doubt the Liberals would have had an overwhelming victory and that Alfredo Zayas would have been elected President. Now the Liberal party is hopelessly divided between the followers of Jose Miguel Gomez and Zayas and an excellent opportunity is afforded for the Conservatives to organize and nominate a leader who will command the respect of the country. Should they obtain the consent of such a man as General Mario Menocal to run for the Presidency, there can be hardly any doubt that he would attract a great following from the better class of Liberals and would be easily elected. General Menocal's personal business interests are such, however, that it is very doubtful whether he could be tempted to enter the political arena.

It is rumored that General Miguel Gomez is afflicted with a dangerous ailment which may compel his retirement from the field, in which event a reconciliation of the Miguelesta and Zayista factions is not improbable. The new electoral law has been completed and now only awaits the approval of Governor Magoon before being promulgated. Therefore, if tranquility is maintained, which there appears to be no reason to doubt, nothing stands in the way of carrying out the present programme of the Government which is to hold the municipal elections in May or June and the presidential election in the following December, thus paving the way for the inauguration of the President in May and the withdrawal of American troops in July. A singular feature of the present situation is the utter apathy with which Cubans appear to regard the preparations making for the restoration of their republic. At no time since the intervention began has political discussion been so languid.

BI LIARDS

St. Louis, Nov. 24—In to-night's game of the national three-cushion billiards championship tournament J. Daly, of Chicago, overcame F. B. Day, of St. Louis, by a score of 50 to 23. Daly's high run was 7; his average .77. Day's high run was 3; his average .37.

SINGER COMMITS SUICIDE

Berlin, Nov. 24—Theodore Bertram, the celebrated opera singer, committed suicide to-day at Bayreuth. He had been dependent since the death of his wife, who was drowned on Feb. 21st last in the wreck of the steamship Berlin off the Hook of Holland. Bertram's most successful roles were Wagnerian and he made his greatest reputation as Wotan.

THE MUTINY AT VLADIVOSTOK

Vladivostok, Nov. 24—The court martial of 103 sappers and marines and the commanders of two torpedo boat destroyers who were implicated in the mutiny of October 30th will begin to-morrow. The hearing will be secret. The mutiny at Vladivostok on October 29th was quickly suppressed by the use of machine guns. A battalion of sappers attempted to capture one of the barracks, but was routed by two companies of a loyal regiment. On the following day a naval action took place between the mutinous crew of a Russian destroyer and their loyal comrades, the mutineers finally being subdued.

STRIKE AT ST. JOHN

St. John N.B., Nov. 23—The Longshoremen's Association ordered a strike here at noon to-day for a wage rate of 40 cents an hour instead of 30, as now paid. The big C.P.R. liner Empress of Ireland arrived at 11 o'clock, opening the winter port for business, and the men went on strike at once. About three hundred men are out. Captain Walsh, marine superintendent of the C.P.R., arrived at noon from Montreal to take charge of the situation. He said the C.P.R. would not pay one cent more than the old rate, and would either bring men from Montreal and work their own crews, or take the boats away from St. John. He said the C.P.R. had plenty of men available in Montreal or could get accommodation at Halifax and plenty of men. The Ship Laborers' Society will stick by the Allan line as last year, and the C.P.R. will work with the Allan. So far the situation is serious. The Donaldson boats will also be affected later.

THE THAW TRIAL

Will be Postponed Until Next January—Both Sides Agree on Time.

New York, Nov. 24—The second trial of Harry K. Thaw, set for one week from to-morrow, will again be postponed with little chance of its being called until well along in January. It is due partly to the fact that the task of selecting a jury would be made doubly hard by the approach of the holidays and the fact that Thaw's counsel has applied to the court for permission to inspect the secret evidence presented before the lunacy commission during the first trial. As an added cause for delay there is a rumor that the attorneys now representing Thaw may apply for a change of venue. Such a move would be based upon the alleged unfriendly attitude of many of the local papers and the extent to which the evidence was printed and read in this community. District Attorney Jerome will seriously oppose the granting of a change.

NOBEL PRIZES AWARDED

Stockholm, Nov. 24—The next Nobel prize for chemistry will be awarded to Sir Wm. Crookes, of London. Rudyard Kipling has been designated for the literary prize. Sir Wm. Crookes was born in 1832. He discovered thallium, an element, in 1861, and invented the radiometer, in 1874. He was knighted in 1898 and has been closely identified with many of the most important advances in science.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

North Bay, Ont., Nov. 24—Parnell O'Connor, the young man who attempted suicide last night by shooting himself in the North Bay Hotel, is still alive and unless blood poisoning sets in he has a chance of recovering, although the operation performed last night proved unsuccessful in locating the bullet. He had written a letter to his sweetheart, a prominent young lady of North Bay, who it appears had not been receiving him with open arms owing to his habitual dissipation. The letter is now in the hands of the coroner and its contents have not been made known. He told the doctor that the young lady had "threw him down," and that was his reason for shooting himself.

MORGAN VISITS WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Nov. 23—The visit of J. Pierpont Morgan to Secretary Cortelyou and the President last night was generally accepted here to-day as evidence that the financial leaders in New York intend to cooperate with the treasury department in making a success of the new loans. The assurance brought by Mr. Morgan in regard to the improvement in conditions in New York, with the subscriptions which are still coming in for the new loans, encourage the belief here that the corner has been turned in the monetary situation and that the banks throughout the country will soon be able to resume currency payments without restriction.

LATE ADMIRAL M'CLINTOCK

The late Admiral Sir Francis Leopold McClintock, whose death in England a few days ago at the ripe old age of 88, was many years ago in command of the British North American squadron at Halifax, about the year 1850, and also visited Quebec with a portion of the squadron. In July, in celebrating his 85th birthday, the event derived additional interest from the fact that the fiftieth anniversary of the despatch of the memorable Franklin Expedition, which he commanded, was coincident with the first day of that month, for the steam-yacht Fox began her long and lonely voyage from Aberdeen on July 1, 1857. She brought intelligence of the fate of Sir John Franklin and of the crews of the Erebus and Terror. The tale of the adventurous journey and zealous search was told by McClintock in a fascinating book, "The Voyage of the Fox in the Arctic Seas." To mark the jubilee of the date of despatch of the vessel the Royal Geographical Society sent a congratulatory letter to Sir Leopold McClintock, one of the signatories to this being his shipmate, Sir Allen Young, sailing master of the Fox.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Sailor Alone in a Dory for Two Days and a Night

North Sydney, Nov. 23—After being out two days and a night in an open dory, and just when he was about to succumb to hunger, thirst and exposure, a young French sailor was picked up by the schooner Luetta, Capt. Mercer, about ten miles off the St. Pierre coast, and landed here this morning. When the friendly sail hoisted in sight the shades of evening were beginning to cast their fitful hazy hues over old ocean, and 20 minutes later the darkness would have hidden the boat and its lone occupant from view, leaving another soul to a watery grave. After being taken on board the Luetta, the half perished sailor was treated kindly by the skipper and crew, and the following morning was himself again. He refused to give his name, saying he had done something at St. Pierre, which if his whereabouts would be disclosed, meant unjust punishment in a French prison. However, he assured Captain Mercer he was innocent of any wrong doing except to himself. Some days ago he was paid off with 500 francs, and meeting some companions commenced gambling. On the morning following he had only $1.20 left, and feeling remorse over his loss, and also fearing punishment from another source, he stole a dory from the man he feared, and put to sea. When he landed here this morning he was fearful lest he should be arrested, and great, therefore, was his surprise and joy when he met a former employer of St. Pierre, who was hunting for help and took him along with him to Halifax by to-day's noon express.

