Interesting Evening At Huntingdon High School For School Opening Program

The annual School Opening program was held at Huntingdon High School, on Thursday evening with a very good attendance.

Rev. J. M. Grant gave the invocation and Dr. J. S. Gaw, Chairman of the School Board gave the address of welcome and a report of the Board's activities for the past year. Dr. Gaw's report follows:

At this time it is customary for the Chairman to give you a brief resume of the Board's activities during the past year.

This past year has been a relatively quiet one, compared to the two previous years, when building operations were going on.

This year there was only one change in the staff; Mr. Gill leaving to become Principal of Beauharnois and Mr. Brian Smith replacing him as a Grade 9 teacher. We feel that this small turn-over indicates that members of the staff are satisfied with their working conditions.

The student enrollment is again increased slightly, being 508 as of September 30th, plus 29 in the Kindergarten.

This spring a meeting was held with the Dundee board, and Mr. Lessard, the School Inspector for this district, and we agreed to accept Dundee pupils from Grade 6 up. These add about 20 to our number.

Since the new wing was opened two years ago the chemistry laboratory has had to be used as a class room, the result of which the pupils were not able to make proper use of it as a laboratory. This year another classroom has been made available by dividing one of the large rooms. Lecture chairs have been purchased for the lab.

On nomination day in July, the late Robert Beal was elected by acclamation to replace Mr. Archie MacIntosh, who had completed his term of office. Mr. Beal would have been a very able and devoted member of the School Commission; however this was not to be.

At the August meeting of the board, it was unanimously decided to invite Dr. K. G. Cameron to serve on the board. This, he agreed to do.

At the September meeting, a resolution was passed outlining the policy to be followed this year in regard to promotions also that pupils in Grade 10 be encouraged to take 11 subjects instead of the usual 8 or 10. This to assure them a better chance of obtaining Matriculation Standing.

Wood working has been eliminated from the grade 10 course for boys as they get no credit for this subject. Extra curricular activities have been curtailed a little. The New York trip, which has come to be looked upon as an annual event has been cancelled for several reasons. The main one being, I think, that Grade 11 is twice the size it used to be therefore double the amount of money would have to be raised.

The usual sports are being carried on with soccer an innovation this year.

All in all it seems like a well balanced program.

Mr. M. Melnyk, Principal of the School followed with remarks on the progress of the school. He stressed the need for co-operation among all the units of the school — the principal, the teachers, the pupils and the parents. He suggested that if there were any problems in any one of these units that they be aired and a mutual and satisfactory solution be established. Come to me and let us talk it over, he said.

Talking on the scholastic record for the past few years, Mr. Melnyk said he thought that if one analysed it, it was not as bad as it first looked. He said there had been many critical comments on the past year's record and he had gone back over past records and had found the following.

Grade XI

1956-57 — 12 wrote, 8 passed for an average of 66 2/3%.

1957-58 — 17 wrote, 12 passed for an average of 70%.

1958-59 — 15 wrote, 11 passed for an average of 70%.

1959-60 — 16 wrote, 14 passed for an average of 83%.

1960-61 — 15 wrote, 10 passed for an average of 66 2/3%.

It was not a good record the past year, but all are always striving for better and still better results. Pupils are passed on for a variety of reasons, sometimes the parents insisted, oftentime a pupil would not continue in school if he or she had to repeat the same Grade, it being considered it was better to fail in Grade X than to repeat Grade 9. We placed ourselves in this position because we felt that in certain cases the child could make up the deficiency and pass. It has been done before, but not always.

In this world of today, education is a must. We will try and see that all pupils receive the best possible education of which they are capable.

Mr. Hobart Green, Supervisor of Schools, Chambly County, was then introduced and spoke to the gathering on the components of education, which he called "The Educational Team". He explained the make up from the Government down through the Department of Education, School Boards, Teachers, Pupils and Parents. Each group had its part to play in our educational system of today. He felt that perhaps the Teachers were one of the most important parts of this make up for on them depended the end results of the pupils. The pupils he likened to the natural resources which had to be moulded into the product by the teachers. None could succeed without the other however, as each was an important link in the chain. He advised the pupils to work hard, pay attention to the teacher and obey the rules set down while they were in school. He urged the parents to co-operate with school authorities and to encourage their children on to a sound education. He had a word for the Home and School Associations and felt that they could do good in a number of ways.

He was thanked by Kathleen Reid.

The presentation of awards followed and were made in the following order.

Dr. K. G. Cameron Addresses Home and School Meeting On New School Policy

Mr. Bob Baker, President, presided at a meeting of the Huntingdon Home and School Association on Wednesday evening, October 11th. The speaker for the evening was Dr. K. G. Cameron, recently appointed member of the school board. Dr. Cameron presented the resolutions that have been passed by the school board in an effort to improve the scholastic standing of the school and to meet college entrance requiremnts (650 for the Arts Course and 700 marks for the Science Course at McGill University). These included a resolution that grade eleven pupils be encouraged to take 11 subjects, these subjects to be chosen from the following: Oral and Written French, English Composition and Literature (Compulsory); History, Chemistry, Physics, Algebra and Geometry (These subjects will be strongly recommended since they are most frequently required for college entrance and entrance to schools of nursing); Geography, Home Economics, Biology, North American Literature, Trigonometry (Two of these may be chosen to make up the total of eleven subjects). Dr. Cameron said that the school board believed that by having the student write eleven papers, and thus allowing him a margin of failure, his chances of obtaining a Junior Matriculation Certificate would be increased by 10%.

In his remarks, Dr. Cameron took as the basis for his address, the new policy as proposed by himself at a recent School Board meeting and inscribed in the minutes of the Board in the form of a motion, or motions, which received unamious adopted by the board. He took each article separately and gave explanations as to why the Board had adopted this new policy. In further explanation, he drafted on a blackboard how it might be worked out to the advantage of the students in Grades 10 and 11. He showed mythical students A, B and C, with the possible marks that each obtained following the year-end tests. "A" received a fairly high average mark, but failed in French and therefore would not be passed. "B" and "C" obtained a lower average respectively, but each obtained pass marks, although actually they were not as good students as "A". He pointed out that under the proposed new policy, if these students could be encouraged to take at least one more subject through the year, the mark obtained for this extra subject might well be the one which would gain for them Junior Matriculation instead of just a High School Leaving Certicate. This would mean the standing would be greatly enhanced and there would be less failures. This, he said, was the real object of the new policy instituted this year.

The school board has decided that the school graduation exercises and dance will be held in October in future. This will prevent conflict with final examination preparations. The annual grade eleven New York trip will be cancelled. Woodworking will no longer be taught in grades ten and eleven.

The resolutions also included one stating that no student will be promoted on a trial basis.

During the question period following Dr. Cameron's talk, one of the members asked what would happen in the case of a child who failed a grade for the second year. Dr. Cameron replied that the child would remain in the grade for a third year. The member felt that having a child so much older than the rest of the pupils would have a disruptive effect on the class.

One of the members expressed the view that the new program tended to ignore the problem of student drop-out in the higher grades and that the pupil who is capable only of obtaining a High School Leaving Certificate, would be discouraged by this plan. In this connection Mr. Melnyk said that the proposed regional school, with its opportunities for technical training, would benefit the student not aiming at college. Mr. Rolland Greenbank read a list of the twenty-five subjects that would be taught under such a plan.

Dr. J.S. Gaw stated that he felt the transportation problem involved in combining a region that included Dundee, Valleyfield, Hemmingford, Howick, Ormstown, Huntingdon and Franklin would make a regional school impractical. He thought that students should take advantage of the existing facilities such as the technical training school in Valleyfield. He said there is at the present time no English class in progress there but if ten students were interested, a class would be formed.

Mr. Keith Greig, a member of Ormstown Home and School Association, was asked to tell the group what had been done by their Safety Committee. Mr. Greig stated that the purchasing of new school buses on their recommendation, had been their most important accomplishment. They are also making an effort, working with the Regional Safety Committee, to have special road signs posted and effect changes in traffic regulations to ensure the safety of bus pupils.

Mr. Melnyk reported that the school buses of Huntingdon High School have been inspected by the police and they have all been passed with only several minor changes recommended.

Mrs. K. G. Camron, and Mrs. M. Kelly, who form the refreshment committee for this year, were assisted by several of the parents in serving coffee and sandwiches following the meeting.

Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Kelly also organized the serving of refreshments at the school fair and a special thanks goes to those parents who so faithfully assisted at that time.

Child Drowns At Herdman Customs

Tragedy stalked on Wednesday afternoon, October 11th, and took the life of a small child in a drowning accident near Herdman.

The child, Richard Watson, 2 years and 9 months old approximately, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Watson, and was playing with a puppy in the afternoon. At the rear of the house is a brook and although the child was not in the habit of going near this, it is thought that in playing, he must have followed the puppy in that direction. At about 5.30 p.m. Mrs. Watson called the child and received on response. Together with her two sons, Bobby, 14 and Hugh, 12, she went in search of the younger member. She first thought he had crossed the road which is the highway which runs past the Customs Port at Herdman and then later went to the brook where she saw the body of the child. She quickly pulled him from the water and Wally Collette, a neighbor applied artificial respiration while a doctor was called. This proved of no avail and when Dr. F. G. McCrimmon arrived he pronounced the child dead. Mrs. Paul Swan a sister of Mr. Watson was visiting at the time and she also gave assistance.

Mr. Watson is officer in charge at Herdman Port and he was away at the time of the accident.

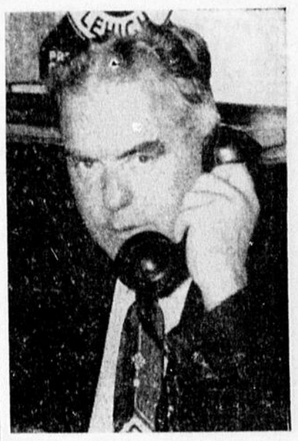

The funeral was held on Saturday, at noon, with service in the Herdman Church and Father Marcel in charge. Interment was in the cemetery of the church.

Provincial police at Huntingdon were called and Dr. George Lefebvre, Coroner, also arrived and gave a verdict of accidental death.

In 1959 there were 4,242,490 Canadians who paid personal income tax, and their total declared income was $17,450,000,000; the top income bracket of $100,000-and-over included 495 persons with a combined income of $79,300,000, less than one-half of one per cent of the total income of all income taxpayers.

107-Year-Old Ormstown Business Changes Hands

Mr. Carlyle Dickson

Carlyle Dickson has sold his Feed, Seed and Coal Business. To the people of Omstown there is pathos in that statement. No longer will the farmers come out to town to buy feed and grain, and talk to the familiar figure behind the desk about the curling match last night, or what horses will be entered in the various classes at the Fair this year. Oh, he will be around alright, and he will still maintain his interest in curling and horses, and his distain for, "the mechanical horse", he just won't be at the same old spot.

The Hooker boys, Donald and Milton have taken over. These two young men, both married and son of Preston and Earle Hooker will carry on the business established so many years ago by the late Thomas Baird.

Mr. Baird opened a general store, and seed grain outlet in 1855. At that time the farmers of this area were growing grain for EXPORT. Since then, the country has become a dairy area and feed must be IMPORTED to supply the demand.

The property is situated on lots 67 and 68, which up until 1884, when the railroad was built through the town, was known as the Woodyard. Stove and furnace wood was brought in during the winter months and stored in the yard from whence it was shipped to the brick yards of Delson and Laprairie, and the local brick yards, one of which was owned by Mr. Baird.

A solution for tanning hides was made from the bark of oak logs, this also was a lucrative business in town more than 150 years ago.

The general store and feed business stayed in the Baird family until 1945 when it was sold to Mr. Carlyle Dickson, a native son of Ormstown. Mr. George Baird was in poor health for some time and passed on in 1946.

The Hooker boys like the Bairds and the Dicksons are prodigy of a fine old established Ormstown family. It is gratifying to know that a business started so long ago by some of the pioneers of Ormstown is still to be carried on by Ormstown's OWN.

Gideons Hold Provincial Rally At Howick

The Quebec Provincial Rally, Zone 1, of The Gildeons International in Canada, was held on Saturday afternoon and evening, October 14, 1961, in the United Church, Howick, Que.

Registration commenced at 2.30 and the afternoon session at 3 p.m. Mr. Gordon R. Smith, president of the local Camp, acted as chairman and brought words of welcome from the Chateauguay Valley Camp to the visiting Camps and Ladies Auxiliaries from Montreal, the Laurentian and the Sherbrooke area.

Mr. Wm. E. Kilgour led in a devotional period, and Rev. Sidney Montpetit brought an inspiring message. Rev. Montpetit was formerly a member of the Valleyfield Camp and at present is minister of the Calvary Baptist Church, Cornwall, Ont.

Then followed a short business period when reports were brought by the various Camps and Lone Eagles. Election of Zone Leader took place.

Mr. H. Brodie Brittain was re-elected for another year.

At 4 p.m. the ladies retired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith for afternoon tea and their own program. Mrs. H. B. Brittain, president of the Chateauguay Valley Ladies' Auxiliary, led the meeting. The speaker was Mrs. Brown, wife of Rev. Wm. Brown of Georgetown and Riverfield Presbyterian Churches. Her very timely talk was based on the Rally theme, "Rejoice in the Lord Always, and Again I Say Rejoice." The ladies then rejoined the gentlemen for a banquet at 6:15 p.m.

Sixty-five sat down to a delicious meal served by the ladies of the Howick United Church in the church hall..

A song service followed supper, when Mr. Frank Kettyle of Montreal acted as song leader.

The chairman for the evening session was the newly elected president of the Montreal Camp, Mr. E. Raymer.

Rev. Wm. Brown delighted the audience with two solos. Mr. Bob Eastwood accompanied him at the piano.

Mr. Clarence Paterson of the Montreal Camp presented a Gideon Bible to Rev. Basil Howell, also of the Montreal Camp, to mark the occasion of his ordination into the Christian ministry. Mr. Howell recently retired as Assistant Comptroller of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada and has since been inducted as minister of the Presbyterian Church at Duvernay and also appointed Comptroller of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Rev. Howell thanked the group and followed his remarks by a very fitting testimony of God's leading him into the ministry and the part the Gideon work played in that regard. Rev. Howell retired as President of the Montreal Camp of the Gideons just prior to his ordination to the Christian Ministry.

Greetings were brought by Mr. David Stewart, student minister of the Howick United Church, Mayor Wm. McArthur of Howick, and Mr. Merrill Barrington, M.P. Mr. Gordon Smith replied.

Mr. Lawrence E. Wallace, Stanstead, Que., the speaker of the evening, was introduced by Mr. Roy Langley and thanked by Mr. H. B. Brittain. Mr. Wallace brought a very challenging message on the "Loveliness of Jesus."

The Rally closed with the Gideon Circle and prayer.

Francois Cleyn Appeals For More Textile Technicians To Maintain Industry

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Oct. 4 — Quebec's primary textile industry is facing a desperate shortage of technically trained people, the provincial Study Committee on Technical and Professional Training was told here today.

During the next 10 years the industry could require as many as 3000 technicians and technologists, according to a brief submitted by the industry's Joint Committee on Formal Textile Education.

Most of these experts would have to come from the provincial Institute of Textiles at St. Hyacinthe, and at present rate the number of graduates will not be sufficient to fill the need.

"Technical progress and advance in productivity in the textile industry was never more rapid than at present, and there is a grave danger that this advance will be seriously retarded by the lack of technically trained personnel."

The estimated need for 3000 technicians was calculated on the growth potential of the industry, on the fact that the trend is for more trained and less untrained workers, and on loss through death and retirement.

"Many St. Hyacinthe Institute graduates hold a variety of supervisory posts in the industry. Their incomes, both at the beginning and currently, are commensurate with the incomes earned by those with equivalent training in other industries."

François E. Cleyn, a textile executive from Huntingdon, presented the brief for the industry Committee, which represents the Primary Textiles Institute and the Textile Technical Federation of Canada. The provincial study group also heard representations from the Institute of Textiles' Advisory Committee ("a group of prominent and technically skilled textile executives"), and from the Director of the Institute, Georges Moore, in addition to touring the school.

Mr. Cleyn said that 58% of Canada's total textile employment was located in Quebec, representing 42,000 people in 110 communities. He admitted that inroads made by imports into the Canadian textile market during the past decade had discouraged young people from entering the industry "just at a time when the demand for trained personnel was never greater."

More technicians were needed to maintain and increase the efficiency and competitive ability of the Canadian industry. "No better indication of the intention of this industry to stay in business is needed than plans of Quebec mills to spend $10 million on new machinery during 1961."

Mr. Cleyn spoke of the many scholarships and bursaries offered by textile companies at the provincially-operated Institute, and said that all graduates were rapidly taken into the industry.

Among the industry's recommendations to provide more trained people were: a "concerted effort" to "destroy any remaining unfounded prejudices against technical institutions as opposed to university training"; extended evening classes to upgrade existing skills and fill the gap left by lack of Institute graduates; more teaching of textiles, and of the value of the industry, in normal schools; extension classes in trade schools to prepare students for the Institute of Textiles.

