World News In Brief

Jakarta, Indonesia, Nov. 4—(AP)—Indonesian troops have captured the town of Ambona, capital and defence stronghold of the rebel south Moluccan republic, the government announced today.
The capital, located on the island of Ambona where Indonesian troops made an amphibious landing Sept. 28, fell Friday at noon.

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 4—(Reuters)—T. C. Davis, head of the Canadian mission to west Germany, said today that Canada "will do what is needed" to preserve German freedom.

"What happens here is very vital to us," he told a German audience at the opening of the Canadian exhibition.

"We propose to do what is needed to see that your freedom—which is preserved with our freedom—is preserved."

London, Nov. 4—(Reuters)—Conservative Members of Parliament announced yesterday that Britain's atomic security program will get a going-over in Parliament next week. Alarmed by the recent disappearance in Europe of atomic scientist Bruno Pontecorvo, the Tories will press the Labor government for explanations of the security set-up.

London, Nov. 4—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip will visit the King and Queen of Greece in December, it was announced last night. The royal couple will go to Greece from Malta between Dec. 5 and 12. The Princess is flying to Malta to join her husband, a lieutenant-commander in the Royal Navy, Nov. 25.

Yokohama, Japan, Nov. 4—(AP)—The advance party of Canada's special brigade sailed from here tonight aboard the troop transport James O'Hara on the last stage of its journey to Korea.

The 350 Canadians, who arrived here yesterday on the O'Hara after a two-week Pacific crossing from Seattle, expect to reach Pusan, Korea, Monday morning.

Johannesburg, South Africa, Nov. 4—(AP)—Seventy-eight South African natives were injured yesterday when a direct car on which they were passengers overturned in Johannesburg. Twenty of the victims were taken to a hospital, where their conditions were described as serious.

Washington, Nov. 4—(AP)—Only 1,940,000 Americans were listed as unemployed in October—the smallest number in the last two years—and employment jumped to 61,746,000, the highest for any October in history. The census bureau, which reported the job figures yesterday, said the 401,000 fall-off in the number of unemployed resulted from draft calls and expansion in farm employment.

United Nations Expected To Lift Boycott On Spain

By STANLEY JOHNSON
New York, Nov. 4—(AP)—The United Nations was expected to revoke today its four-year ban on sending ambassadors to Franco Spain and to grant Spain the right to join organizations affiliated with the U.N., but not to join the world body itself.

Although the United States is supporting the move to lower the barriers raised against Spain in 1946, President Truman made it clear at his press conference Thursday that it would be a long time before he sends an American ambassador to Madrid.

The U.S. position is that the U.N.'s anti-Franco resolution has failed to accomplish any worthwhile aim and is just an irritation to these countries—chiefly in Latin-America—which have sentimental ties with Spain.

Assembly action on Spain ends one of the busiest weeks the U.N. ever has had.

During the week Russia suffered four of her most stinging diplomatic defeats. These were:

1. Extension of Trygve Lie's term as secretary-general for three years despite Soviet threats not to deal with him.

2. Passage of the U.S. anti-aggression plan which bypasses Russia's Security Council veto by giving the Assembly military power to combat threats to the peace.

Living Costs Index Goes Up Again

Ottawa, Nov. 4—(AP)—Living costs made their eighth advance in nine months during September, moving the cost-of-living index up 0.2 points to a peak of 170.7 from 169.8, the bureau of statistics reported yesterday.

Prices generally were higher for the consumer. A major exception was meat prices which decreased after a sharp spring and summer upward drive.

Prices increased for eggs, butter, milk, coffee, fruits, coal and coke, fall and winter clothing, footwear, tires, certain drugs and other items.

With September's advance, the bureau estimated that living costs had climbed 69.3 per cent since August, 1939. The index is calculated on the basis that 1935-39 prices equal 100.

On the wholesale front, prices during October appeared to level off. An official said this probably arose from the government's move to free the Canadian dollar and the subsequent rise in the dollar on the New York market.

However, he did not believe this leveling-off would be long maintained.

On the consumer level, the food sub-index advanced 1.3 points to 220.1 from 218.8—a gain of 15.1 points from 205.0 a year ago. Prices for eggs, butter, milk, coffee and fruits over-balanced declines in meat and fresh vegetable prices.

Rents, surveyed on a quarterly basis, remained at the peak of 135.5—higher by 11.6 points from last year's 123.9.

The weekly wholesale index for 30 industrial materials closed at 187.8 on Oct. 27, after fluctuating from 186.3 on Sept. 29. This index is calculated on the basis that 1928 prices equal 100.

Prices were higher for spruce lumber, wood pulp, steel shapes, raw rubber, rayon yarn and tin ingots, but lower for wheat, oats, steers, hogs, linseed and cottonseed oil, lead, zinc and copper.

On another wholesale index, that of Canadian farm products, prices declined to 141.5 on Oct. 27, compared with 142.2 on Sept. 27.

South River, N. S., Nov. 4—(AP)—Believed to be the first fatality in Maritime history, Alex Chisolm, 23, died in hospital in nearby Antigonish early today after falling to gain consciousness from a knee blow delivered in a fight card here last night.

Calgary, Nov. 4—(AP)—Effective Dec. 2, Saturday editions of the Calgary Albertan will be increased from five to 10 cents a copy. Increased publishing costs, mainly due to higher newspaper prices, were given as the reason for the increase.

Equivalent Of Two Chinese Divisions Reported To Be Supporting North Koreans

Allied Withdrawals Are Completed—Chinese May Have 1,000,000 Men Within Striking Distance Of Korea.
Seoul, Nov. 4—(AP)—Allied forces formed a firm line today against Chinese and Korean communist resistance—a line that stood unbroken in the face of renewed Red attacks.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman said "the equivalent of" at least two Chinese divisions are battling United Nations forces in northwest Korea.

On the Korean east coast, the U. S. Marines still were in trouble.

The victory that had seemed so simple last month had changed complexion. One high-ranking eighth army officer said the Reds probably have 300,000 troops deployed along the Korean-Manchurian border.

The spokesman said the Chinese Reds may have 1,000,000 or more troops within "committing distance," meaning they could strike from their present locations.

However, intelligence officers said there still is doubt about whether Red China has sent regular divisions into Korea.

As yet there was no "pattern or proof."

T. Lee Quimby Died Yesterday

Ayer's Cliff, Nov. 4—(AP)—T. Lee Quimby, a member of one of Stansstead County's pioneer families, died yesterday at the home of Nurse Brown after a long period of failing health. He was in his 86th year.

Mr. Quimby was widely known throughout the Eastern Townships and few persons had greater knowledge of the early days of this part of the country than he. Until his recent illness he was a regular contributor to the Stansstead Journal, in which he reported on all happenings in the county in a column, "Forest and Clearings."

One of Mr. Quimby's last public appearances was at the annual meeting of the Stansstead County Historical Society last September at which, as he had done for many years past, he read the list of names of members of pioneer families of the county who died during the previous year.

Mr. Quimby was not in good health at that time and suffered a slight heart attack following the meeting. He had been confined to his home since, but had seemed to be making some progress and his death came unexpectedly.

A widower, Mr. Quimby lived for a number of years in Boston. Funeral service will be held on Monday from the United Church at Ayer's Cliff, at 2:30 p.m., Rev. H. Boomhoffer officiating. Interment will be in the cemetery at Boynton.

Quebec Studies Television Request Made By The CBC

Quebec, Nov. 4—(AP)—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's request for authority to build a television transmitter on Mount Royal in Montreal is being studied by the provincial government.

Premier Duplessis said at his weekly press conference yesterday he had received a fresh request from the CBC for permission to go ahead with its plan for the Mount Royal television transmitter.

The site chosen by CBC engineers is the property of the city of Montreal. Since the city is administered under a provincial government charter the city cannot dispose of properties accorded it under the charter unless such right is specifically mentioned in it.

This is the reason why during the 1950 session of the Legislature the city of Montreal sought, in a private bill, the power to authorize the CBC to construct a television transmitter.

The legislature granted this power to the city of Montreal on two conditions: 1—approval by city council; 2—approval by the provincial cabinet through an order-in-council.

The city council has authorized the CBC to go ahead but the provincial cabinet has not yet approved.

Premier Duplessis said he has received "protests" over the CBC plan from private radio concerns. He said these were opposed to the creation of a CBC "television monopoly."

The Premier said his government will study the whole question.

He has indicated in the past that his government will not say yes to the plan for the Mount Royal television transmitter until the CBC allows the Quebec government to set up its own broadcasting service.

India Offers To Give Asylum To Ruler Of Tibet As Chinese Advance Continues

New Delhi, India, Nov. 4—(AP)—India has offered to give asylum to the Dalai Lama, boy ruler of Tibet, should he flee his capital of Lhasa to avoid capture by Chinese communists, officials disclosed today.

Foreign ministry officials viewed with skepticism hearsay reports from the border point of Kalimpong that the priest-ruler and his elderly regent already were fleeing from the remote capital on the roof of the world.

But they admitted puzzlement at the long silence of Dr. S. Sinha, Indian diplomatic representative in Tibet.

His last report, received October 30, still is the only reliable news received directly from the Tibetan capital so far. It said Chinese communist troops then were 200 airline miles east of Lhasa.

His report also inquired whether the 16-year-old Lama would be given refuge in India if he desired it. India's reply was that asylum would be granted any legitimate refugee.

Rumors are generated briskly at Kalimpong, on India's north border, where they are picked up from groups of Tibetan traders who arrive after a three-week trek from Lhasa with their merchandise-laden yaks—the beasts of burden in that primitive region.

Many such reports lack substantiation from other sources.

The Kalimpong correspondent for the Calcutta newspaper Statesman reported last night that the Chinese communists were within 150 miles of Tibet's capital.

The invaders were said to have reached Ngechuka, on the route from Jyekundo in the Chinese province of Tsinghai. It is considered the easiest road to Lhasa.

This would be the northern prong of a Chinese assault on Tibet. The other column is pushing into the country from China's Szechwan province, and recently was reported to have captured Chamdo.

The fall of Chamdo is said to be regarded as disastrous by Tibetans in Kalimpong because Lhasa had posted 3,000 of its best troops there.

Salon, Indo-China, Nov. 4—(AP)—French troops today began a new retreat, this time from positions in the foothills 45 miles southwest of Hanoi.

Official reports said the small French post of Vubanh and a whole string of outposts and guard towers are being evacuated in a new retreatment of defence lines around Hanoi, north Indo-China metropolis and key centre of the Red river delta.

Since September the French have been carrying out a series of retreats from frontier forts facing Red China, north of Hanoi.