GIRLS! GIRLS! GIRLS!
Fair Sex Predominates Bennett's This Week.
Bennett's offering for this week consists of all that is good in vaudeville. A Tabloid musical comedy, introducing instrumental numbers, will be presented by the Twelve Navajo Girls. This number is of the spectacular form, with large sets of special scenery. The costumes worn by this talented organization, consists of the dress of the famous Navajo Indians. Several singing, dancing and instrumental numbers are introduced, making a most artistic and pretentious offering. A novel and new conception of a comedy skit; will be given by Mathews and Harris, it is entitled, "Adam the Second." The scene is laid on top of one of the high peaks of the Andes Mountains, South America. Mr. Harris, who is somewhat of an explorer, decides to make an exploration of one of the lofty peaks of the mountains, which no human being has ever set foot on. He uses a balloon as his method of transportation, and upon his arrival discovers that it is inhabited by one person, "A Woman." The conversation that takes place between the two is said to be very funny. The theme is entirely original and ought to make a distinct hit with local theatre-goers. An act which will undoubtedly be appreciated by the old as well as the young is Raffin's monkeys, acrobatic stunts in the chief line of work, and for fifteen minutes keep things going at a lively pace. They seem to enjoy their work, and each one tries to out do the other in the different tricks that are performed. The Picaro Trio in sensational gymnast work, Sam Rowley, the Australian mimic and comedian, Sisters Don English character singers and comedienne, Beyers and Herman, in their unique and original conception of pantomime clowning completes a bill which bids fair to eclipse all previous ones.

ST. CECILIA'S DAY

Celebrated with Great Eclat at St. John the Baptist Church.

The feast of Saint Cecilia, patroness of ecclesiastical music, was celebrated with great eclat at the church of St. John the Baptist last evening. The sacred edifice was ablaze with lights and was crowded by men and women of every walk of life conspicuous among whom were:-His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Garneau, Sir Francois and Lady Langelier, Senator and Madame Choquette, Hon. E. B. and Mrs. Garneau, Hon. A. and Mrs. Robitaille, Aldermen Hogan, Lemay, Lavigne and Barry.

The musical portion of the service was exceptionally fine, and its clever rendition by the L'Union Musicale, assisted by the best local talent, was a fitting tribute paid by that organization to their patron saint. The choir was composed of upwards of an hundred voices under the direction of Mr. E. Dugal, with Mr. George Chertat presiding at the organ and assisted by a splendid orchestra. Mr. J. Arthur Bernier, the talented organist of St. Sauveur Church was also in the choir and rendered two very fine selections on the St. John's organ. The following was the evening's programme:-

Entrée Gloria-Imperial.....Haydn Sermon.....

Organ-Toccata et fugue, re min.....Bach

Tu es Patris-Solo and Choir..... J. A. Bernier. C. Callixte Lavallee Composed for the benefit of St. Peter's Church, Boston.

Crede-Imperial.....Haydn Tantum.....Lemaigre Hymn of L'Union Musicale, words by Pamphile Lemay, music by J. Vezeau, Solo and Choir.

Sortie, organ-Finale.....Boellman J. A. Bernier.

Soloists, Misses M. A. Godbout, I. Langlois, E. Sansfacon, Messrs. Dr. A. Juchereau, Ed. Lalleur, Art. Frederic, D. Bertrand, A. Dompierre. Rev. Camille Roy, of the Quebec Seminary, preached an inspiring sermon on the life of St. Cecilia and closed by exhorting his hearers not to leave the Temple of God, impressed altogether by the evening's magnificent spectacle, but to spend sometime in meditation on the exemplary and virtuous life led by the good saint.

Rev. Cyrille Gagnon, of the Seminary, officiated at the solemn benediction, assisted by Revs. J. E. Pichet and G. Galarnau, of St. John's, as deacon and sub-deacon.

AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH.
Rev. Father Delargy, assisted by Rev. Father Gannon, as deacon, and Rev. Father Krickser as sub-deacon, officiated at the solemn grand mass in honor of St. Cecilia at St. Patrick's Church yesterday morning, which was offered up for the spiritual welfare of the members of the church choir, whom Rev. Father Delargy took occasion to thank for their efficient services very generously given throughout the year. He also remarked on the rather meagre attendance assisting at the high mass lately, and hoped to see the parishioners attend the late mass in greater numbers in the future. Mr. Barrett preached a very forceful sermon, taking his text, "The Abomination and Desolation of Man," from the Gospel of the day, the last Sunday of the ecclesiastical year.

Mr. Clark occupied the chair, and strong and interesting addresses were given by Mrs. Geggie, President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Quebec, and the Rev. E. P. H. King, on the subject of temperance. There were over four hundred in attendance and the collection taken at the close of the meeting amounted to over ten dollars.

WHAT WAS IT
The Woman Feared?
What a comfort to find it is, not "the awful thing" feared, but only chronic indigestion, which proper food can relieve.
A woman in Ohio says: "I was troubled for years with indigestion and chronic constipation. At times I would have such a gnawing in my stomach that I actually feared I had a -- I dislike to write or even think of what I feared. "Seeing an account of Grape-Nuts I decided to try it. After a short time I was satisfied the trouble was not the awful thing I feared, but was still bad enough. However, I was relieved of a bad case of dyspepsia, by changing from improper food to Grape Nuts. "Since that time my bowels have been as regular as a clock. I had also noticed before I began to eat Grape-Nuts that I was becoming forgetful of where I put little things about the house, which was very annoying. "But since the digestive organs have become strong from eating Grape-Nuts my memory is good and my mind as clear as when I was young, and I am thankful." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. A DESERVED HONOR

Private Complimentary Dinner to Captain J. E. Bernier, of Arctic Fame.