The St. Hyacinthe Institute was praised in all industry submissions for its work to date. F.D. Wallace, a prominent Quebec technologist, spoke for the Advisory Committee, and told of the progress made since the opening of the school in 1945. He suggested the school could play an even greater role in industry business through increasing abilities of students, establishment of a central testing laboratory, and organizing post-graduate research projects and studies.

"There is a desperate and immediate need for textile technicians and technologists in the textile industry in Canada," said Mr. Wallace. "The Advisory Committee feels that the St. Hyacinthe Institute should be the number one textile school on the continent, and should supply a good proportion of the trained personnel to fill this need."

Legal Proceedings May Be Taken Against Chateau

As the result of Provincial Police investigations at the Chateau, Huntingdon, some under age persons were found on the premises.

Police made the investigation on Friday evening and as a result it is quite probable that legal proceedings will be taken.

This should also be taken as a warning to other hotels in the area as it is quite possible other investigations will be made. No person under the age of 20 is allowed in the licensed premises.

Hemmingford Chamber Of Commerce Protests Dumping Of U.S. Apples In Quebec Markets

HEMMINGFORD — During recent weeks, Orchardists in the Hemmingford area have become increasingly aware of a large influx of U.S. MacIntosh apples on the Montreal markets. When they discovered that even storage space in Montreal, usually rented for the Quebec crop, was rapidly being filled up with American imports, it was felt that decisive action should be taken. Enquiries at the Quebec Marketing Board disclosed the fact that approximately 50,000 bushels of apples had already been brought across the Border for storage and eventual sale in Canada. It was also discovered that, in one case, the U.S. apples were being repacked and sold as Quebec produce. As a result of many complaints the Quebec Department of Agriculture has now seen fit to place these apples under detention, they can be repacked and moved only under Inspectors' supervision.

With the unhappy prospect of having their market flooded with the U.S. apples, the Hemmingford orchardists took their problem to the Hemmingford Chamber of Commerce. The officers and members of the Chamber took immediate action in the form of resolutions which asked that the importation of apples be made according to the regulations of the Fruit, Vegetable and Honey Act, that the apples be properly marked as to country of origin and that there be no waiver of the dumping regulations. Another asked that the apples already in be placed under detention and that they be packed and moved only under regular supervision. These resolutions were immediately telephoned and then sent by telegram and letter to the Hon Alvin Hamilton, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion of Canada, to Mr. Merle Barrington, M.P. for Huntingdon County, to Mr. de Courcy, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, to Mr. Marshall, District Inspector for the Fruit and Vegetable Act, to Mr. Eardley, Director of Inspection Service, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture and to various other Departmental Heads in Ottawa and Quebec.

On Friday morning, October 13th, a phone call was made to George Atkins of the C.B.C. Farm Radio Programme. It was felt that this problem was one which should be made widely known. On his mid-day broadcast, Mr. Atkins brought out several points which should give rise to some serious thinking. Last year, he said, Ontario had a small apple crop and purchased a large quantity of Quebec's bumper crop. This year, the position is reversed and Ontario naturally expected to sell part of their big crop here in Quebec. Montreal, however is stocked up with U.S. apples. (It would be interesting to know just how many Ontario apples have come into Quebec). Mr. Atkins was of the opinion that the solution lay with the apple producers of both provinces. He suggested that with better co-operation between producers, market deficiencies in either province could be handled by the other. But the Hemmingford Chamber of Commerce are wondering if this simple solution is really the answer. After all, inter-provincial producer co-operation was in operation last year and worked very well.

Mr. Merle Barrington, who is giving all possible help with this problem, informed the President of the Chamber of Commerce that the matter was being considered at a meeting in Ottawa this, Monday, morning. Future developments are awaited with interest.

The student is Bobby Hebert, a Hemmingford boy and a keen student who, despite his lack of sight, successfully passed the entrance examination to McGill University. The use of a Tape Recorder will obviate the use of a Reader and enable Bobby to speed up his studies. Donations were received from the Women's Institute, Eastern Star, St. Andrew's Women's Auxiliary, Young People's Union Canadian Girls in Training and the Three M. His subject was 'The descendants of Queen Victoria'. To illustrate his talk, Arnold took a display of the many letters, albums, books and photographs he has accumulated over the years since he started this interesting hobby. He had also prepared a large chart in the form of a family tree which the audience found most interesting.

Opening Exercises And Prize Giving Hemmingford High School

HEMMINGFORD — About three hundred parents, friends and students attending the Opening Exercises and Prize-giving which took place in the High School Auditorium on Saturday evening, October 14th, 1961. Addressing the assembly after the opening prayer had been given by the Rev. David Rogers and the singing of "O Canada", Mr. Alister Somerville, M.P.P. Chairman of the School Commission, expressed his pleasure on seeing such a large number present and particularly welcomed Miss Godhue, who retired from the Staff in June and who had driven down, from Sutton to attend the Opening.

Mr. Somerville went on to speak of the problems facing the School Board at the present time. With an enrolment of 252 pupils, there are 11 grades squeezed into 8 classrooms. With every available space in the school in use, the addition of more classrooms can no longer be delayed and an architect has been requested to draw up plans for the enlarging of the School. It is hoped, said Mr. Somerville, to establish a Senior High School in a central position in the Chateauguay Valley area which will accommodate the pupils from the surrounding High Schools from Grades 8 to 12, and will afford them a much wider scope of subjects. Being allowed a choice of subjects will, no doubt, help keep the young people in High School and parents are urged to keep them there at least until Grade 11. Chances of employment and advancement are slim without a Grade 11 pass.

Mr. Alister Somerville presenting Daniel Boon with the Somerville Scholarship.

Turning to the unpleasant consideration of Taxes, Mr. Somerville explained in detail the reason for this year's increase. The Board had received instructions from the Department of Education that they must increase their revenues and despite several meetings and the exploring of all avenues, the only solution had been the increase of $1. per hundred. In closing, Mr. Somerville thanked the Staff for their loyal support and wished the students every success in the coming year.

Commissioner C. Barr then presented the prizes to Grades 1, 2 and 3.

Mr. F. Matheson, Principal of the School, outlined briefly in his speech the events and accomplishments of the past year. Academically and otherwise, he said, the year had been most successful. Of the six students in Grade 11, all had passed their examinations, three of the girls were furthering their education at Sir George Williams' University, one was employed by the Sun Life Company and one by the Royal Bank. The lone boy, Daniel Boon, had been successful in passing the entrance examination to the Royal Officer's Training Plan and was now taking the four year B.Sc., course in Engineering at the Military College at St. John's. A Physics course had been added in Grade 10 and 11, this means Grade 11 now study eleven subjecst and may write their Junior Matriculation examination. In extra-curricular activities, there had been added a Drama Club, Photo Club, a Monitor system (High School and Grade 7 supervision of playground and corridors), a Year Book had been produceed, a Graduation Dance held and a Baccalaureate Service. Explaining how extra-curricular activities help in providing an all-round education, Mr. Matheson pointed out that they in no way interfered with the normal school day, all these activities take place after school hours as does basketball and soccer. A welcome was extended to Miss Guiny the French Specialist who replaced Miss Godhue. An important change already in effect this year is the appearance of the girls. All grades, except 11, are now wearing the navy tunic and white blouse. There is, too, said Mr. Matheson, a noticeable change in the atmosphere of the school, a feeling of ambition, particularly in Grade 11, where the students are hard at work preparing for next year. It is a good atmosphere, concluded the Principal, and augurs well for a successful year ahead.

Presenting the Tape Recorder which the Students won last year for their effort in the Curtis Magazine Campaign, Mr. Bickle pointed out that this prize is given for student co-operation which in the case of Hemmingford High was practically 100%, the highest among 50 schools participating. The commission which the students earned, amounting to $358, went into the funds of the Student Council to finance some of the school's activities. Presenting the Recorder to this year's President of the Student Council, Sandra Greer, Mr. Bickle expressed the hope that he would be visiting in a like capacity again next year. In a graceful little speech, Sandra accepted the gift on behalf of the Council.

Commissioner John Greer presented the prizes to Grades 4, 5 and 6. Commissioner Walter Keddy presented Grades 7, 8 and 9 with theirs and Commissioner A. Radley presented Grades 10 and 11.

Mrs. J. H. L'Esprance, Convener of Agriculture, Hemmingford W.I. gave a brief report of the successful School Fair held in September. Remarking on the fact that no entries had been received in the Essay Class at the School Fair, she told of a little secret (from the students) arrangement she had made with the teacher of English whereby the students of Grades 8, 9, 10 and 11 would write a composition in school on the same topic as that required for the School Fair, these would then be judged prizes awarded. She was happy to announce that a number of under School Fair rules and very good essays had been received and prizes were awarded as follows: Grade 11, 1st, Barbara Bond, 2nd, a tie between Isabel Wallace and Shirley Egerton. Grade 9, 1st, Carole Smith, 2nd, Lynda Egerton and 3rd, a tie between Cynthia McKough and Sandra Hawkins. Grade 8, 1st, Wayne English, 2nd Ralph Marlin, 3rd, a tie between Dale McNaughton and W. Kaluska. A small consolation prize was awarded to the remaining 14 entries received from Grade 8.

Mrs. Edwin Keddy, Convener of Education, Hemmingford W. I. then presented the W.I. Shields to the two students in Grades 8, 9, 10, 11, achieving the highest average marks. They were Barbara Bond and Lynn Radley. The W.I. Bursary, presented annually to the Grade 11 student obtaining the highest average and continuing his or her education was presented by Mrs. Keddy to Daniel Boon.

Mr. Somerville offers a bursary each year to the student with the highest average and this he presented this year to Daniel Boon.

The Students Council also offer a Bursary to the student obtaining an average of 70% or more, who has been active in extra-curricular duties, who is furthering his or her education and who needs the Bursary. On behalf of the Council, the President, Sandra Greer, presented their Bursary this year to Linda Merlin.

Mr. Matheson then presented two special prizes, one given by the Red Cross. Last year, said the Principal, a branch of the Junior Red Cross had been formed in the school and the student who had worked the hardest and to whom much of the success of the Branch was due, was Doreen Kyle. He was happy to present to Doreen the embroidered badge given by Red Cross Headquarters. The second prize was to the best all-round student, the student who contributed most to the school both academically and in extra-curricular work. The choice had unhesitatingly fallen on Sandra Greer. Mr. Matheson spoke feelingly of the outstanding contribution made by Sandra in all phases of school life and her fellow students had confirmed the decision made by the Staff by electing her President of the Student Council. Sandra received a book as her prize.

Before concluding the programme, Mr. Somerville reminded parents and students of the offer made by the Huntingdon Rotary Club to any girl who wishes to take up a career in nursing. The Club will provide all uniforms necessary and contribute $20 a month to any student entering the nursing profession, studying for her R.N. The only condition attached to this offer is that the nurse, when she graduates, will work for two years in the Huntingdon County Hospital where she will receive the same pay as a Registered Nurse in any of Montreal's hospitals.

The evening closed with the Benediction being given by the Reverend Mr. Ficko and the singing of the National Anthem.

Strict Law Against Passing Autobuses

The only time when one can bypass an autobus stopped on the roadway is in the cities and towns across the province, and this privilege should be used with caution. At no time whatsoever can a motorist pass an autobus stopped on the highway to disembark passengers. Prudentia has outlined this fact time and time again, but the practice still occurs too often. The motorist should make it a strict matter of honor especially when he sees a school bus ahead of him. The law is clear, no one can ever pass an autobus on the highway when it is stopped to leave down passengers. Obey the law, maybe your child or relative is the one who will benefit.

In 1935, to mark the 25th year of the reign of King George V, the Bank of Canada issued a few $25 notes.

Maintaining Good Interest

The National Affairs class in connection with the Community School, held each Monday evening, was largely attended this week. The speaker was Dr. R. W. James, Chief Secretary, Department of National Defence. Dr. James' talk dealt wholly with protective measures should war occur and atomic warfare prevail. Protection against "FALLOUT" brought out the discussion from the audience and had the meeting lasted for another hour longer the audience would have given it keen and marked attention. Dr. James spoke of shelter building and how such could be done and that the expense of building would not be as prohibitive as many so believe. Except where direct hits may be made by missiles a shelter would reduce the effects of "Fallout" to 10%. Instructive literature is available from the Department of National Defence.

Chairman Francois Cleyn announced that at the meeting on Monday, October 23rd, the guest speaker will be Dr. McLeod, Chief Economist, Toronto-Dominion Bank, Toronto, who will speak on monetary matters in a layman's language. An open invitation was extended to all to be present and bring along a friend.

Ormstown Board Of Trade Preparing Interesting Brochure

ORMSTOWN — A meeting of the Ormstown Board of Trade under the Chairmanship of President, H. Brodie Brittain was held on Oct. 16th, in the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce at 8.00 p.m. Mr. H. Gordon Green brought along suggested copy for the proposed brochure and all were delighted at the way the booklet was shaping up. It is hoped to have the material in the printers hands within the next week or two. There will be some excellent pictures also an interesting map on the back cover showing Ormstown in relation to surrounding territory.

It was decided to hold the Fall banquet on December 13th, at which time proposed renovations of the Ormstown Hotel are expected to be finished. Instead of a speaker, an interesting film will be shown.

Letters from club and municipalities along the Chateauguay river had been received concerning the Pollution of the River and it was decided to hold a meeting of all interested parties in the late fall.

Arrangements have been made to put up Christmas decorations at the end of November or early in December. In view of the heavy expense of the brochure it was not felt the Board could expend any large amount for new decorations this year as the cost of placing the decorations also maintenance charge must be met.

The meeting dismissed about 10.30 on motion of Mr. Milt Gartshore.

Lions will patrol the streets while the children are collecting for UNICEF, and will be distinguished by their yellow jackets so that all might know at a glance who is a friend and who is a goblin. Street patrol will begin at six thirty and will continue until nine o'clock.

President Lindsay Cullen reported on the progress made in plans for the Chateauguay Music Festival.

A work committee was appointed to remove the Lions Bingo equipment from the community hall.

Lion Andy Kelan was appointed as chairman of the skating committee, and plans were formed to try to get the rink ready at the earliest possible date. Programme director, Gordon Green assured the club that a speaker will be available for the forthcoming meetings. Social Director Doug Glover will direct the sale of Lion Christmas cakes and tablecloths. Lion Gerry Beaudin donated a hamper of apples which was raffled, the lucky winner being new Lion Bill Greig. County Liberal Association Holds Successful Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Liberal Association of the County of Huntingdon held last Thursday, Oct. 12th at Heath's Hall, had more members attending than anticipated, 125 delegates were present.

First, Delegates were chosen to attend The Liberal Federation Convention to be held in Quebec City, on the 10, 11, 12 of November. The delegates are as follows:

Mr. Claude Pilon, Notary, Mr. Guy Frappier, Mr. Walter Smith, Mr. Albert Caza, Mr. Ludovic Brisson, Mr. Eddie Pilon, Mr. Nelson Brunette.

Substitutes are as follows:

Mr. Gerald Brisebois, Mr. Jean Dubreuil, Mr. Raymond Galipeau, Mr. Keith Curran, Mr. Eugede Robidoux, Mr. Louis Sponder, Mr. Hector St-Onge.

Ex-Officio Members are as follows:

Mr. Keneth Fraser, Mr. Earle C. Martin, Mr. Francois Cleyn, Mr. Herve Tessier, Mr. Jean Lussier, Mrs. Mae L. O'Connor, Mrs. Joan Smythe.

Mr. Jean Lussier presided at the meeting. 4 Resolutions were submitted by the resolutions committee, they were all accepted, after the fourth was amended. This resolution presented by the committee suggested 24 members to be elected to the executive committee to represent the County. The delegates felt that 27 would be more appropriate to serve this county, in which nine would be replaced each year. This proved to be quite satisfactory to all.

Mr. Lussier called upon the guest speaker Mr. Roland Chauvin.

Mr. Chauvin is attached to the Liberal Federation of Quebec. He mentioned that this was his first visit to our town. He also noted that Huntingdon was a very nice town, and he was looking forward to a return visit, for a longer stay to give him the opportunity to visit the whole county. Mr. Chauvin used the Federation as the theme of his speech. He said that there were Federations and Associations of the Liberal Party throughout the Province. He ended his remarks by saying that a few years ago when communities were small, contact was easy, but now Federations are necessary. He also urged the delegates to attend the convention in Quebec, and not to be afraid to express their opinion.

Mr. Fraser was asked to thank the speaker, and say a few words. After thanking Mr. Chauvin, Mr. Fraser invited everyone to remain after the annual meeting was adjourned, to see how the officers of the executive committee were chosen in the most democratic manner possible. He also thanked everyone for the support they have given him in the last two years. He also mentioned that a few public areas of our town were to be blacktopped shortly. This statement brought long applause.

Mr.Francois Cleyn was then called to the stand.

He remarked that Mr. Chauvin's speech was brilliant and an intelligent one, which he would try to translate to the English language to the best of his ability. He also took this opportunity to explain to the delegates the new election procedure which would no doubt be discussed at the Convention in Quebec.