The French force of 1,200 fleeing Laokay, isolated northwest frontier fort which was the latest to be abandoned in the north, reached Chapa today. That post is 20 miles southwest of Laokay.

The French troops falling back from the Vubanh region are relinquishing their last major positions southwest of the Day river. The Day river, running from northwest to southeast, traces a course about 12 miles west of Hanoi through Phuly, 35 miles south of Hanoi.

The French have a line of outposts along the river to defend the Red river delta from the south.

Compulsory Controls Are Likely

Ottawa, Nov. 4—(AP)—The possibility was seen in government quarters today that voluntary rationing of scarce materials may in time be replaced by compulsory control.

The government, through the trade department, is trying desperately to avoid such formal measures, but it now appears questionable whether voluntary measures are sufficient in view of Canada's commitments under the Canada-United States industrial mobilization pact.

One informant said that if compulsory controls on materials such as steel, nickel and aluminum, are instituted, it will be because "we are driven into it." He did not elaborate.

Under the terms of the pact signed last week, Canada agreed with the United States on the general principle of "equality of sacrifice."

This, in effect, meant that if

Australia Seeks More Immigrants

Melbourne, Nov. 4—(Reuters)—Australia—a country in effect more British than Britain herself—is looking to non-English-speaking countries for immigrants, despite her difficulty in assimilating them.

Unable to get all the immigrant she wants from Britain, she has turned to Holland, Italy, Germany and other countries to maintain the flow in future years. Australia wants 200,000 immigrants a year until 1960 to bring her population to a total of 10,000,000. At present the population is about 8,000,000.

During the last three years 137,000 non-British immigrants have been absorbed into Australian life—although not without some difficulties.

Not all the problems of absorbing large numbers of foreigners have been solved. Isolation from other world centres has given Australians an insularity which is reflected in their way of life and attitude toward new or changing conditions.

The knowledge that the needs of newcomers aggravate the housing shortage, for example, does not increase the measure of kindness which Australians might otherwise extend to alien peoples.

The government has expended much money and time and many words in the effort to promote smooth assimilation. But the process is a long one and, unless there is mutual goodwill, it can be a painful one.

Non-British immigrants naturally seek the companionship of their fellow countrymen, becoming banded together in suburbs, clubs, societies and other organizations.

There is no open hostility by Australians toward the "new Australians." But the stranger is not slow to sense lack of spontaneity in the welcome and process of assimilation.

Most authorities agree that difficulties arise from language handicap. Except in a cultural sense, Australian has no need of anything but English.

While unfriendliness is being overcome, such phrases as "Australians preferred and 'foreigners need not apply'" still appear in newspaper advertisements. Yet hundreds open their doors and some have given their daughters in marriage to new Australians.

West Is Cool To Russia's German Plan

Washington, Nov. 4—(AP)—A Russian proposal to talk over a common plan for unifying Germany appeared headed today for quick rejection by the United States, Britain and France.

A note proposing a meeting of foreign ministers from the four countries to discuss the plan was handed last night in Moscow to the French, British and U.S. ambassadors.

The communist plan, first proposed Oct. 27, at Prague, calls for

Newsprint Price Increase Being Standardized At $6

By The Canadian Press
Newsprint consumers, faced in the last three weeks with a $10-a-ton increase in price, now find that the increase will be $6, with the possible exception of the west coast.

All the Eastern Canadian companies which previously announced a price of $110 a ton, New York base, have changed their quotations to $106. The Canadian base price is changed from $106 to $102.

Canada produces more than 5,000,000 tons of newsprint yearly and companies responsible for more than half of it now have adopted the $106 tag. Other producers are expected to follow along at varying dates.

Thus an increase which might have totalled around $50,000,000 is cut down by some $20,000,000. After the first announcement of a $10 increase, made Oct. 12 by Powell River Co. Ltd., on the west coast, four eastern companies made similar announcements.

They were Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd., Great Lakes Paper Co., Ltd., St. Lawrence Corporation Ltd., and Consolidated Paper Corporation Ltd.

Then, Oct. 26, Canadian International Paper Company, the biggest producer, announced an increase of only $6.

One by one Abitibi, Great Lakes, Consolidated and St. Lawrence knocked $4 off their $10 increase to meet International's $106 a ton, and Price Brothers and Co., Ltd., and Bowater's (Newfoundland) Pulp and Paper Mills went up to this price. There has been no comment from Powell River.

Abitibi, in meeting International's price, stated its belief that its previously-announced $10 increase was in the best interests of consumers of newsprint as well as of the company.

"It is needed," said Abitibi, "to meet increasing costs and thus to encourage expansion of the supply."

R. M. Fowler, president of the Newsprint Association of Canada, replied Thursday to protests against increases from American consumers, who take more than 80 per cent of Canadian production.

He answered Charles G. Nichols of New York, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, who had written asking that there be no increase.

Mr. Fowler stated in his letter of reply that the newsprint association has nothing to do with the sale or pricing of newsprint, that being a matter for individual companies. He stated, however:

"The costs of making newsprint have increased rapidly in the last two years while Canadian newsprint prices have remained unchanged."

Meantime, 12 Canadian paper companies announced wage increases of around six cents an hour to 12,900 employees, membership of international unions, included in the companies are Abitibi and Great Lakes.

Indies Hit Jackpot
Hollywood's independent producers, who control the rights to old movies not behind the major studio iron curtain, can net about $30,000 per film on the current video circuit. The figure is based on four runs over a two-year period.

contribute to the loveliness of spring's vernal garb.
Like the autumn leaves then, let our going be one of thanksgiving to Almighty God for His long-suffering goodness. His protection, His loving kindness, and help to us in this life. Expectantly face the unknown future unafraid, assured of a sure and certain hope of a joyful resurrection. The Prayer Book, you observe, accents "joy." And why not? For we shall be with Christ, which is far better than the best this world can give us. (Phil. 1. 23).

Yield yourself to God and prepare yourself—and let God prepare you—to be ready for any work that He may assign to you in our heavenly inheritance—these were the thoughts the leaves suggested. Of course we cannot here know to what high purpose God does employ the ripened powers of our dear departed nor understand how at His behest they in the Church Expectant—the Church at rest—touch this life of ours in the Church Militant. No man liveth unto himself and no man dieth unto himself. (Romans 14:7). We are tied in the one bundle of life. Life is one here and there—continuous, eternal. And as that life is progressive we shall find a further phase of greater and higher usefulness awaiting where praise and work and rest are one with and in Christ Who holds and is the Key. Trust Him in whom alone is salvation. (Acts 4:12). Read that verse. Commit it to memory. It means the world to me.
If a November walk in the woods brings to your mind the Holy Spirit as the True Wind of Heaven and you allow that Wind to blow into your soul its regenerative, redemptive, healing power so that you are born again, that is you are drawn upward from the brute to participation in the divine nature, then it has been a rewarding walk. And if during that walk, and afterwards, you hear voices—echoes—from the Better Land across the Sea of Death where our loved ones are waiting, watching, and expecting us, hasn't it been an exciting, thrilling adventure?
Nurtured and lured by all this, our hearts assume a brave, adventurous attitude and we go forth, resolved to finish our course with joy, motivated by Faith, Hope and Love, anticipating the sunshine of the Divine smile and the heavenly warm "welcome home" our loved ones shall give us. Surely then there are germs embedded in November!

MY FAVORITE JOLSON STORY
In Miami some winters ago, Al Jolson stopped in for a quick one at the bar of the hotel where he was staying, and as if on cue the juke box began playing his recording of "Sonny Boy." When the machine clicked off, a plainish-looking woman walked up to the bartender and said, "Lend me a couple of nickels, Mac, I can't get enough of that song."

Jolson pushed a quarter down the bar. "The next five are, on me," he said.
The woman looked over and her face lit up. "Why—you're Mr. Jolson," she said.

"Sure," said Al, "and you knew it the minute I came in. What's the idea of the corny routine, sister?"

"I just had to talk to you," said the woman. "I've been sitting here all afternoon hoping you'd drop in."

"What's on your mind?" asked Al.
"My husband is in a jam," said the woman. "He's the desk clerk in this hotel and he was on duty the other night when you checked in and left an envelope full of money to be put in the safe. Yesterday he heard about a sure thing at Hialeah and took a thousand dollars out of your envelope and let it go to the horse to win. Well, the 'sure thing' came in fifth."

"Has your husband ever dipped into the safe before?" asked Jolson.
"Never," said the woman. "In fact, he never bet on a horse until yesterday—and the only reason he did it was because his son is getting out of high school next June and we've got our hearts set on sending him to college."

"And you thought that by playing 'Sonny Boy' you could soft-soap me out of a thousand bucks?" said Al. "Well, I don't soft-soap that easy. Go and get your husband—you're both coming with me."

A few minutes later the couple were in a cab with Jolson, sure it was all over but the fingerprinting, but instead of heading for a police station the hack drove out to the South Miami dog track. There Al led the husband to a pari-mutuel window and handed him five one-hundred-dollar bills.

"This makes fifteen hundred you owe me," he said. "Bet the five C's on No. 4 to win—I got a tip on him this morning."

No. 4 ran so fast it darn near caught up with the mechanical rabbit, and when the clerk cashed in his tickets he was handed $3,000—the odds had been five-to-one.

"I'll take my fifteen hundred," said Al, "and let this be a lesson to you. Never bet the horses—if you gotta bet, bet the dogs."

Last Fall, after a guest broadcast in New York, Jolson was buttonholed by a young man as he was leaving the studio.

"I don't suppose you remember," he said to Al, "but several years ago you took my folks out to the Miami dog track and helped them win fifteen hundred dollars. That money made it possible for me to go to college."

"Sure, I remember," said Al, "and when you write your mom tell her she still owes me some dough."

"I never heard about it," said the young man. "How much was it?"
"A quarter," said Jolson. "She was playing a juke box and ran out of change."

COATICOOK BRANCH NO. 26.

Here we are at the busiest time of the year for all Vets. Seems to me that, accidentally or otherwise, since I became a Vet, that Remembrance Day jumps right up next to Christmas in importance as a Holy Day. "We will not forget," and as long as there are Veterans living I don't think the public will be allowed to forget.

The executive, Poppy, and Remembrance Day committees have all been busy, and have arranged a full program for November. To start off, November the 4th, has been proclaimed "Poppy Day," in Coaticook by His Worship the Mayor, Dr. R. Laurence. Poppies will be sold all day in the streets by lovely ladies, small and otherwise.

Next Monday, Nov. 6th, is the date for our regular monthly meeting. We have arranged for a few guests, and one of the more prominent ones will hang the Past-Presidents GONG on Ronnie Charland. After a few "short" speeches and a little business the meeting will be turned into a smoker. And by the way all veterans, whether Legion members or not are invited to attend. Remember the date, Monday, November 6, 8 p.m.