On Saturday evening last, at the St. Louis Hotel, a private complimentary dinner was tendered to Captain J. E. Bernier, of Arctic fame, by the Executive Council of the Quebec Geographical Society, Mr. F. X. Berlinguet, architect, President of the Society, presiding. The guests of the occasion were His Lordship Sir Francois Langelier, judge in chief, Mgr. Ladame, Hon. F. R. de la Bruere, Dr. Jos. Edmond Roy, Vice-President of the Royal Society of Canada, Dr. N. E. Dionne, Secretary-Treasurer of the Associated Press of the Province of Quebec, Major LeVasseur, President of the same and ex-President of the Quebec Geographical Society, Mr. Eugene Rouillard, N.P., Secretary-Treasurer of the Quebec Geographical Society, and Mr. Jos. Lemieux. The menu which was served in the most recherche style of the St. Louis Hotel, was as follows:-

Soupe aux Huitres Olives Caviar Radis Maquereau Grille a la Maitre d'Hotel Pommes Saratoga Wine-Estillo Amontillado

Filets de Boeuf a la Financiere Pommes Croquettes Wine-Bourgogne Pomard

Dindonneaux Rotis aux Atocas Fromage Blanc Pursee Asperges Sauce Blanche Hollandaise Wine-Champagne

Pouding Diplomatique Glace Cafe Noir Fromage Pousse Cafe Cigares Cigarettes

Three toasts only were proposed and drunk, that of Capt. Bernier, by Mr. F. X. Berlinguet; that of Sir Francois Langelier, chief judge, by Messrs. LeVasseur, and that of Mr. Berlinguet by Sir Francois Langelier.

The occasion was one quite opportune for highly interesting, eloquent and otherwise remarkable speeches from Mr. Berlinguet, Capt. Bernier, Sir F. Langelier, Dr. J. E. Roy and Major LeVasseur. The guests were given a fine opportunity to have an exact idea of the discoveries and explorations as made by Capt. Bernier, from his original map, during his cruise of fifteen months' duration. They were also shown specimens of minerals such as gold, copper, iron and ivory in their rough form. There were also shown the original of a printed notice left in a spot of those barren lands by Sir F. McClintock, with blanks filled up with pencil, and which reads as follows:-

"Deposited by a party under the command of (in pencil) Lt. McClintock, proceeding (barred) returning (in pencil), in search of the Franklin expedition from Resolute, assistant steamers Volunteer and Intrepid left at winter quarters between Griffith and Cornwallis Islands; at the latter, expedition under Sir John Ross and Captain Penny. Provisions and boat at Port Leopold; small depot and boat at Cape Spencer. 25 May. 1851.

June (in pencil). Party all well."

The President of the Society was especially happy in his speech in recalling that the last meeting of the executive of the society was held on board of the steamer Arctic on the eve of her departure for her second expedition to the Polar regions, and that the Geographical Society was the first to greet him on his return from a very long, important and hazardous trip; that the society has been for years instrumental in having the territory north of Quebec and the Polar country duly explored and taken possession of for the best advantage of the Dominion, politically and commercially. He especially drew the attention of the guests upon the undeniable fact that, outside of the regularly established governments, national or municipal, geographical societies and chambers of commerce came forward as spontaneous growths being called into action for the development of the natural resources of any country. The Chronicle begs leave to sincerely congratulate Captain Bernier upon his local recognition of his merit and upon his achievement for the benefit of our old dear Canada.

YALE WON BIG GAME

Winner's Game Less Brilliant and Harvard's More Spectacular Than Expected.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 23—Yale superbly maintained her football supremacy by defeating Harvard, her oldest rival, in the Stadium to-day by a score of 12 to 0.

Nearly 40,000 spectators at the Indian summer struggle and saw the Harvard eleven shine in vain against the superior prowess of the Yale team.

Harvard got the ball in the center of the field, rushed it twenty yards, and then carried off a brilliant on-side kick, which placed it on Yale's six yard line.

Harvard had three other opportunities to score and Captain Parker made three attempts at field goals with comparative ease.

Early in the second half, Montreal began to recover its lost ground, and though Ottawa made a desperate fight, managed to pull out with a final score of 16 to 10.

Last Saturday's score was Montreal 15, Ottawa, 0. So Montreal takes the championship with a margin of nine points.

At Chicago:—Carlisle Indians, 18; Chicago, 3. At Westmount:—Army, 23; Syracuse, 4.

At Watertown:—Oakdale of Buffalo, 4; Watertown, Brown, 18; Amherst, 0.

Early in the fight Moran showed himself to be the superior boxer. He is a clever two-handed fighter, his most effective work in last night's contest being an almost continuous play on the Californian's head.

ascend began. The incline here is terribly steep. Added to this is the fact that the storms and rains which sweep around this lone mountain top have washed away nearly all the turf or peat from the surface, leaving only a sort of causeway of rough stones by which to ascend. It was a fearful thing for anyone without a steady head to look down toward the valley beneath and think that a false step might precipitate him downwards.

Notwithstanding the tremendous climb, it was remarkable to observe the sort of people who reached the summit. There was an old woman dressed in the picturesque snow-white cap and the many-colored shawl—a fashion which will soon be no more. Some of her children have been in the United States for years.

Once on top, the stress and strain of the ascent is forgotten. No wonder that Patrick retired to the Enely rock. Yet to think that it is really a place to retire to and to take the bearings of life. It is a place apart—a place high up and far away from the modern world of rush after material things.

Wonder held us all the day. In the evening when we again descended to the haunts of men, we felt a strange sort of feeling toward that lone mountain peak which stands as a guard over the western sea.

The race is not always to the swift. Circumstances do have a great deal to do with our position, our salaries, our place in life.

"Luck" does exist, but "pluck" is the surer winner. The greatest thing a man can do is to make the most possible out of the stuff that has been given him. This is success.

Disraeli said that man is not the creature of circumstances, but that circumstances are the creatures of men.

Semi-ready Tailoring was conceived—and it was carried out! The men behind it conquered custom and prejudice, and their every difficulty was but an added incentive.

Chance or Luck has never been built on a sound foundation. Behind the initiative, the carrying out of the Semi-ready idea was the inflexible purpose to find the way. There is always room for the men of forceful ideas.

The Festival Clothes of the Little Folks

The Teddy Bear came too.

And some in a velvet gown.

This little girl came in a motor.

The ball of the ball.

An Elaborate Party Frock.

