World News In Brief

Toronto, Aug. 25.—(CP)—A legend in Canadian musical circles has ended with the death of Louis Weizmann who brought an inheritance of centuries of musical tradition when he came to Canada from Europe years ago. A musical arranger for the CBC, he died yesterday in hospital he was 86.

Mr. Weizmann was born in the house once occupied by Mozart, in Salzburg, Austria, world-famed for its musical festivals.

He was librarian with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra for 23 years, joining it on its inception. It was as a violinist he joined the new group and later it was his custom to hand the conductor his baton for each performance.

Wonderful, Colo., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Eight men were killed and 10 hurt yesterday when lightning touched off a dynamite blast at a dam site and searchers still checked today to see if there were other casualties.

The explosion sent a rain of boulders and debris smashing down on the site of a $12,000,000 dam project in South Boulder Creek canyon.

The dam site is about 35 miles northwest of Denver. Between 50 and 60 men were working in the area when the lightning touched off the dynamite which was to have been fired when the day shift went off duty at 5 p.m. The blast was at 1:40 p.m.

Washington, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Telegraph rates in the United States are going up, and that 10-worder is going out.

In most cases, the exact number of the rate increases remains to be worked out. But the minimum charge will be for 15 words instead of the present 10.

The Federal Communications Commission yesterday disapproved as too high proposed rate schedules filed by the western union telegraph company and designed to yield $11,000,000 net revenue.

However, the F.C.C. agreed the company needs up to $9,800,000 more revenue as a result of a July 1 wage increase.

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The United States embassy said today there are 664 Americans on this Chinese national headquarters island—265 military personnel and 399 civilians.

The embassy said it announced the figures to correct inaccurate reports abroad.

Lima, Peru, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The supreme court has freed a publisher serving a four-month sentence for having reproduced a Life Magazine article about Eva Peron, wife of the Argentine president. The court in its decision ruled, however, that publisher Leonidas Rivera must pay the state $3,000 fines ($210) for damages. Rivera is publisher of the weekly Buen Humor (good humor).

Western Farmers Require 3,000 Helpers For Harvest

By The Canadian Press

It's the biggest want-ad in Canada—needed: 3,000 men.

With a bumper crop in the fields, the west looked anxiously to the east for harvest help.

Good wages—for skilled and unskilled farm help—are not attracting enough regular workers to do the job. As a result, the Prairie provinces have asked Ontario and Quebec to send 3,000 men to help bring in the harvest.

The first group of an expected 1,200 Quebec harvesters left for Winnipeg this week. But it's doubtful whether the west will get its expected quota from Ontario where a heavy grain crop is leaving few harvesters for duties outside the province.

Quebec sent 1,182 workers west last year and officials say the figure may have to be increased this year to offset Ontario's labor shortage.

In Alberta, harvesting starts next week on what is expected to be a record crop. Needed immediately are 150 men — for 150 farms.

Last year 738 easterners invaded Alberta to help bring in the crops. This year the Alberta agriculture department has asked for 1,000 eastern workers but could use 1,500.

Construction, oil and other industries have siphoned off much of the province's own labor force. Things are so tight, in fact, that consideration is being given to the idea of recruiting school children in large numbers for the harvest.

The bumper crop is producing another headache in Alberta. The education department says that the prosperity on farms may discourage farm housewives from re-

5,000 Apply Daily For New Pensions

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—(CP)—Canada's aged are applying at a rate of 5,000 a day for a Federal pension of $40 a month starting next January.

About three weeks ago, the Federal Welfare Department asked Canadians 70 and over, not now in receipt of a government pension, to apply if they wished to receive a pension under a new universal program. So far about 160,000 applications have been received.

It is estimated there are 400,000 Canadians 70 and over, not now in receipt of a government pension. There are another 315,000 in receipt of old-age pensions. Those already receiving a pension will have their records transferred from provincial government offices to Federal offices and automatically will be brought under the new program next January.

The Welfare Department hopes to reach a target of 200,000 applications by Sept. 1st. This would leave it an additional 200,000 to receive and process in the four months before the pensions become payable.

Of applications so far received, 800 have come from Newfoundland; 6,700 from Nova Scotia; 1,700 from Prince Edward Island; 3,500 from New Brunswick; 37,000 from Quebec; 65,000 from Ontario; 7,500 from Manitoba; 8,500 from Saskatchewan; 7,000 from Alberta, and 20,000 from British Columbia.

Under the new plan, the Federal government will pay pensions of $40 a month to all persons 70 and over, regardless of means, provided they have lived in Canada for 20 years.

At present pensions of $40 a month are paid to persons 70 and over who lived in Canada for 20 years and who can prove their need for such a pension. The Federal government pays 75 per cent of the cost of the pensions and the provinces the remainder.

The new program will be financed out of taxation, with all taxpayers who can contribute something toward the cost of the pensions. It is not yet known how the tax will be applied.

The Federal government now is negotiating with the provinces on a program under which pensions of $40 a month would be paid to needy persons between 65 and 69 who have lived in Canada for at least 20 years. The Federal government and the provinces would share the cost on a 50-50 basis.

This program will go into effect next January in those provinces which have concluded agreements by that time with the Federal government.

Supreme Commander Calls Communist Charges Malicious Falsehoods.

By ROBERT EUNSON

Tokyo, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today sent a blistering message to top Red commanders in Korea and left it up to them whether armistice talks would continue in Kaesong.

The supreme allied commander said he was willing to resume negotiations, halted by the Reds.

But he rejected as "malicious falsehoods" communist accusations that United Nations forces violated Kaesong's neutrality.

The Reds broke off the talks two days ago. They demanded a "satisfactory" answer to their charge that a United Nations plane attacked Kaesong to murder the Red delegation.

Ridgway's reply said the charge was "so utterly false, so preposterous and so obviously manufactured" that it did not merit a reply.

The next step was up to the communists. Ridgway's scathing message gave them a hard choice.

The harshly worded reply was sent to Kim Il Sung, North Korea Premier, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, commander of the Chinese Red forces in Korea.

The last paragraph left the door open — just a crack — for a resumption of talks.

Ridgway said, "when you are prepared to terminate the suspension of armistice negotiations... I will direct my representatives to meet with yours, with a view to seeking a reasonable armistice agreement."

Ridgway's reply, in tone and content, came as no surprise to observers here.

They said he could hardly apologize for incidents he had already branded as "manufactured in advance."

Nor, the observers added, can the Reds accept the blast as the "satisfactory" answer they demanded.

It is possible, said the observers, the Reds will agree to continue negotiations, and try to convince the world they are doing so for the sake of peace.

Ridgway pulled no punches.

He told the Reds:

"This most recent addition to alleged incidents... so utterly false, so preposterous and so obviously manufactured for your own questionable purposes does not, in its own right, merit a reply."

"Nor do the incidents you have cited... When not fabricated by you for your own propaganda needs, these incidents have proven to be the actions of irregulars without the slightest connection with any forces or agencies under my control."

"The evidence in this most recent alleged violation was even more palpably compounded for your insidious propaganda purposes than your earlier efforts."

"I have caused the results of the investigation into this most recent allegation to be widely publicized, so that the entire world will be fully cognizant of your quite evident attempt to use a 'manufactured' incident in order to evade your responsibility for having suspended the negotiations."

Premier Says Bridge Probe Is Impartial

Quebec, Aug. 25.—(CP)—Premier Duplessis yesterday replied to a request for official Liberal representation at a public inquiry into the collapse of the $3,000,000 Three Rivers bridge with the statement that it will be conducted "impartially as it should be."

George Marler, Liberal opposition leader in the Quebec Legislature, requested in a letter Aug. 20 that his party be represented by counsel at the inquiry Aug. 27, in Three Rivers. Leon Methot, legal adviser to the inquiry commission, is a Union Nationale "supporter," Mr. Marler claimed.

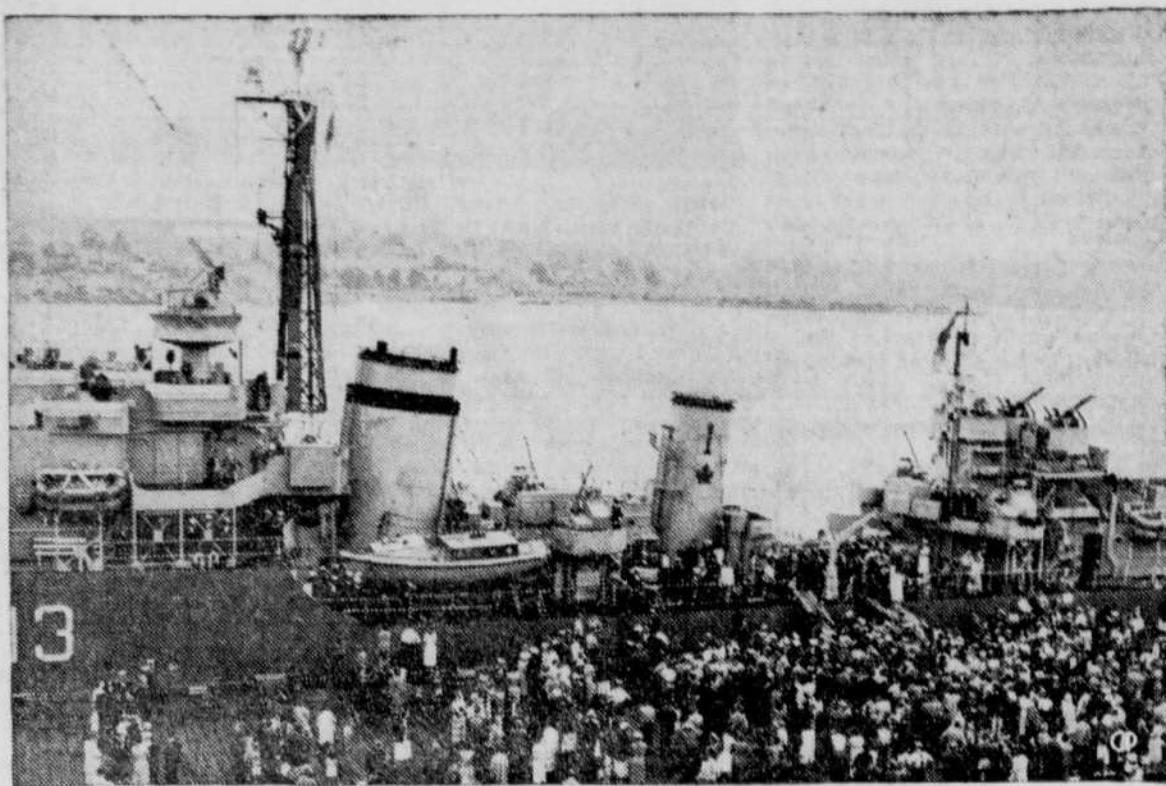

"Mr. Marler seems to forget the inquiry will be held and conducted by two well-qualified and competent persons — magistrate Rene Lippé and Lucien Dandaneau, former chief engineer for the federal department of public works in Montreal."

The Premier told his weekly press conference that the Liberals had the opportunity to discuss the bridge collapse at the last session and would have another opportunity when the forthcoming session opens Nov. 7.

The Premier announced plans for a $15,000,000 hydro-electric project.

Break-Down Of Oil Negotiations May Mean Trouble For Premier Mossadegh

By ROBERT B. HEWETT

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Iranian foes of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh are speaking up again, now that oil talks with Britain have collapsed for a second time.

Trouble threatens in the political field. Elections are coming up this fall and there will be a battle for control of Parliament.

The frail, stubborn-willed nationalist has staked his popularity on refusing an oil deal with Britain despite almost certain economic troubles.

But the breakdown of talks with Britain this week means more than money trouble for the man who won power by nationalizing property of the influential Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Collapse of the negotiations has spurred Mossadegh's enemies, ranging from moderates to wealthy landowners in Parliament. They fear the governing national front will make big gains in the November-December elections if Mossadegh controls the ballot box.

The growing political strife, unemployment and business slump is bound to stir up Iran as a result of the loss of oil revenue—source of half the government's budget.

Only the underground communist Tudeh party and Russia Iran's northern neighbor, stand to gain. Western diplomats fear a continuing oil crisis will soften Iran for communism.

Nationalizing Anglo-Iranian operations made Mossadegh the hero of the hour in a country which blames most of its troubles on the real and fancied intrigue of the British company.

Any Parliament deputy voting against oil nationalization would be committing suicide as surely as voting against the Koran.

But so far, the nationalistic premier has not made good on his promise of a "life of ease and comfort" for Iran's 15,000,000 persons now they control their own oil riches.

