Westm't Rotary Club Members On Hospital Visit

Trip to St. Antoine Street Institution Followed Regular Weekly Luncheon Meeting at Victoria Hall—Tour of Building Made—Drs. Henry and Wright Explained Work of Hospital—X-ray Room, Wards, Operating Equipment, Outdoor Department Seen.

The Westmount Rotary Club, following their regular weekly luncheon meeting at Victoria Hall yesterday, adjourned to the Montreal Children's Hospital, St. Antoine Street, and made an inspection tour of the hospital under the capable direction of Dr. C. K. P. Henry. Prior to the trip to the hospital Dr. Henry and Dr. H. P. Wright attended the Rotary lunch along with Mr. Wm. Northey, president of the hospital and the doctors explained to the Rotary members the work that was being carried on in the hospital for the children.

At the hospital the members of the club were taken in hand by Doctor Henry and were shown to the X-ray room first where the massive and up-to-date equipment astonished many of the men of the club who had not previously visited the institution. Vision views of one of the members hands were made to demonstrate the use of the machine for bone-setting operations, etc. X-ray pictures of fractures were also exhibited.

The outdoor department, where many of children are treated daily, was a source of interest to a few of the members who were visibly impressed with the work that is being done in this hospital in comparison to the amount of space in which the doctors and nurses have to work. A newly designed dental clinic was also shown to the members.

Operating Room.
The operating room of the hospital, but recently used and replete with the ether-odor that made the scene all the more impressive, was next shown to the members. The brilliant lighting, shiny instruments and spotless cleanliness of the room made a visible impression on the members who complimented the nurses on their work and remarked repeatedly on the efficiency and compactness of the entire establishment.

The wards with their rows of little patients, suffering from spine curvatures, bone diseases, in fact almost every misadventure to which the human race is heir, were next viewed by the members of the club.

Here nurses, efficient in their white uniforms, were eager to explain the most difficult of cases and their explanations bespoke an interest in their work that told of their individual efficiency far more completely than the praise of their doctors.

Maintenance.
The boiler room, kitchen, pantry, laundry, store rooms were all visited and favorably commented upon by the members of the club. "Here," said President Stan Cayford to the group "You can see what you are working for."

Dr. Leila Brown, graduate of McGill Medical Faculty and daughter of Rev. B. B. Brown of Wesley United Church was seen at work in the laboratory, in testing work.

Reports of committees were presented at the meeting of the Westmount Women's Club in Victoria Hall, Friday, with Mrs. R. B. Brown presiding.

Being the first business meeting of the year, the Christmas Cheer committee's report was given by Mrs. J. F. Rollit, who told the members that 76 baskets had been distributed, providing for 278 people at a cost of $169.25. Some 800 articles had also been contributed.

Mr. Ralph Dawson reported as representative to the Big Sister Association, and Mrs. Gordon Wadsworth as representative to the Local Council of Women.

Mrs. Dorothy Duncan rendered several solos. The tea hostesses were Mrs. H. A. Seelye and Mrs. F. Haney.

St. Stephen's Girls Plan Entertainment
St. Stephen's Girls' Branch of the W.A. will hold a Variety Entertainment tonight in the parish hall, Weredale Park, Westmount. Among those taking part on the program are Donald McCowan, Miss Eva Watt and Miss Alice Baker.

Texas Coast Vast Cemetery as 50,000 Cattle Freeze

Death rode a howling blizzard out of the north which struck with record fury along the Texas coast and 50,000 cattle were its toll, freezing in the marshes and beaches over a wide area along the Gulf of Mexico. Carcasses are shown strewn along the beach in this picture, the animals having died by hundreds as they huddled together, vainly seeking warmth as the norther raged over the vast grazing ground. Cattlemen estimate the loss at more than $1,000,000.

Calvary Church Held 58th Anniversary Sun.

Mrs. R. W. McLachlan, who 58 years ago signed the original charter incorporating the Calvary Congregational Church and who at the annual meeting of the congregation last week moved the resolution of adjournment which has been proposed at every meeting since the inception of the body by a member of the family, was a member of the congregation Sunday morning when the fifty-eighth anniversary of the church was noted.

A letter from a former minister, the Rev. E. Munson Hill, now of Wayne, Pa., was read during the service, in which Rev. Hill stated that he began his association with Calvary Church 51 years ago.

The foundation of the church was laid some 90 years ago when a Sunday school, which eventually led to the present Calvary Church, was begun on Guy street, declared the Rev. T. W. Jones, when preaching at the anniversary service.

"That early group included names which were well known in the municipality, such as the Weirs, Macaulays, Cushings, Douglases," he told the congregation.

Taking the anniversary text from the Psalms: "The Lord hath done great things for us whereof we are glad," Rev. Jones applied the old pilgrim song of rejoicing among the Hebrews to his congregation.

REV. S. HILLYER WILL SPEAK AT LOCAL CHURCH

Missionary to Bolivia Has Had Many Thrilling Experiences Abroad

Occupying the pulpit of the Westmount Baptist Church next Sunday will be the Reverend Sydney Hillyer, who has seen more than ten years' service in the uplands of Bolivia under the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

During his first term as missionary to South America Mr. Hillyer was stoned by a mob of Indians incited by a fanatical Spanish woman and was left for dead on the road.

A year ago he was brought before a high military authority who was under the impression that the preaching of the gospel was synonymous with pacifism. Faced with the threat of a firing squad unless he would cease preaching, Rev. Hillyer asserted quietly that he was under necessity to teach the gospel. Happily the officer did not carry out his threat, but released the missionary.

Rev. Hillyer and his family are spending their furlough in Montreal.

Finance Drive Captains Named

Mr. Roy H. Foss will again head the Westmount Division of the Annual Y.M.C.A. Financial Drive being held in March. A strong team organization is being set up. Eleven Captains have been secured and teams are now being completed.

Captains: Wm. E. Cooper, Irving R. Tait, Colin W. Webster, Hartland McKeown, D. M. Ballantyne, Fred Price, H. J. Griswold, J. J. Harold, Cam. Morgan, J. H. Holden and Robt. Logan.

SERVICE CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Many Well Known Residents Included Among Executive Members

Total receipts of $911.54 were reported for the past year at the 15th annual meeting of the St. Matthias Service Club held recently.

Twenty-seven layettes were made by members, and clothing, coal, groceries, milk and medical attention were provided for needy families, the reports showed. Nine Christmas baskets were distributed. A total balance of $247.75 was reported. The Rev. G. R. Forrester presided at the meeting.

The following officers were elected: honorary president, Mrs. J. C. Newman; president, Mrs. L. C. Monk; first vice-president, Mrs. W. W. Eakin; second vice-president, Miss Helen Rugh; third vice-president, Mrs. C. S. Thompson; secretary, Miss Elizabeth Currie; assistant secretary, Mrs. S. C. Scadding; treasurer, Mrs. G.H. Introducing The Examiner To The Westmount Public Canada's Wealthiest Buying Centre Now Has Full-Size Weekly Newspaper of its Own — City of Great Importance in Dominion — Paper is Independent Editorially — Pages to be Replete With News and Features — Policy Outlined.

With this issue the Westmount Examiner greets the residents of Canada's Picturesque City, a full size newspaper, possessing eight columns to the page and bringing the news and views of the municipality to each and every home in the district in a concise and readable form.

For Westmount

Long a city of importance in Canada, it is the opinion of the right-thinking majority of the residents that the city needed a newspaper of its own, a journal in which the Westmount news and comment would receive primary consideration, a medium in which the merchants who were interested in the trade-value of the municipality could present their wares, in a conservative fashion, and without fear of glaring competition from inferior competitors.

Replete With News

Replete with social, sport, club, church, political and incidental news this city has, in the past, been forced into the position of many another residential district and has found that its more important news was of little value to the bigger newspapers and its lesser news of no value to them at all.

Leading residents of the district were approached and without exception expressed the opinion that it was time, in fact far past time, that Westmount possessed a full-size, dependable, independent newspaper of its own. These men, and women, are interested in the success of the Examiner as they are interested in the success of their city. They earnestly solicit the support of every citizen of Westmount and have expressed the hope that the paper will become not only Westmount's Own Newspaper, but that it will be read and awaited in every home of the city.

Independent

Editorially the Examiner is independent. Its only interest is, and will continue to remain, Westmount's interests. Its outlook, necessarily, is from the Westmount point of view. Briskly presented, but carefully prepared news articles will feature its pages making it entirely newsworthy and these will be supplemented by articles of interest to the readers of this residential community. If certain stands have to be taken the editorials will be fearless and fair, truly a mirror—held before the city—conscientiously reflecting its activities.

Schopenhauer described the newspaper as the "second hand on the clock of history". The newspaper exaggerates in comparison with the slow-moving hand of the historian but it does not exaggerate in comparison with the needs of its readers. If the newspaper is the second hand on the clock of history then the human being is the second hand on the clock of humanity, and the newspaper must exaggerate to keep pace with the human's enforced concentration on the little things that happen in his little life.

Should a newspaper be conservative or sensational in its make-up? Arthur Brisbane, in a selected article from "The Writings of Today" says:—

"The newspapers are like the churches. There are eminently respectable preachers who say nothing, and less numerous preachers that say something." It is the desire of the Examiner to be put, along with the preachers of the Westmount Churches, in the latter class.

Brisbane continues — "Some newspapers are preserved as interesting old relics although they have ceased to say anything and some startle the public with the accuracy with which they portray the news and the public takes time to get used to it. The newspaper does what the public does. It is the public, not the newspaper that sets the pace."

Policy. To tell the news. To attack. To defend. To praise. To teach. To advertise legitimate business enterprise.

Teaching is the most important and the most difficult. Attacking is the easiest and the most unpleasant although sometimes necessary. The defending of good causes, of the weak against the strong, of the new idea against the old, is the duty of every newspaper as is the praising of worthy effort, achievement, loyalty to duty, and assistance given to worthy institutions.

Finally the assistance given to business: The basic principle of advertising is this—first, get something that the public wants or needs; second, let the public know you have it, "letting the public know you have it" is called "advertising" and the community paper, thoroughly read by the majority of readers in its constituency, is the finest medium of advising the public.

WOMEN'S CLUB HOLD BRIDGE WEDNESDAY

The Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club is holding a bridge party under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. Wilfred Shaw next Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at Victoria Hall.

MOTOR GOSSIP

Shopping For Car is Fascinating Sport This Season With All The New Models From Which to Choose.

Motor car shopping, one of Canada's most fascinating games, will soon be in full swing throughout the Dominion. Everywhere, owners and non-owners alike are preparing to go into the market and acquire one of the new models offered by the automobile manufacturers.

That being the case, the question arises whether the same shopping technique which was employed in years gone by will be used this year, and whether the shopping methods of yesterday will prove sufficient.

This question is being asked by the far-sighted individual who is contemplating a car shopping journey along automobile rows. They are important questions and deserving of a goodly measure of consideration before the jaunt is started. Determining the correct answer in advance probably will serve greatly to simplify the actual process of acquiring a new automobile.

Purchase of cars during the last few years has served to place car-buying on a much more intelligent plane than it heretofore had occupied. "Hit or miss" buying has gone by the boards quite generally, but perpetuation of this desirable end still requires constant alertness.

In some ways, modern car shopping has been vastly simplified. In other, it has become more complex. Either way, it has evolved into something infinitely more interesting than it ever was before. The veteran motorist in whose bonnet the new-car bee is buzzing readily will attest to this fact.

What are the factors that have simplified automobile purchasing in this era? In the first place, and perhaps most important, the man who fares forth along automobile row to-day does not have to worry about getting a "lemon." There are about 25 makes of passenger cars left on the market. Dollar for dollar, every one of them is worth the money. It is true, as it always has been, that for certain usages some cars may be a better investment than others.

