

A switch Campaign in camp of enemy

BY TOM MITCHELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — The two presidential candidates pulled a bit of a switch today.

Nixon moved through "Kennedy country"—New York State and New York City, with his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge and with President Eisenhower. Kennedy stumped through California, Nixon's home state.

Kennedy's main theme was aimed at Nixon's support:

"Mr. Eisenhower is not a candidate. Mr. Nixon is. And if he can't stand up to the American people, if he won't come and meet me in a fifth (television) debate, how is he going to stand up to Mr. Khrushchev?"

PREDICTS SURPRISE VOTE

Nixon, stumping a New York State that many observers have already conceded to Kennedy, said:

"On election day they are going to get the surprise of their lives, and you are going to help give it to them."

New York, and its 45 electoral votes, is one of the key states the candidates have been concentrating on.

Social security provided one of the main issues Tuesday night in the debate between the two candidates.

Nixon, speaking in upstate New York, said Kennedy told a "bare-faced lie" by saying the Republican party could count on Nixon to "lead its wrecking crew" on the matter of social security.

The vice-presidential candidates—Senator Lyndon B. Johnson for the Democrats and Henry Cabot Lodge for the Republicans—campaigning in different states but wound up in the same one.

Johnson spent the day in Chicago, Lodge spent his day in upstate New York. Both wound up in New York City after it was over.

Plumping for experience in office, Lodge said:

"A candidate can retract words, but a president cannot retract mistakes."

He gave the same speech at eight outdoor rallies.

Johnson, who swung through Illinois during the day, hit out at one of Kennedy's favorite themes, a slip in U.S. prestige:

"The Republican party is suffering from a severe case of low prestige in America," he said.

Eaton forecasts Kennedy victory

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Cyrus Eaton, Canadian-born Cleveland industrialist, said Tuesday he thought the Nov. 8 United States election will be a landslide for Senator John Kennedy, the Democratic nominee for president.

"I am not saying this because of personal preference," he said, "but as an opinion based on my experience in business."

"If Kennedy carries Iowa and Kansas he will carry all 50 states," Eaton said in an interview.

He said no party can be re-elected to power when the steel industry is operating at only 50 per cent of capacity.

Dosco to close 3 mines

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — DOSCO's decision to close the Caledonia mine Jan. 14 came as a sharp blow to the 797 miners working the oldest operating coal mine in Canada.

The Dominion Coal Company, a DOSCO subsidiary, has been expected to announce cutbacks in some of its nine Nova Scotia mines that employ about 9,000 men.

New men were hired recently at Caledonia and the company was reported spending "big money" here.

Shock was an immediate reaction when the company announced Tuesday night it would close three of its Nova Scotia mines. The Caledonia closure would be the first. Florence Colliery and No. 16 colliery at New Waterford, which employ about 1,750 people, will be closed "at a later date," the Montreal announcement said.

HON. HOWARD GREEN

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times today devotes its daily profile-type column to a story about External Affairs Minister Green of Canada.

The story is tagged on Green's speech before the 99-member United Nations political committee Tuesday asking for more robust action by middle and smaller powers in the cause of disarmament.

Green's disarmament proposals have received unusual attention in the New York newspapers, which have tended in recent years to dismiss Canadian ideas with brief mention.

The Times profile, friendly to the Progressive Conservative minister, quotes a remark attributed to former Liberal trade minister C. D. Howe that Green reminded him of "a perambulating prognosticator of doom stalking the halls of Parliament with a Bible in one hand and a stiletto in the other."

Can repel any attack admiral in Cuba claims

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP) — The U.S. naval commander said today defence forces now at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay should be able to repel any attack until reinforcements can be sent to their aid.

Rear-Admiral Allen Smith told reporters "the situation is tense because we are in a position of waiting for someone else to do something."

Premier Fidel Castro has accused the U.S. government of planning some sort of provocative incident to give a pretext for American military intervention in Cuba.

U.S. officials have denied the charge, but President Eisenhower warned in a statement Tuesday that because of the Guantanamo base's "importance to the defence of the entire hemisphere," the United States "will take whatever steps may be appropriate to defend the base."

Smith disclosed that mine fields were planted along the boundary fence of the 45-square-mile Guantanamo reservation several weeks ago.

Defending forces include a few hundred marines, marine and navy fighter plane squadrons that come here for training purposes, destroyers usually anchored in the bay or nearby waters, plus virtually every one of the several thousand military men on the base.

Green asks pressure on nuclear powers

Protest Polaris base in UK

LONDON (AP) — The British government launched a public relations campaign today in an effort to avert an outcry against the basing of U.S. nuclear missile submarines in Scotland.

As protests were raised, the government invited leading officials of 12 towns and counties in the Clyde area to a meeting at Greenock Thursday to discuss the base agreement.

Prime Minister Macmillan told the House of Commons Tuesday that Holy Loch, the Clyde yachting centre 30 miles from Glasgow, next February would become a base for servicing submarines that can fire the 1,200- to 1,500-mile range Polaris missile from under water.

Moscow radio warned Tuesday night that the Polaris base would be the target for "an inevitable retaliatory blow" if it used for aggression.

MPs PROTEST

Labor MPs at once attacked the arrangement, saying the people of Scotland would resent exposure to destruction.

John Johnston, secretary of the Glasgow Trades Council and the city's treasurer, said "we might even have an Aldermaston-type march."

There is very grave concern about the Polaris base. Large numbers of pacifists stage an annual anti-nuclear march to the British nuclear weapons research centre at Aldermaston.

Dr. Andrew Hood, former mayor of Glasgow, said several organizations were getting up petitions and that he expected expressions of feeling against the base from all over the west of Scotland in the next two weeks.

Labor MPs were reported to have drafted a motion objecting to the Polaris base, demanding removal of U.S. bases from Britain.

Macmillan stated that opinion Tuesday as he announced to the House of Commons a U.S.-British agreement to permit the United States to keep a mobile submarine tender and a floating dock on the Clyde River estuary.

"Wherever these submarines may be," Macmillan said, "I am perfectly satisfied no decision to use these missiles will ever be taken without the fullest possible previous consultation."

No such commitment was made when the agreement to establish the station was negotiated, state department officials said. They added they could not confirm that the United States would fire the Polaris from the submarines only after consultation with Britain.

Such consultations would be desirable but whether there will be time for them in case of emergency is anybody's guess, officials commented.

The agreement, they explained, foresaw prior consultations in periods of emergency concerning the use of the tender and other facilities of the station itself. But they said this does not affect the use of the submarines and their missiles "wherever these submarines may be," as Macmillan phrased it.

Small nation appeal

By JOSEPH MacSWEENE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Canada has asked for a sharper approach to disarmament by the middle and smaller powers putting pressure on the nuclear giants.

External Affairs Minister Green outlined the policy Tuesday by calling in the 99-member United Nations political committee for a new UN body to work with the great powers on disarmament.

Green's idea plumps for a non-nuclear committee of perhaps 10 or 12 members which would work to put a firecracker under the nuclear powers—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France—on disarmament talks.

In the third week of disarmament debate in the political committee, the Canadian's formal proposal—embodying a resolution—attracted considerable attention among delegates who know that the two main antagonists—the U.S. and Russia—are in impasse.

A U.S. delegation spokesman said he would make no comment on the Canadian resolution. "We have yet to hear from Washington about it," he said.

Spokesmen for the British delegation were warmer in their reaction.

The proposal envisages a ginger-up committee appointed by the 99-member UN disarmament commission to work with a negotiating body including—of course—the great powers.

Green—in his speech and at a subsequent press conference—stressed that Canada still believes the most effective negotiating body was the 10-nation East-West disarmament committee which tumbled in Geneva in June because of a Soviet-bloc walkout.

But Green did not rule out the possibility of additional members to the negotiating body. Soviet Premier Khrushchev has said Russia would not return to negotiations without the addition of five so-called neutralist countries.

In other developments Tuesday, Cuba and Communist supporters lost their fight for an immediate UN assembly debate of charges the U.S. plans an invasion of the island republic.

Faced six charges of murder

Refugee dies while still in coma

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Michael Fekecs, the Hungarian refugee charged with murdering six persons, died in hospital today after 3½ months in a coma.

Fekecs shot himself in the forehead July 12 as two policemen were closing in on him. He was brought to hospital that day and died without ever regaining consciousness.

A jury indicted Fekecs Sept. 24 on six counts of murder.

He was charged with slaying four persons on the North Brunswick estate of Dr. Francis Clarke and with killing two policemen.

The Hungarian first came into the limelight July 10, when he was accused of shooting the two policemen in his apartment.

The two, George Dunham, 31, and John Leber, 29, had stopped Fekecs on a traffic violation. He asked them to accompany him to his apartment for money with which to pay bail.

The two were found in the apartment—each slain with a bullet in the head.

After a two-day manhunt, Fekecs was cornered in a wooded area of Union.

There was an exchange of shots and, as two policemen closed in on him, he turned his pistol on himself and put a bullet through his brain.

Middlesex County prosecutor William Dolan announced that ballistics tests showed the same gun used to kill the policemen was used to kill four persons in North Brunswick on the afternoon of Jan. 26.

On that day a man took a taxi to the home of Dr. Francis Clarke, a prominent surgeon, and murdered Mrs. Edith Clarke, his 60-year-old invalid wife; Miss Dorothy Moore, 66, her housekeeper; Mrs. Cora Thaddies, 29, a maid; and Morris Michael, 60, the cab driver who took the murderer to the scene of the crime.

On the basis of that evidence, Fekecs was indicted for murdering six persons.

'Beer break' strikers' spirits high

LONDON (AP) — The daily strike for the mid-morning beer break is gaining recruits and drinking time.

The strike started Monday when 26 women at a factory that makes beer shampoo staged a one-hour walkout. Tuesday they were joined by eight girls of the office force.

Carrying signs saying "We Want Our Beer Break," they marched to the Lord Palmerston public house an hour before lunchtime and stayed two hours, drinking and singing to keep up their spirits.