Remembrance Day will be observed by a special church parade.

All denominations will assemble at the armoury at 9:00 a.m. From then on through the morning there will be a full Remembrance Day program finishing at the Cenotaph after the wreaths are laid. The service will be at the Coaticook Church of England at 9:30 a.m. The public are invited to attend. The stores will be closed during the ceremony at the Cenotaph from 10:30 till 11:30.

In the evening the Veterans supper will be at the United Church hall, 7:00 p.m., followed by the dance at the armouries for all veterans and their guests.

Sunday, Nov. 12th, there will be a Remembrance Day service at the United Church at 11:00 a.m. A wreath will be placed before the United Church Roll of Honour by members of the Legion. The public are invited and a special invitation is extended to all veterans.

At this time we are urging all veterans to come into the strong-organ. The more we are the stronger we will be, and if every veteran gets one new member we double our strength. RIGHT??

REMEMBER: IT'S ONLY A GAME

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

This seems to be hate your country. Each one seems to have been trying to take legal advantage of his opponents and then being writing to me to find out if his legal advantage is really legal.

Some of the things that canasta players have been doing to each other have made the wicked banker who forecloses the mortgage against the poor widow while a blitzard rages outside the old homestead seem like a real genial soul.

Nevertheless I am sure that these people are just as nice as anyone. It is just that they have missed the real purpose of canasta. Canasta is a game for maximum fun and enjoyment. We have penalties and rules but they are a necessary evil and should be avoided as much as possible.

A couple of letters asked me if it was all right to let an opponent pick up the discard pile illegally. Then after it was mixed with his hand to slap him with the big penalty for that action.

For instance, Your opponents need 120. The top card of the discard pile is a king. The player places a joker on the table, pauses a moment to make sure that everyone sees what he is doing and then mixes the rest of the discard pile with the remaining cards in his hand. Then, you say, "You need 120." You sure have him, but it would be more in the spirit of canasta if you warned him before he had landed in real trouble.

And there is the case of the player who closed what he thought was a natural canasta of seven queens when there were only six queens. The opponent knew that there were only six in the supposed canasta but remained silent until the end of the hand when he called attention to the error.

That one caused a lot of argument as the player with the six queens claimed that when his opponent allowed him to close the canasta with only six cards in it he accepted the meld as a canasta.

Naturally that last was not so. The canasta bonus could not be given for the meld of only six cards. However, think how much more pleasant things would have been if this player had told his opponent about the mistake when it occurred. True the opponent would have made a canasta but what is one canasta between friends?

Of course, if you should be playing for the world's canasta championship then you ought to make your opponent protect himself in the clinches and not stop him from making mistakes.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Parking Lot Becomes Toronto "Playville"

Toronto—A small lot on a shabby east-end street is the home of Toronto's first "Playville."

The front of the lot is jammed with young children on swings, slides, gym equipment, and teeter-totters. At the back, a group of older children engage in a hot game of volleyball, or basketball, or badminton or deck tennis. A few adults play horseshoes on the sides.

An experiment in co-operative recreation, Playville is designed to keep the children off the streets, and to give residents some where to go in their spare time.
The idea began in the United States, where in a number of cities, resident of poorer districts began pooling their spare space and setting up playgrounds and parks. Called yardvilles, there now are 400 such schemes in operation there.

The idea was picked up here by the Polar Foundation, a social work group, who passed it on to the Junior Board of Trade. The groups selected a small residential section surrounded by heavy east-end industrial developments. An old parking lot was chosen for the first Playville.
Now the lot is covered with games, athletic equipment and playing space. A small clubhouse will contain washrooms, cooking

19th Annual Rotary Fair Will End Here Tonight

Children's Day Will Be Held This Afternoon; Good Crowds Attend

The 19th annual Rotary Fair will come to an end tonight, with indications that this will be one of the most successful fairs on record.

Last night another large crowd turned up at the Belvidere Street Armoury for the second night of the fair and all the booths, the bingo table and the Superfine did a roaring business.

Today is children's day at the fair and there will be special concessions for the youngsters this afternoon. The Canadian Legion Pipe Band will be present and there will be clowns on hand to add to the fun.

The final session of the fair starts at 7:30 p.m. and the major prizes in the annual raffle will be drawn. The booths all have outstanding prizes still waiting to be won and Superfine still has its fine assortment of valuable goods.

Last night's Superfine winners were: J. R. P. Laliberte, Mrs. P. Gen-

Activity At The Rotary Fair

There is plenty doing at the Rotary Fair, as this general view of the Superfine shows, and for those who want some fun, want to win prizes and want to aid the Rotary Club in the fine work it is doing for crippled children, tonight is the last opportunity to attend the fair. Doors open at 7:30 p.m. at the Belvidere Street Armoury. The fair is on this afternoon, too, with special concessions and entertainment for the children. (Gerry Lemay photo)

Leadership Training School For Sunday School Teachers Planned

The second Leadership Training School for Sunday School teachers, officers and others interested in working with young people will be held in Sherbrooke during the next five weeks. The school meets one evening a week for five consecutive weeks and the students are given an opportunity to qualify for certificates of progress in Christian Education.

The school this season will deal with methods of teaching and learning. The topic to be followed will be "How to Teach Religion." There will be five lectures, discussion periods, demonstrations and open forums on materials and methods. Visiting lecturers will include secretaries from the Quebec Religion Education Council, Montreal, who will spend an evening demonstrating the "workshop idea" in teaching. Two secretaries from the Baptist Board of Christian Education will be present one evening to discuss various phases of the work. Sound films, film strips and kodachroms which are available as aids in teaching Sunday school lessons will be shown.

Reports will be given by two teachers from St. Paul's Sunday School in Magog on the World-Wide Convention on Christian Education held during the summer in Toronto.

Each evening the group will be divided according to the respective classes taught for a discussion of common problems and ways of meeting these.

At the conclusion of each evening's program a social half hour will be enjoyed.

Rev. O. L. Davidson is the Registrar and Librarian of the School and Rev. T. D. F. Everett is the Director.

Schools participating will include Sherbrooke, Lennoxville and Waterville as well as any others who may wish to attend.

The first evening will be held Monday evening, November 6th at 7:30 o'clock in Wesley Hall, Trinity Church, Court Street.

Remembrance Week Starts Tomorrow; Home, School Prime Minister Supports Poppy Fund Association Meets Monday

Remembrance week opens officially tomorrow and plans for honoring the war dead are already taking shape throughout the Eastern Townships.

Armistice dinners, services at the cenotaph, special church parades have been planned in at least a half dozen E. T. centres and there will be some sort of remembrance service in almost every hamlet.

In Sherbrooke there will be an Armistice dinner next Saturday night at the New Sherbrooke Hotel and the annual Remembrance Day service will be held at the Cenotaph on King Hill.

Advance sale of poppies has been taking place at a Poppy booth at the Rotary Fair and next week the wreaths and poppies will be placed on sale generally.

Made by disabled war veterans, the poppies are the symbol of the fallen and the proceeds from their sale are used for the benefit of the veterans of the two wars who are hospitalized.

In connection with the poppy campaign, Prime Minister St. Laurent said last night that Canadians, if they are to play their part in the fight for freedom, peace and security, must show their willingness to defend their democratic way of life.

Mr. St. Laurent spoke in an address prepared for delivery over a CBC national network.

While the peace and security for which Canadians died in two world wars "has not yet been fully assured," he said, "their sacrifices have nevertheless given the free world a greater vision of international solidarity and of mutual aid."

"Now the free nations of the world, including Canada, have been intensifying their combined strength for the primary purpose of deterring aggression and thus preventing the possible outbreak of a third world war."

"If we, as a nation, are going to play our part in this worldwide struggle on behalf of freedom and peace and security, it will be necessary for all of us to show our willingness to defend these foundations of our democratic way of life."

And, in this disciplined effort, we will be helped and encouraged as we are reminded of the unselfishness and sacrifice of those who served our country and our cause in the last two wars."

Mr. St. Laurent stressed the good work done by the poppy fund in providing employment for veterans who make the poppies themselves and in giving financial aid and other assistance to needy ex-servicemen.

Community Chest At One-Third Of Objective

The Red Feather campaign reached one-third of its objective yesterday afternoon on receiving further donations to bring the present total to $15,242.44.

This sum marks slightly over 33% of the $45,996 necessary if the drive is to be a success. The objective necessary is to cover the deficits incurred by the seven community chests organization during the last 18 months, rather than 12 months as in campaigns of other years.

St. John Ambulance Association, Salvation Army, Lennoxville Library, Sherbrooke Library, Boy Scouts Association, Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A., are the participating agencies this year.

Contributions may be mailed to: Community Chest, Canadian Bank of Commerce Building, 7 Dufferin Ave., Sherbrooke.

Serious Approach To Music Credited For Fine Artistry Of Maryla Jonas

By MARGARET DOHERTY

Madame Jonas the artist and Maryla Jonas the woman are two entirely separate personalities—both of them fascinating.

On stage the Polish pianist is a serious dignified figure whose austere demeanour is perhaps a little disconcerting. Yet, realizing the horror and suffering which have irrevocably marked her life, one understands that even in this free country which she loves, she must still, at times, have a feeling that tragedy hovers near.

This serious approach to her music is to be admired, however, for it was evident from her recital here last week that she relies on sheer artistry for her success and that when she plays she is really not of this earth.

Tall and statuesque, with the beautiful blond coloring so typical of her race—her hair is as long as she is—Madame Jonas has large expressive blue eyes and a charming, friendly manner.

Hers is a direct approach to life, and a very sane philosophy, perhaps inherited from a strong minded Polish ancestor, perhaps nurtured by the suffering and tragic experiences which have befallen her in recent years.

A pupil of the beloved Paderewski, she has absorbed much of his wisdom and realizes that life must be lived to the full and that one must learn to take the bitter with the sweet, before one can expect to bring a mature interpretation to music, or any art, for that matter.

When we remarked upon the singing tone which characterizes her playing she admitted that her fingers are only the instrument which produce from the piano the music she feels with her whole body. She literally smugs everything she plays.

Madame Jonas deplored pedantry in music and the tendency to speed which musicians seem to feel its requisite for a musical career today. "When an artist is acclaimed as a genius at nineteen or twenty," she said, "where else can he go? There is nothing left."

"You can make mistakes in notes," she continued, "and that is not important. But the expression you give a phrase, that is important. The notes? They come later!"

Certainly Maryla Jonas is a perfect example of the importance of combining musical knowledge with intelligence and a depth of feeling. Hers is a philosophy which musicians would do well to emulate.