Another factor that has simplified car purchasing and has made it more expert is the public's increasing knowledge of the subject. The average car buyer to-day is quite well acquainted with car performance. If he has not owned an automobile, he has ridden in many and listened to the discussions of his friends. He knows performance in its relation to that of other cars or, at least, he has the knowledge of the technique necessary to acquire this important information.

The motor car buyer of the moment, for the most part, knows the exact application of the important terms used in discussion of automobiles. Power is not an intangible something. It is a capacity to pull hills at a certain speed and to travel rapidly. Acceleration has a concrete meaning. It means a get-away that has real celebrity about it. Flexibility is another element the average car buyer is acquainted with instead of merely being something the car catalogues and salesmen talk about. Flexibility means a capacity of adjustment to driving conditions. If the car can be throttled down for heavy traffic and reach high speeds when conditions permit, it is flexible. The truly flexible car is one that handles with ease and performs with minimum effort at all speed.

These, then, are the chief aspects of the simplification of motor car buying.

The factors that have served to make the process of acquiring a successor to one's present automobile more complex are more difficult to define. While the prospect may rest assured that car values are sound, and while he is better equipped to recognize values, the array of body styles and the fact that there are but small shades of difference in certain car performances makes his shopping more complex.

In the old days, the motorist had to confine his choice to approximately five standard body types. Choosing the one of the five that came closest to fitting his needs was somewhat of a task before the closed car became so overwhelmingly popular. Consider the further complexity brought into the situation by the fact that there are about twenty body styles available to-day.

In addition to the roadster, touring car, sedan, coupe and coach, the market now offers the laudau, the sportif, phaeton, cabriolet, speedster, brougham, limousine, town car, convertible, victoria, collapsible, foursome, twosome, sportster and beline.

The fact that every manufacturer is trying to put the utmost quality of price into his product may make it harder for the car buyer to determine which has been most successful in this respect. In the past, this was not so difficult. Some makers had quite a margin in performance on their competitors. If it was not in performance, then in beauty, or economy of operation, or general utility or freedom from trouble of one kind or another.

More careful scrutiny is necessary to determine these margins to-day. They are perhaps closer than ever before. But they do exist, of course, in fact or in one's prejudice.

But, regardless of whether one finds his car shopping more simple or more complex, he may know that this year it will provide one of the most fascinating and profitable ventures ever made in this field.

16 Goals in Hockey Game

A hockey team from the staff of the Monkland Theatre defeated the United Theatres' office staff team at Loyola College Monday night by a 16-3 score.

Monkland started the scoring in the first minute, and pressed hard to the end.

In the first period J. Fauteux scored four goals, R. LaBelle 2 and W. H. Wright 1, for the Theatre team. Johnny Nicholas of the office staff scored one.

In the second period Fauteux scored two, Labelle one, Bob Lavel one and Foster one. Johnny Nicholas scored another for the office.

Fauteux wound up the evening with another three goals in the final period and Labelle also scored one. Parker chalked up the last office tally.

The teams: United Theatre office: Leo Blanchett, Johnny Nicholas, Alec Ogilvy, Kenneth Hatton, Johnny Parker and Norman Cowan.

Monkland Theatre: Bert Craig, Sy Foster, W. H. Wright, G. Fauteux, Raymond Labelle, Camille Des Lauriers, Bob Lavell, and Davy Wilkinson.

Referee: Henry Gorman; time-keeper, Henry Sylvester.

Soviet Raising Boys to be — Sharpshooters

This Russian lad, eyes fixed on the target, is one of thousands of boy marksmen who are being developed by encouragement of the Soviet government. Volodya Zamogini is only 9, but he's a skillful shot and the youngest lad to win the coveted title of "Vroshilov marksman," an award named after the Soviet commissar of defense, which includes a special badge for any youngster making the high qualifying score. Shooting rapidly is becoming one of the favorite sports among the youth of the land.

DO YOUR HEADLIGHTS MATCH YOUR SPEED?

Increasing Speed Makes It Often Humanly Impossible To Foresee Pedestrians.

In the field of accident prevention there is a constant struggle between safety, on the one hand, and old and new hazards on the other. Consider the matter of speed in automobile driving. Fifteen years ago, 20 to 25 miles an hour was generally felt to be a good average rate of motor travel. At that time there were long stretches of narrow winding roads, with surfaces none too good, so that there was little opportunity for passing slow-moving vehicles; and of course, there were the usual highway intersections. Those conditions, combined with limited engine performance, tended to keep the average touring rate at the figure mentioned above. Today, there are hundreds of thousands of miles of improved highways — improved, that is, in the sense that many of the worst curves have been straightened; that numerous intersections have been eliminated by constructing underpasses or overpasses; and that better road surfaces and three-lane or four-lane highways have become common. Similar advancement has been made in connection with automobile engines — they can easily propel cars at double the speed that prevailed fifteen years ago. The natural result is an average rate of speed on highways approximately 40 miles an hour. In order to maintain this average, however, cars must travel a part of the time at speeds of 60 miles an hour, or more, to compensate for the delays incident to general highway traffic. Consideration of the many possibilities of defects in car mechanisms, and of human errors, leads to the conclusion that this 40 miles-an-hour average speed may be (and the higher speeds, more likely, will be) a major factor in automobile accidents in daytime when the illumination is ideal and when, consequently, visibility is unrestricted.

LISTEN SON

"I am saying this to you as you lie asleep with one little paw crumpled under your cheek and the curls stickily wet on your plump forehead. I have stolen into your room alone. Just a few minutes ago, as I sat reading my paper in the library, a hot, stifling wave of remorse swept over me. I could not resist it. Guiltily I came to your bedside.

"These are the things I was thinking, son: I had been cross to you. I scolded you as you were dressing for school because you gave your face merely a dab with a towel. I took you to task for not cleaning your shoes. I called out angrily when I found you had thrown some of your things on the floor. At breakfast I found fault, too. You spilled things. You gulped down your food. You put your elbows on the table. You spread butter too thick on your bread. And as you started off to play and I made for my train, you turned and waved a little hand and called, Good-bye Daddy," and I frowned, and in reply, "Hold your shoulders back."

"Then it began all over again in the late afternoon. As I came up the hill road I spied you down on your knees playing marbles. There were holes in your stockings. I humiliated you before your boy friends by making you march ahead of me back to the house. Stockings were expensive and if you had to buy them you would more careful. Imagine that, son, from a father. It was such stupid logic.

"Do you remember later when I was reading in the library, how you came in, softly, timidly, with a sort of hurt, hunted look in your eyes? When I glanced up over my paper, impatient at the interruption, you hesitated at the door. "What is it you want?" I snapped. You said nothing, but ran across, in one tempestuous plunge, and threw your arms around my neck and kissed me, again and again, and your small arms tightened with an affection that God had set blooming in your heart and which even neglect could not wither. And then you were gone, pattering up the stairs.

"Well, son, it was shortly afterwards that my paper slipped from my hands, and a terrible sickening fear came over me. Suddenly I saw myself as I really was, in all my horrible selfishness, and I felt sick at heart. What has been doing to me? The habit of complaining, of finding fault, or reprimanding, all of these were my rewards to you for being a boy. It was not that I did not love you; it was that I expected so much of you. I was measuring you by the yardstick of my own years.

"And there was so much that was good, and fine, and true in your character. You did not deserve my treatment of you, son. The little heart of you was as big as the dawn itself over the wide hills. All this was shown by your spontaneous impulse to rush in and kiss me goodnight. Nothing else matters tonight, son. I have come to your bedside in the darkness, and I have knelt there, choking with emotion, and so ashamed.

"It is a feeble atonement, I know you would not understand these things if I told them to you during your waking hours, yet I must say what I am saying. I must burn sacrificial fires, alone, here in your bedroom, and make free confession. And I have prayed God to strengthen me in my new resolve. Tomorrow I will be a real daddy. I will chum with you, and suffer when you suffer and laugh when you laugh. I will bite my tongue when impatient words come. I will keep saying as if it were a ritual: "He is nothing but a boy—a little boy."

"I am afraid I have visualized you as a man. Yet as I see you still a baby. Yesterday you were in your mother's arms your head on her shoulder,—I have asked too much, too much.

"Dear Boy, Dear little son, a penitent kneels at your infant shrine, here in the moonlight. I kiss the little fingers and the damp forehead and the yellow curl. Tears come, and heartache and remorse, and also a greater, deeper love, when you ran through the library door and wanted to kiss me."

I do not know of a better shrine before which a father or mother may kneel or stand than that of a sleeping child. I do not know of a holier place, a temple where one may come nearer to seeing and feeling God.

I am passing this 'confession' along to the fathers who may be privileged to read it, and for the benefit of all the little "fellows," the growing earth blessing little Georgie's, Billy's and Mary's, Elizabeth's and Jane's of this very good world of ours.

SHOES FROM CODFISH PRODUCT OF LABRADOR

Grenfell Happy Over Growing Markets for District's Products.

St. John's, Nfld. — When Sir Wilfred Grenfell writes to the St. John's newspapers, his remarks are studied with almost the same interest as that afforded a government communique for the noted missionary worker is no stranger in the northland which he throws light on. His sympathetic understanding and suggested policies are valued highly in the old colony.

His latest epistle, reviewing the work of the peoples that are dear to him, reads almost like a speech from the throne, issued from his northern kingdom.

"The most successful changes we have had, have been a dock in the north, which really seems to be helping the fishermen greatly; the agriculture in all the villages, which are now producing many tons of potatoes, turnips, cabbage, and other vegetable foods to add to the health of the people of the north; and our industrial work," Sir Wilfred states.

"The people are making such good things now that we have been able to market quite a lot, both on the coast to the tourists, which is the best way; and also in New York, London, Scotland and Montreal, which means a little money to so many houses that it makes a great deal of difference to the women and families."

Shoes From Codfish The missionary worker is elated over the manufacturing of ladies' shoes from codfish. "They are perfectly splendid," he exclaims. He is enthusiastic, too, over a regular weekly boat service from Montreal.

Discussing his plans for extension, he continues with the bright prospect: "We are going to rebuild Cartwright after the fire and will hope to put a good fireproof children's home and boarding school there, and also a small hospital in connection with Dr. Padden's district, which will have a doctor in summer only, but will be open to everyone who comes along to Cartwright."

Sir Wilfred rejoices that "now the entrances to Cartwright harbor have been thoroughly finished and charred by H.M.S. Challenger, but adds that "there is great room for more tourist travel."

He reports that the small royalty on "Grenfell cloth" this year paid all expenses of one nursing station.

"It may interest your readers also to know that the volunteer crew that went down to bring up a load of blue stone seem to think there is a good market for it, and that it might be also a little help to give work in the north which is so sorely needed."

than 170 feet. This is a reduction of 22 per cent in the range of clear visibility, brought about by motion.

Let us assume now that a car is approaching from the opposite direction. The lights from this car interfere with the vision of the driver in the other car not only before the vehicles pass each other but also afterward, because the lights of the oncoming car cause the pupils of the driver's eyes to contract and they do not immediately expand and resume their normal function. Therefore, the driver will be unable to see a pedestrian although by this time the latter may be very close.

This explains why so many accident reports contain a true statement to the effect that the victim suddenly appeared directly in front of the car.

The local conditions will determine the nature and extent of the accident. Assuming that the pedestrian makes no move to save himself, the car may crash into opposing traffic on the left, or strike the pedestrian, or go into the ditch or fence on the right. The important point is the fact that the driver cannot possibly stop the car in time (or even slow down enough) to avoid an accident.

REPAIR TIPS

The service station attendant, checking over the differential and transmission for adequacy of lubricant, may find that they are safe as to quantity. Ordinarily the motor car owner is fully satisfied with such a report. He should not be. Quantity is not enough, for the lubricant must have quality as well. It cannot have after a specified mileage and the safe policy is to have the old grease or oil removed every 5,000 miles at least.

According to one of the greatest service authorities in the automotive field, there are three tests that the goods repair establishment should be able to meet. It should be able to give a quick and accurate diagnosis of the car trouble, tell the owner what it will cost him to have the right repairs made, and apprise him precisely at what time the work should be finished. The motorist apply these tests to advantage at the service establishment which he is patronizing.

