JET HITS NUNNERY; 15 DEAD

Tragic Crash Near Ottawa; CF-100 Rips Rest Home

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA — (CP) — An RCAF jet fighter, traveling at near supersonic speed, smashed like a bomb into a nuns' rest home Tuesday night, killing an estimated 15 persons.

Most of the victims were aged and bedridden Roman Catholic nuns. They perished in the inferno lit by an air force CF-100 twin-jet plane which plunged from 33,000 feet.

Early today the bodies of three nuns and one priest had been recovered from the smouldering debris of the three-storey brick convalescent home of the Grey Nuns of the Cross on the bank of the Ottawa River seven miles east of the capital.

Sister Marie Edmond, assistant-general of the order, said there were 36 sisters in the convent. Three were known dead, 9 missing and presumed dead and 22, including three injured, escaped.

Also missing and presumed dead are the two-man crew of the plane and a laywoman cook.

The plane, from 443 squadron based at Uplands on the outskirts of Ottawa, ripped into the nunnery with an explosion heard 15 miles away. The convalescent home was the only building of any size in the vicinity. All around it were open fields.

If the plane had been a few yards higher or to either side it would have missed the home. Hours after the crash, the priest was the only victim identified. He was Rev. Richard Ward, 42, assistant to the Roman Catholic chaplain of the fleet.

Firemen said it would be hours before the jumble of bricks and masonry cooled enough to permit a search for bodies and then positive identification would be difficult or virtually impossible.

The CF-100 of the RCAF's air defence command was ordered up to intercept and make positive identification of a plane which it had to be a transport.

Air defence command at St. Hubert, Que., said they assume the transport had to be identified because it did not file a flight plan and therefore was classed as an "unknown" in the round-the-clock air defence system.

St. Hubert said the plane's last reported altitude was 33,000 feet. When last heard from, the pilot had given no indication of any difficulty.

Two eyewitnesses said the CF-100 was aflame as it screamed low over a cluster of houses about 200 yards from the convalescent home. But senior RCAF officers said they doubted this.

The crash occurred about 10:15 p.m. Before dawn today, the air force announced appointment of an investigating board.

Air Marshal Roy Slemmon, chief of air staff, issued this statement: "I am deeply shocked as are all RCAF personnel who have learned of the dreadful tragedy. All members of the service wish to join me in expressing our regret and deepest sympathy to those affected by this sad accident."

The nunnery, known as Villa St. Louis, was about one mile north of the main Ottawa-Montreal highway. The Ottawa River flowed by its front door.

The CF-100 came like a bomb out of an overcast and hay sky. It smashed with shattering fury against one wall, driving forward into the centre of the building in a ball of flame. Bricks, glass and aluminum fragments from the plane spewed into the fresh green lawns. White heat twisted steel girders into crazy shapes. Tons of coal in the basement caught fire.

The thunder of the main explosion blotted out the lesser blasts of the plane's machine gun ammunition. The flames could be seen from miles away.

Here is how Sister Louise Auguste of St. Arsenne de Temisique, Que., one of the surviving nuns, described it: "I had just prepared to go to bed when the crash came. The plane came over and then hit the middle of the roof and blew up."

"It was terrible. The whole building seemed to burst into flames at once. I think everyone on the top floor must have been burned. Many on the ground floor also were unable to get out. It happened so fast no one can tell about it."

"It could have been only a few minutes after the first great crash when the roof fell in. I had just time to run out and help out a few sisters who were disabled. Then the whole building seemed to go up like a torch."

"The plane made a terrific crash when it hit. At first I thought it was a bomb."

Normally, all planes must file flight plans so that air defence command has a pretty accurate idea of the location of all aircraft at any given time.

But about once or twice a week a plane shows up on radar screens and cannot be immediately identified.

In such cases, CF-100 interceptors are scrambled to make positive identification.

If the transport — the RCAF did not immediately identify the plane — had been a transport, it would have been a tragedy.

Sister Tells Story Of Crash

OTTAWA — (CP) — This is the story of Sister Marie des Martyrs, one of the survivors of the fire which destroyed the convalescent home of the Grey Nuns of the Cross at nearby Orleans, Ont., after it was struck by an RCAF jet plane last night. The sister is the former Florida Dugre, a cousin of Ivan, Lucien and Roland Dugre of Sherbrooke. Her home is in Pointe du Lac, Que.

"I believe I was the last one out of the building. When I reached the bottom of the fire escape, flames had already spread to the lower floor and partially blocked my escape route. However, I managed to jump clear and unhurt."

"It happened so fast. I went to bed about 9:30 p.m. but I couldn't fall asleep. I could hear planes flying low but it wasn't an unusual noise for us. Some of the sisters periodically looked out the windows to see the pilot's lights."

"Suddenly, there was a noise like a thunderclap, the panes blew out, the window frames, made of wood, splintered and the next second there was fire everywhere."

"Strangely enough, there was no panic. We put on our slippers, slipped into robes and made our way in orderly fashion to the fire exits."

"The people of Orleans were wonderful. They took us into their homes and made arrangements for transportation to the mother house. They did everything in their power to make us comfortable..."

"We have suffered heavily but think how much greater the death toll would have been if the plane had hit one of the wings (of the nunnery) instead of the rear of the chapel. And if it had hit an hour earlier I hate to think of the results. In the summer months, sisters on holiday usually bring the total occupants in the villa to 70. About 35 were in residence yesterday."

Today's Chuckle

There's always good in any situation. Take color TV. So far the Joneses haven't been able to afford it either.

The CF-100 — This is the type of RCAF jet plane which crashed into a nunnery near Ottawa late last night, killing an estimated 18 persons. The building was reduced to rubble by explosions and fire.

World News In Brief

WARE, Mass. — (AP) — Mrs. Samuel C. Fullam, a nurse at Mary Lane Hospital, assisted Tuesday night when Mrs. Frances H. Martin gave birth to her 14th child. An hour later Mrs. Fullam herself gave birth to a daughter.

BOISE, Idaho. — (AP) — Idaho's radio stations went off the air for 15 minutes Tuesday in a statewide broadcast blackout during national Radio Week. Broadcasters said they wanted to show listeners what life would be like without radio. Stations reported their switchboards flooded with calls from listeners asking what caused the silence.

PHILADELPHIA. — (AP) — Twenty-five students at the University of Pennsylvania have been suspended or put on probation for a "spring fever" uprising two weeks ago. The school's committee on discipline Tuesday meted out the punishment. May 3, 116 students were arrested. Of these, 28 were held in $500 bail for the grand jury and the others were released with warnings.

TEHRAN, Iran. — (AP) — An army source said Tuesday that Col. Yar Jani, commander of the Iran-Soviet frontier post at Atrak, was arrested Sunday. The source gave no reason for the arrest, but the army prosecutor, Gen. Hussein Azmoder, said that during the last six months 10 Russian spies have been arrested in the area.

RIO DE JANEIRO. — (AP) — Rio De Janeiro's municipal business tax has been raised 370 per cent over last year. In many instances the tax now amounts to as much as the total annual rent. The increase was one of many imposed by the federal and local governments to finance wage boosts of up to 70 per cent given government employees.

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia. — (AP) — Public television reception began in Yugoslavia Tuesday, but the programs came to this Communist country from independent Austria because Yugoslavia has no broadcasting of its own. Thirty sets were installed in public squares and parks, and people gathered around for their first look.

Clock Cleaning To Stop Big Ben Chimes In July

LONDON. — (AP) — Big Ben is going to take some time off.

The big clock over the Houses of Parliament will be stopped in July for tuning.

The hammers that wallop the 13½-ton bell every quarter hour will be overhauled and the four faces reglazed. The work will take about three months.