Eric Lincoln, the firm's manager, had discovered that the women at their tea break were helping themselves to beer used in the shampoo. He decided they should stick to tea.

"They seem to think this is a brewery," he said. "I can't have them drinking the stuff during tea breaks. But I'll give them a free ration of beer during the lunch break if that will satisfy them."

The strike leader, Mrs. Connie Danbury, was adamant. "We'll go on staging this strike every day until he sees sense," she said.

Pilots blamed too often

Want public air crash probes

MONTREAL (CP) — John Gallagher, 29-year-old Trans-Canada Air Lines captain, wants the Canadian Air Line Pilots Association to press for public inquiries into air crashes as a more democratic method of investigation.

"We may know an accident was not the result of a pilot's error but we have no way of proving it now," Capt. Gallagher said Tuesday at the CALPA convention.

Blame tended to fall on the shoulders of the pilot, he said.

"We've studied reports covering the last four years and the department of transport has accepted the word of an onlooker against that of the pilot every time."

At present, the transport department conducts an official investigation and the airline involved usually makes one also. Once the cause is fixed, there can be no appeal.

SUGGESTED HYPNOSIS

"A pilot can be pronounced guilty in Canada by men who may possibly share in the guilt," Capt. Gallagher, director of CALPA's safety committee, said.

He also recommended that pilots be put under hypnosis or sodium pentathol and questioned within 48 hours of a crash before "officials can make up their mind as to what happened."

Pilots usually had difficulty recalling routine details after an accident, but drugs or hypnosis would allow complete recollection and possibly provide clues to the cause.

Three CALPA pilots have been appointed accident investigators by the association and will speed to the scene of future accidents. They had taken special courses at the University of Southern California for the job.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the season when people connected with the television industry are playing a game called "What's Shaky?"

The game involves guessing which television programs are in peril of being yanked out of the network schedules around Jan. 1 and replaced with other efforts.

At this moment only two shows, both one-hour long and both on NBC, are scheduled for the guillotine: Riverboat, which for more than a year has had difficulty paddling along in Wagon Train's ruts, and Dan Raven, a police-action show now only five weeks old.

NBC expects to replace Riverboat with a civil war series which has been around in blueprint stage for some time. Its working title is The Blue and the Grey, and it revolves around conflict between two brothers, one a Confederate soldier, the other, a Union warrior — thus eliminating the chance of getting into controversial areas.

Dan Raven's early-evening spot is expected to be filled by Happy, a particularly undistinguished situation comedy seen last summer as half of Perry Como's vacation-time replacement, and by another half-hour show called The Happy Time.

Meanwhile, there are lots of rumors floating about shows in "trouble" — and trouble means low ratings. There has been considerable talk about CBS' The HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Another pop singer has been enlisted for movies, but this one is different. Jimmie Rodgers can belt out a folk tune and play a guitar, but he's no rock 'n' roller and he hails from no farther south than Camas, Wash.

His good looks and sincere approach have won him a starring role in his first movie, The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come.

Old-timers in the audience will recall the 1928 version that starred Richard Barthelmess. It is the story of a shepherd boy who lives in the southern valley of Kingdom Come and returns to his native North to fight his one-time friends in the civil war. Lots of heart, and that's just what Jimmie was looking for.

DISLIKED SCRIPTS

"I could have done pictures before now," said the 27-year-old singer. "But I didn't want to do the kind of scripts I have been offered. Most of them were the rock 'n' roll types with switchblades and all that."

"I've been under contract to MGM for two years now—to do a picture a year. But they've never come up with anything I wanted to do, so we keep extending the option."

He told of turning down one racy film with the explanation to the producer: "If I appeared in it, I'd have to tell my mother not to see it." The producer accused him of having a warped mind.

Jimmie is unconcerned about such barbs. He is aware of the short span of popularity for most pop singers and he's trying to plan otherwise.

AT THE GRANADA
WEDNESDAY, NOV. 9th
WITH THE NATIONAL
BALLET OF CANADA

LOIS SMITH

The great lyric roles of the immortal classics receive new stature and fresh appeal with the interpretation of prima ballerina Lois Smith of the National Ballet of Canada.

Critics have acclaimed her Odette-Odile in the four acts of "Swan Lake", Swanilda in the three-act "Coppelia", the title role in the tragic "Giselle", which is being revived this season by the company in honor of Miss Smith, and others.

At the same time, the beautiful, Vancouver-born Miss Smith has created many memorable roles in contemporary works.

After a guest appearance with David Adams at Jacob's Pillow, critics said, "her phrasing was delicate and came-like. Her balletic line was clear and smooth, motions seeming to originate in her pointed toes and rising to her graceful and expressive hands..." Lois Smith and David Adams proved to be the finest ballet dancers of a season which has included some of the biggest names in ballet.

This season, Miss Smith stars opposite Mr. Adams in the full-length presentation of "Princess Aurora", based on dancing highlights from "Sleeping Beauty". She dances the title role in the lavish production which calls for virtually the entire resources of the large company.

Miss Smith joined the National Ballet of Canada when it was founded in 1951, and since has toured several countries as its leading star. She has appeared also as a star of the famed grandstand show at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, and on national television productions in Canada and the U. S. With Mr. Adams she danced a number of grand classical pas de deux in the film "Great Moments of the Dance".

Weather report

October chilly month, but sunnier than '59

October in the Townships was cold but there was more sunshine than in the same month last year according to the monthly report issued by the Lennoxville Experimental Farm.

The average temperature for the month was 43.27 degrees which was a drop of 2.19 degrees from the average temperature for October last year. It was also well below the average monthly temperature for the last 46 years which is 45.39 degrees.

October 28 and 29 were the warmest days of the month with the thermometer reaching 65 degrees. This was nowhere near the highest temperature for the month in 46 years which was 85 degrees in 1932. Although the temperature dropped to 21 degrees on the 22, this by no means set a record since the lowest temperature recorded for the month was 12 degrees in 1932.

There were 161 hours of sunshine in October which was a considerable improvement over the same month last year when there were only 100.3 hours of sunshine. This was considerably above the average for the last 46 years which was only 130.6 hours.

In 1924 there were 194.3 hours of sunshine which is the record for the last 46 years. The lowest number of sunshine hours for the month of October was in 1917 when there were only 81.1.

There were only 3.18 inches of rainfall in October as compared to 5.12 last year. Last month's rainfall was slightly below the average for October for the last 46 years which is 3.52 inches. In 1919 there 6.63 inches of rainfall which is the highest monthly record for the last 46 years. The lowest monthly rainfall for the last 46 years was 1 inch in 1924.

There was no snow in October this year even though it

Sherbrooke Rotarians meet

District governor visits club; annual committee reports heard

One hundred and sixteen Sherbrooke Rotary Club members, representing three generations of Rotarians, turned out Tuesday night at the weekly meeting held in the Sherbrooke Hotel to meet Robert L. Lowe, their District Governor from Union, N.H.

The district governor, acting as guest speaker led the club members in making their annual reports on the different activities of the rotary committees and offered suggestions for improvements.

Mr. Lowe in his opening speech, urged Rotarians to work together in harmony, with each Rotarian doing his share in helping his particular committee for, he said, "if one committee does not do its share, it will off-set the whole club for a whole year."

Mr. Lowe, speaking to the younger members of the Rotary Club told them, "In Rotary you are given a job. The older members expect you to fulfill that responsibility, for it is fulfillment that makes Rotary."

The individual committees then gave their annual reports.

The program committee's report was read by Errol Duval, and club members suggested that more debates and more classification talks be added to the weekly programs.

Leopold Pinard read the fellowship report. He said that suggestions had been made regarding purchasing souvenirs for visiting Rotarians who come to the Sherbrooke Rotary Club.

Fred Wilson read the attendance committee report. He suggested that members who have missed one or two meetings be

1960 Quebec maple production reported higher than last year

The 1960 maple production in the Province of Quebec, most of it from the E. T. expressed as syrup, climbed considerably to 2,448,000 gallons from 2,148,000 in 1959, it has been reported.

The report from the Quebec Bureau of statistics also shows an increase last year in price over 1958. In 1959 average price of syrup stood at $3.91 per gallon, against $3.11 in 1958. Average prices for sugar were 40 cents per pound in 1959 and 44 cents per pound in 1958.

The report stated that farm value of maple products this year will be estimated later when sales prices are available.

Total value of the produce this year is expected to be high in view of the tables of statistics released by the Bureau, and may compare favorably with figures for 1947, 1952, and 1954, all good seasons.

The high figure since 1937 was in 1947: 3,260,000 pounds of sugar; 2,831,000 gallons of syrup; 3,157,000 gallons, and a gross farm value of $11,056,000.

Sunnyside High

Hallowe'en marked by gay parties

ROCK ISLAND (Special) — Sunnyside High School auditorium was decorated with black and orange garlands, cornstalks and pumpkins as well as the traditional black cats, witches and a skeleton for the Sadie Hawkins dance held on Saturday evening, and for the children's Hallowe'en party on Monday evening.

The dance terminated Smoltz Week, a week of the girls "waiting upon the boys" carrying home books and so forth. The girls issued invitations to the boys of their choice to attend the dance.

Monday evening the Senior students sponsored a party for the little folk and all attended in original costumes. Games were organized and greatly enjoyed by the organizers and children.

Judges of the costumes picked the following as the winners, Heather Johnston, Jim Cunningham, Peter Channell, Barry Dewey, Peter Greer and Valerie Kerr.

Before closing, all lined up and were given a bag of treats. After school and before the party the majority of children of Grades One to Eleven collected for UNICEF.

Gas station request

Referendum is set for the East Ward

A limited referendum will be held in one section of the East Ward within the next month to decide whether or not a Sherbrooke man will be permitted to construct a gas station at the corner of King Street East and Curtis Streets.