Politicians and newspapers who backed Mossadegh's oil takeover are asking for the promised rewards. The newspaper Dad (Justice) expressed the growing opposition sentiment this way after the talks broke down:

"After three months and 20 days, the only results of Mossadegh's policy has been the closing of the Abadan refinery, misunderstanding between Iran and the big powers, and the danger of a full economic crisis and bankruptcy."

Desperate attacks—even leading to an attempt to defeat Mossadegh's government on a vote of confidence in Parliament—may be expected within a month. Under Iranian law, arrangements for the election should be completed by Sept. 23.

Mossadegh, a sharp politician, pushed through oil nationalization and won repeated votes of confidence in Parliament by hinting vaguely at popular uprisings.

Some westerners fear Mossadegh might carry out his threat if he is pushed from power through pressure from the Shah, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, or foreign influences.

Britain apparently is pinning hopes now on getting an oil agreement through a change in government. Britain has made and broken promises in the past. But she runs the risk of playing into communist hands if she moves against Mossadegh, some observers believe.

The big question is how long Mossadegh can last without oil revenues. With the huge Abadan refinery closed and oil wells capped, there is little prospect of much help from that source.

Hungarian Will Try Falls Plunge

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 25.—(CP)—Leslie Sander has made a bet with death—a foolish bet.

He'll try to win it today. He has bet that he can go over Niagara Falls in a twin-hulled 12-foot steel barrel and keep his life.

Last night in a Niagara Falls, N.Y., rooming house, he told reporters that he is determined to make the 165-foot drop into the swirling green cauldron below the Horseshoe falls—but he didn't tell them about his arrangements for making it.

He was said to have a team of handlers primed to spirit the torpedo-shaped barrel to an unnamed point on the American side of the river—out of the jurisdiction of Ontario's provincial police, who are determined to stop Sander from making his stunt.

They were ordered by Ontario's Premier Frost to stop such river exhibitions following the death on August 5 of William (Red) Hill who tried to shoot the falls in a contraption he made from inner tubes and fish netting.

Sander's helpers last night faced other problems than that of the provincial police.

Canadian customs officials were reported ready to impound the barrel if they tried to take it across to the American side of the river.

Jiggs Rufrano, who built the steel torpedo for Sander, said $150 was still owing on it.

But Sander's helpers employed cloak and dagger tactics last night. Reporters couldn't question them as to what they intended to do. They couldn't find them.

And Rufrano didn't seem to be worrying about his $150. Late yesterday afternoon, he put last minute touches to the barrel.

Sander insisted last night that he was going over the falls:

"With a barrel or without a barrel. It is the realization of a dream I have had for many years."

The little, Hungarian-born interior decorator shrugged his shoulders.

"Everything is going wrong," he said. "But I will not go home and say that I have failed."

Nothing was heard yesterday of another man, said to be preparing to make the big drop some time today.

Toronto newspapers reported Thursday that an unidentified young Toronto steppchild would make the attempt. His first name was said to be Hank and he is said to have taken up the proposition on a dare from fellow workers.

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 25.—(Reuters)—Duncan Sandys, British member of parliament and chairman of the international committee of the European movement, was received yesterday by Marshal Tito, Yugoslav Prime Minister, at Brdo, Slovenia, and afterwards dined with him.

Russian Questions About Peace Treaty Were Tricky

(Editor's note: Behind the Japanese peace treaty which will be signed in San Francisco at a conference starting Sept. 4 is the story of 18 months of hard work and diplomatic salesmanship by one man—John Foster Dulles. Here is the third of five dispatches by NEA's Washington correspondent that tells how that treaty was born.)

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
Washington—(NEA)—The six questions on the proposed Japanese peace treaty which Russian UN delegate Jacob Malik left with U.S. Ambassador John Foster Dulles at their second meeting in November, 1950, were extremely tricky.

The first pointed out that the Allied powers in January, 1942, had agreed not to make a separate peace with axis countries. Did the United States now intend to go ahead with a separate treaty?

Dulles' answer to this and the other Russian questions was that the 1942 agreement covered hostilities. At this time, the United States did not concede to anyone the power to veto a treaty with Japan.

At Cairo and Potsdam it had been agreed that Formosa and the Kurile islands had been given to Soviet Russia. Malik's second question:

What was the meaning of the U.S. proposal to leave these islands to settlement by the U.S., Britain, Russia and China within one year, or to throw the problem into the UN General Assembly if agreement were not reached by the Big Four powers?

The Formosa question had been before the UN that Fall. This created a precedent for the proposal, Dulles said. But all territorial matters, it was pointed out, were subjects to final treaty settlement.

Thirdly, Malik questioned the American trusteeship over the Ryukus, since that issue had not been covered by the Cairo and Potsdam agreements.

Korean Campaign Reminds Army Officers Of Spanish Revolution

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer
With The Canadians in Korea, Aug. 25.—(CP)—The Korean fighting a preview of the kind to be expected in any future war?

Is the day of the long, armored thrust, or of the massed tank and cultural prowess, aroused in him a feeling of happiness. Such an exhibition reflected the good-will that nations of good intention hoped would some day become world-wide.

The General, first American ever to open the exhibition, said his surroundings, amid all the evidences of Canadian industrial and cultural prowess, aroused in him a feeling of happiness. Such an exhibition reflected the good-will that nations of good intention hoped would some day become world-wide.

As a field for police action, and for the clearance from a country of an aggressor, Korea's very nature has demanded the type of infantry warfare now being waged here.

But it is not the type of warfare, nor the sort of battlefield, in which the west could fight a showdown battle with world communism—should such a showdown ever be forced.

In the event of a major stand against communism, it is thought here, Korea could be abandoned. It just does not permit the maximum mass deployment of the west's power, the only way to win wars speedily and with minimum cost to life.

"Fire and movement" win today's wars, both as high-powered as the land allows.

Almost anywhere else in the world but Korea that means, tanks, self-propelled artillery, strong mobile columns of infantry and air superiority.

Hollywood—The way I've got it figured out, I'd rather pay money to a travel agency than to a psychiatrist.
Not that I've anything against psychiatrists. Some of my best friends support them. And need them. But when Hollywood's green hills and golden sunshine jangle my nerves I hop on a train or a plane instead of a confessional couch.
This has taken me to Europe, the Bahamas, Cuba, South America, and Mexico. It's expensive therapy but it works. And I'm a happier, better adjusted lass for it.

AT THE PREMIER

ROMANCE... Beautiful Barbara Britton and Philip Reed in a tender scene from "Bandit Queen", an exciting new film of early California which starts tomorrow at the New Premier Theatre with "Mrs. Mike", starring Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes.

For all this I give frequent thanks to a director-friend's story.
"When I get the Hollywood mumbo-jumbos," he said, "I walk out of the studio and get on the nearest street car or bus going to Los Angeles. I walk the street and talk to people—just PEOPLE! Then I come back to work knowing a world exists outside of Hollywood."
That makes complete sense to me. My home and my career are in Hollywood and I appreciate the happiness and financial freedom I've gained here. But let's face it, the movie business is made to order for the couch doctors.
There are good reasons for this. Hollywood by its very nature is a place that manufactures dreams. Dreams aren't the easiest thing to come by in a conversation with him. He's better than the oaf of a director who's garroting his deathless prose. Comedians feel they're Hamlet types; and dramatic actors just know they have a fine sense of comedy.
It even reflects itself in the social life. You go to a party. In most instances you'd think the world began and end with an epic film. The threat of the atom bomb isn't as menacing as television. The new management of United Artists is of more concern than the United Nations.
As a friend once told me: "You get sunk in your swimming pool and God help you if you forget to come up for air."

Ships Ride 'Em Cowboy

day. And when life's voyage is over, I shall rest with These for evermore.
So, life aboard the ship named Midstream, can be strong in gathered wisdom, practical usefulness and in ripening character. Youth will ever "mount up on wings"; but as great a triumph it is that mid-life shall "run and not be weary," and old age shall "walk and not faint."
THE SHIP—SUNSET
There is no rush to board the ship named Sunset despite Brown's assurance: "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be." Old age has the hardest time of it, with the heaviest discomforts and the poorest compensations. We must, however, be practical and adjust ourselves to life's changes so that we pass from ship to ship gracefully, safely, as victors assured of the unfailing direction of the Pilot of Galilee who bade us: "Fear not; I will pilot thee." Today, as yore, humble Christian voyagers need the God of all good and valiant voyages as they sail "by faith" and not by sight.
Youth, middle age, and old age, each needs Christ to pilot them for He is the only Master Pilot. (John 14:6, Tim. 2:5). With Him all is well! Without Him there are breakers ahead with disaster stalking.
Our generation is out of joint and millions in their restlessness have turned to various "isms"—Bolshevism, Fascism, Nazism, Communism, Materialism, and Atheism—and found them lacking with the answers to life's problems.
Tell it out, O Church of the Living Christ, that Thou hast the answer. Christ, through His mystical Body, the Church, therefore, summons and expects you to respond to the incredibly bold and daring scheme of building all human relationships, between men and men, class and class, nation and nation, on a basis of loving and understanding fellowship. Only those who are right in their own personal lives; only those who have surrendered to Jesus Christ, and are endeavoring by His grace to deny themselves, take up their cross and follow Him, are able to take any real and effective part in the great Crusade.

Accept and obey the orders of Christ, then, in childhood, youth, middle age, or death, knowing that He sees beyond the skyline and never makes mistakes. Our Pilot knows the unknown seas and He can be trusted to bring us safely to the Harbor of Home Sweet Home, Heaven!
Sail on, then, "by faith," in your ship, the ship of hope—the Church of Christ! All is well! Our Father's at the helm! Alleluia!

Fish And Game Club Meet At Ayer's Cliff

Ayer's Cliff, Aug. 25. — The directors of the Stanstead County Fish and Game Club met at St. George's hall, Ayer's Cliff.
Following an estimate of costs given to clean and stock waters in the Magog district, the decision was made to start immediate proceedings to clean the O'Malley Pond and stock it with trout, and to stock East Branch Pond with muskies. A motion was passed that a fox hunt be scheduled for this fall, the club to purchase three boxes of shotgun shells, which will be in charge of Paul Brunet, Coaticook, Mr. Gustin in Magog, John Boucher and Warren Soutiere in Stanstead. Shells to be given out to hunters on the scheduled day only, and if the shoot proves successful more shells will be purchased and given out. The chicken shoot will be held at Johann's farm on the Coaticook-Dixville highway on Sunday, September 23; this event is in charge of members from Magog and Coaticook and promises to be a good time in store for everyone.

Outstanding Exhibits, Top-Notch Entertainment Feature Program; Spivak Show Is First Attraction

The Sherbrooke Fair, biggest of the Eastern Townships exhibitions, starts today with a program guaranteed to please every one of the many thousands of persons who will pass through the turnstiles during the next week.

Judging started this morning in the ladies department where a large number of entrants from many parts of the Townships will vie for the many cash awards that will be distributed in the various sections.

The Conklin midway started moving into the grounds late yesterday afternoon and by this evening many of the rides and side-show attractions will be operating.

This will be welcome news to the crowds that will be on hand for the opening entertainment attraction of the show—a dance and concert staged by Charlie Spivak's internationally-renowned orchestra this evening.

The Spivak concert has attracted wide attention and a large crowd is expected to be on hand at the harness races and in the evening the George Hamid grandstand show will have its first staging. This is a top notch show, fully up to the standards of previous years with artists who have won high acclaim in the United States and Europe.

The main building, with its many industrial exhibits, will be open and will be a centre of attraction. There are more exhibits in the industrial exhibit than ever before and many firms have had to take space outdoors because all the interior booths are booked.

In this building will be seen the latest models of automobiles and outstanding displays of local manufacturers and merchants as well as firms whose products are known from coast to coast.

Monday is children's day at the fair and E.T.A.A. authorities are hoping that the weatherman will look more favorably on the youngsters this year than he did in 1949 and 1950. In both these years rain forced postponement of this day for the youngsters, but the forecasts are more favorable this year.

If there is fine weather there likely will be close to 10,000 youngsters on the grounds, enjoying the special rates on the midway, which this year has several new attractions especially designed for boys and girls. Among them is a full-sized fire truck that should be one of the most popular drawing cards of the fair.

Monday, too, is press day and a dinner will be held in the evening for editors of Quebec and Vermont papers. Later the newspaper men will be guests of the E.T.A.A. at the grandstand show.