The BBC is in a quandary because the broadcasting of Big Ben's time signals around the world is a live performance. In the interim the BBC may get its time signals from Big Tom, the clock in a tower of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Pipeline Bill Introduced

OTTAWA — (CP) — The government's controversial pipeline bill was introduced in Parliament just before dawn today after a tumultuous 12 hour sitting which included government-applied closure on debate and almost unprecedented delaying tactics by a determined opposition.

Nine votes were taken during the marathon session which lasted later than any in the current Parliament elected in 1953. The House rose at 4:41 a.m. EDT.

The Liberal majority, soon after the opening Tuesday afternoon, carried through a closure motion by Trade Minister Howe which cut off debate — at 1:05 a.m.—on a resolution preliminary to the bill for a huge treasury loan for the cross-Canada natural gas pipeline. At that point members adopted the resolution.

But the Progressive Conservative and CCF parties, hitting back at the powerful closure motion being used for the first time since 1932, threw up a barrage of delaying motions and procedural arguments which kept the Commons sitting 3½ hours longer.

The day's sitting, which erupted into angry bedlam at some points and into singing at other times when members were being summoned for votes, ended the first big round in the pipeline battle which has become the biggest parliamentary issue in years.

The next round starts Thursday with debate on the bill and with prospects of further government closure motions to overcome dogged opposition and meet the June 7 deadline for approval of the measure.

That is the date by which a proposed treasury loan of up to $80,000,000 to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. must be made if the company is to be held to its commitment to build the Prairie section of its long-delayed $375,000,000 Alberta-Montreal pipeline by next Dec. 31.

The bill provides for that loan —90 per cent of the cost of the Alberta-Winnipeg section. If not repaid by next April 2 the government can take over the line.

A second major provision is for joint federal-Ontario financing of a crown company to build the $118,000,000 northern Ontario section and lease it to Trans-Canada.

The Liberal majority stood alone in backing the closure motion, carried 122 to 73, on a standing vote. But on the eight other votes it was supported by Social Crediters and two independents, Paul E. Gagnon, Chicoutimi, and Raoul Poulin, Beauce.

Carl Nickle (PC — Calgary South) who has split from his party's stand against the pipeline proposal, went home after about the fourth vote around 2 a.m. after backing the Liberals on all but one division — an opposition challenge of a ruling by committee chairman W. A. Robinson.

Conservative and CCF parties, linked in their bitter opposition to the measure, voted together each time in the minority.

The pipeline resolution was adopted in committee on a 156-to-58 vote at 1:05 a.m. When the sitting's final vote was taken 3½ hours later the count was 156 to 55—only three members had left the free-swinging fight to get some sleep.

Prime Minister St. Laurent came under opposition criticism, with challenges to enter the debate and to take the issue to the people in an election. He sat through the entire debate and said nothing.

Hon. Earl Rowe (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe) said the government is afraid to call an election. It could not put closure on the people.

"There's more than us against you in Canada tonight," Mr. Rowe shouted at Liberal benches.

"That's why you and your complacent prime minister are afraid to go to the country. That's why the prime minister doesn't speak on this issue."

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) described the closure —after only two days of debate on the resolution—as "a light-hearted assassination of these free institutions" and "the evil spawn of a fascist mentality."

Liberals defended the closure. John Decore (L—Vegreville) said the opposition "asked for it" because of their obvious obstructionist tactics.

On the issue of the pipeline proposal itself—apart from closure—debate was just as vigorous.

Conservative and CCF members called it a sell-out to United States interests controlling Trans-Canada. Conservatives demanded further search for a Canadian-controlled method of building the line. The CCF plumped for public ownership.

Liberals argued that Trans-Canada is the only agency which can start the long-delayed line this year, that the company has an option on the only available pipe and that defeat of the proposal might delay a start on construction until 1958.

Union Quits Meeting In Lake Strike Talks

MONTREAL — (CP) — Despite a temporary snag, negotiations are expected to resume later this week in a wage dispute that threatens a paralysis of Great Lakes shipping.

The snag developed Tuesday when the Seafarers' International Union (CLC) delegation stalked from the conference room in protest against the action of a company official in declining to reporters the operators' position in the negotiations.

However, federal mediator H. Carl Goldenberg said the walk-out did not mean an end of mediation efforts, and added the disputants would meet in the sixth round of talks before the week is out.

Meanwhile, shipments of Canadian iron ore, grain, coal and general cargo slackened along the St. Lawrence river and Great Lakes as the strike against two companies and the sympathy tie up by five others entered the seventh day.

An unofficial survey shows more than 100 vessels of the Lake Carriers Association are tied up from the Lakehead to the lower St. Lawrence. The seven-company association operates some 220 ships employing 5,000 men including officers.

A company official threatened Tuesday that "not a propeller will be turning on the Great Lakes by this weekend" unless the wage dispute is settled.

The SIU struck last Thursday against N. M. Paterson and Sons Ltd., and the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Co. Backing them in a united front by calling a partial teup, with threats of a complete one, are Canada Steamship Lines, Hall Corporation of Canada, Mohawk Navigation Company, Colonial Steamships and Beaconsfield Steamships.

Hammering at the natural-resources policy of the Union Nationale government, Mr. Lapalme Tuesday night charged Premier Duplessis with "giving Quebec iron ore to foreigners."

He said the price received now by the province—$100,000 a year—amounts to only one cent a ton while "across an imaginary line" in Ungava, Newfoundland is receiving 45 cents.

However, said Mr. Lapalme, "thanks to a clause inserted at the insistence of Liberal members of the legislative council" the contract comes up for renewal in 1958.

One of the things that will be insisted upon, said Mr. Lapalme, is that the ore be processed in the province. He said Mr. Duplessis "committed a serious sin of omission" in not insisting that the ore be processed here in the original contract.

Rene Hamel, Liberal member of the legislature for St. Maurice riding, said the Union Nationale is robbing the province of $50,000,000 each year through maladministration of public funds.

More Networks, Less Regulation

Diversified Views Heard In West

VANCOUVER. — (CP) — A diversity of views on a tangle of radio-TV problems has been received by the royal commission on broadcasting in two days of sittings here.

The commission has heard representations for and against CBC regulation of stations; for and against more privately run networks.

Today, it plans to think these over for a few days before opening its next series of hearings at Edmonton Tuesday. After Edmonton, it goes to Saskatoon for hearings Thursday of next week.

Tuesday, the commission received sharply differing viewpoints on whether the present system of CBC control of stations should be maintained.

The 50,000-member British Columbia Federation of Labor said it should

The British Columbia Association of Broadcasters said it should not. The association represents all private radio operators in the province.

Individual private broadcasters in this area have backed up the stand of the association. So have those elsewhere. But some other bodies have disagreed.

Here, a committee of faculty members of the University of British Columbia told the commission the CBC board of governors should be kept in control.

A radio-TV society of UBC students disagreed with their faculty. This group called for an independent regulatory board and also for an end to the "single station" policy of the government on TV, which allows only one outlet in a given area.

The Private Broadcasters' Association also called for the licensing of competitive stations on all available television channels.

This was opposed, again, by the B.C. Federation of Labor, whose secretary-treasurer George Home said that in this part of the country it could result in private stations duplicating the type of programs available from just below the U.S. border.

The private broadcasters got support from T. H. Goode, Liberal member of the Commons for nearby Burnaby-Richmond, who put up an argument for a private TV station in his area, which is within the radius of the CBC's Vancouver outlet and thus barred from a station now.

Mr. Goode said that, if the CBC with its treasury resources cannot stand private competition, it should get out of the entertainment business.

No Comment By Prince On Margaret

LONDON. — (AP) — The Daily Express quotes German-born Prince Christian of Hanover as saying "I can neither confirm nor deny" rumors that he and Princess Margaret will announce their engagement. They are distant cousins, both descended from Queen Victoria.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman declined comment-standard procedure in matters involving the private affairs of the royal family.

The Daily Mail also takes note of the engagement rumors but says it "understands there is no truth in these reports."