At a meeting of city council Monday night Oscar Henaire demanded to know why the aldermen from his ward, Robert Gauthier and Felix Thibault, had not backed his request for a permit to build the gas station. He added that the corner was in a commercial zone and therefore he could see no reason why his request should be refused.

"And, if I don't get my gas station, that's the end, you'll not see me again," he said.

At this point, Mayor Armand Nadeau hastened to assure Henaire that the reason his request had not been granted was not because of negligence, but because a petition had been received at city hall from various homeowners near the proposed site of the gas station, asking the city not to grant the permit.

"We will consult the proprietors by a referendum in that zone," he said.

Director of Services told council that no referendum could be held until the first part of December.

He explained that under the present bylaw, although the zone which includes the corner of King East and Curtis Streets is commercial, it is Class A Commercial, which prohibits the Textile contest starts for 'Miss Sherbrooke'

Next month a lucky young lady employed in one of the 13 textile plants in Sherbrooke, Coaticook and Magog, will be chosen Miss Sherbrooke and will be eligible for the title of Miss Canadian Textiles, it was announced Wednesday by officials of the Canadian Textile Conference.

The contest is all part of the many activities in the E.T. planned for the Canadian Textile Conference, to be held in Montreal February 7 to 9.

Starting Wednesday, judges are accepting entries for the contest from all the plants in the three textile centres. Magog will be sponsoring at least four candidates, Coaticook another four and Sherbrooke will have about seven or eight entrants.

The winner of the Miss Canadian Textiles title will also take home a wardrobe full of glamorous prizes and have the chance to wear the latest Canadian fashion creations.

Some 24 textile communities in Quebec, Ontario and the Maritimes are preparing "Textile Weeks" to coincide with the major event in Montreal and girls from those areas will be competing against Miss Sherbrooke.

Qualifications for the contestants are easy: be bilingual, and have natural charm, personality and poise.

Personnel representatives of all mills and various other sponsors will spend the next few weeks sifting applications before naming their contestants.

The winner will be chaperoned to Montreal, attired in the finest clothes and given every opportunity to bring the title to Sherbrooke.

Highlights of the regional competition and a grand fashion show are expected to be carried across the province on television.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD Thursday, 9:30 a.m., at St. Patrick's Church, Sherbrooke, for Charles Oliver Stenson, Sherbrooke, who died Monday in his 64th year. Interment will be in St. Michael's Cemetery.

Improvements for Farnham Camp are announced

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — The Minister of National Defence plans vast improvements for the Farnham Military Camp, it was announced by Brome-Missisquoi M.P., Howard Gaffney, recently.

The work he said, would be done during winter months under the Winter Works program and would include the construction of a new mezzanine in the training hall; improvements in four kitchens; the erection of a security fence around the camp; improvements to the electricity lines and the installation of a permanent lighting plant.

Rare occasion for celebration

An unusual anniversary was celebrated recently when Mr. and Mrs. Willie Deslauriers of Waterloo celebrated their Golden Wedding on the same date as their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Osias Dion of Adamsville celebrated their Silver Wedding. Another coincidence was the fact that both families have 11 children.

Mass was celebrated in St. Bernard's Church, Waterloo following which a reception was held in the Granby Hotel. About 200 relatives and friends attended the reception for the two couples.

The new Party

The byelection in Peterborough, Ont. has proved one thing — labor is behind the New Party to a considerable extent.

Recently the Ontario Building and Construction Trades Council, representing 50,000 workers, voted 36-4 against endorsing the CLC-CCF political alliance when it officially gets under way next year.

This sparked speculation that the New Party would never get off the ground.

Outcome of the vote in Peterborough — a solid Conservative riding for 20 years — has proved this speculation substantially wrong.

The CCF had never been able to make a good showing in Peterborough, a highly industrialized and highly unionized riding. It was obvious from the 1958 voting record — 19,032 votes for the late Gordon K. Fraser who held the seat for the Progressive Conservatives against 9,467 votes for three opponents — that there was little relation between union membership and party choice.

In that election the CCF candidate drew a scant 6.6 per cent of the votes cast.

Walter Pitman, Monday's successful candidate attracted 46 per cent of votes cast to the New Party.

A number of factors undoubtedly contributed to the upset.

Mr. Fraser enjoyed tremendous personal popularity in the riding which undoubtedly crossed party lines.

And many voters in Peterborough might well have "blamed the government" for the widespread unemployment in their riding.

Undoubtedly the men behind the scene in all of Canada's political parties will search for the real reasons in the months to come.

But one thing was made certain by Monday's vote: They won't be as quick to dismiss the New Party as they were a few short days ago.

'Let's start with ourselves'

A discussion on teenage drivers that began a bit heatedly at the Sherbrooke city council meeting Monday night finally got around to a sensible conclusion.

Mayor Nadeau began with heat. He lashed out at drivers under 18 years of age in the city, and even advocated that the law be changed in this province so that under-18's couldn't get a driving licence.

The view was a rather extreme one. While it is true young people are often involved in accidents, it is also true that given the proper training in both manual driving skills and correct motoring habits and attitudes, most of them make fine drivers — better in fact, than a great many adults.

So it was gratifying to see other council members leaven the mayor's general criticism with a few observations about parents.

One alderman pointed out that the parents of teenage drivers are often just as guilty of speeding as are their children.

Then Alderman Tony Pinard cut to the heart of the matter by saying: "Let's start with ourselves."

If only we would. Then there would be no need to talk of denying those under 18 years of age a licence.

The heifer project

Much that churchmen and churches do and say is subject to controversy, but there is one project in which Roman Catholics, Orthodox churchmen and 17 protestant denominations are engaged which can only evoke approval, if not ardent admiration.

It is known as the Heifer Project and it consists in sending great quantities of highbred livestock for the help of needy countries, and the enrichments of local herds.

When an airplane left Boston for Greece recently, in charge of a Congregational minister, and a young churchwoman, loaded down with almost a Noah's Ark of assorted livestock, it was only a part of this project begun 16 years ago by the Church of the Brethren, a farm-minded denomination. The initial example has had a fitting and remarkable development.

The Christian Century recently defined the project's goal, and what has been achieved to date. We quote from the issue of Sept. 28:

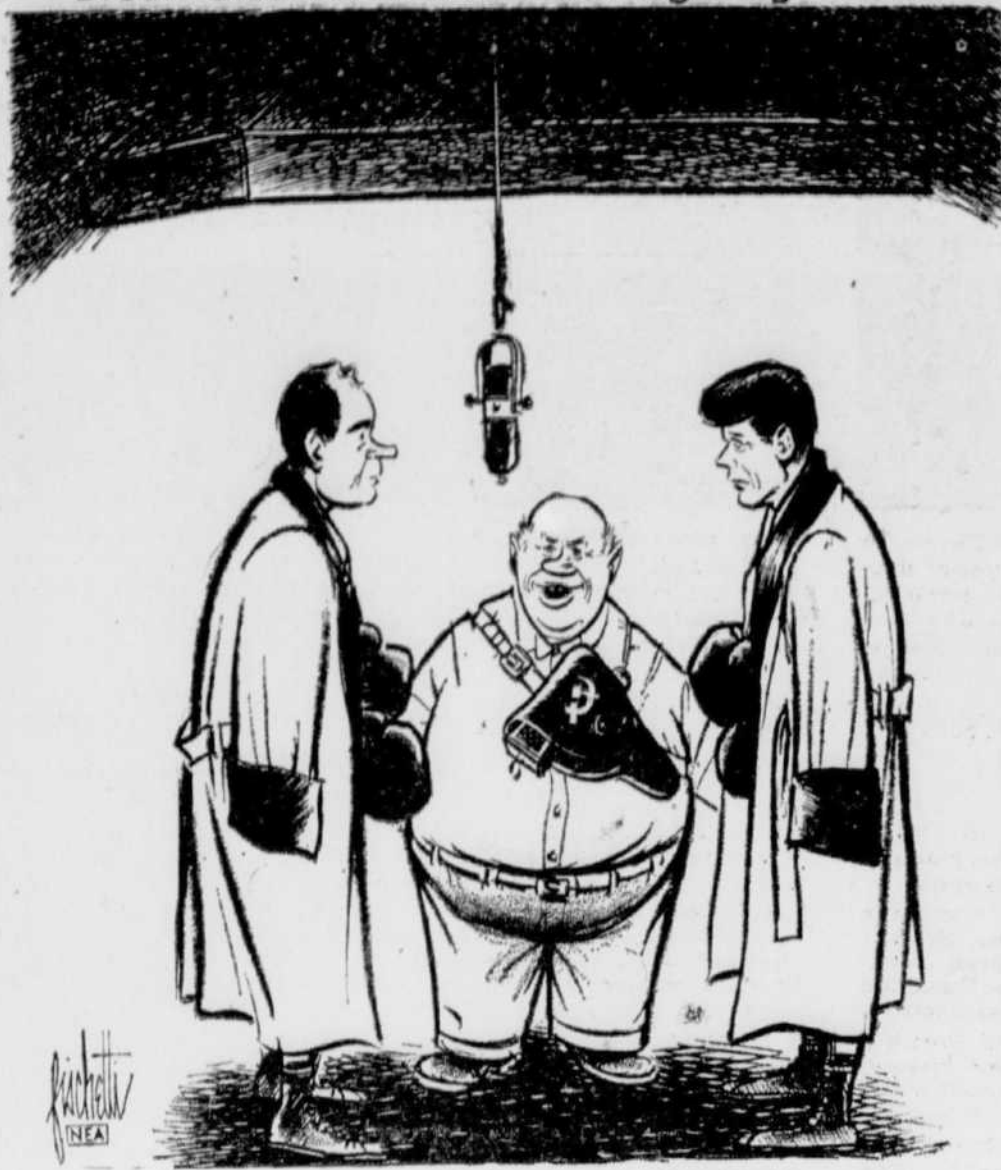

"In order to reach the project's goal — to serve as an endless chain in neighborliness — each person who receives livestock or poultry must promise to give the first born offspring to someone else in need.

