Game clubs may ask priority

QUEBEC (CP) — Hunting and fishing outfitters in Quebec may ask the provincial government to give them priority over private clubs in the distribution of leasing and rental rights.

The idea was studied Tuesday night at a general meeting of the Quebec City region of the Quebec Association of Outfitters. It also will be discussed in Montreal next month when nine regional association chairmen meet.

The province's 3,000 private hunting and fishing clubs may renew their leases annually or every three years. Currently, outfitters are entitled to renew their licences every nine years.

The association would ask the Quebec department of fish and game to give its members first consideration in the granting of these leasing rights.

Power Corp. announces buy

MONTREAL (CP) — Power Corp. of Canada Ltd. has acquired the controlling interest in the Investors Group of Winnipeg. It was announced Wednesday night.

The Investors Group holds the controlling interest in the Great-West Life Assurance Co. of Winnipeg.

The announcement said that, through a 1,028,400-share transaction with Canadian Pacific Investments Ltd., Power Corporation's holdings of Investors common shares were increased to 3,272,080 or 50.3 per cent of the outstanding shares.

Canadian Pacific Investments received common shares of Northern and Central Gas Corp. Ltd., preferred shares of Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. and an amount of cash.

Killer gets jail and lash

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que. (CP) — Marcel Soucy, 27, Montreal was sentenced to 30 years in prison and five strokes with the lash Wednesday for attempted murder and rape.

Soucy, serving life for the murder last June 8 of two-year-old Nathalie Jean, had pleaded guilty to the attempted murder of Normand Jean and the subsequent rape of Mrs. Jean in nearby St. Jean-de-Dieu.

Sentence was handed down by Mr. Justice Georges-Rene Fournier of Superior Court.

Evidence at the non-capital murder trial which began Jan. 12 showed that Soucy shot the young girl to death while attacking her 27-year-old mother.

Mrs. Jean testified that Soucy visited the home about 5 p.m. on Sunday, June 8, and asked her husband to accompany him in killing a deer he said he had spotted nearby.

Soucy returned to the home shortly after and, wielding his rifle, said he had just shot Mr. Jean to death. The intended victim testified later that Soucy had fired three shots in his direction, just missing him.

Park agreement reached

QUEBEC (CP) — Agreement in principle has been reached by Quebec and Ottawa for location of a national park in the Trois-Rivieres area. Gabriel Loubier, minister of tourism, fish and game, announced Wednesday.

Mr. Loubier told reporters the agreement was reached following discussions with Jean Chretien, federal minister of Indian affairs and northern development.

"However, Quebec will not concede the proposed land site to federal authorities," Mr. Loubier said.

"This is simply not a negotiable point."

Mr. Chretien earlier stated that transfer of land for proposed national parks must be made to the federal government before any serious discussions are held.

Only one exception has been made to the federal stipulation which was the temporary transfer of land for the proposed national park in the Gaspes.

The land there was to be transferred to federal authorities for 99 years to assure a "common development program" of the area between federal and provincial governments.

To visit twin city

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP) — The North Bay and District Chamber of Commerce is preparing for a scheduled visit May 19-20 from its Shawinigan, Que. counterpart.

Officials here, awaiting confirmation of the trip by the Shawinigan group, said Wednesday the two-day itinerary is to include a variety of tours and seminars.

The visit is the first move in a project initiated in Shawinigan last year to "twin" the two chambers.

Unilingualists appear on language rioting charges

MONTREAL (CP) — Three French-language militants were summoned Wednesday to appear in criminal court on charges of taking part in a language riot last fall, the same charges on which they had already been liberated at preliminary hearing.

The summonses were issued for Raymond Lemieux, president of the Ligue pour l'Integration Scolaire, an organization seeking French-only schools in Quebec, Reggie Chartrand, leader of the Chevaliers de l'Independence—Knights of Independence—and LIS vice-president Laurier Gravel.

They are charged with resisting arrest, refusing to disperse after reading of the Riot Act and inciting to riot in a Sept. 10 demonstration at suburban St. Leonard where the LIS began its drive to have Quebec children taught in French only.

Lemieux, liberated at a preliminary hearing last Thursday by Judge Jacques Anctil, also is charged with sedition.

Chartrand and Gravel were liberated at preliminary hearing Tuesday by Chief Judge Andre Fabien of Sessions Court.

Dismissal of charges at preliminary hearing means only that the presiding judge found the evidence insufficient to warrant trial. It does not constitute an acquittal.

St. Leonard has been the focal point of the school language controversy since LIS supporters won control of the Roman Catholic school board in 1968 and introduced a policy of eliminating French-language education.

Nixon "state of the world" speech U.S. to keep commitments

By RALPH HARRIS

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — President Nixon told Congress Wednesday the United States is shedding its role as world policeman but pledged it will keep treaty commitments to allies and meet any major Communist threats in Europe and Asia.

In a special message on foreign affairs, Nixon expressed concern over the Soviet Union's penetration in the Middle East, its arms aid to North Vietnam, and its mounting missile strength.

He told Moscow that the U.S. would be gravely concerned if its support for the Arab cause led it to seek a predominant position in the Middle East.

He acknowledged progress in negotiations to scale down the arms race, but said American-Soviet relations are far from satisfactory in many respects.

Nixon coupled Soviet policy in the Middle East with charges that Moscow, by continuing large-scale arms aid to Hanoi and failing to persuade the Vietnam Communists to negotiate seriously for a political settlement, bore a heavy responsibility for the absence of peace.

High administration officials said the president's strong language is intended not as a challenge or threat to the Soviets, but as a statement of fact, which he hopes will open the way to serious negotiations on all major problems.

STRESSES INTENTION

The president's 40,000-word message, the first of its kind and one of the most comprehensive foreign policy statements ever to come out of the White House, stressed his intention to reduce U.S. involvement in the affairs of other countries and to substitute partnership for dominance in relations with allies and friends.

But the administration sources said the president is not withdrawing the United States from world affairs or turning it down the road to isolationism.

Initial reaction to the president's message was favorable, with several congressmen saying it acknowledged that the United States no longer has to dominate its allies, as it did when Communism threatened a shattered Europe at the end of the Second World War.

Senator Mike Mansfield, Democratic Senate leader, said he is pleased that Nixon had emphasized partnership, negotiation and peace and other countries.

Soviets still not satisfied

MOSCOW (Reuters) — United States President Nixon's message to Congress Wednesday showed that basic U.S. foreign policy aims remain unchanged, the official Soviet news agency Tass said.

In a dispatch from Washington, Tass noted Nixon's warning that relations with the Soviet Union remain far from satisfactory.

"Although the president urged not to revive the cold war spirit, his message contains a number of statements against the Soviet Union and other socialist countries," it said.

Attempts were made to shift to others the responsibility for U.S. foreign policy setbacks.

Tass said that, although the message stressed U.S. impartiality in the Middle East conflict, Nixon made clear Washington will continue supporting Israel and had reaffirmed its intention to supply arms to Tel Aviv.

"Although the message points to the need for a careful revision of some of the old positions and for a 'new approach' to the problem of peace, the main aim and tasks of U.S. policy remain unchanged," the agency said.

It followed from the message that the United States continues to lay the accent on military force as the basis of its foreign policy.