Silk chiffon cloth, having woven silk dots is the material employed in this very elaborate party frock. There is an underslip of thin but fine china silk, the skirt portion is accordion plaited and sewed to a little close waist. There is a front piece that falls in soft folds straight from the neck to the hem. The back and sides have a skirt shirred full onto a short empire waist, the waistline marked by a braided belt of ribbon ending in rosettes on either side the front panel. Bands of puffing outlined with Valenciennes lace and insertings are disposed over each shoulder, the effect being that of a small bolero. The sleeves are of elbow length and composed entirely of ruffles of the chiffon edged with the Valenciennes of narrow ribbons connected by a chain of twisted ribbon decorate the front of this elegant frock, and a similar trimming finishes the sleeves. The separate lining permits of much variety in this little frock in a change of linings and ribbons. A colored silk slip, pink or blue, and a white one, will afford quite a variety. With the pink or blue slip ribbons in the same color may be worn, and with the white slip one may vary the dress prettily by replacing the belt and rosettes with a sash and shoulder knot of Dresden printed ribbon in soft shades.

THE TEDDY BEARS CAME, TOO.

Teddy Bear accompanies his small master or mistress to many of the childish festivities at this season, and his proper appareling is a matter of some moment today. He has his warm coat of plush and his natty cap, and his sweaters and little Russian blouse suits, quite the same as five folks. The little girl who is here pictured bringing Master Teddy to a "Bear Party" is clad in a coat of one of the fashionable fur cloths, a rough honeycomb pattern in white. The coat is a loose box shape, the back held in with a broad belt and the fronts ornamented with two handsome white silk furs and cords. The trimmings are of fur, and the coat and cap are of white fur also.

"AND SOME IN A VELVET GOWN."

This frock is of black Lyons velvet, with vest and collar and revers of pale blue satin overlaid with rich brocade with touches of embroidery in black and blue. The skirt portion is laid in alternating box and side pleats, the long waist pleated back and front, and showing a full vest of silk. There is a broad sailor collar and small revers, also of the silk, with trimmings of Irish crochet. Motifs of the Irish crochet are disposed on the bottom of each box pleat, and several rows of stitching finish the bottom.

VELVET AND ERMINE PROTECTORS FROM THE COLD.

Simple velvet coats in dark tones are favorites for dress wear with the little folks. The shades most noted this season are the new tones of blue, ranging from Copenhagen to army, the deep hunter greens, certain wines, and, of course, black. Occasionally one sees a coat of dark gun metal or London smoke shades that are so popular with grown-ups, but in this case are fur and bonnet are invariably selected with a view to matching or affording a pleasing contrast. The coat illustrated is of Copenhagen blue velvet, trimmed with a loosely woven silk braid. There is a muff and cap of ermine, the cap having a flat rosette of white satin ribbon at one side. The hair ribbon which shows beneath the cap is of the Copenhagen blue, the same shade as the coat.

THE WELL SELECTED WARDROBE.

The Absolutely Necessary and the Greatly To Be Desired—The Tailored Walking Suit the First Consideration—Then the Dressy Coat Costume—Suit and Dress Hats—Gloves and Boots, Veils and Neckwear.

The home women will never suffer for lack of business training as long as she takes an interest in her wardrobe. How to make the best appearance on her income requires strategies of financing that would put to shame your money barons; for all too few are the women with dress allowance sufficient for their needs, or supposed needs.

To be well dressed women are learning means to work out the wardrobe plan. Decide first on the absolutely necessary suits, hats and accessories. Then "greatly to be desired," as the fortune tellers have it.

A third sheet should contain a list of "stock on hand." From these lists, and with a previously acquired knowledge of the colors, fabrics, and fashion outlines of the season, work out a definite plan in costumes and colors.

The first essential in the well selected wardrobe is, and this is practically a universal rule,—the tailored walking suit. The selection this winter is easy because the tailored suit styles are extremely simple, and the fabrics eminently satisfactory, and the colors delightfully becoming. There is really little variety in the tailored suits—one may have the coat anywhere from thirty to fifty inches in length, and skirt plaited or circular, with or without bands. The sleeves are invariably full length. The coats may be double or single breasted, and with or without a centre back seam. They are easy fitting, but loose enough to be first cousin to the box coat—the tight fitted style is not in the running this year.

The materials for these suits are plain or fancy striped or checked broadcloth, the attractive new skibo serge showing black check and stripe in black an emerald ground, and the heavy wide wale serge and fancy chevrons. Then there are fine worsteds in invisible checks and stripes which are distinctly new. Any one well-dressed woman claims she always buys her hats first and selects her suits to match them, but this would be very poor wisdom for a woman of limited income. Select the suit first and choose the hat afterwards. Never lose sight of the fact that the hat is the high light of the picture. An unsuccessful or unbecoming hat will counteract the effect of the most charming suit.

Next in importance to the strictly tailored suit is the dressy tailored costume. This consists of coat and skirt of one fabric, in the former case unusually accompanied by a matching bodice of a lighter weight fabric.

The best investment for a dressy suit costume is fine broadcloth or velvet in one of the rich dark tones of the season. The black-purple, the dead-grays and the new greens are especially liked for this purpose. The trimmings run into elaborate braidings and heavy laces outlined with cords. The waist in matching tone may be of double chiffon, which is a very heavy weight chiffon, marquisette, or heavy felt net. The trimming used in the costume appears on the bodice, and frequently the heavier fabric of the costume forms a portion of the bodice.

The separate coat is a distinctive feature of the fashions this season, and it is a convenient and economic one for most women. Unless one is very generally provided in the matter of dress allowance, a separate coat must be selected most judiciously. For the woman who can afford it, a fur coat is ideal, but with a fur coat one still needs a cloth separate coat, as the fur coat is usually dressy. The long coats of heavy serge or cheviot, suitable for traveling and general over-coat wear, are extremely satisfactory, while for combination of dressy and practical service, there are plain black broadcloth in marchioness or belmore styles, the former loose, and the latter semi-fitting, that are suitable for street service, as well as for wear over dressy evening toilettes where the street car is the mode of conveyance.

There are many beautiful and comparatively inexpensive fabrics for dressy costumes, such as crepe de chine, land-downe, silk poplins and the like. These are all extremely durable materials and lend themselves admirably to present modes. The tones of violet and gray are charming in these fabrics.

In costumes for afternoon and evening wear, most women find that they can furnish up some last year's toilette in addition to what they feel that they may afford in new things. Last year's costume is very readily brought up to date this season by rearrangement of trimming materials, and the alteration of the sleeves. Broad bands attached to the shoulders and forming sling sleeves in Japanese effect will modernize a gown to none but the owner would date it "06." The long masquerade cuffs, of lace, or net are being added to last year's gowns to bring them in keeping with the present fashion for the long transparent sleeves.

While the suit hat should be selected with direct reference to the tailored suit with which it is to be worn, a dressy hat may be chosen more freely. It is enough that it should harmonize with the tone of the dress. Black hats will be largely used this winter, but they will also most invariably have color in the trimmings. Huge roses surround the crown of many hats; others have wreaths of morning glories. The much befattered hats are the height of the fashion, and for most women, the height of extravagance, since their quaint and often weird effects run into money faster than any mad for millinery for years.