Sisters Seek Support For Tag Days

Citizens of Sherbrooke have learned to know and appreciate the little Sisters of the Assumption, who in their quiet, unassuming way, go about doing good and relieving the sufferings of the afflicted, regardless of race or creed.

The Superior and the other Sisters are grateful for the generosity which the public has shown them and feel that their annual Tag Day, August 31 and September 1, will again be a success.

This year, more than ever they are in need of help, because for the development of their mission, they have found it necessary to enlarge their Convent on Gordon Street.

They are confident that their appeal will not go unheeded, and in anticipation, express grateful thanks to all their benefactors.

as guests of the E.T.A.A. The first of two big cattle parades will be held and there will be judging in the heavy horses and Ayrshire sections.

Judging will be completed on Thursday and another big parade of cattle and horses will take place. On Friday the full entertainment program will be staged. The fair ends on Saturday.

Given a break from the weatherman, this year's exhibition, the 66th annual, promises to be one of the best in the history of the E.T.A.A. Rain during the last two weeks cut down what first promised to be a record entry, but the leading breeders and farmers of the Townships will exhibit the finest field and farm products to be seen in the Townships.

J. A. Ste. Marie, head of the Dominion Experimental Station at Lennoxville, is president of the E.T.A.A., and John Peters of Magog and Dr. L. A. Gendreau of Sherbrooke are vice-presidents. A. C. Ross is managing director and J. R. Manseau is secretary-treasurer.

Legion Log

Activities of Legion Branches in the Eastern Townships

BRANCH NO. 26, COATICOOK

Once more a few lines from "26" and as is usual with prodigal branches, we have a good reason for returning. We want to extend to all Legion members a sincere invitation to drop in to see us when in Coaticook at our new Home.

We are having what we hope will become an annual event at the end of this month, a Tombola. There will be a great variety of Booths, all interesting and with numerous prizes, also a number of door prizes for the two nights. The dates by the way are—Aug. 31, and the 1st Sept., and in the evenings at the Armouries, with special children's events for Saturday afternoon. So why not spend an evening or two in the "Pearl of the Townships" and take home a giant Panda or some other equally good prize.

Your problem about what to do on Labour Day can be solved by coming to the gala dance at the Armouries. A very special attraction on Saturday night is the well known and famous Pipe Band of Branch No. 10. May we see you on those two days.

Our membership is growing and we are all trying to do even better, if we all really try it is a cinch that we can have 200 at the end of the year. I am glad to be able to report that "Ole Bill," the last chap to do the Legion Log effort, is improving in health. Before I wind this up one last word to our own members—be sure to see that all you said you would do for the Tombola is done. See you next week, and maybe we will know a bit more about this business by then.

Amy Bradford Wins Stanstead Scholarship

Dr. E. C. Amaron, Principal of Stanstead College, has just announced that Miss Amy Bradford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bradford, of Foster, Que., has been awarded the J. Harmon Andrews, M. M. Scholarship at Stanstead College.

Miss Bradford graduated from Knowlton High School, a year ago and has since been working in Sherbrooke. At Stanstead, Miss Bradford will take a Commercial Course in the Bugbee Business College.

The scholarship, which is valued at $400, bears the name of J. Harmon Andrews, formerly of Coaticook, a graduate of the Bugbee Business College, and now President of Lyman's Limited, Montreal.

VENOMOUS CARGO

53rd Chap. I.O.D.E., Tea Room open Sun., Main Bldg., Sherb. Exhibition. Light lunches, snacks, hot and cold drinks, ice cream.

George Chapman got up to give his report on the Pipe Band, which is certainly a credit to Branch 10. The Pipe Band is always ready at the drop of a hat to be of help to the Branch.

The meeting saw nine new members inducted and three re-instatements. I might mention at this point that it was partly due to the efforts of vice-president Ash Stewart that seven new members were signed up. This is great work. Ash, I hope the other members will take notice and do their part towards bringing in new members. We will be happy to accept any number of new members who wish to join and are entitled to membership. Padre Ottivelli was on hand to pin the Legion buttons on the new members.

Tuesday night was movie night. There were some very good films shown, such as Seeds of Destiny, which showed all the tortures of political prisoners, the malnutrition of children, all the different threats that Hitler had made against the Allies—threats that all backfired. We also had a film on the making of a violin and a trip down the Saguenay. The evening finished off with the film on the Toronto Symphony and the yearly festival held in Winnipeg.

Keep Monday Sept. 10 in mind as a possible big night at the Legion. We hope to have as our guest that night Canadian Press war correspondent Bill Boss who is flying home from Korea next week for a couple of weeks' leave. Boss has been with the Canadians in Korea since early in the year and had agreed to make a couple of speeches in Canada. One of these will be in Quebec city and there is a good possibility that another will be to our branch. We hope to have something definite on this for next week's log.

Boys' Town Ends Successful Term

Boys' Town, the Optimist-sponsored recreation centre for juveniles, Victoria Park, brings a most successful season to a close this week-end.

The "Town" was operated for eight weeks this year and, under the leadership of Laurier LaPierre, drew more than 2,100 youngsters by the end of last week, which already tops 1950's attendance figure.

Man Fined For Smuggling U. S. Cigarets

Joseph Moore, of Ayer's Cliff, was fined $200 and costs when he pleaded guilty here recently to a charge of illegal possession of smuggled goods.

He was arrested at his home and police seized 410 cartons of contraband cigarettes. In addition to the 82,000 cigarettes, police also seized Moore's 1947 automobile which they said was used to smuggle the cigarettes from the United States to Canada.

The seizure was part of the R.C.M.P.'s constant vigilance against smuggling by border patrol operating on a 24-hour basis.

Our Congratulations To:

Miss Harling Is Honored At Shower

Miss Betty Harling, of Sherbrooke, a bride-to-be of the week, was a guest of honor at a charmingly arranged surprise china and linen shower, given by Mrs. Harry Webster, at her home, on Prospect Street, Lennoxville.

The guest of honor, upon arrival, was escorted to a prettily decorated chair to the strains of the Wedding March, and was presented with a daintily decorated basket done in pink and white as was the decorative scheme carried out throughout the already attractive rooms.

The multicolored packages when unwrapped revealed a number of beautiful china cups and saucers as well as numerous pieces of linen for which Miss Harling graciously thanked her many friends present who were from Bishopston and Bury, as well as locally.

At the tea hour, Mrs. Parker Harling, of Bishopston, and Mrs. C. Rutler, of Sherbrooke, mothers of the prospective bride and groom, did the honors at the lace covered tea table, which was centered with a silver bowl of pink and white asters, with matching tapers in silver holders. A pleasant social evening was enjoyed.

Good Attendance Marks Second Day Of Ayer's Cliff Fair; On Today

By LOUIS CASSAR

Ayer's Cliff, Aug. 25.—The Ayer's Cliff fair went into its third and last day this morning with clearing skies forecast by the weather experts. Yesterday was an eventful day with capacity crowds on hand morning, afternoon and evening.

Judging continued in horses and cattle, and will be completed in these departments today. A grandstand performance, two harness races and livestock parades featured yesterday afternoon's activities.

Wes Nichol took the B.B. Glove Manufacturing Co. prize for the best beef herd on parade, with second place and the C.I.L. prize going to the James A. Woodward Estate in Lennoxville. The George Philbrick prize for the best Ayrshire herd on parade went to P. J. Whitcomb.

Two harness races, full livestock parades and an afternoon and evening grandstand performance are slated for today's program.

Judging of the large Women's Institutes' exhibit on the top floor of the main building was completed yesterday. First prize for the best collection of handmade articles was taken by the Stanstead North W.I. followed by Beebe, Ayer's Cliff, Cercle de Fermiers of Way's Mills and Tomfobia. Mrs. K. Dean, of the Minton W.I., displayed the best long sleeved sweater, and Miss A. Brault, of the Beebe W.I. took the Robert Simpson silver tray for the best drawn rug.

A special note to fairgoers should be "Visit the Horticultural Building". Containing all the maple sugar, dairy and farm products, cooking, preserves and flower displays, the building is under the direction of the Stanstead County Horticultural Society, which is co-sponsor of the fair.

with the Stanstead County Agricultural Society.

The Horticultural Society has an executive committee and 13 active directors. L. S. Colt, of Ayer's Cliff, is president, H. H. Brown, of Hatley, vice-president, and A. Keeler, of Ayer's Cliff, secretary-treasurer.

THE 66TH ANNUAL EXHIBITION

Once again Sherbrooke is opening its doors to visitors from all parts of the Eastern Townships and parts even further removed with the official inauguration today of the 66th annual fair of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association.

Aside from providing a picture of the progress of the district in the industrial, commercial and agricultural spheres, the annual Sherbrooke Fair is something in the nature of an Old Home Week when thousands of former residents of the district are able to meet old friends and acquaintances while present inhabitants in the far removed sections of the Townships can also hold re-unions of their own.

Thus, while this annual event is more popularly known as The Sherbrooke Fair, it in reality is an Eastern Townships event, carrying out the first part of the title given the organization which sponsors it by the founders. However, over the years it has branched out from a strictly agricultural fair to the point where it reflects the steady and rapid growth in the industrial importance of the region.

This year the directors of the Sherbrooke Exhibition have done everything in their power to improve the class of the entertainment and exhibits, both agricultural and industrial, to make the show worthy of the name it carries.

Having done this, they are deserving of the practical support of the people of the Eastern Townships who will be benefiting not only the organization but themselves by their attendance.

"FADING VICTORY" IN BERLIN AND THE KAESONG TALKS

A little more than two years ago the West was flush with its air-lift triumph over the Berlin blockade imposed by the Russians. The Kremlin had backed down and called off its efforts to strangle freedom in the city.

Western statesmen were understandably pleased that the air-lift plus the economic boycott of Soviet Germany had produced a "situation of strength" which the Russians felt compelled to accept. It was the first spectacular victory of free men over communism in the Cold War.

But a look at Berlin today suggests that the triumph was something less than complete. Marguerite Higgins, competent correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, revisited the city recently and observed many disquieting signs.

A "baby blockade" against the export of West Berlin's goods has been in progress for some time. We are meeting it with a "little air-lift" of more than a dozen flights a day.

Miss Higgins found the Berlin press crowded with stories of Soviet attempts to cripple the city's business. Kidnappings of West Berlin's officials and citizens by East zone police go on as before.

It is easy to recall, too, that many interruptions of the city's economic life have occurred in the months since the big blockade was lifted. What Miss Higgins saw were merely the August, 1951, variations on a constant Soviet theme.

And as she pointed out, Berlin faces continual harassments of this sort in the future. She added: "The West cannot yet claim victory in Berlin. It is clear that the Soviet Union seeks now to do by degrees what it was unable to do by one dramatic blow."

Testimony is general that the 1948-49 Allied boycott of Russian Germany really was damaging. And the air-lift's success was seriously embarrassing to Moscow's prestige. Yet it seems clear now that we did not wisely press our advantage.

We were so overjoyed at the fact that the Russians were willing to back down at all, that we failed to make them backtrack enough. Perhaps we were too busy congratulating ourselves at the success of our tactics. We forgot that the Russians are tireless bargainers, who try to snatch partial victory even from acknowledged defeat.

Mayor Ernst Reuter of Berlin believes we should have maintained the air-lift and boycott a few months longer to heighten our bargaining power with the Kremlin. Others feel that our great error was in not getting advance guarantees of free road and rail access to Berlin before lifting our counter-blockade measures.

At any rate, the results are clear beyond dispute. We did not gain the whole victory. Berlin today is the constant victim of small sieges. The city's predicament is a cue to our persistent failure to understand the Soviet Communist mind.

Probably it's too late to repair the damage in Berlin. But what has happened there since 1949 should be a sharp lesson to the U.N. spokesmen, sitting across from the Communists at Kaesong.

Once again, ours is the basic advantage. We have won whatever victory can be claimed. That the Reds are negotiating at all is proof of that. But they will salvage from their defeat everything they can squeeze out of us. We simply must not allow ourselves to be squeezed. "Situations of strength" will avail us little if we do not exert the strength when he have it.

CHINESE NATIONALISTS DEPEND ON U.S. TO BALANCE BUDGET

By PETER EDSON

Washington—(NEA)—New light on the Chinese Nationalist army on Formosa has been provided after a first-hand survey by Robert Fallow, special investigator for Nevada Senator Pat McCarran's Marshall Plan watchdog subcommittee.

Investigator Fallow went to Formosa to get answers to the questions: How many troops do the Nationalists really have? Are they good troops? Does the government of Nationalist China on Formosa really need money? Or does it have millions of dollars cached away all over the world?