PRETTY STANDARD BEARER — It's not all bull at the joint beef breeders' annual meeting being held this year at Sherbrooke's Le Baron Hotel where breeders from all across Canada get together. This pretty young flag bearer, who led head table guests to their table at the dinner where Agricultural Minister Clement Vincent spoke, looks as if she enjoys every minute of it. The pretty lass, accompanied by friends later provided entertainment in the form of Scottish dancing for the delegates.

North Hatley pollution campaign gets underway

NORTH HATLEY — The Massawippi Water Protection Association yesterday launched an across-the-board campaign against the growing pollution problem in Lake Massawippi, one of the Eastern Townships' most famous beauty spots.

The association is sending letters to property owners around the lake, informing them of the situation and suggesting corrective measures.

The text of the letter follows:

The standard generally accepted by the Quebec Department of Health for safe drinking water and swimming is a coliform count of less than 1000 coliform per 100 ml of water.

Last summer, the highest coliform test taken in front of your property on Lake Massawippi was.....

Dear property-owner:

The above mentioned test was made during a survey conducted by personnel from Bishop's University. The survey was commissioned by Massawippi Water Protection for the purpose of ascertaining a meaningful and scientific measurement of the condition of the lake. The main conclusion of this survey leaves no doubt that the lake and the streams flowing into it are polluted very seriously.

Analysing the data from the survey, an official of the Dept. of Health classifies Lake Massawippi as Category "D" (very hazardous). Sixty-four per cent of the tests from approximately 485 points around the shoreline showed that

Mackasey asked to enter Montreal postal dispute

MONTREAL (CP) — The Confederation of National Trade Unions Wednesday asked Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey to intervene in Montreal's two-week-old mail delivery slowdown.

In a telegram to the minister, the CNTU said: "Our meeting yesterday (Tuesday) with Mr. (Postmaster General) Eric Kierans demonstrated his refusal to seek an equitable solution to Montreal's postal dispute."

"We have received your public offer to intervene. That 450 workers are losing their rights concerns you in your capacity as labor minister, and we ask you to intervene immediately to reach a solution..."

Rotating strikes by the 450 employees of G. Laplante Inc., which has held the exclusive mail trucking contract in Montreal for the last year, began Feb. 3.

The workers are protesting possible layoffs March 1 when the firm's contract to pick up and deliver mail will be split among five other firms.

The rotating strike has been marred by attacks on several postal trucks by roving gangs.

DETAILS POSITION

Mr. Kierans told the Commons Tuesday he had met with a CNTU delegation and gave it a letter describing in detail the government's position.

He said in the letter that the government decided last September to implement fully the policy of inviting tenders for all mail transportation contracts exceeding $1,000 annually.

Bertrand to address assembly opening

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand said Wednesday he will address the national assembly of Quebec when its new session opens Feb. 24 to mark another change in traditional opening-day procedure.

Mr. Bertrand said his address, comparable to the state of the Union speeches of American presidents, would follow "a very short" inaugural speech by Lt. Gov. Hugues Lapointe.

The premier made the announcement before entering a cabinet meeting to report on the federal government's refusal to grant the province a greater share of the federal tax dollar.

Mr. Bertrand said the federal refusal, made Tuesday at a federal-provincial conference, had not changed his plans to call provincial election this year.

"We will have a debate of all these problems during the election," but it was unjust to say that the provincial government would conduct an election campaign "on Ottawa's back."

The premier gave no hint of when the election would be held nor would he comment on the possibility of a provincial tax increase in the 1970-71 budget speech, expected in late March.

Mr. Bertrand was asked by reporters whether he would change his constitutional policy because of the "successive one at Ottawa." He said he would not, but said Prime Minister Trudeau's government is endangering Canada.

A persistent negative attitude at Ottawa tended "to provoke a malaise, not only in Quebec, but in Canada." He said some westerners are beginning to talk about separatism.

The cabinet meeting ended without any announcement by Mr. Bertrand.

Earlier the premier said the house rules changes for session opening had been approved by a legislature rules committee with "excellent co-operation" from the Liberal Opposition.

Traditionally, a new session opened with a speech from the throne outlining the government's legislative program. Once this was read by the lieutenant-governor, the house adjourned and began the throne speech debate later.

Under the changed rules the debate will begin immediately with a speech by the premier. This has the effect of putting the spotlight on the government leader, instead of on the Queen's representative.

The changes were denounced as verbal camouflage in a statement issued by Rene Levesque, leader of the separatist Parti Quebecois, who said: "Pure bunk."

Mr. Levesque said one province among 10, "submitted to the BNA Act and the seniors at Ottawa, will never be anything more than a ludicrous caricature of a republic."

Premier Bertrand also said 20 bills would be on the order paper opening day, including legislation confirming Quebec's participation in medical care insurance, effective July 1.

WANTED $200,000,000
At Ottawa, Quebec tried to get $200,000,000 the federal government will collect in the province in the Jan. 1, 1969-July 1, 1970 period under the social development tax.

Quebec maintains that Quebecers have been taxed without receiving a corresponding service because, it argues, the tax was imposed to finance medical care. Ottawa disagrees.

Mr. Bertrand said Ottawa's

Wagner bolts party

QUEBEC (CP) — Claude Wagner, the self-styled people's champion of law and order who failed in his bid to become leader of the Quebec Liberal party, Wednesday quit politics "for the time being."

The 44-year-old lawyer, a former crime-busting justice minister, tough-talking judge and crusading Crown prosecutor, left in characteristic style, reprimanding the Liberals for not electing him leader.

In a statement he read in French and English at a news conference where he answered no questions, Mr. Wagner said he intends to resign his legislature seat of Montreal Verdun.

"I campaigned within the framework of the rules and regulations of a party which I felt would respect the voice of the electorate. The result of my efforts now is history."

Elected successor to former Premier Jean Lesage at the Quebec City convention Jan. 17 was Robert Bourassa, a 36-year-old lawyer and economist from Montreal without cabinet experience.

COULD HAVE STAYED
Mr. Bourassa, not available at his legislature office Wednesday, issued a three-paragraph statement saying that Mr. Wagner "could have continued to work within the party as in the past."

"He preferred to return to his law practice after the convention. It's his personal decision."

The two men had lunch together Wednesday.

Mr. Wagner, a bitter second-place finisher, during the campaign had described Mr. Bourassa as Mr. Lesage's "good little boy."

Brought into government by Mr. Lesage in 1964 to handle administration of justice, he conducted a grass-roots campaign to oust Mr. Lesage after the Liberals lost power.

In his resignation statement, he said the decision was based on "realism, common sense, and respect for my own conscience."

A. Moulton, J. Gagne, E. Hyatt, D. Johnston, B. Mosher, A. Cass, S. Cass, W. G. MacDougall, C. Jones, K. McCrea, Mrs. C. Davis, Mrs. K. Martin and Mrs. H. McClary are the prize list committee.

Committees appointed for the Prize list: advertising were D. Johnston, Dale Miller and Tom Ride, to be assisted by other directors.

L. P. Verpaelt is chairman, with a committee of several, for Buildings and Grounds and outdoor space. R. G. Connor and Tom Ride share the chairmanship for the committee on program and attractions.