The well dressed woman must pay closest attention to her gloves and boots. This does not mean that either the latter or the former must be custom made, for the ready-to-wear boots are so well shaped that even the most fastidious woman need look no further for her footwear. Lace boots for heavy street service and button boots for dress is the general rule, although many women prefer button boots for all occasions. Dull leathers, patent leather foxing with dull leather or cloth tops, Russian leather with cloth or oose calf tops, are of the smart styles for the street. We will see no more of the low shoes on the street this winter, a fact which all sensible people will rejoice in.

The pump will, with its accompanying silk stockings, be worn in its proper place the house. Dressy boots of patent leather with cloth tops or dull leather tops, as for more dressy service white kid boot and slippers in suede that match the gown in tone, are for the woman who has ample means to carry out her fashion fancies.

The short glove is again prominent owing to the return of the full length tailored sleeves. This is, of course, of for street wear, for dressy tailored suit with three quarters and elbow sleeve the elbow length glove is still the thing

THE LATEST NOVELTIES OF FASHION—FADS AND FANCIES FOR THE LITTLE FOLK

Quite the latest novelty is the Teddy Bear coat. This is made of brown plush in the shade seen in the toy bears. The coat part is plain and straight and there is a hood piece attached which is slipped over the head, fitting very light about the face, so that never a stray lock of hair may slip out. The hood is caught back in such a way that there are two little upstanding ears for trimming. Really, one will find it hard to distinguish the toy bear and its owner very soon.

Mohair is one of the most satisfactory materials for children's school frocks at all seasons of the year. Nowadays when houses and schoolrooms are so perfectly heated there is no necessity of adding much to the weight of the dress fabric in winter time, heavier underwear being sufficient to equalize things. For this reason medium weight fabrics, like mohair, are superseding heavier stuffs for winter wear. Mohairs have the quality of almost everlasting life and good looks. They do not rub shiny or spot easily or get slinky looking in the hard service they are put to by the little folks. They are best made up in Russian blouses or pleated or circular skirts with guimpe waists.

The little girls often see the fashions for their elders—as witness this matter of high boots. First we found the children's boots growing higher, two and three and even four buttons being added. Now we see, the elders following it, and the high boot, several buttons higher than we had been accustomed to wear, is the fashionable street shoe of the season for everybody.

For the little tots there are white rubber boots to wear with the white shoes they shoes on the street this winter, a fact which all sensible people will rejoice in.

The pump will, with its accompanying silk stockings, be worn in its proper place the house. Dressy boots of patent leather with cloth tops or dull leather tops, as for more dressy service white kid boot and slippers in suede that match the gown in tone, are for the woman who has ample means to carry out her fashion fancies.

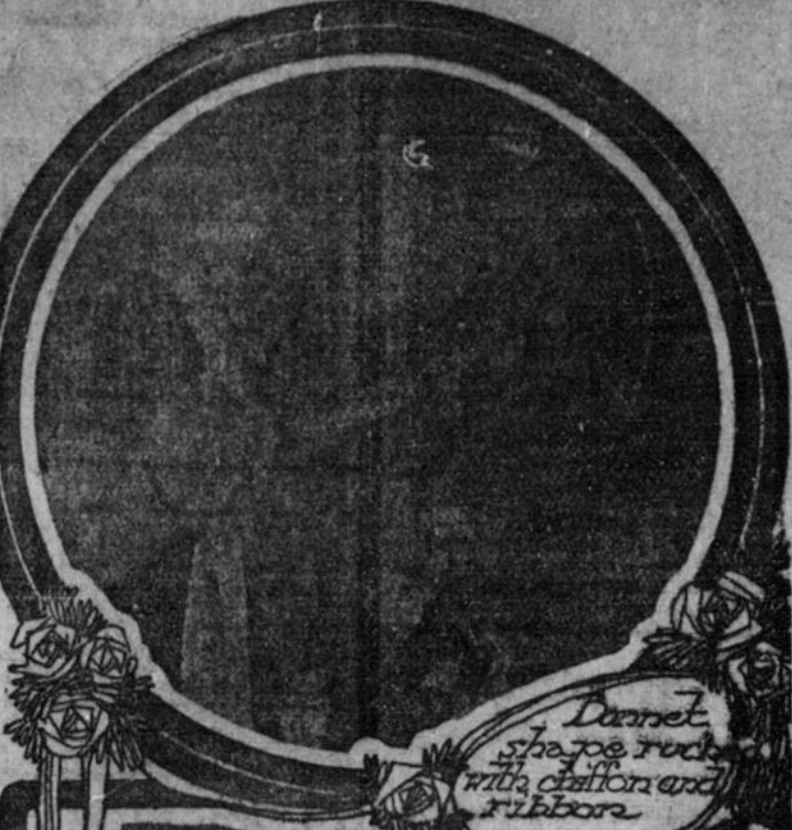

The short glove is again prominent owing to the return of the full length tailored sleeves. This is, of course, of for street wear, for dressy tailored suit with three quarters and elbow sleeve the elbow length glove is still the thing are a part and parcel of all juvenile dress toilets. There are also brown rubber which in tone the golden brown shade popular in leather. It would seem that one must have an assortment of rubbers nowadays, as well as other matching accessories to the toilette.

There are gay little plaid merino stoddings in the proper clan colorings, presumably for Scotch lads and lassies or descendants of the land of Burns, but perfectly acceptable to most young folks of any nationality. These are extreme pretty when worn with plain frocks with perhaps a tie of silk of the same clan plaid.

Dancing pumps for boys are shown in rull kid as well as in patent leathers, as for some unaccountable reason, the shoe men say that the small boy himself seems to prefer the dull leathers. Possibly, because his first efforts at dancing, a variably make him conscious of his feet a painful degree, and he realizes that patent leathers will but increase their liability. Whatever the reason, the small boy, when left to his own choice, invariably takes the dull kid pump.

Hand-buttonholing as a finish for children's dresses loses none of its favor with the coming winter. Not only are heavy wash dresses so finished—the picture as usual—but wool fabrics also, cashmere flannels and unsmiling, henriettes, as the like. Even the bottom of the frock, often so finished nowadays. A good way to do this is after the German fashion, that is, a narrow hem in place, mark an embroider the scallop and then cut U scallop outline. This gives a little body to the skirt and makes the finish more durable.

Bonnet shape made with chiffon and ribbon.

Velvet and ermine protectors from cold.

White Still Leads for Children—Sheer Batistes With Valenciennes Trimmings—The Plain Velvet Frock Shoulder and Sleeve Knots—Best Bonnets.