"An important side effect of the distribution is the improvement of livestock strains by the introduction of superior breeding stock.

"The value of the project is evidenced by one example in Haiti: one imported gift hog had a market value of $90, whereas the average Haitian family earns an annual income of $70; furthermore, hogs sent from the U.S. develop to marketable size in eight months, while it takes native hogs in Haiti two years for similar development."

Is sentiment swinging to Kennedy?

Nixon long a likely prospect

NEW YORK (CP) — A year ago, public opinion polls showed that of the half-dozen odd men likely to be picked as candidates for the presidency of the United States, Richard Milhous Nixon had the best chance of staying the course.

None of the other possible choices was as well known as Vice-President Nixon. And he had the valuable endorsement of President Eisenhower.

Also, he was better known overseas, having made nine official trips abroad as Eisenhower's representative.

But random indicators of opinion in the last month of the campaign showed that sentiment was swinging to Senator Kennedy and the Democrats.

Traditionally, except for the first 60 years of the republic, the vice-presidency has been a stepping stone to the White House only when a president dies in office. Otherwise, vice-presidents are the forgotten men of American politics; few people remember, for example, that Adlai Stevenson's grandfather of the same name was vice-president in the 1890s.

Sept. 24, 1955, marked a change in the picture. That was the day Eisenhower suffered a heart attack. Many of the presidential responsibilities, such as presiding over cabinet meetings, became Nixon's.

Again in June, 1957, when the president was put to bed with another illness, Nixon was moved to centre stage.

This has become one of the prime points in the Republican election campaign: Having held the tiller of the ship of state for a brief time while the captain was off deck, being privy to the secrets of the National Security Council, having experience in dealing with Premier Khrushchev and having helped shape cabinet decisions, Dick Nixon is best fitted to assume command in these troubled days.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Nixon's vice-presidential partner, has said the present is no time for "on-the-job training" in government. And Nixon says, Eisenhower "has been training us for seven years."

To observers familiar with the Washington scene, the 47-year-old Nixon has been impressive as a competent administrator who approaches the business of government with great application.

It is thought that he would conduct the presidency in much the same way as Eisenhower does, with perhaps more flair for political activity.

Nixon is said to read few books but can cheerfully plow through a stack of briefs that might dismay another man. His familiarity with the language of courts, chancelleries and bureaucrats began when he was a struggling lawyer in the small California town of Whittier shortly before the Second World War.

The Nixons were a Quaker family and Dick's father ran a grocery store in the town. The boy attended the local college run by Quakers and later studied at Duke University in North Carolina.

It was while practising law in Whittier that he met Thelma Catherine Ryan, a local high school teacher. Pat Ryan, as her father called her, spent a rugged early life in the western U.S. while the itinerant family prospected for gold or worked on vegetable farms. Her parents died when she was in her teens.

The lawyer and the teacher were married in 1940. They have two children, Tricia, 14, and Julie, 12. Nixon joined the navy in 1942 and spent some time in the Pacific helping build airstrips for naval transport planes.

He decided to try politics after the war and won a seat in the House of Representatives in 1946, the same year that a young millionaire from Massachusetts, John Kennedy, entered Congress for the first time.

The Californian's name was soon in the headlines. A leading state department official, Alger Hiss, had been accused by former party member Whittaker Chambers of being a Communist. Hiss denied the charge.

Nixon, as a member of the un-American activities committee, pursued the case which finally resulted in the conviction of Hiss in 1950 on two counts: 1. That he lied to a federal grand jury in 1948 when he said he never passed a state department document to Chambers; 2. That he never saw Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

Chambers produced five rolls of microfilm hidden in a pumpkin on his farm in Maryland, saying they were documents Hiss had given him in 1938.

Nixon's rapid rise was a direct result of his role in the Hiss case. He became a senator in 1950 and two years later his name was entered with Eisenhower's at the top of the Republican election ticket.

As vice-president, Nixon has been the chief target of the opposition's barbs.

Democrats remember his talk of their group as the "party of treason" during the Hiss episode. They still use the label "Tricky

ONE CARD CAN LEAD INTO ERROR

The theme of today's hand is almost the same as yesterday's. The difference is that this time East holds the ace and king of clubs, but even more important East also holds the jack of hearts.

Anyway West opens the deuce of clubs against the four spade contract and after taking the ace and king East plays the deuce of hearts.

South had no problem. When you hold a singleton you play it. Once the king of hearts holds, South makes five add instead of four.

East's low heart play has cost him a side a trick? Has he made a nothing play?

The answer is that he has made a next-to-nothing play. Without the jack of hearts East would have been taking a valid chance to beat the contract. It would not have done him any good against a singleton king, but it probably

TIP ON TIPPING

(Toronto Telegram)

A rugged Westerner wearing a 10-gallon hat has been sounding off in Toronto about the growth of tipping in eastern Canada. He obviously feels we are weaklings, ready to pay a surly waitress or a laggardly bartender even for the privilege of being sloppily served.

Of course, he is right. Who would face the ire of an aroused waitress, her thumb perhaps still smarting from the heat of the soup? Who could bear to be thought a picker or a skinflint by the dewy-eyed teenager who gets the order all mixed up and delivers it cold?

It's not as easy as Hugh C. Craig, president of the Canadian Restaurant Association, thinks. This no-tipping business may go over all right in Alberta where a bar owner can count himself lucky if the cowhands don't wreck the place in a fight after the faro game. But not in effete old Ontario.

The dictionary says a tip is "a small present of money given to an inferior." Around Toronto, a customer may be made to feel inferior if he doesn't tip.

But it's nice to know that a restaurant man thinks we should cut down on the tipping, even if we haven't the nerve to follow his advice.

Dickie that first gained use in the 1950 and 1952 elections.

In the last eight years, President Eisenhower, elected with the aid of many nominally-Democratic votes, has escaped really vigorous criticism.

But if Nixon becomes president and if—as seems fairly likely—Congress continues under Democratic control, the opposition will almost certainly be as violent as Harry Truman experienced at the hands of the Republicans after the war.

And like Truman, Nixon could be expected to be rough in return.

Seventh bitter year

Algerian conflict still persists

A few years ago French officials used to say cheerfully that the war in Algeria had reached its final quarter of an hour.

Now the war is entering its seventh bitter year, and further remarks about "le dernier quart d'heure" would meet with a sad shrug of the shoulders. In the long struggle between Arab and Frenchman, animosities seem sharper than ever.

Yet there is a prospect that, finally, there may be good reason for predicting an early end

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

to hostilities. Every passing day provides fresh evidence that the people of metropolitan France are fed up with a war that many consider unjust, that is causing a crisis of conscience among youth, that is regarded as blocking the future of France.

Another factor that may force French President de Gaulle to "do something," as students, trade unions, professors and intellectuals have long requested, is the prospect of Russian and Chinese intervention on the side of the Moslem rebels.

Unconfirmed reports suggest that Chinese technicians are already on their way to Tunisia, next door to Algeria.

Meanwhile, one of the puzzling aspects in the situation is de Gaulle's own attitude. Within France, support for his policy of an "Algerian Algeria" comes mainly from the left wing.

Opposition is confined to a small group of extreme right-wing politicians, including Georges Bidault, Pierre Poujade and Gen. Salan, a military leader who ironically once was regarded by the Algerian extremists as the only obstacle to their policy of a French Algeria.

But, strangely, de Gaulle seems to shun the support of the left, muzzling its newspapers and forbidding protest marches, while allowing considerable leeway to his opponents on the right.

In the end the extent of Russian and Chinese intervention may be the decisive factor. For years, apologists for the war in Algeria have been saying that it is after all not so much a war against a few thousand rebels as a "crusade" to save the Western world from international communism.

If Russia and China move into Algeria in strength, the idea of the "crusade" may finally have some justification in fact.

OVERRATED

(Toronto Telegram)

Guy Burgess, the British diplomat who in 1951 defected to Russia, has just realized what most people knew all along — that he made a mistake. No shrinking violet, he announced his discovery to western correspondents at a Moscow party after crashing the gate. Then he speculated that his statement would probably "make headlines again." It didn't. Burgess and his like are not as important as they think.

Jet-age has it's drawbacks

LONDON (AP)—The jet travel joke goes something like this: "Breakfast in Tokyo; luncheon in Karachi; dinner in London; and baggage in Buenos Aires." It's not as far-fetched as it sounds.

British European Airways estimates that so far this year 10,000 pieces of luggage have gone adrift in Europe. At a cost of countless dollars and many hours, nine-tenths has been recovered.

The International Air Transport Association has set up a special task force at London Airport to seek a solution to this annoying problem.

The big airlines at London Airport, one of the busiest in the world, say they rarely have to report that one of their passengers is missing.

British Overseas Airways Corporation tells of two men bound for New York on their flight. One got on another airline flight and wound up in Istanbul. The other found himself on yet another line and got off in Frankfurt.

MIXED UP CANADIAN
Then there was the passenger from Canada—not identified—en route to Hamburg. The plane stopped at Prestwick, Scotland. He thought he was in London. The plane flew down to London. He thought he was in Hamburg. It was not until the bus was taking him to town that he learned his trip wasn't over yet.

Air France says that every day passengers go out like sheep to the wrong aircraft. They are stopped by "stringent checks at the aircraft steps."

But you can't talk to a piece of baggage, and that's why BEA has a staff of 40 "amateur detectives" working 24 hours a day trying to trace mislaid luggage.

Here are two golden rules for travellers:
1. Never put passports, travel documents, air tickets or money in your luggage.

2. Always put your name and address, your flight number and date of travel inside each piece of luggage.

Give fur-trade museum to Manitoba government

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Hudson's Bay Company has turned over its 4,000-item museum of the Canadian fur trade to the Manitoba government.

Hon. Gurney Evans, provincial minister of industry and commerce, said the government hopes to provide a permanent home for the exhibits at Lower Fort Garry, headquarters of the original Red River Settlement 19 miles north of Winnipeg.