H. Majury, H. M. Cass and O. Thibodeau are on the electricity committee. W. G. MacDougall and Mrs. Ivy Hatch are co-chairmen for advertising.

Edward Hyatt, Russell Call, Tom Ride and Leo Roy with other directors will share the responsibilities for the Gates committee. Howard Ayer, H. Majury, Richie Harrison, George Butler, will, with directors, share the committee of grandstand and decorations.

Committees were named to be in charge of the various committees for cattle, stalls, sheep, swine, poultry, junior activities, the ladies fancywork, domestic manufacture, painting and art, children's work and the parade.

The Board has notified the livestock commission will no longer sponsor the Herdsman competition. In the past few years the Fair Board have equalled the grant. It was the decision of the Board to continue the competition by paying the same amount as their half in the past. The prize list committee will determine how the prizes are to be divided.

A change will be made in the family admission tickets for the fair. The stub will give the three days of fair admission for a vehicle and driver plus two tickets detachable. It will sell for $2, but single admission will be $1.

Reg. Conner noted the Doc Williams show will be one evening's grandstand show and the Hell Drivers the other.

There is a possibility that the Fair will be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, in place of the usual Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Although the move is not entirely approved by the Board, they agreed if it is necessary. Final decision on the matter will be known as soon as possible, pending arrangements of certain committees.

Due to the fact the Board have received complaints from the public about early removal on the final day of exhibits, a resolution was approved that exhibits in all departments cannot be removed until 9 p.m.

The prize list committee plans a meeting the latter part of February.

Pioneer leaders meet in advanced course

The course was conducted by Miss Edna Eade, field representative of Pioneer Girls for Eastern Ontario and Quebec, and sponsored by the Pioneer Girls Committee of Grace Chapel.

Using various teaching methods, Miss Eade helped the club guides consider club planning, leading activities, and exploring the Bible to be more effective leaders.

Agriculture minister urges more unity among beef breeders

By HENRY B. J. MCRANDALL

SHERBROOKE — "Even if we don't like each other's cattle, we should still work together." Quebec Agriculture Minister Clement Vincent told 450 delegates to the Canadian Joint Beef Breeders' Association annual convention Wednesday night.

Mr. Vincent qualified his statement, labelling it an appropriate theme both for the Association and for Canadians as a whole "seeking to calm stormy constitutional waters."

The 1970 convention marks the Association's first national meeting in Sherbrooke and only the second in the province of Quebec.

Pointing out that many of the breeds imported from Britain to Canada were brought to the Eastern Townships by the United Empire Loyalists before brought to other parts of Canada, Mr. Vincent claimed for Quebec "The honour of having been the cradle of beef-cattle raising in this country."

"While French-Canadian farmers were working to improve their cattle of French origin, which were later to form the French-Canadian breed, their Anglo-Saxon colleagues were importing cattle, especially breeding stock from their home countries."

However, Mr. Vincent tempered his statement by adding, "I'm afraid there are breeders among you, as well informed as I, who will state — with evidence to support their claim — that the first imports of Shorthorns to Canada (in 1826) were made via New Brunswick."

With Hereford enthusiasts, for whom the first Canadian importation was made in Ontario (in 1860), one can fully agree — if they admit that these animals passed through Quebec before reaching their destination."

For those persons unfamiliar with beef breeding, Shorthorns and Herefords are two of the main breeds. The third familiar North American breed is the Aberdeen-Angus, traditionally called Angus.

While the Herefords are the most numerous, there is some dispute among breeders' circles concerning the rating of the three breeds, with each breeder's vote inevitably going to his own variety.

Recognition of the different breeds is relatively simple.

Herefords normally have red bodies with white faces and ankles. Aberdeen-Angus are black, all black. Shorthorn vary considerably. A shorthorn steer may be all red, all white, or a mixture of the two colors.

Mixed breeds are also common and can be any possible combination of red, white and black, or might be any one of these colors.

All three are beef breeds, the Association's specialty, but despite the specific problems of each breed, the common problem among all beef and dairy cattle breeders is that of marketing their product for an acceptable price.

In an address to the Beef Breeder's Association, Russ Beattie, president of the Canadian Cattlemen's Association, expressed the hope of the cattlemen that the federal government would "allow the sellers and the buyers of beef to negotiate prices without government interference."

"The law of supply and demand should not suffer government interference."

Mr. Beattie also took a swipe at the banks, blaming them for the "bunching of cattle" on the market.

"The banks advise the wholesalers and retailers to sell all their beef before buying more. This often causes a short supply of beef, inconveniencing the consumer and hurting both the prices and sales of beef."

"More and more breeders must hedge to stay in business and more and more breeders should hedge to combat these injustices against them."

Some of the blame for the breeders' problems rest with the breeders themselves, according to Mr. Beattie.

"Beef cattle is not well merchandised. The consumers are not properly informed. The consumer is not aware of the high quality of Canadian beef."

"Even though standards are higher in Canada, 65 per cent of the meat marketed by Canadian breeders is rated either blue brand or red brand by the government inspectors."

"Our task is two-fold. We must convince the consumer of the quality of our product and then we must keep the consumer satisfied."

The merchandisers of other products have advanced much faster than we have. Even the merchandisers of fringe products such as second cars and fur coats have mastered the skill of selling their product.

"But we beef breeders, collectively, have failed to merchandise a product with a natural market. But this will change. We are creating a new program for managing our product and for merchandising it."

Rotary to fete anniversary

The Rotary Club of Sherbrooke will this week join with the nearly 14,000 Rotary Clubs in 147 countries to celebrate the 65th anniversary of the founding of the worldwide service organization. The local President is Wilf Crowley.

Rotary, the first service club for business and professional men, was organized by Paul P. Harris, a Chicago lawyer from Vermont, on Feb. 23, 1905. As a "Cure" for loneliness in the big city, he proposed his idea for a club to three other men, a coal dealer, a mining engineer, and a tailor. Because subsequent meetings were held in members' homes in rotation, Harris suggested the name Rotary.

The first meeting of the Rotary Club of Chicago was held in February, 1905, and by August, the club had 21 members, most of them men from small towns. By 1912, there were 50 Rotary Clubs and 5,000 Rotarians, and the movement had spread to Canada, England, Ireland and Scotland.

Today, there are more than 658,000 business and professional men around the globe who wear the distinctive cogwheel emblem of Rotary International. They are engaged in service projects at every level, from providing local youth centers to helping fellow Rotarians in India sink wells for small villages in need of pure water.

The Rotary Foundation, to which individual members and clubs contribute, supports an extensive program of overseas scholarships and fellowships for college-age students, technicians and artisans, and a group study exchange program that enables young business and professional men to spend several months studying business and social customs in countries other than their own.

The Rotary Club of Sherbrooke with its 90 members support a Home for Retarded Children in Dixville. Last year, a $100,000 wing was added to this home. Also, the Rotary Club contributes to the Crippled Children's Camp. Boots and shoes are distributed to underprivileged children annually in Sherbrooke.

Stanstead launches fund drive, Hope to collect $1 million

MONTREAL — Stanstead College launched a $1,000,000 campaign for funds last week at a reception in the Windsor Hotel here.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees Eric Webster announced the fund drive to complete a building program.