Mr. Jean Lussier asked all the newly elected executive to come forward to choose their officers to serve for the coming year. Mr. Francois Cleyn was elected President of the Association, Mr. Jean Lussier, Vice-president for the second term. Mr. Hervé Tessier, Sec. Treas. also for the second term. All were elected unamiously.

Ding-Dong Bell The Cow Is In The Well

Yes sir, that's right! and on a Sunday morn' too. Who put her in — well now that's the story.

You see, we don't rightly know, the way we heared it, she fell in — yes siree — fell in. Well it was like this — the well was an old 'un and a dry 'un and it was a wide 'un, for that there cow landed feet first on the bottom. She just fell clean through the old top that was a coverin' that old well. It was on the Ross Pringle Farm on No. 4 and so they just got the wrecker and lifted out that Ayrshire and set her up on top.

However those Ayrshires have some pretty good horns and Doc. Gaw was on hand to quieten that cow while they lifted her out and as she came up, one of them dashed horns caught under one of the stonees on the sides of the well. Well sir, Doc went to ease it by and got his little finger jambed and squeezed. Dab nab it sir, he had to go to the County Hospital and have a little piece of that small finger of his right hand amputated — cut off you know.

Anyway that's the story.

Semi-Annual Board Meeting Chateauguay-Huntingdon W.I.

Eighteen women met at the home of Mrs. E. Gardner, Dundee, on Friday 13th, for the Semi Annual Board Meeting of the Women's Institutes for Chateauguay-Huntingdon.

It was a beautiful day, and the sight of colourful woods filled everyone with a spirit of adventure. A few ladies from Hemmingford and Howick, were not too sure where they were going, but all were willing to leave the main highway and travel unknown roads. Names of old W.I. friends were noted on mail boxes, and the tidy, attractive, farm homes were a joy to see.

Business sessions were held during the morning and afternoon, with Mrs. Middlemiss, Huntingdon, in the chair. At noon the hospitable Dundee W.I. served a delicious hot meal.

Business conducted during the day touched on all phases of W.I. work. Greetings will be sent to Mrs. Blair and Mrs. S. McNeil. A short silence was observed in memory of Mrs. W. F. Welch, Miss A. Hamilton and Mrs. Smith. The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $383.43.

The County Convention will be held at Franklin Centre on May 5th and they will arrange for organist and soloist. Everyone is asked to contribute to the sale of home baking, plants and sewing, which will open at noon, with Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. Cairncross and Mrs. Fraser in charge. A hot dish will be served at noon, and afternoon tea will be served to the visiting speakers, only.

The next semi-annual will be held at Huntingdon.

The public speaking finals will be held at Ormstown. That branch will decide the date and refreshments to be served. Mr. Brash will be asked to judge the finals. Education Conveners are asked to send the names of local winners to the County Convener of Education immediately, following the local contest.

There was considerable discussion about getting new members, membership fees, and what it costs to carry each member for a year. Yearly donations to worthy causes, and other necessary expenses amount to about $2.60 per member. Each treasurer will receive a list of these financial needs for the benfit of new members, and uninformed members. It will continue to be a pleasure to have elderly members on the roll as long as it contributes to their happiness. Their faithful work through many years will always be appreciated.

In some countries, all members cannot afford even the 2c per member necessary to belong to A.C.W.W. (Associated Country Women of the World). This association meets every three years in different countries, and creates a great bond of friendship between countries. We who are more blessed financially are asked to give extra pennies for Friendship, to cover their expenses.

The Convener of Welfare and Health asked for more cottons for cancer, more demonstrations and films about cancer detection. Interest was shown in the Eye Bank, and Hemmingford will have a blind speaker.

The County Health Unit will be consulted about milk being sold from farms which are not given a sanitary inspection.

Mrs. E. M. Wood asked for contributions to the Scrap Book. Life Memberships will be kept up to date and the Scrap Book will move from branch to branch, in care of each President, who will keep Mrs. Wood informed of its whereabouts.

Publicity Conveners were asked to send in more detailed reports on any work of special interest or importance, that might help other branches through the Province.

Mrs. Middlemiss, thanked the Dundee branch for their hospitality. Past President, Mrs. Palmer, treated everyone to apples, from her home in the Havelock - Covey Hill district, one of the local places famous for this delicious fruit.

Miss W. Rowles Addresses Dewittville W.I.

On Wednesday evening, October 11th, Miss W. Rowles, of Turkeys Deluxe, Dewittville, addressed the Dewittville W.I. Miss Rowles told the group the history of the Elizabeth Fry Society (a counter-part of the John Howard Society) in which she became actively interested while living in Kingston, Ont. This society has been responsible either directly, or indirectly, for the many reforms in Canadian prisons in recent years, and has advanced an extensive program for the rehabilitation of prisoners prior to and after their release. As this was a new field of interest to all present, Miss Rowles was called upon to answer many questions which she so very graciously did. Mrs. Norman Maclean thanked Miss Rowles on behalf of the 20 members and friends present.

The Roll Call was jams and jellies to be sent to the Huntingdon County Hospital. The treasurer reported net proceeds of the Nearly New Sale held September 30th as $30.00. It was noted that the clothing was of superior quality and that there were many new happy customers.

The hostess for the evening was Mrs. Howard MacLean.

Members will please note that the next meeting has been advanced one week to November 2nd.

ELGIN — A very successful Food Sale, under the auspices of the Elgin Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, was held in Heath's Store on Friday afternoon, when cakes, cookies, doughnuts, bread, rolls, jams, jellies, pickles and baskets of garden produce, which were donated by the ladies of the congregation were all disposed off. BEAUHARNOIS NEWS

(by ESTER KOKKO)

Even if the October weather has been rather unseasonable until now, the community activities have been very seasonable indeed. All the organizations have started their year's work and are busily planning ahead.

The Trinity Church W.A. met on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Pirrie. The members were invited for supper and asked to bring a boy's gift for the coming Christmas Bazaar.

Mrs. E. Amy, the leader of Junior Auxiliary, reports that their first meeting was held on Oct. 4th in Trinity Hall, and that they will meet every Wednesday afternoon at 3.30. All girls from 7 to 12 years old are welcome to join the group. She was lucky enough to get Mrs. Pirrie and Mrs. Courtney to assist her in this worthwhile work.

The Presbyterian W.A. is also busy at their work and the meetings will be held every first Tuesday of the month.

The induction service for the new Prebyterian minister will be held in St. Edward Presbyterian Church on Monday the 23rd, at 8 o'clock p.m.

The wonderful weather this month lengthened the golfing season until this late date. Beauchateau Country Club held the Golf Closing Saturday night on the 4th of October with the buffet supper and presentation of trophies and prizes. Those attending report that the buffet was "out of this world" and the orchestra simply marvelous.

Like the rains, the ice will also come, but the curlers, of course, do not need to wait that long, the ice at the club is "in the making", and the curling season is expected to start on the 23rd with a Community Bonspiel.

A surprising number of Lady Curlers turned up in the opening meeting of Ladies' Section so that the season begins to look very promising indeed.

Did you know that the Legionaries are building a wharf on the shore behind their attractive Legion Hall ? The work is well on it's way, but, judging by the material around, it will take some time before it will be finished.

-o-

We'll keep our nose to the ground and give you more news next week.

$125,000 Work Project Planned For St. Timothee Municipality

At the last meeting, the Council of St-Timothée asked the Secretary to prepare the legal documents in order to take advantage of the winter-works program the Federal and Provincial governments provided for municipalities. Under the conditions set out the Municipality, would be able to provide employment for a number of unemployed. This Monday, work began on a new sewer system in the Notre Dame du Sourire District, in St-Timothée at a cost of about $50,000. Within a month's time, other sewer projects will be started on the following Streets: Jeanne d'Arc, Albert, Robert, and the Langlois Boulevard. This new project will require several thousand dollars. During the summer, a water pumping station and sewers were constructed on Langevin Street.

The Municipality of St. Timothée is going ahead and the Mayor and Council members, deserve congratulations for having taken the necessary steps leading to such a plan of work.

1st Curling Bonspiel For Season Is Set

This bonspiel will start October 30th, 1961 and will close November 11th, 1961.

This competition is a knock-out, two games guaranteed A and B event. Each team shall have four players and at least one female player. No team shall contain more than two curling members, male or female.

The entry fee is $3.00 for the non-members and $1.00 for the members.

The entries are closing on October 27th, 1961.

The skip of the team can register by calling CO.-8-5126 or OX-2-8878.

Rev. G. E. Doran To Be Inducted St. Edward's Presbyterian Church, Beauharnois

Rev. Gerald E. Doran who has been the minister in the Chalmers Presbyterian Church, Calgary, Alta., has received the call to St. Edward's Church, Beauharnois. The call was supported by three representatives of the Congregation. W. E. Berry, representative elder, declared that Mr. Doran was the unanimous choice of the people. Robert Page said the Board of Management was solidly behind Mr. Doran. Mrs. W. Hyslop in behalf of the Women's Association stated they had all been favourably impressed with Mr. Doran.

When the call was placed in the hands of the moderator Mr. Doran accepted it. The induction date is set for Monday, October 23 at 8 p.m.

Valleyfield Radio Station To Operate Early In November

Since Monday evening, October 9th, 8 red lights have been seen between Huntingdon and Valleyfield. These lights, placed at a height of about 160 feet, and a distance of about 150 feet, signal the presence of two sending-towers of the CFLV Radio Station, which are erected to their required heights. The Department of Transport, Ottawa, demands that these antennas be lighted from sun-down to sun-set, in order to avoid accidents.

Cables are being laid underground by workmen for connection with the towers. A series of tests will then be made in order to make sure that the radio listeners can receive CFVL Station on the wave length 1370, as required. Work at the Studios, located on 249, Victoria st. in Valleyfield is going on. Mr. Pierre Trepanier, formerly attached to the Montreal CJMS Radio Station, will supervise the electronic installation of the necessary equipment to assure the proper functioning of the Radio Station which will soon serve the whole Valleyfield area.

Municipal Beach A Project For Beauharnois

Members of the Council of Beauharnois have studied the possibilities of the construction of a public beach in this area. The Council sent a request to the Ministry of Youth regarding this project and asked for a plan and estimates of the beach, which would be constructed on the Highway between Chateauguay and Caughnawaga. On October 2nd, the matter again came up for discussion, at the Council Meeting, when a letter from the Minstry of Youth was read, asking for more explanation regarding this project. The Council decided to give this matter more study in order to have complete information, before anything more is done.

Two constables of the Valleyfield local police answered an emeregncy call to 20 St. Laurent St. Valleyfield, in the rooming house of Mrs. Yvette Rioux, Sunday, October 8th at about 2.50 p.m. A man of about 40 years was found in his room, suffering from an open wound. He was taken to Hotel Dieu Hospital where Drs. Roy and Caza gave him first aid. The Police are investigating the matter for further details.

$200 Stolen From Valleyfield Residence

The Police of Valleyfield are searching for a thief who broke into a private residence, on October 8th, during the absence of the proprietor. Mr. Sylvain Carriere, 667 Boulevard du Havre, Valleyfield, reported the theft to the authorities. It seems that the thief did some searching in the apartment before he found a sum of money.

Running Right Into Something You Cannot See

HAVE you ever run into something you did not see? It is not impossible and is sometimes most embarrassing.

For several weeks now we had been told of something on the east side of town and we set out one day to see if we could hunt it down. Our sleuthing instincts were all set to follow up any sort of clue for an elusive will'o the wisp. Unlike most things sought this which we were after could not be seen. A mystery, you say, well no, not really. But very annoying to say the least. You see what we were after was an odor, an obnoxious odor.

Why should we be concerned about an odor, it will probably disappear the way it came and that will be that. That is just the point, it has been at this area for a very long time and it does not disappear in fact it gets gradually worse. Many people have complained about it but nothing has been done to put a stop to it. It could be a municipal council matter, or it could be the business of the Town Council, certainly it is a matter for the Board of Health.

In our first investigations the odor eluded us so we could not come up with anything very gratifying. We took a look at the river at several points from Town to a mile or two toward Dewittville. On both sides of the river is a green slime that is usually associated with stagnant water. The river is supposed to be flowing, so why would this slime remain at the sides in this manner? We checked around two or three other parts in this area, but came up with nothing.

Then, one evening we were returning to Huntingdon and it struck us at a point just on the bend before coming to Bergeron's Body Shop. Please excuse the pun — it was not a dead body. It was the odor that struck us and that is why we did not see it. Our sense of smell told us it was there and there was no use denying it. As we could not see it we had no means of knowing from whence it came, but it was there. We had found it at last and could at least substantiate what we had been told by others. It was quite bad and we do not blame anyone for complaining. We have not heard of odors actually doing any person any harm, but the cause of them might and that is important for health standards. Therefore this odor ought to be tracked down to find out where it is actually coming from and why. Once that has been discovered, then the necessary steps should be taken to remove the cause.

During our enquiries we were told that the river often takes on some very different colors, sometimes it may be red, another time it may be green and so on. This would seem to indicate that the two dye plants near the area may be dumping their wastes that may eventually reach the river. Whether tnis would cause an odor is not known. A complaint to the Council a few weeks ago would seem to indicate that the dye plants could cause odors. It could be the Town sewer which empties into the river near this point and if that is the case, then it requires something to be done. Many have told us that when they stopped to get chips, etc., they noticed the odor and moved along very quickly. It may come from the use of cesspools by the residents which lie just on the outskirts of town and are not connected to the Town sewer.

The Department of Health should be called and try to locate the cause of this offensive thing and institute a remedy and very soon.

War Memorial Arena

WE are fast approaching the time when Huntingdon County War Memorial Arena will be operating for the winter season when skating and hockey and such like sports will be the great attraction. Last winter was not a good one for the arena for several reasons and more especially the fact of the warm spell which closed it earlier than might have been expected.

It would seem that the arena cannot raise enough money by skating and hockey alone. What is needed are more public events to draw and attract large crowds who will pay an admission several times during the season. These events could take the form of many things. They could be extra special hockey games, winter carnival with sporting events, dancing on the ice, amateur ice program and a number of other things come to mind. Such would not cut down on the skating program too much but would provide a variance of the regular program which would tend to induce other people to visit the arena on the different occasions. Whether the Arena management should sponsor these events, or if they should be staged by other groups, is a matter for decision. However, if not all the benefit obtained, at least a share should go to the Arena to help in its upkeep.

In another part of this newspaper appears the financial statement of the Association. This will show that there was only an operational deficit of $19. for 1960-61 season, whereas the previous season this had been ten times as much. However, if this arena is to function in the way it should, a profit should be shown each year. This profit is not to be considered a return on investment, but as a contingent fund against future needs such as repairs, buying of needed equipment, future improvements and such like. Unless a profit over and above operating expenses can be made, the Association can neither finish paying off the debt, or provide for the upkeep and maintenance of the building. While it is good that the operating deficit has been reduced, it is still not good enough.

Already orders have been given to install a sound system which will be suitable for all occasions at the arena. Thus a start has been made in one direction for improvement and also to provide better facilities for all.

Those who like to use the rink, and all citizens, can do much more to improve this situation. Use it more for skating and buy the season tickets. Attend the hockey games better and give more support to the matches. Foster ideas for promoting more events to be held in the arena during the winter season.

Of Interest To Home and School

THE meeting of the Huntingdon Home and School Association held the past week, was one which created more than usual interest. It is more than possible the reason was that the subject for the address had something to do with school activities.

This should be a guide to further planning of meetings and it is quite probable that more people will become interested. Such meetings also afford the members of the school board a chance to acquaint the public with the various problems being faced by the Board. As the Home and the School are supposed to work together, the Association would thus be carrying out a good program.

It is also likely that members prefer hearing a local speaker on a subject more in line with the Association's theme than if an outside speaker is brought in to talk on an unallied subject. We might suggest therefore that a number of subjects be lined up and each with a local speaker to deal with it. The matter of a Central High School is still causing concern and this is certainly one subject which could be good for a series of talks when the time is ripe. There are a number of subjects which could be worked up and provide good interesting material.

As the speaker at the School Opening Exercises pointed out, there is much which the Home and School can do in the matter of school and education. A good start has been made, why not keep moving in the same direction?

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Provincial Capital Report

QUEBEC (CP) Premier Lesage returned from a six-week visit to Europe last week and said the province is counting on European investors to counterbalance heavy American investment on development of Quebec's natural resources.

He said, too, the province is looking to France for technical know-how to establish a projected intergrated steel mill.

Mr. Lesage visited England, France and Italy, talking to businessmen and industrialists about investment opportunities in Quebec.

In Paris, where he was given the full diplomatic treatment and front-page coverage by Paris newspapers, he opened Quebec House, the province's new cultural-economic agency in the French capital. A similar house is planned for London.

At a press conference Friday, the Premier said Quebec House would also set up a selective immigration service to prepare for eventual participation of French technicians in Quebec industries.

Mr. Lesage said French technicians will set up and administer the steel mill and, under an exchange program, French-Canadians would be sent to France for training.