Always replace burned-out headlamp bulbs with new ones of the same candlepower. If it is increased, the result may be excessive battery discharge.

Remember it does not pay to coast with the clutch disengaged or the car out of gear on the strange hill. Grades are deceptive, particularly strange ones. Failure to recognize this truth has caused many an accident.

In removing grease from the body of the car with gasoline, there is a strong temptation to get the job done quickly by using a generous supply of the cleansing liquid. It should not be done. The cloth should be merely dampened, not wet, according to the best authorities on the subject.

Power disappears in many ways in the case of the automobile engine. One cause that is forgotten entirely too often is clogging of the muffler. As designed, the device builds up no back pressure against the engine. Mufflers, however, do collect carbon and dirt and as a result stultify the engine in its effort to do a good job. The fact might be remembered by motorists who are puzzled over the loss of performance.

Stiff steering in winter is more or less inevitable. It is a lot less, however, if the car owner thins the fluid grease in the steering mechanism with a medium grade of lubricating oil.

BRITISH FILM CLUB MEMBERS SAW SCREENING

'Evensong' And 'Dick Turpin' on Programme Recently.

The British Film Club, recently incorporated for the purpose of creating more enthusiasm for British pictures, and with a membership exceeding five hundred members, of whom many are local residents, are now witnessing special British photoplays.

A section of the organization met at the screening-rooms of Regal Films Ltd., last week, where a special show was given. The program consisted of "Sky Fishing" and Associated Screen News travelogue, whilst the feature pictures were Evelyn Laye in "Evensong" and Victor McLaglen in "Dick Turpin".

"Evensong" is the story of a beautiful young girl, (Evelyn Laye), who flies away from her home to study music in Paris. She goes with a young man who loves her desperately, but after a few months, she finds that she cannot return his affection. She is heard singing by a noted manager, and is given an audition at the Opera House. It is during this audition that Fritz, the man with whom she escaped from her home, tries to kill her, but finds that his courage fails him.

She is a success, and whilst in Vienna, falls in love with a high official of Germany whom her manager fears loves her because of her beauty. The officer is called away to fight in the World War, and the great singer finds she has become a slave to her voice. The film is a kaleidoscope of Musical Romance, giving a kaleidoscopic impression of events covering a period of over thirty years. The end is as tragic as it is beautiful.

"Dick Turpin", the Empire Release, is a cheerful, roguish entertainment, designed for picture-fans the world over. With a background of Merry England, it tells the tale of highwaymen with all the usual escapades, and romance. There is tragedy, pathos and humor superbly blended with great artistry into one hour's entertainment. It is well worth seeing.

There are still many residents of Notre Dame de Grace, Westmount and Montreal West who are equally interested and would like to participate in the enjoyment of seeing British pictures before they are censored or exhibited at the professional theatres.

If you wish to participate in the advantages offered by the British Film Club, and want to boost British pictures, apply to G. Underwood, secretary, Apartment 16, 4961 Queen Mary Road.

Robert Taylor has been assigned the leading role in "Times Square Lady", which will go into production soon at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Taylor was last seen in "Wicked Woman" and has just finished a role in "Society Doctor," in which Chester Morris and Virginia Bruce are featured.

Carolina Singers At Calvin-Westminster

On Tuesday evening the Carolina Jubilee singers gave a concert at Calvin-Westminster United Church, Atwater avenue.

This was the first appearance of these singers in Montreal and they lined up to their enviable reputation.

They have been touring in Ontario and have been received with capacity audiences at every appearance.

Their repertoire includes spirituals and all the old well known plantation songs.

Some of these singers appeared at the evening service on Sunday and took part in the song service.

O. P. DUFFIE HEADS RESIDENT 'Y' COUNCIL

Messrs. Mack, Somerville, Sproul, Hofer and Rev. C. Farmer, Other Members

A Resident Council has been appointed at the "Y" to plan activities for the men living in the building. O. P. Duffie is Chairman. The other members of the Council are: Harry Mack, Walter Somerville, Jim Sproul, Paul Hofer and Rev. Carl Farmer.

The first activity planned by the Council was a Pyjama Party, held this week. A large group of Resident members enjoyed an hour of music and fun; cake and coffee were served. Other events being planned are Ping Pong Tournaments and an occasional night on the gym floor for Volleyball or Badminton.

A monster vaudeville and cabaret show will be held in the ballroom of the Mount Royal Hotel March 2 under the auspices of the Unemployed Actors' Association of Montreal, the proceeds to help local unemployed actors.

The displacement by talking pictures of most of the vaudeville in local theatres, and the employment of acts from across the border in most of those amusement houses still using live talent, have thrown many local actors out of jobs, and it is for their assistance that this entertainment is being planned.

The show will feature local headline acts and will be complete in every detail.

Period Costuming In Cellophane

That genius of the extremely modern mode, Antoine of Paris, has introduced a spectacular innovation in style parades. On his recent visit to Canada, he selected several Toronto models and created period costumes in Cellophane for them to wear. The result is a series of costume studies, rather than a group of gowns, for the Antoine mode in cellophane is certainly intended to be viewed by an audience, rather than worn around the house. The creations were shown at the Toronto Motor Show. His "La France" moved across the stage in high boots of Cellophane with a transparent river of red, white and blue Cellophane flowing from her shoulders. Two of the creations are shown above. Antoine's "England" in a voluminous and glistening skirt of creamy Cellophane, wore red roses and the effect, with special stage lighting, was an unusual one. "A Venetian Lady" was in glittering black Cellophane with orange decorations in sharp contrast. The hat only is shown here. The skirt was very full and, in the lights, gleamed like a mirror.

May Robson, aided by Jack Dawn, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's makeup director, has solved the problem of looking a hundred years old for her grandmother role in "Vanessa, Her Love Story." With skin wrinkled by a special process, and complexion altered, the appearance of at least forty more years has been added to her face. Her eyes, however, remain the same. No make-up feat, Dawn declares, could subdue their sparkle.

MANY ACTIVITIES ARE NOW PLANNED AT WESTMOUNT 'Y'

Robert Lyle Heads Young Men's Council at Local Association Branch.

Robert Lyle has just been elected Chairman of the newly organized Young Men's Council of the local Y.M.C.A. Other members of this Council are: Wm. Van Bommel, Vice Chairman; Howard Matheson, Secretary; Wm. Grindley, Allan Dunbar, Denis Smith, Wm. Evans, P. Beaulieu and W. H. Spearman. Mr. Eric Allison is the Board of Management representative on the Council.

Plans are under way for a very active program in this division during the next few months. Some of the activities under consideration are: Current Event Club, Public Speaking Class, Public Speaking Club, Want-To-See-It Club, After Gym, Get-Togethers, Home Maker's Course, Ping Pong Tournaments.

Beware of Allowing Atmosphere of House To Become Too Dry

A word of warning has been issued by Dr. S. Boucher, head of the City Health Bureau, regarding the control of humidity in respect of heating of homes, and its effect on general health.

"With the coming of the cold weather," he says, "the heating of houses becomes necessary. Whatever the heating system you employ, it is to be feared that the high temperature produced will be a cause of discomfort and disease.

"In general, the air in houses during much of the heating season is too dry—drier than that of the driest deserts. It is also the case in public buildings.

"This dryness of the air effects the mucous membranes, predisposes to cold, grippe and pulmonary affections, renders one nervous and irritable, causes a sensation of nausea. It also has a destructive effect on furniture, wall-papers, woodwork, etc.

"Therefore, we must be provided against such serious disadvantages, not only in houses but also in all public places, offices, schools and theatres.

"It is not sufficient, properly to ventilate one's dwelling, to remedy air dryness; one must know up to what point the atmosphere of the house is dry, and take steps to have the proper relative humidity."

Dr. Boucher recommends the use of a hygrometer, which is not an expensive instrument, to check the relative humidity of the atmosphere in the home.

Local Bridge Group Enter World Event

The Montreal section of the World Bridge Olympic which is being held simultaneously in cities and towns throughout the world will take place in the Notre Dame de Grace Tennis Club tomorrow evening at eight o'clock.

Managed by Mr. A. S. Campbell of the Culbertson studios, a number of bridge players will participate in this event, playing sixteen hands selected by a committee of 29 leading bridge experts. Competition will be for International prizes supplemented by national and provincial trophies.

NEW SERIES OF ENTERTAINMENTS

Kiwanis Club Will Sponsor Events Starting This Saturday.

On Thursday, at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club, announcement was made of a new type of entertainment to raise money for the Community Fund.

Starting on Saturday evening, the Montreal Kiwanis Club will sponsor a series of combined entertainments and dances at Victoria Hall, Westmount. The entire show will be open to the public. From 8:30 p.m. until 10 p.m., Bert Anstie and his Mountain Boys will give a variety programme. This entertainment group has become well known in the city for their sympathetic aid to charitable organizations. They will present on their programme many well known local entertainers.

Following the entertainment there will be dancing until 12 o'clock. The admission charge will cover the entire show.

It is expected that sufficient money can be raised through these entertainments to carry on the social work that the Kiwanis Club has become noted for.

Smoke Got In Her Eyes

A woman in Dayton, Ohio, was blinded by smoke from her cook-stove. She ran out into the street. A car hit, killed her.

Alison Skipworth has been added to the cast of "The Casino Murder Case," adaptation of S. S. VanDine's latest Philo Vance detective novel which is now under way at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. The cast includes Paul Lukas, Louise Fazenda, Rosalind Russell, Arthur Byron, Donald Cook, Frank Craven, Isabel Jewell and Ted Healy. Ed Marin is the director.

rhythmic plan would tax the resources of any executive. A little more contrast and soft impressionist touches would have helped.

The fact that the Mozart Concerto in E flat did not quite succeed in registering is not exactly to be attributed to the player. Actually Miss Cook gave a very neat performance, but the concerto sounds like "occasional" music in the worse sense of the word. All that Mozart brought forth was not gold.

A group of short pieces concluded the programme. Among them was a tonally very commendable performance of an air by Frescobaldi, a Bach prelude which proved rather below the technical scope of the performer, an extract from Bloch's "Baal Shem" Suite, and a scherzo by Tchaikowsky.

Miss Prutsman contributed sympathetic accompaniments in addition to her good work in the sonatas.

CALVARY CHURCH ANNUAL MEETING

58th Annual Meeting of Westend Congregation Revealed Fine Year.

The 58th Annual Meeting of Calvary Church was held recently. The Minister, Rev. T. W. Jones, presiding.

The report of the work of the Church for the year 1934 was presented by the Secretary, Dr. H. V. Driver, showing a very busy and in all respects a very successful and encouraging year. The public services have been well maintained and the membership of the Church well sustained and active. Reports of all departments were also summarized in a report presented by the Secretary, showing a Sunday School enrollment of 507, with a Morning Sunday School supplementary to this. The Women's Missionary Society report a very successful year with a total of $520, raised for missionary work through the W.M.S. The Women's Association report a very good year many activities in which the members participated. The Young People's Society report a year of exceptional attendance at regular meetings, and excellent work being accomplished. Other activities such as Men's Club, Bowling League, Badminton Club, Music Committee and Choir Association, Dramatic Guild as well as the Missionary activities of the Church, all testify to a year both of great need and of splendid opportunities.

Reports. The report of the Missionary Treasurer, Mr. R. E. Gordon, was given showing $2,362 raised in this department. The Church Treasurer's report was given by Mr. T. Haugland showing that a total of $9,223 had been received during the year, which the gathering felt to be most encouraging in view of the fact that many of the church members are unemployed, and therefore, unable to make any contribution to the financial resources of the church. The total amount raised for all purposes, including Missionary contributions was $12,965.

In the report of the Secretary sincere tribute was paid to the memory of the late Dr. J. R. Dougal, one of the Charter members of the Church; who never missed an Annual Meeting and by his counsel and inspiration always encouraged the workers in their several tasks.