The party was attended by over 400 persons interested in the school and by the teaching staff. Headmaster Raymond Lester and Mrs. Lester were in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Lester introduced Mr. Webster who in turn introduced Donald A. Ross, the general campaign manager.

Stanstead College, they agreed, will remain an independent school which is most important for an independent education concerned with the traditions and future contributions to Canada.

Mr. Lester said, "Only by providing opportunities for the total development of the talents of youth can the nation's future leaders be nurtured. Only by remaining free of governmental indoctrination and whim can we provide the necessary environment for education in the true traditions of free enterprise. Freedom is not cheap, it requires courage, service and faith. It also requires financial support by those who believe."

Mr. Webster said money is needed to complete the new building program. This is a new boys' residence which will accommodate an additional 65 boys, two masters and their families and include four classrooms, an art room and storage facilities. A science and math building and a new infirmary with 14 beds and accommodation for the head nurse and an assistant nurse and dispensary. Funds are also needed for completion of the arena, artificial ice plant and seating capacity for 800 people, additional residences for staff and such miscellaneous expenses as major equipment, renovations to one building, work on the tennis court, athletic field and grounds.

Mr. Ross spoke about the campaign in general and noted that C. Hollis Martin will be coordinator with help from the school alumni.

SHERBROOKE — How to adapt an institution to present and constantly changing conditions is a challenge being faced at the University of Sherbrooke.

A working document on suggested revisions of the academic structure at the University was released yesterday by the rector, Msgr. Roger Maltais.

Commissioned by the University Council and the Council of Administration last May, the preliminary report is the result of a study conducted by a committee of five.

The president, Roger Bernier, stressed that the document is intended as a collection of suggestions to instigate discussion.

The 77-page report attempts merely to present the problems and arouse interest in seeking solutions.

"A sign of the vitality of an institution is the necessity of modifying the structure and introducing change," the release stated. "In the last five years alone, the student body has doubled."

The ad hoc committee with a mandate to examine and recommend changes of the general statutes of the university without excluding any other aspect in need of re-vitalization, has completed the first step.

The next stage will necessarily involve the whole university community, Msgr. Maltais said in a letter to the members.

A second committee, to be comprised of thirty members under the administrative level is expected to collect, study, analyze and finally present their recommendations to the rector by the end of the year.

Areas to be explored include objectives, general structure, the corporation, direction, executive, study programs, administration of teaching and the faculty.

Any person or group is invited to submit their opinions to the committee in writing by May 15th.

Hearings will be conducted between May 15th and 31st. The right to an audience will be limited only by failure to submit initial opinions in writing.

Others from the city and surrounding areas will also participate in the proposals, with the idea of involving the community at large in a more active role in campus affairs.

Bish science council scheduled to meet

LENNOXVILLE — Bishop's University science advisory council meets today and Friday "in order to increase the ties between industry and university and ensure that Bishop's continues to provide a thorough and modern science education," the Bishop's Alumni Association said in a communique released yesterday.

The communique adds: "The Council is chaired by Dr. D. F. Brown, Manager of the Development Division of Dupont of Canada Ltd. in Montreal. Members of the subcommittees are about equally divided between industrial and university scientists, and the focus is on preparing students in every possible way for future contributions in both areas."

Sawyerville carnival closes

SAWYERVILLE — The annual three-day winter carnival wound up last week here with the carnival parade.

The carnival started with a sports program, then switched to an amateur night program, which featured the five candidates for the title of Miss Sawyerville Carnival 1970.

The 1970 carnival attracted the largest audience to attend the affair in the last five years.

Annette Marquis was crowned Miss Sawyerville Carnival by Quebec Lands and Forests Minister Claude Gosselin at a dinner in the local hotel, at which the Corporation of Sawyerville honored its senior citizens.

The carnival was organized by the Sawyerville Sportsmen Association, Inc.

"The day is past when administrators and educators met behind closed doors to discuss the future of courses, facilities and requirements affecting all students."

The Bishop's University Advisory Council to the Faculty of Science has included meetings of the subcommittees with third and fourth year students as a central part of the Council's agenda on Friday."

"The relevancy of the university curriculum to later jobs is always a primary student concern and this area promises to produce considerable discussion."

In particular, there is the age old problem of the mathematics involved in the applied sciences — should it be taught by the mathematics department or the science department involved?" "Dr. J. W. McCubbin is Dean of Science at the University while Dr. John F. C. Dixon, Manager of Educational Relations for C.I.L. is the Vice-Chairman of the Advisory Council."

During the Lenten season, services will be held on Thursday evening in Bedford, alternating between St. James Church and the Wesley United Church. Following a short church service, discussions will take place on the following subjects: education, recreation, health, work, neighborliness and carrying the Cross. Times are as follows: March 5, United Church; March 12, St. James Church; March 19, United Church; March 26, Maundy Thursday, St. James Church. Soviets ape America

The Soviet Union may be making progress in its many-year plan to catch up with North America, but not always, it seems, in desired areas.

Moscow has recently reported two problems with a familiar ring to Canadian ears.

Pollution is one. In their obsessive drive toward industrialization of the past few decades, the Soviets have been not so flatteringly imitating not only the achievements but also some of the appalling experiences of North America.

Industrial waste pouring into the Volga is decimating the river's fish life — including the sturgeons that for centuries have yielded the prized Russian black caviar, now become a rare item on Soviet markets.

Other waterways are similarly threatened, so much so that the Kremlin is showing active concern over the quality of Soviet life. Plans for new plants, including a new auto complex on the Volga, emphasize efficient waste disposal and water purification systems to head off the pollution problem before it develops.

Soviet law, in fact, now makes pollution a crime and, theoretically at least, authorities charged with land and water conservation can block a new industrial project if its pollution controls are deemed inadequate.

In this case, the Soviets seem to be making a determined effort not to catch up with us but to profit from a bad American and Canadian example. And we have no reason not to wish them well.

And they are looking to this continent for tips in handling another problem — slow mails. It appears that the Soviet post has been getting slower and slower. In recent test mailings carried out by the Magazine Literaturnaya Gazeta, results showed mail reaches addressed only one-third — or less — as rapidly as was the case a century ago, an example of postrevolutionary lag the magazine says must not be tolerated.

It suggests a number of capitalistic innovations to get Soviet couriers back on the swift track.

But they do not suggest borrowing the Canadian Postmaster-General.

That Yankee ingenuity

From the earliest days of the settlement of the United States, the New England Yankee has been famed for his ability as a trader, the popular idea being that he could grow rich where most men starve.

And apparently this trait still exists judging from the recent display of good old Vermont ingenuity by the school children of Rutland in their efforts to get rid of a small portion of their extra snow — at a profit.

Recently they shipped 200 snowballs, wrapped in styrofoam and packed in dry ice, to Eau Gallie, Florida, where most of the youngsters have never seen even a flake of that white stuff.

In return for the snow, the students of Eau Gallie have agreed to ship 200 Florida oranges to the children of Rutland.

Now there can be no denying that this is a real bargain and perhaps the people of Quebec might be able to get into the act — provided they can find any more gullible southerners.

For instance, the City of Sherbrooke might meet some of its snow clearing costs by trading snow for oranges, icebergs for bananas and slush for almost anything that Florida might find in surplus supply.