The size of the army—which has been estimated as high as a million men, eager to invade and reconquer the mainland—was nailed down to 400,000 men, plus 200,000 in the Navy, Air Force or civilian activities supporting the military.

The U.S. Seventh Fleet has been under orders since June, 1950, to prevent a Chinese Communist invasion of Formosa.

The Nationalist Chinese on Formosa abhor the thought of remaining a government in exile. They talk incessantly about returning to the mainland. Mr. Fallow reports, however, that "the Chinese realize at this time that they are in no position to do any more about returning to the mainland than talk about it."

The troops at the Feng-shan army training center at the south of the island, and at a naval training center nearby, are reported to be in excellent physical condition. They put on a spirited show. But the Chinese do not pretend that these samples are typical of their inventory. They show only potentialities.

TROOPS ARE NOW BEING PAID

The troops are poorly paid by western standards. But they are now being paid. One reform finally put over the elimination of "paper armies" which did not exist but for which commanding generals drew pay and subsistence.

The soldiers draw a generous ration of rice, but generally must use their own ingenuity to supplement their diet with other essential foods. "Both officers and men spend much time raising vegetables," Fallow reports.

Even Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has admitted that if the army got all the supplies it needed—arms, training, pay, diet and proper medical care—it would take six months to "start rolling" and even more time than that to make a good defensive force. For one thing, the army will have to be taken out of politics and completely reorganized. It is now burdened by a system of political commissars on which there have been no previous reports.

There are an estimated 25,000 of these political commissars. They occupy posts from general offices down to company level. They report not through chain of command, but through their political superiors. At the head of this system is Chiang Kai-Shek's eldest son.

Justification for the commissar system is given as the need to correct inefficiency and stamp out subversives. Army officers declare, however, that subversives have long since been stamped out and that the commissars demoralize command.

COMMISSARS ARE A MAJOR AID PROBLEM

"If our (American) military representatives on Formosa decide that political commissars... should be abolished, they will come face to face with the major problem connected with our aid," reports Mr. Fallow.

The much smaller Marshall Plan mission under Dr. Raymond T. Moyer, now in Washington, has made important economic reforms. It has reduced tenant rents from 50 to 37 per cent of the crop. Marshall plans funds for last year totalled $98 million and a similar sum has been asked for the present year.

Aside from the Marshall Plan, Mr. Fallow reports, "The United States on the whole is beating around in a wilderness of indecision as to interference in Nationalist Chinese affairs."

Nearly 70 per cent of the Nationalist budget goes to support the military forces, but the Chinese government takes in about $80 million to $85 million less than it spends each year. So it does not say it in so many words, the implication is clear that the only outlook for the United States is to keep on making up the difference for the indefinite future.

For the present year, President Truman has asked $307 million to aid Formosa. With seven million inhabitants on the island, this figures out to nearly $44 per capita. It is probably more than the average Formosan earns in a year. And it is probably the most generous aid program the U.S. now provides to any country.

PRESS COMMENTS

CONROY'S REFERENCE TO PREMIER A BLATANT INSULT

Toronto Telegram

Pat Conroy, secretary of the CCL, made a grandstand play in proposing that Premier Frost personally arbitrate the issue of the check-off of union dues which appears to be an obstacle to the settlement of the strike at the Hollinger Gold Mines. The insinuation in Conroy's proposal is apparent when viewed in the light of his further statement to a crowd at Timmins that the Hollinger Consolidated management can have no objection to Mr. Frost as an arbitrator—"He is one of their boys." The innuendo in these words of Conroy was a blatant insult to the Premier of this province and deserving of utter contempt.

The check-off of union dues is a matter for collective bargaining between employer and the union. There is nothing in the statute which makes it obligatory on an employer to agree. Had Premier Frost, of his own volition, in the course of the dispute at Hollinger, stepped in and announced that he would personally settle the check-off issue it is not unlikely that union leaders would have pointed out that he lacked authority. Ordinarily, the unions do not like anything that savors of compulsion in settling disputes.

Mr. Conroy's speech at Timmins is not likely to help in the settlement of the dispute between the company and its employees.

KILLJOY WILL BE THERE

SHIPS

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

In magazine articles lately I have observed writers attempting to interpret life in terms of the sea. Life as a voyage always lends itself to many interesting parallels. It is the ships that sail this sea which interests me just now.

With the word Ship there leaps to the mind pictures of Columbus and his immortal ships—the Pinta, Nina and Santa Maria... John Cabot in 1497 with his memorable ship Matthew... The Hermine, in which Jacques Cartier landed on the banks of the St. Lawrence in 1535. Nor do I forget the Mayflower which in 1620 began a thrilling chapter in the lives of our neighbors south of the border.

Off as I moved along the banks of the mighty St. Lawrence River, I wished that old man River had kept a record of ships that passed hither and yon. What a thrilling story would be forthcoming from the Indians and French-Canadian voyageurs in their canoes... sail boats... skiffs... schooners, motor and sail... river boats... excursion boats... merchant marine... steamers... ocean liners. Of all these ships that move along this road that moves, perhaps we owe most to the merchant fleet which sails the Seven Seas to feed us and make life likeable. These ships—a far cry from the Roman triremes and Spanish galleons—are a must in our 20th century living, and with pride we salute them and register the debt we owe them. They truly deserve in service their motto—We Serve!

THE SAIL BOAT OF YOUTH

There is one ship just now which is attracting much attention—the sailboat of Youth. It always has. It always will. After a short time in the precarious canoe of childhood we glide into the awaiting sailboat of youth and we are merely on our way. Now this is a frail craft for the adventurous spirit youth invariably exhibits. There's dynamite here. I recall a thoughtful young lad remarking recently that he was afraid of his powers, his spirit of adventure, his excessive steam. "I am not big enough to control it and keep it within bounds," said he, for "it is a turbulent and uncertain sea on which we sail in 1951. And a storm may come up any minute. I need God in my life. That I know."

To supply that need we, their elders, through the media of home, school, church and community must, both by example and precept, direct them in their endeavor to seek and find "self knowledge, self reverence, self control," these three, and in so doing inspire and challenge them to the greatest adventure in life, namely, that of being a child of God, a member of Christ, an inheritor of the kingdom of heaven. In a word, a Christian.

Here then, is a difficult, exacting challenge, just what Youth, in whose hearts and minds the flame of idealism burns, need. If we, their seniors, were walking sermons in the art of Christian living, they would catch this spirit and respond like the heroic people of Great Britain did to Winston Churchill's clarion call of "blood, sweat, toil and tears," a few years ago. Give young people a cause and they will find it. Never! Today Jesus is tenderly, insistently, calling to all young people to accept His leadership. Take up the Cross (Matt. 16:24), "live pure, speak true, right wrong and follow the King." When they are "born from above" will they pursue great truths, help in civic, social and Christian enterprises, rising to the light of having found a life more abundant. Such a life does not stir the impulse with devil's leaps as drink and sensuous spectacles do, but they rouse the whole being to pursue noble ends. So give Youth Christ and all will be well. All.

THE SHIP—"MIDSTREAM"

After sailing for twenty-five years, more or less, in the Sailboat of Youth, Father Time demands that we transfer to the boat reserved for those of middle age. If your voyage thus far has been a wise one, we will have acquired the art of living a well-balanced life, knowing how to extract good out of life. But—and there's generally a but—the old temptations which haunted us have given place to new ones—wild gales to hidden shoals and secret currents—which are all the more subtly dangerous because they are not apparent on the surface and are not often indicated on the official charts.

Happily many survive these gales; others, unfortunately, yielding to their peculiarly seductive perils, go down to defeat. Tragically it is to find men who a few years ago were prosperous, respected in their community, loyal to wives and families, now drifting the prey to "wine, women and song." Nor are the dangerous years limited to men—more's the pity!

As an interpreter of life and an ambassador of Christ, I point to all who are adrift, a way back to normal, sunlight, happy fruitful Christian living—a planned way involving some fresh study, some refining interest, social work, music, literature, art, etc. Never forget that there is a Hand that leads you back to the paths of peace, purity and love.

"O Christ, take Thou my hand and guide me through life's changing scenes—on to the perfect

RIDE 'EM, COWBOY

By RUFE CONNELLY

I've had a few tough consignments in life but I think the worst was handed me at Pendleton by a dying bronk rider; the job of watching his young red-headed daughter Bess, whom he had trained for a trick roper.

I had about forgotten the incident, when down at Visalia I signed to clown for their rodeo. While crossing the arena, a musical yell brought me back into this world, and set my little mule flat on her haunches. "Hey Wallie! Rein up."

Any time Red Bess wants me to rein up, or anything else, I do it. In fact, all the rodeo hands from official judges down to cowhands of outfit are ready to sit up and do tricks when the copper-haired roper-twirling performer snapped her slim fingers.

I headed toward Bess. When I saw tall Jack Zark, a tough hombre, uncivil from where he was sitting with a gang of bronc riders over in the shade of the chutes waiting for the show to begin, and cutting in on me. His sharp face was dark, his eyes were black as he stopped me.

"You're rustling branded stock, Wallie." The warning in his voice made me tighten up inside.

"You got your game leg busted up cow-clowning in rodeos Wallie. You could get busted up worse other ways as soon as me."

"Take it easy, Jack." Zark had a bad reputation and I didn't want any trouble with him, especially with Bess in the middle.

Jack Zark didn't say anything else. He just looked at me again and went back to the stock hands beside the fence.

I went on to Bess and she hitched up the jeweled belt of her gold colored riding pants, giving me her best smile, with her blue eyes making me feel warm all over. I forgot Zark and everything else.

"You're using the gray mule this afternoon, Wallie?" "Have to, Bess. A Brahmer good old Pinto, Chili?" I ducked my head toward the hot dog stand.

"Not if you're going to give me any more of that Big Brother routine." Her chin went up and her eyes warned me. "I know Zark's a wolf and you don't like him, but I'm twenty and can take care of myself. Zark can get me a chance in Hollywood, like he says, and I'm going to take that chance. I'm going to start—"

"That Hollywood yarn's been fed to wide-eyed chicks since Oh, all right," I finished quickly as she started to turn away.

"I knew your Dad, the best. He asked me to look out for you before he died, Bess. I'm just keeping that promise."

We got our chili and Bess ate only about half of hers.

"I was born in a trailer, following rodeos, Wallie." She started talking almost softly. "Mother couldn't take it, and she left. Then the Brahmas got Dad. I'm not going to eat coral dust all my life." She pointed her pretty boots toward the horse corral.

I went along a little later, watching her. She had everything, but not enough of it to crash Hollywood. Even if Zark did get her a chance at the flickers—but what could I do?

Visalia's big rodeo was on the calf roping, bronco riding, wild cow milking and my clowning. Bess was sure at her best. She rode backward, standing on her head, leaped over her pony and did many breathtaking stunts.

As a finale, she was spelling Bess with her rope spinning when I heard a crash at the chute, and a big Brahman bull came bounding straight for my red cape, I scrambled up the north wall fence; the bull plunged on a couple of jumps, stopped and threw his head up. Then let out a bellow and started straight across the arena for the little rope tosser in front of the grandstand.

Men yelled and women screamed, but Bess thought they were

Two Americans Will Battle It Out In Canadian Tennis Championships; Ladies' Finals To Be Played Today

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 25.—(CP)—Final round for the men's singles championship at the 60th annual Canadian Lawn Tennis Championships will be an All-American affair.

In a surprise upset, Seymour Greenberg of Chicago and Tony Vincent of Long Island, N.Y., moved into the title round yesterday by overpowering two top members of Canada's Davis Cup team.

Greenberg defeated Brendan Macken, 1950 champion from Montreal, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1, while Vincent stopped Lorne Main of Vancouver, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

Finals will be played this afternoon and will be broadcast over a national hook-up.

Both Greenberg and Vincent chalked up relatively easy victories over Macken and Main, who were seeded No. 1 and No. 2 in this tournament.

Greenberg, 31-year-old former U.S. Clay Courts Champion, played steady tennis all the way against Macken. The Chicago netter scored a 6-2 win in the first set and then walked away with the final two sets.

Macken, off his game throughout the entire tournament, was very disgusted with himself when it was all over. During the final set he was heard to mutter "Brendan, this is a disgrace."

Main looked better against Vincent, but he too was completely outclassed. Vincent stood back during most of the match, and let Main make the mistakes. The Vancouver Davis Cupper made plenty of errors, too.

Pat Lowe of Toronto and Lucille Davidson of Lee's Summit, Mo., won the right to play off for the women's singles title.