The Charter members that are still on the active roll of the Church are: Mrs. R. W. McLachlan and Miss Martha Richardson.

Officers for the year 1935 were elected as follows: Secretary, Mr. A. W. Hopton; treasurer, Mr. T. Haugland; missionary, Mr. R. E. Gordon; secretary of Board of Deacons, Mr. W. J. Messenger; chairman of trustees, Mr. S. T. Spindly; chairman of stewards, Mr. John D. Ross; superintendent of Sunday School, Mr. F. N. Stephen; organist, Mr. G. W. Cornish.

The report on the Membership of the Church showed that 49 new members had been received during the year, 17 of whom were received on confession of faith, having come directly from the Membership Training Classes of the Sunday School.

A Special Committee was appointed to make plans for a suitable celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of the Church and for a forward movement worthy of so historic an occasion.

Following the business session a social hour was spent in the Church parlors under the auspices of the Women's Association.

When Louise Fazenda started work on "The Winning Ticket" at M-G-M she met a lot of players with whom she had acted before—They remembered the grand cakes Louise used to bake, and bring on the set, and remarked the day she began, "Well, here's where we eat."

McGill Players' Club Announce Second Play

The second major production of the McGill Players' Club will be the famous "Autumn Crocus" which has gained considerable notice as a dramatic achievement in London where it has just finished an extended run.

The cast and production personnel were announced last week, and rehearsals are now under way with the skilled direction of Mr. Filmore Sadler. The play will open at Moyle Hall exactly two weeks from today, and for the intervening period, the production managers, Max Roth and Howard Stikeman, announce great effort by the players and the stage-directors.

The play itself is a comedy-drama which was a "smash hit" in London and New York when it was enacted by Francis Lederer of film fame. The locale is in the Austrian Tyrol.

A large and experienced cast will enact the roles in this play. Karl Wiel and Harriet Colby take the leading parts. The latter will be remembered for her portrayal of Consuelo, in "He Who Gets Slapped," and Myrna Arundel in Noel Coward's "Hay Fever." The former appeared in "Rope" with Patrick Hamilton.

The supporting characters are as follows—Frau Steiner—Jean McGoun, Edith—Naomi Molson, Fanny—Harriet Colby, Rev. Mayne—Howard Stikeman, Miss Mayne—Lorraine Task, Young Woman—Elizabeth Enman, Young Man—Robert Dunn, Feldman—Jacob Fisher, Frau Feldman—Elsie Gilmeister, Child—Margaret Hill, Maid—Isobel Wilson.

ST. MATTHIAS PLAYERS TO STAGE PRODUCTION

Guild to Present "Much Ado About Nothing" in Parish Hall.

The Players Guild of St. Matthias will present Shakespeare's comedy "Much Ado about Nothing" in the New Parish Hall on the evenings of February 7, 8 and 9.

The new hall, which has a seating capacity of over 400, will be formally opened by the Bishop of

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 3rd, is "LOVE".

The Golden Text is:—"Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another." (1 John 4:11).

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd." (Matthew 9:35, 36).

"We walk in the footsteps of Truth and Love by following the example of our Master in the understanding of divine metaphysics. Christianity is the basis of true healing. Whatever holds human thought in line with unselfed love, receives directly the divine power." (Science and Health, page 192).

Montreal at the annual church reception tomorrow. The stage is large and well equipped and can easily be seen from every seat.

The costumes for the production are being made by the Guild. The main setting will be a garden, with few scenery changes to avoid tedious waits and breaks in the continuity of the plot.

The principal roles will be taken by the following:

Helen Roy (Beatrice); Stuart Anderson (Benedick); Cyril Maggs (Leonato); Frederick Chase (Claudio); Winifred Munderloh (Hero); Norman Lowe (Don Pedro) and C. J. Jotehan (Dogberry).

The producer and cast are hard at work putting on the finishing touches to the production.

Edward German's incidental music will be played during the performance by Sydney Whitman, pianist, Jules Lapointe, violinist and Ralph Manley, cellist. Boys of St. Matthias' choir will sing the two famous songs "Sigh No More Ladies" and "Heavily, Heavily", under the direction of W. Johnston. Hissler, Dances, specially arranged by Kathleen Barry, will lend life and color to the betrothal scenes.

The Westmount Examiner

"Serving Canada's Wealthiest Market"

The Examiner Publishing Company, Limited
Head Office: 5384 Sherbrooke St. West, Montreal.
DEXTER 3511*
"The Examiner" aims to be an independent, clean newspaper for the home, devoted to public service.

Westmount Examiner, Friday, Feb. 1st, 1935

The Examiner

The Westmount Examiner, states the slogan at the head of this column, is a clean, independent paper for the home, devoted to public service. In the opinion of the big majority of the citizens of this municipality, that is the type of paper that they wish to see come to the doors of their houses and that is the type of paper that they will support. Before embarking on this venture the publishers of the Examiner made a thorough examination of the various cross-sections of life in this community and were pleased but not surprised to learn that the residents are particular about the quality of reading matter that enters their homes, where they are bringing up the next generation. In the world of today, redolent as it is with tabloids that make their principal appeal through questionable sensationalism, it is the duty of parents to watch with care the reading material that comes into their children's hands. Independent in editorial stand the Examiner is not and will not become the tool of vested interests. Going into every home in Westmount the paper will present a definite quantity and quality of news of interest to the women, who, it must be admitted, do a large percentage of the buying in any community. Devoted to public service the Examiner is throwing its news-columns open to all who would aid in helping the weak against the strong, and will champion any worthy cause.

Film Disaster

A jury, under Colonel Lorenzo Prince, recently returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of the woman and four children who lost their lives in an explosion and fire which occurred during the screening of films in a private home in the east end of the city.

To the verdict was added a recommendation that city authorities amend civic regulations concerning the showing of motion picture films in private homes and public places, with the exception of theatres, in order to avert other similar disasters.

With civic authorities, it is a feast or a famine, for it required another tragedy, if not a holocaust, to awaken them to the fact individuals carrying what are known as portable standard machines have been screening inflammable films in private homes and public places, other than theatres, since the introduction of portable standard equipment quite a few years ago.

There is no doubt but that civic fire inspectors were aware of this and were they fully competent they should have known the danger attending each screening. This being the case we should like to know why preventative regulations were not already in effect because in most other provinces in Canada as well as practically all the states of the Union, regulations concerning the use of inflammable films (nitrate stock) confine their use to places equipped with fire protection booths. This regulation includes theatres but does not necessarily exclude private and public halls which have been equipped with safety booths as approved by fire underwriters or fire inspectors.

It will be interesting to note what new regulations emanate as a direct result of that tragedy but those upon whom the responsibility rests should make haste slowly lest the cure be worse than the disease.

It is to be hoped that civic authorities recognize definitely the difference between sub-standard film (which is commonly known as safety film or non-inflammable) and standard film, as used in the theatres, which contains nitrate of silver and is highly inflammable.

It may be argued that sub-standard film will burn but so will clothes if one sets fire to them but it will not catch fire from the heat of the projection lamp or from coming in contact with it. This film will not burn in the roll nor will it explode.

Some standard film is printed on safety stock and consideration might also be given by way of exemption from any rigid ruling which may be made to cover the use of standard film, elsewhere than in theatres. All phases of film distribution should be considered before new and drastic regulations are enforced and the powers at the city hall should be governed accordingly.

Pietro Cardinal Gasparri, who was papal secretary throughout the world war and who concluded the treaties of reconciliation between the vatican and Italy, died at Vatican city November 18, at 82 years of age. Cardinal Gasparri was regarded as the most noted prelate in the Catholic Church after Pope Pius. He was a strong opponent of fascism, and a powerful influence in the cause of universal peace.

The death is reported of Rev. George S. Carson, editor of the Presbyterian Witness of Canada from 1906 until church union was consummated in 1925, and for three years following union a joint editor of the New Outlook, Toronto. Dr. Carson was in his 79th year and had been a Christian Minister for nearly 50 years.

SPORTS
The game between St. Louis and Canadiens will be described over CKAC on February 9 at 9:00 p.m. on the General Motors Hockey Broadcast.

PROGRAMS BY AMATEURS
There is a vogue, these days, even on the major networks for programs by amateur radio artists. While the development is commendable in that it gives many more people a chance to make good on the air, it is the listener who pays. The chances of finding good radio talent by this means are slim, as it has been estimated that the odds against attaining real success on the air are 20,000 to 1.

CKAC, Montreal, which has always been anxious to give opportunity to amateurs, is inaugurating its amateur night, which will be heard for the first time at 9:30, February 3. Anyone desiring to try out on these programs should communicate in writing to the station.

DORNBERGER CHANGES SET-UP
Improvements have been made in the radio pick-ups facilities at the Mount Royal Hotel with which Charlie Dornberger anticipates improved radio broadcasts. Because of the size of the main dining room it has always been difficult to broadcast from there, but now the band is on a higher platform with a canopy over it, making broadcasts much simpler.

Roxy and his gang will play a musical tribute to Victor Herbert during their broadcast over the Columbia network and CKAC on Saturday, February 2 at 8:00 P.M. Ten popular Herbert compositions will be heard.

CANTOR RETURNS TO THE AIR
Eddie Cantor will be heard on the air again, February 3, at 8:00 P.M., but not in Canada. He will be on the WABC-Columbia network, and will be supported by Ted Husing and Rubinoff.

The famous air production of Euripides' dramatic tragedy "Alcestis" will be presented by the Dramatic Guild over CKAC on Sunday February 3, from 10:30 to 11:00 P.M.

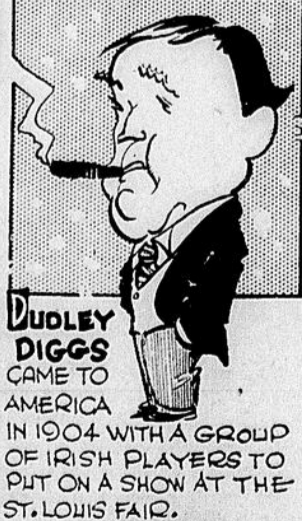

Rupert Caplan is inaugurating shortly a new series of sustaining features over CFCF which will be of a new and original character. Margery Wilson, internationally famous as an authority on "charm" will name the "ten most charming people in the world for 1935" over the CBS network and CKAC on February 1 at 4:00 P.M.

Book Reviews

BY
Howard S. Ross

Crumbs are also read, by Martin Burrell, LL.D., author of (Betwixt Heaven and Charing Cross, Etc.); The Macmillans in Canada, St. Martin's House, Toronto.

The author is a fortunate person. He loves books and is able to spend his days in the midst of them as Librarian of our steadily growing Parliamentary Library at Ottawa. How wise of him to accept (after a reasonable amount of the rough and tumble of political life) such a peaceful haven.

The title of this volume of essays and reviews—an old Danish proverb—is as intriguing as that of his Betwixt Heaven And Charing Cross, of which book a prominent American reviewer wrote: "Our friends across the border do well to be proud of this unofficial ambassador in the realm of letters. Like Macaulay, he has centered most of his literary essays about book reviews and like that great writer he has made the review a vehicle for his personal expression in a vast circumference."

The late T. P. O'Connor wrote: "I was delighted with the book; it consists of the kind of articles that appeal to me—the judicious blend of the personal and the literary."

Canadian reviewers were equally warm in their praise.

The range of subjects of the new volume is wide. There are chapters on England and English characteristics, critical appreciations of Macaulay, Burke, Katherine Mansfield and other well-known writers. There are many chapters of the true essay type, dealing with such varied themes as The Art of Conversation, Music, Nature, Studies, Statesmen and Politicians and other subjects of equal interest.

A quiet, wholesome humor runs through each chapter and a sanity of judgment on life and literature helps to make it a welcome addition to Canadian literature.