Christian is a 35-year-old brother of Greece's Queen Frederika and a great-great-grandson of Queen Victoria.

Mystery Crash — Three men were slightly injured shortly after six o'clock last night when a Drummondville car crashed into this car two miles from Bromptonville. The force of the impact sent both cars bounding into opposite ditches. Roland Lapointe, driver of the above car, was turning off the main road when the second car crashed into it. The other driver disappeared immediately following the accident. (Story on page three) (Photo by Studio Breton)

Ald. Gerard Berard Named Liberal Party Candidate

Ald. Gerard Berard, member of the Sherbrooke city council for the past three years and an associate of Maurice Gingues, M.P. for Sherbrooke, in the real estate business, last night was named Liberal candidate for Sherbrooke County in the June 20 provincial elections. Mr. Berard's selection as opponent for Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Lands and Forests and of Hydraulic Resources, was made on the first ballot at a nominating convention held at Immaculate Conception Church Hall. He received 144 votes as compared with 59 cast for Charles Lemieux and 37 for L. P. Brousseau, Liberal party organizer in the last election.

ALD. GERARD BERARD

A fourth name proposed was that of Jacques Lagasse, N.P., candidate in the 1952 provincial elections, who withdrew from the fight before the balloting started, asking his supporters to cast their votes in favor of Mr. Berard.

The convention was presided over by Lionel Ross, M.P.P. for Verdun in the last parliament.

In accepting the candidature, Mr. Berard said that there was a wave of uneasiness and discontent sweeping Sherbrooke County at the present time, a situation which the present representative, Lands Minister Bourque had done nothing to correct. The people of the county were dissatisfied with existing conditions and were worried as to the future.

But Mr. Bourque, he continued, refused to pay any attention to these developments, neglecting his county to concentrate on business elsewhere.

The finances of the municipalities were in critical condition, the newly-nominated candidate declared, but the government refused to give them any assistance.

The Provincial government collected millions of dollars annually in gasoline taxes, automobile licenses and drivers' permits, but it refused to share any of this revenue with the cities and towns who were compelled to maintain the streets and bridges which formed an integral part of the provincial highway system.

Maurice Gingues left no doubt that he was unconcerned over the threat made by the Provincial Prime Minister against federal members who entered the provincial campaign.

He would be in the thick of the fight in Sherbrooke, he said, insofar as his parliamentary duties at Ottawa would allow. And, furthermore, he was ready to give assistance to any other Liberal candidate in the district. Federal members from Quebec were citizens of the province, he pointed out, and paid taxes here the same as anyone else, and as such had the right to discuss matters which involved them so directly.

He also warned the party organization that they must pay special attention to the revision of the electoral lists this year.

"The lists are being prepared by Union Nationale enumerators," he warned, "and unless you have a strong organization in each poll to check the lists, the government clique may be able to steal the election."

Dr. Gerard Lemieux, candidate for re-election in Wolfe, was particularly critical of the pensions paid to needy mothers and invalids.

"Our self-boasted French-Canadian, Catholic Government pays a widow with four children $39 monthly if she resides in the country and $44 if she lives in the city to support her family," he declared. "In British Columbia she would receive $126, in Ontario over $110 and in any province $100 or more. Yet we pay the highest taxes in Canada but the money goes to enrich the friends of the Government. Truly, the Union Nationale is eating the bread of the widows and orphans."

Other speakers included Senator Charles B. Howard, L. P. Brousseau and Charles Lemieux.

Importance Of Theatre Told To Conference

The Theatre Conference, a part of the Dominion Drama Festival, opened yesterday morning at the Superior School under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Norma Springford, of Montreal. Speakers were Bruce Raymond, manager of the Montreal Repertory Theatre, Guy Beaulne, program director of CBC and Bruce Haber, production manager of the National Ballet Theatre. The trio gave short addresses on their specialty in the theatre.

Yesterday noon, Andrew Allan, drama director of CBC was guest speaker at a luncheon and said: "The main purpose of a festival of this kind is to bridge the physical difficulties of living in a large country—we get together to see the work of each other, to share different attitudes and two native cultures which we have, to see the different standards of the groups, to talk to one another, to become excited together, to become aware of a sense of identity which makes us exist."

"The theatre is the mother of us all. In TV and radio we work in a vacuum whereas in the theatre we have a sense of identity. There is communication between the actor and the audience, it is a living thing which can only be experienced at the moment of its happening."

"The Canadian habit of belittling the work of its artists is probably a very useful thing. We belong to something bigger than ourselves. The theatre's role in the arts is immediate. We need the theatre, we need the educated audience. The feeding of the arts is the bread that is needed."

He claimed that there was really little difference between an amateur and a professional apart from remuneration. The best amateur is a good professional. The amateur is a lover of his craft. If the professional does not have the amateur's love and dedication he might as well do something else.

Mr. Allan said that when he feels depressed he likes to come back to Quebec.—Here we find the roots, here we find the springs from which we come, and here we can return to learn from it again.

In the afternoon a mobile theatre unit, owned by the Parks Department of Montreal, was on display at the Parade Grounds on Queen Street.

Canadian TV Development Outlined To Local Rotary

H. P. Capozzi, program director for Station CBMT was guest speaker at the regular Rotary Club meeting last night in Hotel Sherbrooke.

Mr. Capozzi, who was a Rotary Foundation Fellow in 1950 and is now a member of Montreal Rotary Club, delivered a most interesting address on the development of television in Canada today.

He said from its beginning in 1952 Canadian television has grown to the second largest nation in viewing and producing. Montreal is the third largest production centre in the world, trailing New York and Los Angeles respectively. Today there are 2,000,000 TV sets in Canada representing a value of $800,000,000.

There are 33 TV stations in Canada, with Sherbrooke's new station making 34. Of these, eight are CBC outlets, 17 are on the English network and three on French, with more expected to be added soon.

Mr. Capozzi said that Canadian TV was instituted to promote Canadian shows and develop Canadian talent. At the present time, 53 per cent of the programs are of native origin.

The speaker explained the difficulties in putting together a television show, pointing out that each show was started three weeks in advance. The expense, he said, runs anywhere from $5,000 to $20,000 for a half-hour program.

He said that there was no doubt about television having affected our lives in many ways. The advertising value is tremendous.

In our homes, it has affected everything from the scheduling of daily chores to the placing of furniture. It is also said to have an important psychological effect on our lives.

Mr. Capozzi quoted results of certain TV surveys in the United States, pointing out the many pros and cons of the institution. He said that regardless of how it had been accepted by the modern world, TV was a "wonderfully fascinating medium, something that is definitely alive, and is something that is with us to stay."

As for the future of TV, Mr. Capozzi said there were many great improvements in store. "Its future is tremendous and of unlimited scope."

Within a few years, he felt the bulky set will have completely given way to a small moveable screen, already in the experimental stage. Color TV will be instituted in Canada within three years. And pay-as-you-see programs may be in practice, enabling viewers to watch first-rate movies from their own living room.

Mr. Capozzi said the most important development in the future would be a micro-wave link joining all Canada together on one network. Counting the two railways, this would be only the third time a cross-Canada link had been built and it would enable TV owners to receive any production from any part of Canada within a few seconds of its happening.

The speaker was introduced by Alphe Gauthier and thanked by Ivan Saunders. Guests included C. M. MacRea of Cookshire, M. M. Goudreau, of Montreal, and Fern Groulx, of Montreal. Visiting Rotarians were: Maurice Moore, Boundary, Franklin Johnson, White Rock, B.C., Dr. E. S. Giddings, Charlottetown, P.E.I., Ewart MacKay, Simcoe, Ont., and Fred Phelps, London, Ont.

At the head table were Frank Simms, Lee Watson, Phil Biron, Ivan Saunders, President Hawley Griffith, Mr. Capozzi, Alphe Gauthier, Emile Levesque and Emilian Gingras.