He gave no other details about the proposed mill, to be financed through funds from a central investment corporation to be established at the next session of the legislature.

The Government hopes Quebec residents, Canadian investment groups and foreign investors will contribute capital to the corporation to the tune of $100,000,000. The government's role will be a minority one, he said.

As a result of the trip, he indicated, new European capital will be forthcoming for investment in manufacturing industries.

The premier said heavy investment by Americans in Canada and Quebec can lead to economic and cultural control by a friendly neighbor.

"Though we have only feelings of friendship for the Americans ... They have invested so heavily in Canada their investments now total 75 per cent of all development capital in the country.

"This creates an economic and cultural danger. When a powerful and friendly neighbor controls the economy one has reason to fear a cultural invasion."

The province's 21st. Lieutenant-Governor, Paul Comtois, was sworn in Wednesday in a quiet ceremony at his legislature office. There was little pomp since the province was still in official mourning for the late Onesime Gagnon.

Mr. Lesage arrived back from Paris hours before the ceremony and was on hand to see Mr. Comtois, a former Provincial Civil Servant and Federal Cabinet Minister, take his three oaths.

Mr. Comtois then returned to Ottawa to clear up personal affairs before settling down to life as the Queen's representative in Quebec.

At his press conference, Mr. Lesage said he had not been officially informed by Ottawa of Mr. Comtois' nomination. But he has always been on excellant terms with him.

The Premier was also asked about possible bye-elections before the next legislature session, expected to start in January. The ridings of Jacques Cartier and Chambly are vacant due to the deaths of the sitting Liberal members.

He said the cabinet will consider this week when to call bye-elections in the two ridings, both located in the Montreal region. It would also study the opening date for the next session.

The Liberals have 52 seats in the 95-seat assembly, the Union Nationale 40, and there is one independent.

Journey To Yesterday

(By S. J. Currie)

For Chateauguay Valley Historical Society

The co-creators of Upper Canada Village, Peter Stokes and Mrs. Jeanne Minhinnick, attended the first meeting of the Chateauguay Valley Historical Society and offered suggestions on organization and methods, and expressed interest in our work here. They wished to make a tour of the valley to learn something of its historic background, and to try to grasp something of the historic atmosphere of the district. This tour was arranged for the week-end of October 14th and 15th, when Mr. Stokes accompanied by D. R. Lambie, President of the Historical Society, visited the three counties. On Sunday afternoon I served as their guide through the local areas.

For that part of the tour through the western end of the valley, I assembled a list of over sixty points of interest with which I am familiar. Little detail could be included in the time available for the trip, but I tried to give the main historic background of each.

This list could supply ample material for several tours, and should include much more information about each location visited to make these more interesting. However this rather hurried trial-run indicates the possibilities of the proposed "Journeys to Yesterday" project.

The following is list of locations visited with a brief outline of each. The plan was to make a wide swing around the area touching on our first settlements; leaving Huntingdon by Lake Street and returning by the Athelstan road, then cover the Town on our return.

1. Site of Peter McFarlane Store — Huntingdon's first store built in 1823 on North West corner of Lake and Chateauguay.

2. American Presbyterian Church — 1842 — Congregation was organized in 1836 in a sort of court-house near the old Sellar home on Chateauguay Street following revival meetings by W. F. Currie. Services first held in log house on lot 233 until frame Church was elected on opposite side of street on lot 323. This building is now the Renaud grist mill.

3. American Presbyterian Church Manse — 1841. Built on site of 1st log church (lot 233), now owned by Mrs. Stanley Ruddock on North-east corner of Lake and Hunter Streets.

4. 2nd Presbyterian Church Manse — 1847. Located on north-east corner of Lake and Prince. Now owned by Mrs. Ruth Kelly.

5. The Biggar Settlement — 1823. This settlement was roughly from the plank road to Clyde's Corners. Jas. Biggar 1823; Dunsmore; Cunningham; Wm. Caldwell 1826; Wr. Clyde 1826.

6. The Laird Settlement — 1823-24. This settlement was along the next road north of the Clyde's Corners road. Jas. Laird 1826; Jas. McNair; Alex Lunan 1826; Walter Barr.

7. The McNab House — about 1824. Located on north-west corner of the Plank road and the Laird Settlement road. Now owned by L. Welburn. (Jas. McNab Lot 20).

8. The Plank Road — 1822. This road was built by men from the Dalhousie Settlement across the swamp from Port Lewis to Huntingdon, to establish contact with the saw-mill and trade of the growing village. Trees, branches and stones were laid over the swamp during the winter. Later a plank top was laid, earning for it the name Plank Road. Bushed out in 1821.

9. The Tea Field. The swamp Through which the Plank Road runs was named the Tea-Field by the builders of the road. Seated about a camp-fire one evening during the road building, it seemed appropriate that the area should have a name, and Tea Field it became because they had partaken of a meal there. The swamp is actually the bed of the ancient Champlain Sea which covered the area thousands of years ago. Named in 1821.

10. The New-Found-Out Settlement — 1823. Passing over the Tea-field we come to a hill, once known as the Ogilvie Hill. At the top of this hill, is a road leading west. This road was the site of the New-Found-Out settlement, later known as Delmont. Here the so-called first settlers found ruins of cabins which must have been built years previously, of which nothing is known. First Jas. Higgins; John Currie; Duncan Livingstone; Peter McNaughton.

11. Port Lewis. Actually a part of the Dalhousie Settlement, in the early days this was an important port-of-call for Lake boats; first Durham boats and bateaux, later for steamboats. Port Lewis was an important port in the early days, being shipping point for entire area back to Huntingdon.

12. Dalhousie Settlement — 1821. East of Port Lewis was this first settlement in this district of English-speaking immigrants. Quoting from Sellar's history, "On April 21st, 1820, there beat down the Clyde a small barque named the "Alexander". Her passengers came chiefly from Lanarkshire. They became so congenial that before they dropped anchor at Quebec (45 days at sea), they resolved to settle together." After landing, some of their number looking for land, met the surveyor-general, Bouchette, at Beaudette. Pointing across to what is now Port Lewis, he advised them to settle there, that he would see the lots they picked would be secured to them when the survey was made.

Returning to Montreal, they hired a bateau, and on August 1, 1821 landed on lot 17 near the the line of lot 16, east of Port Lewis. The settlement spread along the Lake Shore mostly to the west. (Lots 14 to 19).

Lots 14 to 19 John Currie; Malcolm Currie.

13. Grenadier Island — 1813. Here during the war of 1812 an Army Unit was stationed giving the island its name.

14. Laguerre River — Tradition has it that Champlain on one of his explorations, camped near the mouth of the Laguerre River. This was the site of an important settlement of the early days. The canal-like reaches of the river with its tributaries, penetrated a tract of country which could not otherwise have been reached save when winter hardened the swamps they drained, provided roads to the back country, particularly along the Trout River which was fast being settled.

Alexander McBain took out rafts of lumber in 1820. Col. Davidson and his brother-in-law, Alex. Ogilvie opened a store on its banks in 1821. In 1823 Lalanne laid out the south end of lot 35 into the Village of Godmanchester, when McBain also built a store. The river bank from the site of Godmanchester to the Lake was settled, and the area became the business centre of the country.

15. Town of Godmanchester — 1823. Planned as the county seat, became the centre of activity of the McBain lumber empire. The area south known as the Pine Plains had heavy timber. Most sought was pine for ship's masts, and from here came what was considered the finest in the country. Records preserved of McBain's show one mast 84 feet long, 25 inches at the butt, and 18 inches at the small end. McBain died in 1830. Two years later John McDonald married McBain's widow and carried on the enterprise.

The settlement declined with the passing of the timber trade, and received its death blow with the building of the Valleyfield dam in 1849, which flooded the area, low lying as it was. Being a port for Durham boats and bateaux, it declined with the coming of steam and St. Anicet superseded it as a lake port.

16. McDonald Mansion — 1837. It was considered a mansion for most of the settlers lived in log cabins. And it actually is a magnificent house. It was a show place of the 1800's. It has been little changed. Now owned by Mrs. T. L. Irving.

17. Calvin Presbyterian Church 1847. In 1832, Ogilvie put up the frame of a Church and piled lumber to cover it near by. The early Scots couldn't decide it was a proper location and the lumber rotted away. In 1847 the still-standing Calvin Church was built of stone, on the edge of Elgin Square, in the Village of Godmanchester, on a knoll overlooking the wharves where Durham boats and bateaux landed their cargo.

In the cemetery around the Church the first burial was of a negro named Cyrus. The second was of Mrs. McManus, and the story of her ghost is found in Sellar's history. Third was Wm. McPherson. My great-grandfather, John Currie, killed by a falling tree, was buried there in 1834.

18. Site of Breastworks, Caza's Point — 1812. Breastworks were set up here, east of St. Anicet, to repulse possible invasion.

19. St. Anicet Village. There were Acadian settlers here as early as 1810, but the community gained significance by the building of the Church in 1840. With the coming of the steam-boat, it became one of the important ports of the district, and was an important business community for many years.

20. Old Convent Ruins — 1835-40. Walls of this old building still stand.

21. Leahy Hotel — I am told the older portion of this building was built about 1835. It was operated as a hotel in the hayday of the Port of St. Anicet. Mr. Leahy continued to operate as

Report From Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) This autumn there are a number of unanswered questions which seem to float as aimlessly around Parliament Hill as the falling leaves.

Will Canada acquire nuclear weapons? How will Britain's proposed entry into the European Common Market affect the Canadian economy? When will Parliament begin its new session?

During the week some attention was focussed on all three questions, but little light was shed on what the government really has in mind.

It was the younger generation, students from Quebec and Ontario universities, who propelled the controversial issue of nuclear arms before the public eye. For 73 hours over the Thanksgiving Day week-end they staged a round-the-clock march in front of the Peace Tower in protest against acquiring nuclear weapons.

Several hundred marchers, footsore and accompanied by guitars, carried "Ban the Bomb" placards and mingled with the tourists on the sun-drenched lawns in front of the Parliament Buildings in the demonstration, organized by the Combined Universities Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament.

Trade Problems

It seems these days that when conversation in the capital gets short-winded on such gloomy themes as radiation hazards and fallout shelters, it is just as likely to turn to Canada's economic woes. Generally the issue is domestic unemployment but for the time being the emphasis has been diverted to a critical review of trade relations with Britain.

The alarmists say Britain's impending entry into the European Common Market will be at the sacrifice of the Commonwealth. The Canadian government has expressed concern and interest at the European negotiations but has adopted a "wait and see" attitude pending developments.

Possibly, some clue to the government's thinking was revealed in a speech at a Toronto Kiwanis' club meeting by Trade Minister Hees. The government is carefully studying, he said, what would be involved for Canadian industry and trade if Canada joined the European Common Market or a European-North American Free Trade Association.

Stiff Competition

However, he argued against proposals for Canadian entry to the Common Market with its goal of tariff-free movement of goods among member countries. Europe's lower wage rates combined with a high level of efficiency and technological skill would in most cases result in Canadian industry coming off second best with consequent loss of production and employment, he said.

As to suggestions that Canada join a free trade association with Western Europe, Britain and the United States, he commented: "The implications of Canada becoming a member of the kind of association which I have just described are being very carefully studied to learn as accurately as we can the effect which membership in such an association would have on the country as a whole. Canada would not wish to enter into any arrangement which might seriously affect our economic structure and its related employment, unless we were sure that there would be a net gain."

Liberal leader Pearson said that if the Conservative government has changed its view to support a North Atlantic Trade Association, he would welcome it.

Trade With China

Meanwhile, Mr. Hees told reporters Canada is willing to help expand trade with Communist China although still not granting diplomatic recognition to the Peking regime. He said his department officials will do all they can to facilitate the work of the 13-man Chinese grain and trade delegation now visiting Canada.

Chen Ming, head of the mission, said the Chinese hoped to explore new trade possibilities during a two-months tour of major Canadian cities. One Canadian source estimated that Communist China could double its sales to Canada which now total $8,000,000 to $9,000,000 a year. There is scope, he said, for increased sales of walnuts, glass, handicrafts and certain consumer products.

One of the reasons for the Chinese trade promotion is the need to finance heavy purchases of grain from Canada. The balance of trade at present is in Canada's favor and it is widely suggested that China soon will seek further grain deals.

Bulbs And Annual Flowers

Annual plants decorate our flower beds throughout the summer season. In order to have flowers in spring, gardeners plant bulbs about the middle of October: they may use tulips, hyacinths, jonquils, crocuses, grape-hyacinths, narcissi, to mention a few favourites. Mr. Roland Gilbert of the Provincial Horticulture Service makes the following recommendations.

Although not too demanding in their soil requirements, bulbs thrive in well-drained loam of good water-holding capacity. When the land is well manured, the addition of 8-16-16 commercial fertilizer at the rate of 5 pounds per 100 square feet encourages blooming and rich flower colour.

Tulips, hyacinths, jonquils and narcissi are planted from 6 to 8 inches deep. Crocuses and grape-hyacinths, being smaller are planted about three inches deep.

If tulip bulbs are going to be left in the ground for a number of years, it is better to plant them at a depth of ten inches. After their fourth flowering, they should be lifted and replaced with now ones in autumn. Generally speaking, however, and depending on the quality of the bulbs, it is better to dig up tulips after their third blooming in order to avoid deterioration in the size and colour of the flowers. They should be replaced with healthy bulbs of ample size.

As soon as flowering is over, the leaves of tulips turn yellow and dry up. When the leaves have turned yellow right down to the base, they should be cut off at soil level. Annual flowers can then be planted or sown on the same ground. There is no need to wait until the leaves of the tulips have completely faded before planting the annuals between them. However, it is important not to cut off the tulip leaves until they have turned yellow, otherwise the maturation of the bulbs will be interfered with.

Geraniums which one wants to keep dormant during the winter are potted following the first frost, about the middle of October, and put in darkness in the cellar and watered occasionally to prevent excessive dying out. Next spring, they are repotted, cut back, and stimulated into growth for future propagation.

Plane Lands Near Franklin Centre

FRANKLIN CENTRE — On Friday afternoon about 5 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Martin Brooks were surprised on answering a knock at the door to see a young lady who asked for information as to where she was and in what direction Montreal might be. After a short visit she explained she had landed her light plane in one of the fields as a precautionary measure. She then checked with her home field, Cartierville. Upon receiving the approximate location from Mr. Brooks, another plane came out but was forced by darkness to return to base. The boys then drove to Franklin where they checked the plane and by the aid of a few lights were able to take off blinking their lights in farewell and returned home safely while the young lady returned home by car.

Experiment On Clothing To Protect Against Thermo-Nuclear Blast

OTTAWA, — Chances of survival from thermo-nuclear blast would likely be improved for those wearing clothing of double cloth fabric construction, a Department of National Defence textile technologist said here the past week.

And this form of double-cloth clothing (twin fabrics woven together rather than in layers) would offer better resistance to two or more consecutive exposures to high intensity thermal radiation, said G. T. Holmes, head of the textiles, clothing, and footwear division Directorate of Interservice Development, Ottawa.

Outlining the results of tests conducted by his department before the 12th Scientific Session of the Institute of Textile Science, Mr. Holmes noted that one of the major problems now facing the clothing designer and materials engineer is the development of materials and clothing which would protect man against the effects of thermo-nuclear weapons.

"Whilst reseach is being carried out it is necessary to examine the materials produced from fibres which are currently available in order to meet the immediate requirements. Unfortunately most of these fabrics will only withstand one exposure unless the incident energy to which it is exposed is of very low intensity.

"There is an immediate requirement for materials which are currently available to withstand more than one exposure to a thermal pulse of an intensity which is likely to be met in war under conditions where the man is not likely to be incapacitated by the other effects of a thermo-nuclear weapon such as transmitted energy gamma radiation, etc." said Mr. Holmes.

Canadian tests, he said, had been carried out on single cloth fabrics of double cloth construction, and two layer fabrics, using a variety of fibres, both natural and man-made.

Results showed that both fabrics of double-cloth construction, and two layer fabrics, offered greater protection, and "it is possible that double-cloth fabric structures could offer better resistance to two or more consecutive exposures to high intensity thermal radiation, and could also offer improved resistance to other forms of progressive deterioration, such as abrasion, as deterioration would affect one layer at a time."

Mr. Holmes' paper highlighted the Institute's Scientific Session, as textile scientists and technologists from eastern Canada gathered in Ottawa to hear an intensive one-day programme.

Other speakers were Dr. L.H. Turl, of the Defence Research Medical Laboratories, Toronto, on "The Permeability of Textile and Other Materials to Water Vapour", and G.M. Bornet, of the Ontario Research Foundation, Toronto, on "The Rating of Cotton System and Worsted System Yarns for Unevenness."

Splurge In Credit Buying Soon

Indications are that the underlying trend in consumer credit is no longer downward, and another buildup in consumer borrowing will soon start, writes Dalton Robertson in The Financial Post. Prospect now is for a new advance to get under way in the closing months of 1961 — if the long-term waves in the credit cycle follow their usual pattern.