All the chapters deserve praise but even reviewers have favorites. In this instance they are: A Lost Art—The Art of Conversation (which should be put in our school texts); Musical Memories; Redolent Of The Soil (he was for 25 years a farmer); Somewhere Beyond; For Book-Lovers and a short biography of Audrey Alexandra Brown of Nanaimo, British Columbia and a well merited appreciation of her verse. It is very high praise to have Dr. Burrell write: "Here we see the origin of that extraordinary felicity of phrase which is so striking in Audrey Brown's poetic work. I know of no one, save Francis Thompson and Keats, who has such power in selecting the "fit" word, often so musical and so haunting in its beauty."

The new production will have the same director and co-stars as the earlier one, with W. S. Van Dyke, Myrna Loy and William Powell the trio concerned. Spurin-Calleia is now motoring across the country before reporting at the studio.

EXAMINER FORUM

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

By HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for November 18, 1934, contained the following striking statement about Communism: There is much misconception about communism. It so happens that the Russian experiment in communism has been inaugurated by force, and is anti-religious. It is quite conceivable that there could be communism by consent from Christian motives. This was the nature of early apostolic communism in Jerusalem which was "a noble experiment" and did not last very long. Why did it fail? It may be that economic conditions were adverse, or it may be that Christian idealism waned. We know that only a few years afterwards, Paul had to collect money from the Gentiles for the support of the Christian Jews in Jerusalem.

H. S. ROSS, K.C.

It is rather tragic that this communistic effort failed, as, had it succeeded, much economic distress in later history might have been avoided. Evidently human greed was too strong to allow this idealistic venture to succeed. But if ever mankind is to be free from cut-throat competition and organize a society that will adequately express human brotherhood, there will need to be a strong religious motive.

In many countries today industry is organized on a "dog eat dog" basis. This cannot last. There is plenty for all upon this earth, if by co-operation instead of competition adequate distribution could be made. Publicly owned services such as the post office, schools, electric power, water systems, point the way to a better expression of Christian brotherhood.

Mr. Beverley Nichols, the novelist, is a fine representative of the thoroughgoing advocate of the pacifist position. He had a remarkable article in the Christian World recently. He denounced in the name of Christianity the policy of armament firms which fomented wars: "What do you think Christ would have said to the Director of that armament firm? What do you think he would have said to the armament manufacturer who was alleged in the American senate inquiry to have employed large quantities of disreputable women in Spain to influence the sale of arms?"

China's national budget for the current fiscal year has been balanced at Yuan 777,302,000. Ninety percent of this comes from the customs, the salt gabelle and commodity consumption taxes. Forty per cent of the expenditure goes for military purposes and 35 per cent for domestic and foreign loan services. Educational appropriations get less than four per cent.

on Saturday morning at eleven o'clock in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, the Rev. Father Method officiating. Red tulips, calla lilies, ferns and palms were used as decorations in the church. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a French model of silver scarabe with a short train, the bodies having long sleeves finishing in points over her hands and a square cut neck line. Her long court train of the material of her gown, lined in mousseline madonna, fell from the waistline and she wore a veil of souffle de soie held to her head with a silver coronet. She carried a sheaf of calla lilies. The bridal attendants, Mrs. Nap Laflour, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Miss Ida Miller, Miss Anne O'Connell, Miss Marie O'Connell, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Rita Elie and Miss Mariette Elie, were gown'd alike in frocks of crepe franadale made in a similar style to the bridal gown with red velvet trains and carried bouquets of red tulips. They wore silver leaves in their hair. Mr. George O'Connell was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Nap Laflour, Mr. Rene Baudet, Mr. Paul Smith, Mr. Lionel Elie, Mr. Gerald Lemire. Mrs. Elie, the bride's mother, was in a gown of green Persian crepe with a train and a tagal straw hat trimmed with brown ostrich feathers and sables, and carried a bouquet of tea roses. Mrs. O'Connell, mother of the bridegroom, was in a Marcel Rochas model of Colbert lace with a hat of brown maline trimmed with them and turn them around, then stitch them on again. This, of course, brings the button on the wrong side, but one can stitch up the old buttonhole and cover it with the button quite easily. A new buttonhole is then made on the other side. If done carefully, the shirt is like new again. The cuffs on shirts can be turned the same way."

"I had a man's red wool bathing suit of good quality, which had become worn in several spots. By careful cutting I was able to make my little boy a knitted suit, and by knitting the collar, cuffs and band around the bottom of the sweater portion with sand-colored wool (which only required an ounce of wool) was able to produce a suit as neat as a store garment."

Mrs. Gerard Lemire, sister of the bridegroom, was in a Lelong ensemble of fuchsia and turquoise taffeta with a hat to match and carried a Colonial bouquet of roses and forget-me-nots. The reception followink the ceremony was held at the residence of the bride's parents, 1944 Dorchester street west, where spring flowers and ferns were used as decorations. Later Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell left for Florida, the bride travelling in an ensemble, with coat of sand color Lido velvet worn over a zine woolen frock trimmed with brown taffeta with hat and accessories to match.

Cut Flowers
To preserve bouquets, put a little saltpetre in the water in which the flowers are kept, and they will live for a fortnight.

When Cooking Cabbage.
When cooking cabbage, parboiling rabbit or wild duck, if you add a slice of bread to the water the odor will be greatly lessened.

Kitchen Cement.
If you have duster, carpet beater or dustless mop handles, loose chair rings or other things that come out of their sockets, try heating two ounces of resin with half an ounce of beeswax and half an ounce of powdered bath brick. When melted, this cement will fill up the hole in the article and the handle can be pressed firmly into place. And it will stay there, too!

Mitts for Baby
"My baby had a white fur fabric bonnet which had become much too small for him. I made it into a very cosy pair of mitts for him by using the flannel lining for the palms of the gloves and the fur for the backs.

Home-Baked Angel Cake

No matter how surprising and uncertain life and cooking may seem, one thing is undebatable — you can always get a rise out of folks with a home-baked angel food cake. Of course, it's presupposed that the cake will be feathery, snowy white, and exquisitely tender.

Just for instance, surprise them one time with this one:

Spiced Angel Food Cake
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 cup unbeaten egg whites (8 to 10 whites)
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Sift the sugar once. Sift the flour once before measuring. Add the spices and one-half cup of sugar to the flour, sifting this mixture three times. Beat the egg whites (which should be at room temperature) until just foamy. Add the salt and cream of tartar and continue beating until the whites are stiff enough to hang in an inverted bowl without flowing, but not until dry and lustreless. Gradually add the remaining three-quarters cup of sugar, beating constantly with the beater. Discarding the beater, carefully fold in the flour, sugar and spice mixture, adding it a little at a time. After all is in, continue folding one minute. Pour the batter into an ungreased pan, tilting the pan so that the batter will be evenly distributed. Bake in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) 55 to 60 minutes.

A hearty dessert is achieved with slices of the spiced angel food or with plain angel food topped with caramel pecan whip.

Caramel Pecan Dressing
1 cup light brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pinch of salt
1 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup whole pecan meats

Cream the butter until fluffy, then add the sugar a little at a time. Stir into this the egg yolk, vanilla and salt. Whip the cream and gradually fold into it the sugar mixture. Top each slice of cake with a heaping tablespoon of the dressing and sprinkle with pecan meats. This goes around the table once for a party of six.

Another angel food boasts cherry insides and a cocoanut topping.

Cherry-Cocoanut Angel Food
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 cup unbeaten egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 1/4 cups granulated sugar, sifted
3/4 teaspoon vanilla
3/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 cup shredded cocoanut
1/2 cup finely chopped maraschino cherries.

Sift the flour once, measure and sift it four more times. Beat the egg whites and salt with a wire whisk until foamy. Add cream of tartar and continue beating until eggs are stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry and lustreless. Fold in the sugar, two tablespoons at a time. Fold in flour over the mixture and fold in carefully, repeating until all is used. Pour one-third of the cake batter into an ungreased angel food pan. Sprinkle one-quarter cup of the finely chopped cherries over it, add another one-third of the batter, the remaining cherries, and top with the remainder of the batter. Run a knife through the batter several times to the bottom of the pan to distribute the cherries throughout the cake. an interesting white and gold lame gown of the long tunic type.

An interesting new evening gown which promises to bid for popular favor was designed by Adrian and is being worn in her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "After Office Hours," by Constance Bennett.

The gown, of white and gold lame, features a high, tight bodice and full circular skirt. There is a diminutive jacket which gives the effect of being trimmed in sable. When the jacket is removed, however, the sable remains forming a perfect trimming for the neckline of the gown.

An evening gown made from fine imported brocade originally intended for draperies, is in the wardrobe of Jean Parker, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer featured player and star of the production, "Sequoia."

The gown is fashioned along period lines and its color is a pale old ivory. It features a light, pointed bodice and drop shoulders. Silver thread lace softens the neckline and forms a panel down the center front of the long, full skirt. The only other touch of trimming is an old gold and pearl brooch caught in the lace at the center of the neckline.

JIU-JITSU And Its Application

PERRIGARD

THE ARM THROW, in the science of Jiu Jitsu, is remarkable because it is so effective and simple. Before attempting this throw, one fact should be stressed. The person to be thrown should be grasped in such a manner that his palm is always kept uppermost. This affords a lever in the form of a straight arm whereby the opponent may be easily heaved over the shoulder to the ground.

THE FUNDAMENTAL STEP

In the arm throw is to grasp firmly by the assailant's left wrist with the right hand. Keep his thumb and your own on opposite sides. Step well forward, placing your left foot across his left foot. At the same time push your left hand firmly against the back of the captured arm, thus straightening it out. The ideal place for the left hand is at the elbow or just above the elbow of the retained arm, the hand being underneath. Keep the arm straight and stiff during the entire throw.

HAVING OBTAINED this favourable position, bend slightly, turn your back to the captive, insert your left shoulder well under the left armpit of your victim, and pull the stiffened captured arm over your left shoulder. Force your right hand downward and push forward and outward with your left hand. A great strain is now exercised on the opponent's elbow, and it is generally advisable to accept the opponent's plea for quarter at this time.

IT IS DESIRABLE to complete the throw, stoop down and exert a sudden gravitational pull with the right hand and a forceful push with the left. The assailant will be immediately heaved over your shoulder with as much force as is desired. Care should be taken in practicing this throw since injury may be effected through a slight indiscretion.

IN THE CASE OF AN ENCOUNTER, a throw is often sufficient. Therefore it is advisable to know several ground locks whereby the victim may be held helpless after he has been thrown. It is a good plan to know a series of throws and locks which will combine easily. It is an important factor in Jiu-Jitsu to always have a plan of action. After you have thrown an opponent to the ground, know exactly what you are going to do. The person thrown will be stunned or at least paralyzed by the fall and if you know precisely what you intend to do, you may easily involve him in a painful ground lock before he realizes what you have done. Speed of action is essential.

ONE OF THE BEST ground locks, which may be used as a sequence to practically any throw, is my favourite arm and neck hold. It is ideal for use after the arm throw just described.

To perform the lock, throw your opponent over your shoulder by the arm throw just described. The unfortunate person will be pitched forward on his head and take a prostrate position. Before he has realized what has happened or is happening, sit down beside him on his left side, facing the same direction as he. Take his left wrist in a firm grip with both hands. Force his left arm across your slightly bent left knee, just below the knee-cap, and push his right wrist under your right knee, until you have grasped it, palm to palm, with your right hand, which has been brought round to the outside of your right leg. Bend your left knee so that his straightened elbow is subjected to increasing pressure as you bend your left knee.

During this time, put your right hand round his neck and grab his left lapel firmly. Pull the lapel across his neck to the right and downward, so that the more he struggles to get up and relieve the painful pressure in his left arm, the greater will be the paralyzing pressure of his collar round his neck. Half a minute of this pressure about the neck of the strongest man attempting to rise will render him placid and pale, unconscious. To disable his left arm, all that is necessary is a raising of the left knee by drawing it towards you and forcing a downward pressure with the left hand. All this may appear rather complicated at first, but once this lock is mastered, all others will appear trivial in operation and efficiency.