A GOOD CROP

Farmers all across Canada have harvested a bumper crop. Few seasons have been as favorable in so many parts of the nation. Nature was kind everywhere except the prairie provinces where a September frost struck a heavy wheat stand.

Nor are prospects for selling this bountiful crop unfavorable. Heavy demand for agricultural products in the domestic market continues. Beef exports to the United States are large and profitable. Canada has retained, and is not likely to lose, its position as a major exporter of wheat. Not only are large quantities being moved to market, but prices are good and farm income continues high.

Since early in World War II Canadian farmers have been producing at high level, states C-I-L Agricultural News. Except for apples and potatoes, all produce has found a ready market. However, within the past 10 years the agricultural picture has changed. Crop acreage and numbers of livestock have been altered to suit the needs. At the end of the war production was running at a high level. To meet peacetime needs, certain changes had to be made and were made in full stride by Canadian farmers who, at the same time, produced as much as before. An example of this was Alberta's post-war change from hogs to grain.

Feed production on farms is now more versatile than ever before. Application of fertilizers to meet crop needs permits changes from one crop to another. Protection of crops and livestock with new pest control chemicals also protects farm investments—in machinery, seed and other items.

The transitional phase of farming has not ended. More changes can be expected and farmers must be prepared to meet them. To do this they will need all the tools at their disposal and suppliers must see these tools are available.

TOLL HIGHWAYS HERE TO STAY

The other day Pennsylvania dedicated a hundred-mile eastern extension of its famous turnpike which slices through the backbone of the Appalachian Highlands. By next fall, another sixty-seven-mile stretch westward beyond Pittsburgh to the Ohio line will be ready. Then a motorist can go from Philadelphia to the western border without encountering a single crossing or red light.

In November, 1951, New Jersey will have a turnpike running from New York across the state to the Delaware border below Wilmington. Ohio has one in the works, too which is planned for use by about 1955. The eastern seaboard is strung with parkways—with some notable gaps—from Maine to Washington, D.C.

Most of these roads are toll highways. They cost money to ride on. But they pay it back in the gasoline and driving time saved. And they carry a vast burden of traffic which could not possibly be accommodated with such ease on the regular traffic networks of the various states.

For a long time the Federal Bureau of Public Roads has been against toll roads as a wasteful, duplicating expense which handicaps the proper development of the national regular road system. Pennsylvania's experience with its turnpike, a profitable enterprise which permits regular highway funds to be employed fully on other roads, proves this argument fallacious.

AN ESTATE THROUGH TWO DEATHS

Twenty-three years ago, in 1927, an eccentric solicitor named Tibbits died in Sheffield, England, and to the surprise of everyone left an estate of £1,522,687. The Government even then took £500,000 in death duties, and the bulk of the remainder went to a niece, Miss Henrietta Sarah Fisher, daughter of a Sheffield cutlery manufacturer.

Miss Fisher, described by the Ottawa Journal source as a shy spinster of seventy-nine, now has died and her estate is worth £1,491,899 of which death duties have taken

£1,142,698. Most of the remainder goes now or eventually to charity.

Two deaths, two visits from the tax collector have dissipated this fortune. If a large fortune is necessarily bad, a proposition we do not for a moment entertain, modern British taxes—and Canadian taxes are not so far behind—have found the cure.

CHANGING WORLD CONDITIONS ALTER SWISS DEFENSE PLANNING

Berne, Switzerland—(NEA)—Few people realize it, but the biggest "army" in Western Europe belongs to the Swiss. It is not the strongest army, perhaps, in terms of tanks and planes. But it has 500,000 trained men and it is a factor to be reckoned with in any appraisal of the European military situation.

The Swiss have had compulsory military service for years. Not all their army is in uniform or on duty at all times. But after two years of active training and duty as a young man, every able-bodied Swiss is expected to (and he does) his three weeks of active training every year.

What's more, every Swiss male keeps his uniform, pack and army rifle at his home. If a general mobilization call went out by radio, every man would drop whatever he was doing and go to his assigned post. He would be there from within one to six hours after the emergency call, unless he was away from home on business.

Switzerland's military policy has always been armed neutrality. Armed strength has enabled Switzerland to stay out of the last two world wars. It prevented first the Kaiser, then Hitler, from trying to seize Switzerland.

But no Swiss that this correspondent talked to on a quick trip across the little republic thought that Switzerland would be able to stay out of the next war.

General acceptance of this belief has resulted in a complete change of plans. This was revealed first by the Swiss government's official suggestion of last spring, that all Swiss families should lay in a reserve supply of food.

Being thrifty, all Swiss are natural hoarders. Like squirrels, all families have a supply of food in the pantry, hay in the barns and money in the bank. But this time, the Swiss government may have had advance information that a Soviet push against western Germany was a real possibility.

When the Soviet offer to make instead in Korea, two months later, many Swiss are believed to have sighed with relief and begun to eat up some of their stockpiles.

The recent announcement by the Swiss minister of defense, calling for near-doubling of the Swiss military budget, has changed the picture again. The Swiss now see that they must have more planes, tanks and heavier weapons to repel armored attacks.

Traditional Swiss strategy has been that if attacked, the Swiss armies would fight delaying actions in the rolling country of the north, then fall back to their mountain defense lines. They believed that in the mountains they could fight off any and all aggressors.

Fighting a strictly mountain warfare, however, would mean that Switzerland would have to surrender her rich industrial areas. So now the Swiss thinking seems to be that if attacked from the north or east—from the direction of Germany or Austria—the Swiss would try to hold their whole country.

What this new turn of events may have done is to give Switzerland an entirely new importance in the military defense of western Europe. It can no longer be counted out as a neutral. But it is still not integrated into western European defense plans.

Switzerland is a participant in the Marshall Plan for the economic recovery of western Europe. It has received and it has asked for no U. S. dollar aid. It has, on the other hand, extended an estimated $500 million worth of credits to other Marshall Plan countries.

SWISS SHOW NO INTEREST IN ATLANTIC PACT

Bringing Switzerland into the North Atlantic Pact planning would prove equally salutary. Maybe the Swiss don't want that. They won't even talk about it now. The Swiss want to stay out of other people's wars. They have always believed that, as the seat of the International Red Cross, they can be more effective in preserving peace by staying out of such wars, aiding prisoners on both sides, and acting as an intermediary between belligerents.

In the last war, the Swiss gave valuable service by looking after the welfare of Allied soldiers held prisoner in Germany. With the Russians, the Swiss were less effective. In the Korean war, the International Red Cross has been able to do nothing in North Korea.

So the picture is changing, and the average well-informed Swiss knows it. There is no question which side of a coming conflict Switzerland would be on. It is the bulwark of capitalism in Europe.

The sooner the Swiss are incorporated into western European defense planning, the better it will be for the rest of Europe, and the safer it will be for the Swiss republic.

LINK WITH THE PAST

Fort Erie Times-Review
Ever since 1945, when prices climbed into the cockpit and took off, the public has had to watch one after another of the familiar symbols of pre-war living disappear. The nickel chocolate bar; the ten cent quart of milk; the under-a-thousand-dollar motor car—one by one these yielded to the pressure of mounting labor and material costs. Some, such as the chocolate bar, adopted a lean and hungry silhouette at the old price in an attempt to preserve the illusion, but without much success.

Almost alone in its resistance to inflation has been the bottle of soft drink. Here, until recently, was still a 1939 nickel's worth in a 1939 size bottle. Now, because money is needed for greatly increased defence commitments, the price has gone up to 6c, the extra cent being federal tax. And yet, if the nostalgic consumer still looks for a relic of 1939 he can remind himself that the nickel is for his drink, and the penny is for—or, rather, because of Joe Stalin.

Regrettably, it must be assumed that even this slender link which might be called par for the cost of living will one day vanish, too. It is difficult to think of a single item involved in the manufacture of soft drinks that hasn't climbed to the present 160 per cent. Quite obviously it is impossible to go on putting components at 1950 prices into a product sold at 1939 prices.

But if soft drinks, too, should go the way of chocolate bars, milk, automobiles and gasoline, the public should at least give them "E" for effort in the battle against inflation.

BOOST FOR MOUNTIES

Lethbridge Herald
A reader in Minnesota sends us a clipping from the Minneapolis Tribune of a letter to the editor written by E. Gay Cushman, of Grand Rapids, Minn., that shows the regard in which our Canadian Mounties are held across the line. Says the letter:

"Recommend Canadian Mounties, under direction of United Nations, be put in charge of cleanup of underworld in United States on non-partisan and non-political basis."
Evidently they think down Minnesota way to the Mounties get their man.

November

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

Do you think November deserves the adjectives dull, drear, sad, cold and wild which are frequently used to describe it? Be that as it may, I do know that there is something apish about this eleventh month which tries to steal the bewitching smile of May and the rare capricious loveliness of April. With Hallowe'en pranks as a prelude, November begins, ending in a burst of Scotch joy in honor of St. Andrew, the patron saint of Scotland, whose day the world honors on November 30.

Colorful figures like Louis Riel, whose execution took place on November 16, 1885, and Byrd, who discovered the South Pole on November 29, 1929, march across this month of thirty days. Americans recall on the 12th the landing of the Mayflower, in 1620, and on the last Thursday of this month, which is "Floweries, dull and drear," they pause and thinking, thank God from whom all blessings flow, Dull? Not to school boys who never fail to "remember, remember the fifth of November," and with barrels and wood set huge bonfires, imitating Guy Fawkes. Nor is the month dull to our French-Canadian friends who make St. Catherine's Day, the 25th, a day of fun sweetened with "taffy."

"AN IN-BETWEEN MONTH"
Artists, however, paint a sober picture with the accent on wailing winds and naked woods with their millions of leaves like dead soldiers strewn on the ground. Significant, isn't it, that Remembrance Day is observed on the eleventh? Misty is the November moon; the atmosphere suggests a brooding contemplative mood. The call is really to the cosy fire-place, with the accent on the love of home and the worth of books. Parties, like oyster and chicken suppers, predominate. Somehow people are endeavoring to recapture the Christmas mood. For November is an in-between month. In the distance we hear the old familiar refrain and are stimulated to be prepared.

Look again at a church calendar for this month and you will find such great souls as St. Leonard, Martin, Hugh, Cecilia, Clement, to name a few, march across its pages. But November, like March, is not my favorite month, though on November the 3rd I appeared way back in . . . . . And the "Horoscope" still insists that this month's sons and daughters have excellent will power, great poise, great skill with their hands . . . . . possessed with great tact, courteous and affable . . . . . powerful and magnetic speakers, frequently noted for wit and successful as writers, artists and ministers. . . . .