Maybe we could also ship a few carloads of sub-zero air south in refrigerator cars in exchange for a similar quantity of Gulf of Mexico sunshine.

Constitution conferences — should they be open?

It is easy to be pulled in different directions by the question of whether Federal-Provincial conferences should be held in camera (as Monday and Tuesday this week) or held in the open with the cameras present (as last December).

There are advantages to each. Since the conferences dealing with constitution-making have been held several times in the open over a two-year period with some continuity but without much progress, perhaps less show-boating and more concessions in bargaining may follow from the in-camera gatherings.

But this week's was not a constitutional conference. The next assembly for that purpose is in June. The latest conference was hatched to deal with more immediate and frustrating matters. Officially, the emphasis would seem to be upon inflation, and in a real sense, Federal initiative has put it forward.

The vociferous Premiers like Thatcher and Smallwood are probably much less worried about inflation than regional recession and unemployment.

Premier Robarts is certainly more concerned over tax-sharing arrangements and the White Paper proposals on taxation. Premier Bertrand wants money now and a fairly quick understanding about new limitations on Federal activity. Both Robarts and Bertrand are gearing to fight elections; consequently they are seeking high ground from which to fire at Ottawa, not a level of compromise. Mr. Robarts must be irked over the crude intimations from Ottawa that the economy of Ontario (and of B.C. and Alberta) needs to be cooled off for the sake of depletion.

The Prices and Incomes Commission conference last week has given an impetus to the inflation subject and, one assumes, provided some practical proposals or initiatives for advancement by Mr. Trudeau. Whatever the qualities of in-camera sessions, they are never secret beyond the minute when the first delegation gets outside the door.

Only recently there was a gathering of the finance ministers of all the participants of this conference at Quebec City. It is clear that Mr. Benson asked the Provinces to aim for balanced budgets and no new major programs of spending. The more practical questions arising from these themes are whether authority can be obtained for price review boards and whether these can be given powers beyond review and publicity.

Powers, for example, to postpone price increases or even wage increases.

Dr. Young has been pounding for nine months on the simple point that the major, desirable achievement is to kill the truism that inflation shall continue, that prices shall continue to rise. In a rather barbarous fashion, Mr. Trudeau has supported this attack on inflation psychology by both the example of Federal cutbacks in employment and by daring to accept a rising level of unemployment across the country.

It is a pity that Mr. Trudeau was not in this hard stance a year or more ago when his national popularity was overwhelming and before some of the Provincial politicians, especially in Saskatchewan and Quebec, were feeling the pinch of a declining economy and rising unemployment. Today, much of the Trudeau magnetism is gone, especially on the Prairies. Big, organized labor, even if it has the unity and the procedures, does not fear him and is obviously unwilling to co-operate with his Government in any voluntary or semi-voluntary campaign against inflation.

The arguments put forward by labor leaders may not be duplicated by any of the Provincial Premiers. The arguments go this way:

Labor resists policies which, in the name of fighting inflation, would increase waste and injustice. For example, increases in unemployment, the fiddling with figures like 5 per cent and 6 per cent and 7 per cent unemployment nationally are cruel. Even half a percentage point represents thousands of families.

Labour is baffled by Government policies that threaten the public sector as less productive and more easily sacrificed than the private sector of the economy. In region after region, in grouping after grouping, more economic justice can only come from public activity.

For example, in doing something for the aged and the regionally-depressed parts of the country or for the farm population caught between rising prices for what they buy and declining prices for what they sell. Improvements in the productivity and efficiency of the economy, particularly the private sector, have a direct relationship to labor skills. The implementation of new technology, and the opportunities for work in regions where underemployment and underinvestment are obvious. Such improvements depend upon government leadership and spending.

Labor reiterates and reiterates the distinction between a price increase and a wage increase. The wage increase is bargained for in a process which can lead to the crisis of a strike. Strikes often punish workers in lost income. Sometimes they are lost or at least the gains sought are not achieved.

The point is that a wage increase is not simply administered or declared as in a price increase. Therefore, the focus of government leadership on inflation should be on prices and their increases. If governments wish to draw labor into action and co-operation within a resolute campaign against inflation then they must come up with an incomes policy, thoroughly planned and well balanced.

This lengthy synopsis of organized labor's arguments would probably find sympathy and agreement with only a few Premiers. Perhaps Schreyer of Manitoba and Robichaud of New Brunswick.

WASHINGTON — Mass transportation is definitely one of the major problems of the next decade. The ideal solution would be faster, cleaner and safer transportation for everyone. But since this is impossible, other solutions must be found to make commuting worthwhile.

Mr. Irwin Feifer, who specializes in manpower problems, has come up with an idea which certainly deserves consideration.

Feifer says that as a commuter on the Long Island Railroad he has been able to give hours of time to studying the transportation nightmare of the 70s.

On the basis of his own experience he has applied a systems-analysis approach to commuting which, when boiled down to layman's language, can be put this way: "How can time now used to look at your watch be otherwise employed constructively and productively to further the welfare of the country?"

The Feifer Plan is to incorporate all railroads as universities and allow commuters to take courses for bonafide college or graduate credits.

While the Long Island and Penn Central trains make their way slowly toward their destinations, each car would become a classroom where commuters could do their lessons, listen to guest lectures by experts who are stuck on the trains and be graded by the conductors who punched their tickets.

CREDITED DELAY

A delay would no longer mean an inconvenience, but would actually be credited to the student as an hour or two hours of classroom work.

In order not to confuse the courses, each car would specialize in a different field of study and would be so marked on the outside. When buying your ticket at the gate you would specify what subject you would like to take for the month, and the agent would issue your books at the same time he sold you a ticket.

The Feifer Plan is not without incentives and subsidies. One of the major provisions of the plan is to get a grant from the federal office of education which would be used as an inducement for commuters to take the courses.

Each month a true-or-false test would be given by the conductor. Those who received 90 or over would be granted a $5.50 reduction on their commuter tickets for the following months. Those scoring 80 or above would get a $3.25 reduction, and those who passed with a 65 would not be given a money reduction, but would be assured a seat on the train for the next four weeks.

The Feifer Plan is not necessarily aimed just at people who take railroads (A subway educational plan where people can study while being delayed in tunnels is now being worked out.), but could also be applied to people driving to work in the morning.

STUDY AT RED LIGHTS

Those signing up for credits would listen to lectures on the radio in the morning and evening rush hours and do their book studying at traffic bottlenecks and red lights.

The driver students would hand in their tests at toll booths and the toll collectors would grade them as they made change.

Most people would not mind traffic delays as it would give them more time to get their homework done.

The Feifer Plan would provide for graduation exercises every six months. In the case of the railroads, the ceremonies would be held at the railroad stations with the secretary of transportation handing out the diplomas.

Automobile college graduates would receive their diplomas from the license bureau, and each license plate would indicate how many degrees the driver possessed.

The plan, if put into effect, would make Americans the most educated people in the world. It would also turn train delays and traffic jams into a profit. But more important, with everyone going to school, the generation gap could become a thing of the past.

water was unfit for drinking or bathing.

A second conclusion arrived from the survey indicates that much of the pollution at present is caused by faulty or inadequate sewage disposal systems. Correction of these defective systems will result in an improvement in the condition of the lake water.