Richard Green Is Lennoxville Contest Winner

Richard Green, of Lennoxville High School, won the oratorical contest sponsored by the Lennoxville Optimist Club defeating his fellow student Michael Caveney, at the regular meeting of the club held in the Elmwood Hotel last night.

Judges for the contest were Prof. S. Taylor, of Bishop's University, Dr. W. O. Raymond and Dr. H. G. Way.

The winner will have the opportunity to compete in the district 28 contest to be held in Kingston concurrent with the Optimist convention. Optimists Joe Gilbert, president and Bert Keenan, president-elect, will represent the Lennoxville Club at the convention.

Enough funds were raised from dances organized by the club to finance a team in the Little League circuit again this year. Other teams will be organized by the Sherbrooke Optimists, Sherbrooke Kiwanians, Sherbrooke Lions, Sherbrooke Rotarians and the St. Patrick's Old Boys Association.

Seated at the head table were Bert Keenan, Dr. Raymond, Dr. Taylor, Dr. Way and Joe Gilbert.

The Festival Poor Articulation Chief Weakness In Fine Presentation By Vancouver Group

By BARBARA WARK

"I can't believe they are amateur" stated Madame Francoise Rosay as she adjudicated "Darkness At Noon", by Sidney Kingsley the second presentation of the week-long Dominion Drama Festival last night. This offering by the Vancouver Little Theatre Association drew both praise and criticism from the adjudicator who claimed before she started that she was going to be more severe in her judgments.

Madame Rosay decided not to dwell on the merits of the play, which was a most difficult one, but proceeded to various points in the production.

The problem of being unable to understand all the words was again present and though the vastness of the auditorium was held to be largely responsible, the adjudicator reminded the cast of the importance of articulation.

The set itself came in for criticism, the prison walls not looking enough like stone, thereby lessening the dramatic effect of the presentation. She also called attention to the scene changes, some of which were too slow, some quite clever, but in which the white collar of Rubashov showed to disadvantage in the dark.

Madame Rosay praised the work of the actors on the whole, singling some out for particular comments. Rubashov the prisoner, and Rubashov the man were exactly the same she said. There was no change in the nature nor in the physical appearance until the third act, whereas the Party leader would undoubtedly have had more authority.

Robert Clothier as Luigi the Italian drew favorable notice with the recommendation that he make greater use of his hands. 402, the prisoner who had been in so long without talking to people that he was slightly crazy, was advised to be a little more intense and articulate rather than to shout. John Read handled this part.

Jean Brown as Luba played with understanding and sympathy and received the approval of the adjudicator. The love scenes between Luba and Rubashov, Frankie Johnson, could have been a little more passionate. Madame Rosay maintained "The whole play is a little too English. The Russians are more fundamental, strong and passionate."

Hans Hartog as the prison officer was advised to get more variety into the part, a little more tempo and change in the voice.

This was a powerful play. It was long and the action was somewhat disjointed, oscillating as it did between the Russian prison cell and the retrospective scenes about Rubashov's earlier, loyal life in the Party.

But it carried a tremendous impact, building from the second act on to the end and climaxing in the death of the prisoner. Rubashov is on stage for the entire play but his closing scene was one of the most effective.

The cast of 24 was under the direction of Ian Thomas.

Dr. W. W. Lynch

To hundreds, nay even thousands, of persons in Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships, news of the death of Dr. William Warren Lynch will bring a feeling of personal loss and regret at the passing of a man who spent almost half-a-century in active service to his fellow citizens. His skill as a surgeon and his diligence as a physician are evidenced by the tributes of the many who feel that if they are living today it is because of the care and ability he displayed in the practice of his profession and his cool head and steady hand in time of crisis.

Dr. Lynch represented all the best in the traditions of medical practice and his untiring devotion to duty earned him the love and respect of all with whom he had any association. During his long practice in Sherbrooke, he earned a reputation that went far beyond the confines of the immediate community — a reputation not only for his skill but for his devotion to his patients regardless of their language, creed or their position in the community. Despite the wide extent of his practice he was always able to show a personal interest in every one of those under his care and was able to retain that human touch which endeared him to all who had the privilege of knowing him.

Despite a serious illness which forced him to curtail his activities several years ago, Dr. Lynch continued to give his expert advice and assistance to the younger members of the profession who thus were able to benefit by his experience and pass along to their patients the knowledge he had gained in long practice.

He also found time to take an active part in the affairs of the community, maintaining his family's traditional interest in politics and displaying his readiness to battle against overwhelming odds by his readiness to enter the active arena as a candidate when the battle seemed virtually hopeless.

Double Benefits

The Russian plan to reduce armed forces by 1,200,000 men brings Moscow double benefits.

The men demobilized will be channelled into industry and agriculture, where the need for them is acute. The U.S.S.R. got itself into a tremendous manpower squeeze with Stalin's obsession for massive land forces, and agriculture suffered severely. So did Soviet light industry and consumer services, which simply did not have the manpower to go around.

The second benefit is a propaganda one. The Soviet Union openly challenges Western powers to make similar armed forces reductions to inspire further progress on the disarmament problem. If the Western countries comply, the Soviet Union would attain the first point in its own disarmament proposals—cut in the armed forces of the major powers by specified amounts.

Russia remains the most powerful land force power on the continent of Europe, despite the cuts. It is reported to have about 4,600,000 men under arms. Not only in view of the U.S.S.R.'s economic troubles, but in view of the advances in thermonuclear warfare potential, the Soviet forces would have been considered lopsidedly large.

But the cut is bound to bring pressure on the Western powers. It could spark more opposition in West Germany to the buildup of a 500,000-man West German Army, plus opposition in other countries to burdensome military budgets.

It does not seem accidental that the announcement was made on the eve of French Premier Mollet's arrival in Moscow. The Russians have been trying hard to woo socialists of all Europe, seeking a "unity of the left" to exert pressure on governments against big military buildups.

An overriding reason for the cut, however, could be the manpower squeeze. The Kremlin has announced its intention of catching up with and outstripping American industrial might as soon as possible. The program is calculated for about 10 to 15 years, but Russia badly needs manpower.

Not only did Stalin waste manpower, but Soviet war losses were huge — possibly costing more than 20,000,000 persons. Most of these were young people.

The army is largely a peasant army, drawn from the rural areas. Along with Stalin's harsh agricultural policies, this loss of manpower had an almost catastrophic effect on Soviet agriculture.

Other Comment On Drama Festival Controversy

WINDSOR DAILY STAR

Quite a furor has been created by a letter sent out by Mr. David J. Ongley, of Toronto, president of the Dominion Drama Festival. Its intent is to promote the products of a distillery which supports the Festival financially. There is much adverse reaction, and quite rightly.

Ottawa is involved because Governor-General Vincent Massey is a patron of the Festival and the letter was written on its official stationery. In effect, therefore, His Excellency's name is being used even if indirectly to peddle the product of a booze factory.

Quite apart from this, however, the letter was ill-conceived. Canadian cultural endeavors should not be tied in with the interests of purveyors of alcoholic beverages. Similar organizations will have to be very careful from whom they accept support if tactics such as these are to be pursued.

At the very least, Mr. Ongley is guilty of atrocious manners and extremely poor taste. We can do without the sort of culture contingent on drinking booze of a certain brand, or even of any brand.

TORONTO TELEGRAM

The letter written by David Ongley suggesting support for Calvert Distilleries in return for assistance given the Dominion Drama Festival, draws attention to the fact that this cultural enterprise is neither self-sustaining nor adequately backed by public funds. It is stated that the financial help given rescued the DDF from a serious crisis, one which might have, put an end to its activities. In this situation the federal, provincial and municipal authorities might well make substantial appropriations for an organization which is doing much to promote the development of Canadian culture.