But to return to Mother Nature in November, what impresses you most as you recall a walk in the woods? Isn't it the wailing winds and the naked woods with autumn leaves strewn on the ground? So on these two I propose to muse awhile.

"WAILING WINDS"
Music writ in a minor key I discover in November's winds and accordingly find myself in a reflective mood. Should the day find rain falling, the duet of wind and rain again is complete and I must sit down and have a think. Of the Holy Spirit I am thinking. Now the word, spirit—ghost—comes from the root meaning to gush forth, to blow as the wind blows. So the Holy Spirit is the True Wind of Heaven. Where that wind blows there is life; otherwise spiritual death reigns supremely. In this sense then the Holy Spirit is the Giver of Life and whosoever knows that Wind hath eternal life in his heart for such feel not the touch of death for they live lives that are pure and holy.

One day Jesus, in talking with Nicodemus, said: Listen to the wind. Where does it come from? Where is it going? So is everyone that is born of the Spirit. That which is born of the flesh is flesh. (John 3:5-8). Marvellous, isn't it? That Jesus picked out the one element that scientists know least

DEAD LEAVES?

Listen, too, to the poet Shelley's immortal words about the west wind that "breath of Autumn's being," which drives the leaves of the past—ere they became sordid on the ground when the rain lays them low and the reign of death claims them as their own.

Dead, however, is not the word for these leaves which assume another form and begin another phase of nourishing the earth with their component parts for its renewed verdure and for the life and growth of fresh beauty in Nature. Death is not our extinction but simply a state of preparation by Nature for the next phase of our further usefulness—and to this end we must die—in dying we know that by our essence we shall

The Record Short Story

A Stop On The Highway

By LLEWELLYN HUGHES

Alec Kelvin walked up the stairs in search of "John Mendel, Business Opportunities," with the ad he had clipped from the Sunday newspaper.

A young man of 24, he had been a skilled machinist until the accident permanently impaired the full use of his left arm. The $2,500 "compensation" they had awarded him seemed very small on which to base his remaining hopes for happiness and material success.

Mr. Mendel proved to be a well-dressed, businesslike man, hair graying at his temples, extremely immersed in his affairs. Alec outlined his needs to him, then went back to the small apartment which he occupied with his pretty hazel-eyed wife.

It began to look as though "John Mendel, Business Opportunities" wasn't interested in the sort of money they had to spare; but in a few days an agent called on them with "the very proposition" they were after. Some eighty miles from the city, up in the Cascades, was a combination general store and gas station. The owner was forced to sell because of ill health which (the agent was compelled to admit truthfully) had resulted in the store being closed for some time. Yet the stock was intact, and the prosperous villagers were anxiously awaiting its reopening.

If the sale could be closed within twenty-four hours properly could be bought for two thousand dollars; otherwise the owner would sell the grocery stock back to the wholesaler and the service station to the local man who had made an offer for it.

The agent left photographs of the property, attestation of village population and good will, and surveyor's estimate of future local developments.

It seemed to be just the sort of opportunity that Alec and Janie had decided would be best suited for them. Both of them determined to dig in and plan their future accordingly.

Unfortunately in nearby Riverside Janie's mother suffered one of her heart attacks that evening; so that Janie couldn't go with her. The result was that he signed the necessary papers and committed the cardinal error of buying something he hadn't actually laid his eyes on.

Several days later husband and wife rode on the hired truck carrying their worldly possessions to their new home. And when they reached there—

"Oh, Alec!" the hazel eyes were flooded with tears. "I told you we ought to have first seen the place before we—" She couldn't go on.

It was cruel. They were gazing at a dilapidated wooden structure. Accumulated over the years dirt had thickened what remained of the broken windows. The cement about the rusted gas tank had broken to pieces. The "prosperous village" was a railroad shed and a sagging deserted two-storey building that at one time had been a hotel for the "thriving community" it consisted of a small tourist camp further up the highway and scattered farms dotting the countryside.

"Don't cry, Janie." With a gulp in his throat, he took her in his arms. "Keep up your courage, honey."

Leaving her at the tourist camp he flagged a bus and returned to Seattle where he went to the spider's web known as "John Mendel, Business Opportunities" with murder in his eye. But the building superintendent said that the tenants had moved away, having only rented the office for a month. The police also had been inquiring for them for quite some time. In fact, there was a reward for the apprehension of Mr. John Mendel. So for his precious $2,000 Alec Kelvin had nothing but a dead end to an empty

"What will happen if we can't pay it?" she asked unhappily. "They'll take the lumber away and come down on us for the work already done."

Seven passengers came into the brightly-chintzed lunch room, three staying aboard the bus. Alec took a casual glance at them through the window, then frightened his wife by immediately ducking out of sight.

It was not until the bus had long since gone that he made his reappearance, a beatific grin on his face.

"Alec Kelvin," she demanded, "you scared the life out of me! What on earth—"

"Tell you in a few moments, honey—ah! there's the phone now." He took it in the rear room, spoke a few excited words, came rushing back to the lunch counter. "They grabbed him!"

"Who?"

"Our friend, Mr. John Mendel. I saw him on the bus and phoned the cops at Emsley west of here to be on the watch for him. There is a pretty nice reward coming to us, honey, that will more than fix up that building contractor."

"She burst into tears, flung her arms about him. A Stop on the Highway, darling," she wept. "That's what we've called it. A stop on the highway to success."

never makes a mistake should trust the signal in a situation of this kind.

West knew that his partner had made a belated takeout double of two diamonds, and therefore was bound to have some sort of ace of clubs but not the king of spades. (If he had held the king of spades, he would have cashed it before leading a low spade.) Hence East surely had either the king of hearts or the ace of diamonds as the rest of his strength. In either case, a heart return by West was the best defense, while a club return was obviously terribly dangerous.

In situations where both partners make mistakes, here is a good rule to follow: Forget about your partner's mistake if you were in a position to work out the correct play in spite of the error.

LETTER FROM BRITAIN

New Town For Miners

By A. K. ASTBURY

A new town with a new name has just come into being in the north of England—the miner's town of Peterlee, in the Durham coalfield.

Peterlee, unlike most new towns, was not named after a farm, or a valley, or a village in the district, but after a man, the Durham miner, Peter Lee, who enjoys an almost legendary reputation in that part of the world.

Last year miners' wives, looking forward to the time when they could move into their new community, carried out a door-to-door survey among the neighboring mining villages, calling on every tenth household to try and discover what sort of accommodation would be needed for them all in the new town.

Planning A Health Centre The town is to be a compact one the whole of it planned by a really modern architect, with every house within walking distance of the town centre, where there will be a health centre and technical college in addition to the usual civic buildings, cinemas, station, and so on.

At least one Member of Parliament, the Conservative member for Bury and Radcliffe, Mr. Walter Fletcher, has had his pictures hung in the Royal Academy. Other artists whose names have been mentioned as possible exhibitors in the House of Commons Members Art Gallery are Dr. S. W. Jeger, Labour Member for London Borough, and Sir Stafford Cripps (although he has already indicated in a letter to the promoter that he is "only a beginner").

Stanbridge, Nov. 4.—The Young People of the Stanbridge Progressive Club met Wednesday evening in the Town Hall. The president, Gerald Corey, opened the session with all the members repeating the Lord's Prayer.

It should not be long before we shall know how many moose were legally killed in Quebec this year. Wardens who issue the transport and the season closed on Tuesday. This will be the first time in history that the provincial authorities will have even an approximately accurate idea as to how many moose have been taken in a season by legal hunters.

Water in the streams up there is generally low and the Camashigama River leading down to Lac Bouchette is almost impassable for long stretches. This makes the going pretty slow and tedious especially with a few hundred pounds of moose meat to portage, in addition to other dunnage and equipment.

Game Warden Gordon Cook of Arundel is looking for a guy and I hope he finds him. The bird in question shot a young cow moose about 3 miles out of Morin Heights last Sunday. The shooting was heard by other hunters in the vicinity and they found the dead cow moose when they moved in the direction of the shots to see what was happening.

These hunters reported the matter to the Chief of police of Morin Heights who conveyed the information to Warden Cook and sent some one out to gut the animal so the meat would not spoil. Warden Cook spent all of Sunday night in the bush watching the carcass in the hope that whoever shot the moose might come for it.

Some people talk about moose retreating from civilization. This is a theory that I have never been able to entertain. I have seen moose nonchalantly feeding within 50 yards of a bulldozer cage in operation.

SPORT SHORTS FROM BRITAIN

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON London, Nov. 3.—A couple of aggressive young fighters with the armament and know-how of crowd-pleasing champions, have flashed into Britain's fistie limelight. They have aroused hopes that the long, lean years in the drive for international laurels are nearing an end.

The lads are Don Cokell, who recently fought his way to the British light-heavyweight title, left vacant by the retirement of Freddie Mills, and Dusky Randolph Turpin, the new middleweight champion.

Both are only 22 years old, but already can lay claim to an imposing record of victories. Turpin, crafty ring-general and two-fist mauler, has won 30 of his 33 fights, 22 of them via the knock out route.

In his climb, Cokell, former bantamweight blacksmith, also has set a withering pace. But it was his recent 14-round triumph over the rugged Mark Hart, of Croydon, in the title test, that won him the plaudits of the fight fans.

They cheered not only the convincing way he disposed of his tough opponent, but his gallant victory over a personal handicap. For only three weeks before the fight Don was in hospital, a victim of arthritis which caused his fingers to swell to twice their normal size.

"I wanted to cancel the fight," said his manager, John Simpson. "But Don wouldn't hear of it. His mental concentration and resolve are so strong that he left his bed and began training for his title contest. You know the rest."

Cokell is expected to make an appearance in defence of his crown at Earls Court Arena Nov. 14. His opponent is almost certain to be a continental contender. Later Cokell will seek a crack at the European light-heavyweight title.

Meanwhile, promoter Jack Solomon has lost no time lining up another title-go for "Thunderbolt" Turpin. He hopes to match him against the Frenchman, Robert Villemain for a London bout in December for the vacant European middleweight title.

Announcement of this deal brought a squawk from Albert Finch, K.O'd by Turpin in the fifth round of their recent championship fight. He had been clamoring for an overnight return match with his conqueror.

That's what Finch did after winning the title from Randolph's elder brother, Dick, last April. But Finch will have to wait. Solomon believes he has landed a fighter who seems to be going places in a hurry. If the newly-crowned champ hurdles the Villemain test, he will be groomed for a shot at Ray Robinson's world title next year.

Four Top Games Are On U.S. Books Today

By GAYLE TALBOT New York, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A football fan with the desire and the means to attend today's top college game in the United States could draw straws among Austin, Tex., Seattle, Wash., and Ann Arbor, Mich., and Philadelphia and not go far wrong wherever he landed.