It is the considered opinion of Massawippi Water Protection Inc. that the installation and maintenance of septic tanks requires the advice of an expert. This service was not available to Lake Massawippi property owners when the systems were installed, originally. This lack of qualified information is one of the main reasons for the present condition of the lake.

A solution to some of the problems indicated by the survey is obvious. Massawippi Water Protection Inc. has requested each Municipality along the shoreline to adopt immediately a uniform by-law affecting the installation and maintenance of septic tanks. When these by-laws are enacted, the association has recommended to the municipalities that a qualified inspector be engaged to assist and advise property owners on matters pertaining to their septic tanks. Without this expert guidance a well intentioned property owner can make substantial expenditures with very little results.

The cost of this proposed program is a matter of concern to everyone who enjoys the environment of this area. We are convinced that remedial action now will be much less costly than allowing the deterioration of the lake to continue. A corrective program will enhance property values and attract many more tourists to the area. A negligent attitude undoubtedly will have the opposite effect.

We urge everyone to give serious consideration to this very critical situation. All property owners should become acquainted with the condition of the lake in the locality adjacent to their property. A map showing the results of the survey may be seen at the office of the Secretary-Treasurer for each municipality.

Sawyerville W.I. realizes $300 to aid school cafeteria

SAWYERVILLE — The meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Feb. 4 in the school cafeteria. Because of the cold night, not as many were present as hoped.

The president, Mrs. Douglas MacKay, opened the meeting, followed by the Roll Call. Mrs. MacKay thanked everyone for helping with the supper and card party held in aid of the school cafeteria. Including donations, approximately $300 was realized.

The treasurer's report showed a small balance on hand. Several thank you notes were read from those remembered at Christmas. Annual reports were given out.

The guest speaker, Mr. Jack Garneau, was introduced by Mrs. MacKay. He spoke on the controversial subject, Bill 62, pointing out what is good about it and what is not acceptable by the English speaking population. A short discussion period followed his talk. New members welcomed at Austin W.I. meeting

AUSTIN — The Austin W.I. met with Mrs. C. J. Bryant at her home in Magog, for the February meeting, with Mrs. E. Bryant as co-hostess.

Roll call was answered by 13 members and 8 visitors. Two new members joined and one is transferring from another W.I. branch.

Thank you notes were read for gifts. A letter was received from a deaconess in a church in Trinidad, thanking the group for Christmas cards sent. More will be sent shortly. The secretary also read extracts from a speech made by G. Brown, MNA on Education in Quebec. Nineteen pounds of Cotton for Cancer had been sent. One hundred dollars was voted for the Senior Citizens' Home, to be built in Magog soon.

Miss Grace Willey, president of the Girls' Club, which the W.I. is sponsoring, gave a splendid report on their activities to date. Mrs. Stanley Ruck is their supervisor. Mr. S. Ruck asked if the W.I. would sponsor a Boys' Club. Their rules and regulations are to be submitted for approval. As the Girls' Club has proved so successful, it was thought a Boys' Club would be a worth while project.

Mrs. B. Martin and Mrs. I. McKelvey, W.I. librarians, gave a report. The city has painted the rooms and are supplying heat and light and a once-a-week cleaning. With paintings supplied by local artists, the rooms look most attractive. Friday evenings seem to be the most popular time for taking out books, 300 to 350 books going out each evening. Tuesday mornings and Thursday afternoons are not quite so popular.

On April 4, it is hoped to put on an evening of Around the World Slides, taken by Miss J. Wood who will give a running commentary. Mr. A. Ruck has

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Diagnostic Study Involves Whole Person

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Doctors have long made a distinction between organic disease with demonstrable changes in cell structure (such as fractures, ulcers and tumors) and functional diseases, in which all physical, chemical and X-ray findings are normal (such as irritable colon, migraine and phobias). Dr. Mack Lipkin now raises the question whether such a distinction is valid or in the best interest of the patient, especially when, as so often happens, the functional illness is assumed to be of secondary importance, if not entirely imaginary.

Careful study has revealed that the irritable colon, for example, may be caused by an allergy or a deficiency of an essential digestive juice and that migraine may be caused by a spasm in an artery at the base of the brain. The fact that the underlying cause of many other "functional" diseases has not yet been found does not by any means indicate that an "organic" cause is not operating. Even some forms of insanity are now believed to be due, in some persons, to a chemical imbalance in the body.

At its best, the practice of medicine does not consist of finding a convenient diagnostic tag for a person's complaints and prescribing a miracle drug that corresponds to the disease label.

does not necessarily explain your symptoms. Many a patient has had a gall bladder full of stones removed, only to find that her abdominal cramps were still present. The removal of the gall bladder was a good preventive measure but a more thorough study should have been made to discover all the possible causes of the cramps.

A thorough study should include not only a search for hereditary and environmental causative factors and anatomic lesions but also for physiologic changes and the psychologic reactions of the patient to his illness. Such a study requires a greater effort on the part of the physician but the results are eminently worth-while.

Even when your doctor finds a structural lesion, this

In the article, South made the hand by getting East to make the sort of mistake that only a near-expert would make. Mr. Feuer's method, as finally printed in the magazine, makes the hand by sheer power. Here is his line of play:

South takes his ace of spades and immediately leads the deuce of clubs. East wins with the seven and will probably return a spade.

Now South ruffs, plays out one high trump and continues with the ace and king of clubs. If clubs break, he draws the last trump and claims. Clubs don't break, but East has four clubs and the long trump, so South gets to ruff his nine of clubs in dummy and then claims.

What was the line of play used by the declarer in the article? He cashed two rounds of trumps and then led the deuce of clubs. East won with the seven-spot and came to the conclusion that South's hand included three clubs to the ace and a small heart. In that case, any return but a heart would subject West to a simple squeeze, so East led a heart and allowed South to discard his nine of clubs.

Cleveland Institute offers prizes at Richmond Fair

CLEVELAND — The Women's Institute met on Feb. 5 at the home of Mrs. Clarence Pease. Roll call was answered by each member bringing a Valentine, which together with a box of valentines, was mailed to the Dixville Home.

Miss Flora Fletcher, in the absence of the regular secretary, read the minutes and correspondence.

Special prizes of $2.50, $1.50 and $1 for the Richmond Fair will be given on a cushion with knitted top, approximately 15 inches in size.

An afghan for inter-branch competition was discussed and decided against. Some work on the new program had been done and will be brought to the March meeting for approval. Treasurer, Mrs. Gordon Healy, gave her report, showing a good balance on hand.

Convener of Agriculture, Mrs. Gladys Perkins, read a paper on Inflation. She conducted a Quiz on farm practices, won by Mrs. A. T. Smith; citizenship convener, Miss Flora Fletcher, read a paper on Ash Wednesday. She turned over to the treasurer $12 she had collected for the Pennies for Friendship fund.

Education convener, Mrs. Ralph Healy, plans to attend a meeting of the Gore branch to hear a speaker on Education; publicity, Mrs. Clarence Pease, read a poem entitled, Give thanks for that treasure, The Old Dairy Cow. She was asked to bring the history of the branch up to date to send to Macdonald College.