Winter days bring their round of festivities to the little folks, even as to their elders. There is the weekly dancing class, as much a part of the youthful curriculum today as vaccination or the semi-annual trip to the dentist. Then there are Thanksgiving and Christmas parties, and for the small New Yorkers, children's day at the Horse Show, and occasional matinees, all of which call for special dressing.

White remains the color par excellence for the small girl's dressy frocks, and indeed, many mothers choose nothing but white for the daughter's wardrobe until she reaches the age of twelve. These, however, are of the class to whom laundry and cleaners' bills have no terror. More modest incomes leave white to the "best frocks," and select sensible browns and blues for everyday services.

FINE AND SHEER THE RULE.

The party frock should be sheer and dainty. It may be simple or elaborate,—for it is here alone that elaborateness in countenance in children's frocks—but it must be fine and soft. There are wonderful frocks of eyelid embroidery on sheer handkerchief linen, the cost of which runs into three figures. These are of course imported, and to be had in those exclusive little French shops that cater only to the needs of the small millionaires. Simpler but none the less beautiful are the frocks of finest batiste, inset with fine Valenciennes. This latter is the type of the general run of party frocks.

Short waisted effects are popular with the small folks as well as with their elders. Very often the waist is defined only in the back and sides, the front extending from neck to hem in soft straight folds. Straight bands of the material edged with lace or trim the skirts, those bands being a little heavier than the lace edged ruffles, although the latter is still used. Sometimes the skirt has two or three broad trunks and an equally deep hem, these frilled with lace. Lace edged ruffles often form the sleeves, and there may be a yoke of lace and batiste strips or puffings.

RIBBONS IN PROFUSION.

A most essential part of the sheer party frock is the ribbons. This season's frocks are shorter than heretofore, and are tied with to upstanding loops that about cover the little back. There are braided bands of ribbons ending in rosettes that belt in the back and sides of little empire frocks, these being new this season. Rosettes of narrow ribbon, rolled and twisted, are used for breast and shoulder knots and sleeve finishes. These are to be had all ready made up at most ribbon counters, or the ribbon clerks will usually make them up free of charge, in the desired shade of ribbon. Of course there are only three colors for the ribbons of the little miss—white, pink and blue.

FORMAL FROCKS OF VELVET.

Very elegant frocks for "visiting," Madam, the French woman who presides over the wardrobes of many wealthy little Miss New York, tells us, are of velvet in black or dark tones, very simply fashioned. One of the most pleasing sights of the Horse Show was two sisters, aged eight and ten, who on "pony day" adorned a lower box in a fashion that drew more eyes than even their beautiful mother did in the evening. Their dresses were exactly alike, simply straight little "gallicienne" of beautiful black velvet, cut with the round Dutch neck, untrimmated save for deep collar and wide turn-back cuffs of finest Irish crochet. These velvet frocks are really very sensible, especially when carried out in the good qualities of English velveteens, which are not as expensive as the silk velvets and many times more durable. The velveteens come now in all the rich and beautiful tones of the season, blue being especially liked for the little folks.

ELABORATE BONNET AND SIMPLE COAT.

The very best bonnet and the very best coat that adorns and warms the little miss on her way to and from childish festivities seem to follow one fixed rule this season—the former as dressy as possible, and the latter as plain. All sorts of quaint bonnet shapes are worn, broad crowns with bigmas wide at the sides, and dear little Quaker bonnets, ruffled about the face with quillings of malinette and wreaths of tiny roses. Two or three short fluffy ostrich tips usually adorn the outside of these little Quaker bonnets. Charming bonnets are made from French felt and beaver flats, slashed and bent into poke shapes, and made very full and fluffy about the face with finely shirred chiffon. Soft drappings of ribbon and huge ribbon rosettes trim the crowns, and there are ties and rosette ear knots of broad ribbons.

HER MOTORING CLOTHES.

If the family possesses a motor car, our little maid is provided with motoring apparel nowadays, quite like older folks. The comfortable fur coats of squirrel and racoon and caracul are so roony that they slip on easily over the party frock for the ride to and from the dancing class or party. There are dear little bonnet-caps of white fur for hiding away pink ears from Jack Frost, the same white fur is used as collar and cuffs of the coat. Sometimes the whole coat as well as the cap is of the white fur, giving one the impression of a very bright-eyed little bunny.

FUR FABRIC COATS.

The various fur cloths and plushes the shops are showing this year are ideal for party coats. These come in white and also in light blues and pinks, as well as in staple colors, the light colors being especially intended for dressy wear. They are made up quite simply, and may be trimmed with a real fur collar and cuffs, care being taken that a curly fur is used with the plain silky plushes, and a plain fur, like squirrel or ermine, with the curled cloths. Caring little muffs of the same fur accompany these coat and cap sets.

BONNET SHAPES RUCHED WITH CHIFFON AND RIBBON.

For dressy wear the bonnets are most elaborate, flats of felt or scratch beaver, slashed and bent into quaint shapes, or fascinating bonnet frames covered smoothly with velvet. The underbrim facing is a feature of all these dressy hats. There is a low bandeau made very full and fluffy with ruchings of malinette or chiffon, this facing extending well out on the underbrim. Into this fluffy frilling is set wreaths of tiny button roses or rosettes of narrowst ribbons in delicate shades. Ribbons, flowers and ostrich feathers trim the outer portion of the bonnet. Fancy feathers are not considered proper for small folks, and it is to be hoped that this rule will continue, for most of the plumage of this season is quite too unnatural to be counted good taste for children.

THIS LITTLE GIRL CAME IN A MOTOR.

For the small maid who motors to dancing class and party there is provided warm coats of the less expensive fur, loose and roony enough to slip on over the most elaborate frock without crushing. Frequently the collar and cuffs are of a contrasting fur, the white cuffs being especially liked for this. A motoring cap accompanies this coat, provided with a cape piece that amply protects the head and ears. This cap is of the same fur as the coat trimmings. White camel is one of the best of the inexpensive furs for this purpose.

FREIGHT CONGESTED

Situation at New York—
Enormous Increase of Eastward Steerage Travel.

New York, Nov. 23.—Serious freight congestion threatens all shipments to Europe because of the unprecedented homeward rush of European freight traffic at this time of the year is very heavy and with the enormous increase in steerage travel, many lines are finding it difficult to handle it. European shipments now consist largely of apples, of which 168,170 barrels have been exported so far this year. The Main of the North German Lloyds which sailed Thursday, carried 8,200 barrels of apples and 2,200 boxes of fruit. These shipments of apples will continue until after the holidays probably and as it is perishable freight the steamship companies try to handle it, even to the exclusion of other business. Other European shipments consist of cotton, grain, provisions, dried fruits, tobacco and oil.