Which adds further proof that this season no one section of the country can claim with any authority a preponderance of gridiron strength.

There is no single standout such as Notre Dame established itself in recent seasons, and the ponderous teams of the midwest conference feel themselves being knocked off by inter-sectional opponents.

The Southern Methodist-Texas game at Austin generally is listed as today's biggest attraction. It brings together the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll—S.M.U.—and the No. 7.

But eastern fans feel that the clash at Philadelphia between unbeaten Army, No. 2 nationally, and once-beaten Pennsylvania is of equal calibre.

West coast fanatics doubtless are equally convinced that the struggle at Seattle between California's Golden Bears, undefeated in 30 straight regular season games, and Washington Huskies, licked only by Illinois this campaign, is the week's gift to football.

Midwest partisans are keyed up over a game at Michigan Stadium at Ann Arbor between the Wolverines and Illinois and its brilliant Johnny Karris.

The winner at Austin almost certainly will be the host team in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, while the Seattle victor will be favored to win through to the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Illinois, if Rose-better Michigan, is a good bet to represent the big nine in the Coast classic. Army and Penn are not Row conscious.

The Midwest's second biggest attraction will find Notre Dame and Navy scrapping it out in the battle of the also-rans.

creation of an all-German constitutional council to set up a single government for the entire country. It also would ban German rearmament and require withdrawal of occupation troops.

American officials termed the new Russian invitation "a propaganda stunt" aimed at scuttling western plans to rearm western Germany as a barrier against communism.

They confidently predicted London and Paris would give it a similar cool reception. Western leaders already had denounced the plan as a Moscow-inspired effort to sow confusion in Germany and France.

One of its main points was a proposal that the United States, Britain, France and Russia pledge "they will not allow remilitarization of Germany and her being dragged into any aggressive plans."

Two Persons Injured When Cars Collide

Two persons were injured in an accident which occurred on King Street last evening.

A car, driven by Lionel Raymond, 37, collided with another auto near the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Spackman, on King Street. Mrs. Spackman, a passenger in the other car, was injured and taken to Sherbrooke Hospital. X-ray reports were not available at press time.

Mr. Raymond is in Hotel Dieu and is suffering from an injured stomach and lacerations to the head.

48 Motorists Fined in City

A record was established in Recorder's Court this morning. No fewer than 45 local motorists paid fines of $2 each for violation of municipal traffic by-laws.

Two persons paid $18.70 for speeding and another paid $28.70 for speeding. Municipal police are currently checking up closely on motorists for violation of municipal traffic by-laws and speeding and have made several arrests to date. Yesterday's 45 violations were all-time high however.

one country underwent certain civilian restrictions on production to speed defence programs, the same or similar restrictions should apply in the other country.

To conserve scarce items, the United States has banned amusement construction and probably will order, on Dec. 1, a percentage cutback in civilian allocation of such materials as steel, nickel and copper.

Canada so far has made no similar commitments except to order the steel and nickel industries to institute voluntary rationing so that defence orders get top priority.

But now Canada finds herself so short of sheet steel that the industry cannot fill all commitments. Belief in government quarters is that a ban on amusement construction would not relieve scarcities, because of its relatively small scale compared to this business in the U. S.

Now the government is in the process of asking the United States to increase the flow of steel to Canada. Normally Canada obtains about 1,000,000 tons of steel from the U. S. annually. This year, because of the shortage, imports may not total more than 800,000.

A French military spokesman said the garrison which abandoned Laokay Wednesday and Thursday had to fight at one point on the retreat. Ho Chi Minh's communist-led Vietminh bands attacked the rearguard at Camduong, eight miles south of Laokay.

Laokay was the seventh port on the Red China frontier abandoned by the French in the last seven weeks. Their frontier defence now has been shrunk to a 100-mile line anchored at Monney on the gulf of Tonkin.

The Vietminh now can attempt an assault on Hanoi from either the north or south.

this country's training and war production facilities, including the Canadian plant.

Mr. Postema-Andree, in a later press conference, expressed his country's gratitude for Canada's gift of equipment for a Dutch army division. He reiterated Mr. Shinwell's acceptance of the principle of German rearmament as long as it is welded into the common plan for western defence in Europe.

DEATHS

O'DELL.—Entered into rest at Crosby, Ont., Friday, November 3rd, 1950, Raymond Albert Odell, husband of Gladys Smith and father of Hilda and Eulah and eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Odell, of Eustis, Que. Remains arriving on C.N.R. noon train, Monday, November 6th, thence to St. George's Church, Lennoxville, for service at 2 p.m. Interment in Malvern Cemetery, Lennoxville.

QUIMBY.—Entered into rest at the home of Nurse Brown, Ayer's Cliff, Que., on November 3rd, 1950, T. Lee Quimby, in his 88th year. Resting at the above address until Monday, November 6th. Service at the United Church at 2:30 p.m. Interment at Holyton Cemetery. Rev. H. Boomhour officiating.

IN MEMORIAM

BLAMPIN.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Bert R. Blampin, who passed away on November 24th, 1945. MABEL BLAMPIN, Wife. GRATA PERKINS, Daughter.

CRACK.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Jessie Florence Miller, who passed away November 5th, 1950. The years are quickly passing. Think of us and we'll be there. For in the hearts that love you, Your memory lingers yet. Ever remembered by JIMMIE AND ANNIE.

McINTYRE.—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Harvey McIntyre, who passed away November 4th, 1950. Each year the leaves will grow. And the robins will return. For every sunset dead and gone, A thousand more will burn. The spring returns, the roses bloom. We hear you call our name. But you are gone and nothing Dear can ever be the same. Always remembered by her daughters, DORIS, MURIEL AND EUNICE.

HEINDL-ZEIDEL CASE STILL BREWING

"Saskatoon Quakers will keep Larry Zeidel and Bill Heindel and the Quebec Aces and Sherbrooke Saints are out of luck," says Doug Grimston, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, in an interview published in this week's Hockey News.

Mr. Grimston claims that it is not his decision but one of the registration committee of the C.A.H.A., and as far as he is concerned it will stand. After reading his story on the matter it would seem to me, regardless of what Saskatoon has to say about the matter, that the Quakers broke a rule of the Association, which was laid down by Mr. Grimston himself, and they should be made to live up to the rules of the body or else call the whole thing off.

Norman Couch, manager of the Quakers, claims that when the two players would be forced to withdraw from the Western Senior Hockey League as they would have only eleven players. Can you imagine a senior club with only thirteen players trying to complete a season in senior ranks? It looks and sounds foolish to me. Every other club in the country has a lineup of sixteen or better, and I don't think the Quakers are any different from the rest. But that was the alibi they gave to Mr. Grimston, and he accepted it.

As for the stories told to our confere, Cam McKenzie, of Saskatoon, by the two players regarding their move to the West there seems to be a little misunderstanding somewhere. I am referring to Bill Heindel's side of the story. As for Larry Zeidel, I know nothing about his case.

In first place Bill states that when he left Sherbrooke, in May, it was understood then if he was going to settle in the West he would have no trouble in securing his release. Now I know that nobody, connected with the team, ever made such a statement, in fact both Mr. Keene and Ivan Dugre never knew he had left town until he had gone. So that saying just does not make sense.

Bill further states that when Sherbrooke heard he was going to play in Saskatoon they asked a fantastic price for him. This again is not the truth, in fact at the annual meeting of the C.A.H.A. Mr. Keene told representatives of the Western Senior league that Heindel was coming back and that there was no question of a release. So gentlemen that is the inside angle on that one.

Heindel claims he wrote the president of the local team in July—Please note the month, it was exactly a month after the C.A.H.A. meeting—asking for his release and that he never received a reply. The president of the club is Dr. A. N. Dupuis and he never received a demand from Heindel at any time.

So this does not make sense because if it was understood, as Bill Heindel claims when he left here, that he would obtain his release without any trouble, why the club is Dr. A. N. Dupuis and he never received a demand from Heindel at any time.

As for what the players are saying now, or any time, it does not make any difference to

Ping Pong Matches To End Tomorrow

The windup of the city ping pong tournament is set for Sunday afternoon. Under circumstances having forced cancellation of matches scheduled for last night, Roger Roy and Guy Choquette will meet at 2 p.m. in a semi-final match and all other players who are still in the tournament are asked to be present on Sunday afternoon so that matches can be completed.

Walcott Is Anxious To Fight Charles

Atlantic City, N.J., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles yesterday was offered a $100,000 guarantee to meet Jersey Joe Walcott in a title bout here next Feb. 22.

Felix Boehm, Walcott's manager, made the offer and said Walcott would take a percentage of the receipts for another crack at Charles.

The champion won a decision over Walcott June 22, 1949, at Chicago.

Walcott is listed by the N.B.A. as the leading contender for the championship.

The point on which I base my decision was the statement made by Mr. Grimston at the annual meeting of the C.A.H.A. and I quote, "No player will be allowed to transfer from one branch to another without first obtaining his release from that branch." And this point was brought out very clearly and now he goes back on his word. This looks bad when the head of a group can't be counted on, to stick by his word.

The C.A.H.A. has threatened to drop out of the C.A.H.A. and if they do, the senior body will stand to lose $70,000, and that boys is a lot of money. Mr. Grimston says if this does happen they will have to re-organize hockey in the province. Let me say this, if that should happen Mr. Grimston and his C.A.H.A. would have about as much a chance to re-organizing hockey in this province as I would have of becoming the Prime Minister of Canada. I wonder who he thinks he is kidding.

Every branch of the C.A.H.A. throughout Canada has been for years looking for an opportunity of breaking away from the main body and if this should ever come through I think more than one branch may drop away. I think after this matter has been straightened away it would be the opportune time to do so.

I wonder what Mr. Grimston will do next fall if the same thing will present itself, and if this is decision stands as such you may rest assured there will be plenty more next year. So gentlemen let's have a decision but make it according to the rules of the organization and not just to help a team remain in a league. It looks like a funny thing when the president of such a powerful group is controlled by a loop, especially when it is in his own section of the country. It looks bad for the rest of the country.

The whole affair looks like two players defying the C.A.H.A. and their past clubs, for their own personal reasons. In the case of Bill Heindel I don't think a hockey player was ever treated better than he was when he was here but this looks like a funny way to repay the fans and club executive for their goodness. But such is life.

Sherbrooke High School are to be hosts to Stansted College this afternoon at 2:30 in the only seniors football game on tap this weekend in the city. S.H.S. juniors meet St. Pat's juniors in the morning.

These should be real contests as the schools will be fighting to emerge the winner and the fans should witness fair games.