Recovery and expansion in the Canadian economy is now clear and obvious. This means more jobs, less unemployment, bigger pay cheques — the climate that is suitable for a new burst on the consumer credit front. Rising consumer confidence about the economic weather ahead is based on solid fact: Personal income is on the rise this year, paced by steady gains in wages and salaries. From a low in January, labor income has risen by about 3% — a reliable early signal that the economy is about to advance on a broad front.

Easier money this fall is encouraging most of Canada's major banks to expand their consumer lending. Advertising campaigns pushing installment repayment loans have, according to all evidence, been stepped up. Since the banks are now a major competitor in this field, installment credit is probably more readily and cheaply obtainable than it has been at any time since the consumer credit explosion of 1954-56.

Since the end of World War Two, Canada has spent $4,629,-450,000 on foreign aid.

A Memorial Donation To Perpetuate The Work Of The Valleyfield Seminary

What is a Memorial Donation?

In many churches, cathedrals, universities, hospitals or seminaries in Quebec and across Canada, you can find inscriptions such as: "In honor of Mr. and Mrs...." or: "In memory of Mr and Mrs....by their son, Henry." Sometimes these inscriptions are engraved on bronze plates, fastened on the door of a hall. In churches these inscription plates are fastened in the Cross Stations or even on the big windows. As for large institutions, you may find the name of a person engraved on the facade of a building. What is the meaning of these inscriptions? They are to commemorate donations of persons and are made in recognition of their generosity; sometimes they are made in memory of a person in whose honor a donation was made. Mostly it is believed that the perons whose names appear on certain objects, have personally donated those objects or articles; in general, this is not the case. Let us take the example of a Parish Church. If, at the foot of a statue of Mary, you find the following engraving: "In memory of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dupont, donated by their son Henry", this does not necessarily mean that Henri Dupont donated this statue to the church. It could, however, be the case if the members of a parish joined together and constructed their own parish church and where the more fortunate ones provided the furnishings and the most costly articles.

Nowadays, there has been a great evolution in living and, whenever a church or another building is needed, the problem consists in finding the necessary funds, and then, call an architect and a construction company. Trained people will do the work. In the case of a church to be constructed, the procedure will be the following: The parish priest will ask every parish member to contribute a certain amount in accordance with his standing and the needs of the parish.

If a member of the parish wants to make a more substantial donation, the priest, in recognition of his generosity, will select an object in the church, which can be marked accordingly.

If he prefers, he can designate for the inscription, a person whom he wants remembered. This is the meaning of a memorial donation.

That's Polio

Betty Bannister is a beautiful woman, 33 years old, with shiny black hair, sparkling brown eyes and long, slender, well-groomed hands.

But her lovely hands are about as useless to her as if they did not exist. Seven years ago polio paralyzed her hands, legs and arms and made an iron lung in King George Hospital her new home.

A few weeks ago an urgent, almost whimsical letter from Betty, who is now regaining limited use of her left hand and no longer lives in the iron lung, was published in the Free Press Letters of the Editor column.

"Sir : I sat looking at a thumb. It looked inncent... Have you ever watched your thumb at work ? Have you watched the smooth meeting of thumb and fingers to pick up a stray pin... ?

Take a look at your thumb — just one thumb, and then try to imagine life without it. Then multiply that by all the other parts of your body and think of life, without being able to move. That's polio !

Have you had your polio shots?

Betty later told the Free Press that she wrote the letter one morning after writing an examination on one of the grade 12 subjects she studied this year. Right-handed before her bout with polio, she had to write the exam with her half-paralyzed, cramped left hand. Desperate and angry, she then wrote her appeal which, she says, anyone who has never seen or been a polio patient can never really understand.

"Once we even threatened to go and sit on the corner of Portage and Main to try to make people aware," she says.

A housewife and mother of two small children when the 1953 polio epidemic claimed hundreds of victims, Betty now sees her son and daughter, 12 and 8 years old, only on her infrequent visits home.

"At first when it happened, you're bitter and numb," he says. "The shock isn't there all at once. But nature compensates in a way".

Betty reads a lot, between hydrotherapy and physiotherapy sessions. She says very little hope has been held out to her that she will ever walk or have full use of her limbs again.

"And when you hear about people lazily ignoring the chance to get polio shots, you could scream, it makes you so mad."

Betty says polio patients at the hospital, paralyzed to varying degrees, often talk about what they would do if they were completely cured.

"You would think we would leave the hospital immediately, but no, that isn't so. I think first we would stop, and look around, and share our delight."

When asked what she would want most if she had the freedom to do what she wanted, Betty replied :

"That's exactly it, what I want most. Freedom to do what I want". Reprinted from the Winnipeg Free Press in Canada's Health and Welfare, November 1960.

Havelock

HAVELOCK — Mr. and Mrs. H. Boissonnault, Montreal, spent Thanksgiving calling on friends about Havelock. They visited the Beauleau farm and saw the 24 shoats that were recently born. In the course of their visit they met with Mr. and Mrs. G. Garlepy, Miss R. Boissonnault and Miss Lucie St. Pierre, Montreal, and on Sunday at the Miller Farm had visits with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson, Miss Evelyn Elliott and Walter Jackson and James Allen. It was indeed quite a pleasurable Thanksgiving week-end of visiting.

a store until his death about 1900. His family continued the store for a few years. Some of the stock still remains in the store.

22. Pine Plains. This was the lumber area referred to previously. The road from the lake to Cazaville through part of the "Plains" was one of the old mast roads of the early lumbering days. It had to be built straight to enable the passage of huge timbers.

23. Isle of Skye Settlement — 1818. 1819. Settled by Scots, who crossed from Glengarry and squatted on that area around what is now Somerville Park, supposing it to be crown land. They crossed on the ice, bringing cows for which there was plenty of feed in the marsh hay. As one of these setlers wrote "we put up a shanty, roofed with basswood slabs and hoed in potatoes and corn among the ashes of the little clearing we had made, so that after that fall we had to buy little provisions. There was a lumber road to Trout River, but no settlers off the lake. The oak was nearly gone, but the pine was scarcely touched. The only produce that brought money was potash. We took our grist by canoe to Williamstown, or on our backs to Fort Covington."

24. Isle of Syke Cemetery — This land was deeded by the Indians to the first settlers as a burial ground, in 1820 or 1821.

25. Indian Lands of Kintail — When the line of Godmanchester was laid out, a ten mile strip of land was left from this line to the Salmon River as a buffer or sort of no man's land between the boundry of Godmanchester and the Salmon River, on the other side of which was the Indian Reserve of St. Regis and the Schneil. This strip is referred to in old records as the Indian Lands of Kintail, though I believe this properly applies to the Schneil. Dundee formerly constituted part of the St. Regis Reservation. Dundee Jonas Schryer 1818. Lot 29-30.

26. The Salmon River — General Covington, retreating up the Salmon from defeat at Crysler's Farm, passed along this stretch of the Salmon. He died at Fort Covington from wounds received at the battle. From this Fort Covington was named, being known before this as French Mills. So actually the events in that battle touched the fringe of our valley as well.

Fine oak up to 5 feet in diameter were found along the Salmon River by the early settlers. Each spring, until the building of the Valleyfield dam, many barrels of Salmon were taken from this river.

27. The Old Baker House — 1830-35.

28. Gardiner House — 1935-40. Alexander Gardiner settled on this site in 1821. He was from Renfrewshire, Scotland.

29. Aubrey's Corners — 1818. Edward Aubrey settled here in 1817, moving his family, horses, cows and farm tools as well as household goods from Vermont, where he had settled after his discharge from the army, believing it to be British territory. The Corners became a thriving community. Besides the Aubrey homestead, two other houses were built for Edward's sons. Other settlers came and soon the community boasted two wheelwright shops, a blacksmith shop, a marble shop, an ashery, a brick yard and a general store. A school was built west of the grave-yard. The first school was held in the lower story of Edward's house, as were the first Church services.

30. Aubrey Cemetery — Here Edward Aubrey and some of his descendants are buried. An interesting note showing something of his nature — an American soldier, a negro, died in Fort Covington and cemetery authorities there refused burial because he was a negro. Edward had the body brought to the Aubrey cemetery.

31. Drill Grounds — 1860's — A company of militia was formed under Capt. Baker to repel possible Fenian invasion. This unit trained in the field at the southwest corner of the intersection.

32. Peter Aubrey House — 1830-40. Made from brick manufactured at the Corner's brick yard. Sand for the brick was taken from a pit close to the road just west of the former Currie home.

33. Moody House — 1837. This was home of Duncan Moody, first Presbyterian minister of Dundee.

34. Private Cemetery. Across the road from the Moody home is a small cemetery overgrown with trees and shrubery. In it are many fine monuments.

35. Kensington. One of the early settlement areas and site of one of the first saw-mills in the district, the foundation of which is still used in the present machine shop owned by Marshall Hooker. This section with Trout River was scene of Fenian Raid skirmishes during that attempt to invade Canada.

35a. Holbrook House - Fenians billeted during raid.

36. First Concession of Elgin. This section was one of the first settlements back from the Lake. Here many of the original settlers of the Dalhousie Settlement moved in 1823-24. Many fine old stone houses are located along this road.

37. Covered Bridge, Powerscourt. One of the finest examples of its particular architectural style, and a real land-mark of the district.

38. Invasion Route, War of 1812. On October 10th, 1813 the invading American Army under General Hampton began their march over on invasion road they cut through the bush from Four Corners (now Chateaugay, N.Y.). This route of march led to Powerscourt then followed the Chateauguay River through what is now Athelstan to Huntingdon, and on through Rapide Croche (Ormstown), to Allan's Corners where they met defeat at the Battle of Chateauguay on October 25th, 1813. This invading force numbered 5000 men, of which were 400 cavalry, and 100 artillerymen, with eight 6-pounders, one 12- pounder, and a howitzer. This battle has been played down in history, but had as much impact on the future of Canada as any other in the 1812 war.

39. Athelstan. First known as St. Michaels, was location of early saw and grist mills. The still operating grist mill is very old, and the sash and door factory was at one time a big enterprise, employing as many as 25 men.

40. Major Hingston Grave. This is located about a mile west of Athelstan where Major Hingston settled on a grant of land received for services during the war of 1812.

41. Gage House — 1850. A number of very similar houses were built around this time, probably by the same builder. The Gage house is an exceptionally well preserved example. Until recently, was owned by Arthur White, whose father Thomas White purchased it in 1870.

42. Invasion Crossing, War of 1812. The upper rapids, just above Huntingdon was where the American Army forded the Chateauguay on their invasion route.

Prior to 1823 the Town of Huntingdon was known as Long Rapids. In 1823 it was named Bowron's Village, then in 1825 Lord Dalhousie issued an order in council to lay out the village,

The Hunting Season

The Hunting Season is here again and soon the totals will be tallied up: so many deer killed, so many moose ... But the tally doesn't end there.

At least one farmer, disgusted with the loss of livestock, will paint "C-O-W" on the side of one of his beasts.

The most lamentable toll will be in humans, usually other hunters, mistaken for game. Canada's rising standard of living has enabled many more people, each year, to go hunting, and with continually better, more efficient weapons.

The result in four-footed animals bagged may be satisfying, but the result in hunters killed is shocking.

A standard argument is that the hunters don't dress properly in terms of distinguishing colors. One expert says hunters should dress in electric blue. Most consider that the traditional bright red is the safest color.

What seems to be ignored is that these bright ideas may be wonderfully effective for people with good vision. No optical tests are required of a person applying for a hunting licence.

For one reason alone such tests might be worthwhile. Color blindness is commonest among men, by far. And most hunters are men.

Expert Believes Fathers Are Lax

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Canadian psychologist, recognized as a world leader in his field, says fathers are falling down on the job of fatherhood. They just don't take enough time with the kids.

Dr. W.E. Blatz, director of the Institute of Child Study at the University of Toronto, says fathers think it is unmanly, or sissy, to bathe and put a youngster to bed.

"Parents only have their children until they are about 10 years old." says Dr. Blatz. "At 10 years all you can do is kiss them goodbye as they turn more and more to their contemporaries. If you haven't earned their companionship by then it's too late. All you can do is wait until you have grandchildren."

Dr. Blatz was here with his daughter, Mrs. Margery de Roux and two young grandsons while lecturing at the University of British Columbia summer school.

Fathers Convinced

Dr. Blatz says in Canada there is still a bit of the "frontiersman attitude." Fathers were convinced there should never be any tenderness shown.

"Tenderness is one of the most saving of human traits. This tenderness should exist not only between parents and children but between husbands and wives."

The psychologist, who served as consultant for Metropolitan Toronto's family court for some 25 years, said that in 99 of 100 families "the attitude of tenderness has been lost."

LATE-SUMMER BEAUTY

WATERTON LAKES, Alta. (CP) — A relatively new strain of hardy, early-blooming chrysanthemums at the Lethbridge experimental station is adding late-summer beauty to the National Park here. About 1,600 of the new variety were set out last year. They stand 18 to 24 inches high.

MARKET BOOMING

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — The Japanese market for British Columbia logs is booming. In the next two years 50,000,000 feet of hemlock, spruce and cedar logs from scrub land in the most northerly of the Queen Charlotte Islands will be shipped.

which was done by Wm. Lalanne, crown surveyor, and his plan was entitled the Village of Huntingdon. The village was first settled in the Lorne Avenue area. John Hunter settled on lot 17 east of town 1822 and is credited with being Huntingdon's founder. Wm. Bowran came the same year as crown lands agent, settling on lot 16. The three sites below are from the first settled area.

43. Site of First School — 1822. Bill Gouge opened a school in his cabin near present canal with nine pupils.

44. Site of First Schoolhouse — 1825. Was built in same area. George Davies was first teacher.

45. Site of Palmer's Cabin — 1817 app. First comers to Huntingdon found Palmer living in cabin on riverbank back of present filter plant near rapids.

46. Methodist Church — 1838. Congregation was active from 1830. Church was built in 1839. Now used as Gendron garage at end of Lorne Avenue.

47. Methodist Manse — 1839. Now owned and occupied by Miss F. Turner on west side of Lorne Avenue. In excellent condition, and little changed.

48 Site of Presbyterian Church 1833. This was Huntingdon's first church, St. Andrew's, the Rev. Wm. Montgomery Walker being the first minister. The second St. Andrew's now used by Braithwaite Bros., and known as Grove Hall, was built near site of the first. Much of original structure intact.

49. Boyd Foundry — 1860. Now part of Leach Textiles, at the end of Walker Bridge, on site of Percy Brothers sawmill of 1819, and Bowron's gristmill of 1823.

50 Bowron's Second Mill—1831. This is part of the present mill at the Henderson Street bridge, and is still used as a grist-mill.

51. Bowron's House — 1833. This house is now owned and occupied by W. R. Wilson on Henderson Street. Little alteration to the original. Following Fenian Defeat at Trout River, Prince Arthur of Connaught addressed troops from porch.

52. Laird Anderson House. Situated on Henderson.

53. Fortune Drug Store — 1835. Occupied by five generations of Fortunes. Present owner is J. P. Fortune. Building is close to original condition.

54. St. John's Episcopal Church 1839. Congregation was organized in the fall of 1834 by Bishop Mountain whose first service was held in Catten's barn on lot 27. The Church was completed in 1839. Rev. D. B. Panther was the first resident minister.

55. Savage House. One of Huntingdon's old houses, located west of the Registery office on Prince Street.

56. Lunan House — 1835. Home of one of the first settlers on the Trout River road about two miles west of Huntingdon on the river side.

57. Walker House — 1835. Fine example of early building of a large house. Preserved in close to original condition. Present owner, Miss Lillian Rankin, R.N., has accomplished much interior restoration, and many fine pieces of period furniture preserve the feeling of a grand old home.

58. Site of the Wrong Ford. When the American Army, retreating from Chateauguay reached Huntingdon, they attempted to ford the river below the rapids, rather than at the upper part where they had crossed on the way into Canada. Tradition has it that some pieces of artillery were lost in the river at this point, about at the end of Church Street.

59. Major White House. Probably not one of the air houses, but worthy of note as the site where John Hunter, founder of Huntingdon, built his first cabin in 1822.

60. Old Mill, Dewittville. Part of the present mill was the grist mill owned by Walker in 1830, which Peter McArthur took over. McArthur's grist-mill, was opened in 1832 west of the site of present mill. There were several hills here in the early days the first a small sawmill put up by the seignior about 1810. Next, Daigneault and Moreau in 1816. This was sold to Todd & Lyttle. On Lyttle's death Todd became owner. In 1826 another, Meigs & Wead which burned in 1828. Hugh Cameron built a gristmill in 1823.

61. Dewitt House — 1835. Used as a hotel. At one time had three stories. It is a large house close to the road, in Dewittville, just east of the bridge sideroad.

62. Cameron House — 1825-30. First occupant unknown, but generally known as the Cameron House. In excellent condition, being restored to almost original condition by recent owner, D. M. Rowat.