It is an excellent thing that industrial and commercial concerns should make contribu-

OTTAWA JOURNAL

That Toronto lawyer must not be wishing his moving finger hadn't written that promotional piece for a distillery on the stationery of the Dominion Drama Festival bearing the vice-regal name.

The Toronto lawyer was wrong, but before any of us start saying with self-righteousness that the Dominion Drama Festival should not be taking money or other help from liquor we had better look at a few facts.

Last year the Ontario Liquor Commission made enormous losses; so much so that it turned over $90 million to the Dominion Government and $40 million to the Ontario Government from liquor excise taxes.

What happened to this money — this $130,000,000? It went into new roads and for schools and hospitals and for grants to universities and to help pay for the administration of justice and for national defence and old age pensions and

QUEBEC CHRONICLE TELEGRAPH

Perhaps David J. Ongley has learned the danger of form letters. It doesn't do to write the same letter to everyone.

Mr. Ongley, president of the Dominion Drama Festival, wrote such a letter to 3,000 festival associates urging them to remember and support a distillery which gives fairly large financial support to the festival. One of the associates was a Women's Association of the United Church at Maple Creek in Saskatchewan. It might have been better if Mr. Ongley had written a different letter to this group.

There is a strong temperance movement within the United Church, and the Maple Creek Association lost no time in bringing the letter to the attention of the Church's general council in Toronto.

We do not know whether Mr. Ongley's letter was inspired by the distillery, or perhaps not, for normally when a group such as this undertakes a project of this nature, it does not push itself unduly. It is content simply to have its name asso-

Bygone Days

THIRTY YEARS AGO

From the Record of Saturday, May 16, 1936.

The Amundsen-Ellsworth party, some time overdue on a flight over the North Pole from Spitzbergen, report that they are safe over Teller, Alaska.

The British miners have failed to reach any agreement on the proposals advanced by the Government for settling the coal strike.

Officers elected at the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke W.C.T.U. were Mrs. S. A. Jones, Mrs. J. Ives, Mrs. Margaret Hillhouse, Jean MacLeod, Idell MacLeod, Eileen Connor, Peggy Aitken, Margaret Connor, Phyllis Jones, Mabel Paige and Fanny Becker.

Among those taking part in an entertainment by the Scarab C.G.L.T. group were Margaret Hillhouse, Jean MacLeod, Idell MacLeod, Eileen Connor, Peggy Aitken, Margaret Connor, Phyllis Jones, Mabel Paige and Fanny Becker.

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Record of Thursday, May 16, 1946.

A six-point plan for a federal union of India was announced in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Attlee.

The United States Government filed in the federal court today a civil complaint charging a Canadian nickel company, its New York subsidiary, and three officers of the firm with violation of anti-trust laws in connection with the importation, manufacture, distribution and sale of nickel ores, nickel and nickel products.

A stinging attack on the Province of Quebec, which has enraged French-Canadian members of Parliament, was made in the Senate yesterday by Liberal Senator James Murdock, former Minister of Labor under Mackenzie King, in a speech on the "Canada Day" issue.

That is what we have come to; for we or for we all our governments in Canada, provincial and Dominion, are up to their necks in the liquor business; had it not been for that business last year Mr. Harris and Mr. Frost would have had to cut out a lot of what most of us now consider necessary expenditure, or face whopping deficits.

All this does not justify use of stationery with the vice-regal name to solicit patronage for a brand of whiskey; the Toronto lawyer who betrayed himself into that ought to have his head read.

On the other hand, if we are all accepting whiskey money to build schools and hospitals and better babies, what is there so vile or wrong about the Drama Festival accepting a bit of it to build better drama?

That seems to be the principal result of the tempest in the wine cup. The distillery has gained much free publicity. The Church is no closer to its goal of discouraging drinking, while Mr. Ongley will likely think twice before sending out a form letter holus-bolus.

DOUBLETON IS DANGER SIGN

Today's hand helped decide a recent team match. The losing team reached five hearts and went down; the winners stopped at four hearts.

South had a finesse for his contract of five hearts, but the finesse lost. He had to give up a diamond and two clubs no matter how he squirmed. Down one.

At the other table the South player felt the same slam ambition when his partner raised to three hearts. He made a mild slam try by bidding three spades, intending to push forward if his partner gave him any encouragement. This was the safe way to try for a slam.

North could not afford to encourage slam ambitions. The North hand counted up to a high number of points, but it was poor for slam purposes since it contained only one ace, no king, and no singleton. Queens and doubletons are all right for games, but they are poor material for slams. Hence North bid three no-trump in response to three spades.

This bid threw cold water on the slam. South bid four hearts, and North passed. There was no problem, of course, in fulfilling the game contract.

The hand points to an important principle in slam bidding. Avoid using a Blackwood bid of four no-trump when you have a worthless doubleton in an unbid suit. With such hands, make your try for slam without going past the game. Otherwise you'll often

Price Support Board Chairman Addresses Richmond Gathering

RICHMOND—Members of the Richmond and Melbourne Board of Trade motored to Montreal in the early hours of Monday morning to meet Mr. A. M. Shaw, chairman of the Agricultural Price Support Board, Ottawa, and assistant to the Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture. They escorted him on a trip through the Eastern Townships to Sherbrooke and then on to Richmond, where he addressed a large gathering of business men and farmers at a banquet held in the Brunswick Hotel.

Mr. Gardiner was to have been a guest of the Board of Trade, but at the last minute it was found that his services were required at Ottawa and he was replaced by Mr. Shaw. On the way to Sherbrooke the party was received by Mayor Boivin at Granby and, after signing the Golden Book, were escorted through the industrial section of the town. Visits were also made to Waterloo, Magog and Sherbrooke. The guests and members then came to Richmond, where they inspected several farms in the vicinity, including that of W. L. Gee, with a herd of 60 pure bred Holsteins, Robert Simpson with 65 head of Jerseys and 80 Short-horns, and Sam Doyle, with 60 Ayrshires.

A social hour at the Richmond

Hotel, was followed by a banquet at the Brunswick Hotel, attended by a large gathering of members of the Board of Trade, the farming community and members of the Canadian Feed Manufacturers Association, who were hosts to the Board of Trade. Seated at the head table were: Robert Simpson, Mayor of Ulverton; Mr. Shaw, guest speaker; Dr. E. Jacques, president of the Board of Trade Mayor of Cleveland and a Union Nationale candidate at the forthcoming provincial elections; the Mayor of Richmond, A. Geoffroy, Ernest Gingras, Member of Parliament for Richmond-Wolfe, and Jacques

Debroy, of the Canadian Feed Manufacturers. Dr. Jacques, who presided, welcomed particularly the farmers of the district. He was followed by Mayor Geoffroy, who referred to the fine reception the party had received at Granby and Sherbrooke. Mr. DeBroin, who also spoke, said he had hoped Mr. Gardiner would have been present to give them some cheerful news on the cost of feed grain, but he understood from Mr. Gingras that that was under consideration by the Government. Dr. Mercier superintendent of the Experimental farm at Lennoxville, extended an invitation to the farmers of the district to pay a visit to Lennoxville and discuss their problems with the staff. Mr. Armatage introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Shaw. Mr. Shaw said pinch hitting for Mr. Gardiner was a tough job, because of Mr. Gardiner's intimate knowledge of farming. The Eastern Townships was known across the breadth of the country as a very industrious agricultural community, the speaker stated. He was struck by the youth of the farmers present. It was good to see so many young people interested in agriculture. In the old days wood and hay were the cash crops, followed later by subsistence farms where there was little opportunity to do more than support the family. Today, farms provided a greater income and the farmers had more opportunity to augment their income to obtain outside jobs for the members of their families who wished to leave the farm. The main reason why we have the extra quantity of wheat on hand was because of the huge crops garnered over the last 10 years and the fact that so many countries were growing their own wheat, which was formerly purchased in large quantities from Canada. Mr. Shaw dealt in detail with price support, which he said was begun in the United States. Their system is mandatory and results in the piling up of huge surpluses. The Canadian plan was designed to be an aid to the farmer and at the same time avoid flooding the country with excessive quantities. It was an extremely difficult problem to work out. He said that if the present state of business in Canada continues and the population increase continues as at present, it was felt that within a few years the surpluses would disappear. Mr. Simpson, Mayor of Ulverton, thanked the speaker for his address.