The Saints have a lay off until next Wednesday when they travel back to Valleyfield to tangle with the Braves once again and then on Thursday they will receive Chicoutimi on the home ice for the first time this season.

In Valleyfield the locals were without Normie McAtee, who was injured when hit on the foot by a shot, and then Bernie Vinet pulled a muscle in his thigh right at the start of the game and was lost for the balance of the tilt. Despite this the Saints put on a fine show and almost copped the affair.

Bobby Fillion, the much-and-often discussed player during recent weeks, has at last obtained his amateur card and should be back with his new mates in the very near future. His addition will be a great help to Dugre's outfit and should improve the forward wall to a great extent. Where he will play hasn't been decided as yet but no doubt he will be used to good advantage.

Fern Gauthier, the smooth-skating right winger, has moved to town for keeps and his wife and family are here now. He has obtained a job with Dawson Auto Parts and is in charge of the sports department so it looks like another new citizen for Sherbrooke.

Windsor Mills has joined the ranks of intermediate hockey once again and will no doubt give a good account of themselves in the upper ranks.

George Gullbault, who handed the junior team for the past two seasons, will be looking after things and will have the nucleus of his kids to build around and should have a pretty team.

With Windsor Mills in it will make a five-team circuit as East Angus, Waterloo, Magog and Sherbrooke are the other clubs in Eugene Lalonde's new circuit.

Playoffs In Two Other Unions Start As Season Enters Closing Stages; McGill-U. Of T. Clash In Montreal

Edmonton Eskimos and Sarnia Imperials are cast in underdog roles in playoffs starting this week-end to determine the western conference and Ontario Rugby Football Union champions.

The Eskimos tangle with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a best-of-three-game series which will send the winner into the Grey Cup final at Toronto.

The Imperials open a two-game, total-point series against Toronto Balm Beach for the O.R.F.U. crown but the victor still has to meet the Big Four champion to settle who will be the east's standard-bearer.

The Big Four ends its regular schedule today with a possibility that there still will be doubt as to which club meets Toronto Argonauts in a two-game, total-point playoff.

Argos can settle the problem by defeating Montreal Alouettes in their game at Toronto. That would eliminate the Als, no matter what the outcome of the game in Ottawa between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and the Rouge Riders.

The Tiger-Cats, in second place ahead of Alouettes by two points, also can put them out of the running by winning against the Riders. However, the combination of a Montreal win and a defeat for Hamilton, can create a deadlock for second place and force a sudden-death playoff for the right to meet Argos.

In the intercollegiate league, the unbeaten McGill Redmen take on University of Toronto Blues in Montreal and the second-place University of Western Ontario Mustangs travel to Kingston to battle with Queen's University Golden Gaels. Queen's and Toronto are tied for third place.

In the western playoffs, Edmonton came out on top in a verbal battle over whether the first game there should be a night or a day contest. The Eskimos wanted a Saturday night game and the league executive voted in favor of them in a telegraph poll.

This vote was taken after a telephone poll Tuesday had Winnipeg getting what it wanted—a day game. The decision was reversed when the Eskimos insisted that the executive vote by telegraph.

The bombers are reported hoping mad over the matter and determined to "knock the day-lights" out of the Eskimos on the field. But coach Annis Stukus of the Eskies says "we're going to win that football game Saturday—maybe not easily, but we're going to win."

The Eskimos are in tip-top shape with halfback Don Simon, sidelined for five games with knee injuries, ready to start. Backfielder Frank Hickey also is reported fully recovered from an ankle injury suffered in the last game of the regular schedule.

In Sarnia's game against the Beaches Sunday in Toronto, 45 per cent of the gate receipts are slated for the Jack Bell memorial fund. Bell, quarterback for the Bombers, was fatally injured a few weeks ago in a game between the two same clubs. The funds was set up to look after his widowed mother.

Both Edmonton and Sarnia wound up their regular schedules after not being too successful against the clubs they're meeting in the playoffs. The Eskimos scored only one victory in four games over the bombers; the Imperials had the same against the Beaches.

Ottawa Coach Has No Plans For Next Year

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Coach Wally Masters of Ottawa's last-place Rough Riders of the Big Four Football League said he doesn't know his plans for next year.

He was non-committal about a report that he didn't expect to be around with the Riders for another season.

"We've got a losing team," he said, "and when you have a losing team, usually the coach is it. But the club executive hasn't said anything to me about it."

Masters, who coached Riders to the Grey Cup final two years ago, said his main concern now is to wind up the current season.

Argentina Wins Basketball Title

Buenos Aires, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Argentina last night defeated the United States 64-50 to win the world amateur basketball championship before a crowd of 25,000, the largest ever to jam into Luna Park Stadium.

A shouting, jubilant crowd paraded through downtown Buenos Aires in the biggest victory celebration seen here in the memory of sports fans.

Argentina is assured of keeping the title until 1954, when the next world championship will be played at Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Rangers And Toronto, Canadiens And Boston Will Clash In N. H. L.

By The Canadian Press
New York Rangers gave up on Al Rollins several seasons back when he contracted rheumatic fever.

But Rollins will have his chance to rub tonight when he guards the nets for Toronto Maple Leafs and faces the Rangers in one of the two Saturday night National Hockey League games.

In the other game, Boston Bruins visit Montreal in search of their first win of the year. They've dropped five. Canadiens, however, are none too happy about losing two straight to the league-leading Leafs, and promise to be somewhat inhospitable.

Rollins will be doing his third relief chore of the season for Turk Broda. In his other games, Leafs beat Chicago 5-3 and Boston 4-2.

Leafs, who dropped their home opener to Chicago but now have gone nine games without a loss, worked on shooting drills yesterday on their return from Montreal.

Rangers staged a rough-and-tumble workout preparing for the game. They have only one win and four ties in nine starts.

But coach Neil Colville told Toronto reporters that his team "will be all right."

"We haven't reached our full stride," he said. "We've been using four lines and some of the boys haven't had enough work to get them in top condition."

Montreal fans still are talking about the way rookie goalie Jerry McNeil kicked out puck after puck against Leafs Thursday. Leafs outshot Canadiens 35-20 in the game which they won 2-1.

McNeil stopped the score from going higher. In the second period alone he beat Max Bentley on three good chances.

Boston moves on to Detroit for a Sunday game after the Montreal meeting. Rangers travel to Chicago for the only other Sunday clash.

Codere's Will Bring Emile Allais Here On Nov. 7; Ski Expert To Show Films Taken This Summer In Chile

Emile Allais, internationally known and former ski champion of the world, will be in Sherbrooke on Tuesday, November 7. He will give an illustrated address on skiing in the Sacred Heart School at the corner of Ball and Gillespie Streets at 8 p.m.

Codere's Limited are bringing the ski maestro to Sherbrooke and he will be in their Wellington Street Store to meet the local skiers on Tuesday.

Codere's will carry a complete line of his skis and accessories this season and have brought him here to give local skiers advice on the selection of equipment.

Colored films, taken in Portillo, Chile, this summer will be shown and Allais himself will be seen in action.

This ski film according to advance reports are outstanding and it is hoped that ski fans in the district will not miss this golden opportunity.

For further information regarding Mr. Allais' trip to Sherbrooke see Gilles Begin, in the Sports Department at Codere's.

Robinson Has Lost In Adventure; Dodgers' Base-Stealing Exploits Fade; Bums Were Over-Managed

New York—(NEA)—In the last two years, recurrent reports had Branch Rickey ready to sell Jackie Robinson to the Braves.

The man who sold his interest in the Dodgers denies these stories now, as before.

"Robinson still is a great ball player," says Rickey. "He is one of our great hitters, and still versatile in the field."

"I will admit, however, that he is not the player he used to be. He has lost in adventure."

The Brooklyn second baseman's 1950 record reveals an average of .328, with 31 runs driven in and 14 home runs. So far, so good.

But "stolen bases, 12," tips what the Deacon means when he says something about loss in adventure.

Robinson stole 37 bases last season, batted .342. Of course, there were 1950 injuries to be taken into account. A bad leg, for one. But Jackie definitely "lost in adventure" in a year. He will be 32 in January.

Robinson's base-stealing exploits faded into comparatively nothing in 1950. Sam Jethroe outdid him by a mean 23, with 35. Pee Wee Reese swiped 16.

"Robinson has the managerial mind," says Rickey.

This remark is right down the alley on Barney Shotton's detractors, who insist he allowed Jackie to have too much to say about running the team.

On the other hand, I hear from other anti-Shotton forces that it was Reese who really directed the Dodgers.

Maybe they were over-managed. Leaving the Brooklyn club, Rickey takes pain to clear up a matter having to do with his record as a player.

"The book says that on June 28, 1907, at the Hilltop grounds of the Yankees at Broadway and 166th Street, 13 bases were stolen against catcher Rickey of the New York club in a nine-inning game," explains the Deacon. "The larcenous runners were Senators."

"Forty-three years have passed. How many bases were stolen against Catch Rickey hardly is important now. Yet, I must explain. "Early in the season I got a sore arm. Clark Griffith, then managing the Highlanders, sent me to Hot Springs. The stay there did me little good."

"On my return, I was shunted around everywhere. The club finished second in 1906, but ran into

Formal Future

THE SQUIRREL is often used as a symbol for Fall because he anticipates his Winter requirements and gets everything ready in advance. Human needs are greater than those of the squirrel and we therefore have more to think about every Fall. Most married men who have spent the past few weeks being constantly reminded about double windows, weatherstripping, furnace repairs, etc., will know what we mean. With all the emphasis placed on such trivial details we often overlook some of the more important things, and so we at Rosenbloom's are here to remind you that this is the time to get your wardrobe ready for the big formal parties you'll be attending during the Winter. This is particularly true if you prefer clothes made to your measure.

IT SEEMS STRANGE to us that our most formal masculine garb, the Full Dress Suit, was developed over the years from a riding habit. We're told that it often happens that the sport garments of one era become the accepted formal styles of the next. (Hang on to that old ski suit, maybe your grandson will be able to use it for parties!) However formal clothes must follow a rigid code of correctness which makes it essential for you to buy your full dress suit or dinner jacket from a reliable store which makes a study of authentic formal style. We at Rosenbloom's, with over a half century of experience, are ready to help you with your masculine apparel where correctness counts.

Living With Family

Couple In Parents' Home Should Behave As Guests

DEAR MISS DIX: I agree with all you say about it being the duty of parents when they go to live with their children to adjust themselves to their children's way of living, but what about the children adjusting themselves to their parents' way of living when they come back to live with the old people, bringing their families with them?