Two items were brought up for discussion, the branch being in favour of an all day county meeting, with dinner at noon. No one was nominated to fill the vacancy for Publicity convener in the county.

Mrs. Gordon Healy and Mrs. Royce Taylor were asked to prepare a slate of officers for the branch.

The next meeting is to be held March 7, at the home of Mrs. Gladys Perkins.

Fitch Bay

Congratulations are being extended to Mrs. Susie Tryon, Derby, Vt., who celebrated her 85th birthday on Jan. 24.

Miss Ruth Dutton has returned home after spending a few days at La Providence Hospital, Magog, being treated for a broken collar bone.

Cookshire U.C.W. appoints conveners at busy meeting

COOKSHIRE — Mrs. Raymond Stevenson entertained the U.C.W. Cookshire United Church at her home recently. Mrs. H. Burns was in the chair and Mrs. S. McVetty, in charge of the worship period, gave a meditation on I Pledge My Troth, dealing with loyalty to all, regardless of their religious affiliation. She gave a prayer for unity, and the Lord's prayer was repeated in unison. She also read a poem on how to be content, maintaining that some people reach out for too much, and are never content with what they have.

Mrs. Burns thanked the ladies for accepting the responsibility of their offices, which would help her in carrying out her work this year.

The recording secretary, Mrs. Macmillan, read a card of thanks. Mrs. Stevenson read the report of the treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Vogell, showing a good balance on hand, and that a supply of cards had been ordered from Regal Stationery. Mrs. Stevenson had boxes on display, a number of which were sold.

Two representatives from the U.C.W. to the committee of stewards were appointed; Mrs. R. Stevenson, Mrs. J. H. Vogell; and Mrs. P. Gaudin was appointed stewardship convener. Mrs. S. McVetty will be responsible for obtaining members to take charge of the worship periods for the meetings.

Gifts are to be obtained for two of the members in the congregation who are ill.

A food sale was planned for March 6, at the home of Mrs. H. Burns, following the Word Day of Prayer service. Mrs. S. McVetty, Miss Esther Farnsworth and Mrs. Burns are to form a committee to solicit food for the sale.

It was stated that Mrs. Earl Parker had received a donation of wool for mitts, and any of the ladies who would like to knit up the wool should contact her.

The ladies are requested to bring in a small article each month for the sale table. Following adjournment, the Rev. Frank E. Ball installed the officers for the ensuing year, and the hostess served refreshments.

Bromptonville to hold provincial rally

SHERBROOKE — They'll be going over 90 miles per hour — even on the ice.

In an all-out test of speed, ability and endurance, some 100 drivers will compete for $3,000 in prize money and trophies, when the Lake Brompton Snowmobile Club holds its 8th annual Provincial Rally March 1.

Details of the meet were revealed last night during a press conference at O'Keefe Breweries, sponsors of the triple event.

Teams of contestants from all over Quebec — and some from the U.S. — are expected to gather at the Lake Brompton Hotel Sunday.

The action starts at 1 p.m. with the first of three races, each divided into four classes according to engine size.

"In the half-mile speed test," said club president Daniel Dutil, "some of the heavier machines could approach 95 miles per hour if the snow is hard enough."

The record in Quebec is 96.5, he added, but on some of the indoor tracks speeds have topped 110 miles per hour.

Cash prizes in this division will be: class A (0 to 340 cc.) $60; class B (341 to 440 cc.) $70; class C (441 to 650 cc.) $80; and class D (651 to 800 cc.) $100.

The same prizes will be awarded in the 2½ mile cross country competition.

And the three mile slalom course offers slightly higher cash prizes of $80, $100, $150 and $200 in the four classes.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be given to the three top finishers of each class. The team with the highest total of points receives $500 cash and the O'Keefe Trophy.

Points will be counted — ten for a first, six for a second, four for a third, two for a fourth and one for a fifth — after each class is completed.

The day's racing activity closes with a 5 p.m. supper and dance at the Hotel.

At 9:30, the $2,000 in cash prizes and $1,000 in trophies will be awarded to winners in the four classes.

In the event of bad weather, all races will be postponed.

Armstrong leads win over Habs

For a man who just four months ago had lost his enthusiasm for hockey, George Armstrong still manages to display a timely knack for taking the star out of an opponent.

Armstrong got tired of the National Hockey League last October, retired from Toronto Maple Leafs for the third time in as many years but came back in November and Wednesday night led the team to a 5-3 win over Montreal Canadiens.

The 39-year-old veteran's 10th season goal and third game-winner for the Leafs came when he stick-handled his way through the Montreal defence for a clear shot at goalie Phil Myre.

In other games, St. Louis Blues downed Chicago Black Hawks 5-2, Detroit Red Wings tied 1-1 with Minnesota North Stars, New York Rangers held Philadelphia Flyers to a 3-3 score and a record-breaking goal by Bobby Orr helped Boston Bruins to a 5-5 saw-off with Los Angeles Kings.

Armstrong's goal at 10:09 of the third period took the steam out of the Canadiens and Dave Keon picked up his second goal of the night in the last minute of play to make the score 5-3.

Henri Richard's 300th career goal plus one by Yvon Cournoyer put the Canadiens ahead 2-1 at the end of the second period before a Toronto crowd of 16,485.

Bob Pulford of the Leafs and Jean Beliveau of the Canadiens exchanged early third-period goals before Ron Ellis again tied it for Toronto, setting the stage for Armstrong's winner.

Armstrong's play to get past Terry Harper brought praise from Leaf coach Johnny MacLellan.

Quebec tied for first in schoolboy curling

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP) — Manitoba and Quebec managed to eke out victories on the final ends of their sixth-round matches at the Canadian schoolboy curling championship Wednesday and remained in a three-way tie with New Brunswick at the top of the standings.

Myron Nussey's Quebec rink counted four on the 10th end to break a 5-5 tie and defeat Saskatchewan's Dave Folk.

Manitoba's Brian Penston was behind 8-7 going into the final end but counted two to edge

Ron Carmichael of Prince Edward Island 9-8. New Brunswick's Ron Ferguson had no trouble throttling winless Ken Baggs' Newfoundland rink 17-5 to remain tied with Quebec and Manitoba with 5-1 won-lost records.

Bob Thompson of British Columbia surprised Northern Ontario's Doug Hagerman 12-5 to take over sole possession of second place with a 4-2 record. Northern Ontario, undefeated before Wednesday's play, dropped both their games and fell back to third place, tied with Alberta's Dave Haley who had a sixth-round bye.

Saskatchewan lay in fourth spot with two wins and three losses followed by Ontario's Fred Osburn and Prince Edward Island with 1-5 records.

Eric Tweedie of Nova Scotia has won one game and lost five in sixth place and Newfoundland is last with five straight defeats.

Ontario won its first match Wednesday by swamping Nova Scotia 14-7.

Gaiters fighting to retain trophy

SHERBROOKE — Gaiter coach Al Grazys, whose team is tied in third place with Sir George Williams in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence college hockey association, will put up a fierce fight tonight to retain the Skinner Nadeau trophy, when the University of Sherbrooke's Vert et Or tries to prove once again it can beat Bishop's University.

Le Vert et Or, headed by coach Tony Hefferman beat the Gaiters in their last match, at Bishop's by narrowly defeating Bishop's by a score of 5-4.