MYSTIC—Misses Edith Walbridge and Bunnie Snade, of Montreal, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Walbridge. Kenney Baker of Stanbridge East; was a recent guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Soule.

Sunnyside School To Give Operetta At Boundary

ROCK ISLAND — "The Land of Dreams Come True," an operetta in three acts by Alan Gray M. Campbell will be presented at the Sunnyside School auditorium at the Boundary on Friday evening, May 18, by the first five grades of the school.

Songs will include "The Land of Dreams Come True," "Pixies Eight," "Strange Adventures," "A Wonderful Day is Done" and many others.

The story is of a group of children enjoying a holiday, with "Betty" looking for adventure finds "magic berries" which when eaten enables "earth" people to enter a land of dreams-come-true.

In the land of dreams, the children find "Mother Goose" and the "Old Woman in the Shoe" and Bo Peep, and the others.

Exclusive benefits of TCP receive official recognition

In 1953, after extensive research by Shell engineers and scientists, TCP was introduced to Canadian motorists.

Now Shell has been granted a patent for TCP*. This means official recognition of the advantages offered in this Shell-developed additive.

With the granting of this patent, it means Shell gasolines will continue to be the only gasolines giving you the extra benefits of TCP.

Today, with higher octane gasolines on the market, you need TCP more than ever. Without this special additive you cannot get full power from high octane gasoline, and only Shell premium gasoline gives you both high octane and TCP.

Extension Granted To File Appeal

MONTREAL.—An extension of time in which to file an appeal was granted Tuesday to Germaine Plante, distinguished-looking brunette convicted last month of attempting to induce a comely woman police agent to go to work in a brothel near St. John's, Nfld.

Miss Plante received a suspended sentence. Tuesday, Mr. Justice Jean Martineau allowed the appeal extension after conferring with the Montreal-born woman's counsel.

The 15-day period for filing an appeal has passed but the counsel said Miss Plante had been confused by the legal technicalities and would have an appeal filed by Friday.

She contended at her trial that she had come from St. John's to hire good-looking girls to work as hostesses at a club outside St. John's. Regina Cloutier, a Montreal police woman, testified that Miss Plante offered her $150 a week to serve as a prostitute.

Many Questions Unanswered In Highway Crash

Where they were going in such a hurry, why they had a rooster in the car, and what happened to the driver are all mysteries probed by Provincial Police today trying to investigate a strange accident on the Bromptonville Road last night.

The crash occurred about 6.15 some two miles from Bromptonville on the Windsor road. Roland Lapointe, about 40, was turning off the main road when he was struck by a Drummondville car. Force of the impact sent both cars hurtling to opposite sides of the road.

A passenger in the Drummondville car, 26-year-old Norbert Heuroux, was thrown from the car and crashed through a mail box post, breaking it in two. A second passenger, Romeo Royer, 29, received slight injuries and the two, along with Lapointe were taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, where they are under observation.

In the meantime, driver of the car, unidentified except for the name Lacroix, completely disappeared and police have been unable to find any trace of him. Whether he was injured, no one knows.

The only fatality in the crash was a prize rooster, carried in the Drummondville car. Conrad Leach, of Windsor Mills, is investigating for the Provincial Police.

Graham Is Moved To Death Row

CANON CITY, Colo. — (AP) — John Gilbert Graham joined three other condemned murderers in death row today for his first full day behind the sandstone walls of the Colorado penitentiary.

One hundred feet from his small cell is the state's lethal gas chamber, where he is sentenced to die the week of Aug. 26. Graham, 24, convicted of bombing an airliner which carried his mother and 43 others to death, was sentenced in Denver district court Tuesday by Judge Joseph M. McDonald. Then he was driven here in a three-car caravan headed by chief Gilbert R. Carrel of the state highway patrol.

Judge McDonald passed sentence after hearing Graham spurn his court-appointed lawyers' motions for a new trial.

"I don't see why I should have to make a political rally or something out of this," said Graham, married and the father of two children. "I don't see why it can't stop right here. I believe I had as fair a trial as could be had under the circumstances."

However, the judge ordered Graham's lawyers to ask the Colorado Supreme Court what disposition should be made of their new trial motion, which Judge McDonald rejected. It claimed 36 points of alleged errors in Graham's trial, which ended May 4.

Graham was convicted of murdering his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, by placing a dynamite time bomb in her luggage shortly before she boarded a United Air Lines plane at Denver last Nov. 1. The craft exploded and crashed 11 minutes after takeoff near Longmont, Colo.

Annual Reports Presented By Sutton Church

SUTTON — The annual meeting of Sutton Olivet Baptist Church was held in the church hall with Rev. R. Birge presiding. After a short devotional period, reports of the various officers were submitted and accepted. Mr. Walter Johnson, chairman of the nominating committee, then presented a slate of officers for the next church year. Other items of business were also discussed and voted upon.

The financial reports showed that in addition to money for local church expenses, generous sums had been provided for missions and the drive to "Build More Baptist Churches." A number of improvements had been made on the parsonage and the church building, including the installation of a new oil burning furnace in the latter, the thoughtful gift of Miss Nellie Thompson, a former member now resident in Boston.

Reports, however, showed no increase of membership by letter or baptism, while several members had left to join churches in other places. Despite that, there had been a good attendance at services and a loyal co-operation in all phases of the work by the members.

RED CROSS REPORT
Eighteen were present at the Red Cross work room at the Baptist hall when four quilts were tied and a considerable amount of other work was done. After the work session, tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Lena Darrah and Mrs. William Gendron.

Justice Walter Lynch Rules In Favor Of AAU And For Wes Santee It Marks End Of Line As Competitor

NEW YORK — (AP) — The U.S. Amateur Athletic Union, which had appeared to be buckling under the relentless pressure of the Wes Santee case, emerged today from the drawn-out legal battle more powerful than ever.

For Santee, No. 1 U.S. miler who took a long gamble by bringing the AAU to court on a legal technicality, it marks the end of the line as a competitor.

In upholding the lifetime ban imposed on Santee by the AAU, Justice Walter A. Lynch of the New York state Supreme Court Tuesday minced no words in condemning the 23-year-old Marine Corps lieutenant for openly flouting the AAU's expense rules. He was set down last Feb. 19 after being found guilty of accepting about $1,500 in excessive expenses in seven months last year.

Had Santee won the case, the AAU would have been reduced to nothingness. But the organization, which rules most amateur sports in the U.S., never has lost a court case challenging its authority — and it probably will be a long time before anyone else brings suit.

Santee and his Olympic ambitions had little to do with the result. No matter what the outcome, he never would have been certified for the Games. Now he can run only against service personnel, where he has met little competition.

Charles P. Grimes, Santee's lawyer, was undecided about taking the case to a higher court.

For his part, Santee admitted for the first time that he did break the rules of the AAU. He said that although Justice Lynch accused him of refusing to follow the AAU code, his transgressions were committed with the aid of the promoters. "That's what I've contended all along," he said. "Most of the meet promoters are AAU officials, and these are the ones who okayed any breaking of the rules. Who was I to question my superior officers?"

AAU officials were jubilant. Said president Carl Hansen: "The AAU has been fully vindicated. . . the AAU would have failed in its function had it not acted. . ."