Miss Lowe eliminated Pat Macken, Montreal, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4, playing a slow, deliberate game to take the verdict over the No. 1 seeded Canadian in the event.

Mrs. Davidson ousted Doris Poppel of Des Moines, Iowa, last year's champion, 7-5, 6-3. This was a thrilling match which saw Mrs. Davidson overpower the top-ranking Miss Poppel with a great display of tennis.

Macken and Main will get their chance for a comeback tomorrow. The final round of the men's doubles event will sent Macken and Main against their opponents of yesterday, Greenberg and Vincent.

In yesterday's semi-final round, Macken and Main defeated Leo-Cupper Henri Rochon, Montreal, 7-9, 6-3, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3. Greenberg and Vincent stopped Paul Willey and Lawrence Barclay, Vancouver, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

The women's doubles final will pit Doris Poppel, Des Moines, Iowa, and Lucille Davidson, Lee's Summit, Mo., against Mary Hernandez, Ann Arbor, Mich., and Joan Johnson, Detroit.

Miss Poppel and Mrs. Davidson eliminated Dorothy Hurst and Louise Brown, Toronto, 6-3, 7-5, while the Hernandez-Johnson combine ousted Lucille Davidson, London, England, 0-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Veterans' singles final will pit Jim Currie, Windsor, against William McBrearty, Detroit.

Currie stopped Doug Philpott, Toronto, 6-2, 7-5, and McBrearty ousted Harold Richardson, Detroit, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Pat Lowe of Toronto and Lucille Davidson of Lee's Summit, Mo., won the right to play off for the women's singles title.

Miss Lowe eliminated Pat Macken, Montreal, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4, playing a slow, deliberate game to take the verdict over the No. 1 seeded Canadian in the event.

Macken and Main will get their chance for a comeback tomorrow. The final round of the men's doubles event will sent Macken and Main against their opponents of yesterday, Greenberg and Vincent.

In yesterday's semi-final round, Macken and Main defeated Leo-Cupper Henri Rochon, Montreal, 7-9, 6-3, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3. Greenberg and Vincent stopped Paul Willey and Lawrence Barclay, Vancouver, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

The women's doubles final will pit Doris Poppel, Des Moines, Iowa, and Lucille Davidson, Lee's Summit, Mo., against Mary Hernandez, Ann Arbor, Mich., and Joan Johnson, Detroit.

Miss Poppel and Mrs. Davidson eliminated Dorothy Hurst and Louise Brown, Toronto, 6-3, 7-5, while the Hernandez-Johnson combine ousted Lucille Davidson, London, England, 0-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Veterans' singles final will pit Jim Currie, Windsor, against William McBrearty, Detroit.

Currie stopped Doug Philpott, Toronto, 6-2, 7-5, and McBrearty ousted Harold Richardson, Detroit, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Pat Lowe of Toronto and Lucille Davidson of Lee's Summit, Mo., won the right to play off for the women's singles title.

Harriman Confers With Marshal Tito

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 25.—(AP)—President Truman's roving trouble-shooter, W. Averell Harriman, arrived here today to talk with Premier Tito about Yugoslavia's basic needs in the way of military and economic assistance.

En route home from Tehran, Harriman looked wan and weary from his long efforts to break the deadlock in the now-suspended negotiations between Britain and Iran over oil nationalization.

Harriman said his mission to Yugoslavia was to talk to Tito about "various assistance programs" both military and economic.

He flew to Brdo, Yugoslavia's summer capital in the Slovenian Alps, to meet the Yugoslav marshal.

The United States has furnished Yugoslavia with more than $100,000,000 worth of economic aid during the last year. Currently it is shipping a limited amount of munitions to help strengthen the defenses of the country against the threat of a Russian-led communist invasion.

Harriman will leave tomorrow for London, where he plans to meet Prime Minister Attlee of Britain to report on the Iranian oil situation. Then he will go on to Paris to discuss the progress of the Atlantic pact with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

The women's doubles final will pit Doris Poppel, Des Moines, Iowa, and Lucille Davidson, Lee's Summit, Mo., against Mary Hernandez, Ann Arbor, Mich., and Joan Johnson, Detroit.

Miss Poppel and Mrs. Davidson eliminated Dorothy Hurst and Louise Brown, Toronto, 6-3, 7-5, while the Hernandez-Johnson combine ousted Lucille Davidson, London, England, 0-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Veterans' singles final will pit Jim Currie, Windsor, against William McBrearty, Detroit.

The Doctor Says:

EARLY OPERATION AIDS HARELIP CHILDREN REDUCE HANDICAP

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
There are people prominent in almost all walks of life who were born with a split upper lip or a gap in the structures at the roof of the mouth. The former condition is called harelip and the latter, cleft palate. The two occur together quite often. The fact that so many have achieved success in life in spite of one or both of these defects proves, however, that the handicap need not stand in the way of a full and satisfactory life.

These conditions fall in the group of what are called congenital defects. A person is born with them and the cause has therefore been operating before birth. It seems likely that they are the result of some injury before birth rather than being truly hereditary. The studies which show that German measles in the mother during the first three months of pregnancy predisposes to congenital defects already throw some light on how this kind of thing could work.

It is naturally a shock to the parents to have a child born with a harelip or cleft palate. But parents should not be discouraged. Surgery can help enormously, not only in appearance, but also in forestalling the speech difficulties which are such a serious part of the condition. The nature of the operation needed should be planned early, and the age at which it should be done.

Usually it is best to operate while the child is quite young as this may avoid some of the speech and other difficulties which would be encountered by postponing treatment. Also, there are questions of post-operative care, speech training and dental adjustments, to mention the two which are probably most important.

From the standpoint of appearance as well as that of speech the best possible correction of harelip or cleft palate is important. Children are even more sensitive about how they look than grown-ups, and a sensitive child with a "different" looking face can develop all sorts of complexes, especially excessive shyness.

It is wise therefore to make the lip look as normal as possible early in life; also the parents should be aware of the psychological difficulties faced by the child. The youngster should be helped to meet any thoughtless or cruel remarks of playfellows by not taking them too seriously and

MARRIAGES

WESTGATE-CLARKE

St. Lambert, Aug. 25.—On Saturday, August 11, Miss Olive Mavis Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Clarke, of St. Lambert, became the bride of Mr. Mailin Painter Westgate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maple B. Westgate, of Island Brook, Que.

The ceremony took place at two o'clock at St. Barnabas Church, St. Lambert, with Rev. Canon C. G. Stevens officiating. Vases and baskets of multi-colored gladioli were used to decorate the church, and Miss Hilda Lucas was the soloist.

Mr. Ronald Kerr acted as best man for his cousin and Mr. William B. Scott and Mr. Keith Kerr were ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy ivory satin, the fitted bodice having a Peter Pan collar and fastening down the front with small buttons. The full flared skirt was trimmed at the waistline with a circular band of satin edged with pearls. She wore her mother's veil of embroidered tulle illusion, held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of red Briarcliff roses and bouvardia, held with white ribbon.

Mrs. William Scott, as matron of honor, wore a gown of emerald green taffeta and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of deep yellow gladioli. Miss Shirley MacKay and Miss Norma Westgate were the bride's other attendants, with Miss Ilah Westgate, another sister of the groom, as flower girl.

Miss MacKay wore a gown of blue tulle and she carried a semi-cascade of creamy yellow gladioli.

Miss Westgate's gown was of deep lilac taffeta and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of mauve gladioli. The flower girl's frock was of pale rose taffeta and she carried a basket of roses and blue cornflowers.

Mrs. Clarke, the bride's mother, wore a gown of blue silk print, trimmed with navy blue velvet with navy velvet accessories. Her corsage was of pink Briarcliff roses. Mrs. Westgate, mother of the groom, wore a navy blue silk crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink Briarcliff roses.

Baskets of multi-colored gladioli decorated the Church of St. Barnabas Memorial Hall for the reception. For travelling on a motor trip, the bride wore a two-toned suit of light beige and dark brown with accessories of dark brown velvet and corsage of red Briarcliff roses.

The couple will make their home at Island Brook, Que.

Girl Supervisor Paddled Long Way To Teach Indians

Moose Factory, Ont. — Getting in the mood for a new job as supervisor of 80 small Indians and Eskimos, 17-year-old Jennifer McVicar of Toronto paddled a good part of the way to her post in a canoe.

It's some 380 miles between Ottawa and Abitibi and many more by canoe.

Jennifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kay McVicar of Toronto, decided she would like a change this year from previous summer jobs on the farm or at summer camps and hotels. She obtained a post as temporary supervisor at the Bishop Horden Memorial School here from the department of Indian Affairs.

Because her job didn't start until August 1, Jennifer, who got her senior matriculation last spring, accepted a chance to travel from Ottawa to Abitibi by canoe. From there she came on by train to Moosonee.

Her first days were busy, helping to prepare for the centennial celebration of the settlement of the mission and watching the influx of Indians who came from as far as 200 miles away in war canoes.

In a letter to her mother she noted that there is only a day school during the summer, but in winter the Indian children stay here while their fathers move off to the bush. She has been keenly interested in the Indian ceremonies and social events.

An evening service in the Cree language that she attended "was very beautiful to listen to," although she knows only a few words of the Cree language.

"There have been three Indian weddings, with a dance after each one," she said. "I was very disappointed to find that the bride wore satin and not native costume. There is no point in going to a wedding before 11 o'clock as they just start then and dance until dawn. They dance a form of square dance with six couples. In between sets the men do what is called a step-dance, trying to outlast one another."

ASBESTOS

"Mind," is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 26th, 1951.
The Golden Text is from II Timothy—"God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible:—"Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."
—(Matthew 5 and Philippians 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy:—"It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established. With one Father, even God, the whole family of man would be brethren; and with one Mind and that God, or good, the brotherhood of man would consist of Love and Truth, and have unity of Principle and spiritual power, which constitute divine Science." — (Pages 467 and 469).

$1,200 INVITATION PACE AND FREE-FOR-ALL TROT TOMORROW

RACING PROGRAM OPENS TOMORROW WITH BANG.

The Sherbrooke Fair will get away to a flying start tomorrow afternoon, as far as the racing followers are concerned, with two top classes listed on the card.

The committee, under Colin Campbell as chairman, has lined up some outstanding races for the opener and some of the top pacers and trotters of the Province will compete in the $1,200 Invitation Free-for-all pace and the $800 Free-for-all trot.

The Derby which was originally scheduled has been postponed and in its place these two top classes have been added. This was brought about when the owners of the staked horses were unable to be on hand as they are in Three Rivers, and the Derby there has been postponed twice owing to the weather making it impossible to be here.

These two classes will bring together some of the outstanding pacers in these parts and the fans should see some very good racing. The committee has also added a 2:17 Classified race as well.

Lusty Lewis, the little Quebec pacer who holds the local track record of 2:05 and two-fifths, will be on hand and with George Giguere at the reins anything can happen. The funny thing is that he will be up against the same horse which pushed him to the new mark last year, Texas Hanover.

This year he is owned by Donat Vandal of St. Hyacinthe and the tables may be reversed. Another strong contender, Cyril Hanover belonging to Fabi and Fils of Sherbrooke, who won the Quebec Derby last month is entered with Clever Volo of Coombs Garage and an outsider Markenna from Matane. So all in all it looks as though perhaps the track record may be broken once again, or come pretty close to it.

In the other special feature the committee has lined up a good bunch of trotters to compete in the $800 Free-for-all and this should be a wide open affair. The only local horse is Hardy Fern, belonging to Lucien Dugre, and he will have his hands full fighting off such top notches as Earl Todd, from Three Rivers, Niblik from Quebec, Lloyd Hanover of Matane, and Moore Hanover another Quebec entry.

This is the first time for quite a few years that such good trotters have performed on the local track and the fans can rest assured of some very good miles before the winner crosses under the wire.

The rest of the program during the week may be altered a little, but on the whole the fans can be assured of some very good races during the week. The committee has a big string of horses on hand and they will line up some good classes during the week. They were forced to make sudden changes for tomorrow and they have definitely

Bell Not Surprised At Winnipeg Court Action

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25—(AP)—Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Professional Football League, said that yesterday's court ruling in Winnipeg restraining Dick Huffman from playing with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers came as no surprise to him.

Bell said at his summer home here: "It doesn't surprise me at all. The courts in the United States already have upheld Huffman's contract with the (Los Angeles) Rams. At I recall it, old English law was cited in arguments and certainly the Canadian courts follow that law at least as closely as do the American courts."