The eastward bound steerage of third class travel from January last to November 15th, 1907, is already 110,000 in excess of what it was for the same period of 1906. The second class eastward bound travel is 14,000 in excess of what it was last year and both the second and third class figures will be largely augmented during the next few weeks.

A Casket of Pearls.—Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets would prove a great solace to the disheartened dyspeptic if he would but test their potency. They're veritable gems in preventing the seating of stomach disorders, by aiding and stimulating digestion—60 of these health "pearls" in a box, and they cost 35 cents. Recommended by most eminent physicians.—64

RHODES SCHOLARS AT OXFORD

London, Nov. 23.—Among those who have been successful in their final honors at the schools (Oxford) and in the examination for B.C.L., and second-class literature, are:

L. Brehaut, Prince Edward Island, R. Patterson, Ontario; J. McLean, Manitoba.

In Jurisprudence—J. Archibald, Quebec; S. M. Herbert, Newfoundland, and C. B. Martin, New Brunswick.

Third class Natural Science and Physiology—A. W. Donaldson, British Columbia.
Dr. G. R. Parkin, speaking at a great meeting of the Colonial and Continental Missionary Society, said to-day that the critical point in both the Church and the Empire is the first great clash of the Mother Country to raise to nationhood wherein our paralyzing social problems are being solved. The Bishop of Kewarwin spoke against indiscriminate emigration.

A Voice From The Stomach

A Blodless Figat Bat een a Taboi and a Habl—the Tablet Wins.

At the age of 22, Clarence had good digestion. He had gastric juice that could dissolve doughnuts and turn apple skins into good corpses.

At the age of 24 he began to be profuse about the waist and lean backwards. He also began to cultivate several chins. In his newly-found pride he began to think it his duty to gorge himself on everything, the good and the bad, for appetite feed on appetite—and every good thing is abused.

His pictures showed that he took on weight after he put his collar on.

At the age of 26 Clarence married and went to boarding. On top of all this, he attended oyster suppers and wine dinners, which reduced the size of his collar from 16 1/2 to 15. With still abiding faith in the strength of his stomach he gulped his meals, and chewed them afterwards.

At the age of 28 Clarence began to hear an inward voice—a warning from the stomach. After each meal, he would feel bloated—and belching became a habit.

He began to be a light eater—and a heavy thinker. He tried to think out a cure, for now he would sit down at his meals absolutely disgusted at the thought or sight of anything to eat.

He would sit down at his meals without the trace of an appetite, just because it was time to eat.

He would often feel a gnawing, unsteady "still-hungry" feeling in his stomach, even after he was through eating, whether his meal was well cooked or not.

And he suffered a good many other things with his stomach that he could not explain, but that made him grouchy, miserable, out-of-sorts and generally sour on everybody and everything.

Finally he read an account, something like this, about the truly wonderful results obtained from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in all cases of stomach trouble, dyspepsia, and so on. He bought a 50c. box at the drug store, and took the whole box. When he started, he had little faith and less appetite. When he finished he had absolute faith—and more appetite, and more cheer. Things began to taste different and better to him.

Now he has no more dyspepsia, no more indigestion, no more loss of appetite, brash, irritation, burning sensation, heartburn, nausea, eructations, bad memory, or loss of vim and vigor.

Remember, one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest for you 3,000 grains of food, just as it did for Clarence.

This relieves your stomach of the work of digesting until your stomach can get strong and healthy again. Your stomach has been overworked and abused. It's fagged out. It needs a rest.

Let Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do the work of your stomach. You will be surprised how fine you'll feel after eating, and how lusciously good everything will taste to you.

Heed the call of the stomach now! There's a world of good cheer in one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—at any drug store, 50c.

Send us your name and address to-day and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

DIED WHILE GIVING EVIDENCE.

Gloversville, N.Y., Nov. 23.—While testifying in a contested will hearing in the Surrogate's Court in this city to-day, Dr. Edward H. Eisenbrey, one of Gloversville's best known physicians, was stricken with apoplexy and died almost immediately. His failure to reply to a question of counsel in the case led to the discovery that he was dying.

RAILWAY STRIKE IN INDIA.

Calcutta, Nov. 23.—A British regiment has left Fort William (Calcutta) for Assam, Bengal, the junction of the East Indian and Bengal and Nagpur Railway, where the railway strikers are looting the cars. Government business is almost at a standstill, and Simla, the official capital, is isolated. Steamers are unable to sail as they lack both coal and cargo. The prices of provisions are rapidly rising here.

JESSE JAMES IN FRANCE.

Etampes, Department of the Zinetise, France, Nov. 22.—Three highway men last night robbed the Toulon express near here after the most approved Jesse James fashion. They entered the baggage car, shot down the guards, seized the cash boxes and jumped off at the next station. An alarm was given and the robbers were pursued, but they escaped in an automobile held by waiting comrades.

NEGOTIATIONS AT A STAND-STILL.

Tokio, Nov. 23.—Minister of foreign affairs Hayashi has been disappointed and unable to meet and confer with Rodolphe Lemieux, the Canadian Minister of Legation and American Ambassador O'Brien on the occasion of his regular weekly reception. Pending his recovery and the arrival of Baron Ishii, Chief of the Bureau of Commerce of the Japanese foreign office, who is on his way back home from a visit to America, negotiations on the immigration propositions are at a stand still.

AGITATION IN LISBON EXTENDING.

Lisbon, Nov. 23.—The excitement here caused by resentment against the dictatorship of Premier Feanco, is increasing to other circles. The government threatens to proclaim martial law at the first outbreak and the troops have been confined to their barracks in readiness to suppress rioting. Four additional newspapers have been suppressed and the police continue making arrests.

CROWN PRINCE BANISHED

London, Eov. 23.—A special despatch to the Standard from Madrid says that King Carlos of Portugal has banished Crown Prince Luis Philippe to the Royal residence at Villa Vicosa, an isolated park, one hundred miles from the capital, on account of the Prince's remonstrance against dictatorship regime, which he deems is turning Portugal into a hot bed of republicans and anarchists and endangering the monarchy. The incident has caused a great sensation. The Crown Prince is said to be under the influence of the conservatives, who advocate the abdication of King Carlos in favor of his son.

WESTON'S BAD DAY

Toledo, O., Nov. 23.—Edward P. Weston had another bad day to-day. Up to 8 o'clock to-night he had travelled about 16 miles during the nine hours spent on the road, but he will endeavor to-night to add 14 miles to his day's record before he turns in. Weston left Delat 26 miles west of here at 9:30 this morning after a rest of eight hours. He arrived at Wauseon, eight miles distant at 1.15. After dinner he had a recurrence of stomach trouble and did not resume his journey until 3.20. He arrived at Archbold, eight miles farther on, at 6.15 where he rested until 7.50. Then he proceeded with the hope of arriving at Bryan, fourteen miles beyond by midnight. If he does he will have completed 30 miles during the day and night. Weston arrived at Bryan at 12.15 in good condition. After addressing 500 people he retired.