Because of the housing shortage we had to take in our children and their families. We were glad to do this, but we have felt that they might at least have made the return of trying to make things as easy for us as they could. This they have not done. We are in the habit of going to bed early, but they come in at all hours of the night and disturb our rest, and if they happen to stay at home they turn on the radio and play it until they run us crazy. They bring their company in without even asking whether it is convenient or not. They tell us what to do and what not to do, criticize the housekeeping and the food and our old-fashioned ways and we are tired of it. No one has the right to come into another's home and upset the peace and quiet and comfort of it, and this rule should work for young people as well as old.

A FINE ART

Answer: And I don't blame you. It is hard for young people to stand having their routine of life disturbed, but it is sheer torture for the old. The young have many sources of outside distraction and amusement, but all the pleasures of life are encompassed in their homes for the old. Our old houses, our old furniture, our accustomed ways of doing things, our peace and quiet make up the sum of our happiness, and we cannot bear it when vandals come in and wreck our quiet with noise and tumult and tear up all of our habits by their roots.

The art of living in other people's houses is the finest art in the world and the one that is least practiced. Perhaps the reason for this is that few people possess enough sense of justice to accord every man and woman the right to run their own houses in their own way or enough intuition to perceive when they are making nuisances of themselves or enough tact and adaptability to adopt the customs of the home in which they are staying.

And this goes for people's children as well as for strangers. For the curious thing about children is that they never realize that their parents have any right to their money or to spend their declining years in peace and quiet and the pursuit of happiness in their own way. Still less do they realize that when once they have gone from the home nest it is no longer their home. They come back as guests and should demean themselves as guests.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a young man who is devoted to me, but I am of the hustler type. He belongs to the easy-going, what's-the-use school of thought and I fear that if we marry we will be miserable. I think that if a boy really cares for a girl he will try to his utmost to make something of himself and to make her a comfortable living. His argument is that if I love him I won't care for anything else and we will live happily ever afterward, whether we have anything to live on or not. Am I narrow-minded, or am I right?

Answer: You are absolutely right. No two people of as different temperaments as you and your fiance should ever marry. Compatibility is the very bedrock of marital happiness.

Two people who have the same tastes and habits and points of view who have the same ambitions and aspirations, and who like to do the same things can make a go of marriage under any circumstances. They can be happy working or playing, wasting their money or saving it, climbing up the ladder of success together or sitting contentedly at the bottom, but if one wants to stay put and the other wants to go places, they are bound to quarrel because their desires clash at every turn.

DEAR MISS DIX: Should a boy of 16, who is a fair driver and who can be trusted with a car, be allowed to use it? Is it better for such a boy to take a girl to a dance in the family car or in a taxi?

Answer: I think such a boy should be allowed to use the family car in reason to take his dates about, but not to monopolize it. I have seen so many fathers and mothers walking while Johnny was off joyriding with the Smith girl. Better let the boy take his girl to the party in a taxi. He won't be tempted to park if the meter is going round and round.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

MRS. WILLIAM JOSEPH BUZZELL, the former Miss Claude Cason Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Burns, of Macon, Ga., whose marriage to Mr. William Joseph Buzzell, son of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Reginald William Buzzell, of Bennington, Vt., took place at the home of the bride's parents, Oak Cliff Road, Macon, Ga., on October 22.

MARRIAGES

BUZZELL—BURNS
Macon, Ga., Nov. 4. — Miss Claude Cason Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Burns, became the bride of William Joseph Buzzell in a ceremony held at five o'clock Sunday afternoon, October 22, at the home of the bride's parents on Oak Road, Macon, Ga. Dr. Albert Grady Harris, pastor of the first Presbyterian Church, officiated. Joseph Maerz, pianist played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Sloan Gavin, soloist. Members of the two families and a few close friends were present for the ceremony.

The altar at one end of the living room was banked with Oregon fern. Candles burned in brass candelabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and her sister, Miss Louie Burns, was her only attendant.

The groom, son of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Reginald William Buzzell, of Bennington, Vermont and grandson of Mr. Joseph Start, of Macon, Ga., had his brother, David Buzzell, as his best man.

The bride's wedding gown of ivory satin was fashioned with a tightly fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves. The mandarin collar and front panel of Brussels, Belgium, princess lace extended to the hem where the full gored skirt had a chapel train. Her fingertip English illusion veil was held in place by a Juliet cap of satin and lace. She carried a nosegay of fleurs d'amour.

The maid of honor wore a moss green satin floor-length dress styled with a short jacket and circular mandarin neckline and carried a skirt featuring a side drape. She carried a semi-cascade of red roses on a background of croton leaves.

Mrs. Burns wore off her daughter's wedding a dress of pink tulle with a white organdy corsage.

Mrs. Buzzell, mother of the groom, wore an aqua tissue crepe dress with a front drape and neckline outlined with beadwork. She wore a white organdy corsage.

At the reception following the ceremony, the bride's table covered with an imported Madeira linen cloth, held a tiered wedding cake embellished with roses and lilies of the valley. The cake was on a mound of white gladioli. An antique fruit bowl held an arrangement of white pom pom chrysanthemums, white roses and tuberoses. Lighted white tapers were in silver candlesticks.

Mrs. Robert Lanier Anderson cut the cake after the bride cut the first slice. Miss Elizabeth Buzzell, sister of the groom, kept the bride's book. Miss Suzella Burns of Knoxville, Tenn. and Miss Sally Forester, of Thomasville, cousins of the bride, served punch.

Assisting in serving were the Misses Harriet Adams, Blanche Mallory, Suzanna Barnes, Betty Bryan, Viola Plant, Donna Lloyd, of Cleveland, Ohio; Barbara Baum of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Terrell Weaver, Jr., and Mrs. James Mayfield.

For a wedding trip, the bride traveled in a two-piece dress of North Atlantic blue wool featuring a tangerine belt. Her corsage was an orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Coyle Of Lorne Were Guests Of Honor At A Surprise Party On Their 20th Wedding Anniversary

Lorne, Nov. 4. — A surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Roland Coyle one evening, in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary. The party, which was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Coyle, was planned by Mr. Coyle's sister, Mrs. Andrew LeRoux, and included forty invited guests, mostly relatives.

A pleasant evening was spent in dancing in the large kitchen, where many dances have been held in the past. The first square dance was led by Mr. and Mrs. Coyle, followed by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew LeRoux, who were the best-man and matron of honor at the wedding twenty years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas George and Mr. Guy LeRoux and Miss Eileen Morrill completed the set.

Sympathy is extended to the death of their wife and mother, Mrs. Ira Olney.

Mrs. Maurice Robinson is spending some time in Ayer's Cliff and Waterloo. Mr. Robinson also spent the week-end at Ayer's Cliff.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Johnston and children, Arnold, Archie and Sandra, are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Sherry were week-end guests of Mrs. Sherry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Preston, in Bedford.

The Brownie Girl Guide Group held a sale of home cooking and an afternoon tea on Tuesday afternoon, in Trinity United Church Hall. The proceeds were most satisfactory.

DANVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mastine, of Montreal, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Leith, while Mr. Mastine is on embarkation leave.

Mrs. John McIver spent some time in Gould as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Alex Morrison, Mr. Morrison and family.

Sympathy is extended to the death of their wife and mother, Mrs. Ira Olney.

Mrs. Maurice Robinson is spending some time in Ayer's Cliff and Waterloo. Mr. Robinson also spent the week-end at Ayer's Cliff.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Johnston and children, Arnold, Archie and Sandra, are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Sherry were week-end guests of Mrs. Sherry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Preston, in Bedford.

MacKay, who left on Wednesday to make her home in Beauharnois.

The tea table was centered with a silver bowl of small pink flowers of different shades, flanked by yellow candles in silver holders. Tea was poured by Mrs. H. M. Thompson and Mrs. Donald Borchardt. Mrs. George M. Dick assisted in serving.

During the course of the evening, a gift of cups and saucers was presented to Mrs. MacKay, by Mrs. Ross Adams, on behalf of the Women's Missionary Society.

Mrs. H. Walters, of Detroit, Mich., is the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Goodfellow, at their home on the Bromont Road.

Mrs. George P. Brown, of Montreal, left yesterday, for her home in Montreal, after having been the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Nightingale and family, Ontario Street.

Mrs. R. E. Norton and Mrs. Elsie Reed entertained at the former's in honor of Miss Joan Chivers, a bride-to-be of the month. Bingo was played and the bride-elect happened to be the happy marathon winner of a china tea set, given her by her many friends present. Miss Chivers graciously thanked her friends after which lunch was served by the hostesses. Mrs. E. Chivers and Mrs. Sharpe poured tea and coffee, the table being decorated with fall flowers and lighted with contrasting candles.

WATERVILLE

The November meeting of the "Friendly Christmas Club" was held at the home of Mrs. Celon Ball, on Highland Avenue. It was in the form of a Halloween party. The prizes were won by Miss Thera Ball and Mrs. Gerald Millmore, and the flooring prize went to Mrs. John Murphy. After the games, the guest prepared to the dining room, where the tea table was covered with an orange cloth and decorated with black cats and owls, and centered with a lighted pumpkin on a green centerpiece, and lighted green tapers on each side. Mrs. Ball was assisted in serving by her daughter, Miss Thera Ball and Mrs. Edward Sarasin. At the December meeting, Mrs. Carl Ball will be the hostess. Mr. and Mrs. H. Buegler, of Hanover, N.H., were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Ingham. Other guests at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Moisan, of Drummondville.

Mrs. Robert Reed was an overnight guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Louis Baratin, and Mr. Baratin, at North Hatley.

Mr. Floyd Lowry, of Oshawa, Ont., was in town for a few days during the week-end, before leaving for the west, where he expects to spend a few months.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rogerson, of St. Johns, were week-end guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Millmore and Miss Joan Burke.

The Women's Association of Sangter Memorial Church held their regular meeting in the church hall on Thursday, November 2, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. C. C. McLachlan, opened the meeting with a short prayer, after which the members recited the Lord's Prayer, in unison. Following reports final plans were made for the social evening to be held on November 9. The menu was also decided upon for the Christmas tea and sale taking place on December 9. At the close of the business session, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Francis Gelinax and Mrs. T. Gelinax.

Lots of kids aren't bothering to ask if they can go swimming—because they want to swim.

CATHOLIC FEDERATED CHARITIES

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

NOV. 5th to NOV. 15th

OBJECTIVE: $25,000

The cost of helping the helpless, feeding the hungry and treating those sick in mind or body has increased tremendously. The Catholic Federated Charities need $25,000 to carry on their work of mercy.

You are among the fortunate. Your children are well-housed and well-fed. You bring home a pay cheque every week. There are many not so fortunate, however. You can help the Catholic Federated Charities to alleviate misery.