The fort, built in 1831, became the point of departure for traders and settlers heading for the west and the far north. It is to be rebuilt by the federal and provincial governments in 1963.

The fur trade museum, opened in the Hudson's Bay Company's department store here in 1922, has been only partially displayed for some time due to space limitations at the store.

The collection includes such items as a Red River cart, an iron fur press, an Eskimo kayak, priceless original Indian and Eskimo costumes and other reminders of the pioneer days.

The old fort, whose main buildings are occupied by a country club, was presented to the federal government by the Hudson's Bay Company in 1951. The government has served notice on the country club that the fort will be taken over Jan. 1, 1963.

FAST CHECK-OUT SERVICE — THURSDAY — FRIDAY — SATURDAY

Careful planning, bargain hunting, adds to attractive furnishings

By EDNA BLAKELY
TORONTO (CP) — Furniture, like a car, is not a lifetime investment, says Phyllis Stagg. As the income of the family increases, the family is likely to want better furniture, says Miss Stagg, who is in charge of decorating services for a large Toronto department store. In any event, furniture styles and colors change, and the average homemaker will want to change the furniture over the years. HOW TO BUY Miss Stagg doesn't think it is wise to invest too much money in one piece of furniture, having the rest of a lesser quality. "That's like putting all your eggs in one basket," she said in an interview. Instead, she advises buying all the pieces in the same quality. This avoids the danger of having one good piece emphasize the lower quality of the others. Careful planning and bargain-hunting can add up to an attractively-furnished home. A list of the necessary items should first be made, and when the buyer knows what is wanted, sales of such items can be watched for. Miss Stagg advises doing as much work as possible yourself. Sewing your own drapes is a big saving. She advises putting more money into upholstered furniture which can be recovered at a later day. Some less expensive pieces would not be worth recovering and would have to be replaced. A good mattress was also a necessity. SMALL RUGS FIRST Accent rugs can be used at first and replaced later with broadloom, she says. Area-sized rugs can be made from remnants. Color and fabrics can be used to advantage in decorating a room. A wallpaper mural or a wall-papered wall creates a centre of interest. A basic color, a secondary color and an accent color should be chosen, advises decorator consultant Sally Hynes. She has found that quiet people usually prefer less color than vivacious people. When starting from scratch, she advises buying a bed, chest of drawers, table and chairs, first. This gives you a place to sleep, eat and put your things. Next comes the sofa and a chair or pair of chairs. From there it's end tables, coffee tables and lamps. "Then, I don't know which comes first — rug, television or hi fi set. It really depends on a person's interests," Miss Hynes said.

Card party held by Belvidere WI

The Belvidere Branch of the Quebec Women's Institutes held a successful card party on Saturday night in the Lennoxville W.I. rooms. Prizes were given at each table and the door prize was won by Mrs. A. Parsons. Mr. Ken Smart drew the ticket for the auto rug, the lucky winner being Lynda MacDonald. The drawing of a pair of pillow cases donated by Mrs. W. R. Bell, the proceeds to go to the Cancer Fund, were won by Miss G. Killbeck, of Lennoxville. A table of hand sewn aprons was on display for sale and was in charge of Mrs. A. E. McGee and Mrs. A. MacDonald. At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the members.

Women's Groups

BETA SIGMA PHI At a joint meeting of the XI Beta and Epsilon Chapters of the Beta Sigma Phi, Mrs. Clifford Goodhue, at whose home meetings have been held for a number of years, and Miss Marjorie Moyer, were presented with gifts of appreciation from the members of the chapters. This was the last meeting to be held at Rockcliffe.

During the short business session Mrs. D. Halchak and Mrs. S. Gray were appointed conveners of the art exhibit to be held in the spring. Mrs. C. Kerry then introduced Mrs. Dave Bloomberg, who led a discussion on poise and charm. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Marriage

KING — DAUTH

RICHFORD, Vt. — A lovely autumn wedding took place in the Methodist Church, Richford, Vt. on Saturday, October 15th., when Fern Dauth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustin Dauth of Ottawa, Ont., became the bride of Desmond King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon King of Cowansville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Grover B. Jay. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the sanctuary and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was in a floor length gown of white lace with a Louis XVI neckline. The dacton overskirt was caught with clusters of lily of the valley and a large dacton flower at back of waist, the skirt falling into a chapel train. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with a large tulle flower, and she carried a cascade bouquet of orchids. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift of the groom.

The maid of honor, Miss Janet King, sister of the groom, wore a ballerina length gown of rose nylon over taffeta with matching nylon flower hat and carried a colonial bouquet of carnations and mums.

Bridemaids were the Miss Donna Wheeler in a blue nylon sheer gown over taffeta with matching nylon hat and Miss Michelle Goupel were an identically styled gown in green. They carried colonial bouquets of white mums and pink carnations. The best man was Allan Bailey of Knowlton, and the ushers were Wayne King, brother of the groom and Thomas Wheeler, of Sherbrooke.

The mother of the bride chose a Juliette gown in brown with matching bolero and accessories. Her hat was of multi-colored peacock feathers, with this she wore a pastel mink stole and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother was in a gown of Royal blue lace over taffeta, a feather hat and accessories to match. She wore a mink stole and corsage of red roses.

The reception was held in the Yamaska Hotel, Cowansville, where the room was banked with cedar trees sprayed with pink and tall standards of multi-colored gladioli. Music for dancing was provided by "Cowboy Jack's" orchestra of Montreal.

The bride's table with low bowls of pink carnations and white orchids with lighted tapers in silver holders was centered with a four tier wedding cake topped by a heart shaped arch with white wedding bells. Low baskets of red roses completed the decor of the guest tables.

For their wedding trip, the bride chose a mauve printed silk dress with draped overskirt and accessories to match. Her purse was encrusted with an orchid. They will reside on the Knowlton Highway. Out of town guests

BRAZEL — FRENCH

SAWYERVILLE — The marriage of Beverly Jean, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald French of Sawyerville, and Ervin Raymond, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brazel of Cookshire, took place recently in St. Philip's Anglican Church with Rev. Henry Denton officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The wedding music was played by Miss Abbie French, aunt of the bride, and the soloist, Miss Ruth Bailey, cousin of the bride, sang I Love You Truly, before the service and O Promise Me, during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length gown of white embroidered nylon and a short veil with a pearl headress. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses. The bride was attended by Mrs. Knight George as matron of honor, who wore a waltz length gown of champagne shaded nylon and lace with toning velvet hat. Her bouquet was of yellow mums.

Mr. Bruce Learned was best man for the groom and the ushers were Arnold and John Brazel, cousins of the groom.

The bride's mother chose a gown of Royal blue crepe with a black hat and wore a corsage of red carnations, while the groom's mother wore a blue brocade silk dress with toning hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Brazel left for a wedding trip through the New England States, the bride wearing a blue orlon and jersey dress under a grey Borg coat and a black and white feather hat. Her corsage was of red roses. Upon their return the young couple will reside in Cookshire, Que.

Maybe he doesn't talk because you won't let him

By RUTH MILLETT

If your husband won't talk to you it could be because your conversation bores him. That's likely to be the reason if:

When he gets home at night you can't wait to tell him everything that went wrong during the day.

Personals

Friends of Mr. Roy Harrison of Melbourne, Que., formerly of Bury, will be sorry to learn that he is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Beauty Tips The benefits of a daily bath may be lost if your towel and washcloth are not as clean as your bathed body. With modern home laundry equipment, it's no trouble to have a clean towel and washcloth every day.

Small eyes can be made to appear larger by applying eye-shadow a bit higher than the crease in the lid and extending the color outward slightly past the actual width of the eye.

The smart woman will choose a hair style that can be brushed into place in a minute so that she can look as pretty at the breakfast table as she does at an afternoon club meeting.

You never want to talk about anything but the children and could, if you had a more attentive audience, discuss them by the hour.

You love to pass on all the neighborhood gossip and no bit is too trivial for you to find fascinating.

You enjoy picking your acquaintances and friends to pieces, trying to figure out their motives, criticizing their behavior, predicting what is going to happen to them.

It takes you a long, long time to get to the point of a story so that you ramble on and on and often lose track of what you started out to say.

You talk most of the time, finding silence almost unbearable — so that your husband can't read or putter or listen to TV without constantly being interrupted.

You have a few pet peeves which you worry like a dog worrying a bone.

You have a habit of worrying out loud.

You are rarely wholeheartedly enthusiastic about anything.

You can't tell anything without going into great detail and are in the habit of repeating conversations in the "I said . . . she said" manner.

You never ask yourself if your husband will be interested in what you are going to tell him before you start talking — just expecting him to be interested in what interests you.

BACKACHE May be Warning

Backache is often caused by lazy kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest or that tired-out and heavy-headed feeling may soon follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. So far so good

Scientists study our Polar shelf

OTTAWA (CP) — So far, so good, report scientists back from a first prolonged look at the ice-laden Canadian polar continental shelf. But it may take perhaps 14 years to find some of the answers.

More than 50 men took part this year in the blanket scientific project engaging oceanographers, geologists, glacier experts, marine-life experts and surveyors.

Work began last year with a pilot party setting up the main program—a field in which Canada lags behind the Soviet Union and some other northern countries. A sum of $1,134,400 was set aside for the project's current fiscal year, about double the amount last year.

VARIOUS AIMS

The objectives are mainly scientific—of use in peace or war—to delineate an unknown Canadian area. But the project is also regarded as an expression of Canadian sovereignty over land too barren to support human life, other than scientists nourished by a long airborne supply line.

Most scientists were on the spot last March and most now are back south after encountering one torrential rainstorm and the usual variations of wind, Arctic sun and temperatures as severe as 40 below zero.

"About average," commented Dr. Fred Roots, the project coordinator whose headquarters were centred on the Isachsen weather station on Ellef Ringnes Island, about 1,900 miles north of Regina.