TREMENDOUS PAIN may be inflicted in this lock with the right hand by pressure and rhythmic movement against the edge of the wrist bones of the captured left arm. There is generally little necessity for this. Once the power of the lock is suggested by slight pressure, the would-be assailant or attacker will readily submit to your proposals.

With Donald Meek the latest addition to the cast, "Public Enemy Number Two" has gone into production at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios under the direction of Raoul Walsh. The cast includes Charles Butterworth, Nat Pendleton, Eugene Pallette, Ruth Selwyn, Una Merkel, Eddie Nugent and Robert McWade. The film is based on a story by Edgar Selwyn and William Le Baron.

Nat Pendleton and Eugene Pallette have been added to the cast of "Public Enemy Number Two," in which Charles Butterworth will be featured by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Already announced for roles are Una Merkel, Ruth Selwyn, Eddie Nugent, Claude Gillingwater and Robert McWade.

INGRATE PATIENT SELLS PHYSICIAN GLASS DIAMOND

New Spanish Don Quixote Saves Peasant Girl From Being Gored to Death by A Mad Cow Belonging to Her Father - His Only Reward Is a Damage Action - The Old Man Sues Him For 200 Pesetas, For Injuries to the Cow.

MANY DOCTORS have grateful patients, but Dr. J. P. Houquet of New York thinks that he has the most ungrateful one in medical and also in police records. Some years ago he performed an emergency operation on Eugene Celentano and saved his life. To show his appreciation Eugene came to the doctor and offered him a bargain in diamonds. For $7,500 he was willing to let him have 65 sparblers which he said were worth $20,000. They sparkled right enough, but they were only glass. When Celentano was arrested he denied that he was the confidence man in question, but the doctor, like other surgeons, signs his signature with his scalpel and was able to identify his former patient by the scar of the operation.

MANUEL PAULIDO of the village of Gaena is a young Spaniard who has found out that, though you may be a hero if you kill a bull, you get in a law suit if you kill a cow. He thought he had good reason for assaulting down a farmer's daughter and was going her. Like a true Don Quixote, Manuel came to the help of the damsel in distress, and drove off the cow. The girl's father sued him for 200 pesetas as compensation for the damages the cow had received. "But he saved your daughter's life," said the judge. "Perhaps so," replied the old peasant, "but he injured my cow, and he's got to pay me for it." That will teach Manuel to confine himself to bull fighting and leave cow fighting alone.

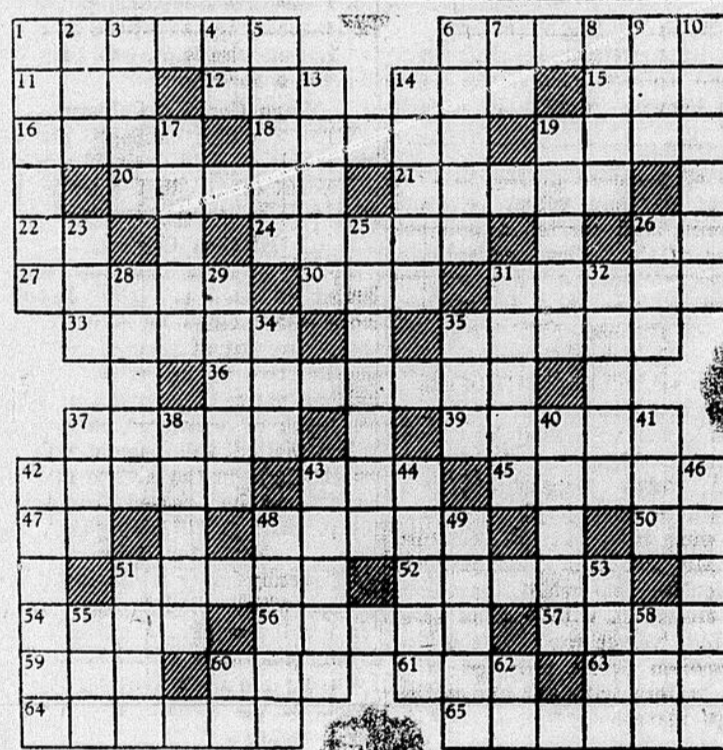

CLEANLINESS is said to be next to godliness and an Aurora, Illinois, churchworker, Mrs. Mary Sandor, has been accused of trying to provide clean soul at a dinner in the parish house by dropping a bar of soap into the soup kettle. The result was a cream soup that foamed like "suds", which is many people's term for beer. Mrs. Sandor denies that she was the cook that spoiled the broth, but the other two cooks, Mrs. Mary Balin and Mrs. Irene Vaghy, insist that she did it out of professional jealousy.

THE BRONX ZOO the other day thawed out some of its frozen assets - to wit, eight gopher snakes from Texas. The expressman who was carting them from the railway station to the zoo's reptile house was too long going his rounds. The result was that the snakes arrived as stiff as pokers, and a snake when he gets that rigid ceases to be deadly and becomes dead. The famous Dr. Ditmars, the zoo's snake expert, ordered them to be thawed out in front of a radiator, regardless of the theory that the only way to cure frost bite is by means of snow. Human ears would certainly have blistered and peeled under this direct radiator heat, but the snakes recovered without any ear damage. One of the reasons is that a snake has no ears.

IT SEEMS that after all there may be a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Louis Schloss, an amateur astronomer of Prescott, Arizona, has perfected a means of extracting that kind of celestial gold. He does not use a diamond drill or a dredge but a battery of magnets surfaced with white metallic plates. He passes this apparatus through the streams of meteors that from time to time fall through the sky and is able to catch meteor gold dust. It is declared to be a scientific fact that meteors do contain gold in very minute quantities, but Mr. Schloss is the first man who has been able to mine the sky.

CALVARY CHURCH NOTES

The services in Calvary Church, Greene Ave. and Dorchester St., Westmount on Sunday, February 3rd, will be of unusual interest.

At the morning service at 11 a.m. all officers of the church and congregation will assemble and share in a specially prepared responsive service of Dedication to the work and ministry of the church to which they have been appointed by their fellow members.

The Minister, Rev. T. W. Jones will preach the sermon on the theme "Evangelism in Relationship to Home and Family Life" from the text in Mark 5: 19, where Jesus bids the liberated man to "Go home and tell what great things have been done for him". This message will present a challenge to personal evangelism in home life, in harmony with the programme of United evangelism now being conducted in the churches throughout Greater Montreal.

The Communion of the Lord's Supper will follow the preaching service.

The Evening Service at 7:30 p.m. will be one of special interest for earnest minded young people, indeed for all who are alive to the changes that are taking place in the world today.

The subject of the service will be "Christian Youth Building A New World." Mr. Alex Hasley, secretary of the Sunday School, will conduct the service and will be assisted by Mr. Victor Baker, President of the Young Mens group of the Square Circle, by Miss K. Renton of the C.G.I.T. organization, and by Mr. Irvine Brown, President of the Y.P.S. while the address on the subject of the service will be delivered by Mr. Wilfred Buckley, until recently associated with the Westmount Y.M.C.A., now Asst. Secretary of the Southwestern Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Immediately following the service, a Forum for conference and fellowship will be held in the Parlours of the Church, where the Square Circle will lead in a discussion of the issues raised in the address by Mr. Buckley.

On Monday, February 4th (weather permitting) a Sleigh Drive will be held under the auspices of the Young People's Society. Sleights will leave the Church at 8:15 p.m. returning 10:30 p.m. to the Church where refreshments will be served in the Ladies Parlours. A meeting will be held in Patient: I hope I last longer than one, doctor.

"I've heard that Mr. Jones walks in his sleep."
"Fancy, and they with two automobiles."

"I admit that I should like to marry."
"Well, why don't you? Can you find a wife?"
"Oh, yes, but no suitable father-in-law."

"Excuse me, Miss, but here is a strap."
"I thought I had a strap."
"No, Miss, you were hanging on to my ear."

"Mama, did papa have to stoop over when you were married?"
"What do you mean?"
"Aunt Sue says he married beneath him."

"My husband attempted to strike me and I want to have him arrested."
Magistrate: All right. Where will we find him?
"In the emergency hospital."

Lovett: How do they remove your vermiform appendix?
Covett: Usually with malice aforethought.

On Wednesday, February 6th at 8:15 p.m. a United Service of the Churches in this district will be held in Calvary Church Hall, in connection with the Mission of Evangelism. The Churches co-operating will include St. Stephen's Anglican; Redeemer, Lutheran; Calvin-Westminster, United; as well as Calvary. The Ministers of these Churches will take part in the service, the address being given by Rev. Harold Laws, Rector of St. Stephen's Church. The meeting will then be open for discussion of the vital elements of evangelism in our present day life.

"Murder Mystery" Causes Hilarity In "Lightning Strikes Twice"

Out of a gorgeous fabric of murder mystery threads, "Lightning Strikes Twice" weaves a melodramatic comedy with a cast of comedy favorites. This RKO-Radio Picture is a swiftly paced tale of mistaken identities, with a background of credible mystery which serves to increase the fun. The story takes place in a few hours, and the swift action is due to the deft interweaving of plot and sub-plot. A frantic butler with a phobia for black cats causes him to fire at one catering-waiver on the backyard fence. The butler misses its mark but knocks off the cap of a policeman, who simultaneously drops into nowhere through an open manhole cover.

HI-Y CLUB PLANS FINE PROGRAMME

Dr. Wynne Edwards, Dr. Gibbs and J. King Gordon Among Speakers.

Dr. Gibbs of the Department of Botany at McGill University; Dr. Wynne Edwards, well known for his extensive knowledge of bird life and bird customs; Prof. King Gordon, lecturer in Christian Ethics, are three of the headlines on the Hi-Y program recently released by the program committee.

The program runs from the present time until June 15th, and is the second half of a similar interesting and balanced educational program directed by the school and the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. J. G. S. Brash is the leader of this virile and active club, which has now been in existence for five years. Speech night is scheduled for Feb. 15th, when the Brash - Duckworth Impromptu Speaking Trophy will be competed for by all members of the club.

Judges for the contest are Mr. J. C. J. Hodgson, Mr. Kiel Oxley and Mr. George Brown.

WESTMOUNT HIGH BEAT M'TL; 3-0

McConnell, Philips And Merrick Were Standouts — Bott Sensational — Seven Penalties Handed Out — Collis Had Easy Time in Local Nets.

Westmount High school took a firm grip on first position in the senior division of the Montreal Interscholastic Hockey League when it defeated Montreal High School, 3-0 at the Forum Sunday afternoon.

The win placed Westmount two points in the first position over Mount Royal High, with a game in hand.

Westmount's crack forward line of McConnell, Philips and Merrick stood out, scoring all three goals, with McConnell getting two and Philips one. Both secured assists on the others' goals and Merrick also secured an assist on one. Bott, Montreal netminder, stood out but had no chance to save on the three tallies that were scored. Seven penalties were handed out in the rough second period when the Montreal defense did everything to stop the fleet Westmount forwards from filtering through.

McConnell scored his first goal eight minutes after the game got under way. With Westmount sending five men up the ice on a gang play McConnell snared the puck directly in front of the cage and Bott never had a chance to save.

In the second period, with Tedlie off, Philips grabbed the rebound from McConnell's terrific drive which Bott had saved beautifully and rammed it home, three minutes after the interval.

After twelve minutes of play Westmount finally broke through again for the third and last tally, Philips carrying the puck alone until checked, and then passing to McConnell who blazed it into the twine.

Westmount held a wide edge throughout, although particularly in the second period, when Collis hardly had a good stop to make.

The teams:

Westmount: goal — Bott
Collis — defence — Blatchford
Hamilton — defence — Bradbury
McConnell — centre — Beresford
Philips — wing — Morrison
Merrick — wing — Bradford

Westmount subs.: Robinson, Jackson, Brown, Mitchell.