There are other sites and many other buildings which it was not possible to include in this rather hurried "Journey to Yesterday". We would welcome additional information about any of the above and data on others. Please help us awake a complete listing.

Stanley J. Currie.

Sightseeing Tower To Provide Spectacular View of Niagara Falls and Region

The Seagram Tower for sightseeing, shown above, will provide tourists visiting Niagara Falls next summer with a panoramic view of Horse-shoe Falls, American Falls, Welland Canal, Lake Erie, Lake Ontario, the City of Buffalo and, on clear days, the city of Toronto — a distance of 40 air miles.

Tourists visiting Niagara Falls next summer will be able to enjoy almost the same 'bird's eye-view' of this famous scenic panorama that sea gulls, circling over the Falls, seem to take for granted.

The unique Seagram Tower for sightseeing, which is now well into its second phase of construction, will provide a spectacular helicopter-type view from its location atop the escarpment above the Falls. The Tower itself will raise visitors another 300 feet for a total of 665 feet above the base of Horseshoe Falls.

When completed the Tower will resemble a seven-storey building surmounting a substantial, yet graceful 200-foot column. This tall column, or 'stem', containing two staircases and three elevator shafts, has now been completed by Byers Construction Company, of Montreal. The second construction phase — the building of the seven-storey superstructure — is now well underway and, according to present work-plans will be ready in time for the influx of 1962 tourists.

Linden Climbing Crane

In the Tower construction work a 'concretor' Linden climbing crane was used. This equipment is a horizontal crane in which the bucket containing the concrete rides on lengthwise cables and is pivoted into pouring position by rotating the central boom. The empty bucket weighs 560 pounds and carries one ton of concrete at each lift.

During the continuous pouring operation, when the Tower's 'stem' rose at the average rate of one inch every 12 minutes around the clock, 38 hydraulic jacks lifted the yoke and platform mount. These 38 jacks, each with two sets of gripping 'teeth' are centered over 38 pipes embedded in the Tower's base. As one set of these 'teeth' maintains a firm grip on the pipe the other set moves upward one inch and takes a new 'bite' when the hydraulic equipment is activated.

Safety Features

As a protection against fire hazard each of the two stairways and each of the three elevator shafts is separate from any others and each is completely concrete encased.

Thousands of steel-reinforced rods went into the 30-foot wide 'stem' to provide strength. The 60-foot base was excavated some 20 feet deep and 276 steel beam piles, each weighing 400 pounds, were driven down an average of 12 feet. Seven tons of steel dowels connect the 'stem' of the Tower to its base and although it is more than adequately anchored to the ground, the designers have provided for an inch and three-quarters sway at the top of the 300-foot Tower to provide for absorption of stresses.

Construction work at the Tower has now turned to the building of the seven-storey superstructure which will blossom out from the 30-foot wide 'stem' into a diameter of 70 feet at the widest point. This superstructure will have one enclosed and three open observation decks, a restaurant, lounge rooms and other tourists' facilities.

Rosevears Grow 110 lb. Pie Pumpkin At Rockburn

The giant pie pumpkin above weighs 110 pounds and measures 6 feet 4 inches in circumference. Some idea of its immense size can be had by the fact that it dwarfs the wheelbarrow and Jimmy and Joyce Maither, neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Rosevear in whose garden the pumpkin grew.

For weeks the Rockburn neighbors of the Rosevears have been watching the pumpkin grow in size and many are curious as to what the inside of it will look like. Cream coloured, the pumpkin was grown from seed that Merrill Rosevear sent to Ontario for. The average pie pumpkin ranges from 5 to 15 lbs. with some attaining twenty lbs. The Rosevears have the beauty above and a second giant estimated to weigh about 50 lbs. During the past week the pumpkin shown above has attracted visitors from Ormstown, Huntingdon, Montreal as well as Americans from Chateauguay, Burke and Fulton of New York State.

The Rosevears have been picking strawberries since June and judging from the number of green ones on the plants they will keep on eating them for some weeks if the frost is not too severe. They also have onions that measure 4½ inches in circumference. Next year Merrill and Mrs. Rosevear expect to plant a jumbo type of muskmelon that is expected to weigh 15 lbs. when mature.

Mr. Rosevear said he would like to display his huge pie pumpkin in the new Steinberg Store in the Regional Shopping Plaza at Chateauguay but because he and his neighbours want the seeds, they will probably just cut it open at home and can the pumpkin in the usual way.

How Bad Must Things Be?

by C. J. Harris

In theory, competition is the life of trade. In practice, it may oe that Canada's trade will be kept alive only if we temper competition with a measure of co-operation. That is the suggestion of Mr. George De Young, chairman of the National Productivity Council, who finds that in the countries that are beating us out in economic expansion there is co-operation to a degree we have never attempted. Not only is there mutual effort by labour and management, but within industries governments permit mutual efforts that in Canada are impossible under existing anti-combines laws.

"One wonders," says Mr. De Young, "how bad must our economic conditions become before we can have a co-operative effort between management and labour (as the two sides of industry) and our government, and all segments of our economy? ... Should not the two sides of industry be setting up committees in their plants as is done in the competing countries to study the long and short-run economic problems of the company, the industry, and our country, which affect our ability to compete?

"We have, in addition to historical legacies, actual legal restrictions on competitive practice and size. This suggests that our attack must be on a co-operative basis involving government, management, labor and the public. It would seem that a single manufacturer of 280,000 washing machines, valued at $34,500,000 (which is Canada's production), would be better able to compete than 15 manufacturers of 18,500 each. In this industry abroad, co-operation between manufacturers to prevent costly design changes by one manufacturer to gain momentary market advantages is common ... If Canada could avoid, and I think it is possible the bad effects of concentration and co-operation we could no doubt improve our competitive position. This all would require a lot of statesmanship, a lot of changes of attitude and a lot of desire."

As example of the negative rigidity of the laws that in Canada outlaw inter-company co-operation there was the fairly recent case of the group of fine paper manufacturers who wanted a chance to prove in court that their market-sharing agreements had benefited workers, consumers, the companies and the country by enabling them to produce goods that were competitive in quality and price with foreign-made products that entered the Canadian market duty-free. But, unlike other countries, our anti-combines law does not allow that argument as a defence.

Penalties Given For Bad Driving

Auto and truck drivers have on repeated occasions been cautioned about safe driving and the observance of road regulations. People are still to be found who do not stop when school buses are at a dead stop for the loading or unloading of passengers. Along Highway No. 4, in the Township of Godmanchester, a driver who travels the highway every day at the same time reports that a certain car passes every morning and if the school bus is stopped, the car passes at a good clip just the same.

In the Malone Evening Telegram the following is the report of driving infractions of recent date. A bit of similar legal treatment might produce very beneficial results here in south western Quebec.

The Malone report reads:

Charged with reskless drivinv, a 46-year-old Huntingdon, Que., woman was summoned by village police and when she failed to pay a $25 fine was committed to the Franklin County jail.

Margaret Thompson pleaded guilty to the reckless driving charge when she was arraigned before Police Justice John M. Boomhower.

The Huntingdon woman was one of several traffic violators who have been summoned on traffic counts this week.

Robert John Barton, 20, of 40 College Ave., who pleaded guilty to his second speeding offense in 18 months before Justice of the Peace Boomhower, received a mandatory $50 fine sentence. He was summoned by state police.

Others who were summoned the past week included:

James Bernard Humiston, 25, of Chateaugay, drove left side, $5, summoned by state police.

Fred V. Turner, 55, of Rfd. 1, Burke, no inspection certificate, $5, summoned by state police.

Edward Myron Huntley, 53, of Chateauguay, failed to yield right of way, $5, summoned by village police.

Wilfred Lazore, 20, of Hogansburg, unlicensed operator, $10, summoned by state police.

Robert Mitchell Beach, 20, of Rfd. 1 Malone, speeding, $10, summoned by state police.

Francis Joseph Favero, 44, of Rfd. 1, Malone, speeding, $10, summoned by state police.

Arnold N. Race, 49, of 18 Highland Ave., speeding, $10, summoned by state police.

Jean Pierre Coutu, 24, of Montreal, Que., who was summoned early Monday after his car rammed into the curbing and ended up on Memorial Park, forfeited a $10 bail yesterday when he failed to show up for arraignment.

Coutu was summoned at 12:20 a.m., Monday after his westbound car failed to make the right turn at Howard Place and crashed into the park. Village police charged imprudent and unreasonable speed.

He was scheduled for arraignment yesterday before Police Justice John M. Boomhower.

Another Canadian, Fergus Collier, 19, of Ormstown, Que., summoned by village police for speeding, also forfeited a $10 bail yesterday when he failed to show up in police justice court for arraignment.

Two area drivers were also fined this week after they pleaded guilty to traffic violations.

Andrew C. DeBeers, 18, of Moira, pleated guilty to speeding and was fined $10.

Gerald Joseph Lamica, 26, of the Muzzey Road, pleased guilty to failing to heed a stop sign and was fined $5.

All submitted their pleas to Magistrate Broomhower.

Discounters Rock Gasoline Market

"Supermarket" retailing of gasoline soon may change the whole pattern of gasoline marketing in Canada, writes W.L. Dack in The Financial Post. Some marketing men say that the suburban neighborhood service station could be doomed to extinction.

One thing is certain: Top oil company officials told The Financial Post they are going to have to come up with some big new ideas in gasoline marketing, and fast, if they are to stay in the selling end of the business and make any money at it.

The integrated oil companies are facing their most serious marketing threat in history from automobile department stores and discount chains. Motorists are going to see a lot of changes in the gasoline business over the next couple of years. And they can count on the hot battle shaping up to hold gasoline prices down for a long time yet.

GRAND OPENING REGIONAL SHOPPING PLAZA TOMORROW

Tomorrow, Thursday, is the grand opening of the Chateauguay Regional Shopping Plaza when literally thousands of residents of the Chateauguay Valley, including many farmers from this area which is known to be the richest dairy farming area in Canada, will converge on the 23 new stores scheduled to open.

The recent strike in the building trade may effect one or two of the stores but this will not be known until opening day. Workmen have been busy day and night to have all the stores open and for the past week extra local carpenters and workmen have been on the job in order that all the stores will open as scheduled.

Zeller's Limited with 21,000 sq. ft. of floor space will be a great attraction and here one may purchase almost anything one could ask for, from dishes and toys to clothing and hardware. Mr. J. G. Goude, manager states that local sales personnel have been engaged. The store itself is most attractive and will undoubtedly attract many steady cusomers from near and far.

Harvey's Drugs, Handy Andy and the Steinberg store have been open for the past couple of weeks and these stores have been busy every hour of the day. Manager Ernest Koenig of Steinberg's states business is very brisk in the mornings, falls off a little shortly after lunch and picks up again around three o'clock and th busiest hours are from four o'clock until closing. The Royal Bank of Canada is catering to an ever-increasing clientele.

Lewis Shoes Inc. with 4,000 sq. ft. of floor space will open their largest branch store and judging from the display windows there are bargains in quality shoes for every member of the family.

Reitman's Inc. have a most attractive store for the ladies. Here mllady will find quality dresses and experienced salesladies.

Prestige Cleaners and Launderers Inc. are fully equipped for dry cleaning on the premises and this should be an attraction for all clients. Six barbers at the De Luxe barber shop will be welcomed by male shoppers and this Marcel Chaim shop will also specialize in ladies' and children's hair cutting.

Chateauguay Delicatessen and Pastry operated by Marie Basta of Chateauguay features all xinds of cakes and pastries. Here one may buy a box of doughnuts or cookies to take home for a snack or order everything required for a special party or reception. This shop will be most welcome by Chateauguay residents and also by the great number of people who will be coming to the Regional Plaza from distances of up to fifty miles.

Fifth Avenue Stores Limited offer medium to high class dresses at budget prices. This is made possible by the firm manufacturing the dresses in their own factory.

Men and boys have not been forgotten and Grover's offer them a complete line of apparel. Trans-Canada Shoes offer styles for everyone at popular prices.

Cote Lingerie is a most attractive store and offers women's foundation garments. Expectant mothers will find garments here too and will welcome the experienced sales personnel.

Au Coin Des Petits which is also known as Kiddies Korner features a complete line of requirements for children, infants to pre-teens. When one stops to consider that the majority of people buying new homes in the various developments of Chateauguay are young couples with babies and young children, one easily conceives the opinion that this store may easily become one of the busiest in the Regional Shopping Plaza.

Oxford Taxi of Chateauguay has a stand located near the Steinberg Store and the drivers are performing yeoman service for people without cars and those housewives who are left without a car when their husbands drive to work. People using the Oxford Taxis told the Chateauguay Gleaner that the drivers are most courteous and there is little delay in waiting for a cab.

Unfortunately, Wawanesa Mutual Insurance Company will not be open for the Grand Opening tomorrow but expect their premises to be ready in the near future. Other stores to open shortly are Prestige Cleaners and Launderers Inc., United Cigar Stores Ltd.

Independent Sports Equipment and Play Things Inc., is another store that promises to be popular. A visit to this store will be interesting for young and old.

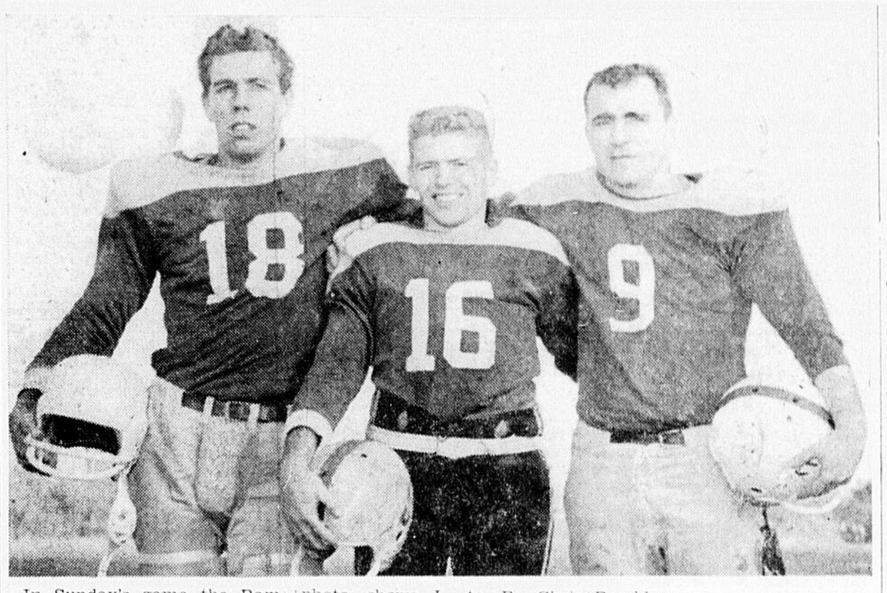

Thousands of people from near and far are expected at the Chateaubguay Regional Shopping Plaza tomorrow (Thursday) night for the gala opening. There will be giveaways for children and adults and entertainment for all and every store will feature special Opening Day specials.

Youville Blvd. To Re-Open Soon Contract Awarded For Snow Removal

(By HARRY ROBINSON)

The Mayor and Council of the Town of Chateauguay held a regular council meeting Tuesday, October 10th, and as this was the first meeting for a month it turned out to be a somewhat prolonged affair.

By-law 192 calling for roads, water and sewage on the Pyramid Project received its first and second reading and was passed.

Notice of motion was also given for the opening of other streets including Maple, and engineers have been asked to provide estimates for the laying of water and sewer services.

After some considerable discussion re the hiring of a professional engineer for the town, a vote was taken and the motion was defeated.

Assessments — Ward 6 of the Town of Chateauguay has been completed, and it is hoped to have all assessments for the town completed for December 1st.

Many residents will be pleased to hear that Youville Boulevard under the new bridge is expected to be reopened to traffic October 20th.

Snow removal—Messrs Bockstael and Lefebvre, and Daniel Côte were the only firms submitting tenders for snow removal. The contract was awarded to Messrs Bockstael & Lefebvre at a cost of $8.00 / hour / truck, with a minimun cost of $6000.00.

Plans for the new subdivision on lots 49, 50 and 53 were adopted.

Four Catholic and two Protestant churches were contacted by the Police and Fire Chief Roma Gervais to ask the priests and ministers in charge to mention fire prevention during the Sunday Services. Leaflets showing the many danger points in homes were distributed to the school children by the Police Force.

Next Sunday the Bantams and Pee-Wees will play Bishop Whelan, Lachine at 2 p.m.

Audrey Cushing did the Honors on Sunday at the football game and "Shook the Can" — All donations gratefully accepted — many thanks.

9 Lucky Boys In Imperial Gardens

(by Mary Stafford)

The home of Margaret and Roy Bache on St. Leon St., Imperial Gardens, is a very active and popular one these days. A Club for some of the boys in the area has been started. Roy Bache has donated wood, nails, hinges and time, to make a clubhouse for the boys, with a neighbour contributing an aluminum window, and another contributing tiles for the floor. There are set aims and rules for the boys which are keeping their minds and hands busy and consequently happy. Their present project is to earn some money in order to buy Hallowe'en treats for a children's hospital ward. Margaret Bache baked 7 apple pies last Saturday and the boys sold them in jig time. All the mothers of the boys involved are delighted and so appreciative and intend to do their share in helping out with new ideas and of course home bake sales. Good luck to everyone concerned and a special vote of thanks and appreciation to Margaret and Roy Bache who are giving up so much time for this wonderful idea.