Yesterday in Winnipeg, Justice J. J. Kelly granted the owners of the Los Angeles Rams a temporary injunction preventing Huffman from performing with the Bombers until a full court hearing can be held on a Ram application for a full injunction, which is expected some time next month.

Huffman was a tackle with the Rams, a National League club, last year. The Rams claimed Huffman was under contract to them but had refused to report for training duties and had entered into a contract with the Bombers.

Huffman, who had been training with the Bombers, played in an exhibition game in Winnipeg Monday night against Toronto.

London Promoters Offer Carter $16,800

London, Aug. 25—(AP)—A pair of London boxing promoters said yesterday they had called an offer of $16,800 to Jimmy Carter of New York, to defend his world lightweight title here next month. Carr and Crossmith, Ltd., want to match Carter against the winner of next Tuesday's British lightweight title fight between Billy Thompson, the current champion, and Tommy McGovern. McGovern is the favorite.

In Sherbrooke Fair's Opening Racing Program; First Race Called For 2:00; Nine On Afternoon Card

The 1951 racing program of the Sherbrooke Fair opens tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 and nine races are slated on the card.

Two feature races, a $1,200 Free-for-all Invitation Pace and a $800 Free-for-all Trot for a purse of $800, will be the main attraction while a 2:17 Classified class will complete the afternoon card.

The Invitation Pace will replace the Pacing Derby scheduled to be held tomorrow as the owners of the horses staked in the Derby are unable to be on hand. They are at present in Three Rivers and the inclement weather has forced the officials to postpone their Derby twice and they asked the local executive if they would be willing to postpone Sunday's until later in the week.

In addition to the Invitation Pace, a Free-for-all Trot for a purse of $800 has been added and will bring together a classy field of six starters, which have been named and maybe a few other trotters, to battle it out for the top purses.

The third class is a 2:17 Classified race and this should draw quite a few of the slower horses to complete the card and give the fans nine races for the afternoon.

In the Invitation Pace, two local horses and one former one will race for the top cash prize. Cyril Hanover, owned by Fabi and Fils, Clever Volo, the property of Coombs Garage and Texas Hanover, formerly owned by Lucien Dugre and now the property of

Don Doe, Granby's Ace Golfer, Shoots Three-Under In Practice Round; Willingdon Cup Play Opens

Ottawa, Aug. 25—(CP)—A heavy shower late today took a lot of zingo out of the practice rounds for the Willingdon Cup Interprovincial team golf championship.

Several players finished with 72's among them Tommy Hunter of Montreal, Jim Harper, of Edmonton, Pat Foley, of Halifax and Doug Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta.

Silverberg will be defending the Canadian Junior Championship he won after two extra rounds last year at Saskatoon. His opponent then, Laurie Roland of Vancouver, is back again and playing at top form. Johnny Turner, 18-year-old Montrealer, might well upset a renewal of the Silverberg-Roland battle, and so could Gerry Knecht of Kitchener, Ont., a 16-year-old youngster who has been playing a smart game.

Knecht and the remaining provincial junior champions are something of an unknown quantity here and will have to be at their best to halt the march of favorites.

The Canadian Amateur Championship, starting Monday at match play, suddenly shaped up today as another possible All-Canadian wrangle.

Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N.Y., the 1950 United States Amateur Champion, telephoned that he didn't expect to be able to get to Ottawa. That leaves the field of 100 or so bare of major title-winning Americans, although seven others are still after the Canadian crown along with Luis Obarro of Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Both Frank Stranahan and Dick Chapman of the United States, former Canadian Amateur Champions, will be engaged in qualifying rounds for the 1951 U.S. Amateur Championship.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 25—(AP)—The U.S. National Tennis Championships begin here today and for once the experts are willing to admit they can't put a finger on the probable winner. They recommend pulling a name out of hat.

Dick Savitt from Orange, N.J., rates as the logical favorite on the strength of his victories in the Australian championships and at Wimbledon this year, but some of the game's closest students doubt he will complete the "Big Three."

Rated by many as the chief threat to Savitt is Frank Sedgman, young Australian Davis Cup star who for several years has appeared to be on the brink of greatness but, up to now, has fallen short in the international classics.

Others given a chance to win the wide-open affair which runs through Labor Day include: Art Larsen, the left-hander from San Leandro, Calif., who was a surprise victor last year.

Ken McGregor, gangling Australian Davis Cupper who reached the final against Savitt both in the Australian championships and at Wimbledon.

Mervyn Rose, the newest Australian threat who defeated both McGregor and Herbie Flam in the recent Newport Tournament. He's another southerner.

Bill Talbert, the 32-year-old double wizard who has been playing perhaps the finest singles of his career this summer.

Tony Trabert, the 20-year-old comet from Cincinnati. Originally rated a great doubles prospect, the youth has shown such blazing form in singles lately that his admirers think he might go all the way in the Nationals.

Canada will be represented by Brendan Macken of Montreal and Lorne Main of Vancouver, members of the Davis Cup team. Both players were eliminated today from the Canadian Championships at Windsor, Ont.

To Race Here Tomorrow

CYRIL HANOVER, owned by Fabi and Fils, of Sherbrooke, who will compete tomorrow in the $1,200 Free-for-all Invitation Pace which will be held at the Sherbrooke Fair. Sam Fabi's pacer copped the $1,500 Pacing Derby at Quebec last month and is expected to give the rest of the class a real fight for honors. Cyril Hanover and four others of the top pacers in the Province will race in the main attraction on tomorrow's card which will open the week-long program at the local Fair.

Duke Doucet Joins Hole-In-One Ranks

Duke Doucet joined the ranks of the special golfers yesterday afternoon when he dropped his tee shot for a ace on the fourth par three hole of the Windsor Mills Golf Club.

Playing in a foursome with Ernie Dunn, Maurice Bayley and Charlie Laverdier, former professional at the Windsor Club, Doucet banged in his tee shot with a number eight iron for the 118 yard hole. Normie Allard and Paul Aime De Bellefeuille were standing on the side of the green when the ball dropped in for the ace.

Mrs. Doucet registered a hole-in-one on the same green in 1945 and was playing with Ernie Dunn, who witnessed both members of the family complete the famous shot.

Doucet finished his nine holes and turned in a 33, one over regulation figures for the nine holes.

British Tennis Team Doomed By U.S. Stars

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 25—(AP)—The 15th consecutive routing of the British Women's tennis team was considered inevitable after the United States defenders swept the first three of the seven Wimbledon Cup Matches yesterday.

The 23rd renewal of this lopsided international rivalry, which includes 18 American triumphs since its 1929 inaugural at Forest Hills, N.Y., will be concluded today with three singles and a doubles match.

Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., the U.S. team's No. 1 performer, got the team play under way by defeating Jean Quertier, 6-4, 6-4. Then Shirley Fry of Akron, O., stroked to a sparkling 6-1, 6-4 win over Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith, the outstanding visitor.

The second-ranking doubles combines concluded the first day's program with Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Calif., and Nancy Chaffee of Ventura, Calif., defeating Mrs. T. Mottram and Pat Ward, 7-5, 6-3.

Pennant Fever Reaches Climax In Cleveland

Cleveland, Aug. 25—(AP)—Pennant fever reached epidemic proportions in Cleveland today and there was no sign of a let-up.

The week-end schedule of the American League-leading Cleveland Indians certainly won't help.

Hotels were sold out. The Cleveland Convention and Visitors Bureau was unable to find one available room in a check of 34 hotels and motels.

The Tribe office predicted a crowd of 65,000 for the Indians-Yankees game and 78,000 for Sunday's doubleheader with Boston.

ed to be on the brink of greatness but, up to now, has fallen short in the international classics.

Others given a chance to win the wide-open affair which runs through Labor Day include:

Art Larsen, the left-hander from San Leandro, Calif., who was a surprise victor last year.

Ken McGregor, gangling Australian Davis Cupper who reached the final against Savitt both in the Australian championships and at Wimbledon.

Mervyn Rose, the newest Australian threat who defeated both McGregor and Herbie Flam in the recent Newport Tournament. He's another southerner.

Bill Talbert, the 32-year-old double wizard who has been playing perhaps the finest singles of his career this summer.

Tony Trabert, the 20-year-old comet from Cincinnati. Originally rated a great doubles prospect, the youth has shown such blazing form in singles lately that his admirers think he might go all the way in the Nationals.

Canada will be represented by Brendan Macken of Montreal and Lorne Main of Vancouver, members of the Davis Cup team. Both players were eliminated today from the Canadian Championships at Windsor, Ont.

A's Face Three Rivers Tonight And Tangle With Quebec Tomorrow; Braves Pay Final Visit Here At 8.30

George McQuinn and his Quebec Braves will pay their final visit of the season to Sherbrooke tomorrow evening to tangle with the Athletics and the game is slated to commence at 8.30.

The reason that it is called half an hour later than usual is owing to the fact that the teams meet in the afternoon in the Capital City and have a long road trip back to Sherbrooke.

In the games played this season, the Braves to slip by them in last-stretch drive and cop third spot. Gladu will no doubt juggle his pitching staff to obtain the best results for this series.

Terry "The Great" McDuffie has rejoined the squad after a brief illness period at home. McDuffie was more than welcomed back in grand style this week as the youngsters kept him signing autographs.

His case of ulcers seem to have cleared up and he is his old self once again. He gave the fans a little indication of what they can expect from now on.

Roland Gladu will reserve McDuffie to pitch tomorrow night and the fans will no doubt want to be on hand to give him a real Sherbrooke welcome and make him feel that no matter how many escapades he has had this season, he is still a favourite and the paying customers are glad to see him back in uniform and hope that he will be an asset between now and the end of the year.

The locals are at present leading the Braves but they will have to watch themselves if they don't

92,000 Reached In Drive For Attendance Objective; Six More Home Games Remain On Schedule

Tomorrow evening when the Quebec Braves pay a visit to the local ball park the Sherbrooke Baseball Club is hoping for another bumper crowd in order to reach and reach their attendance objective of 100,000.

Following Thursday's fixture, against the Royals of Three Rivers, the attendance reached 92,000, 8,000 short of the mark which will bring the drawing of the $1,000. There remains six more home games in which to reach this mark and the big question is can it be done.

Tomorrow evening the Braves

Marion And Munger Rejoin St Louis Cards

New York, Aug. 25—(AP)—Manager Marty Marion and pitcher George Munger rejoined the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday. Both had been out more than a week with ailments.

Marion had been bedded with a virus infection, while Munger had a growth on his back removed.

Jake Mintz Fined By Pennsylvania Body

Pittsburgh, Aug. 25—(AP)—Jake Mintz, manager of former heavy-weight champion Ezzard Charles, paid a $500 fine yesterday to end his suspension by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission.

The Commission fined and suspended Mintz for squabbling over the choice of judges prior to the title bout Charles lost to Jersey Joe Walcott here last month.

Holoman told Mintz: "This closes the books on the whole affair."

THE ROSENBLUM REPORTER

FAIR WEEK

ONE OF SHERBROOKE'S oldest institutions, the Exhibition, opens officially tonight. In the old days this was one of the busiest weeks of the year for the local merchants. We had to open before 6 a.m. to catch the visitors who arrived by early train and who filled in the shopping before going up to the show. Then we remained at work till the wee hours of the next day selling clothes to the people after the Fair gates were closed for the night. In those days it was not easy for country families to come to town, and so their trip to the Exhibition was the most convenient time for their winter shopping.

THEN CAME the horseless carriage which brought out-of-towners in just in time to take their seats on the Grand Stand. When they had seen enough of the Fair, they piled into their cars again and drove away swiftly, too tired and broke to shop. Our customers soon realized that it was more convenient to come in again at some other time for their apparel, and Fair Week has lost its position as a stimulant to retail trade. Tastes and habits have changed with the times, but the main features of the show go on, continuing to please the crowds. We still get a kick out of the Midway, the horse racing, the Main Building, the Grand Stand show, the cattle sheds... yes and another old institution which you should visit is the Restaurant so capably administered by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Sherbrooke Hospital. The girls are doing a grand job, and you can help a good cause by having lunch with them.

SHERBROOKERS usually agree that Fair Week means the end of Summer, and that means new Fall clothes, and this in turn means Rosenbloom's, especially this year when we're offering such an interesting group of smart styles for men, for boys, and for ladies.

St. Andre School At Sutton Will Be Dedicated Tuesday

Premier Duplessis, Other Government Representatives Will Be Present

Sutton, Aug. 25.—One of the most modern school buildings in this part of the Eastern Townships, the new St. Andre School recently erected by the Sutton Roman Catholic School Board will be dedicated at impressive ceremonies here on Tuesday afternoon.