Coach Grazys said last night his team could beat Sherbrooke, commenting, "Why not, we're just as good as they are."

"A win by the Gaiters tonight at the Sports Palace will strengthen our hold on third position," the coach said.

In OSLAA standings now, Loyola is in first place, Sherbrooke University is second, followed with a tie in third between Bishop's and Sir George Williams.

Win or lose tonight at the Sports Palace, when the Gaiters meet the Vert et Or at 8 o'clock, coach Grazys said, we will remain in third position in the conference.

Events began on Saturday morning with Raymond Lester, Headmaster of Stanstead College, and Mrs. Lester were host and hostess with Rotarians in the reception room of the College to meet distinguished guests.

At noon, the ribbon cutting ceremony took place at the international boundary between Rock Island and Derby Line. The wide red ribbon was held at the ends by Sylvia Prevost, of Derby, and by Brian Curtis of Stanstead. Minister of Communications, Eric Kierans, cut the ribbon to officially open the Derby.

There were exciting races run in three classes in the afternoon with hundreds of persons observing at various points along the route.

At 4 p.m. the Town of Rock Island council was host for a Civic reception held at the Del Monty Hotel, which had opened the previous day.

Mayor Edouard Girard extended a welcome in French and English.

In his remarks he said "in the world of trouble, it's good to have such events as this International Derby."

Garry Carruthers, president of the Boundary Rotary Club, sponsors of the Derby, thanked the many people and organizations who had supported the project and all the people who came from near and far for the weekend events.

A buffet and dance took place in the evening at the dining hall in Le Baron Hall of Stanstead College. Here again the international flavor was shown as Kenneth F. Simmons, manager of the dining room staff, from England, greeted and seated the guests.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Queen, one of the five princesses. Miss Connie Hartley, of Rock Island, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellie Hartley was the princess, crowned by Arthur E. Curtis, Jr. She was also presented with a beautiful gold wrist watch.

The princesses, Misses Jane and Jean Crawford, Monique Belanger and Aline Therrien each received gifts of engraved sterling silver charm bracelets.

A snowmobile was won by Mrs. Esther Ringquist, of Water St., Orleans, Vt. Others to receive cash prizes were Benoit Blais, Derby Line, $15; Mrs. Ellie Hartley, Rock Island, $10; and Ronald Ticehurst, Stanstead, $5.

Remarks of appreciation were extended to the assisting organizations, Chamber of Commerce, Friendly Nations Jaycees, Derby Lions Club, Canadian Legion, Stanstead Branch, and many individuals, as well as the newspapers and television and radio stations serving these Border areas.

Mention was also made in a special way to Stanstead College people and Boards for donating the facilities, for no where else in the area could over 500 persons be accommodated.

Fred Robertson of Stanstead and his good wife, Gardenia, gave birth to the Derby idea as far back as last September.

Music for dancing was played by Reg Sayer of Newport and Stuffy Stafford of Ayer's Cliff.

Sunday noon the races began for the finals. Again, they were exciting and watched by hundreds of persons on the trails.

After the last team was in, many assembled in the grill of the Del Monty for the presentation of the trophies and prizes.

The Laurentian Club with an all over aggregate was presented the first international inter-club trophy from the Boundary Rotary Club. For one year the Laurentian club will hold the trophy, then it will be open to challenge for the second Derby. Mr. Carruthers presented the trophy to Van Pitsiladis, the vice president of the Laurentian Club.

Don Blodgett was presented with the Molsons large trophy. His team of Treering - Walker coon hounds placed in first position. Four smaller trophies were presented winners, as well as cheques and prizes.

Officiating for the presentations were Earl Kellett, Fred Robertson and Jock Davidson.

Plans are now to have a bigger and better Derby in 1971. As Mr. Carruthers said, "this was our first adventure and we have learned of a few ways to improve for an even more successful event."

The Rotarians are to be commended to have had the courage to attempt this project. They are few in number and the project was a big venture which brought so many visitors to the area communities.

Among the distinguished guests to attend events on the weekend in addition to Mr. Keirans, were Henry Latulippe, M. P. Federal Gov. in Ottawa, Georges Vaillancourt, M.L.A. Quebec Government, Senator Gaston Hardy, District Governor of Rotary, and Mrs. Hardy, Edouard Girard, Mayor of Rock Island; E.J. Struthers, Mayor of Stanstead, Derby Line Selectmen, Benoit Blais, Gordon Johnston, Paul Lussier, and Richard Prevost, Kermit Smith, representative of the Lions Club, Rick Breer, of the Jaycees, Denis Bouchard, Chamber of Commerce, Richard Wallace, Gordon Laberec, rep. of the Stanstead Legion Branch and other special guests.

THE WINNER — Serge Gosselin of the Boundary Rotary Club, assisted by Dog Derby Queen Connie Hartley, presents first place trophy to Don Blodgett of the Down East Sled Club, who drove his team of eight Treering-Walker hounds to the best time over the 14-mile course used in the First International Dog Derby at the Boundary.

From the report received, there was a good turnout of spectators with the scouts giving the "married men" a real workout. Scouts scores (2) Dale Allison (2) Ricky Laroche (1) Allen Royer (1) Robert Dougherty.

On the serious side this troop has a project under way teaching the boys the art of true sportsmanship, handling of small arms, safety precautions while hunting, and the conservation of our wildlife.

The next District Council meeting will be held on Feb. 24, St. George's Church Hall, Queen St., Lennoxville at 8 p.m.

DISTRICT COUNCIL
The monthly meeting was held on January 27, 1970 at the Lennoxville Town Hall with Vice-Pres. Lee Brown presiding. The Montreal Regional Council merged with the Quebec Provincial Council. The merger took place at the Annual meeting held in Montreal on January 24, 1970. The representatives for the Sherbrooke District attending the meeting were President

Percy Gray and Vice-Presidents Lee Brown and Stan Lothrop. All future correspondence, Regional Level is to be addressed to: Boy Scouts of Canada, Quebec Provincial Council, 2001 Trans-Canada Highway, Dorval 740, Quebec.

The District Commissioner, Fred Pessig, spoke of the extensive training program going on at the Quebec Provincial Council, from February 2 to March 24, for all levels of Leadership. Ten Scouters from our District attended a lecture in Montreal on Wednesday, February eleven.

A quota of fourteen boys had been stipulated by Quebec Provincial Council for our District for the Quebec Jamboree to be held Saturday August 22 to August 29. This quota has been filled.

The next District Council meeting will be held on February 24. Place to be announced.

3RD SHERBROOKE
The Annual Father & Son Banquet will be held at Plymouth Church Dufferin Street, Friday February 20. There will be many items of interest on the Programme. Jimmy Moore of the American Hockey League will be the guest speaker. Also a film on the "Stanley Cup Finals 1969". The banquet supper will be served by the Plymouth United Church Women.

The acquisition of the Sherbrooke Elementary School on Ontario Street as a permanent meeting place for the Cubs & Scouts on Friday nights will lend itself to the many new renovations introduced to Scouting in recent years.

Furthermore, the housing of our Cubs & Scouts under the same roof and on the same night allows us to pool our resources for materials and Leaders. Thus our boys will be able to benefit from scouting, the maximum it has to offer.