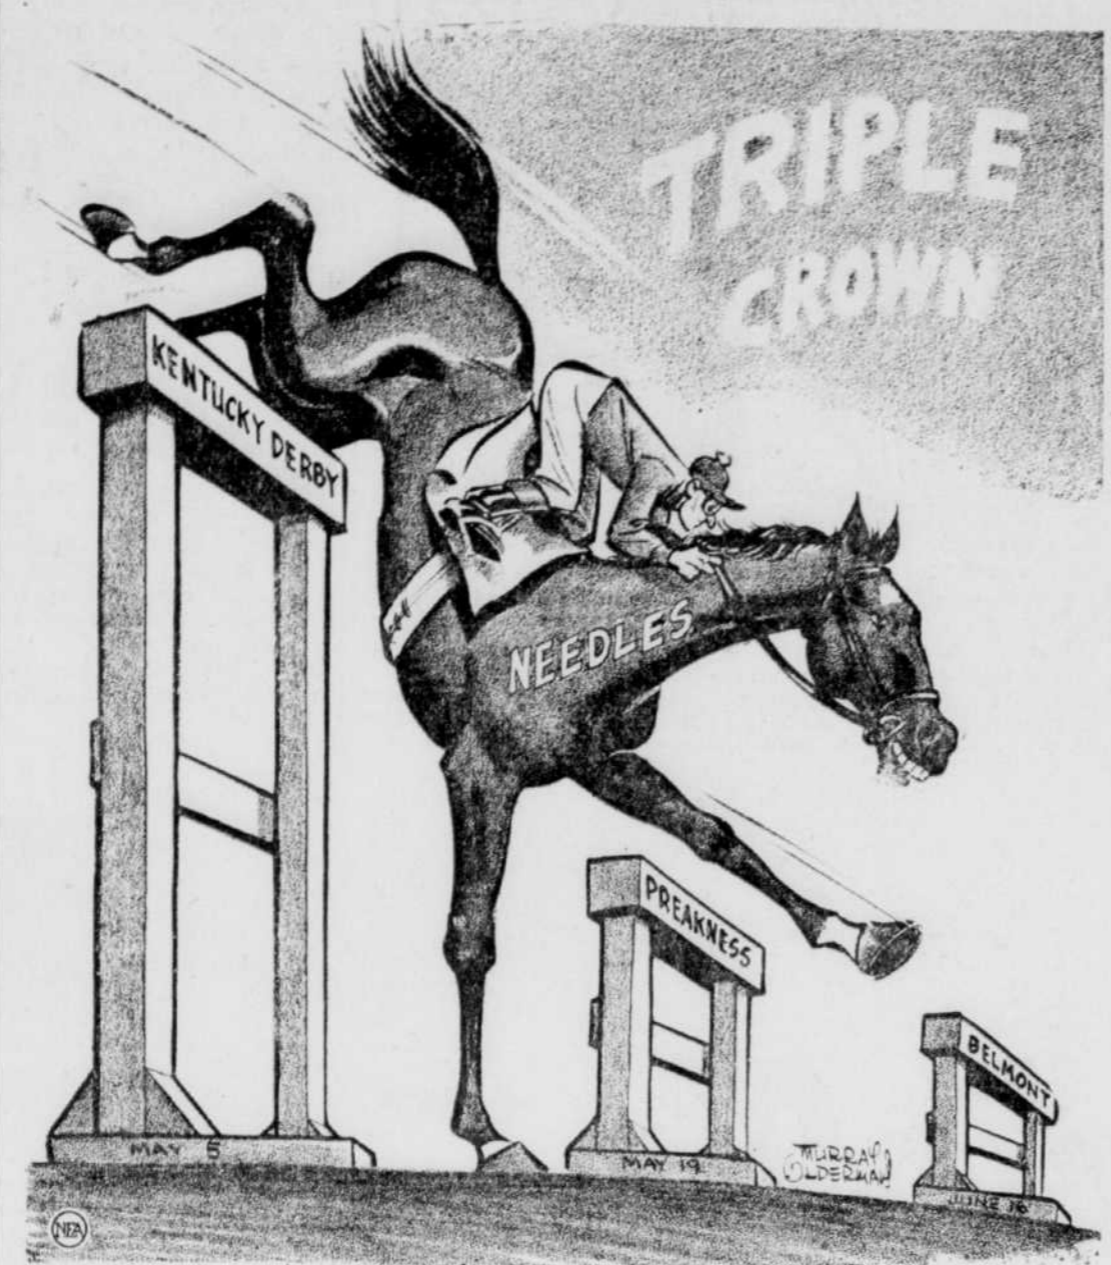

Hansen added, however, that the AAU already has launched an investigation into its rules and practices, which could mean sweeping changes.

Justice Lynch criticized the meet promoters as well as Santee.

"He (Santee) has eliminated himself as an amateur athlete," he said. "But not without the assist from some of the guardians of amateur athletics. . ."

"The records show that in their desire for larger gate receipts, some promoters have sought to capitalize on the athletic ability of such stars as Santee. From this unfortunate incident, some good may come to amateur athletics in the United States."

Move Into Contending Position; Collect 14 Hits To Beat Senators 5-1; Dodgers Edge St. Louis 7-5

All of a sudden Chicago White Sox are belting the ball like crazy in support of a pitching staff that takes its lumps but somehow has managed to fashion a five-game winning streak.

Before the Sox spurt they had lost seven of nine and any talk of American League pennant contenders stopped with Cleveland, New York and Boston.

Then boom! Sox began clubbing the ball to make up for some shaky pitching, and now that the mound staff appears to have found itself, the hittings are still at it. In the five games, Chicago has collected 65 hits — an average of 13 a game — including nine doubles, two triples and seven home runs.

They went at it again Tuesday night, piling 14 hits off four Washington pitchers to beat Senators 5-1 while Bob Keegan, in his first 1956 start, pigeon-holed nine Nat hits. The only Washington run was unearned as Keegan, bothered by an injury last season, went the distance and stretched his perfect 0.00 earned-run average over 21 2/3 innings.

Other victories pushed the Sox within 1 1/2 games of the American League lead, virtually held on a joint basis by Cleveland and New York, who were rained out Tuesday night. Baltimore clipped Kansas City 9-5 and Detroit battered Boston 6-3.

In the National, Brooklyn used four unearned runs for a fifth straight victory in a 7-5 decision over St. Louis. Philadelphia, behind ex-Cardinal Stu Miller, beat Milwaukee 3-1 to end a 10-game losing streak. And New York Giants, with four straight defeats, outlasted Chicago Cubs 6-4. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

Orioles scored three in the third and four in the fourth off Lou Kretlow and Ed Bertsch at Kansas City as Jim Wilson won his fourth. George Zuvverink, making his 15th appearance, pitched the last three frames for the Birds.

Detroit ended a three-game slump by knocking Willard Nixon from the mound after eight hits scored five runs in 3 2/3 innings. Nixon was put on the disabled list later in the day because of a sore arm.

Rookie shortstop Don Blasingame contributed two errors and Pee Wee Reese unloaded a three-run homer as Dodgers scored their four unearned markers in the fourth to hand Tom Poholsky his first loss. He had won three. Gil Hodges homered in a three-run Brooklyn first, while Bill Virdon delivered a three-run blow for Cards. Reliever Clem Labine was the winner.

Milwaukee, in the National League lead by 36 percentage points over St. Louis and only a game ahead of third-place Brooklyn, got a run off Miller in the seventh at Philadelphia, but the little righthander hung on to win his first complete game since Sept. 15, 1953.

Willie Mays and Don Mueller each homered and collected three hits, for five RBIs between them, as Johnny Antonelli hung on to dump Cubs into the cellar.

Master Your Game...No. 7 Shoulders, Hips, Feet

By JACKIE BURKE
Master of the Masters

Most golfers place their feet with great care and let the body fall where it may, particularly the shoulders.

The proper combination of shoulders, hips and feet, not the feet alone, determine the correct alignment.