Among the dignitaries expected to take part in the dedication program will be a representative of His Excellency the Archbishop of Sherbrooke, Most Rev. P. S. Desranleau, Hon. Maurice Duplessis, Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec, Hon. Omer Cote, Minister of Education, Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Lands and Forests and Hydraulic Resources, L. E. Roberge, M.P., for Stanstead, C. J. Warwick Fox, M.L.A. for Brome, Hector Choquette, M.L.A. for Sherbrooke, J. J. Bertrand, M.L.A. for Missisquoi and Hon. Olier Renaud, M.L.C.

The ceremonies will open by the religious dedication of the building at three o'clock after which a public gathering will be addressed by the Prime Minister and other members of his party. The gala day will be brought to a close with a dinner tendered to the honored guests by the members of the Sutton School Board.

The new school, which will receive its first classes this fall has a large hall in the basement capable of accommodating several hundred persons. The lower hall is equipped with a stage and the necessary kitchen arrangements for serving banquets and other social gatherings.

The main floor comprises six classrooms, a domestic science room, an office, a library and a common room.

Above are the teachers' quarters.

The members of the Sutton School Board who are responsible for the construction of the new building are: J. G. St. Jean, chairman, Philippe Coulombe, Max Gagne, Armand Laplante and Leon Morin with F. Cusson as secretary-treasurer.

Architect for the building was Andre Royer, of Sherbrooke.

Hostesses Spurn Marriage

Johannesburg. — South Africa's aerial glamor girls apparently prefer the adventures of their flying service to settling down in matrimony.

Contrasted with the trend in airlines overseas, attractive stewardesses on the state-owned African Airways don't often leave their jobs to get married. A recent report showed that only 15 out of 50 resigned to get married in the last three years.

The report said this rate was below the average "wastage," official term for personnel losses, in government departments employing women.

Miss Alma Wright, 24, who has been on the airline for several years, expressed the general sentiment of the girls when asked about this. "I haven't finished having a good time yet," she said.

WILL BE PRESENT

Premier Maurice Duplessis who will be a speaker at the benediction of St. Andre school in Sutton on Aug. 28.

Special Coaches For All Cripples Are Callow's Aim

By KINGSLEY BROWN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Halifax. — Under the best conditions, it's hard enough to build a dream into reality.

Imagine how the difficulties are multiplied when you are paralyzed, blind, in almost constant pain and barely able to move your lips.

Walter Callow, who wants Canada's wheel-chair patients to share the pleasures of the man on the street, has hurdled these difficulties. Now he is moulding his ambition into what looks like a "sure thing."

A Callow-designed coach has just been delivered here from an Ontario manufacturing plant. It is another cog in the machinery which Callow hopes will revolutionize the lives of wheel-chair sufferers.

He now has three custom-built coaches and by 1954 expects to have enough—perhaps 150—to look after every crippled person in Canada.

Now 57, Callow knows what these coaches can mean. He was as his best during the first world war but was severely injured in 1917 in the old Royal Flying Corps when his plane cracked up during a test flight.

The crash ruined his career as a promising mechanical expert and made him a helpless patient. He became paralysed and blind.

But 21 years in bed failed to break his indomitable spirit. He has the drive of two ordinary men; works 14 hours a day and keeps four secretaries busy during the winter.

"The new coach will be as smooth as a high-class pullman," Mr. Callow said in an interview. "Sounds boastful, doesn't it? But it isn't."

"It has airplane hydraulic shock absorbers, and the springs were custom-built in Montreal. Over-drive and five-speed transmission make it accelerate like a passenger car. There's nothing like it in its class in North America."

Even the wheelchairs, which enter the special vehicle by a hydraulic-operated ramp, are fitted with pneumatic tires.

A recent survey at the Nova Scotia hospital where most patients are mental cases showed that some 130 of the 400 patients could be taken out on occasions. Callow's buses took them to the local baseball games.

"Doctors claimed it was not only good recreation, but the best treatment they could have," he said. "It put them back into circulation."

The coaches carry polio-stricken children, crippled veterans and invalids to hockey and baseball games, and on excursions into the country. It is believed that every wheel-chair patient in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick has been on at least one outing this year.

Ernie MacLellan of Bass River, N.S., is a good example. Ernie, a veteran at Halifax's Camp Hill hospital, broke his back and was "out" three times in nine years. Last year, in Callow's buses, he made 22 trips throughout the province.

George Mumford of Halifax is another. George, now 29, became paralyzed at the age of six. He never left home in 21 years. Then a Callow bus took him to a local art school. The school's principal says George will be earning his own living in a year.

Canadians Staff Single Station Serving Bermuda

Wellington, N. Z. — New Zealand's education minister R. M. Algie has declared strong opposition to high school pupils working during holidays.

"I was not pleased to read that large numbers of pupils were going to seek employment in the next vacation," he said.

"I should issue a word of warning. The vacations, of which there are two in each year, are given partly for rest and refreshment and partly to enable scholars to review for coming examinations in the school work they are doing."

Mr. Algie said both these objectives were defeated if the pupils go out to active employment.

"Such work is unsettling in its effects. I agree the position may be different during the summer holidays but I hope parents will take all the factors into consideration and that they will give due weight to the educational interests of their children. These should be paramount at this stage of their careers."

The holiday system here is different from Canada, since the seasons are reversed, with summer starting here at the time winter starts in North America. New Zealand schools have a vacation of two or three weeks in the fall, a similar one in the spring, and the "long vacation" of six to eight weeks in summer.

With the current labor shortage it has been easy for children to get temporary work at high rates of pay during their vacations. More than 50,000 children attend full-time secondary schools and half as many more get part-time technical education.

Some teachers and educational authorities disagree with the education minister's view. They say that light work in the cities, or open-air work on farms, is a good change from school work and that pupils return from such jobs just as fit to resume studies as those who spend the holidays in recreation.

This section maintains there is no reason why pupils should not get valuable experience of the working world and at the same time earn some pocket money when the opportunity offers.

Minister Opposed To Vacation Work For School Child

Hamilton, Bermuda.—Gerry Wilmot manages the only radio station on the tiny island of Bermuda, where a leisurely pace is followed amid the flowering hibiscus and oleander hedges.

The Bermuda leisure doesn't apply to everything around the radio station, of course. It has to work to program schedules like any other outlet. Broadcasting on 1240 kilocycles with 250 watt power, ZBM brings news and entertainment to Bermudians and their cosmopolitan visitors.

Five Canadians are working at the radio station, including Wilmot, former war correspondent of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The station has up-to-date equipment and a library which includes a collection of calypso songs that many a station would envy.

ZBM is the only station in the world, outside of the United States and Canada or their possession, that is affiliated with the U.S. networks, ABC and Mutual.

Its sole means of revenue is commercial advertising. Strangely enough, Bermuda had an annual radio licence fee of about $1.50 in former years, but since it got its own radio station the licence fee has been abolished.

Chief announcer is Bill Williamson of Hamilton, Ont. Attached to the Royal Canadian Navy during the war, Bill worked in Ottawa radio for four years following his discharge. Among other programs he handles the nightly "Welcome Visitors" program.

Walt Staskow of Toronto started in radio in Stratford, Ont., in 1940. He joined the army in 1941 and worked with army radio before going to the British Broadcasting Corporation in England, from where he came to Bermuda.

Miss Bette Morrison, a former Winnipeg girl now in charge of traffic and scripts, also does some programs. She is well known in Toronto radio circles and decided to remain here after coming for a holiday.

The fifth Canadian is W. A. (Bud) Pearson, 21, originally from New Brunswick. He also came on a visit, since his married sister lives in Bermuda, but he tried out for an announcer's position and was promptly accepted.

The August meeting of the Ladies' Aid, at her home. There were fourteen members and eight visitors, present. The Aid will meet with Miss G. Jones in September. Mr. and Mrs. David Bull, of Fulford and Mr. and Mrs. Vernal Lewis, of Warden, were evening guests of Miss G. Jones.

WILL BE PRESENT

HON. J. S. BOURQUE, provincial minister of lands and forests and hydraulic resources, who will attend the benediction of St. Andre school in Sutton on Aug. 28.

Prying Inspectors Anger Housewives

London. — The Scottish housewives league, long active in the campaign against rising living costs, has lodged a protest with the government about inspectors

"prowling" throughout the country and snooping into private cupboards.

A delegation at a private meeting here with Members of Parliament, urged steps be taken immediately to put an end to the practice.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pattullo, spokesman for the delegation, charged that a plan was afoot to keep Britain short of food, a situation recognized in Scotland as sovietization by stealth.

"To add insult to injury, our members have been subjected for months to the indignity of snoopers barging into our homes," she said. "They go into our cupboards, weigh the food they find and then ask for the details of the family menus."

"It's high time this nonsense ended," she added.

66th Annual Sherbrooke Exhibition Starts Today

The Theron Troupe

The Thérons, the world's foremost cycling troupe, will be seen in the grandstand show at the Sherbrooke Exhibition. This European act was featured with the Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey Circus last year.

SOUTH BOLTON

Messrs. Lynwood Burbank and Garth Durrell were in Montreal recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burbank spent the week-end at St. Anne de Bellevue visiting her father, who has been in a hospital there for several months.

Mr. Howard Morrison, from Montreal, is spending a week with his sister, Mrs. Meilleur and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Shuttleworth were in town recently.

Messrs. G. Gauvin and L. Burbank were at St. Anne de Beaupre on business one day.

Mr. Dewey Manuel was in Granby recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Taylor and daughter, Evelyn, of McKayville, arrived and spent a week at their cottage here.

Rev. C. L. and Mrs. Taylor left for their home in South Lancaster, Mass. They visited several surrounding towns while they were here and Mr. Taylor held a service in the S.D.A. church and South Stukely, where he met many old friends. Mrs. Jack Glenn, from Mansonville, also accompanied her cousin to the service there.

L'Abbe Maurice Luc spent a week at the Retreat in Sherbrooke. Miss Tony Luc was also in Sherbrooke while Mrs. Louis Luc attended the funeral of her uncle, Mr. Tom Turgeon, in Quebec city.

Mr. Kenneth Brock is home after spending a few months in Northern Quebec.

Mrs. Camille Bousquet and two children have returned to their cottage here.

Miss Lise Brassard, from Montreal, is also with them.

Mr. Roland Bousquet was married in Granby recently.

Dr. Gillanders was called to see Patricia George, who has been quite ill.

Mrs. L. A. Davis was in Mansonville and attended the Eastern Star picnic held at Mayor Sullivan's cottage, at Vale Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie, from the state of Ga. U.S.A., were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Tracey.

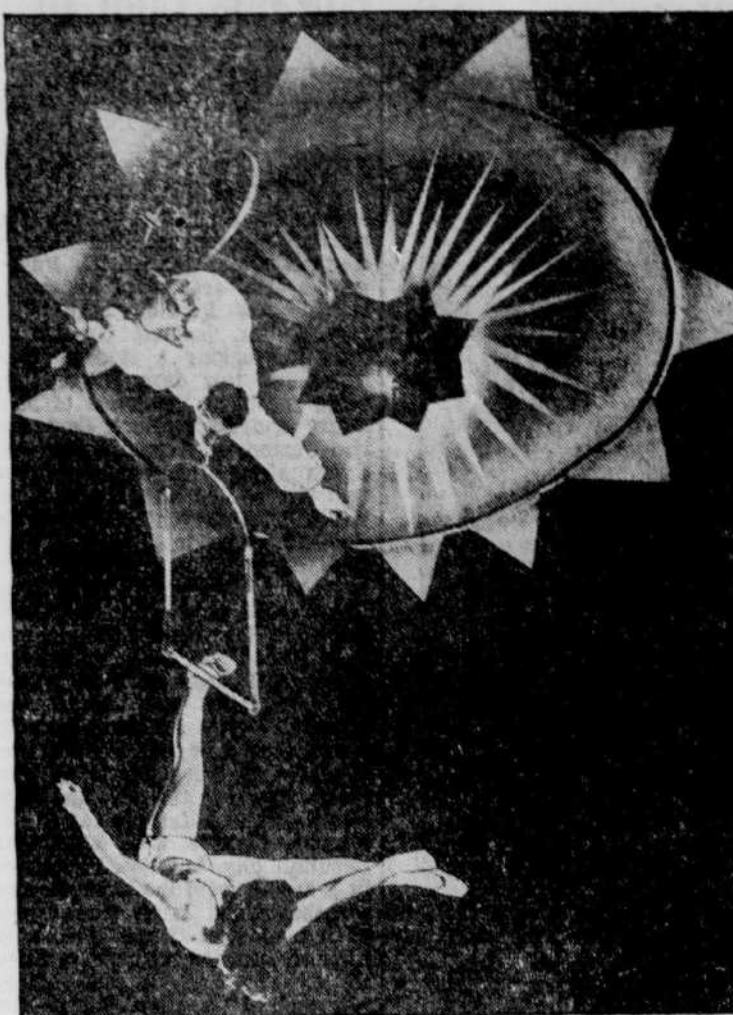

Mrs. Savard, from Magog, is a guest at the Barnes' home here.