Turkey Supper Enjoyed By Many At Legion Hall Saturday

Saturday evening October 14th the newly formed Women's Auxiliary of Branch 108 got off to a splendid start with their first major undertaking in the Legion Hall. The place was a beehive of activity all day with everyone in high gear preparing for the turkey supper which was served from 6 to 8 p.m. About 150 attended including a large contingent from Vetville who were conveyed to and from the Legion Hall by Legion members.

Dancing followed the supper and the evening closed with the singing of many of the old, old songs, the memories of which brought a tear to the eye of a goodly number. Few and far between are the opportunities nowadays for First World War Vets to enjoy the nostalgic memories of the old pre-war vaudeville songs and the pleasure of vociferously joining in the choruses.

An amazing feautre of the evening was the ability of the women members, who having worked all day and waited on table, then discarded their tiredness with their white aprons and danced the whole evening through.

The Women's Auxiliary are to be complimented on their successful and enjoyable first venture and may luck and good fortune follow them in their future endeavors.

Chateauguay Police Again Get Car Thieves

Again this week trouble was encountered by 3 or 4 persons stealing a car. They were apprehended shortly after opposite the Chateau-Gai Motel by Constables Spinard and Cayer of the Chateauguay Police Force. The stolen car was the property of a chauffeur of the Provincial Transport Company and it contained a uniform, a briefcase and a change dispenser. After being questioned at the Chateauguay Police headquarters the culprits were handed over to the Valleyfield Police authorities.

Annual Meeting Of Valleyfield Welfare Council

Last Sunday, at the Le Royer Centre in Valleyfield, a meeting of the General Reunion of the Diocesan Welfare Council took place.

The President, Mr. Adrien Cholette, after telling of the purpose of the Council to bring assistance, made the reports of the year's activities.

The Psycho-Social Centre, thanks to steps taken, has become a mental hygiene Clinic, recognized and supported by both the Federal and the Provincial Governments. The Centre receives clients of the various agencies or welfare institutions and many call directly for the services which the Centre is able to give them in the domain of Psychology, Direction and Psychiatry.

The Marie-Joie School, especially for children, boys or girls, who present a problem, is recognized by the School Commission as an auxiliary School, and as a matter of fact, becomes eligible for Government assistance on the grounds of education.

The Marie Joie School will continue to receive children of neighbouring parishes. The School Commissions, to which those children belong, are required to cover the difference between the Government's assistance and the costs of the School Commission of Valleyfield.

The Welfare Council considers that there is an urgent need of similar Schools like Marie-Joie for the districts of Chateauguay, Beauharnois and Dorion. The Council will apply itself to take the necessary steps, if, through the popular annual subscription of the Federation of Caritas, it receives the necessary funds.

Mr. Cholette then, rapidly, gave a review of the services rendered in the Diocese by the Social Services. These Services can be divided into 3 sections; Social treatment, Infant section and the Economic-Social section. This last section, counts for its function and development, on the Federation of Caritas and the Welfare Council of the Diocese.

The Council took the initiative of lining up a Committee for the purpose of bringing together all recreation services and playground organizations of the Diocese. The object of this gathering is to exchange views on this subject and to come to the formation of a Diocesan Federation of organized recreation and playground services.

On the matter of projects, the Council has taken steps to establish in the district a community of the Little Sisters of the Assumption, called the "Little Sisters of the Poor". This Community gives exclusive assistance and help to the sick at home. The Mother General is willing to establish in this Diocese a Community of 7 sisters; the episcopal Corporation is giving them the use of an appropriate house on very good terms. However, this project depends no the result of the subscriptions of the Federation of Caritas Campaign and its objective.

The Council has formed a Committee for studying the problems of dwellings for elderly people; the work of this Committee is proceeding.

Mr. Cholette ended his report by calling for all goodwill as follows: "Caritas must be recognized, not only by its principles, but by the facts, as a principal organization: the organization of organizations in the Diocese.

The Federation of Caritas must receive from part of the religious as well as the social authorities the cooperation which equals the importance of its function in the domain of Welfare in the Diocese. Others who are aware of the problems of Social Welfare, can actively help with the plan of Caritas.

THE 1961 CAMPAIGN

Dr. Paul Charest of Maple Grove, General President of the last campaign, then gave the results of the campaign for 1961: The Federation received $82,056.72, which means 64.6% of the total objective. The President, however, reminded that some parishes had not yet presented their final reports, and he invited them to do so without delay.

The members of the General Meeting then elected the new administrative Council for 1961-62, as follows:

President: Dr. Oscar Gendron, Mayor of Rigaud.

1st. Vice-President: Dr. Pierre Deom, Psychiatrist, attached to the Psycho-Social Centre in Valleyfield.

2nd. Vice-President: Mr. C. E. Zeagman, bookkeeper at Asten Hill Ltd., Valleyfield.

Secretary: Abbe Lionel Moreau, Social Director for the Diocesan Catholic Action.

Treasurer: Mr. Rosaire Michaud, Director of the Diocesan

Lady Baden-Powell To Visit Valleyfield On October 24

An enthusiastic reception is being planned for Lady Olave Baden-Powell on Tuesday, the 24th of October, in Valleyfield.

English and French Brownies, Guides, Cubs and Scouts, from Beauharnois, Huntingdon, Nitro, Ormstown and Valleyfield will be on hand to greet her at the Valleyfield City Hall. Lady Baden-Powell is due to arrive at the City Hall at 6 p.m. She will speak to the assembled children from the steps of the City Hall. A Guard of Honour of all Brownies, Guides, Cubs and Scouts from the above-mentioned localities, will be formed on Nicholson Street. After the City Hall reception, Lady Baden-Powell is scheduled to attend a Banquet at the New Balmoral Hotel at 7 p.m., at which all leaders will be present, after which she will say a few words to those assembled.

Although the visit will be short, it has been planned so that all those taking part in the Guide and Scout Movement will be given an opportunity to see and hear Lady B.P., on what will probably be her last visit to Canada.

Lady Baden-Powell is the widow of Lord Baden-Powell, who founded the Scout movement. Since their marriage she has always worked along with him, helping especially with the Guides and Brownies. Since his death in 1941, she has continued in this interesting and rewarding work, and in spite of her advanced age, she is still travelling as much as possible, lending some of her enthusiasm to each group she visits.

Many Local Residents Employed In Zeller's New Regional Plaza

25 Residents of the Chateauguay District hold positions in the Zeller's New Park and Shop Unit in the Chateauguay Regional Shopping Plaza.

Preparations for the opening of Zeller's newest store, located in the Regional Shopping Plaza are now nearing completion and much activity is going on behind the scenes as finishing touches are being added for the Grand Opening Sale.

Many of the staff so busily employed in these activities are residents of this district, and according to Mr. J. G. Houde who has been appointed manager of the store, "Our new employees seem very much interested in all that is going on. We, in turn, are delighted that they have been available for the various positions which were open."

Mr. J. G. Houde, a friendly man with a quiet smile, has been with the Zeller organization for a number of years. He is an active member of the Kiwanis. Mr. Houde likes Chateauguay very much he told us, and added, "I know my family will like it too. I am sure we shall all be very happy here."

Appointed as Assistant Store Manager of the new unit, Mr. J. J. Martel has been with the organization for 3 years. He has been transferred here from Three Rivers. According to Mr. J. G. Houde the new Store will open tomorrow.

A Few Have Spoiled A Lot Gleaner Adopts Firm Policy

It is most annoying to Chateauguay Gleaner correspondents to spend valuable time writing up "news" only to have it deleted from their copy at the editor's desk. This occurs when the so-called news is nothing more than "free advertising".

This newspaper has been most lenient towards worthy causes and non-profit organizations but because the persons reporting the "news" have contacted not one, but each and every correspondent in Chateauguay, the practice of allowing any free advertising has been stopped.

We are justly proud of our correspondents in Chateauguay and see no reason why we should disappoint them by deleting parts of their copy that should be printed as paid advertisements. They, in turn, are aware that free advertising is frowned upon but are unaware that the person giving the news is also contacting the other correspondents and feel that a small space as donation is not expecting too much.

Persons seeking free publicity for themselves or their organizations have overdone a good thing and henceforth free advertising will not be tolerated.

The weather certainly got chilly over the week-end, though it was nice and dry. Such a difference to Thanksgiving week-end. I suppose, we will have to get used to this change in the weather, before you know it Christmas will be here and the snow shovels will be busy. Time just seems to fly by.

Dance

The Parkview District Dance that was held last Saturday evening October 14th, at the Chateauguay Heights Recreation Club, was a great success. Everyone attending had a wonderful time and are looking forward to another dance in the near future. After the orchestra finished, the piano was played by Mrs. J. McCullum and a delightful sing-song was enjoyed by all, and they were very sorry when it came to the end of a very enjoyable evening.

The lucky people who won the Spot Dances were: Mr. Ron Taylor and his partner Miss Beverly Perkins, and Mr. and Mrs. J. King of Edgewood Dr. Door Prize winners were Mr. J. McCullum (Dinner for two at the Bonne Princess); Mr. B. Hodge (Esmond Blanket); Mr. H. Hawley (a three tier cake plate).

Mr. Harry Bissell wishes to thank all who attended and supported this dance, and also all who helped to make it a success.

A thank you note is also extended to Sam Salvator's Orchestra, and also Mrs. J. McCullum who played the music for singsong.

Dust and mops and winter clothes! Can't deny we're quickly approaching ol' man winter. House cleaning seems like a mountain of work; and autumn is the only time a housewife doesn't complain about lack of clothes. Everything reeks of mothballs. At this juncture, the men light out for the mountain wilds. Guns are cleaned and oiled. With the first warning shot, all legal prey hightail it for the tall timber. The wildlife that seem so plentiful during the summer months "appear to disappear". Wishes of good luck are extended to all the great white hunters. Don Mizener is out ducking right now. We hope he gets his quota.

There will be a fall dance at the Chateau-Gai Motel this coming Saturday evening. All residents of the Terrace are invited. It will be a grand opportunity for the new folks to meet the original mud runners. The Terrace Recreation Association is charging a dollar to cover the expenses of an orchestra. Do come.

A number of local citizens were momentarily non-plussed last Friday evening around suppertime. Screeching sirens invaded the Terrace. Visions of burning homes were quickly dispelled by the appearance of two police cars and a fire truck. It is Fire Prevention Week. Residents have been asked to inspect their homes for any dangerously combustible debris.

The Maple Home and School had their monthly get-together on Wednesday last. The Reverend Mr. Allen spoke about Juvenile Delinquency. The theme of his speech was that the family who goes to church regularly together seldom sees this delinquency at home. He warned parents about being too generous to their children. Further, they are not given enough personal responsibility.

A motion was presented to send the sixth grade class to Upper Canada Village in the spring. This visit would coincide with their Canadian History course. In view of the admonition of Rev. Allen, it was suggested that the students work for their "passage" during the coming months.

Mr. Schufeld, principal of Maple School, gave a formal introduction of his teachers to the parents. Mr. Mosher of Chateauguay High School did the same.

Night courses for adults were presented to the gathering. The following course will be offered: Beginner's sewing, cooking, woodcraft, typing and French. These classes will be available to any interested party at a fee of $15. The tentative schedule is eighteen weeks at two nights a week.

We would like to call your attention to an impending project to be carried out by the local Brownie and Girl Guide Troops. There will be a drive to collect soda bottles, etc. from October 21st through November 4th. The money accumulated will go to increase their fund.

Grade One Classes at Maple School have adopted a new schedule this week. They will have an 11:30 lunch and will be dismissed at 1:30.

A new extra—curricular activity has been offered to all young girls in this area. Miss Doreen Lacelle is conducting a ballet and tap course for girls of six years and older. The classes will be held on Mondays and Thursdays at 2 P.M. Miss Lacelle also teaches at the Mary Beetle School in Ville Lasalle. There is a need for class mothers here to care for the 1st. graders between 1:30 at dismissal until 2 o'clock when the dancing class starts.

About "Zinc" In Valleyfield

At his last Press Conference on Friday, Mayor Robert Cauchon, according to an article in the recent edition of the Revue "Northern Mines", declared that, more information and in fact, more concrete news about the Zinc Industry could be expected in about two weeks from now. Many things had been said on this subject and everyone in the district wants to know when the first shovel of dirt will be removed for the construction of this big factory of which everyone has dreamed and hoped.

Let Your Greetings Help A Child - - - Support UNICEF

To a child in Tunisia, UNICEF means medicine to cure trachoma, an eye disease which can lead to blindness. To a child in Indonesia, UNICEF means freedom from the sores of yaws. In scores of countries, UNICEF means networks of maternal and child health clinics. This year, UNICEF aid is benefiting 57 million children and mothers.

Of the more than one billion children in the world today, two thirds lack adequate food and protection against disease. If they survive infancy, many are weakened for life. The United Nations Children's Fund is helping over 100 economically underdeveloped countries improve the health, nutrition and well-being of their children.

UNICEF provides medicines, milk and equipment, as well as aid for training national personnel, to help children be better fed, healthier, and have a better opportunity to grow to useful, productive adulthood.

WHAT ARE UNICEF GREETING CARDS?

Originally inspired by a "thank you" drawing from a little girl who had been helped by the Children's Fund, the purchase of UNICEF cards has become a traditional way of supporting its life-giving work. Designed and contributed by the world's leading artists, they are international cards — sold in 90 countries. Proceeds from the sale of only one box can provide vital vaccine to protect 50 children against tuberculosis: and five boxes can supply a daily glass of milk to 42 children for a month.

It takes so little to help. When you buy UNICEF cards, you have the joy of knowing that you have helped children somewhere in the world to be healthier and happier.

There are many colourful designs available in the United Nations Children's Fund series of greeting cards and all are attractive. Especially catching are the series depicting the folk art of the Baffin Island Eskimos.

In Chateauguay, the one and only depot for UNICEF cards is at 103, St. Michael, Prudential. Mrs. Malvina Chart is operating the depot in behalf of UNICEF and your support in this benevolent work by phoning an order, OX. 2-2468, would be sincerely appreciated.

REMINDER
The sudden drop in temperature last week end reminides us that it's time to get those winter coats out of storage.

HERE AND THERE
Dave and Mrs. Findlayson back from their four month tour of the U.K.! Says Dave, "We went over to have a good time, and we had it, and it was over far too soon." Of course, he wouldn't confess he had to be back to see some real Ice Hockey! Suppose it was pure coincidence arriving back so opportunely? Nelson LaVine happy again with Mrs. LaVine back home after helping out their daughter at Rouen. Son John still here on visit, and was joined by another brother who arrived with his wife Carole on 12th till 16th. inst. Son Peter and his wife are stationed at one of the "Bomarc" Missile Bases with the R.C.A.F., so with two sons and daughter-in-law as visitors, Nelson and Mrs. LaVine have had a pleasant reunion.

COMING EVENTS
This evening, 18th inst. the weekly Card Party (Whist) will be held in the Community Hall, commencing at 7.30 p.m. Tomorrow the Hall will be used by the Chateauguay Property Owners Association for the monthly meeting starting at 8 p.m. On this day however, the long awaited official opening of the new Shopping Plaza will take place and doubtless will see an influx of visitors and sightseers from here, there and everywhere seeking bargains and prizes or gifts. In the evening, Maplewood Presbyterian Church will have a Congregational Dinner in St. Georges Anglican Church, St. Francis Blvd. starting at 6.30 p.m. and Sunday next 22nd. inst. a special service conducted by Men of the congregation, in the Maple School at 11 a.m. Next Tuesday, 24th. inst. a Live Show will be sponsored by the Dalse Club, in the Community Hall, starting at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

INCIDENTALLY
Congratulations to Mrs. E. Spencer of "Caen" on being a lucky gift winner at the opening of the new Steinberg's Store recently.

Apparently there were quite a few sore arms following the first "Anti-Flu" injections administered on 11th inst. I should rather say a few sore arms, and many stiff ones. Quite evidently that particular vaccine is not 30% underproof. More like overproof one would think, but if as good as reported, what is a stiff arm for a couple of days?

Still appears that some new dwellings are erected overnight; the local scenery changes with such rapidity that one fails to notice progress in new construction unless one keeps on his toes the whole time. In no time at all, one will awake and find the roof already placed on the new Catholic High School on McLeod Ave.

Cannot understand what happened to all the Vetvillian Cribbage experts at the Kinsmen Championship last week, nary a prize! From several recent displays, am beginning to wonder who are the experts and which ones are novices at the game.

Pleased to note Tom Wilkinson getting around more of late. Guess it's time he returned to regular daily Cribbage games and gives a few tips on the game. Walt Ramsbottom has already started throwing his weight around in this way lately. Time some of us started pulling our socks up!