The area under study is the flank of the western Arctic archipelago. The "shelf" is a sloping land shoulder easing out under

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

the sea to a sharp drop to the true ocean floor. This is the pattern followed along most of the world's coasts, in varying degree.

Military and civilian interests including portents of mineral interest make it valuable to know just how much shelf Canada has, where it goes, its depths and its tidal, current and ice conditions.

EARLY FINDINGS

In an interview, Dr. Roots mentioned some initial indications. The Canadian shelf may lie deeper than anticipated, lower than that off Siberia.

Without actually sampling the potential of fish life, it appeared from water studies that commercial prospects are not bright, although some lakes teem with rosy-fleshed Arctic char.

The combining of scientists in various specialties in one project seems the cheapest way of operating, in view of high transportation costs for men and supplies.

It appears also that for a few years at least this blanket type of operation seems the best scientifically, until a groundwork of facts is laid out for specialists to tackle in their own way and their own time.

AIRCRAFT USED

The party used three helicopters and two light Otter aircraft as well as chartered transport craft. Ski-wheels on the Otters enabled them to land on the gravelly northern surfaces or in mud.

Three radio beacons established on Meighen, Ellef Ringnes and Borden islands helped off-shore parties to pinpoint the location of soundings and other work. They worked as far as 150 miles out to sea on the polar ice.

A side aspect was the continuing work on the Meighen Island ice cap, described as a tidy chunk of ice for studying the factors that cause these bodies to expand or contract. It lies in with similar work on Ellesmere Island to the east.

The Meighen ice cap measures about six by 10 miles and is perhaps 600 feet thick. It appears to be fed by snow resulting from an open patch of water caused as the polar ice is broken by currents before crashing through channels in the archipelago.

OIL PROSPECTS

Petroleum remains the most likely mineral to be found, said Dr. Roots.

Wildlife caused some exciting moments. Polar bears, which in that latitude tend to regard humans as just more seals, poked around the expedition and some had to be shot. A friendly seal came up on land about a quarter of a mile to inspect a radio party.

A few muskox are scattered on the islands and Dr. Roots recalled seeing a herd of the little Perry caribou on a barren area where not a vestige of food—not even lichens—was visible on the snow blanket.

Royals Drop Their Fifth Straight On Home Ice As Hull-Ottawa Rolls To 4-1 Win; Frontenacs Stop Soo

It seems the Montreal Forum this season is tailored to fit Eastern Professional Hockey League visitors.

Montreal Royals suffered their fifth straight defeat on their home ice Tuesday night—this time a 4-1 drubbing at the hands of league leading Hull-Ottawa Canadiens.

The loss dumped the Royals into the league cellar while Kingston Frontenacs edged Sault Ste. Marie 5-4 to climb into a fourth-place tie with the Thunderbirds.

Canadiens, stretching their margin at the top to six points over Kitchener, cruised to a first

Democrats Disrupt NHL Game In Chicago Between Black Hawks And Rangers, Two Games Slated Tonight

A senator from the United States south carried his big pitch for votes into Chicago Tuesday night and disrupted the National Hockey League schedule.

But the game was rescheduled for tonight to avoid a clash with a political rally for Texas Democrat Lyndon Johnson, the vice-presidential nominee and running mate of Senator Jack Kennedy.

Tonight the schedule also tosses into action the Bruins from Kennedy's hometown of

Join Beavers And Rockets In Three Way Tie For First Place In League, Sherbrooke At Drumville Tomorrow

Granby Vics moved into a three-way tie for first place in the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League last night when they downed the Lions of Three Rivers 6-2. The victory gives the Vics their first win in two starts while Drummondville and Sherbrooke each posted wins in their openers last Sunday.

It was the home debut of the Lions, who joined the circuit this season, but despite their setback they pack a fairly strong club. Manager Del Dugre has gathered considerable juniors, fresh out of the ranks last season, along with several veterans, who performed with Asbestos and Victoriaville, and with a little time they should be able to hold their own.

Tomorrow evening the Sherbrooke Beavers travel to Drummondville to clash with the Rockets. This is the first encounter between these two clubs this year. They met last year in the finals of the league and the Rockets emerged the champions.

Coach Roger Bedard came up with a couple of changes in his lineup last night and this certainly paid off. He moved Gilles Bedard in between Spike Laliberte and Gerry Cabana and this trio was outstanding as they accounted for four of the six goals registered.

Gilles Bedard picked up two while Laliberte and Cabana tallied a goal each and picked up two assists. Andre Samson and Guy Charbonneau got the others for the Vics. J. Lambert, who won the scoring title last year while with the Canadiens of Victoriaville, tallied both Lions' markers.

Andy Payette turned in another top performance in the nets for the Vics while Jim Begin, his opponent, was a little shaky. Begin is just up from junior ranks and it was only his second game in intermediate ranks.

The tilt was a hard-checking affair but despite this only three penalties were handed out. The Lions drew two and during this time the Vics came through with two goals.

Samson opened the scoring for the Vics in the first period when Heon was in the sinbin and a little later Spike Laliberte gave the visitors a 2-0 lead. Pierre Lambert reduced the margin to complete the scoring in the first frame.

In the middle stanza Granby ran in three goals while holding the Lions to one. Bedard got the first and when Pleau was in the cooler Jerry Cabana made it 4-1 for the Vics. Lambert came up with his second tally and Charbonneau finished out the frame with a goal in the last minute of play. Gilles Bedard got his second tally in the third for the only goal of the period.

Commissioner Frick Orders Both Leagues To Stop Bickering And Get Together On Expansion Plans

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick has ordered the American and National leagues to stop bickering and get together on future expansion.

Frick, disturbed over efforts of one league to get the jump on the other in order to acquire the more lucrative franchises, met American League President Joe Cronin and National League head Warren Giles Tuesday and insisted on co-operation between the leagues in any further expansion.

"I don't give a darn about the two leagues," he said. "I don't care who goes where as long as the new cities meet the requirements. All I care about is expansion. . . and expansion done the proper way. I want to avoid the possibility of league fighting, recriminations and verbal punches thrown at each other."

"I have insisted that any further expansion steps should be taken jointly following sessions of the leagues at which the league presidents and the commissioner are present."

Pirates Lose Cal Ermer To New York Yanks

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The world champion Pittsburgh Pirates have lost one of the top managers in their farm system, Cal Ermer, to New York Yankees.

The Yankee-owned Richmond club in the class AAA International League announced Tuesday night it has hired Ermer as its manager for 1961. Ermer was minor league "manager of the year" three years ago at Birmingham in the class AA Southern Association.

For the last two seasons, Ermer has managed the Pirates' International League entry at Columbus, Ohio. The Jais finished second in 1959 but fell to sixth last summer.

Ermer, 36, succeeds Steve Souchock as skipper of the Virginians, who finished fourth in the International League flag race in 1959 and second in 1960 under Souchock's tutelage.

Souchock's future assignment was left unclear. But Virginian General Manager Jack White told a news conference the ex-manager "will remain in the Yankee organization in a position of responsibility."

The two clubs also will be given special draft privileges. Under normal rules they would not be permitted to draft be-

Branch Rickey Accuses American League "Breach Of Good Faith" For Failing To Accept CL Clubs

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Branch Rickey Tuesday accused the American League of a "breach of good faith" for failing to accept the personnel of two Continental League groups in its expansion program.

Rickey, president of the defunct Continental Baseball League, called upon Congress to "protest major league expansion" less the high minor leagues and any chances of a third major in the future be doomed.

Rickey's prepared statement was released to the press shortly after he met with R. V. Taylor, chairman of the board of the Buffalo group seeking a big league franchise.

After the meeting, Taylor said he was encouraged about the chances of Buffalo getting into the National League along with Dallas-Fort Worth when the league expands to 12 clubs in 1963 or 1964.

Taylor said Rickey told him Lou Perini of Milwaukee, John Galbreath of Pittsburgh, Phil Wrigley of Chicago and Walter O'Malley of Los Angeles favor inclusion of Buffalo and Dallas-Fort Worth in eventual expansion.

The National voted to take in Houston and New York in 1962 at a recent meeting. The American established new franchises in Los Angeles and Washington and moved the existing Washington franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul, a Continental member.

Rickey claimed in his statement that the American reneged on a commitment by its expansion committee to accept four Continental League cities and their CL personnel, two immediately and two later. The AL took in none, although Minneapolis-St. Paul, a Continental member, gets a big league club by the transfer of Calvin Griffith's Washington franchise.

Rickey said the American League's action was not expansion but "simply extension." He said if the American League can validate the reserve clause, expansion of baseball, major league-wise, becomes impossible.

Under the reserve clause, a baseball club ties up a player until he is sold, traded or released. Once signed, a player can not dicker with any other club.

New Giants' Manager Alvin Dark Is Serious And Gives Everything He's Got To Baseball, Will Be Tough

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—He's quiet and he's serious but there's only one way Alvin Dark attacks the game of baseball. He gives it everything he's got.

The announcement of Dark's selection as manager of the Giants was met with mixed emotions here.

Some fans declared Dark will be an inexpensive substitute for such as Casey Stengel or Leo Durocher—who were proposed by several sports writers and thousands of fans to succeed interim manager Tom Sheehan.

Others, recognizing Dark's aggressiveness, hustle and intelligence, predicted a successful managerial career for the 37-year-old infielder.

Owner Horace Stoneham hired Dark because he believes Dark can lead the Giants to San Francisco's first National League pennant.

As for Dark getting the job without previous managerial experience Stoneham remembers that the intense young man was the major league rookie of the year in his first full season with the Braves in 1948.

Dark, a fullback and sprinter at Louisiana State, believes in the run-run and hustle-every-second style of baseball.

He personifies the smart player—in the field, at bat and on the bases.

Dark and Eddie Stanky helped the Braves to the 1948 National League pennant and, in 1951, brought the Giants the first pennant New York's Polo Grounds had seen since 1937. He was the Giant shortstop too in 1954 when they won their first world championship since 1933.