Montreal subs.: Gilmore, McDonald, Haines, Tedlie.

Referee, Hefferman.

First Period
1—Westmount...McConnell 8.20
Penalties: None.

2—Westmount...Philips 3.20
(McConnell)

3—Westmount...McConnell 12.00
(Philips)

Penalties: Tedlie 2, Blatchford 2, Robinson, Small, Tedlie, McConnell.

Wanderers Lost Midget Contest

The Daniel O'Connell Midget hockey team began their series of exhibition games with a 2-1 victory over the powerful Westmount Wanderers last week.

From the drop of the puck the game was fast and hard-fought. Lawton, Ledoux and Gilmore played an outstanding defensive game for the winners, turning back attack after attack by the Wanderers.

Kelly and St. Maurice played well on the winners' forward line, while "Chucky" Fein in the nets played a stand-out game.

Pullam in the Wanderer goal was also a stand-out, preventing a much higher score by outstanding work.

Man Mountain Dean Decides To Be Actor

Man Mountain Dean, the bearded behemoth of the wrestling ring, is beginning to believe he is being treated too roughly. So he is dreaming for the gentler art of the drama.

The Man Mountain has had his first fling at the finer art—as a full fledged screen actor with such thespian notables as William Powell, Jean Harlow, Ted Healy and Nat Pendleton in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Reckless."

On the evening of the day of his screen debut—during which he mingled with dancing girls and survived make-up tests, et cetera—Dean was hurled to defeat for the third successive time by Jeems London.

Yesterday, Dean returned to the studio to announce his declaration of independence.

"I'm fed up with this rastlein' game. There ain't no future to it and, besides, all the palookas in the business are ganging up on me.

"I may be a retired soldier but I still got youth. I got a career I think of. I sort of like this acting racket. I can be a great actor if they give me a chance, so I'm going to get out the rastlein' business and go to work in pictures.

"I've seen all these stars doing their stuff—and I've decided I'm just as good as they are, so from now I'm going to be an actor."

GIRL GUIDES IN RADIO BROADCAST

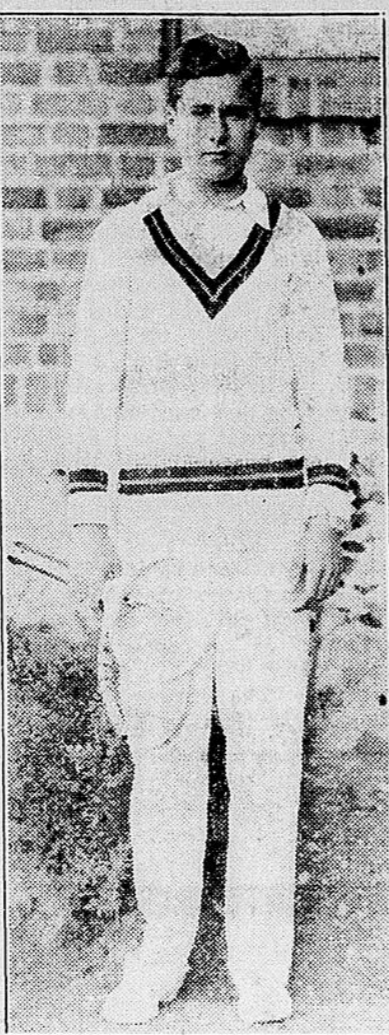

The monthly radio broadcast by the Girl Guides of Montreal will be held Tuesday afternoon from station CKAC, when Miss Rosseter, Chairman of the Dominion Training Committee in Toronto, and one of the Canadian delegates to the International Conference of Girl Guides at Adelboden, Switzerland will have a message for the Guides of Montreal.

Miss Rosseter's talk was to have been given during a special broadcast New Year's Day, but the program was cancelled at the last moment and there has been no opportunity to hear the address since.

A message from the Chief Commissioner, Mrs. H. D. Warren, will also be read.

The broadcast from CKAC will begin at 4.45 o'clock in the afternoon.

"We Was Robbed" Jacobs Would Have Us Think Fight Racket "Crooked"

New York.—When a gorilla has a chance to move in on Park Avenue society, he moves in bag and baggage. But when the same gorilla has the opportunity of moving in among the cream of the fight racket, he rarely has sense enough to seize the offer.

Thus speaketh Little Joey (We Wuz Robbed) Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling. By gorilla, of course, Little Joey means a racketeer and a racketeer in Joey's book is anything shady from a cheap chiseler to a rodman.

Let's admit that Little Joey is a lad who knows his rackets and racketeers and bend an ear while he gives us the low down on the fight racket.

"Closed Corporation" says Joey, "there's only a few around the top and they make it a closed corporation. It's almost impossible for an outsider to break in for any of the cream.

"Max Baer got his chance only because he'd been built up to a point where I thought we could make a lotta dough by letting Schmeling fight him.

"Just to show you how the racket works, let's take this new phenom, Joe Louis, and see how dumb he's handled. Louis is a negro and ordinarily he'd have a tougher time than a white man breaking into the charmed circle where the sugar is.

"But he gets a break when the Garden offers him a crack at Lasky. Does he take it? No, he goes into a tank town like Pittsburgh to fight Birkie and does himself plenty of no good. Now he's going to the coast to fight Ramagay, a guy he's already licked, and if Ramagay goes the route, Louis is ruined for the big dough in the big town."

At this point Little Joey broke off to say he'd like to hire the Garden for three fights and, failing that if the Garden wants to get out of the fight racket, he'd like to lease the spot with Jimmy Johnson as his partner. Then he rambled on:

"Now take this Babe Risko, a guy nobody but his mother ever heard of until he stops Yarosz, the middleweight champ. The Garden tries to bring him in for a big shot with Vince Dundee. But what does his manager do?

"Instead of grabbing some sweet sugar, he lets somebody with an 'in' in certain circles in Chicago talk him into going out there to fight another unknown. And what'll he get? Maybe $1,500 and he could get at least five times that much for his end here in a fight with Dundee.

Do Anything—Even a "Fix" "This fight racket has more angles than a skinny old maid. If a guy doesn't know all the angles, some chiseler will take the gold out of his back teeth.

"At that, it wouldn't be so bad if the racketeers didn't work hand in hand. Let two racketeers who happen to be managers get together and anything can happen, and usually does. And by anything I mean to include everything from a 'waltz' to a 'fix'. The only chance a 'right' guy has with some of those muzzlers is to think up more angles than they can."

Little Joey paused a moment, winked, and added: "And I'm a

Outdoor Hockey Loop Starts Second Half Of Present Schedule

Stern Battle For Second Place Seen Between Oaks and Maples — Chestnuts Have Definite Lead — Scores 3-0 and 6-1 — List of Players — Standing.

The Y.M.C.A. Outdoor Hockey League moved into the second half of its schedule last Saturday, when the Preparatory Boys played two games. It left the Chestnuts with a definite lead. The Oaks overcame the Maples in a terrific fight for second place, while the Chestnuts had little difficulty in defeating the Poplars.

In the first game the Oaks had a margin on the play and it was not long before Donald Ellis slipped one past Barre Condon in the Maples' nets. Play began to get a little rough but it was still remarkably clean. One of the features which marks these fellows' playing is its cleanliness. A few minutes after the first goal had been countered, John Inglis scored a nice goal to make it 2-0 for Oaks. The players continued to bump each other but no damage was done. A short time before the end of the game Gordon Wainwright streaked the puck into the twine for the third and last goal of the game. During the game Owen Owens received a cut in the mouth from a comrade's skate, but it was not serious. Final score, Oaks 3; Maples 0.

The second game produced a little better brand of hockey; probably due to the fact that most of the players were slightly older than the players of the first game. The Chestnuts started right in and before the first minute had ticked away, Douglas Philips had flashed through to score the first goal. A few minutes later he scored another. Poplars took out their goal-keeper and put in Hughie Harkness. He had lots of hard work to do, but he held them off for about ten minutes and then Chestnuts were not to be denied. John Blay scored a neat goal but this time the Poplars retaliated and Dudley Goode got one which robbed Ian Fraser of a shutout. Chestnuts came back in force and Donald Philips raised his personal score to three by beating Hughie Harkness again. John Blay finished the scoring with a baffling shot which dented the twine for his second goal of the game. Final score, Chestnuts 6; Poplars 1.

Westmount "Y" Gym Team Will Defend Laurels

In February 1933 Westmount Y.M.C.A. won the Province of Quebec Senior Amateur Gymnastic Championship, defeating McGill, Central Y.M.C.A. and Y.M.H.A., for the honors. One year ago they retained their honor by again defeating McGill, their only opponents.

This annual event takes place again Thursday, February 14th, at Central Branch, when the Westmount team will again be present to defend its laurels. This year's competitions will include for the first time Junior and Junior novice events which should draw a large entry from the High Schools.

Donkey Ball Is Fad With The Deans

Dizzy and Paul Dean were looking around for new worlds to conquer to-day after playing leading roles in a donkey baseball game in Florida. Dizzy's team won, 2 to 1, at the expense of a team that had major league pitching from brother Paul. Dizzy pitched for his team.

Donkey baseball is that hilarious game in which all players except the pitcher and the catcher are required to ride stubborn and bucking burros while playing.

It was Dizzy himself who scored the winning run when he knocked one of Paul's offerings into centrefield, finally getting to their board his donkey named Lord Plushbottom and then spurting his charge across home plate after Dusty Rhodes, of the Red Sox, playing at third, failed to give Paul the proper co-operation on a play designed to get Dizzy. But it wasn't Dusty's fault. His steed suddenly developed fallen arched, tossing the Red Sox to the ground.

Pitcher Henry Johnson of the Red Sox was the fourth major leaguer participating.

Comets Win Exhibition

Last Saturday afternoon the Comets hockey team met and defeated a team composed of pupils of Lower Canada College at Murray Park by a 1-0 score.

The only goal of the game was scored by Shea when he picked up the puck from behind his own net, broke through the opposing defense and scored.

Comets are open for exhibition engagements.

St. Jovite Ski Facilities Are Much Improved

The already fine skiing facilities around St. Jovite and Lake Ouimet have been improved to no small extent.

The ski trails around Lake Ouimet have been widened, making skiing much easier, more interesting and extremely pleasant, the constant change of scenery, the quietness and the beautiful snow effect in the woods make trail skiing a delightful pastime.

The improved Kandahar and the new Taschereau downhill runs and the Dawes Ridge Trail, all situated on the lofty peaks of Mt. Tremblant, are now linked to the St. Jovite network of trails and are only three miles away from Lake Ouimet. The Mt. Tremblant section offers Alpine-like skiing conditions.

A new 31 meter jump has been erected by Gray Rocks Inn on a hill south of Lake Ouimet, plans of which were confirmed by the Federation Internationale de Ski.

The St. Jovite Ski Club's agenda of events include the following:
Feb. 2 and 3—Local members' championships.
Feb. 10.—Open Championships, clubs of C.A.S.A.
Feb. 23—Jumping exhibition.

April 21—Easter Downhill, from club's cabin on Mt. Tremblant.
On March 10—The Red Birds will supervise the classic ski event in the east, namely the Kandahar.

NO INDIAN "CASTE"
The All-India Contingent at the Australian Jamboree included boys from the North-West Frontier Province, the United Provinces, Dhenkan and Assam. Although of many different religions, the boys ate together and shared the same meals. Before the boys became "Scouts caste" would have made this impossible.

Christie of Westmount won the cross-country in 33 minutes, over three and a half miles. Tirrell, also of Westmount, was second, less than a minute behind, and Frazee of Westmount took third position.

P. Knott, Shawbridge, won the downhill, doing the course in one minute and 39 seconds. Bott took second and T. Moore, West Hill, third. Westmount took the team award, however, placing fourth, sixth and seventh.

Christie, Ritchie and Tirrell, Westmount, captured the first three places in the slalom to clinch the championship.