A common error is to close the stance to prevent a slice. This action causes more slices than it prevents.

As he closes the stance with his feet, the average player tends to close it also with his shoulders. As a result, his body is aimed one way while he looks another.

Looking to the left of where his body is aimed, he unconsciously attempts to bring the ball around, hitting from the top and swinging outside the plane established by his body.

He cuts across the ball, imparting a left-to-right spin, which is what a slice amounts to. Still working on the wrong premise, he closes his stance even more, slicing from here to eternity.

Aligning the hips and shoulders, it will probably be to your advantage to point them to the left of the target.

The closed stance has so gripped the imagination of the average golfer that he no longer knows the way the shoulders and hips have set him up.

In 90 per cent of the cases, he will be aimed to the right of where he thinks he is. (NEA)

NEXT: No one can change his swing.

Tiger-Cats May Stop Zaleski Going To Sarnia

SARNIA, Ont. — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football League may stop Joe (Black Magic) Zaleski, second-string quarterback with Montreal Alouettes, from becoming the playing coach of Sarnia Imperials.

The Hamilton club said they might pick up the 29-year-old import after Montreal had placed him on waivers so he could become coach of the reorganized Ontario Rugby Football Union team.

The announcement of Zaleski's signing was made Tuesday night by Claude Irvine, Sarnia management committee chairman.

Hamilton president Jake Gaudaur said the club is considering claiming Zaleski as quarterback insurance. Ti-Cats already have two quarterback candidates, hold-over Nobby Wirkowski and newcomer Gil Riech.

Bob Bedard To Hold Tennis Clinics On City Parks Commencing Monday; Lessons Will Be Given In Evening

Bob Bedard, Canada's number one tennis player in conjunction with OTJ of Sherbrooke, will give special instructions to aspiring players of the City commencing Monday evening.

These classes are open to all interested, boys and girls, and will be held on public courts throughout the City. Special forms can be obtained from the grounds keepers at the following parks: St. Jean Baptiste, St. Francis, Boudreau, Dufresne, Notre Dame du Rosaire, Sangster, St. Joseph Jacques Cartier and London.

In order to become eligible for these free lessons everyone must fill in one of the forms giving your name, age, years of experience, telephone number and the hours which are suitable for you to take the lessons. These courses will open Monday and will continue through till July 1. All entries must be made before Sunday in order to prepare a schedule.

The clinics will be divided into three different groups, beginners, youngsters and adults, and the more experienced players. They will be given between four and six for the school children while in the evening the adults will take over with their lessons between 7:30 and 10:00. Each group will comprise between 12 and 15 players and all contestants will be advised of their lessons by phone.

The main objective behind this movement is to try and help all aspiring players and especially those with attitudes towards the game. It will also give the youngsters the proper basic principles of the game and get them started in the proper manner.

Machines Go Haywire And Bettors Collect

SAN MATEO, Calif. — Daily double players at Bay Meadows with the right combination Tuesday, had a windfall of at least $77,155.40 in overpayments.

The mutual machines went haywire on opening day of a combination quarterhorse and harness meeting. The totalizers recorded only 27 tickets sold on the winning combination of Violet Rose in the first and Mario Tass in the second.

When the daily double pool was divided into 27 shares, it came to a $269.70 payoff for each holder of the winning combination. But instead of 27 sharing it, the track had to pay that amount to each of the holders of 313 tickets.

Ireland's Team Of Amateur Boxers Mops Up Montrealers' Golden Gloves Champions; Irish Rack Up 7-3 Win

MONTREAL — Ireland's team of international amateur boxers scored a 7-3 win over a combined team of Quebec Golden Gloves champions and a top Montreal boxer Tuesday night.

The Irishmen as a team packed more experience than the Quebec fighters, but Eddie Stock, Jimmy Montgomery and Brian Stewart came through with well-earned victories for the home team.

Only the heavyweight fight failed to go the distance. It was over in one minute and 30 seconds on a technical knockout by husky Jim Robinson of Ireland over Andre Sauve, Montrealer now with the Canadian Army at Valcartier, Que.

The Irishmen, who broke even with U.S. scrappers 5-5 last week in Chicago, ran up five straight wins before Eddie Stock of Montreal took a decision from Harry Perry in the 148-pound class.

Jim Montgomery of Montreal followed with a win over Eanann Mckeon in the 156 pound division.

Scorecard Sales Get A Boost With Major League Clubs Hustling To Beat Thursday Midnight Deadline

Scorecard sales got another shot in the arm as major league clubs, hustling to beat the Thursday midnight deadline for the 25-man limit on rosters, continued to shift players Tuesday.

The big deal of the day sent Sal (the Barber) Maglie to the Brooklyn Dodgers from the Cleveland Indians for straight cash. Maglie, a 39-year-old righthander, got his biggest boost while beating the Dodgers for the New York Giants in their longtime interborough rivalry.

Of Maglie's 95 major league victories (he's lost 44), 23 have been over the Brooks.

Brooklyn, still a man over the 25-man-plus returned-service-men limit, also sold relief veteran Jim Hughes to the Chicago Cubs in a straight cash deal.

Detroit and the Chicago White Sox hooked up in a four-player trade. The Tigers sent outfielder Jim Delsing and infielder Fred Hatfield to the Sox in return for shortstop Jim Bredeweser and utilityman Bob Kennedy.

The White Sox sold veteran righthander Harry Byrd to Charleston of the American Association for an undisclosed sum.

The Baltimore Orioles, who Monday bought pitcher Billy Loes from Brooklyn, announced plans to option rookie pitcher Fred Besana to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League on a 24-hour recall basis. That would put the Orioles within the 25-man limit.

Cincinnati asked waivers on bonus outfielder Al Silvers to permit his unconditional release and set the Redlegs within the limit. And the New York Giants optioned rookie outfielder Bob Lennon to their Minneapolis farm club in the American Association on 24-hour recall.

The Chicago Cubs, meeting the roster limit, shipped out-

Major League Clubs Commence Their Pruning To Reach 25-Player Limit For Thursday Midnight Deadline

Major league baseball clubs, striving to prune down to the 25-player limit effective midnight of Thursday, spent a busy time Monday trading, selling and shuffling around players like pawns in a chess game.

The biggest news of the day was the sale of Billy Loes, the eccentric pitcher, by the Brooklyn Dodgers to the Baltimore Orioles for an estimated $20,000.

The deal, the Dodgers announced, was made with the realization that the Orioles were aware of Loes' sore-armed condition.

The Orioles also purchased Johnny Schmitz, veteran southpaw, from the Boston Red Sox, sold Mel Held, a righthanded pitcher, to Minneapolis of the American Association and optioned Werner (Babe) Birrer, another pitcher, to their San Antonio farm club of the Texas League.

On Sunday the Orioles had swapped outfielders with Cleveland, sending Dave Pope to the Indians for the veteran Hoot Evers. The transactions left the Orioles one over the 25-player limit.

St. Louis and Philadelphia followed up their five-pitcher trade of last week with another player-switch, the Cards swapping Solly Hemus to the Phillies for Bobby Morgan. Both are utility infielders. Both clubs said the deal was part of the big transaction that sent Harvey Haddix, Stu Miller and Ben Flowers to the Phils for righthanders Murry Dickson and Herman Wehmeier last Thursday. Hemus had been placed on the waiver list by St. Louis and the deal could not be completed until the waivers expired.

The Phillies also announced the outright release of veteran outfielder Wally Westlake and the return of southpaw Bob Ross to the Chattanooga club of the Southern Association.

Chicago Cubs got down to the player limit by placing outfielder Gale Wade and catcher Elvin Tappe on the reassignment list. The two players will be assigned to minor league clubs within a day or two.

New York Yankees trimmed down to within two of the limit by optioning second baseman

Bobby Richardson to their Denver club of the American Association.