Dark has played every position except catcher in the major leagues and he was ready to step behind the plate if needed. In short, he wants to win and he's never spared himself in the quest for victory.

Back in 1956, when Dark was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals in a nine-player deal, many observers expressed surprise. Lots of people had figured Dark was being roomed as an eventual successor to Leo Durocher.

Coach Steve Owen Takes His Stamps To Movies As Relaxation

Meet Edmonton Tonight In First Of Two-Game Total-Points Semifinals In WIFU Playoffs, Evenly Matched

EDMONTON (CP) — Calgary Stampede, on the eve of probably their most important game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union season, went to the movies Tuesday night.

This relaxing approach is possibly the reason they are in the two-game, total-points semi-final series against Edmonton Eskimos.

Normally, when the chips are on the line a coach will insist on 10 straight hours of sleep, no gallivanting and complete absorption in the game.

But coach Steve Owen of the Stampede doesn't operate that way.

"I've played a lot of football in my time," he said Tuesday night. "And I like to treat my boys the same way I would have liked to be treated when I was playing."

WINNER MEETS BOMBERS

"I've been showing them movies—of football games—ever since I joined the club, and I thought it might be a good idea for them to see another kind and relax."

The two Alberta entries in the league are battling to see who will go into a best-of-three final series against the champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The Western winner meets the East for the Grey Cup in Vancouver Saturday, Nov. 26.

About 19,000 fans are expected to take in the game here tonight. The weatherman predicts a clear sky with just a nip in the air.

The two clubs are evenly matched. They split four league games, with the Stampede outscoring Eskimos 104 to 98.

WELL MATCHED TEAMS

Other statistics of the four engagements:

Each team had a total 12 touchdowns. Each had 87 first downs, with 32 apiece passing. In rushing, Calgary had 55 first downs and Eskimos 52. Each completed 41 passes and had six interceptions.

The Stampede netted 1,003 yards rushing for a 6.4 yard average and Eskimos totalled 723 yards for a 4.6 average. Eskimos picked up a net 748 yards passing, and the Stampede went for 593. Each punted 22 times. Eskos averaging 35.9 yards and Stamp 36.4.

The second game will be played in Calgary Saturday.

Archie Moore Offers Title Match To Young Italian Giulio Rinaldi, Who Handed Him First Setback In 4 Years

ROME (AP) — The incredible Archie Moore Tuesday chuckled off his first defeat in four years and said: "Quit the ring? Man I've just begun fighting!"

The ageless Archie, crowding 44 or 50, but still recognized in most parts of the world as the light-heavyweight champion, told The Associated Press:

"I'm going back to the salt mines (that's what he calls his ranch near San Diego, Calif.) and I'm going to lock the doors, and I'm going back into training all over again."

"And when I come out," he said confidently, "I'll be a brand new fighter — young enough and in shape enough to beat any of them."

Moore was fat and slow at 190.4 pounds when he lost an unanimous decision Saturday night in a 10-round non-title fight with Italy's relatively unknown light-heavyweight champion, Giulio Rinaldi. The light heavy limit is 175 pounds. It was his first defeat since he was knocked out by Floyd Patterson in their heavyweight title fight Nov. 30, 1956.

But Archie rolled easily with the blow.

PROMISES TITLE SHOT

He promised Rinaldi a chance at the world title—maybe early next summer.

"Rinaldi's young and strong, and has plenty of courage," said Archie. "But I'm a distance fighter. He won't be able to stay with me for 15 rounds."

Moore left by plane Tuesday night for Glasgow, where he said he wants to see British Empire light heavyweight champion Chic Calderwood in action against Rolf Peters of Germany. They fight Wednesday night.

The day after the fight, Moore will fly to London for talks with promoter Jack Solomons about a possible world title go with Calderwood in Glasgow next year.

"Right after that," Moore said, "I fly back to the United States and head for the salt mines to get ready."

Meanwhile, in Rome, Moore's European representative Aldo Spoldi, was busy talking to promoters about the world title fight here which Moore promised Rinaldi.

It is not going to be easy to shape up the terms.

Moore wants about $100,000. It would be hard in Italy to raise a fight crowd which could pay that kind of money.

Ballard's Sonora Wins Open Jump In National Show

NEW YORK (CP) — Sonora, owned by Bob Ballard of Toronto, won the second competition of the open jumper event at the national horse show in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night to take the over-all lead in the class.

Riviera Wonder, who won the open jumping title in 1955, 56-57, a feat never before accomplished, was involved in a five-way tie for first place during the afternoon competition.

On the jump-off, Riviera Wonder was the only mount to go clean for the second time. Sonora was reserve. So with a first and a second, Sonora went into the lead in the class with nine points.

Riviera Wonder, under Al Fiore, lost a shoe on the fifth jump of the night session and refused on the sixth. That finished him.

Robinson And Roger Maris Win Slugging Titles

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Robinson of Cincinnati Redlegs and Roger Maris of New York Yankees won major league slugging championships in 1960, the final averages showed today.

Robinson was the first Cincinnati player to capture the National League title in 42 years.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press show that Robinson had a slugging mark of .595. He had 276 total bases in 464 times at bat. Among Robinson's 138 hits were 33 doubles, six triples and 31 home runs. The last Reds' player to finish on top in the slugging competition was Ed Roush in 1918.

Maris took the American League crown with a .581 average. The Yankee outfielder accumulated 290 total bases in 499 at bats. He had 141 hits, including 18 doubles, seven triples and 39 homers.

Mickey Mantle of the Yanks slugging champ in 1955 and 1956, finished second to Maris last season. Mantle, American League home run king with 40, slugged .559 on 294 total bases in 526 tries.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee Braves was the National League runnerup with a .566 mark. The Braves' outfielder led the majors in total bases with 334. He had 172 hits which included 20 doubles, 11 triples and 40 homers.

The averages are computed by adding total bases accumulated on all hits and dividing the aggregate by the number of official times at bat.

Ken Carpenter Resigns As Head Coach Of Roughriders To Accept Position With Denver Broncos In American

REGINA (CP) — The executive of Saskatchewan Roughriders Tuesday night accepted the resignation of head coach Ken Carpenter, recommended that R. A. Kramer take over as president of the Western Interprovincial Football Union team.

Carpenter, who signed a one-year contract last December, tendered his resignation to club President Morris Wessel. It was accepted at the general meeting of the executive, effective immediately.

The former Cleveland Browns star was a six-year rider veteran as a halfback and end. It is believed he will accept an assistant coaching position with Denver Broncos of the American Football League.

Carpenter, 34, wasn't available for comment Tuesday night. Riders officials said Carpenter gave no specific reason for the decision to resign the coaching job. Riders finished in the cellar for the second straight year.

Miron Brothers Buy Two Horses For $101,000

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Two Montreal men Tuesday dominated the top price category for standardbred racers in the second day of the 22nd annual standardbred horse sale at Harrisburg.

Adrien and Gerard Miron of Montreal paid the top price of $60,000 for King's Meadow, a two-minute performer consigned by S. A. Camp of Shafter, Calif.

The brothers paid the second top price, $41,000, for the Duke of Decatur, another major stakes winner on the trotting circuit this year. It was consigned by Meadowland Farms, Washington, Pa.

Italy's Giulio Rinaldi Is Named "Fighter Of Month" By Ring Magazine

NEW YORK (AP) — Italy's Giulio Rinaldi today was named "fighter of the month" by Ring magazine for his upset decision over light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in their non-title bout in Rome last Saturday night.

The 25-year-old Italian champion was boosted from fifth to second among the contenders in the 175-pound division in Ring's latest monthly ratings.

Scotland's Chic Caklerwood was promoted to No. 1 contender because of the inactivity of Philadelphia's Harold Johnson, who slipped to third. Germany's Erich Schoepner also was lowered for idleness—from third to fourth.

Rinaldi edged lightweight champion Joey Brown of Baton Rouge, La., for the fighter of the month laurel. Brown retained his crown by easily outpointing Cise Andrade in 15 rounds.

CHAMPIONSHIP OPEN

Alphonse Halimi of France and Eder Jofre jointly were ranked No. 1 in the bantamweight division, although the Frenchman outpointed Ireland's Freddie Gilroy for European recognition as champion.

Civilization rolls back Nigerian slums

Lagos fast becoming modern city one of the happiest in Africa

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAGOS, Nigeria CP — Brown, 18-inch-long lizards with orange heads and tails scampered around on the walls of the tin-roofed shack, peering through cracks at the persons inside.

Naked children splashed through the filth created by a backed-up open sewer. Two teen-agers slept on the broken seats of a dilapidated bus.

"Take the other side, too," a young Nigerian said angrily to the Canadian photographer taking a picture of this Lagos slum. The Nigerians are so ashamed of their slums, in fact, that they built high fences around them for their independence day ceremonies Oct. 1.

"The other side" referred to by the young Nigerian was the fine new construction along the harborfront and in various squares scattered around this island city of 365,000.

APPALLING HEAT
Though the contrast between rich and poor is marked, it is still not as glaring as that found in some Middle Eastern or Asian countries.

The people for the most are reserved and gentle. The police carry only sticks. One Briton who has lived here a long time said he would rather have his wife walk alone through Lagos at night than through London or Montreal. No drunks are seen on the streets.

To a Canadian, the heat is appalling. Even in the so-called cool season, temperature and humidity rarely drop below 80, even at night. To Nigerians, there are only two seasons—rainy and dry.

Lagos, capital of the newest Commonwealth country of some 36,000,000 people, appears a happy city despite the vast amount of work that remains to be done.

MUSIC LOVERS
Little business is done in the Violent contrast between old, new

Nigeria, an African Commonwealth country which became independent Oct. 1, is faced with a major problem of eradicating city slums. Above is a scene in a section of Lagos, the capital, where open sewers run on either side. Malaria is prevalent and few houses have electricity. Drums along roadside contain kerosene for lamps. Below, new buildings and a fountain grace this city square in central Lagos. New green and white national flags flutter on top of building at right and modern cars drive along in foreground. Lagos, a city of 365,000, spent $600,000 for Oct. 1 Independence Day decorations in the new Commonwealth country.