BY THE WAY
I wonder how many old timers residing at Vetville recall a popular ballad "One Touch Of Nature Makes The World Kin" which was quite a favourite about 1905? Most ex-service folk are looked upon as being a tough bunch. At Vetville, we are so used to what is so commonplace here, and due to circumstances, more so than elsewhere. Being so accustomed to it, we pay little heed or comment to the many neighbours in our community, who so unpretentiously devote their whole existence to the care of their ailing husband or wife, as the case may be. One never hears a word of complaint from any of these persons, all of whom are invariably cheerful and unassuming whilst they quietly carry on with their self imposed efforts, as best they can, to bring comfort and happiness to their less fortunate mates by continual attention and care. Others perform similar service to disabled and infirm neighbours in such a quiet manner that the remainder of us take such things as a matter of course, though many of us could and likely would, willingly give a helping hand to ease the curden of some of these folk, did we but seek an opportunity. Probably it is more due to thoughtlessness than neglect, yet we see each day so many examples of loyalty; duty and devotion around us. Which goes to prove that most of these ex-service men and women are not such a tough bunch after all. Such reflections reminded me of that old ballad quoted above.

YARNS AND ANECDOTES
During the time Richard Nixon was in hospital with an injured knee whilst the last Presidential Election campaign was at its height, Adlai E. Stevenson turned up at an American Bar Association to deputize as the Guest Speaker in lieu of Nixon. He opened his address by stating that his substitute role reminded him of a vicar in an out of the way village in England who wired his bishop several days before he was due to conduct the Sunday service as follows: 'My wife has just passed away. Kindly send substitute for next week end'." It is not recorded WHICH substitute was sent.

POSTCRIPT
Any of you folk who likes a real life adventure yarn, should find a special treat in a newly published book "Stampede" by Reg. L. Ottley, in which he recounts some of his hair raising adventures out in the Australian Bush country. Having read about his T.V. interview; and extracts from leading periodicals, I ordered a copy pronto. Well folk, till next week — Keep Smiling as usual!

CHRISTMAS?
How many days to Christmas? A short answer for most of us is 'not enough'. There is so much to do, so much to see to before our pace up to Christmas Week. One chore which I thoroughly enjoy each year is the making of our 'Joy Logs' for the holiday season and the ensuing months and I though you might like to share our recipe for making them if you have and use a fireplace. One of those legs when placd on hot coals or logs will burn an entire evening with a rainbow of flame. To make them, roll newspapers or magazines into rolls about four inches in diameter and then tie with stovepipe wire but not too tightly. Seak the logs in a crock or wooden pail (I use an old fibre tub) in the following solution: Four pounds of bluestone (copper sulphate) and three pounds of rock salt dissolved in a gallon of water. Do not pack the crock too tightly as the logs will swell. Invert the logs occasionally, allow them to seak for two to three weeks. Remove them from the solution and dry thoroughly in the sun or over the beams in the basement. The drying takes about two weeks. Handle with rubber gloves to avoid discoloration of hands.

SMART SQUIRREL
Speaking of cats (my favorite subject), hear that the Gillespie family pet has decided to change her menu. Instead of bringing home her usual little moles and door mice, she has taken a fancy to a little grey squirrel which she frequently poles (not trees). Mrs. Gillespie says the squirrel is smart enough to know that the cat would climb a tree, but cannot climb a pole so Greysie calmly runs to the pole and outwaits and outwits the cat.

-o-

A hearty welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall who have just taken up residence on Trudeau Avenue.

-o-

Anniversary greetings to Mr. and Mrs. James Gillespie of Oliver Avenue who celebrated on Thanksgiving Monday. When asked how many years, Mrs. Gillespie replied 'too long to mention but not long enough to be tired of married life'.

And speaking of Mrs. Gillespie, she would like to tell one of the ladies of the P.T.A. Refreshment and Hospitality Committee that she has a pair of gloves taken in error. They will be returned at the next meeting.

Hear that Joanne Royal of the Heights is a very happy looking girl these days. Could it be because she has joined the Brownie Troop at the Julius Richardson School?

Partial View of New Regional Shopping Plaza Which Officially Opens Tomorrow

All Stores And Buildings Built And Decorated On Most Modern Lines

This page of congratulatory messages on the Grand Opening of the Chateauguay Regional Shopping Plaza tomorrow (Thursday) is sponsored by a number of contractors whose advertisements appear here. From the Steinberg store at one end of Quebec's most modern shopping centre to the Zeller store at the opposite end, Chateauguay Valley residents will admire the functional beauty of every inch, from the brick in the building, cement sidewalks, paved parking areas, etc., to the beautiful marble, tile, terrazzo, etc., exteriors of the individual stores. Each store is individually styled and in each the most modern lighting equipment known is installed. While plumbing cannot be seen by the casual shopper, the plumbing and heating units installed in this huge regional shopping centre leave nothing to be desired and installation was made by the best qualified firms.

Every store is bright and pleasing to the eye, from the pastel colored walls to the beautiful resilient flooring. Nothing has been overlooked in the sincere effort of Dr. Levy and Dr. Joseph to make this shopping centre the the most modern and most functionally beautiful in Canada. A number of innovations in shopping centre structural plans have been incorporated in the Chateauguay Regional Shopping Plaza, such as supervised public washrooms for both men and women which were planned as a part of the shopping centre because, unlike most shopping centres to date, this regional plaza will cater to shoppers within a radius of fifty miles.

A visit, tomorrow (Thursday) the Official Opening Day, is the one sure way to be convinced that the Chateauguay Valley now has the best shopping centre in our province.

Editorial Notes

We Salute The Shopping Plaza

We have known Chateauguay for many years and we have watched it grow from a straggling settlement into a still straggling summer resort and then into a suburban area and to its present status, and it is still growing. The growth of this area over the past ten years has been truly phenomenal and a small residential city has been built almost "overnight", so to speak.

Those stores previously scattered about the area and those in the village could hardly be expected to supply all of this potential. It was thus that under the modern trend and despite the nearness of a large metropolis, that a large shopping centre should be planned for this huge area. Even though a large number of the residents of the Chateauguay area have business in Montreal, it is only natural that they would like to do their shopping in comfort with a large area in which to park the car without fear of being ticketed and to have the family along just in case. What better place to shop than where all that may be required can be obtained all in one spot. The children want shoes – then take the children along and get them fitted properly. The convenience is something which means much to the shopper and helps to take the "hardness" out of the task. Packages as they are obtained can be disposed of into the car, no toting heavy packages all over town and on buses and so forth–

Gault Home And School Association Hold First Meeting Of Season

The first Home and School Association meeting of the Fall season was held Thursday evening Oct. 12th in the Elementary School, with Mr. Carl Glenn, president in the chair.

Mrs. D.J. McDonald, official delegate to the Provincial Conference of the Quebec Home and School Federation held last May, read her report. Others attending the same Conference for one day's session were, Mr. J. Ferris, Mr. C. Glenn, Mr. J. Childs and Mr. G. Luney.

Mr. J. Ferris announced that this year's Home and School Bursary would be awarded to Miss Carole Clendenning, who is presently taking Grade 12 at Edmonton, Alberta.

Mr. Glenn called on Mr. R. Hales, Chairman of this year's 'Operation Bootstraps' to speak Mr. Hales reviewed the meaning of 'Operation Bootstraps' and how it was conducted last year, and presented this year's proposals and plans. There will again be 3 study groups.

1 — Chairman: to be announced; Topic: Reporting to Parents.

2 — Chairman: Mrs. W. C. Pelletier; Topic: Responsibility of Parents.

3 — Chairman: Mr. D. M. MacLean; Topic: General Organization and Service.

An invitation was extended to anyone with a particular interest in any of these Groups to give his or her name to the Chairman.

The guest speaker for this evening was Miss Ruth Lowe, Remedial Consultant and Helping Teacher, presently in the employ of the Pointe Claire-Beaconsfield School Board. Miss Lowe has had a very wide range of experience in several fields, namely Teacher, lecturer, social service work and also as a Chaplain in the last war. All of these lend to her excellent capabilities in her present field of work. She was introduced by Miss G. L. Getty.

Miss Lowe's subject was 'Co-operation of Parents and Teachers to Help Pupils with Difficulties and Problems'. Some of the points she brought to each present were, that we should all realize that many children have possibilities that don't appear on the surface, and these latent abilities of our children require our understanding. She also showed us that it required understanding and patience to discover 'The gold in them thar hills'.

We should try especially hard 'to accentuate the positive' — that in the worst or most incorrigible of kids there is some good and something can be found worthy of a compliment, even small as it may seem to be. Praise can do much, especially with children. This along with proper discipline works much better than always taking the negative attitude.

Mr. J. Childs thanked Miss Lowe for her thought-provoking 'talk'. In doing so he said that it was important in programming to maintain interest in the Organization, especially when one is trying to build up a Home and School. It was particularly important that the first meeting get off with a good start. To get this first meeting of the '61 and 62 season off to a good start the Thanks were owed to Miss Lowe.

OUR VALLEY

(By S. J. Currie)

C.V.H.S.

Looking down on Our Valley from the hills, it appears in summer like a vast green carpet, unrolling from the foothills of the Adirondacks to the threshold of Montreal. Our Chateauguay Valley is green and fair — a good place to live, Here our forefathers came and

By their steadfast faith and firm endeavour
Helped create a nation out of the wilderness,
Leaving a monument that shall endure,
Not in crumbling stone, but in our hearts - who follow after.

Who were they? Where did they come from? Where did they settle? There are many missing threads in the fabric of the past, but much has been preserved. The history of Our Valley is all around us in many historic sites and old buildings. Some of the people who settled here became rich and famous, but all touched on greatness because they shared in the building of a great nation. They are worthy of remembrance, and in remembering them we honour them.

The recently organized Chateauguay Valley Historical Society has adopted as one of its first projects, a survey for the purpose of locating and listing these buildings and sites. It is planned to erect plaques to mark locations, and issue a booklet listing these places, with some historic background of each. A map will be included, with several tours suggested as "Journeys to Yesterday".

Our past is all around us, and these tours can become trips back in time, to bring out information about the past, as well as guides to pleasant drives through the district. Many links with the past still exist in buildings and sites and it is hoped these trips will stimulate interest in retaining and preserving what yet remains of our heritage. We will see the places our forebears built, and learn something of what they did in creating a nation out of the wilderness, their part of it here.

In planning the project, Robert Sellar's history of the district will prove invaluable as a handbook of data about the past which would not have been otherwise preserved. In some cases family tradition has preserved stories of early days, and these might well be included. However in all too many cases the information is meager, and it is hoped that anyone having information about buildings, sites and stories of the past, will help the project along by sending it in.

The first project should present a "collection" of buildings and sites, which, combined with historical data, might give us a living museum covering the whole valley, and the "Journeys to Yesterday" develop it into one of the most unique museums of its kind — a museum covering many miles. The sites and buildings are here. The Society plans to locate and catalog them. The assistance of all persons interested in Valley history is essential to insure success. Let us have your stories of by-gone days and information about people and places.

Over the past 10 years nearly 400,000 persons have emigrated from Canada to the United States.

—Quick Canadian Facts

Remembrance Day

What is the meaning of November 11 with its various observances?

Why do thousands of men, women and children gather at the cenotaph or in the armory, and why does the crimson poppy seem so popular?

First, then, the purpose of Remembrance Day is that we recall with gratitude, and honour those courageous Canadians who served,suffered and died for the cause of freedom in the destructive and costly wars participated in by Canada in the years since 1914.

We gather for remembrance services that we may publicly pay tribute to those who fell at Ypres, the Somme, Dieppe, Normandy, Hong Kong, Korea and in all the various war zones where patriotism called them to serve on land, sea or in the air.

At the same time, we honour and encourage all those who contributed to victory, but were not asked for the supreme sacrifice, disabled veterans, all veterans, and their heroic families.

The poppy, its red a symbol of blood shed and its black signifying death, speaks clearly of the sacrifices made, and is being, a source of assistance to our veterans in their various good works for the disabled and the sick, and for the families of those heroes. This flower grows over the graves of our valiant men who rest in Flanders Fields and who contributed powerfully to our winning of nationhood, so is in every way a fitting symbol of the day.

Besides gratefully remembering and practically assisting our veterans on Remembrance Day, our citizens are inspired by the fine examples of those brave Canadians whom we honour, to work tirelessly to preserve our democratic way of life, and ever to give Canada their best efforts.

This is the significance of Remembrance Day.

Expansion Of Employment Advisory Committee

At their last meeting on October 5th, 1961, the Employment Advisory Committee of the Valleyfield area has made recommendation to the Unemployment Insurance Commission to add members to the Committee by having another representative from the workers' associations and a representative from the farmers' associations to join them.

The committee would then have representatives from the workers, employers, business world, Canadian Legion, women's asscciations and social service.

Of the 114 different species of purebred dogs registered with the Canadian Kennel Club, the beagle and the poodle lead in number of registrations.

Another week has passed and it brings us another week closer to Christmas and holidays, but for the meantime we will have to stick it out in the classrooms.

The weather has been very unpredictable and a lot of people have caught colds from the rapid change in the weather over the week-end.

-o-

Boy Scout Briefs

The Boy Scouts of the Maple Boy Scout Troop are taking on a daring adventure for this time of the year and even though it is to raise money it will be a very chilly affair but will be helpful to the community. Now that I've got you wondering I'll tell you that they are planning an Apple Day on October 19, that's Thursday, starting at 5 P.M. till 9:30 P.M. at the Chateauguay Regional Shopping Plaza. The Scouts will be stationed throughout the Plaza with apples and we hope that everyone will give generously to the Boy Scouts.

Dances

Again this coming week-end there will be two dances, one on Friday and the other Saturday night.

On Friday night there will be another Sox Hop at Maple School. This week there are a few notices and these refer to the early and late arrivals. Early arrivals, please note that there are Cubs holding a meeting in the school and any attending the dance are asked to arrive after 8:30 P.M. so as to give the Cubs a chance to clear the hall.

Also to the late comers: anyone arriving after 10 P.M. will not be allowed into the dance, so anyone who wants to come please get there before 10 P.M. and after 8:30 P.M.

The other dance will be held at the Chateauguay Heights Recreation Club. Music will be supplied by the Septres and it looks as though it will be a swell dance so come one come all, there will be fun and prizes for everyone.

Chatter

Well the Magazine Subscription Campaign is now in full swing in Chateauguay in both Maple and the High School. We hope that the people of Chateauguay will give to this campaign so as to help their children.

Two parties were held this week-end and everyone had a swell time at both.

Julie Kaiser held a party on Saturday night and everyone of the 26 people had a swell time. J.C. & B.K. and D.S. & R.N. were with each other a lot at the party and they are now going steady. Good Luck kids.

Seems as though S.B. and B.L. have been seeing a lot of each other lately.

G.F. and J.T. have been seeing a lot of two girls namely A.J. and E.T. Nice work boys.

A surprise party was held for Linda Dickson on Friday night at the home of Sandra Watson. Sixteen people attended and a good time was had by all.

Well thats all for this week folks but I leave you with this saying "Try to see yourself as others see you, but try not to get mad about it."

Hallowe'en Dance — Saturday, October 28th.

Mrs. Syd Mitchel with the help of several teen-agers, Maureen and Linda Simmons, Nadine Clarke and Gerry Marshall were busy Saturday afternoon canvassing the development selling tickets for the dance.

A reader of last week's column kindly phoned me saying my directions to the dance in Beauharnois were a little confusing, and gave me the following more explicit directions. On entering Beauharnois take left fork (Ellice Street) to end of street, turn left on Chemin St. Louis, then go up hill, Church is on right hand, while the Recreation Hall "Centre Recreation des Loisirs St. Clement" is on the left. There, I hope I got that straight this time. Don't forget folks, ask your friends and make up a party. There's plenty of room, both inside the hall and for parking your cars. As the saying goes "The more the Merrier" — so join us one and all.

We Salute...

everything done in one area and take as long as you like.

In building this regional shopping plaza, work was provided for a large number of persons and an investment of millions of dollars was made in this Chateauguay area to make it all possible. As the centre began to get under way and right down to this very opening, still more employment was offered and much of it to the citizens of this new area. It is truly a very helpful undertaking in the many ways it can be looked at.

Apart from all this despite the publicity that Chateauguay has already gained for itself, it will gain still more and more as time passes. More and more people than those who live in the area will come to Chateauguay and these will come from the many districts that abound beyond.

The Chateauguay Gleaner salutes the opening of the Chateauguay Regional Shopping Plaza as another huge step forward in the growth of this area. It means a great future for a residential district and it can be expected that the development has only just started. Already it has passed the "big" in several of the stores that have opened here today. Who knows what will happen by tomorrow?

Erratum

Mr. ERNEST KOENIG
Steinberg Manager

The popular manager of the new Steinberg store in Chateauguay Regional Shopping Plaza, Mr. Ernest Koenig, has informed The Chateauguay Gleaner that he started his career in Canada as a stock boy for Henry Morgan & Co. in Montreal and not in the Steinberg store at Henry Morgan's. Our error, sir, our apologies.