Mr. Ali Willey and two sons, from Coildge, visited at Mr. Frank Willey's.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schoolcraft, from Ontario, spent the week-end here and called on relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Morfee

Trapeze Attraction

Les Idalys, whose daring trapeze and acrobatic numbers have thrilled fair-goers on two continents, will be one of the featured attractions at the Sherbrooke Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiken and Miss Tuxen, from Knowlton, were at Mr. Gordon Fuller's, last week.

Rev. Macklin, M.A. and Mrs. Ellen Fuller, from Mansonville, were also calling at the same home.

Mr. Russell Coates was in Sutton recently, and also at the home of Mr. Forest Macdonald, near Mansonville.

Mr. Ernest Taylor cycled up to Eastman and back one day and was a dinner guest of his brother, Mr. D. H. Taylor.

Mrs. Dulleway and family, and Mrs. Sleeper, from Burlington,

Vt., were guests of Mayor and Mrs. Randall one day, when they brought Miss Mamie Little to visit at the Randall home, before she returned to Sherbrooke.

Mrs. Ruth Young and grandson, Neil, Mr. Edwin Gaylor and Miss Doris Gaylor, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis.

Mr. Gerald Whitehead, third year student at the Toronto Bible College, held a Vacation Bible School here, each forenoon for six days. There were nine scholars present in the beginning and fourteen at the end, all of which were regular in their attendance, paying close attention to their Bible lessons, memory work and several made a profession of faith in the Lord, during the week. James Scruton held the highest number of good points, with Donald Heckley coming second. Others worthy of special mention were Edward and Luther Burbank, Wayne Fuller, Colin Aikens, David Grisley and Ernest Thayer, Irwin Heckley, Dorothy Davis, Jay Barnes and Mac Royce. Prizes were given out at the short programme on Friday evening, which was attended by several parents and friends of the children. A collection was made to help the work along. Mr. Whitehead made many friends while here, who wish him much future success, and he especially wished to thank Mrs. Gordon Fuller and Mrs. Howard Burbank for giving him meals at their homes.

East Clifton W. I. Holds Meeting

East Clifton, Aug. 22 — The Women's Institute held its monthly meeting with Mrs. Frank McConnell and Mrs. Guy Waldron, of Sawyerville as hostesses of the afternoon when nine members and many visitors were in attendance.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Ray I. Waldron and the members repeated in unison the salute to the flag, "The Mary Stewart Collect," followed by the Lord's Prayer, and motto, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Roll call was taken when safety rules were named. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Parkinson and adopted as read.

Correspondence was from Mrs. Grace Lebaron, of North Hawley, provincial president of the W.I. Thanks and appreciation from those remembered when ill. Mrs. Parkinson thanked the members for her surprise Birthday party and her gift received from them.

Pamphlets were given out to the Branch conveners, from the Provincial Convener, as an outline of the work to be covered by them.

The president asked anyone who was able to attend the Short Course, at Sawyerville, this fall, on "Rug Making" or weaving, and to give her the names of those attending.

A donation of $2 was given to the Cookshire Fair; one prize in the ladies' department and one in the children's department. A wonderful exhibit of clothing articles brought in by the members were on display and after being taken to the Cookshire Fair, this month as a county project will be sent by the County Publicity Convener, overseas to help the unfortunate ones.

A new English agromone is in Cookshire to replace the late R. M. Elliott, Mr. Donald MacMillan, of Lennoxville.

The president expressed thanks to Mr. Victor Bell for mowing the lawn at the W.I. Hall. Mrs. Guy Waldron has donated a three burner oilstove to the W.I. to be used in the W.I. Hall. All are very grateful for the gift.

The Women's Institute had the pleasure of having Mr. and Mrs. E. Pickup, of Lennoxville, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, of North Gower, Ont., attend this meeting. Mr. Pickup showed pictures from the National Film Board, Ottawa, of interest to the rural community, especially Poultry from the very beginning until ready for market also the re-modelling of the old kitchen, showing the different stages from the start to finish, and also precaution about drinking water and the danger arising from it.

The president, on behalf of the members of the W.I. and other guests assembled, thanked Mr. Pickup for the enjoyable and instructive afternoon, which he had made possible.

The meeting adjourned with the hostesses serving a delicious salad supper.

Kiwanis Club Of Granby Holds Meeting

Granby, Aug. 24. — At the regular meeting of the Granby Kiwanis Club, Mr. J. G. Fuller gave a brief account of his recent trip to the Pacific Coast. With Mrs. Fuller, he left Granby on July 12, making a stop at Winnipeg for two days where they were guests at the home of Mrs. Harry Shurtleff. Here they saw the extensive construction of dykes along the banks of the two rivers, Red and Assiniboine, which will prevent the terrible flooding which took place a year ago. They also saw their old neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Roly Porter, who now reside in Winnipeg, and Mr. Fred Gidding, and Miss Bessie Black. In Vancouver, they were guests of Mrs. Winnifred Achurst, and found the beautiful city suffering greatly from the drought. At Seattle, Wash., they were guests of Mrs. Helen Bowker, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicoll, the latter formerly of Granby. Victoria, B.C., is another beautiful city, but like Vancouver is suffering from the drought, and on the Island many fires were raging. Jasper Park, the ever popular summer resort, was filled to capacity with guests, ninety per cent of whom were from the United States. A great attraction here are the bears, which wander about at will, and are very friendly. The outstanding event here is the drive to Mount Edith Cavell, and deer were seen along the road, quite unconcerned of passersby. The last call of the trip was made at Beaverton, Ont., the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Nunns.

After the meeting, the Kiwanians and their relatives and friends proceeded to the Social Club on Elgin Street, for the annual sugar party. Here, there was served sugar on snow in abundance, also hot dogs, roasted on several open fires, and a most enjoyable evening was brought to a close with dancing.

The following members of the Granby Ladies' Branch joined Summerville and took part in the field day competition there. Mrs. D. Boyd, Mrs. K. Thompson, Mrs. C. Leddy, Miss K. Topp, Miss Alice Fuller and Miss Fay Cattell. The Misses K. Topp and Alice Fuller were among the lucky prize winners.

Special Committee At Drummondville Making Plans For Stop Of Royalty

Drummondville, Aug. 25 — His Worship Mayor Antoine Biron, K. C., announced at last Monday evening's Council meeting that Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, will make a brief stop here in Drummondville on October 29th.

Mayor Biron had been informed of the visit in a telegram received last week from Mr. Charles Stein, president of the special committee in charge of the tour arrangements. The wire announced that the special train conveying their Royal Highnesses is due to arrive at the C.N.R. Station at 10:40 a. m., with a stop over between twenty and thirty minutes. This stop, however, will not permit the Royal couple to make a tour of the City. However a local reception committee has been formed with the Mayor as its head, but definite plans have yet to be announced for the Royal couple's brief stop over.

The Provincial Congress of Barbers and Hairdressers, with around 200 delegates from every part of the Province, held their convention here on the week-end. The delegates arrived Saturday evening and immediately registered in at the Manoir Drummond Hotel, Heriot Street.

On Sunday morning at 9 a. m.

they were officially received by His Worship Mayor Antoine Biron at the City Hall on Lindsay Street, following which they attended 10 o'clock mass at St. Frederick's Church, Brock Street. At exactly 1:30 p. m. at the City Hall the Congress was officially opened and presided over by Mr. Paul-Emile Cabana, of Montreal, president of the Association. When primary discussions were over, each attending delegate was formally introduced to His Worship Mayor Biron at an official reception in their honour. In the evening a banquet was held in their honor at the Manoir Drummond where a most enjoyable time was spent by all.

Monday, August 20, following mass, the Convention met again in the afternoon to cast their final votes for a new slate of officers for the year 1951-52.

Last Sunday evening The Drummond County Fair came to a very successful conclusion with an estimated crowd of some 12,000 persons having been in attendance. The number of exhibits on view for the general public were far greater than at any previous Fair held in the County. The great mid-day show was thoroughly enjoyed both by old and young and the highly talented artists who took part provided thrills and chills, as well as fun and laughter for the huge audience in attendance.

Prizes for the finest horses were awarded to Messrs. Winston Duffy, of South Durham, and Walter Parenteau, of St. Marjorie, awards for the finest milch cows went to Messrs. Ulric Grise, of Drummondville, and Robert Simpson, of Kirkdale, who exhibited some of the finest herds ever seen in Drummond County.

The 4,600 Drummondville employees of the Canadian Celanese Ltd., have again completed plans to celebrate Labour Day, September 3rd, with their annual Field Sports Day. A grand total of some twenty-nine various sports items are on the agenda for all athletes entered to compete and magnificent prizes are to be awarded the winners. The huge program will also include demonstrations of muscular development and physical training.

During the course of the eve-

The Five Amandis-Ricardys

ning open air dancing will be enjoyed by the employees and their families, with music supplied by a first rate outside orchestra engaged for this special occasion. The "Manecanterie des Petit Chanteurs" under the direction of Mr. Gaston Montplaisir will include guest artists in the rendition of old and new folk songs, followed by a few boxing and wrestling matches between amateurs of Drummondville and district.

All events will be staged on the Company's property with an additional crowd of employees at the Sorel plant taking part in this special annual event.

The Drummondville Harmony Band travelled to Sorel recently to participate in the celebrations marking the 35th anniversary of the Calixa Lavallee Harmony Band so named after Calixa Lavallee who composed the music for the traditional song "O Canada." Eight instrumental bands took part in the festival in addition to the Sorel Harmony.

In a survey taken last week it has been disclosed that a little over 6,000 Drummondvillites take recreation in spinning around City Streets on push bikes. Chief of Police Maurice Vincent disclosed that a total of 2,629 bicycle licences were issued this Spring: 1,475 in Town of St. Joseph, 798 in St. Jean Baptiste and 805 in St. Simon, for a grand total of 5,707 licences, which does not include a large number of machines being run unlicensed, which may well top and surpass the six thousand mark given out by Police Officials.

Indicative of the growth of Drummondville and its surrounding Communities is the marked increase in the number of telephone directories which were mailed out to subscribers during the past week.

Approximately 9,720 new directories were required for homes and business establishments, according to Mr. A. Whelan, Bell Telephone manager here, compared with 9,483 when the last directory was issued.

Containing nearly 3,000 new and changed listings, the new book is easily distinguished from the old green covered book by its buff cover. A sufficient quantity of new directories has been printed for all present telephone subscribers and for the estimated number of new installations during the next twelve months.

Because of the many new and changed listings, Mr. Whelan urged subscribers to check any personal lists of telephone numbers against the numbers listed in the new book and to make any changes that are necessary.

Looking up the desired number before calling, the manager said, helps to avoid the possibility of getting wrong numbers and saves time for both the calling and the called parties. Information should be called only when the number you are seeking is not listed in the directory, he added.

One of the 50 telephone directories now being published each year by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada for hundreds of centres both large and small, in its Ontario-Quebec territory, the new book for subscribers here also contains helpful information as to the use of the telephone and long distance rates to many out of town points. Space is provided on page one for the listing of emergency numbers.

Work started Thursday morning to pave the following streets in the municipality of St. Simon: Jean de Brebeuf, Rodolphe, Lallemand, Jeanne-Mance, St. Therese and Lafontaine Streets, all of which will be paved from sidewalk to sidewalk. The Municipality received a substantial grant from the Provincial Government, through the initiative of Mr. Robert Bernard, M.L.A. Residents of Fradet Street also asked Mr. Bernard to back their request for the paving of Fradet as Boulevard des Chutes. Mr. Bernard promised to have the Street gravelled this fall and paved next Spring. Up to the present the municipality has just completed 17,801 feet of sidewalks at a cost of $21,338.00.

The Catholic School Commission will also open shortly the tenders received for the construction of a new Catholic School on Mercure Blvd.

The construction of the new Church is also progressing rapidly