A UNIVERSITY SCRAP.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—"Stage night" of university college was rudely disturbed last night by a number of the school of science students, who burst into the gymnasium, and tried to break up the entertainment. About fifty science men put up a ladder and climbed into the drafting room upstairs. The door into the drafting room was locked, but was soon broken down, when a rough and tumble scrap ensued. The arts men managed to capture half a dozen of the S.P.S. men, the rest of whom made their escape through the windows. The prisoners were taken down stairs, thrown in the swimming tank with their clothes on, and then out of the window. An attempt was made to gain an entrance downstairs through the window of the refreshment room, where a ladder was thrust in the window. The side door was also attacked and a window broken but both attempts failed. The door into the drafting room, the door into the swimming tank, and the glass of the side door of the gymnasium were destroyed, as were also a number of drafting tables, and 7 squares.

The entertainment was a novel one, and was carried on after the excitement as if nothing had happened. It consisted of tug-of-war matches, pick-a-back contests, and roller hockey matches between years, which were won by the fourth year, the second year and the first year respectively. An exhibition of fencing, songs and attempts to dance were other features of the programme.

PATRIOTIC SERMON

Delivered to the Members of
St. Andrew's Society
Last Even'g.

A crowded church, a hearty service and an eloquent sermon marked the anniversary service of St. Andrew's Society, which was held in Chalmers Church last evening. The sacred edifice was wholly filled with the sons and daughters of the land of the heather and their descendants, the congregation being one of the largest which has assembled for a number of years to participate in the annual service of the society. The members of the Society assembled in the vestry shortly before the service and marched into the church in a body, occupying seats in the front pews.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Wylie C. Clark, pastor of Chalmers, prayer was offered by Rev. E. J. Stobo, pastor of the Baptist Church, the Scripture reading was read by the Rev. A. T. Love, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, and the sermon preached by the Rev. A. J. Mowat, D.D. of Erskine Church, Montreal. There was a special musical service under the leadership of Mr. Priestly, Miss Kennedy presiding at the organ. In addition to suitable hymns and the anthem "The Radiant Morn," there was a solo, "Prince of Peace," by Mr. Priestly; a quartette, "God is a Spirit," by Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Priestly, Mr. Priestly and Mr. Fletcher, and a Scotch hymn by Mrs. Ross. The collection was in aid of the funds of the society and a generous offering toward the good work carried on by the well-deserving society was made.

The Society was particularly fortunate this year in securing the services of so eloquent a preacher as the Rev. A. J. Mowat, of Erskine Church, Montreal, who delivered a most interesting discourse and one which was listened to throughout with rapt attention. The preacher took as his theme "The Lion is My Shepherd, I Shall Not Want," and from this text he evolved a patriotic series of thoughts which must have appealed in a peculiarly forcible manner to the heart of every Scotswoman and Scotsman who heard him. St. Andrew's Day, the national festival, he said, had a dual side. It was a time for mirth and merriment, and the song and story which recalled the old time. But it had also its religious side, when the people of Scotland listened for the Shepherd's voice. The message which he wished to bring before them was the Shepherd's song. The 23rd Psalm had come to be more Scottish in its way than perhaps any other portion of the Scripture, and Scotsmen the world over knew and held it in the deepest reverential appreciation. Let Scotland, he urged, never forget the Shepherd's song.

Earth had many favored spots, but after Palestine, Scotland appeared to have been the special care of the Shepherd. It had made strong men, man for man worthy to take their place anywhere, true faithful leaders. The preacher spoke of the influence of the Shepherd's song in the homes of Scotland, and drew again in vivid words the scene portrayed in the "Cottar's Saturday Night."

The eloquent preacher dilated at length upon his subject, and a feeling of regret was almost perceptible in the crowded congregation that time did not permit even a more extended treatment than that with which he had so enthusiastically interested them.

CANADA AND SOUTH AFRICA.

(From South African Mines.)
There is no reason why the advice recently given to Canadians by Dr. Kipling should not be put into practice and why Canada should not develop its trade with South Africa. This country, in the absence of the state scheme to manufacture agricultural machinery, recently talked of at the Cape, will for a long time to come remain a good market for that class of goods. Some of the best agricultural machinery in the world, we cannot forget, is produced in Canada. Freight to South Africa, thanks to the Shipping King that appears to favor this country, is not higher than England, and not high. With the growth of its own mineral activity Canada will, no doubt, turn out mining machinery equal at least to that made by its neighbors in the United States; and in view of the more scientific tariff at a lower cost. Of all these evidences of Canadian enterprise South Africa is anxious to hear more. Already that country, owing to the thoughtfulness of Earl Grey, buys our wines, and soon it may turn to appreciate our tobacco. There is room for a considerable extension of profitable reciprocity between the colonies, aptly called by Mr. Kipling "the big four."

Perney Hirtschman Tells His Part of Story

The Case Fully Reported Proves the Work was done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 25.—A well-known resident at 93 Sackville St., Mr. Perney Hirtschman, who has been in a somewhat serious condition lately, has recovered, and says: "Six months ago my appetite fell off and my health became very poor. I had terrible attacks of indigestion and often was unable to sleep at night. My poor color showed what an ill man I was. I tried numerous remedies, but the only genuine one was Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Two boxes cured my indigestion. My appetite increased and my strength came back quickly. Today I have a fine zest for my meals. I feel as strong and healthy as a young boy. Because they are so cleansing and so tonic in their effect I think Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used by every person. My wife used them regularly with grand results."

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health but who have existing duties to perform, either in the way of household care or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nerve. By its timely use much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife would in many instances have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were not used in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth easy, sure, and almost painless.

Dear friend, please read Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and honest character, but is a mixture of known ingredients, a full list of all the ingredients being printed in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-toxic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol in its makeup. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of women's ailments, which is sold through druggists, and all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DAY BY DAY.

It's an ill wind that doesn't blow the coal man good.

You can give a man all the taffy you like to-day without offence. It's St. Catherine's day.

We suppose it can be said, judging by the streets, that summer is on its last wheels.

Dear winter girl,
Dear maid of spring,
Dear summer girl,
Dear autumn thing,
Dear all the time,
All, all the year;
Take you at any
Time you're dear!

Will there be snow to-day to cool off the latire?
Naturally the average young man's head is apt to swim when he sees a giddy girl.

Not that we wish to interfere, but just as a guarantee of good faith, we will say that Indian summer can't make us mad by lingering in the lap of winter.

Just a month to Christmas. Have you purchased your presents yet?

The price of bread seems to be rising as fast as the dough.

The man with a pull will be in demand at the latire parties to-night.