Russian tongue is now scientific necessity

VICTORIA (CP)—Russian has become an essential language for science students, says Professor John Wood of Victoria College's department of modern languages.

Many important scientific technical papers are Russian, and are not officially translated for perhaps three years, he said. Because of this Russian would have a "scarcity value" for the next few years until it is taught in high schools.

"The ability to read a technical paper with at least enough understanding to know what part is vitally important, and should be translated in detail, may be a decisive factor in the future of any student now at university," he said.

NOT TOO DIFFICULT

Two years study, says Prof. Wood, is enough to obtain a reading knowledge of Russian, which isn't a particularly difficult language to master.

"It has a bad reputation because of the alphabet, which is different from most European languages. But it belongs to the great family of Indo-European languages such as German and French, to which English itself is related."

A tough language would be Finnish or Hungarian, which in origin is related to the Asian group of languages.

Prof. Wood, who also is Spanish and German instructor at Victoria College, introduced a two-year Russian language course at the college two years ago. Eight students enrolled the first year, 18 the second and 48 this year. So popular has it become among science students that the college offered a three-year course this term.

Couple observes 50th anniversary

FITCH BAY — Mr. and Mrs. Wright Wilson were remembered and congratulated by about 25 friends on Oct. 29, at their home, when they observed their 50th wedding anniversary.

The couple's daughter, Mrs. Stanley Markwell and family were present, and during the afternoon and evening callers were served refreshments by Mrs. Markwell and other friends. A three-tiered wedding cake was made for the event by Mrs. L. G. Westman and iced by Mrs. Jos. Bedwell. The party was a surprise, and was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Wilson, who has been an invalid for some time now enjoys improved health.

AYER'S CLIFF — Mrs. G. M. Piercy entertained the Friendly Christmas Club at her home on School Street, when cards were played at three tables. Prizes were won by Mrs. Howard Keel-

May permit limited kill for moose

HALIFAX (CP) — Clarence Mason, Nova Scotia director of wildlife conservation, says it is likely the provincial government will allow a limited-kill moose season soon.

Mason, a big-game hunter himself, spends much of his time travelling through Nova Scotia forests. He says the big awkward-looking animals are multiplying fast in parts of the northern counties of Cumberland and Colchester.

They are causing heavy damage in some areas by feeding on young hardwoods and balsam fir trees.

They were hunted continuously in this province until about 25 years ago. Then their numbers became so depleted by over-hunting that the annual open season was discontinued.

Today, Mason says, the moose could stand some thinning out. Neighboring New Brunswick reintroduced an open season this year.

He says the season will likely be for resident hunters only with hunting restricted to certain areas. A ballot system would decide which hunters would get licences.

Red Cross Meets at High Forest

HIGH FOREST — A Red Cross meeting was held on Oct. 26, at the home of Mrs. Verne Wilson with a good attendance.

The afternoon was spent sewing and knitting, and several finished articles were turned in.

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. James McBurney.

It was decided to buy some material and make up aprons for sale and also pyjamas and nightgowns for children at the Cecil Memorial Home.

A box will be packed after the next meeting so anyone wishing to give good used clothing can bring it in. The meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Hazen Lowry, on Nov. 9.

er and Mrs. T. W. Dustin. Guests of the Club for the afternoon were, Mrs. H. S. Sanderson, Mrs. Ivan Wood, Mrs. Donald Sherman, and Mrs. T. D. Sloggett, of Chibougamau.

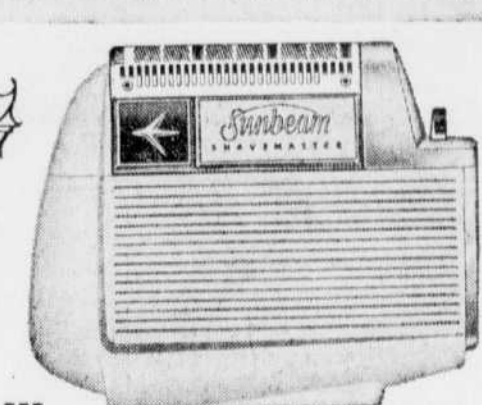

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Piercy, assisted by Mrs. Sanderson, and Mrs. L. Dezan.

Mrs. Algernon Piercy will entertain the Club in November.

Brazen bandits

get $20,000

from constable

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)
Police looked for a lead today on two men who brazenly held up a constable in the Medicine Hat police station and escaped with $20,000 in cash and $13,
000 in non-negotiable cheques.

The men, one wearing a homemade hood and the other a plastic devil mask, surprised Const. Bill Plotsky, alone in the station early Monday.

One man headed for the main office where the steel cash box containing the money was kept in a cupboard. The second waved a .38-calibre revolver at the 25-year-old constable.

"Turn around," ordered the gunman.

Const. Plotsky said he obeyed. Everything went black as he was slugged.

He was in good condition today, recovering in hospital from scalp wounds.

The money made up the weekend receipts of the co-op store here. Police chief A. R.
Bull said it was not unusual for sums of money to be left with police.

Lay Reader spends his vacation in Yukon work

BY ALICE BUCKLAND
(Record Correspondent)

WATERLOO — Russell D. Hammond of Butternut Bay, Waterloo, and Montreal, spent a month's vacation in the Yukon this summer. A Diocesan lay reader, and vice-president of the Fellowship of the West, a Montreal Anglican businessmen's missionary society, he was chosen to assist Rev. A. W. Smith, who relieved Archdeacon Haldenby of the Klondike while the Archdeacon was on furlough.

Mr. Hammond flew to Vancouver and then by C.P. Airlines to Whitehorse. From there, they motored to Dawson City, passing only five cars in 350 miles. He found the highway very good. The large gravel is hard on cars, but northern vehicles are protected with rubber undercoating.

During his stay in the Yukon, church services were conducted at Dawson City, Bear Creek, Moosehide and Granville. Congregations included local people, tourists and Indians. A successful vacation school, for 40 children and a series of morning devotions on the C.B.C. were also on the agenda.

Impressed by the friendliness of the people, Mr. Hammond found they were kindly received by the Yukon Consolidated Gold Corp., the Mounted Police, the C.B.C., Post Office officials, merchants and everyone with whom they came in contact.

Everyone talks gold, he said. Richly steeped in gold legends and traditions, Dawson City is a picturesque town at the mouth of the Klondike River. Many of the famous old landmarks and buildings of the gold rush era stand side by side with new modern structures.

Behind the town rises the Midnight Dome, a round topped mountain, accessible by a good auto road. From this dome, Mr. Hammond said, one can see a wonderful view of snow-clad Rocky Mountain ranges in the distance and a panorama of all the famous old mining creeks.

While there, Mr. Hammond saw Discovery Day celebrated with a Klondike party, where everyone wore authentic 1898 costumes. He was impressed by the beautiful, well-dressed women and children, especially as there are no shops in the Yukon. Everything is either hand-made or bought by mail order. He found the cost of living high, with soft drinks 35 cents, a small loaf of bread 35 cents, gasoline 70 cents to $1. a gallon.

RUSSELL D. HAMMOND

Permafrost is only a foot beneath the grass, he said, yet people grow tomatoes, cabbages, etc., in their short season of continuous sunlight.

While Mr. Hammond was in the North, Mrs. Hammond spent two weeks visiting in New Jersey and two weeks at the country home, Butternut Bay.

STANBRIDGE EAST —

Mr. Robert Hauver and son, Kent, of Beauharnois, spent the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Trembley.

Dr. Bruce Baker and family of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, spent the weekend here with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker and were accompanied home by Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. Ruby Cornell, who will spend some time in Montreal.

Mr. Maurice Trembley motored to Ste. Therese on Friday, Oct. 8, to attend an army course which was given over the weekend at Camp Bouchard.

Mr. Larry Westover has secured employment in the Bank of Montreal at Bedford. Mr. Westover had the misfortune to fall and fracture a bone in his wrist while decorating the hall for a dance for benefit of the Hockey Club.

A dance will be held in the Farm on Waterloo Lake. Mr. Hammond is much in demand these days, showing pictures and telling of his Yukon travels, which he sums up as a great adventure and a privilege. He hopes others will do likewise in the years to come, taking advantage of the challenge and the opportunity to serve in the North.

Memorial Hall on Friday Night, Nov. 4, for benefit of the Fire Brigade.

Mr. Leonard Stone has returned home from the B.M.P. Hospital, and is much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom H. Kyle, of Saranac Lake, N.Y., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert J. Barlow & family. While in town, Mr. and Mrs. Kyle also visited Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Philbrick and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barrett.

Dr. B. B. Brown visits scene of first ministry

TRENHOLM — Rev. Dr. R. B. Brown, of St. James United Church of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Goodfellow, also of Montreal, were visiting here, while Dr. Brown was here to preach at the 102nd Anniversary service of the Richmond and Melbourn United Church. Dr. Brown began his ministry in Trenholm United Church, 61 years ago. He and some of his old friends gathered in the afternoon in the Trenholm church for a few words of prayer together and, as he said, to give thanks for his blessings, help, and guidance over his 61 years in the ministry.

He said it pleases him to know that Trenholm Church has a candidate for the ministry in the person of Angus Goodfellow.

While here, Dr. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wintle.

WATERLOO —

MANSONVILLE —

Cowan, reported proceeds of the supper as $370.67. The next meeting will be held at the Traver Bradley Home on Nov. 9.

Mrs. Edith Kammerer has moved to Sweetsburg, where she purchased a house. She has sold her home here to Mrs. Mary Miller.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Gillanders attended the funeral of Mrs. Gillanders sister, Mrs. Kate Grant, in Montreal.

St. Paul's Anglican W.A. is holding a rummage sale on Saturday, Nov. 5, in the Parish Hall from 1:30 p.m. to 5. Afternoon tea will be served.