Westmount took three individual firsts, two seconds, two thirds, as well as placing in eight other positions.

WESTMOUNT SKI-ERS; WINNERS

Local Entries Captured Major Share of Honors At Annual Interscholastic Ski Meet at Shawbridge — Took Four Places in Jumping.

Westmount High School dominated all four events in the interscholastic ski competition over the week end to retain the title, winning the jumping here and the racing events at Shawbridge with Paul Christie capturing the individual combined prize with victories in both cross country and slalom for the trophy offered by the town of Shawbridge.

The meet, conducted by the Red Birds Ski Club, was the second annual interscholastic clash, Westmount winning last year and again this weekend in gaining the highest possible team total, 400 points for four events.

Punch Bott of Montreal High took first in the jumping, held at the Alex Olsen Hill Friday, and second in the combined. In the jumping Westmount took four places behind Bott to win the team honors.

At Shawbridge fine skiing weather brought out over 300 fans. The surface was fast, a light snow over a hard crust, and good times were made in the cross-country events.

Christie of Westmount won the cross-country in 33 minutes, over three and a half miles. Tirrell, also of Westmount, was second, less than a minute behind, and Frazee of Westmount took third position.

When Is a Star—Not a Star?

The general conception of a star is a luminous twinkling in the skies at night, which usually indicates the probabilities of the coming day. The other definition of a "star" is one which glows on the celluloid, but this meaning is really very complex, and understood by only a few movie fans.

Paramount announced in a special letter to us that they had made Carol Lombard a "star". Many people thought that when Miss Lombard played in such pictures as "No More Orchids" and "Sinners in the Sun", she was a "star" at the time. But she has only been starred in two pictures; "White Woman" and "Now and Forever".

When the trailer informed audiences that Spencer Tracy's performance in "Now I'll Tell" was his first starring role, they naturally thought it was a publicity scheme. But in reality it was the truth. Every picture Mr. Tracy appeared in was a phenomenal success because of his acting, but he was never a "star" until "Now I'll Tell".

Lee Tracy became very luminous all of a sudden, and was made a "star". He jumped the hard hurdles of poor roles, and slid down a greased road to fame and fortune.

VERY LOW

Puns are recognized as the lowest forms of humour. Here are the two worst theatrical puns of the year. One Exhibitor: "I've got 'Great Expectations' next week". Other Exhibitor: "The Dickens you have!" ... W. C. Fields got all hot and bothered on the golf course the other day. "See here, Crosby," he said, "you prevaricate. And I don't like men of your ilk." "That's all right," Bing replied. "I'm not an ilk, I'm a Mason." (collapse).

fortunes. Margaret Sullivan was a "manufactured" star. Constant advertising and bombastic publicity made her a box-office attraction. If all her ads were suddenly to cease, I don't hesitate to say she would soon be forgotten.

Strange as it may seem, there are just twenty stars in Hollywood today. Such actors and actresses as, Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire, Mona Barrie, Helen Twelvetrees, Rochelle Hudson, Lew Ayres, Ralph Bellamy, Karloff and others are not "stars". A "star" must be able to be billed: Spencer Tracy in "Now I'll Tell", not—"Now I'll Tell" with Spencer Tracy, Helen Twelvetrees etc. It must be enough to say the "star's" name.

THE FADE-OUT
Some people get very absurd ideas into their heads, the most absurd being that the films when they arrive at second-run theatres are "cut" to fit program requirements. The pictures shown at all theatres, with the exception of various censoring "cuts", are exactly the same in length. "Cuts" cannot be made by law. The pictures you see at local theatres are exactly the same in every detail as they were in their first run. The shorts are usually more numerous or are taken off as the feature pictures allow.

LAUGHS AND THRILLS IN TRINITY VEHICLE

Suppose you had been forced to marry a man whom you thoroughly detested in order to protect a sister's honour. And suppose you found yourself misunderstood by the man you really loved and had to rely on your own ingenuity to get you out of your troubles. What would you do? The Trinity Players supply the startling answer to this question in their presentation of "See Naples and Die", the Elmer Rice stage success, in Trinity Hall on February 21st, 22nd and 23rd. The scene of the play is laid in a villa on the shores of the Bay of Naples, and stage manager Creighton Patton, promises some big surprises in the way of an elaborate and unusual stage setting which even includes a view of the famous Mount Vesuvius.

Moscow and Berlin are having another of those charming little competitions in the Terror.

At the Seville Next Week

After pursuing GINGER ROGERS through the tinsel and Terpsichorean mazes of "THE GAY DIVORCEE", RKO-Radio's deluxe musical comedy, FRED ASTAIRE finally catches up with her and leaves no doubt as to the palpitating state of his heart. The "King and Queen of Caricosa" are co-starred, with Alice Brady and Edward Everett Horton featured.

Fans See Double When Morgans Appear

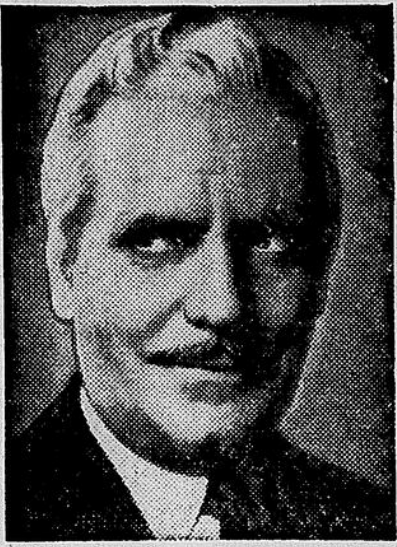

Having a brother who is almost one's double has its advantages—and its disadvantages, according to Ralph and Frank Morgan, noted film actors.

Among the advantages is the average Hollywood casting director's willingness to accept one brother as a substitute when he calls the other and finds him engaged.

And chief among the disadvantages is the tendency on the part of film fans to confuse the pair. Of course, there are distinguishing features between the resembling duo, but up to now all efforts to clear up matters have only resulted in greater confusion.

Here, then, once and for all, are the facts:

It was brother Frank who saw play the doddering old Duke to Constance Bennett's Duchess in "The Affairs of Cellini," and it is brother Ralph who will see as the friend and confidante of George Arliss when United Artists brings the latter artist's latest film under his contract with Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl F. Zanuck's 20th Century Pictures to the Westmount Theatre today till Saturday. Now you know.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE TO GIVE PLAY SOON

Victoria Hall Will Be Scene Of Second Annual Children's Performance.

With the performance of "The Three Wishes" which will mark the second annual performance by the Children's Theatre here shortly, the group under the direction of Miss Dorothy Davis will reach the termination of the first half term of the present season. The play, specially written for the Theatre by Miss Miriam Stein, well known for her delightful children's plays, is a fantasy which gives the children every opportunity of showing the results of careful training.

The studio work of the group includes not only the preparation of the play, but study in poise and deportment.

Miss Violet Walters, who did so much excellent work last year, is again responsible for much of the fine work being done. Miss Gold is also back with the group this year.

Artistically-designed costumes are being made and with the special lighting and scenic efforts should make the presentation, which will be held in Victoria Hall, a highly interesting one.

Movie Notes

Edgar Selwyn has signed a new contract at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios under terms of which he becomes assistant to Louis B. Mayer, at Culver City. Selwyn's duties will include writing, producing and supervising, in addition to executive work. One of the outstanding Broadway producers for many years, he went out to the coast as director in 1929 and since that time has directed, assisted in story selection and written several screen stories.

George S. Kaufman is one of three playwrights signing new contracts with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. S. N. Behrman and Morrie Ryskind have also just signed for work at the Culver City studio. Kaufman, who collaborated with Ryskind on the book of "Of Thee I Sing," is currently represented on Broadway as co-author with Moss Hart of "Merrily We Roll Along." Behrman's latest play is "Rain from Heaven," now playing at the Golden Theatre, N.Y.C.

"Times Square Lady," an original story by Albert J. Cohen and Robert T. Shannon, has been placed in production at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. The director is George Seitz and the cast includes Robert Taylor, Jack LaRue, Helen Twelvetrees, Raymond Hatton and Isabella Jewell.

Jerome Kern's first work for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will be a song called "Reckless," theme song for the picture of that name now in production at Culver City starring Jean Harlow and William Powell. Kern, who recently signed a long-term contract with the company, was last represented on the Broadway stage by "Roberta." Two of his operettas, "The Cat and the Fiddle" and "Music in the Air," were brought to the screen not long ago.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has acquired motion picture rights to "The Distaff Side," the play by John Van Druten which has been attracting theatregoers since last September, first at the Little and now at the Longacre Theatre. Announcement will be made shortly as to cast and director. Sybil Thordike is the star of "The Distaff Side," and she, as well as Viola Keats and Clifford Evans appeared also in the London stage presentation prior to its Broadway opening.

Henry Ginsberg, vice-president and general manager of the Hal Roach studios arrived in New York to confer on short subject plans for the coming year.

WESTMOUNT

Undoubtedly the current cinema season, which includes the past year and this one as far as we have progressed to date, has been marked by a great improvement in the output of photoplays; not so much from the "dececy" angle as people love to imagine, but because of greater attention to the plot of the picture instead of camera-studies of an exotic stardess. In "The Last Gentleman" the newly-formed Twentieth Century Pictures are proud to present George Arliss, that distinguished and spontaneous star, in a film which contains all the essentials that comprise the modern requirements of entertainment. Here we have Mr. Arliss molding a new and even more lovable character out of his great dramatic ability. The story is surprising, vivid, and natural. The conclusion is exciting and very novel. "The Last Gentleman" can be heartily recommended. "Have a Heart", the other feature, has been most suitably chosen as a balance for the Arliss vehicle. It is a harmless little love-story, that will prove a charming and pleasant way of spending an hour. James

SEVILLE

The filming of the famous musical-comedy, "Chu Chin Chow", is an event to be hailed with enthusiasm by people all over the Dominion of Canada. It has done record business everywhere it has played although it is of British origin. We see the great new ability of Elstree producers strongly indicated in this vehicle. As the star of the show, George Robey, a great favorite of Montrealers since his appearance in this city many years ago, has great opportunity to use his many laugh-provoking formulas to their fullest extent. In a way the picture is a "spectacle", although this dubious label does not hinder the story. As the added attraction Lee Tracy can be seen in "The Lemon Drop Kid", a picture which will prove interesting to Tracy fans and can provide itself as a program picture for those who are unacquainted with his particular type of portrayal.

The Lowest Margin of Profit In Furniture History!

Holland's "New Policy" Prices upset all previous methods of furniture merchandising. Gone and forgotten is the recognized custom of adding on huge mark-ups for Overhead—Fixed Charges — Advertising — Executive Salaries — Floor Rentals — Storage Charges — and then and only then figuring a profit on the gross. Holland's Prices are based on Factory Prices — plus the lowest profit margin ever known anywhere.

In these days of "marvel values" and "sensational specials" it is well to remember that:—Holland's do not ask you to buy, but they do ask you to come in, inspect, compare and then judge values. We do not pretend to compete with "loss-leaders" — but we do say that our prices ON ALL OUR FURNITURE are the lowest. You may select a Dining Room Suite in this sale at the price you have in mind—$100 to $400—or a Bedroom Suite — Chesterfield — an Occasional Chair — Draperies — Lamps — Shades — Wall-papers and so on — all come under our new "low profit plan."

100 Different Suites — 500 Pieces of Occasional Furniture to choose from.

See the large selection of newly arrived suites on Holland's Furniture Floors. Every suite is the product of a nationally known maker. At Holland's you have a Dual Guarantee—one the reputation of the maker — the other Holland's guarantee of satisfaction.

Holland's have never condoned the practice of buying one good suite of furniture and having it made up by a cheap maker to sell at a cheap price. This can only be done at the expense of quality and construction. In the end it leads to a dissatisfied customer. Holland's buy good furniture from good makers and sell it on the lowest margin of profit in furniture history.
